Women Flock to Polls in Japan's First Postwar Election

Twenty-Five Million Nips Cast Ballots

TOKYO—(AP)—Twenty-five million Japanese—led by a surprisingly large number of women who lined up early at polling places—today elected a postwar government in their first free election in generations.

The Tokyo vote was between 65 and 70 percent of those eligible—slightly higher than the confused and semi-restricted 1937 election but considerably less than the 86 percent under the Hideki Tojo coercion that marked the 1942 election.

RURAL COMMUNITIES
A slightly higher trend was perceptible in several nearby rural communities.

Limited communications and slowness of election procedure prevented accurate reports from key cities.

Early queues at Tokyo's polling places led some Japanese observers to alter their previous predictions of a 75 percent turnout, but the lines slackened in the afternoon.

HALF OF WOMEN VOTE
However, the number of women voters exceeded expectations. In Tokyo, more than 50 percent of those eligible went to the polls, whereas prognosticators—both male and female—had expected little more than 25 percent of them to turn out.

Many who asked for ballots were unable to vote because of mixed records and poorly coordinated registration.

Congress Probes Story of Life In 'Big House'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congressmen blinked in amazement today at lurid descriptions of what life has been like in the "big house," less than two miles from the capitol.

They heard that inmates of the District of Columbia jail have run business ventures from their cells, imported liquor by the case for gambling parties, and even entertained out-of-town models on occasion.

They also received further sworn testimony of prisoners being permitted to leave for business appointments in one of the city's most expensive hotels, of lavish tipping of sundry jail officials, and of government stationery being used by prisoners for their correspondence.

Congressional investigators stumbled on this story at the outset of their inquiry into the recent escape of two condemned slavers from a death row—a jail break which boosted to 573 the number of prisoners who have fled district penal institutions since 1933.

Red Demand to U. N. Council Set for Defeat

NEW YORK—(AP)—United Nations delegation officials today forecast almost certain defeat for Russia's proposal that the security council throw out the Iranian case, although a tough debate appeared in store with the United States and Britain opposing the Soviet Union.

Iran's opposition to the Russian proposal was announced officially to the council last night, but it probably will not tackle the issue until next Saturday or Monday.

CLOSED SESSION TODAY
Meanwhile council members arranged a closed session today (10:30 a.m., EST) to discuss the troublesome question of where U. N. headquarters should be and some officials said to decide on the date of the next meeting.

The headquarters question promised a lively discussion. Several delegates say privately they are very dissatisfied with present arrangements for meetings at Hunter College in the Bronx, and consideration has been given to moving the whole outfit to a huge modern factory building at Lake Success on Long Island.

U. N. HEADQUARTERS
However, in the general atmosphere of restlessness produced by the arguments over the relative merits of the Bronx and Long Island there has been some comparatively informal talk about taking the organization entirely away from New York, and the names of San Francisco and Geneva, Switzerland, have again entered into site speculation.

The security council received formal notice of the Russian demand for dismissal of the Iranian case at the end of its meeting yesterday when President Quoy Tai-Chi of China announced that he had a Soviet letter for the council's consideration and also that he had a letter from Iran. The Soviet communication had previously been made public, but the Iranian statement caught delegates by surprise.

Transmitted by Ambassador Husein Ala, it disclosed that despite the agreement on Soviet troop withdrawal.

Navy Wins Quest For More Crude

AUSTIN—(AP)—The navy has won its quest for more Texas crude production, which means more fuel oil.

Yesterday the Texas Railroad commission, in a statewide special order, increased from 21 to 24 days the number of days during which fields may produce crude during April.

This was done, the special order stated, to fulfill the navy's requirements, as well as to keep independent refineries in Texas, threatened with a shortage of crude, from shutting down.

Chairman Glen Culbertson of the commission said the extra three days of production would supply the oil for all concerned.

LACK OF COAL PARALYZES INDUSTRY

Furnaces at the Clairton, Pa., coke plant. In the background thirst for coal, but neither the larger nor the Monongahela river docks of the U. S. Steel Clairton.

Coke Works pictured above have any to offer. The plant, which produces coke for steel mills in Pittsburgh-Yonkers district, normally consumes 30,000 tons of coal a day. This scene is typical of America's industrial heartland as the coal strike spreads a partial paralysis over the nation's steel and automotive industries.

Lewis and Committee Leave Negotiations

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis and a United Mine Workers committee walked out on wage negotiations with soft coal operators today and threatened to stay out until the producers agree to discuss welfare fund and improved safety conditions.

SAFETY CONDITIONS
The UMW president has put the fund and safety conditions at the top of the nine demands he has made in negotiations on a new contract to end the 10-day-old shutdown in the soft coal pits.

'USELESS' TO CONTINUE
K. C. Adams, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal and union spokesman, told newsmen the UMW delegation found it "useless and hopeless" to continue negotiations under present conditions.

There was no immediate comment from the operators, who stayed temporarily behind in the conference room.

Adams added in a statement that the operators had blocked the miners' attempt to report disagreement to the full joint conference.

"Whereupon the minersworkers, seeing the situation useless and hopeless, have decided to withdraw from the negotiations."

New Fire Hose Is Purchased by City

CITY MANAGER GARLAND FRANKS announced the purchase today of 1,700 feet of new fire hose for the local fire department and said more new equipment is being sought.

Of the amount of new hose, 1,000 feet was of 2 1/2 inch, 400 feet of 1 1/2 inch and 300 feet of one-inch. All of the hose is of the high-quality double-jacketed variety.

Franks said the city also plans to purchase a life net, which is very valuable in the fighting of fires on upper floors of buildings.

Are You Ready? Trucks To Collect Trash Tomorrow

CITY TRASH TRUCKS WILL BEGIN picking up trash tomorrow in the annual city cleanup campaign. City Manager Garland Franks said today.

He said the city is being divided into several zones and each will be covered completely by the entire force before workmen move to another zone.

"This will eliminate the confusion of trying to run on a set time schedule," he said. "No resident need worry if his trash is not picked up the first day of the drive as every part of the city will be fully covered."

City officials have been urging a complete clean-up of all parts of the city, both business and residential. Announcements on the drive have been made at all meetings of local organizations and fullest cooperation has been promised.

All rubbish that may cause fires in one of the special aims of the drive in addition to beautifying aspects.

In addition, officials have requested that residents refrain from burning trash in barrels as smoldering embers may cause serious damage to trash trucks.

The drive will continue tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, and if necessary will be carried over through Monday so that all trash may be picked up.

Houston Man Heads Texas Lumbermen

S. F. STILES, Houston, has been elected president of the Texas Lumbermen's association, succeeding Lynn Boyd of Pampa.

The election of officers was held during the association's convention at Galveston yesterday.

Boyd, also president of the local lumber dealers association, recently publicly charged the office of price administration with mishandling of lumber stocks and urged that the situation be corrected.

Barkley Predicts Majority Passage

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate banking committee voted 14 to 5 today to send the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan to the floor for debate.

The action was announced by Senator Barkley (D-Ky) after a closed meeting. Barkley predicted the senate would pass the proposed credit "by a substantial majority."

He said that the bill would be called up for action the first of next week.

Members said these proposals were rejected by the committee.

By Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to give Great Britain $1,250,000,000 outright provided the money be spent in the United States. Taft told reporters that only Senators Capehart (R-Ind) and Capper (R-Kans) voted with him on this.

PROPOSAL REJECTED
By Senator McFarland (D-Ariz) to require Great Britain to turn over to the United States permanently the bases now used by this country on a 99-year lease. This vote was reported to be 7 for and 11 against.

