Senate GOPs Plan Fight Against Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Chairman Vandenberg of Michigan called senate republicans into conference today in an apparent attempt to solidify opposition to President Truman's request for authority to draft strikers in government-seized industries.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said a series of amendments drafted by a special minority committee would be laid before the group.

Immediate indications were that a majority would back the effort to strip pending, house-approved legislation of the draft authority.

The senate recessed for the day at 11:21 a. m. out of respect for the late Senator Carter Glass (D-Va.) who died in early morning.

Senator Murray (D-Mont) proposed meanwhile that organized labor offer Mr. Truman a six-month strike truce in return for a veto of the Case bill and withdrawal of the strike-draft legislation.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) told reporters he will hold the senate in night sessions for the remainder of the week in an attempt to pass (1) the emergency labor bill and (2) legislation extending the life of the selective service act, which otherwise expires June 30.

Barkley said he hopes to get a vote on the labor bill tomorrow. Senator Pepper (D-Fla) and others who oppose it have announced that they intend to talk at length to prevent any show-down this week.

During the truce congress could study the whole field of worker-management relations, said Murray. See LABOR BILL, Page 3

Striking Loggers Make New Threat On Newsprint Mill

VANCOUVER, B. C. — (AP) — The striking loggers of British Columbia brought their power to bear on the newsprint industry today by hanging the "hot" label on logs at the Powell River company pulp mill, which produces the paper used in many United States newspapers.

At the start of the loggers' strike two weeks ago the pulp mills were believed to have enough logs to carry on for three weeks. The Longshoremen's, Seamen's and Inland Boatmen's unions had agreed not to handle any logs labeled as "hot" by the CIO-International Workers of America, but no such action had been taken up to this point.

Officials of the company declared they had no "hot" logs on operations, that all logs on hand were produced before the strike started and any moved since that time have been taken from the booming grounds to the mill by union boats, which were en route, they added, before the strike started.

As this new threat developed Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, federal mediator, was holding hearings at which both the union and the employers were to review their cases. The union seeks wage increases of 18 cents an hour—a drop from the original 25-cent demand and a 40-hour week. The operators have offered a 1 per cent pay raise.

The Spanish people and the government I represent feel we are sufficiently assisted to consider ourselves capable of overthrowing the tyranny. Premier Jose Giral of the exiled Spanish republican leadership told the sub-committee last evening. "We will not be lacking in friendly countries nor aids of every sort."

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Tom Connally said yesterday that he has urged the war department not to declare Camp Bowie, Texas, surplus but to retain it as a future training camp for national guard reserves.

He denied reports that he was taking any part in a move to establish a national park at the camp. The American legion at Brownwood has asked congressmen to back a move to establish a national park in event the camp is declared surplus. At present the camp is on an inactive status.

Pampa News Not to Publish Thursday

For the past two years, the Pampa Daily News has not published an edition on Memorial Day, May 30. This will be the policy again this year.

There is added reason for not publishing a paper on Thursday the strike-draft legislation.

As the reader will notice, the Pampa News has taken measures to pare down the excessive headings and other means of "dressing up" the page, but at the same time endeavoring to give the readers all the world news, along with that of our own community. No features have been dropped.

Radio Station KPDM will be on the air as usual on Thursday, and the regular newscasts will be made.

Big Unions Hint They May Switch Standard Bearers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The big unions, polling with political wrath for President Truman, dropped some oblique hints today that they might switch to another standard bearer, with Henry A. Wallace and Claude Pepper heading the list of acceptables.

Capitol Hill politicians agreed the secretary of commerce and Senator Pepper (D-Ia.) are the likeliest beneficiaries in any such shift of allegiance, but they wanted more concrete evidence that one might be in the making.

The general opinion appeared to be that it is too early to tell whether the administration's handling of the strike emergency has ended the 12-year-old labor-democratic coalition.

However, the way republicans appeared to be seizing on the situation provided democrats food for thought.

Lawmakers noted that both former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) were among the first to join with the unions in urging congress to go slow in empowering the President to regulate striking against the government. Stassen's possible contender for GOP presidential nomination in 1948, labeled the proposal "totalitarian."

Political speculation mounted, three of the nation's most powerful labor organizations kept up a heavy drumfire of criticism on the program Mr. Truman proposed Saturday for coping with strikes in vital industries during the reconversion period.

CIO president Philip Murray was among the latest to blast at Mr. Truman's proposals.

In a telegram to all senators, Murray contended that "in a moment of political expediency."

City May Secure New Water Tank

The purchase of a new 210,000 gallon water storage tank is being considered by the city commission. The tank, if obtained, will be placed at the No. 1 station on South Hobart.

Present storage tanks will hold a total of something over 3,000,000 gallons, which is approximately the amount used in the peak day of consumption last year.

Normally, the present storage capacity would be sufficient, but the water pumped from the No. 1 well cannot be transferred to the storage tanks on north Ward street in sufficient amounts.

Flood Waters Sweep Pennsylvania and N.Y.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — (AP) — Raging flood waters of the Susquehanna river swept over large areas of north-central Pennsylvania and north New York state today, damaging millions of dollars worth of property and causing at least three deaths.

