Wage Board Collapses As Seven Quit

Industry Members Blast At Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) collapsed Saturday when all seven industry members quit with a blast at President Truman for what they called the "perpetration of a fraud upon the American people."

The seven members slapped at the President with a statement that his coal wage decision allowing the miners their full negotiated raise of $1.90 a day was based upon political expediency.

"We are left with no moral alternative but to resign," their statement said.

The row threatened to torpedo the government's whole wage control program.

The members, who constitute one-third of the wage board's make-up, said Truman's approval of the increase for John L. Lewis' United Miners was a "special privilege" extended to a few and made "second-class citizens of all others."

"As American citizens," they said, "we cannot subscribe to the theory that this sovereign government should sacrifice the public interest to industrial hooliganism."

The wage board had voted to hold the miners' pay increase to $1.50 a day, on the ground that the higher figure, to which the coal operators had agreed, would "irreparably" damage the entire anti-inflation program.

Truman overruled the board, saying its action would lead to a nationwide coal strike and confront the new Eisenhower administration with a national emergency on its first day in office.

In a letter to the President, the industry members said: "We cannot escape the conclusion that political expediency was a factor in this action."

Program a Sham
Asserting that the wage stabilization program is now "nothing but a sham and a mockery," the letter added:

"If your action means that the small and the weak are to be restricted by wage controls, while the big and the powerful are to be allowed whatever excessive increases result from the threat of a paralyzing strike, then there no longer exists the equality with which all law and all regulation should be applied in a republic."

The annual USO drive for funds got underway this week with little fanfare and less organization in Gray County where the goal has been set at $5 per man in the service from this county.

Mickey Ledrick, appointed drive chairman for the county this year said the county has 547 men in the armed forces.

Ledrick said he would try to raise the money without calling for volunteer workers since so many drives at this time of year are taking up so much time of a lot of people.

He told reporters he would use the press and radio in his pleas to make up the $2,735 needed to maintain servicemen's "home away from home" in the United States and on foreign soil.

Although there is no USO unit in Pampa or Gray County, the county has its sons scattered in all parts of the world where there are USO homes, entertainment and shows going on continuously.

Ledrick said also, "the $5 per man is relatively cheap to provide him with a home away from home and entertainment for one year."

Remember Pearl Harbor
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"Remember Pearl Harbor."

So went the battle cry of World War II. Today, 11 years after the surprise attack, Americans are still remembering.

In a statement on the eve of the 11th anniversary, President Truman remembered — and warned that another surprise attack "can happen again."

The President called on Americans to join up as volunteer air raid spotters.

President-elect Eisenhower also noted the anniversary and said in a message, released in New York, that "never again must America be weak or unaware."

He said: "Tonight, more than any other time of the year, Americans should remember the stern penalty for failure to be alert and strong, because on this night just 11 years ago, too many of us slept too soundly, and at dawn the enemy struck us a crippling blow at Pearl Harbor."

Explosion Rocks Plane At Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — A trans-Atlantic Cuban air liner exploded soon after it took off for Havana before dawn Saturday and carried all but four of the 41 persons aboard to death in shark-studded waters capped by burning gasoline.

Men, women and children — Spaniards, Cubans and Mexicans — were among the 37 who perished in the spectacular death dive five miles off this British colonial vacation resort.

Four Picked Up
S. Air Force and Coast Guard boats picked the four survivors from a choppy sea littered with debris — a pair of baby shoes, briefcase, rubber fittings from the plane's seats.

One who lived through it was the Cuban steward, Orlando Lopez Suarez, 40. Thrown out before the plane hit the water, he helped keep a Cuban girl, Alicia Ebank, afloat for an hour until they were rescued by the Coast Guard.

The other survivors were Gloria Sotomayor, a Cuban, and Adelaida Arrenal, a Mexican.

All were hospitalized at the U. S. Air Force Base at Kindley Field.

The plane, a DC4, was operated by the Cubana Airlines, a subsidiary of Pan American. It carried a Cuban crew of eight and 33 passengers.

Wrecked from Madrid, the plane, piloted by Kindley Field from Santa Maria, Azores, at 8:30 a.m. It was due in Havana at 9:30 a.m.

The takeoff from Kindley Field at about 4:40 a.m. appeared normal.

The explosion, from an undetermined cause, came as the plane (See 37 DIE, Page 3)

Air Reserve Plan To Be Described

Maj. George D. Cowan, a member of the 9172nd Volunteer Air Reserve Training Group, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of all Air Force Reserve Officers in this area at 7:30 p.m. Monday, at Gray County Court House according to Capt. Stanley S. Simik, liaison officer with the 9172nd VART Group.

Questions on the new Air Force Reserve Permanent Commissions will be answered at the meeting. Under the new plan, Air Force Reserve Officers who have been renewing their commissions every five years, will be offered permanent-type commissions.

These new commissions in no way affect the current status of reserve officers. The project was designed as an economy measure to cut down the administrative workload entailed by periodic renewal of commissions.

Will Try Revision Of Inspection Law

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. D. H. Buchanan of Longview said Saturday he will introduce a new auto safety inspection law in the next Legislature to "eliminate the objectionable features of the present law and still preserve the lifesaving value of regular inspections."

The inspection act, enacted last year, had been under sharp attack from some lawmakers.

Buchanan said the statute should be repealed but proposed that it be replaced by a "sensible, workable and effective inspection measure."

He said his proposal would allow automobile owners to get license plates without the necessity of first securing an inspection on their cars and would nail down specific features of mechanical safety to be checked during inspections.

Buchanan claimed the death rate on Texas highways has dropped drastically this year, primarily as the result of the safer operating condition of cars and trucks.

Rate Said Fantastic... Corruption Wave Sweeps Soviet Union

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Crime wave or purge? If what the Soviet press says about its Communist officials in industry and trade is true, graft, embezzlement and corruption exist on a monumental scale in the USSR today. High-ranking Communists are up to their ears in the public trough. They're throwing a monkey-wrench into the Soviet system.

It seems likely the corruption affects every Soviet republic and every organization, including the secret police.

But the announced cleanup — dictated by Georgi M. Malenkov at the 19th All-Union Party Congress in October — has other aspects, too. The scent of a broad purge of party ranks is inescapable. It seems particularly fierce in the Ukraine, Azerbaijan, Uzbekistan, Kazakhstan and other Southern areas of the USSR.

The Dec. 1 edition of Pravda, which just reached this country, strengthens the impression the current Kremlin campaign to clean up the party is aimed both at a fantastic wave of embezzlement and at laxity in party ranks.

There has been a wave of reports in the party press of crime, mostly embezzlement and swindling, in the Soviet Ukraine. Much of it may be connected with the never-say-die Ukrainian underground, which has worried (See CORRUPTION, Page 3)

Court Monday... Area Scouts Due Honors

A Miami Boy Scout will be awarded his Eagle Scout Badge and a Pampa Explorer Scout will be recognized for having won his Silver Award in the Scouts' quarterly "court of honor."

Meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in Woodrow Wilson School.

Doyle Smith, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith, Miami, will receive his badge from Matt Craig, Miami. Presented to him, too, will be a wall certificate, a pocket card and a congratulatory letter from Arthur A. Schuck, chief scout executive for the Boy Scouts of America.

Doyle's unit is Troop 79 sponsored jointly by the First Methodist, First Christian and First Baptist Churches in Miami. His parents and scoutmaster will participate in the ceremony.

Bill Phippen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Phippen, 306 N. Somerville, has passed all the requirements for the Silver Award but will not actually receive it until a future ceremony. He belongs to Post 22, sponsored by the First Baptist Church.

On the program, also, will be the presentation of nine Star Awards, six first-class awards, eight second-class awards and the recognizing of 16 apprentice Explorers.

In addition, 74 merit badges will be granted to area scouts. John Thompson, Pampa, will preside at the affair.

Better Mail Packages Early... Post Office Getting Ready For Heavy Christmas Rush

Postal authorities here warned the Christmas rush season is on and that presents to be sent parcel post should be sent immediately to insure delivery in time for Christmas.

Postmaster W. B. (Red) Weathered said each Christmas gets bigger and bigger because of the steadily pressing population. This, of course, he added will be the biggest Christmas ever and the facilities for handling the parcels are just about the same as they have been for the past three years.

Weathered explained parcels are sometimes delayed when they get "hung up" at receiving centers and terminals where they may lay for days and arrive at their destination sometime after Christmas.

The post office is now set up to handle the rush here and is asking those who have parcels to send to get them in right away. Some changes in parcel limitations have been set up this year over those in force last year.

Parcels being shipped to first-class destinations are being handled differently and are being given priority over other parcels.

One Dead, Five Hurt In Houston Fires
HOUSTON (AP) — A man died and five firemen were injured in two fires here Saturday.

The dead man was T. J. Hall, who died shortly after firemen carried him from his burning second-floor apartment.

The firemen were injured while fighting a $100,000 fire at Hirsch Brothers, a firm specializing in the sale of candy, school supplies, toys and Christmas ornaments.

EISENHOWER ON KOREAN TOUR — President-elect Dwight Eisenhower, wearing an Air Force parka to protect him from the cold, sits in a jeep as he toured the Korean war fronts and training camps. Behind him is Gen. Mark Clark, Far East Supreme Commander. Eisenhower talked to pilots, marines and soldiers and fighters of other United Nations forces. Before leaving he told newsmen, "We came over here to learn. We have no preconceptions, no trick ways of settling any problem." But he strongly indicated the solution to the Korean conflict does not lie in spreading the war to attack Red China. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Tokyo)

Commissies Loose Heaviest Air Attack As Ike Leaves Korea

SEOUL (AP) — The Red Air Force let loose its heaviest attack of the war Friday night just as President-elect Eisenhower's plane was leaving Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said last night the raiders were repulsed by Allied night fighters and blistering anti-aircraft fire. Although some Communist bombs were dropped near an air base, damage if any was not reported.

Meager in detail the Air Force announcement said 11 hostile aircraft roared toward Seoul were spotted on Allied radar scopes in a three-hour period beginning at 1:05 p.m. 5:05 a.m. Friday EST.

The Eisenhower party did not leave Seoul until 8:01 p.m. The cruiser Helena, with President-elect Eisenhower aboard steamed through boiling seas Saturday for a rendezvous with Secretary of State-designate John Foster Dulles at Wake Island Monday.

Eisenhower and Dulles will hold a series of conferences aboard the Helena to mold the new administration's policy toward Korea and the entire Far East.

A Far East Air Force spokesman said "if the attack really was an attempt on the President-elect's life, and we are not sure that it was, it was completely turned back."

Night air strikes by Red planes have been rare. The Fifth Air Force announcement described the attack as "the largest enemy air attack of the Korean War."

The Eisenhower party had been informed before its departure, that Communist night fliers had been spotted by radar.

The sketchy Air Force announcement didn't say how close the invading Red planes came to Seoul but reported "the night fighter screen protecting Seoul was never penetrated."

There was no report of any deaths.

Pampa, Borger Officers Nab Escaped Minnesota Convict

A 30-year-old convict, who escaped from the state penitentiary in Stillwater, Minn., eight months ago, has been captured in Borger by Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard and three Hutchinson County deputies.

Lowell John Haefs, Webster, Minn., who had served one year of a 12-year sentence for first-degree grand larceny (cow theft), was arrested at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in a downstairs room of the Weatherly Apts., Borger.

Haefs gave officers no trouble, Haggard said, explaining that there were two deputies at front and two at the back. In addition to Haggard, officers on the scene were C. A. Griffin, O. C. Finchum and C. A. Harin, all deputy sheriffs.

Thousands Living In Doubt... Sex-Changing GI Not Alone

By ALTON BLAKSLÉE
DENVER (AP) — The American GI who changed in sex from man to woman does not walk alone in the mysteriousland of human sex.

There are perhaps thousands of Americans living in doubt or ignorance about their true sex. Some are men who really are women. Some are women who really are men. Some are living contented lives, often in marriage. Others live in a hell of mental torture and doubt and fear.

Actually, all humans begin life with double sex. Very early, before we are born, we become either clearly male or female.

But sometimes the mysterious controls over sex go awry, and a baby is born who sexually is part male, part female. These are called pseudo-hermaphrodites. And very rarely, individuals are born who are "true hermaphrodites," possessing the external and internal organs of both sexes.

One medical specialist, Dr. Elmer Hess of Erie, Pa., estimates there are 2,000 to 3,000 pseudo-hermaphrodites — on the borderline in sex — in this country.

A famous urologist, the late Dr. Hugh Young of Baltimore, once said perhaps one in every 1,000 persons is born a pseudo-hermaphrodite. If that figure is correct, some 150,000 Americans started life with doubt or error over their true sex.

Some take action early to have their sex changed.

First Baptist Victory Day Slated Today

Today has been designated "Victory Day" for the First Baptist Church.

A membership canvass will be taken during the entire day in an attempt to gain pledges equaling the $100,261 budget, set for 1953.

Program today was adopted unanimously by church members in a recent meeting.

Included in the program will be the passing out of pledge cards in Sunday School classes and a short meeting of all classes in the church auditorium before the morning service.

Announcement of the number of subscribers to the 1953 budget and the amount subscribed will be made during the regular evening service, scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

According to A. C. Troop, finance committee chairman, the budget breakdown includes $30,855 for missions and benevolences; $34,300 for building and equipment; $11,436 for organization and promotion expenses; and $23,840 for salaries, car expense and pulpit supply.

In the past two years, Troop said, the budget has been over subscribed in similar one-day campaigns.

And The Water's 80 Degrees . . . Suzan Ball Gives Her All For Escapism In Universal City

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—On anybody's map of Hollywood, the center of the escapist country would have to be Universal City.

Now Universal City is a tiny suburb just a spear's throw from the heart of Hollywood. Aside from a post office and a few gas stations, the city consists of Universal's International studios. When you visit the sets, you can generally be assured of visiting two kinds of locales — out West or some exotic land.

This was not always so. Shortly after the war, the studio gave up its Westerns and A's a bit in its Nightr fare. It went in for serial triumphs like "A Double Life" and "Another Part of the Forest." The company lost money in whopping amounts.

U-I is back on the escapist trail again. The result: It is probably in better financial shape than any studio in town. Half of its unreleased films are big Westerns in color. Right now the people are hankering for foreign lands. You can tell by the titles of the pictures now shooting: "The Golden Blade," "Prince of Bagdad," "East of Sumatra."

Putting It Together

Let's drop in on the last-named epic and see how one of these pictures is put together.

We are driven between the sound stages and out to the back lot, which nestles up to the Hollywood hills. Here you can find whatever locale you want, from a town on the Mississippi to the Casbah, from a Civil War stockade to a medieval castle.

We drive up a canyon and hike part of the way on foot. A mass of workers are huddled in a gorge, which turns out to be the most colossal talse in Hollywood. The walls mount up 50 feet on each side. They look like solid rock, but it turns out they're not for real. Strictly fake.

So is the 35-foot waterfall at the end of the gorge. In fact, it's called Fruit Falls, after Jim Pratt, who built it.

We watch a scene in which Jeff Chandler, Jay C. and a crew of adventurers their way through the jungle. The greenery, we notice, is mostly in pots and can be hauled back to the greenhouse when the picture is over.

We notice that a large number of male visitors are on the set and wonder why. Ah-h! It appears to be a scene from "The Greenery," we notice, is mostly in pots and can be hauled back to the greenhouse when the picture is over.

pears that in the next scene Suzan Ball is going to take a bath under the falls, as in some of the earlier scenes. Like, it's a bath scene.

Miss Ball appears, clad in a kimono. A makeup man attends her, removing her false eyelashes, so the mascara won't run in the water. Even the eyelashes are phony on this set! Then the kimono is removed, and we see that she is wearing a form-fitting sarong. Well at least the rest of Susan is for real.