CREDIT FOR BRITAIN
By Senator Caperhart to set up a $176,000,000 credit for Britain against which she could borrow up to the extent of the annual deficit between her imports and exports. The vote on this idea was not reported.

SYSTEM OF TRADE
Proponents of the loan have described it as a transaction designed in part to keep the British from reverting to their prewar empire preference system of foreign trade.

Taft said before the committee session that his substitute on right gift proposal, if turned down there would be offered on the senate floor.

Scientist Says Effective Control Of Atom Is 'Must'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, co-discoverer of plutonium, said today that unless effective international control of atomic energy was established "an alternative lies in foregoing the commercial use of this source of energy."

Asserting that such an alternative was a "solution which it seems a pity to be forced to accept," the University of Chicago scientist told the American chemical society in an address prepared for a symposium on nuclear energy.

"In my opinion, atomic energy will be used in industrial peacetime applications because of the advantages which it affords, and therefore it will be necessary to solve the problem of control politically on the international front."

The solution probably lies in the development of an international control system based upon inspection to prevent the diversion of the material to illegal purposes.

In a project to the same symposium, Dr. Milton Burton of the Monsanto Chemical Co., who was associated with the Oak Ridge atomic project, said chemists may be able to change the properties of familiar solids at will as a result of techniques discovered in the atomic bomb development.

Under bombardment of fast neutrons, he said, certain solid materials—particularly the lighter elements—are so affected that some of their atoms become displaced from their normal positions thus imparting new properties to the material.

Seaborg, who last fall announced the existence of the new element 95 and 96—radioactive elements that somewhat resemble the so-called rare earths—today proposed formal names for them.

He suggested that element 95 be called "Americium" with the symbol "AM" in honor of the Americas, and that element 96 be called "curium" with the symbol "CM" in honor of Marie and Pierre Curie, who obtained radium from pitchblende.

Double-Quick Draft Action Is Called For

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The home leadership signaled today for double-quick action on a bill for straightway continuation of the draft until Feb. 15, 1947.

Almost as soon as the house military committee decided in favor of this nine-month extension, the measure was given a preferred place on the chamber's calendar, with debate scheduled for Friday and Saturday and a vote hoped for before the weekend recess.

The present law is due to expire exactly five weeks from today—May 15, and that space leaves congress with comparatively scant elbow room should legislative tangles develop between house and senate over details of the measure to be enacted.

ANOTHER BATTLE SEEN
Indications were that the bitter battle which preceded the committee's 15 to 8 extender recommendation late yesterday would be renewed on the house floor.

But supporters of continuing selective service viewed with comfort the fact that the house vote, when it comes, probably will be a roll-call and on the sole issue of extension. Many members, they believe, are fearful of voting on the record in an election year against a proposal which army and administration have backed so strongly.

PAY BOOSTS SEPARATE
The question of pay boosts for armed forces was left for separate action.

The committee wrote into the draft extension bill a provision that army and navy monthly requisitions shall not exceed the actual numbers of men needed to meet the following manpower quotas by July 1, 1947:

Army, 1,070,000; navy 558,000; marine corps, 108,000.

And it recommended that those figures, presented by the armed services themselves, be made the July 1, 1947 ceilings on army, navy and marine strength.

The committee also recommended: A limit of 18 months on training.

'Weather' Is Sure Thing in Pampa

About the only thing in the line of climate that Pampa will be sure of in the immediate future, considering temperature, snowfall, frosts, etc., is that Pampa will have weather.

Rain won't be mentioned, except for the fact that all crops need it. This morning's early snow fog and later drizzle was but a teaser for old Sol. In order that the county have at least a normal wheat crop this year, it is estimated by county wheat growers.

However, if the law of averages during the past few years holds true, a killing frost will attack 11 months' worth of flowers sometimes between April 15-20.

Accordingly, there won't be another snowfall this spring. Last year was the first year of the five in which snow came during April. Pampans still remember the blizzard of late April in 1933, nevertheless, which marooned Panhandle towns.

The unusually warm days of March and April have made for rapid growth of all plants, quicker germination of seeds, and has stepped up the blooming of fruit trees.

Temperatures during March surpassed records. The local weather bureau, which has records of the last five years only, reports that the 92 degree warmth of March 31 broke a record of March 31, 1934 to source says 34-year records were left in the dust.

Average period of germination for garden seed is from two to three weeks, according to Miss Millicent Schaub, county home demonstration agent. During the first part of April that period was decreased to from seven to ten days. If gardeners plant.

Dates for Shamrock Rodeo Are Set as May 3, 4 and 5

SHAMROCK, (Special) — Dates for the Shamrock Rodeo have been set as Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 3, 4 and 5. Bob Clark, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, announced this week.

The three-day event is being sponsored by the chamber of commerce with Slim Emmert serving as director.

Approximately fifteen hundred dollars in cash and merchandise prizes are being offered winners of the arena sports during the four performances to be held Friday night, Saturday afternoon and night and Sunday afternoon.

The awards will go to the winning contestants in saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, roping, bull dogging, wild cow milking and bull riding.

In addition to the cash prizes the three best all-around cowboys will be presented merchandise prizes as follows: first place, a saddle valued at $150; second, chaps and spurs valued at $22; third, hat and belt buckle valued at $40.

The show stock is being furnished by Bill Lyon of Petrolia, Texas, whose string of wild animals were used in the Shamrock Rodeo last year. Lyon furnishes stock for the biggest amateur rodeo in the world, Roy Gaddis and his trick horse, Fibber, both of whom have been here for the performance. Fibber, the trick horse used in one of Roy Rogers' latest pictures, is valued at $7,500 and wears a saddle that costs $2,500.

Bands will be here to play before each show and during each performance. Emmett declared bands have been promised from Amarillo, Pampa and Hobart, and others are expected.

Street parades will be held Friday afternoon, Saturday afternoon and preceding the show Saturday night.

Much interest is being shown by cowboys, many of whom have already sent in entries in the six different events.

In addition to the regular contest events, there will be a cutting horse contest and cow milking contest for cowgirls.

Flour Rationing Without Coupon Worries for Housewives Is Seen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A flour rationing plan without coupon worries for housewives hung fire today as the government took another careful look into the wheat situation made tense by widespread hunger abroad.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton D. Anderson said he expected to decide during the day whether to put into effect an order requiring millers to cut their sales of flour to bakers and retailers by 25 per cent.

The cabinet officer disclosed to a news conference last night that he had ordered officials in his department to prepare such an order. Should it be issued, it would have the effect of rationing supplies of flour to bakers and retailers, but not to consumers.

Officials have explained that machinery for consumer rationing of these products could not be set in motion in time to help out during the current food crisis.

Anderson's decision may well hinge on a report scheduled to be issued by the department's crop reporting board at 2 p. m. (CST) today on stocks of wheat on farms April 1.

With commercial supplies at abnormally low levels, the government and millers must look to farm stocks for the bulk of all export and domestic requirements until the new crop starts moving to market in June.

Because there has been heavy feeding of wheat to livestock in areas unable to get corn, some officials expect the wheat stock report to show that remaining supplies are insufficient to meet present consumer demands and export commitments.

In that event, the order curtailing domestic consumption of flour would appear to be necessary.

Meanwhile, fresh pressure for more wheat for hungry areas came from Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia of the United Nations.

Relief and Rehabilitation administration, LaGuardia planned to appear today before the combined food board — representing the United States, Great Britain, and Canada — to insist that member countries allocate 350,000 tons more a month than the 275,000 tons now being granted UNRRA.