The most severe flood in this area since 1936 covered a fifth of the residential areas of this city of 45,000 persons and left the district virtually isolated.

In the oil region near Bradford, Pa., flood damage was estimated at more than $500,000.

As the crest of the flood moved east and south today, waters swept over banks at Look Haven, Towanda, and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and in other areas.

In Williamsport the flood, caused by four days of heavy rains culminating in a cloudburst yesterday, reached a stage of 27.5 feet at 7:30 a. m. five and a half feet above flood stage, with a crest of 33 feet predicted.

In the disastrous 1936 flood which damaged millions of dollars worth of property and made thousands in central Pennsylvania homeless, the flood waters reached 32.6 feet here. With highways to the north and west already cut and other roads due to be covered by the rapidly rising waters, persons residing in low lying sections were moved to higher ground.

At Renovo, 60 miles to the west, 400 persons were trapped in a house which was being broken up by the surging waters. Three firemen attempted a rescue but failed when a fire broke out. The firemen swam to safety.

New Nation-Wide Shipping Strike Threatening U.S.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The threat of a nation-wide shipping strike rose today after the CIO National Maritime union, one of five Maritime and Dock Workers' unions set to walkout June 15, rejected as "completely inadequate" an offer of a $12.50 monthly wage increase and overtime adjustments made by 39 Atlantic and gulf coast ship operators.

The rejection by the UMW membership last night followed by only a few hours an announcement by the groups' negotiating committees that they had reached agreement on the wage boosts and reductions in work hours.

In a message to Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine institute, Joseph Curran, NMU president and head of the negotiating committee, said the membership rejected the proposals "as completely inadequate representing an increase of less than nine per cent in the lowest paid rating aboard ship x x x"

Curran said the union expected operators to bring to a meeting with representatives of all maritime unions in Washington today "proposals that will be satisfactory to all maritime unions involved."

"Three main demands of the National Maritime union remaining to be settled are a 30 per cent wage increase, an adequate increase in overtime rates and retroactive pay to Oct. 1, 1945."

Other unions involved are the American Communications association, the Marine Cooks and Stewards, the Marine Firemen, Oilers and Wipers, and the Inland Boatmen's union, all CIO.

Basic wages in the industry at present are $145 monthly for able seamen, $220.25 monthly for chief stewards and $157.50 monthly for carpenters and boatswains, union spokesmen said.

The old contract, covering 51,000 NMU members, expired Dec. 30, 1945 and has been continued on a month-to-month basis since that time.

City-General Strike Closes Up Rochester

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (AP) — Disregarding a settlement reached on higher levels, organized labor in Rochester today held a mass picketing demonstration that halted public transportation, extensive men's clothing manufacturing plants and other industries.

End of Strike Seen 'Within Next 48 Hours'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Hill (D-Ala.), deputy administration leader, today predicted an end of the coal strike "within the next 48 hours."

Hill told a reporter he had talked with parties on both sides and that he understood all "are in agreement on principles for settlement."

"I feel confident," Hill said, "that unless something very unforeseen occurs, the coal strike will be settled and announcement of the settlement made within the next 48 hours."

Hill made his statement shortly after a conference between John L. Lewis and Secretary of the Interior Krug looking toward a strike settlement was postponed for more than three hours because neither side was ready for the next move in the negotiation.

The explanation of the postponement was offered by Krug's office after a four-man union delegation showed up without Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers.

The UMW group, headed by UMW vice president John J. O'Leary, spent 20 minutes in Krug's office.

A spokesman for Krug told reporters the four union officials talked with Vice Admiral Ben Moreell, deputy coal mines administrator, about "alleged discrimination" in the operation of the mines.

There was no elaboration of this but the spokesman said O'Leary had drawn the admiral's attention to "a couple of incidents" in which the miners claimed discrimination. The government has been in control of the mines for a week.

The meeting between Krug and Lewis was moved from 10 a. m. (CST) to 1:15 p. m.

All signs pointed to an early agreement as the two entered a conference last night.

Encouraging evidence was the fact that union attorneys were called in to work on the legal aspects of the case.

Efforts Renewed To Curb Spread Of Poliomyelitis

(By The Associated Press) Health officials in Texas cities renewed efforts today to curb the spread of poliomyelitis and encephalitis as reported fatalities reached a total of 10 in the current epidemic.

The death yesterday afternoon of C. A. Russell, 28, of San Antonio set the record.

San Antonio health officials predicted further spread of the disease. Col. H. R. Livesay, chairman of the San Antonio board of health's medical advisory board, forecast a total of 150 cases by fall. Col. Charles F. Craig, an authority on tropical diseases and member of the San Antonio health department, declared the spread of the disease was "definitely an epidemic."

Spurred to action by two cases of polio reported last week, the City of Lubbock began an extensive health program yesterday, forecasting the hazards of polio and all insect-borne diseases.

Pauley Will Tour Northern Korea

SEOUL — (AP) — Edwin W. Pauley, U. S. reparations commissioner, and his party will leave Seoul on a special train tomorrow night for an inspection trip of Russian-occupied northern Korea.

