

Byrnes Launches 'Offensive for Peace' Giving Russia a Choice

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes gave Russia its choice today:
Stop blocking a European peace conference this summer, else the United States will walk out of the dragging big four treaty talks and carry the whole matter before the United Nations.
Proclaiming an American "offensive for peace," Byrnes left no doubt in his radio address to the nation last night that it would be carried out even at the expense of the basic postwar ideal that the great victor nations should act in unison to fashion the future.

The cabinet officer made it perfectly plain that he held Russia responsible for the disappointing outcome of the foreign ministers conference which recessed in Paris last Thursday until June 15.
His formal report on that conference listed a half dozen outstanding issues with Moscow with which he indicated the United States can begin to "live and breathe" again. Byrnes declared he was confident that there would be a peace conference of the European nations and other interested powers this summer.

Recalling that at Paris Molotov blocked such a proposal, Byrnes said this power to stop "all efforts toward peace" must not be left to any one nation.

Recalling that at Paris Molotov blocked such a proposal, Byrnes said this power to stop "all efforts toward peace" must not be left to any one nation.
The half dozen top problems which Byrnes listed as involving

Russia are these:
1. The holding of a peace conference. He said that when the big four reconvene June 15 the United States will insist on a peace conference for either July 1 or 15, whether or not the big powers have agreed on treaty drafts.
2. Solution of the problem of Trieste. This is the main obstacle in writing a peace treaty for Italy. Byrnes said the United States, Britain and France favor a settlement of this boundary-territory dispute along an ethnic or nationality line which would give Trieste, but not all the surrounding territory, to Italy. Russia uncomprehensibly backed Yugoslavia's claim to the entire area.

3. Future economic arrangements in the Balkans. Byrnes said the United States is insisting on economic clauses in the Bulgarian, Romanian and Bulgarian treaties which would develop free commerce in the eastern and central European nations. Particularly he declared that if Russia opposes "exclusive political and economic blocs" Molotov will not continue to refuse to allow these nations "to open their gates to the commerce of all."

4. Long range suppression of Germany. Byrnes said that while he proposed for a 25-year big four alliance to control Germany, he favored a 10-year French-United States alliance to control Germany. He said he had thought Russia would join long range alliance had she agreed to do so at Moscow last December. Molotov, however, opposed the treaty and it did not go through.

5. German peace treaty. Byrnes proposed at Paris, but the Russians blocked a plan for creating a council of special deputies who would begin at once the task of drawing up permanent peace arrangements with the beaten foe. The Russian objection to this was that Molotov could not

Big Hungarian River Fleet Is Raided by U. S.

VILSHOFEN, Germany (AP)—Four thousand American troops, striking by surprise at dawn today, raided a Hungarian river fleet suspected of smuggling SS fugitives, ammunition and black market supplies along the Danube river in Southeastern Germany.
Vilshofen is on the Danube 12 miles northwest of Passau, which is on the Austrian-German border.
Nearly 400 boats, including many former units of the Hungarian navy, were boarded and searched by heavily armed U. S. constabulary troops. Hundreds of the boats' occupants were removed for investigation by U. S. army counter-intelligence agents. The report said that many machineguns and other weapons, radio transmitters and receivers, quantities of U. S. army food, clothing and other contraband were found.
No armed resistance was encountered. The only shots fired were by American troops at three German river patrol boats cooperating in the raid, which were improperly marked and slow in heading commands to halt. One German patrolman was wounded.
The raids covered a 45-mile stretch of the Danube from the Austrian border to Degersheim.
At least 30 of the vessels seized, including 12 gunboats, were part of the Hungarian navy and fought alongside the Nazis against the Russians, army officials said.
Aboard them were believed to be several hundred ex-enemy sailors and high ranking officers of the Hungarian navy who fled from the Black Sea up the Danube ahead of Soviet forces near the end of the war and found sanctuary in the American occupation zone. There they remained comparatively unmolested for a year.
Counter-intelligence agents declined to explain the long delay in See U. S. RAID, Page 8