Discussing other phases of the food problem Anderson said the agriculture department also is working on new measures designed to obtain larger quantities of meats and food fats and oils for the needy abroad and to strengthen the voluntary conservation program recommended last month by President Truman's famine emergency committee. He would not elaborate on these measures, however.

Nor would the secretary make any estimate as to the possible duration of the flour restriction program, should it be put into effect. C. C. Farrington, director of the department's grain branch, told bakers and millers at a meeting yesterday it would be for a period of 60 to 75 days.

"The duration will depend," Anderson said, "on the world wheat situation at harvest time. I expect the world wheat shortage to continue beyond June 30."

'One World or None' Discussed Before Jaycees

Speaking on a current topic "One World or None" the Rev. B. A. Norris, pastor of the First Christian church, addressed members of the Junior chamber of commerce at their regular luncheon yesterday.

Recently discharged after having served as a chaplain with the army, Rev. Norris pointed out that Americans were ambassadors in other countries and the conduct of our "ambassadors" would mold opinion in occupied countries.

He said that perhaps the greatest single factor in cementing relations so that all peoples may live in peace was the presence of Christianity in so-called heathen countries.

Subsidy Payment On Beef To Halt

Subsidy payment on all beef will stop June 30, reported Miss Evelyn Moore, secretary of the county Agricultural Conservation Agency office, this morning.

Cattle sold before June 30 must be recorded with the agency before August 31.

Payment is 50 cents a hundredweight for all cattle over 800 pounds and selling in Gray county at $13.50 or more.

Cream tickets and milk statements for the first three months of 1946 may be turned in at the county office during April and May.

Subsidy payment on milk and butterfat, the highest in the history of such subsidies since initiated in October, 1943, is 70 cents per hundredweight on milk and 17 cents per pound of butterfat in cream during April.

The rate was the same during the first quarter of the year. Payment is to decline to 35 cents a hundredweight for milk and 10 cents per pound on butterfat during May and June.

'Clothing Construction' Is Study Topic for Hopkins Club Members

Mrs. Paul Rice was hostess when the Hopkins Home Demonstration club met Tuesday afternoon in the Community hall. The lesson subject was "Clothing Construction," and the opening game was a missing letter contest of sewing articles. Mrs. C. F. Jones won first prize.

The highlight of the demonstration given by the agent, Miss Millicent Schaub, was a home-made button now so popular on expensive suits. Using a 13-inch bias strip of material that had been folded, stitched and turned, she followed the plan for the "underwriter's knot," bringing the ends together and clipping off the excess length after a shank has been formed. Leather buttons in the same fashion can be made from old leather bags or similar material.

Gay Bunnies Spread Easter Joy

"Rabbits in a briar patch—for Easter morning brunch table."

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Staff Writer

In place of the elaborate traditional Easter dinner, many Americans, in this year of famine for war-torn areas, are inviting friends to an Easter morning brunch.

Although saving food is the theme, the menu should be pleasing and satisfying, and the table beautifully arranged. Spread your table with your best floral-patterned Irish linen cloth. Easter means bunnies to millions of youngsters—and adults—so try this:

Perch two Easter rabbits in a briar thicket arranged in a shallow round dish filled with sand. A smaller dish set on top of an inverted custard cup provides the height the bunnies deserve. Spring blossoms interspersed among clusters of green foliage complete the Easter centerpiece.

Baker P.T.A. To Hear Speaker

Mrs. F. E. Leech will give the devotional when the B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher association meets tomorrow afternoon for a program in the school auditorium.

Rev. Russell G. West, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, will be guest speaker, and special music will be presented by the school chorus.

The executive board will meet at 1:30 for a short business session.

Lynda Horne Named Honoree on Birthday

SHAMROCK, (Special) — Lynda Horne was complimented with a party by her mother, Mrs. Robert Horne, Friday afternoon. The occasion was the ninth birthday of the honoree.

The youthful guests arrived with gifts for Lynda, and were entertained with out-door games.

At refreshment time, the birthday cake was topped with nine lighted tapers, and an Easter motif was carried out in table decorations.

Youngsters present included: Frances Bechtel, Rose Carolyn Dodgen, Mary Katherine Setzler, Winona Johnson, Dorothy Lynn Goslin, Maynette Derr, Mentzer Walker, Lou Doty, Dorothy Ann Hamill, Anna Carolyn LaDue, Barbara Schaffner and Rosalyn Morgan.

Feminine Japan Voted Today for Very First Time

(Editor's Note: Women made news today as they cast their first ballots in Japan's history. Here's the "woman's angle" from a woman's angle by one of the two accredited women correspondents in Tokyo. Helen J. Folster, representing Australian newspapers, wrote it for The Associated Press.)

By HELEN J. FOLSTER TOKYO—(AP)—Feminine Japan voted today for the first time in history.

Observers, both Japanese and allied, were surprised by the large percentage of women at the polling places.

For seven months of occupation, the Japanese have been exposed to ideas of freedom and democracy. The women, even though they were considered inferior and hardly worth bothering about, are nonetheless neither deaf nor dumb.

A great many Japanese women figured out a lot of things for themselves, too. In the past, they had put up with the same treatment as the men, but without equal privileges.

Without doubt, politics had been discussed in plenty of homes. It is impossible to say how much influence the man of a family will have on his women's vote.

However, it struck me in the polling places I visited in Tokyo all day that the women voters seemed rather an independent lot.

They went in by themselves or with other women. With babies on their back and dressed in their fanciest kimonos they went at the business of voting as if they had done it all of their lives.

GENTLEMAN JIM RULES THE ROOST MEDFORD, Ore.—(AP)—Gentleman Jim's fighting days are numbered at Ed Leach's Lane county farm. The big 10-pound Plymouth Rock rooster, Leach admits, killed many rats, moles, gophers and snakes—but couldn't stop. The rooster started attacking Mrs. Leach every time she stepped from the farmhouse, chased Leach's seven-year-old daughter into orchard trees, kept two cats in the barn for weeks, licked all other roosters and even had the family watchdog on guard.

Eight Perish in Boston Fire

BOSTON.—(AP)—Eight persons, including a mother, father and three small children, perished and five others were injured today in an early-morning fire that swept a four-story brick Back Bay apartment house and brought swift investigation by fire and police officials.

The investigation included two other fires which started within a ten-block radius while firemen were battling the flames in the apartments in Belvedere street, where the deaths occurred.

The police listed the dead as: Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wassell and their children, Suzanne, 5; Linda, 3, and Peter, 2, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon LaPete, and Patrolman Robert Mehr, 45.

Thirty-three other tenants fled from the building in which the fire was burning fiercely when the first fire apparatus arrived. The fire department, which sent members of its Aron squad into action, listed the damage at $10,000.

Battle Set for Price Ceilings On Old Homes

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Encouraged by two successes, the administration hammered away hard in the senate today to nail a third drop to its emergency housing bill fashioned to turn out 2,700,000 new homes.

At issue before a final vote is whether housing boss William W. Wyatt should be given power to clamp price ceilings on old as well as new homes.

During yesterday's long session, administration backers blocked concerted attempts to drop out of the bill two provisions which Wyatt had termed "essential".

1. A $600,000,000 subsidy fund to reward manufacturers and producers for stepping up their output of building materials.

2. A guarantee by the government that it will buy up to 200,000 prefabricated houses if manufacturers cannot find private buyers for such ready-built homes.

The senate voted the subsidy plan into the bill 53 to 20 after the house had balked at that issue in passing its own version.

The guarantee provision for prefabricated homes was retained by a 38 to 35 vote.

Yet to be disposed of is a section which would establish as the ceiling price of an old house the amount received in the first sale after enactment of the act. This provision, which the house also rejected, was expected to come to a vote today.

