Commission Seeks Admission To Palestine for 100,000 Jews

Nippon Labor Voices General Strike Threat

TOKYO—(AP)—Organized labor used its occupation won freedom to voice a May day threat of a general strike to support its demands for a leftist government.

Meantime, Japanese police and American forces searched for the fanatic accused of having plotted to assassinate General MacArthur at the height of today's celebration by an estimated 400,000 Japanese in front of the imperial palace.

It was Japan's first May day celebration in 11 years and it passed quietly without a single reported act of violence.

Socialist Kanju Kato, in a labor committee conference with Premier Shidehara, led a nationwide walk-out might be called if a single party cabinet was formed by the rightist liberals.

The people may rise against it, Kato told the crowd. This might take the form of a general strike. In that case, who is going to take the responsibility—you?

Shidehara, who resigned his cabinet nine days ago in an election aftermath, agreed to listen to the committee's demands—some voiced angrily—but declined to comment.

The conference followed the assembly which the American provost marshal estimated attracted 400,000 Japanese. The crowd, rather than a block from MacArthur's headquarters, waved red banners, sang and heard speeches demanding rights for workers.

Armed American soldiers circulated through the crowd, looking for Hideo Tokuyama, accused by MacArthur's headquarters of having plotted to kill him with grenades and pistols at the height of today's celebration. An informant now in WASHINGTON—(AP)—An Anglo-American commission's recommendation for the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews to the British mandate of Palestine brought mixed reaction here and abroad.

The White House reported comment received there is "in the main highly favorable." Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters, however, the reaction came primarily from Jewish organizations and individual Jews.

In Britain, Prime Minister Attlee told the house of commons the problem of admitting so large a number of Jews to the Holy Land would be very great.

Warnings that the committee's report would encourage fresh acts of violence in Palestine came from Arab leaders. In Cairo, Secretary General Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha of the Arab League, said his organization would take "all measures" against it.

The commission's report said that Palestine should be "neither a Jewish nor an Arab state."

In Jerusalem, where there long have been repeated outbreaks of bloody violence, the Arab office said the report would intensify this strife and drive "the entire Middle East into the bosom of Soviet Russia."

The Arab statement termed the recommendations "high treason to democracy and a grave betrayal of justice."

In London, the Jewish agency for Palestine pledged cooperation with the plan to admit 100,000 Jews now but protested that the document left untouched the central problem of stateless Jews in Europe.

The number of these has been placed by Jewish spokesmen at more than 1,000,000.

The problem presented by the report—which climaxed a four-month investigation—is primarily one for Britain to handle because that country since 1922 has held a league of nations mandate over Palestine.

There was no provision in the joint inquiry committee's instructions making its recommendations binding upon either Britain or the United States.

The committee's action was taken against the immediate background of President Truman's request six months ago for emergency immigration of 100,000 homeless Jewish victims.

Russia Will Hew to Peace Policy--Stalin

MOSCOW—(AP)—A colorful demonstration by hundreds of thousands of Messon's workers and a long parade by soldiers, sailors and airmen, advised by Generalissimo Stalin not to forget for a minute "the in-ripgues of international reaction which is hatching plans of a new war," marked the Soviet union's observance of May day today.

Although the Soviet leader gave first place in his order of the day to "our valiant armed forces," he told his people:

"There is no reason to doubt that in the future the Soviet union will be true to its policy—the policy of peace and security, the policy of equality and friendship of the peoples."

Stalin exhorted the Russian armed forces to remain strong and increase their effectiveness by lessons learned from the war "on the basis of development of science and technique."

But it was noted that the traditional military parade before Lenin's tomb in the red square was out a half hour from the regular two-hour review.

"Now our armed forces are faced with a task of no less importance—vigorously to guard the peace which was won and the constructive labor of the Soviet people, to be the reliable bulwark of the interest of the Soviet union."

"The successful accomplishment of this honorable task is possible only on condition of further growth of military culture and military skill of the officers and men of our army, our navy and our aviation."

Stalin urged Russian workers to reach and even exceed the goals set in the nation's new five-year plan.

"In the vanguard of the struggle for peace and security marches the Soviet union, which played an outstanding part in smashing fascism and fulfilled its great mission of liberation," Stalin continued.

"The nations liberated from the fascist yoke received an opportunity of building their state life on democratic foundations, of realizing their historical aspirations. On this road they find fraternal assistance on the part of the Soviet union."

"The entire world has had an opportunity to convince itself, not only of the might of the Soviet state, but also of the fairness of its policy based on the recognition of equality of all peoples, respect for their freedom and independence."

"There is no reason to doubt that in the future the Soviet union will be true to its policy—the policy of peace and security, the policy of the equality and friendship of the peoples."

UNTIL THE ROOTS DIE, TOO

Fuller's Threat To Quit Darkens Labor Picture

(By The Associated Press) New and threatening strikes and a possible slow-down in government efforts to settle the critical soft coal dispute darkened the nation's labor picture today, at the start of the busy month of May.

A transit strike in Atlanta, Ga. inconvenienced thousands. Coal production in Illinois was at a complete shutdown by a walkout of 18,000 independent miners.

A nationwide work stoppage of workers that would tie up the country's terminal elevators threatened. A transit strike in Memphis, Tenn., was called off when an agreement on wages was reached.

