'45 Proves Best Year for Gulf

Gulf Oil corporation in 1945 had the highest gross operating income in its history.

"Consolidated net income for 1945 was $45,213,640 compared with $42,075,513 in 1944," W. L. Mellon, chairman and J. F. Drake president, jointly said in the thirty-eight annual report being mailed to 18,833 stockholders. "This net income in 1945 was equal to $4.98 a share on the 9,076,202 common shares outstanding, against $4.64 a share in 1944."

Net sales and other operating revenues (gross operating income) in 1945 were $504,691,642, a gain of $21,829,184 above 1944 the previous peak.

With the resumption of automotive manufacture and expanding civilian requirements for aviation gasoline, diesel fuels and heating oils the Gulf officials expect petroleum consumption in 1946 to exceed the peacetime peak of 1941.

"From an earnings point of view, volume anticipated this year appears adequate," Mellon and Drake observed. "Factors other than volume, however, are not as favorable. The cost of labor and materials is substantially above prewar levels while petroleum prices have shown little change and are still under government control."

After the wedding, Gisevius said, Goering had seen the pictures and fingerprints, and she had been punished for distributing pornographic pictures.

Upon scanning the files, the witness continued, Hitler "suffered a nervous breakdown and decided to dismiss Von Blomberg immediately."

Goering heard the testimony with his face drawn in hard, grim lines. Keitel smiled and slightly shook his head in the negative when his name was mentioned.

Gisevius said Hjalmar Schacht, one of the defendants here, and other "descent Germans" believed the time for the overthrow of the Nazis had arrived when Hitler appointed Col. Gen. Walter Von Brauchitsch to succeed Von Fritsch.

A group of plotters, the witness testified, went to the new chief of staff and to Grand Admiral Erich Raeder and others urging that "now was the time for the generals to get rid of this reign of terror." He said Von Brauchitsch agreed but decided against acting until a German war

Associated Press correspondent Fred Hanson radiated from Peking that four planes sent to Harbin yesterday to evacuate officials—the number was not reported—found communists had taken over the air field.

World History

 tions benefit by our knowledge and through sharp controls, preserve peace.
 The United Nations — this, our big hope for peace, some day may come crashing down if we make a mistake in handling the atomic problem and other problems.
 World trade — we are trying to be a leader in getting better and freer world trade, for our prosperity and that of others.

 Successful world trade would be a prime support for the United Nations. But a trade breakdown, through the rivalries that followed, could shatter our best efforts in the United Nations.
 A loan to Britain—the senate is debating whether to follow the administration's proposal to give Britain a $3,750,000,000 loan to go back on its feet and enable it to go along with our world trade program.
 If the senate votes "no," would Britain be able to get along all right? Or would it cripple England and world trade and eventually the United Nations? Or would a loan do all the administration hopes for? Time will show this, too.

 As for OPA — congress is trying to decide whether to continue OPA and its price controls. Some very powerful businessmen argue.
 The controls discourage production. With the controls gone, manufacturers would produce to meet public demand for goods. At first, prices would go up but when production got into full swing, prices would come down.
 How far up would prices go? The businessmen don't know. How far down would they come, after going up? They can't say. Maybe they're right, maybe prices would come down eventually. Maybe they're wrong, too.

 This is certain: If prices stayed up any length of time, wages would have to go up. If that happened, would other, poorer nations then be able to buy our very expensive goods?
 If they couldn't, would we have to make loans to them? How long could we keep that up?
 If they couldn't trade with us then, would the poor countries turn to one another, setting up trading blocs of their own, shutting us out? What would happen then, a depression here?
 But if poorer countries set up trading blocs, that surely would mean political blocs. If that happened, what would happen to the United Nations?

 commissioners for advice concerning the selling of the building.
 The weather bureau office recently moved to the new hangar on the municipal field.
 A complete business survey of Pampa to be compiled immediately was suggested by the board. Information to be obtained will include type of business, managers, employees, etc., that the information available at the chamber office.
 Advertising by Pampans is to be intensified through all mediums to promote Pampa. Merchants will have a weekly booster page in the Pampa News which will back all civic activities, such as the Red Cross, Boy Scouts and Community chest.
 On weeks when no special events are being held the page will present information about Pampa.
 The next quarterly meeting of the chamber of commerce will be next month. Committee reports will be heard at that time. It will probably be in the form of a noon luncheon, date and time to be announced later.
 Directors' monthly meetings will continue to be held at night, it was voted, so that a better attendance may be secured and members free from interruptions.

Big Four

 mote another era of power politics spheres of influence.
ITALY'S EXISTENCE
 The deputies have been able to compromise few of the disputed fundamental issues in their six months of discussions.
 The greatest difficulty facing the foreign ministers—Ernest Bevin of Britain, George Bidault of France, Vyacheslav M. Molotov of Russia and Byrnes—was expected in reaching an agreement on the treaty to end Italy's nearly three years of "hand-to-mouth" existence.

