Justice Jose Linhares Assumes Presidency of Brazil as Vargas Quits

Court Chief Serves Until Next Election

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Getulio Vargas, who resigned as President of Brazil last night in response to an army ultimatum, was under military guard at Guanabara palace today while the new President, Jose Linhares, deliberated on what to do with him.

The swift and apparently bloodless coup ended a 15-year rule for the short and swarthy Vargas. Linhares was inducted into the office before dawn under an army mandate in keeping with the 1937 constitution which provides that the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court succeeds any President who dies or is removed.

It was the third governmental upheaval in South America this month. The government of Venezuela, just north of Brazil, was uprooted within the last two weeks. In Argentina, on the southern border of Brazil, Vice President Juan Peron was deposed, but he reemerged with greater power than before.

Linhares, 59, is charged with heading the government of the largest Republic in South America until the Dec. 2 elections which Vargas proclaimed last March. Vargas was not a candidate.

"I hope I may fulfill my duties according to the peoples' wishes," he said.

12,000 Machinists On Pacific Coast Staging Walkout

A strike of some 12,000 AFL and CIO machinists over a wage dispute partially paralyzed industrial and shipping operations in the San Francisco bay area today, the first major industrial disturbance there since before the war.

Between 35,000 and 40,000 workers in factories and shipyards not involved in the strike were kept away from their jobs because of the walkout and indications were that the number would gradually increase.

Mayor Roger Lapham of San Francisco acted to prevent a threatened milk shortage for the bay area while a federal conciliator called a conference of management and union representatives in an attempt to end the stoppage.

The labor strife in the Pacific coast metropolis pushed up the number of labor disputes to around 277,000. Meanwhile, strike votes involving thousands of workers were listed, while President Truman arranged to confer with as many of the 18 management and 18 labor delegates as possible before the labor-management conference in Washington next Monday.

The stoppage in San Francisco topped the developments along the labor front. The machinists, who

400 Expected at Scout Jamboree

Almost 400 scouts and their friends are expected to attend the Boy Scout Halloween jamboree at Magnolia park tomorrow night at 7:30.

The annual jamboree is being sponsored by the youth committees of the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs.

Members of the eight local scout troops and members of every Cub pack will attend the jamboree. In addition, each scout or Cub has been asked to bring a friend.

E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa chamber of commerce, will serve as master of ceremonies at the jamboree. He will introduce one of Pampa's prominent business men who will make a short talk.

Truman Proposes 48 Hours Pay for 40 Hours of Work

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Authoritative persons said President Truman will propose tonight that industry pay 48 hour wages for 40 hours work without raising prices.

They said he will make this request in a broadcast at 9 p. m. (central standard time) as a compromise with demands by unions that employees be paid for 52 hours while working 40.

The compromise, is accepted by industry and labor, would give workers a 20 per cent increase in pay compared with the 30 per cent the unions ask.

Exceptions to holding the line on prices would be made in cases which would work a hardship on the employer, persons informed of the plan said.

Price rise requests would be handled through the office of price administration and the office of economic stabilization.

If the subject comes before the labor-management conference opening next Monday some enforcement machinery conceivably could be adopted. But industry agreement might be difficult to obtain.

The President will discuss wages with as many of the 18 management and 18 labor delegates as possible before the labor-management conference in Washington next Monday.

Oil Allowables For Texas Listed

AUSTIN, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The railroad commission today added three producing days, except for the Panhandle and East Texas fields, to the November statewide oil production pattern, making an average daily allowable of 2,016,198 barrels beginning Nov. 1.

This was an increase of 207,449 barrels over the average daily allowable reported Oct. 27.

Commission Chairman Olin Culberson said the increase was granted to meet firm demand of refineries.

$10,873 Still Needed in War Fund Canvass

Funds raised $24,781.33
Quota 35,655.00
YET TO GO 10,873.67

Community Chest - National War Fund workers were looking around today for $10,873.67 before they can see the achieved goal of $35,655 for the two funds, Lieb Langston, chairman, announced.

Although the total has climbed slightly from the last report, there still is a good deal to go before the amounts for local organizations and the National War Fund have been raised—and the drive was to have been finished this month. There are just two days left.

Langston said: "If there are those who have not been contacted they are asked please, to mail their contributions or call him at the Pampa office, or the chamber of commerce, and someone will call for the check."

A total of $24,781.33 has been raised, leaving almost $11,000 to be raised.

Civilian Head Is Newest Proposal For Army-Navy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The war department proposed to congress today that the army, navy and air forces be placed under a single civilian "secretary of the armed forces."

Under the department head, who would be advised by military chiefs of staffs and a secretariat of civilian assistants, the army proposed this organization of the services:

"The air force should include all land-based combat aircraft except those allotted to the army and navy for reconnaissance, spotting of gunfire, command and messenger service. The air should retain its own service forces.

The army would include all combat ground forces other than the marine corps and would have its own service forces.

The navy would include the United States fleet with its air arm, the marine corps and its service forces."

Each component apparently would be directed by a military rather than a civilian head, as at present.

Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, chief of staff of army ground forces and a veteran of European campaigning, presented the plan to the senate military committee for the war department.

He asserted the army was not proposing to "merge" the services, but to "integrate" them with maximum autonomy for each.

Collins' statement was the first detailed public discussion of the plan to establish at least three and possibly four assistant secretaries.

A civilian assistant secretary should be provided "to coordinate the military program of scientific research" with the activities of any national civilian research agency set up later and with the great civilian Attlee Will Confer With Chief of U.S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Three-power discussions over the future of atomic energy will begin here about Nov. 11 between President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and Canada's MacKenzie King.

The announcement of the forthcoming talks, released in Washington and London simultaneously today, made no mention of Russian participation. The conference is in line with President Truman's previous statements that the three-power parley would come ahead of any meeting with other Allies on atomic energy.

Canada, Great Britain and the United States share the secret of the development of the atomic bomb, but United States plants alone have produced it.

"Prime Minister Attlee will visit the President in Washington early next month to discuss with him and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada problems to which the discovery of atomic energy has given rise," the White House said.

"The prime minister is expected to arrive in Washington so that the discussions can begin about Nov. 11."

Attlee was in the United States last April as a member of the British delegation to the United Nations postwar security conference at San Francisco.

He and President Truman also met together at the last "Big Three" meeting in Potsdam.

President Truman recently told congress he would soon initiate discussions looking to the renunciation of the atomic bomb. At the same time he called upon congress to create a commission to control the domestic use and development of atomic energy.

Officials Warn Student Drivers

Local police are going to crack down on high school students who are using the section of street beginning at the intersection of Broadway and Cuyler and ending at the high school as a "race track," it was announced today.

Officials pointed out that this section may be designated as school zone in order to impose a 15 m.p.h. speed limit.

County Attorney Bruce Parker said today that police have been having trouble with boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 16 who drove cars to school. These youths, Parker said, cannot obtain a driver's license without their parents consent and many of them are abusing their privileges.

Parker said that he, County Judge Sherman White, Chief of Police Louis Allen, City Judge C. E. McGrew and Highway Patrolman P. C. Wynne conducted a hearing with one of the offenders, a high school boy, yesterday.

He said that the youth's license is being revoked with the consent of the boy's parents.

Parker added that if the parents did not give their consent to the revoking of the license, officials could take the proper steps and have it revoked without their consent.

However, Parker continued, law enforcement officers want the cooperation of the parents in these measures.

"Many parents never know that their boy or girl has been fined for at traffic violation," Parker said.

MONEY GOES INTO BAGS

Under the watchful eye of Lt. Joseph E. Bergin, Stratford, Conn., Japanese laborers shovel 152 tons of silver coins into bags in Tokyo. The treasure, part of the $250,000,000 found by the United States forces, was uncovered when flooded vaults of the Imperial Mint were pumped dry.

Yanks in Japan Seize Huge Opium Cache

TOKYO, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Occupation troops operating under General MacArthur's directive to stamp out the Japanese narcotics industry, which supplied approximately 90 per cent of the world's illicit traffic, today seized an opium cache worth $50,000,000 at smugglers' prices.

The Americans also located tons of other narcotics worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The supreme commander, meanwhile, in two new directives, ordered the arrest of Gunki Aoy, one of the organizers of the hated Japanese "thought police," and commended that the confidential files of the 15 largest Zaibatsu be reported to him.

In another major action, MacArthur declined in a personal interview granted Foreign Minister Chigeru Yoshida to modify in the slightest the recent directive diplomatically isolating Japan from the rest of the world.

Artillerymen of the 97th division, commanded by Brig. Gen. Sherman V. Hasbrouck, made the big narcotics haul in the Nakano district of central Honshu.

Capt. John F. Kelly, the division's artillery medical officer, estimated the legal price of the lot at $6,000,000 but said that the four tons of opium alone would bring $50,000,000 in illicit traffic in the United States.

The find included more than $200,000 worth of morphine, novocaine and cocaine, besides medical and dental equipment enough for three complete hospitals.

Hereford Sale To Be Held Thursday

The second private sale of purebred Hereford breeders will be held here, beginning at 1 p. m. Thursday. The sale will be conducted at the stock pavilion one mile east of the city.

