OPA Organizes To Kill Lumber Black Markets

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An OPA official said today a new state of special investigators had been organized to fight a lumber black market which government officials say threatens to cripple the veterans housing program.

H. R. Northrup, executive director of the National Retail Lumber Dealers association, has estimated that 80 per cent of southern lumber is going into the black market.

Sidney S. Feinberg, chief of OPA's lumber price enforcement program, told a reporter the agency has assigned 173 special agents to 20 areas from coast to coast which together produce more than 80 per cent of the nation's lumber.

This new program is part of a nationwide drive launched against the lumber black market last month by OPA and the department of justice.

At that time Attorney General Tom Clark said that "complaints indicate that black market conditions are threatening to hamstring the veterans housing program."

OPA Administrator Paul Porter declared the black market "threatens to defeat" plans for 2,700,000 new homes by 1948 "by diverting highly essential lumber in large quantities to illegal uses."

Feinberg said that OPA is optimistic about results from the special agents.

These men, Feinberg added, are under the direct supervision of OPA's regional offices—a new approach to the lumber problem. Previously drives against lumber black markets in these areas were conducted by local OPA offices.

Solon Is Opposed To 'Authorities'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Sen. Thomas (D-Okla.) declared today he is opposed to the creation of "any further authorities" such as the TVA.

In an interview on the proposed program of the Southwestern power administration, Thomas said "this has the earmarks of the beginning of a new authority."

But, the senator added he would not take a position on the question of appropriating $7,500,000 for Southwestern power next fiscal year until he hears all the evidence on both sides.

That amount is in the interior department appropriations bill passed by the house. Hearings on the bill are under way before a senate appropriations subcommittee.

O'Daniel Will Not Enter Race for Texas Governor

By The Associated Press
Senator W. Lee O'Daniel announced last night he would not run for governor of Texas.

That settled one question that has been in the minds of Texas voters for several months.

Will Dr. Homer P. Rainey, deposed University of Texas president, enter the race?

And what will Gov. Coke Stevenson do?

Those are the next two questions. Rainey says he will answer his question tomorrow. Stevenson says nothing.

Both have had petitions and fees filed for their entrance into the race by supporters. All either have to do is say "yes" or "no"—before June 10 deadline for filing or withdrawing.

Last night O'Daniel in a radio address said that he did not see any opportunity to render greater public service "by swapping jobs in the middle of the fight."

He said he would stay in the senate and "continue x x x to try to get the government wrested from the political pirates who have taken control." Much of his speech was in condemnation of "communists, labor leader racketeers and new deal scoundrels."

The ex-governor thanked his supporters for asking him to come back to Texas and make the race for governor for a third term.

Rainey will announce his intentions in a statewide broadcast at 7:15 a. m. tomorrow and again the same day at 9 p. m. The broadcast will be carried by the Texas state network of 14 stations and additional stations.

At a capitol press conference yesterday, Governor Stevenson admitted he had "some inclination" to run for reelection but refused to announce any plans or further details.

He said he was pleased with the recent results of the Belden poll that showed an approval of his administration. He said the results would be persuasive "if a man had any inclination to run."

Earlier this week, supporters of Attorney General Grover Sellers, long an announced gubernatorial candidate, made plans for a campaign opening celebration at Sulphur Springs, Texas, on June 8.

U.N. Iranian Case Will Be Deferred

NEW YORK—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council decided today to continue the Iranian case indefinitely after hearing Iranian Ambassador Hussa Ala express doubt that all Soviet troops had left his troubled country.

The vote was unanimous except for Russia's continued boycott.

Ala told the council in a 2 1/2 hour session that he believed Iran's case should stay on the agenda.

He voiced the opinion that Russia did not take all of her troops out of Iran until long after the May 6 deadline set by the council and added: "If they are actually out now."

NO TRACE OF TROOPS
Ala made this statement only a few hours after sending the council a telegram from Premier Qavam of Iran stating that a commission had found no trace of Soviet troops and that local people in the Republic of Azerbaijan visited by the commission told the Russians left Azerbaijan on May 6.

Ala's statement brought out a sharp difference between the ambassador and Iran's propaganda minister, Princes Firouz.

Prinz yesterday said all Russian troops were out of Iran. He further stated that Ala's statement in New York Monday that Russian interference had not ceased was Ala's own views and not those of the Iranian government.

Ala told the council today that Russia had created and trained Azerbaijan's army; that Iran had no control in that province; and that he could not say that interference had ceased.

Luis Padilla Nervo, Mexico's permanent representative to the U. N., said he would support Ala's position.

Memorial Day and Pampa War Dead Services Planned

Two Memorial services will be held in Pampa, one next Sunday, May 25, for all persons honoring their dead, the second on Memorial Day in commemoration of servicemen who died in action.

Both programs will be sponsored by the veterans organizations, attended by Paul Hill, chaplain of the American Legion, this morning.

The united service for all persons Sunday will be held at 3 p. m. at the cemetery. Rev. Buford A. Norris of the First Christian church, who served as army chaplain in the South Pacific for several years in the last war, will give the principal address.

Rev. Douglas Nelson of the Presbyterian church and president of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, will act as master of ceremonies.

Soviet Radio Says Seven American Planes Shot Down

LONDON—(AP)—The Moscow radio quoted a Tass report from "reliable sources" today as saying that seven American-piloted planes had been shot down over Manchuria while bombing Chinese communist forces.

Reports of the downing of the planes followed the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Manchuria, which was completed May 3, the broadcast said.

Fighting which developed between the communists and Chinese national government forces after that date revealed that "the Kuomintang troops were equipped with American arms, some of which have fallen into the hands of the people's revolutionary army as 'trophy'," the broadcast declared.

"Great indignation," it added, "has been caused in the ranks of the people's revolutionary army by the fact that seven bombers which bombed troops of the people's revolutionary army and were shot down proved to be American."

There has been no intimation recently from China of any American-piloted planes operating over Manchuria except as transports for American observers or for true teams composed of American, Chinese government and communist members.

About two weeks ago, communist officials asserted that two American-piloted U. S. planes were downed near Szeepingai but later acknowledged that both pilots were Chinese. They said similarity in the star insignia of the Chinese and American air forces caused the error.

U. S. army and marine generals in the China theater repeatedly have denied that U. S. pilots were flying any but peaceful missions.

Hereford Breeders Directors To Meet

Directors of the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders' association will meet at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chamber of commerce office to approve the auditor's report of this year's show and make plans for the third annual show to be held next year.