 The four powers are divided over Russian reparations demands on Italy, on Russia's desire for control of Tripolitania, and on Soviet demands for bases in the Dodecanese.
 One of the thorniest problems, however, apparently had been settled with announcement of a virtual accord on the touchy problem of the Italian-Yugoslav border in Venezia-Giulia.
 The ministers are not scheduled to discuss treaties for Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary and Finland until after the Italian problems have been disposed of. Only Britain and Russia will discuss the Finnish treaty and France will not participate in discussions of the other three.
 At the request of France, French demands of internationalization of the Ruhr and detachment of the Rhineland from Germany have been placed on the agenda. Bidault declared that Germany was the "key to peace."
 The United States asked for elaboration of a treaty with Austria to "regularize" that central European country's status.

 of agriculture.
 After an orientation course at the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, Kuo attended Ames of Iowa for general information concerning farming.
 He then studied at the University of Wisconsin, and lived and worked on a Wisconsin farm for three months. Kuo calls Wisconsin his home state.
 The Chinese agriculturist, who was formerly connected with the Farmers Bank of China, has been living in the valley on the border getting acquainted with farm and citrus crops in that region.
 After leaving New York City he will go on to Ithaca, N. Y., to study at Cornell, then to Florida to gain more information about citrus crops, Virginia for diversified farming, Washington for fruits and grains and the Dakotas for wheat.
 Kuo said yesterday he will return to China next September.
 Asked why the 21 extension agriculturists did not specialize in various types of farming instead of all persons absorbing as much as possible about all types, Kuo laughed, saying that extension agents had to know a bit about everything.
 When he laughed his eyes and mouth opened alternately, his eyes practically closing while he flashed a Colgate-smile.
 Kuo left China, and his wife and family, before V-J day. He flew by plane to India, waited there for two months for transportation to the States. In the meantime the Lend Lease plan providing for studying U. S. methods of agriculture and industry in the States was discontinued. The students continued on their trip sponsored by the Chinese national government.
 Kuo's father holds a position in the Farmers Bank of China which, explained Kuo, is interested in agricultural methods because of its business. The bank makes loans to farmers on the basis of trust. Asked about collateral and mortgages, Kuo said again that money was loaned on principle of trust only, after the bank had inquired into the integrity and ambitiousness of a farmer.
 Farming in China is extensive but on a small scale, with small farms and little or no machinery, said Kuo.
 Famine often results from lack of flood control and persistent droughts. While here Kuo was much interested in flood control and soil conservation.
 Northwest and northeast China are the major agricultural regions. Kuo stated, growing all types of crops.
 When Kuo returns to China he will endeavor to introduce new methods of farming in his vicinity. His home is near Nanking, capital of China.
 During his two days in Pampa Kuo was busy and met a variety of people. He gave a talk at the McLean Lion club Monday and spoke briefly late Tuesday night to the farmer's bureau meeting held in Grandview, with an intensely interested audience both times.
 When Kuo left Pampa yesterday on the afternoon train County Agent Ralph Thomas saw hi moof. Kuo seemed to think he had lost it to the train, even though Thomas was a bit concerned about the possibilities of missing the train.
 Kuo, already familiar with American life, reassured Thomas by saying that through experience he came to know that most of the American trains are always late.

 ments and to supply Americans with flour at the 75 per cent rate.
 Should this turn out to be the case, the government would be placed in a position of choosing between pleas of hungry areas and supplying millers with enough wheat to maintain the American allowance.
 Undersecretary of Agriculture N. E. Dodd said recently he would prefer to give hungry areas a priority because Americans have "plenty of other foods." Secretary Anderson has not indicated how he would distribute short supplies under such a situation.

 Textile Workers Union of America. It has proved its inability to serve the workers and it is on its last legs."
 In Washington, Benjamin Haskel, director of research and publicity for the UTW-AFL, told a reporter.
 "Believe me making an obvious hysterical denial of what he really fears. If we were a dead dog he wouldn't talk about us. The fact is, our membership has increased over 50 per cent in the last two years. We have successfully repelled about a dozen raids of the CIO. Their raids have provoked us to obvious counter-attacks. There is a severe fight going on."
 Haskel said he was authorized to speak for Valente, who was not available for comment.
 Textiles will play an important part in the organizing drives which the CIO and AFL have announced for the south.
 Each of labor's great factions is minimizing the other's southern campaign.
 After the CIO announced its plans, the AFL said in the April issue of "The Federationist," its monthly magazine, that this was just another CIO Southern drive, and that there had been others which never amounted to anything.

 Then, this week, when the AFL also announced a southern drive, a copy of the announcement was shown to Van A. Bittner, chief of the CIO drive. He read it and snorted, "Humph! Typical of them to follow our leadership."