Fifty-four head of cattle, 18 bulls and 29 females, will be offered for sale by T. "Buck" Hines and H. B. Taylor, Jr.

Earl Gartin, nationally-known auctioneer from Indiana, will do the selling.

J. P. Smith, county agent, said this morning: "Buck Hines and H. B. Taylor, local Hereford breeders, should be commended for offering this group of well-conditioned cattle to other Hereford breeders. All the cattle carry Anxiety 4th. breeding."

The owners said the stock is now on display at the barns on the grounds, and they may be seen before the sale.

This will be the first private sale here this year. Ivy Duncan sold his entire herd in a sale here last year. The annual Top of Texas breeders' sale was held this year, and another will be held in February.

U. S. Recognizes New Government Under Betancourt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The United States today recognized the revolutionary government of Venezuela after consultations with other American governments.

The state department issued this statement:

"The secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, announced this afternoon that the government of the United States has extended full recognition to the government of Venezuela which is now organized under Senator Romulo Betancourt."

"The American ambassador in Caracas is informing the new minister for foreign affairs of Venezuela of this action."

"Before making its decision to recognize the new government of Venezuela the government of the United States of America has exchanged views and consulted with the governments of the other American republics."

Indonesian-British Fighting Continues

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Fighting between Indonesian nationalists and British-Indian troops flared anew at Soerabaya today but was halted at nightfall when a second truce was arranged.

A British spokesman said the situation at the naval base was very tense.

Maj. Gen. D. C. Hawthorne, Allied commander, and President Soekarno of the "Indonesian republic" arranged the second truce after a day of sporadic shooting, the spokesman said.

Soekarno's truce of yesterday only lasted overnight.

Soekarno flew back to Batavia tonight for possible peace talks with the Dutch. Hawthorne returned to Batavia in a separate plane.

Lost Battalion' Celebration Ends

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Wichita Falls, horse and fagged out from all the shouting, returned to normal today after showing 280 former Japanese prisoners that Texas was mighty glad to find its lost battalion.

The 280 members of the 131st field artillery who were captured in Java in 1942, led a two-mile parade through this north Texas city yesterday to climax a two-day homecoming celebration for the Texas outfit.

"This is a great day for the state of Texas," said Gov. Coke R. Stevenson in an address.

Rep. John Lyle (D-Texas) declared there never would be a really lost battalion of Texans because Texans always come back.

Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, former commander of the 36th division from which the 131st was detached, reviewed the war record of the division.

Col. Blucher S. Sharp, commander of the lost battalion, praised members of his command for "never giving up, never allowing adversity to break their spirit and for always being willing and eager to take on the work of the punishment of a buddy less fortunate than themselves." He addressed profound sympathy to survivors of those who did not come home.

The veterans were guests at a dinner last night. There was a big display of fireworks at Spudder park.

Wichita Falls, with a bond quota of $4,300,000 but plenty of inspiration, went over the top with $6,995,235.

Tension Increases In Chinese Capital

CHUNGKING, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Charges that the United States is meddling in Chinese internal affairs, today increased the tension in the Chinese capital, where political observers already tentatively are watching for the possible outbreak of civil war between nationalist and communist troops.

Reports from Tientsin said the American marine garrison there had been alerted after reports spread through North China that the clash between the two armies was impending.

Presence of the estimated 60,000 marines in North China, and the transfer of Chinese nationalist troops into that area by the American air forces, were the basis of the protest against American actions which was issued by a communist spokesman. He charged the United States with "intervening in China's internal politics."

Non-communist quarters said they feared that the communists might deliberately provoke a clash with the Marines with the intention of embarrassing the United States and Central governments and arousing agitation in the United States for immediate withdrawal of American forces from China.

Central government troop movements into the unsettled north China regions were considerably hampered by the reported cutting of 100 miles of the Peiping-Hankow railroad by communist troops.

The Yenan forces were officially reported to have burned bridges, and stations and to have torn up tracks on the Peiping-Hankow line.

Nationalist troops continued northward along the Peiping-Mukden route, however, reportedly to take "defensive positions" along the great wall.

The Peiping dispatches which reported the alerting of the Marines said minor clashes had been reported outside the city. Tientsin itself was quiet, but beginning to suffer food shortage, because of the breakdown of supply lines, either by communist troops or roving bandits.

The dispatch said that nationalist troops now were in Tientsin "in force" and had disarmed an estimated 1,500 officers and men of the Third advance army and arrested at least 200 irregular officers, including some generals.

Advisory Commission On Japan Holds Meet

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Allied advisory commission on Japan met formally the first time today and then adjourned for a week—evidently to give Russia another opportunity to join the session.

The man who wasn't there actually dominated the initial meeting. The absentee was a Russian. The Soviet Union simply failed to send a representative in response to an invitation.

Approximately 45 minutes of speech making and other ceremonies were sufficient to allow foreign minister Herbert V. Ewart of Australia to serve notice that he does not intend for the small nations to be pushed around by the big powers in the commission meeting.

Members of the AFL Springfield Typographical Union went on strike as the convention opened in a dispute over wages.

Military Experts Urge Powerful U.S. Air Force

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Military experts rejected today any idea that future wars will be waged by a few men controlling pilotless atomic missiles with push-buttons.

They told congress this nation's defense must be based on a powerful air force because "at the present time the atomic bomb is considered an adjunct of air power rather than a substitute for it."

The appraisal was made by experts of the war, navy, state and commerce departments in a report to a subcommittee of the senate military affairs committee.

The report said aircraft will continue to play a "major role in the control of the skies, observation, carrying destruction to the enemy, and especially in transporting men and supplies."

It warned that defense must be based upon the "premise that this country will be the first target of attack and that we will not have any major allies for at least the early period of the future war."

"Any aggressor would know that it is essential to attack and destroy the industrial resources of this country before they can be mobilized," the experts said.

They informed congress that the best insurance against such disaster is the ability to "mount a full pledged attack" on short notice.

The experts advised that the nation retain at least one-fourth of the aircraft industry's wartime plants.

They suggested that military aircraft factories be dispersed in half a dozen places in the interior of the country to minimize the danger from long range bombers, carrier-based planes and rockets.

They offered the following "rough estimates" on postwar annual production of aircraft:

Private planes: 20,000 to 45,000 costing $72,000,000 to $120,000,000.
Commercial transports: 325 to 475, costing $125,000,000 to $175,000,000.
Military aircraft: 3,000 to 5,780, costing $750,000,000 to $1,400,000,000.

American Woman Played Big Role as Underground Leader

By TRUDI McCULLOUGH AP Newsfeature Writer NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Patricia Van Delden, a 37-year-old American, has come home from five years as a leader in the Dutch underground.

She and her husband—a Dutch electrical engineer who died in a German concentration camp—and General Willem Roel were among a half dozen men and women who organized Holland's Orde Dienst.

For five years Mrs. Van Delden never lived at one address longer than three weeks. She was picked up by the gestapo many times, was formally arrested once, and narrowly missed death three times.

Pretty and intensely earnest, her good humor and delight in the almost forgotten comforts of America make her own last five years seem quite unreal until she begins to speak of them.

She and her husband were in the south of France when the war began. The invasion of Holland sent them back to the Hague.

It was soon after that General Roel's adjutant came to call. Mrs. Van Delden remembers the three of them sitting on the bed in the back of a hushed house to talk.

"At first we were clumsy," she says. "We had to learn how the gestapo worked. Through trial and tragic error we learned never to go more than three times to the same house, never to write anything down, how to place people in such important spots as the registry bureau."

More difficult were such jobs as getting thousands of legitimate ration cards issued monthly for Dutchmen who have "underdred" and had no legal existence and no means of getting food.

A forgery bureau was set up to prepare identity cards but the ration cards were legitimate. The wehrmacht printing plant in the Hague used special super-imposed dyes that defied imitation.

"Knockout" gangs were the answer. In villages where the gestapo's habits could be watched, closely groups of men were sent to "stage old fashioned" parties.

One captured, the cards had to be distributed. It was on such an assignment that Mrs. Van Delden first missed death.

Underground language one never says anything so crude as "stolen." Things are "organized out." Special paper was "organized out" of the wehrmacht printing plant for use in the OD forgery bureau.

A secret room in the heart of the Hague, twice this particular house was raided by the gestapo but they never discovered the room.

The key to forging papers lay in having a man at the registry bureau who could "organize out" cards of men and women recently dead.

Papers were desperately needed against the threat of the German labor draft. Roundups on the street were impromptu and chronic.

"To escape being shipped away," says Mrs. Van Delden, "you had to show you were necessary to the German war effort."

It also was a moment of inexplicable panic that saved Mrs. Van Delden when she left a house ahead of another worker who refused to be hurried. Two minutes later, the gestapo appeared and the second woman was caught.

On another occasion she was arrested, searched and questioned for 10 hours after meeting another operative and receiving an umbrella from him.

From the way the questioning began, she knew the gestapo were not very sure of themselves and she played highly indignant. She determined she would not look once at the umbrella.

So successfully did she forget its existence she realized at the door, as she was being released, that she didn't have it. She turned to the gestapo man at her side and asked if he would mind getting it for her.

