Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

CAIRO, March 11.—(AP)—American girls looking for an interesting postwar career might take a tip from Gladys Entekin, who is talent-scouting for flight hostesses to fly the World Air Lines.

Gladys, who is chief hostess of TWA's international division, is one of the original "glamor girls of the clouds" and is still going strong after 10 years of shepherding nervous passengers across the skyways.

Since she joined the first TWA hostess class late in 1935 she has spent more than 8,000 hours of her attractive life in the air and flown some 1,500,000 miles.

"I am the only one of that original class left," she said. Most of the rest became casualties — to marriage. Most hostesses stay about one year in the service before they leave to the lure of the wedding ring.

Gladys is petite, blue-eyed and dark-haired, and had to stand up very straight to make the old airline minimum of five feet one inch to get her first job. She weighed 98 pounds then. Now she is up to 112, but no unbiased observer would say it was a pound too much.

Today Gladys would have difficulty in landing a job as flight hostess, because with the advent of sleeper planes they looked for taller girls.

Gladys says fear of accidents affects them little after the first few flights. She herself has never even been in an emergency landing.

During the war she served as a flight nurse in the army air corps and rose to the rank of captain. She was stationed for 20 months at Natal, Brazil, but never had been to Europe or Africa until she undertook her present "looksee" trip.

Gladys thinks hosting on domestic airlines is a "cut and dried" proposition compared to overseas flying, and believes the new jobs offer girls the prospects of interesting adventure as well as a chance to see the world on the cuff.

At present she is recruiting all her hostesses from the domestic service, on a seniority basis, because she thinks girls should have experience in traveling before serving overseas. But operations are expanding so rapidly that this has become something of a problem.

Her chief obstacles are boy friends.

Anglo-American Treaty Opposed by Texas Operators

HOUSTON, Tex., March 11.—(AP)—Texas oil operators opposed to the Anglo-American oil treaty have charged that Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum administrator, is "the spokesman for the small, select group of oil companies which own vast concessions in the middle east."

The accusation was made in a statement by D. W. Hovey, chairman, and G. Sanderford, co-chairman of the state-wide committee of oil operators opposed to senate ratification of the Anglo-American petroleum treaty.

It was issued in reply to one made in Washington yesterday by Davies in which he charged that opposition to the oil pact was "organized and none too scrupulous."

The Texans said that "Davies has taken up the fight where Harold Ickes, ousted secretary of the interior, was forced to leave off."

California Cattle Man Says West Texas Livestock Industry Gaining Importance

EL PASO, March 8.—The Pacific coast will call "more and more on West Texas and New Mexico for livestock supplies both for slaughter and replacements," J. W. "Tel" Condon told the Southwestern Livestock show today.

Condon, of Washburn and Condon, Los Angeles livestock market agency, has been named auctioneer for the 17th annual Southwestern Livestock show, which opens March 20 in El Paso. He has been active in the livestock industry in this part of the country since 1922 and is well known in Texas and New Mexico.

About 2000 entries are expected in the Southwestern Livestock show. Members of the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H clubs will show an array of fat calves, breeding sheep, fat lambs and swine that will make up an outstanding junior show.

"My interest in the Future Farmers and 4-H clubs is throughout the future as a region depends of course primarily on interest in your part of the country. I shall be only too glad to help our young people as much as I can."

A new feature of the El Paso show is the immediate payment of premiums right after the judging. Certificates of award will be mailed to the winners after the show.

Courage and Cooperation Needed If South Is To Be Industrially Strong

By THURMAN SENSING
Director of Research
Southern States Industrial Council

Everything considered, it may safely be said that the South has now reached the point where its future as a region depends entirely upon the courage and cooperation of its people.

In other words, it is not material resources that the South needs; it is simply vision and willingness to work together for the common good.

For many years the South lacked material resources. Suffering defeat in a civil war some eight years ago, the only region of our country which has ever had such an experience, the South at that time lost practically all its invested capital and most of its manpower. Its land was ravaged and its property destroyed. Moreover, the days of reconstruction were littered with the South received aid from outside sources. There was nothing for the South like UNRRA or lend lease, such as we were familiar with now. The people of the South had to start from scratch.

The truth of this situation is readily realized when it is noted that the south's share of the nation's wealth dropped from 39 per cent in 1850 to 14 per cent in 1870. Accumulated capital, once lost, is slowly regained; yet much of the prosperity of a people comes from investment capital and venture capital.

During these eighty years, much money has been poured into the South from outside regions, not by persons interested particularly in what they could do for the South but by persons interested only in what they could get out of the South. These investments paid good dividends, we all know. That such funds will continue to be available for the profits they can yield is unquestionable.

However, the South itself has now reached a stage where its own people can make of the region what they wish. The South has always had all the natural resources in raw materials, in forests, and minerals, and soil and climate and people necessary of sound and enduring prosperity. It now has largely regained its lost capital and it also now has the skilled labor and "know-how" in management with which to make its assets for prosperity complete. The South can no longer rely upon the lack of any of these material resources. If the South shall much longer remain a below par region in any respect, its people can only blame such conditions upon their own lack of willingness or courage to utilize their own assets and upon their reluctance to cooperate or work together for the best interests of the region as a whole.

Southern capital should not hesitate to throw itself wholeheartedly into the development of the South in preference to being invested outside the region, not only because such use will place the South under control of Southerners but also because the prospects for returns from the investment are better than anywhere else in the land. Southern management should grasp the many opportunities offered now in the South. Southern training and education should remain in the South.

show will also include exhibits of Palomino and quarter horses, poultry and rabbits. Total premiums have been increased to $12,000.

The Southwestern championship rodeo will be held in conjunction with the livestock show. The Parade de Rancheros and a sponsored cowgirl contest are other features.

National cattle breeding organizations are participating, and the winners after the show.

Detailed Report On Cause, Effect Of Increase Given

Refiners will be required to absorb the 10 cent a barrel increase in ceiling prices for crude oil at the producer level, the office of price administration states in a detailed report.

Therefore no price changes to the public are contemplated at this time. However, such absorption and its effect on prices to the public for petroleum products will be the subject of meetings between OPA and the National Refiners' Industry advisory committee, to begin at once.