They will inspect former Japanese industries, resources and equipment. With Pauley will be nine principals of his reparations commission, military service personnel and guards.

They will be the first U. S. civilians to enter northern Korea since 1938. The Russians have permitted only a few U. S. army officers in their occupation zone and the Japanese barred visitors before that.

Pauley told a press conference the length of his stay was indefinite. He said Col. Gen. I. Christikov, Russian commander of northern Korea, sent word that he was arranging to furnish the party with supplemental guards, billeting facilities and competent guides. He suggested the mission's program would be coordinated at a conference with Christikov at Heijo, capital of the Russian-occupied sector.

Pauley said other members of the mission would enquire for Mukden Friday to begin their reparations investigation in Manchuria. The north Korea group will fly to Mukden after it returns to Seoul and reports to Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, U. S. occupation commander of southern Korea.

Cubs Are No Longer 'Cousins' To Cards, Schmitz Wins Again

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Failure of the Cubs to beat the Red Birds more than six times in 22 meetings last season almost cost Charley Grimm a pennant. The Cubs may not repeat as National League champions but it's a cinch they'll better their 1945 record against St. Louis with Schmitz doing the bulk of the work.

Chicago was split even in six starts against the Cardinals with Schmitz earning two of the decisions, his latest being a 4-1 job yesterday's only National League contest. St. Louis reached the lean southpaw for only five hits.

Rival coaches tabbed Schmitz as "pitcher with the most stuff in the National League" when they made the swing around the circuit for the first time. Schmitz hasn't been disappointing them.

Foreign Drivers In Last Try-out For Spot in Race

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indianapolis motor speedway wound up qualifications today for the 33 starting positions in the 30th running of the 500-mile international sweepstakes Thursday and gave foreign drivers their last chance to keep the Memorial day grand from being an All-American affair.

Only six places remained open in the field, but at least four of the earlier qualifiers could be nudged out of the race by only fair trial runs today.

The drivers most in danger of finding themselves eliminated were Veteran Louis Durant of Los Angeles, who qualified at 118.973 miles per hour; Joe Chitwood of Reading, Pa., 119.815; Al Putnam of Indianapolis, 119.283; and Louis Tomei of Glendale, Calif., 119.193.

Five foreign drivers still had a chance to get into the lineup in the trials running from noon until 4:30 p. m. today.

American Automobile association observers decided it was too dark for traffic on the two-and-a-half mile track and asphalt oblong.

Perhaps the most dangerous of the invaders was Rudi Caracciola of Switzerland, one-time captain of the great Mercedes-Benz team and last year's racing champion of Europe. Caracciola wasn't permitted to bring his German-built car but he had the pet sponsor of Joe Thorne, Hollywood millionaire driver who is incapacitated by motorist accident injuries. The car, an Art Sparks creation, has a lot of acceleration and could be a definite contender if Caracciola masters it in time.

Davis Penultimate Bracket Completed

LONDON (AP)—Yugoslavia needed only one more victory over Czechoslovakia today to complete the semi-final bracket for Davis cup tennis play in the European zone.

The Yugo Slav team scores its second straight singles triumph at Prague yesterday when Drago Pajic defeated Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia, 3-6, 6-4, 6-6, 6-1, 6-3.

The winner of the match will meet France in one semi-final series while Belgium clashes with Sweden in the other.

Range Homers With One On to Give Oilers 9-7 Win Over Lamesa

LAMESA (Special)—An eighth-inning homer by Tony Range, scoring Earl Harriman and giving him, broke up a 7-7 ball game and gave the Pampa Oilers a 9-7 verdict over the Lamesa Lobos here last night.

Range's homer was the fourth Oiler round-tripper of the game. Manager Grover Seltz, Jack Riley and Emmet Fullenwider each hit for the circuit, all with none on.

Warren Hacker was almost blasted from the mound in the second and third innings when Lamesa scored seven runs on eight hits, but he settled down and pitched one-hit ball for the remainder of his 1 1/2 seventh victory of the season, 25 against no losses.

Lamesa was leading 7-4 at the end of the third, the Oilers made it 7-5 in the fourth and scored two runs in the sixth to pull up to a tie.

Earl Harriman, with three singles in three trips to the plate and three runs scored, was the hitting champion of the game, along with Jack Riley, who had three hits in five trips.

The Oilers move to Lubbock today for a single game tonight and tomorrow night before returning home Thursday to face the Amarillo Blue Sox in a two-game series.

The U. S. Now Is a Nation in Waiting

By RUTH MILLETT

Sister is waiting for a camera. Dad is waiting for a car.

Bud is waiting until a university can find a place for him, so that he can utilize the educational benefits of the GI Bill of Rights.

The engaged couple down the street are waiting on marriage—waiting until they can find a place in which to set up housekeeping.

The butcher is waiting for meat—meanwhile filling his showcase with sliced baloney, so that it won't look quite so bare.