She takes a look at the water and feels the cold air—it was freezing the night before. "This is stunt work," she complains to the director.

 All parcels should be tied with a stout cord, one that will stand up under handling.
 All seal except one must be pasted on the side not used for addressing. The only seal allowed on the address side is "Do Not Open Till Christmas."
 Weathered said the office is also set up to answer questions on the size and weight, location of zones, and other regulations. "Don't guess," he added, "first call us and check. It will prevent days and jamming in post offices."

Six Persons Die In Auto Collision

LAREDO (AP) — Six persons were killed in the head-on collision of two automobiles here Saturday.
 The dead were a mother and her two children, a maid and two men.
 Mrs. Marjory Archibald, 36, Laredo, was driving with her two children and three maids when her car collided with another.
 Mrs. Archibald her son, Edward Michael, 2, her daughter, Elva Luisa and one of the maids were killed.
 Two men in the other car were killed.
 Papers on one of them bore the name of Augustin Garcia of San Antonio.
 Mrs. Archibald was the wife of John Archibald, manager of the antimony smelter of the Texas Mining and Smelter Co. here. The accident occurred near the entrance to the plant north of Laredo.

Killed In Explosion

FORT WORTH (AP) — Walter Tucker was killed Saturday in an explosion at the E. H. Robertson Fireworks Manufacturing Co. plant about 15 miles northwest of here. About 20 other employees escaped injury.
 The President of the United States had to pay for his own transportation up until the time of the automobile.

Sex

 the question decided. Others may not act for years, perhaps not until doubts arise.
 Today in Copenhagen, golden-haired Christine Jorgensen, 28, is living a new life as a woman. Only two years ago she was a soldier serving at Fort Dix, N. J.
 Medical and surgical treatments brought her transformation to a woman, correcting what Miss Jorgensen called a mistake by nature.
 A few months ago, in Aberdeen, Scotland, Dr. Ewan Forbes-Sempill announced his change to living as a man after 40 years of being a woman — Dr. Elizabeth Forbes-Sempill. He married his housekeeper.
 In New Jersey a few years ago, a 33-year-old woman, a success in business, became a man. She was found to be predominantly male in sex, and by surgery was changed to live as a man. It is rare for news of these changes to become public. Patients often keep it a secret, and take up a new life in another city.
 Many persons with the border-line sex never consult doctors. They can even be unaware that there is anything unusual — they simply accept the verdict, given at birth — that they were boy or girl. Sometimes parents fail to tell their child when a doctor has told the parents the child is partly of both sexes, said Dr. Hess.
 In 45 years' practice, Dr. Hess,

 was nosing out from the coastal shelf. It wheeled to the left and plunged into 60 feet of water.
 A mass of gasoline spread over the ocean and went up in flames.
Ten Bodies Recovered
 The control tower at Kindley saw the explosion and immediately alerted the Coast Guard.
 Ten bodies were recovered before rising winds and 10-foot search fleet into port about noon. Among them was that of the pilot, Capt. Luis Sastre. The consensus was that no others would be found.
 Sastre was considered one of Cuba's best pilots.
 Capt. Rene de Ayala, second in command who also perished, was the brother of Cuba's ambassador to France, Hector de Ayala.
 The accident was the line's first on the Madrid-Havana run, which began in April, 1948.
 Characteristics, such as face hair or breasts or body contours, may be those of the opposite sex.
 Whether such a person is truly male or female depends upon whether he has male sex glands or female. Sometimes an exploratory operation is needed to learn this.
 The pseudo-hermaphrodite is usually really a male, Dr. Hess said. The external organs, greatly resemble those of a woman.
 And the person who is really, he said, a female may have some external appearances of a man.

Corruption

 Moscow since the Ukraine was absorbed three decades ago.
Frenzied Note
 The tone of the Soviet press about crime — and such crime is nothing new — has taken on a note of frenzy. The strong political overtones of the accusations point to the drive on crime as a handy weapon to hit a lot of many party members now considered dangerous to the monolithic character of the Communist party.
 Up to a relatively short time ago the Soviet press rarely printed crime news. Crime was a state secret. But now — since the October party congress and its strongly implied crackdown — the reports come daily.
 In Communist double-talk, the crime is blamed on such things as "a formal-passive attitude" of officials, "failure to respond to signals," or a "formal-bureaucratic approach." It all adds up to the same thing: the party must get tougher. It was going soft.

Mr. And Mrs. Santa Mobbed In Pampa

Jamming the city hall lawn and surrounding streets in a solid mass of humanity, children and grownups turned out Friday night to greet Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus on their initial pre-Christmas visit to Pampa.

The program was termed the most successful Santa Claus party so far for the city. Although the program was mostly for the younger set, the big event of the evening was the drawing for the 21-inch console TV set, won by Mrs. J. C. Humphrey, 219 N. Gillespie. The set was given by the Merchants Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the party.

Decline Estimate
The crowd was so large, chamber officials declined to make any estimate of how many people attended.

Although it was one of the largest crowds for a Santa party, some complained it to be the most unruly and rowdy crowd to gather in Pampa.

One little girl narrowly escaped being trampled by the mob.

Coy Palmer, master of ceremonies, spotted the child lying on the police ramp with grownups and older children walking over her. The little girl (whose identity wasn't learned, was pulled under the crowd with only minor scratches and bruises. Palmer, in vain, tried to stop the mob, but had no more luck than if he were talking to a herd of cattle.

Candy Passed Out

When the excitement died down Santa spoke to the kids from the platform, then mingled with the youngsters on the lawn. Finally, after the drawings for merchants gifts were completed the children lined up at the east door of city hall to parade through the building main corridor and were given a bag of brightly colored candy by Santa's helpers headed by Bunny Behrman.

Under direction of Roy Johnson and his wife, Sue, playing the piano, the group sang Christmas carols and Christmas songs before the main events came off. Those winning prizes given by the various merchants were: Mrs. Kate Thomas (Gilberts), Mrs. Helen Lunsford (Rinehart-Dozier), Mrs. Howard Farley (Ford's Youth Store), Mrs. Douglas Carver (Zale's), Mrs. Clint Johnson (McCarley's), Mrs. R. A. Mack (Harvester Drug), Mrs. V. F. Jones (Friendly Men), Mrs. J. F. Kelley (Clyde's Pharmacy), Mrs. K. L. Elshaeimer (Western Auto), Mrs. A. A. Day (Shirley's Grocery), F. H. Chitwood (J. C. Penny), Joe O'Rear (Monarch Hardware), J. O. Rawls (Elmer's Super Market), N. C. Cotton (Sportsmans' Store), L. L. Prescott (Levine's).

Minor Langford (B. F. Goodrich), C. E. Hoskins (Ideal No. 2), G. J. Garrett (Singer Sewing Machine), W. L. Babb (White's Auto Store), E. M. Taylor (Murphy's), R. L. Crenshaw (Pampa Furniture), Mrs. W. W. Cheely (Addington's Western Store), E. M. Robinson (Wanner's).

Certificate Renewed For Local Librarian

The Texas State Librarian has announced that the State Board of Library Examiners met Nov. 7, 1952 in Austin and renewed the temporary county librarian certificate of Mrs. Lillian Snow for 1953.

The Board of Library Examiners annually reviews the records of county librarians as to qualifications, education and improvement in service and on these factors determines whether new temporary certificates will be issued. During the past year county librarians have attended library institutes, workshops, library schools and have studied correspondence courses at home in an effort to improve library service in their counties.

Lady Marines Have Glamor

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

Lady Leathernecks, 1952 model, definitely have glamor. This is the point the U.S. Marine Corps wants to make clear in its drive to enlist girl college graduates in its first winter training course for officers since World War II, scheduled to open at Quantico, Va., Jan. 12.

Striking proof of this contention are Lt. Ruth Marie Diamond of Knoxville, Tenn., and 2nd Lt. Johan McLamore of Pensacola, Fla., both stationed in New York and both having the time of their lives.

Both Attractive

Lt. Diamond is a blue-eyed brunette. Lt. McLamore is a pretty redhead. Both girls are the type to elicit wolf whistles in or out of uniform. Both are particular about wearing lipstick and nail polish of just the right shade to harmonize with the red cords on their caps. Both wear sheer nylons and trim high-heeled pumps with their uniforms. Both light up like neon signs when they discuss the U.S. Marines.

Says Lt. Diamond: "It may sound funny, the way I joined the Marine Corps. I was attending a fraternity dance while I was a student at the University of Tennessee, and a couple of the boys started telling me about the Marine officers' training program. I was so anxious to join up that I wired Washington. And here I am."

Sisters Sign Up

Lt. McLamore was a student at Florida State University when she and her sister, Sarah Frances, decided to join the Marines and see the world. Sister Sarah, also a lieutenant, now is in Frankfurt, Germany, one of the first two women Marine officers to be sent to Europe.

Both girls are quick to deny the opportunities for marriage are among the motives that impel a girl to join the corps. But Ruth Marie admits:

Worked On Newspaper

"The girls point out that college graduates may follow the career they choose in the Marine Corps, and get training that will fit them for civilian jobs later. Lt. Diamond worked on her hometown newspaper in Knoxville before she went into active service, and she now is a public information officer. Lt. McLamore studied sociology in college, and was personnel officer at the Marine barracks in Camp Lejeune, N. C., before reporting to New York as procurement officer, visiting colleges throughout the East.

British Humorist Tricked By Cook
 LONDON (AP) — Humorist A. P. Herbert was furious today at a great admirer of his work—his former chief cook of one day. The kitchen expert — a lady known only as Mary Jane—started work in the Herbert household yesterday. She prepared one good meal, told her boss how much she liked his writings — then disappeared with 100 pounds ($250) worth of the household silver. Scotland Yard informed Herbert more formally known as Sir Alan since he was knighted by the late King George VI in 1946—that he need not be too hurt. Mary Jane has tricked hundreds of other persons in a similar manner.

Windy McBull, Goo Eyes McFlirt Are Poison, City Police Are Told

By ED NASH

Pampa policemen have been busy this past week learning about the qualities — and quackeries — of Officers Numbskull Nowarrant, Windy McBull, Goo-Goo Eyes McFlirt and N. O. Comment.

These four and a dozen others are liberally discussed — and pictured — in a booklet on public relations put out by the Texas Police Association, a group composed of officers from police departments throughout the state.

With a twinkle in his eye — and a realization that there is solid fact packed between the humorous lines — Police Chief Jim Connor has been passing out copies of it to the other 16 men on the force.

But he is quick to emphasize that there is "absolutely nothing" to the coincidence that there are 16 men under him in Pampa's department — and 16 officers portrayed in the booklet.

Purpose of the whole thing, in the words of the preface, was "to foster better public relations" and — it sums up — "in no sense was there any desire to ridicule any officers."

And then the booklet's authors have their day — Officer Numskull — he's No. 13 — is the "briny type that batters down a door at midnight, arrests an indignant citizen and then finds he: (1) Had no search warrant, and (2) Arrested the wrong man."

"Them dumb cops done it again!" is the usual retort of the citizen to this character, the booklet insists. The "gas bag who specializes in telling 'true tales'" is named other than Officer McBull, the "one-man windstorm." And he's never bothered by the fact that he "actually swiped most of them from a 1932 Sexy Detexy Magazine, April Fool issue."

Only one combination is worse than a McBull, the booklet indicates pointedly, "and that's two."

Pampa's x-ray program is a cooperative affair. The area's medical association asks for it and supplies doctor personnel. The state department of health provides the actual machine. And the county TB group arranges for the site and the clerical help.

A GCTA drive is presently underway, Nuckols concluded, but only about half of the goal has been reached.

Important thing, ... went on, is "to catch the disease in its early stages." And, he emphasized, most persons are under the incorrect impression that once they've had a chest x-ray it's good for life — which is not the case.

The Pampans, a nurse's aid in a local hospital, was checked further by a local doctor as a receipt of the chest x-ray report. It was learned then, Nuckols continued, that several members of her family — including her mother — had died from tuberculosis. Arrangements were made through the GCTA, he explained for her to be admitted to the Denver institution. And, he added, she has a sister in Denver who was admitted to the same place and who "seems to be recovering."

Necessary papers were signed by the woman, her doctor and GCTA, which then was under an obligation to see that she had the needed materials and expenses to enter the hospital.

As the disease is considered "in its initial stages," Nuckols said, she should not have to have treatment for more than three to six months.

Free Chest X-Rays Pay Off For At Least One Pampan

A 22-year-old Pampa woman is a firm believer today in the local chest x-ray program for tuberculosis.

For "some activity" was reported on her chest x-ray return and she has been taken to a Denver tuberculosis sanatorium for treatment, according to B. R. Nuckols, treasurer of the Gray County Tuberculosis Association.

Sponsored by the state department of health, an x-ray machine checked Pampa chests during the week of Oct. 11-15. Very few persons who took the x-ray got a positive reaction. Nuckols said, "but it's those few we want to recognize so that they can get early treatment."

Officer Windy McBull tells "true tales"

still more of 'em. Crafty McGraft ("so crooked his grave will be dug with a corkscrew"). A Pe McApe, who scares youngsters so that they "want to be 'Robbers' in a game of 'Cops and 'Robbers'". And I. C. Eyes (the "freezes polar bears and kids, too, with his cold, cold glances").

Speedy Demon, a sirey-happy squawker driver, who sets motorists "a sparkling example of how NOT to drive." Cruel McMuscle (his "only muscle bigger than his bicep is squarely between his ears"). And Fatty McGrub, who "couldn't overtake a sick snail in a footrace."

Lastly, there's Office Stumble Tongue who gets so confused on the witness stand, he makes Mortimer Snerd sound like a university graduate. Brother Tongue "finds out — the hard way — that it takes brain to be a police officer."

Make full use of those brains to obtain the good will of the public, the booklet concludes in a serious vein to officers, and "your job will be greatly simplified."

Robert Ratcliff, 33, of Borger, has been fined $113 on a charge of reckless driving, following an accident in which his vehicle zig-zagged across Hwy. 152, overturned and ended up in an adjacent field.

Accident occurred Wednesday evening, 8.5 miles west of Pampa, according to the highway patrol.

Justice of the Peace Sam Lanning, Panhandle, issued the fine. Going southeast, Ratcliff rounded the top of a hill, ran around a curve, went back and forth across the highway for 100 yards before his car left the pavement. Thirty-seven yards farther on, his vehicle came to a halt.

Leaving the scene of the accident, Ratcliff was not located by patrolmen till early Thursday afternoon when he presented himself in the sheriff's office.

Officer N. O. Comment ... a two-legged clam

McBulls in a squad car who yack, yack, yack all the time."

Then there's the policeman who "missed his calline idol" — ol' Officer Goo-Goo Eyes McFlirt himself. He's "such a ham that mustard oozes out of his pores when he spots a pretty woman."

It is impossible to state exactly how to get along with women, the booklet states in a matter-of-fact tone and admits — with a faraway look in its eyes — that "a fortune awaits the man that can." Boiled down, the advice is to use common sense.

Officer N. O. Comment, he's the boy who "thinks newspapermen should have one job only — peddling papers on street corners."

This "two-legged clam wearing a badge" won't even give a reporter the time of day.

"Those thousands of news-hungry folks whom the reporter serves," the booklet tells officers straight-to-the-shoulder, "are the ones who pay your salaries."

Others useless nonentities on a police force are Puffo O'Threadbare, Club O'Tool, Badge Happy, Squander D. Money and Nasty McLoudmouth.

"Sloppily-dressed, cigar-puffing Officer O'Threadbare, a relic

Officer Numskull Nowarrant arrests wrong man of the dark ages," is a dead ringer for the "Before" of a "Before and After" ad for a tailor shop.

