Truman Calls Railroad Men To White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today summoned representatives of the "Big Five" brotherhoods and railroad operators to a White House conference in an effort to head off a strike called for Saturday.

GUAM'S GOVERNOR—Rear Adm. Charles A. Pownall has been appointed by President Truman as the Governor of Guam, reinstating the naval government which administered Guamanian affairs from 1898 until the Japs seized the island in Dec. 1941.

A walkout by 250,000 engineers and trainmen would tie up the nation's railway transport system.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross announced that the President had asked representatives of the railroad brotherhoods to confer with him at 2:45 p. m. (CST).

Fifteen minutes later, Ross said, this conference will be joined by representatives of the Association of American Railroads.

The President indicated at his last news conference that he would not hesitate to seize the railroads if it became necessary to keep them running.

UNION MANAGEMENT
In addition to the union representatives, the conference will include J. J. Pelley, president of the railroad association, and the following negotiators for the railroad industry: D. P. Loomis, W. T. Forney, H. A. Enghoes, and J. P. Parrish.

The Brotherhoods will be represented by the following: A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America; Alvanley Johnson, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; C. J. Coff, assistant to the president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; and H. F. Frazier, president of the Order of Railway Conductors of America.

Presidential intervention, railroad men said, is the only way of stopping the walkout.

"We have exhausted all our efforts in a statutory way," Martin Miller, legislative representative of the Brotherhoods, said.

Bids on Issuing Hospital Bonds To Be Taken Soon

Bids on the issuing of 1946 series bonds on the proposed $500,000 Gray county hospital will be taken after June 1, when the notice for bids will be first advertised, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the county commissioners.

The court met to organize a board of equalization, which was recessed until June 10.

County highway employees will be given Saturday afternoon off, as will all other county employees, it was decided yesterday, except in cases of emergency, such as heavy rains, snows or when work is immediately required, dependent on local precinct conditions. If employees choose to take other afternoons off, it will be doctored from the Saturday afternoon, according to the court.

Two county roads are to be straightened, the commissioners acting upon recommendations made by County Engineer Ray Evans. One is the stretch between Round Timber and Cabin creeks, east of Leffors, the other designated as being on the east side of section 2, block B-2.

As school taxes in two county districts had been raised by common school district elections May 11, the commissioners authorized the court to levy taxes accordingly, the rate being raised to $1.50 on $100 valuation in common school districts 10 and 17, Schaffer and McLean.

Iranian Army Is Reported Ready for War

TEHRAN—P.—The Iranian army hastened preparations for war today although the central government appeared determined to pursue its announced policy of a peaceful settlement of the Azerbaijan problem.

Persian sources expressed belief that the military and the local northern tribes were swerving from government control to back the young Shah, their commander in chief.

Premier Ahmed Qavam, in a public statement on the "postponement" of the Azerbaijan negotiations, said he was attempting "with the best intention and peaceful attitude to solve the problems."

He said he hoped "the good intentions and patriotism I felt among the representatives from Azerbaijan will prove sufficient to relieve the anxiety felt by the public."

Azerbaijan is the northern province bordering Russia in which a semi-autonomous regime was established during the Russian occupation.

Qavam said recent negotiations between the central government and a delegation from Azerbaijan had foundered on three major differences.

These differences, which included an Azerbaijani demand for redistribution of large estates and public lands, were announced in a communique as follows:

1. The Iranian government claimed the right to appoint provincial governor general of Azerbaijan. Pishavari insisted that they be commissioned by the provincial council.

2. The Iranian government likewise claimed the right to appoint army and gendarmerie officers. Pishavari insisted that they be commissioned by the provincial council.

3. Pishavari proposed the redistribution of estates of land owners and the division of public lands among peasants. Iranian officials maintained that such a move would be unconstitutional and could be taken only if authorized by parliament.

Qavam said Pishavari's delegation returned to Teheran yesterday "to report and receive instructions" after the conference had ended in a stalemate.

Five Men Caught in 'Gambling House' Raid
Five men are being held in county jail today following a raid on a "gambling house" in downstairs room of a hotel on East Tying street.

Sheriff G. H. Kyle and Chief Deputy Jeff Guthrie took the men into custody last night at about 7:30. Guthrie said there was evidence that dice and poker games in charge of an operator were being conducted.

One man eluded the officers and is being sought today. Charges will probably be filed against the five today, it was said.

Lewis Seeks Union Control of Levy; Bowles Suggests Return to Rationing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Hill (D-Ala.) said today senate leaders have decided to accept house prohibitions against drafting fathers and teen-agers rather than let the draft act expire at midnight.

Hill reported this agreement was reached at a two-hour closed session of the senate military committee today.

"We don't want to accept these amendments," Hill told a reporter. "We can fight out the permanent provisions of the legislation later."

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the military committee was authorized to ask the senate to agree to the house amendments.

The White House said today President Truman is prepared to issue an emergency order preserving selective service under machinery in the event congress fails to complete action today on draft extension.

President Truman today issued a new order, effective July 1, which would prohibit the induction of fathers and teen-agers last night before accepting a senate-approved extension of selective service until July 1.

Thomas told reporters the senate could accept the house changes, or ask for a conference between senate and house representatives. The latter would require approval of both senate and house.

Hoover Would Delay Action Until Harvest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles said today he will recommend restoration of food rationing if the world food situation "gets tighter."

"If it gets tighter," Bowles said in this statement today after former President Herbert Hoover counseled against such action until this year's crops are harvested.

"I don't think the situation is tight enough now," Bowles told a news conference, "but if it gets tighter I think we should put it (rationing) on."

ITEMS ARE LISTED
Bowles mentioned meat, butter, cheese and possibly bread as foods it might be necessary to ration.

The stabilization chief said rationing would assure fairer distribution of food in this country if overseas commitments cut deeply into the total supply.

"We will know better in 30 to 60 days as to what should be done," Bowles said.

REPORTS ON SURVEY
Back from a global survey of hungry nations, Hoover said he thought it too early for a decision on rationing, because he had hopes the world's food production will be better than anticipated, with a consequent lessening of the famine emergency.

The survey report which Hoover brought back with him drew warm approval from President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson—a fact which influenced food experts in reaching their conclusion that rationing would keep out of the picture at least for the present.

These experts, who would not be quoted directly, were of the opinion that the country's famine relief efforts until harvest will continue to be confined to voluntary food conservation and government restrictions on grain use.

Hoover spoke out on the rationing question at a news conference once the 1946 harvests are in, he said, an appraisal of supplies and needs can be made to determine whether renewed rationing here would be

National Guard Units Organized

AUSTIN—(AP)—All Texas communities desiring National Guard units are being urged by the state adjutant general's department to make immediate application.

Adj. Gen. Arthur B. Knickerbocker said these factors are being considered in selecting communities: Strategic location, willingness and ability of the community to support the unit, availability and interest of potential guard personnel, availability of property on which to construct an armory, availability of buildings for use as temporary armories, location of public utilities.