Polio Victims Hospitalized at Lubbock Today

(By The Associated Press)
Two victims of poliomyelitis were hospitalized at Lubbock in West Texas today as the southern part of the state continued its fight against an epidemic of the disease.
A Lubbock physician said the two patients had contracted the illness "elsewhere."
The victims were Marion Nevitt, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Nevitt, whose condition was described as very serious, and Robbie Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Webb, whose legs were paralyzed.
A McAllen, Texas, school teacher, Mrs. Robert Bell, was taken to a San Antonio hospital today for treatment of what her physician diagnosed as a mild case of polio.
John Gregory, McAllen superintendent of schools, this morning closed the school in which she had been teaching. Other schools will finish their terms tomorrow.
New reports of polio and encephalitis cases were received yesterday from the South Texas area as clean-up campaigns continued precautionary efforts.
Three suspect cases and one positive case of polio were reported yesterday at San Antonio. A six-year-old boy, a suspect since Saturday, was listed as the latest case.
Georgia Mae Kubala, 12, of Columbus, Texas, was brought to a Houston hospital for treatment as a polio victim.

Farmers Strike Against Union, Local Dissolved

LOCKNEY (AP)—A local of the American federation of grain processors whose members worked for a Lockney alfalfa mill had been dissolved today, following the "strike" of a south plain farmers association against the union.
The farmers, members of the Lockney alfalfa growers association, agreed in a resolution not to sell any of their product to the Denver alfalfa mill and its products company as long as union members were employed there.
Liquidation of the union climaxed developments at the mill during the past two weeks. Normally the mill opens with the cutting of the first alfalfa crop during the first week in May. Operations remained at a standstill yesterday.
In their resolution, the growers said: "A small labor unit is preventing operation of the mill and is thereby detrimental to the farmers of this area in that the mill cannot handle any hay crop."
Earl Rogers, chairman of the union local was out of town and could not be reached for a statement.
George T. Wilson, manager of the mill, said: "We are strictly neutral."
Following is the resolution:
"We, the Alfalfa Growers Association of Lockney, Texas, being in a meeting assembled, have reached the following conclusions:
1. That the alfalfa mill of the Denver Alfalfa Milling & Products Co. is detrimental to the farmers of the area and that it is absolutely necessary that this mill operate if the present hay crop is to be handled.
2. From our view point it is apparent that the activities of a small labor unit is preventing the operation of the mill and is thereby detrimental to the farmers of this area in that the mill cannot handle the hay crop.
3. Therefore we resolve among ourselves that we will not sell to any alfalfa mill any hay as long as a meeting is pending at said mill. Furthermore we refuse to employ any member of any labor union on our farms or in our fields and we will not allow any member of any labor union to operate a baler or any other equipment on our fields.
4. Furthermore we as members of the above mentioned association pledge among ourselves that we will refuse to deal with any merchant who extends credit to any member of any labor union.
5. We as individuals are of the opinion that the labor union formed at the local alfalfa mill is attempting to dictate the wages, policy of the community. We have listed and prospected and paid for our farms without the aid of a union for the past 20 years and we feel that we can continue to progress without the aid or dictates of a labor union."

Five Officers Killed In New York Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—An army transport plane, lost in dense fog as it groped for Newark air base, smashed into the world's fourth tallest building amid the towers of the New York financial district last night and hurled four army officers and a WAAC lieutenant to instantaneous death.
The plane, a two-engine Beechcraft C-45, sped out of a 400-foot overcast and struck the 9th floor of the 71-story 937-foot high bank of the Manhattan company on Wall Street. The plane disintegrated in a blinding flash and showers of flaming debris fell to the pavement.
"NOTHING BUT FLAME"
"There was nothing but flame," John Gunther, a Chase National bank guard who was an eyewitness, said. "It looked down like a rain of fire."
Another witness said the plane seemed to pour down from the top.
Occupants of the building estimated at the time by police as between 500 and 2,000, were not injured. Five persons were struck by flaming particles in the street below.
EXAMINATION BEGINS
A five man army investigating board, ordered for an hour after the crash, began an examination of the tragedy today. The board visited the scene, made technical inspections and interviewed witnesses.
Army officials said the plane was on a navigational training flight from Beaumont, Texas, to Newark.

