

HELICOPTER STAGES DARING ESCUES

'At Least 8 More Will Die in '46'

"At least eight persons of this area will die in automobile accidents between now and Christmas."

This was the statement made by the State Highway Patrolmen of this area after a study of our rapidly mounting traffic fatality rate.

Records reveal there have been 22 deaths in this area since the first of the year, as compared with a total of 11 deaths in the same area for the entire year of 1945. If accidents continue to occur at the same pace during the next three months, as they have in the past nine months, eight more persons will be fatally injured yet this year.

When asked what was the main contributing factor in these accidents, patrolmen said, "No main factor can be pointed out. A series of what motorists often believe small unimportant details, are the direct cause of some of the worst highway tragedies. For example, a defective tail light. When we stop a motorist to inquire about a defective tail light he usually takes one of these attitudes: the matter is insignificant and trivial; he is in a big hurry to reach his destination and resents being delayed; or, as often states he is certain the light was burning when he left home. Investigation often reveals that the wiring and light are rusted and the light probably burnt, burned in several months."

"What would you do in a situation of this type?" the patrolman asked. "No harm has been done to any individual. No property damage is involved. Perhaps the driver is right about this being a trivial matter. Still, if this matter is brushed off or ignored, what possibilities may it encompass? That same apparently harmless, insignificant appearing, faulty tail light may lead to the deaths of a half a dozen persons, who have never met this driver, but are victims of his carelessness. Remember, it has happened before."

Some other things that contribute to accidents, patrolmen said, are faulty dimmer switches, failure to give hand signals carelessly driving past the center line, passing without an unobstructed vision for a safe distance, ignoring stop signs and many more careless violations.

"The fact that these things are done or exist mean nothing to us from a personal standpoint," patrolmen asserted. "By giving tickets or using any other method for correction of these offenses, we appreciate no financial gain. Our only interest in correcting these hazards is for your own protection of other citizens."

"Often the general public feels that members of the force are needlessly strict and sometimes unreasonable," the patrolmen added. "Anything that we can do to alleviate this feeling of mistrust will be done. Our job here is to help the people in this area control their traffic hazards. At the present time we are faced with a mounting traffic fatality rate. We ask that you, the people, cooperate with us, in order that we may better enforce the laws you have made."

8 Survivors Of Airliner Crash Saved

GANDER AIRPORT, Nfld.—A U. S. coast guard helicopter and flying boats, shuttling back and forth over lakes and forests of Northeastern Newfoundland, brought eight survivors of the Sabena airliner crash to a hospital at the Gander air base last night before darkness fell.

Ten other survivors remain to be brought out when rescue operations are resumed at daylight today.

Capt. W. C. McConeil, commander of the Gander base army detachment, said these were the five hospitalized last night.

Jean Roock, airline hostess and only survivor in a plane crew of seven, both legs broken, condition critical. Rudi Revil, composer and musician of New York, both hands badly burned and internal injuries; Walter Devos of Ghent, Belgium, fractured leg; Helen Ruth Henderson of New York, Girl Scout executive, and Mrs. Renee Jacquet of Cuverville, Belgium, burns about the face.

The rescue fliers also evacuated John King, 15-year-old son of the Chinese ambassador to Belgium; Mrs. Leona Tomchet of Brussels and Joseph Deschuyffeleer of Brussels. Their injuries were not immediately known.

The last patient evacuated before darkness was Deschuyffeleer, who was flown directly to the Gander airport in the helicopter piloted by Lt. August Kleisch of the coast guard.

The coast guard rescue teams, each composed of a helicopter and a PBY Catalina flying boat, began the daring rescue operation at 1:42 p. m. when Lt. Kleisch took off from Gander for a tiny plateau near the scene of the tragedy. Soon the first survivor, Miss Roock, was whisked away in Kleisch's helicopter.

United Nations May Fail in Avoiding War

LONDON—(AP)—The international committee for the study of European problems yesterday predicted failure for the United Nations in avoiding war, and called for formation of a world federation of nations for preserving peace.

"It is feared also that 'at present Russia is going too far'."

"In the light of recent events, it does not seem probable that the U. N. will succeed—in the case of a serious conflict arising between great powers—in avoiding another war," said a page report signed by 31 prominent statesmen, diplomats, educators and scientists of six European countries.

The report declared the veto power in the U. N. security council "will never be able to prevent any power from acting as it wishes."

"Admitting a world federation would entail 'important surrenders of national sovereignty,'" the committee proposed the organization of political groups committed to a world state to speed what it called "the normal evolution of the world towards unity as it has been evolving during the last 20 centuries."

The report opposed the setting up, "in the relatively near future," of a German government.

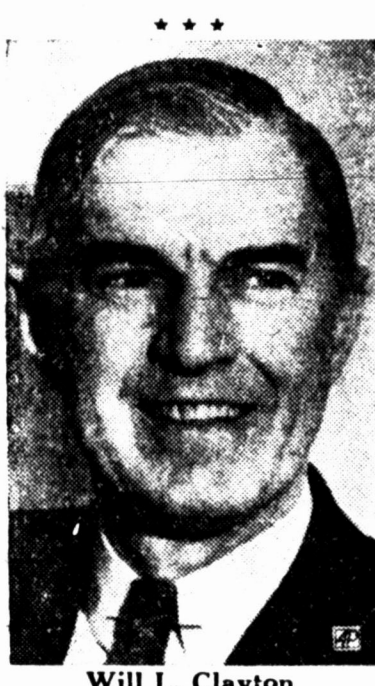

"The report declares: 'At present Russia is going too far.'"

"Speculating as to whether Russian policy is aimed at expansion or national security, the report added:

"If Russia is not aiming at expansion or at following merely a political line of action entirely independent from that of the nation, it is going too far."

Wallace Will Not Aid Democratic Campaigns

Will L. Clayton, Secretary of State.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace definitely has decided not to give active aid to the democratic party in November's congressional elections, intimate friends said yesterday.

The ousted secretary of commerce secluded in his first day as a private citizen, was reported undecided whether to take the stump against current American foreign policy before the Paris peace conference ends.

The antagonist of Secretary of State Byrnes believes that the ballot contest for control of congress hinges on foreign policy, it was stated, and that he cannot in conscience support the democrats since President Truman has repudiated his views had given full support to the tougher Russian policy of Secretary Byrnes.

Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala.), chairman of the democratic national committee's speakers bureau today, made it clear that whatever speaking Wallace does now will be on his own. Previously Wallace had been scheduled for an ambitious speaking tour through areas where his influence might do the party the most good.

Sparkman's actual words to a reported applied to Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), an even more bitter critic than Wallace of the present foreign policy, but both men were under discussion.

"We are trying to elect democratic congressmen," the Alabamian said. "We don't want to send out anyone as a speaker who is going to Waller secretary Byrnes, a reactionary or say he is all wet, or anyone who is going to urge independent voters to stay home."

Sparkman said he would have no personal objection to Pepper's accepting invitations from individual candidates to speak in their districts, but he will not be sponsored by the committee.

Sparkman's comments on Pepper were occasioned by Pepper's speech before the brotherhood of railroad workers yesterday.

Conviction Is Handed Down to Big A&P Chain

DANVILLE, Ill.—(AP)—Thirteen corporations and 16 officials who operate or serve the A&P stores over the nation were convicted yesterday of conspiring to control a substantial part of the country's food business.

An immediate appeal was planned by the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, 12 of its subsidiaries and 16 of its officers who were charged with the conspiracy in a language. If it stands as the law our traditional competitive system must surrender to bureaucratic control.

"It is upheld, it will mean less food on our shelves and less buying power in every pay envelope," the defendants said.

In Urbana, Henry I. Green, associate counsel for the company, said the decision was astounding. "I can not express my opinion in public language. If it stands as the law our traditional competitive system must surrender to bureaucratic control."

Possible maximum penalties of a $5,000 fine and a one-year prison sentence confronted each of the defendants on each of the two counts of a criminal information brought by the department of justice's antitrust division.

Specifically, the defendants were found to have conspired to restrain trade in food products and to monopolize a substantial part of such products in interstate commerce.

This, Judge Lindley held in an opinion was a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

A&P, the government alleged, accomplished its illegal monopoly through the following methods:

1. In the New York headquarters of John A. Hartford, 73-year-old A&P president, and his brother, George, 82, board chairman, control of the vast network of purchasing, manufacturing, distributing and selling agencies was unified.

2. Where A&P retail outlets met strong competition from independent or other group stores, some A&P stores were allowed to stay in.

Fall Festival Benefits Living Memorial Fund

PANHANDLE—(Special)—Carson handlers converged on Panhandle yesterday. Hanging up their spurs and postponing fence repair, ranchers and farmers joined with the townspeople for the annual Fall Festival, given for the benefit of the Living Memorial Fund.

There is already $20,000 in that fund, and with pies selling at auction for as high as $15 yesterday, the fund is getting along well. Fifteen hundred tickets were sold for the old-time barbecue, and there were 150 of those pies sold. Gary Simms prepared the barbecue.

Carson county 4-H club and FFA club exhibits marked the beginning of the day's program. The day was closed last night with a couple of dances—one given by the American Legion, the other by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Elmer Padgett and Howard Beddingfield made arrangements. Pig and calf show, exhibiting the work of members of the two clubs, was under the direction of J. P. Smith, county agent.

Unusual handicrafts was shown in the work of the Home Demonstration women. The exhibits were held in the AAA building. They included: food preservation, Mrs. J. R. Nicholson, chairman; utilization, Mrs. T. O. Dowlen, chairman; fancy work, Mrs. Arthur Cummings, chairman; rugs, Mrs. Ray Anderson, chairman; fresh fruits and vegetables and flowers, Mrs. J. Floyd Howe, chairman; and accessories, Mrs. Elton Vance chairman.

The parade was six blocks long. There were over a hundred horsemen; the Phillips band, American Legion, VFW, FFA boys, 4-H club boys and girls, kid and pet section, kid and pony section, old-timers.

Texans Dominate Present Cabinet With 3 Members

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Texans dominated the cabinet today to an unprecedented degree. Three of them held top spots.

Making it even more unusual, two are from one city—Dallas. The third is from Houston.