The Hereford Breeders' association was organized in 1944, and with approximately 110 members is rapidly becoming one of the outstanding associations in the southwest.

Frank Carter is vice-president of the association, the late Charlie Thomas was treasurer at the time of his death. E. O. Wedgeworth is secretary.

By The Associated Press
The question of whether government seizure would keep the nation's railroads running and mines operating moved toward a quick showdown today.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Railroad Trainmen said they had submitted their "final proposition" for averting a nationwide railroad strike tomorrow and that they may confer during the day with President Truman.

Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, federal mines administrator, and his assistant, Vice Adm. Ben Morrell, went into their second conference in two days with John L. Lewis in an effort to get assurances that the 400,000 soft coal miners would stay on the job after a two-week truce expires Saturday.

A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen's brotherhood, said the "final proposition" had been submitted to Dr. John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser. Whitney said it was "better than any we have submitted yet" but declined to give any details.

STRIKE SET 4 P. M.
The 250,000 engineers and trainmen, who are under instructions to quit work at 4 p. m. (local standard time) tomorrow, previously had scaled down their wage increase demands from 25 per cent with a $2.50 daily minimum boost to 18 per cent and $1.44.

A spokesman for the carriers said his group had not yet heard from Dr. Steelman and had no word of a White House conference. Whitney told newsmen that Dr. Steelman had advised him by telephone that brotherhood officials might be invited to the White House.

TRUMAN'S ORDER
President Truman's order seizing the mines became effective at 12:01 a. m. today. Lewis, at a preliminary meeting yesterday, told Krug the question of working beyond Saturday would be decided by the end of the day.

Man Being Held For Questioning In Five Deaths

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Chief of Police L. J. Hilbert said today police were holding a man for questioning in the deaths of five persons near Texarkana, all believed slain by a Phantom Killer.

Chief Hilbert said the man, 35, was arrested at the union bus station here as he waited for a bus to Texarkana, Texas early today.

The chief added the man was picked up after a search started when Earl McCutchen, manager of the bus station, called officers when a man bought a ticket to Texarkana and made repeated inquiries concerning schedules, declaring he wanted to reach there during "night hours."

The chief said the man picked up today fitted the description of the one who bought the ticket. He said McCutchen would view him later in an attempt to identify him.

The man, who gave his age as 35, is dark skinned, has dark hair and eyes and is about average height.

Hilbert said the man told detectives he had been employed with a carnival here but had quit when it left.

Loggers' Strikes Could Seriously Curtail Newsprint

NEW YORK—(AP)—Loggers strikes on the Pacific coast and coal shortages on the eastern seaboard, if continued much longer, could seriously curtail the nation's already short supply of newsprint.

Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers association, said today.

Publishers were urged by Williams to conserve their stocks and keep up inventories because of uncertainties in the coal, transportation and wood-cutting industries.

Although Pacific coast paper mills have wood on hand, the strike of the International Woodworkers of America (IWO) in British Columbia, unless settled soon, can deplete those inventories quickly, Williams added.

Newspapers in Texas, Oklahoma and throughout the southwest will be affected by logging strikes because they get their newsprint from British Columbia mills, Williams pointed out.

The newsprint service bureau reported April production of newsprint in North America was 434,421 tons, highest April output in history and that April shipments were 446,927 tons. Stocks at the end of April totaled 196,270 tons, against 208,776 at the end of March.

Saturday Last Day For Wheat Bonus

Last day of delivering wheat to elevators in order that producers be eligible to receive the 30-cent bonus on wheat is Saturday, May 25, advised Miss Evelyn Mason, Gray County Agricultural Conservation Agency secretary, this morning.

To date 22,387 bushels of wheat have been delivered to Gray county elevators since the 30-cent bonus and increase in ceiling was announced, said Miss Mason.

About two months ago, before the bonus was announced, a survey of elevators gave an estimated average of 10-15,000 bushels of wheat in storage in Gray county.

Thus far 24 Gray county producers have turned in their receipts from elevators to the ACA office to collect 21,139.5 bushels of wheat. Over 95 per cent of the producers have collected the entire price, the 30-cent bonus plus ceiling price. The remaining five per cent are collecting the 30-cent bonus only at this time, will sell their wheat at market price later.

Ceiling price for wheat at Pampa, Kingsmill and Laketon elevators is $1.71.5, ceiling at Groom is $1.72, the difference accounting for freight rates. Total collected for wheat at Pampa, Kingsmill and Laketon elevators is thus $2,015.4 a bushel; $2.02 at Groom.

Producers may turn in wheat to elevators and collect under the certificate plan up until May 1. The plan provides for the delivery of wheat to elevators by July 1, with producers able to collect at contemporary market prices until March 31, 1947.

"TOUCHE!"
SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—A labor union official (CIO) was telling the fact-finding board of Pacific Gas and Electric company, at a hotel the other day, about the rising cost of living.

The board interrupted to order two pitchers of ice water—for which it paid room service $1.50 plus a 50-cent tip.

"There's no ice," the speaker. "See what I mean?"

Culberson Will Seek Re-Election

AUSTIN—(AP)—Railroad commission Chairman Olin Culberson has announced his candidacy for reelection to his second term as a member of the regulatory body.

Culberson, veteran of World War I and former railroad switchman, farmer and merchant, said he would base his candidacy on his record of "economical administration, fight to conserve Texas' natural gas, and drive for removal of freight rate discrimination."

"I have carried out by pledges to follow the 'open door' policy of honesty and friendliness in the commission's Austin office, have abolished 'favoritism' in railroad commission oil-gas regulation, truck, bus, rail and utility matters and have vigorously fought every attempt of federal control of oil and gas in Texas," said Culberson.

"But the fight to make the Texas railroad commission what Jim Hogg conceived it should be when he battled the 'special interests' to create the commission has just started," Governor Hogg saw it as guardian of the people's rights and the public health. Olin Culberson sees the commission's duty in that same light today. The economic structure of our state is founded largely on our great oil industry and our natural resources must not be squandered now but must be conserved for the welfare of future generations as well as for the benefit of the present."

Breaking of Wage Law Proves Costly

DALLAS—(AP)—Business establishments in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana have paid out more than a quarter of a million dollars in fines for violation of the wage stabilization law. A Langley Coffey, war stabilization board chairman, said.

The majority of the violators, 159 in all, were in the building and construction industry, Coffey said.

Red Forces Closing in On Chaoyang

Chinese government forces today claimed they had entered Kungchuling halfway between Szeepingai and their goal, the Manchuria capital, Changchun. Communists countered by closing in on Chaoyang in southeastern Jehol province and T'shan, capital of Shantung.