Applications should be in letter form and indorsed by civic and patriotic organizations, city and county officials and the military affairs committee, Knickerbocker said.

Results of Piano Auditions Held During Past Week Are Announced
Results of the Pampa section of the Annual National Piano Playing Audition, sponsored by the Pampa chapter of the National Guild of Piano Teachers held at the First Methodist church throughout last week, were announced yesterday.

Final results of grades are to be returned by the national secretary at Abilene, but the following named pupils have been indicated as receiving the highest ratings of the seven teachers who entered 187 students in the auditions.

Due to the fact that the auditions are not carried on in the spirit of a contest, but of placing each student as nearly as possible on his own level, winners are announced as below, according to classifications.

County Wheat Producers Answering Government's Plea for More Wheat

Gray county wheat producers are answering the plea for more wheat being made by the government.

Approximately 10,855 bushels of wheat have been delivered to grain elevators in Gray county, all eligible for the 30-cent bonus per bushel of wheat delivered, as set by the government.

It is expected by elevators that 30,000 bushels of wheat will be delivered before the deadline date of the bonus, May 25, as effective at this time.

The statements were issued this morning from the county Agricultural Conservation Agency office by Miss Evelyn Mason, secretary, after making a survey of elevators.

Elevators contacted were the two in Kingsmill, two in Laketon, one in Gray and two in Pampa. The Laketon elevator was the only one which reported no deliveries. Pampa elevators reported a combined total of 7,411 bushels of wheat delivered to them which is eligible for the 30-cent bonus.

All wheat certificates issued on delivery to elevators are turned in at market or selling price of wheat, to the county ACA office. As yet no producers have turned in their receipts issued by the elevators. Price of what now totals two dollars a bushel, highest paid for wheat since 1918.

Polio-Like Sickness Spans Entire State

CORPUS CHRISTI—(P)—Three hundred Texas state guardsmen mobilized here today on a voluntary basis to block roads and keep non-resident children and youths out of the city and Nueces county, while Texas polio-like sickness leaped nearly 500 miles from South Texas to the Panhandle to strike three more victims, one fatally.

By The Associated Press
In a radio broadcast originating in Austin and carried over radio WOAI, San Antonio, this morning, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, appealed to Texas communities to "eliminate their health hazards."

"I want to advise you that failure to eliminate health hazards costs money and life. To eliminate health hazards will also cost money—but it will save life," Dr. Cox said.

He directed all city and county health officers in the state to carry out immediately the following health measures:

1. Secure proper disposal of all human waste.
2. Secure adequate protection of all water, milk and other food supplies.
3. Maintain adequate garbage collection and disposal.
4. Carry out adequate insect and rodent control measures.
5. Secure enforcement of all state health laws and report enforcement failures to the state health department.
6. Report promptly all polio cases to the state health department.

Dr. Cox said the fly has definitely been proved to be an offender in carrying poliovirus.

Rockport, 30 miles from Corpus Christi along the Gulf of Mexico, also declared a quarantine, as did Kleberg county, which is a part of the gigantic King ranch, Kleberg and Nueces counties, addition.

San Antonio raised its figures on the number of cases to 12, including three deaths. Amarillo reported one death. Two Berger victims one in "poor condition" were brought to Dallas, Corpus Christi's victim roster listed five.

Seven Percent Payroll Levy Being Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis today demanded exclusive union administration of a $10,000,000 miners' welfare fund which he proposes to raise through a seven-percent levy on payroll.

"MUST BE GRANTED"
The United Mine Workers' president declared the fund to be paid exclusively by the operators, would have to be granted before the miners would negotiate "any contract, now or later."

Lewis told reporters at a news conference, after leaving contract negotiating sessions, that the seven-percent levy was "ultra-conservative" and its receipts would be used for these six purposes only:

- 1. Adequate and modern medical service, properly standardized hospitalization, life and death insurance at reasonable rates; rehabilitation and training of disabled men; financial aid in case of distress and hardship; and—if any money is left—for "cultural and educational work" among the mine workers.

Lewis said he had explained the demands so thoroughly that the operators said they desired no further explanation on that issue.

TRIPARTITE BOARD
The UMW, Lewis said, rejects the idea of a tripartite board—of management, labor and government representatives—because it would "simply become another bureaucratic governmental agency with the overhead eating up a large part of the revenue, bogged with red tape, and with its awards delayed after the manner of other government agencies."

Operators would have the veto power over continuation of the fund at the end of each contract period, Lewis said by their simple refusal to agree to its inclusion in a new agreement.

The fund should be a charge against coal production, he summarized. "It should be a payroll charge in an equal amount to seven percent of the gross earnings of the men, and it should be paid by the operators into a fund to be operated by UMW."

Operators, taken by surprise by Lewis' demands, are expected to meet in a new agreement.

Franco Spain Called Menace To World Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—L. Jose Giral, president of the Spanish republican government-in-exile today formalized a bitter 50-page indictment charging that Franco Spain was a menace to world peace.

A grand ceremony at the Hunter College office of Trygve Lie, U. S. secretary-general, Dr. Giral submitted the lengthy charges which he had brought with him by plane from Paris.

Now the documents are in the hands of the United Nations and it is up to that organization to decide what is going to be done about the Spanish case, Dr. Giral told newsmen after meeting Lie.

It was expected by U. N. observers that the documents would be turned over immediately to the U. N. Security council sub-committee investigating charges against Franco Spain. The sub-committee was scheduled to meet at 2 p. m. EST today.

The contents were not officially revealed. However, authoritative Spanish republican circles earlier had said the papers charged that Spain was a permanent threat to peace and that Generalissimo Francisco had encouraged German scientific experiments in atomic fission, Granada and Murcia provinces.

The question of war criminal extradition was raised indirectly before the Spanish sub-committee by a Belgian statement emphasizing that Franco Spain has become a refuge for the Belgian Quisling, Leon Degrelle.

The Belgian complaint was filed in support of Polish charges that Spain is a hideaway for Nazi war criminals and scientists engaged in atomic research.

Suspect Arrested Connection With Texarkana Deaths

TEXARKANA—(P)—A man arrested in Magnolia, Ark. is being questioned here today in connection with the recent slaying of five persons.

He was arrested by City Marshal Steve Dennis yesterday while boarding a bus because of what Dennis called his "suspicious actions."

He denied any connection with the Texarkana murders, saying he had never been in Texarkana and had never feared of the killings.

He was brought here by Arkansas State Officer Harley Quinn. He was described as about 30 years old. He carried a money belt with $300 in it, and a diary which he said he bought at Houston, Texas. He said he was from Michigan and was visiting the Southwest.

Sheriff W. E. Davis of Miller county Ark. said the man was not a food suspect.

Magnolia, Texarkana was gradually regaining its composure. The heavy police guard composed of Texas Rangers, state officers, federal men, county officers from two counties, and city police has given tense and nervous citizens a feeling of security.

When you can look out your window and see a patrol car go by every few minutes, you just can't be afraid any more," one woman said.

Another said that at dawn, when patrol cars came in from their night's work they looked like ants swarming out of their anthills.