They are acting Secretary of Commerce Harold H. Young of Dallas; acting Secretary of State, Will L. Clayton of Houston; and Attorney General Tom C. Clark of Dallas.

When Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace resigned at President Truman's request, Harold M. Young became acting secretary of commerce.

Young actually is solicitor in the department. But Undersecretary Alfred Schindler, next to Wallace in rank, was on the West Coast, and William A. M. Burden, next in rank to Schindler, was in Europe.

Young, who has been Wallace's right hand man since 1941, may not get to sit in a cabinet meeting as acting secretary. The next meeting is Wednesday, and Schindler is expected back from the coast Monday. Young may resign as solicitor, friends intimate, because of his close friendship with Wallace.

Clayton is acting secretary of state because Secretary Byrnes is in Europe at the peace conference. Rumors were heard Friday that Clayton may succeed Wallace.

"Selection of Clayton would not only give the government the services of the most capable executive available for the job, but would be a further repudiation of the Wallace policy of appeasement," Rep. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls said. "It would further reinforce the hand of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes."

Marianas Islands Are Whipped by Erratic Typhoon

GUAM—(AP)—An erratic typhoon whipped across the Marianas Islands yesterday, heavily damaging property but causing no reported loss of life and few injuries at this time.

Disrupted communications prevented a full accounting, but Rear Adm. Charles A. Pownall, commander of the Marianas, said first reports indicated no serious injuries to naval and Marine personnel or civilians. The army reported one man had suffered a broken back.

The 100-mile-an-hour wind had passed a station here yesterday afternoon but 15-foot breakers still lashed the shore. Electric power still was off and everyone ate cold bathtub rations.

Pownall said he had no reports from Saipan, 150 miles north of Guam but believed it had not experienced as much damage as did Guam.

Rota, 50 miles north of Guam, was the direct center of the storm, but Pownall said a cave there was large enough to shelter the entire population of 750 persons plus the handful of military personnel stationed there.

The main weather station at Guam was knocked out, virtually all communications lines were down and the navy radio station was inoperable for several hours.

Harmon field, a main base for the B-29 raids on Japan, and all army airfields on the north side of Guam reported extensive damage.

The naval hospital was among buildings damaged. Sheet-iron sheathing of many quonset huts whirled through the air like leaves.

The new-completed multimillion-dollar breakwater at Apra Harbor, punctured in several places but the damage was regarded as relatively minor.

LYNCHBURG, Va.—(AP)—Miles Lynchburg, 78, who represented the state of Washington in the United States senate from 1911 to 1923 and later served as an ambassador to Peru, died yesterday at his home in Lynchburg, near Natural Bridge. Death was due to natural causes.

Girl Scout Leaders Take Training Course

Chairmen and committee members of the Panhandle area Girl Scout association yesterday completed a two day job roundtable training course given by the area at Borger.

Every county of the area was represented by one or more committee delegates. Mrs. Bill Money, program chairman, was in charge of the training course given by the area at Borger.

The course was given under the supervision of Miss Norma Jane Ewing, Amarillo, area director, and Mrs. Frances W. Adams, field director. They were assisted by Miss Ruth Minton, executive director of Amarillo Girl Scouts and Miss Marie Steidle, executive director of Pampa Girl Scouts.

Miss Steidle announced also that the annual meeting of the area association will be held at 7 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 24, in the Pierce St. Baptist church, Amarillo.

GOP Congressional Candidate Visits Here

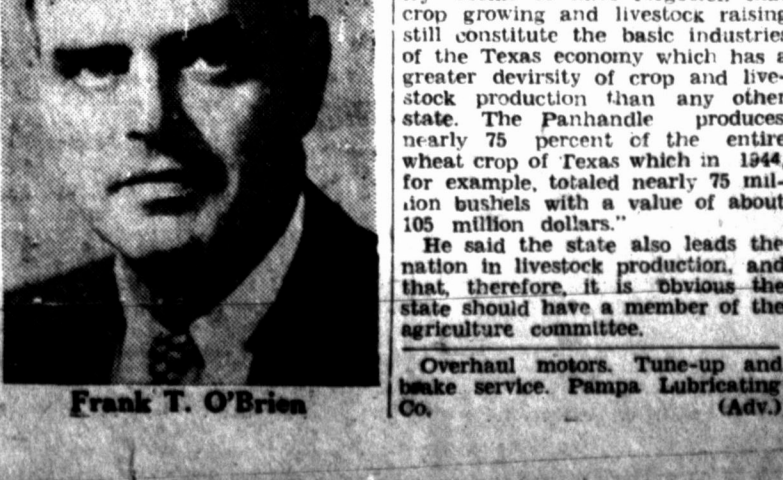

Frank T. O'Brien, republican candidate for congress from this district, said here Friday the firing of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce was a "move in desperation" presaging a "tide in favor of the republican party" this fall.

O'Brien, who entertained a group of local citizens at the Schneider hotel last Friday, stated:

"The mere firing of Wallace at this late date in the whole is a move in desperation, in an effort to overcome a tide which is inevitably in favor of the republican party. The honeymoon is really over now, with a move like that becoming necessary."

Conference Hits New Snag With Oil Protection

PARIS—(AP)—The European conference hit a new snag yesterday when the Soviet Union, backed by Russia, contested vigorously a proposal to give special protection in Romania to British and other foreign oil companies.

After an unprecedented seven hours of debate over a parliamentary stage, the Balkan economic commission decided to refer to conference authorities the question of whether a 7-7 vote on oil clauses proposed for the Romanian treaty was a "legitimate ballot."

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the U. S. delegate, said the situation presented by the prolonged debate was "fantastic." The British proposed annex to the Romanian treaty would require that country to restore or replace allied national property losses in oil fields, annual discriminatory legislation and admit key administrative officials and technical experts to operate the wells.

In other conference actions yesterday the Italian political commission approved 13 of the recent Italo-Austrian agreement granting much local autonomy to German-speaking residents of the South Tyrol. Opposition came from the Soviet states, who in the same meeting criticized an American amendment to the Italian treaty which

Commissioners to Select Architect For New Hospital

Gray county commissioners court adjourned at 6:30 p. m. Friday after spending a full afternoon hearing six prospective architects, interested in securing the building contracts for the Gray county hospital, without reaching a definite decision. Another special meeting has been set for Wednesday, Sept. 25, to discuss further the selection of an architect. County Judge Sherman White said yesterday.

From noon Friday until 6:30, architects were interviewed for at least one half hour each.

Chief interests of the court were the ability and experience of the men vying for the job. Plans, pictures and technical explanations were given by all architects during their time with the court.

Each man or firm representative appeared individually and privately in the presence of the press.

Most of the questions put to the applicants centered about services rendered during construction, time and fees. The court advised all that they may be called back for further questioning before one is selected.

Those bidding for the job are: Rittenberry and Rittenberry, Amarillo; Jones, Hucker and Moore, Pampa; and Amarillo; John L. Hanson, Amarillo; C. L. Moore, Corpus Christi and Oklahoma City; C. G. Curtis, Austin; Kauffman and Kauffman, Amarillo; and Wm. C. Townes, Amarillo.

$500 Offered Readers in Contest For Drawing of 'Lena the Hyena'

Don't blame us for this! It was all started (perpetrated would be a better word) by Al Capp, the author of LI'L ABNER, the comic strip which you can find today on Page 14 and which you should read (at all times).

Here's the setup: Somebody in this nation is going to get $500 for the best drawn conception (or photograph) of Lena the Hyena. How horrific (ugh) do you think she is? And what does she look like?

If you know, just sit down and draw her; or go out and take a picture of whoever you think looks like her.

Mail or bring all atrocities (you may have more than one) to Lena the Hyena Editor, Pampa Daily News, Pampa, Texas.

The rules of the contest are:

1. Deliver or mail your drawings or photographs (as many as you like) of how you think Lena the Hyena should look in the LI'L ABNER comic strip now appearing on Page 14 to The Daily News. All entries must be in this newspaper office not later than Thursday, Sept. 26, 1946.

2. Your name and address should be clearly indicated on each picture submitted. Entries cannot be returned and become the property of this newspaper and United Feature Syndicate.

3. Local entries will be judged by this newspaper's jury. The local winner will be announced on Sunday, Sept. 29, and he will receive a prize of $5. His entry will be sent to the national contest finals to compete against all other newspaper winners. The national winner will be picked by Boris Karloff, Salvador Dali and Frank Sinatra, and will be published on Oct. 21, 1946, in the LI'L ABNER strip. This winner will receive a grand prize of $500, given by Al Capp and United Feature Syndicate. All decisions by judges will be final.

Plan for Holding Down Deficit Is Being Abandoned

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman's plan to hold down this year's deficit by postponing public works projects fell into the "swung and missed" class today.

Budget Director James E. Webb indicated the administration had abandoned hope of effecting a planned $700,000,000 saving for the fiscal year by delaying many projects until after next June 30. The President had proposed a $900,000,000 ceiling on expenditures for flood control, river and harbor improvement, reclamation, power development, rural electrification and highway construction.

Budget bureau officials still maintained hope that all-purpose spending can be held within the budget figure of $41,500,000,000 for fiscal 1947. They said new economy targets would be sought.

Mr. Truman estimated the deficit could be held to $1,500,000,000 when he started his economy campaign Aug. 3.

As soon as he directed the public works postponements—to conserve materials and labor for private housing and other building programs as well as for economy—protesters began rolling in from government agency heads and congressmen.

The agencies, Webb said in a statement last night, declared "strict compliance" with postponement orders would be detrimental to the public interest and requested reconsideration.

In addition, he said, they listed "new projects considered as non-deferrable in the interest of the federal government and the general economy."

Congressmen who had voted appropriations for public works in their states and districts backed up the agency protests and challenged the President's right to interfere with the projects after congress had voted them.

PETTENGILL "The Gentleman from Indiana" INSIDE YOUR CONGRESS

V-J DAY
At the first anniversary of war's end, it rests one's eyes to take a squint at Japan. Compared to the festering chaos called Europe—and the fish-wife bickering called European "reconstruction"—the job we have done in Japan is one of which we need not be ashamed.

