

MacArthur Sharply Defends Democracy Policies Questioned by Russia

Response Goes To Four-Power Allied Council

TOKYO — (AP) — General MacArthur replied to Russian criticism by bluntly telling the four-power Allied Council today that consideration of his past actions in administering Japan was no part of its job.

And his military government officer asserted that Russia's questioning Allied occupation policy, "whether in good faith or not . . . is a warning that success of the occupation is threatened."

WRITTEN STATEMENT
MacArthur told the council in a written statement that its "responsibility, being exclusively advisory and consultative, does not involve a review of action heretofore taken in the administration of Japan."

This military government officer, Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, said the Japanese government was complying with the purge directive "as fast as consistent with occupation policies."

MacArthur also replied to a Russian request that a new election be held if an "undesirable" diet were chosen in last Wednesday's balloting. He indicated some successful candidates would be investigated further, and added:

"It is essential that the supreme commander issue no statement and avoid any action which might seem to bring pressure for or against any particular party or group."

DECLINES REQUEST
MacArthur also declined a request for drafts of imperial rescripts, government legislative acts and orders of the ministers and ministries at least 10 days prior to issuance. "To require such delay of the Japanese government," he said "would be cause practical suspension of its administrative functions."

Russian charges that certain undesirable persons were not being re-

City Officials Are Faced With Sweeper Problem

City officials were faced today with the problem of the purchase of a new street sweeper as an increase in the price originally quoted or obtaining a nearly new sweeper from surplus army properties at a lesser price.

A new sweeper, which has been needed here for some time, was ordered several months ago when the delivery had been repeatedly put off.

City Manager Garland Franks has received a letter from the dealer stating that the OPA had authorized an increase in price and that the sweeper would be here Friday or Saturday.

In the meantime, a practically new sweeper has been located at Childress at a much lower cost for the same type of sweeper as the new one.

However, although the city has been the only one to apply for the sweeper at Childress, it may have to compete in a drawing between several other prospective buyers in order to obtain it.

The city commission instructed Franks today to present the city's problem to the Fred Berryhill company in Lubbock, which has a new sweeper is forthcoming, and see if the city could delay the acceptance on the new sweeper.

The commission also agreed to make few special concessions to business houses on the parking meters.

It was pointed out that spaces will be left open for sheriff's department cars, for theaters, filling station driveways and buy stops but few, if any, other applications would be considered.

In addition, the commission agreed to go ahead with the present parking plan on Kingsmill street instead of contemplating parallel parking.

The consensus was that Kingsmill street should be widened as it is the most congested street in the downtown area. The widening of the street, however, has not been officially sanctioned, although business operators located there have expressed their approval.

The parking meters will be in-

Try to Correct Error in Date Unsuccessful

AUSTIN — (AP) — An effort to correct an error in the date of submission of a constitutional amendment to set up a land fund for Texas veterans failed today in the supreme court.

The court refused to grant the motion of Rep. W. R. Cousins of Beaumont seeking permission to file a mandamus suit against Secretary of State Claude Isbell to change the day of balloting on the amendment from the first Thursday in November to the first Tuesday in November.

The court's action in effect was a refusal to accept jurisdiction in the attempted suit.

In his motion seeking permission to file the suit, Cousins claimed that the legislature intended to set the date for submission of the constitutional amendment on the first Tuesday in November, which is the date of the next general election.

As finally approved by the legislature, however, the joint resolution calling for submission of the proposed amendment to the electorate, said the first Thursday.

It has been estimated that if a separate election is held on this one proposed amendment, it would cost the state $250,000.

Cousins contended in his motion that unless relief was granted, the amendment could not be submitted since no appropriation has been made to hold any election except the general election next November.

The amendment proposed creation

Iturbi's Daughter Is Suicide Victim

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — (AP) — Marie Iturbi Hero, daughter of Con-artist Pianist Jose Iturbi, was found today in a bathtub in an emergency hospital shortly after 3 p. m., as brain specialists admitted their inability to save her.

She was found, McBain said, by her father, who was playing the piano in the drawing room of his luxurious North Bedford Drive home when he heard the sound of a shot.

Rushing to his bedroom, McBain continued, Iturbi found her lying on the floor, her hair afire. Extinguishing the flames, he called for aid. The shooting occurred about 1 a. m., McBain said, a 38 caliber revolver was near the woman's hand.

Miss Iturbi was married in Bedford Hills, N. Y., in 1936 to Stephen Hero, 20, a violinist. Their two daughters are Narau Teresa, 9, and Maria Antonio, 8.

In 1939, he filed suit for separation in New York, alleging non-support. The following year, a settlement was reached, giving Hero custody of the children for three months a year.

She and the children arrived here in 1941, and a few months later she was awarded full custody, in connection with a suit for divorce.

But in 1943, her father petitioned for their custody, terming his daughter "not the proper person" to have their charge. An out-of-court settlement later reaffirmed her custody, on condition that the children live in the pianist's home.

'Forget-Me-Nots' Sales Changed

The sale of Forget-Me-Not's, sponsored by the local chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, will be held Saturday, April 27 instead of April 20, as has been announced.

Reason for the change of dates is that Pampa students will get a holiday this weekend. Sale of the flowers is to be handled by the grade school students.

House Votes OPA 9 Months Extension; Truman Suggests European Ration Use

Nation's Meat Supply Sags To Low Level

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today most Americans eat too much and it might be a good idea if their food consumption was reduced to low European standards for two days a week during the world crisis.

Asked at his news conference about a proposal that Americans try living on the European ration one day a week, the President replied that he personally liked the suggestion. He added that he didn't know why they couldn't adopt the diet two days a week.

EAT TOO MUCH
Not only do most Americans eat too much, Mr. Truman said, but they also waste enough food to prevent people in war ravaged areas from starving.

He added that they should do everything they can to save the hungry abroad until food situation eases.

WORLD-WIDE FAMINE
At the same time, Mr. Truman said Herbert L. Lehman, former director-general of UNRRA, was very much mistaken in saying that the administration wasn't doing all it could to avert world-wide famine.

The President added, however, that Lehman's heart was very much in the question of feeding Europe and that he was glad that it was.

FAULTY PLANNING
Lehman charged the government with "faulty planning and unrealistic measures" in handling the food problem and called for a resumption of rationing here to meet relief commitments abroad.

Mr. Truman's comments on food coincided with these other developments:

1—The agriculture department disclosed the nation's meat supply is sagging to wartime ration levels and may remain there until early fall.

2—The CIO political action committee echoed Lehman's proposal for a renewal of wartime food controls to help increase relief supplies.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference that he would back Secretary of Agriculture Anderson if he issues a proposed order cutting the use of flour 25 per cent.

He also said, in response to a

CIO Fathering Double Drive During 1946

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The CIO is fathering a double drive with deeply important political and social goals.

The two drives will prove to be closely related.

1. The CIO political action committee will take a very active part in the congressional elections this year.

2. The CIO itself, beginning in May, will open a $1,000,000 campaign to organize unorganized workers of the South into unions.

Take the CIO-PAC first: Organized in 1943, it was an active and effective force in the 1944 presidential-congressional elections.

Yesterday the CIO-PAC laid down a 17-point program for the 1946 congressional elections.

The program backed the Roosevelt foreign and economic policies and then said:

"The coalition of poll-tax democrats and reactionary republicans thwarts the peoples' program."

Sidney Hillman, CIO-PAC chairman, said:

1. The national CIO-PAC will make no endorsements and has no blacklist.

2. The national PAC will supply the state and local PACs with plenty of information on issues and the voting record of congressional candidates.

3. Then, with this information, it will be up to the state and local PACs to support the candidates they wish.

Mr. Hillman said, is asking a contribution of $1 on a voluntary basis from each member of the CIO, which claims 6,000,000.

He said the PAC hopes to be a factor "in at least 100 key congressional districts."