Muscle-heads and money-minds are personified in Officers O'Tool and Money. O'Tool and his free-swinging buddies "played such lively tunes on citizens' skulls that the music was heard in the chief's office." Whereas Money, "knowing that 'crime doesn't pay,' makes the long-suffering taxpayer pay, instead, by unbalancing budgets" with wasted money and materials.

Then there are Officers Happy and Loudmouth. Badge Happy, he's the guy who "compares rather unfavorably with a brand new second lieutenant in the Army"; and Loudmouth is "good enough to down an Army top sergeant in an exchange of wind." A real team!

Rev. Albright Is Re-Elected MA President

Rev. Lyle Albright, Church of the Brethren pastor, has been re-elected president of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance.

Other officers chosen at the monthly meeting of the Alliance were Rev. Edwin Hall, St. Paul Methodist Church, secretary and Rev. A. Bruns, Zion Lutheran Church, treasurer.

In a report on the Highland General Prayer Chapel improvement program, sponsored by the Alliance, Albright said the Union Thanksgiving service held Nov. 27 in the First Methodist Church made possible many needed improvements but added that further work is necessary.

Anyone wishing to participate in the project, he said, may send donations to the Ministerial Alliance treasurer or president.

CUERNAVACA, MEXICO—Time to be wound up before he goes to bed at night.

All of this to let you know that I don't know whether my house where there isn't a clock or a calendar.

Coming up we would, as a matter of habit, order a turkey, and send for a dozen or two relatives.

Relatives make Thanksgiving dinner. Unless the dinner table is surrounded by aunts and uncles and cousins, then it is just another meal. It might just be a breakfast in a one-roomed joint in Chicago.

When a Thanksgiving dinner is being cooked it is imperative that an aunt or two be in the kitchen, giving the turnips a whack, adding a little more cream to the mashed potatoes, and talking and tasting a blue streak.

After a Thanksgiving dinner the proper touch. They must get up from the table, say they aren't sleepy but would like to stretch out for a moment, then take off their coats and vests and lie down on the nearest possible sofa.

They don't go to sleep. They just pass out with their eyes shut.

I have never seen an uncle who couldn't time his "sofa rest" until all the dishes were done, the dining room cleaned, and nothing left for him to do. The moment he knows there isn't a lick of work for him to do he comes awake as if slapped in the face with a cold porcupine.

It is a wonder to me that women have observed Thanksgiving all these years. They are the ones who do the work. I am talking about the average home now. I guess it is quite different when there are scores of servants on hand, and no one has to lift a finger from dawn 'til sundown.

But in the American home as I know it, Mama and the aunts and the sisters do all the work. Even if there is a cook present (hired for the special day) Mama and the aunts don't trust her. They show her how to do every thing.

The gravy must be made this way. The rice cooked this way. The mince pies done just so.

If I were a woman I would call Thanksgiving off and eat, even though the turkey and dressing and gravy you get in 999 out of 1000 restaurants is plain dreadful.

The answer, and I am quite sure of this, is that women are about fifty times as nice as men, can do fifty times as much work, and have a pride in a home and the table that is set which men don't even know about.

I tip my sombrero to the American woman. She can carry her weight, and better, with any other woman in the world.

Just give me a slice of the breast, please. Right there, where the skin is crisp.

The dinner, which will be held at the school cafeteria, is scheduled for Dec. 15.

White Deer Lions See Movie On Camp

WHITE DEER (Special)—White Deer Lions were shown pictures and given an outline of activities of a crippled children's summer camp by a state Lions Club official at a meeting held recently in the school cafeteria.

Speaker was Jack Role, a camp director at the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children located at Kerrville. Approximately 40 club members were present for the evening session. T. C. Jackson presided over the meeting.

Medical Hunch Cracks Mystery On Serious Bleeding Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKSLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A medical hunch, put to a test on human volunteers, cracked a mystery about a serious bleeding disease.

And that in turn led to discovery of new kinds of blood types—a hitherto unsuspected secret of nature.

The new blood types are types of platelets, the blood cells that prevent bleeding. Their discovery gives hope for more effective blood transfusions—and help for people sick from rays from X-rays used to treat cancer or A-bombs.

Begins With Hunch

This medical detective story begins with a hunch of Dr. William J. Harrington of Washington University Medical School.

He was studying a bleeding disease, thrombocytopenic purpura, in which people lack platelets, the cells that help form blood clots. People with this illness bleed into the skin and internal organs. They become weak and anemic. If the bleeding occurs in the brain, they get strokes or die.

Some causes of purpura are known. But many were unexplained.

Dr. Harrington, a hematologist, reasoned that perhaps people with unexplained cases had something in their blood which was destroying platelets as fast or faster than they could be made in the body.

Inject Blood

The test was to inject some blood from patients with unexplained purpura into the blood of healthy persons. The young physician was his own first volunteer, followed later by other men and women in the medical school.

His hunch was right. Within a few hours, healthy persons got the bleeding disease. Some "X" stuff in sick people's blood began destroying the platelets in healthy blood.

What was the "X"?

It turned out to be antibody against platelets.

The researchers learned there are types of platelets just as there are types of red cells which determine your blood type.

Could Make Antibodies

If people had had many blood transfusions and got the platelets of a different type than their own they could make antibodies against platelets. There is, however, apparently no danger from different types of platelets in routine blood transfusions.

Transfusions of blood of the right platelet type helps some victims of purpura. The standard treatment for purpura now is to remove the spleen, which filters out damaged platelets. The damaged platelets are still good enough to prevent bleeding. The spleen is removed to keep it from taking out too many platelets.

From Radiation

The bleeding disease can also come from radiation, or sometimes from drugs which damage bone marrow, the factories of blood cells.

Many Japanese victims of A-bombs died to death because they temporarily lacked platelets, as well as other blood cells from radiation damage. This bleeding might be halted or prevented by giving bomb victims transfusions of the right type of platelets. Cancer patients suffering from overdoses of X-ray could be similarly helped.

Canadian Juniors Present Comedy Hit, 'Junior Miss'

CANADIAN (Special)—The Junior Class of Canadian High School presented the Broadway hit three-act comedy, "Junior Miss" in the high school auditorium Friday.

While the play depicts some rather impossible situations the young players and their boy and girl friends get themselves in and out of it, it is said to be especially appropriate to the season since one act takes place on "an evening late in December," and other scenes "on Christmas Morning," and "on New Year's Day."

Leading parts were played by Gaylord Gains as Harry Graves, and Glenda Hill as Grace Graves. Others in the cast are Raymond Ramirez, Carolyn Price, Anne Abraham, Clyde Ray Cain, Sandra Wilkinson, Dickie McElroy, Artis Cain, Jackie Pendergraft, Roy Flowers, Jamie McCrown, Leonard Schaefer, Orla Curmutt, Harmin Whit, and Jerry McFather.

Stage hands were Marie Lopez and Janet Forgye.

Music was by Jeanette Raymond.

Mail Important, Pampa GI Writes

Often forgotten on the home front is the fact that American servicemen overseas want all the mail from home they can get.

Such is the case of Pvt. Bobby J. Keese, Pampa, who has written The Pampa Daily News, saying he "would like very much to hear from some of the hometown girls."

About the only way he has to keep up on the Pampa news scene, he writes, is "the letters I get from my folks and the newspapers they send me."

"You'll never know what it does to a fellow over here," he adds, "when he gets mail from back home."

His address is Pvt. Keese, RA 2894615, Co. 1, 32nd Inf. Regt., APO 7, c/o P.M., San Francisco, Calif.

Plans Laid For Contest

B. E. Nuckols, county school superintendent, was expected to be among similar representatives from a four-state area at a spelling bee luncheon meeting, scheduled Saturday in Amarillo.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans for the Plains Spelling Bee, slated for May 2 in Amarillo.

The Plains area includes a 40-county area in Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

Winner of the Plains contest will compete in the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., May 18-23.

Gray County's competition tentatively scheduled to be held in Pampa two weeks before the Amarillo one — will include participants from the first through the eighth grades in all the county's schools. The county's champion will compete in Amarillo.

In addition, Nuckols said, Gray County will hold a junior competition for students in the first through sixth grades. Winner will be awarded a plaque.

The New Cabinet ...

Brownell: Wings To Limelight

By NEA Service

NEW YORK (NEA) — Out from the wings, onto the center stage of government service, steps Herbert Brownell, Jr., President-elect Eisenhower's choice for the post of Attorney-General in his new cabinet.

For many years Brownell has been an expert backstage manipulator in the Republican Party. He was, primarily, a Thomas Dewey man, and, at the Chicago convention this year when Dewey backed Eisenhower, Brownell played a leading role in getting the nomination for the General.

In fact, he is credited with devising the successful "fair play" tactics at the convention. That issue, in large part, won the nomination.

Brownell's smooth persuasion also was a determining factor. He has a way with words, although he is normally a shy man. But when he is confronted with an on-the-spot delegate, Brownell can usually be amazingly convincing.

HERBERT BROWNELL, Jr. He and Dewey reversed roles.

Herb Brownell, at 48, is a youthful, balding, smiling man with many friends. He is a successful lawyer but he will, as of Dec. 31st resign from his partner in the law firm of Lord, Day and Lord.

He's a small-town boy who made good in New York. Brownell was born in Peru, Neb., and graduated from the University of Nebraska, where his father was professor of science. He earned, took his law training at Yale, and then came to New York where he's lived since. Soon after, he met another young lawyer and the two began a friendship that has greatly influenced America. The other lawyer was Tom Dewey. Both were ambitious, both Republicans both talented. At first, it was Dewey who master-minded Brownell's campaigns.

The young Nebraskan had political hopes and, in 1931, ran for the New York State Assembly. Dewey was his campaign manager, but it was an unsuccessful campaign. The next year, Brownell ran again and this time he won. He served four years as an assemblyman.

As Dewey moved up into his rackets-busting job as New York District Attorney, Brownell, in Albany, introduced many of the legislative measures needed by his friend in New York. Then, in 1942, the Dewey-Brownell team reversed their jobs. In that year, Brownell managed Dewey's campaign for the governorship. He also managed Dewey's two successful bids for the Republican nomination, and his two unsuccessful presidential campaigns. In all those, whether crowned by success or failure for his candidate, Brownell became known as a very keen manipulator.

During all those years of politics, Brownell has also managed to become a successful, respected lawyer. He has specialized in business law, and his career is expected to be of great importance in his new job as the nation's first lawyer.

One major tribute to Brownell's persuasiveness is his wife. She was a Texas Democrat named Doris McCarter. In 1938, he persuaded her to marry him, and also persuaded her to become a Republican.

The Brownells have four children, two boys and two girls. They live in the quiet Gramercy Park section of Manhattan. They are friendly and sociable folk, and will undoubtedly fit neatly into the Washington pattern.

Mother Drives Car into Train's Path

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — A mother recently treated for a nervous condition drove her car in front of a speeding train yesterday. She and her three children were killed.

State highway police and sheriff's deputies, who found one note in Mrs. Sedora Wilson's purse and two more at her home, called it suicide.

Killed with their 37-year-old mother were John, 10, Sedora, 9 and Cries, 7.

Witnesses who saw the crash — which happened just after Mrs. Wilson dropped her husband off at work — said she pulled her car up alongside the Southern Pacific tracks, waited until the Daylight Limited was a short distance away, then drove onto the tracks.

A TEST IN TOWN? — Pampans driving down West Brown the past two or three days must have taken a second look when they saw a rotary drilling outfit rigging up inside the city limits. But there's not going to be a wildcat drilled in Pampa city limits. Independent contractor Jim Johnson explained that his new rig, which appears to dwarf the huge Fisher-Panhandle Grain Elevator, was merely being outfitted before it was moved into the field. The rig, according to Johnson, will handle a well as deep as 11,500 feet. Johnson was formerly associated with G. B. Cree and Associates, drilling contractors. (News Photo)

Westerners Crush El Paso 11, 41-7

EL PASO (AP) — Lubbock's Westerners rolled on undefeated and untied into the semi-finals of the Class AAAA schoolboy football playoff Saturday with a crushing 41-7 victory over Austin of El Paso.

The Westerners scored in the first period on a 12-yard dash by Jimmy Welch with Dickie Lowrey converting.

With 10 seconds to go in the half Jimmy Haynie passed to Benny McCollum for 19 yards and another touchdown. Lowrey converted again and the half ended 14-0.

In the third period Red Noland ran 35 yards for another touchdown and again Lowrey kicked the point.

In the fourth quarter David Bourland passed to Harrison Brock for 21 yards and the Austin touchdown was kicked by Lowrey. The extra point, but Lubbock got three more touchdowns. One was on a 27-yard run by Welch, the other a 40-yard dash by Haynie and the third on a 60-yard punt return by Jimmy Berley. Lowrey kicked two of three extra points.

A crowd of 9,000 saw the game in which Lubbock romped to 437 yards on the ground and 107 in the air while Austin could get only 141 on the ground and 30 passing.

All-District 1-4A Release Delayed; Ex-PHS Cagers Sparking In College

THE ALL-DISTRICT 1-AAAA football release has been delayed a week, according to the statistician headquarters in Amarillo.

The team was originally scheduled to be released today but the failure of one of the cities' sports writer and coach (it wasn't Pampa) to fill in their ballots is holding up the works.

The new release date has been set for next Sunday — a week from today. Sorry for the delay but this time we aren't at fault.

As was the case last year, each member city of 1-4A is allowed two ballots on picking the all-district team, one from the sports department of the city newspaper and the other from the coaching staff. No coach or scribe is allowed to vote for their own players.

This is about the best method of picking an all-star team of this type. Some frown against not being able to pick your own players but there's a good reason for not allowing this. It's only human nature for a coach of scribe to lean towards players on his team and if it were allowed each ballot would be loaded down with hometown players.

Here is a sample ballot of the one we turned in: (It's almost like the one Coach Tippis picked).

Offensive — Brady of Lubbock and Held of Odessa at ends; Gafford of Lubbock and Ebeling of Odessa at tackles; Lowrey of Lubbock and Carroll Turner of Abilene at guards; Johnson of Odessa at center; Hill of Lubbock at quarterback; Ward of Odessa and Hatfield of Midland at halfbacks; and Welch of Lubbock at fullback.

Defensive — Covington of Borger and Held of Odessa at ends; Sallee of San Angelo and Oliver of Abilene at tackle; Flores of Amarillo and Truitt of Abilene at guard; Jerry Turner of Abilene and Robert Frazier of Amarillo at linebacker; and Ward of Odessa, Hill of Lubbock and Wineburg of Odessa in the secondary.

Texas Team Wins Milk Bowl, 28-0

ROSENBERG (AP) — Mixing a few passes with a powerful ground game, Houston's Varsity Boys Club handed Boys Town, Nebraska a 28 to 0 trouncing Saturday in the National Milk Bowl.

Led by a brilliant little speedster, halfback Terry Dyal, the Houston team broke through a stout first half Boys Town defense only once but added three more touchdowns in the last half.

Houston rolled up 330 yards on the ground and added 52 more on passes, while Boys Town was mustering 87 yards rushing and none through passes.

Boys Town moved to the Varsity 10 yards line once and to the 35 twice. Its attack was led by Delton Strauman, George Du Pleasse, Dick Gayton, Max Troll and Leo and Don Hudler.

A crowd of 6000 saw the game, proceeds from which to go to Rosenburg youth projects and a Lions Club camp for crippled children at Kerrville.

IT'S A SHAME THAT Phillips had to catch Floydada on a snow covered field in their bi-district playoff last week. The Blackhaws feature a quick-opening running game and of course they couldn't go that on a snow covered and icy gridiron.

Floydada couldn't have stayed on the same field with Phillips on a dry field. If there was any doubt of this after the Phillips-Floydada game a week ago-Friday then it was all erased last Friday following Floydada's clash with Childress in the second round of the Class AA playoffs.

In the latter, Childress swamped Floydada, 32-0, a team that Phillips had walloped during the year '52.