The professional man just out of service is waiting for office space. MEN WAIT FOR SUITS

Nearly every man is waiting for a suit of clothes that isn't yet made because it is waiting for a lining—or a higher price.

We're waiting to take that vacation until we get new tires for the old car we have to use while we wait for the new one.

We're all waiting for different things; and yet for the same thing—that beautiful postwar world they promised us.

And, by golly, we are getting pretty tired of waiting. A country is waiting—that's us.

Labor Bill

(Continued From Page 1) who is chairman of the senate labor committee. The Montana senator's suggestion came before the senate began its second day of debate on House-passed legislation authorizing the government to take over struck facilities, providing jail terms for leaders who decline to call off work-outs and making recalcitrant workmen subject to induction into the army.

At the possibility of a coal strike settlement threatened to cut further ground from under the draft section of the bill there were these other developments:

1. Republicans aimed a half dozen amendments at the President's measure, chief of which would wipe out the draft section entirely.

2. Democratic leaders apparently stalling efforts to force the devised Case bill before the house, with the intent of laying the emergency measure before Mr. Truman first.

3. Labor leaders fired hot blasts at both measures, with CIO President Philip Murray asserting that that the sole aim of the two bills is "the destruction of the labor movement of this nation."

4. A coalition of senate republicans and democrats tightened their lines in an effort to emasculate the bill.

Murray's suggestion for a strike truce evoked no immediate response from labor leaders who, like Murray, would get rid of both bills.

The committee chairman said he thought most major disputes now had been settled, with the exception of the threatened maritime strike, adding that if everybody would cool off for six months while congress investigated the situation some "reasonable" legislation might be evolved.

Coal Strike

Earlier, the mines still stood idle despite the government's appeal for the men to return to work, and the nation's coal supply shrank hourly toward the danger point.

The feeling pervading the Capital was that a break in the two month old strike was inescapable, but the general expectation was that success on a new contract would produce it without the necessity for more drastic government intervention.

Jerry Sadler has signed up some of the Grand Old Opry troupe from Tennessee.

Beauford H. Jester opened his campaign at Corsicana with music by John Boles, but he has not indicated further musical plans.

There is talk that Dr. Homer P. Rainey will at least have a quartet when he starts touring.

And when Casa March hits a town, he places in arranging through a cow's horn. Country boys who never heard any other kind of call to dinner will tell you that's music.

Sadler came into the capitol press room the other day brandishing a fly swatter sent him by a fan at Edna. It carried this label: "Cradly to the Ku Klux Klan. Caution: Use only as directed. Directions: Only one swat needed."

This followed by a few days Sadler's announcement that if elected governor he would use every means in his power to curb a possible resurgence of the Klan in Texas.

Terrell Sledge of Kyle, Rhodes scholar, editor, and farm implement dealer, wrote the Southern Democratic club at Dallas that he would not answer the questionnaire it is sending to democratic candidates.

Sledge, running against Tom Connally for the senate, told the club in a letter that he had already answered the democratic executive committee's questionnaire. He emphasized that he is a democratic candidate, and would up his letter like this:

"I do not, therefore recognize here the competence of the republican party or any of its Texas affiliates, no matter how high-sounding the name it arrogates unto itself."

The day Dr. Rainey announced his candidacy it rained in Austin and pretty generally over the state, except of course in West Texas.

One of the first was a red-hot Raineyite who called the Southern Democratic club a "hot milk can" after the broadcast.

"Did you hear it was Rainey all over the state," he said, hanging up quickly.

Pretty soon another, who has hopes in another sector, came in. "It may sound Rainey," he moaned, "but to me it's just a drip."

That's not all, but typical. Buck Taylor, who issues a mimeographed pamphlet in Austin called the Middlebaster, sat down and figured up the claim of some of the gubernatorial candidates on how many votes they would get.

It added up to 8,400,000. Conservative estimates put the voting strength at 1,800,000. This prompted Buck to say: "My, ain't Texas growin'?"

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Wondering uneasily if you'll do the right thing at the right time when you go to the prom? Then let's start at the beginning so you'll make the date click.

Some boys—sage beavers—invite girls two or three months in advance, then never mention it again. As the zero hour approaches, the girls become worried wrecks wondering if their would-be partners have forgotten the invitation. A month or three weeks ahead is a good time to invite your date; two weeks is the minimum. This gives her time to hustle around in search of something dreamy in white net or plain taffeta.

It's perfectly OK for a boy to invite a girl from another school to his prom and for a girl to ask a boy from another school or town. The one who does the inviting, girl or boy, buys the tickets and exchanges dances beforehand, making out the program.

But no matter who invites whom, the boy provides transportation to and from the dance, whether it's a party convertible or a share-the-ride arrangement with another couple. When you arrive at the dance, arrange where you'll meet your partner after she parks her coat and you check yours. This avoids the embarrassment of losing each other in the crowd. Begin each dance with introductions, if necessary, and rejoin your original partner at the end of each dance.

This followed by a few days Sadler's announcement that if elected governor he would use every means in his power to curb a possible resurgence of the Klan in Texas.

