

Solons Send Modified Emergency Housing Bill to House

Group Turns To Measure On New Homes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The senate shunted the emergency housing bill back to the house today and quickly turned to a companion measure intended to add 12,500,000 new homes by 1956.

This long-range bill came to the senate's floor with the unanimous approval of its banking committee. Bi-partisan backing is demonstrated by its trio of authors: Senators Wagner (D-NY) Taft (R-Ohio) and Ellender (D-La.).

FITS IN OLD BILL
The bill is not linked to but fits in with the emergency housing legislation which the senate passed yesterday, 63 to 14, and sent back to the house for action on amendments.

The emergency bill is designed to provide 2,700,000 new dwelling units, largely for veterans, by the end of next year.

Before it can reach President Truman for signature, however, the senate and house must agree on a compromise version to be worked out by a senate-house committee.

POINT OF DIFFERENCE
The chief point of difference is the senate provision for $600,000,000 in subsidies to encourage the output of scarce building materials.

The house refused to permit these premium payments, and both branches turned thumbs down on price ceilings for existing dwellings. The administration, from Mr. Truman down, had urged both these features. Ceilings on new houses were provided by the house and senate alike.

LONG-RANGE BILL
The long-range bill makes no attempt to settle urgent housing problems. It takes things slower, and is based on the idea that easier government loans and mortgage guarantees might encourage more construction by private enterprise.

There are, in addition, provisions for continued federal aid for public housing.

Youths Injured As Teacher Fires Shots at Ground

PORT WORTH — (AP) — One youth was in a serious condition today and two others were suffering from minor gunshot wounds following District Attorney Al Clyde said, a rock throwing incident at the home of their junior high school physical education teacher.

Clyde said the students were wounded by blasts from a shotgun after stones had been hurled at the residence of S. P. (Smitty) Watkins.

"I fired at the ground and I should have aimed the gun in the air," Watkins told Clyde and City Detective A. C. Howerton. "If I had it to do over, I wouldn't shoot at all."

The district attorney said no charges had been filed against Watkins.

Clyde quoted the teacher as saying he never realized that the figures he saw in the darkness were his pupils at the time he fired the shotgun.

The victims were C. A. Roberts, Jr., 14, Jerry Peden, 14, and Danny Boggs, 15.

Roberts was taken to a hospital with a wound near his heart. His condition was described as serious. Peden was treated at the same hospital for wounds in his leg, hip and back.

Boggs suffered minor wounds in his foot.

Last night, Watkins told Clyde he was aroused to action after unknown persons had made a habit of throwing rocks at his home over a period of several days.

Ronald Thonason, 14, driver of the car in which the four youths were riding, told the officers that he and his companions were in the neighborhood when someone suggested, "Let's go by and tease the coach." He said rocks were hurled then they stopped the car nearby and got out.

Post Office Will Have New Hours

Under the peacetime 40-hour week law, all windows at the post office will close at noon each Saturday, effectively, Postmaster W. B. Weathered said today.

During the war the parcel post and stamp windows stayed open until six o'clock while all other windows closed at noon, but this is no longer possible, he said.

The Pampa post office was granted an extension so the service could be maintained this long. Weathered added, but the extension has ended.

Mail will be put up in boxes as usual and one city delivery will be made on Saturday but all other services will end at noon Saturday, including general delivery, parcel post, stamps, money orders and others.

WIVES NO. SEVEN

Joe Varga, 34, merchant seaman held in Milwaukee, Wis., declares: "If I can get divorces from my seven wives, I'll marry my common law wife," who is the mother of his six children.

Clean-Up Drive Health Aspect Is Stressed

Aside from making Pampa a clean city, the current Junior chamber clean-up drive has a vital health aspect, according to a statement issued today by Dr. R. Malcolm Brown, city health officer.

"Garbage scattered about attracts flies, as we all know," Dr. Brown said. "Flies are perhaps the most dangerous of common insects in respect to disease and filth."

"I cannot stress too much the importance of keeping garbage containers as clean as possible by seeing to it that all food scraps and other wet garbage is wrapped and placed so as not to attract flies."

Dr. Brown also said it would be wise for residents to look over their homes and check on all insect breeding places and openings where rats might enter.

City trucks started their rounds today in the drive and will cover the city by sections until all garbage has been picked up.

City Manager Garland Franks asked that Pampans cooperate with the truck men by having their garbage readily accessible as labor and equipment is too short to allow a more complete canvass.

The drive will continue through Saturday and possibly Monday or until the entire city is covered.

Greek Elections 'Free and Fair'

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Allied mission reported today the Greek elections of March 31 were "free and fair" and represented "a true and valid verdict" of the Greek people.

A summary of the report, made public by the White House, said the mission found the presence of British troops in Greece had "no effect whatever on the election result."

The report was signed by the three chiefs of the mission sent into Greece to observe the elections. They were Ambassador Henry Grady for the United States, Richard T. Windle, representing the British government, and Gen. Arnaud LaParra, representing the French.

The mission stemmed from an agreement at the Yalta conference to help liberated countries set up democratic governments. Russia declined an invitation to participate in the election observance.

The mission reported that if leftist parties which boycotted the election had taken part, "the single-house parliament that was chosen would include perhaps 20 per cent, but certainly not more than 25 per cent of the representatives of those parties."

BVD's at Grocery Store—No B-V

"No," said the butcher at Young's market. "I know they're hard to get but as far as I know they don't put them up that way yet."

The answer was given in response to a question of whether the market had canned B.V.D's.

It turned out that what the lady wanted was the soup extract, called B-V.

Play Postponed Due to Illness

The three-act murder mystery, "The Bal," to be enacted tonight and tomorrow night at the Junior high school auditorium by the Junior class, has been postponed, due to illness among members of the staff, it was announced at noon.

The play will be postponed indefinitely, due to the fact that one of the leading players, Billie Don Crowson, this morning was sent to the hospital, with strep throat. It was stated. Other members are also ill.

Schwellenbach Steps Into Coal Strike; Decision on Wheat Restrictions Delayed

Conservation Program Was Not Sufficient

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government held off today its decision whether more drastic steps are needed at home to tide famine areas abroad over the present critical shortage of bread.

Although the domestic conservation program launched a month ago today has failed to achieve the savings sought and exports to hungry areas have fallen behind promises, officials continue to insist that foreign commitments will be met.

DEPARTMENT REPORT
The face of an agriculture department report which raised doubts whether enough wheat remains to meet both export needs and domestic demands at current levels, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson told a news conference last night that this country will fulfill its promises.

"But he said the nation will have to observe fully all phases of the wheat conservation program. And he added it might be necessary to force a 25 percent cut in domestic use of flour between now and June 30."

9 Women Appear Certain of Seats In Japan House

TOKYO — (AP) — Three major parties tonight were running a close race for membership of Japan's 468-seat house of representatives. Communists were trailing far behind. Nine women appeared certain of election.

Scattered nationwide results from yesterday's first postwar election gave the social democratic party 25 seats, the progressives 24 and the liberals 23. The communists were certain of only three so far. At least six independents and one people's party candidate also were elected.

Results still are too incomplete to indicate the final makeup of the house. The progressives failed to win a seat in Tokyo on the basis of early returns.

Premier Shidehara's cabinet postparting, Chief Secretary Wataru Narahashi, was elected from Pukoka prefecture on Kyushu.

Narahashi immediately announced the Shidehara cabinet would remain in office at least until convocation of the next special diet session, probably on May 10. The press quoted Narahashi as saying he planned creation of a new political party, probably a coalition, with Shidehara as its head.

Kiyuchi Tokuda, secretary general of the communist party, who led a 14-man committee into Shidehara's office Monday to demand the premier's immediate resignation, was one of the communists definitely elected. Another was party leader Sanni Nosaka, who recently returned from exile in Yanan and was one of the most personally popular of all candidates in Tokyo.

The close race led to immediate speculation that a tri-party coalition would organize the next cabinet.

Early returns indicated a 72 per cent national vote.

IN QUIET OF NY PENTHOUSE: 20 EXPERTS LAYING DOWN PLANS FOR ORGANIZING WORLD MILITARY FORCE

NEW YORK — (AP) — In the quiet of a penthouse atop a midtown hotel, some 20 men are laying down plans for organization of a military force which ultimately may develop into the most powerful world force ever seen.

These experts, moving with all the caution and secrecy their job demands, compose the military staff committee of the United Nations.

Republican Party's Stand Is Explained

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican Chairman Carroll Reece enumerated the party's stand on major issues today in an open letter to democratic chairman Robert E. Hannegan, then threw this question at his political counterpart:

REECE CHALLENGED
"When will the administration begin telling the truth to the American people about how their government is being operated?"