And in Washington, the resumption of negotiations between John L. Lewis and mine operators was highlighted by the threatened withdrawal of special federal conciliator Paul W. Fuller. He expressed dissatisfaction with the government's handling of the month old walkout by 400,000 AFL soft coal miners, but directed to reconsider his surprise resignation. He said he would give Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach his answer today.

Fuller's threatened withdrawal came after Lewis, president of the AFL union, mine workers, filed notice that the 75,000 Pennsylvania miners would quit work in 20 days if they are not given a contract—with approximately the same demands he has presented to the operators for the soft coal miners.

Atlanta's transportation tieup came after midnight when 1,350 AFL street car and bus operators, employed by the Georgia Power company, rejected a last-minute compromise proposal reached by negotiators. The company provides transportation to about a half million passengers daily. The walkout in Memphis was averted when AFL workers accepted an hourly wage increase of 18 cents.

The walkout of the 18,000 (Ind.) progressive mine workers of America in Illinois coal mines increased the existing threat to Chicago and downstate industry and business resulting from shrinking supplies of coal. The PMW workers quit work

GI Training Program In Texas Discussed

Members of the Panhandle Personnel association, meeting at the Pampa room, City hall, last night, heard Reno Stinson, Cabot companies, discuss the veterans training program.

William E. R. Smith, American Zinc company, Pampa, was elected president of the organization, which meets monthly to discuss problems related to industry.

Dr. Lee Johnson, professor in business administration, West Texas State college, Canyon, was elected vice president; Jimmie McCune, Cabot companies, Pampa, was named secretary.

Past officers are Roy Gilbert, Goodrich Rubber company, Borger, president; Chet Robertson, Pantex vice president; and W. E. R. Smith, secretary.

The next meeting, on the night of May 9, will be held at the Amarillo college, 2001 Harrison, Amarillo.

Stinson advocated more efficient administration of the veterans training and apprenticeship program in Texas, a program which has been designed by the federal government to aid returning veterans in becoming rehabilitated in their community.

He was referring to Public Law 343, which pertains to the training of non-disabled veterans. He said he saw no defects in the disabled veterans program as it now stands. Public Law 346 is supposed to be administered by the various states.

He said as the program is now operated, it has less benefit to the veteran than it should, and is too indefinite to properly interest industry in training veterans. He said he is interested in seeing veterans trained, but wants them to get what they and the government are putting into it.

Attending last night's dinner meeting, in addition to those already mentioned, were:

J. D. Trough, Goodrich, Borger; C. W. Gibbs, Texhoma Natural Gas company, Pritch, Victor Shawgo, Southwestern Public Service company, Amarillo; A. A. Munsch, Bureau of Mines, Bartlesville, Okla.; Harold Teeserstrom, United Carbon, Sanford; Fred Shrock, Danciger Refinery, Pampa; L. D. Wilson, Danciger.

Allied Control Of Italy Is Controversy

PARIS—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov and U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes clashed on the question of the future Allied control of Italy today as the foreign minister's council turned thumbs down on Austria's plea for return of the Southern Tyrol by Italy.

A qualified conference source said the Soviet minister sharply opposed Byrnes' proposal for a single general commission to supervise the carrying out of the Italian treaty provisions on the ground that it would be an infringement of Italian sovereignty.

Byrnes was said to have retorted it was no more of an infringement than the treaty itself.

Molotov reversed the Soviet policy followed at last September's council meeting at which the Russian voted with their colleagues to set up only military control commissions.

At this morning's session, over which he presided, Molotov came out in favor of a commission at all.

The minister decided to hold their next meeting tomorrow morning and to cancel a scheduled session this afternoon. Their deputies will meet this afternoon to set an agenda.

COEDS SAY WAR HAS MADE BETTER LOVERS OF VETS

LIBERTY, Mo.—(AP)—Coeds at Tiny William Jewell college think the war has made veterans better lovers.

William Turman, veteran and associate editor of the college newspaper, grew tired of "loose talk about veterans coming back to date coeds after dating girls all over the world."

So he and five other veterans conducted a campus poll among girls from 20 states among the college's 512 students about the 174 ex-service men on the campus.

Additional Price Controls Suspended

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Price controls were suspended indefinitely on all canned, frozen and preserved fruits and berry products except cranberries.

A MYSTERY THRILLER:

'THE BAT' PRODUCTION OF JUNIORS IS SUCCESS

The Pampa High school Junior class play, "The Bat," a mystery thriller by Mary Roberts Rinehart, presented Monday and Tuesday nights in the Junior high school auditorium had all the thrills and spills of any good movie. It was well produced and with the appropriate sound effects and lightning to back up the suspenseful drama, it was definitely a hit.

Patsy Pierson, who had the part of Lizzie Allen, the maid, probably had more than her share of the laughs. She was so superstitious and frightened at the house in which they lived that she had some

Mercury Drops to 39 Degrees Here

Old Man Weather pulled a trick on Pampans today by going through the old "change of pace" common in baseball as temperatures dropped to a low of 39 at about 8 o'clock this morning.

Intermittent rains throughout the Pampa area were unexpectedly followed by the cool air, although the low temperature yesterday hovered near the 70's.