Ala Informs U. N. Council Of Activities

NEW YORK (AP)—Hopes of effecting an early settlement of the vexing problems of Iran, scheduled for consideration by the United Nations Security Council tomorrow, faded today following a new Iranian charge that "Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran has not ceased."
Furthermore, Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala informed the council in a report last night, "if the reports of armed conflict in this strategically critical area are true, obviously the danger to the international peace and security is both serious and imminent."
NO INFORMATION
He added, however, that he had received no "authentic information" with respect to the reported clashes between central government troops and forces of the self-proclaimed autonomous government of Azerbaijan province in northern Iran.
Ala said his government had been unable to investigate reports that "Soviet soldiers have been left in Azerbaijan in civilian clothes and that military equipment has been placed at the disposal" of the self-proclaimed autonomous government.

Lourdes Grotto Dedication Held

In out-of-door ceremonies impressive in their simplicity and sincerity the newly finished Lourdes Grotto of the Holy Souls church was dedicated last night.
The grotto will be known as the "Grotto to Our Lady of Lourdes" in commemoration of apparitions of the Virgin Mary appearing 18 times to 14-year-old Bernadette Soubirous in Lourdes, France, in 1854, in honor of the Virgin Mary.
Erected in the yard between the church and the rectory, the grotto is made of cemented rocks triangular in form, the apex being about 20 feet in height. Inside of the structure open as a cave, a large figure of Bernadette has been placed, as she stood bearing a candle on one of the times the Virgin Mary appeared to her in the Lourdes grotto.
Children of the church presented the coronation program of the ceremony, during which Mary Keough placed a wreath on the head of the statue of Bernadette.
The program opened with His Excellency, the Most Reverend Laurence J. Fitzsimon, bishop of Amarillo, reviewing the procession of children from the rectory porch. The procession preceded by a group of young children in formal attire and choir robes.
Mary Keough, queen, led the procession.

Army Air Force Display Arrives

The United States army air forces opened an intensive recruiting campaign in this area today with the arrival of a mobile recruiting unit from Enid army air field.
Located across the street from the post office on Foster street, the display includes an A-26 attack bomber, the "Invader," which has just been brought back from the Pacific theater.
Young men interested in the air forces may examine the plane, including the instrument panel and the remote control turret assembly.
Also on display is a Pratt-Whitney 2,350 horsepower airplane engine. This is the type of engine which powers the A-26.
Young men interested in an air forces career are invited to inspect the display at any time, according to Sgt. W. A. Egge, who is in charge of the air forces recruiting program here.
Sergeant Egge's headquarters are at the United States employment service office. He may also be reached at the Hillson hotel after regular hours.
The air forces display will remain here through Thursday.

All Postal Workers Get $400 Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman signed into law today a bill giving all postal workers a $400 yearly pay increase.
Those who don't get the $400 boost are fourth class postmasters, who receive a 20 percent raise, and part-time workers, who receive a gain of 20 cents hourly.
All the increases are retroactive to January 1, 1946. Approximately 400,000 workers come under the measure. The total cost was estimated at approximately $169,000,000 yearly.
Postal workers received a $400 yearly increase July 1, 1945. Supporters of the newly-signed legislation said, however, that it was required to make up for added living costs and a reduction since last July in the number of hours worked by most employees. The cut in hours eliminated overtime pay received by many.