Shortly after his election as head of the GOP national committee April 1, Reece was challenged by Hannegan in an open letter to give a "long overdue clarification of your party's policies on vital questions."

POTSDAM CONFERENCE
Reece said after the Potsdam conference last summer, President Truman "following the practice of his predecessor, assured the nation no secret agreements of any kind had been made during that conference."

When the GOP chief quoted from the New York Herald Tribune of Oct. 11, 1945, that Secretary of State Byrnes had "acknowledged" that Mr. Truman "entered into a secret agreement at Potsdam on revision of the Montreaux convention and said the United States fully intends to keep its pledge to counter with Turkey on the future status of the Dardanelles."

SECRET AGREEMENTS
"Thus, in this matter of making secret agreements and then denying their existence until the march of events forced disclosure of the truth," Reece said, "Mr. Truman was apparently following the established practice of the administration."

Concert Drive To Close Saturday

Membership in the Pampa Community Concert association now total 705. It was reported today by the membership committee, headed by Joe Key.

The drive will close Saturday at noon and the committee urges that all persons interested in attending the four concerts to be offered this fall obtain their membership cards before that time.

Several members have sent in their dues from Canadian and Berger. The association did not solicit membership in outlying towns because of the transportation shortage.

"We are happy to welcome these out-of-town people into our association," President Winston Savage said.

One amusing incident was reported by the association. A local resident was at a loss last Christmas on what to give several friends because of the merchandise shortage. The problem was solved however by giving concert memberships to seven persons on the gift list.

The association executive committee will meet at 7 o'clock Saturday night to select the concert artists who will appear here and they will be announced in the Sunday Pampa News.

No one but those holding memberships in the association may attend the concerts as no individual tickets will be sold.

The offices of the association are at the Southwestern Public Service company.

Texas Nominated To U.S. Tax Court

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Luther A. Johnson, member of congress from Texas since 1923, was nominated by President Truman today to the bench of the tax court of the United States.

The appointment is for a 12-year term beginning next June 2.

Johnson, whose home is in Corsicana, practiced law in Texas for 10 years before he entered congress.

Selection of Red Envoy Is Lauded Today

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Diplomatic officials hailed Russia's appointment of a new ambassador to the United States as a fresh sign today of Soviet faith in the United Nations.

Moscow last night announced appointment of Nikolai V. Novikov as ambassador in Washington, succeeding Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia's permanent representative on the U.N. security council.

State department officials later confirmed that Russia recently had made the usual inquiries about the acceptability of Novikov — present chargé d'affaires — and had been told the United States would welcome his appointment.

Diplomatic officials who related Novikov's appointment to Russia's regard for the U.N. reasoned this way:

If the Soviet Union took U.N. lightly it would not have assigned an official of Gromyko's stature and experience to devote full time to the council job.

Gromyko's appointment was announced March 24, the day before the U.N. council met for the first time in New York. It was not until Novikov's appointment was announced, however, that the world knew for certain that Gromyko would be a full-time security council member with no ambassadorial chores to perform.

The U.N. job is one for which the black-haired, 38-year-old Soviet diplomat during the last three years has prepared him. Gromyko has sat in on virtually every international conference having to do with the

Lack of Clothing Causes Vets to Turn Down Jobs

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Many veterans here to turn down job because they can't buy proper clothing.

So saying, Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, chief of the veterans retraining and reemployment administration, added to a reporter today: "Something has got to be done right away to increase production."

Erskine laid his case yesterday before officials of six government agencies which are trying to boost the output of clothing, particularly suits. He said he had received a pledge of cooperation and was convinced the government is making "an honest, sincere effort" to solve the problem.

He said he expressed the opinion that too much of the cloth needed for men's suits was being diverted to women's apparel, and that the COPA should earmark more material for men's garments.

In support of this stand, Erskine said that where CPA had expected 3,500,000 suits to be produced during the first three months of this year, "apparently only around 2,500,000 were made."

Erskine added that at that rate the government's goal of 14,000,000 suits this year in the under $35 price range never could be achieved. The overall target is a total of 28,000,000 suits in 1946, and Erskine said more than 22,000,000 could be made the way production is running. Demand is estimated at about 40,000,000.

Officials who attended the inter-agency meeting said a basic cause of the suit shortage has been an inconvertible production lag due to the change-over from military to civilian clothes. They listed a scarcity of manpower in the textile mills and garment plants as another reason.

Russia May Join Poland's Demands

NEW YORK — (AP) — Russia was expected today to join in Poland's demands that the United Nations require Spain—accused of harboring nazis devising new means of warfare—to act in accordance with the demands of international peace and security.

Poland's indictment of Spain—characterized by the Spanish press as Russian-inspired—was brought before the security council late yesterday under a United Nations charter provision which states that the organization "shall insure that States not members of the United Nations act in accordance with the principles of the organization so far as may be necessary for the maintenance of international peace and security."

Although Andrei A. Gomyko, who yesterday was relieved of his ambassadorial duties by Moscow to free him for full-time work as the Soviet delegate to the security council, has not identified himself with the Polish charges, conference observers fully expected he would give his support to Poland in pressing for action.

Examination of 'Super-Secret' File Is Asked

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congressional investigators heard today that President Truman has denied an appeal by Adm. Husband E. Kimmel to examine what Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) called a "super-secret" file of the late President Roosevelt's messages.

Ensign John Phelan, representing the former Pacific fleet commander, told a senate-house committee investigating the Pearl Harbor attack that Mr. Truman had written a letter saying that the committee alone has authority to look at such files.

Comdr. John E. Becker, representing the navy department, substantiated this, adding that the committee had been given full access to the file, which Ferguson said had been set up to retain copies of all messages exchanged between Mr. Roosevelt and British officials, including former Prime Minister Churchill.

Becker said that when the file was searched, it contained copies of only two messages. These, previously furnished to the committee, were addressed to the high commissioner of the Philippines and had little bearing on the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor.

Becker said representatives of Kimmel had asked to see the file but had been refused the privilege. Kimmel then wrote Mr. Truman, Becker said, and the President replied that only the committee could see the contents of the file.

Kimmel was relieved of the fleet command after the Japanese attack Dec. 7, 1941, and subsequently was criticized by army and navy investigating boards. He has contended before the congressional committee

Nazi Police Chief Fights for Life

NUERNBERG — (AP) — Tall, scarred Ernst Kaltenbrunner, chief of the Nazi security police, opened his fight for life today with a declaration to the international anti-Nazi tribunal that "I know the hatred of the whole world is directed against me."

He said he was the target of this hatred partly because both Heinrich Himmler and Himmler's Gestapo chief are dead, "leaving me the only man to face the world and answer for them."

Kaltenbrunner said he was ready to assume responsibility for the acts of the police he headed "as far as they occurred under my actual control and as far as I knew about them."

Earlier the tribunal was told in an affidavit that Kaltenbrunner had attempted to negotiate peace through American agents in Portugal and Switzerland in 1943 and had encouraged Hitler to seek a peace settlement through the Vatican.

Before Kaltenbrunner took the stand his counsel read affidavits from a former Gestapo officer and a former foreign intelligence expert of the Nazi police, both of whom lauded the defendant as a moderate man who opposed the stringent measures of his boss, Heinrich Himmler.

Thompson Is Happy; Can Keep His Job

City Engineer George Thompson was a happy man this morning when he learned that he could keep his job.

It seems Thompson was "sampling" the concrete curbing where the parking meters are being placed. Thompson was making a spot with a hammer and chisel when an unidentified man accosted him, saying: "Don't you know you'll get fired for doing that without goggles?" evidently thinking that Thompson was working for the contracting firm installing the meters.

City Manager Garland Franks assured Thompson this morning that he could keep his job but cautioned him to "be careful."

Talks Choked Off by Lewis; Need New Life

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government struggled today to pump new life into the soft coal talks choked off by John L. Lewis, but without resorting to seizure of the strike-bound mines.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, stepping into the breach left by Lewis' dramatic walkout, arranged separate afternoon conferences with the operators' and miners' negotiating committees.

Boy Scout Troops To Conduct Scrap Paper Drive Here

Pampa's seven Boy Scout troops will conduct a waste paper drive here Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27. Scout Executive Hugo Olsen announced today.

"The forthcoming drive will serve a double purpose," Olsen said. "Waste paper is still vitally needed by manufacturers of paper products and the money obtained from its sale will enable local scouts to carry on camping activities."

A letter was received today from the American Paper Stock company of Dallas saying that the company would buy 40,000 pounds of waste paper and magazines which is equal to one full railroad carload.

The company pays $15 a ton for magazines and $10 per ton for newspapers.

The money received from the sale of the paper will be used for the purchase of camping equipment by the seven troops, Olsen said. It will be divided equally among the troops.