This is all the more remarkable when we compare the age-long pattern of Emperor worship in Japan with the thought of European people who have had some brief experience with free institutions during the past century. Japan has adopted a free constitution; its vast monopolies and cartels have been broken up; it has held an honest election; women have voted for the first time; the Emperor has accepted his new status with dignity and grace, and even in the imperial household the girls are doing housework.

Freed from the vast burden of armament, a new day may have dawned over that cherry-blossomed land. It may be that Japan, responding to just but magnanimous treatment by her conqueror will become a firm friend of America. Certainly the medals won by the Nisei regiment which served the American cause in Italy will not be forgotten by a generous people. It will be an offset against the dark record of Japanese commanders and soldiers in the Far East.

The grass soon grows over the blood of a battlefield, but never over the blood of the seafoed. We have had an American policy in Japan; a hodge-podge in Europe.

American reconstruction in Japan still faces many difficulties. Inflation and shortage of food have still to be surmounted. But good start has been made.

MacArthur no doubt has his faults—what general does not?—but to my way of thinking his short address on the battleship Missouri, when the war-lords surrendered, is the only statement made by any world figure which is worthy to be found in the same library with Lincoln's Second Inaugural. "Laid up the wounds of war, care for him who has borne the heat of battle, his widow and orphans, and achieve and cherish just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

MacArthur's anniversary message is worth summarizing. The most significant lesson to Americans on this anniversary of victory is the spiritual force which has governed American life and controlled American destiny since the birth of our republic. History records the invincible power which free men as individuals, but yet as one, have developed in the American way.

At war's end, as we rested our arms, we sought to chart a secure future course through the labyrinth of human, spiritual and material wreckage. It behoves us now to scrupulously cling to this ideal, so long rooted in American traditions. There is, however, a note of warning in contemporary events which must not be ignored. This great concept is now hardly less challenged in peace than it was in war. A great issue today stirs mankind involving the clash of the two conflicting ideologies—the struggle for moral and intellectual supremacy between two Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

27 Editors To Attend Series of Seminars

NEW YORK—(AP)—The American press institute announced yesterday the 27 newspaper editors and executives who have been selected to attend the second of its series of seminars at Columbia university.

The seminar, to be held for two weeks starting Oct. 28, will be for newspaper picture editors. The first seminar, which will be participated in by 25 managing and news editors, will be held for three weeks starting Sept. 30.

Editors attending the second seminar, as is the case in the first, have been chosen from newspapers reaching from coast to coast.

Newspapers from throughout the country are sponsoring the institute, first planned by Sevellon Brown, editor of the Providence, R. I. Journal, as a place where newspaper editors and writers can meet to exchange ideas on journalism technique and also on social, economic and political problems of today.

Those selected to participate in the seminar starting Oct. 28 include Harry M. Johnston of the Houston Post and John W. Wagner of the Dallas Morning News.

Petition Relating To Flood Control Goes To President

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Mississippi Valley congressmen reached these conclusions in their attempt here to draw up a protest against presidential curtailment of flood control appropriations:

(1) President Truman's Aug. 2 freeze of such appropriations was "ill-advised . . . fraught with danger to human life and property . . . unconstitutional and illegal."

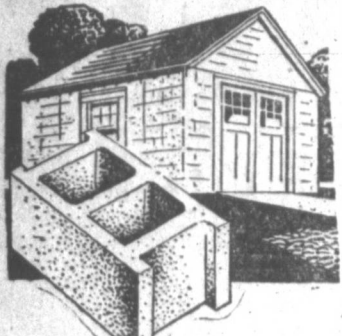

(2) The President should reverse his position.

(3) If the President refuses, congress should go over his head by enacting legislation to restore the appropriations and "effectively prohibit a repetition of the same, or similar executive orders, and any encroachment by the executive department upon the . . . functions and powers of the legislative branch."

These conclusions were set forth in a petition drafted by 15 senators and representatives and unanimously adopted by the entire conference which concluded its work Friday.

Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn), chairman of the senate appropriations committee, and Sen. Overton (D-La) planned to confer with the President, to whom the petition will be presented.

Upon the effect of the petition hangs $300,000,000 in frozen flood control and rivers and harbors appropriations, money which the conferees declared was duly voted by congress and the appropriation signed by the President.

J. M. Clegg to Open Funeral Home Here

J. M. Clegg, who for the past several months has been associated with the Womack Funeral Home at McLean, is establishing a funeral home here, it was announced yesterday.

Clegg, who served a year in the navy, has worked with Broussard Mortuary, Beaumont, and Martin-Nelson Funeral Home at McAllen.

The new concern, which will begin service with two ambulances and four employees, will be located on Cuyler at Browning. Operation will be inaugurated on Oct. 1, he said.

Clegg said the concern was not connected with Womack.

Lefors School To Conduct Driver Education Course

LEFORS, (Special)—E. R. Reeves, superintendent of Lefors school, and R. B. Johnston, teacher, attended a driver education meeting presented by Driver Education Teachers Institute in Amarillo Wednesday, Sept. 18.

Superintendent Reeves states that in the very near future classes on driver education and correct driving methods would be conducted for all students of junior high and high school by the Lefors faculty.

The responsibility of the driver education will rest upon the school while the driver training will rest upon the parents of the student, officials said.

The co-operation of every parent has been asked by the school in this program outlined for better training of our drivers of today.

Camping Course Is Planned Here

A two day troop camping training course for the Panhandle area Girl Scout troop leaders will be held on Thursday and Friday of next week at Camp Sullivan, according to an announcement made yesterday by Miss Marie Stedje, executive director, Pampa Girl Scout association.

The course is to be operated for the first time on an area basis at the local camp as facilities there made it possible for local training only, Miss Stedje said.

The course is being held in order that troop leaders of the area may be qualified to take their groups on weekend or longer camping periods. Each leader satisfactorily completing the course will be qualified to take their troops out alone.

Miss Stedje added that the group will form at 9:15 a. m. Thursday in the girls scout office, city hall.

Oscar W. Morehead, 58, Dies at Miami Home

MIAMI, (Special)—Funeral rites were held for Oscar W. Morehead, age 58, at the Methodist church in Miami Friday afternoon at 2:30. The deceased died at his home fourteen miles North of Canadian Thursday morning after a short illness.

Mr. Morehead is survived by his widow; four sons, John of Pampa; Walton, Glenn and Charles of Canadian; and three daughters, Mildred of Lubbock, and Virginia and Ava of Canadian. Three sisters and one brother: Mrs. D. P. Robertson, Glendale, Ariz.; Mrs. J. W. Baugh, Chandler, Ariz.; and Mrs. Dora Cornwell, Ft. Worth; and Mr. Gladden Morehead, of McCamey, Texas. He was born in Wise county, Texas, Nov. 9, 1888, and moved to the Panhandle in 1912 and was united in marriage to Miss Vera Lee in 1920. He and his family lived in Miami for several years.

The Rev. C. A. Holcomb, Jr., pastor of Methodist church in Miami officiated. Slickley funeral home of Canadian had charge of arrangements and interment was made in Pampa. Pallbearers were Allan Dennis, Fuler Barnett, Mark Rogers, Loyd Y.

Dussard, Harold Osborne, and Gland Seitz. In Germany, Italy, Japan, the state was all-powerful. It controlled the lives of all the people. In recent years we have been headed in that same direction, being given more and more power to the federal government. If we go much further, we shall have a government that controls us, instead of a government controlled by the people.—Frank E. Gannett of Rochester, N. Y., newspaper publisher.

Week's Activities
JAYCEES—Chamber of Commerce President W. B. Weathered spoke on "City Improvement" at the regular Jaycee meeting. The club voted to sponsor a civic center in the near future. The club began discussion on this two week's ago. Joe Fischer, president, said Saturday the club would not meet Tuesday, and that the members are urged to attend the banquet given by the Senior chamber at the high school cafeteria in the evening. Tickets for members can be bought at the door from Fischer.

ROTARY—Hugo Olson, Adobe Walls council field executive, discussed Boy Scouts at the regular meeting. He cited figures that 89 percent of the Boy Scouts troops operating throughout the nation today had at one time been sponsored by Rotary clubs. C. H. Woods was introduced into the club.

LIONS—Ken Bennett introduced a new member of Station KPDN, and the two furnished the entertainment for the program. The new staff member, from Philadelphia, is Danny Sleiber, who sang two numbers. Bennett accompanied him at the piano. Art Teed gave a talk on membership requirements for the club. Guests were Hugo Olsen, J. F. Debbis, and Irvin Cole, all of Pampa.

KIWANIS—Herb M. Munson, co-owner of the Courthouse cafe, was introduced as a new member of the club. Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr, who serves as pianist for the club, presented a musical program, featuring her and her students. On the program with her were Nan Watkins, Phoebe Osborne, Mary Beth Wright, Angela Duncan, Dorothy and Eula Meers.

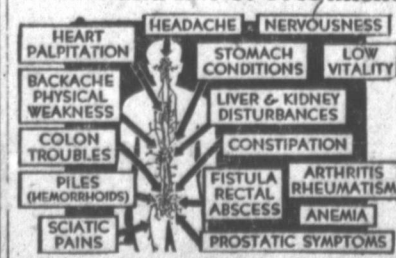

Stolen Pickup Truck Recovered by Owner

A light pick up truck, owned by Charles Gunn Bros., was recovered yesterday morning at the corner of Hobart and Alcock sts., by its owner after it had been stolen Friday night in front of the service station.

According to Deputy Sheriff Jeff Guthrie, there were no finger prints on the truck and only damage was a flat tire on the left front wheel. There were no arrests.

Newsprint Usage Is Running Ahead Of Current Supply

NEW YORK—(AP)—Newsprint usage in the United States is running ahead of current supply despite high levels of output from Canada, and has resulted in a decline of publishers' stocks to their lowest recorded levels, the American Newspaper Publishers Association reported yesterday.

The ANPA summary of the newsprint situation was released following a two-day meeting of a special committee of U. S. newspaper publishers and Canadian newspaper manufacturers at which general factors affecting future newsprint supply and indications of long-term demand were examined.