He did not. Her messages were safe. Once for three months she was concealed in a building which had a secret witchboard and served to coordinate underground activities in southern Holland.

During that time her chief was killed in the bombing of the Hague, and Mrs. Van Delden though so weak from lack of food (she lived for six weeks on tulip bulbs) that she was unable to leave the building, kept up the flow of information and instructions until a new chief took over.

A native Californian and a graduate of the University of Southern California, Mrs. Van Delden studied bacteriology in German universities before she was married in London in 1939.

After the war started she, as an American citizen, was able to keep the American consul informed of underground resistance plans. When America entered the war, she had the chance of repatriation.

But not until the current request for her aid in the relief for Holland movement, did she return to America.

RUSSIAN-LOVERS Naturally Don't Like Training

that by getting Hesitant Harry full-out, at last, before congress in favor of universal military training, they have driven the wedge which is going to pry him to the "right" and to the British side, in the Russo-British rivalry over strategic areas, and in addition, carry him clear out of the arms of P. A. C. and White House cabinet lobbyist.

Smiling Harry doesn't sense all this yet, but he'll find himself no longer "left of center" if he continues to back the training bill—and how can he renege or weaken on that now? It's the one thing he has come full-out for since taking office. Looks like all bridges were burned for him.

But the leftists, for the prime reason that they love Moscow and want to keep the Kremlin our chief favorite and dominant in world influence, will fight universal training and large permanent military establishment legislation to the last ditch. The leftists will take the lead in recruiting against the legislation.

Those who have more patriotic, humanitarian and scientific reasons than their own.

Immediately, the United States will be accused by Marxist agents and sympathizers throughout the world of going militaristic, of relying on force. Molotov has already said: "Secretary Byrnes doesn't have to argue his point—he just has to hold up a little bomb." And the directing brains of the Marxist conspiracy may decide that this is a good time to brand the United States—or at least the Truman administration—before the world as "fascist" and to start the strategy of turning all the frustrated and resentful peoples of the world against us.

Of course, nothing will be said about the thorough and increasing militarization of Russia, and the bending of all science there to the job of producing a superior "super weapon." The more of Churchill to take the socialists from the rear by demand a cut-down of Britain's establishment will of course be noted. But Britain's naval and military establishment has little bearing on the new arms race in the world. That is ordained between the United States and the United States. It gives the stamp of failure to all the glorious promises of the rewards for United States intervention in other hemispheric affairs.

But now, come to the other, yet overlooked, angle of the legislation. This Union becomes less and less reliable to the nation in crisis, not because of the common union member but because of the political leadership and domination he is under—one might correctly say, terrorization, for he cannot vote otherwise than led, or go through a picket line save at risk of his life and limb, in addition to being made an economic pariah.

With the dominant political party chiefs and the man in the White House playing ball with these political-minded union leaders for the sake of votes, the industrial base of our security forces becomes very shaky indeed. And hence the emphasis in the military training plan on developing special skills and aptitudes of trainees in any line, as well as giving them military basis, and the emphasis on specialized education and training for boys who cannot take military training at all but are a little short of complete physical disability.

It is impossible that trainee-youth in camps or even associated with the military, if that shall be the plan for the sake of their training, can be full adequate substitutes for the union workers of an industry. But, certainly, come necessity, they would be a great deal better than cold furnaces! And their existence might make their use unnecessary, at least generally.

It becomes evident that no American military service which does not have a better guarantee than now exists of the support of and functioning by its basic industry in a case of clash with Russia is in a hopeless position.

And for this very reason, expect the Marxist strategists to do everything possible to defeat the plan, and turn the labor vote they control against it. The existence of young trainees in industrial skills will be pictured to union voters and potential strikers as a prime "fascist" menace.

Remember, I'm not in love with the plan myself, and it has been most sketchily presented—we haven't even been told the cost! But I thought it well to call to your mind

the two important angles—as above. (Copyrighted)

But Britain's naval and military establishment has little bearing on the new arms race in the world. That is ordained between the United States and the United States. It gives the stamp of failure to all the glorious promises of the rewards for United States intervention in other hemispheric affairs.

But now, come to the other, yet overlooked, angle of the legislation. This Union becomes less and less reliable to the nation in crisis, not because of the common union member but because of the political leadership and domination he is under—one might correctly say, terrorization, for he cannot vote otherwise than led, or go through a picket line save at risk of his life and limb, in addition to being made an economic pariah.

With the dominant political party chiefs and the man in the White House playing ball with these political-minded union leaders for the sake of votes, the industrial base of our security forces becomes very shaky indeed. And hence the emphasis in the military training plan on developing special skills and aptitudes of trainees in any line, as well as giving them military basis, and the emphasis on specialized education and training for boys who cannot take military training at all but are a little short of complete physical disability.

It is impossible that trainee-youth in camps or even associated with the military, if that shall be the plan for the sake of their training, can be full adequate substitutes for the union workers of an industry. But, certainly, come necessity, they would be a great deal better than cold furnaces! And their existence might make their use unnecessary, at least generally.

It becomes evident that no American military service which does not have a better guarantee than now exists of the support of and functioning by its basic industry in a case of clash with Russia is in a hopeless position.

And for this very reason, expect the Marxist strategists to do everything possible to defeat the plan, and turn the labor vote they control against it. The existence of young trainees in industrial skills will be pictured to union voters and potential strikers as a prime "fascist" menace.

Remember, I'm not in love with the plan myself, and it has been most sketchily presented—we haven't even been told the cost! But I thought it well to call to your mind

the two important angles—as above. (Copyrighted)

BRAZIL GIVES AX TO TAX ON ACTS RIO DE JANIRO.—(AP)—President Getulio Vargas has exempted Brazilian theaters of all taxes. In Brazil, where theaters still are in their infancy, such a decree will permit more theater building and contribute to the cultural level of the plays.

Gay Dresses for 'His Return'

New Gowns Have Knee-High Slits, Peek-a-Boo Tops

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — The "welcome home" gown wanted for parties that celebrate Joe's return can be a "covered girl" fashion and still steal the scene from its bare-backed rivals.

more provocative when accompanied by prim necklines and sleeves. Example is the Stein-Blaine gown, right, with a sleep tunic top. Its flesh yoke and cap sleeves are laced with black sequin sprays, a motif which reappears on a floor-length skirt with a stretch silk.

FUN'S FUN ... But a broken street light can cause serious accidents!

Boys and girls, Hallow'en is just around the corner—and with it the urge to perform childish pranks. Have your fun, but we'd like to remind you of the serious damage and accidents that can result from breaking street lights.

Besides hazards, the metal used in lamp bulbs is still scarce, because manpower and transportation aren't all through with war work yet. We should save it, not waste it.

Dark corners may cause accidents, seriously injure the driver of a car, or maybe more than one car. A child crossing the street or riding a bike may be hit. People may fall, too, on unlighted curbs.

Think what lucky kids you are to live in a land with bright lighting at night—that never had a gloomy blackout except for practice. Millions of our boys fought to keep America's lights burning brightly. Let's do our part at home.

THE PRESIDENT CANCELS VISITS

The President acted wisely yesterday, we think, when he cancelled projected visits in the immediate future to North Carolina, Georgia, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas. In the first place, we wondered why he would line up so many "chats" with the job he has before him. We are supposing that maybe the President thought those states might secede, or something.

At any rate, it seems there is too much visiting right now by the highest official of the government. The problems, growing more numerous every day, are herculean in scope and their solution will write a new chapter in the history of American politico-economics. The breach between management and labor, instead of growing less disturbing, is gradually growing more so.

The problem of what to do with the atomic bomb is still just as great as it ever was, due to the fact that there has been little done about it except talk. We have a policy in the Pacific that won't work itself out. Relations between Russia and our country have grown little better. What shall be our policy in the Balkans? What about the Japanese and their trouble with the mother country, The Netherlands? By the mere fact of our being a great nation, and having waged a decisive battle in the global war—these questions, all of them, deserve our attention.

They can't be properly taken care of if the President takes a jaunt down to Gawgw, Nawth-Cawrolinaw, or out t Oklahoma City.

THE NEW ECONOMY

High living standards? Phooey! Relief for the hungry victims of war? Bosh!

We're all on the wrong track—all mankind with the exception of Mr. Bernard MacFadden. Mr. MacFadden, who of 78 eats oats and stands on his head, has got the right answer. And he told it the other morning to a gathering in New York.

Seems Mr. MacFadden met a man in Jacksonville, Fla., who says he's 130 years old. Right away Mr. MacFadden figured out why the venerable one was not only alive, but hale and hearty.

"He is a Civil War veteran and gets a pension of $37.50 a month," said Mr. MacFadden. "Obviously this isn't enough to live on, so the man has to go hungry and fast."

There you have it. If you want to live long, just don't make enough money to live at all. Sub-subsistence, here we come.

Nation's Press

SOME BAD GUESSES (Chicago Tribune)

The so-called full employment bill would require the President each year to submit a "job budget." In this he would state how many jobs there were going to be in private industry, and how many jobs the government would have to create to provide for the unemployed.

