If You Don't Belong to a Church, Plan to Attend One on Sunday

Attendance High At Sunday School

Rudolph Q. Harvey, pastor of the Central Baptist church, announced the topic for Sunday morning as "The Christian's Great Need." The sermon will be preceded by special music.

All records in attendance have been broken in the Sunday school. For the last three Sundays there has been an increase in attendance and each time has set a new record for the highest attendance in Sunday school in the history of the church. A goal of an average attendance of 450 in the Sunday school has been set. The average attendance for February was 414.

Ben A. Stephenson will be in charge of the training union hour which begins at 7 o'clock. A goal of an average attendance of 200 has been set for the training union. At the worship hour the pastor will preach on "When I See the Blood" and the message will be preceded by special music.

Plans are being completed for the banquet honoring the returned servicemen of the church. It is to be Friday night, March 15th at the Junior high cafeteria.

The study course which is to be March 15 through 23 will be of interest to all who like to study the word of God. Books will be offered for all ages.

Rudolph Q. Harvey will bring the third message Wednesday evening on the theme: "How to Successfully Live a Christian Life." Come and worship with a neighborly people in a neighborly church at all services."

Religion in the News

Problems in Human Relationships

A FEW days ago, here in Pampa, amongst a group of average men there was a sharp discussion as to what was the greatest problem confronting the world and our own nation today, and what should, or must, be done to solve the problem.

While no one seemed able to determine the greatest problem, three were discussed. Our relationship with Russia? Get that settled. Come to an understanding with that nation and we shall be able to maintain peace throughout the world. How to accomplish that was most certainly not settled. The industrial strife in our own nation? Get that settled. Let Capital and Labor work together in harmony and America will be so great that it will be secure. No other nation in the world will dare to compete with us.

JUVENILE Delinquency in America? We may be in harmony with Russia and other nations; we may be so strong that in our might we are secure, but unless we awake morally we shall be destroyed from within. The discussion was lengthy and at times acrid, but there seemed to be no agreement. One man who had said but little previously finally said, "It seems to me that all we have discussed resolves itself into one great problem, the problem of human relationships. In everything that is the problem. All other problems are simply the result of a breakdown in human relationships. In all things we do not deal with intangibles but with other human beings, who like ourselves are seeking happiness."

DID THAT man have the answer? We speak so often of "The Family of Nations." A family must have a head and its members must be considerate of each other. Does the solution of all our problems rest in the acknowledgement of the leadership of the Father of all mankind, and a seeking to understand each other, religiously, economically and in all that makes life? The great Master of Men said "One is your father, even God, and ye are all brethren." Is that the answer?

Two Communion Mark Lent Season Opening

The First Sunday in Lent will be observed at St. Matthew's Episcopal church with two services of Holy Communion. The first service will be at 8 a. m. and the second at 11 o'clock. At the latter service Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw will preach on the subject "If Ye Have Faith?" Sunday school will meet as usual at a quarter to ten in the morning. It is particularly interesting that every communicant of the church be present at one of the two communions this Sunday in order that there may be a proper observance of the Lenten season from the beginning.

On Friday morning March 15th there will be a special communion service for the women of the church. The intention for this service will be "Our Children."

Christian Science Sunday Study Topic

"Map" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 10.

The Golden Text is: "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way" (Psalms 37:23).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Know ye that the Lord he is God; it is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people, and the sheep of His pasture" (Psalms 100:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man reflects infinite Truth, Life, and Love. The nature of man, thus understood, includes all that is implied by the terms 'image' and 'likeness' as used in Scripture" (page 94).

Zion Lutheran Will Observe Lent Sunday

The text for this Sunday, the first Sunday in the Lenten Season, is found in Matthew chapter 16, verses 21 to 28. The sermon, based on this text, will deal with Christ's first unmistakable prophecy of His suffering and death.

In Sunday school, the narrative concerning blind Bartimaeus will be taught, while in Adult Bible class there will be a continued discussion of the general theme, "The Christian Prays With His Heart and Lips."