Seizure of Mines Brings New Hope To Federal Policy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Government officials who feared John L. Lewis might scuttle the administration's wage-price policy expressed belief today that federal seizure of the soft coal mines has lessened that possibility.

These officials, who withheld use of their names, told a reporter that since the united mine workers' boss now must deal with the government on a wage and welfare fund contract, the odds are against a price-shattering agreement.

They said a coal price increase, averaging perhaps 30 cents a ton or more, is a foregone conclusion. But they do not expect this to touch off a general round of price hikes for consumer goods as did the steel price increase granted in February.

Saying that the price of coal is a small factor in production costs, these officials noted that fairly slight increases in the past have had little effect on the prices of things made by coal users.

But they do fear that higher prices for coal might aggravate another situation which could lead to higher prices for many consumer products. This is the railroads' pending request for a 25 percent increase in freight rates.

A coal price increase presumably would strengthen the case of railroads because they are major coal consumers.

As for coal wage negotiations, stabilization officials breathed easier when Secretary of Interior Krug took over the job of writing a contract with the miners.

Bowles reportedly had been worried lest the mine operators sign up with Lewis on terms that would blast the wage-price policy wide open. But Bowles still has his fingers crossed because he had no part in previous government discussions with the union and the operators which may have led to some commitments.

'Fatted Calf' Is Ready for Picnic

The "fatted calf," weighing about 1200 pounds, is ready for the Grandview school picnic to be held tomorrow noon at the school, said F. E. Ludwig of Grandview, this morning. L. F. Eakin, master of barbecue, is getting things set today in preparation of the annual event, the climax of spring activities in Gray county.

The barbecued calf, an estimate cost of 20 cents a pound, is a substitute for one purchased last year by Judge S. D. Stennis in the annual auction. As customary a calf will again be auctioned off tomorrow for the next year's barbecue.

For the last month the calf has been fed over a bushel of grain a day by the Baggett boys, Reuben, Johnnie and Vernon, outstanding Gray county 4-H club cuttimen. The grain has been donated by producers of the Grandview district.

Last day of school at Grandview is Friday. Graduation exercises are to be held tonight.

Panhandle Chapter API Meets Tomorrow Night
The second spring meeting of the American Petroleum Institute, Panhandle chapter, production division, will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Palm room of City hall. The meeting is open to the public.

Emphasis on safety will be given during the program, with Dr. R. M. Bellamy, Pampa, adapting films on safety, to be shown by the Halliburton company, to the oil fields.

Dr. Bellamy will also give up-to-date first aid information as gleaned from four-years' experience in service during the war.

Safety programs in the fields are being extended at this time to their pre-war levels and above.

Included in the evening's entertainment will be the magic of Gordon Burch, Berger operator.

Hubbers Sweep Two-Game Series With 7-4 Win in Final

Tulsa, Ft. Worth, Dallas All Score League Victories

(By The Associated Press)
Top ranking teams in the Texas league held to their winning averages yesterday without upset.
The league leading Fort Worth Cats retained a scant two-game lead over the Dallas Rebels by downing the Houston Buffs, 4-2.
The Dallasites won over fourth-place San Antonio Missions, 4-1. Tulsa Oilers, recently lifted to the top three, took a close 7-6 off of Beaumont. Shreveport defeated the cellar club, Oklahoma City, by 7-0.
In the Fort Worth-Houston scrap John Van Cuyk of the Cats missed the Texas league strikeout record by one as he struck out 19 Buffs. The league record was set by Willis Mitchell of San Antonio in 1939.

Bob Ogle and Danny Long battled in all of Fort Worth's runs, launching their blows off Arthur Nelson in the second and fourth innings.
Dallas' Bob Gillespie flung another five-hitter against the Missions. The lone San Antonio run was unearned. Eddie Cole pitched for the Rebels broke loose with three runs to salt away the game.

Tulsa scored three in the first inning only to have Beaumont tie the score in the fifth. The Oilers ran in four counters in the seventh. Beaumont counted one in the seventh and two more runs in the eighth to make a bid.
Shreveport found much opposition in the cellar Oklahoma City club. The Luosians ran up seven runs the first six innings. Oklahoma City challenged with six runs in the last three innings but needed another to tie.

Oilers Entertain Gold Sox in First of Two Crucial Contests

Pampa's Oilers had a slim, half-game hold on their West Texas-New Mexico league lead today as they dropped their third straight contest last night, 7-4, to the Lubbock Hubbers.
The Oilers will meet the Amarillo Gold Sox here tonight at 8:15 in the Oilers' most important series to date.
Bill Garland, leading strikeout artist for the Oilers, will take the mound tonight trying to notch his fifth victory.
Amarillo is currently in third place, following the Gold Sox loss to Borger last night and Ablene's double win over Albuquerque.

Poster White, big rookie hurler who was sailing along with a 7-0 win-loss record up until yesterday, found himself with one defeat on the books today, all of the Lubbock hits and runs being made off him in the eight innings he pitched.
Ed Leiker, coming in to pitch the ninth for the Oilers, displayed fine form and struck out three of the four batters who faced him. The first man up had reached first on Grover Seitz' error in center field.
Lefty Ernie Nelson didn't offer the Oilers much to nit, limiting the locals to six hits and sending eight out by the strikeout method. Nelson weakened in the eighth, allowing the four batters who faced him. The first man up had reached first on Grover Seitz' error in center field.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—During the past few days entries for the open golf championship were "coming in like Phillies' pitchers," according to USGA Secretary Joe Dey, and the amazing thing to Joe was that most of the names were familiar—Dey joined the navy about the time the USGA abandoned its tourneys so he was surprised to find the top names on the entry list were the same fellows who were tops in 1941—Whether there's a new crop of golfers coming along probably won't be seen until the amateur championship is played—a few, like Frank Stranahan and Cary Middlecoff, turned up during and after the war but it may turn out that tournament golf lost five years of development when there was no serious competition.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
The South Carolina town of Peizer (pop. 400) contributed six monogram sweater winners to Clemson's baseball team this spring—Band-leader Fred Waring, who now owns the Shawnee (Pa.) country club, has hooked up a new golf handicapping system based on giving distance instead of strokes—Z. G. Clevenger, Indiana U. athletic director, will miss his first Indiana football game since 1923 next fall. Tennessee, where Clev coached the first undefeated team in 1914, will hold a "Clevenger reunion" Oct. 18, the night before the Hoosiers play Iowa.