How is the President going to find out how many jobs there are going to be in a year in advance? Who will his experts be? Is he going to rely on the trade union executives like Sydney Hillman and William Green?

They are certainly men of wide experience in the ups and downs of industry. They both have excellent sources of information. However, in August, right after Japan surrendered, Hillman declared that within 6 to 8 weeks, 10 million people would be unemployed. Eight weeks have passed and the number out of work is about an eighth of the number forecast by the CIO political action committee chairman, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, about the same time said unemployment was going to be serious but wouldn't give any figures.

More likely the President in making his annual determination of how many jobs there were going to be would rely upon an official staff. No agency in the future is going to be better prepared to estimate unemployment than the next few years than the war man power commission two months ago. It had immediate contacts with every employer during the war. No one could go to work without its approval. It could require, suspend and conduct investigations without limit. It had expert analysts, economists, and statisticians. If any outfit was ever set up to get the low-down on employment it was the WMC.

Early last month WMC prepared a report which was used by the government to show that 4 million were going to be out of work by early spring. It was disapproved. The report said that the crest in the layoffs has passed. If policies of expanding expenditures had been followed, based upon its 4 million figure, the result would have been disastrous. The government, with its synthetic jobs, would have been competing with industry struggling to find man power sufficient for reconversion.

Of all the government agencies, WMC has come closest to the mark in its guesses. Going to the other extreme, there were the statements of Chester Bowles, who placed the amount of unemployment at between 10 and 20 million. Although unemployment never came close to the 10 or 20 million mark he set for the reconversion period, he did what he could to make his estimate some time by keeping one industry after another in the dark about the prices they could charge for their products.

Government officials and trade union officials have recently forecast the volume of unemployment 6 or 8 weeks in advance. What reason is there to think that the President, who would have to rely upon the same sources for guidance, could determine the out-of-work status 12 or 18 months in advance?

Public officials on their showing ought to be extremely humble about predetermining the course of economic forces, which they have shown they do not understand. The desirability of filling in the valleys and leveling off the peaks in business has been often

In Hollywood

BY ERKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Wanna have your husband named "Mr. Model Husband of 1946"? Wanna have your girl friend voted "Miss Gorgeous Eyes" or "Wanna have your wife crowned "The Lady Without the Demeanor Hands of 1946"?

Just give us a jingle. We'll arrange everything. For free, yet. Just to show you how easy it is, we had Greg (The Great John L.) McClure voted "The Body Beautiful of 1946" by the Pin-Up Girls of America, Inc. It only took a couple of hours.

For some time we had been brooding over those phony titles which are awarded almost every day to somebody by somebody else. We got real mad about it when we read that girl up in Idaho had been voted the "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep" girl by the Matress Stuffers association.

THE TIME IS NOW The time has come, we decided, to start a crusade. We would expose the inside workings of those phony titles which, like grapefruit juice, are in the public eye every day. We had just seen the movie, "The Great John L." in which Greg McClure paraded around in purple shorts. We would have him voted "The Body Beautiful of 1946" by the Pin-Up Girls of America, Inc.

So we called up a press agent named Joe, and said: "Joe, the time has come for action. Today we are going to have your client, Greg McClure, honored by the Pin-Up Girls of America, Inc., and expose the whole thing."

Joe caught on quick. "It is practically in the bag," he said. "What do we do first?" "We get a president for the Pin-Up Girls of America, Inc.," we said. "Dig one up and meet me at Lucy's for lunch."

Joe was there with our president—a pretty little blonde named Doris Peterson, who is a showgirl in Ken Murray's Hollywood revue, "Blackouts." Ken thought it was a great idea. He would get "Blackouts" mentioned in this column.

Then we called up a Miss Dorothy Preble, who manages a very exclusive model agency in Hollywood. Could we please use some of her girls for a half-hour as members of Pin-Up Girls of America, Inc.?

"Will the name of the agency be mentioned?" Dorothy asked. "No doubt," we replied. "Come right on up," she said.

PHOTOGRAPHS ARE EASY Next we called our Acme photographer friend, Paul King, and told him what was going on. "Pin-up girls," said King. "I'm leaving the office right now."

We all met at Dorothy Preble's model agency (plug).

Joe directed the photographs—shots of the pin-up girls measuring McClure's chest, feeling his muscles and measuring his waistline.

"This," McClure said, sheepishly, "is murder."

"This," Joe, the press agent, said, "is sensational!"

WASHINGTON BY RAY TUCKER

GIFTS—Globe-trotting congressmen recently discovered that President Roosevelt's generosity to Ibn Saud, the King of Arabia, included far more than the promise that the United States would not sponsor a settlement of the Palestine problem which was hostile to the Arabs. Other gifts to the desert overlord include airfields, weather stations, runways, modern highways and surplus weapons.

Two hundred United States soldiers and officers, the legislators learned, are now constructing a $4,000,000 airport in Arabia that will be owned by that kingdom, but eventually leased to an American commercial air line which has obtained a route through that area. In other sections of the same country, doughboys are building roads, auxiliary airfields and all the other necessary facilities.

UNDERWRITING—The funds for this work have been drawn away from army appropriations over the protest of the former commanding officer in that theater. He objected to the use of the money for this purpose on the ground that it was not a "military operation."

He also reported that the assignment was lowering the morale of his men, who had expected to be shipped home after several years of hard labor in opening and maintaining truck and railway routes from the head of the Persian gulf into Russia. The terrific heat and the primitive living conditions had subjected these units to almost inhuman strain.

The military authorities, however, were overruled by the state department and the White House, with President Truman underwriting his predecessor's pledges for fear a violation might reflect on the word and honor of the American government in this turbulent territory and crossroad of the world.

ROYALTIES—The new interests and responsibilities which the United States has acquired as a result of the global struggle were cited as justification for these extralegal expenditures when the congressmen, on their return to Capitol Hill, questioned diplomatic and military officials regarding their request for additional funds to complete all these projects.

A high air force authority pointed out that a certain American air line had been granted a license for a commercial route to the Middle East, and that the Arabian airport was an essential link. It would take the company many months to build the field if it had to start from scratch, he continued, and im-mmediately, to prevent riots which would forfeit the lives of occupation forces.

DESPERATE NEED FOR BUILDING MATERIALS The same is true of industries producing building materials. Germans are desperately in need of more housing. The occupation army is having to use its own materials to help alleviate this situation, reports say. At the same time German factories which could get under way on a short notice and take the burden off the United States are being kept closed because nobody in Washington is willing to shoulder the responsibility to let them start.

Observers say it is fantastic to suggest that these industries could help Germany prepare for the next war. That country is so thoroughly licked the only hope of its leaders is that the citizens will survive famine and death due to exposure.

Only broad policy laid down by the state department is that an attempt would be made to bring Germany to its economic level of 1932. Experts point out that this was the worst depression year Germany ever suffered. It was the crucial year of Hitler's rise and the year most nazis were born. This pronouncement has scared the Germans more than anything else, it is charged. With these conditions present, the occupation forces are expected to try to indoctrinate the German people with democratic principles and have them

DAY-BY-DAY COUNT ON WASHINGTON'S ACTIVITIES GIVEN

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that congress frankly concedes that it has helped big business or the monopolists in business and that it has discriminated against weaker competitors. But such an admission is to be found in the senate finance committee's report on the present excess profits tax bill.

"The tax," says the senate committee report, "tends to favor old, and well-established businesses since many of them have invested capital which has long ago ceased to contribute toward earnings, although it is included in the credit used to determine the excess profits tax. New businesses without such credits based on invested capital are thus penalized by the tax."

Yet, despite this admission that the excess profits tax tended to help big business as against competitors, the record shows that congress originally wrote provisions into the excess profits law which, though proclaimed to be relief from hardships, actually deprived smaller business of such relief.

The treasury department has before it many thousands of cases in which small businesses are required to pay a higher tax rate than the larger businesses. Upon close reading of the law, it will be discovered that it was not the bureau of internal revenue but the writers of the law itself in congress who brought about the discrimination.

No business man likes to pay 80 cents out of each dollar of his net income while someone else in exactly the same line of business pays as little as 60 cents. The same problem was up during World War I but congress at that time gave the bureau of internal revenue discretion to equalize the tax by taxing the larger business with its competitor. There has been talk of amending the present law to remove the discrimination as it applies to 1945 and previous years, but no action appears to be in sight. Meanwhile the treasury is turning down claims right along and smaller businesses are being compelled to pay higher taxes than the bigger ones. This is hardly the way to break down monopoly or encourage competition.

It is apparent that hardly any legislation favors the excess profits tax. Even the treasury department which has proposed complete repeal. The administrative side of the problem has proved even more burdensome than it was after the war.

They are just as homesick as any buck private in the rear rank.

PROBLEMS—Moreover, they advocate a completely different pattern of control. At the present moment our military and civil government officers are managing every detail of German economy, municipal rule and all the bread-and-butter problems involved.

Few of them are experts on such matters as education, sanitation, economic production and transportation, food, etc. Hardly one has had previous experience in dealing with civilian populations, even when on service in the United States. They maintain that they are not equipped to function as mayors, councilmen, municipal commissioners, educators, and policemen.