The Lutheran hour, with Dr. Walter A. Maier, as speaker, is broadcast over KPDR each Sunday at 1:00 p. m.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: The Book of Judges, especially Judges 2:7, 11, 16-23.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

It would be pleasant if we could turn to the Old Testament and there the history of a chosen people, who so effectually honored God's choice, and proved in every way so fine and correct, individually and nationally, that they might stand as a model for all time and for every people.

Unfortunately there is no such record; nor has there ever been a nation or people in history that could be taken as a perfect model for any other nation or people to follow. What the Old Testament offers in its history of the Jews and their religion is what our own democratic countries could offer today—great principles of righteousness, truth, and justice; and ideal goals of social welfare and of social and personal freedom.

But the history of life, religion, and morals, as recorded in the Old Testament, is instructive in its warnings, its records of moral decay and failure.

The profound examples of saintly living, and of noble and unselfish leaders, did not save the Jewish people from disaster when they turned to false gods and crooked ways, and forsake their God and His prophets. Here in our lesson we see a people in confusion, despite the prospect of a Promised Land, and despite the "Judges"—the able leaders who would have led them safely and well had they but listened to counsels of wisdom and

Thanks for Yule Packages Being Received at Tech

LUBBOCK, March 8.—"We shall never forget the precious gifts which you sent to a Greek family," writes one European woman expressing thanks to the Home Economics club at Texas Technological college for the boxes which the organization mailed at Christmas time to refugee families.

"As part of the national project the Tech chapter sent 56 boxes of food, clothing, books and toys overseas. Letters are arriving daily from the appreciative families who received the Yuletide packages.

"This country where we have been born, Europe, the birthplace of civilization, the place which spread its light to every corner of the world is nothing else but a continuous river of human blood shed by some ambitious leaders to conquer the world," the letter from the Greek woman continues.

"But fortunately, far away from us lies America, the country which looks with sympathy at the position of Europeans. The United States will not delay and will ring all over the world the Hymn of Freedom. And that is the best," she writes.

The family has moved from its home village to Athens where the children, one girl and five boys, live with their widowed mother. The father "was killed by the Germans a spring day of 1943."

The United States lost 30 ships in the battle of Okinawa, and 223 others were damaged.

BARRETT ANNOUNCES FOR SHERIFF

The News has been authorized to announce the candidacy of James Barrett, Democrat, for Sheriff of Gray County, subject to the July Primaries. He makes the following statement: "I am the son of J. B. (Ben) Barrett, pioneer farmer and rancher and came to Gray County in 1909. I am married and have three children; and the one thing I want you to know is that I do not drink nor gamble and I am obligated to no one and will, if elected as your sheriff, enforce the law to each and everyone alike. I am against inhumane treatment and all third degree methods; will employ only sober, efficient Gray County men as deputies and will give 24 hour a day service, and cooperate with all law enforcement agencies and schools. I have had over four years actual experience in law enforcement and ask you to investigate my life, my family and my record as a peace officer. I have no other job and promise to devote my entire time to the duties pertaining to law enforcement and betterment of Gray County. I will appreciate your vote and influence in the forthcoming election.

RAY MILLAND, JOAN CRAWFORD WIN TOP ACADEMY AWARDS FOR YEAR 1945

Former Flapper From San Antonio Is Named Winner

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 8.—(P)—A former flapper from San Antonio, Texas, and a one-time impoverished actor from Neath, Wales, last night starred in the film industry's annual Cinderella story. The stories of both of them would make stirring screen plays.

Joan Crawford, who was Oscarred for "Mildred Pierce," started acting in pictures more than 20 years ago. Three years ago she was considered washed up. She quit work for two years, found a good role and came back to win her first Academy award as she neared her 38th year.

Ray Milland, whose tipping in "The Lost Weekend" won the industry's acclaim, was just another broke actor for years. Finally he landed a big role in a Charles Lombard-Bing Crosby picture and played in program films for 10 years until he won an Oscar at the age of 38.

"The Lost Weekend" brought home the bacon for Paramount, as did "Going My Way" last year. Winners of the picture, director, Screen Play and actor awards, "Week End" was the baby of Vienna-born Billy Wilder and Harvard-bred Novelist Charles Brackett.

Closeups and longshots at the Academy blowout. "Beit of St. Mary's" Leo McCarey's attempt to top his "Going My Way," finished out of the money. Sequels just can't win. Most heart-warming award was the supporting Oscar to James Dunn.