Then, in answer to a reporter's

Government Ponders Problem Giving Women's Skirts an Inch

WASHINGTON — (AP) — If it gives women's skirts an inch, ponders the government will they take a foot?

And, if so, will it bring on depression? This is the momentous issue now before the Civilian Production administration, which decides such things as how many buttonholes and pockets a female gets these days.

Women's skirts, normally as skittish as a stock market, have been hanging around the same length for four years now. All on account of a dictum known in government circles as L-85.

L-85 says, for instance, that the dress of a size 16 miss shall measure 42 1/2 inches from back of the neck to hemline. Women—sized 7 to upper 40s—found their wartime dresses had little leeway below a modest knee.

OPA got its postwar problem when it called in advisers recently to give L-85 a once-over. Everybody was satisfied but the Women's Dress committee.

If the order must stay, said the committee, at least give every American woman a one-inch margin on her skirt.

With the one-inch issue squarely before them, OPA's experts (male) in the women's dress division are grappling with these questions:

(1) Will one inch lead to another?

(2) If 53,000,000 American women take an inch apiece, how many miles of cloth will they use?

(3) Is it true what they say about women's skirts—that when they're up, we're prosperous; when they're down, so is the country?

HST Will Confer With Navy Chief on Merger

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today it was an admiral in Hawaii who touched off his recent blasts against navy lobbying.

The President told his news conference he did not think Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, had been doing any lobbying against unification of the armed forces.

The admiral who stirred him up, he said, was in charge of the Hawaiian station.

Latest news dispatches reported communist forces had penetrated deep into Changchun, seized its only railway station, and disrupted communications formerly controlled by government officials.

Peiping observers doubted that government troops there would hold out three more days. In Chungking, officials estimated the government's new First army would require at least a week to push the 90 miles from newly seized Szepei-kai north to Changchun against communist harassment. The army was moving afoot with mules hauling its American equipment.

Marshall was expected to arrive in mid-afternoon from Tokyo, where he conferred yesterday with General MacArthur. He is returning from important Washington conferences with President Truman to try to enforce the peace agreement he negotiated in January, but which was disregarded after he left for the United States.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson, one of five American correspondents isolated in Changchun by the embattled communist and government troops, managed to send out a dispatch reporting the reds had captured the capital's only railroad station. That gave them transportation for supplies and for reinforcements, should they decide they need the latter. They have an estimated 40,000 troops in the area, opposed by some 4,000 government troops and a home guard force.

National Quarter Horse Men Meet

Recognition of the Top o' Texas Rodeo and Quarter Horse Assn. was given by the National Quarter Horse Assn. last night at a meeting held at the City hall, sponsored by representatives of the latter association.

Ed Bateman, Knox City, director of the national association, was in charge of the session explaining the qualifications necessary for entrance, activities, and function of the organization.

Only pedigree quarter horses are represented by the National Quarter Horse Assn. Discussion on probable racing events was held.

Quite a few horses were registered with the association, it is reported. About 40 breeders attended the meeting.

A representative of the association is expected to be appointed in this vicinity.

171-144 Vote Limits New Lease on Life

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house voted 171 to 144 today to limit OPA's new lease on life to nine months, instead of to the full year requested by President Truman. The vote is subject to a formal roll call.

Republicans, with the help of a few democrats, took control—temporarily at least—of the price control legislation on the house floor.

The motion to limit OPA's new life span was offered by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich).

MOTION BY RANKIN
Earlier the house refused to kill OPA on June 30, defeating 178 to 34 a motion by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) to strike out the erasing clause of the OPA extension bill.

Rankin shouted to the house, "If you want to destroy the confidence of the American people in their government, just continue this communitarian OPA."

FAR-REACHING REVISIONS
Scores of other amendments proposing far-reaching revisions of OPA still are pending.

On the teller vote on Rankin's motion, reporters counted only 32 republicans and two democrats for it.

The house then proceeded toward action on various proposals for amendments of the OPA law.

Price Administrator Paul Porter said today breakdown of the present price control system can panic the nation's consumers into a "stampede" of costly spending.

REAL AND FRIGHTENING
The breakdown danger, he said, "is a real and frightening possibility."

There already is a rapidly spreading belief among businessmen, Porter asserted in testimony prepared for the senate banking committee, that congress "will either scuttle price control completely or take action which will compel OPA to raise prices."

"Should that be spread to the consuming public, he added, "the

Changchun's Fall To Communists Is Being Forecast

BEIJING — (AP) — The fall of Changchun, capital of civil war-torn Manchuria, to an overwhelming force of communist troops, was forecast today as Sino-American troop headquarters today as China hopefully awaited the arrival of peace-seeking General Marshall.

Latest news dispatches reported communist forces had penetrated deep into Changchun, seized its only railway station, and disrupted communications formerly controlled by government officials.

Nazi Is Pictured As Brutal Killer

NUERNBERG — (AP) — Alfred Rosenberg, hitherto known as the philosopher of the Nazi party, was depicted by prosecutors before the international military tribunal today as the chief of a bloody administration which sent millions of Russians to death or slave labor.

Under cross-examination by U. S. Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd and Russian Prosecutor R. A. Rudenko, Rosenberg acknowledged that he had ordered the conscription for slave labor of hundreds of thousands of Eastern Europeans and that executives of his ministry were active directors of the extermination of Eastern European Jews.

The prosecutors presented document after document taken from Rosenberg's files which added to the story of butchery of Jews—10,000 in two days in the city of Minsk alone, the prosecution said, Rosenberg blamed his subordinates, including Gaulther Erich Koch.

The prosecution presented one document showing that Rosenberg recommended Koch for appointment as "Reich commissar in Moscow to carry out an absolutely ruthless administration" there should the Soviet capital have been occupied by the Germans.

Rosenberg acknowledged that "terrible excesses" had been committed in carrying out the program of slave labor conscription, but he sought to justify himself with the assertion that "I always tried to alleviate the worst conditions."

J. A. Coleman, chairman of the general grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said in Kansas City that reports "from all over the system" indicate that all points are ready to strike.

He added, however, that he expected President Truman to name a fact-finding board to investigate the

Seniors Honored At Junior-Senior Banquet Saturday

WHITTE DEFR. (Special)—"Hitch Your Wagon to a Star" was the theme of the Junior-Senior banquet held Saturday evening in the Skelton cafeteria, honoring the seniors of White Deer High school.

Tiny blue and silver wafers, forming the place cards and napkins, were "hitched" by blue ribbons to large blue and silver star-shaped programs.

The waitresses, members of the home economics classes, wore white skirts and blue satin blouses spangled with blue and silver stars.

James Click, president of the Junior class, acted as toastmaster and introduced the following program: "Twinkle, Little Stars" (welcome) by Joyce Hawkins; "Lucky Stars" (response), Leon Griffith, president of the Senior class; "Star Dust," "Stairway to Stars," "Oh, What Seemed to Be," and "Hawaiian War Chant," sung by Dorothy Marie Poe, Emiline Rapstine, and Lea Mae Bednorz, accompanied by Mrs. John Beiche; "Steadfast Stars" (toast to the school), Gilbert Meakor; novelty duet, "You'd Be Surprised" and "Onesey, Twosy," sung by Sammy Milligan and Dorothy Jean Garner; "Fixed Stars" (toast to the faculty), Royce Beck; "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star" (talk), Supt. "Okay, just so the engine's OIL-PLATED!"

"This one is... and you're 101% right," the car salesman agrees. He goes on to explain, "We want this car to show you real engine endurance—which means the least carbon, sludge, and upkeep you can have. That's goodwill for us. And all it takes to keep your engine's insides OIL-PLATED is Conoco Nth motor oil. . . . Say, this time you're figuring to treat your new car right!"