Not only have they eliminated nazis from posts of influence, as they insist they have, they argue that the Germans be allowed to operate their domestic affairs under the over-all policy laid down by the Allied Control Commission. They also agree with Gen. Douglas MacArthur that the number of our occupying forces should be reduced to a minimum.

General Eisenhower has already ordered several of his aides to Washington to present this viewpoint to the White House and the war and state departments.

The resurgence of bloody strife between the powerful Chinese communist armies and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government forces may signal the dread civil war which long has threatened China—a disaster of the first magnitude.

A worried world heaved a sigh of relief in mid-October when the Chinese Reds and the Generalissimo reached an agreement which ostensibly meant peace at long last. However, the ink was scarcely dry on the pact before the clash of arms was resumed and swelled until now heavy fighting is reported in numerous parts of the country, especially the northern section which is the stronghold of the communists.

You may recall that as far back as early 1937 I reported in this column, after a visit to China, that well informed observers feared the fierce quarrel could be settled only by civil war. The two factions were working under a truce in face of their common Japanese enemy, but even then there were sanguinary clashes and the great fear was that the all-out civil upheaval would come down before the Japs were beaten.

Whether we have now arrived at the show-down remains to be seen. We shouldn't rush to conclusions, but the situation is grave.

The trouble is that trying to make a union of the Chinese communists and General Chiang's Kuomintang dictatorship is like attempting to mix oil and water. The ideas and ideals of the two factions are as far apart as the poles. They just don't mix.

Right here it should be pointed out that the Chinese communists claim there's no relationship between them and the Russian communists. Gen. Chou En-lai, one of the Chinese communist leaders, assured me that there was no link with Moscow and that the Chinese Reds were mainly agrarians who were interested in bettering the state of the farmer.

Well, far be it from me to dispute the word of Chou En-lai (who

STATE DEPARTMENT MUDDLE IN GERMANY

(Second of Two Articles) BY DOUGLAS LARSEN NEA Washington Correspondent (Edson is III)

WASHINGTON.—Lack of a policy and any organization in the state department to cope with occupation problems in Germany is creating steadily deteriorating conditions in Europe, is the report of reliable officials just returned from there.

The confusion in Germany among occupation authorities merely reflects the confusion in the state department, it is claimed.

What part of German industry should be allowed to start up, is one of the biggest muddles. Military officials in the industry division of the occupation organization repeatedly have tried to get a statement of policy from Washington but none has been forthcoming. As a result, only the German factories which have direct orders from the U. S. army are allowed to operate.

Food is one of the most serious problems in Germany. One of the keys to that problem is farm machinery. Facilities for producing farm machinery in Germany are being kept under lock and key. Authorities there are afraid to give these plants the go-ahead, although they realize how important it is to get them started. They're afraid of what might be said back home. Thus Germans aren't even being given a chance to help feed themselves and the U. S. will have to send food to them eventually, to prevent riots which would forfeit the lives of occupation forces.

DESPERATE NEED FOR BUILDING MATERIALS The same is true of industries producing building materials. Germans are desperately in need of more housing. The occupation army is having to use its own materials to help alleviate this situation, reports say. At the same time German factories which could get under way on a short notice and take the burden off the United States are being kept closed because nobody in Washington is willing to shoulder the responsibility to let them start.

Observers say it is fantastic to suggest that these industries could help Germany prepare for the next war. That country is so thoroughly licked the only hope of its leaders is that the citizens will survive famine and death due to exposure.

Only broad policy laid down by the state department is that an attempt would be made to bring Germany to its economic level of 1932. Experts point out that this was the worst depression year Germany ever suffered. It was the crucial year of Hitler's rise and the year most nazis were born. This pronouncement has scared the Germans more than anything else, it is charged. With these conditions present, the occupation forces are expected to try to indoctrinate the German people with democratic principles and have them set up a democratic government. To make matters worse, a rich area of Germany land has been handed over to Poland for administrative purposes. Its resources are lost to Germany and Germans from the east are being moved in the western zones, which are already food deficit areas.

ALL EUROPE WILL BE AFFECTED Not only is Germany affected by her lack of food and the silence of her industries, France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and all Europe will suffer as a result. The economy of these countries always has been integrated, with one depending on the other.

It is pointed out that even if the Germans were given the last consideration, as payment for their war crimes, something has to be done for them in the interests of the innocent peoples in Europe and to free American occupation forces.

In addition to charges that the state department is basically at fault in the matter of the occupation forces, there is evidence that the army isn't doing the best job it could. Headquarters of the international control council is in Berlin. Headquarters of the occupation control group is in Frankfurt. There is constant friction reported between these two groups.

Of the whole, experts claim, America is doing a poor job of preparing the ground for sowing the seeds of democracy in Europe.

Linhars declared immediately after taking the oath at 2:30 a. m.

It is known that Linhars, who also is head of the supreme electoral tribunal, is opposed to any modification of the decree providing for the December election. Gen. Pedro Aurelio Goes Monteiro, minister of war and a dominant figure in forcing Vargas from office, likewise is on record as favoring the elections.

Although the army appeared to be in complete charge of the situation, Goes Monteiro said there had been no military coup as such. He said the army would guarantee the holding of the elections, which he said the Vargas government no longer was capable of realizing.

The news came with shocking suddenness to the people, in the wake of a swift succession of events which began with the appointment of Vargas' brother, Benjamin, as chief of the federal police. He was regarded as a leader of a movement to keep Vargas in power despite the forthcoming elections.

Goes Monteiro, an advocate of state, congressional and presidential elections, resigned as war minister but reconsidered at the request of the army and called for Joao Lins de Barros to resume his office as chief of the federal police.

An ultimatum was served upon Getulio Vargas to resign.

Thanks were assembled in the streets about the presidential palace. The president's wife and another brother, Viriato Vargas, and the grounds in a presidential car. Troops already had occupied key points in the city as a precautionary measure.

The cabinet was assembled at the presidential palace when first word came late last night that Vargas had resigned. Confirmation came shortly after midnight.

In the early morning hours a band of about 1,900 men roamed the streets in the center of the capital, ripping down posters of the Queremistas party, which had been demanding that Vargas cancel the scheduled elections and remain at the helm of the government he headed since 1930.

Announcement of Vargas' decision came in a war department communication signed by Goes Monteiro which said the president would step down to "avoid greater unrest" and that Linhars would take the reins. A similar announcement was made by De Barros.

Goes Monteiro, when he reconsidered his resignation as war minister, had read a proclamation over the capital's radio stations saying he decided to remain because of his knowledge "of the grave situation which the country is experiencing."

He said he had received from the army and navy demonstrations of solidarity in the face of "the wave of anarchy which is nearing."

As soon as word arrived of Vargas' decision, the nation's military leaders, including the administration's presidential candidate, former War Minister Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra, and the opposition candidate, aviation Maj. Gen. Eduardo Gomez, went into conference. The capital's radio stations, meanwhile, continued signing off at 2 a. m., continued on the air, playing martial music.

Vargas has governed Brazilian affairs for 15 years. He seized the power in the 1930 revolution, in which the leaders included both Goes Monteiro and De Barros. He governed without a congress until 1934, when he became president and promulgated a new constitution.

In 1937 he proclaimed the "new state," dissolved the congress and decreed a new constitution giving the greatest authority to the executive branch.

Linhars, on the other hand, is little known and not identified with any particular political group. His assumption of the presidential power probably would be a stopgap measure under the terms of the 1937 constitution, which decrees that the head of the supreme court take over in the event of the president's removal.

It was recalled that the opposition candidate, Gomez, had suggested several months ago that Vargas resign and permit the elections to be held while Linhars was president.

Vargas announced last March that elections for president and a constituent assembly would be held early in December and that he, himself, would not be a candidate. The announcement launched the first open political activity in the country since 1937 when Vargas, proclaiming Brazil's "second republic," broke up a bitter presidential race in a bloodless, army-supported coup.

It brought home to the German people the full impact of modern war with all its horror and suffering. Its imprint on the German nation will be lasting.

Almost 2,700,000 tons of bombs were dropped, more than 1,400,000 bomber sorties and 2,600,000 fighter sorties were flown. The number of combat planes reached a peak of some 28,000 and at the maximum 1,300,000 men were in combat commands.

The survey noted that it was surprising how quickly the Germans could bring back industrial production after a raid. In the oil industry alone 350,000 men were assigned to the job of trying to see that production was kept going. But after Germany lost the control of the air repeat attacks defeated efforts of the repair crews.

The British experimented briefly with industrial bombing, then concentrated on bombing cities.

But the survey found that "the city attacks of the RAF prior to the autumn of 1944, did not substantially affect the course of German war production.

As a rule industrial plants were located around the perimeter of the cities and were relatively undamaged. Production would receive a moderate set-back after a raid, but would recover substantially within a few weeks.

The U. S. air forces entered the war with the view that industries and services — oil refineries, transportation, marshalling yards—were the most pressing targets.

However, most bombing operations over Germany had to be conducted under weather and battle conditions which restricted bombing technique and accuracy suffered accordingly, the appraisers said.