Publishers said extensive expansion programs indicated a probable increase in newsprint requirements here. A similar upward trend of demand in other markets dependent on Canada also was noted. At the same time it was pointed out that problems of distribution among individual U. S. consumers would be considerably accentuated in 1947.

The report said Canada would supply an estimated maximum of 3,288,000 tons of newsprint to the United States in 1946. That total includes 1,588,000 tons supplied during the first half of the year and an estimated 1,700,000 tons to be supplied in the final six months.

Because of gradual improvement of Canadian production during the past several months, current Canadian supply to the United States is at the rate of 3,400,000 tons a year—the highest level in history—the report said.

It added, however, that the increase in supplies from Canada has been offset largely by a decline in U. S. newsprint production, elimination of shipments from Europe and the requirements of new users. It was estimated that for individual publishers the increase in supply does not average more than 1 percent over the 1941 figure.

'Guinea Pig Sale' Slated Tomorrow

DALLAS—(AP)—The sale of scarce items to be held at Camp Howze, Gainesville, Monday is termed a "guinea pig sale" by officials.

"We'll be writing the book for the rest of the country to follow," Harry L. Holliday, regional director of the war assets administration, said Friday.

The materials will be sold to aid veterans housing. Later, 33 other regional WAA directors will hold similar sales.

City officials from Dallas, Terrell, Gainesville and Denison went to Camp Howze yesterday to inspect the lumber, hardwood flooring, soil pipes, lavatories, switches and other hard-to-get items that will be placed on sale.

Officials said the articles were in excellent condition.

It will be the first site sale of building materials, and the only army camp to go exclusively to holders of HH priorities to build veterans homes. Prices have been set by the CPA.

The sale will begin Monday and continue for 15 days.

New Subsistence Limit Brings Queries

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Recent legislation put a limitation on subsistence allowances for veterans enrolled under the GI Bill of Rights by stating that "in no event shall the rate of such allowance plus the compensation received exceed $175 per month for a veteran without a dependent or $200 per month if he has a dependent or dependents." Here are some questions from veterans regarding this new law:

Q—With the last subsistence check I got from the government there was a letter attached which said I might have to return some of the check later. What does that mean?

A—Under the new law governing subsistence allowances for veterans in education and training programs, changes have been made in the methods of figuring subsistence. Before this new method can be applied to each veteran there has been declared an "interim period" to give VA time to do the refiguring. If the refiguring shows a veteran received too much during the "interim period" he will be asked to refund the difference.

Q—I understand VA has said that all veterans will get the same subsistence for the next three months with adjustments made after that. I know mine will be cut and I don't want to have to send some money back later. Is it possible to have this subsistence altered right now?

A—Yes.

Q—If it is discovered that I have to refund the VA some money from my subsistence payments, how long will I get to pay it back?

A—No time limit has been set for returning the money.

Q—Is it true that some veterans who have been working full-time while going to school will now be able to draw some subsistence? And if so, how should a veteran go about getting in on this subsistence?

A—That is true. They can arrange to get on the subsistence rolls by getting in touch with their training office or VA regional office.

Employees Vote To Go Back on Jobs

DENISON—(AP)—Employees of the Jacques Power Saw company, on strike since Wednesday, voted to return to work, yesterday.

They walked out as a protest over the discharge of four men which the local union said were fired for union activities.

The company said the men were released for using company time and property to solicit union memberships.

Henry J. Murphy, International Association of Machinists (IAM) representative, said he recommended the men return to their jobs after a promise by J. C. Jacques, company head, that the men on strike would be reinstated. Earlier Jacques had said if they had not returned to work by Monday they would be fired, and the workers had voted to ignore the order.

Yesterday they voted to return to work and submit their dispute to the National Labor Relations board.

Q's AND A's

Q—What category of accidents took the greatest number of lives in the U. S. in 1945?
A—Home accidents, 33,500. Traffic took 28,600.

Q—What is the pressure per square yard of an atom bomb square to the blast?
A—It was calculated at 5.3 to 8 tons at Hiroshima.

Q—What is the origin of our slang word goon?
A—Probably it comes from goonda, the India word for professional tough.

Q—What percentage of the 1946 housing goal is being achieved?
A—A bit more than half. Of the 1,200,000 homes planned, 607,100 were under way at the end of July.

Q—Is China asking reparations from Japan?
A—Yes, 40 percent of whatever the reparations pool amounts to—in payment for ravages of eight years of war.

Q—Is the federal payroll lower now than it was when Japan surrendered?

Few Seats Still Available for Chamber Banquet

Chamber of commerce officials reported last night special arrangements were being made for 23 additional seats at the third quarterly banquet to be held at the Senior high school cafeteria Tuesday evening, 8 o'clock.

This will bring the number expected to attend to around 400. A few seats, it was said, will probably be available Monday, but they will not last until Tuesday.

E. H. Alexander, minister of the First Christian church, Oklahoma City, will be the speaker. He is well known as an after-dinner speaker. Mr. Alexander appeared here last night at a brotherhood banquet at the First Christian church.

W. B. Weathered, president of the chamber of commerce, will serve as toastmaster; Virgil Mott, religious education and musical director at the First Baptist church, will lead singing; Harry Kelley, music director at the First Methodist church, will sing; Rudolph Hildebrand, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will give the invocation; and Fred Thompson, local merchant, will introduce out-of-town guests. The speaker will be introduced by D. V. Burton, local businessman and member of the chamber of commerce.

Five reports or papers on promoting the stimulation of production will be given by five representatives of member oil companies. They are: "Automatic Equipment," Joe Cronin, Phillips Petroleum Co.; "Parifin," Leo Fry, Stanolind; "Gravel Pack and Control of Shale Break," Tom Hogan, the Texas Co.; "Marble Shocks," Ralph O'Neal, Phillips Petroleum Co.; "Acidizing," Max Harrison, Kiwanee Oil and Gas.

Clayton Husted acted as chairman at last night's meeting.

Gasoline Production Down, Fuel Oil Up

NEW YORK—(AP)—Total gasoline production dropped to 14,796,000 barrels in the week ended Sept. 14, a decline of 467,000 from the 15,263,000 barrels produced in the preceding week, the American Petroleum Institute has estimated.

Finished and unfinished gasoline stock at 88,818,000 barrels were down $3,600 from 89,111,000 in the previous week but compared with 83,433,000 a year ago. Kerosene stocks were reported at 20,622,000 barrels up 871,000 for the week.

Gas oil and distillate fuel stocks at 55,204,000 barrels showed a rise for the week of 1,483,000 barrels while residual fuel oil stocks were placed at 55,736,000 barrels, an increase of 950,000.

Daily average crude oil production (in barrels)—Production: change from previous week 352,050; decrease 32,150; bureau of mines calculation requirements 386,000.

Texas: Production, change from previous week 2,688,450; decrease 4,250; bureau of mines calculation requirements 2,720,000.

Petroleum Stock Shows Decrease

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The bureau of mines has reported that stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum totaled 221,903,000 barrels on Sept. 14, a net decrease of 1,229,600 barrels for the week. Domestic crude decreased 934,000 barrels; foreign crude decreased 295,000.

Daily average production was 4,773,000 barrels, a decrease of 27,000, from a still average 4,802,000, a decrease of 11,000.

Aggravated Assault Charge Is Planned

Lloyd Silas Williams, 30, Amarillo, driver for the Greyhound Bus company will be charged with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle in Gray county, court by state highway patrolmen, County Attorney Bruce Parker disclosed here yesterday.

Williams' charge arose out of a bus-auto wreck on Route 66 Tuesday in which three people were injured, one seriously. Most seriously injured was William Ralph Bennett, California, who is still in a coma, according to Dr. Witt of Groom hospital where the injured were taken following the accident.

The annual tuna pack, worth $50,000,000, is America's most valuable fishery.

Buildings at Moore Field Are for Sale

DALLAS—(AP)—Surplus army buildings at Moore field, near Mission, Texas, have been offered for sale to lower Rio Grande valley cities to aid the housing shortage.

Morgan R. Lewis, deputy regional director for real property disposal, war assets administration, said yesterday the buildings were classified as "housing for off site use."

They were formerly used for mess, hospital, barracks, supply and recreational purposes.

City officials at Mission, McAllen and Edinburg are interested, he said.

Unity Demanded

Reopening of a joint U. S.-Soviet commission to unite politically troubled Korea is called for by Lieut.-Gen. John R. Hodge, U. S. commandant of the southern half, below the 38th parallel. Hodge, in a scathing attack on Communist agitators, said the U. S. is determined to help Korea "stand alone." Some 800,000 Koreans have moved from the Soviet to the American zone, 1,200,000 have been repatriated from abroad, and 840,000 Japanese sent home.

 ter and taken to a Catalina which was waiting in a lake five miles away to bring her here.
 Miss Hooeki covered her face with a blanket as she was lifted from the plane upon arrival and placed in an ambulance for removal to the Sir Frederick Bentline Memorial hospital. Revil winced with pain as he eased out of the craft, both hands and arms wrapped in bandages. He was wearing no trousers—just long underwear.
 "Thanks for America," said Devo as he was taken out. He smiled and told attendants to "take it easy." Miss Henderson appeared to be in good spirits. The extent of her injuries was not disclosed.
 Back in the emergency camp, deep in the wilderness, where the remaining survivors must spend their fourth night, morale was said to be high, what with the weather warming up and skies clearing. The denses were said to be good for completing the rescue work today.
 The big Catalina plane bearing Miss Hooeki arrived here at 3:40 p. m. less than nine hours after the crashed helicopters reached this air base aboard air transport command Skymasters from New York. One of the helicopters was damaged while being assembled, and make-shift repairs had to be made.
 Two rescue parties—a 15-man army team and a 30-man company of Newfoundland woodsmen—had hacked a trail through the dense spruce forest and over the marshy Muskeg a quarter of a mile from the scene of the crash to the plateau. Lumber had been placed at the marshy edge of the lake so that the helicopters could be set down.
 The survivors, 14 of them were severely injured, had been carried laboriously through the forest trail on litters. Behind them near the charred wreckage of the Skyliner lay the 26 bodies of their fellow passengers and crewmen who died when the big plane smashed into the forested hill.
 Spindles, crutches, tents and medical supplies had been dropped at the temporary rescue camp set up by the army team, which arrived late Thursday. Plans to parachute a small power plant and floodlights were abandoned earlier as dangerous.

 by the company. Others, they said, had more seniority.
 Mrs. Jewell Whitley, chairman of the commercial division of the union, said in announcing the Houston local's decision to go back to work yesterday, that G. C. Gephart, company vice president at St. Louis, had promised by telephone to carry out the arbitration immediately.
 In the meantime, D. L. McCowan, president of the union, requested the other locals Friday night to resume work. The Beaumont local did so early yesterday, and others were considering what move to make when the Houston local announced their decision to return to their jobs immediately.
 Arbitration will start tomorrow at St. Louis with Walter A. Raymond, Kansas City lawyer, as arbitrator. The Beaumont Enterprise and Journal continued to publish from photo-engraved plates because their AFL printers are striking. Members of the International Stereotypers and Electrotypers union refused to cross picket lines set up by the International Typographical union.
 The strike of bus operators at Beaumont and Port Arthur is in its fourth day, with no announcement of settlement meetings.
 A strike vote of Western Union employees which will affect employees in Galveston and Texas City as well as in Houston will be held within ten days. P. G. Grossholz, vice president of the Houston local, said yesterday. He said the Telephraphers Federal Labor Union (AFL) National had notified him that voting instructions were on the way.