FOOTBALL PARTY
In his first venture into Alabama politics, Jimmy Hitchcock, former grid captain and coach at Auburn and former pro baseball player, won a post on the Alabama public service commission by a majority of over 16,000. He's a brother of the Detroit Tigers' Billy—Haygood Patterson Sr., another ex-Auburn griddier, was named state commissioner of agriculture. Ben Hudson, end on the first Alabama U. Rose Bowl team, lost a close race for secretary of state to Sibyl Hudson.

DETROIT FOUND OUT ABOUT JOHNSON
yesterday when once again he came in to save a game that Dobson almost lost, hurling five hitless innings and drive home the winning runs of a 6-4 triumph.
Although Cronin hopes to make Johnson a starter, slowness in pounding into condition forced the skipper to put him in the bullpen.
He got the decision over Washington, April 17, failed to last in his lone starting job against the Senators, April 23, and then beat the Yanks and Tigers. In his last 12 innings on relief, he has allowed only two hits.

THE SOX' FIRST PLACE MARGIN WAS increased to six full games when the New York Yankees fell before Cleveland's Bobby Feller, 7-2. Rapid Robert, facing the Yanks for the first time since his no-hitter, yielded only five blows and ran his strikeout total to 93 in 80 innings by fanning eight men.
In the only other scheduled tilt in the American, Jack Kramer hauled the St. Louis Browns into sole possession of fifth place on a 4-3 edge over Philadelphia.

THE PESKY PHILLIES KNOCKED OUT the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, dumping the Red Birds into an exact first place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers who were rained out of the game with Cincinnati after playing one inning.
Wet grounds forced postponement of the Pittsburgh-New York game and the Chicago Cubs and Boston were not scheduled.

Earl Johnson Is Hero of Boston, New York Game

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer
Earl Johnson, a battle of the Bulge vet who naturally finds no terror in enemy baseball bats, rates as Joe Cronin's relief ace with three straight "fireman" decisions for the soaring Boston Red Sox.
Every pennant club needs one dependable reliever with icewater in his veins who can step in to the midst of a batting rally and quiet the opposition. Cronin appears to have that man in Johnson, a native of Redmond, Wash., who was awarded the Bronze Star for bravery in action before he was commissioned a first lieutenant on the field of battle.

After Joe Dimaggio had belted Joe Dobson for a grand slam homer in the opener of the "big" series at Yankee stadium two weeks ago, Cronin waved in Johnson and the lanky left-hander blanked the Yanks with one hit in the remaining five frames.

Steer Neisters Enter Tourney, May Get Mentor

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. Daniel Allen Penick is preparing to take a squad to the National Collegiate Tennis Tournament at Evanston, Ill., next month. If the boys win, Dr. Penick will be appointed officially as tennis coach at the University of Texas.

The 76-year-old professor of classical languages isn't sure he ever had a tennis racket as a student, although he's been coaching tennis since the turn of the century at the state university.
Dr. Penick's teams have won 24 doubles and 21 singles championships since the sport was introduced into the Southwest conference 32 years ago. Nationally, Texas has won two singles and five doubles titles. The Longhorns rank third in the nation with seven points toward the Charles Garland cup, trailing only Miami and Stanford universities, which have 12 and 11 points respectively.

Wilmer Allison and Berkeley Bell were not only singles champions but were members of the Davis cup team and Allison was ranked as the nation's No. 1 performer in open play. Bruce Barnes was another nationally-known star developed by Dr. Penick.

Dr. Penick says his coaching job "like this famous topsy, just grew up." During his last two years as a student at Texas in 1891 and '92, Dr. Penick took up tennis merely as a social activity to be enjoyed with "young ladies and gentlemen of my acquaintance." When he assumed his alma mater as a member of the faculty in 1899, he drifted into the role of godfather to tennis which then was "an orphan among sports at the university."

In 1900 Dr. Penick succeeded in getting tennis made an official sport and he coached the first team. He's the only coach Texas ever has had.

estimates that monthly earnings of the pullers between $5 and $10 in Elkh, $7.50 and $9 in Madras and about $12.50 in Calcutta.
Riksha pullers come mainly from the village and suburban areas, drawn into the profession through need of employment or indebtedness. Factory hands and menial public employes in Calcutta supplement their income by pulling rikshas.

It was not until about 1915 that Indians took to riksha pulling, the novelty of which provoked scorn and jeers from crowds.
Gasoline rationing and the rising costs of carts and horses during the war increased the number of riksha pullers. Calcutta and Madras limited the number of public rikshas to 6,000 and 4,000 respectively, but the number of licensed pullers according to latest available figures (1944) were 30,000 in Calcutta and 6,122 in Madras.

The labor investigating committee's report said this wartime situation had given rise to abuse. Because of the restriction on rikshas, the price of license plates was reported to be as high as $242 to $273, although even the inflated price of a riksha was not more than about $90.

India's public rikshas are mostly owned by petty capitalists. In Simla they share the earnings with their pullers but in Madras and Calcutta the pullers pay a fixed hire charge for vehicles. The labor committee

Houston Horse Show Will Be Big Event

HOUSTON (AP)—An estimated $1,000,000 worth of horseflesh will be on parade at the $15,000 Houston Horse show scheduled Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the J. S. Abercrombie Pin Oak stables.
Proceeds from the show will go to the navy league to build bowling alleys for the patients at the new navy hospital here.

Among the entries will be Savage Sailor, world champion road horse, and the Harness Sycamore ace, recently purchased for $20,000, from the stable of Lloyd Teater of Chicago.
Other well-known stables to be represented will be those of Mrs. R. L. Wheelock of Corsicana, 4-B Farms of Amarillo, P. W. Woodruff, Jr., of Shreveport and Hobby Horse stable of Austin.

Stakes range from $2,000 for the five-gaited to $700 for the hunter and jumper divisions.

Swedish Athlete Coming to America

NEW YORK (AP)—Lennart Strand, Sweden's 1500-meter champion, has accepted an invitation to compete in three or four meets in the United States, including the national championships at San Antonio, Texas, June 28-29, Secretary-Treasurer Daniel J. Ferris of the Amateur Athletic Union announced today.

Statistics Show Why Steers Won Baseball Crown
(By The Associated Press)
Statistics of the Southwest conference baseball race released by James H. Stewart, executive secretary, aptly show why the University of Texas was so far ahead of the field in rolling to the championship.
Texas, which has the opportunity to further fatten its averages in three games against celer-dwelling Texas Christian and Southern Methodist this week-end, leads in batting and fielding, has the top hitter, the four leading pitchers and leads in individual fielding at three positions.