Many of the oldest cars, too, are being kept in the running by having their engines OIL-PLATED. This internal wear-fighter—OIL-PLATING—is created by magnet-like action. That comes from Conoco Nth oil's added ingredient—surfacing your engine's insides with durable OIL-PLATING. There's your barrier against lots of wear. You can have it in any car—any model or year—by driving around to Your Conoco Mileage Merchant's station. You'll get your correct Spring grade of Conoco Nth oil—and an OIL-PLATED engine. Rubber Gloves Aid Gardeners

Your hands can pack seeds in earthly pockets, dig rows and sift soil—now that gardeners are sifting early to President Truman's plea for home-grown food — and still look as pampered as the next pair. This can be achieved by your wearing gloves for protection. Honorably discharged from war service are rubber gloves which, immune to soil-caked stiffness, won't become mechanical irritants or have to be dunked after each set-to with your garden. By scratching into a jar of cream before you sheathe your hands, you can keep nails so flexible inside of gloves that snapping tips are discouraged. Greased nails will also save you the fretting and fuming over the time it takes after gardening to turn blackened rims—into ten ivory-tipped beauties. Cuticles shouldn't be cut at any time, and particularly now that your hands are in and out of the earth like busy little moles. If you do cut cuticles you may find your rewards are ugly—even painful—splinters of skin. Cold cream rubbed around the base of the nail before and after you dig will outfit nature's ardent raids on hands to rob them of oil. Let us not forget that there are two systems in the world competing for the minds of men. These two systems are on trial. One is the most state-minded, the most collective-minded in existence. Ours is the most private-minded and the most individual-minded but our system can only flourish and grow in an expanding world economy.—Eric A. Johnston, president U. S. C. of C.

World Is Making Progress in Airing Important Questions Facing Mankind

By JOHN FISHIER
McClure Syndicate

The airing of the Soviet-Iranian quarrel is a victory for public opinion.
In fact, many anticipate that henceforth public opinion, exerted through the United Nations, will be the power which settles international controversies.
The U. N. world forum undoubtedly will continue to throw light on and hence check secret deals, territorial grabs, threats of force and other bullying tactics which outrage peace-loving nations. Because hot issues are tackled in New York, the decisions of the Big Four Foreign Ministers in Paris and subsequent peace conference this Spring probably will be nearer to Woodrow Wilson's pattern of "open covenants openly arrived at."

But many statesmen warn that world public opinion cannot be an infallible guide for diplomacy unless it is based on the free flow of information.
Except when moved by emotions and self-interest, men and women usually make up their minds on great issues from facts which come to their attention. But at present wide and important sections of the globe do not get the "whole truth and nothing but the truth."
Fall of Censorship Over the World
Strict censorship still is enforced in many lands. News that is through is distorted; information and arguments sent out are mainly rank propaganda. Journalist offenders are arrested. For many nations are using printer's ink and air waves as instruments of national policy.

Under such conditions the formation of sound world opinion is extremely difficult.
It is frankly admitted by the Russians themselves that public opinion in the U. S. S. R. is manufactured by the astute, able little group of men in the Politburo and its subordinate committees.
The general public does not have a clear understanding of international issues. Neither does it have more than an inkling of what other peoples are thinking and doing about these questions. Yet this inadequately informed giant holds the keys to peace or war in this generation.

Critics of the Soviet Union severely blame the communist party for keeping the masses in ignorance. But to the Reds the "iron curtain" is considered a blessing, not a curse. They look upon it as a shield against ideas which might harm the politically immature peasants and workers.
Article 125 of the U. S. S. R. constitution limits freedom of speech and of the press to information "in conformity with the interests of the working people and in order to strengthen the socialist system." Raw truth is banned as a diet too unpalatable for Muscovite stomachs. Fears Russians May Know Too Much

John Foster Dulles, the American diplomat, commenting on his experience in conferences with the Russians, said, "The Soviet government's most fanatical insistence on postwar secrecy is hard to explain except on the theory that it fears that if the outer world knew how communism worked in Russia there would be widespread disillusion abroad and that the Soviet peoples were aware of the spiritual, intellectual and material opportunities of other peoples, they, in turn, would be disillusioned."
The extremes to which the Reds discourage interest in their affairs is illustrated by the fact that the Soviet writer recently called at the Soviet embassy to obtain certain economic and scientific magazines published in Moscow. He was told that a ban had been put on subscriptions in the U. S. A.
Later a Soviet journalist friend explained that the ban had been placed because at one time former Postmaster General Walker had burned fifteen tons of imported Russian publications. After such a slur, he said, Moscow will not send any more magazines here.

At present English is more widely taught in Russia than any other foreign tongue, the study commencing in the fifth grade. English textbooks contain the writings of Washington Irving, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Mark Twain and Jack London. But the children are not permitted to read modern American works on controversial subjects.
The cultural link between the United States and the Soviet Union is excellent so far as it goes. Every so often Stalin makes friendly gestures. But the communists are past masters in the art of talking out of both sides of the mouth at the same time.

Russian Attacks U. S.
We are trying to be conciliatory because we realize that the peace of the world must rest on mutual good will. But right now Soviet papers and especially the Moscow official radio—reaching European countries—are doing all they can to tear down the reputation of the United States. The Russians smile at us in New York but they sneer us everywhere on the Continent.
For example, within the last few days we have been accused by Moscow mouthpieces of seeking a revival of German cartels, restoration of Japanese fascism, imperial-ist designs in Iceland, Cuba and China, bolstering Franco, using famine relief to force reaction in Greece and of depriving Yugoslavia of coal in order that Germany may be supplied.

Every time American editors have championed moral rights in the U. N. sessions the Soviet press has denounced our newspapers. Said the Moscow New Times: "The reactionary press of Great Britain and the United States monstrously distort the facts. The home and foreign policy of the U. S. S. R. is presented in a false light, reflected in a distorted mirror. Those who know the truth and try to declare it publicly are branded as agents of Moscow."

Other Nations Attacked
But Uncle Sam is not the only target of the Moscow ruckus. Involved in Russian against Spain, in Dutch against America, in German against the Netherlands, in Greek against Great Britain, in English against Germany and in native tongues against Persia and Turkey.
Senator Pepper recently charged that the United States "is ganging up on Russia." Some of his colleagues ask, "Do not the facts prove that Russia is ganging up on us?"

Moscow's satellites also echo the party line. Tito recently addressed the Yugoslav National assembly. He accused the Anglo-American officials, charged with maintaining peace in Trieste, of bringing in "twelve trains and seventy trucks of fascist bandits from Italy. Quietly watched by the Anglo-Americans, they are breaking into homes of Slavs." A denial by the YMG was not released to the assembly.
Later in his speech he praised Rumania, Poland, France, Czechoslovakia and Russia. Each reference was greeted with applause. His mention of America and Britain was received in stony silence. Yet Uncle Sam and John Bull are giving more food to starving Yugoslavia than all the rest of the nations combined.

Public opinion in the Balkans is being poisoned and turned against because of censorship and propaganda prevent the truth from reaching the people.
News Suppressed Elsewhere
The "iron curtain" is thickest in Red countries but it hangs elsewhere, too. France, at the instigation of the French communist party is debating measures to limit the freedom of the press.
The Spanish Ministry of National Education has just revoked news rights from an American correspondent who wrote something which offended Franco. A cable from Ecuador reports that the government has closed an opposition newspaper and arrested its staff. Turkey has hauled newspapermen into court for publishing critical articles.