As in the past drives, newspapers and magazines should be tied separately in bundles about 12 inches high, Olsen added. The company will not accept paper that is not securely tied and shipped in the proper fashion.

For the drive, the city will be divided into about seven districts and each troop will be assigned a district to collect the paper from.

The arrangement for trucks and workers will be made by the troop committees.

For her details on the drive will be announced later, Olsen said.

Investigation of Tire Industry Authorized

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Attorney General Tom Clark announced today he has authorized an investigation of the rubber tire industry as the result of alleged violations of the anti-trust laws.

The inquiry will be conducted by a federal grand jury in New York City.

Clark said in a statement that "a great number of complaints charging restraints on competition and discriminatory practices in the industry warrant a full and complete inquiry."

AP Staff Writer

You'd take it for granted to see a Texan losing lead at a dastardly turner or a foreign foe. It's in character. You could hardly expect to find them pushing lead pencils and drawing the nation's top comic strips.

But several Texans have risen to the top in this comparatively new and difficult profession.

Take the strip, "Jane Arden." It has been in existence for about 15 years. And it is the brainchild of a son of Antonio, Mr. Monte Barrett.

He was managing editor of a San Antonio newspaper in 1929 when he decided the comic page lacked the woman's angle. He wanted a strip for women.

At the same time, most strips were the go-a-day type. He wanted one with continuity, and a heroine. So he created one, sold it, and it has been on the market since 1929.

Barrett says the original model for Jane Arden was a cross between Corinne Griffith and Billie Dove, movie stars of the time. Remember them?

Still hard at it, he prepares his copy a month in advance, sends his dialogue, etc., to Russell Ross, the artist, in California.

Three other Texans do their own art work.

Charles Plumb, who draws "Ella Childers," lives in Weslaco, down in the valley. He has just returned to his lakeside home after two years with the Red Cross in the Pacific.

He keeps his strip four to six weeks in advance. He says the style of plot and even the art work has changed radically with the years.

Roy Crane originated "Wash Tulls and Captain Easy," sold it, and now draws the popular "Bus Sower." Bus, incidentally, is a university of Texas graduate like artist Crane, and in the strip frequently refers to Texas. He even wears a college sweater with a "T" on it.

Recently Crane's ornate precedent and killed one of his characters, a man named Tot Winter's, also of Texas. There was, of course, public reaction. The Tyler Courier-Times forwarded him one of the protests, and Crane answered that Tot, really, was a lady with no future but plenty of past.

"Incidentally," he said, "she was not the girl for Bus Sawyer. Being a Texas, myself, I didn't want to broadcast all I knew about her."

He said some of the protests he got were heated, one even calling him a communist.

Ed Reed, who draws the panel "Grim and Bear It," is from Paris, Texas. He worked on the Paris News, and is a relative of James R. Beard, managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Trim Suit Helps Job Efficiency

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Wear the trim, precisely tailored suit, if you are a working woman and it helps you to forget what you have on. A suit is the American woman's uniform which speaks with authority and makes for efficiency on a job, at a committee meeting, on a charity drive.

"But peel it off when work is over," begs Rita ("Gilda") Hayworth. "A man wants to squire around a belle, not a little tailored woman."

What's more, she insists, a little excitement in clothes, after toiling all day, is an escape for a woman.

By slipping into a very feminine dress, a tailored-suit girl can change the rhythm of her working day and her mood, says Rita. "She can change her personality by freeing curls from the confinement of a snood, tucking flowers into her hair, draping a shimmering scarf around her head, and dabbing on a sirenish perfume," concludes the actress.

The world's oldest lighthouses were built in Libya and lower Egypt.

Lilies and spring blossoms were placed throughout the entertaining rooms.

Hand-painted place cards featuring a graduate's cap and diploma marked the places of the guests. Each one present wrote a four line poem suggestive of places for the future. Pictures were taken before the group dispersed.

The guest list included: Misses Elizabeth Lafferty, Mary Jean Meador, Anna Merle Cox, Guineette Killingsworth, Joy Hutchinson, Dorothy McDaniels, Elizabeth Parnell, Dorothy Maddox, Jeanne Pruitt and Nadine Kelley.

Newcomer Tosses Atomic Crisis Into Politics

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN—(AP)—To the galaxy of candidates who for years have injected elements of the unusual into Texas politics comes now Drew C. Nichols, war veteran candidate for lieutenant governor.

A mild-mannered but enthusiastic man of science, Nichols believes it is time for lagging politics to catch up with scientific knowledge. He is tossing Texas voters a provocative issue—the crisis of the atomic age.

"In this age of the atom, the last best hope of earth may well lie in the election of a new type of man to public office—a man who has kept in step with the march of science," Nichols contends.

Both Nichols and his idea are newcomers to Texas politics. The University of Texas social science graduate compares science to Aesop's tortoise which is plodding ahead while the political rabbit has stopped to shake hands with voters.

"It isn't politics that's changing the world today—it's science," says Nichols. "We must adopt the scientific approach to our problems if we have any hope of solving our economic, physical, educational and political ills."

Nichols in about three weeks will open his speaking campaign, loaded with factual data on outstanding Texas laws, juvenile delinquency, public health, and problems of veterans, teachers, old aged, farmers and workers. That campaign, hampered only by limited finances, may be more of a threat to his opponents than any one of them has probably recognized.

"Branding politics as 'distasteful,' Nichols says he had emerged from his quiet Texas Wesleyan academy classroom where he was an instructor in social science because of a genuine desire to help solve through science the pressing problems which are being 'fumbled by improperly trained politicians."

In the army he rose through the ranks from private to lieutenant and served overseas.

This man with an idea, piercing blue eyes and a convincing voice is loose in a strong field of lieutenant governor aspirants which already includes Allan Shivers of Port Arthur, Jo Ed Winfree of Houston, and Bob Moore of Amarillo. Political speculation also eyes Boyce House of Fort Worth and Wilk Fowler of Dallas and Austin.

Feeder Report Expected Soon

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Civil aeronautics board officials stated that a report on proposed feeder airline routes throughout Texas and Oklahoma should be released within a few days.

The report based on hearings conducted over the Southwest several months ago by Assistant Chief Examiner Thomas L. Wrenn, is expected to include recommendations as to where new air services should be authorized. The board will act later on the recommendations.

The hearings were of an exploratory nature to determine what sort of policy should be adopted regarding service between small towns and communities with larger points on transcontinental air routes.

While dozens of applications to establish new feeder routes had been filed when the hearings were conducted, some requests since have been filed with the board, including that of Texas Air Lines, Inc. The company's proposed service would include a route from Brownsville to Amarillo via Plainview.

Other stops on the route are Weslaco, Laredo, Eagle Pass, Del Rio, San Angelo, Big Spring and Lubbock.

Although direct service from Plainview was involved in the tangle on any of the 12 routes in an application (docket 2240) filed March 14 by Texas air lines, it is possible that connecting service might be inaugurated to link the two cities.

Examiner Wrenn told a reporter this application will be taken up as soon as possible and added:

"The question of service for Plainview was involved in the Southwest hearing on which the report soon will be submitted."

Water Engineers Approve Change

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Texas board of water engineers yesterday approved a proposed change in plans for canalization of the Trinity river, but called attention to water rights of rice growers.

Under consideration now is that part of the canal from Liberty to Houston ship channel.

Local interests requested that the channel be moved to the eastern shore of Trinity Bay, in order to afford more protection to navigation during storms and to make the proposed channel more accessible to any proposed development along the shore line.

"Should a sea level canal be constructed all the way to Liberty," the board's report said, "in all probability salt water would extend to that point with the result that the water would be so contaminated with salt water as to render it unsuitable for use."

Such contamination, the report continued, would materially affect the large rice-growing industry, and water appropriations for irrigation and mining are recognized by state law as being superior to navigation.

The mining appropriations are mainly for drilling oil or gas wells. The board suggested that careful consideration be given to the water supply of rice growers and that provision be made to protect the water from contamination to the extent that it would not be useable for irrigation.

Don't Look for Another Income Tax Cut in '46

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Don't look for another income tax cut in 1946 even though you may be hearing talk about it.

Maybe there will be one in 1947. Studies on tax changes are being made inside the government.

They'll be useful when, and if, congress decides to make changes. Some say now taxes are so high in the upper bracket that a man making perhaps $25,000 loses his desire to make more than that.

This is old talk, recently revived. Actually, in wartime, the percentage increase in the taxes on the lower-income man has been far greater than on his richer brother.

In the years between 1936 and 1939 taxes remained unchanged, high on the rich, low on the poor. They went skating up in wartime. Low-income people who never had to pay taxes before, had to start paying them then.