Bowie county, Texas, added another deputy sheriff, and the county commissioners in a meeting yesterday mapped new law enforcement plans.

Also assisting in the patrol are armed guards from the army's Red River arsenal nearby.

Excessive moisture in many eastern and southeastern counties checked field work. Soil moisture was adequate everywhere but in the northwest and west.

The condition of oats declined during April. It was 54 per cent of normal on May 1, compared with 73 per cent on April 1.

Fausture and range conditions were good in the eastern part of the state, poor in the west, again because of drought. Pastures were 76 per cent of normal May 1, compared with 81 per cent a month ago.

The outlook for fruit and peans was good on May 1. Most of the areas producing these crops have plenty of moisture. The report did not take into account recent hail damage.

Oilers Establish New League Record With 13th Straight Victory

Majors Expected To Beat Turnstile Mark

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

Big league attendance will zoom over the 3,000,000 mark on the way to an all-time high today as the sizzling Boston Red Sox open their first western tour and the muzzling St. Louis Cardinals come east to wrestle with the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

When 10,951,502 paid to see the 1946 games, many believed the mark would stand as a record for years to come. Now, a month after the start of the 24-week season, the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox, Philadelphia Athletics and Cincinnati Reds have drawn about half as much as they did last year.

The Yanks, with 578,949 as a starter, are regarded a pinch to smash the major league standard the Chicago Cubs hung up in 1929 when they played before 1,485,766 at Wrigley field.

Letroit is beginning to catch fire as the Tigers flash the form that led them to a pennant and world series triumph last fall. Although the Bengals have been away from home most of the season, their Briggs stadium turnstile counts are marching along with 1945 figures.

Steve O'Neill's champs who railed to their eight straight, yesterday, great Washington, Philadelphia, Boston and New York in order on their first protracted home stand.

Although all Eastern teams of the American league will be west of the Alleghenies and all Western teams of the National will be on the Atlantic seaboard, the spotlight will be cast west on the Red Sox and Cardinals.

As Boston rocketed through the east to win 22 of its 26 starts, the experts delayed final judgment on the team heading its first Western tour. The Sox open in Chicago today and soon are back in Fenway park until May 25. So far they haven't lost a game to a Western team.

Not only a game back of the second-place Yankees, expects to close in on the Red Sox during its home stand.

Although Hal Newhouser was knocked from the box for the first time this season, the Tigers picked up six easy runs in a wild second inning yesterday to gain a 6-5 edge over Chicago.

While the Yanks were trying to close the first of a series of home games, the Browns were sitting a doubleheader at Cleveland. Red Evers turned back St. Louis with five blows in the opening knockout in three innings of the 9-2 margin. Al Miller, making his first start, shut out Cleveland, 3-0, with six hits in the second but, although the losers pulled off a tie in the second inning.

All the Eastern teams in the American and the four Western clubs in the National were idle, jumping across country in the second international series.

Brooklyn warmed up for the Cardinals by beating another one on the Phillies' ship, 6-3, coming from behind to do it.

Pastor sported with four in the north to shade the New York Giants, 7-0.

We can take shoddy looking shoes and make them look like new.

Scott's Scrap Book

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

Poster White received credit for his sixth victory of the season in last night's victory over the Albuquerque Dukes, although the ruling was somewhat unpopular with the fans who didn't reason the thing out.

To settle things in our mind, we called Tom Miller, Lubbock, the official league statistician and secretary this morning and asked him, "Here is the situation as it was last night.

The Oilers were leading 7-4 at the beginning of the seventh inning with Warren Hacker pitching. The Dukes scored two runs and had two men on base with only one out when Hacker was pulled and White sent in.

Now, White retired the side, giving Pampa a 7-6 lead. However, Albuquerque equalized that "7" later in the next AND BEAT IT, and the rule says that when a relief pitcher comes in he gets credit for the victory if that score is equalled by the losing team—in this case Albuquerque.

If White had retired the side in that inning and Pampa had not scored again in the game and Albuquerque had got those nine runs, who would have been charged with the loss? White, of course. So, why not give him a chance to receive credit for the victory if he has a darn good chance to lose the game.

If the Oilers had not scored again, Hacker would have gotten credit for the victory, but they DID score and they BEAT the score Pampa had when Hacker left, so common sense would dictate that White get the credit.

Anyway, the rules say so, and that's the last word.

Pampa Ends Home Stand With 14-9 Win Over Albuquerque

Breaking the league record for consecutive games won, the Pampa Oilers bounced the Albuquerque Dukes for 17 hits and a 14-9 victory on the final game of the Oilers home stand last night.

By winning last night, the Oilers broke the record of 12 straight wins set by the Lubbock Hubbers in 1938, one year before Pampa became a member of the league.

The Oilers battle the Abilene Blue Sox there tonight and tomorrow night, go to Clovis May 16 and 17, Albuquerque May 18 and 19 and return with Lubbock here May 20 for a four game stand.

Rookie Warren Hacker, trying for his fourth victory of the season, had to be pulled in the sixth inning when the Hubbers got two men on with only one out. Foster White came in and retired the side and pitched the rest of the game to receive credit for his sixth victory. He has no losses.

Virgil Richardson, the West Texas-New Mexico league's leading hitter as of the last official averages, banged two doubles and three singles in five trips to the plate to take the limelight last night but most of the fans' attention was on R. G. Orey, Pampa second baseman who slugged a triple, a double and a single in five trips.

Pampa scored one run in the first when Orey tripled and scored on Richardson's single. The Dukes evened the count in the first of the second when DeLaGarza tripled, Richardson walked and DeLaGarza scored on a double steal.

The Oilers came to life with four runs in the fourth, Richardson led off with a double, Seitz tripled scoring Richardson, Al Johnston walked, Hacker doubled scoring Seitz and Johnston, and Orey singled scoring Hacker.

Pampa added two more in the fifth when Jack Riley doubled, Richardson doubled scoring Riley, Fulewider reached first on an error and Richardson scored on a double play at second and first.

Pride led off the sixth inning for the Dukes with a home run over the left field fence. DeLaGarza hit a ball that should have gone for a double but Manager Grover Seitz made a great throw in from center field and called him out at second. DeLaGarza was given credit for a single. Melago singled and Robinson slugged a home run over the centerfield fence. Rearden singled but Mize grounded out to end the inning.

Weaver, the Albuquerque pitcher, led off the seventh inning with a single. Riley singled, DePazio singled scoring Weaver and DeLaGarza singled scoring Pride, marking the last ball thrown by Hacker with the Oilers leading 7-6.

Melago then hit a ball so short that caught both DeLaGarza and DePazio on second base for an easy double play.

In the last of the seventh, Riley walked, Richardson singled, Fulewider singled scoring Riley. Seitz struck out, Richardson scored on a wild pitch, Al Johnston walked, Zigelman walked, White struck out, Cley doubled scoring Fulewider, Johnston and Zigelman and Earl Harriman doubled scoring Orey.