Phillips might have gone all the way had they gotten by Floydada but the snow came and that was that.

THREE PAMPA HARVESTER basketball graduates last year got off to good starts at their respective colleges last week. Tom Smith, Ed Dumas and Jeter are continuing their basketballing at Odessa Junior College and the two were the top two scorers in the Wrangler's opening game against Decatur. Smith dunked in 23 points for scoring honors and Jeter was next with 14. The Odessans won the game, 63-47.

The third ex-Harvester, Marvin Bond, is a member of the Wayland College team. In Wayland's opener with McMurry, Marvin meshed 13 points in having a hand in guiding Wayland to victory, 81-75.

JUST AS A REMINDER—don't forget the Quarterback Club meeting tomorrow which is open to one and all women and children included. It's the final QB meeting of the year and a good program is on tap. The football banquet honoring the Harvester will be discussed and incidentally, there banquet tickets are now on sale. Tomorrow night will be a good time to pick up a ticket for the banquet.

UT'S Jones, Sewell Honored By Paper

HOUSTON (AP) — James T. Jones and Harley Sewell of the University of Texas are winners of the 1952 Houston Post awards to the most valuable Southwest Conference football players. Jones was voted the most valuable back and Sewell the most valuable line man.

Jones, director of Texas' powerful split-T offense, received five of the eight backfield votes. Single votes went to Ray Graves of Texas A&M, Dick Oscho of Texas, and Gib Dawson of Texas.

Double-duty Sewell, a power in the middle of the Longhorn line, received four of the eight lineman ballots, with two each for Tom Stohlsand, the All-American Longhorn end, and Don Rhodes, Rice linebacker.

Pampa Boxers Slate Match With Roswell

Pampa Boys Club has added Roswell, N. M., to its boxing schedule, the New Mexicans coming to Pampa Saturday night for an inter-sectional meeting.

About a dozen bouts are due to be fought on the card. It will be the first home appearance for the locals.

New Mexico Dumps Utah State, 28-0

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Without a sustained drive, the University of New Mexico Lobos shut out Utah State 28-0 Saturday to capture second place in the Skyline Conference and earn recognition as the nation's top major defensive football team.

A fourth-period drive from their own 47 to the Lobo 17 was the closest the Aggies came to cracking the stout Lobo defense that limited nine opponents to 6 points.

End Ray Guerrete blocked two points, both leading to Lobo touchdowns, and recovered a fumble that ended the Aggie fourth-period surge.

The football banquet which the Quarterback club sponsors will be held a week from tomorrow night at the high school cafeteria. The Quarterbackers have obtained the services of one of the most popular coaches of the Southwest Conference, Rusty Russell of Southern Methodist, to speak at the banquet.

In addition to Russell's appearance another highlight will be the presentation of the "Fighting Heart" award.

Tickets for the banquet will be available at the meeting to-morrow night.

The new officers elected tomorrow will assume duties next fall. Outgoing officers are Ivan Noblitt, president; Ralph McKinney, vice-president; and Warren Hasse, secretary-treasurer.

Temple To Semi-Finals With 48-14 Win Over Port Neches

TEMPLE (AP) — The Temple football juggernaut smashed Port Neches 48-14 Saturday in a Class AAA bi-district high school game. The victory sent the unbeaten Wildcats into the state semifinals against undefeated McAllen.

Temple drove for touchdowns in every quarter. The Wildcats scored once in the first and twice each in the other three quarters.

Port Neches — thoroughly outplayed — could tally only twice. And one of those was against Temple's second and third string defense in the last quarter.

Temple looked even more like the makings of the state AAA kingpin in following defending champion Breckenridge's hairline 14-13 win over Lamesa.

Whether McAllen is strong enough to stop Temple in next week's semifinals is anybody's guess. But Temple is generally favored.

Temple scored its first tally late in the first quarter when ace quarterback Doyle Traylor passed to Allan Ernst in a touchdown play that covered 22 yards.

DALLAS (AP) — The Midwest dominated the 1952 All-American academic football defensive and offensive teams, which consist of players who made outstanding records not only on the football field but in the classroom and laboratory.

The teams were selected by Lester Jordan, sports publicity director at Southern Methodist, from nominations made by newspapermen, radio announcers and publicists.

Of the 22 players on the two units, eight are from the Midwest, four from the Southwest and the East, and three from the Pacific Coast and the South.

Southwesterners on the list include Tom Catlin of Oklahoma, Dave Powell of SMU, Marshall Harris of Texas Christian and Richard Chapman of Rice.

Catlin has a B plus record as an education major. Powell made straight A's last season in business administration. Harris had four A's and one B last spring. Chapman had an A record as a physics major.

Harvesters Open Home Slate Tuesday Against Elks

3 Games Here This Week For PHS Five

The Harvester basketballers will open their home schedule in a big way this week when they take on three invading quintets, two of them with out-of-state players.

Coach Clifton McNeely's round-hallers blast the lid off the home schedule Tuesday night against the Stratford Elks and then take on two New Mexico teams later in the week. They meet Roswell Thursday night and Clovis Saturday night. All games will be played in the new Harvester gym.

The Harvesters opened the season last Tuesday night with a convincing 63-47 win over Stratford.

McNeely and assistant Terry Culley, have been drilling the Harvesters hard this week, correcting mistakes that were made in the opener against Stratford. Jimmy Bond, junior center, has taken over the lead in the vester scoring by virtue of his

Buckies Rally To Nip Lamesa, 14-13

SWEETWATER (AP) — The Breckenridge Buckaroos turned a late fourth-period break into a touchdown to eke out a 14-13 victory over the Lamesa Tornados in bi-district Class AAA schoolboy football Saturday.

The defending state champion Bucks were outplayed all the way by the underdog Tornados but fought for and got the breaks when they paid off.

Lamesa drove inside Breckenridge's 20 yard line seven times but managed to capitalize only twice.

Breckenridge trailed 13-7 with three minutes to play but made and used a good break to come through. In the final analysis it was the toe of Bobby Keith that spelled the difference as he calmly split the uprights for the winning point.

A tie would have spelled doom for the Bucks as Lamesa led in every phase of the statistics as well as in penetrations.

Breckenridge scored first, turning a pass interception into a first quarter touchdown, and led 7-0 at halftime. Billy Dendy intercepted a pass on the 37-yard line from Lamesa quarterback Johnny Jones and ran it back 27 yards to the Lamesa 11. He passed eight yards to Keith, then cracked the middle for three yards and the touchdown in two tries.

There were just 40 seconds left in the quarter when Keith converted his first of two extra points.

Lamesa came back strong in the second half to drive for two scores and a lead that all but stood up. Jones passed to Sherrod Dunn for seven yards and a touchdown to terminate a 47-yard drive late in the third period.

Another pass by the same combination was good for 27 yards to the three in the fourth period to lead to Lamesa's second touchdown. Glenn Creelless, who was wide with his conversion attempt after the first touchdown, drove over from the three to put Lamesa out in front.

Leland Bartlett converted to make the score 13-7.

Breckenridge was forced to punt late in the fourth period but Jimmy Robinson fumbled on the Lamesa 25 and Kenneth Ford, the Buck's all-state quarterback, recovered on the 34. A 15-yard rushing penalty sent the Bucks to the 19; Dendy moved the ball to the one in five plays and Keith plowed the middle for the score, then converted for the winning point.

Breckenridge intercepted a desperation Lamesa pass in the 32-yard line and was in possession as the game ended.

A crowd of about 4,500 saw the game.

Houston Thumps Wyoming, 20-0

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston sput-third quarter. End Ronald Folks tared miserably for two quarters recovered. Pridgeon went over against an unfamiliar single wing. A 25-yard pass from quarter-offense yesterday and then ex-back Newton Shows to end Vice-Hampel started the 85-year drive ploded for three last half touch-downs for a 20 to 0 victory over Wyoming.

The Missouri Valley champions, and carries by Collier and half-puzzled by their first look at the single wing in 23 games, cashed in on a fumble and blocked punt and drove 85 yards for its touchdowns.

Wyoming saw first half threats stopped on the Houston 8 and 1 and a final quarter drive die on the Cougar 19.

Halfbacks Ken Pridgeon and Wendell Collier plunged over from the 1 for two Houston touchdowns, while end Frank James recovered in the end zone for another after blocking a punt by Wyoming's Chuck Spaulding.

Houston thus finished its best and before losing the ball on the season in seven years of football, 1 on downs with 42 seconds left. Its eight victories were offset only by defeats from Mississippi and Texas A&M.

It was Spaulding's fumble on the Wyoming 9 that led to the first Pridgeon, Collier, James; conversion touchdown early in the

Harvesters Open Home Slate Tuesday Against Elks

3 Games Here This Week For PHS Five

North Carolina State at Lubbock yesterday afternoon. Jerry started against the University of Tulsa last week. Another Harvest-ex, little Elmer Wilson, saw lots of action in Tech's 54-7 win yesterday. Wilson carried the ball several times for good gains.

Tech Rips Wolfpack, 54-7

LUBBOCK (AP) — North Carolina State's Wolfpack absorbed the full wrath of a Texas Tech eleven on that had won only two games by this year and the Red Raiders and 53 yards, quarterback Jerry Frantz to a 51-7 victory in an inter-sectional game Saturday.

The Raiders scored two touchdowns in each quarter and didn't allow the Wolfpack past Tech's 32-yard line until quarterback Eddie Frantz hit end Harry Lodge with a 25-yard scoring pass in the third.

Outside of that the Wolfpack never threatened although rolling yardage up to midfield. The Raiders scored on two of their first three plays from scrimmage.

Touchdowns were cheap. Full-back Sandy Welton raced 41 yards for the first tally. Halfback Bob Cavazos scored on runs of 22 and 33 yards, and quarterback Jerry Frantz twice went over on six-yard sprints, halfback Doug Lewis ran a kickoff back 89 yards, end Vic Spooner took a 36-yard pass from John Mouchon for the seventh score and end R.D. Bradley Frantz hit end Harry Lodge with a 25-yard scoring pass in the third.

The Raiders rolled to 516 yards on the game and 17 through the air, while holding the Wolfpack to 253 yards total.

Coach DeWitt Weaver cleared his bench during the game and virtually everyone took part in the action.

Tech wasted no time scoring, Welton breaking over left guard and racing 41 yards for the first touchdown with 2:40 on the clock. A weak punt by fullback Alex Webster that travelled only eight yards to the 22 set up only a five yard jump pass on the 20, and scored.

Tech's seventh touchdown came after tackle Bobby Lambert recovered a Webster fumble on the Wolfpack 35. On the first play John Mouchon hit Spooner in the end zone.

Moments later, after fullback Joe Berringer had picked up seven yards, a free-for-all broke out between players of both teams.

Play from that point on was gull. The final Raider score was a 39 yard dash by Bradshaw after he intercepted a pass.

Florida Hands Kentucky 27-0 Grid Licking

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Rick Casares threw a surprise 29-yard pass to Papa Hall the first time Florida got the ball yesterday and it set the stage for a resounding 27-0 victory for the Gator Bowl-bound Gators over Kentucky.

Charlie Larradd, Florida's first All-America in 25 years, was the heart of a defensive line that had a large part in the victory, as it has in the other six the Gators won.

The defense shook Kentucky loose from the ball for five fumbles and one pass interception.

The victory gave Florida sixth place in the Southeastern Conference and the Gator's best winning record since 1929. They will carry a 7-3 mark into the Gator Bowl against Tulsa.

Principally off a great running crew of Casares, Hall and Buford, Long, Florida went into the game a one-touchdown favorite.

The decisive victory over a Kentucky team that tied Tennessee its last time out and hadn't lost since midseason was the result of an unexpected passing attack featuring Casares, Doug Dickey and Fred Robinson in the throwing role.

Casares, Long and Sam Oosterhout each scored a Florida touchdown on short runs and Robinson threw 17 yards to end Curtis King for the other.

Steve Meilinger, Kentucky great all-around athlete, gave Florida the most trouble as expected. He ran for 110 yards in 17 plays but the Wildcats missed him at his natural position — end — and completed only one pass in 10 tries. That was a 12-yard toss to Larry Jones after Florida substitutes had taken over.

Kentucky outdistanced Florida's highly regarded runners, 258 yards to 127, but when the Wildcats came anywhere near Florida's goal the defense stood like 11 rocks. The times they got was the Florida 22 on a fumble by Gator freshman Harry Wing in the first quarter. Four plays later Florida took over on downs at the 26.

Ability To Hold Ball Leads Longhorns To SWC Crown

DALLAS (AP) — Like to know why Texas won the Southwest Conference football championship without losing a game?

Sure, the Longhorns just outscored the opposition, but the main reason was that they had the ball more than anybody else.

The Longhorns, in their six conference games, ran 397 rushing plays, which was 89 more than any other team in the conference. Rice was second with 306 and Rice finished second.

The final statistics, released by the conference today, also reveal that Texas used the forward pass more sparingly than anybody else but did all right with what it used. In 89 throws, the Longhorns completed 40 for an average of .449.

Quinn Leads On Ground

Texas also led the conference in both offense and defense, a fine combination for championship hopes. On offense, the Longhorns were far ahead. They averaged 267 yards per game. The next best was Rice with 304.5. Defensively, Texas allowed the opposition only 78.3 yards on the ground and 112.8 passing for a total defense average of 191.1. That was far and away better than any other team. The next best was 233.2 allowed by Southern Methodist.

Billy Quinn, the great Texas sophomore, was the most effective ground gainer. He was second in total yards but No. 1 in average among regular ball carriers. Richard Ochoa of Texas led with 561 yards while Quinn was second with 535 but Ochoa averaged 4.5 and Quinn 5.5.

Graves Best Passer

Among the regular passers — those who threw 80 or more — Ray Graves of Texas A&M had the best average. Graves tried 89 and completed 45 for 502 yards and an average of .505. Ray McKown of Texas Christian led the conference with 42 of 87 for 536 yards but his average was .483. T Jones of Texas was second with 34 of 76 for 534

North Texas Wins Wayland Tourney

PLAINVIEW (AP) — North Texas State captured the Wayland College invitation basketball tournament last night with a 80-69 win over Texas Tech.

East Central of Ada, Okla., took third by nipping host Wayland College 62-61. The first round was Thursday night, North Texas whipped Wayland 74-71 and Tech beat East Central 69-67.

Browns Aim At 7th Straight NFL Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Shooting for their seventh straight divisional title, the Cleveland Browns are to be sweet, could be back for strong favorites to defeat the Chicago Cardinals Sunday and clinch at least a tie for the American Conference championship of the National Football League.

And the Browns can clinch the flag outright if they win and both New York and Philadelphia lose.

New York and Philadelphia each has a 6-4 record, while the Browns have a 7-3 mark. So a Cleveland victory, and losses by New York and Philly, would send the Browns into the championship play-off game and a chance to regain the title they lost last year.

After Sunday, there'll be only one game left to play — so both New York and Philadelphia must win to stay in contention.

Dallas May Upset

The injury-riddled Giants, butchered last week in Pittsburgh, 63-7, entertain the Washington Redskins, while Philadelphia plays host to Dallas.

Off the records, Philly has the better chance of winning. Its opponent, Dallas, has won only once in 10 starts. But then the Texans

In the National Conference, meanwhile, the situation should be much clearer by nightfall.

In this race, Detroit seems to have the edge. The Lions are tied with Los Angeles each 7-3 for the top spot, but the schedule favors the Detroiters in the last two games.

Green Bay 6-4 is tied for the runner-up slot in the National Conference with San Francisco. Just a game behind Detroit and Los Angeles, San Francisco, which has cooled with the weather, entertains that red-hot Pittsburgh team which simply murdered the Giants last week.

Grudge Match Tops Mat Card

A grudge winner-take-all match will feature Wednesday night's wrestling card at the Southern Club.