Washables Are 'In' For Summer Clothes, Fashionable Coifs

Weather so hot you beg for a breeze—sun so steady 'twould turn you to toast—these are the times that call for the "tubbed look." A recent survey of summer fashions shows that women are recognizing this in a marked preference for washable wearables. Women are building hot weather wardrobes around washables because they combine comfort and coolness with good looks. On the preferred list, too, the fashion survey finds, are dresses that are easy to put on. "Button into" frocks are a favorite in this group, with zipper front styles running parallel.

No wonder "easy to put on" washables are such favorites when they can be tubbed in a twinkling to make you feel and look so clean and cool. Fresh—like the look of a lawn after a summer shower—is the prettiest hot weather fashion of all, and this applies not only to your frocks, but to your hair as well. Just as freshly washed clothes make you feel cool and comfortable, so does freshly washed hair. And with the new short, cropped hairstyles, frequent shampooing is no trouble at all, especially when you use that new product, liquid shampoo with hair conditioning action. Hair sometimes needs washing more than once a week in warm weather, too. If it is to look and feel fresh and dainty, and don't deny yourself this extra bit of comfort just because it takes so long to set and dry your hair. Learn to brush it dry and into a wave and try to do your brushing out of doors in the sunlight. How do you brush a wave? Simply twist your wrist as you brush. This makes the brush stroke describe a circle as you draw it through your hair. Brush the hair ends either up or under, over your hand, and keep brushing until the curl holds. It takes a little patience, but the resulting beauty of your hair will be your reward and encouragement.

Slant your summer wardrobe to freshly cool washables—keep your hair as freshly washed as your frocks—and you should have a smart as well as a comfortable summer season.

'New Women' of Korea Seek U. S. Guidance

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Whang Kyung Koh, with her apricot-toned skin, her soft brown hair and her sea-green satin native dress looks like a lovely porcelain doll. A doll who sometimes wears spectacles.

Except for those spectacles you'd never dream that she is a doctor of philosophy with a second degree in law. Or the founder of a Korean social welfare institute. Or the only woman member of a Korean mission of six, sent by the United States military government in Korea to study American developments in general education, mining, industry, agriculture, commerce, public finance, civil service, foreign affairs, public health and public welfare. Dr. Koh's division is welfare.

Her country, an Asiatic peninsula of 30,000,000 people, was annexed by Japan in 1910 and under its domination till the defeat of the emperor's troops in World War II. It is now under the military government of the United States and the U.S.S.R.

"In order to have a democratic nation, we must reconstruct our whole educational system," said Dr. Koh. "So we have come to study here. Each of us will ask American experts to come to Korea, survey the situation and recommend the best system in the various fields. At the same time we shall send key Korean people here to study for six months. And finally we want to have Korean students come to the United States and study in these different fields with the idea that they will help build a new Korea. Then, we hope, we can take care of ourselves."

"If we don't make Korea a strong democratic country, it might again be the tool of imperialism, a contrasting ground for other countries. And that would threaten the peace of Asia and thus the peace of the world. Don't forget that the invasion of Korea was Japan's first step in her imperialistic program. If she had not succeeded there, her forces might never have reached Pearl Harbor."

All this was spoken in fluent English in a soft voice and earnest manner. Dr. Koh, now 37, is the daughter of a surgeon who studied at Long Island Medical college, Brooklyn. She is an interesting exponent of the New Oriental woman, who has begun to go places. She was graduated from Doshisha Women's college in Kyoto, Japan, studied law at Doshisha university and piled an A.A. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Michigan. Then she went home and taught economics at Ewka college for ten years and finally became principal of the Kunggi high school for girls in Seoul.

In time she was fired by a desire to help her country, which she says has an estimated 75 per cent illiteracy, low sanitary conditions compared to the west and lack of social workers. So, while her father supported her and her pianist teacher, she poured all their earnings into founding and running a village settlement, Cha Mai Won (The Sisters Garden, which taught reading and writing to women, conducted a kindergarten, nursery school and baby clinic. During the war it cared for 10 delinquent girls. Dr. Koh's life aim is to make it a second Hull House.