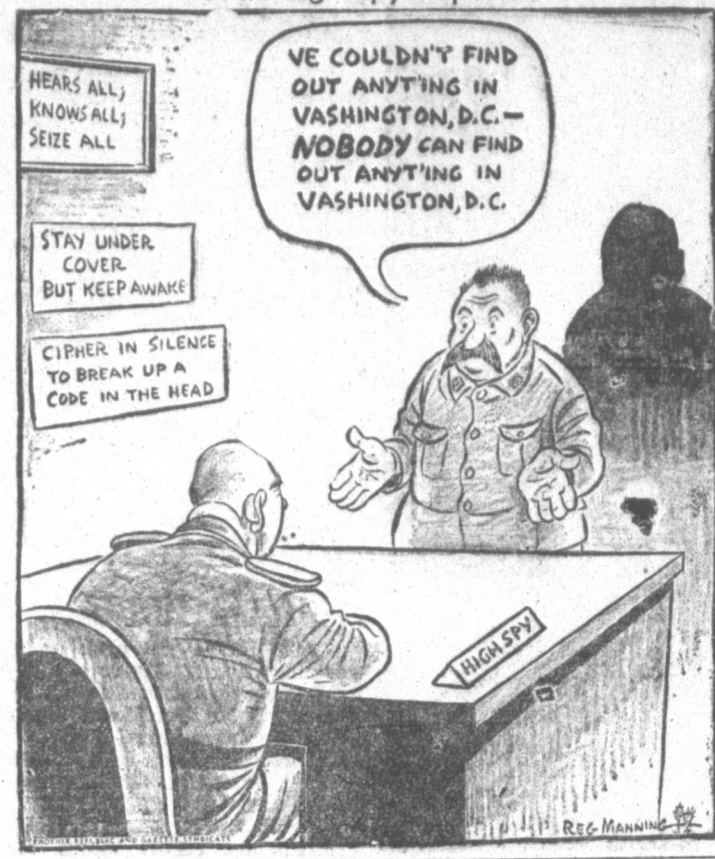

Even under our own flag the tendency toward suppression of news is noticeable, as is shown by the row over army newspaper censorship. The other day at a meeting of U. N. officials, David Saroff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, advocated that the concept of "freedom to listen" should be established by the United Nations together with freedom of the press and of speech. It is ironical that his remarks were made in a gathering that was "closed to the press."
Open debate by Byrnes of America, Cadozan of Britain, Gromyko of Russia and other U. N. national spokesmen is hailed as a great advance beyond secret diplomacy. People in countries where censorship is nonexistent or mild will be influenced by the news made at all forthcoming sessions of the great forum and will speak up to their representatives in New York.

But statesmen warn that regarding the news they heard twenty-eight members of the foreign press at the meetings, the views of other peoples, which likewise go to make world opinion, will be unsound if their governments censor the news or twist it by propaganda.

Gracie Reports

Well, I see that Mrs. Truman has invited the ten members of her Independence. Mo. bridge club to spend a week-end at the White House and I'm sure the ladies will have a lovely time.
The President too, I hope, will have so many people around who don't want anything from him.
The ladies must be very excited for the President too, I know how they feel. It would be a great social triumph if I ever played with Mrs. Truman, but it would have its drawbacks, too. If I were her partner, I wouldn't know whether trumping her would be a faux pas or a federal offense.
The President—no bridge player—now has a horseshoe pitching course on the White House grounds and I think he should invite Mr. Stalin and Mr. Bevin over for a game. Goodness knows, we're all going to need the horseshoes if they don't get together.

PROPAGANDA—Anti-American agents throughout the world, especially those of the fascist and communist variety, are spreading propaganda to the effect that the wealthy United States has turned a cold shoulder to a starving and crushed outside world.
Indeed, certain Allied spokesmen have joined in the latest campaign of detraction of Uncle Sam's part in the 1945 and 1946 elections.
Mr. Johnson is an extremely able and likable man. As a bigwig in the powerful Texas delegation and a prominent member of the house foreign affairs committee, he has shown ability and conducted himself as a loyal administration man during the Roosevelt and Truman regimes. He has performed many large and small chores for both men. He is extremely popular with his colleagues.

The current imbroglio in the security council over the Russo-Iranian issue has given us fair warning of the dangerous difference of viewpoints. Russia believes she sees distrust in the Anglo-American desire to keep the case on the books until all red troops have been withdrawn from Iran according to agreement.
And the western allies on their side regard with grave doubts Moscow's tremendous expansion of influence across Europe, into the Mediterranean, into the Middle East and into the Far East.

POLITICS—But he has been a member of this unit since its creation, has served as chairman and is regarded as one of the best tax minds in the country.
This appointment is not an isolated instance, according to reports flowing into Washington. Long-time public servants, including republicans and democrats kept on even by the politically astute F. D. R., are being replaced by hungry individuals high up in federal, state and local machines.

MAXIMUM—America's food rebuffs—Herbert Hoover, Herbert Lehman, F. H. A. LaGuardia—do not agree with the White House or Secretary Anderson that the European hunger crisis will end or show great improvement "within ninety days."
The Europeans have received insufficient seed, fertilizer, work animals, machinery since the close of the conflict. Foreign nations will need our maximum help until at least the spring or fall of 1948. But it is believed that this bad news, with its implications of prolonged American shortages, should be broken to us gradually.

"SHYLOCK"—For it is estimated that, despite shortages of goods over here and our enormous domestic financial burden, shipments and pledges already made by federal agencies, private organizations like the Red Cross and individuals reach the staggering total of $20,000,000, or almost one-seventh of the American national income. And that may be only the beginning.
That is more money than we loaned our Allies for the winning of world war I, of which only a small percentage has been repaid. It does not take into account lend-lease exports of goods, foods and weapons for which we shall be compensated in part.
Whatever Uncle Sam may be, these amazing figures console administration leaders with the thought that he is not a "Shylock."

Peter Edson's Column: SUBJECT: WAR VIA THE NORTH POLE

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Even though there may never be another world war, it is the job of any army and navy to be prepared for one. That is why a Pearl Harbor investigating committee in congress has been at work ever since last fall trying to find out why the United States army and navy weren't ready for what happened Dec. 7, 1941.
With that horrible example still fresh in mind it should take no great intellect to deduce that plans must be in the making now to protect this country against any sneak attack. What these detailed plans may be is properly the business of the joint chiefs of staff. But adding up stray items of recent news and combining them with piecemeal announcements that have been made by military authorities, it is possible to get a clear concept of where trouble may come from in the future.
This is not war-mongering in any respect. It is merely something on which every American should have some understanding.
It must begin with the understanding that the United States is primarily a defensive nation. It has no aggressive designs on any other country. It is, however, a fundamental principle of U. S. foreign policy to defend the United States shores against foreign invasion. In other words, a fight was forced upon the United States on the ag-

HOLLYWOOD—Let it never be said that Johnson can't take it.
Today we took a custard pie smack in the face.

Betty Hutton let us have it between scenes of "The Perils of Pauline," in which she is playing the movies' old-time serial queen, Pearl White.
But we must honestly report Betty almost couldn't take it.
She was holding the pie and winding up like Dizzy Dean, ready to make our face look like a pie factory smorgasbord, when she turned to the cameraman who was wanted a picture to prove it and winced:
"Let's get this over with. This pie is making me sick."
"Allergic to pies?" we asked her, innocently.
"Bub," said Betty, who has a date with the stork, "These days I'm allergic to EVERYTHING."
Then she let fly that custard pie. It didn't hurt a bit. We have only two minor complaints. The custard was a little too sweet, and we felt a little hurt that a big studio like Paramount couldn't spare us a cup of coffee along with the pie.

A BELL-RINGING MOVIE
"The Perils of Pauline" should make a humdrum of a movie, even if the youngsters don't remember the intrepid Pearl White, who starred in those Saturday afternoon thrillers way back in 1914.
Pearl was a daredevil heroine, performing reckless and endless stunts which soon made her the darling of the nickelodeons. Like Pearl, Betty leaps from airplanes to moving freight trains, goes over Niagara Falls in a barrel, is trapped in a runaway balloon and is tied to the railroad track as the midnight express thunders through the night.
She did most of her own stunts without the help of a double, and when the public doubted her courage, Pearl had herself hoisted on a steel girder to the 20th floor of a building at 42nd Street and Broadway in New York. She was quite a gal.
Pearl retired from the screen, with a couple of million bucks, in 1921. She went to Paris, and traveled around Europe with the social set until her death in Paris in 1937, at the age of 49.