Meeting in this match will be Jesse James and George Overhuls. It will be the second match between the two here within two weeks time and the first match created some ill feelings between the two ruffians thus the reason for the grudge and winner-take-all.

They will meet in a 2-out-of-3 fall match with no time limit set.

On the supporting card, Whitely Wahlberg, making his first appearance here since last winter, meets newcomer Buck Lipscomb of Reynoldsburg, O., in the semi-final, and Tommy Martindale grapples Gene Blackley in the preliminary.

Blackley is returning to the ring in a wrestler's role for the first time in several months due to an injury. Blackley has been refereeing frequently during his absence from combat.

Tickets for Wednesday's show will go on sale at the Sportsmen Store Wednesday at 1 p.m.

Gunlock, Clem To Captain SMU

DALLAS (AP) — Co-captains of the Southern Methodist University Mustang football team next season will be Jack Gunlock of Breckenridge and Jerry Clem of Texarkana.

The linebackers were elected last night at the annual team banquet.

Lettermen for the 1952 season, announced by Dr. Edwin Mouton, included the following:

Joe Basquez, Ed Bernet, Ronnie Case, Jerry Clem, Don Cole, Bill Crisler, Bob Cadwallader, Harry Dean, Frank Eldom, Tommy Fields, Bill Forester, Bill Fox, Gene Gillis, Don Goss, Jack Gunlock, Tommy Hiarson, El Hansen, Jimmy Hawn, Darrell LaFitte, Wayne Ligon, Alex Litowkin, Don Miller, Lou Miller, Gale Mills, Dale Moore, Benton Muslewitke, Doyle Nix, Jerry Norton, Duane Nutt, Roy Pacl, Buford Partee, Dave Powell, Dave Riley, Bill Rippey, Sam Stollenwerck, Paul Turk and Val Joe Walker.

1-3A Admits Breckenridge

SWEETWATER (AP) — Dist. 1-AAA officials yesterday voted to admit Breckenridge High School.

Breckenridge, state AAA football champion last year, had been homeless since it was dropped by Dist. 2-AAA recently. Because Breckenridge does not have sufficient enrollment it must be invited to compete in a Class AAA loop.

Officials also approved Vernon as a Dist. 1-AAA member. Vernon is already in the loop and this action assured that school a spot for next year.

Other schools in the league are Plainview, Snyder, Sweetwater, Big Spring and Lamesa.

13 Games Stated This Week As SWC Opens Cage Schedule

By the Associated Press

Four of the seven teams swing into action Wednesday—the date this week as the Southwest Conference launches its basketball campaign.

Arkansas goes to Tulsa, Texas A & M enters the University of Houston. Texas Christian plays Hardin-Simmons at Fort Worth and Texas is host to Oklahoma at Austin.

Thursday finds Baylor starting the campaign against Lamar at Waco while Rice opens against Sam Houston State at Houston and Southern Methodist blasts off the lid against Hardin-Simmons at Dallas.

Three Favorites

Rice, Southern Methodist and Arkansas are considered the top teams with the latter moving more into contention without having played a half because of the way it was clobbered in practice under its new coach, Glen Rose. Father, Rose is returning to Arkansas after an absence of 10 years. He was the producer of champions when he was at Arkansas before.

Arkansas has its tallest team in history.

Southern Methodist is rated high because it finally has some top-notch tall fellows to go with a good nucleus of fast, lusty men. Rice is back with much of the same team that was a scoring terror last season but couldn't keep the other side from scoring more.

Friday night, Texas A&M plays North Texas at Louisiana at College Station while Texas Christian engages Abilene Christian at Fort Worth.

Saturday night finds Arkansas playing Mississippi State at Fayetteville, Baylor battling high-scoring Southwest Texas State at Waco. Rice meeting mighty Kansas at Houston and Southern Methodist engaging Oklahoma at Norman.

Since six of the week's games are inter-sectional affairs, a quick indication of conference strength is due. The Rice-Kansas game is one of the country's feature games. Kansas was national champion last season.

Lefors, White Deer Put Three On All-District 1-A Eleven

The Lefors Pirates and White Deer Bucks, who finished 1-2 in the District 1-A grid race the past season, led the balloting for all-district honors, each landing three players on the mythical team.

For the champion Pirates, Billy Watson, quarterback; Jim Doorn, fullback; and R. J. Wooten, center, won a spot on the first team. White Deer placed Cordell Pugh at right half back; Morlan Shuman at left tackle; and Don Denham at right end.

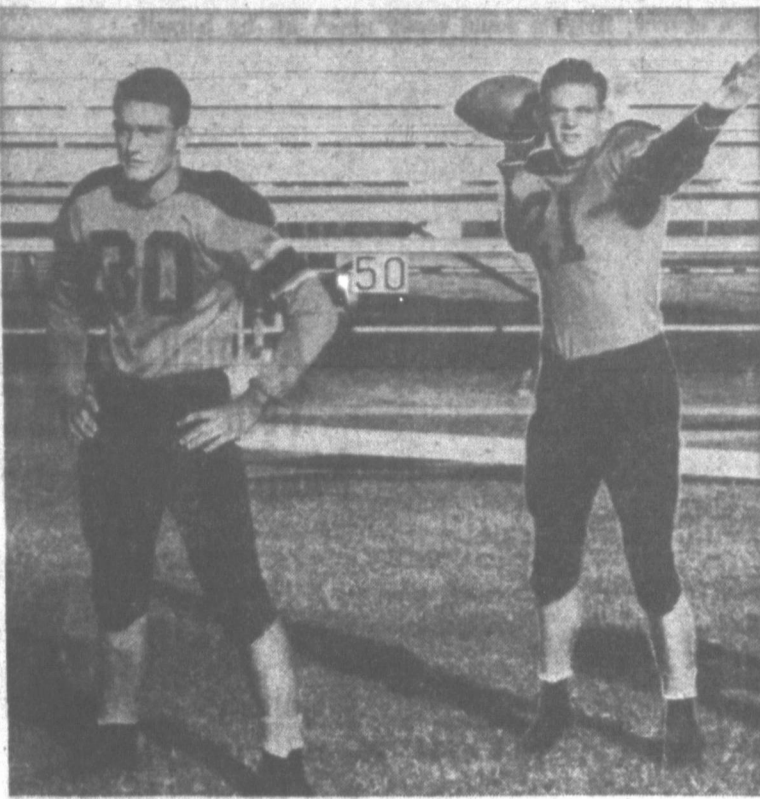

The McLean Tigers landed two on the first team while the other three teams in the district, Clarendon, Panhandle and Canadian, each landed one to round out the first team.

The Panhandle Panthers grabbed the most spots on the second team with four. Panhandle thus tied Lefors who placed two on the second team in getting most spots on the two teams, each being represented at five positions.

Two of the first team members are repeaters from last year. Doorn of Lefors and Conklin of Canadian. Doorn, however, made last year's team at an end. Conklin was named at a guard position both years.

Murff of Clarendon made the second team last year and moved up to first this season. Panhandle's Lewellen made the second team both last year and this year. He was named at fullback last season on the second eleven and at a halfback this season.

The All-District teams were selected by the district committee which is composed of the coaches of the member schools.

LEFORS ALL-STARS — Shown are two lads that figured heavily in leading the Lefors Pirates to the District 1-A championship this season, Jimmy Doorn, left, and Billy Watson. Their play merited them a spot on the All-District 1-A team that was named last week. Doorn, one of the two repeaters on the first team, was named at fullback. Watson was selected as quarterback.

P. E. At P. H. S. Soccer Play To Resume This Week

The intramural soccer season at P.H.S. has been slowed to a stop the past several weeks because of the snow, holidays, etc., but will be resumed next week, weather permitting. An attempt will be made to play the remaining three games (including the championship game) before the Christmas holidays so as to clear the way for the basketball season. Teams Two and Four are presently tied for top honors with one win apiece while Team Three's balance sheet shows one win and one loss. Team One has been eliminated.

Awards have been presented to the intramural flag tag champions for 1952, to Team Two "Pack Rats." The bronze medals are faced with the raised figure of a football player with goal posts in the background. The following boys received the awards: Bobby Turnbo, Jack Gilpatrick, Darrell Godfrey, Robert Craig, Freddie James, Billy Willis, Ronald McDaniel, Jerry Cox, Marvin Allison, and Capt. David Cartwright.

Although the official intramural basketball competition will not begin until the first week of next semester, five team rosters have already been submitted and several others are expected before the deadline for entries next Friday. Members of the five eight-man teams are:

TEAM ONE
 Butch Shepherd, Billy Willis, Gary Frasher, Eddie Collum, Rodney Bean, Max Scott, Lynn Love and Bobby Turnbo.
TEAM TWO
 Glen Adams, Jerry Pyle, Charles Sortori, Jean Martindale, Richard Cowan, Gerald Marlair, J. T. Lamberson and Jack Gilpatrick.
TEAM THREE
 Charles Martin, Norman Frost, Billy Light, Danny Schroedel, Donald Fry, Don Stembidge, Elvly Baumgardner and Bob Patterson.
TEAM FOUR
 Ronnie Powell, DeWayne Maddox, Rich Hankins, Jimmy Malone, Jimmie Ayres, Earl Brewer, Jarvis Johnson and David Cartwright.
TEAM FIVE
 Fred Randall, Billy Ed Cooper, Dale Tucker, Clendon Hemshell, Derrell Setz, Deibert Daniels, Gerald Mobley and Derrell Godfrey.

higher scores. At the time the team was undefeated. But there was no more tolerance this year than any we can recall. Every team in the conference lost as many as two games and the record in inter-sectional play was poor indeed. But when there was grumbling at Rice, Dick Freeman of the Houston Chronicle pointed out just how silly it was to want Jess Neely's scalp since he was a fine coach and had compiled a most excellent record — and was just as good as a coach this year as he was in 1949 when his team won the championship. The grumbling subsided.

SMU Happy With Russell
 At Southern Methodist, the athletic committee issued a statement that it was happy with Rusty Russell, thought he had done a good job, that SMU never had fired a coach and wasn't planning to start now.

There was a humorous little side light. Some fellows called on athletic Director Matty Bell and suggested that he fire Russell. Matty reminded those fellows that came to him and wanted him to retire from coaching so Russell could have the job. That silenced them.

Coach Ed Price at Texas never worried about ulcers, said folks. When he took the job he said folks had ulcers in any kind of business. Price's team lost two games but developed into a real powerhouse down the Southwest Conference stretch. And Ed had many sophomores. We've seen the time when losing two games at Texas would have put the coach on the rack even if he had been forced to use all sophomores. But everybody seems to be very happy at Texas. They certainly should be.

George Popular
 Ray George grew more popular than ever at Texas A & M although his Aggies won only three games. Considering his material, George did an outstanding job. But back when Homer Norton was the coach they wanted to fire him when his team won only three games. In fact, they bought up his contract.

Coach Dutch Meyer at Texas Christian won only four games but if he leaves TCU it will be on his own volition — he's been wanting to retire for several years. But nobody wants him to retire.

Yes, sir; the coaches got along better than even the sports writers who got chewed out by the populace for making such lousy predictions and for stirring up a controversy or two. We feel an ulcer coming on.

Cross, Little Texan With 10-Gallon Heart, Keeps Cards' All-League Backs On Bench

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
 NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Any one watching the Chicago Cardinals would be prompted to comment that irreplaceable Willie Veeck finally had gotten into the football act.

How else explain the midge-like character scampering around in the backfield?
 Billy Cross, the Texas Panhandle halfback with the 10-gallon heart, is a National League phenomenon. At 150 pounds ("And that's before a game," smiles Billy), he's the smallest man in professional ball by 15 pounds. Yet he's close to all-league caliber in ability and results.

The first time Mrs. Violet Bidwell Wollmer, owner of the Cards, saw the five-foot-five Texan strolling with a foot taller and in the 1951 training camp, she asked seriously, "Whose son is that?"
 The first time he ran against the arch-rival Bears, Little "Criss" Cross clarified his recruit status. His teammates voted him the most valuable player of the game.

"I knew I'd made the grade," recalls Billy. "They don't give you many pats on the back in pro ball, and a little fella like me needs all the extra encouragement he can get."

How can a little man buck those 225-pound lines?
 "The first thing you learn," says Billy, "is to take care of yourself. When I'm going into a line and see a guy like Arnie Weinmeister of the Giants, I know I'm not going through. He only outweighs me 100 pounds. So I kinda relax for the impact. I give. That way I don't get hurt. But give me a little daylight, and the chase is on."

"Fans see Billy as a scabback, and that's all," but in gigantic Jerry Groom, a mate and erstwhile Notre Dame All-American. "Why, he's a terrific blocker and tackler."

"I was the 33rd draft choice of the Cardinals," says Cross. "Frank Kimbrough, my coach at West Texas State, wrote a letter that helped get me a fair trial."

SPORT SHOTS
 Year Easy On SWC Coaches

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
 Associated Press Sports Editor

Since it was such a bad year in Southwest Conference football, you might assume that the coaches were given plenty of trouble. But the coaches got along as well if not better than anybody. No one was fired and several of them were praised highly for doing what they did with what they had.

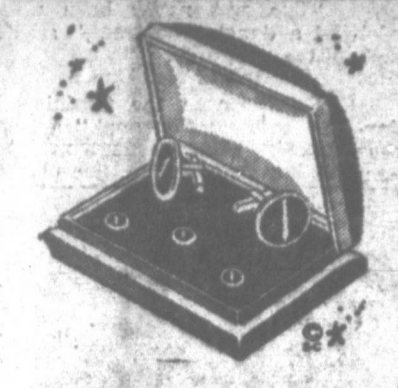

The only casualty was Otis Douglas at Arkansas and it was his own idea. He didn't have to quit — he had been given faculty tenure and could have stayed at Arkansas as long as he wanted to although his team lost eight out of ten.

There were rumblings among the fans at Southern Methodist, Rice and Texas Christian but they were little more than you'll find any year in the Southwest Conference.

There was a time, some years ago, when we encountered fans at the University of Texas who were in favor of firing the coach because his team didn't roll up

French Miss Wants Dance Role In Films

By TOM MASTERSON
 PARIS (AP) — Brigitte Bardot is a young and attractive French actress with a passion for ballet dancing.
 Though she has already starred in two French films, she has never danced before a camera.

This gives her a chance to show off her shapely legs, and a shapely torso, too. But she still didn't get a chance to dance.
 Brigitte likes acting, "but I much prefer dancing," she said in an interview.
 Tall, slender
 Some critics who have seen her dance think that if she were given a chance, Brigitte could easily become another Leslie Caron, who became an overnight sensation in the film "An American In Paris."
 Brigitte, who is tall, slender and ash blonde, wants that chance. She has a manager and a lot of friends in the movie business who are looking for parts for her. But she wrangled the leads in "Le Trou Normand" and "Manina" all by herself.
 Brigitte has coquettish eyes and an infectious smile. She's pretty and she's photogenic, and off the screen she looks no older than her 18 years. In pictures, however, she's a sultry and sexy young damsel.
 There are many species of kangaroo on New Guinea, some are larger than fox terriers.

tell, that his partner would have the ace of clubs instead of the king and queen of hearts.
 The important thing was to cash a sure trick first and decide on the correct continuation after taking a look at the dummy and seeing partner's signal.

Business Highlights

NEW YORK — J. C. Penney Company, nation-wide department store organization, announced today that its directors have authorized a special year-end payment for more than 50,000 associates in the company's 1,329 stores, offices and warehouses throughout the United States.

The payment will be an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all fulltime associates who have been employed for the full year 1952, and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year.