Late in 1945, with the war over, congress decided to reduce 1946 incomes. This was a cut on the income of individuals and corporations.

As a result, about 12,000,000 people who had to pay taxes in wartime 1945 don't have to pay any taxes in 1946.

The taxes on the rest of the people still are pretty high. The main reason congress didn't give anyone a bigger cut was this.

Government expenses for years have been more than the money the government takes in through taxes. The closer the government gets to reducing its expenditures so they'll be paid for by the revenue it takes in, the better able congress will be to lower taxes.

That time will come, probably in 1947. In congress two very important committees have tax experts: The house ways and means committee and the senate finance committee.

The senate committee right now has one of its experts studying this problem, among others:

Whether the income a man earns should be taxed less than the income a man gets from investments. The house committee, however, is busy holding hearings on social security.

The fact that that house committee is not busy with taxes right now is a pretty good indication that congress won't tackle taxes any time soon.

Meanwhile, Albert J. Browning, acting director of the office of domestic commerce in the commerce department, has some ideas on taxes.

He recently said in effect that the high taxes are a tax on ambition and that high-priced businessmen are discouraged from trying to get bigger salaries. He has experts studying this problem.

Texarkana Man Killed in Accident

TEXARKANA—(AP)—An automobile accident resulted in the death of James Hugh Anderson, prominent civil leader and business man here. His automobile left highway 82 near Texarkana about 8 p. m. yesterday and plunged into a tree. He died last night.

A native of Nacogdoches, Texas, Anderson was returning from a fishing trip when the accident occurred. He was secretary-treasurer of the Texarkana Battery and Service Co.

Subway construction was started in New York as early as 1869.

Conner Hall Is Name Proposed For New Dorm

CANYON—A new dormitory for men at West Texas State college will be named Conner Hall, in honor of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Conner, if a recommendation of President J. A. Hill is accepted by the board of regents.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner founded the town of Canyon in the spring of 1889, and the college is located on a 40-acre tract which the Conners contributed in 1909. Mr. Conner died in 1920 and Mrs. Conner died at the home of a daughter in San Francisco this month. Each is buried in the local cemetery. The Conners' eldest daughter, Mamie, now Mrs. S. C. Bradford of Pasadena, Calif., was the first student to enroll in West Texas State and first to receive a diploma. For many years the Conners were leaders in the business, religious, and social life of the community.

The new dormitory, construction of which is to begin soon, will house veterans of World War II. It will be located at the north side of the campus and have accommodations for 100 men. It will be of one-story brick construction.

The college also will ask for bids on a large cafeteria which will be necessary in the feeding of the in-

Four Indictments Returned by Jury

Reaching a quorum of nine yesterday afternoon, the county grand jury returned four indictments after working on nine different cases. Those passed were an indictment against Clifton Butler, negro, for burglary; Elmer Casada, for driving while intoxicated, a second offense; Joe Ben Phea, negro, for theft, and a party who has not yet been arrested, for forgery. Other matters called to the attention of the jury concerned three incomplete juvenile cases, an assault case on which the jury recommended District Walter Rogers to take proper action, and a charge which, after investigation was found not to be involve criminal violence, was dismissed. Rogers said this morning that district court will be held in Wheeler county next Monday to try Oed Gatlin on a charge of passing worthless checks to Jeff Williams of Mobeetle, Judge W. R. Ewing and Rogers will be in court. Judge W. R. Ewing will preside. Rogers will prosecute for the state.

Language Used Cost Man $15

Texas law provides for the making of gentlemen. It costs from one dollar to $100 to use abusive language in Texas, under the proper circumstances, according to results of a charge filed against Elvis Wilkerson in county court by E. E. Lindsay. Elvis was fined $15 and costs for the offense tried in county court yesterday. His brother, James C., charged with carrying a knife, was fined $100 and costs in the same trial, presided by Judge Sherman White. The latter charge was filed by F. M. Scott. Both men pleaded not guilty to both charges. Concerning abusive language it may be well to remember that Texas law provides for the protection of a person or his "women-folk" by declaring it unlawful to "in the presence or hearing of another, curse or abuse such person concerning him or any of his female relatives under circumstances reasonably calculated to provoke a breach of peace."

Earthquake Recorded; Probably in Rumania

WESTON, Mass.—(AP)—A very strong earthquake, probably in Rumania, which seismologists said was as severe as the one that caused the recent tidal wave off Alaska, was recorded at Weston college at 9:03:25 p. m. (EST) yesterday, the Rev. Daniel Linehan, S. J., reported. Father Linehan said a second phase of the shock was recorded at 9:12:27 p. m. and that the disturbance was about 4,745 miles from Boston, probably in Rumania. It lasted about three hours.

TIMBER! PIERRE, S. D.—(AP)—A queue here was strictly a stag affair and nylons; order not involved. About 25 men, each clutching a long standing order for building materials stood in line before a lumber company's office. They had heard about the arrival of two carloads of lumber.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
SEOUL — (AP)—Korea's economic plight probably is unique among war dislocated countries of the Far East. Not a battlegroup itself, this little nation nevertheless has suffered. Few Koreans are sorry that Japan's surrender overturned their economy. But the U. S.-Russian occupation that came with it has proved a definite hardship. Korea wants to buy from abroad, but has no way of paying. Japanese decrees impoverished the silk industry, which otherwise might have shipped raw silk to the United States to establish a basis for foreign exchange. American-occupied southern Korea grows rice chiefly and nobody is talking about exporting that commodity when there isn't enough to feed the people at home. Factories in both the American and Russian-occupied zones are cut off by the rigid boundary of the 38th parallel. The south may have raw materials that the industrial north could use but free communication is not permitted. There is no immediate relief in sight, although the American-Russian commission, now in session here, might lift the blockade any time. American military government attempts to increase the production are hampered by the boundary line and a shortage of supplies. So far only a minor quantity of goods has come from the United States. Army authorities recently announced plans to import commodities from the United States, but the quantity and method of payment have not been announced. Prices of many commodities are more than 100 times what they were in 1937. Koreans complain that they are going up every day. The military government says it is doing every-

Gray County School Elections Reported

The 1946 election of board members in the common school districts of Gray county Saturday held little opposition. Few votes, 97, were cast and the majority of trustees were re-elected. Results of the election were reported this morning by County Superintendent Huebn Laycock. Charles Ivey of the Webb school district and Fred Vanderburg of the Hopkins district are the only new board members elected. Ivey replaces retiring Fred Browning; Vanderburg, J. L. Jackson. Re-elected trustees are J. J. Goad, Farrington; William Wagoner and Bob Wills; Grandview; Cecil Back, Back; and John Harney, Keplinger. Three county board members likewise were re-elected, despite opposition. They are H. H. Kofler, county board member at large; Ed Gething, member of commissioner precinct No. 1, and C. O. Gilbert, precinct No. 2.

It disseminated 'false propaganda' to the effect that wages could be raised 24 percent without increasing prices." "The reference to 'false propaganda' with respect to the effects of wage increases relates, of course," Reece continued, "to the performance given by Henry A. Wallace, your collaborator in the current attempt to purge your party of 'disident democrats.'"

Coal Strike

(Continued from page one) and left. His committee of district presidents and UMW officers followed silently. The operators, jolted by the move, got out a formal statement contending Lewis has "brazenly refused to enter into any semblance of collective bargaining." Challenging "the right of any labor organization to stall and play politics when a basic American industry is shut down," the statement expressed hope, however, that Lewis "will change his attitude and resume meetings." The negotiating conference had been convened March 12 at Lewis' request to frame a new contract. Subcommittees took over actual discussions a week later, then the UMW president terminated his old working agreement and the strike was called April 1. Meanwhile, the strike was blamed for idleness of 1,000 additional employees to bring to 15,000 the number in the Pittsburgh and Chicago areas. Big steel said operations would halt at its open hearth furnaces and bar and blooming mills at Vandergrift over the weekend, affecting an additional 600 or 700 workers. The Illinois-Central railroad shops at Hudaah, Ky., said 1,200 employees would be furloughed indefinitely Saturday.