She was a Green Girl, Missouri, girl, who crashed the infant movies after being a bareback rider in a circus and a stock company actress.
MEN HANDLE THE 'PERILS'
Naturally, Betty Hutton isn't doing those stunts herself. Especially not with the stork on route. Some of them are so difficult that even Hollywood stunt girls wouldn't take the risk. A couple of stunt men, in blonde wigs, are doing most of them.
Hank Mann, one of the original Keystone Kops, does the pie-throwing in the picture. But Hank's heart isn't in it. "The ham is out of me," he told us. "I just like to sit with the gang now and talk about the old times."
The mustached villain who chases Fear as of yore is Paul Panzer. He knows how it's done, too, because he was the original villain in the 1914 serial. Panzer is still acting under contract to Warner Bros. The technical director is Louis Gasnier, who was Pearl's director.

Rubber Lines To Measure Football Game
What we are doing with the American dollar is about the same thing as would happen if the line men on the side of a football game were using a rubber line to measure advances on the football field.
There would not be much interest in a football game if the spectators knew that the line men were using a rubber measure to throw the game the way they wanted it to go.

But that is exactly what the politicians are doing with the American dollar. They are stretching so that it will please the people who will vote for them. They are not using it to measure the value of services. They are using it in a way to keep those who appoint them in power.
They will know that if they did not fool the people but tried to tax the people enough to pay our government costs as we go along, the accumulation of taxes would be so heavy that they would be so busy paying taxes that they would not be able to vote for them.
Of course the politicians know that their rubber dollars and their claims that they can stop inflation by price ceilings will eventually collapse. But they are enjoying their power and having a wonderful time while they are in power by fooling the public.
Their acts are just as dishonest as it would be for yard men to use a rubber tape and stretching it to throw the game to the side they were betting on.

False Arguments Made Against Opposition to "Full Employment"
One of the customary statements made by those who believe in the federal government passing legislation attempting to sponsor "full employment" is that those opposing the bill are usually employers who want to have a surplus of labor so that they can hire this labor at any price. They accuse the employers of opposing the legislation as having selfish interests.
Quite often this false argument does silence the employer. It puts him in a defensive position. But that is all the more reason the employer should challenge every defender of this kind of social nostrum legislation.

No employer who has foresight enough to stay in business wants unemployment. He knows that he cannot have unemployment in his own line without having it in other lines. And if there is unemployment in other lines, he cannot get his goods.
Nor does an employer want low wages. He knows that if the workers can buy only bare necessities, he has little chance to sell his products. The employer, for his own chances of making profits, wants as full employment as possible, unless as high wages as can be had with full employment.

The reason he opposes these artificial methods of furnishing employment is that he knows that it will not work. He knows that it has been tried in time and again throughout history and always did exactly the opposite from what was intended. He knows that it will reduce wages and therefore reduce not only the standard of living of the workers but his own standard of living.
He knows it will cause unemployment because it will reduce the accumulation of tools. The government has nothing to furnish employment with that it does not take from someone else. It either takes it by taxation or by creating new debts to pay for it. This causes inflation, inflation robs the man who has his savings in the form of credits. This discourages people and works an injustice. Anything that works an injustice retards production.
That is the reason the employers oppose legislation attempting to guarantee full employment. That is the reason all people who understand what causes wages to increase oppose it.

MOOSE ARE ON LOOSE IN MONTANA MOUNTAINS

WHITEFISH, Mont.—(P)—Moose in the woods of northwest Montana are feeling their oats.
Dr. J. S. McFarland, former state game warden, reported one attack of his automobile on a road near the North Fork country, but sensibly desisted when it discovered the car could not be butted off the highway.
Later, one challenged a car driven by Rancher Louis Vaverland and Vaverland had to kill the animal. Deputy Game Warden Ross Wilson said.

it, will we? It wouldn't be much fun livin' somehwere else."
Ellie threw his head back and stared at her, wide-eyed. "No," he said, "it wouldn't." He turned round quickly, spied in the grass, and swaggered across the yard toward the dog, tucking in his shirt as he went. "Come on," he said, "what d'ye say we let him go? See what he'll do."
Bill glanced up at him impatiently, then pointed his quivering nose out toward the open hills again. Ellie nudged the dog, held the collar, glancing round at Debby. She nodded and he let go.
The dog was away like a frightened jack-rabbit, galloping in long, awkward leaps, his ears flapping.
HE dipped out of sight below the hill, then reappeared on the far hillside, climbing with undiminished speed past clumps of beach plum and bayberry. Finally he disappeared over the top of the hill.
"Where would you go if you was him?" Debby asked.
Ellie thought it over. "I'd go explorin'." He shaded his eyes, looking up the valley toward the beach. "An' when I got sick of that, I'd go back to where the food was."
"This watched for five minutes, then walked slowly back toward the house."
"Say, Debby," said Ellie. She looked up at him.
"You disappointed about not takin' that course?"
"Who, me?" she asked, half laughing, half disgruntled. "I like things all right the way they are, don't you?"
He grunted. "Sure I do." Then he scowled. "But you won't get any." "Why not?"
He shook his head. "I don't know. But you won't." He trudged on, his thumbs hitched around his belt, his eyes staring stonily ahead. Finally, without looking up, he said, "Girls get restless."
He spat resoundingly over his shoulder and walked along fast. Debby had always heard that it was boys who get restless.

Spring Flight

THE STORY: "Lady Animal Trainer" Burt Wymann's crowd tells when Debby Weeden calms down the "mad" dog which has just arrived at the Little Cape Cod station addressed to her brother-in-law, Ellie, at 19 Debby still acts and dresses like a tomboy. Her sister Agnes warns her that her behavior is making her way, Ellie, Agnes' husband, drops a bombshell when he announces that he has invested almost their entire savings in the stock market. Three policy for the old house. Three of them live in. Agnes had planned to spend the money on a new oil-burner and a secretarial course for Debby.
III
That night Bull was restless. Debby heard him moving about in the kitchen, walking round and round the room, whining and growling. He woke her up three times. The third time it was early morning, barely light enough for her to see around in her room. She got up and wriggled into her clothes; through the small square window she could see pale streaks of lemon-colored light.
She tiptoed down the stairs and through the sitting room into the kitchen. The dog jumped up on her, whining and whimpering and licking her hand, and she rumbled his head and led him out to the porch. He strained at the collar and she dragged him roughly toward the barn and tied him to the rope. He ran back and forth, yipping, then turned quickly and galloped to the end of the leash, straining toward the moors, his neck extended till his collar was Debby stood still, watching him, and presently Ellie came out of the kitchen door with the tails of his flannel shirt outside his trousers and motioned with his head toward the house. "Asleep," he said.
Debby nodded, looking at him out of the corner of her eye and smiling faintly. "Mad, ain't she?" she said.
"Phew," said Ellie. "Did you really buy some fire insurance?"
"Sure I did."
"When?"
"The other day."
She glanced at him slowly. "You mean the other night?"
"Well, yeah. It was after supper."
"He was grinning too, sheepishly. "Who sold it to you?"
"Fellow named Newkirk, Ken Newkirk."
"Never heard of him," said Debby.
"Lives in Orleans," said Ellie. "Hasn't been there long. Sells real estate and insurance and deals in antiques some."
She chuckled, hunching her shoulders. "Keeps his office open late, don't he?"
"Important business," said Ellie, "ain't done in offices."
"Not with you, it ain't. How many drinks did he buy you?"
"No more than I bought him. We took turns payin'."