Albuquerque added one in the eighth when Rearden was safe on a fielders' choice and scored on Mize's single. The Oilers' eighth-inning marker came when Richardson singled and Fulewider singled with Richardson scoring.

Fride singled to lead off the ninth inning for the Dukes. DeLaGarza was safe on an error, and Melago singled scoring Pride and DeLaGarza.

Durocher Goes Back to Tested Veterans Today

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—In the short space of two weeks Leo Durocher has changed his mind completely about improving the breed of Brooklyn ball players through his "youth movement" and has decided that, after all, it might be pleasant to win the National league this.

As the Dodgers, out in front of the pack after nearly a month of play, opened another of those "crucial" series against the St. Louis Cardinals at Ebbets field today, they had their old-line professionals manning nearly every position. The kiddies who started the campaign so auspiciously in the outfield were back on the bench.

Before his club showed its present potentialities and before the Cards began showing signs that they might not be invincible, Leo swore on a stack of score sheets that he would rather develop some crack young players this year than win the pennant with his veterans.

It was suggested that something had happened to change his mind.

"It's not me," he said in quick denial. "I'm still not saying of thinking anything about winning a pennant. I've just made the changes in my line-up that seemed called for as we went along, like sending Pete Reiser back to his old position in center field.

"I don't say we can win the flag. I haven't even seen the Cards yet. But these boys of mine feel they can win it and I'm not going to tell them different. They think they're a great ball club."

While the Dodger infield still is somewhat unsettled at a couple of positions, the remainder of the lineup appears to be established. Dixie Walker, Auggie Galan and Reiser comprise a tried and tested outfield with husky punce at the plate. Barring injuries to the trio, it is doubtful that the club's much-publicized rookies will get back in there.

Leading Colleges Will Take Part in Seattle Regatta

SEATTLE—(AP)—An intercollegiate "Little Poughkeepsie" regatta, testing the sprint skills of the nation's leading eight-oared rowing exponents will be held on scenic Lake Washington June 22 with international overtones.

The race-announced yesterday by the University of Washington—will be held in conjunction with the maritime conference of the international labor organization here June 6-30, with delegates to the worldwide conlab gathered at the west shore finish line.

Athletic manager Harvey Cassill disclosed he had invited Princeton, Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell, Navy, Wisconsin, California, Pennsylvania and the University of British Columbia, and that he was hopeful a majority would accept. Washington, as host school, also will participate in the 2,000-meter test.

Shreveport Wins From Rebs, 5-1

By The Associated Press

Only one Texas league game managed to stay above water and sidestep hailstorms last night.

In Dallas the Shreveport Sports squared their series with the Dallas Rebels 5-1.

Threatening weather postponed the San Antonio at Oklahoma City game. Wet grounds prevented the Beaumont at Fort Worth melee. Rain called off the Houston at Tulsa game.

The Sports, backed by the pitching of Young Doyle Lade, got to Walter Wilson of the Rebels of eight hits in two innings to cash in. Lade counted three on everybody in the Rebel line-up at least once except Carl McQuillen, and Clem Cola for a total of 11 strike outs.

Tonight's Schedule:

Shreveport at Dallas.
Houston at Tulsa.
Beaumont at Fort Worth.
San Antonio at Oklahoma City.

Harvey Reibe Slated To Join Dallas Nine

DALLAS—(AP)—Harvey Reibe, catcher for the Detroit Tigers, is due here today to join the lineup of the Dallas Rebels.

Texas League President George Schepps announced Reibe's purchase yesterday.

Reibe will join the lineup immediately, replacing Catcher Burt Storie who is nursing a bruised side, Schepps said. He was a first string backstop for the Beaumont Exporters in 1942.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK—(AP)—Bob Feller isn't the only no-hit pitcher this season—merely the best. For example: Bill Fuchs, manager of DeLand in the Florida State league tossed a no-hitter against St. Augustine recently and lost it 6-5. Fuchs usually plays the outfield and his wildness, plus errors, gave the Sains' runs. . . In Boston Don Tomnick pitched no-hit ball for 8 2/3 innings and had a 3-2 count on the last man. Then he blew and lost the game 5-4 in the eleventh.

In the opening game of the North Carolina State league Ray Lindsey of Lexington retired 26 men without a hit and had two strikes on the 27th before Thomasville's Tom Feola cracked a single. Lindsey was luckier. He won 6-0.

Steers Sew Up Baseball Flag

By The Associated Press

The University of Texas Longhorns captured their 25th Southwest conference baseball championship yesterday with Bobby Layne's 4-0 victory over the Rice Owls.

It was the tenth straight win for Texas. The seventh with Layne on the mound.

Another contest scheduled in the Southwest conference, Baylor university Bears and Texas Christian Horned Frogs, was postponed because of wet grounds.

Barring more inclement weather, the Bears and Horned Frogs will meet tonight and again tomorrow night in Waco.

a HOME of their own

That's the dream of every couple, young or old—a home of their own. Jack and Sue have started theirs. In fact, they've practically built it themselves... watching the work with tender vision, from sidewalks to roof. They saw the foundation dug and poured, and the framework go up. They watched the stone-masons, the carpenters, the plumber and the electrician. They poured a lot of dreams into that home—that's why they want to make sure that it will be theirs, "title clear," some day, regardless of what comes. So, they are protecting their investment with a Southwestern Life Mortgage Cancellation contract.

Jack and Sue know that through Southwestern Life Mortgage Cancellation Insurance they can provide a sound savings program to supplement any plan of future income that fortune may bring their way. And they know that it will provide funds for as long as twenty years, should death interrupt Jack's work.

Through Southwestern Life Mortgage Cancellation Insurance, you can make sure that the end of the story of your planning and savings will be what it should. Through it, you can accomplish the multiple purpose of protecting family, property and income, and leave those you love living in the neighborhood where they want to live, in the way they should. OFFICIAL QUARTER HORSE SHOW

Officials and participants in the Top o' Texas quarter horse show, held here for the first time last year, but to be held again in August, can be proud in the fact that the local horse show has been recognized by the American Quarter Horse association, and hence will be one of the three official shows in Texas.

Fort Worth and Stamford have the honor of being recognized as official quarter horse show sites.

The quarter horse, bred and developed as the cowboy's horse, is not a new animal in America. But he is gaining more distinction. He's the "quarter" horse because he can run a quarter-mile faster than any other type, according to the theory.

We are proud to hear that this section has been recognized for its efforts, and we look forward to bigger and more significant showings here.

STUDENTS CHALLENGE PAMPANS

Last Sunday's edition of The News carried a story on the front page, entitled "Students Challenge Pampans."

It had to do with a mighty good piece of work on the part of students and pupils in the local schools.

They collected, in cans of food and money, enough material to assure the people of hungry areas of at least 7,000 cans of food from this area.

The drive now shifts to the city proper—to be waged through the churches and the grocery stores. It's now our time; we must not let it be said that the children of the schools did better than we—who are in much better condition to give than those students.

Let's see that a new record is set for food collection. It is surely needed by tens of thousands—even millions.