Effective this month Official action granting the ten-cent increase to producers, the industry-wide raise granted by OPA to crude oil producers, will become effective some time during the last half of March.

The increase, based on a prospective 1946 production of 1,500,000,000 barrels of crude oil, will mean an additional $150,000,000 to oil producers annually. The national average selling price for crude oil at present is approximately $12.3 a barrel.

OPA said the increase will be authorized under the agency's emergency powers and is mandatory under the price control act.

Data submitted by OPA's national crude oil industry advisory committee show that higher costs of producers for wages, finding and developing crude oil, deeper drilling and production cut-backs have reduced their earnings to the extent that a large segment of the industry will not be able to maintain 1935-1939 base earnings without a price increase.

Information available at this date to OPA justifies an immediate increase of at least ten cents a barrel to keep industry earnings generally from falling below the 1935-1939 level, the agency said. However, a further cost study will be made at once, and if this study shows the ten cent increase is inadequate to maintain the industry's 1935-1939 earnings, a further increase will have to be made.

INDUSTRY RECOMMENDS 35 CENTS The National Crude Oil Industry Advisory committee recommended an industry-wide increase of 35 cents a barrel.

OPA said the committee based this recommendation on so-called "replacement costs," comparing replacement values by relating current capital charges to the discovery of new oil reserves during the same year.

OPA said it is contrary to the agency's policy to base price increases on such replacement values. The ten cent increase, however, is in line with the results shown by the industry's own accounting practice, which relates current operating costs to current production.

In stating that refiners will be required to absorb the price increase OPA pointed out that the refining industry's earnings are assured of earnings equal to the 1935-1939 level under the law. If the industry can show that the increase is pulling its earnings below the 1935-1939 level, the agency must act to correct that condition.

Refiners at present are generally producing all major products except gasoline at capacity. In addition, demand for export is increasing.

For these two reasons, OPA said, small high-cost refiners who experience operating losses because of the full absorption requirements may be able to benefit from individual adjustments of their ceiling prices for products sold either directly to industrial users or for export and which do not enter the general competitive field where an individual raising of prices is not practicable.

OPA said further that it is considering whether to continue in effect recent temporary price ceiling increases allowed in most parts of the country on kerosene and heating oils, which are scheduled to expire on April 30 or June 30, 1946.

These increases, amounting to half a cent a gallon in the Eastern Seaboard, Gulf Coast and Middle West districts, and 3/4 cent a gallon on the Pacific coast, do not apply to crude oil producers, being only on the refined products of kerosene and heating oils.

OPA said that these increases have particularly helped the small high-cost refiners who in certain instances might find it difficult to absorb the ten cent crude oil increase. It is possible, OPA said, that a determination of the over-all refiners' position will be available before the temporary increases expire.

Lessees Ruled Equal Well Drilling Rights

AUSTIN, March 11.—(AP)—Equal rights of two lessees of an oil tract in the Hawkins townsite were described by the attorney general in an opinion that overruled a previous holding.

The first lessee has no prior rights to drill a well, the ruling said.

The tract in question involves four lots, subdivided after the discovery of oil into two leases. Only one well can be drilled on the tract—and that only under an exception to the railroad commission's rule 37, which provides that no more than one well can be drilled per 20 acres.

If one lessee applies, and the commission finds that the best location for a well is on his portion, the application for a well may be granted and "is not reviewable unless shown to be arbitrary," the attorney general held.

But if the best location is on the other part of the tract, the commission should take no action until requested to do so by the owner of that part.

He got more than a score of offers placed to call home for my wife and shortly after the ad appeared.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardinal, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken as a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, add function, and help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!

Color Accents Used to Camouflage New Spring Suits

Spring suits designed to camouflage figure faults employ adroit use of color accents and silhouette changes. The black and beige-gray gabardine suit, left, has a medium-flared tunic coat to hide wide hips. The too-short woman appears taller in the navy-blue worsted suit, center, with its high-placed yoke and sleeves of contrasting rose-red. Light pink stripes slashing the long torso jacket of the black gabardine suit, right, help normalize the top-heavy figure.

By EPISE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK.—If you have one of the three common figure faults—heavy bust, wide hips or pint-sized stature—which you think ruins the suit out of your wardrobe, you're not up on the camouflaging tricks that fool the public.

But you can learn them and name your suit, thanks to Molly, the only woman designer to match talents with men in an all-masculine suit-and-cloak field.

For the figure with the heavy bust, Molly shows the dark suit with straps of color incised strategically in two parallel lines to lead eyes all the way down a long torso jacket. The effect created is the illusion of an average bust. The figure fault of the woman whose bust is both heavy and low-placed is masked by a jacket which employs these color strips plus built-out shoulders.

During a short business session, Molly, without plunking them out to look like a full-dress admiral's.

SLIMMING SWALLOWTAIL

You can have wide hips, wear a suit and fool your public, according to Molly, if your choice of a jacket is a slimming swallowtail or a flaring tunic coat. The more illusory with a jacket gives at the top—Molly names discreetly widened shoulders and wide-spaced color decoys that lead the eyes across as the best devices to pick—the less wide your hips will look by comparison.

The too-short figure, allegedly dwarfed by a suit-jacket as Alice-in-Wonderland's cake, can be made to look taller than it actually is by a vertically-striped suit. By forcing the eye to travel long lines up and down, the illusion of more height is put across.

As good a trick as this, and less obvious, is a dark suit with a bright yoke or V-inserts of color. Placed this high on the suit, as a point of focus, color has the effect of lengthening the distance for the traveling eye.

Gracie Reports

Well, I see that an anthropologist say that people are doing too much thinking. And they'd better slow down before the tops of their heads grow too large and the bottoms of their faces too small. Goodness! I think he's unnecessarily alarmed, thinking hasn't hurt my looks any, and I do it two or three times every day.

Personally, I think this anthropologist is a little bit off on facts. If the part of the anatomy we think with gets bigger, some of our leading politicians would never find a hat that was small enough, and their jaws would be developed like prizefighters.

No, I can't swallow this theory that the more we think the less attractive we get. According to this, Van Johnson would be terribly stupid, Charles Boyer even more so, and Clark Gable an absolute moron.