 Prosecutors charged that Moncaco, a five-star general in the so-called Crusaders army, headed a Japanese-sponsored neighborhood during the war.
 He and his running mate, Vaudeville Promoter Lou Salvador, had campaigned on a modernist party ticket, urging dominion status for the Philippines.

Officers Dismissed From Royal Navy

PORTSMOUTH, England.—(AP)—Dismissal from the Royal navy has been ordered by an admiralty court martial for 15 junior officers who refused to sail from New York on Jan. 30 on the grounds that they had not been given suitable accommodations.
 The men, who pleaded innocent, were found guilty of conduct unbecoming officers, of improperly leaving their ship—the Finnesen, a converted merchant vessels—and of willful disobedience.

Fenderless, Bumperless Cars Being Predicted

NEW YORK—New cars may come off the line without fenders and, maybe, without bumpers or other stamped parts, Business Week reveals.
 "It comes about like this," says the publication in its current issue. "OPA granted a 19 per cent price increase to metal stampers (11 per cent to those who had an 8 per cent advance last August). But this doesn't include service stampings for auto and trucks. These latter products are under their own special ceilings. They are still frozen at 1941 levels. And stampers don't propose to turn out any automotive stampings unless they can make a profit."

Knickerbocker Leaves Post as Guard General

AUSTIN—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Arthur B. Knickerbocker, Texas adjutant general, by his own request was relieved from duty as commanding general of the Texas State guard.

Orders issued by the State guard appointed Major Gen. Fred L. Walker to succeed Knickerbocker. Walker will hold this command in addition to his other duties as commanding general of the Texas National guard.

Meanwhile, it was learned on good authority that Maj. Gen. Preston A. Weathered of Dallas will become commanding officer of the 36th division when it is reorganized as a part of the Texas National guard. Weathered was chief of staff of Gen. John A. Hulen in reorganizing the 36th division after World War I.

Officials of the State guard declared that Walker's appointment came about as the result of a desire to facilitate the integration of the Texas State guard and the Texas National guard.

Col. W. H. Martin of Houston, executive officer of the Texas National guard, will also become executive officer of the State guard, it was announced.

Knickerbocker will continue as adjutant general of Texas. It was at his suggestion that the command of the Texas National guard and the Texas State guard were combined.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By HELEN CAMP WENTWORTH, Yorkshire, England.—(AP)—Scores of people come daily to stand and look at excavations on the historic, rolling acres of Wentworth Woodhouse, Yorkshire estate of Earl Fitzwilliam.

They are not ordinary persons, looking idly at ordinary excavations. They are the little folk of Wentworth watching the last of their scenic landmarks being torn up for open surface coal mining.

It's like turning the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., into a colliery. But it is part of the government program to get more and more coal out of England and to relieve the "crucial" mining situation.

Solemnly, a Wentworth miner spat in the direction of a huge steam shovel digging more than 50 feet underground to the layer of soft coal.

"It's not even proper coal they're getting," he said. "It's nothing but dirt. I wouldn't burn it myself."

"It was the only bit of scenery we had around here," his companion grumbled, watching a 60-foot beech tree crash to the ground. "Now they're taking it from us."

"Just a muckpile this whole park'll be," said a third man. "Nothing but a muckpile."

For years the people of Wentworth—mostly poor miners—have accepted having their fields and hills and woods plowed under for open surface mining. They didn't object when the destructive shovels first entered the Wentworth estate two years ago. But as the mining project crept nearer the famed gardens and deer park they started a fuss heard all over Yorkshire.

They protested through mining associations, the press, the house of commons. They asked if underground mining couldn't be used to save the park surface. The owner of the estate, Earl Fitzwilliam, made a last appeal to the prime minister.

The outcome of the interview was not announced. But Minister of Fuel Emmanuel Shinwell said mining in Wentworth Park would "proceed as planned." The coal could be removed and the land reconstructed, he said, in "a twelve-month."

"They just like to destroy," said a housewife, wheeling a baby carriage through the park. "When England's one big coal mine maybe they'll be happy."

Oriental still regard the use of salt at a meal as symbolical of friendship and hospitality.

A new type of electrical switch with delayed action will soon be back on the market. Flip the arm upward and the light goes on immediately, but trip it downward, and the light will remain on from 0 to 3 minutes—set it to suit yourself. This switch will be useful in many spots on the farm. Turn the light off in the garage and walk to the house before the light goes out. Also trip the switch and climb into bed while the light is still on.

Naval Reserve Offers Backing To Boys' Groups

NEW ORLEANS—Sea Scouts, naval cadets, junior navy and other similar boys' organizations in the Eighth naval district will soon be able to study a much broader program and have closer contact with the actual handling of large navy ships, English naval district headquarters announced.

The U. S. naval reserve will support these groups as the training and guidance they give will be an excellent basis for later participation in the organized reserve, and also prepares them for their duties should they later decide to enlist in the regular navy.