All Penney associates will share in the payment except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long-standing profit-sharing plan. It will be made December 15 at each associate's December 15 rate of pay.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's Bid Advice Worth Knowing

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for NEA Service
 West was a very experienced player, but he made a very wooden opening lead in today's hand. If a good, experienced player can make this sort of mistake perhaps a word on the subject won't go astray.

The spade lead gave declarer no trouble at all. Dummy took the first trick with the ace of spades, and declarer drew trumps. He could then discard dummy's losing hearts on the ace and king of clubs, after which he could easily claim the rest of the tricks. Obviously the defenders could have taken the first two tricks if West had begun by laying down the ace of hearts. "How was I to know about that?" West wailed when the hand was over.

The bidding actually told the whole story. Whenever the dummy shows a very strong side suit and tremendous trump support for the opening bid, it's a good idea for the opening leader to lay down an ace if he has one.

Fasten that advice in the back of your hat so that you'll remember it in situations of this kind, and you'll save thousands of points at the bridge table.

When declarer has a solid trump suit and a very good side suit, he can usually make a slam unless the defenders begin by taking two tricks. As now as declarer gains the lead he can draw trumps and get all the discards he needs on dummy's long suit.

Hence, whenever the bidding warns you that this is the situation (as West should have been warned by the bidding in today's hand) you must concentrate on winning two tricks before giving up the lead.

Since West held an ace, he should have laid it down in the hope of finding the correct continuation after seeing the dummy. This would, of course, have been easy. East would have signalled with the king of hearts to request a continuation, and West would have led another heart to defend the contract.

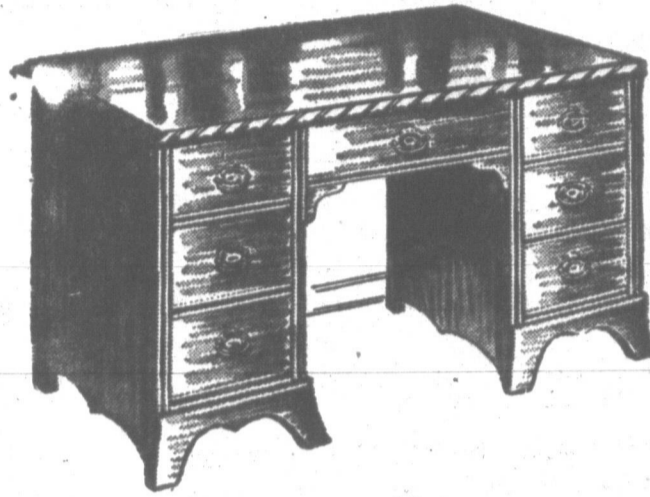

West had no way of telling, of course, that two heart tricks could be won immediately. It was possible, for all West could

Chambers' Father's Vows Solemnized

In a ceremony at 5:30 p. m. Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church, Canadian, Frances Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Chambers, Canadian, became the bride of C. Warren Fatheree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Fatheree, 919 Christine.

Dr. Douglas Nelson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Pampa, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Decorations included baskets of white mums, woodwardia fern and branched candelabra with long white tapers graduating toward the altar. White satin bows and mums were used in marking family seating arrangements.

George Tubb, organist, played "Clair de Lune," "Oh Promise Me," and "Sweet Mystery of Life." Mr. Herbert Hest sang "I Love You Truly." Mr. Tubb also played the traditional wedding marches.

Bridesmaids were Joan Hutchinson, Oklahoma City; Margaret Holt, Wheeler; Frances Shaller, Canadian and Mary Jane Dean, Idabel, Okla. They all wore floor length sea fern green velvet and net dresses with light bodices and bouffant skirts and matching mitts. Half crown hats were complemented with matching veils and bouquets were of white miniature mums and holly.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jack Osborne, sister of the bride, Amarillo. She wore red ember velvet and net dress fashioned with a light bodice, bouffant skirt, matching mitts and a half hat with veil.

Ring bearer, Alan Osborne, nephew of the bride, wore a navy blue suit.

Hobart Fatheree, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Groomsmen included Dayid Fatheree, brother of the bridegroom; John Chambers, brother of the bride, Canadian; Joe Cree, Pampa, and Wayne Fahle, Lubbock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Frank M. Chambers, chose for her wedding a floor length dress of white oriental lace with a triple-tiered fingertip veil of French illusion which cascaded from a tiara of orange blossoms incrustated with pearls. Her gown had a fitted bodice with a round illusion yoke of net and a short train with long lace sleeves. The bride's corsage was a white orchid with stepanotis.

Peg O' Pampa

PEG THINKS ITS WONDERFUL the way the students in Miss Roy Riley's Junior High School art classes are working on lawn displays for their homes this Christmas. They say they are inexpensive and easy to make. All you need is a little imagination. Mary Ann Howard, Alvin Daurer, Mary Innon, and Kenneth McWaters were pictured in the paper recently working on very novel Santa Clauses.

YOU KNOW AROUND the holiday time it is always nice to have cookies, cakes or candy on hand. Ran across this cookie recipe of Mrs. K. M. Meyers in a cook book distributed some time ago by the Junior High Parent-Teacher's Association. I tried it out and the cookies were so good that Peg wanted to pass the recipe on to you who may have been looking for just this kind.

Christmas Rocks

- | | |
|------------------------------|--|
| 1 1/2 cups sugar | citron, dates, grapefruit or orange peel |
| 3 eggs | 1 cup butter |
| 1 tbsip. cocoa | 3 cups flour |
| 1-2 tsp. ginger | 1 tsp. cinnamon, mace and nutmeg |
| 1-2 tsp. allspice | 24 tsp. soda |
| 1 tsp. strong coffee | 1-2 cup currants, seeded |
| 1 cup seeded raisins | 1-4 cup candied cherries |
| 1 lb. nut meats | |
| 4 lb. each candied pineapple | |

Mix as for any fruit cake. Drop by teaspoons on oiled cookie sheet. Bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees for 12 to 18 minutes. Should not be brown, but a rich biscuit color. Store in jars. Sprinkle with sherry if desired. The longer they stand the better they are.

HOPE THAT any of you whose children have toys that they no longer play with or toys that may be damaged somewhat will remember that the Pampa Fire Department is offering to do minor repair and paint jobs on damaged toys and act as a receiving station for new ones to be given to the underprivileged children this Christmas. As yet there have been very few toys turned in to the firemen. Peg understands that it has been requested by Chief Ernest Winborne that toys be brought in as quickly as possible as there is little time left to make necessary repairs.

WELL, MR. AND MRS. SANTA CLAUS, after having to postpone their visit to Pampa once finally arrived Friday evening and were met by a host of children and grown-ups on the north side of the City Hall. Santa and his helpers passed out hundreds and hundreds of bags of brightly colored Christmas candy to those children who had been eagerly anticipating his and Mrs. Santa's visit.

HEARD SOMEWHERE THAT RANDALL CLAY, former Pampa High School and Texas University football star and son of the Jeas Clays, had his own television show in San Antonio. Wish someone would write in and give Peg further information. Don't know what kind of show it is, but a guess is that it may be on sports. The possibility of receiving clear television in Pampa is getting closer and closer with the Amarillo station due to go on the air with television in a few months. Then watch the television aerials sprout up.

TV OR NOT TV
Make my aerial wide and high.

McMullan, minister of the local Assembly of God Church, was among a group of United States ministers who attended a church conference in England and toured the Holy Land during June.

PEG HAS COME TO the conclusion that it would be smarter to let the car in the garage and do a little more walking down town during the month of December. You know it is getting to be next to impossible to find a place to park during the Christmas rush. But then you would be stuck with a lot of packages to carry around, so Peg guesses you can't win. Anyway I'm trying to think of a solution to this "solutionless" problem.

'Til next week then,

Many Texas Lawmakers Give Thought To Convention Plan

(EDITORS NOTE: This is another story analyzing the findings of an Associated Press survey of what state senators and representatives think will be the most vital issues facing the 53rd Legislature when it meets, Jan. 13.)

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN (AP) — This year's presidential conventions have left a lot of Texas lawmakers thinking about revising the system.

How it should be revised, however, appears to be headed for plenty of debate in the 53rd Legislature beginning Jan. 13.

An Associated Press survey of the legislators shows both friends and foes of a presidential preference primary similar to those of many other states. That system lets the people ballot to determine whom the state's delegation should support initially at national party conventions.

Sen. Jimmy Phillips, Angleton, already has announced he will introduce such a bill. He said it will put presidential nominations directly in the hands of voters instead of backstage politicians. Gov. Shivers has indicated he would probably support a preference primary in some form.

Phillips' bill undoubtedly will undergo considerable revision in its trip through the legislative mill. How much support it gets, of course, depends on the nature of those changes and its final form.

a motor scooter unit would be of invaluable service in a disaster," said David.

He pointed out that a motor scooter unit could be used for liaison work where small vehicles are able to traverse many places that an automobile could not.

It could serve as a motorized auxiliary police patrol. Bandages, gauze and antiseptics could be ferried quickly about a disaster area, he added. One manufacturing concern makes an elongated sidecar that can be attached to motor scooter to serve as a stretcher for wounded, a device not uncommon in defense plants during World War II.

Hot food and coffee could be made available quickly with motor scooters as transportation.

Specially manufactured flood-lights adaptable to scooters would allow a congested area to be lighted up after dark in case of failure of regular power.

Lewis Out Of U. S. When HST Okayed $1.90 Wage

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis is hardly the man to go scampering out of the country when his miners' wages are at stake and he might have to call a strike if they didn't get what they wanted.

Yet, there he was off in South America when the announcement came that President Truman had overruled his top stabilization officials to give Lewis' coal miners a $1.90 a day pay raise they wanted.

Roger Putnam, the economic adviser, broke the news to reporters. Under questioning, Putnam said the President had reached his decision about a week ago.

Since that would have been a couple of days before Lewis took off southward, it's possible he knew what the President's decision was. How he knew it, if he knew it, was not disclosed. Maybe a birdie told him.

Lewis Does All Right

But the thundering Lewis, who supported the Democrats in the presidential election, has never been very uncomfortable under government wage controls. In fact, he's made out dandy.

On Jan. 18, 1951, Lewis and the coal mine owners agreed on a wage increase of $1.50 a day for the miners. Eight days later the government froze all wages and prices.

But the government sent Lewis on his way with official blessing, deciding he could keep his raise all right since he had obtained it before the freeze went in. But it had a say on all raises agreed

This fall Lewis reached another agreement with the mine owners, giving his miners a boost of $1.90. But this time Lewis couldn't get it, or so it was thought unless the wage Stabilization Board approved.

Lewis Supports Demos

Meanwhile, on Oct. 13 Lewis and his miners decided to support the Democrats in the presidential campaign of Gov. Stevenson although Lewis' relations with Truman until then had been less than cozy.

A few days later the Wage Stabilization Board made up its mind that the miners under a wage control program, were entitled to no more than $1.50 a day.

For a week the miners went on strike. This winter, winter was approaching. Truman called Lewis and Harry M. Moses, representing the mine owners, to the White House where he promised them fair treatment. Lewis called off the strike.

Lewis and Moses appealed to Putnam to overrule the wage board. Putnam wouldn't. Neither would Henry M. Fowler, the mobilization boss. So Truman stepped in and gave Lewis what he wanted.

The $1.90 a day this time, gives Lewis' miners a total daily increase of $3.50 a day in less than two years under wage stabilization.

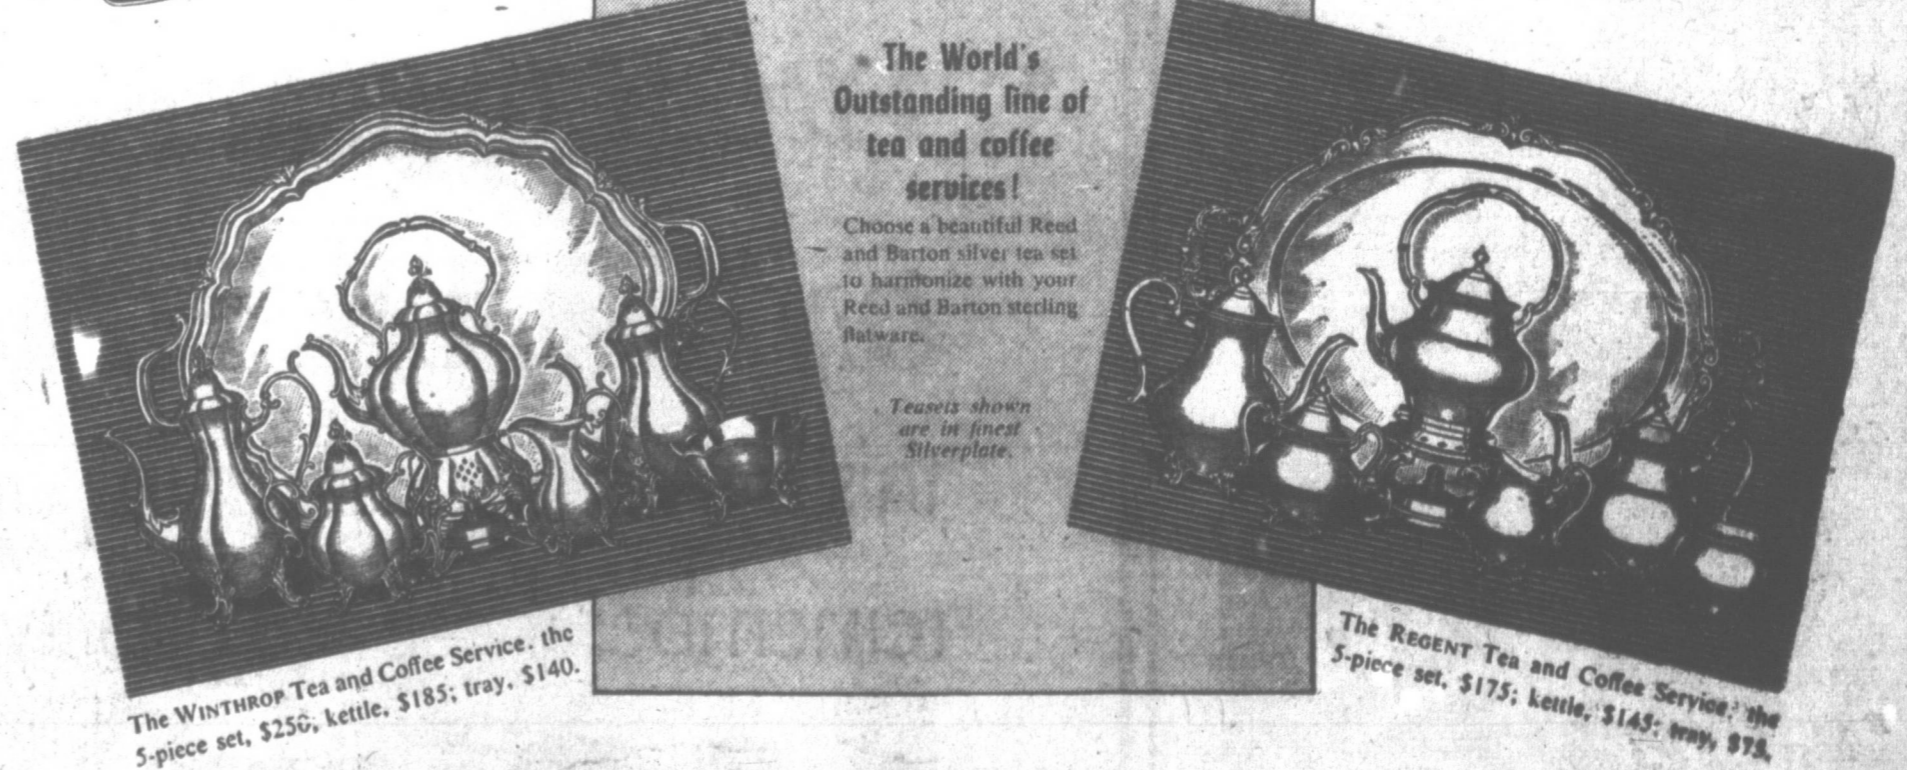

The United States has about seven per cent of the world's population.