POKER FACE

Washington's Congressman Coffee wants to know if the forthcoming atom bomb tests are designed "to intimidate the Russians." The answer is No.

Russia is a land power, not naval. These tests are primarily naval. They are to determine what an atom bomb will do to warcraft and what naval strategists ought to do about the atom bomb.

If Russia were not intimidated by what happened to Hiroshima and Nagasaki, these tests will not worry her. If she was so intimidated, then Heaven protect us against playing stud poker with Joe Stalin.

OPINION GRATIS

Swedish stone quarries are said still to be working on a granite victory monument for Adolf Hitler, ordered in 1940, on which $500,000 of the contract price remains unpaid. They have engaged a prominent international lawyer to advise their chances of collecting this bill.

We are not a prominent lawyer, nor are we clairvoyant. We cannot legally charge for an opinion. So we give it free. We suggest that those Hitler is, even Swedish granite would melt before Der Fuehrer could pass judgment on the workmanship.

They would not expect him to pay unless he liked the job, would they?

MANCHURIAN MACHINERY

Major-General Andrei Kovtoun-Stankevitch says sure, he has taken factory machinery from Mukden to Russia. It was quite legal. The Big Three approved it at Yalta or Berlin or maybe somewhere else—he isn't quite sure where.

Nobody else has popped up to tell where such an agreement was okayed. And in fact it probably doesn't matter much. Because one thing is certain—Russia is not going to return the machinery. If China ever gets it back it will be from the United States.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

Super Colossal Concoct

Here is a statement made by Chester Bowles when called to appear before a Senate subcommittee on price control. This is one of the things he said:

"There is probably more fairness of income distribution in our economy today than at any previous point in our economic history."

"For him to make that statement publicly after he had been given authority to try to control prices shows Mr. Bowles' super egoism, his stupendous colossal conceit."

He evidently thinks that he is wiser than all the people in the country in helping establish values. He evidently thinks that men should not be free to exchange the fruits of their labor for what they can get each and every day in the United States better than they are entitled to receive for their labor than all the people in the United States can tell. That is about the belief that Hitler had. It is about the belief that Stalin or any dictator has.

When the Great Teacher was asked to speak to a man's brother about dividing his estate, he said, "Who made me a divider over you?"

Bowles is perfectly willing to be the divider over every man in the United States. He is perfectly willing to try to do for everybody what Jesus refused to try to do between two men.

He is perfectly willing to use the force of the State to determine how the total production should be divided and says "there is probably more fairness of income distribution" since he has been dividing it than there ever was in peace time when all the people were free to exchange the price of any item they thought was inordinately high. One mind has become greater than the total economic wisdom of all the consumers in the country.

This is certainly a case of how giving unearned economic power to a man by political appointment goes to his head and causes him to lose all sense of proportion as to the value of his wisdom.

As the Wall Street Journal says, "He seems to conceive it is his (price control) function to operate so that income distribution will meet his ideas of fairness." Price control in this manner is the old Divine-Right-of-Kings idea that the king can do no wrong.

Why, you Dirty Fascist!
The Wall Street Journal very aptly shows the condition that is coming to pass in America by the following statement:

"So when you can't buy a shirt or a suit of clothes, cheer up. Remember you are getting your fair share of the income. You have social justice and what more do you want, you pleader for special interest, you lobbyist, you profiteer? Perhaps you even want some butter. Whiv, you dirty Fascist!"

So They Say

When our wounded were in hospitals overseas the Red Cross was there. Now that they're in hospitals here at home, the Red Cross is still with them. Though the war is over, our men need the Red Cross as much as ever.

Maj.-Gen. Norman T. Kirk, Army Surgeon General.

Some people seem to think that if you drop an atomic bomb somewhere near a fleet everything in the area will be sunk. On the basis of what I know about Hiroshima, I don't think that will happen.

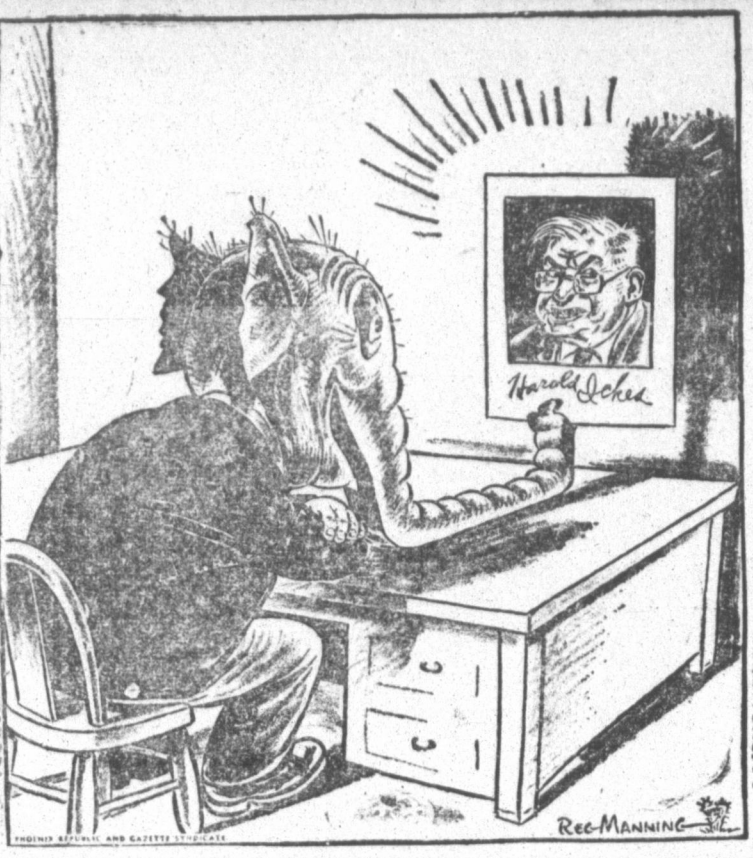

Adm. John H. Towers.

It is time for us to indicate to the hungry people in other lands that we are actually trying to do something for them.

Agriculture Secretary Clinton P. Anderson.

A ton of water must fall a mile to develop the energy equivalent of one pound of bituminous coal.