It is planned that weekend and other short cruises will be offered these boys on board navy vessels which are being assigned to organized naval reserve divisions of the various cities in the district. Sea Scouts will be able to take such cruises subject to appropriations and availability of the reserve ships in addition to their regular duty with the organized reserves.

Sea Scouts will receive the guidance of naval reserve officers and men while on these cruises. A CVE (escort carrier) and a submarine are among ships proposed for the organized reserve at New Orleans to which the Sea Scouts may have access for training.

The navy also intends to furnish the Sea Scouts with training equipment. Navy boats under 200 feet in length which have been surveyed and recommended for disposal are already being made available to them.

Under the new policy certain types of navy craft, requested by the Sea Scouts are set aside for a 30-day period. Requests for transfer of the craft are made directly to the bureau of supply and accounts by the national director of senior scouting in New York.

The boats are made available to the Sea Scouts without cost. If not acquired during the 30-day option period, the craft are disposed of by the navy through regular channels.

The navy reserves the right to recall the boats in event of emergency. Craft preferred for the Sea Scout program include motor launches, picket boats, dinghies, sailing vessels and rescue boats. It is planned to transfer other training aids to the Sea Scouts as they become available.

New Orleans has eight units of the Sea Scouts of America numbering approximately 150 boys, who will benefit by the navy's new policy.

Four Local Men Enter U.S. Army

Four local men have been accepted for the new regular army during the past week it has been announced by M/Sgt. Fred G. Daggett, local army recruiting officer.

Reenlisting veterans are Daniel M. Mecher, husband of Mrs. LaNelle Jewel Mecher of 411 Montague street, Pampa, and son of Mrs. Anna Rectawell of Chicago. Daniel is a veteran of 31 months service, having spent 7 months in the European theater with the 134th Infantry. He is the holder of the European Theater Ribbon with one battle star, the American Theater Ribbon, World War II Victory Medal and the Army Good Conduct Medal. Daniel declared that it was the retirement benefits that attracted him and injured him to reenlist.

Original enlistments include Lee Truett Thompson 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Thompson and husband of Mrs. Gerold Dean Thompson of 719 East Browning street, Pampa. Lee chose the regular army unassigned for an eighteen months period.

Earl Curtis Barrett, 17, son of Mrs. Francis Marie Boyd, 142, Kellerville, Texas, has chosen the army air forces, unassigned for a three year period. Earl attended the publication with Pampa and plans to continue his education under the GI Bill of Rights after his separation from the service.

One colored man was also accepted for service. Bobby Gene Durham, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde T. Durham of 431 Oklahoma street, Pampa. Clyde was a student with over two years college and also plans to complete his education after expiration of his enlistment. Bobby was accepted for an eighteen month period, unassigned.

Shoe Shine Machine Needn't Be Tipped!

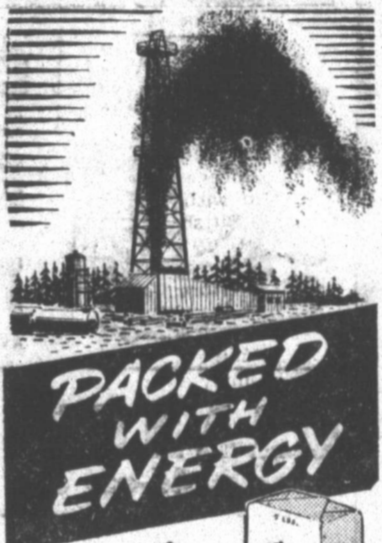

A shoe-shining machine that will do about everything the bootblack does except take a tip is scheduled for mass production this summer according to Business Week.

It is a nickel-a-shoe coin machine with separate sets of motor-driven brushes for black and tan and a lever for making the selection. After it applies the polishing wax, brushes travel over the entire surface of the shoe, including the heel and toe. Then the brushes stop, a high-polish wax is applied to the toe, and a special high-speed buffing puts a gleaming shine on the toe. All this is done in 30 seconds per shoe.

The machine is for men's shoes only, as it is not geared to handle the variety of things women wear on their feet. This shortcoming is brushed off with data indicating that less than 1 per cent of the shoe business comes from the ladies, says the publication.

When governments go into the news business the freedom of the people is endangered and democracy is placed in jeopardy.—Rep. Noah M. Mason (R) of Illinois.

National Family Week, May 5-12, To Be Observed

NEW YORK, N. Y.—"National Family Week should impress serious minded Americans with the need for study and though concerning modern marriage and the contemporary home," according to Rabbi Ahron Opher, assistant to the president, Synagogue Council of America, member of an interfaith committee planning the observance of 1946 National Family Week, May 5-12, throughout the United States and Canada.