Terrell Sledge of Kyle, Rhodes scholar, editor, and farm implement dealer, wrote the Southern Democratic club at Dallas that he would not answer the questionnaire it is sending to democratic candidates.

Sledge, running against Tom Connally for the senate, told the club in a letter that he had already answered the democratic executive committee's questionnaire. He emphasized that he is a democratic candidate, and would up his letter like this:

"I do not, therefore recognize here the competence of the republican party or any of its Texas affiliates, no matter how high-sounding the name it arrogates unto itself."

The day Dr. Rainey announced his candidacy it rained in Austin and pretty generally over the state, except of course in West Texas.

One of the first was a red-hot Raineyite who called the Southern Democratic club a "hot milk can" after the broadcast.

"Did you hear it was Rainey all over the state," he said, hanging up quickly.

Pretty soon another, who has hopes in another sector, came in. "It may sound Rainey," he moaned, "but to me it's just a drip."

That's not all, but typical. Buck Taylor, who issues a mimeographed pamphlet in Austin called the Middlebaster, sat down and figured up the claim of some of the gubernatorial candidates on how many votes they would get.

It added up to 8,400,000. Conservative estimates put the voting strength at 1,800,000. This prompted Buck to say: "My, ain't Texas growin'?"

"I ain't kidding," said one as he pressed a sharp instrument against Harris' back. The cashier handed over a coin bag containing $25.

Later he discovered a two-inch split in his coat.

City Strike (Continued From Page 1) ployes refused to cross a picket line. Operations of the 80-truck fleet of the City Delivery and Storage company and Yawman & Erbe, manufacturers of steel office equipment, were halted as a result of picketing.

Meanwhile, downtown streets were jammed with cars loaded with hitchhikers picked up en route to work. Others waited in vain at street corners and bus stops.

Pickets bore placards stating "the fired city workers need your all-out support." Similar placards were displayed on cruising automobiles and suspended from mailposts.

Pickets appeared at city garages, the disposal plant, incinerator and two stations where employees of the public works department normally report for duty.

Police Chief Henry Copenhagen said his entire force of 450 men was on duty.

Food Forced Down Striking Prisoners

SANDSTONE, Minn.—(AP)—Five inmates of the Sandstone federal prison, serving terms on charges of draft law violation and on a hunger strike, were given forced feedings yesterday and today.

On recommendations of the prison physician, tubes were inserted in their mouths yesterday, 16th day of the fast, and liquid nourishment was administered.

BUT THEY'RE ALL EARLY TAXPAYERS RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—Virginians have been paying millions of dollars a year to "N. B. Early, Jr." collector of internal revenue, but they've been wrong.

Nathaniel Buzalee Early isn't a "junior" at all. His father's name was John Richard Early, but the collector became known as N.B. Jr. while living with an uncle of the same name, and when Sen. Carter Glass presented his name for collector, it went on the books with the "Jr." attached.

He tried it, and made it up the steps and down.

Shortly afterward he paid a $250 fine and costs for the stunt, and his father promised Faidley won't drive for 60 days.

Although medical discoveries have heightened the possibility of cure for the mentally afflicted, our public mental institutions continue to be handicapped by lack of funds and trained personnel. As a result they are forced into a now standard of treatment and care, comparable in some cases to conditions prevailing in the notorious concentration camps of Europe.—Owen J. Roberts, former supreme court justice.

Unrest Bred of Hunger Perils Ranks Of Japs on Long March to Democracy

Not long ago thousands stormed the entrances and carried into the imperial courtyard the red flag—for the first time in history. Spokesmen protested the food shortage and the delays in distribution of rationed supplies and requested an audience.

A palace functionary offered to meet a delegation at the castle gate. "What kind of a house is this," yelled a leader, "that greets guests outside and does not permit them to enter?"

Plead for Emperor's Rice A few days later another multitude surged around the royal domicile insisting that the emperor share his hidden stores of rice with the people.

International economic conditions are extremely bad. The local Comrades, capitalizing on widespread distress and confusion, are opposing the conservatives in combination with disgruntled socialists.

The politically educated—few in a realm emerging from feudalism—are at cross purposes over ideologies. But the masses in which four and a half million are jobless are chiefly worried about their next meal.

The bulk is on a starvation diet. Food importations have practically stopped. The rice crop is a failure. Farmers are hoarding. The black market is grabbing the few remaining supplies.

Schools are compelled to shorten hours as famished pupils are collapsing in classes. Organized bands of adult lunch-box thieves prey on the children. Now for safety's sake the youngsters carry their food strapped next to their bodies inside their clothing.

Doctors are contending with temporary insanity caused by persons eating poisonous wild spinach and "crazy grass" in lieu of vegetables. Dittentions issue recipes on the preparation of fish intestines for meals. A mother was arrested for throwing her starving baby into a stream so that a "peaceful death" would come swiftly.

Six thousand men and women stormed the Tokyo zoo where keepers raffled animals, asking that the beasts should be given nice homes. Sucking pigs, wild ducks and other creatures didn't have many hours in which to enjoy their new surroundings before being devoured by their hungry owners.