Wildcats Take Pirates, 26-20

LEFORS—(Special)—Highlighted by a sensational scoring duel between Bill Cross, sensational Canadian halfback and Wade Stracener, riant Pirate fullback the Wildcats turned back the Lefors Pirates here Friday night, 26-20.
 Cross raced 70 yards in the final quarter to break a 20-20 tie and give Canadian the victory in a non-conference affair.
 After six minutes of play, Stracener eloped 29 yards to cross the goal line and give Lefors the lead. Cross didn't wait long to go into action. After a Lefors fumble had given Canadian the ball, Cross tore 85 yards down the field and kicked the extra point to give Canadian a 7-6 lead.
 In the second period, Cross charged over from the five to make the score 13-6 and later passed to Webb for another score while Harold Sims was passing to C. H. Keeton, Pirate end, to make the count 20-13 in favor of Canadian at the half.
 Lefors tied it up in the third when Stracener powered over from the six and added the extra point. After a Lefors fumble had given Canadian the ball, Cross tore 85 yards down the field and kicked the extra point to give Canadian a 7-6 lead.

Unknown Team Whips Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—(AP)—The University of Cincinnati Peacocks brought a carload of razzle dazzle to Memorial Stadium today and it paid off with a stunning 15 to 6 upset victory over Indiana university's 1945 Big Ten football champions.
 Fifteen thousand, the largest opening game crowd in Indiana history, saw Coach Ray Nolting's boys score two touchdowns by the aerial route and then add a place kick for good measure. So Cincinnati's Hoosiers were able to cross the line only once when Pete Piles of Indianapolis plunged seven yards to clinch an eighty-yard march down the field. All the touchdowns were made in the second period.

Illinois Roars to Win Over Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The University of Illinois football juggernaut roared into high in the last half yesterday and the Illinois overpowered the inexperienced University of Pittsburgh eleven, 33-7, before about 40,000 fans in the season's opener for both teams. Illinois scoring in the last half after being held to a 7-7 deadlock in the first half.

Chisox Capture 2 From Browns

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox scored four runs in the first inning off Denny Galehouse and coasted to a 9 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the second game of a doubleheader yesterday after chasing across 10 markers in the last three innings to win the opener, 11 to 10.

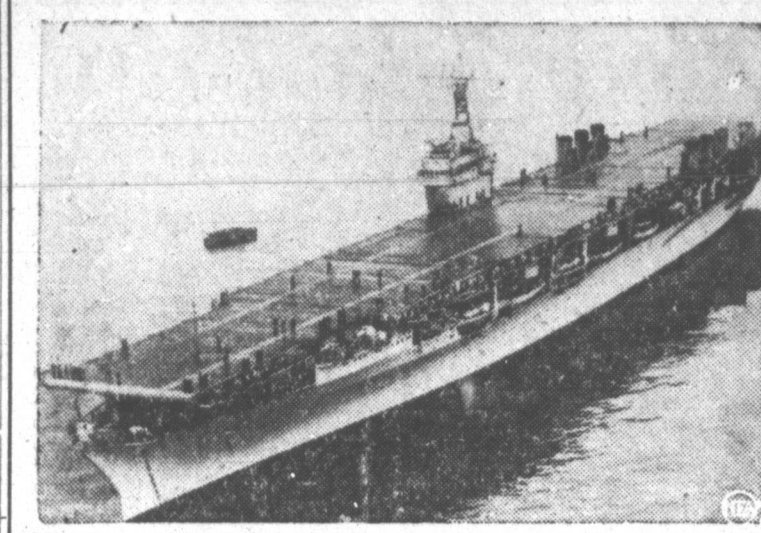

Sub Back Sparks Colorado To Win

BOULDER, Colo.—(AP)—Rangy Don Evans, an overhauled 39-year-old substitute tailback put fire into a sluggish Colorado university football team yesterday in the fading moments of a bruising battle with Iowa state and engineered the touchdown that gave the Buffaloes a 13-7 victory.
 Replacing Maurice "Tex" Reilly, Colorado's triple-threat man who had been able to generate any kind of a scoring drive, Evans led the Buffaloes 71 yards in four plays to the last period score that broke a 7-7 deadlock.

Navy Retires Ranger— The First 'Real' Carrier

First Navy ship built from the keel up as a carrier, the USS Ranger will range no more.

Navy will retire her in favor of a more modern "flattop."
 By NEA Service
 NORFOLK, Va., (NEA)—The commission pennant is coming down from the mast of the USS Ranger, the first U. S. Navy ship built from the keel up as an aircraft carrier.
 She came through World War II without the glory her sister flattops won, without taking a single direct hit, and without seeing much in the way of action. No one thought of her in terms of "fighting lady" or "Big E," but her 700-foot flight deck launched more Naval aviation on their way to war careers than any other ship.
 For a fleeting moment of fame she made headlines as a "ghost ship." That was in 1943, when Hitler decorated one of his U-boat commanders for sinking the Ranger. But the Ranger paid no attention to Hitler's announcement and six months later got little decoration of her own; the U. S. Navy gave her credit for sinking or damaging 40,000 tons of enemy shipping off Bordeaux, Norway.
 She was in the African show, helping round up and guard the tremendous convoy that was assembled virtually in mid-ocean for the invasion that surprised the Axis.
 But the Ranger never got a chance to show her mettle in the Pacific. You'd never get anybody who served aboard her to admit it, but she had aged fast for a ship that was the newest thing in carrier back in 1934, when she was commissioned. Then the 14,500-ton warship showed her heels at 30 knots and flew the flag of many a top-ranking admiral.

 In the uneasy days before the U. S. went into the war, the Ranger was the flagship for the Commander of Aircraft, Atlantic Fleet, and cruised apprehensively in the Caribbean with a wary eye on the French island of Martinique that was owned by a nation the Axis had conquered.
 After Atlantic convoy duty, the foray off Norway and the African invasion, the Ranger moved around to the west coast. There she stayed as a training ship because she wasn't quite fast enough for the new combatant carrier task forces.
 Now a newer ship has taken over her training duties, too. The Ranger has been replaced by the spanking new Saipan, a 27-ton version of the Essex class operating in the Gulf of Mexico and based at Pensacola, the Navy's Annapolis of the air.
 Five other Navy vessels have carried the name Ranger. When this one is decommissioned, only one other pre-war carrier, the Enterprise, will remain afloat.

Convicts Plan for Prison Rodeo in State Penitentiary at Huntsville

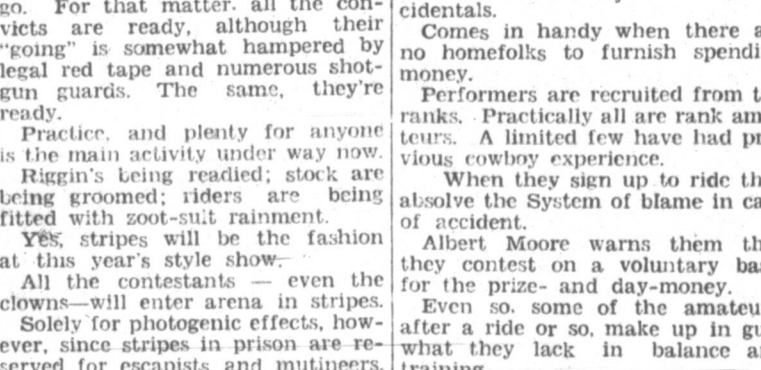

By C. C. SPRINGFIELD
 HUNTSVILLE—For almost a year, some four thousand Texas Prison System inmates have been preparing for their 15th Annual Prison Rodeo.
 Now, they have only to wait for October 1 to see the show. Riggins' being ready, stock are being groomed; riders are being fitted with zoot-suit rainment.
 Yes, stripes will be the fashion at this year's style show.
 All the contestants—even the clowns—will enter arena in stripes. Solely for photogenic effects, however, since stripes in prison are reserved for escapees and mutineers.
 Elbert Moore, director of this 15th Annual Rodeo, says this will be the fastest show yet. He has added 16 Montana bucking horses to his string.
 Bert Stoneover, the head clown, was trounced recently.
 Same trouble as that besetting free-world merchants and entrepreneurs. No help!
 Then came the miracle! Bill Garrett, participant in a dozen shows, returned.
 His conditional pardon had been revoked.
 Garrett says he had it done himself, so that he could see the show from behind the scenes, so to speak.
 W. Albert Lee, of Houston, prison board member and chairman of the rodeo committee, says he has signed up Guadalupe Partido, Charrro (rope) champion of the Republic of Mexico. Partido will bring Valentino, his horse.
 This lad is a top roper, able to lasso ten horses at once.
 The convict band, aided by inmates transferred from other units, is about ready and promises plenty ty of hot licks during the show.