Food Famine

(Continued from page 1) day to ration bread in Great Britain if the United States would do the same. But Anderson made plain that consumer rationing of either bread or flour during the present emergency is out of the question because, he said, rationing machinery could not be set up in time to help. He emphasized, however, that he did not mean to imply that rationing might not be necessary later. Similarly, Anderson's view that this country will meet its promises abroad assumes that the government will be able to pull to market the bulk of the remaining small stocks of wheat on farms. Lending greater encouragement to the cabinet officer, however, was the department's crop report predicting that this year's winter wheat crop will be a record one. To help meet export needs, it may be possible, Anderson said, to get some of this year's wheat moving overseas as early as the first of June, provided harvests are fairly early in Texas and Oklahoma and the wheat is speeded to ports. He indicated, too, that it may be possible to substitute oats in some cases for wheat in export shipments. Oat stocks are of record proportions. Government plans call for greater emphasis on the wheat conservation program started a month ago and upon other measures designed to curb use of wheat in non-food uses. Other measures to be pressed more vigorously, Anderson said, include orders limiting use of wheat in livestock feed, prohibiting the use of wheat in making beer and whiskey, a higher wheat flour extraction rate, and limits on inventories of millers and feed mixers designed to prevent hoarding of wheat.

One feature would permit the purchase of a home (insured by the federal housing authority) with only a 5 per cent down payment. On a $5,000 house this would be $250. The purchaser would have 32 years to pay the balance. The legislation provides for direct federal expenditures of about $30,000,000 the first year with a rise to $133,000,000 a year after five years.

Stark, former chief of naval operations, about proper arrangements with Japan to permit safe passage of an American vessel, carrying marines and other Americans from north China to Manila. Ferguson said he thought the arrangements had been undertaken in the first week in December in anticipation by both countries that war would break out soon. Stark replied that as far as the United States was concerned, it thought war was coming but didn't know when.

(Continued from page 1) establishment of U.N. It signified how far he had come in the diplomatic world since Oct. 4, 1943, when, as a little-known embassy minister-counselor, he was named ambassador to succeed the famous Maxim Litvinov. Stocky and bespectacled, Novikov enjoys cordial relations with state department officials and Washington diplomat. Reserved, soft-spoken, and reticent in his dealings with the press, he nevertheless is regarded, in the words of one veteran diplomat, as "a good guy—in-telligent, pleasant, and easy to get along with." Novikov, 43, has been ambassador in everything but name for nearly a year. When Gromyko left for the San Francisco conference April 23, 1945, Novikov became charge d'affaires. He has directed embassy affairs ever since.

District Governor To Speak to Lions Club

District Governor Charles A. Dean, Plainview, will be the principal speaker at the Lions club Ladies Night banquet being held tonight at 7:30 in the City hall Palm room. Deputy Governor C. A. Cryer, Borger, will also appear on the program. Presidents and secretaries of Lions clubs in Borger, Spearman, Phillips, White Deer and Lefors have been invited to attend the Pampa club banquet. About 160 reservations have been made, according to Lion Secretary Charlie Thut.

Vehicle Licenses Only 222 Above '45

Only 222 more vehicle licenses were issued this year in Gray county than during the war-year of last year, it was reported today by Jack Back, assistant-tax assessor-collector. To date there have been 7383 1946 licenses issued; at the same time last year 7161 licenses were issued. This gives about one vehicle in the county for every three persons. According to state figures, the average is about one vehicle for every five persons in Texas.

Court President Stabbed by Mexican

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—The president of the San Luis Potosi supreme court was stabbed to death and the man who police said stabbed him was shot to death in the street yesterday at Ciudad de Valles, near there. Antonio Garcia, the judge, refused to listen to an oral complaint in court, and a man identified by police as Brigido Rodriguez, a retired army lieutenant, exclaiming that he was being denied justice, drew a knife and stabbed the judge in the breast, officers reported, and fled from the court. Police chased the assailant, shooting him down in the street. The judge and his assailant died at the same time in the same hospital.

Major League Pilots Needing 3rd Basemen

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK.—(P)—Major league baseball managers are crying for third basemen this year in the same way they used to bemoan the lack of good shortstops and second basemen.

With the opening of the 1946 season five days away only Cleveland's Lou Boudreau, the New York Yankees' Joe McCarthy and the St. Louis Cardinals' Eddie Dyer of the 16 big league pilots seem to have solved their "hot corner" problem and even they are not sitting too pretty.

In Ken Keltner Cleveland owns one of the best third sackers in the American league, but the recently discharged sailor was late in signing and hasn't trimmed down to his best playing weight. Currently Boudreau has been using Bob Lemon and Don Ross at the fur corner. Whitey Kuroski, hard hitting Cardinals third basemen, ended a long holdout stage last Saturday and hasn't seen an inning of action. He is expected to be on the bench when the season opens with Al (Red) Schoendienst, an outfielder last year, at third.

George Starnweiss, best second baseman in the American league last year will be the regular Yankee third baseman this season but an injury to Second Sacker Joe Gordon last month may send Stirny back to his old post.

Even Steve O'Neill and Charlie Grimm, the 1945 pennant winning managers, are not certain of their opening day third basemen. O'Neill has been experimenting with Jimmy Outlaw, last year's part-time Detroit third basemen, Billy Hitchcock and Pinky Higgins.

Grimm has been worried over the slowness of veteran Stan Hack in rounding into form.

Injuries have been responsible for the unsettled third base condition of Brooklyn and the New York Giants.

In Philadelphia George Kell, a late reportee, and Pete Suder, 1943 regular, are battling for the Athletics post while Jim Tabor, purchased from the Boston Red Sox, has the inside track in the Phillies camp.

Billy Southworth, of the Boston Braves, has three candidates, Joe Cronin of the Red Sox is equally undecided.

Bill McKechnie of Cincinnati plans to start the season with Grady Hatton, a former serviceman star who has never played in organized ball. Washington, which hasn't had a good third basemen since Manager Ossie Bluege held forth there, offers George Myatt, last year's regular second basemen and Sherry Robertson, returned serviceman. The St. Louis Browns, experimenting with rookie Bobby Dillinger, has shifted back to Mark Christman, now that Shorehens Vern Stephens has returned from the Mexican league.

Large Boxing Gate Expected Tonight

HOUSTON.—(P)—One of the largest boxing gates in Texas history is expected to be made here tonight when Paul Altman meets Steve Belleise in the Sam Houston Coliseum ring.

The first time they met several months ago, Belleise meted out a brutal beating to Altman. At the end of the fourth round in that battle, Belleise struck Altman after the bell and the latter whipped out with his foot.

The Bronx bomber crumpled to the canvas and could not continue the bout. He was awarded the match on a fould despite the protests of Altman and his handlers.

Australians Train For Davis Tennis Cup

SYDNEY, Australia.—(P)—Australia, preparing to defend the Davis tennis cup, has planned to start training at the end of this month. The Australia team is expected to be composed of veterans John Bromwich and Adrian Quist, a new comer, Dinny Pala, with Geoff Brown and Len Schwartz as alternates.

The American oil industry furnished 80 per cent of all petroleum used by the allies in World War II.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLETON, JR.

NEW YORK.—(P)—Jimmy Crowley, All America football conference commissioner, is warning his athletes that fabulous offers from the National league have a stinger attached in a 48-hour cancellation clause. . . . And National leaguers point out that the A. A. C., originally organized to give the players a break will be faced with the problem of cutting down squads of 50 or more men per team to conform with player limits soon after the season starts. . . . The All America already is trying to start some new minor loops to take care of the overflow, since the other league already has the existing minors tied up. . . . From this angle, it seems that as many athletes will get caught in the middle in this scrap as will be profiting.

CASE OF CONFUSION
Minor league baseball now has three Greenvilles (South Carolina, North Carolina and Texas) to say nothing of numerous green ball players.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Is there anything in the story that Ben Carnevale, who brought the North Carolina basketball team to the NCAA finals this spring, has been chosen to coach the Navy team? . . . Instead of just one troupe of old-timers holding clinics for high school baseball coaches, the major leagues plan to send out several groups this summer.

UNANSWERED QUESTION
Wonder if Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler let something slip when he finally commented on the Mexican league "jumpers" after wisely keeping silent for a long time? . . . Happy said: "In any controversy involving our players, we will be on their side. After all they are coming back at our call." . . . The last seven words don't fit in very well with the Browns' and Bums' protestations that they didn't lift a finger to get Vern Stephens and Mickey Owen back.

Baseball Teams Are Being Formed Here

Two semi-pro baseball teams have been organized here and both are looking for games.
The Leder Jewels team, managed by Bob Bailey, former Pampa Oiler, is the first to reorganize and it was also reported today that Cabot companies would field a team.
The Leder team will work out every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at Magnolia park.

FIRST BRITISH FLIGHT
The first flight of a heavier-than-air machine anywhere in the British Empire was made in Canada. Douglas McCurdy flew for one-half mile over the ice on Bras D'Or lake, Baddeck, Nova Scotia, reaching an altitude of about 30 feet on Feb. 23, 1909.

Martin Chooses Cardinals, Cubs, Chaos in Order

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK.—(P)—At the risk of being practically an isolationist, as there are only a few million others with the same idea, we are picking the St. Louis Cardinals to finish first in the national league a.e., followed by the Chicago-Cubs, followed by chaos.