Both senate and house versions of the bill include price ceilings on new homes. After the senate finishes with its measure, however, a compromise draft will have to be written by a conference committee of the two chambers.

tration, partially due to recent population shifts.

DEMAND NEW ELECTION

This led some communist leaders immediately to demand, through the Japanese press, a new election.

An incomplete, mid-afternoon count showed Tokyo's heaviest vote came from predominantly working class and silk stocking wards. Heavily-bombed Shibuya, where thousands still live in metal shacks, voted 70 percent.

Women voters outnumbered the men in surprisingly heavy, early morning turnout in five rural communities near Tokyo and appeared at Tokyo's major booths in increasing numbers.

Many entered polling places with babies strapped to their backs. Others left children in impromptu nurseries. In one big Tokyo labor ward, Shinagawa, a temporary nursery was overflowing with babies by 9 a. m., two hours after the polls opened.

There was no indication of trend. First reports of the count are expected by late Thursday.

Political experts earlier had forecast victory for conservatives, but with no single party winning a majority of the 468 diet seats at stake.

Whirl-helmeted American military police and British troops patrolled steadily, ready to act at any indication of coercion or intimidation of voters.

Figures based on studies of engine failures in twin-engine planes indicate a probable frequency of one forced landing in any 16,576 flights which might be taken from the U. S. to London.

Suggestion That Mobile Schools Be Set Up Is Temporarily Shelved

AUSTIN.—(AP)—A suggestion that mobile schools be set up to provide rudimentary educational facilities for the children of migratory laborers who follow the harvest from South to North in Texas has been temporarily shelved.

Instead of following that or several other proposals, a conference of three state agencies concerned with the tough problem voted to refer the whole matter to a committee for further study. The committee was instructed to report back in September.

The question of how state money is allocated for school support arose after Dr. J. G. Flowers, president of Southwest Texas State Teachers college said that there was little hope for solution until the fundamental problem of educating Latin-American children is resolved.

Dr. George I. Sanchez of the University of Texas agreed that a premium is placed on non-attendance when the distribution of funds is on the school census, rather than on average attendance.

Sanchez said that the problem of educating the children of migratory laborers is only one phase of the larger situation in which only 47 percent of the children of Spanish speaking persons in Texas attend school regularly.

Agencies participating in the conference were the good neighbor commission, the state department of education, and the migratory labor bureau of Texas A. and M. college.

Mrs. Pauline Kibbe, executive secretary of the good neighbor commission, noted it was the first time in and service of any person "heretofore or hereafter inducted."

A prohibition against the induction of fathers. However, it did not order the release of fathers now in service, since the army has promised to discharge them by late summer if the recommended legislation is enacted.

That local draft boards be given the final vote in determining whether a farm youth shall be deferred because of his essentiality on the farm.

A ban against induction of anyone under 18 or over 30.

The committee specifically refused to raise the minimum draft age from 18 to 20.

While the house committee cleared its decks of draft legislation, the senate military committee put off until tomorrow its showdown on extension.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE AP Staff Writer

"Cap" is rounding out another job. Cap is C. A. Price, who worked 35 years for the Associated Press, then five years as associate editor of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

Cap doesn't retire; he just rounds out each job as another chapter, not the end of the book.

At 65 he reached the age limit with the Associated Press. At 70 he reached the age limit at A. and M. and has resigned.

He joined the extension service when younger men at College Station were needed in the national emergency.

"His enthusiasm in pitching into the new field was an inspiration to us all," Louise Franke, extension editor, said.

And in a note to Price, Dr. Ide P. Trotter, director of the service said: "Many of us have come to appreciate your broad viewpoint. To all of us, you have been an inspiration and a challenge to keep ourselves young, alert and aggressive."

Price's last big assignment was to compile the annual report. He had reached retirement age—again—but Louise Franke said: "I am sure you could compile for us the most outstanding annual report in the history of the extension service."

And now, beyond 70, Cap is ready for new fields. His friends wonder what he will tackle next; probably writing on agricultural and rural life problems. Whatever it is, they know he'll do it well.

"No small part of the credit for the high degree of efficiency achieved by the extension editorial department during the war years, and that in the face of a bewilderingly complex program, must be accorded to Mr. Price's ability," Franke said.

To Cap, septuagenarian extraordinary.

SAN DEIGA.—(AP)—Ten Fat Tom, 35-year-old native of China became a citizen of the United in 1943, but his naturalization certificate inadvertently gave his name as Tim Fred Tom.

Now he has petitioned court to sanction the new name, because—sighs Tom—the army also listed him as Tim Fred Tom, and he might as well make it legal.

Margaret's Hands Are Described As 'Oh, So Pale'

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A woman who has spent two solid hours peering at Margaret Truman's hands says they're "delicate, sensitive, and, oh, so pale."

"The palest hands I ever saw," adds Ray Shaw, who makes a tidy living sculpturing hands.

Miss Shaw, a reporter today she now has completed her sketches and impressions. In two weeks they will be finished.

Then Margaret will join such notables as President Roosevelt, Albert Einstein ("his hands have such lovely dimples"), Helen Hayes, Fannie Hurst and Dr. Allan DaFoe. All have had their hands done by Miss Shaw.

Miss Shaw reported that Margaret wears colorless nail polish ("Daddy doesn't like colored nails.") And she wore a watch and a bracelet.

This pleased Miss Shaw mightily. She finds bright nail polish and too much jewelry abominable.

"It attracts too much attention," she says.

Mrs. Truman popped in during the sitting, and Miss Shaw got a gander at her hands, too.

Although she wasn't able to give them any prolonged study, she could see at a glance that they were square, with fingers shorter than Margaret's.

"Very active, capable hands," sized up Miss Shaw.

Lewis also released a statement which he has prepared for the wage conference and in which he indicated that he expected the operators to meet his terms eventually if the strike was prolonged.

"We trust that time, as it shrinks your purse, may modify your niggardly and anti-social propensities," he said.

Lewis complained of what he said was the operators' "complacency" and asserted that their "senseless cupidity x x x withholds from the miner the rewards of honorable and perilous exertion."

seed now, however, they have a good opportunity to see all their plants evade damage from probable killing frosts.

Last damage to wheat by frost was in 1938, according to Raymond Knorr, wheat grower near Groom, who holds several titles with the county Agricultural Conservation Agency.

Wheat growing as rapidly as it has during the past few weeks is likely to reach the joint stage soon, County Agent Ralph Thomas said, when frost is more likely to harm the plants.

Before the joint stage temperatures must usually get down to 20 degrees, with moisture, before wheat is damaged.

Freezing temperatures, reports the weather bureau, usually jibe with frosts.

Battle of the Bulges

Pitching Worries New York Giants

NEW YORK—(AP)—Owner Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants says he isn't interested in the "for sale" sign that Brooklyn hung on Senor Mickey Owen, but he is scouting the Majors for more pitching, a right hand hitting outfielder and a utility infielder.

"We have the best catcher in baseball," said Stoneham who bought Walker Cooper from the St. Louis Cardinals for $175,000 during the winter. "Despite all that talk about our trying to buy Owen at Columbus, we never were interested."

Pampa Girl Makes TSCW Varsity Team

DENTON—Miss Beth Bailey of Pampa is one of eight girls who were chosen by a student-faculty committee for the varsity basketball team at Texas State College for Women.

Varsity members were selected for the skill they displayed during the recent inter-dormitory Women's Recreation association basketball tournament.

Miss Bailey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edward Bailey of Pampa.

Army Inducts Tennis Ace From Mustangs

DALLAS—(AP)—It's the army for Kenneth Crawford, Southern Methodist's tennis ace.