All her conversation is peppered with affectionate reference to the American people. "I love Americans by heart," she says.

The first Oil Truck line in the United States was built in 1874, and extended from the Pennsylvania oil region to Pittsburgh.

Miss Eulamae Stovall Becomes Bride Of Ernest Russell in Home Ceremony

WHITE DEER.—(Special)—Miss Eulamae Stovall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stovall, sr., of Panhandle, became the bride of Ernest Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Russell, also of Panhandle, Saturday evening at nine o'clock in the home of the bride's parents.

Floor baskets of pink and white gladioli and pink and white candles in tall candelabra flanking the fireplace formed the background for the double ring ceremony read by the Rev. Herbert Brown, pastor of the First Baptist church, Panhandle. Bouquets of pink and white peonies and pink carnations and sweetpeas were arranged throughout the house.

Miss Max Helen Pickens sang "Till the End of Time" and Mrs. Herbert Brown sang "Always." Both were accompanied by Miss Jean Boyd, who also played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party descended the long curving stairway: "Clair de Lune" by Debussy during the ceremony; and the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn as the bridal couple received the best wishes of the guests.

Allene Stovall, sister of the bride, and Aubrey Lee Russell, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles as Miss Boyd played "To a Wild Rose." Janice Sue Ivey, cousin of the bride, and Carol Ann Brown, served as flower-girls and carried pink sweetpeas in dainty white baskets.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary Ellen Moore of Denver; and bridesmaids were Miss Erma Russell, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Beatrice Vogely of Denver, Miss Moore and Miss Vogely were Miss Stovall's roommates at Colorado State College for Education in Greeley. Miss Moore wore a blue net dress; Miss Vogely, pink taffeta; and Miss Russell, pink organza. All carried bouquets of white carnations tied with wide white satin ribbon.

The bridegroom was attended by Richard Renter of Wichita, Kansas. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white princess-style slipper satin gown with long pointed sleeves, sweetheart neckline and flowing train. Her three-tiered veil was held by a pearl tiara and her bouquet was of pink roses. For ornaments she wore a pin which had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother and a pearl necklace sent from Europe by her brother, A. L. Stovall, who is now in Germany.

An unusual feature of the wedding was the fact that three of the bridal party wore dresses of special significance in the life of the bride. Mrs. Brown wore a black and white evening dress which Miss Stovall had worn at the junior-senior banquet in her junior year in high school; Allene Stovall wore a pink taffeta frock which her sister had worn when she graduated from grade school; and Janice Sue Ivey wore an orchid net dress which Miss Stovall had worn as a flower girl at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Mixson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stovall chose a chartreuse dress with cherry cola accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Russell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue with white accessories and white carnations.

More than 50 relatives and friends attended the wedding and the reception which followed. The beautiful three-tiered wedding cake on a lace-covered table was flanked by white and pink candles. After the bride couple had cut the first slice, Mrs. Leatha Lehnick, aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake; and Mrs. J. C. Ivey, aunt of the bride, served punch. They were assisted by Mrs. M. B. Pickens, Mrs. Wendell Mixson, and Mrs. Eva Craig.

For traveling, Mrs. Russell wore a powder-blue suit with black accessories, and the couple left immediately by automobile for a trip to

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff A wonderful Texas horse named Assault, owned by Robert J. Kleberg, Jr. of the King ranch, is hogging headlines after winning the Kentucky derby and the breakers.

The horse was incomed, owned by the late Capt. R. N. Weisiger, former state senator and the father of ex-Sheriff Robert S. Weisiger of Victoria.

For years Victoria county was noted for its thoroughbred horses. Most of the original stock was brought there by Captain Weisiger, a native of Kentucky, and were products of the great Alexander stables.