The remainder of the clubs loom as a vague jumble of arms and legs, with the Giants having a hand on third place and a foot on seventh of the Braves with an elbow in the first division and a knee near the cellar. You just can't tell much about any of them.

Just to make some sort of order out of the situation, however, we'll place the Brooklyn Dodgers in third place behind the Cubs, the New York Giants fourth, the Boston Braves fifth, the Pittsburgh Pirates sixth, the Philadelphia Phillies seventh and the Cincinnati Reds last.

Right now we can't see any serious challenge the Cardinals might have to face, and it is an odd situation indeed when the defending champions, in this case the Chicago Cubs, are not rated a serious threat.

We base our selection of the Cards on the theory they have more of practically everything than any other club.

In comparison with the Cards, the Cubs seem to have improved little. They have El Bithorn back good pitcher, and may get Don Dalesandro, capable outfielder. But aside from them, the team is about the same.

The Dodgers seem to be a big gamble to finish third, as they've been so beset by injuries this spring it's hard to tell much about them. However, if they can get together sometime all in one piece they might offer a pretty stout argument. In moving the Braves up from their sixth place finish of last year to fifth we are putting much faith in the managerial ability of Billy Southworth. We think he'll have a hustling team, the hustle making up for some obvious deficiencies.

We do not think the Pirates have improved too much, and can't see them matching their fourth-place finish of last year.

We dislike the idea of putting the Reds last, but aside from good pitching and a promising rookie third basemen, Bill McKechnie doesn't seem to have much. The Reds admittedly are building for the future, and it looks like they'll be starting to build where most building starts—from the basement.

Training Camp

RICHMOND, Va.—(P)—The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants continue their ornate training exhibition series today with the tribe's Bob Feldman scheduled to oppose Harry Feldman and Hal Schumacher on the mound.

BALTIMORE.—(P)—The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers continue their northward trek today in an exhibition game here, their last clash before engaging in a three-game series at Ebbets field in Brooklyn. Tommy Henrich, regular Yankee rightfielder, has been granted permission to visit his home and will not be in the lineup today, but Charlie Keller, New York leftfielder, was expected back after a three-day vacation.

COLUMBUS, O.—(P)—Joe Hatten, highly publicized rookie lefthander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was the cause of Manager Leo Durocher's mixed emotions today. Following his route-going performance against the New York Giants last week, the former army air force sensation took a severe nine-hit pelting from the New York Yankees in less than two innings yesterday in a complete reversal of form.

WICHITA, Kans.—(P)—Sam Zoladak, who blanked the Chicago Cubs in his last appearance against the national league champions, will be on the mound for the Browns today against the Cubs in the finale of their 20-game spring series. Claude Passeau is expected to start for the Cubs. Catcher Paul Gillespie was optioned to Nashville reducing the Cub roster to 38.

TULSA.—(P)—Terry Moore, team captain of the St. Louis Cardinals, tried out for four innings against the Oklahoma City Indians yesterday the ailing legs that have kept him out of action most of the spring.

MOORE, who has missed an opening day game in nine years in organized baseball, said he would start in Tuesday's opener only if he believed himself ready.

Jester Says OPA Responsible for Lack of Fuel Oil
CORSIKANA.—(P)—Railroad Commissioner Beauford H. Jester, scheduled to speak at Tyler today, said the office of price administration and the major oil companies were to blame for the navy's lack of fuel oil.

Commenting on the increased oil production granted by Texas at the navy's request, Jester said here yesterday that he did not like the way the railroad commission and the producers of Texas "have been pushed into this position by bureaucratic bungling, OPA failure and major oil company adroitness."

He said that he believed the increased production should be fined into fuel oil for the navy and none allowed to go into storage, or into gasoline stocks.
The oil in storage, Jester said, is still above the 220-million barrel above-ground storage that the petroleum administration for war maintained to fight World War II.

Houston Bulls Lose To City Amateurs

HOUSTON.—(P)—The Houston amateur All-Stars took a 4-3 victory over the Houston Bulls of the Texas league here last night.

The Texas leaguers were forced to call upon five pitchers and 14 other players in its final game before the opening of the season here Tuesday with the San Antonio Missions.

The All-Stars scored runs in the sixth, eighth and 10th innings, while the Bulls counted once in the first and twice in the ninth.

Strike Pending In State School

BONHAM, TEXAS.—(P)—Bonham high school students awaited the outcome of a meeting here today between the football coach and principal and superintendent.

The meeting was called after the students yesterday refused to return to classes when they learned that football Coach Jack Sasche said he would resign unless more athletic equipment was made available for his teams.

The students returned to classes only after Principal T. E. Anderson asked them to go back to their desks, according to Mrs. Sasche.

Sasche, formerly of Electra, Texas, was engaged as coach at Bonham last January. He was an all-Southwest conference football player at the University of Texas.

IDEAL TEMPERATURE

The ideal temperature for Americans, as determined by numerous tests, is about 68 degrees. This also happens to be the mean annual temperature of the borderline between tropical and temperate climate zones.

SHAMROCK.—(Special)—Roger Skaggs—all 90 pounds of him—is making a name for himself in Shamrock boxing circles.

Skaggs, who delivers the Pampa Daily News in that Wheeler county city, recently won his division championship in the Shamrock boxing tournament, was runner-up in the Clarendon tourney and won the school's intramural 90-pound division.

For these, Roger has two handsome trophies and a handy overnight bag.

Roger moved to Shamrock about a year ago from Pampa, where he was a student at Sam Houston school. He lives with his parents at 907 Wall in Shamrock.

'Chicken Jackpot' Will Feed Europe

NEW YORK.—A "chicken jackpot" is one town's solution to the problem of feeding Europe's hungry. Business Week reports. Citizens of Brown Valley, Minn., donate poultry to the pool. When there are 50 or more birds in the jackpot, women's organizations use pressure cookers and the chickens are canned for shipment abroad.

"If the plan also helps relieve surpluses of poultry and eggs that threaten to depress markets, so much the better," says the publication.

Co-op of 3 Vet Groups Looms as Major Power

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON. (NEA)—Increasing cooperation of the three major veterans' organizations on getting bills through congress is developing a legislative coalition which promises to become the most powerful pressure group in the history of this country.

This eventual goal of this union is believed to be the passage of a $2,000,000,000 bonus bill for world war II veterans.

For the past several years the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans have been pulling together better on legislation. The recent start of this was on a bill to give veterans preference for federal jobs. Then the Legion and VFW put their shoulders together on passage of the GI Bill of Rights. DAV wasn't in on that.

LONG STRUGGLE
Now legislative representatives of the three organizations announce that they are practically in complete accord on a bill for compulsory military training and plan to work together for its passage.

Combined, dues-paying membership of the three groups is now about 4,500,000 veterans. When demobilization is complete it is estimated that approximately 15,000,000 men and women will be eligible for membership.

Four men, one each from the Legion and DAV and two from VFW, are the key figures in the veterans' united front. Col. John Thomas Taylor, legislative director of the Legion, who looks and acts more like a senator than most senators, have been referred to as one of the most influential men around congress.

Hard-working Omaha, Neb., former mayor of Topeka, Kans., is VFW's national legislative representative. He teams with Robert K. Christenberry of New York, chairman of the National Legislative committee of the VFW. Representing the smallest member of the group is Dow W. Walker, national commander of DAV which now claims about 100,000 membership.

It has been a long, hard struggle for these men to sell the groups they represent on the idea that cooperation on pushing legislation is their most efficient method for getting what they want from congress. Christenberry says:

"It is just beginning to dawn on us that our opponents have been playing one veterans' group against another in delaying our attempts to get laws passed. Working together we are more than three times as strong and can really accomplish something."

There is still a lot of traditional rivalry left between the Legion and VFW which stands in the way of complete cooperation on legislation, but it is disappearing with the increased prosperity of the two organizations and the new blood that is flowing in.