WE MUST SHOW APPRECIATION

A few weeks ago, Westex Airlines instituted an air route from Dallas to Amarillo, via Pampa and other points. This arrangement made it necessary for people in the Panhandle to remain at Fort Worth or Dallas overnight, when they had gone there to transact hurried business. This condition was pointed out to officials.

As a result, the route has been practically reversed, and now the plane takes off from Pampa each day and returns here that night. This is the headquarters, and the officials have been cooperative enough to change their schedule for people of this area.

Pampans must now show they appreciate that change in schedule.

BERLIN—(AP)—The Jew is still one of the most interesting questions of Europe.

His problem is one no single nation or group of nations has been able to solve, and he is trying to solve it now himself by seeking to get to the Shanghai-La of modern oppressed European Jews—Palestine.

There are believed to be only 1,500,000 Jews left of the 6,000,000 in non-Russian Europe before the war. The soft ones were trapped and exterminated. Most of those left are tough, aggressive. They know what they want.

Anti-semitic Europeans—and they run into the millions—say the Jews are the brains and backbone of black market and other illegal activities in almost every country over here.

There are Jews in the black markets, of course, but the charge is ridiculous. I recently with a friend, a young, intelligent American Jew who knows what is going on over here now, I asked him to write me a summary from his viewpoint, and here it is:

"It looks pretty much like the Jew is through with Europe. It's going to please a lot of people when you say that, but the reasons for the statement are a little different than they think.

"Even though the United Nations won, the Jews lost. Their battle is being fought now, they are hardy souls who never die, and because of what is within them they are able to fight back against the odds and the frightful losses European Jewry has suffered.

"Thousands of Jews wander about Europe seemingly aimlessly. Blindly this amorphous mass surges through the ruined roads, across mine strewn fields, into skeletonized towns.

"But there is a purpose. There is a leadership. There is a plan. These are the little people. These are the ones who suffered. These are the men and children from Dachau, Buchenwald.

"They are going to Palestine. They have courage. Slowly they wander with hope—and broken shoes. Gradually they cross borders, engulfing them, sleeping through them. Nothing can stop them. Like mute animals seeking new pasture after the hunger of winter they go.

"Germany, Poland, Romania, Austria, Italy, Italy. There are Polish troops from the exiled government attack and lost them. But the movement continues. The allied commission closes the displaced person camps in the north.

"The crowds are ahead. UNRRA supplies rations. The Jews sell, and surge to the south. UNRRA camps take them in. They push blindly on. They reach Southern Italy. Along the Adriatic coast there are fishermen, tramp steamers, coastwise vessels. There are what these people want.

"No longer do they stumble blindly. The pattern is clear. Shrewdly they join together, trained leadership. They purchase or charter vessels. Now you know why they sell

BAR—The ablest constitutional experts on Capitol Hill and in the department of justice agree privately that the punitive legislation aimed at the Caesar of musicians, "Jimmy" Petrillo, as well as the proposed law directed at John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers, will be outlawed when these statutes are tested before the supreme court.

They base this conclusion not so much on the liberal complexion of the highest tribunal as on their belief that these antilabor schemes are "class legislation." Although designed to remedy social and economic evils, they have been so badly and hurriedly framed that they can be interpreted as striking at two particular groups, even at two specific individuals.

But the feeling against the musical and bituminous coars is so bitter in Washington that even the men who fear for the judicial future of these proposals voted for the anti-Petrillo measure and will support the curb on the big boss of the coal miners.

Meanwhile, members of house and senate judiciary committees will try to hammer out a more permanent and general legal bar to labor excesses of all kinds which will stand up before the nation's best benches.

RESENTMENT

The house appropriations committee's report accompanying its grant of funds to the interior department for 1947 reflects the present temper of congress more vividly than any speech or document that has been offered on Capitol Hill since President Truman assumed office more than a year ago. It expresses the legislators' resentment against executive bossism and bureaucracy, and expressly defies the wishes of Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Although Harold L. Ickes has quit the department, the members of this committee, which is the most representative and powerful body in the house, refer to his "inefficiency" and "gross extravagance" as manager of federal lands, forests, power systems, etc.

ENEMY

Author of the bitter language of the report was Representative Jed Johnson of Oklahoma, an old enemy of "The Curmudgeon". He consistently opposed Mr. Ickes's attempt to grab control of all the nation's public hydroelectric systems.

The late President Roosevelt, at the former cabinet member's urging, tried to get out of the legislative path to naming him to a federal bench, but the Oklahoman declined to be kicked upstairs.

In its blast against government penetration of the realm of power, the committee took a sideswipe at Mr. Rayburn. It reduced funds for administration of the federal power projects in the southwest from $23,323,000 to a mere $3,198,000. It was because of the private companies' attack on this and similar measures that the speaker recently quit the rostrum and delivered a biting attack on "power lobbyists who infest the capital."

He has learned how right he was. They "infest" the one committee which he supposed to keep under control, especially when they consider problems affecting Texas.

SEATS

Republican leaders will not admit it publicly, but they have quietly abandoned earlier assertions that they would regain control of the house of representatives. They need twenty-seven additional seats for a nominal majority in the lower body, but they will consider themselves fortunate if they pick up twenty from coast to coast. Eighteen is their rock bottom figure.

The G. O. P.-ers, and also democratic calculations, regard any district that was carried by 10,000 or fewer votes by either party as debatable territory. There are approximately 100 seats that were won or lost by that narrow margin.

It was on the expectation of victory in a majority of these congressional sectors that National Chairman Reece and House Majority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., based their hope of taking over in the lower chamber. They have never expected to win enough places to dominate the senate.

HUNCH

But most of these so-called doubtful districts are located in urban, or suburban areas, where the voters have swung democratic in a big way in the last twelve years. Despite mounting dissatisfaction with postwar controls and other "nuisances", it is believed that the trend against the majority is not solid enough to break its congressional grip.

In all his campaign plans National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan is counting on the veteran, labor and youth vote for at least one more democratic triumph at

Stop Robbery After July 1, 1947

I have seldom run across a clearer explanation of why price controls should be discontinued than the one written by F. A. Harper and published in the Commercial and Financial Chronicle.

Under the heading, "Shall We Discontinue Controls Now or Later," he makes the following observations:

"If these controls are unwise, they should be discontinued now. If they are wise, they should be continued forever. The question is one of type, not of degree or of time. In my opinion, we should junk the entire control machine now, not just keep changing drivers or replacing nuts here and there.

"Those who support continuation of controls fall into two groups: (1) those who favor the basic idea of controls, and (2) those who are being dishonest in supporting something they know is unwise.

"Some profess to be opposed to controls after July 1, 1947, or some other future date. A person either believes in these controls, fundamentally, or he does not. The calendar has nothing to do with the question. A control which is judged to be unwise in 1946, or 1950, or July 1 of 1947 is also unwise on July 1 and March 21 of 1946. And if the idea is basically unwise for one person, one industry, one commodity, it is unwise for another.