Scooters Offered For Civil Defense

DALLAS, Texas (AP) — If disaster strikes Dallas, motor scooter fans will be ready to help alleviate suffering.

They believe their services also will be valuable as messengers and also in such diverse things as providing power for sawing lumber.

The offer to help comes from the 35-member Oak Cliff Motor Scooter Club in the west part of Dallas. Their president, 17-year-old David Farrow, says members have agreed to volunteer their services and vehicles for civil defense.

That means they are signing up under a national registration program which has been underway since Nov. 11. Club members are not all youngsters. Of the 35, 25 are high school students like David but five are adults.

More than 14,000 Dallasites have registered thus far, said Mrs. Veola Litchfield, state chairman of the advisory council to the state director for Civil Defense. The deadline for registering, originally set for Thanksgiving Day, has been advanced to Dec. 15. The goal is a minimum of 17,000 registrations.

"The idea of the registration is to form a reserve of manpower which will be available for service in civil defense when called upon by local officials," she said. "Registration is solely an indication of availability."

Registration cards request such information as name, age, address, telephone number, hobby and occupation. Volunteers are asked to indicate in which of 10 civil defense activities the applicant might wish to serve or wish training.

The greater part of those who have registered are members of men and women's civil clubs, parent-teacher organizations and veteran groups.

PAD Opposes Removal Of Oil Country Steel Controls

Oilmen See Shortage For Next 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Removal of government controls on oil country steel supplies at this time has been opposed formally by the Petroleum Administration for Defense in conferences with other government agencies, an official has declared.

PAD believes, the official said, that controls on the supplies must be retained because of a shortage expected for the next two years.

The agency is not willing now to "abandon" small oil operators to free bidding for available tubular goods and pipe, he said.

Some persons in the Defense Production Administration are convinced, he added, that preparations should be made for decontrol. PAD has in the past informally opposed decontrol of the oil steel supplies.

Robert L. Ferce, director of the PAD production division, said in a recent speech before that plan expansion for next year, when three new mills are scheduled to come into production, still probably will leave the oil industry far short of its steel requirements.

Operators have been using several methods of stretching the supply.

These included use of second-hand or used tubular goods, drawing on inventories, obtaining foreign pipe, using line pipe for some purposes and skipping the casing of some wells that normally would be cased.

The available supply of second-hand pipe is much less now, he said, and companies have drawn on inventories so they are below what normally was considered an adequate margin. Cost of foreign pipe is high, he added.

The PAD believes the prospect for 1953 is for a deficit of some 363,000 tons of oil country steel supplies below the actual requirements for the drilling. In 1954 the deficit may be about 378,000 tons from regular mill production. It was estimated.

"That is the chief argument against decontrol now," one PAD official told this reporter.

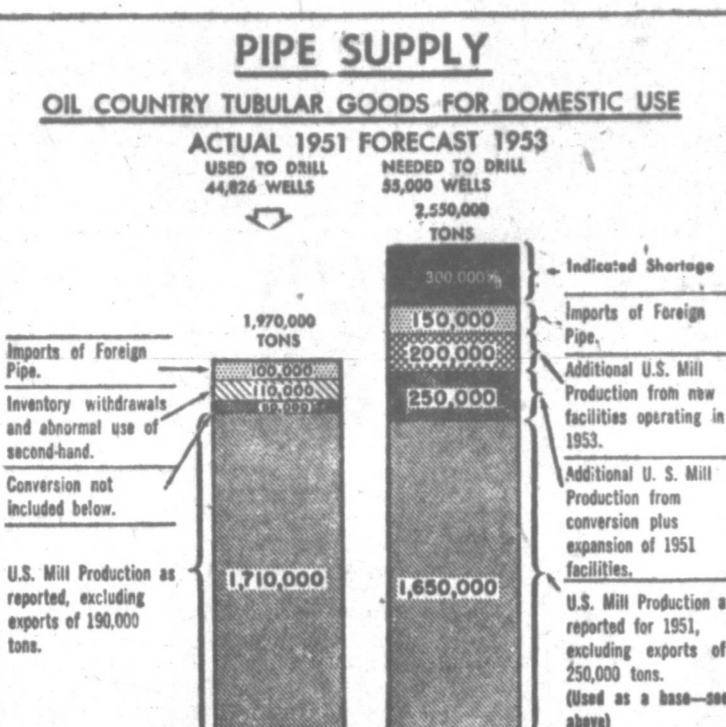

A "testimonial" and farewell dinner will be given by the members of the National Petroleum Council in honor of Interior Secretary Chapman, director of the PAD, Monday. Chapman is scheduled to leave office next month when the new Cabinet takes office.

Toastmaster will be Howard Marshall, vice president of Signal Oil and Gas Co., Houston.

Chapman will attend a meeting of the Petroleum Council here Tuesday — his last attendance at a council meeting before he leaves office.

Brig. Gen. Alfred H. Johnson, executive secretary of the Munitions Board, is scheduled to discuss military requirements for petroleum at the council session while a representative of the Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency will speak about military procurement.

Storage increased — committee on oil storage capacity above ground is expected to report to the council that there has been an increase in the storage capacity during the last year or two. Another committee is scheduled to report to the councilions Board, is scheduled to discuss military requirements for petroleum at the council session while a representative of the Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency will speak about military procurement.

FORECASTS PIPE SHORTAGE IN 1953 — A 500,000-ton shortage of oil country tubular goods forecast by the Independent Petroleum Association of America is shown in the above chart. The indicated shortage is based on the drilling of 55,000 wells which the Petroleum Administration for Defense has programmed for 1953. Pipe requirements for this expanded program would total 2,550,000 tons as against 1,970,000 actually used to drill 44,826 wells in 1951.

Oil Field Activity Lags In Area; Hutchinson Gets Test

Activity lagged in the Panhandle field last week as operations completed but five wells and staked eight. However, of the new locations, one was a Hutchinson County deep test staked by Northern Natural Gas Producing Company. Of the completions, one is an oiler for 35 barrels; three are gasers for 3,385 MCF and two are plugged wells of which one is an inactive wildcat in Lipscomb County.

New Handbook Points Out Complexity Of Pipelines

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP) — A Connecticut housewife cooking breakfast with natural gas from Louisiana or Texas never heard of the crumb boss or an idiot stick.

She wouldn't know a mope pole from a specialized equipment from turkey feathers to slide-boom tractors to deliver the quick, clean fuel she taps with a twist of thumb and forefinger.

They all played a part in the drama of piping natural gas from the earth more than 2,000 miles away across swamps, over mountains and under swift treacherous rivers in an operation as thrill-packed as pioneer railroad building.

The gas it takes to fry two over easy or run a mammoth manufacturing plant or heat a Midwestern apartment hotel is delivered through a network of thousands of miles of underground lines. They are put together after months of meticulous advance planning and paper work with incredible skill, daring and hard work.

It is all cemented with a spirit demonstrating that every frustrating circumstance of stubborn terrain or weather can be overcome with the right equipment, know-how and determination.

These whys and hows of gas and oil pipe line building are vividly told in "A Primer of Pipe Line Construction" just published by the University of Texas Petroleum Extension Service. It was sponsored and financed by the Pipe Line Contractors Assn. and written and edited by John Woodruff, assistant director of the Petroleum Extension Service.

The object of the 100-page book is to inform the public, and especially non-technical employees of the gas and oil industry, on the fundamentals of pipe lining. At a dollar a copy, it sold out its first run of 10,000 and another edition is on the press.

Its graphic ABC tells how petroleum products are moved into commerce through pipe lines. The language is simple and the pictures of relentless clearing, digging, welding, bending and cleaning up are first-class photography. The primer includes a glossary of the colorful slang and technical lingo of the pipe liner. The crumb boss is superintendent of the 200 to 500 men crew spread out 10 to 20 miles along a line job creeping across country from southwest to northeast about a mile a day in good going and sometimes a mere few yards through rivers and swamps and granite mountains.

An idiot stick is a hand shovel on a job where the major moving operation is usually handled by bulldozers and monster mechanical clamshells. The presumption to the layman is that nobody but an idiot would use a shovel when a power tool would do.

Two gas ventures were brought in flowing an initial 8,110,000 cubic feet daily. Some 49 sites were written off as dry and seven others were abandoned.

Abraham Lincoln was 21 when he crossed the Wabash River and saw level land for the first time — the fertile plains of Illinois.

power plants would shut down and millions would be in darkness. "We attempt to interpret the research and pass the know-how along to the industry, to schools and to the public," Woodruff explained. Several universities have adopted the manual as a handbook in accounting so students could visualize a major contacting operation.

Stassen's Flipflop Gives Him A Job

So Harold (Running Boy) Stassen is to be in charge of our "Mutual Security" — at least until he starts running for office again.

Apparently Eisenhower and his political advisers thought that Harold had something coming for his flipflop at the Republican convention when he turned his Minnesota delegation over to Ike at just the right time and insured Eisenhower's nomination.

It so happens that Stassen is probably pretty well fitted for the job of Mutual Security Administrator since, so far as we can learn it is a program by which Americans mutually, through their taxes, pour out dollars in various parts of the world for a non-existent security.

Down the years Harold has been able to whip up a crew of wealthy supporters who saw to it that he didn't lack funds to operate a campaign for something. And the one-world supporters saw to it that he had a platform for making pronouncements on world affairs in his post as president of the University of Pennsylvania. Just how Harold, and Ike for that matter, qualifies as heads of an academic institution is one of life's unexplained little mysteries. But the job as president of Pennsylvania left Harold free to wander about the land making speeches and keeping in the public eye and that's what Harold and his supporters like.

As the man in charge of spending American tax dollars for the security deal, we can expect that Stassen will use his boundless enthusiasm for tossing around other people's money. We can only hope that the Congress will see to it that Harold's supply of dollars is as limited as possible.

'I Can't Recall'

It may never be proved whether Owen Lattimore is or is not or was or was not a Communist. It may never be determined whether he should be catalogued as a subversive or as a loyal adviser to the State Department. Yet Owen Lattimore is deserving of a place in the history of America, regardless.

For few men have so effectively personified that omnipresent ailment of the times — a bad memory.

"I can't recall" has become the national password. It may well have gotten more people off the hook than a hundred or so Clarence Darrows.

Mr. Lattimore, for example, as have so many persons previously quizzed by congressional investigating groups, attributes the contradiction in his testimony to lapses or conflicts of memory about what he describes as trivial things many years ago.

If he is not indicted for perjury, Mr. Lattimore at least should be informed there is nothing trivial about Communism. He should also be told that the recent past is not many years ago.

A Word To 'Sell'

The founder of the chain store system which bears his name, J. C. Penney, recently said in the course of a speech, "There are all sorts of statistics that can be put together to show the extent of our achievements. But they cannot be put together to prove what their users say they prove — that the quality of salesmanship is proved by our abundance.

"These statistics prove no such thing. The fact that we have these conveniences in greatest abundance proves only the greatness of our people — and the prosperity that comes to a free people."

A little later on during his talk, Mr. Penney said: "We are going to have to sell a word. It is a word called Freedom."

We Americans have every right to be proud of our material achievements. Our farms and factories produce goods in quantities and qualities unknown in most of the world. Our retail stores are loaded not only with the necessities, but with a wealth of wares which would seem like utter luxuries to other peoples. Our American standard of living is unrivaled.

All this is to the good. But, as Mr. Penney pointed out, we tend to lose sight of the main cause of it. And that cause is freedom; freedom to work, freedom to own property, freedom to follow the dictates of our own conscience and ambition, freedom to take chances, freedom to be an individual in the fullest meaning of the term — above all, freedom from the tyranny of a totalitarian life. That freedom was our heritage. But we can keep it only if we guard it, nurture it, and dedicate ourselves to its perpetuation.

Yes, that is the word we must sell — the word freedom.

STALIN'S COLLABORATOR (Chicago Daily Tribune)

A secret note from Mr. Roosevelt to Stalin during the last World War was produced before a house committee investigating the Katyn forest massacre of 11,000 to 15,000 Polish officers and intellectuals near Smolensk, Russia, early in 1940. The Germans, who came upon the mass graves in 1943, charged the Russians with the murders. Russia endeavored to shift the blame back to the Germans. The New Deal war time propaganda apparatus upheld the Soviet story.

The house committee has established beyond cavil that the Poles were murdered by the Russians. But in 1943, after the thousands of victims were found, Stalin pretended to be outraged that the Polish government in exile at London should demand an impartial investigation by the International Red Cross. The Poles weren't taken in by the Soviet and New Deal propaganda. They were certain Russia was guilty.

On April 21, 1943, Stalin informed Roosevelt, his collaborator in Washington, that he was going to break off relations with the Polish government in exile. It had affronted him by implying that Russia had committed the murders, or so he said. Of course, the rupture was but another of Stalin's steps in preparation for extinction of Poland as a national state and for its domination by Russia. The next step was the formation of a so-called committee of national liberation, composed of Polish stooges for Stalin, which was pushed into Poland at the proper moment to take over as the new government.

Roosevelt offered no objections. When he received Stalin's note, he responded that the legitimate Polish government had made a bad mistake in demanding that responsibility for Katyn be fixed by an impartial jury. He expressed the hope that Prime Minister Churchill in London would persuade the Poles "to act with more common sense in the future." This is shocking proof of Mr. Roosevelt's moral blindness or of his readiness deliberately to assist the world sweep of communism. His apologies have been repeated to concede that he liked communism, but his great services to the communist cause are in the record and are beyond all challenge.

In 1933, when Stalin's tyranny was most insecure, Roosevelt reversed four previous administrations and granted American recognition of the blood stained dictatorship. Thus, given encouragement, the American Communists swarmed into the New Deal — Hiss, Wirt, Abt, Pressman and hundreds more.

Dr. Wirt, the Gary superintendent of schools, visited Washington and was entertained at a dinner party where spokesmen of the new Russian "liberation" of the Potomac assured him that Roosevelt was only the Kerevsky of the American revolution. The charge brought on a congressional investigation, in which Wirt was mercilessly soundly by a New Deal majority consisting of Representatives Bulwinkle of North Carolina, Arnold of Illinois, and O'Connor of New York. O'Connor later admitted he was ashamed of his part in the lie.

"We believe," those New Deal Reds had told Dr. Wirt, "that we have Mr. Roosevelt in the middle of a swift stream and the current is so strong that he cannot turn back or escape from it. We believe we can keep Mr. Roosevelt there until we are ready to supplant him with a Stalin."

Certainly, Roosevelt never turned back or escaped from the stream to turn back. When Hitler and Stalin fell out in 1941, Roosevelt, the United States was a neutral nation, immediately pledged all possible military aid to Stalin. At the same time, he pressed the warning of war in the intercepted Japanese "east wind rain" secret code message and had probed the attack on Pearl Harbor, taking this country into the war, the alliance became formal with the signing of the declaration of the United Nations on Jan. 1, 1942.

When Congressman Dies, as leader of the house committee on un-American activities, became insistent on digging Red dirt from administration, he was summoned to the White House, where Roosevelt, in fury, told him, "There is nothing wrong with the Communists. Some of their friends I have got are Communists."

Roosevelt, indeed, acted as if some of them were. After Earl Browder, the boss of the Communist party, had been sent to the penitentiary for passing fraud in making a clandestine trip to Moscow, Roosevelt pardoned him as a contribution to "national unity" now that Russia was our ally. Former Rep. Edwin J. O'Connor has asserted that Browder was a frequent White House visitor early as 1938. Browder himself boasted, in his testimony before the Tydings committee in 1950, that in 1942 and 1943 he reported to Roosevelt, and that the information he relayed to the White House had an important part in reshaping American policy in China, with results now apparent to everyone.