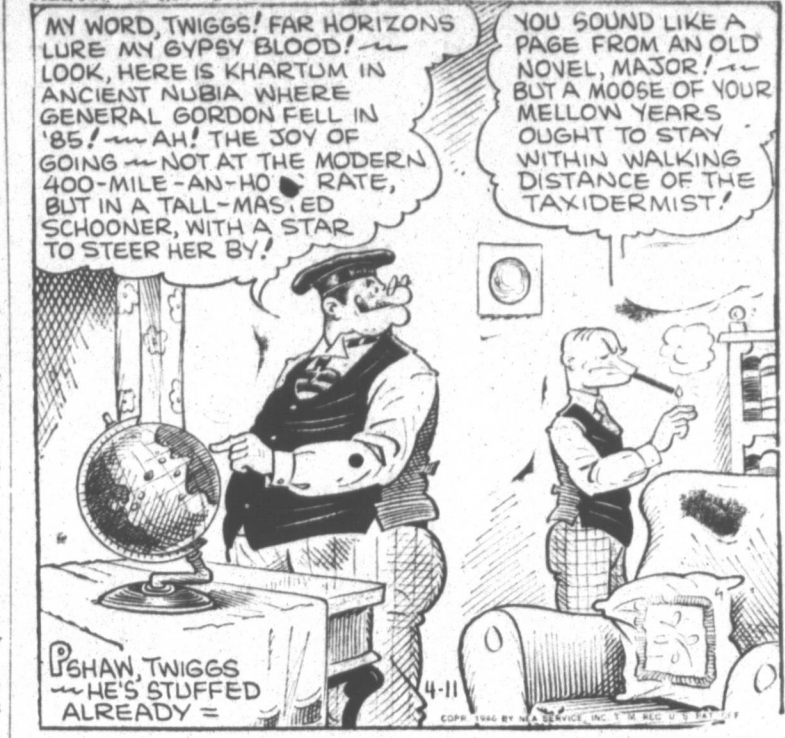

It is known that John Stelle, vociferous national commander of the Legion, with a penchant for personal publicity, is not altogether for this cooperation. He criticized the Washington staff of his organization for being too friendly with the VFW boys when he first became commander. But in spite of that the trend toward legislative unity is developing fast.

Each of the three organizations has its own, but very similar, legislative program, with that of the DAV varying most. Composed of all disabled veterans, DAV's top interest is to increase disability payments in accordance with the cost of living increase. Housing, insurance, terminal leave and increased veteran hospital care have high priority with all three groups, however.

BONUS PLAN
Although only VFW as yet has come out openly for a bonus, they would rather have it called "adjusted compensation pay"—it is no secret that the other groups will eventually ask congress for it. And it is the hope of the leaders of these organizations that when the time comes to really begin to push a bonus through congress that they will all be pushing together. Without this cooperation, experts agree, they are likely to get something far less than they can by working together.

VFW's "adjusted compensation" plan, they estimate, would cost about $2,000,000,000. It would give $3 for each day of service in the U. S. $4 for each day of foreign service and up to $500 for a Purple Heart. The maximum would be $5000 for a man who served overseas and got the Purple Heart and $3500 for a man who only served in the States.

This bonus plan, however, will get no great show in the U. S. for some time, leaders say. Housing now is tops on their list. The Legion isn't even talking openly about a bonus. But that there will eventually be a request for one, nobody questions. Even congress recognizes this inevitability. In the first GI Bill of Rights they assumed it by saying that any benefits paid under the bill would be deducted from a future bonus. This was taken out of the bill later, however.

As yet the smaller veterans organizations have a cold shoulder by the top three in their united legislative action. This has caused some comment among leaders of the newer vet organizations that this is one attempt to freeze them out of the picture. The Army spokesman doesn't agree with this. Legion's Col. John Thomas Taylor (left) is called highly influential in congress; DAV's Dow W. Walker (right) represents smallest coalition member.

165 Teachers in Panhandle Leave For Better Jobs
CANYON.—That 165 public school teachers have left their jobs in forty Panhandle towns since September to take more attractive positions is revealed in a recent study.

Among this number, 60 said they quit teaching to earn more money. Others mentioned that they felt new jobs would be less exacting than teaching.

Superintendents of the schools studied said they had a total of 117 sub-standard teachers in their class rooms, said Dr. A. M. Meyer, dean of the graduate school of West Texas State college.

In reply to a question concerning recommendations for getting—and holding—teachers of ability and good preparation, the school heads gave these:

1. Raise teachers' pay to "respectable" levels.
2. Make teaching loads more reasonable.
3. Establish a social status for teachers comparable with that of other professional workers.

Monroe Hires Texas Quartet

NEW YORK (Special)—Opportunity didn't knock twice, it telegraphed four times from New York to Denton, Texas, when Vaughn Monroe, currently rated in the music trade magazine as the most popular bandleader in the country, hired four girls from Denton, Texas, sight unseen to become the featured vocal quartet with his orchestra on radio, records, and personal appearances throughout the country!

The girls, Mary Jo Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Thomas, 2545 Scripture street; Hilda Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cunningham, 324 Normal avenue, Denton; Arline Truax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Truax, Canyon; and Kathryn Myatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Myatt, Abilene, Texas, were all students of North Texas State Teachers College. Known as the Swing-tetto at the college, the girls will be heard as The Moon Racers with Monroe.

The four girls, all still in their teens, have never sung professionally, although they have had experience with the college campus band and have made a USO Camp Hospital tour from Florida to California. It was while singing at a USO show in Fort Worth that the girls were heard by Dixon Gayer, New

MUNITY CONCERTS, NOBLE UNDERTAKING

Some of the more enthusiastic patrons of the finer arts are this week here in Pampa seeking memberships for the Community Concert association, which each year brings a selection of the nation's most noted artists literally to our steps.

Each year the association is offering to paid membership a number of four concerts which in the past have proved highly entertaining to Pampans. The movement is spreading to other parts of the nation, with the announcement yesterday here that already memberships have been sold at Canadon.

This year the association is offering to paid membership a number of four concerts which in the past have proved highly entertaining to Pampans. The movement is spreading to other parts of the nation, with the announcement yesterday here that already memberships have been sold at Canadon.

It is explained, will consider the desired singing music and singers. People who are responsible for bringing to Pampa fine, inspiring artists available are to be benefited activity. There is probably more to the good tastes of a community of the finer arts. And, specifically, much greater effort, more noble undertaking. We are on pillars of steel with the genius of something lacking if we preclude from conceptions of the artist.

WASHINGTON BY RAY TUCKER

FINDINGS—Confidential studies of the amount of individual savings piled up by the American people during the war appear to repudiate the generally held theory that the average man or family can satisfy even a part of postwar needs out of ready cash, bank deposits or even redemption of government securities.

The surveys were conducted by department of agriculture economists and field agents for the Federal Reserve Board, which wants information on the location and availability of purchasing power to guide it in framing future credit policies.

Typical industrial communities—Birmingham, Ala., and Douglas county, Ill.—were selected for the investigation. In checking and classifying their findings, the examiners discovered that they talked with reports of several other agencies which used a slightly different basis.

SAVINGS—It is estimated on the basis of these figures that people in the lower income groups—that is, the mass consumers—have saved an average of approximately $500 in various forms. The range of reserves is placed at from $50 to $750.

More detailed calculations lead the economists to believe that two-thirds of the population own about twenty-four percent of the estimated liquid savings of one hundred forty billion dollars.

This means that ninety-two million people hold only about thirty-four billion dollars' worth. The balance—on hundred six billion—is in the hands and portfolios of wealthy investors, banks, insurance companies, trust funds, military agencies, states and municipalities.

FUNDS—Dividing thirty-four billion dollars among ninety-two million people on a strictly mathematical basis averages about $375 each. Excluding such nonpayers as children and the old-fellas, however, the average increases to approximately $750.

The remaining one hundred six billion consists largely of capital seeking investment rather than money waiting to rush to immediate market, in the opinion of Washington's financiers and even that kind of funds may have difficulty in finding a landing place.

CREDIT—These discoveries pose a difficult credit and pricing problem. The old guard conservatives...

Peter Edson's Column: SOME LITTLE NEWS ABOUT BIG PEOPLE

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Russian Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko, who took a walkout from the UN security council the other day, is generally known as one of the world's most obliging and unencumbered in traditionally frozen-faced diplomacy. He never unbends, never smiles. At least, not in public.

But there was one time at the San Francisco conference at which Gromyko not only thawed out, but also cracked a joke. He was presiding at a closed session at which one section of the charter came up for vote.

There was a split in the British delegation. Australia was inclined to vote "Aye" on the question, and this caused the delegate from the United Kingdom no small concern. "I should very much dislike to be forced to vote against Australia," he said.

UPTON CLOSE:

More About What Bureaucrats Did To F. M. Radio

In the previous column, I reminded you that you are not now getting the improved type of radio, called F. M. (frequency modulation)—although we were promised we should have it as soon as the war should end. This holds back the establishment of 5,000 additional radio stations which would make it possible for every shade of opinion to be heard and would make it almost impossible for a government bureau controlled by the administration to turn our networks into thinly disguised propaganda agencies.