The reading at 6 o'clock this morning was 52 after which the slump was reported. A 55-degree temperature was recorded at noon today.

Elsewhere scattered showers in Central and East Texas were expected today following a two-day series of thunderstorms which left damage-spotted areas throughout the state, according to the Associated Press.

In West Texas the forecast was cloudy and cooler with no prospects of rain.

Last night the turbulent storms and torrential downpours continued in three sections.

The U. S. bureau reported a "serious thunderstorm" moving east from Big Spring to Abilene, but there have been no reports of damage.

In San Antonio late last night a thunderstorm, accompanied by lightning and wind gusts up to 45 miles per hour, brought the two-day rainfall near the three-inch mark. A bolt of lightning struck the post office building there with no apparent damage.

Brownsville reported 2.54 inches of rain falling from yesterday noon to 6:30 last night. Earlier in the day heavy rains and a violent hailstorm swept through the western half of the lower Rio Grande valley.

As soon as possible, Barrett's Frozen Foods will have additional lockers. (Adv.)

Doubts About Feller Gone After No-Hit Contest

By JACK HAND

Bobby Feller's brilliant no-hit, no-run job against the New York Yankees should still once and for all the springtime rumors that Rapid Robert had lost his fast one.

"My fast ball was my best pitch all the way," Feller said in the clubhouse after the ball game, "but I also used a lot of curves and sliders. I believe I had better stuff than when I pitched my other no-hitter against the White Sox in the 1940 opener."

Two Derby Nags May Drop From Saturday's Race

By SID FEDER

LOUISVILLE—(AP)—The possibility that the field for Saturday's Kentucky Derby might lose its second "name" horse in 24 hours arose today when Trainer Ben Jones announced that he "did not think" he would start Warren Wright's In Earnest.

Yesterday's Mrs. Vera Bragg's Mist O'Gold officially was declared out after coming down with fever. Jones said owner Wright had not finally made up his mind concerning In Earnest, which finished seventh in yesterday's Derby trial. But Jones added, "The chances are" he would not send the horse to the post.

Jones said he believed In Earnest is over his peak.

In Earnest was an eight to one shot in the winner books and one of the leading horses challenging the favored Maine Chance farm's entry of Lord Boswell and Knockdown.

If he is withdrawn, as Jones indicated appears likely after he and Wright make their final decision, it would leave 16 more or less definite starters still in the field for Saturday's $100,000 derby.

William Helms must be convinced that horse buying is a funny business because he can now boast of paying $66,000 for one Gee-Gee which turned out to be the most expensive "pet" in history—and only $12,000 to get the latest glamour boy in Saturday's derby.

This is not saying that Rippey is wearing the necklace of roses already because the derby dandies still have to run a mile and a quarter around the race track, and Lord Boswell and Knockdown still are the young men most likely to succeed in a field that appears virtually certain to number 16 horses for this 72nd get-together.

But off his amazing score in the derby trial mile yesterday, the Virginia-born swift might very well be the one they'll be hanging that laurel wreath of buds on late Saturday afternoon.

The mud-runnings Rippey gave definite proof that he's just about as sharp as you'll find around Churchill Downs right now, especially if it comes up slop, as it did yesterday.

Other speakers yesterday included Dr. Manuel Gonzalez Rivera, general director of health education for Mexico City; Dr. James R. Scott, New Mexico state department of health, and Salvador Morales y Carvajal, director of sanitation in maternal control in Mexico.

The convention is for Clergy of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

'Streaks' Go To Extremes in Texas; Panthers Win Eight, Tribe Loses 11

(By The Associated Press)

The Fort Worth Cats took their eighth straight Texas league game yesterday at Fort Worth, defeating the Tulsa Oilers, 10-1, and Oklahoma City Indians ran their league losing streak to 11 when they fell before the Dallas Rebels, 5-4, at Dallas.

The Beaumont Exporters pounded out a 9-6 verdict over Houston and the Shreveport at San Antonio game was postponed because of wet grounds.

The Indians apparently had their losing streak broken going into the last of the ninth, but the Rebels produced one genuine run and got another free to win. With Borom on first, J. P. Wood tripled and went home when the relay ended up in the Dallas bat-catch. Bob Gillespie hurled a four-hitter for Dallas.

A ninth-inning rally by Houston against the Exporters faded. The Buffs scored three runs in the last frame, but Beaumont had exploded for six markers in the second and had added three more in the fourth.

John Van Cuyk of Fort Worth limited the Tulsa Oilers to seven blows and the Oilers' one run was unearned. Two Tulsa pitchers also held the Cats to 7 hits, but walked 7 men, while five errors were marked up by the Oilers.

Today's games:

Dallas at San Antonio (night)
Fort Worth at Houston (night)
Oklahoma City at Shreveport (night)
Tulsa at Beaumont.

Parents Are Placed Under $1,500 Bond

BEAUMONT—(AP)—Bond of $1,500 each has been agreed on for Mr. and Mrs. Lyle V. Hungerford, charged with kidnapping their own three-year-old child, their attorney, R. Lee Davis, has announced.

He said the agreement was made with County Attorney Bill Saxon, J. P. Swain, Justice of the peace, said he previously had offered agreement at that sum.