Declaring that "the family as man's primary social institution is the interpreter and breeder of religious and moral values in our society," Rabbi Opher stated:

"Wartime separations, dislocations and abnormal living conditions will take time to achieve healing amelioration. The family, through its love, security and mutually can do most to correct the views of life and substitute the values which are central in community and nation."

"The home," he maintained, "is not an unreal haven from the real world, but a corrective of realities which disturbed conditions obscure or negate."

With churches and synagogues seeking to strengthen the spiritual foundations of the home, sermons worship, classes and special programs during National Family Week will feature the significance of religion in the family, Rabbi Opher said.

Serving with him on the National Family week committee are the Rev. Edgar Schmiedeler of Washington, D. C., director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and Dr. T. T. Swearingen, Chicago, director of adult work and family life of the International Council of Religious Education, and secretary of the committee.

Rookie Shines As Cleveland Beats Browns

By JOE RIECHLER AP Sports Writer

Unless all signs fall, young John Lollar, Cleveland's rookie backstop appears headed for major league stardom. Lollar was the big reason for Manager Lou Boudreau's decision to rest Frankie Hayes after the veteran catcher had extended his record-breaking consecutive game streak to 312.

The soft-spoken 21-year-old native of Fayetteville, Ark., followed his own recipe yesterday when in his first starting role with the Indians, he doubled with the bases loaded to clear the way for the night's five-run eighth inning rally which gave the tribe a 5-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Lollar began his professional career in just about the same manner. Making his debut with the Baltimore Orioles in 1944 Lollar smashed a homer with the bases loaded.

The six-foot, 180-pound receiver went on to become the league's batting champion and most valuable player the following year.

In addition to his double yesterday, Lollar smacked a single in three official trips to the plate and handled a homer with the bases loaded.

The Yankees moved into undisputed possession of first place in the American league by whipping the Red Sox 12-5.

Brooklyn and the St. Louis Cardinals continued their merry battle for first place in the national league as each team won its seventh straight. The Dodgers routed the Philadelphia Phils, 11-3.

The Redbirds won their second straight 3-2 game from the Cincinnati Reds, with Stan Musial again driving in the winning run.

Truett (Rip) Sewell, an old nemesis of the Chicago Cubs, tamed the Bruisers again with a nine-hitter in pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 decision.

Boston's Braves rebounded from their hitless effort against Brooklyn Ed Head on Tuesday by raking five New York Giants hurlers for 14 hits including successive home runs by Tommy Holmes and Ras Sanders, to outslug the Polo Grounders 10-7.

Washington's Senators rallied for four runs in their half of the eighth to overcome a 4-0 deficit and defeat the Philadelphia Athletics 4-2.

Former Texas League Manager Succumbs in Greenville Wednesday

GREENVILLE—(AP)—One of Texas' most widely-known baseball enthusiasts, Ellis G. Hardy, died suddenly here late last night from a heart attack.

He became ill during a baseball game between Greenville and Sherman in an East Texas league opener. Earlier Hardy threw the first ball to open official play in the league.

Hardy was reared in Waco and was a former baseball coach at Texas Christian. From 1911 to 1919 he was manager of the Waco Navigators of the old Texas league, and his team won the pennant several times.

He came to Greenville in 1919, entering the cotton business, in which he has been active until several years ago when he retired.

His survivors include his wife, one daughter, Mrs. James T. Schuessler of Seguin and six sisters.

Leo 'The Lip' Durocher Denies He Struck Heckler Last Season

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Leo "The Lip" Durocher admitted today he was a little upset last June when a 215-pound heckler called him "a hope, a crook and a thief" and a very naughty name, but the Brooklyn Dodgers manager said, "I never put a finger on him."

"I walked real close to him and pointed my finger close to his face," Durocher testified in Kings county court where he and Joseph Moore, an Ebbets field guard, are charged with second degree assault against John Christian, 23.

Christian yesterday said Moore slugged him with a blackjack and Durocher smashed him in the jaw. Tastefully outfitted in a natty blue suit, Durocher gave his version of the affair, frequently wagging the same left forefinger he used in expositors to National league umpires.

Rookie Third Baseman Bill Hart was so upset by the razzing that he said and Christian (known as the person with "the loudest voice in the Brooklyn park") cut loose with:

"I hear Christian yell to Hart 'Take that bell-hop out of the game and send him back to New Orleans. Send him wife with him.'"

"Hart turned white as a piece of paper," Durocher said. "He became jittery and I had to bench him."

In the fifth inning (the Dodgers were ahead 5 to 1) Durocher said he heard Christian "hollering that Davis (Curt Davis, Dodger pitcher) was throwing the game and that he was a crook and a thief."

"The Dodger manager walked over behind third base, about that time, he said and Christian (known as the person with 'the loudest voice in the Brooklyn park') cut loose with:

"You are a dope, Durocher. You are a crook and a thief."

It was then, Durocher said, that he had Moore go into the sound and escort Christian to a little room beneath the stands.