 "Fiddlers" as inmate craftworkers are known behind the walls, are working every spare minute to manufacture novelties for sale at the show.
 Fiddlers are inmate merchant-manufacturers who buy their own leather, silver, semi-precious stones, and other raw goods, and turn out purses, silks, belts, buckles, and an occasional blackjack.
 The novelties are sold throughout the year as well as at the rodeo.
 One inmate said he was "trying to make enough to put his boy through high school."
 Others use their earnings for cigarettes, writing paper and other incidentals.
 Comes in handy when there are no homefolks to furnish spending money.
 Performers are recruited from the ranks. Practically all are rank amateurs. A limited few have had previous cowboy experience.
 When they sign up to ride they also take the system of blame in case of accident.
 Albert Moore warns them that they contest on a voluntary basis for the prize—and day-money.
 Even so, some of the amateurs, after a ride or so, make up in guts what they lack in balance and training.
 One convict, urged to quit after half a dozen training tumbles, shook his head resolutely.
 "What! . . . And have them fellas think I'm yellow? . . . Oh, no! Lemme on that bull."
 As rough as it is, the convicts flock to the bull riding, perhaps because it is so colorful.
 It's truly a "gambol" with death. However, most convicts are gamblers. They gambled on the outside with the law and lost. Inside, they take to the bulls.

Unless an avalanche of goods is permitted to flow into our markets, no law, no policy, no man can prevent rising prices.—Robert R. Watson, president National Association of Manufacturers.

U. S. Navy Plane Crash Reported

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—A U. S. naval plane missing since Friday morning with six persons aboard is reported by the Cordoba police to have crashed near Tecamaluca, 30 miles west of there.
 Captain Padilla of the Mexican air force, stationed at Cordoba, went in a police car to Tecamaluca. There was no direct confirmation of the report.
 The plane, a twin-motored naval craft, attached to the U. S. embassy here, left Friday morning at 9:10 a. m. CST, for Corpus Christi, Texas, intending to refuel at Veracruz. Nothing was heard of the plane and a Mexican air squadron has been searching all day over the mountains between here and the coast.
 U. S. naval authorities withheld names of those aboard until the matter could be reported officially. Among the six was one Mexican naval officer.
 Airport officials here gave the number of the plane as 44608, the pilot's name as clearly and co-pilot R. C. Hill.
 Two U. S. army officers and two Mexican aviation officers left Orizaba early last night to investigate several reports they had received that the plane had crashed in the vicinity of Coscomatepec which might include Tecamaluca and Agua de Oro, another place mentioned in reports of the accident. Because they had no details, the officers said they were uncertain as to the reports but were investigating each one.

 would require Italy's neighbors to respect fundamental human rights in territories obtained from Italy.
 Despite Slav opposition, the amendment was passed 14 to 15. Hitting at statements by Senator Connally (D-Tex) in favor of the proposal, which would apply to areas ceded to Yugoslavia, Greece and France, Yugoslav delegate Ales Dehler said:
 "I don't think Senator Connally would agree to permitting this clause to apply in the United States. There are certain nations here which still make a distinction among citizens because of color and race."
 The American position on the oil clauses for the Romanian treaty was that special provisions for petroleum properties were not needed because such interests already were covered by general clauses on property rights of allied nationals.
 The bloc—Russia, White Russia, Ukraine, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia—in opposing the first two paragraphs in the proposed annex, which was supported by Britain, Greece and France, Yugoslav delegate Ales Dehler said.
 France joined the British bloc on the third paragraph after abstaining on the first two ballots, then switched to the other side on the fourth paragraph, causing in a 7-7 tie. The same deadlock occurred in a vote on the annex as a whole.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(AP)—Women passengers ignored their plea to fill a midwife's role, so three men presided at the emergency delivery of a baby boy on a Puget Sound ferry boat.
 One of the men, Harry A. Cobden, of Berkeley, Calif., described it this way:
 "We were all perspiring quite a bit. It took an hour and a half—and what a relief when it was all over."

Miss Eula Mae Werth and Herbert L. Maynard Are Wed

Miss Eula Mae Werth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Werth, became the bride of Herbert L. Maynard, son of Mrs. Viola Maynard, at the home of the bride's parents at 6:30 p. m., August 21.

Wedding vows were exchanged in a double ring ceremony against a background of gladioli and fern with the Rev. Will Culwell officiating.

Miss Brickley of London, England, Honored With Tea

Mrs. A. H. Doucette entertained with a tea Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 6:00 in her home at 211 N. Frost, announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Mary J. Brickley of Kensington Hardest Square, London, England to Albert P. Doucette, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Doucette.

Receiving guests were Mrs. Doucette, the bride's mother, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. James Gocher, Mrs. Ben Guill, Mrs. Bill Barrett, and Mrs. Charles Madeira.

Mrs. James Gocher presided at the white guest book which was made in the shape of a wedding bell and was edged with a fluted chiffon ruffle. The cover bore a miniature bride.

Accenting the bride's chosen colors, bouquets of blue and white asters were arranged throughout the entertaining rooms. Mrs. Doucette's and Miss Brickley's bouquets were white asters combined with blue chionid fern.

Plano selections throughout the afternoon were given by Ann Jordan, June Gault, Apollonia, Mickey Jean Cassada, Carol Ann Culbertson, Charlotte and Joan Sawyer.

The lace draped table, flanked on either end with tall blue tapers, was centered with a bridal doll attired in a white brocade satin gown and full length veil, a duplicate of the bride-elect's gown.

Favors were white wedding bells tied with blue ribbon, bearing the inscription, "Wedding bells for Mary and Albert, October 5th, 1940 a. m. Presbyterian church."

Mrs. Ben Guill and Mrs. Bill Barrett served at the punch bowl. Refreshments of small white cakes topped with blue flowers were served with punch, mints, and nuts. Sixty guests called during the afternoon.

FASHION LOOKS WESTWARD

Inspired by the Grand Canyon, California designers have created this all-over print of the canyon in vivid reds, golds, purples and pinks on a white background for this full-backed beach coat that tops a chalk-white sun suit.

By NAOMI BLACK
NEA Special Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, (NEA) — With a forward look to the American woman's fashion needs for next spring and summer and a backward glance at the West's most fabulous era, California textile designers take the Santa Fe Trail as the theme for the most spectacular fabric and fashion showing this market has known.

Hand-screened prints comprising 50 designs, created by California Authentics and depicting the various phases of Santa Fe Trail history, were shown on the very rim of the Grand Canyon. Lending themselves readily to textile interpretation were fabrics from famous mills including such textures as one-denier rayon crepe and 70-denier weaves of canton crepe, shantung rayon, superlative novelties and a declasse jersey.

Twenty-four top-name California designers have turned these fabrics into play clothes, casual wear, swim suits, afternoon dresses, teen-age garments, blouses and slacks suits. Flashing through the collection are vibrant colors and unconventional designs. Prints are large and small, closely spaced and widely scattered; layered and bordered. Borders — often 14 inches deep — depict such colorful scenes as the buffalo hunt, a brilliant six-color print of feathered Indian warriors on galloping ponies carrying a but-

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

"I never know what to talk about on dates," wail boys and girls in the mid-teens.

"I never have any trouble with my pals," they explain, "but when I'm on a date, I never can think of anything to say. What can I talk about so I won't look as if I'm not quite bright and feel so embarrassed?"

That's easy. What do you talk about when you chatter with your pals? Forget that your date's a date; think of him or her as one of your friends and talk about the things you usually do. You have dozens of things in common—

Current movies. Favorite screen stars. The best films you've ever seen. Favorite records. Compare notes on the ones you like best. What's on his personal hit parade this week and on yours?

New recordings. What are yours? Has he (or she) any special favorites? If you want to get together again, why not suggest casually that he come and hear some of your records?

Sports. What's his pet? Is he on the team? What was the best game of the season? Probably you have at least one sport in common—swimming, bowling, tennis, skating, etc.

School. Tell him a funny incident that happened in class or a comic, embarrassing moment. Some boys like to discuss their college plans or ambitions. Relay to your date something nice you've heard about her or him. This always perks up the conversation and makes each one pick up on the

Junior High P-TA Holds Meeting

The Junior High Parent-Teacher association met Thursday in the Junior high auditorium for the first meeting of the year.

Mrs. Huey Laycock, president, called the meeting to order and introduced Mrs. H. C. Wielder, program chairman, who in turn introduced Mrs. R. W. Tucker. Mrs. Tucker presented the devotional using "The Parent-Teacher Association, the Link between the School and the Home," as her theme. Mrs. Wielder also introduced Miss Mari-bell Hazard who led the group in singing two numbers. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Eloise Lane.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan, hospitality chairman, conducted a get-acquainted game with Mrs. R. J. Warrell winning the prize. After the game, tea and cake were served. Mrs. K. E. Thornton presided at the punch bowl and was assisted by Mrs. Hugh Ellis.

Mrs. Lena Hood's room won the attendance award.

Schafer Club Meets At Home of Mrs. Barker

The Schafer club met in the home of Mrs. Perl Barker Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Lawrence Johnson acting as co-hostess. After the business meeting, each guest received a gift from her secret pal, and names of pals were revealed.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream, and coffee were served to the following guests: Mrs. Claude Gray, Mrs. James Masteller, Mrs. Ben Wesner, Mrs. Wayne Anderson, Violet Dunham, Pearl Genett, Mrs. Russell Veal, Vanice McCallister, Mrs. L. Barrett, Mrs. Lloyd Wells, Mrs. Ray Carr, Mrs. Lucile Harmon, Neta Parks, Mrs. Johnnie Wilson, Mrs. Loyd Cowart, Mrs. George L. Gordon, Mrs. J. F. Glisson, Mrs. E. A. Masey, and Mrs. J. H. Lamb.

To Be or Not To Be a Career Wife

By DR. CLIFFORD R. ADAMS
Author of the book "How to Pick a Mate" and Director of the Marriage Counseling Service, Pennsylvania State College

Millions of young wives and engaged girls right now are trying to decide whether to abandon or continue their careers after marriage. The problem is acute now because most new husbands are veterans or former war workers who are taking up careers anew and still are not too certain of their own future.