Occupation

moved from office and that demoralization of Japan was thus endangered brought a brusque reply from Whitney before MacArthur's statement was read.
MANNER OF COMPLIANCE
"So far as I know," Whitney declared, "neither the member from the U. S. S. R. nor others have any knowledge of the manner of Japanese compliance with the purge directive, as they haven't sought this information" from Allied headquarters.
The military government officer cited the election a week ago as refutation of the Soviet charge. Seventy-three percent of the eligible voters went to the polls, he said, ousting "the party in political power and moving sharply toward a more liberal concept of the relationship between government and the people."
"He who fails to see in this election a demonstration of democracy on the march—either fails to understand the meaning of democracy or is blinded by prejudice," Whitney asserted.

Whitney asked that Allied occupation policies be given credit for the "demonstration of democracy" on election day, and that the Japanese be credited for an attempt to attain democracy.
Whitney declared he would furnish the Russians with all requested information on the purge program "if it takes all summer."
With that, he launched into a review of the background, reasons for and effects of the purge. Observers termed the discussion "Whitney's filibuster," suggesting it might discourage questioning in the future.
As the council reconvened for the afternoon session, British and Russian members indicated they would like Whitney to suspend his review. However, the Chinese member, Gen. Chu, suggested Whitney be allowed to continue "as a matter of courtesy." The British member agreed and Whitney went on.
Russia's request for information on a possible purge of new diet members and a possible investigation of Japanese compliance with Allied directives in general was submitted before today's business session.
"Official matters" listed for council discussion include the land reform program, Allied food policy in Japan and means of enforcing the dissolution of Japanese holding companies.
The United States, Russia, the British commonwealth and China make up the council.
The council adjourned in late afternoon until Friday after Whitney cut short his explanation of MacArthur's policy and freely answered questions.
In response to a question by Russian Lt. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, Whitney said there still are some Japanese in office who will come under MacArthur's purge directive. He said such persons remain for technical reasons and explained the purge is being conducted on a time table which contemplates the completion of the ouster of undesirable by June.

Chu asked specifically if Ichiro Hatoyama, liberal party president who hopes to form a coalition bloc to control Japan's net diet, was among those.
"I understand his case is one of those being investigated by the Japanese government," Whitney replied.

CIO Problem

question, Hillman said:
There is no doubt the local PAC organizations will try to defeat those Southern democrats who have voted with republicans in opposing the administration program.
Now take the CIO organizing drive in the South:
The CIO in May will send 200 organizers into the South, operating with a $1,300,000 fund supplied by CIO unions.
CIO President Philip Murray recently called this organizing drive a "crusade to emancipate XXX the economic serfs of the South where people are still persecuted and suffer much."
Then, making it plain that the CIO is thinking of the political importance of organized CIO workers in the South, Murray said:
"The organizers will go there to bring about the economic and political emancipation of millions of people here in the United States who are deprived of those opportunities today."
Just as the CIO-PAC program denounced "poll-tax democrats," Murray is thinking of the poll tax in connection with the organizing drive, he said:
"We have been reading about many things in the South for many years—poll tax, low wages and the inability of the average poor wage earner to vote on election day. XXX The CIO has got to go into the South to carry the message of America to the people down there."

question, that he had not been called to referee a dispute between Anderson and Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowers over milk subsidies. He added, however, that he would referee on it if it came up.
The report on meat supplies was made by the agriculture department in announcing how it will divide dwindling stocks among civilians, the armed forces and the livestock during the April-June quarter.
The per capita civilian meat supply at least until July 1 is expected to be at an annual average rate of 132 pounds (carcass weight basis), as compared with the 147-pound annual rate available during the first three months of the year.
In 1945 when wartime meat rationing was inaugurated, the average for civilian supplies was 136 pounds annually.
Lehman, speaking at a food mass meeting here last night, differed sharply with administration estimates that the overseas famine crisis would pass in 90 days.
Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, in a simultaneous address before the United Nations forum, said announcement of a wheat rationing program now "would probably be the most severe blow that could be dealt to the cause of relief feeding around the world."
He noted that it would take months to put rationing into operation and that the effect might be the hoarding of wheat rather than the freeing of it.
In its survey of the nation's immediate meat situation, the agriculture department estimated that the American appetite for meat is so large and its purchasing power so great that consumers would buy at an annual rate of 165 pounds at present prices if that much were available.

OPA Extension

stampede will be on."
Porter testified in the senate wing of the capitol as the house called for votes on what to do about the price agency. Congressional friends of President Truman were frankly alarmed over the outcome.
The administration has been seeking a full year extension beyond June 30 with present controls left intact.
The OPA chief told the senators that "if this country, with $225,000,000,000 bulging in its pockets, goes on an economic bender, there won't be just a comfortable little readjustment in prices."
"A climb of 30, 40 or 50 per cent above the present level for the first year of the boom seems to me a conservative forecast."
Porter boiled down his inflation fears to terms of an "average family," now spending $2,500 a year. Twelve months of 40 per cent inflation, he said, would boost such a family's expenses to $3,450 for food, clothing, rent and other regular items.
Discussing the effects of inflation on war bonds and other investments, Porter observed:
"If a witness were to appear at this hearing with the proposal of a capital levy of 50 per cent on all the savings accounts, the life insurance policies, the bonds and mortgages, and the university and hospital endowments which a generation of thrift and self-denial has amassed, he would certainly be denounced as a crookpot, or a communist—or both."
"Yet for congress to heed those who now advocate a serious curtailment of OPA's powers would be to invite an inflation which would impose just a levy."
Porter also made these assertions:
1. "The problem is to get production without starting up the inflation which would soon choke off the vast outpouring of goods we need."
2. "Decontrol (of) all but a few basic commodities x x x is a job which would be both grotesquely unfair and economically impossible."
3. "There are some industries which are misinforming congress and misleading the American people about the effects of OPA control."
4. "We already have a serious black market (lumber) problem on our hands—especially in southern lumber. x x x We have broken such rackets before and we shall break this one."
5. "Admittedly there is a black market in meat, x x x But the suggestion that we lick the black market by dropping controls sounds to me like suggesting that we avoid violations by repealing our traffic regulations."

ADVENTURERS

SAN FRANCISCO.—(AP)—Four boys who entered a lifeboat "for a lark" were adrift for an hour in San Francisco Bay.
Mrs. Sybil Sinclair, swimming star, tried to tow the bobbing craft to shore but failed against the tide. Finally, a plane, spotting the drifters, directed a rescue boat to the scene, hauling ashore Gene Bueter, 10, Frank Johansen, nine, Charles Lukey, 10, and Leroy Bradford, 11.

TMTA Contributes Toward Education

AUSTIN—Lynn B. Shaw, general manager of the Texas Motor Transportation association stated today that they had contributed heavily toward the education of Gray county school children. It was also revealed that the association had made heavy contributions to the construction and maintenance of the country's highway system.
The 5,214 scholastics in Gray county benefited to the extent of $18,770 or $3.60 for every school child in the county.
Trucks and buses paid $41,120 in special taxes that went toward construction and maintenance of highways in Gray county.
The industry contributed a total of $39,000,000 in special taxes, a ten million increase over the preceding year. This figure represents only proceeds from gasoline and license fee taxes paid by more than 280,000 motor trucks and buses in Texas. It does not include federal or regular state taxes.

SOMETHING TO PLAY WITH

KANSAS CITY.—(AP)—Anybody need a machinegun turret—without a machinegun?
They're ideal for rumper rooms, says Louis Goldfinger, junk dealer who has 20 of the $12,750 turrets for sale at $35 to $50. Goldfinger describes his merchandise as "something really different to entertain guests. Junk hook one up to a battery and it works."
To prove it, Goldfinger says he's sold five turrets in the last few days. He points out as something else in their favor that although the turrets lack a machinegun, they're equipped with a sunsight.