Physicians Ask Hearing on U. S. Health Insurance

FORT WORTH—Dr. Holman Taylor, secretary of the State Medical Association of Texas, has requested U. S. Senator James E. Murray to allow representatives from the association to appear in Washington at hearings on the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill. Hearings on this bill, which would institute national health insurance and place all physicians under federal control and which is opposed by the Medical Association, will commence before the senate committee on education and labor March 18.

"A number of Texas doctors will go to Washington and testify," Dr. Taylor says. They will explain the desirability of voluntary health insurance rather than compulsory and prepaid medical care financed by withholding money from the pay checks of every worker.

"This hearing is on the second Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill, which is a sugar-coated version of the first measure. All mention of taxation was eliminated from the second bill so that it could be referred to friendly committees. To put the bill in effect would cost billions of dollars a year most of which could come from the pockets of working people. The new bill makes appropriations for aiding states in prevention and control of venereal disease and also tuberculosis. Existing federal laws already do this, making the proposed bill a duplication.

"While the new bill refers to federal funds for medical care of the needy, there is no specific sum mentioned. Whatever might be implied it would be only a drop in the bucket in comparison with the tremendous contribution made voluntarily each year by the medical profession of this country in free medical service to the indigent," Dr. Taylor says. "The physicians of Fort Worth kept records one year which showed that their contributions in medical service to the indigent of that city alone ran into the millions of dollars."

So They Say

For myself I cannot agree that the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain or any other great power is justified because of their common pledge to abolish fascism to interfere with the internal freedoms of other, weaker peoples and attempt to impose upon them any kind of standardized political strait-jacket.—Sumner Welles, former Undersecretary of State.

More people face starvation and even actual death for want of food today than in any war year and perhaps more than in all the war years combined.—President Truman.

If it's an atomic war we're thinking about, the evacuation of all our cities would be just the first step in preparing for war.—Dr. David Inglis, atom bomb scientist.

Young Spaniard Is Thankful for Peaceful Nation

DENTON, March 8.—Of the 650 veterans enrolled at North Texas State college this semester, probably none is more thankful for the end of the war than Santiago Genoves, who has wandered from one country to another since 1939, when he and his family escaped from their war-ridden homeland, Spain.

Young Genoves first learned the meaning of war in his native Spain. His father, an active member of the loyalists, was director of the most important communication system in Valencia and the family was soon subjected to all the horrors of war.

For three years they worked and suffered until the loyalists were defeated by the falangists, Franco assumed command of the state, and Genoves' father was placed in a concentration camp.

Through the help of friends, Genoves, his mother, sister and an elder brother managed to escape to France, but Hitler's march forced them to flee to Mexico. From Mexico, the family came to the United States where Genoves entered North Texas state.

Meanwhile, his father escaped from the concentration camp and found employment in Mexico City. Knowing a peaceful country, a democratic government and a friendly school for the first time in many years, is what the young refugee is grateful for in Denton.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

CAIRO, March 8.—(P)—The pyramids are undergoing a business depression—and so is Husein Khattab, as their interpreter.

"Things were much better during the war. We used to get 500 or more soldiers at a time then," said Khattab. Khattab looks melodramatically Egyptian in his tall red tasseled turban and flowing wool gallabya. He looks at life and history strictly from an economic point of view.

As a result, he finds himself in disagreement with the Cheops who put 400,000 men to work for 20 years some 50 centuries ago to build the largest pyramid at Giza, just outside Cairo.

He became a guide two years ago after three years of study of Egypt's past, required before the government would give him a guide's license. Before that he ran his own perfume shop in the "Mousky," Cairo's native business quarter.

Khattab and his fellow guides toss tourists around like a well-drilled basketball team. He gives the grand picture, plodding through the desert sands like some figure of the Old Testament. But at each tomb or temple Khattab flips you over to another guide who exacts an extra fee for his specialized knowledge. The whole business is touring a la assembly belt. Apologizing for the ruined condition of the temples Khattab said: "The Romans did it. They were just like the nazis. Whenever people conquer they feel they have to smash something."