"Suppose we were discussing the question of robbery. Some might take the position that robbery should be approved, and some that it should be condemned. What would you think of those who profess opposition to robbery, but not until after July 1, 1947? You might suspect such persons of having in mind a little project which they hoped to have completed by that date. What would you think of those who professed in the belief that robbery should be condemned, but who said their minds had been changed by the results of a public opinion poll?

"I cannot stress too strongly my belief that we should not temporize with this issue. Let me repeat; the question is one of type, not of degree or of time. It is not time for those who believe in economic freedom to weaken in the face of charges of greed and selfishness, or other accusations. If we abandon what is right, the rewards for being right will abandon us. Truth pays no attention to expediency, nor to mob psychology."

"They are off to Palestine at last. Not gaily, but with music and bunting. But with determination, a quiet doggedness, that must have made our pioneer ancestors so serious and humorous."

Tarred roads adjacent to vineyards cause wine made from the grapes to taste of tar, according to French grape growers.

Between Canada and the United States there has been no letdown in the spirit or habit of co-operation. The world as a whole desperately needs to profit from our North American example.—President Truman.

Peter Edson's Column: POTPURRI OF NEWS ABOUT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, (NEA) — The ways of a prophet in government are hard, particularly when his predictions are wrong. Office of war mobilization and reconversion economists have taken considerable ribbing over their 1945 assurances that unemployment in the spring of 1946 would reach eight million—only to have the number turn out to be three million.

But, now the OWMR boys are being asked to swallow some more words. In a report which Director John W. Snyder sent to the senate small business committee just before congress went home for the Christmas holidays, there was a prediction that, "Food is almost the only item in which we can see an early likelihood of supply balancing demand." With that on the record, up pops the world food shortage.

Recent rains throughout the farm belt, giving assurances of another bumper crop year, have delighted but surprised agricultural experts. They say it's an unusual run of luck. On the average, the U. S. has had one drought or bad crop year for every seven good years in a row, or they have been three or five years apart. Good crops in 1946, however, will make this the tenth year in a row that this country has had bumper yields. Such luck can't last, says the experts.

The plan has been approved by the National association of state aviation officials. The advantage is that it would establish uniformity of flying regulations throughout the U. S., yet let the states do the policing and enforcing.

In Hollywood

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, NEA — It was practically a milestone for the movie.

Boris Karloff, the boogie man, was working in front of a movie camera, and he looked just like Boris Karloff.

"Why, Boris," we said, "where are your two heads? Where is your fright wig? Where is the chocolate syrup that doubles for blood? Where is the battery that makes your ears light up? Where is the..."

"Please," Boris said, "Today I am the new Boris Karloff. I left the old one under a wet rock in the Universal prop department."

"Mr. Karloff, please," called an assistant director.

"Pardon me," said Boris, in his pleasant English accent.

He joined Danny Kaye for a scene in "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty."

"See," said Boris, returned, "I'm still a menace. But I don't scare people with neon lights sticking out of my skull, two heads, or eye balls that pop out every time the heroine looks at me. I'm just Boris Karloff. Not Boris Karloff, horror man."

We were worried about Danny.

"He's all right," said Boris. "He's hanging by his fingernails on a window ledge. He'll be back."

Boris was such an amiable fellow that we couldn't resist asking about his divorce. He told the court that Mrs. Karloff was "cruel" to him, which gave Hollywood quite a chuckle.

"Please," he said, "Let's not go into that. It was a purely technical charge."

It didn't seem to mind playing in intelligent horror pictures, but that he walked out on the Frankenstein monster which made him famous, because it became a clam-bake. "The monster," he said, "became a prop in the last act."

He's still grateful, though, for what the monster did for his career.

GIVES HIMSELF NIGHTMARES

We wondered if Karloff, the super horror man, ever had nightmares.

"Only when I see my own pictures," he chuckled, "or just before the opening of a new play. My knees always sound like castanets."

He had a pretty good angle about seeing himself on the screen, too.

"I usually wait a year before seeing one of my pictures. It's the only way I can learn anything about my acting. It's like reading something you've written. The next day it sounds pretty good. But a year later it stinks."

Karloff said he enjoyed working on the New York stage show, "Arsenic and Old Lace," just for the chance to enjoy the humor of authors Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse. "We spent all of our spare time exchanging insulting telegrams," he said.

Lindsay and Crouse once humorously objected to Karloff's getting sun-tanned during the summer season. "We're not playing 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'; they wired him.

"If I was earning a decent salary," wired back Karloff, "I could afford some powder."

Well, girls, the International Ladies, Luggage, Belt and Novelty Workers union says our handbags will be even larger this year, and many of them will be made of elephant's skin.

George, a I had heard that they'll probably set a limit of one elephant to a customer. He never gets tired of jokes about the size of my purse, which makes one of us who stuff lots of things into my handbag, but it's not true, as he claims, that I once opened it after I'd been to the market and a small A. and P. clerk fell out.

Men carry sly things in their pockets, too. George caught me going through his pockets once and accused me of looking for money. When I told him I was just looking for things to make me laugh, he wouldn't believe me. In fact, he made me give money back.

UPTON CLOSE: What We Have to Fear Is Stateist Now in Disguise

There is a lesson in our fruitless run-around with Russia. There is a lesson in the bad face our diplomats got us into in various South American countries which has compelled President Truman to change their stations. There is a lesson in Pearl Harbor, of which we are to hear more. Now, we have the lesson General MacArthur has flashed on the screen of Pacific Asia. It is the lesson that the American people must be no longer kept in the dark about foreign policies. They must no longer be treated as immature children. The American people are not the queen's light brigade, of whom Tennyson wrote—"Their not to question why—their but to do and die." American citizens must be given the education and that data, and allowed to exercise their right to decide upon what involvements their governments should get into, and what wars they should fight. The time has come for a few men to cease to pledge the blood and treasure of 130 million citizens to experimental diplomacy or even try out ideals. The time has come for right-above-face civil examples of Atlantic conferring, and to heran table-talking and Yalta yammering.

What we have to fear in this country now is not open stateists of the sort which Lenin became after 1920, but those in disguise who, like Lenin in 1917, made fun of the fright of little property owners and promised them that never should socialism or communism confiscate their possessions. What we have to fear now are the price restrictions and rationers of scarcity, the bureaucrats who make owners of private property bankrupt through OPA restrictions, the government auditors who harass and hound the small businessman and farmer to death, and the forced unionizers who use unions primarily not to benefit their workers, but as an economic instrument to lay the national economy in ruins. The free trades union is good. The forced trades union becomes the most terrible instrument of intimidation ever invented.

Theodore Roosevelt saw these black clouds rise and commented on them. Today we have the story.

The small property owner was the very foundation on which Washington and Hamilton and Jefferson and Paine and others built our American government. Forged and tempered by communists and pinched by officialdom, small property owners and taxpayers reach for one another's hands. In that coming together, I see the most promising force to set this storm-beset nation to rights.

Lamin said that private property should be abolished—because nine-tenths of the people had none. Private property will not be abolished here because nine-tenths of the people, including labor union members, have some, and realize that this is what America gives them, and are quite fed up with being called "fascists" on that account.