The Hungerfords are charged with kidnapping their daughter, Barbara Ann, after having left the child with Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Baker of Orange. The Hungerfords were divorced but since have remarried. They claim, through their attorney, that the father did not sign a waiver for the Bakers to adopt the child, and that the mother signed civil habens corpus proceedings to regain custody of the child for the Hungerfords.

I'M IN FAVOR OF SIGNS

Announcing elections, dances, bazaars, bond rallies and all kinds of "get-togethers" that we, here in America, can still enjoy.

BUT

Posting these signs on electric poles is a dangerous practice.

THE NAILS CAUSE TROUBLE

As they can cause a lineman who is climbing that pole to fall and seriously injure himself.

HERE'S HOW IT HAPPENS

Linemen wear sharp pointed spurs that dig into the pole so that they can climb quickly and safely. If this spur strikes a nail used to post a sign, the spur slips causing a serious, or even fatal accident.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Please don't nail posters and signs on electric poles. The linemen who must climb these poles are doing it so that you can continue getting the best electric service in the world.

Brownie Troop Has 'Fly-Up' Ceremony

Thursday night Brownie Troop 2 of Sam Houston school under the leadership of Mrs. Noel Dalton and Mrs. Frank Carter became Girl Scout Troop 2 in a special ceremony at the Little Scout House.

To every Brownie Scout a "Fly-Up" is a great event because at that time a Brownie becomes an Intermediate Girl Scout. Those Brownies who have been active members of a troop for at least a school year are entitled to wear the Brownie Wings which they receive in the "Fly-Up" ceremony before they are invested as Tenderfoot Girl Scouts.

Preceding the Fly-Up the troop members served a supper on the Scout House lawn to their parents and other members of their families. Plans and decorations for the party were made by the troop members. The troop committee composed of Mrs. W. B. Weathered, Mrs. L. R. Miller, Mrs. A. C. Sanders, Mrs. Morris Goldfine and Mrs. Frank Dial and a helping committee made up of Frank Carter, Noel Dalton, W. B. Weathered and Mrs. Montgomery assisted with the preparation of the food and other arrangements.

A program of international scouting and group singing was given by the troop. The following girls were awarded Brownie Wings: Wynell Weathered, Phebe Ann Carter, Carlita Dalton, Janice Baker, Phyllis Goldfine, Donna Marie Gaylor, Barbara Jean Sanders, Ann Miller, Adelaide Shelly, Great Miller, Dorothy Mackie, Carolyn Dial and Patsy Joe Shelton. These girls and also Rose Marie Mitchell, Mary June Montgomery, and Kay Gene Myers were invested as Girl Scouts in a Candle Lighting ceremony conducted by the leaders, Mrs. Dalton and Mrs. Carter.

Cotton Swings to Bright Soft Suits

No restricted look mars the styling of cotton suits this year. Left, fine pearl gray and white corded cotton suit achieves top fullness in its high-collared jacket with huge dolman sleeves and a peplum effect with the tightly cinched self belt. Center, the black and pink striped full-skirted suit becomes a sunback dress when its short bell-hood jacket is removed. Right, gunmetal gray chambray in a town and country suit plays up hip fullness with big patch pockets and underlines design simplicity with buttons on sleeves and pockets.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In King Cotton's show of summer suits there is a down-with-the-bank look in whopping sleeves, tied-in jacket fullness and skirts that owe their new freedom to gathers, circular cut or pleats.

Styling is not all that escapes the restricted look. In a burst of dye freedom, cotton's colors pop out in Chinese red and blue, chartreuse, coffee cream—the new cafe-au-lait tone launched early in the spring—and gunmetal gray, the latest novelty in chambrays which looks as silky and lustrous as polished pewter.

Created by textile stylist Hope Skillman, gunmetal chambrays are the cotton which ace designers, scrambling like mad to get their smooth, drapable stuff into some of the season's talked-about suits. All have across with a flared, double-tiered peplum and interlocking loops of self-fabric used for trimmings. Another jacket, topping a skirt with a front kick pleat, introduces that saucy revival, the sewed-on waistband, and uses whopping patch pockets to give a hippy look. Stripes which go to all widths for gala effects also have a fling at something very fancy—bas-relief cording, a fabric achievement which puts another feather in King Cotton's cap. This firm, fine cotton of peary gray, corded with white in striped effects, looks as though you couldn't take out its starchy finish if you trampled it. It makes one of the smartest suits and has a high-collared jacket, drop yoke, wide dolman-deep sleeves and a peplum that increases flare.

The program was on "Our Children," with Mrs. Cleo Spence as leader. Mrs. Spence explained that everyone knows little children change rapidly and you expect a child to change if away for a few months, but would be shocked to find so great a change in adults.

Miss Millicent Schaub, former home demonstration agent, was the guest speaker, and gave a talk on "Taking Time With Our Children." In the course of her talk, she made this statement: "Time spent in housekeeping is only water over a dam, but time spent with our children goes into the river of life."

The young people have been eleven entries into the church, with five of these being conversions. He also reported 275 in church school Sunday. Beltz is hoping for 300 next Sunday.

Johnnie Cohen, director of the song services, is in charge of the young people's meeting each night before church. The young people are divided into two groups, working against each other to see which group can get the most conversions. According to Rev. Beltz, Mr. Cohen gives some rather impressive specials, in each service.