Crawford has been inducted and sent to Fort Sam Houston.

Crawford won the southwest conference singles tennis championship for the Mustangs last year and the state TAAAP title.

Even after the introduction of practical friction matches in 1877, they were considered so dangerous that railroads in the United States during the middle 19th century refused to transport them.

Several Grid Prospects, Mostly Inexperienced, Looking Better

By SCOTT RAFFERTY
News Sports Editor

Getting at least two hours of hard work each day, the Pampa Harvesters spring squad, 75 strong, went into its second day of practice yesterday by working on blocking and tackling.

The old tackling dummy was strung up between the goal posts on the east practice field and the blocking machine was set up in readiness for being hit—and hit hard.

Several prospects, most of them inexperienced, have shown indications that they may be in the thick of the battle for starting berths this fall.

Carl Mayes, star dash man for the Harvesters track team, appears a logical choice for a backfield spot, although he was a reserve end last year.

Wayne Davidson, big 210-pound fullback from last year's Gorillas is expected to be a fine fullback candidate for the varsity squad. Bob Boyles, another big back weighing about 215, may be groomed for a line slot but is remarkably agile for his size.

Charley Laffoon, fine quarterback of the Gorillas last year, is expected to be the top candidate for the same position on the Harvesters. Laffoon is fast and a fine passer.

Phillip Anderson and Jimmy Wilson, both lettermen from last year, will be fighting for halfback positions. Anderson is fast and shifty and Wilson displayed some good passing and running qualities, last fall.

Randall Clay, last year's only backfield regular who can return this year, is "keeping in shape" and may decide to play this fall.

In the line, Maurice Lockhart, center, is the only regular certain to return and has really entered into the spirit of practice the first two days.

Virgil Fish, husky guard from last year, is working out regularly and may return this fall.

Other line positions are wide open in last year's tackles. Stan Simpson and Jim Terrell, and End Jack Dunham do not return.

Among the outstanding end prospects are Bill Speer, a reserve last year, and Zeke Griffin, lanky Gorilla end. Gorilla material will have to furnish the guard and tackles if last year's regulars do not return.

Among candidates for these positions are Roscoe Russell, 233 pounds, David Plank, 217 pounds, Charles Thornborrow, Gary Cooper, Glen Car, Bob Montgomery, Ronald Bump and others.

Maurice Lockhart has the center position well in hand and there is also an able reserve in Kelly Anderson.

The Harvesters will have no real game scrimmage this week, according to Coach Otis Coffey, but will start next week in a series of game scrimmages for the public's benefit.

A game with the Harvesters "excess" will probably be played at the end of the spring training period.

Plans to Widen U.S. 66 Highway Are Continuing

SHAMROCK—(Special)—Plans to construct a four-lane highway on U. S. 66 from a point 14 miles west of Shamrock to the Oklahoma state line continue.

J. B. Nabers, district engineer of the State Highway department, was in Shamrock Wednesday afternoon to look over the site and discuss the plans with Mayor Bill Walker.

Nabers stated that he would send an engineer to Shamrock within the next few days to make a survey determining the south line of the present Highway 66 right-of-way.

This south line would be the north line of the original townsite of Shamrock, and the right-of-way required by the State Highway department would be 100 feet north.

Nabers, whose home is in Childress, is of the opinion that very few obstacles, if any, would have to be moved in order to give the clear 100-foot right-of-way.

The proposal is to widen the existing paving in the city of Shamrock to 64 feet in width. Except through Shamrock and Lela, the plan is to build a new pavement 24 feet in width and with a dividing strip, probably 40 feet in width, between the old and new paving.

Nabers told Mayor Walker Wednesday that plans for the project are already being drawn and that actual construction will begin at the earliest possible date.

The project would call for approximately 28 miles of paving, and is a part of the State Highway department's post-war plans to widen, level and straighten U. S. 66 through Texas.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK—(AP)—Last word on basketball... The top high school team in 13 states where they were rated by Dick Dunkel for the scholastic sports institute last winter was Champaign, Ill... Pampa Red Cross Directors Meet

The board of directors of the Pampa Red Cross chapter met Monday night in the city commissary room with Huey Laycock, chapter chairman, presiding.

At this meeting, Mrs. Betty Hastings' resignation as Home Service secretary was presented. Appreciation for the splendid work done by Mrs. Hastings was expressed by Laycock on behalf of the office and the board of directors. Mrs. Hastings has been Home Service secretary since a year ago last March.

The name of Mrs. R. L. Edmonson as production chairman was presented and approved.

Reports for the last three months and future plans for their committees were given by chapter service chairman, H. M. Cone, First Aid chairman, announced that instructor's course will be taught by a representative from St. Louis. Other chapters in this vicinity will be asked to participate.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, Home Nursing chairman, announced that plans are being made for an instructor's course in home nursing, "Six Lessons in the Care of the Sick" which will be held in Pampa in June.

Jack Skelly, Water Safety chairman, stated that preparations are being made to send some good swimmer to the National Aquatic schools which will be held in Texas this summer.

Other reports were given by Mrs. Knox Kinard, Home Service chairman; Mrs. C. E. High, Volunteer Special Service chairman; Mrs. Quertin Williams, Nutrition chairman; and Herman Jones, Junior Red Cross chairman.

Others present at the board meeting were: Lieb Langston, Aubrey Steele, Frank Smith, G. W. Burgess, Mrs. Hastings, Home Service secretary; and Mrs. J. B. White, executive secretary.

Edna and Peggy Will Be Back in Net Tournament

CDONNELL, Tex.—(AP)—Edna Edwards and Peggy Cummins, who started playing tennis as a team back in grade school and since then have lost only two matches—both in the state high school tournament at Austin—hope the third time, as the old adage goes, is the charm.

They will be back in the regional meet at Lubbock next week—back for the last time. If they again hurdle that competition they will go to Austin to try for the state title their third straight year.

Edna and Peggy didn't have a chance at a championship their first season in high school. Because of the war there were no athletics. In their sophomore year they won their way to the state meet and lost to a team that went to the finals.

In their junior year they were defeated by El Paso in the state semifinals. El Paso went on to the championship.

S. P. Johnson, superintendent of schools and coach of the girls since they started in tennis, was asked which was the better player. He declined to select and pointed out these facts:

When the girls were practicing in a singles match at Austin Coach Johnson called quits when the count was 10-10. Another time they played until the score was 13-13 and decided to give it up.

Oilers Play Sox Tomorrow at 4:30

With a 5-4 victory over the Berger Gassers behind them, the Pampa Oilers meet the Amarillo Gold Sox in an exhibition baseball game in Amarillo tomorrow afternoon at 4:30.

The Oilers, Pampa entry in the West Texas-New Mexico league, are training in Elk City, Oklahoma, where they played the Berger Gassers Sunday.

The league season, is to open April 26 and most of the clubs are playing exhibition games until that time.

Amarillo lost to Berger 8-7 yesterday.

Training Camp

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, who have been outitting the Washington Senators pretty regularly, will have to start beating them today if they're to even their spring series. The Nats won, 4-2, on three hits yesterday to take a 4-1 lead in the exhibition series.

FREDERICK, Md.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics resume their series with the Baltimore Orioles here today. The A's had a picnic yesterday at Mercersburg, Pa., where they thumped Mercersburg academy 12-1.

WICHITA, Kans.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, lagging by four games, will send Harry Bithorn against the St. Louis Browns today in the semifinal of their 20-game exhibition marathon. Denny Calehouse will be gunning for the Browns 12th victory over the Cubs. Poe Grace pitched a 13th inning homer to beat the Cubs, 3-2 yesterday and spoil a four-hit stint by Hank Borowy who hurled the first nine frames.