"I walked real close to him and pointed my finger close to his face. I asked him 'have you a mother? How would you like it if I went to your home and called your mother the names that you called my players?'"

"I told him 'one thing you can't do to me and my boys and that is to call us crooks and accuse us of throwing a game.'"

That was all, Durocher said. He started to leave the room and Christian said some unprintable words. As Christian left the room, the last fell, Durocher said.

"I did not at any time touch Mr. Christian," The Lip testified. "I never put a finger on him."

Durocher said he paid Christian $6,750 to settle a civil suit filed after the incident "because I was advised to."

One of Brooklyn manager's attorneys, John J. Breslin, former Bergen county, N. J., prosecutor, testified he gave the advice because he had heard Durocher's contract would not be renewed until the suit was settled.

Christian testified yesterday he had $5 bet on the Philles in the game, won by the Dodgers, 8 to 7. Three errors were committed in the nine-inning night contest—all by Philadelphia.

Texas Will Battle Danny Shea of New York Tuesday Night

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Boxing promoter Bill Davee announced that Tony Elizondo of Corpus Christi is scheduled to meet Danny Shea of New York in the 10-round main event of a boxing show here next Tuesday night.

Elizondo, a 150-pounder, recently won a close decision over Fritz Zivic. The winner of the Tuesday night strap, Davee said, has been promised a match in Houston May 14 with Steve Bellese, who knocked out Paul Altman there recently.

Dallas Moves Into Second Place With 4-3 Win Over Tulsa

(By The Associated Press)
Al Vincent's Rebels trimmed Tulsa, 4-3 at Dallas last night to take over No. 2 spot in the Texas league, and Fort Worth's Cats rallied to defeat Oklahoma City, 9-8.

Two other games were postponed when rain washed out the San Antonio-Shreveport and Houston-Beaumont contests.

The Rebs made it two in a row over the Oilers in advancing to one step below San Antonio, whose Missions were rained out for the second straight night at Shreveport.

The cowtown Cats were forced to put four runs across the plate in the seventh inning to outlast the Oklahomaans, but the Dallas baseballers showed their hurling ability in downing Tulsa. Young Bobby Hogue was credited with the Rebel victory in a five-hit affair.

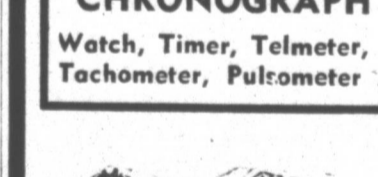

Today's schedule:
Tulsa at Dallas (night)
Oklahoma City at Fort Worth (night)
San Antonio at Shreveport (night)
Houston at Beaumont.

WHAT PRICE FAME?

By James Thrasher

"Who's Who" is a valuable publication, but hardly what you'd call snappy or provocative. It never occurred to us that anyone would study it, or, having done so, reach some ominous conclusions. But that's exactly what's happened.

The bearer of the heavy tidings is Dr. Mapheus Smith educator, author, sociologist of the selective service system, and of course, listed in "Who's Who." He has risen from his study of this thick volume of American biography with the sobering announcement that fame is unhealthy. In fact, he says it is likely to carry a person off before his time.

Our natural impulse, on hearing this, was to lock the office, throw the key away, stop trying to amount to something, and just concentrate on living out our normal life span. But before succumbing to the impulse, we decided to dip into "Who's Who" and conform our worst suspicions: The dip, we are happy to report, left us somewhat refreshed.

In the brief time that we dared spare, we decided to sample the first 100 Smiths in the book. "Who's Who" is full of Smiths, and we didn't get over as far as Smith, (James) Mapheus. But our sample did afford what might seem a typical estimate of longevity and distinction, as represented by the typical and prolific tribe of which Dr. J. Mapheus is a member.

The first 100 Smiths, we found, have an average age of 61, as against the average American's life expectancy of 65 years. That didn't seem too high a price for fame. And when you reflect that the roster of "Who's Who" is preponderantly masculine, and that the average American male's life expectancy is roughly 63 years, the price seemed still more reasonable.

Of course, all those Smiths may shortly succumb to the burden of fame. But right now they seem to be doing well. In fact, 11 of them are past 80 and still bearing the burden with no apparent ill effects.

Dr. Smith thinks that fame ought to bring health and long life, since it also brings "wealth, education, medical attention, and servants." We doubt that the many teachers, clergymen, and librarians among our 100 Smiths are bothered with much wealth or many servants. But, granted that education and medical attention contribute to a healthy existence, why is it, then, that their great or small fame is cutting them down two to four years too soon?

Dr. Smith has the answer—strain, lack of exercise, overwork, and erratic hours. To which we can only add that if those destructive factors are the price of fame, then a lot of famous people in this country have been overlooked.

And if all of us tried, sedentary, overworked citizens are to take our rightful places in "Who's Who," the next edition is going to take up more room than Dr. Eliot's five-foot shelf of Harvard Classics.