Loye That Man!

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

CRITICISM—Sam Rayburn is the chairman and ablest individual on Capitol Hill these days, and not for personal reasons. The ordinarily good-natured speaker of the House resents with a Texans wrath the recent attempt of National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan to run the power chamber by telegrams from the White House or any other executive department.

Sam considers the Missourian's public, last-minute demand that house democrats vote for the Wyatt housing bill without amendment, a criticism of his leadership. So does Majority Boss John W. McCormack of Massachusetts. With quiet opposition to further subsidies and ceilings on all products.

GROWLS—Mr. Hannegan's interference was aggravated, in the leaders' opinion, by the simultaneous blast against real estate lobbyists from the new college of "brain trusters"—Messrs. Bowles, Porter, Wyatt and Wirtz.

Their public statement tended to make every member who voted against the bill a traitor. The name of the "selfish interests" and an enemy of the people.

Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr. of the Bay State did not make it any easier for Sam and John, his corridor cronies. For several hours before the final ballot, he strolled around the west side of Capitol Hill, asking Democratic members:

"Did you get your telegram from Bob Hannegan today?" His answers were growls.

BLOCKED—The proposals for "premium payments" to manufacturers of building materials, as well as for a selling maximum on existing homes, never had much chance of adoption.

Legislative opinion is turning sharply even against present subsidies. And members think that a long-time home owner should not be penalized for his thrift by any price regimentation.

But it is generally believed that National Chairman Hannegan's bold intervention in legislative proceedings really blocked whatever chance these provisions had of enactment.

The affair suggests that the administration has fallen upon difficult days in another respect. It reveals the help of some White House friends that the national chairman has become Mr. Truman's heaviest liability.

BERN, Switzerland, March 11.—Europe's greatest non-political problem continues to be food, but little Switzerland, which depends heavily on imports, has averted a national catastrophe by her manner of handling it.

I refer to food as the biggest non-political problem because the world in general gives first place to the question of whether there will be another war.

If there is one it will be political. Whether death by military violence is more of a concern than death by starvation may be open to debate.

Our story starts back before the war, and that's important because it bespeaks foresight on the part of the Swiss. After the Munich conference in 1938 the government began to help food importers with loans and grants in order to buy big food supplies.

In May, 1939, months before the war started, each household was ordered to buy two months stock of food—and the government helped those short of money. This supply was held in reserve. When the conflict began under the Nazis, it was completely for two months the sale of nonperishable foodstuffs and in that period organized the food rationing which still continues, with everybody happy.

When Hitler struck at Poland on Sept. 1, 1939, the Swiss army was mobilized for defense. There was in the ranks a private by the name of Arnold Muggli, and the minister of economics promptly summoned him to Bern. To Muggli's amazement the minister said:

"You're the only one capable of organizing rationing. I want you to undertake it."

Not too make too much of a mystery of the Muggli drama, he had been an organizer of banks. Rationing was an unknown quantity to him but he tackled it, and finding no guidance in any foreign rationing plan, he created one of his own on the high moral code that "if everybody cares enough and everybody shares enough, everybody will be happy."

Muggli inaugurated personal contact with the people. When his office made a mistake he promptly admitted it and made a fresh start. As a result he soon became one of the most popular figures in Switzerland—and that's something for a rationing chief.

He believed in teamwork with his own staff. For instance, when they were preparing to ration bread the six key men of his staff were divided as to how it should be done. Muggli told them in substance:

"Did you get your telegram from Bob Hannegan today?" His answers were growls.

Under this they created teamwork among the millers, the bakers and the housewives.

This system has worked so well that 23 foreign governments have sent commissions to study it.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HELIOWOOD (NEA)—A friend commented to Clark Gable about the foggy camera-work in "Adventure." "I know," said Clark. "They photographed me through four Navajo blankets."

Listening to Mel Vickland, one of those golden-voiced radio announcers the other day, Billy Wilder cracked: "I wish I had his voice—and my money!" Shirley Ross may have her own air show this summer. . . . RKO is planning big things for Osa Massen as a result of her work in "Deadline at Dawn."

Robert Stack will be out of the navy in April—on points. . . . Add signs that war is over: Waiter to customer in a Hollywood cafe: "We ain't got no menus. We got nuttin' but steaks." . . . Not in the nel Starling continues, "The President assigned a promotional which promised an excellent view. He decided to walk up to it, taking Mrs. Wilson along. It was a stiff climb, but he was ready for anything during those high days. When they returned to the automobile, the President's shoes were very muddy. 'If you've put your foot on the running board I'll clean it off.' Robby, his chauffeur, said. The President accepted the offer. Mrs. Wilson looked down at her feet. 'My shoes are not muddy,' she said. 'I have a lace untied.' She looked at me expectantly. Immediately I dropped to one knee. 'May I tie it for you?' I asked. She rested her foot on my trouser leg, raising the skirt of her hand-somely tailored suit at the same time, to reveal a shapely ankle. 'Thank you,' she said. 'You tie a very neat bow.' The President was standing by the car, staring straight ahead, his nose pointing and his jaws working—tell-tale signs of anger. Quietly I went to the secret service car. He didn't speak to me for two weeks."

Colonel Starling's best Coolidge story is this: "One day I went to fetch him for a visit to the capitol and found him in the state dining room, seated in his great chair at the head of the table, wearing his high silk hat, with napkin tucked under his chin, sipping a bowl of soup."

UPTON CLOSE:

Definition Given For Many Forms Of Government

Occasionally, it seems to me, thinking people should stop and take stock of the words they use so often, and sometimes so loosely. Let me define—you check me!

Let's start with the "democracy." Literally, it is the theory of government by a majority, however crude, illiterate, deluded or mobbed. It is commonly used by Marxists and Russophiles to mean a majority which says "Ja" or says "Ni" at all, while the big boss runs the show and determines—and collects—the admission. This meaning of democracy is to be carefully distinguished from the republican representative form of government.