The Longhorns have clouted to the tune of 304 in 12 games—37 points better than second-place Baylor. Texas also shows a fielding average of .945—37 points ahead of Baylor.
Ransom Jackson, Texas third baseman, leads the batting race with .460 on 23 hits in 50 times at bat. Bill Bishop, Rice pitcher, is second with .454 and Hub Moon, Texas A. and M. outfielder, is third with .425.
In pitching Bobby Lane of Texas has set a conference record by winning eight games and losing none. A. J. Hamilton of Texas has won two and lost none and Fred Brent and Charley Tankersley of Texas each has won one and lost none.

Every oil well has a life span which production engineers can estimate fairly accurately, as soon as the well starts flowing.
It is estimated that the average daily production per oil well in the United States is about ten barrels a day.

Pair Real Flowers With Artificial Ones For Your Novel Summer Accessories

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

Twins you may want to adopt are paired flower arrangements—one garden-grown, one to match plucked from the millinery-trimmings counter—which can be worn to add a novelty touch to your summer costume.

Use the real flowers as a corsage or a nosegay; their artificial counterpart to wear on your hat, in your hair or as a fancy wristlet.

The artificial poses, which lend themselves better to sewing on or stringing together than real flowers, can be made into necktie garlands or head wreaths. Linked by their entwined stems, artificial blossoms make pretty non-wilting necklaces which many Hollywood stars wear to fill the bareness of low-cut gowns.

One baker of this flower fashion is Marguerite Chapman, now starring in "The Walls Came Tumbling Down." With bouquets of real daisies, violets, or freesias pinned to her waist, she wears necklaces or tiaras to match made of artificial flowers, strung together

Hosiery Seams Have Ill Effects on Feet

When interviewed Dr. William J. Stieckel of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the National Association of Chiropodists, which is sponsoring Foot Health Week May 18-25, 1946, stated that chiropodists have observed the ill effects of hosiery seams on the feet. Frequently a thick seam is a source of discomfort along the sole, at the heel and in the area of the toes.

When troublesome seams irritate the foot they are often responsible for abrasions and injuries which, besides causing the wearer pain also weaken the skin to the point where infection may occur. The parasites which cause fungus disease (Athlete's Foot) may be aided as one of the conditions to which feet are especially susceptible in this respect. Friction due to seams produces sore tender areas on various parts of the foot which permits easy access to the fungi and also provides a very favorable site for its growth.

The newest type of seamless nylon hose recently introduced in New York eliminates this friction danger and promises relief in many cases from other foot disorders such as blisters, calluses and corns, by reason of its new gusseted heel and toe design.

The heel has two gussets seamlessly knit right into it. These gussets impart an elasticity to the stocking which reduces blister-causing friction and relieves fabric strain across the ankle. Similar gussets are knit into this improved nylon hose at either side of the toe. Thus, elasticity again allows greater freedom for the toes as they move naturally in walking. Chiropodists always endeavor to protect painful surfaces on the feet of the patients undergoing treatment. It sometimes becomes a vexing problem to give adequate relief if irritating hosiery seems are one of the factors which must be contended with in certain types of foot disabilities.

Thoughtful Letters to Congressmen Outweigh 'For' Against Types

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

Thoughts From a Meeting of The Society of Individualists

I enjoy reading the literature issued by The Society of Individualists of London. The people in England seem to be becoming aware of what is taking place in their land, judging from the growth of this society.

In 1940 The Society of Individualists had 3127 members; in 1941, 5248; in 1942, 8180; in 1943, 10,301; in 1944, 18,400; and in 1945, 29,540 members.

The secretary reports that the society now has more than a hundred voluntary speakers, and whereas until recently it was not easy to get a hearing, it is now most difficult to supply the pressing demand from every part of the country.

Their meetings are a great stimulant for individual freedom. Not only do they arouse the determination of the members to spread the gospel of freedom and individualism, but their meetings are filled with wit and humor.

Here is a quotation from the distinguished English dramatist, "These are times when the Englishman's home, which was once his castle, is in danger of becoming his concentration camp, and I fully expect every morning to find in the paper news that some citizen has been arrested because he was found in possession of private property. If the Wise Virgins were alive today they would be arrested for hoarding petrol, and their lamps would be confiscated and given to the Foolish Virgins."

"Sometimes I think, when I survey my country and look at the queer things it is doing, that we are all like a pack of greyhounds running after a faked hare which we have not any hope of catching, and if we could catch it, it would not be worth catching."

"If I were asked to say what Liberty is, I would say shortly it is the right of choice—to make a choice. If I cannot choose whether I shall stay here or elsewhere, but must be directed there or directed to stay here, I am a slave. A slave is a very secure person, but he is not free. The most carefully guarded, the most secure people in this city today are in Wormwood Scrubs. They are well looked after, they are given free meals, not any worse than those we get outside. They are given impressive literature, literature carefully chosen for them. They are doctored; they are clothed and they are housed. Strong and able-bodied men are so determined to take care of them that they carry rifles. They are strong, able-bodied men call them in the morning but not with tea and put them to bed again at night. They are absolutely secure, but they are in goal and that is the fate which is being prepared for you by the people in power. You will be secure, you will be given utility food which makes you sick, and when you die you will be given a utility coffin which will fall to pieces when you are on the bottom of your grave, and then you will know you are safe."

It would be a great pleasure indeed to attend a meeting of The Society of Individualists and hear such wise sayings and such sparkling wit as come from these great leaders of a great people.

The first American Automobile Show was held in Madison Square Garden in New York City in 1900.

Congressmen take seriously their constituents' letters on disputed issues, and in most cases vote in accordance with majority mail opinion, says George E. Outland, representative from California, in The Reader's Digest for June. But he adds, "Congressmen are not mere tabulating machines who sort their letters in two piles and vote for the heavier pile. One thoughtful letter will outweigh half a dozen which simply say 'vote for this' or 'vote against that.'"