Survey studies showed that only about 20 per cent of the bombs aimed at precision targets fell within the target area, a circle of 1,000 feet radius around the point attacked.

With the reduction of German air power, oil became the priority target. Attacks on the Ploesti oil fields in Rumania in 1944, together with mining the Danube, materially reduced Rumanian deliveries. The Russian occupation finally eliminated this source of supply.

Germany then depended on synthetic oil plants and by July, 1944, everyone had been hit. Production dropped to a low of 5,000 tons in September, 1944. The Germans viewed the attacks as catastrophic, the survey found.

The attack on transportation was the decisive blow which completely disorganized the German economy, the committee said. It reduced war production in all categories and made it difficult to move what was produced to the front.

The survey declared that all in all industrial bombing was more effective than "area" bombing—the pounding of cities.

Franklin D'Olier, president of the Prudential Insurance Co. and First National Commander of the American Legion, was chairman of the survey.

Money, Money, everywhere, but not a cent to keep!

That was the sad refrain of the infantrymen of the 33rd division on Luzon, as they repeatedly unearthed cast amounts of Jap-hidden gold, only to have the MP's haul it away.

Shortly after going into the line on Luzon, the 33rd, which is officially known as the Prairie division, earned the nickname "The Money Division."

In attacking the city of Rosario the 33rd's artillery scored a direct hit on buried treasure along the highway, hurling an estimated half million dollars in pre-war silver pesos all over the landscape. Four trucks were required to haul it away.

A few days later, artillerymen digging gun positions unearthed $70,000 more in pesos. But it was not until the 33rd was battling for Baguio that it really struck it rich. After hard fighting, the men of the Prairie recaptured 12 gold mines, including some of the richest in the world. Seven of the mines produced 750,000,000 pesos in gold in the year before Pearl Harbor.

The 33rd came to Luzon a battle-hardened outfit, having fought in the Wake-Sarmi operation, and in the second battle of Morotai. For three months the 33rd was engaged in savage mountain fighting on Luzon. Its goal was Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines, a mile-high city and center of the Japanese last-ditch defense. At the beginning of the campaign the 33rd had a division front of 20 miles. Three months later, just before the capitulation of the city, the division was fighting on a 65-mile front.

Several thousand persons, including Brig-Gen. Manuel Roxas, former aide to General MacArthur, were rescued from the Japs at Baguio, and most of them escaped through the 33rd's lines.

CIO delegates are expected to confer with Mr. Truman on Friday.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is believed to have been invited Thursday, although there has been no announcement.

The whole wage-price issue revolves about the fact union labor generally worked a wartime 48-hour week, getting time and a half for the extra eight hours. This meant 52 hours pay for 48 hours work.

What the unions have wanted is to get the same pay as in wartime in changing back from the 48-hour to the regular 40-hour week. Under Mr. Truman's reported proposal they would get a little less pay than in wartime but work eight hours less.

lian laborators of the country, he said.

The army proposed an assistant secretary for procurement and industrial mobilization. Working with that office, but directly under the chief of staff of the armed forces would be another unit, the director of common supply and hospitalization. That officer, said Collins, should be responsible for procuring items needed commonly by all services, such as food and blankets.

Collins' statement also suggested a civilian assistant secretary to supervise legislative matters and public information.

The fourth department might handle military intelligence. Collins said "there can be no question" about the need for coordination.

Collins said the joint chiefs of staff—a wartime agency composed of the high commands of the army, navy, air forces and the White House military chief of staff—should be continued. But his recommendation was that it have recommending authority only on military policy, strategy and budget requirements.

The national debt in 1945 was almost $16,000,000.

A quick glance at the police blotter:

A woman was brought into a Dallas court for discharging firearms in the city limits. The judge asked her what she was shooting at.

"Oh," she said casually, "I was just shooting at a friend."

Urging one's wife homeward by sticking her with a penknife is illegal in Brownwood.

Brownwood police arrested one man who had done that. They said before he got his wife home she'd received three or four stab wounds.

He was fined $35.

Traffic officer J. P. Coughlin of Dallas figures maybe something should be done to make police uniforms more conspicuous or impressive.

He was directing traffic and blowing his whistle when a woman dashed up and tapped him on the shoulder.

"Tell me, young man," she said breathlessly, "where can I find a policeman?"

Now and then the police get an assist. Like the time Hugh Sawyer of the Dallas chamber of commerce was entering a store.

A man brushed past him, a woman's purse in his hand. Sawyer gave chase, caught the thief, recovered the purse. But the man got away.

But Mrs. W. L. Dollar of Denison grimly has decided she'll help herself from now on.

She had been shopping and had an armload of packages. She laid her purse on the fender of a car while she placed the packages in her own.

When she turned to pick up her purse, the other car had driven away. From now on, says Mrs. Dollar—tons of quinine, which the medical officer said would have been enough to protect 1,000,000 American soldiers from malaria for a month.

Under today's order, the Japanese government was instructed to deliver Abe, who besides his "thought police" activities was Japanese home minister in Premier Kantaro Suzuki's surrender cabinet, to American officers for incarceration in Omori prison, where a number of other former war lords awaiting war criminal trials.

MacArthur's new Zaiabatsu directive ordered the 15 companies to prepare within 45 days from Oct. 22 exhaustive reports disclosing complete financial and production records for the war years 1935 through 1944; lists of all foreign nationals who owned any shares in that period; annual lists of major customers and details on capitalization, balance sheets, property holdings, investments, bank deposits, loans and major stockholders.

Specifically named in the directive were the "big five"—Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumatomo, Yasuda and Okura — and Kawasaki, Missan, Asano Holding, Fuji Industrial, (formerly Naka Jima Aircraft), Shibussawa, Nippon Nitrogenous Fertilizer, Furukawa, Nomura Riken and Nisso companies.

MacArthur previously in effect ordered dissolution of the Zaiabatsu, but did not make his "suggestion" a directive. To date, only one of the Zaiabatsu has indicated a willingness to comply with official Japan has balked publicly at the request.

MacArthur's refusal to alter in any way his directive ordering all Japanese diplomats everywhere returned home, all embassies and other establishments closed, and all of their records turned over to him, carried the full weight of the Big Four allies. His reply to Yoshida's request for modifications was a succinct statement that the directive came to him from Washington and was issued after consultations among the United States, Britain, China and Russia.

Money, Money, everywhere, but not a cent to keep!

That was the sad refrain of the infantrymen of the 33rd division on Luzon, as they repeatedly unearthed cast amounts of Jap-hidden gold, only to have the MP's haul it away.

Shortly after going into the line on Luzon, the 33rd, which is officially known as the Prairie division, earned the nickname "The Money Division."

In attacking the city of Rosario the 33rd's artillery scored a direct hit on buried treasure along the highway, hurling an estimated half million dollars in pre-war silver pesos all over the landscape. Four trucks were required to haul it away.

A few days later, artillerymen digging gun positions unearthed $70,000 more in pesos. But it was not until the 33rd was battling for Baguio that it really struck it rich. After hard fighting, the men of the Prairie recaptured 12 gold mines, including some of the richest in the world. Seven of the mines produced 750,000,000 pesos in gold in the year before Pearl Harbor.

The 33rd came to Luzon a battle-hardened outfit, having fought in the Wake-Sarmi operation, and in the second battle of Morotai. For three months the 33rd was engaged in savage mountain fighting on Luzon. Its goal was Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines, a mile-high city and center of the Japanese last-ditch defense. At the beginning of the campaign the 33rd had a division front of 20 miles. Three months later, just before the capitulation of the city, the division was fighting on a 65-mile front.

Several thousand persons, including Brig-Gen. Manuel Roxas, former aide to General MacArthur, were rescued from the Japs at Baguio, and most of them escaped through the 33rd's lines.

Figures show that, when youth is engaged in such activities that those furnished by scouting organization, they are less likely to become a responsibility to the community through petty crime.

Max F. Lowe termed the demands "exorbitant." Union officials declined comment. They have requested wage increases from $1.28 to $1.65 an hour.

Also in the Pacific coast, there was a flareup in the eight-month-old strike of workers at Hollywood movie studios. Herbert K. Sorrell, head of the AFL conference of studio unions and a leader in the walkout, told Glendale, Calif., police that gunmen fired four shots at him last night as he was driving his car out of his garage.

Sorrell reported the shooting shortly after he announced that at least 6,000 pickets would resume marching at major studios Wednesday unless an agreement is reached tonight in the AFL jurisdictional dispute.

The Galveston (Tex.) waterfront was closed down today and an estimated 4,000 ship repair workmen were made idle because of picketing by striking AFL clerks and checkers

Good News from General Electric

DESPITE the sudden stopping of war work, employment at General Electric has declined less than 10 per cent overall. Rehiring is already under way, and it is expected that more people will be employed within six to eight months than were employed during the biggest prewar years.

What G-E people are making is shown, in part, by the list below. This list of things you and your family have wanted for many months shows the progress General Electric has made in swinging back to its regular job of making "More Goods for More People at Less Cost." General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

Alarm Clocks. In January, 1944, WPB okayed making some electric alarm clocks. Within seven weeks, G. E. was in production.