The word "democracy" was made famous under the Greek words for "people" and "rule." All great philosophers until the time of Woodrow Wilson used it in a disparaging sense, indicating the rule of the unthinking mass, as distinguished from what the ancient Greeks harped on time out the horse won, with the "rule of the best," with the support of the majority choosing the best. Woodrow Wilson invented the propagandistic use of "democracy" and script; Anne Jeffreys, between scenes of "Double Trouble," telling about the start of a party who, after several drinks, squelched the host with "If someone doesn't start annoying me soon I'm leaving." . . . Dinah Shore's new Columbia recording, "Where Did You Learn to Love?," is a best seller in the music market.

CRAWFORD SWEARS OFF
How Time Flies Dept.: Roddy McDowall is now smoking a pipe. He's 17. . . . Joan Crawford has given up the horses after betting twice on "Humeresque" (the title of her current picture) and twice losing. Third time out the horse won, with Crawford a mile away. . . . Though not expecting the stork until July, Ginny Simms is already turning down all film offers.

Beverly Carroll, 21-year-old niece of Earl Carroll, will make her film debut in "Earl Carroll's Sketchbook." . . . Betty Hutton and Ted Briskin called their quick separation and reconciliation a "tempest in a teapot." But from what we hear, a couple of teapots were broken. . . . Lana Turner is returning from South America with 20 new outfits. One of them outrivals Carmen Miranda's zanyest headgear.

The Sonja Henie Ice Revue is out-grossing any other ice show that ever hit Hollywood. Sonja plans to do two pictures when she winds up the tour. . . . Singer Andy Russell launches a 10-week personal appearance tour in July with a four-week stint at the New York Paramount.

Errol Flynn's book, "Showdown," is in its second printing and sales have reached the 100,000 mark. When a friend questioned the fact that he wrote the book, Flynn said: "I'm flattered. It can't be too terrible because if it were completely bad, everyone would be positive I wrote it."

FONTAINE ON REST CURE
Joan Fontaine, suffering from the aftermath of pneumonia, has been ordered to the desert until May 15. "As you see in the pink?" Proctor Stephen Ames asked Doug Batebanks, Jr., recent navy dischargee, the first day on the set of "Sinbad the Sailor." "No, I'm in the red—that's why I'm back in pictures," replied Doug. . . . Anne Baxter who ought to knock, denies she's marrying John Hodiak.

Bill Williams quitted everyone during a discussion of the atomic bomb. "It looks," said Bill, "like atomic energy is here to stay. But are we?"

Errol Flynn's book, "Showdown," is in its second printing and sales have reached the 100,000 mark. When a friend questioned the fact that he wrote the book, Flynn said: "I'm flattered. It can't be too terrible because if it were completely bad, everyone would be positive I wrote it."

the deceptive term "the democracies" as applying to any one group of allies against another in war. He, or his followers, approved of the purposeful conclusion of the word with the democratic party. It is time now, however, for all true believers in the representative system of government to condemn and scrap the word "democracy" and meaning anything to be aimed at, instead of avoided.

Then there is the much bandied-about, much misunderstood word "socialism." Socialism is the attractive concept springing from the generous-minded among human beings (our "hearts of gold") that all men have equal wealth as well as equal political rights and equal opportunity to gain wealth. Most of the great founders of religions, particularly Buddha and Christ, were socialists in some of their expressions. But, wherever socialism has been tried as a working theory, society has got into more tyranny and violence than under systems which frankly recognize the competitive instinct of the human animal, and which are based on the expressions, Christianity also distinctly builds upon the competitive instinct of man.

The removal of the incentive of competition for wealth in a society is similar to that emasculation on the individual. Ambition dies, and soon supplanted by picaresque jealousy that gradually builds into robbery, tyranny and violence.

Socialism has existed temporarily in small groups closely held together by religious zeal and in fear of an outside mass. For examples: in the early Christian church, and in several pioneer settlements in America. It was tried on a wide scale in ancient China, and after more than a half-century of application under the brilliant statesman Wong An-shih, it was denounced and abandoned.

Socialism of itself is as harmless as anything else which will not work. Its dangers are in the hypocritical adoption of socialist philosophy by power groups to use the attractive theory of economic equality to disarm or win over generous minds and the economically less fortunate, and who, by their espousal of the beautiful theory, set themselves up as Messiahs and then follow.

ANN came into the gloom of the big house, from the spring sunshine. "Mrs. Christmas," she called.

"Here I am, child," Mrs. Christmas answered, hurrying down the hall.

"I just came from the post office. I have a letter from Colin—ne'll be home next week. And I've got cold feet. Do you think he'll like the house?"

Mrs. Christmas patted her reassuringly. "Of course he will, child. Mr. Colin's always been nice—so long as he got his own way. You must have convinced him you were a pretty smart girl, if you could get him to go off to build and furnish his house. He generally don't have so much confidence in other people."

Ann sat down on a footstool, and hugged her knees. "I don't know why he has confidence in me—he doesn't!"

"And he has put himself

THE TRUTH ABOUT HOME BUILDING in 1946

IT'S TIME VETERANS AND ALL CITIZENS WERE TOLD THE TRUTH ABOUT THE HOME BUILDING SITUATION.

The main bottleneck to home construction is production of materials and equipment.

No legislation, Presidential announcement, government control plan, or system can produce a single additional home until production of materials is speeded up.

Lumber Dealers and the Building Industry are eager to build homes for veterans and all citizens who need them. The reason few homes are being built is because materials are not being produced.

WHY?

1. Governed by OPA's wartime pricing formulas, it is still more profitable for lumber mills to make items for export--and the items formerly required for war use, than it is to make lumber usable in Home Construction.
2. OPA's wartime pricing formulas are decreasing production of lumber.

3. OPA's enforcement policies have allowed the creation of a large black market in lumber which is moving outside of regular channels of trade.
4. OPA's slowness in adjusting mill ceiling prices on hardwood flooring, siding, millwork and plywood has contributed to the difficulties mills are having in securing necessary manpower.

With 400 brick and tile plants closed, it took 6 months for OPA to adjust prices. Now an additional 125 plants have opened and production is up 35%.

Clay sewer pipe, cast iron soil pipe and Gypsum board manufacturers have experienced a similar OPA delay in the granting of price adjustments to make increased production possible.

No amount of juggling with an insufficient supply will produce a single home more than can be built with material available.