Imperial Servants Denounced To add fuel to the fire a Tokyo newspaper printed a long list of delicacies supposed to be the emperor's pantry "lying waste while people starve". It excused Hirohito, saying that he lived simply while his household servants were stuffing themselves on the sly.

The economic crisis has revived the Japanese habit of looking to the emperor as a national patriarch, a sort of Nipponese "Great White Father" to whom to turn as a last resort. But instead of praying to him as a divinity of old or sending crumbly petitions through traditional channels, the agitated people have staged several mass demonstrations before the palace, demanding immediate action.

Peter Edson's Column: STASSEN IDEA IS PRAISED BY WRITER

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen's "Republican Open Forum" is unquestionably the smartest new idea in politics since the C. I. O. thought up its Political Action committee.

P. A. C. started out to be a grassroots movement to take politics out of the hands of the professional politicians and give it back to the people. But P. A. C. in the two years of its existence has apparently degenerated into just another political machine run by a bunch of bosses.

Republican Open Forum headquarters in Washington under Henry T. McKnight, has just mailed out its second monthly ballot. The question it asks is, "What Shall Our National Labor Policy Be?"

Ballots are sent out in batches of 25 to anyone who wants to run a forum. Twenty-five is considered the best number for a manageable discussion group. With each batch of ballots there is a little leaflet telling how to organize and conduct a like forum. It is short, written in simple style, printed in big type. It is a primer of politics at the bottom level.

It tells how to organize a forum. How to get people to join—by postcard, by telephone, at lunch. When the meeting is held, it is to be an informal circle for free discussion. How to limit each meeting to an hour and a half, so as not to tire people out. How to stimulate discussion and keep it on the track.

It gives a summary of five different ways that labor unions restrict production in order to get the jobs lost or in order to get fictitious wages. The five ways are: 1. They make rules requiring that unnecessary work be done.

2. They curtail their daily output. 3. They enact rules obstructing more efficient methods of doing things. 4. They pad out the number of men required to do a job. 5. They create a scarcity of labor by keeping all but a chosen few out of their fields.

Then Mr. Pitzelle gives many concrete examples of how these five ways run up the cost to the consumer. He explains how the topographical union requires material to be set in type twice when once would be enough by using mats; that is, by making a cast from the original type.

He says that one New York newspaper has estimated that this resetting, which is a complete waste of manpower, costs the newspaper $125,000 each year. There has never been any complete estimate as to what it costs throughout the United States. It must run into many millions of dollars.

After showing how the building trades unions delay work and run up costs, the author contends that the American railroad is straggling under even stiffer make-work rules than the building industry. He says: "The railroad brotherhoods have feared their beds so astoundingly in recent days that they are staggering under even stiffer make-work rules than the building industry."

He goes on to say: "The main device is to define a fair day's work as traveling 100 miles a day for freight trainmen and 100 miles a day for passenger trainmen. It says a freight trainman averages work less than four hours a day."

He quotes Sumner Slichter, Harvard economist, as stating in his recent book "Labor and Industrial Management": "The obsolete definition of a day's work of 50 years ago keeps in railroad service many thousands of men who are not needed there."

Then the author tells FM radio how being developed. He says, "Recently the major networks announced their intention of switching gradually from amplitude modulation to the new, improved 'FM.' During the transition period, while listeners were changing their receiving sets from AM to FM, they planned to send their programs out by both methods. But Mr. Petrillo, ever ready to make use of his musicians, announced that he would pay for two full weeks of music for the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra of 104 men was broadcasting. 208 musicians would have to be paid."

The author gives one example after another of how labor unions restrict production and thus add to the cost. COST ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE Few people realize how labor unions by this method of featherbedding and restricting learners add to the cost of living. In an address made before the Industrial Relations Council of Salt Lake City, Arthur Robert Litterer, a special consultant on labor relations, said:

"In 1941 the economists of the Anti-Trust Division of the United States Department of Justice estimated that labor restrictions on production have nothing to do with wages, hours or conditions of labor were costing the American consumer over $1,000,000,000 a year. If there is any error in this estimate, it is on the conservative side."

There is not much question but that instead of costing a billion dollars it now costs two billion. And if it is costing two billion and there are 35 million families in the United States, then these practices are costing each family in the United States $57 a year on an average. This of course does not include the increased cost due to strikes. Yet labor unions contend that they are beneficial to the working man and increase his standard of living. They cannot do this because they add no wealth to the world but prevent billions of dollars' worth of wealth from being produced. Thus the total pie is smaller and each person has to take a smaller piece of pie whether he be worker or capitalist. The percentage that goes to labor is very nearly constant through the years. All therefore, must take a smaller piece of the pie.

Common Ground By R. C. HOLES "Labor's Featherbeds—What They Cost You" The March issue of The American Magazine has a very timely article on "Labor's Featherbeds—What They Cost You." It was written by Mervyn S. Pitzelle.

Nothing could emphasize more forcibly the stalemate between Russia and the Western Allies than Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's blunt charge that a British-American "bloc" waged an offensive against his country at the recent conference of big four foreign ministers of America, Russia, Britain and France in Paris.