Consequently a new wife is tempted to hang on to her job "a little longer." But what are the hazards?

First let me say that vocational experiences in itself is not bad for a girl. In fact it is very helpful if a bride has had some career before marriage. Surveys have shown that when the new wife has had no career where she earned money before marriage she makes a poorer adjustment than the girl who has had a job particularly if it has been skilled office work.

Brides who have worked know something about job responsibilities. They are more appreciative of getting their husband to work on time. They are more concerned about seeing that the husband gets his sleep and is encouraged to do a good job.

On the other hand a girl considering a career after marriage should face the fact that career wives on the whole are distinctly less happy than wives who make homemaking their main career. One study of working wives has shown that while less than one-half of the career wives interviewed considered themselves happily married, more than half of those that did not work (85 percent) were happy. To my mind there are three factors that make careers dangerous for wives:

1. Most husbands don't really like to have their wives work. It detracts from their own feelings of mastery. Several hundred men students at Penn State were asked if they were willing for their wives to work after marriage. Only 12 percent felt that it would be all right.
2. Most young wives want to work, not because the husband's income is not sufficient for subsistence but simply because they cannot have the luxuries and ex-

Lefors and Its People

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lessert of Borger were in Lefors Wednesday visiting with Mrs. Lessert's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Hilton, and other friends.

Mrs. Marvin Cooper is a patient in the Worley hospital at Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sims of Lefors were shopping in Pampa Thursday.

Mrs. Clifton Cook of Fort Worth was a visitor in the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. D. Fulcher, this week. The Fulchers on Thursday were called to Sanger, Texas, to be at the bedside of Mrs. Fulcher's mother, who is reported seriously ill.

same friends who share the interests of both.

Whatever the case, a wife who undertakes a job in addition to home-making will lessen the dangers of trouble if she:

- ... Reaches a friendly understanding with her husband that she should work.
- ... Treats all the money she earns as a part of the common budget and regards the money as "our" money and not "my" money.
- ... Reaches an understanding with her husband that she is to work only for a definite period of time, preferably not to exceed three years if they are not in the same work.

tra comforts they want... because they do not want children... because they want to be independent financially. None of these states of mind is conducive to marriage happiness.

3. The working wife is likely to try to do too much, with the result that she skimps on her home-work and becomes irritable, fatigued and uncompanionable. Home-making is a definite and—if there are any children—a full-time career in itself.

Few women stop to think what a true home-maker is. She is a physician when the husband or child is ailing—she is an interior decorator—she must be a dietitian and seamstress—she must be a good teacher—she must be an expert at merchandizing because she will spend well over four-fifths of the family income.

While, generally speaking, post-marital careers are unfavorable to happiness, there seems to be one definite exception. If the man and wife are in the same work, can work together, or can share their work activities they have so many interests in common they wouldn't have otherwise that they usually are happy. Both are likely to have the same friends, friends who share the Attention!

We are sorry but we can no longer reserve Nylons for our customers. Our system of "informal rationing" must be discontinued.

Our policy regarding Nylons therefore, will hereafter be to place them in the shelves as they arrive, to be sold directly over the counter to our customers—of course with quantities reasonably limited in order to serve as many as possible.

Under the circumstances, we believe it will be agreed that this method of distributing a scarce article comes as near being fair to everyone as any that can be devised.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By TOM REEDY
 FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)—The army's slogan writers are going steadily away, trying to keep pace in the race with death. They have tried everything; they have appealed to fear, to humor, to a man's sense of the practical. Nothing seems to do any good. Thirty-four Americans were killed in highway accidents in Germany during August. This month of September doesn't promise anything better. This is why the slogan writers weep. Each month the slogans get better each month the signs along the "autobahn" get bigger; each month the death toll rises. These slogans written by American army men actually are more compelling than the old-fashioned "stop, look and listen." Top dog of all is the familiar: "Death is so permanent; drive carefully." You see that one everywhere. It has become almost a byword in Germany, so much so that you see it written on billboards in German. It is the oldest of all the slogans designed to save a life in the ETO. But it wasn't enough. Now you see—"Take care, repair, get there." In Weisbaden, the pin-up idea came into being, there is a big sign with the portrait of a shapely lass doffing her steppins. The theme: "That's right, Bud, take another look. You'll crack up." At Ingolstadt, they drew a skull and crossbones with the ominous legend: "Three lost their lives here." The answer: "Transport in Europe is a fragile thing. The vehicles are falling apart, the roads are indescribably bad. Service on old beaten-up cars is a joke. No parts are available. There are drivers who never should be allowed to drive at all. They have no idea what a jeep will or will not do; what a bad road means, what a tough curve on slippery macadam can yield. There will continue to be a life lost every day until good cars, good service stations, and good roads are combined with good drivers."

Awards Are Made At University

AUSTIN—(AP)—Fellowship and scholarship awards totaling $9,425 were approved yesterday by the University of Texas board of regents. The awards go to nine University of Texas graduate and undergraduate students for research and study during the academic year now beginning. Harold Schmidt of Austin received the largest individual award, a $2,100 fellowship given annually by the national gasoline association of America for research by a graduate student in chemistry. Others receiving endowments included: Ernest G. Long, California, a $1,000 fellowship from the Pan American refining company for research in chemical engineering. Miss Frances Edna Brewster, Arkansas Pass, $425 from the E. D. Farmer international scholarship fund for study at the University of Mexico. Porter L. Pickard, Port Arthur, the $1,000 General Anallie fellowship for research in organic chemistry. Miss Donna Clark, Blossom, a $200 scholarship from the Texas society, Daughters of the American revolution.

J. Wade Duncan Will Manage Duncan Estate

J. Wade Duncan, well-known former resident of Pampa, but for the past 15 years a rancher in Wheeler county, tomorrow will assume management of the Duncan estate here, it was announced yesterday. Duncan, one of the three sons of the late J. N. Duncan, first mayor of Pampa, will have offices in the Duncan building. He said Saturday he would be in the real estate and cattle commission business, and that he planned to make his permanent home here with his family. They will reside at 1013 Charles St. The J. N. Duncan family moved to Pampa in 1906. The late Mr. Duncan, in addition to being the first mayor, set up the first hardware store here. He is said to have built most of the brick buildings seen in downtown Pampa.

TUCC To Weed Out Group of Chiselers

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Texas unemployment compensation commission today announced the organizing of a fraud unit "to weed a small group of chiselers out of the veterans' allowance program." Tom D. Hyder, employer representative member of TUCC and a former sergeant, said that the fraud unit's investigators are at work in three Texas cities this week. Hyder disclosed that TUCC examiners have uncovered some cases where veterans had been working full time but claiming unemployment allowances. He said they had also found a few instances where apparently the former servicemen were claiming self-employment payments when not self-employed. When knowledge of an alleged violation is received by the commission, payments to the veteran are

IT'S BETTER TO SPLIT THE PARTY THAN TO LOSE THE PEACE OF THE WORLD

Surely there could be no truer words applicable to the cabinet crisis through which the administration has just gone than those to the effect that a house divided against itself cannot stand.

When one takes an objective and retrospective view of that crisis, he comes to some pretty certain conclusions. Regardless of the many imperfections there may be in the foreign policy—indeed, if there is anything in it at all we may agree with—we necessarily realize the President was right when he fired Wallace. Proclaiming a foreign policy diametrically opposed to that practiced by Byrnes at Paris, Wallace could not have done a better job by setting the stage for an irrevocable showdown.

For Byrnes to have continued as the foreign minister with an unsubdued and unrepentant Wallace in the same cabinet would have been the pinnacle of instability.

Weighing the results of what happened, we must conclude that the President undoubtedly acted wisely—but, his decision was too slow in coming, and the events that led to the controversy were altogether unnecessary. In the first place, he surely did not read the message which Wallace prepared for delivery and took the chief executive's office. Knowing Wallace for the dissension he has caused in the past, the President should certainly have scrutinized the message.

Once the message was delivered, Wallace, in our opinion, should have gone out of office with no further ceremony.

The whole row—although serving to unseat a very suspicious member of the cabinet—has done this country no good. The part the United States plays at the peace conference is beyond the comprehension of most of us; we won't see the real importance until it is pointed out by the historians. It is possible that the welfare of a civilization still unborn hinges on the part played by the U. S.

Let's hope the "house" is no longer divided within itself. Let's hope its structures are conceived in the high purposes of the Constitution of our land, and that the virtues of those high purposes may be transmuted, at Paris, to other peoples.

The firing of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce will most certainly cause a split in the democratic party. But, as we see it, that is nothing compared with the peace of the world.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Producer William Cagney started casting this week on the film version of Thorne Smith's fantasy "The Stray Lamb."

Jimmy Cagney plays the Irish magician who turns the leading man into three different animals.

As if he hasn't enough problems, Bill has been bothered by a persistent agent who can't get the other day to report a new find.

"He's terrific—he's colossal," the agent enthused. "He looks like Gable, sings like Sinatra and dances like Astaire."

"Sorry," deadpanned Bill. "I need an actor who looks like a horse, barks like a dog, and hops like a kangaroo."

Promised and hoped for: Paulette Goddard singing the old railroad favorite, "The Wreck of the Old 97," for a scene in "A Miracle Can Happen."

Loren Tuttle, Hollywood's top feminine radio actress, turned down another film contract.

Aside to music publishers: Two Hollywood models, Carol Dumber and Betty Nance, have written a swaggle tune, "Comes Daybreak, JAP JIVE PALACE."

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Wallace issue has resulted in a good deal of bandying about of the phrase "get tough with Russia" which was discussed by the secretary of commerce in the explosive Madison Square Garden speech that now has resulted in his resignation from the cabinet.

Mr. Wallace employed that expression when he declared that the United States in dealing with the Soviet Union was reckoning with a force which cannot be handled successfully by a "get tough with Russia" policy. He said that "the tougher we go, the tougher the Russians will get."

Such colorful representations (and they are far from being merely to hear much more about this one. It therefore should be noted now—and well—that the United States government never has proclaimed a "get tough with Russia" policy. What it has done is to lay down a firm policy of firmness—and in any language there's a lot of difference between toughness and firmness.