TULSA.—(AP)—Hal Trosky, left-handed power hitter, will try to switch to the first time in years in the Chicago White Sox's winning exhibition feud with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(AP)—Ex-paratrooper Johnny Grodzicki, who still wears a steel brace on his right leg while pitching as a result of a wound suffered in Germany, will pitch a scheduled to make his 1946 debut on the mound for the St. Louis Cardinals today against the Oklahoma City Indians. He is slated to relieve Harry Brecheen, a native Oklahoman, who will start for the Red Birds.

WICHITA, Kans.—(AP)—For the first time since his short-lived jump to the Mexican league, Vern Stephenson was returned to the shortstop position with the St. Louis Browns yesterday in the exhibition contest with the Chicago Cubs. Mark Christman, who hadn't been doing so badly himself at the post, was moved over to his old headquarters at third base.

Quaker City Hurler Has Two No-Hitters

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Charlie Aurandt, a 17-year-old William Penn high school student, today was hailed in Pennsylvania scholastic sports circles for hurling his second no-hit, no-run game.

The youthful sensation, in four games this season, has allowed no runs in 26 innings pitched. He has allowed a total of three hits; walked three, and struck out 57 of 86 men he has faced.

BELLIGERENT PEACE-MAKING

It is easy to point out discrepancies between Prime Minister Stalin's mild and encouraging statement on world peace and the external appearance of Russian foreign policy.

It is easy to say that "the principle of equality of states" in the U.N., which Mr. Stalin cited as the source of United Nations' strength, is contradicted in the Security Council by the Big Five and their veto power, which Russia insistently demanded and won.

It can be suggested that the "current fear of war" of which Stalin spoke, was not solely the product of anti-Russian propagandists. It can be argued that frankness, co-operation, and exemplary political behavior among world governments is a better means of securing the peace than is the counter-propaganda against war mongers which Mr. Stalin suggested.

But to advance these arguments would be to accomplish nothing except the creation of new doubts and suspicions. It seems to us that it is more intelligent to take Mr. Stalin's heartening opinions at their face value.

In the first place, Prime Minister Stalin is the man who calls the signals in Russia. When he speaks, the world listens to the voice of Soviet policy. The policy changes sharply from time to time, but the voice retains its authority.

Secondly, Mr. Stalin has put himself on record in unequivocal fashion with his forthright reply to the questions of an American correspondent. He surely realizes that the world will hold him accountable now for any deviation from his proclamation of faith in the United Nations.

What, then, are we to make of all the Russian saber-rattling, of the disturbing Russian activity in Iran and Manchuria, of Mr. Stalin's thunderous "campaign speech" a few weeks ago of the many examples of evident reluctance which have marked Russia's past participation in the U.N.?

The only ready explanation would seem to be that Russia is set to work for international peace and security in the most belligerent manner possible. It could be that she has meant all along to give ground where the non-Russian world has held her policies to be wrong and dangerous, but that she has contrived to do it in such a manner as to make it seem that she is making a magnanimous gesture after being grievously misunderstood, put upon, and conspired against.

Where other governments take a step toward world security with a positive show of good will, perhaps the USSR, with the old wounds of slights and suspicions still smarting beneath the armor of her present military might, has seen fit to take the same step only after some fearsome oratory and sword-waving.

All this is conjecture, and perhaps illogical. But it must seem about as logical to the average non-Russian mind as do some of the recent inconsistencies of Soviet foreign policy. We hope devoutly that the conjecture is true, and that, for the sake of the world's peace of mind, Russia will labor in the future toward the common goal of peace without so many off-stage alarms and excursions.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

"Whoever is found what is called a national government, there is found statehood. It has been discovered that the way to insure it is in the nursery." Benjamin Disraeli.

'Barney' Baruch Says One Thing; Advocates Another

There are very few people who do not say they believe in free enterprise, the capitalist system, the American way of life. But very few people, indeed, actually believe in free enterprise or the competitive system.

Of course if we are to determine whether a man believes in free enterprise or not, we will have to define freedom. Freedom is not license. It does not give a man the right to lie, steal or kill. That is anarchy.

Freedom is impersonal laws of human relations. It was best summed up by Rose Wilder Lane when she said, "Freedom is self-control; no more, no less."

Freedom gives a man the right to use his initiative, to create wealth and freely exchange it, the right to have ideas and freely exchange them. It does not give the right to use force to make any man do anything. It gives a man the right to use force only to prevent another from taking his property without giving him what he regards as equal value.

BARUCH AN EXAMPLE OF CONFUSION

Associated Press dispatch quotes Bernard M. Baruch as telling a House committee that the National Association of Manufacturers "really does not know what it is asking for" in demanding an end to price control. Then Baruch goes on to say:

"You just take off these controls now and see what happens. As a business man I would dislike to see it, and I am a control man; I am a free enterprise man, but we have got to keep a steady hand to save free enterprise."

Words evidently have no meaning to Mr. Baruch or those people who say they believe in free enterprise and then advocate any form whatsoever of price control or subsidy. Any man who believes in tariffs, in the government lending money, in the government attempting to establish values, has no conception of what free enterprise really means. His words are only jargon.

Price control is a natural result of tax-supported education institutions. In fact, public schools are just an attempt to have price ceilings on schooling. They are an attempt to keep the price of schooling down at a level that it would be on a free market basis.

And when most people believe in tax-supported schools, it is easy to step from that form of price ceiling to another and another and another.

Free enterprise means freedom. It is the opposite of force and compulsion. Recent history shows that force and compulsion that does not make it comply with freedom or free enterprise. A man is free unless he gets all his things done. He does not do a thing voluntarily when somebody takes away his wealth from him with-

CAA Issues 103 Student Permits

HOT CASH

DECATUR, Ill.—(AP)—After a fire destroyed C. T. Durbin's house he poked around the ruins and found two pieces of iron pipe which had been part of his cash box and which contained $2,400 in currency.

He took the pipes to a Decatur bank and some charred material in pipes were sent to the federal treasury with the proper claim filed.

Treasury experts identified the charred bills and have authorized the bank to credit $2,400 to Durbin's account.

In many parts of the United States, until the time of the Revolution, men were fined and imprisoned for speaking in public.

out his consent. He is to that degree a slave.

For the government to restrain a man from exchanging his labor for money is a form of slavery. It is the very antithesis of free enterprise, even if Bernard Baruch says he is for free enterprise.

Mr. Baruch does not seem to have the faintest conception of the cause of rising prices. He seems to believe that we can print unlimited dollars or unlimited bonds, which are convertible into dollars, and we can arbitrarily make these dollars exchange for real wealth that requires labor to produce.

If Mr. Baruch is sound and we can control prices and still get the goods, why not make the price of an automobile a dollar or a pound of butter a penny? The way to test a theory is to enlarge or reduce it. If it is sound in principle it can be multiplied or diminished. If it is not sound in principle, it will appear ridiculous.

Evidently Mr. Baruch has not read history. Attempts to control prices, even with people being put to death for violation, have been tried many, many times throughout history and have never, never worked. It is amazing that a man with the standing of Mr. Baruch should be so confused as he seems to be.

If any man wants to become informed on the end results of price control, let him read "The Crisis of the Free Market" published in December, 1945, and written by F. A. Harper of Cornell University. This book shows beyond the shadow of a doubt that price control means less production and thus a lower standard of living.