The meeting is to end this coming Sunday. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

WARFARE ON DOG
BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—After a "give-something" attack from sea gulls in the chill water of the barge canal yesterday, Tinky, a small Pekinese dog, was on the way to recovery today.

The dog was rescued by two men who said they had heard feeble barks and saw gulls swooping down on a "dark object" in the middle of the canal.

SPCA officials theorized Tinky had jumped into the canal to escape canine pursuers.

SUMMED UP, WE ARE GENEROUS PEOPLE

Next week, there will begin in the schools of Pampa, Lefors and surrounding communities a campaign to have donated food in tin cans, and money to buy food—all for the hungry, starving people of foreign countries, where the scourge of war has left its indelible mark.

The local effort is but part of an heroic effort on the part of the civic-minded leaders in all communities. This is a nation-wide mission of mercy, and it will be fulfilled in the true American manner.

We have been told that the American people are eating too much anyway, that, in fact, they should be ashamed that they have everything and the rest of the world has practically nothing.

We would like to go on record as opposing this dribble—that the people should be ashamed. On the contrary, we are somewhat proud that our people have plenty of food, and would expect—and rightly, we think—that they continue to have all they need and want.

But that does not mean that we should waste our food—not even if the rest of the world had all the food it needed.

We are, however, heartily in favor of this campaign to help feed people who, either through their own failure to avert war or through their being victims of war by no fault of their own—people who will starve in even greater numbers if we do nothing.

We know that the response to this call here, as elsewhere, will be heart-warming, for the American people, although they have in most cases had an abundance of food and other things are very, very generous. We say this, despite the charges by so many cynics that we are a selfish people.

We are generous people, although there are the selfish among us. They will be many who will give nothing though they be wealthy; there are those who will give more than they can spare. But, summed up, the results will show that we are a generous people.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

Labor Unions and Inflation

One of the primary causes of inflation is labor unions giving a group of people the exclusive right to establish the value of certain services.

When groups like coal miners and transporters of freight and producers of the essentials of life get an exclusive monopoly on the right to establish values, about the only defense there is against this extortion is to increase the dollars in circulation and give them a dollar that does not buy as much.

We are having a nice example of inflation from the series of strikes and concessions of increased wages without increased production. If wages increase without increased production, that is simply robbing the man who has his savings in dollars or credits.

When inflation comes it discourages saving. And when saving is discouraged, the increase in capital or tools is retarded. The result is that the people who think they are getting an increase in wages, in the long run, have to take lower real wages than they would get on a competitive basis.

This does not mean that for year unions cannot exploit other workers and get more for their services. Eventually they destroy themselves, however, as they did in Italy, France and Germany, and as they are destroying themselves in England and America today.

Yes, labor unions are one of the primary causes of inflation. They make it so extremely tough for some groups, whom they exclude by seniority, that the government in order to stay in power has to reduce the value of the wages of the privileged group. It also has to take care of the exploited by giving them a dose of some kind. Inflation, in the long run, is harmful to everyone.

Robbing Those With "Social Security"

We have a strange picture in America today. The United States government is forcing people to put aside part of their earnings in what is called "social security."

And while it is doing that, the United States government is "banking" these dollars for people who displace the individual to turn over to the government worth less and less. The government is doing this by issuing more and more counterfeits, and is making it hard to conceive of anything more tyrannical than a government compelling people to save and then robbing them of their savings. That is exactly what the United States government is doing to every working man who is obliged to have his employer take part of his wages and turn it over to the federal government.

If a private individual would do such an unjust thing as that, he would be regarded as a scoundrel of the worst kind. In fact, if he deliberately did it, he would be put in jail.

But that is what the "planners" are doing to the men that they profess to be so much interested in. They are forcing them to set aside dollars and then robbing them of part of their purchasing power. If the process keeps on, they will be robbed of practically all of their purchasing power of their "social security" dollars.

It is significant that they (the Japs) destroyed only two groups of buildings in Tientsin—the university and the municipal offices.—Dr. Chang Pong, president Nankai U., Tientsin, China.

Former Nazis, by fair means or foul, would try to do away with all exponent of democracy. We have definite proof of the existence of subversive groups planning such a campaign.—Wilhelm Hoegner, minister-president of Bavaria.

INDUSTRIAL INCOMES (New York Sun)

So much hokum has been put out from time to time by governmental bureaus and statistical departments of labor unions that a real source is performed by the National City Bank in publishing in its April bank letter a summary of the net incomes of 2800 corporations for two years. The figures disclose that last year these corporations had a total net income 3.7 per cent below that for 1944.

More instructive is the disclosure that the rate of return for those 2800 corporations last year was but 7.6 per cent. The total net income for 1946 corporations engaged in manufacturing went down nearly 2 per cent as compared with 1944. The rate of return for those manufacturing corporations figured out to 9.1 per cent last year.

Although the popular notion is that war industries in all cases have made the biggest profits, the statistics reveal that companies engaged in making soft drinks, in brewing and distilling, and in making drugs and soaps had rates well above those for iron and steel companies, petroleum and machinery companies.