Incomede finished first on the New Orleans and Baltimore tracks, and went to the Kentucky derby. He hid led by lengths most of the way in the derby when he was crowded against the rail, almost within a neck of the finishing line.

The accident happened so close to the finish line there was heated controversy over the result. That's when the Texans pulled their guns.

From the Kentucky derby to chickens is back-tracking from the sublime to the ridiculous, but here's a story Omer Wallace of Granger, Texas, still finds hard to believe.

He got out his trailer, made of a Model T chassis which hadn't been used for sometime, and delivered a load of hay, went to an oil mill, drove around quite a bit.

Home again, he heard some baby chicks, but couldn't find them at first. Finally he traced the noise to the trailer, found the chicks in the crank case housing.

There had been twelve eggs, and ten chicks had hatched out in the crank case, apparently while he was driving around the country.

The Battle for the South:

Textile's May Be Dixie's Major Union Battlefield

THIS WAS THE LULL before the storm in 1934 in the South's textile industry as guards stand at the gate of a mill in Lindsay, Ga., barricaded with cotton bales against expected labor troubles. A new storm looms this summer.

By S. BURTON HEATH NEA Staff Correspondent GREENVILLE, S. C. (NEA)—Dixie's large and growing textile industry may prove the major battlefield in the CIO-AFL invasion of the South—not only as between the two rival labor groups, but also as between labor unionism as a whole and the Southland's embattled but resisting employers.

There are more than a million textile workers, including allied trades, in the country, almost equally divided between North and South. The South has a small edge and is gaining. It seems generally agreed that between 80 and 85 percent of the Northern workers are organized, but only about 20 percent of the Southern.

This would suggest that there are some 400,000 potential dues payers below the Mason-Dixon line. Of those already organized, the CIO Textile Workers Union is believed to have about four-fifths and the AFL United Textile Workers the rest. But the UTW has no idea of conceding the permanency of this inferiority. It intends to fight for the large majority who still are out of the labor fold.

In this clash of organizational efforts, Greenville is almost certain to be a prime objective of both groups, and the employers here are quite certain to resist both. This is rated as one of the South's big cotton centers. It also has proven, since NEA days, the toughest shell for unionism to crack. There are 30 mills here in the textile and allied trades, of which 19 are large. In 12 years of effort, labor has obtained a contract with only one, covering approximately 2,000 of Greenville county's 20,000 textile workers.

AVOIDED UNIONIZATION Except for one incident, Greenville has avoided unionization without violence and, after the beginning, by sheer finesse rather than by show of force.

The general textile strike called on Labor Day, 1934, shut down mills all around. Every plant in Spartanburg was closed. Every one in Greenville stayed open. Between five and six hundred Spartanburgers came over to rectify the situation.

At every mill they were met by national guardsmen, who had moved their state headquarters temporarily to the Poinsett hotel, and were told that they could not enter and that no disorder would be tolerated. They went home peacefully.

Shots fired from outside a single mill killed demonstrators, but even that did not create rioting or reprisal. At the beginning of World War II, when prices began to rise, local mills voluntarily increased wages. During the war three elections were held. The CIO won contractual rights in the Woodside Mills but lost, by about two-to-one votes, in the almost equally big Brandon and Duncan Mills.

When the CIO recently demanded a 15 percent pay boost the operators agreed that they could not comply and remain in business. From Charlotte, N. C., Emil Rieve, head of the TWU, announced that he was returning to New York and would call a general textile strike unless the 15 percent was granted. Within a few days, one employer's spokesman says, every mill had given on the raise.

This sequence was cited by a veteran labor leader as illustration of the "smooth technique" by which, he said, Greenville area employers have convinced most workers that they would be foolish to spend money on union dues, because they can get just as much without.

HARD GOING "The CIO can not duck Greenville," he said. "They must try to unionize here. And they are going to find the going hard. There will be no nightsticks and terrorism. They will just find most workers as disinterested as the employers will be reluctant."