The booklet can be had at the office of the newspaper in which this is published for 25 cents. If someone buys it and does not think it is worth 25 cents, the money will be refunded. The regular price is 75 cents. It is distributed without profit because this column believes that if people do not come to understand that price control means loss of freedom, we will continue to lose our freedom without knowing we are doing so.

MEATLEGGERS—Spoken for by the meat industry have given members of the congressional committee private information on the two billion dollar black market which may determine the fate of the office of price administration.

The data are far more damaging to the case for retention of federal ceilings on meat than were the recent revelations of approximately 80 percent overcharging in eleven key cities. The fact that Washington, where two surveys were made, was a principal victim of the meatleggers bothers the M. Cs. and their wives.

A week ago, according to testimony which Paul Porter and Chester Bowles must refer before the house agriculture and banking and currency committees, the "Big Four" among the packers—Armour, Swift, Cudahy and Wilson—sent their buyers to the Kansas City stockyards to purchase beef.

They had no luck. Although they are experienced dealers and well-known to the handlers of cattle, they could obtain only 1,000 of 10,000 head. The balance went to black marketeers whose excessively high bids not even the very opinion "Big Four" could afford to match.

TOLL—The nation's legitimate meat men have told members that illicit dealers exact from the consumers a thirty percent tribute as against the one cent of every dollar of meat sold which they keep as profit in normal times. In dinner table terms a cut of fine beef that should cost about $1.01 if handled by the regular trade, now runs to $1.30 or more.

The meat industry is about a four billion dollar business in normal years. The books of the "Big Four" show that they are now handling half this amount, but they are making half the amount which the black marketeers have made under OPA controls. It is estimated that the extra toll taken from buyers—with or without their knowledge—adds up to about one and a half billion dollars annually.

WASTE—Greatest loss perhaps, is the waste which results from fly-by-night handlers of meat. Their careless and get-rich-quick methods account for the continued shortages of soups, oils and fats, hides and other subsidiary products.

Whereas the commercial packers use every portion of the hog save the squeal, the meatleggers have no personal or facilities for capitalizing on anything except the better cuts of the animal. They throw at least a third of a steer, a lamb or a hog into their vast garbage piles.

OPA dispates these figures and facts. But the meat people, if necessary, will present the housewives, the expert weighers and graders who participated in the survey. Incidentally, the study was made in the following cities:

New York, Newark, Providence, Washington, Chicago, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Memphis, Houston, Denver, and Los Angeles. The investigation cost the industry more than $1,000,000, but they figure that the disclosures were worth the expense.

TIME—The "Big Four's" Washington delegates have been quite frank in urging opposition to extension of OPA controls after the June 30 expiration date. They do not promise that they will reduce prices overnight if existing ceilings are removed. Here is their forecast on meat supplies and costs under their program:

Prices will remain at the present black market level for perhaps six or eight months, and they may go higher. Overvaluation will be due to such factors as high purchasing power, natural shortages in the meat supply, scarcity of farm help and the feeding of Europe. But they believe that the industry, which is highly competitive, can reduce costs at least twenty or thirty percent within a year.

It is the time element on prospective increases or reductions in the cost of meat that leads democratic political economists to demand retention of OPA controls.

"Bob" Hannegan fears that the expected increase in the cost of this key article of American diet may reach its peak at the time of the November congressional election. And he fears that any bulge in beef and other animal products may enable the G. O. P. to capture the house, perhaps the senate.

OUT—Harold E. Stassen won no friends among inner circle republicans at the recent Washington meeting of the national committee. A friendly and generous estimate gives the former Minnesota governor and Wilkieite no more than six supporters in the influential body.

Although not a member of the party organization, the 1948 presidential hopeful was ubiquitous in hotel-lobbies, held press conferences and gave all-the-record denunciations of the "reactionaries who control our party."

Although prior arrangements had been made for election of representative Bravilla Carroll Reece (he doesn't like the "Brazilia") as a successor to National Chairman Herbert E. Brownell, Jr., Tom Dewey's boy Friday, Mr. Stassen felt it he known that the ideal candidate for the post, in his opinion, was former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts.

"When are you getting out of the country, Harold?"

The tone of the queries suggested that they wished he would "get out" quickly—and stay out!

HOLLYWOOD, (NEA)—Hollywood's veteran showman, Sid Grauman, tells it as he himself.

When he opened his first theater in Los Angeles, Grauman's Million Dollar, he was just a kid, with his father overseeing things behind the scenes. With Papa's approval, Sid cooked up a super-colossal opening show—a movie, an orchestra in the pit, a stage show, a couple of shorts and the personal appearance of Fatty Arbuckle.

Everything went fine except that Arbuckle failed to show up. Head bowed, Sid went out on the stage and apologetically explained Arbuckle's absence. Then a voice boomed down from the balcony: "That's all right, Sid, you've given us enough already."

There was a moment's silence, and then the audience whistled, applauded, and cheered. Sid bowed off a happy man.

Later, backstage, he enthusiastically told his father what had happened.

"I know," grunted Papa Grauman, unimpressed. "It was the fellow who yelled at you from up in the balcony."

For some time now, producers and directors at M-G-M have been congratulating Selena Royle on a great scene she did with Van Johnson, as his mother, in the picture, "No Love, No Love."

Maybe you remember it—Van had been overseas for that dramatic scene. Selena went to New York to meet him on his return. They met in a hotel lobby. She saw him walk in the door and they rushed to embrace, tearfully.

Selena told us she had a confession to make about that dramatic scene. "It wasn't all acting," she laughed. Van Johnson was standing on my feet—all 165 pounds of him. Believe me, some of those tears in my eyes were from pain—NOT from pathos."

Firms Seeking Men Should Contact USES

Employers seeking to hire one, two or more men are urged to contact the United States Employment Service office as jobs in Pampa may currently be supplied by small firms, said L. P. Fort, manager of the local USES office, this morning.

Fort said that many of the firms in large numbers are now evidently completely supplied with the majority of their labor demands at this time. Therefore the smaller firms and businesses must be depended on to hold the labor market in this area on its own.

The job campaign of the USES is following the above lines of action, said Fort, who added that the office will try to fill all openings given by employers.

Association Votes to Withhold Sale of Milk

CORPUS CHRISTI, (AP)—Directors of the Coastal Bend Milk Producers' association have voted to withhold all sales of milk in this shed April 15 if the OPA does not make price revisions.

The directors said the action would be taken unless the OPA agrees to remove price ceilings in areas where a deficit of fluid milk exists and recombined milk is used at prices exceeding Grade A.

SUSIE was curled up in front of the library fire, reading, and Ann was restless. She really felt exhausted. There had been too much emotion of conflicting interests in the last 24 hours. The dream—if it was a dream—about Jock had been a pretty shattering experience, and when it was followed by Colin's offer of divorce, that she could counter only by the news of her pregnancy, it had brought her to a point of tension that was almost unbearable.

Now, although she wondered a little about Jock—wondered how badly he was hurt, and if he would leave the hospital only to go to jail on a manslaughter charge, that was not her first concern. It was as if that psychic interval, frightening in itself, were the climax of their long relationship—a culmination that had strangely broken the spell that bound them, and left her indifferent, as though Jock were a stranger, or someone she had known so long ago it was almost a bad memory. The most important aspect of it now was Ann, and how he felt.

When the doorbell rang, she brightened. Perhaps it was Joan. Of course she couldn't talk to Joan about any of this, but her very presence would be comforting.

It was Mrs. Bedelle. "Dear God," Ann said inwardly, reproachfully, "haven't I enough to bear already?" "Aloof she said, "How nice. Won't you come in?" "Good morning, Mrs. Drake. You'll forgive my informal hour for calling, won't you? I'm so rushed, and I thought I really must come to see you and find out how you were getting along."