Radio Drama Award Winner Takes Slop At Same Industry

HOLLYWOOD.—(AP)—When Arch Oboler receives his Academy award for radio drama April 24 he'll level a blast at the industry. Says he: "Most people are as nauseated as I am with the amazing assortment of truths, half-truths and untruths now activating the kilocycles." . . . Peggy Cummins showed up to work with a black eye. She said she got it moving furniture. . . . Jose Furber bought a plane in which he will fly to South American concert dates this summer. He'll carry along his own piano. . . . Ann Blyth and Farley Granger a Ciro's twosome. . . . Gene Tierney tells me she has convinced the studio she doesn't have to wear makeup. So she can sleep longer in the morning.
In the film palaces. . . . "The Green Years" (MGM-128 minutes) is a lengthy but moving film version of A. J. Cronin's novel. It appears to be the first picture of the new season which is of Academy award calibre. Tastefully mounted, it features the superb acting of Charles Colburn, well supported by Beverly Tyles, Hank Daniels and Tom Drake.

The word mascot originated at Providence and Gersony and meant something which brought luck to a household.

Eight members of the Harvester track team are set to enter the Region One track and field meet at Lubbock tomorrow. All qualified by placing at least third in the area meet at Amarillo.

Harvesters will enter 11 of the 14 events at the meet.

Coach Otis Coffey announced the entries today as: Carl Mayes in the 100-yard dash, the 220, the 440 relay team and the broad jump; Jack Olliphant in the 440-yard dash; Jim Wilson in the mile; Lonnie Williams in the 120-yard high hurdles, the 200-yard low hurdles, the shot put and the discus; Bob Troop and Leon Good in the 440 relay; Bill Speer in the discus and high jump; Bob Boyles in the shot put and Randall Clay in the 440 relay, discus, broad jump and high jump.

All boys who place at least third in the regional meet will be eligible to enter the state meet at Austin May 2 and 3. Pampa has one champion in the state—Clay in the discus.

Harvester football spring practice is being suspended until Monday night because of the track meet and the Easter holidays.

Coffey said, however, that he may enter some boys at the Oklahoma

'Fireball' Bob Feller Turns in Best Opening Day Hurling Job

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball is back on the gold standard today with such pre-war glamor names as Joe Dimaggio, Bobby Feller, Ted Williams and Hank Greenberg in the headlines once again.

Mel Ott and Hal Newhouse were the only holdovers from the war-time campaigns in the select circle, dominated by ex-G.I.s, that delighted 236,730 fans at yesterday's eight big league openers.

The first day of the 1946 campaign was a huge success both financially and artistically. Attendance showed more than a 100 per cent increase over the 1945 figures and was the second highest in history.

The Newhouse-Greenberg team probably was the most eye-arresting. Lefty Hal spun a neat six-hitter for his first opening day win but he needed Big Hank's line drive homer to get a 2-1 decision for the world champion Detroit Tigers over Nelson Potter and the St. Louis Browns before the day's largest crowd, 52,118.

Dimaggio and Chandler also provided a one-two punch for the New York Yankees who appear to be headed back toward the heights. Jolting Joe's 400-foot clout with Tommy Henrich on base eased the ace righthander along the way to a five-hit, 5-0 shutout of Philadelphia as Shibe Park.

Williams, making his first big league appearance since 1942, thrilled President Truman and 30,372 Washington fans with a 430-foot home run, the longest seen at Griffith stadium in 15 years. Tex Hughson sprinkled 11 Senator hits along the route for a 6-3 Boston verdict.

Feller turned in the prize pitching job, a three-hit, 1-0 blanking of Chicago but the Cleveland fireball artist needed a belly-flop catch by Don Lemon, another ex-G.I. to save the game in the ninth inning.

New York Giant power was very much in evidence as Manager Ott's 511th round tripper sparked the polo grounders to an 8-4 decision over the Phillies.

The vaunted St. Louis Cardinal pitching staff went haywire, yielding 11 hits, two wild pitches, eight walks and a hit batsman in losing to Pittsburgh, 6-4.

A muffed fly by rookie outfielder Gene Hermanski and a boot by shortstop Pee Wee Reese enabled Boston to score two unearned runs and a 5-3 win over Brooklyn.

Shamrock Has New Jr. Chamber

SHAMROCK. — (Special) — For the first time in more than a decade Shamrock has a Junior chamber of commerce.

The group was formed at an organization meeting held at the Dixie Cafe Monday night. Gladys Abernathy was elected president of the organization of young men. Other officers are: Henry Clay, first vice president; Bob Hofmann, second vice president; R. L. Roberts, secretary-treasurer; and Clay Bumpass, state director.

Twenty-two young business men of Shamrock were present for the initial meeting. The group will hold luncheon meetings each Tuesday at the U-Drop Inn, beginning next week.

Plans for organizing a Junior chamber of commerce here have been underway for more than a week. The idea was originated by Bob Clark, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, and young men working on the organization plans were Abernathy, Bumpass, Roberts, A. C. Brown, Orville Key and Albert Morrison.

Charter members of the group who attended the initial meeting Monday are:

Glenn Henry, Lyman Benson, Baxter Purcell, E. Brown, E. H. Dennis, Woodrow Sims, Wallace Fields, Dr. R. W. Shepherd, Neal Wilson, Aaron Fry, Jack Sims, Billy Sims, J. L. Lanman, James Brothers, Albert Morrison, J. Ray Morrison, Wayne Fox and the officers.

The word restaurant in America was first applied to the dining rooms of the better class of hotels and to a few high class la carte restaurants.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK. — (AP) — Ernest John Frederick Lanigan has the idea of adding a hall of records to the Baseball Museum and Hall of Fame and Ernie should be the one to put it over. After a dozen years with the International league, the 73-year-old Lanigan is going to Coopers to look after the little red brick building where the great figures of baseball are enshrined.

"My idea," he explained, "is to gather all the records and statistics with the International league, the 73-year-old Lanigan is going to Coopers to look after the little red brick building where the great figures of baseball are enshrined.

"What he fails to add is what all the scribes know—that the best and most complete records are in the hands of Ernest John Frederick Lanigan.

RECORD FOR RECORDS

The Chicago-born Lanigan broke into baseball writing with the Philadelphia Record in 1887 and started keeping baseball records some ten years later when illness sent him to the Adirondack mountains to recuperate.

It was then that he thought of adding slugging records and runs-batted-in to the box scores though what he calls his "most miraculous contribution to the pastime" came some years later when he got the score keepers to record the winning and losing pitchers.

In 1921 he received a call to revise a book of baseball history and after looking it over decided the only thing to do was to start again from the beginning. Out of that came his "Baseball Cyclopedia," one of the best and scarest reference books on the national game.

It also produced a headache: "I got everything so mixed up that I never could put it together again, eventually I threw it all away and made a fresh start."

He is working on a complete and authoritative baseball history and figures if he doesn't ever finish it, his International league successor, Harry Simmons, will.

Buck Track Coaches Announce Names of Lettermen for 1946

WHITE DEER. — (Special) — Coaches Tyson Cox and Dennis Lowery announced this week the names of the seven boys who lettered in track this season. These are Billy John Shurley and Leroy Thornburg, three-year lettermen; Norman Ayers and James Click, two years; R. E. Hill, Eudolph Willis, and Charles Barnard, one year.

Of these the lettermen of the high school elected Rudolph Willis the "most valuable member of the team" and Leroy Thornburg as captain.

Hill, Willis, and Thornburg will compete in the regional track meet at Lubbock, Thursday.

Texan Named Head of Athletics for Veterans Hospital

DALLAS. — (AP) — Maurice L. Harper, former Austin college and professional football player, has been named physical director for the Veterans Administration's Jackson, Miss., hospital, Roy Eury, special services director, announced today.

An air force captain during World War II, Harper's home town is Sherman, where he played high school football and later—1933 to 1937—was an outstanding lineman at Austin college. He then performed with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Professional league for five seasons, being first string center. He enlisted in the army in 1942.

At the VA's Jackson hospital Harper's main assignment will be to provide a varied physical training program for patients.