Outland's article, condensed from Liberty, says that no congressman can keep fully informed on the thousands of bills and resolutions introduced in any session of congress. Hence letters from individuals and organizations who study vital measures in detail can be extremely helpful. Urging intelligent letter writing on the part of constituents, Outland holds that "one spontaneous outburst on your own stationery is far more effective than a hundred mimeographed letters in some write-your-congressman drive. Reasons for favoring or opposing a measure should be given. A member of congress is more interested in a constituent's reason for his position than in the position itself. "Letters merely pro and con, without reasons, are suspect. A letter should be specific, telling, if possible, how a national issue affects the constituent's local community, his business or his family. It should be addressed to the congressman from the writer's own district or to the chairman or other member of the committee considering the bill. Form of address is unimportant. Probably there are not half a dozen men in congress who care whether a letter is addressed to "The Hon. John Doe, M.C." or "The Hon. Richard Roe, U.S.S." Outland says. Marking letters "personal" or "confidential" defeats this purpose, sometimes delays reading and inevitably annoys the congressman receiving them.

The article cites instances in which the power of constituents' mail has been dramatically demonstrated. In the summer of 1940, after the President had made known that he wanted congress to go home, a flood of letters poured in, demanding that congress stay in session during the war emergency. Congress stayed, and in that session passed bills initiating two-ocean navy and our selective service. A striking example of the influence of letter writers was the case of the so-called pensions for congressmen bill. After it had become law a deluge of protesting letters caused congress to pass a bill rescinding its previous action.

Mail to congress now averages 60,000 letters a day, and "four letters of every five ask for information or favors." Odd requests, such as one from a woman wanting a couple of Potomac river rocks for her collection of stones, are not unusual.

"Dangerous Big-Army Talk"

MACKENZIE'S Column

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
If you would like guidance as to the basis of the serious differences between Russia and America and Britain, you should study the following two paragraphs from Secretary of State Byrnes' report on the Paris meeting of foreign ministers.

"Security is the concern of every nation. But the effort of one nation to increase its security may threaten the security of other nations and cause them to try to increase their own security. The quest for security may lead to less rather than more security in the world.

"It is in truth extremely difficult to know to what extent the action of any nation may be ascribed to its quest for security or its desire to expand. But some so-called security moves on the diplomatic checker-board have not contributed to a general sense of security."

The situation looks to be about like this: As the war drew to a close it was obvious that there would have to be many readjustments—some territorial and others in the zones of influence—in order to provide security for all nations. Many of these readjustments were aimed at security against any possible rebirth of German military power.

There was general agreement among the United Nations that such precautions were legitimate. Because Soviet Russia was emerging as the colossus of the eastern hemisphere it was tacitly conceded that her new status called for widespread changes.

There have been differences of opinion among the Big Three as to the exact extent of the realignments necessary for security. One of the most serious differences of the moment relates to the Soviet ambitions in the Mediterranean. The question has arisen in the camp of the western allies whether Moscow is aiming, not merely at gaining free access to the Mediterranean, but at assuming the position of dominance in that inland sea through which passes England's imperial life-line to the east.

That would be a direct challenge to British security—and Uncle Sam, for the sake of his own security if for no other reason, can't afford to see John Bull crippled.

America's attitude was clearly put by Secretary Byrnes when he said: "We must not try to impose our will on others, but we must make sure that others do not get the impression that they can impose their will on us."

Gracie reports
Well, every day there's another sign that the country is returning to normalcy. Just today I read that the junkman is back with a pair of Graciously, if reconversion ever really does set in, the junkman can make one stop at our house and then reiterate for life. He can have our car, and we can have our business the toast on one side and doesn't cook it at all on the other—our electric clock—Gracie which stops every hour on the half hour, and our washing machine which makes lovely lace panties of George's shirts. In fact, George is about the only thing around our house he can't have.

I wish the old-clothes man would return too. Dear me, an awful lot of us would like to hear his cherry cry again, and buy some of his stock to wear instead of the stuff we have on.

JEALOUSY!
XXXIII
It was on a warm Saturday in late October that Debby went on the memorable picnic. She was walking to the garage for her car that morning—she had bought a six-year-old roadster for fifty dollars, to get her to and from the freezer—when Ellie came out of the door behind her and called, "Debby."

She turned, and he was standing on the brick step. He was freshly shaved and his hair was wet and combed and he had on a clean shirt. "Hey," he called, "you gonna make decoys this afternoon?"

Debby looked puzzled, half smiling. "It's Saturday, isn't it? Don't we always work on 'em Saturdays?"

"Well, yeah," he said, a little defensively, "but look, Debby, you don't have to—you don't want to think you've got to do stuff with me if you'd rather be doing something with your swanky friends."

Debby looked tolerantly exasperated, as though he were a stupid child. "You nut!" she said. She walked back and kissed him, re-soundingly, on the mouth. She didn't mind kissing him when he was shaved and all cleaned up. "Now look," she said, "don't talk any more nonsense, see?"

She drove to work and it was a busy morning. At a quarter of twelve the freezer crew had just come in for their pay envelopes when the telephone rang. Debby answered, and without bothering to say hello or to tell who she was, Shirley Currier said, "You're going on a picnic up in the State Park?"

Debby said, "No can do." And Shirley said, "Nonsense. Of course you can. Why can't you?"

"I'm busy."

"You're seen' quite a lot of him lately." She looked at him blankly. "Sure," she said. They went into the kitchen together where Agnes was putting their dinners on the plates. She had already had hers. They took their plates into the dining room and sat down. "Yeah, I got out with him some," said Debby. "What about it?" "Nothin'," said Ellie, "cept o'course, he's a crook."

"A crook?" "Tried to gyp us out of forty-five hundred dollars, didn't he?" "When?" "On the furniture. Offered us five hundred, when he knew all the time it was worth five thousand."

"But gosh, Ellie, he's the one got us over seven thousand. If it hadn't been for him we wouldn't ever of got our seven thousand."

"Nothin' but what was ours by rights," Ellie said implacably. "I don't give him any credit for that."

AGNES came and stood in the doorway. Debby said, "Ellie is claiming Ken Newkirk's a crook, on account of his only offering us five hundred for that furniture." She put a u s d. thinking. Then she laughed. "There was a time when I got the dickens for just hintin' he might not be honest. Remember that?"

Agnes was looking at Ellie out of the corner of her eye, and the expression on her face was scornful and at the same time sad. "Gee, Newkirk's honesty isn't what he's really worrying about," she said. "What you talkin' about?"

"If you don't know," said Agnes, "it won't do any good to tell you." Ellie stared at her wide-eyed, his head back. Debby didn't have any idea what Agnes was talking about, and she couldn't tell from Ellie's expression whether he did or not.

"Mysterious, eh?" Ellie said. Agnes looked into his eyes contemptuously and went into the living room.