Well, it makes all the difference on which side of the fence one is standing. That's the way things look from Mr. Molotov's position. Washington and London, viewing things from the other side, see an offensive all right, but to them it appears to be coming from Moscow.

Molotov's statement seems to be at least in part an answer to U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes' announcement of policy made a week ago in Washington. That announcement, which signalled a stiffening of American foreign policy, made this point: "We (The United States) must not try to impose our will on others, but we must make sure that others do not get the impression that they can impose their will on us."

The Soviet foreign minister, having charged America and Britain with trying to impose their will on Russia, has this to say: "Certainly no self-respecting Allied state will allow the will of another state to be imposed upon it. The Soviet Union is just such a state, while it has sufficiently demonstrated its desire for coordinated action with other countries, both in the spirit of war (for the sake of an Allied victory) and after the war (for the sake of lasting peace and the security of nations.)"

Mr. Molotov then makes an oblique approach to the burning question among western diplomats and other observers whether Russia is going beyond the needs of security in the expansion of its zones of influence. His answer is to inquire into the interests of the United States in the demand for military bases in Ireland. And he declares the world press is "replete with reports that certain circles in the United States, having formed a bloc with their friends in Great Britain, are seeking to establish naval and military bases in all parts of the globe."

No wonder the big four foreign ministers conference struck tough with the Russian side. They were fighting like cats through the camps of the various delegations. And we have seen these same suspicions hampering the work of the security council of the United Nations.

Spring Flight By WILLIAM MAIER

KEN'S BIRTHDAY PARTY XXXVIII THE next evening Bart and Joel came to call.

Ellie shook hands with Joel and smiled cheerfully and said it had been a long time since he'd seen him. When Bart heard that Ellie was loafing for two weeks, he wanted to know why he didn't come surfing with them. Ellie said he guessed he could dig out the old hand line and give her a try, and Bart asked him if he wouldn't rather borrow a rod; there were plenty of them around over at the house. Ellie said that was a sissy way to fish the surf; he'd stick to the old hand line.

Ken drove in, and Debby brought him in and introduced him. They all stood around in the living room a few minutes, talking, and Debby wondered if Joel was recognizing him as the insurance man who came to the house that day. If he did, he didn't say anything about it. She wasn't enjoying having them all there together much, and as soon as she could, she got Ken out to the car.

They went to the movies in Orleans, and afterwards to the Grille for a glass of beer. Ken asked, "Who is this Summer?" For a moment Debby didn't know who he meant. Then she said, "Oh, you mean Joel. He was Bart Wyman's roommate at Exeter."

"Have you known him long?" "Oh, sure," she said. "Years." She smiled. "I was kind of sweet on him once."

Ken nodded. "That's what I thought." She laughed. "You're not jealous, are you?" "A little."

"Well, you needn't be. He doesn't like me the way I am now as much as he did the way I used to be back in my goose-shooting days."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER PARALLEL—Secretary James F. Byrnes and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan were not promulgating platitudes or organizing a mutual admiration society when they emphasized in recent days that the United States now operates on the basis of an utterly nonpartisan foreign policy.

The present agreement on basic, beyond-the-coastline issues has only one historical parallel in recent years. Republicans and Democrats of high and low degree gave the same sort of unanimous approval when Charles Evans Hughes, in opening the 1922 disarmament conference at Washington, called upon the nations of the world to scrap their armies and navies.

DEMAND—Despite their noble ideals and intentions, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Herbert Hoover were unable to achieve the national solidarity which prevails today. It apparently took a second world war and the emergence of Russia as a disturbing and threatening actor on the international stage to solidify American officialdom.

Capitol Hill comment, as well as nationwide editorial reaction, suggests that the new bipartisan program reflects popular sentiment. Moscow's aggression, together with the irritating tactics of American "Communies," had provoked a general demand for substitution of a definite, take-it-or-leave-it attitude in place of the previous policy of "appeasement."

KEY—Article XIV of the United States charter—the charter which the United States will invoke if Washington decides to refer the peace treaties to that organization's general assembly—was the handiwork of Senator Vandenberg, chair of the republican senatorial conference and generally regarded as the G. O. P.'s official spokesman on foreign affairs.

The man from Michigan wrangled for days at San Francisco with Russian Foreign Minister Molotov over the inclusion of Article XIV in the document prescribing the jurisdiction of the general assembly of U. N.

The Vandenberg proposal permitted the assembly to consider any appeal on any question that threatened peace, "regardless of origin." Those three words are the key to the controversy between Russian and the United States.

APPEAL—Molotov objected to such a broadening of the assembly's jurisdiction. In accordance with the Kremlin's underlying aims, he wanted all power to be vested in the "Big Four" council—Russia, the United States, Britain and China. In 1945, Sidney Hillman who blocked his nomination for Y. P. in 1944, it is doubtful whether their veto will carry much weight in the 1948 convention.