Turbines. Full schedule peacetime production of steam turbines, source of two-thirds of the nation's electric power and the driving power for most of our fighting and merchant fleets, is expected to be reached by December.

Irons. In June, 1944, came authorization to make electric irons. In three months, G.E. was shipping irons. Today's rate is higher than 1941.

Motors. Ten million were built for war—many of special types and sizes. Now G-E lines are being quickly converted to production of standard types for washing machines, refrigerators, etc.

Refrigerators. After getting green light from WPB in June, 1945, G.E. was in production in eight weeks.

Transformers. Upwards of 70 small transformers were required for a single B-29 Superfortress. Now G-E facilities are turning them out again to help make electricity more useful to you.

Washers. Ten weeks from WPB go-ahead, G-E washer line started rolling in Bridgeport on August 24, 1945. Already they're being turned out at 47 per cent of G.E.'s prewar rate.

Street Lights and Flood Lights. Facilities that turned out mobile anti-aircraft searchlights for the Army, and thousands of signaling searchlights for the Navy, are now producing flood lights for sports and industry, and street lights to reduce the nation's night traffic toll.

Radios. G-E radios will be back on the market for Christmas. Table models will be in dealers' stores in November. By Christmas, 12 models should be in stores, including AC-DC battery portables, radio phonograph consoles. Television and FM will go into production after the first of the year.

Home Construction Materials. Wire, cable, fluorescent lampholders, etc., formerly for Army and Navy use, are now in production for your new home.

Ranges. Manufacture began on the first G-E electric ranges September 9, 1945. Three days later the first shipment was made.

Plastics Production. The plastics facilities of General Electric, largest manufacturer of finished plastic products in the country, have been turned to molding camera, clock and refrigerator parts, toaster and coffee-maker handles, caster wheels and wiring devices, radio cabinets, fluorescent bases, cosmetic jars and covers, industrial and decorative laminated materials, lighting reflectors and shades.

Water Coolers. Production at G.E. will equal prewar rate in November.

Automatic Heating. G.E. in January will have oil-fired boilers, conversion oil burners, gas-fired boilers, gas-fired warm air conditioners, all coming off the lines where radar, gunfire and aviation equipment was produced.

Farm Freezers. Will be ready in 1947.

Air Conditioners. One model of room air conditioner will be ready in limited numbers for your next summer's needs. First "store cooler" was shipped the day after V-J Day. More daily.

Radar. The G-E Electronic Navigator, to make ship navigation safer in fog and dark, and to speed shipping schedules, has been tested by many months of actual operation and will soon be available.

Exposure Meters. The new G-E exposure meter for amateur and professional photographers is in production. Present rate is several thousand a week.

Lamps. During the war, the Lamp Department did the double task of supplying both military and civilian needs. Now available once more, but in limited quantities, are such war-discontinued types as: 50- and 75-watt inside frost lamps, 50-100-150-watt medium base lamp, flame-shaped lamps, round decorative lamps, fluorescent lamps, lumiline lamps. Christmas tree lights are in production but will be quite limited this holiday season.

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Ranking the high school football teams of Texas has become quite complicated. Results of the past several weeks have brought five teams virtually even with each other. Comparative scores show it as well as what has developed on the playing field.

You can rank either Lufkin, Highland Park, Waco, Wichita Falls or Odessa No. 1 and feel you are right in each instance. But here's how they look just to get something settled:

1. Lufkin.
2. Highland Park.
3. Waco.
4. Wichita Falls.
5. Odessa.
6. Goose Creek.
7. Amarillo.
8. Paris.
9. Austin.
10. Brownsville.

The second 10: PAMPA, Plainview, Marshall, Brownwood, Breckinridge, Cleburne, Crozier, Tech (Dallas), Milby (Houston), Galveston, Corpus Christi.

Temple in the Cotton Bowl? Right now that would look like a good bet. The Philadelphia school has as its coach, Ray Morrison, who started Southern Methodist university on the road to national acclaim. Morrison is quite popular in Texas—and Dallas.

Temple is undefeated and untied, holding victories over Syracuse, New York U., Bucknell, West Virginia

Soldiers of West Point Hold On To Lead in Rankings

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Army, Notre Dame and Navy retained the first three places among the country's top ten football teams as determined by the weekly Associated Press poll today but the remainder of the elite group underwent a thorough shake up.

Three new clubs were admitted to membership, three others grabbed new places and only seven Pennsylvania kept its position.

Army, playing what the Cadet coaches said was the team's best game of the season, defeated Duke 48 to 13 Saturday and today did one of its best vote-getting jobs by snaring 91 first places on the 106 ballots cast. Ten critics placed the team second and five rated it no better than third.

Notre Dame's unbeaten streak and its 55 to 0 conquest of Iowa induced six voters to place the Irish first and Navy was the choice of three.

The Cadets, who have been on top since a year ago this week when Notre Dame relinquished the throne, gathered 1,040 points.

Ohio State, Oklahoma A. & M. and Michigan are the new members of the top ten although it is a return appearance for both of the Big Ten clubs. Defeats suffered last Saturday by Purdue, Minnesota and Texas sent that trio out of the major ranking.

The leading ten teams determined on a basis of 10 points for each first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc. (first-place votes in parenthesis):

Army (9)	1,040
Notre Dame	899
Navy (3)	798
Alabama (4)	706
Indiana	47
Ohio State	317
Pennsylvania	254
St. Mary's (2)	233
Oklahoma A. & M.	189
Michigan	154

All Interested Persons Asked To Be Present

A second meeting to decide Pampa's participation in proposed Southwest baseball league will be in the city commission rooms tonight at 7:30.

Efforts are being made in Abilene, Lamesa, Lubbock, Amarillo, Borger and Pampa, Texas, and Albuquerque and Clovis, New Mexico, to revive the old West Texas-New Mexico league, which disbanded in 1942.

According to the Associated Press, O. E. Beck, chairman of an Albuquerque group seeking to organize a loop, said some action on the proposal may be taken at a meeting of representatives of interested cities in Lubbock November 4.

Only a small amount of equipment owned by the Pampa club is still here. It was reported at the last local meeting. A new bus would be needed and major repairs would have to be done on Roadrunner Park, the team's home field.

However, those present at the last meeting were confident that something could be done and called another meeting tonight.

Everyone who is interested in seeing professional baseball revived here is asked to attend tonight's meeting.

Milton Price, president of the defunct West Texas-New Mexico loop, has told several men in the interested cities that it appears almost certain the league would be revived in some form. He said it was now a question of what cities would make up the eight clubs.

State Collegiate Football Without Undeclared Team

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The latest headache for football coaches who pour "T" for the opposition these Saturday afternoons seems to be the "back in motion" penalty.

They're all catching it and a couple of sneakers at yesterday's hamburger and hot air session protested that they wouldn't believe the officials until they had seen the game pictures. Army's Herman Hickman maintained there was considerable doubt about some of the penalties called against Army because officials can't be sure when that ball is snapped right back into the quarterback's hands whether or not it is passed before the backs start moving. And Adam Walsh voiced a similar opinion about a costly penalty to his Cleveland team. Maybe spherical Steve Owen had the answer for that one. "Herman," he said, "the way those boys of yours can run after they get started, I wouldn't be in a hurry to get them off."

Secret Practice

When the Oklahoma U. football team was on its way to play Kansas state at Manhattan, Kas., last week, Freshman Guard Lester Jensen was left behind at the Emporia, Kas. station. Lester started hitch-hiking and nearly wound up at the wrong place. "I almost went to Lawrence (Home of Kansas U.) instead of Manhattan," Jensen confessed, "all I knew was that we were playing some Kansas team." Looks like a job for the Sooner scouts before the next game.

U. S. ADMITS 1945 ATTACK ON SWISS

BELLINZONA, Switzerland.—(AP)—The government of this canton, Ticino, announced it had been advised by the Swiss federal political department that the American government has accepted responsibility for an air attack Jan. 27, 1945, on Chiasso, on the Swiss-Italian frontier.

At the time of the attack it was reported that four airplanes of unknown nationality machine-gunned the Swiss railroad station at Chiasso, destroying one locomotive, damaging another and slightly injuring one man. The cantonal government said the American government had agreed to pay damages.

Scott's Scrapbook

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

With all due respects to Coach T. E. "Tricky" Ward and his Borger Bulldogs, we believe that the 21-0 win Amarillo scored over Borger was no real indication of the comparative strength of the two teams.

We base our belief on the fact that Borger was an especially "inspired" team. The Bulldogs will probably fight so hard as they did when they played Amarillo. The Sandies were just not prepared for such a bitter fight.

Although they met defeat at the hands of Odessa, we will still rate the Sandies as the favorite in the district race until somebody else proves otherwise. Such boys as Harold Collins, Bob Bauman and Avon Plankin are great boys and will be hard to stop.

Speaking of Collins, he is the third Collins boy to star in Amarillo high school football. The first was Burl, who was an all-state back in 1941. Burl was killed in an airplane crash near Pampa while he was completing his aviation cadet training. Dale Collins completed his eligibility at Amarillo last year and enrolled at the University of Texas before entering the navy.