In regard to this last, I quote from one of the nation's greatest producers of radio equipment. He says, "Freedom to hear should be considered just as much a guaranty by the constitution as a free press. You can procure publication that will express every shade of political and social opinion. But in contrast, control of what is said over the radio and more importantly what is not said has already reached alarming proportions." This manufacturer stands to produce just as many sets and make just as much money whether or not we, the listeners, have to be satisfied with the present limited number of long-wave stations and with programs put out by only four networks. But being a real technician, he would like to give us the best that technique can give; namely, reception not disturbed by electric storms or street cars and networks of electric starters on oil burners, and no interference from stations with similar wave lengths. Also, being a good American, he would like to have the present physical limitations on sending stations (which keeps them down to less than four million) lifted so that there would be so many radio outlets that no political gang could dominate them.

The reason why we haven't got this desirable situation in radio now is that the present bureau which controls wave lengths and which is shot through with politics, died in January, 1945, to move F. M. from the efficient 50 megacycle band up into the 100 megacycle band, and give it television the channels in which F. M. has been allowed to develop and plan for five years. It's the bureau which has some powerful "interests" pushing it. But it's also true that television can't do a good job in color on the 50 megacycle band now granted it, but must hope to do a cheap job in black and white on that band. It is true that F. M. can't do a good job on the higher 100 megacycle band. (The inventor of F. M., Major Armstrong, has protested the change.) Furthermore, the 400-000 F. M. receives bought by the public before F. M. production was stopped by the war, and the 47 F. M. stations already built and broadcasting, are thrown out of service by the new ruling, P. M. broadcasting has to start over again from scratch.

This upsetting change is credited to the attitude and work of Mr. A. Norton, a former employee of the National Broadcasting Commission. Late in 1944 the radio technical planning board ruled 2 to 1 to keep F. M. in the wave band where it is.

Which showed its strength by putting over the Tennessee congressional committee, stems from the fact that Mr. Norton is a member of the party which is now in power. They are force anti-union desires and are willing to go to the 1945 presidential plate as unrepentant conservatives.

The fourth group can be hardly honored with the title of "faction," because the members do not profess a desire to concern themselves with their own particular policies. They will, however, "help" from the inside. Their leaders are Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., of Wisconsin, the Radical Progressive, and Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, an ardent Farmer-Laborite. They are still ultra-conservatives but liberal with regard to domestic legislation.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Today we can report that we have interviewed The Bottle.

After all, Ray Milland won an Academy Award co-starring with it in the film "The Lost Weekend." It was the most significant prop of 1945.

Milland, Charley Brackett, Billy Wilder, and others have received credit, awards, and publicity for "The Lost Weekend." But what about The Bottle? Especially the one Milland hid in the chandelier?

"I didn't think they would hand the bottle to me," said Billy Hope at the Academy Awards presentation. "I thought they would hide it in a chandelier."

So we set out in search of The Bottle. Was it lying neglected somewhere, gathering dust in a Paramount prop room? Was it playing an insidious bit role in any movie? Or was it going on to greater heights?

"The Bottle" missed Director Wilder, when we told him what we were after. "Oh, yes, my prop man will know. Follow by the name of the United Nations right at the beginning of his career."

It seems clear that Moscow has suspected the motives of the West—by insisting that the Persian affair be kept on the agenda until the soviet troops are withdrawn. The Russians apparently feel that their country has been subjected to an indignity—that its honor has been touched.

While we have this passing (we hope) in mind, there is good news from London about relations among the Big Four—Russia, Britain, France and America. The foreign ministers of these powers are to meet in Paris, on the twenty-fifth of this month to consider the European peace treaties over which they have been deadlocked. American and British officials who have been working on the treaty drafts indicate that they think Russia's acceptance of U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes' proposal for the conference is a sign that the atmosphere among the four powers may be clearing.

JOCK wouldn't face a manslaughter charge. It developed that the girl had been driving the car. Jock knew, he said, that he was too drunk to drive. The girl had been, too, but she hadn't realized it, and Jock had been in no condition to realize it for her.

That was about all that Colin told Ann about it. He would have told her more of his long talk with Nina, but she had been so busy that she was all Ann wanted to know. She said she was glad he was all right, of course. They'd been friends for a long time.

In October, Colin's book came out. Ann was enchanted with it, and surprisingly enough, the reviews were too, for the most part. They were almost apologetic about it. They mentioned the plot, said rather diffidently that it sounded corny, and went on to urge immediate reading of it.

Later, when the Ford Motor company decided to sign a contract with United Auto workers, one of the two thugs called up Walter's brother, Victor, and invited the Reuthers and their wives out to dinner. The thug explained that he was now a member of Walter's union under the maintenance of his membership clause in the Ford contract. He had been ordered to go out and beat Reuther up, he explained, but there had been nothing personal about it.

Pubility on George Allen's six weeks' vacation after he was confirmed as an RPO director back-fired on him. Allen sneaked back into Washington as quietly as he could and took the oath of office in a private ceremony. Then he returned to his job.

Texas Seeking Federal Money For Six River, Harbor Projects

WASHINGTON—(P)—Texans asked the house rivers and harbors committee today to incorporate six projects in a pending authorization bill.

All proposed improvements, which have an estimated total cost of $5,686,000, have been recommended by army engineers. If authorized as sought, separate legislation still must be approved to provide funds for their execution.

The projects, with a brief description of each, follows:

Adams Bayou, a tributary of the Sabine river near Orange—the engineers' recommendation provides for a channel 12 feet deep and 100 feet wide to connect a new Dupon nylon plant with the intracoastal canal system, at a cost of $73,000.

Sabine-Neches waterway—deepening the present 34-foot channel of the waterway to 36 feet inland to Fort Arthur and Beaumont in order to permit heavier loading of oil tankers; widening the waterway from Port Arthur to the mouth of the Neches from 350 to 400 feet, and from 300 to 350 feet in the Neches to Beaumont, total estimated cost, $3,160,000.

Mill Creek, a tributary of the Brazos river, in Austin county—straightening and clearing of channel in vicinity of Bellville to permit faster discharge of high waters and thus reduce flood losses, estimated cost $250,000.

Port Isabel—work to include dredging an additional connecting channel 32 feet deep and 150 feet wide between Port Isabel channel and the Brownsville port channel to facilitate movement of large vessels, particularly oil tankers, at an estimated cost of $170,000.

Gulf intracoastal canal in the vicinity of Arkansas Pass—improvement includes dredging a new and shorter and more protected route between Rockport Bay and Corpus Christi bay, a distance of 17 miles at a savings of three miles over the old channel; increasing the depth of the present channel from Arkansas Pass across Harbor island to Port Arkansas to a depth of from 9 to 12 feet and enlargement of Arkansas Pass turning basin to a length of 2,200 feet, the first improvement to cost $976,000 and the latter $119,000, for a total of $1,095,000.

Trinity river channel inland to Liberty—proposed is a channel along the Eastern shore of Trinity bay from the mouth of the river near Anahuac to the entrance into Galveston bay, at an estimated cost of $841,000. (Congress previously has authorized canalization of the Trinity island to Liberty, but the new legislation is sought because it involves a change in route, reducing the distance the channel would traverse open water across Trinity bay.)

Health Officer Advises Typhoid Immunization

AUSTIN—If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever within the last two or three years, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, advises you to go to your doctor or to the nearest health officer and have him give you three "shots" that will protect you against the disease.

"The three shots that will protect against typhoid are given at intervals of one week apart," Dr. Cox stated. "As it takes some time for the protective treatment to be established throughout the system, it is wise not to delay in having it done. My advice is, have it done now so that immunization may be complete before summer arrives and vacation trips are taken."

This advice was addressed particularly to Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and other youngsters who are looking forward to spring and summer hikes and trips. It is, however, meant also for others, young or old, whose business or pleasure during the summer will take them to places where there may be doubt as to the purity or safety of the water supply, or as to the care with which food is handled.

The old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is particularly applicable to this disease, which is so dangerous and debilitating when it does occur, and which can be prevented so easily through immunization.

I think that we can make it clear to the soviet government that no country however powerful in a military or economic way can dominate by mere force even the smallest countries for very long.—Commerce Secretary Henry A. Wallace.

What must be of the gravest concern to us as Christians is that after nearly 2000 years of the Christian religion a large part of Europe should have relapsed into conditions as degrading as anything known or done in the worst days of paganism.—British Ambassador Lord Halifax.

Rural Electrical Business May Exceed That in Towns, Cities

NEW YORK—Rural business in electrical equipment may well exceed town business during the next several years, according to Claude R. Wickard, administrator of the rural electrification administration.

Writing in the current issue of Electrical Wholesaling, Mr. Wickard says this will be true for a little while whether the dealers exert any sales effort or not.

"In the past," says the article, "most distributors treated the farm electrical trade as an accommodation side line, much to the detriment of the farmer's best interest. This attitude is changing now. The rural business is so important that distributors are showing promising signs of cultivating it assiduously."