Example Of Rent Control
When rent control was first put into effect, it was generally proclaimed as a great measure to help the unprotected. It was one of the "social gains." What the people who believed that rent control was a sort of gain did not see was that eventually there would be no houses to rent.

I want to cite a concrete example of how this rent control has worked a hardship on the renter. If the policy continues, it will work the same hardship on more and more renters.

A person I happen to know who has a family of four children, a couple of whom are boys in their late teens, had the house he was renting sold out from under him. He tried to find another house to rent. He did not have enough money to make a down payment to buy a property. He finally was forced to buy a trailer house. It is so small, of course, that two of the older boys will have to room some place else.

One Out of Four Adults Wants to Learn to Fly
WASHINGTON—One out of every four adults in the U. S. would like to learn to fly, according to Dr. George Gallup's poll for the American Institute of Public Opinion reported in Aviation News.

The poll, based on a nation-wide questioning of individuals representing various groups, showed that those who wanted to learn would be willing to spend on the average about $100. Best market for flight instruction was found among the 21-29 age group of which approximately half wanted to learn to fly.

In the 20-49 age group 29 per cent wanted to learn, while in the group 50 and over, only nine per cent wanted to learn.

Of men interviewed, 30 per cent wanted to learn, showing that they offered a better prospect for instruction than women, only 22 per cent wished to learn.

Can compete but are given the money by us to compete with. It is hard to call anything like that planning. It is just plain stupidity. It is just a betrayal of the American people. If it is continued it will so weaken our structure that we will be prey to those people who are subsidizing with various things so that they can use their energy for propaganda and munitions of war eventually to make us their slaves.

The greatest service we can perform to the rest of the world is to become strong and virile ourselves and teach the rest of the world by example how to live moral and decent lives, reduce poverty and raise wage levels.

What manner of planning are our planners in Washington doing?

Well, the Chinese may have new richshaws before we have new automobiles. A big Detroit auto manufacturer may deliver 5,000,000 super-richshaws to pull me around town. I might not have a new streamlined car, but after the first hundred miles I'd certainly have a new streamlined husband.

Each of these industries represents a capital investment year, it represents stockholders, employees and sub-industries—all of which add up to votes.

LABOR—In spite of the sanguine hopes of those who would scold the OPA and the administration with the same old, tired, old, it is likely that their fight will not end in such a sweeping victory in the senate as it did in the house.

Anti-new deal fees do not burn as brightly in the senate, if for no other reason than that only a third of the solons come up for election this year.

Furthermore, labor pressure may be more effective when the fight comes to the floor.

What Was That Again?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

VICTORS—The coming few days will see one of the most violent legislative battles of the year when the senate takes up the house bill which, so the vanquished side says, reduced the CPA to a trick name and a rent-control agency.

The victors, flushed with the success of the 355 to 42 vote in the house, are planning to press for every advantage. The house vote reflected opposition to the OPA from balliwicks which were earlier pressured to favor continuation of price controls. Plus the fact that the enemies of the OPA found its friends unable to bring to bear the pressures of which they were capable, will encourage them to attempt to drive the bill through the senate in short order.

SPLIT—Post-mortems on the house vote reveal how badly the friends of OPA fought and disclose other factors in their sweeping defeat.

It was considerably more than a coalition of cotton-state democrats and manufacturing-center republicans and the "Get-Truman" campaign that put the OPA through the house's hamburger machine.

Analysis of the vote on various amendments showed that the Southern democrats were often split and more significant, that many of the votes for some of the amendments came from democrats in such states as Maryland, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky and California.

VOTES—One of the important factors was the campaign of the national association of manufacturers. It spent money lavishly on spectacular advertising. But while the supporters of the OPA were rushing to the radio and speeding up the mimeograph machines to answer these public triumphs of the "advertisers' craft, members of the association were busy building up the pressures in home districts.

There is scarcely an M. C. who hasn't got at least one ministry in his district that would do a lot better if it could get out from under OPA controls. Each of these industries represents a capital investment year, it represents stockholders, employees and sub-industries—all of which add up to votes.

SUSAN'S SAD PLIGHT
Just to see what goes on, let's look in on a scene of domestic chaos—the home of red-haired Susan Hayward, her husband, Jess Barker, her year-old twin sons, a nurse, a maid, and a mongrel dog.

Up until a few days ago, life was beautiful. The Barkers were renting a three-bedroom Bel Air home for $50 a month. Their year's lease was expiring, but the real estate agency said it would be renewed.

Then it happened. The owner came home suddenly from Canada. They would have to move. Soon. Well, they started looking. They're still looking. But let Jess tell it:

"Sure we can buy a lot of those Spanish-type houses built in 1925 for $30,000 and up. They're worth maybe $8000, and most of them are broken-down wrecks. The real estate people all give us the same line: 'You can do wonderful things with this house.' Sure we can do wonderful things—with another $10,000.