After Roosevelt's calamitous conference with Stalin at Tehran in 1943, where the President made the preliminary agreement to turn Poland over to communist slavery, Browder called for a fourth term Roosevelt draft. When, in 1945, Roosevelt completed his sell-out to Stalin at Yalta, throwing China as well as eastern Europe into the arms of communism and had made a gift of Japan's Kure islands and the southern half of Sakhalin Island to Russia, Browder remarked with satisfaction, "Our interpretation of Tehran has been confirmed by Yalta."

International Whirligig... Reds Exploit Jews In Attempt To Woo Arabs, Fisher Reports

By JOHN FISHER

For a long time diplomats will be trying to fathom the devious objectives sought by the Stalinists in the recent Czech purge trial that doomed eleven outcasts to the scaffold.

A distinguishing feature of the latest gruesome farce was its anti-Semitism, a demonstration of prejudice which some believe will be exploited to woo Arab states.

The civilized world still shudders at the memory of Hitler, for camps in which unnumbered Jews were murdered. At the same time the Nazi sadists were attempting to exterminate the Poles, whom Goebbels called "subhuman swamp beasts."

Follow Nazi Tactics

Today Stalin is copying Hitler, with Poles, Jews, Balts and other captives as victims. He is wiping out races, nationalities and groups which Russia cannot assimilate. His action is called genocide, the slow murder of a people.

In committing genocide the Communists first got rid of the intelligentsia as when their articles overran Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. At once they started slaughtering everyone with the brains and backbone for leading potential revolts—political writers, teachers, former military officers, officers, engineers, businessmen and land-owning farmers.

But there is more to the case than hatred for the often-persecuted Jews. The latest bloody attempt to clean up the party record started going after them.

But Mr. Roosevelt's spirit lingered after his works were ended. When Alger Hiss was accused of espionage in the state department, Mr. Truman tried to dismiss the matter as a "red herring," and sensitive anti-anti-Communists were much more concerned about what they were pleased to call "McCarthyism" than they were about the very real and evident treason of the Communists who were harbored in the New Deal.

It is to be hoped that the new administration will bring an end to all this. Altho Roosevelt's acts cannot be erased, the Republicans can make certain that treason never again will be nurtured.

Right now fresh small-scale deportations have flared up in East Germany to supply slave labor in the zwickau coal mines and Mansfield copper mines. A high percentage of prisoners are sick and without medical attention. Much larger deportations have occurred in the Baltic states and in Hungary.

Forced migration if itself is an offense against human rights. But the Reds have increased the cruelty by separating families permanently. The war left vast numbers of orphans. In lands occupied by Communists, these waifs are brought up as atheists in state institutions.

In Greece during the invasion by Balkan Communist fighters many children were kidnapped from farms and taken across the frontier. An American official who was in Poland observed a group of kidnapped Greek children from poverty stricken homes living in barracks and being pampered and trained as Communists. Eventually they will be sent back to Greece as spies or underground "missionaries."

Moscow policy is to turn captive Europeans into loyal Stalinists or to obliterate them — using their toil for profit as they journey to early graves.

Contacts Abroad

Prior to the Czech trials Communist propaganda in various satellite states had accused Jews of being "too cosmopolitan" as shown by their sentiment for Israel. In a similar vein are many of the charges hurled against captive Catholics. They, too, are held to be disloyal to Stalin because they have links with the Vatican and with Catholics beyond the Iron Curtain.

A few weeks ago Bulgarians staged a trial of 40 Catholics, including 28 priests, who were accused of printing anti-Communist literature, espionage, terrorist activities and plotting to overthrow the government. Red newspapers warned that the defendants could not have been so dangerous had they not been supported by Catholic boards.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

When a person sets out to achieve something, the goal may seem very distant. This is usually the case when something worthwhile is to be accomplished. The most profitable and satisfying careers are often the result of years and years of constant effort.

However, it is only human sometimes to find the time-consuming process discouraging. At certain times a person may feel he is not getting anywhere, when in reality, it's just a matter of things having to take their own time.

When one is working toward something, there is a way of making the time seem shorter. To do this one should set himself subsidiary goals. To put this in a simple way, suppose one wants to get getting from "A" to "B" to "C" to "D" to "E". By setting up subsidiary goals, a person feels a real sense of accomplishment. He can look back and feel as if he has definitely made progress.

The main goal getting closer and closer serves as a spur and makes a person want to hurry and finish the job. This is known in psychology as the "goal gradient." This "goal gradient" can be put to use in each minor goal.

Whether a person is studying, inventing, doing research, working on a career, or practically any other activity that requires a length of time, he will find it definitely helpful to set himself subsidiary goals. Doing this will keep him constantly encouraged.

Fair Enough.... Pegler Often Sued In Attempt To Put The Quietus On Exposés

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Last April 15 I began to receive telephone calls and visits from a little man named Mario Buzzi who was a employed for years as a secret agent by the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, which I have described to you before. Buzzi is crippled by a paralytic stroke and he tells me, with a great show of bitterness, that he now hates Isidore Lipschutz, the secretary-treasurer of this conspiracy against the privacy of law-abiding Americans, and others who are associated and implicated with him in the league and in Lipschutz's other strange band, the Society for the Prevention of World War III.

Also included in Buzzi's hatred is James H. Sheldon, the "administrative chairman" of the league. Sheldon's title, like the roster of officers and directors of both the league and the society changes from time to time.

Buzzi first called me up soon after a man calling himself Richard Rollins, wrote a book on his own adventures as a spy for the Lipschutz league, had filed a libel suit against me and other defendants demanding the standard sum of $1,000,000. In that book, Rollins boasted that he had stolen property from citizens who had employed him in positions of trust. I consulted with other agents of the league. Rollins is now engaged in the chewing-gum business in Boston, where he served as an OPA agent during the war with authority over allotments of sugar to the candy and gum trade.

I was in Boston on business in April and made some telephone calls to current and past officials of the Roosevelt-Truman bureaucracy regarding Rollins' activities in the OPA. I was interested in the process by which he got control of this chewing-gum business so soon after his successful career in OPA. Rollins got wind of this inquiry of mine and telephoned threatening to sue me for a million. He got his complaint into court the same day. In due course the suit was thrown out. He said I had charged him with stealing and lying. That complaint was dismissed on other grounds. I do not know why he was so touchy about inquiries into his work with OPA and his abrupt success in the gum business. After all, as I told you in that day, he had made a career of spying on law-abiding citizens.

I had heard of Buzzi in many odd matters over some years but had never met him or spoken with him by phone until he telephoned that he had important information within an hour and I met him within an hour and he told me that Rollins, with whom he had worked as an agent of Sheldon and Lipschutz, had phoned him from Boston urging him to file another lawsuit against Buzzi. Buzzi said the purpose was to make publishers afraid of publishing his continuing revelations of the activities of Lipschutz, his associates and his two political societies.

Buzzi said he told Rollins he had no ground for a lawsuit but that Rollins urged him to file one nevertheless. Buzzi did not ask me for any money and offered him nothing. He said that he hated the whole outfit individually and as organizations because he was cast aside and on relief in his crippled condition. He said he still had entree to the league's office, however, and went there often to see Sheldon. I told Buzzi on the phone without seeing him that he should eventually tell him that I had no reason to alter my firm conviction that he was still a sneak, liar and thief. I said I believed he was still working for Lipschutz, et al. Several months later, Buzzi pursued the matter and we have had a number of interviews. In one of which he said an attorney for the league had sued him. "Why don't you sue Pegler?"

Buzzi said he replied: "I don't sue anyone." Continuing, he said he told them he would sue. "Then they didn't want me to sue. They said an effort would be made to make you say things that you don't want you to say." Buzzi further said: "When Rollins was suing, he wanted me to sue also. Sheldon handed me the phone. Dick (Rollins) said three or four suits would be better. I told Goldstein and then Hoffman, Goldstein, Sheldon and Lipschutz decided it is better not for me to sue."

He referred to Julius L. Goldstein, general counsel for the league, who demanded an apology after a film expose of Lipschutz's activities several years ago and got a firm negative answer, and to Herman Hoffman, who was chairman of the board of directors of the league. Hoffman, who was a member of the New York Municipal Bench after he had served as campaign manager for Mayor Impellitteri, in the closing hours of that campaign Hoffman's name was carried on a shocking false religious and racial hatred in favor of Impellitteri and against Judge Ferdinand Pecora, who was defeated by whipping up fears of conspiracies to persecute Jews. The league circulates some "appeals" by mail and others by means of professional solicitors who go among prosperous citizens and exhibit photostats of contributions by co-religionists who have been required to give up money for "educational" activities. The solicitors get 30 per cent of their collections. However, Buzzi was not an "educator" but a private detective who sometimes resorted to theft as he freely admitted to me.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORCAN, M.D.

Iritis is a serious eye disease. Its principal symptoms consist of pain, watering of the eyes, excessive sensitivity to bright light, and if long continued, interference with vision. The pain is likely to be severe and worse at night. Touching or pressing the eyeball usually is excruciatingly painful.

When iritis begins suddenly the symptoms are likely to be worse than in the chronic variety, but recovery usually comes more rapidly — perhaps in a few weeks. When proper treatment has begun early the iritis often clears up completely, but complications and the possibility of chronic inflammation are dangerous possibilities.

Iritis is sometimes associated with rheumatism, diabetes, tuberculosis, syphilis, and other diseases. It is most important that the cause of the iritis be discovered whenever possible.

The disease or condition producing the inflammation of the iris must be treated as well as the eye itself. The search for infection elsewhere in the body must be carried out painstakingly and thoroughly. But sometimes no cause whatever can be discovered.

The eye itself requires highly skilled treatment, including the use of drugs, heat applied locally, rest and protection from light. Sometimes a method called foreign protein therapy has been found helpful in iritis.

This consists in injecting some protein substance (boiled milk is an example) which produces a reaction of the body, usually with fever. This seems to stimulate resistance and often has a favorable effect on the iritis.

As in most other inflammatory diseases of the eye but not such things as cataracts, simple glaucoma, and the like, ACTH or cortisone or other extremely useful drugs when anything goes wrong with the eyes, diagnosis and treatment should not be delayed too long, as the risk of permanent damage to the vital organs is great.

It is not possible for a patient to tell what kind of eye trouble he has from the symptoms alone and therefore nothing should stand in the way of seeking expert advice promptly. In iritis, as in other eye diseases, the vision itself may be at stake.

There is an old story recorded: At an old folks' home, where I lived, I was suddenly and severely stricken by some unknown trouble. It was necessary that someone assist me to my room. Several of my old friends, as at a time-called on me, with sympathy. After hearing my story all of them told their stories about aches and pains. After some time a young nurse called on me I said: "I am not sick, but all of my friends who called to see me are much worse off than I am." I got up from my bed and walked to the dining room and ate a hearty meal.

Farm Wildlife Needs Feed Says Company

COLDWATER, O. (AP) — The farm equipment division of the Aveco Manufacturing Co. has been asking its customers to "cut corners" because its farm machinery makes it tough for wildlife to exist.

A company mailing piece says that the modern corn picker, which scarcely misses an ear of kernel, leaves slim pickings for birds and animals. The company suggests that farmers cut diagonally across the back corner of each field when harvesting.

South Prepares For Adverse Court Ruling On Segregation

ATLANTA (AP) — How will the color-conscious South react if the U.S. Supreme Court voids racial segregation in public schools and thus deal the hardest blow to its traditions since slavery was abolished?

In Georgia the answer already has been written into the state's laws, and it is drastic: At the moment such a decision is handed down, Georgia's public school system will cease to exist.

And in South Carolina, Gov. James F. Byrnes has said that if his state is forbidden to send white and Negro students to separate schools, it will "reluctantly" abandon its public school system.

The Supreme Court will begin hearing arguments on the touchy racial question Dec. 9. It has lumped together five separate segregation suits involving Delaware, Kansas, South Carolina, Virginia and the District of Columbia. An act of Congress requires segregation in the District of Columbia. State laws are being tested in the other four cases.

Facilities Not Equal

In the Delaware case the State Supreme Court held that educational facilities for Negroes were not equal to those for Whites. Lower courts to date have upheld segregation in the other cases but have insisted that facilities be equal.

A newly completed Associated Press survey showed few Southern or border states have taken any definite steps to maintain segregation in the event of an adverse Supreme Court decision.

Nor has there been much public discussion by responsible state leaders of plans to preserve the system should the court declare it unconstitutional.

AP correspondents talked with government officials in the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Tennessee and Kentucky. All have segregation laws except Kansas, where it is authorized in a few cases.

Cut State Funds

Georgia's decision to abolish its system of free public schools rather than submit to racial integration came during the 1951 session of the Legislature. At the instigation of Gov. Herman Talma, most vocal white supremacy advocate among Southern governors, the lawmakers voted to cut off state funds for any school which permitted white and Negro students to enroll. They also voted to withhold appropriations from all schools if any part of the Segregation Act were voided "by a final judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction."

Schools then would be turned over to private individual or corporations and be operated under a system of grants.

South Carolina voters endorsed overwhelmingly in the Nov. general election an amendment to the State Constitution repealing a requirement for free public schools. To become effective the amendment must be ratified by the 1953 or 1954 General Assembly. If ratified, the amendment would leave continuation of the school system to the Assembly's discretion.

Gov. Byrnes, himself a former Supreme Court justice, has promised he will not press for ratification unless the high court overturns segregation laws.

Ballot Box Tests

Any such decision would precipitate a series of legislative maneuvers — and perhaps ballot-box tests — to determine whether others would follow. Georgia and South Carolina should public school segregation be outlawed.

The 1951 Florida Legislature wrote into its General Appropriations Act a clause cutting off state funds to any institution of higher learning if segregation at any of them should be discontinued by court order "or for any other reason." It was vetoed by Gov. Fuller Warren.

Two bills introduced in the 1952 Virginia Legislature aimed at maintaining segregation in the face of an adverse Supreme Court ruling were killed in committees. They would have set up legislative machinery for leasing schools to private associations and for allocating state funds to pupils for their education at private schools meeting state requirements.

Outlaw Private Schools

Many state officials in the South doubt that the private school idea could stand in court. They believe that should the Supreme Court decide segregation is unconstitutional in public schools, it would also outlaw the other program as a subterfuge.

Howey State Rep. Sam Engelhardt of Alabama, whose constituency includes the famous Tuskegee Institute for Negroes, says he will introduce a bill in the Legislature to create a private school corporation if segregation is banned. He tried once but failed to get a measure passed shutting off state funds if Negroes were ordered admitted to white schools.

LINS 1-24 STUDENTS Planning

Italian Family Produces At A Snail's Pace

ROME (AP) — It was raining very hard, but the nine children of Peppino d'Annunziato didn't mind it.

They lined up, the little ones first, squeezing their noses against the dripping window panes of the ground floor kitchen.

When the rain stopped they rushed out, carrying little straw baskets.

"Oh! Look, how big and fat they are," cried Gianni.

There are at least 20 under this cabbage leaf," shouted Maria from the garden.

The children were after snails. "The big fat spitting ones that Europeans consider a delicacy cooked with a lot of garlic, although most Americans don't like them.

The nine D'Annunziato children are famous in the neighborhood. They supply snails to a collector every day it rains. They receive as much as 40,000 lire, ($60) a week.

To collectors, snails are worth 50 lire a kilo (9 cents for 2.2 pounds). They are worth much more on foreign markets and Italy exports them in quantities to neighboring countries, mostly to France.

Italians eat them too, of course. Besides the "amateur" collectors, there are pros in this sport too. The professional snail catchers go out mostly at night, and comb the fields for snails.

Apart from snails consumed locally, five tons of them cross the border into France every day packed in special crates, for French restaurants and homes.