The other side of a fairly rosy picture is shown in a second tabulation, which discloses that, from 1930 to 1940, inclusive, the rate of return for all active corporations in the United States averaged 12.5 per cent. For three consecutive years after 1940 there were corporation losses which for the period totaled $10,500,000,000.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

Well, I see that a pretty New York girl got her marriage annulled because her husband just would not take his nose out of a book, and I can sympathize with her. It's all right for a man to read, but he shouldn't overlook the really important things, such as his wife's new hat and the fact that she's lost three pounds on her diet.

Of course, I think husbands should be permitted to do some reading. It's better to have a man who stays home and reads "The Lost Weekend" instead of dramatizing it in the neighborhood bar and grill. And though you may be a little jealous of his interest in Kitty Amber or Scarlett O'Hara, you know it won't get to the dangerous stage.

George reads, too, but it will never break up our home. I can hold my own against Hopalong Cassidy's charms and I'm much more alluring than the baseball average.

OFFICE CAT

The science class at State College had a freshman who was being used to get acquainted with general knowledge.

Professor—Now, young man, are you one of the peculiarities of heat and cold? (The student) Yes, Professor. (The professor) Now suppose you give me an example. (The student) In summer the days are long and in winter they are short.

The late James F. Dunn, composer, disliked to stop and work and did not hesitate to criticize it.

At a tea in New York a girl seated at the piano, stopped playing and said to the professor: "You're very fond of music, aren't you, Mr. Dunn?"

Composer—Yes, but don't mind me, keep right on.

"White Man's Burden"

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

DILEMMA

Mr. Truman may solve his dilemma by naming an incumbent liberal jurist for the chief justiceship, and replacing him by a recognized conservative. That advice was forwarded to him as soon as his political advisers at the Capital learned of the Yankee judge's death.

CHOICE

Selection of a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to replace the late Harlan P. Stone may topple President Truman from the fence of compromise he has tried to walk ever since he became President.

THE DIFFICULTY

in choosing between liberal and conservative factions in his own party explains why his friends anticipate considerable delay in making his choice. For his aides believe that his appointment in so far as it will reflect his underlying beliefs and sympathies, will have greater influence on the 1948 and 1948 vote than his seeming support of the C. I. O.'s legislative program at the current session of congress.

THE LEGISLATORS

may make the laws, but the nine black-robed men interpret them for the present and future generations.

LINE-UP

The late chief justice was a center man in the judicial seasaw of the two factions on the high bench. Although generally regarded as new deals, he was not a violent partisan or ideologist.

UNDER HIS SANE, KINDLY AND GRANDFATHERLY MINISTRATIONS

the clashing groups did not stare daggers or spout sulphurously at each other in executive conferences or on decision days. He sided with each clique on various questions, and how he voted usually decided which won a majority.

Now the high tribunal stands evenly divided between the broad and strict constructionists. The liberals who argue that the court should and could overrule or at least censor congress usually consist of Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, Wiley E. Rutledge and Frank Murphy. The conservatives are Stanley F. Reed, Robert H. Jackson, Felix Frankfurter, and Harold H. Burton.

It has been impossible to draw hard and fast lines during the current term for Mr. Burton has not yet found himself since his recent elevation. But that has been the general line-up and division.

PHILOSOPHY

—Almost a score of 4 to 4 decisions await final action on the return of Justice Jackson from the Nuremberg trials. Mr. Stone thought them too important to be settled by a fragmentary body. The late chief justice also counseled delay as a mild rebuke to Presidents Truman and Roosevelt for drafting his men for nonjudicial service. The White House invasion of a coordinate judiciary irked him, although he was too patient and diplomatic to complain publicly.

Thus it is clear that the philosophy of Mr. Stone's successor will exert a decisive influence on forth-coming opinions of great social and economic import.

Even now there are many key questions in lower courts heading for ultimate supreme court decision.

MISHAPS

—In a well-meant effort to clean up postwar sports, the administration interfered actively in the domestic affairs of numerous nations. It hurried serious charges of Axis collaboration at Franco of Spain and Peron of Argentina. It questioned the righteousness of Tito's rule in Yugoslavia. It tried to uphold little Iran against Russian encroachment.

It is probable that all these efforts had the support of the majority by the American people.

But all failed. Our state department admits that Franco and Peron are more popular at home than ever before, possibly because of our last-minute intervention. Tito is still on top, with communist backing. Iran has snubbed our proffered help. All South American resents our Argentinian good-willing.

Our mishaps stemmed from the fact that we had no or poor diplomatic representation in these countries.

Secretary Byrnes rushed in on the basis of no or faulty information. So, and he admits it privately, he intends to remain on speaking, or shouting—terms even with ruling groups which he dislikes.

Battles Sought in Trade

Rome diplomats declare that they have been informed that the Italian fleet is to be dispatched to the Mediterranean. The Russians have suggested that Italy pay to Yugoslavia, Albania and Greece three hundred million dollars and that they are asking only one million for themselves—mere chicken feed.

The Anglo-American objection to large reparations is that Italy is so impoverished that she were to continue to feed and clothe her out of her pockets.

The Russians would get a free dinner and we would be handed the check.

America Finds Itself in Center of Bloodless, Yet Bitter Peace Battle

McClure Syndicate Writer

The outlook for statesmanlike peace treaties in the near future is not promising.

Secretary of State Byrnes hopes to break the stalemate with his meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Paris. But the head-on collisions which rocked the U. N. sessions in New York are likely to be repeated over there.