The OPA can hardly hold present price ceilings when it has no bonds, over volume of employment, labor wage rates, cashing of government bonds, and installment or credit expansion-- BUT THE OPA CAN ACT AS A BLOCK TO RECONVERSION BY CLINGING TO UNREALISTIC WARTIME PRICE CEILINGS.

Unblock the production of materials caused by unrealistic wartime price controls and the building industry will build enough homes for veterans and all Americans!

★ Any government program that does not FIRST remove the obstacles blocking production of materials will simply add additional difficulties to the problem facing the building industry. ★

We join with the Lumbermen's Association of Texas in asking for removal of OPA's Price Control over building material. If you agree with us, please write Congressman Eugene Worley, Senator Tom Connally and Senator W. Lee O'Daniel.

Sam Snead Being Hailed Mr. Golf, Despite Nelson

By WILBUR JENNINGS MIAMI, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Virginia's slamin' Sammy Snead, was being hailed today as perhaps the person who will become Mr. Golf in 1946, despite the Nelsons and the Hogans.

With teammate Sammy Byrd, of Detroit, Snead lost to Benny Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., and Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Texas, 1 up on the 36th hole in Miami's $7,500 international four-ball golf tournament yesterday, but he slayed it into the cup. Both Snead and Byrd were on in two and either could have made a birdie, but Hogan's three made it un-necessary for them to shoot and they were conceded the trophy.

The four-ball is called the greatest grind of the winter circuit, and in the semi-finals of the tournament, Snead and Byrd were forced to go 40 holes before defeating Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden.

Again on the 36th, it was Snead who on his second shot planted his ball closest to the pin and an almost sure birdie. But he hadn't counted on Hogan. The little Texas fireball stepped calmly to his ball, 200 feet from the pin, studied it for a few minutes, and then slayed it into the cup. Both Snead and Byrd were on in two and either could have made a birdie, but Hogan's three made it un-necessary for them to shoot and they were conceded the trophy.

Chandler Opens Door For Wandering Sheep

By JACK HAND HAVANA, March 11.—(AP)—Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler left the door wide open today for all of baseball's wandering sheep to return to the fold before the opening of the U. S. leagues' seasons but held over their heads a threat of at least five years suspension for those who refused.

While inviting the "contract breakers" back to line, Chandler revealed that Cuban Sports Commissioner Luis Rodriguez had been given permission to act as a mediator in the hope of establishing uniform baseball contracts in the United States, Cuba and Mexico.

Chandler previously had refused definite comment on contract jumpers but now the way was open for almost all ineligible to return. The commissioner ruled, effective immediately, that any player who broke a contract shall report to his club in organized baseball by opening day of the league to which the team belongs, and that in the future, any player who breaks a contract in organized baseball shall be suspended for five years.

Among the more prominent players signed by the Mexican league are De Gardella and Nap Reyes of the New York Giants, Tomas De La Cruz of the Cincinnati Reds, Alex Carrasquel, of the Chicago White Sox, and Luis Olmo of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Chandler met the Cuban officials yesterday after a meeting between the Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox. Clark Griffith, president of the Senators, who was presented a gold medal by the Cuban government for his efforts in behalf of Cuban ball players, American League President Will Harridge, and Harold Ruel, assistant to Chandler, were included in the group that met with Cuban winter league president, Dr. Rogelio Valdes, Rodriguez, and Merito Acosta, owner of the New Havana entry in the Florida International league.

The Cuban leaders promised to clean house and not to allow ineligible to play next winter. Chandler agreed to help them establish uniform contracts and reorganize their circuit.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. WEST POINT, N. Y., March 11.—(AP)—You can take it straight from Col. Earl "Red" Blaik that football coaches have to think and that's the reason why they have the only real full-time jobs in the college coaching—before one of the teachers in another line takes a poke at Red, let's explain that the amount of thinking involved depends on the different types of strategy in the games. He's not calling anybody a dummy—Even basketball Coach Stu Holcomb, who's a civilian now and doesn't have to defer to Blaik's Eagles, agreed that there's no comparison between the mental requirements of the two games.

Blaik's explanation went something like this—In football you're always planning, trying to figure something new—even now we—mainly himself and his staff—can look at the pictures of the great teams we had the past two years and learn something every time we see them. We see mistakes the boys make, of course, and we see what the other teams were doing to stop things we never realized they were doing the heat of the game—On this basis we plan new strategy, new ways of doing things—every individual, and there are eleven on a football team, has so many assignments and so many things he can handle them that there's no end to the planning—In fact, Blaik concluded, a football coach doesn't have time to think about anything but football.

With teammate Sammy Byrd, of Detroit, Snead lost to Benny Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., and Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Texas, 1 up on the 36th hole in Miami's $7,500 international four-ball golf tournament yesterday, but he slayed it into the cup. Both Snead and Byrd were on in two and either could have made a birdie, but Hogan's three made it un-necessary for them to shoot and they were conceded the trophy.

Again on the 36th, it was Snead who on his second shot planted his ball closest to the pin and an almost sure birdie. But he hadn't counted on Hogan. The little Texas fireball stepped calmly to his ball, 200 feet from the pin, studied it for a few minutes, and then slayed it into the cup. Both Snead and Byrd were on in two and either could have made a birdie, but Hogan's three made it un-necessary for them to shoot and they were conceded the trophy.

The four-ball is called the greatest grind of the winter circuit, and in the semi-finals of the tournament, Snead and Byrd were forced to go 40 holes before defeating Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden.

State Cage Meet Termed Greatest In Long History

AUSTIN, March 11.—(AP)—Texas schoolboy basketball teams that participated in the state tournament last week-end will benefit financially to the greatest extent in the 26-year history of the event.

The tournament, in which Crozer Tech of Dallas won the class AA title, Pasadena the Class A championship and Stratford the Class B crown, drew 35,900 paid admissions—10,000 more than ever before.

Each team coming to the tournament is paid 10 cents for every mile traveled and in addition receives a pro rata share of any profits from the tournament.

The tournament set several records. In addition to drawing more fans in the 26-year history, several scoring marks were made. Pasadena and East Mountain scored 97 points in one game, two better than any other game ever played in the Class A division. Bill Huffman, all-tournament star from Pasadena, rolled up 29 points against Sidney Lanier of San Antonio, to break the tournament individual scoring record of 28 set in 1943 by Tony Riviera of Sidney Lanier.