Andrew Jackson said it—"As long as government is administered for the good of the people, and is regulated by their will—as long as it secures to us the rights of person and of property, liberty of conscience and of the press, (and today he would include radio) it will be worth defending.

THE CLAIM ADJUSTER

XXVI

IT was a week later when the insurance man came. Ellie's wrist was all healed, and they were still at the Qualeys.

The insurance man had a long nose and a gold horseshoe hanging from his watch chain, and he kept his rubbers on in the sitting room. They all happened to be there, John and Cora and Ellie and Debby and Agnes. Agnes wondered if the man would check for seven thousand dollars in his pocket. He took a folder out of his pocket. "Mr. Daniels," he said, squinting at Ellie, "we have good reason to believe that the seven thousand dollars you claimed was a gross overvaluation of the property destroyed."

Agnes's shoulders drooped and she stared into the man's face. He looked sure of himself and as though he'd done this same thing many times before. Then she looked at Ellie, and he was staring blankly. She felt overwhelmingly discouraged, the way she felt when she had worked long and hard at something and then failed. She might have known they'd never get the seven thousand dollars.

"What's that?" Ellie asked.

The man repeated what he had said before, word for word.

"I see," said Ellie, but he didn't sound as though he did. "So what?"

"Well, the company is prepared to offer to settle the claim for four thousand five hundred dollars."

Ellie glared at him suspiciously.

"You mean," he asked, "if you're going to try to get away with payin' me forty-five hundred instead of seven thousand?"

The man nodded. "That's what we're prepared to offer. I might add that in my special opinion it's a very generous offer, and my personal advice to you would be to take it."

MACKENZIE'S Column

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Indian political factions, having failed to bridge their bitter differences at Simla round-table conference, are now looking to England to pull out of the hat some proposal which will overcome the difficulties that block the way to independence.

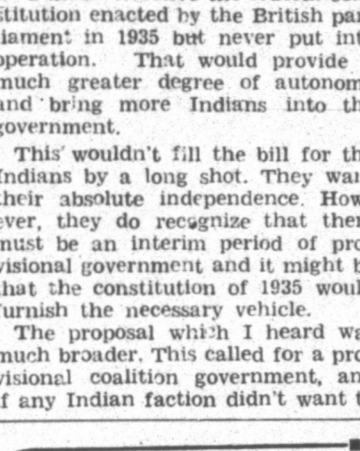

Success will call for a bold move, which impels me to tell you of something I encountered when I was in India in 1942-43 studying this great political problem. Indian leaders made the startling discovery that the British partition that the way to deal with the obstacles created by the factional disputes was for Britain to use "strong arm methods" by arbitrarily setting up a provisional government and then inviting all parties to participate.

Something reminiscent of this has now been proposed in New Delhi by Dr. N. B. Khare, a Hindu and a member of the Viceroy's executive council (cabinet).

Dr. Khare's proposal is that England make effective the federal constitution enacted by the British parliament in 1935 but never put into operation. That would provide a much greater degree of autonomy and bring more Indians into the government.

This wouldn't fill the bill for the Indians by a long shot. They want their absolute independence. However, they do recognize that there must be an interim period of provisional government and it might be that the constitution of 1935 would furnish the necessary vehicle.

The proposal which I heard was much broader. This called for a provisional coalition government, and if any Indian faction didn't want to part, it could stay out. This was associated with the idea of giving the fullest possible support of all India to the war effort. The Indians were anxious to take their place beside the Allies. While the war element is lacking now, the desire for independence burns with the same fierce flame.

Now, as then, it wouldn't be possible to scrap the present government willy-nilly and substitute a brand new, provisional government. There obviously would have to be a transitional period, but the Indian leaders could be made part of the entire governmental machine.

Disputes would be thrusted into the background. This would be possible, it was argued, because the interests of the various parties would be safeguarded by agreement that none of their claims would be prejudiced by acceptance.

Such a pledge might be made the keystone of a provisional coalition government. That government would be the forerunner of dominion status, that is, sovereignty.

Such arbitrary establishment of a provisional government would be radical, and probably unique. Any political party which didn't wish to participate could stand aside and the rest would carry on. If none of the parties was willing to take part, then at least Britain would have done all that could be expected of her and she would be free to govern India as she saw fit.

So They Say

Am I right in thinking that there was no one there when this fire started except the members of your family?

"Maybe," said Ellie.

"As I understand it, just yourself and your wife and your sister-in-law. I think the fire department also reported that there was evidence of an inflammable oil—that the fire was either started with such an oil or spread by it."

Agnes was watching him with a breathless sort of fascination, the way you might watch a man who was pointing a gun at you.

"Also," he went on, "that the fire was well started before you even called the fire department, and that your sister-in-law, instead of going to the nearest telephone, drove all the way into town here before notifying anyone. It makes rather a strange set of circumstances, Mr. Daniels. First, that you should have grossly over-insured an old and rather dilapidated and poorly furnished house, and second that a little over two months afterwards the house should have burned down, with no uninterested witnesses as to how the fire started, and with evidence of an inflammable oil having been responsible for the burning. A very strange set of circumstances, Mr. Daniels. So strange that it might prove more than passably interesting to the District Attorney, if we should decide to turn over the facts of the case to him."

He bowed and went to the door. "Personally, I'd advise you to think it over very carefully, Mr. Daniels." He bowed again and went out and closed the door softly behind him.

They all sat there looking at Ellie, who stood in the middle of the floor.

Agnes said dully, "I guess we'd better take the forty-five hundred."

Ellie snorted. "I'll be damned if I will." He stood there with his chin out, glovering. "He owes me seven thousand, and he's not gonna cheat me out of it." Suddenly he looked up, with a gleam in his eyes. "An' just wait till I get hold o' that Ken Newkirk."

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE

Texas has been much in the national headlines the last few weeks because of a phantom killer believed responsible for five brutal murders. But Texas is such an unusual place it's worth a news story on its merits, and merits the phantom. What is Texas like? Well, in the first place it's a city of about 50,000 that straddles the state line dividing Texas and Arkansas. Texas is in Texas, and in Arkansas, and it has two city administrations, complete with mayors, fire departments, police and minor officials and employees. It calls itself Texarkana, U. S. A. and avoids argument. The larger half of Texarkana - you guessed it - is in Texas. The Texas half is in Bowie county, with the county seat in Boston. The Arkansas half is in Miller county, and Texarkana is the county seat. About the only thing they have in common municipally is a water and sewer system, and the postoffice. They have a common cultural life and the Gazette and News newspapers serve the whole territory. The postoffice, which includes federal offices, is located right on the line, half in Texas and half in Arkansas. Traffic has to detour around it for the boundary line itself forms

NOTHING NEW
PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Two policemen found missing three-year-old Penny Morehouse on a bridge. She didn't want to go home with them so they tried to coax her by an offer to hold a cop's shiny badge and listen to the patrol car radio. Penny fell for neither one. Finally by "force" they delivered Penny home and were met by her father—Patrolman E. S. Morehouse. New York Yankee player Nick Etten went 17 straight games in 1943 without getting a single. All of his hits were for extra bases.