The U. S. Labor Department describes textile work as one of the nation's poorest paid, particularly in the South. A Bureau of Labor statistics sampling last December indicated that the average textile wage in the North was 63 cents an hour, in the South 60 cents. Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach says a survey last summer showed about half a million textile workers receiving under 65 cents an hour, and another 200,000 getting under 75 cents an hour. The CIO's goal is understood to be a minimum wage of 65 cents an hour, by contract, regardless of the fate of the wage-and-hour law amendment pending in congress.

Senate Begins Toughening Up Of Case Bill

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here's an ABC on what congress is talking of doing about strikes and labor-management disputes.

It's not going to try to forbid strikes.
It is talking of making it less easy to call strikes.
But right here make a distinction between the house and senate.

Some months ago the house, angry about strikes at that time, passed the Case bill.

That piece of legislation, putting controls on unions, has been labeled by legislative opponents as one of the most severe labor measures ever passed by either house. It has been condemned by unions generally.

Having passed the house sent it to the senate. There senate friends of labor toned it down in committee and put it in moth-balls.

It might have been there if John L. Lewis' strangling coal strike hadn't come along.

But the coal strike came. The country suffered. Some senators got sore.

They dusted off the senate version of the Case bill and yanked it up for a vote.

But first they want to toughen it up.

They want to tack changes on it in the form of government.

The big fight in the senate will come over those amendments.

Here's what the senate is talking of doing:

1. Strengthen the government's conciliation service.
2. Compel both sides to use this conciliation service for 60 days before there could be a strike. This might give both sides a better chance to cool off and reach an agreement.
3. Forbid a company to contribute funds to a union's health and welfare fund if the fund were to be handled entirely by the union. This is aimed at John L. Lewis.
4. Outlaw secondary boycotts. (This is a provision of the Case bill, it means; if a union strikes against a company, a second union could not refuse, through sympathy for the strikers, to handle that company's goods.)
5. Make a union label for damages which an employer might suffer because a union broke its contract with him.
6. Forbid the use of violence during a strike. This would cut two ways: Forbidding both a company and a union to use violence.
7. Eliminate foremen from the provisions of the Wagner act. That act guarantees employees the right to be represented by a union. Lewis is demanding that the mine owners let him unionize most of their foremen.
8. Forbid unions to interfere with farmers trying to market perishable farm products.

cession, attended by Dolores Battreall, Betty Carney, Marjorie Herzog and Frankie King. Her train was carried by Cecilia Poulos.

Little Patsy Falkenstein was crown bearer, attended by Etal and Sondra Sullins. James Keough served as page.

Numerous young people, including small children, attended the dedication ceremony.

Blessing of the grotto was given by the Most Reverend Fitzsimmons, who described the place of worship as similar in many respects to the Lourdes Grotto in France which he had visited before the war. A brief history of the grotto was given, as presented in the book "Song of Bernadette."

The solemn benediction was given by Father William J. Stack, Celebrant; Father T. F. Gaughan, Deacon, and Father R. L. McWilliams, Sub-Deacon.

Children of the church were greatly responsible for making the construction of the grotto possible, they being, in their organization, the Children's Sodality of the Parochial school, generous donors to the grotto.

Sociality officers for 1946-47 are Zula Brown, president; Nancy Hual, vice-president; Joan Francis, secretary, and Gayle Herr, treasurer. moving against the Hungarian "naval displaced persons," but one officer suggested it had been necessary to keep the original crews aboard the ships to maintain them.

Reporters were invited to witness the elaborately secret operation, but several of its mysteries remained officially shrouded for hours after the raid began.

At midday there was no indication as to whether any hunted SS troopers actually had been discovered or whether the raiders had found Adm. Trunkwaller, whom U. S. agents described as the present commander of the remnants of Hungary's navy.