Jess Clay, Randall Clay's father, has to dig a little deeper every time Pampa wins a game. We won't tell you why but that big grin on Randy's face Friday night wasn't there just because Pampa won the game.

Kerr Starts 36th Year of Coaching

AP Newsfeatures

HAMILTON, N. Y.—Andy Kerr has been coaching football more than 35 years and he can't get enough of it. That's why you'll always find the little quick-witted Scot out on the gridiron in the middle of every Colgate university practice session.

He has been up here since 1929. Now, all the old grads and sports writers never think of the Red Raiders without thinking of Andy.

A graduate of Dickinson college, he participated in football, baseball and track. Kerr started as a high school coach in Johnstown, Pa. Then he went to Pittsburgh Central high where his undefeated teams brought him a chance with Pittsburgh university.

Since then he has always used Pop Warner's system although anyone who has ever seen his team in action will tell you that it's the Kerr variations that make the Colgate teams click.

The Scot's attack always features plenty of double spinners, triple reverses and combinations of the lateral and forward pass plays emphasizing deception and fast ball-handling.

So that's why Andy was caught in this pose recently showing his quarterback the correct way to get the ball started toward a touchdown. He practices what he preaches.

LeFors Pirates To Play McLean Friday

LEFORS—With a 13-0 loss to Wellington and a 6-5 tie with Panhandle to mar their record, the LeFors Pirates play their arch-rivals, the McLean Tigers at LeFors Friday night.

In seven games, the Pirates have rolled up 127 points while limiting their opponents to 43. Wins have been 13-6 over White Deer, 20-0 over Shamrock, 6-0 over Clarendon, 29-6 over Memphis and 53-12 over Wheeler.

Fullback Wade Stracener, 180-pounder, has led the LeFors offense throughout the season and a powerful defense led by End Bob Turner Tackle Raymond Vanderlinden, and Guard Doyle Guthrie in the line and by Backs Arlington and Sims in the secondary has slashed the opposition to ribbons.

MIAMI TEAM WINS SOUTH HALF TITLE

MIAMI, Oct. 30.—The Miami Warriors 6-man football team defeated the Mobeetie Hornets here Friday, 35 to 6. The win entitled Miami to represent the South half of the conference against the North half winner for the conference championship.

That game for the conference championship will be on November 16.

The Warriors scored in every period but never really started rolling until the last half. They led 16 to 6 at the half. Mobeetie used a passing attack for the first three quarters of the game, while the Warriors made most of their yardage on the ground. The Warriors will play their last conference game here against Kelton on November 2nd.

Miami has seven wins and no losses for the season and the total points are up to 170 for Miami and 50 for the opposition.

From the time of her launching in 1797 up to 1850, repairs on the frigate Constitution, "Old Ironsides," which originally cost $302,719 amounted to $495,236.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Washington landed a "problem child" when it bought Larry Brunke from the Chattanooga Lookouts recently. Larry won 15 and lost one on the mound and can hit so the problem will be whether he should pitch or play in the outfield.

Featherweight Champ Willie Peja makes his first ring start since he came out of the army against Paulie Jackson at Hartford, Conn., tonight.

Doc Faurot, heading back to his old job as Missouri grid coach, points out that the Tigers have two years to go on their interrupted contract with Fordham. But Doc points out: "We don't want to resume unless Fordham has teams something like they used to have."

CLEANING THE CUFF

Dudley Jones, who set the Michigan State college one-game basketball scoring record (25 points) in 1942, will re-enter school this winter after three years in the merchant marine. Virginia Tech, which has been emphasizing the youth of its footballers this season, had a note in the program last week that when fall practice started "there were three candidates still awaiting their seventh birthdays." After seeing Tech play Virginia Coach Mac McEver probably claimed it wasn't a typo but they really looked like eight-year-olds.

Many Yanks In Germany Are Going to School

Hundreds of American soldiers serving as occupation troops in Germany are taking advantage of the army education program to acquire free instruction in a variety of subjects.

Text books in hand, soldiers can be seen entering army schools for training in agriculture, business subjects, and mechanics.

The army education program offers literary training; courses in English, mathematics, science, foreign languages, and social studies; and vocational training in such varied subjects as agriculture, merchandising, finance, electricity, drafting, commercial art, blueprint reading, and foremanship.

Educational opportunities in the regular army, as well as the lure of travel and adventure, have led thousands of civilians and soldiers to enlist in the regular army for service as "guardians of victory."

Qualified civilians 18 to 34 years of age, inclusive, now can enlist in the regular army at any U. S. army recruiting station and they may choose their branch of service and the overseas theater in which they prefer assignment.

Soldiers can enlist or reenlist in the regular army, retaining present grades and receiving enlistment allowances and furloughs. Such enlistees also can choose their overseas theater.

The regular army offers security and a career to young men as well as an opportunity to "finish the job" of restoring the world to normalcy.

Aussie Girls Think Yanks Are Best Bet on World's Matrimonial Market

TOKYO, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Returning Aussie brides who didn't find happiness in America will have a hard time convincing their sisters in Sydney that Yanks still aren't the best bet on the world's matrimonial market.

The army newspaper Stars and Stripes gave front page play to the criticism of the United States voiced by a group of disgruntled Australian war brides who returned to their homeland with remarks that "America is an absolute hellam" where "everyone tries to outdo his neighbor."

The disillusioned ladies also pictured America as a fast-living country where "everything is hasty and everyone is selfish" and where parents openly permit children of 14 to drink and smoke.

This minority report from the girls who didn't make the grade for one reason or another may influence Australian parents who don't want their little Daphnes and Pamela to marry foreign soldiers and emigrate to savage America.

It won't, however, influence hundreds of Aussie girls engaged to

Shamrock Legion Post Is Re-Named

SHAMROCK, Oct. 30.—Shamrock's American Legion post is to have a new name. As soon as permission is received from the State and National headquarters, the organization will become the Charles DeShazo-Jack E. George post.

Members of the post voted at their last meeting, Tuesday night, October 16, to make the addition, the purpose of which is to make the post more representative of both world wars.

Lt. George was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Flake George. A pilot in a Flying Fortress, he was killed in an aircraft accident in England on March 24, 1944, after having taken part in 16 bombing missions. He was the first Shamrock youth to be killed in overseas action.

The local post was originally named for Chas. DeShazo, the only local man killed overseas during world war I.

O. C. McPherson, post commander, presided at the meeting which drew a large attendance.

The following men, veterans of world war II, were initiated into the post:

Wayne Fox, Scott McCall, Charles Allen, Dalton Honeycutt, Reuben Burkhalter, W. E. Dial, Johnnie Craig, Edward O'Gorman, Harold K. Humes, M. V. Cobb, Noah Geyer, Theodore E. Scott, Douglas V. Brashears, Art Roach, S. B. Skidmore, Bob Roach, Jr., Harry Clay, Guy McBurnett, I. C. (Johnny) Mundy, Wallace Fields and Sidney V. Kirkin.

The program for the next social meeting, which will be a joint session of the Legion and Auxiliary, will be held on Tuesday night, Nov. 6, and will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chenette and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Humes.

Families Forced by Nazis To Pay Costs

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Records of the once-dreaded Nazi people's court showed today that the cost of carrying out the death sentences it imposed was levied on the victim's families. Bills covered jailing, judging, beheading and burying "averaged $1,601.12."

988 Bales of Cotton Ginned in Shamrock

SHAMROCK, Oct. 29.—A check on the four gins at Shamrock and Twitty reveals that, to date, 988 bales have been ginned in this area.

A census report from the Bureau of the Census in Washington reports that 150 bales of cotton were ginned in Wheeler county from the 1945 crops, prior to October 1, as compared to 82 bales for the same period of 1944, but local gins report a 50 percent cut in this year's production under that of last year.

The grade and staple of this year's cotton is comparing favorably with last year's crop, however the recent wind and rain has lowered the grade and later ginnings have dropped in quality.

Winners in warmth, color, all-around good grooming—bright scarfs. Some printed for dress-up, monotones, whites, sheers for tailored suits; gay head-squares, too!

Katy builds for a Greater Southwest. The Streamliners are Coming!

No longer a drawing-board dream, Katy's new Streamliners are now in the making! Swift, smooth-rolling, strong and safe, they embody all the advanced ideas of comfort, luxury and convenience. Coaches with reclining chairs and individual lighting... special chair lounge cars equipped with radio, writing desks and every convenience for enjoyable travel both day and night... dining and lounge cars beautifully decorated and appointed... all Pullman's exclusively room cars, capacious and tastefully furnished... powerful, sleek Diesel-Electric locomotives that are quick on the get-away, deliver smooth, fluid power, get you there on clipped schedules.

Katy's new Streamliners are the climax of more than four years of property modernization in which all track, bridges, roadbed, stations, all passenger and freight equipment have been brought to peak operating efficiency.

Today Katy is ready... ready for the ultra-modern Diesel and Streamlined trains to be delivered as soon as built... ready for the future's faster freight and passenger schedules... ready for the mighty flow of new industry even now finding new and greater opportunity in Katy-served territory. When you ship or travel to or from the Southwest, remember Katy.