Pioneer County Resident Dies

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the chapel of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home for Mrs. Rosa Belle Duncan, 69, who died at 3 p. m. yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Killis, 419 Dwight street, Pampa.

A resident of Gray county for the past 30 years, Mrs. Duncan lived on a farm five miles southwest of Pampa. Born in Drakecreek, Ark., she came to Texas in 1909.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Gillis and Mrs. C. C. Fitzgerald of Higgins; six sons, E. J. of Pampa, I. L. of New Ross, Ind., E. E. of Oklahoma City, J. J. of Fayette, Ind., R. E. of Wichita, Kans., and Al of Wellington.

Burial will be in Mobeetie cemetery by the side of her husband, W. C. Duncan, who died in 1913.

Sapphires and rubies are different only in color, both being colored forms of corundum.

Coal Strike

The proposal for a seven percent payroll levy, withheld their formal approval, is the subject of the rest of his contract demands.

But their reactions expressed privately to newsmen raised doubts that the negotiations of the next 24 hours could produce the general agreement President Truman has asked for by tomorrow.

One producer termed the demand "ridiculous." Another, not a member of the negotiating committee, said: "We reject the whole damned principle."

Most of the 400,000 miners who have been on strike since April 1 returned to work yesterday under a two week truce.

Lewis' outline of the specific form he wants the welfare fund to take marked the first time since the talks began two months ago that he has laid down a concrete formula.

The operators received it shortly after they had agreed to pay the miners $3,000,000 in back holiday wages which Lewis demanded as a condition to discussing a new contract.

Emphasizing that they were acknowledging no merit in the claim, the operators said their agreement was solely an effort to break the log-jam in the negotiations. It worked.

Lewis then launched his appeal for bigger and better life insurance for miners and their families, for hospital, medical and surgical treatment, and advances in cleanliness and sanitation.

Winding up, he asked for the seven percent payroll fund to replace the average five percent deductions now made from the miners' paychecks for health and welfare items.

The seven percent tax would be levied against the mine operator. The miners would cease paying the five percent now deducted from their paychecks.

Thirty-Seven 'Ladies' to Grace Kiwanis Club Stage Show Here

Thirty-seven prominent men of this city will "lend their talents" to the "cause" when the Kiwanis club Fashion Parade is staged at the Junior high school auditorium next Monday and Tuesday nights.

Dressed in some of the most outlandish attire they and their wives can dream up, these men will parade, some of them will sing, and there may be at least one man who will cry just a little when he is rolled on the stage in his favorite mode of travel—a baby buggy.

The alluring charms of Lieb Langston will be aided and abetted when he raises his voice in song.

The Rusty Hinge Quartet, making quite a name for its efforts in these parts, will be there; but it will be hard to identify them at first glance. They too will be dressed in the habiliments of the fairer sex.

It was announced last week that the ushers at this two-night show will be armed with some sort of weapon to keep the men in their seats when the "ladies" parade.

By the way, general admission tickets are on sale at the Cretney drug store. Reserved seat tickets will go on sale at the Harvester drug by Friday.

Following are sponsors and men who will be in the show, which will be held in connection with an imitation Tom Brennan's Breakfast in Hollywood. Proceeds will go to the fund for softball games here; among the children of the various churches, an annual event sponsored by the Kiwanians.

Here they are: Southwestern Public Service Co., Ed Weiss; Piggie Wiggly, L. N. Atchison; Pursley Motor Co., Walter Rogers; First National bank, Clyde Carruth; Plains Motor Co., H. T. Hampton; Levine's, A. L. Patrick; Friendly's, Carl Jones; White Way, J. C. Cashion; Pampa Furniture, Don Foster; Bentley's, Joe Fischer; Harvester Drug, H. D. Going Back to Army; Civilian Life Too Hard

Civilian life has a few too many hard knocks for Nelson R. Day, veteran of six years in the army, so he's re-enlisting within the next few days.

Day, who has operated the Veterans Club company here, told the city commission today that "he was going back to the army and take it easy."

"In the army you don't get your head cut off over time you stick your neck out," Day said.

The commission, taking action immediately, approved the transfer of Day's two pay permits to M. Roberts of Pampa and wished Day a cheerful "good luck."

Drby Entries

There is no entry fee, and the boy's racer must not cost him over $10. Instructions are given on how to racize the cost of parts and materials.

Youths in surrounding towns are eligible to enter local and national races.

Boys who are already signed, with their parents, are: Jim Bill Windsor, General Delivery.

Jackie Bonner, 819 W. Francis. Leo Roy Barnett, 902 Gordon. Carter Burdette, 820 North Gray. Lee McKinney, 1232 North Russell. Morris Smith, 1505 W. Ripley.

Texas Production Of Crude Unchanged

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—Daily average crude oil production increased 22,890 barrels to 4,743,940 in the week ending May 11, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Oklahoma output came up 9,550 to 373,250. California 7,250 to 867,750. Louisiana 1,850 to 378,500, the eastern area 900 to 65,900, Kansas 650 to 245,300 and Arkansas 150 to 78,100. The Rocky Mountain area of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming crept up 380 barrels to 155,940.

Illinois production declined 5,500 barrels to 206,800 and New Mexico, at 94,500, and Texas, at 2,114,800, were unchanged.

Daily average production compared with previous week included: Mississippi 60,750 May 11, 57,050 May 4, 53,000 Bureau of Mines.

Food Situation

Hoover's statement lent support to contentions of both Mr. Truman and Anderson that rationing is not necessary to meet foreign food needs during the present emergency, which in Hoover's estimate, will cease for the year about Sept. 1.

Hoover stated that he believed voluntary food conservation measures, if effectively laid before consumers, could save more food than coupon rationing.

Railroads

"Government seizure of the railroads won't stop us. The only thing left that might prevent it is an order from President Truman telling the railroads and the Brotherhoods to get together and settle their wage troubles and the dispute over rules. That might bring results."

The railroadmen asked $2.50 a day increase and 45 changes in rules. An emergency board offered $1.28 a day increase and approved a few changes.

ADOPTED FATHER KANSAS CITY

(AP)—Don Turnbull, secretary of the International Baby Chick association, is worried about an air trip to Warsaw, Poland—a flight on which he will "chaperone" 55,000 hen eggs.

A rough landing could cause quite an omelet, and a costly one, too. Each one of the eggs, consigned to Poland for incubation by the United Nations relief administration, is worth from fifty cents to $1.

Lake Titicaca, in Bolivia, covers 3200 square miles.

ADAPTED FATHER

(AP)—Whether a man must aid police in the arrest of a friend was the question before Judge J. M. Braude in women's court.

Matthew Bolsaga, 31, was accused by Policeman Nicholas Doder of refusing to summon a patrol wagon while he was arresting the wife of a friend of Bolsaga's.

Judge Braude said he was stumped on an immediate decision and continued a charge of disorderly conduct against Bolsaga until May 22.