Crozier Tech defeated Jeff Davis of Houston 32-28 for the Class AA championship, bringing the Dallas team its first title in six trips to the state tournament.

Pasadena, which downed Leveland 50-35 for the Class A championship, was making its first visit. But it was the school's last in Class AA because its enrollment has gone over the 500 mark.

Stratford defeated Perrin 29-18 for the Class B laurels. Stratford had played here in 1942, 1943, and 1945. It was the school's first championship.

Nominations for Kentucky Derby Are Pouring In

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 11.—(AP)—With wartime travel restrictions off for the first time in four years, preparations are being made for the largest crowd in history at the 72nd running of the Kentucky Derby May 4 at Churchill Downs.

A list of 149 nominations for the annual turf classic, including practically every star from last year's crop of two-year-olds, was announced today by Col. Matt J. Winn, Downs president.

This year's mile and one-quarter run will be the richest in history, with each owner hoping for a crack at the $100,000 added money and the gold trophy.

High among the nominations were those named by Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Maine Chance farm. They include such outstanding performers as Knockdown, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita derby; Star Pilot, generally considered the top two-year-old of 1945 on the basis of his victories in the Belmont and Pimlico futurities, the Hopeful and Ardley; Lord Boswell, winner in seven of his eleven starts in stakes races last year, including the Remsen and Endurance handicaps, and Colony Boy, winner of the Walden stakes.

Other nominations include such candidates as Dixiana's Spy Song, winner of the Arlington futurity; Fred Wyse's Air Rate, victorious in all his seven stakes races as a two-year-old; Calumet farm's High Shine, Hal Price Headley's Pellicle, C. J. Sebastian's Galla Damon; Bobanet stable's Marine Victory; John Marsh's Mighty Story, Mrs. Louise Donovan's Fighting Frank, Mrs. Vera S. Bragg's Mist of Gold and many other hopefuls.

Fred W. Hooper is back with four candidates in an effort to repeat the derby victory won for him last year by his Hoop Jr. Warren Wright's Calumet farm, a derby threat for several years, is represented by two other nominations, High Lea and In Earnest.

McGinnis Shoots Low in Tourney C. F. McGinnis shot a low 76 to take best honors in the tournament held at the Country club yesterday. Pro Frank Baker reported this morning.

The 48 golfers who participated, highest in a number of weeks, were divided into four brackets, according to their regular scores. McGinnis was in the 65-80 bracket and was shooting against a 75.

Marvin Harris and J. P. Weatherall, shooting against an 83 both got a 74 and divided honors in the 80-95 bracket. Wait Wanner, with 104, was the titlist in the 95-110 bracket. He was shooting against 104.

W. H. Eatr also made the score he was shooting against—138. He was in the 119-up bracket. Baker said another tournament was being planned for next Sunday but it would probably be of a different nature. He urged all golfers to continue posting their scores so that handicaps could be determined.

BRIDGES TO PITCH LAKELAND, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—The veteran Tommy Bridges was slated to be the starting pitcher for the Detroit Tigers today when they clash with the Cleveland Indians.

WILL NOT RUN FORT WORTH, March 11.—(AP)—Congressman Fritz G. Lanham told the Star-Telegram today he would not be a candidate for re-election and would retire to private life. He has served 28 years continuously in the house.

Workers Take Over Jap Plant

In the five months since surrender of Japan, there have been nearly 200 minor strikes in the country, most of which wage increases of 500 per cent for the workers. At the Tokyo Shipyard Electric Company, workers took over the plant, barred the management, increased production 10 times and wages five times, and bettered general conditions. Workers are shown above turning out light bulbs on the production line. Photo by NEA-Acme Correspondent Tom Shafer.

ORIGIN OF GLASS CLINKING
The custom of clinking glasses originated in Roman days. Before a duel, each gladiator drank a glass of wine and, to guard against a poison being slipped into one of the glasses, it became a custom for the fighters to touch glasses and pour the wine from one to the other.

Button Credited With Romance of Texan, Irish Girl

DENTON, March 11.—(AP)—Because of a button popped off the jacket of GI Frank Giovalie, Beaumont, in an Irish cafe during a match shortage, an Irish bride and her year old daughter are on their way to make their home in Vet Village on the North Texas State college campus.

When Giovalie, now a senior music major at NTSC, started to unbutton his jacket before the fireplace in a bus station cafe in Belfast, North Ireland, about two years ago, a highly polished button popped off his jacket.

A few minutes later, when a nurse at a nearby table asked him for a light, he inquired whether she had a needle and thread. She, admiring his highly polished button, wanted it for a souvenir.

The Irish nurse, then Miss Tillie Charlton of Cookstown, North Ireland, is now Mrs. Frank Giovalie, scop of Vet Village, Denton, Texas.

Giovalie says that Texas will seem warm to his wife compared to her native North Ireland, and he is now busy getting his Vet Village prefabricated home ready to become an Irish lassie's first Texas home.

Red Commandant Warns Other Nations to 'Keep Hands Off'

(Editor's Note: Returning safely to China from an inspection of Russian-held Manchuria during which he was held incommunicado in Changchun—Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis yesterday filed the following dispatch.)

By SPENCER DAVIS
CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, March 5.—(Delayed)—(AP)—This is Russia's back yard at the moment.

"We don't want those with gold in their pocket to come in and handicap our friendship" with China, the Soviet commandant of Manchuria was quoted as proclaiming.

The commandant, Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, was "too busy" to see the one British and eight American correspondents—interred for reaching Changchun uninvited—who sought to confirm such statements.

He made his declaration at a recent banquet, reliable sources said, and added that if any hand of interference were thrust between Russia and China, "the Red army will cut it off."

The Red army currently controls Changchun, as it does Manchuria's other major cities; and China is represented only by a military mission and civilian officials.

Most Changchun shops are boarded up. Civilians said the streets by 4 p. m. for fear of being accosted by soldiers.

Provincial administrators have been unable to carry out their duties pending agreement between Russia and China on the degree of economic collaboration between the two nations in this once rich land of industry and agriculture.