"I'm well, thank you. May I take your coat? There's a hint of fall in the air already, isn't there?" Mrs. Bedelle was looking about her with quick, birdlike glances,

Chief Faults Radio Comedy Pointed Out

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Perhaps you too have noticed that Fred Allen's radio comedy is not so hilarious as when he first spilled on the radio scene. The reason, I think, is because the senator's routine follows the self-made pattern every week. And therein lies the chief fault of radio comedy.

Too many comics develop a formula and then work it to death week after week, year after year. Now if Allen would provide new punch lines and situations, he could create life insurance for the wheezing filibuster. Kenny Delmar, that is.

Eugene List interrupts his acting in "The Bachelor's Daughter" to play with the Philadelphia Symphony in Washington tomorrow night. He may play for President Truman again, too. Katharine Hepburn resisted an offer to buy a new car. She prefers her 1938 convertible, which she bought only because she couldn't get parts for her 1930 jalopy. . . . Nominated for the worst musical score of the year: "The Outlaw" . . . Lynn Bari will have another tonsil operation after "Home Sweet Homicide" . . . It was Clark Gable who tipped Mickey Rooney to buy the Leo Spitz ranch.

In the film palaces: "Devotion" (WB—106 minutes) is a devoted biography of the writing Bronte sisters. Aided by expert performances by Lynn Lupino, Olivia de Havilland, Paul Henreid and Arthur Kennedy, it is one of the few fine screen treatments of literary personalities.

"Life With Father" is Irene Dunne's first color picture. . . . The fat man and the thin man met for the first time on the Warners lot—Sidney Greenstreet and William Powell.

The brain is a hollow organ, the inside of which consists of chambers communicating with one another and filled with a fluid secreted by a network of nerves.

What a charming place you have! So simple and homelike."

MRS. BEDELLE produced a capacious knitting bag, and looked for a comfortable chair. Ann suggested that the room were warmer, and led her in there. She got her settled in the softest chair, and looked for her own knitting, calling down silent imprecations on women—disliked women—who paid calls in the morning.

"Where is the child?" Mrs. Bedelle asked, looking around as though expecting to see Susie crouched beneath a chair.

"Susie? She's reading in the library."

"I think it's so noble of you and Mr. Drake to adopt her. Do you realize what a wonderful thing you are doing for her?"

"I hadn't thought of it that way. We're doing something rather nice for ourselves," Ann said, gently.

"It's taking such a risk, though—no knowing anything of her ancestry."

"We believe in environment conquering heredity, any day. Offering tea to one odds, if you're interested," she added wickerly.

Mrs. Bedelle clucked, and said, "So amusing!"

Ann wondered a little at Mrs. Bedelle's change of heart. She seemed determined to be friendly.

"If I killed her, Ann thought. Mrs. Bedelle said inwardly, reproachfully, "haven't I enough to bear already?" "Aloof she said, "How nice. Won't you come in?" "Good morning, Mrs. Drake. You'll forgive my informal hour for calling, won't you? I'm so rushed, and I thought I really must come to see you and find out how you were getting along."

"I'm well, thank you. May I take your coat? There's a hint of fall in the air already, isn't there?" Mrs. Bedelle was looking about her with quick, birdlike glances,

"ANN," Susie said after her visitor had left, "let's have a wienie roast at the beach. We haven't done that for ages." It was fun eating smoky hot dogs and pickles and olives and potato salad alongside a bright fire. Susie was a good companion anyway. Susie was really rather a swell person. That brought Ann to the point of asking her something. "By the way, kid, what are you taking up at school?" "Home Ec. I guess," Susie answered, through her hot dog. "It might as well. Then, if I live to, I can always teach it."

"If you have to? What did you have in mind?" "Well, what I really want is to get married and have a flock of kids," Susie replied. "Ann regarded her with some amusement. Susie looked such an infant—especially so with a dab of mustard placed, in an excess of zeal, on her tip-tilted nose. "Got the prospective husband and father picked out?" she inquired.

"Sure," Susie answered. "He doesn't know it, but that's all right. He'll find out. That's why I've got to get myself educated so he won't think I'm just another little dope."

"You're rather a dear little dope, at that," Ann answered affectionately.

They lingered a long while on the beach, after lunch. Ann had brought down a robe to lie on, and a couple of pillows, and it was comfortable there, in the lee of the hill, the sun shining but not hot. Ann smoked and listened to Susie talk. She talked a lot about her clothes, about what college would be like, about whether or not she would have fun at dances.

"I'm quite a good dancer, you know, Ann, she said seriously. "Even Alan" said so.

"Even Alan—who's he to talk? I never noticed that he was so swell. He's too big to be a really good dancer. Colin's much better."

"Oh well," Susie said

'Jerry-Built' Houses Are Big Nuisances to Buyers

In a timely warning to returned Pampa veterans and other prospective home owners, Fire Chief Ben White today urged local residents to beware of the post war "jerry-built" house.

"Too many families are concentrating only on appearances and arrangement of their new homes," says Chief White, "and neglecting one of the most important considerations of all—fire safety. Make for safety the cornerstone of your new home and choose the local architect and builder that agree with your requirement that common sense fire safety as well as livability be considered in the planning of your new home."

The chief called upon all Pampa residents planning new or renovated homes to provide for ample space requirements for safe installation of heating appliances and fuel storage which he said are as essential as adequate space for family comfort in living room, bedroom and kitchen. Closet space and storage room should be large enough to reduce congestion and to promote good housekeeping," he continued, "and second floors should be equipped with some means of exit, such as a garage or porch room, in case of fire emergency."

The fire chief recommended careful inspection during the construction period to prevent poor workmanship or possible substitution of inferior materials and equipment.

"It is particularly important that chimneys, heating ducts and electrical wiring, which will be concealed in walls, partitions and ceilings, are inspected for compliance with plans and specifications before they are closed in," Chief White emphasized.

One of the most essential fire safety measures, according to Pampa's fire chief is design and installation of an adequate, safe electrical wiring system in accordance with the provisions of the National Fire Protection Association's National Electrical Code.

Local Red Cross To Aid Families Going Overseas

The Pampa Red Cross chapter is prepared to assist dependents of servicemen who plan to join military personnel overseas, in the same manner the Red Cross now is aiding foreign dependents of American servicemen, according to Hueyn Laycock, chairman of the local chapter. Informational service will be available for servicemen's dependents who are making the trip, the chairman said, in keeping with the Red Cross obligation toward the dependents of army and navy men.

Travel of dependents to Europe will begin in April, the chairman said. Travel to the Philippines, Japan, Korea, and the Ryukus islands will commence some time after May 1. Dependents now are authorized to travel to the Bahamas, the Panama Canal Zone, and the islands of the Antilles, Brazil, Bermuda, Newfoundland, Alaska, the Aleutian Islands, Hawaii, and the Marianas.

Travel of dependents is authorized under a priority system for government transportation based upon the length of time military personnel are willing to spend overseas and cumulative overseas service since Dec. 7, 1941. Laycock added that dependents may not proceed at their own or government expense or via government transportation to a destination outside the continental United States without prior permission from the appropriate overseas commander. The commander, according to a recent war department statement, will not grant permission until assured of adequate housing, food, and medical care for the newcomers.

The Pampa chapter chairman advised dependents wishing to join servicemen overseas not to write to the war department requesting transportation.

"In all cases, the soldier overseas will be informed when he may apply for such transportation by the theater commander who alone can act upon the applications," Laycock concluded. "The local Red Cross chapter will be glad to furnish any more available information and all possible aid to those dependents wishing to join American servicemen overseas."