Dallas, Tulsa, San Antonio, Beaumont Win Texas Openers

By The Associated Press

The Texas league was off to a rousing start on its fifty-first campaign today with three close games and an average attendance of more than 6,000 for contest featuring opening battles.

Dallas, Tulsa, Beaumont and San Antonio won the openers, the Rebels downing Fort Worth 3-2, Tulsa slapping Oklahoma City 8-0, Beaumont edging Shreveport 6-5 in 10 innings and San Antonio outlasting Houston 10-9.

A throng of 8,500 turned out in chilly weather at Fort Worth last night to see the Rebels come from behind to win a thriller. Al Zachary held the Dallas team hitless until the seventh when Bob Moyers broke the ice with a screaming homer.

At Houston 6,981 fans saw the Missions beat out the Buffs in a parade of hurlers. Five worked for both teams — three of them for Houston.

Six thousand turned out at Beaumont and saw John Bogard clout a double in the tenth to drive in the winning run.

At Oklahoma City 5,082 were in the stands as Mack Stewart allowed the Indians only four hits as Tulsa opened the race with a whitewashing job.

Today's schedule: Shreveport at Beaumont, Dallas at Fort Worth (night), San Antonio at Houston (night), Tulsa at Oklahoma City (night).

2,000 Pairs of Nylons Stolen from Warehouse

HOUSTON. — (AP) — Theft of 2,000 pair of nylon hosiery from a Southern Pacific railroad warehouse posed a riddle for Houston detectives today, as they sought both the takers and the hosiery.

Detective O. C. Rice expressed the belief that a "black market ring" was involved in the theft which, he said, occurred several days ago.

The hosiery was consigned to Foley brothers from a Pennsylvania manufacturer. The theft was discovered when a freight firm went to the warehouse to pick up the hosiery for the local store.

Burnett's Cabinet Shop Furnishes Your Lumber Dealer With Windows and Trim

Burnett's Cabinet Shop, owned by C. V. Burnett and is located on 311 East Tyng street. They specialize in truck bodies of all sizes and kinds. They are steel braced, bolted and welded to suit the purchaser. These bodies can be purchased at their Pampa plant or from any truck dealer in the Panhandle. Your lumber dealer will have Burnett made molding, trim, base, windows and door frames. The shop is not doing any cabinet work at present. Burnett's is one of the many which started little and worked up to be a good-sized shop. Back in 1940, they had a place only 24 feet long and 20 feet wide. Then they started growing, until their present building is 30 feet wide and 100 feet long. This enables them to take more and larger orders for their type of work.

Mr. Burnett is a member of the Junior chamber of commerce and is a good church member.

Permits Granted To Build Dams

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Mahon (D-Texas) has disclosed that senate-house conferees have agreed to permit the start of construction on three harbor and flood control projects in Texas.

The senate inserted the three construction bills in the war department's civil functions appropriation bill for the 1947 fiscal year after the house had refused to authorize appropriations for them.

The committee compromised on $2,000,000 appropriation for the Whitney dam, to be built about 30 miles upstream from Waxahatchee on the Brazos river. Total cost of the project has been estimated at $26,000,000.

Meanwhile, house conferees have accepted the senate's vote of $2,000,000 for the North Concho river dam at San Angelo and of $127,000 for a ship turning basin at Fort Isabel.

Wife's Plea Denied For Half of Fortune

CHICAGO—(AP)—The plea of Mrs. Lucille Fry, 45, for half the estimated $3,000,000 fortune of her husband, Lloyd A. Fry, 48, under the Texas community property law was denied by Chicago Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg Friday.

The Frys were divorced last spring. The couple moved from Dallas to Chicago in 1932 and in income tax returns since each has claimed Texas as a residence.

The court ruled both were Chicago residents and the Texas law did not apply.

Army's Installations In Africa To Be Sold

CAIRO—(AP)—Fred W. Ramsey of the U. S. Foreign Liquidation commission, said yesterday the U. S. army air force weather reporting and communications in Rio de Oro, Spanish colony on the northwest coast of Africa, were being sold to the Spanish government.

Ramsey said that certain operational rights granted to the air transport command in 1943 under an agreement between the U. S. military attaché in Madrid and the Spanish government provided for the sale of the facilities to Spain after the United States was through with them.

Service Club Meets In Christian Church

CANADIAN, (Special)—The Men's Service club met in the basement of the First Christian church Thursday night.

The speaker of the evening was George Brown, an insurance man from Oklahoma City, who is devoting most of his time in the service of the Laymen's League. His talk dealt with the rise and fall of nations, pointing out the similarity of the trend of this nation's thought and action to other great nations that had humble beginnings, but drifted away from right to follow the lure of riches and power.

Attendance was the largest since the club was organized several months ago.

NAPLES—(AP)—The American army has all but pulled out of the Naples, area, but it has left an imprint on neapolitan life that will linger long.

No army can be quartered for 39 months among foreign people without leaving behind some trace of its passing. You still see signs of Yanks everywhere.

Hardly a single street gain but boasts some ragged piece of American military uniform and many children are completely garbed in some geezy castoff shirt and pants. You can also tell girls who went with officers. They boast smart suits made from gabardine pink dress trousers.

When we came into Naples—far away and long ago it already seems each American was a signal for hysterical crowds to gather.

It's all changed now. American soldiers long ago became commonplace and even children's cries of "Carumelli!" have ceased.

American troops have been here so long they are accepted as part of the population. Many of them now can battle off Italian as if they had been born on the peninsula.

Italy has become so much a second home to them that a good number are staying behind seeking business connections here—prisoner to an Alien charm they came to conquer.

One of the oddest sights to those who remember vividly the bitter enmity engendered by war is to see American and Italian soldiers riding around in trucks driven by German prisoners of war.

Ex-pat prisoners of war now do most of the driving of American vehicles in this zone, to the noisy dissatisfaction of Italian civilian drivers who were thereby thrown out of work. But it saves money for the American taxpayer and most military men think the Germans more dependable. These one-time storm-birds of Europe certainly cuddle up in captivity. Most know they are better off as prisoners of war than if they were returned to Germany.

They are treated well but keep their place and I haven't seen any palsy-walsy relations between them and American troops. They get along together but they haven't clumped up.

McLean Seniors To Present Annual Play

McLEAN, (Special)—"Brother Goose," a farce in three-acts will be presented by the Senior class in the high school auditorium Friday, April 26, at 7:30 p. m. This play, according to Mary Hess, publicity chairman, "Will be one our admiring public will never forget." This is a promise, so a special invitation is offered everyone—if you bring the price for your ticket. Cost of admission and the cast will be disclosed later, possibly next week.

Certificates for Wheat Are Issued

If wheat is being stored on Texas farms it can soon be expected to go to market, according to a report that the practice of giving certificates for wheat by the federal Commodity Credit Corporation is to be extended to Texas soon.

The report was given to County Agent Ralph Thomas on calling the CCC headquarters at Kansas City.

As yet no official recognition of the giving of certificates in Texas has been sanctioned. The administrative procedures entailed in getting the information and directions to county agricultural conservation agencies, which would handle the certificates, is now believed to be up before the State AGA.

Giving of certificates by the corporation enables the wheat grower to turn his wheat crop over to the government from the time the certificate becomes effective (now in some states) until March, 1947.

In return for his wheat the government gives the wheat grower a certificate, which he may turn in for cash at any time he desires, selling his already marketed wheat at whatever the market price is at the time he turns in his certificate.

Exile Says Spanish Issue Most Important

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—Alvaro de Albornoz, member of the Spanish republican exile government, says that the Spanish issue "is more important" than what he termed the petroleum of Iran.

The exile leader spoke at an assembly commemorating the 15th anniversary of the republic of Spain.

Albornoz added that he hoped England and the United States would "wind up by recognizing and proclaiming the justice of our cause."