He disapproved strongly of the custom the Pharaohs had of burying their wealth and possessions with them, remarking: "The kings, they all thought they would have another life. They take no chances—so they want everything with them."

Khattab was disillusioning about the Sphinx, which recently has had its wartime chinrest of sandbags removed and looks like it once played football for Notre Dame.

"I don't know who built it—nobody knows who built it," he said. "I think it is mystery."

All in all, you get the distinct impression from Khattab that history stinks worse than the perfume business.

Mark Stevens Is Worried Now That Stars Are Back

HOLLYWOOD, March 8.—(AP)—Are the wartime male stars worried about their chances for survival now that Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, Tyrone Power, James Stewart and others are back from the service? At least one of them is—Mark Stevens.

"After all," he said, "the major studios make about 30 big pictures apiece each year. Now that the war is over, each has about 15 leading men to choose from. That doesn't give the newcomer much hope."

Mark is a Cleveland boy who was classified 4-F because of a back injury from a diving accident in the 1934 Junior Olympics. He played opposite Joan Fontaine in "From This Day Forward" at RKO and returned to his home lot, 20th-Fox, to appear in "The Dark Corner." His boss, Darryl Zanuck, has issued a memo ordering star billing because "when people see him they'll know he's a star." But Mark remains unconvinced.

"What's the use of kidding myself?" he said. "I know I got the breaks because men like Tyrone Power and Jimmie Stewart were away at war."

He said every day on "The Dark Corner" he expected a note from the boss telling me I was unsuited for the role.

Perhaps the reason for the actor's worry is that this is the first time he has a good job and a home of his own. And his wife is expecting a baby.

"I remember the days when I slept in Central Park," he mused, "and the days I stole tips in restaurants so I would have money to buy a meal."

Armless Hero Is Extended Old 'Texas' Welcome

MERCEDES, March 8.—(AP)—Several thousand Mercedes citizens yesterday welcomed home Sgt. Wm. G. Harrell, armless hero of the Pacific war, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor and his bride.

The train was delayed more than an hour in Harrell, where another group gave him an ovation. Rev. George Wheeler made the welcoming address over the loud speaker of the army recruiting truck here.

Later Harrell and his bride, his mother and other relatives were guests at a late breakfast given by the American Legion and civic clubs.

The state commander of the American Legion is scheduled to arrive here today to attend a barbecue given in Harrell's honor. He will present the "Olive Branch" a sterling silver life membership card in the Legion.

Harrell and Miss Larena Anderson of Vallejo, Calif., were married recently on the west coast.

Skipper Relates Odyssey With Unwanted Cargo

By FRANK WHITE

TOKYO, March 8.—(AP)—The merchant ship Edwin Marchman sailed from San Francisco "after we definitely knew the war was over," her skipper said today, carrying around the Pacific—for 185 days—war material that somebody obviously wanted but he piled up there.

At one stage of its odyssey, the ship—with 25 others—was ordered from one side of Okinawa to the other, and "we understood this was for the purpose of hockwinking a congressional committee into thinking we had just arrived," the skipper, Capt. C. C. Wright of Alameda, Calif., asserted.

Today, the vessel began unloading officers' club furniture, "expensive sedans for generals," and other cargo it had picked up in Manila in January.

The ship was berthed at pier 19, San Francisco, and had loaded 2,000 tons of cargo by Aug. 15 when Edwin Marchman left at the close of the war. After a delay of a week and many conferences, we finally loaded 6,700 tons of miscellaneous cargo.

Some items were puzzling to me—camouflage netting, camouflage paint, iron stakes, land-mine markers and a lot of other stuff that somebody obviously wanted shipped out of the states rather than have it piled up here—we had on deck 12 of those 11-ton tank trailers, designed to pull disabled tanks from the battlefields for repairs. We sailed Aug. 26 after we definitely knew the war was over.

The ship was hailed for Ie Shima (west of Okinawa) but never got there. It "finally wound up in Ulithi, under navy control, where we spent 42 days." Officers there told the skipper that the army and navy didn't know his cargo, his surrender in the Marianas command would not issue orders to send it home.

It was ordered to dump all ammunition aboard at sea, which he did—an estimated $400,000 worth.