AGE—By the same token, Secretary Byrnes improved his presidential stock in the event that President Truman takes himself out of the race. Even though his defiance of Stalin may have sharpened C. I. O. objections to him (it was Sidney Hillman who blocked his nomination for Y. P. in 1944), it is doubtful whether their veto will carry much weight in the 1948 convention.

Spring Flight

WHILE she was out, Ken called and left a message with Agnes and she had business in Falmouth and was afraid he would be late to the party, and would Debby mind driving herself up to the Carriers? That made her cross too: when a girl was engaged, she should not have to be driving herself to parties. You looked like a fool, walking in to a party all by yourself.

But at 6 o'clock she put on her gayest dress and a little more make-up than usual and drove to the Carriers'. Ken came at 7 o'clock. He came across the studio to where Debby was sitting and kissed her lightly, and then Shirley took him over to the bar for a drink. At 8 o'clock everybody was still drinking. Debby thought they never would get around to eating. She hadn't eaten much of anything all day, and she felt hollow and weak.

When the food finally came, she ate ravenously. She cleaned up her plate, and when she looked up, everybody else's plate was still full. She looked nobody had been watching her eat. She guessed nobody had. Nobody seemed to be paying any attention to her at all. Ken was over on the other side of the room, with the Mattoons and Shirley. She took her plate over to the table and half filled it from the various dishes and took it back and left it on the table beside the couch where she was sitting.

Sometime later Gordy noticed that nobody was paying any attention to her, and he came and sat beside her and told her mournfully, in great detail, all about an article he had been reading about how they subsidized football players in some of the southern universities. He didn't think it was fair to ask colleges that were strict about eligibility rules to compete with colleges that did that, did she?

The room was hectic with noise and confusion, and Debby didn't know where Ken was now. (To Be Continued)

Chief argument against both men is age. Mr. Vandenberg was sixty-two on March 22 and Mr. Byrnes reached sixty-seven on May 2, although they carry their years well.

Today's Schedule Of Redeployment (By The Associated Press) More than 5,000 service personnel are due to embark from four vessels today at two American ports. Ships and units arriving: At New York: Miscellaneous personnel on following vessels: Sedalia Victory from Le Havre, 1,185; Aiken Victory from Le Havre, 1,183.

The automatic grinding machines of the bearing industry, which grind the inner and outer rings of roller bearings to a precision smoothness of 1/10,000,000 of an inch tolerance, rotate their spindles at 2,000 revolutions per second or 130,000.

BATTLEFIELD—Senator Vandenberg's emergence as a diplomatic solvent and figure may easily upset the republican presidential campaign because of this speaking by the Kremlin that Molotov rushed out of San Francisco in a huff and a puff.

As Mr. Byrnes' adviser at the recent Paris council of foreign ministers, the Michigan senator recalled Washington, called upon the nations of the world to scrap their armies and navies.

DEMAND—Despite their noble ideals and intentions, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Herbert Hoover were unable to achieve the national solidarity which prevails today. It apparently took a second world war and the emergence of Russia as a disturbing and threatening actor on the international stage to solidify American officialdom.

Capitol Hill comment, as well as nationwide editorial reaction, suggests that the new bipartisan program reflects popular sentiment. Moscow's aggression, together with the irritating tactics of American "Communies," had provoked a general demand for substitution of a definite, take-it-or-leave-it attitude in place of the previous policy of "appeasement."

KEY—Article XIV of the United States charter—the charter which the United States will invoke if Washington decides to refer the peace treaties to that organization's general assembly—was the handiwork of Senator Vandenberg, chair of the republican senatorial conference and generally regarded as the G. O. P.'s official spokesman on foreign affairs.

The man from Michigan wrangled for days at San Francisco with Russian Foreign Minister Molotov over the inclusion of Article XIV in the document prescribing the jurisdiction of the general assembly of U. N.

The Vandenberg proposal permitted the assembly to consider any appeal on any question that threatened peace, "regardless of origin." Those three words are the key to the controversy between Russian and the United States.

APPEAL—Molotov objected to such a broadening of the assembly's jurisdiction. In accordance with the Kremlin's underlying aims, he wanted all power to be vested in the "Big Four" council—Russia, the United States, Britain and China. In 1945, Sidney Hillman who blocked his nomination for Y. P. in 1944, it is doubtful whether their veto will carry much weight in the 1948 convention.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ending of the rail strike stimulated buying in today's stock market and leaders generally were lifted fractionally to 2 1/2 more points.

Dealings were relatively lively from the start with sizable blocks of long-quoted utilities, mostly narrow, expanding volume.

Texas Air Lines To Use Army Air Field

McALLEN—(AP)—Vice President W. R. Devine of The Texas Air Lines told city officials of Mission, McAllen, and Edinburg today that his firm planned development of Moore field, former army air base in the Rio Grande valley, into a major aerial freight depot.

Devine said the volume of perishable produce in the Valley is sufficient to warrant development of much air cargo traffic. He said if the cities can get the field designated a part of entry into Mexico, much additional passenger and merchandise traffic can be expected.

The three cities signed a temporary contract with the Texas Air Lines designating the firm as manager of their interest in the field. At present the firm is using the field as one of its Texas passenger flight bases.