"We heard of a house near us in Bel Air. The price was $35,000. We went to see it. The real estate man recognized Susan. The price suddenly shot up to $55,000.

"And we just can't afford $55,000." Susan wailed. "Sure, I've saved a little money. It's all gone. I've been saving it for a rainy day. I just can't see putting it all into a house. Especially now when taxes are so high. Sure, I make good money, but you should see those checks I write to the treasury department."

Susan looked as if she were going to cry. Jess looked as if he were going to cry. The twins looked as if they were going to cry.

"We didn't tell them about a little man on Wilshire boulevard who rented a five-bedroom home to an Easterner a month, with a month's rent in advance in cash. We didn't have the heart to tell them, as the little man immediately disappeared with the $250 cash.

Because, you see, he had no right to rent the house. He had just "borrowed" the key and rented the place while the owner was at work.

Interscholastic League Meet Slated at Austin on May 2, 3

AUSTIN—When the University of Texas interscholastic league on May 2 and 3 opens its 36th state meet with 1500 high school contestants in attendance, some of the old timers in the audience may remember the first meet back in 1913 when the league was "just a pup."

With an attendance of 400, which included contestants, teachers and parents, the 1913 meet was rated "the largest interscholastic meet ever held in Texas."

Literary contests in those days were confined to debate and declamation while today contestants pour into Austin for championship competition in debate, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, one-act play, shorthand, typing, ready writing and mathematics.

Track and field events included the 50-yard dash, the 100, 200, 440-yard dash, broad jump, high jump, mile run, 880-yard run, shot put, discus throw, pole vault, hammer throw, and mile relay race. Track and field program scheduled for May still shows many of these favorites, plus the mile relay, 1200-yard high hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, and discus throw.

One ruling in the 1913 constitution and Laws of the League which will make some 1946 coaches envious, was the age limit for athletes, "under 21 years."

Organized in 1910 at the state teachers' meeting at Abilene, the League's first activities were limited to debates among high schools affiliated with the university. The following year contests in declamation were added and membership in the league was thrown open to all schools of the State below college rank.

Once the ball started rolling, enthusiastically pushed by such men as E. D. Shurtler, who served as State chairman, and Roy Bechtel, who has served the league since 1916, the league membership reached a peak of 4000. Due to consolidation of rural schools, individual school

Ballet Predicted For Bobbysoxers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(P)—Ballet for bobbysoxers—that's the prediction of Ballerina Tomanova, who foresees that fine art of dancing becoming as popular in the movies as jitterbugging.

"Everybody in America loves to dance," said the Siberia-born Tomanova (accent on man). "Particularly the children love to express rhythmic movement. It is only natural that the movies will come to the highest form of dancing—the ballet."

The kids are becoming hep to the ballet, she said, as evidenced by her eastern tour last year. "When I walk down Fifth avenue in New York," she related, "they would come up and ask, 'what are you dancing tonight?' Or they'd say 'you were swell in Swan Lake last night.'"

Heretofore in pictures the ballet has been used only incidentally. The movie public will get its first big dose of it when Tomanova stars in the Life of Pavlova for her husband, Casey Robinson, and his producer Benedict Bogavos. She is preparing for it by dancing eight to 10 hours daily.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE

Q's and A's on Rent Control

1. Q. What constitutes a major capital improvement?
A. A major capital improvement which substantially increases the rental value of the premises and for which improvement the landlord may petition for an increase in rent, will fall into one of the following classes:
(1) A structural addition. This is a clear addition to the premises, such as plumbing, heating, or electricity where such equipment did not previously exist.
(2) A structural betterment, such as the modernization of an existing bathroom or kitchen or the replacing of a very old heating system with a more modern heating plant.
(3) A complete rehabilitation. Taken altogether, this is a general reconstruction and reconditioning such as would place the property in a higher rental range. This is a general overhauling of the premises and not ordinary upkeep.
2. Q. If a furnace is replaced, can the rent be increased?
A. This is to be determined by the facts of the case. If the new furnace is of the type which would have brought a higher rent for the property on the maximum rent date by definitely improving the heating system making the premises more desirable, then the rent director may approve a higher rent.

3. Q. Can the land lord obtain an increase in rent if the tenant uses more utilities such as gas and electricity than were used on the maximum rent date?
A. Usually in such cases where adjustments are granted it will be because of an increase in the use of such services results from increased occupancy.
4. Q. I am now going to furnish my apartment which was not previously rented furnished. May I charge more rent?
A. Yes, you may set your own first rent and must within 30 days register the property at the area rent office. However, you should not fix your rental above what was the prevailing rent for similar furnished units on the maximum rent date, as the rent director may reduce this rent if it is found to be higher than such prevailing rent. You may, if you wish, ask the rent director's opinion of a proper rent before renting.