Since the fatal stabbing of seven Chinese mining officials on their return from the Fushun collieries in mid-January, there has been no further attempt to take over coal mines. The Soviets said they would be unable to guarantee protection of officials.

There is considerable gloom among these officials on their immediate future.

Life is much the same for Chinese air force officers here. They have a small group at the Soviet airfields on the outskirts of Changchun and are obliged to be in quarters by 4 p. m. They must ask Soviet permission for planes to arrive and take off.

Nine correspondents took off for Peiping yesterday, escorted by two Russian fighter planes. Engine trouble forced the plane to turn back. A protest was filed with the Chinese by Red army headquarters for a supposed infringement of orders in carrying us. Inasmuch as four Russians without passports were traveling on the same plane for Peiping, the protest hardly was valid.

Correspondents on the return to Changchun spent the night at the municipal hospital which is under Chinese administration. We took the train today for Mukden and South Manchuria due to heavy snow fall and to avoid further misunderstanding.

Ehind us was the usual elaborate display of Russian flags and banners along Stalin Prospect (Changchun's main boulevard) in a single American flag, flying upside down.

We were greeted frigidly on our arrival from Mukden Feb. 25, were guarded closely, and were interned in a hotel for two days and six hours. Then we were freed but not to see or write about the Red army organizations, nor were we to proceed farther north.

Chinese forces in Changchun include only 4,000 militia down in from Peiping, plus 3,000 police and 4,000 local recruits—not a single national government soldier. There still are 180,000 Japanese civilians here, but no Japanese military personnel. They were removed to Siberia or Russia.

Correspondents once tried to visit Malinovsky's headquarters, seeking to confirm reports we had heard; but we were held for an hour in a guard house and threatened with expulsion to South China for daring to approach.

Items not in dispute included $100,000,000 of loan funds for the rural electrification administration and $159,000 for the office of defense transportation.

Despite the conference agreement, key members said it is now certain the house will vote to trim OPA's powers.

These legislators declared that a sizeable majority will support continuance of the price control agency beyond its June 30 expiration date.

PRESSURES MOUNT
But, they told newsmen, pressures against present OPA policy have mounted so high both in and out of congress that there is no doubt several modifications will be made.

President Truman has called for extension of OPA without change.

Most of the restrictions, the lawmakers said, will be designed to put emphasis on production.

Other changes, they added, will include a switch of some control authority to agencies specifically concerned with certain products, such as the agriculture department on food items.

The views expressed represent a compilation of opinions voiced by several house leaders of both parties who always are influential on legislation of this type. They include: Chairman Pace (D-Ga.) and several members of his special food investigating committee. They favor giving Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson some of OPA's present authority over food prices.

Chairman Colmer (D-Miss) and several members of his special committee on postwar economic policy, who are particularly eager to stress the production angle.

Corpus Christi reported that an acute shortage of hardware was the principal reason little housing construction was being undertaken here this year. Many Corpus Christi contractors are unwilling to bid on large jobs because of the uncertainty of supplies.

An unprecedented boom was reported in San Angelo. Permits there last month totaled 190, at a cost of $480,400. One hundred and thirty permits were for dwellings. Last month's figure boosted San Angelo's 1946 permits to more than 325, at a total cost of almost 1,900,000.

Sloss directed another member of the line crew to hold a quarter between his fingers for him to shoot at. The man obeyed and Sloss sent a bullet straight to the coin.

Later they borrowed a car from one of the crew members and started for Borger. Their car was wrecked a short distance from Wheeler. A passing motorist brought them to the Wheeler hospital where superficial injuries were treated.

They later returned to town and spent the night at the Watson hotel. Senator Shivers Announces Candidacy
PORT ARTHUR, March 11.—(AP)—State Senator Allan Shivers announced today that he would be a candidate for lieutenant-governor in the democratic primary in July.

Shivers, 38, was born in Lufkin and for the past 20 years has lived here. Although exempt from military service, he volunteered and served two years with the army in Africa, Italy, France and Germany.

His announcement set forth that during his service in the Texas senate, Shivers has favored legislative redistricting and an adequate highway program especially in regard to farm to market roads. During the last session he sponsored an act designed to protect highway funds from diversion to other uses.

The announcement added that Shivers "has been a friend of labor, but has condemned the radical elements of both labor and business in speeches on the floor of the senate. Shivers has always been conservative on both taxes and expenditures. In 1939 he sponsored an amendment to the payroll tax that has resulted in a saving of more than nine million dollars per year to the taxpayers of the state."

somewhere in Pampa. Definite location would be decided by the commissioners court. Construction would probably start next fall, as estimated by the architect who was consulted by the hospital committee in drawing up the plans.

The petition would have the court call an election to issue Gray county bonds amounting to $550,000 with an interest rate not to exceed two and one-half per cent per year. Type of bonds and all arrangements would be left in the hands of the commissioners court.

Payment of the hospital would be according to the petition and plans, through taxation of property. The amount of taxes levied would not be over 18 cents per 100 dollars of taxable property, said Weathered.

The above rate is the maximum amount of possible taxation for the pital as a 7-cent tax is now in force for the payment of the county court house. Property tax cannot exceed 25 cents per 100 dollars as stated by law. In 1950 the 7-cent tax will be withdrawn as payment of the court house will be met in 1950.

It was estimated, said Weathered, that taxation at the rate of 15 cents per 100 dollars would enable the proposed hospital to be paid for in 20 years. Assessment of 15 cents would mean that persons owning property valued at $10,000 would pay $15 a year toward the hospital for 20 years, discounting depreciation value.

With a 21-cent assessment, after the 7-cent tax now in force is withdrawn, the hospital could be paid for in 15 years, said Weathered. The above estimates are based on the present valuation of property with values reduced $600,000 a year.

Members of the committee who were to present the petition for an election to the county commissioners court this afternoon are L. H. Johnson, Carl Benefield, C. P. Pursley, Crawford Atkinson and Joe Key.

Signature on the petitions which have circulated throughout the county the past two or three weeks, were still being checked by the office of the county clerk this morning to see which were eligible.

County Judge Sherman White said this morning that if the election were to be called the commissioners court would be in charge of election publicity and arrangements.