The actual peace conference, which comes later this spring, will only deal with Germany's satellites: Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. The fate of Japan and Germany will not be decided now, although the French seek to inject the inflammable Ruhr control issue into the session of foreign ministers.

The small potatoes, the big villain will be judged and sentenced.

This appears to many to be putting the cart before the horse. How can plans for rebuilding the world be made until the places of such major powers as Germany and Japan are fixed?

To unravel the tangled problems of peace is in itself a painstaking job.

The small victors and vanquished are feuding. There is enough pulling and hauling to prolong the conference for months, especially as the Big Four, with economic and political interests in the lesser states, are poles apart in their views.

Hoover's Prophecy Fulfilled

A couple of days ago Herbert Hoover, anticipating the peace conference, told the writer, "The wifches of fear, hate and revenge will take part in every discussion." It appears that his prophecy already has come true.

From the American standpoint, the Italian treaty is most important. Byrnes wants it settled quickly because Italy is so important a country to be kept an open sewer. And as a shrewd politician, he fears that Anglo-American voters, usually a bulwark of the democratic party, may raise ructions in the congressional elections unless Italy is granted the official peace which her economy so urgently needs.

The matter is complicated by several explosive factors.

Tito, through strong-arm tactics, is trying to push over Venezia Giulia. Italian mobs in the area are protesting to the Anglo-Americans beyond the boundaries against the Trieste arrangement.

No matter how fairly our agents strive to act,

Italians and Yugoslavs are resentful. When Wilson attempted to apply abstract justice to this hotly disputed region in 1919, Lloyd George declared, "He found that he could not measure accurately with his rigid yardstick timber gnarled and twisted by the storms of centuries." We have discovered this grim truth.

France, Italy Dispute Border

Another obstacle to an Italian settlement is the row over Italian territories which Paris describes as technically French. Rome maintains that it cannot discuss the question as it never has been informed of the official French claims regarding the Italian frontier.

The disposal of the Italian fleet is the subject of contention.

Moscow covets a large chunk of it; London and Washington are opposed. As a way out of the deadlock there is a possibility that the warships may be scuttled.

Reparations also are a touchy point.

The dupes of the foreign ministers arrayed, the agenda for Rome for a new report on Italy's economic situation. It has been rumored that the Kremlin has demanded reparations valued at three billion dollars. This is indignantly denied by Moscow.

But the Russians have suggested that Italy pay to Yugoslavia, Albania and Greece three hundred million dollars and that they are asking only one million for themselves—mere chicken feed.

The Anglo-American objection to large reparations is that Italy is so impoverished that she were to continue to feed and clothe her out of her pockets. The Russians would get a free dinner and we would be handed the check.

Rome diplomats declare that they have been informed that the Italian fleet is to be dispatched to the Mediterranean.

The Russians have suggested that Italy pay to Yugoslavia, Albania and Greece three hundred million dollars and that they are asking only one million for themselves—mere chicken feed.

It is probable that all these efforts had the support of the majority by the American people.

But all failed. Our state department admits that Franco and Peron are more popular at home than ever before, possibly because of our last-minute intervention. Tito is still on top, with communist backing. Iran has snubbed our proffered help. All South American resents our Argentinian good-willing.

ERWIN MACKENZIE'S Column

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The round-table conference which is assembling at Simla up in the Himalayas to deal with the question of India's independence from England must be counted as among the most fateful of the numerous international parleys which are trying to iron out the problems of our troubled world.

The position is so delicate that a breath would change the balance.

Representatives of the warring Indian political factions—the all-India congress (largely comprised of Hindus) and the Moslem league—are to face each other across the table. With them will sit down the ERWIN MACKENZIE envoys of mother England who has agreed to give up the brightest jewel in her imperial crown.

An amicable agreement would be a boon not only to India's four hundred millions but would remove a menace to peace.

A failure might be catastrophic.

Upon the shoulders of two aging men rests the outcome in major degree.

They are Mahatma Gandhi, power behind the all-India congress forces, and his political foe, Hahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem league.

A compromise won't be easy, since Jinnah has been holding out for an independent Moslem state (Pakistan) and Gandhi has been equally insistent on a unified federal government.

Both men are lawyers and studied in Missouri mules.

Gandhi is 78 years old and Jinnah is only eight years younger.

Both are lawyers and studied in Missouri mules. Each is chain-lightning mentally and out on the verbal draw. The likeness stops there, however.

Jinnah is a dyed-in-the-wool Moslem while the Mahatma is a Hindu and therefore theoretically the enemy of any Moslem.

Actually Gandhi's personal religion encompasses the good in many creeds, and he has told me that the greatest inspiration in his life has been the sermon on the mount. Jinnah is rich, and I've been entertained in his palatial home on the hill overlooking Bombay Harbor. The little Mahatma wears a beard with which to bless his name and I've seen scragged with him on the floor.

I can see the pair of them at the conference table as this is written.

The toothless Gandhi is in his breech-cloth, with possibly a concession to Western propriety in a shawl thrown across his scrawny shoulders. Handsome Jinnah is immaculate in exquisitely tailored clothes, with linen to match.

What may now seem to be a remote foreign strand of little concern to the security of the United States within a few years may be a life and death matter to us. Whether it realizes it or not, Main Street has stakes in many far-away lands whose names are unknown or unpronounceable to home folk.