Peter Edson's Column:

NO FIRM SUPPORT OF THE PUBLIC INTEREST

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—The fundamental trouble with the labor situation today, says Donald R. Richberg, one of the founding fathers of the railway labor law, is that there is no firm support of the public interest by any of the three branches of government. Richberg's inference is that when government makes itself into a disorganizer it cleans up nothing even though it does a lot of sloshing around in the sink.

From the executive branch of the government there has come no disciplinary leadership in postwar labor crises, Richberg explains. From the legislative there has come no law which would turn the tide away from labor demonization of government. From the courts there has come only a series of decisions extending the immunities of labor organizations from responsibility to the general public.

Public Opinion Must Support Industrial Peace

The only solution to this problem, Richberg believes, is first to build up public opinion and next to write legislation which will create the moral and legal duty to preserve industrial peace.

A change in this rule-by-force psychology, says Richberg, can come principally from the President of the United States. There was ample authority under the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act for the President to have moved in when the coal strike first threatened, Richberg believes.

manent delegate sitting for the first time, proposed adjournment to consider "remains" the council had heard this morning.

He summed up the questions before the council as follows:

Should the council intervene in the situation, should it wait for a more definite reply from Iran, or should it help Iran get accurate information from Azerbaijan.

After considerable debate on the effects of adjournment now, Ir-dilla Nervo withdrew his motion.

Ala was invited to a seat at the council table on the request of the Netherlands delegate, Dr. Elco Van Kieffens, after the United States and Great Britain had joined in a demand to keep the Iranian case on the agenda until a complete report has been made.

The ambassador said that Premier Qavam of Iran had asked that the question of Soviet withdrawal of troops from Iran be dropped.

But Ala added, the premier in his instructions had said nothing about withdrawing Iran's other complaint, that of Soviet interference in Iranian affairs.

Russia's seat at the council table was empty as the council met to decide what to do about Iran's case.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, charged that the council's attitude on the whole affair has served to make Iran a perpetual football of big power politics.

Ala said he believed "it was long after May 2 when all of the Soviet troops were withdrawn from Iran—if they are actually out now."

He submitted a report from Premier Qavam last night saying Russian troops had left Iran by May 6.

Answering pointed questions by Dr. Lange concerning the evacuation of troops and interference in Iran's affairs, Ala said that Qavam's telegram was "not a categorical statement" that all troops were out of Iran.

Ala said that the government had "no control over the Azerbaijan province" and that Qavam's telegram indicated Iran believed that on the basis of available information the evacuation was completed.

He said the Azerbaijan army had been "created by the Soviet army" and trained by it.

"Does that not constitute interference?" he asked.

"I cannot tell you that interference has ceased."

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., U. S. delegate, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Great Britain, termed the Iranian report to the council that Soviet troops were out of the country by May 6 "incomplete" and "not the conclusive evidence that we felt was to be submitted to the council."

day was one for the individual miner to decide. Krug added, however, that Lewis took under consideration a request for "support."

The miners originally quit work on April 1 and returned to their pits on May 13, at the request of Lewis, for two weeks.

Krug said that whatever contract the mine administrators work out will have to be submitted to the operators before the agreement can be completed and the mines released to their owners. Lewis' most controversial point in demands for the miners is a seven per cent payroll levy for a union-administered health and welfare fund. The operators have offered him the 1 1/2 cent hourly wage increase.

known to have held all along that the miners should be granted a wage increase of no more than 18 1/2 cents an hour. He has felt that a bigger increase would open the way for another round of wage hikes and prices.

On the Lewis demand for a welfare fund, stabilization officials reportedly are taking the stand that the seven per cent payroll levy sought by the UMW president is excessive. Some of these officials are contending a tax of two or three percent is all that should be allowed.

The reason for this is that such funds, if they meet government specifications, may be taken into consideration by OPA for pricing purposes. On top of a wage increase, this might boost coal prices another notch.

Kiwanis Show

Famuy since 1916, and Mrs. Nora Shaw, of Amarillo, both tied for the woman having the most children. Each reported seven, and they named them. Each received a pair of sheets. The first-night winner, Mrs. Myrtle Enloe, Pampa, had won with 13 children.

A Tennessee, recently moved here, won the prize for being the youngest mother present. Mrs. Ralph Morgan, 21, was awarded a pair of sheets. She has a 2-year-old son.

One man was interviewed—C. O. Drew, who received a carton of cigarettes.

Last night's Breakfast in Hollywood feature, the second half of the show, was broadcast over station. FPDN, beginning at 9:30 and ending promptly at 10.

Kiwanis officials reported today that the show was a success. They said the citizens had cooperated, as well as had the merchants of the city. The merchants cooperated by sponsoring the various entries and in buying space on the two-night program.

The club show, which featured men from other clubs and non-club businessmen, was given to benefit the church softball games to be played here this season, and to support the underprivileged children's fund. Many valuable prizes were given away in connection with candy sales held both nights.

The show was produced by Mrs. Doris Landers Hess of Amarillo.

"This new program," Feinberg said, "is aimed at more speed and efficiency in handling violation of lumber price ceilings. By putting the enforcement operation on a regional basis, our investigators are freed of a lot of red tape which had narrowed the field in which they could work."

Some of the regional investigators were transferred from district office staffs, but most of them are new and specially trained for the job, Feinberg said. Many, he added, come to OPA from armed services where they had investigative experience.

The new lumber enforcement units were organized in April, but did not begin to operate until this month. For the most part, Feinberg said, these agents have headquarters at OPA district offices, although not under their jurisdiction.

The new units are located in cities including: Dallas and Houston, Texas; New Orleans, La.; Spokane and Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.

Manchuria

moved on Changchun in mid-April when the Russians withdrew their occupation forces from the Manchurian capital.

General Tu told the press that three armies and 15 brigades of "bandit troops" totaling 110,000 men originally stationed at Szeepingkai were preparing to attack Kalyuan and Changtu.

Tu and Gen. Hsiung Hsi-Hui sent a joint telegram to General Marshall's peace committee at Nanking and to Sino-American executive (truce) headquarters at Peiping urging them to request "the bandit troops" to evacuate Antung and Changchun. He also urged them to ask the communists to refrain from destroying communications and otherwise hindering activities of the government forces in taking over Manchuria.

Meantime, Gen. Chang Chun, governor of Szechuan province and the original government member of Marshall's peace commission, flew to Shanghai on a truce mission. The Shanghai Evening Post said he would confer with democratic league leaders who had refused to go to Nanking "because they contended 'the present stand on both the Kuomintang (people's party) and the communists makes successful peace talks impossible.'"