Market Briebs

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—The stock market enjoyed a snail-like rally today with liquors, motors, aircrafts, rails and amusements leading the procession. Accounts were reinitiated in most cases, brokers suggested, on the belief that the February slump had put the list in a position to respond substantially to any good news. Calling off of the telephone strike propelled sentiment to a certain extent.

Transfers of around 900,000 shares were among the smallest for a full stretch since last August.

In front most of the day were Hiram Walker, Schenley, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Glen Martin, Standard Oil, Southern Railway, M-K-T Common and Preferred, U. S. Rubber, Peoples Gas, Standard Gas and Preferred, International Harvester, General Electric, Humana, Shamrock Oil, Electric Power & Light, North American, Du Pont and Montgomery Ward. Convicted Slayer Is Granted Stay

AUSTIN, March 8.—(AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson Wednesday granted Joseph Van Hodge of Houston a commutation of sentence from death to life imprisonment on a murder conviction.

He approved the board's unanimous recommendation based on its belief that the death sentence in Van Hodge's case was too severe. Attorneys for Van Hodge had claimed that the court in which he was convicted was not properly constituted because the members of the legislature which created it had not taken the proper oath of office. In an appeal to the court of criminal appeals, they had also contended the appeals court was similarly without power because its members had not taken the proper oath of office.

The board, in its recommendation to the governor, said:

"It is very apparent from the record in the case that the subject would have received a much less severe sentence had the real defense of the subject been urged before the jury instead of a fantastic attack upon the constitutional foundations of our state government, not even remotely suggested by the facts in this case. We believe the sentence was too severe, and that this case did not properly classify as a death penalty case."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Jess Turner's labor troubles

For four years Jess Turner ran his harness shop alone. But now his nephew's discharged from the Navy and is back to help him.

Right away, it seems that nephew Delbert has some new ideas. He wants more money, shorter hours—and meanwhile Jess' expenses have been going up!

So what does Jess do? He invites Delbert to sit down over a friendly glass of beer and talk the situation over. Jess figures how he can give Delbert some extra dollars, and certain interests in the business; and Delbert figures how he can speed up production on harnesses—and do some saddle work, besides. And they seal the bargain with another friendly glass of beer.

Of course, all labor troubles aren't so simple. But from where I sit, if there could be more friendly discussion—more give and take—more tolerance and understanding—both sides would be a heap better off.

Why Don't We Have Lumber FOR HOME BUILDING?

There are plenty of trees, plenty of lumber mills, but very little lumber for home building. WHY?

Here are the simple facts behind the lumber shortage -- these facts are stopping Home Building:

1. OPA's war-time pricing formulas are decreasing production of lumber.
2. OPA's blind "hold the line" policies, plus lack of enforcement, have led to the development of a huge Black Market in lumber. "Black Market" lumber is lumber that costs the people more money than they would pay if lumber were flowing to them through the normal channels of distribution--the retail lumber dealer
3. Wartime ceiling prices made it profitable for the lumber manufacturer to cut sizes of lumber suitable for war uses, but not suitable for home construction. As OPA continues this unrealistic policy, manufacturers continue to cut lumber sizes which are unsuitable for home construction. In some cases premium prices granted by OPA encouraged production of lumber not usable for Home Building. Proper peacetime adjustments have not yet been made to encourage production of home construction lumber such as flooring, ceiling, siding, millwork, plywood -- all essential items in home construction. This situation affects all lumber production.

4. The manufacturers of lumber have been provided with a hidden premium on export lumber. The OPA has made it more profitable to produce lumber for export to foreign countries than to produce lumber for home construction.

These are merely examples from the lumber field which indicate the type of OPA action that is blocking the production of home building materials in many fields.

The fact remains that homes cannot be built by any industry or Government agency without materials.

Homes cannot be built without lumber--whether that home be wood frame, brick, concrete, or stone.

The lumber and building material dealers, and the contractors of the nation can build all the homes needed--if they have the materials. But the flow of materials must be unblocked. Only increased production of building materials can solve the so-called housing problem and the unrealistic pricing policy of OPA is the biggest present block to increased production!

Any government program that does not FIRST remove the obstacles blocking production of materials will simply add additional difficulties to the problem facing the building industry.