After being pushed by Senator Vandenberg and other champions of a strong American foreign policy, our state department has taken the stand that we are vitally concerned with the world problem which affects peace, Britain's life as a great power is bound up in the coming peace treaties. The Soviet Union's prestige, security and ambitions are deeply involved.

Concessions from any one of the Big Three or Four will not be easy.

Hence writing peace treaties may be a long and fiercely debated transaction. But we are in it to the end. To quote Clement-Attlee, "Blood has given us the right to decide."

Mistakes of the Past

When we bought the Danish West Indies we relaxed rights based on discovery and exploration in Greenland. At that time none foresaw the importance of air power. At present the question of American bases in this North Atlantic outpost has not been settled between Washington and Copenhagen.

Britain let go of Heligoland; it became a German submarine lair in two wars.

Our blindness in permitting Japan to acquire mandated islands in the Pacific cost us precious lives.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK—(AP)—Irregularly persisted in another slow-going stock market session today with special issues attracting good support while many leaders were subjected to light pressure.

Individual situations, such as actual and potential splits, earnings and dividends, proposed favorites, resumption of negotiations in the coal strike inspired some bidding. Heavy selling of long-term treasury issues clouded the investment picture to a considerable extent. Numerous customers held aloof to await Washington developments on price controls.

Transfers were around 1,900,000 shares. American wooden stocks were all over the ticker tape when the company's new recapitalization plan was announced. Substantial first quarter income losses.

Ahead most of the time were U. S. Steel, Anaconda, Kennecott, Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Food Fair Stores, approval of a split proposal, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and U. S. Gas.

Fifty held out for the navy; 48 for the army and one each for the merchant marines and the marines. Some of the coeds elaborated on veterans' lovmaking. One said they "appreciate women more now"; another, "they are smoother but they have lost some of their delicacy," and a third, "they are more direct."

gested what Mr. Truman suggested: That 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine at once. But the committee said Palestine should not be permitted to become either a Jewish or Arab state. Britain doesn't have to follow the committee's suggestion but if it does—the Arab world may flame against Britain and the Jews and turn to Russia, seeking support there. If Britain doesn't follow the report, Jews in Palestine may riot, giving the British their misery. And the Jews everywhere will be resentful. This much at least seems sure.

Wheeler County Has 144-H Clubs

SHAMROCK, (Special)—Now that the war is over and the labor shortage has been relieved to a certain extent the Extension service has been able to place a full staff in the county agent's office in Wheeler county. A full staff will mean that more time will be spent with the 4-H club-work.

Records show that before the war, Wheeler county was one of the outstanding counties in 4-H club work in Texas. With the interest shown now by boys and with a little "boosting" from parents and friends, Wheeler county can again become an outstanding county.

Membership is open to boys between ages of 10 and 21. Although Mr. Garrison is pleased with the enrollment at present, he feels that many more youth will come into the organization soon.

Commission Aims Meter Petition

A group of merchants from the 300 block on South Cuyler were told by the city commission today that their petition requesting removal of the parking meters on that block would be given fullest consideration.

The commission asked the merchants to allow the city plenty of time to study the problem of whether the meters should be removed.

It was pointed out that the contract with the meter company would have to be studied. The contract provides that the meters were installed on a nine months' trial basis and can be removed without cost to the city at the end of that period if they are not satisfactory.

The commission also unanimously approved the appointment of Clifford Braly, local attorney, to the position of corporation court judge, from which C. H. Walker has resigned.

Big-Four

(Continued from page 1) lian border question, the deputies decided that the Austrian request for return of the South Tyrol, ceded to Italy after the first world war, was a major frontier rectification which the council had decided against last September. The question arose at the meeting of the ministers yesterday whether the request and the matter was handed over to the deputies.

Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov was voted down, three to one, on a proposal to recess today—May day, an important holiday in the Soviet Union—and the ministers decided instead to redouble their efforts to reach peace agreements.

The ministers clashed sharply yesterday over an Italian border question, with Russia supporting a Yugoslav demand for Trieste and most of the Istran peninsula against the opposition of Britain, France and the United States; and opposing an Austrian request for annexation of the South Tyrol.

U. S. Secretary of State James P. Byrnes, seconded by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, took Austria's part with a suggestion that the conference consider as "minor" the border rectifications involved in Vienna's demand for return of South Tyrol.

Conference sources said there were several sharp exchanges on the smoldering Italian-Yugoslav border issue before the ministers finally agreed, at Molotov's insistence, that two Italian and two Yugoslav representatives be heard on the question Friday, thus postponing any decision until that time.

Four different proposals for settlement of the Istran dispute were said to have been examined by the ministers. The British, French and American proposals were said to be largely similar, all being based on ethnic grounds, but Russia's suggestion placed the boundary line much farther west, giving a great deal more territory to Yugoslavia.

Molotov also demanded that the Adriatic port of Trieste be taken from Italy and turned over to Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, the American proposal for a four-power, quarter-century mutual assistance pact to insure German disarmament was being widely discussed by the four delegations. Observers commented that such a treaty would permit American, British and French inspectors to survey factories and laboratories throughout the Russian occupation zone in Eastern Germany.