A spokesman said the democratic league had telegraphed Chiang Kai-shek and communist leader Chou En-Lai proposing the following truce:

The communists to evacuate Changchun but government troops to remain outside the city while the northeast (Manchurian) political council appoints officials to take over and administer the city. Other disputes be settled after that cease fire truce is arranged.

AIRBORNE SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(P)—Two diaper service operators teamed up today to speed operations in Saratoga Springs and Gloversville by inaugurating air transport of diapers between their plants.

Nicholas Alexander, Saratoga Springs, does the laundry for his own service as well as that of Peter Matthews in Gloversville, about 30 miles away. They formerly carted diapers by truck. Each owns his own plane, however, and the first load of 1,400 clean diapers is scheduled to move from Saratoga Springs to Gloversville today.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis plans to spend $800,000 in five years to train doctors, nurses and physical therapists.

Two simple steps in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG PEOPLE, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red-blood. In such cases Nature needs extra help. If an organic trouble or focal infection is suspected, consult your physician. Tissue foods must be digested and rich, red-blood must be present to build sturdy bodies. S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. It helps nature work faster when extra help is needed. You can start today... at drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. © S.S.S. Co.

In High Altitudes YOUR MOTOR NEEDS A LIFT

A brief glance at the adjoining map gives you an immediate idea as to the altitude of this territory of ours where climatic conditions affect your motor differently than in other parts of the country. Naturally then, your motor will work better if it is fed a gasoline suited to this particular climate. Shamrock gasoline is especially blended for use in the Southwest. That's why it will give you smooth, trouble-free motor performance, plus the pick-up and power you're after. Give your motor a lift with Shamrock's climatized gasoline. Made in the Southwest... for the Southwest!

Culberson Announces For Re-election

Clin Culberson, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, today formally announced his candidacy for a second term as Railroad Commissioner having his candidacy on his record of economical administration, his hard fight to conserve the Texas natural gas supply and his consistent drive for the removal of the freight rate discrimination against Texas farmers, fruit and vegetable growers, ranchers and other producers.

"I have carried out my pledges to follow the 'open door' policy of honesty and friendliness in the commission's Austin office, have abolished 'favoritism' in railroad commission oil-gas regulation, truck, bus, rail and utility matters and have vigorously fought every attempt of Federal Control of oil and gas in Texas," said Mr. Culberson in his first re-election announcement.

"But the fight to make of the Texas Railroad commission what Jim Hogg conceived it should be when he battled the 'special interests' to create the commission has just started. Governor Hogg saw it as a guardian of the people's rights and the public wealth. Clin Culberson sees the commission's duty in that same light today. The economic structure of our state is founded largely on our great oil industry and our natural resources must not be squandered now but must be conserved for the welfare of future generations as well as for the benefit of the present. The oil-gas and transportation industries are safe in the experienced hands of Olin Culberson.

One of the prime projects of my first term has been to stop the waste of gas. I have also worked to check the heedless and unrestricted exportation of our natural gas into states having cheap coal. I am most proud of my record on the score," said Culberson.

Culberson's greatest single achievement was his steadfast refusal to agree in 1941 to put into effect at once a 6 percent increase on railroad freight rates on intrastate business ordered by the Interstate Commerce commission. All 47 other states did put the increase into effect costing their people plenty by doing so. A year passed during which time Culberson still argued and delayed the installation of the 6 percent hike in freight rates in Texas, then the Interstate Commerce commission suspended their order. The saving to Texas shippers was approximately $5,000,000.00 proving that courage on the part of a public official pays great dividends when that official is devoted to the public welfare and is not afraid of political consequences when he fights for the people.

Chairman Culberson, nearing 60 and a veteran of World War I, was born in Coryell County. As a young man he worked in the Katy railroad yard at Hillsboro as a switchman. He is truly the first railroad man to ever be elected Railroad Commissioner. He served Hill County both as County Clerk and then as County Judge before moving to Edna, Jackson County, in 1928 and engaging in the mercantile business and farming. Olin Culberson is a member of the Presbyterian Church, Lions Club, American Legion and is secretary of the Texas Volunteer Firemen with organizations in 515 towns, which membership is composed almost in its entirety of veterans of World War I or World War II.

Paul R. Bowers for Commissioner Precinct 3

Paul R. Bowers of the Grandview community today authorized The Pampa News to announce his candidacy for County Commissioner of Precinct No. 3 of Gray County.

Mr. Bowers said: "I was born and reared in Gray County. After graduation from high school in Miami, I studied three years engineering at Texas Tech, Lubbock. I have lived in Precinct No. 3 for the past five years and I am well acquainted with the problems throughout the county.

"For the past four years I have tried to be an active leader in this precinct, twice being elected chairman of the Grandview P. T. A. and at present I am serving as community committeeman on the Triple A farm program.

"I am well acquainted with the problems of the county at the present and I am a firm believer in the 'Farm to Market' road program of the future. In view of the many important issues to come before the commissioners court this coming term, I feel qualified and competent to represent the people of this precinct. I will give freely any needed time if elected, to carry out the will of the voters and taxpayers for the betterment of the community and county."

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff

Texas farmers and ranchers have whipped muddy roads and isolation by taking to the air.

An estimated 600 are using planes. An organization called Flying Farmers has been formed. Muddy roads can't prevent their going to town to buy needed articles, or deliver light products to market.

Planes also help them speed up their work. They ride fences, looking for breaks from the air. They check windmills and ponds. They spot livestock in isolated areas. E. W. Gill, jr., of Coleman county predicts the time will come when he'll have a loud-speaker system in his plane, and direct roundups from the air.

R. L. Gibson is a pioneer in the use of planes on ranches and farms. And he's 75 years old! He's from Lynn county. He uses a plane to hunt lost stock, chase coyotes and fly farm machinery parts from town. He said he solved after ten hours instruction, says flying is no more difficult than driving a car. He took up flying when he was 72.

Robert S. McCormack of Ellis county lives 15 miles from town, but he says he's whipped the mud-

When roads are impassable, he flies into Ennis for ice, groceries, ice cream and medicines.

Clayton Beard of Lynn county uses his plane for dusting his cotton crop and for checking on soil erosion, easily seen from the air.

A Texas chapter of the Flying Farmers was organized at College Station recently. It will seek affiliation with the National Flying Farmers' association. A flying farmer as defined by the by-laws, must hold some type of flying license and have 51 per cent of his capital invested in farming.

Oil wells are generally from 3,000 to 7,000 feet deep, but some extend 15,000 feet or more into the earth.