Screen actress Susan Peters, paralyzed from the hips down in a hunting accident over a year ago, recently gave her actor husband, Richard Quine, a pleasant surprise by driving to meet him when his plane arrived at Burbank, Calif., airport. It was the first time she had driven since her accident. She used the specially built car with all-hand controls pictured above.

COUNCIL F:QUEST

The ambassador, responding to a council request for information as to the status of Russian army withdrawals as of May 20, informed the delegates that his government had been unable to establish that "all of the Soviet forces have been withdrawn from the whole of Iran." Such information as is available to me x x x is to the effect that as a consequence of the interferences previously complained of, the Iranian government is still being prevented from exercising any effective authority in the province of Azerbaijan and that Soviet interference in the internal affairs of Iran has not ceased." Ala declared.

Russian Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko already has indicated that he would boycott the county for third time tomorrow. He announced April 23 that he would take no part in any further council discussions of the Iranian question, which has been on the council's agenda since Jan. 19, longer than any other matter.

Capt. Tom L. Hall, 29, of Austin, Texas. His beneficiary was listed as his wife, Helen Lindseth Hall, Sioux Falls, S. D. They have two sons, Rancoll, 4, and Kenneth, one.

1st Lt. Robert L. Stevenson, 25, of the Bronx, who served overseas with the 386th and 554th bomb squadrons.

1st Lt. Angelo A. Ross, 28, Whitehall, N. Y., who served overseas with the Fifteenth air force. His wife, Martha, now resides with her parents at Port Arthur, Texas, a daughter, Diane Victoria, was born March 28.

WAC 1st Lt. Mary E. Bond, Newton, Pa.

The pilot and another officer were thrown clear of the plane by the impact. Their bodies were found on the rug in offices of the Atlas corporation. The corporation is headed by Floyd Odrum, whose wife, the former Jacqueline Cochran, is widely known as a flier.

The crash was the second such accident in New York in less than a year. On July 24 an army B-25 bomber smashed into the 79th floor of the 102-story Empire State building, killing three fliers and 11 office workers in the building.

A valve containing some of Lt. Bond's clothing was hurled from the plane and landed on the ledge of a 16th story window. A wing and landing gear fell into the street, one wheel bouncing four stories high.

One witness said, "I looked out of my window just as it struck the building. There was a great flash of flame and the ship fell apart."

Another witness, Joann Calan, a night watchman at the U. S. Trust company building directly across from the Manhattan company building, said he was on the roof of the 10-story building and saw the plane roar out of the gathering darkness.

"There was a terrific flash and a loud crash, followed by the sound of an explosion," he said. "The shock shook the U. S. Trust building and I grabbed hold of a girder to keep from being knocked down. Fire started in the wreckage of the plane almost immediately."

That the passengers must have been fearful and possibly glimpsed the tower of Manhattan through the mist was indicated by the fact that the fingers of Lt. Bond, were crossed when her body was pulled from the wreckage.

The bank of the Manhattan Trust company, was intended originally to be the tallest building in the world. Nestling in its shadow are the New York Stock Exchange, the Morgan bank building and the sub-treasury. Taller buildings are the Empire State, the Chrysler and the Cities Service.

A prize was given to the youngest mother and a prize went to the woman with the "craziest" hat, decided by audience applause. Ex-servicemen were interviewed and given cartons of cigarettes.

The audience appeared to thoroughly enjoy the parade of fashions by some of the leading businessmen of Pampa. They were sponsored by various business houses, whose names were read.

A score of somewhat scarce items were given away as prizes for numbers taken from boxes of candy sold. About nine pairs of nylons were among the prizes. Others to be given away tonight are an automobile tire—Gillette brand—nine pairs of nylon hose, an $18.50 traveling bag, several throw rugs, and a $12.50 Stetson hat.

Receipts from the show will go for the underprivileged children's fund, as well as to the church softball fund.

There were but a few reserved seats left today. Tickets are on sale at Cretney's and Harvester drug.