Fortunately there is in this middle course of firmness, Uncle Sam doesn't have to choose between a "tough" foreign policy and a "soft" one. He can have both. He can be "tough" because these are our days—and British Prime Minister Chamberlain demonstrated conclusively in 1938 that appeasement as policy doesn't pay.

As a matter of fact, the last thing in the world which Moscow would appreciate would be a "soft" policy. Russia isn't soft itself and despises softness in others. The Soviet deals in direct action, and respects nothing less.

Therefore Uncle Sam's policy is one of firmness, which he adapts to the circumstances in which he finds himself. Unhappily the circumstances frequently are difficult because the Russians are distrustful of America. They regard the United States the keystone of capitalism—another name for communism.

That's why a lot of observers think Winston Churchill was holding down a rain-barrel at Zurich before yesterday when he urged a partnership between France and Germany as the first step in creating a United States of Europe whose "friends and sponsors" would include both Russia and America.

Europe is divided into two camps—the Moscow-dominated Slav bloc and the western countries. It will remain so until the suspicions are removed between Moscow and the "capitalistic" nations.

So the present task is to engender a feeling of trust between the two divisions—for the distrust is on both sides. Unhappily there is an excellent medium through which to work the United Nations.

The Big Three—America, Russia and Britain—all have reiterated their faith in the UN as a peace organization within recent months. There's only one thing to do, and that is to keep on feeding the major problems to the UN to be ironed out.

The Big Three—America, Russia and Britain—all have reiterated their faith in the UN as a peace organization within recent months. There's only one thing to do, and that is to keep on feeding the major problems to the UN to be ironed out.

That's why a lot of observers think Winston Churchill was holding down a rain-barrel at Zurich before yesterday when he urged a partnership between France and Germany as the first step in creating a United States of Europe whose "friends and sponsors" would include both Russia and America.

Europe is divided into two camps—the Moscow-dominated Slav bloc and the western countries. It will remain so until the suspicions are removed between Moscow and the "capitalistic" nations.

So the present task is to engender a feeling of trust between the two divisions—for the distrust is on both sides. Unhappily there is an excellent medium through which to work the United Nations.

Panhandle Briefs

All Collingsworth county farmers who will need help in gathering their cotton crop and who are depending upon migratory Mexican labor for such work have been asked to notify County Agent J.W. Thomas at once, according to a notice in the Wellington Leader.

The county agent needs to know the names of those wanting workers, the housing facilities, and the number of acres that each has to be pulled.

Miss Ruth Anderson of Wellington has entered the Union Theological Seminary in New York City to take a special course in school directorship.

Miss Anderson is on a year's leave from her work as principal of Colegio Americano, a school for girls in Forte Allegre, Brazil.

Nine Carson county 4-H club members and leaders have returned from College Station where they spent a week of educational and recreational activity. The group made a complete tour of the campus looking at all of the departments. The handicraft exhibit was enjoyed by the girls and the boys enjoyed the purebred livestock exhibit. The fashion review showing the state winners of the girls' clothing climaxed the club members' meetings.

W. E. Foglesong will head the next and final USO campaign in Roberts county, according to an announcement made last week by Governor Stevenson.

Stevenson said, "We feel particularly fortunate to enlist Mr. Foglesong in this final USO drive for funds. Our state quota of $800,000 will be reached with similar top leadership in all of Texas' 254 counties."

The 4-H Club Pig Show, which is sponsored by the Sears, Roebuck Foundation, will be held in Spearman at 2 p. m. Sept. 26.

The eight girls and one boar to be shown were awarded by the Foundation to several boys. At the close of the show, Dr. E. A. Grist, extension veterinarian, will give a demonstration on the vaccination of pigs with BTV.

More than 700 students have enrolled for this scholastic year in the Canadian public schools, setting a new record and throwing a terrific burden on the incomplete staff.

Supt. Deane D. Fletcher has arranged, beginning Monday, to split lower grade classes, having half the students attend three hours in the morning and half three hours in the afternoon, instead of five hours during the day. It was felt that better schooling could be given classes of 20 pupils in three hours than could be given classes of 40 pupils in five hours.

County Health Officer Roy A. Webb of Pampa spoke at the McLean Lions club meeting Tuesday on the county sanitation project. County Sanitary Inspector Howard Laycock also spoke at the meeting. A report was also made on the Boy Scout program fostered by the club.

Plans for a large community center including fair grounds, baseball diamonds, race track, rodeo arena, and plenty of space for automobile parking are in the making for Perryton and Ochiltree county.

Representatives of interested organizations met in the county court house on Wednesday, Sept. 11, to discuss ways and means of developing the center in accordance with a master plan drawn up by the Texas A. and M. College Extension service.

At the meeting it was decided to develop the center and keep it non-partisan in its activities. Seven men were selected at this initial meeting to form a temporary board for the purpose of drawing up a constitution and by-laws for the proposed association.

The Ochiltree Red Cross chapter voted at a meeting last week to donate $100 to the Veterans hospital at Amarillo, the money to be used to buy recreation equipment for the veteran patients.

Judge Jack Allen said last week that 61 cases had been disposed of during this term of four weeks in the 84th District Court of Carson county, including those handled during vacation. He believes the docket will be in good shape for the January term, which it is expected will have several jury trials.

All veterans of Donley county who are farming, who are working as clerks, salesmen, mechanics, or any other similar type of work, and who are interested in the vocational training program for veterans are invited to attend a meeting in the College auditorium Tuesday night in Clarendon.

This meeting is for all veterans in Donley county who are in the above listed professions and who are interested in participating in the vocational program which will require approximately 42 hours per month and will pay the veteran $65 to $80 per month depending upon whether or not he is married.

Jimmy Blasdel of Wheeler, walked off with a lion's share of the honors in the Shamrock Dairy Day show held last Saturday. Although muddy roads cut down the number of entries to a fraction of advance registrations the type stock exhibited was praised by judges.

Blasdel earned one of the four blue ribbons in classification events, plus two of the three red ribbons. Another Blasdel entry was adjudged the "highest scoring animal in competition."

Randall County Commissioner Clarence Beckham has returned from Austin where he attended a meeting of the State Highway commission at which time the proposed Anton to Umberger road was discussed. There were representatives from all counties through which the proposed highway will run.

The heaviest rain in several months fell in the Panhandle last Wednesday night and Thursday morning. The Groom area received a thorough soaking with precipitation measuring one and five-eighths inches in town and up to three inches in other parts of the community.

Plans for the Deaf Smith county exhibit at the State Fair in Dallas are moving along nicely, according to E. B. Posey, manager of the Hereford chamber of commerce.

Posey urged all persons who have subscribed to the exhibit fund and who have not yet paid their pledges to do so as soon as possible; and invited all persons who plan to contribute to the fund to call at the chamber of commerce.

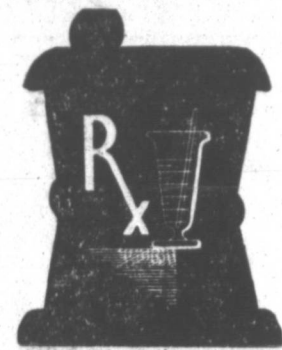

Peppers, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, and other small vegetables grown in this county are still needed for exhibition.

Hardwoods are so plentiful in Nigeria, Africa, that mahogany planks are used in boardwalks and to cover mudholes.

NEW APPROACH
MANHATTAN, Kans. — (AP) — A Kansas State college freshman rented a tandem bicycle, got on alone and pedaled away. A few minutes later he reappeared with a sign attached to the vacant seat seat reading:

"Help wanted, female."
The promotion worked. He came back later with a comely blonde providing half the leg work.

In 1856, paper was made from corn stalks.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET STOCKS NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The stock market went into another tailspin during the past week—its sixth successive weekly relapse—but finished with a good all-around rally. From Aug. 15, quoted values on the stock exchange suffered a decline of approximately $15,000,000. There were only nine intervening come-backs.

On the week the Associated Press 60-stock composite recorded a net loss of 2.4 points at 123.5. Volume for the five days totaled 10,687,820 shares compared with 12,722,500 the week before.

Railroad bonds nosedived in this week's market in the severest decline for any similar period since May, 1940.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

(USDA)—Cattle: Compared last week: all slaughter classes steady to strong, stockers and feeders strong to unevenly higher. Week's top: good beef steers and yearlings 18.00, grass steers 16.50, cows 14.00, bulls 12.50, heavyweight calves 17.50, medium weight calves 17.00, heifer calves 16.50, week's bulk: good and good slaughter steers and yearlings 15.00-17.50, medium and good cows 10.50-12.50, cullage and yearlings 10.00-12.00, choice killing calves 11.00-12.00, common and medium 11.00-14.00, good and choice stocker and feeder steers, yearlings and calves 15.00-16.50, common and medium 11.50-14.00, stocker cows 10.00-10.00 in range of 7.50-11.50. Hogs—compared week ago: all weights and grades steady; practically all weights including sows and stags for slaughter 19.50, the ceiling.

FORT WORTH GRAIN

Wheat No. 1 hard 2.09-2.12. Barley No. 2 1.35-1.57 nominal. Oats No. 3 white 30 1/2-31 1/2. Sorghums No. 2 yellow nilo per 100 pounds 2.92-2.95.

CHICAGO GRAIN

(Practical) all the interest in the grain market today was centered in the expiring September oats contract, which expired sharply in the closing minutes as previous short-sellers endeavored to cover their commitments. The contract was up 5 cents, the daily limit. Wheat was firm and corn about steady with trading quiet in those pits.

Open interest in September oats at the start of today's trading totaled 2,742,000 bushels. Cash dealers announced purchases on a to-arrive basis totaled 140,000 bushels immediately prior to the market's close. September oats closed at 35 1/2¢, up 5 cents. All remaining open contracts will have to be settled by the delivery or actual grain on or before the last business day of this month.

Deferred oats contracts were 1/2¢ lower to 1/2¢ higher, November 75 1/2¢, wheat was 1/2¢ higher, January closing at $1.99 1/2 after reaching $2.00, corn was unchanged to 1/2¢ lower, January $1.37 1/2-4¢.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

(USDA)—Cattle 200; calves 50; compared with Friday last week: grain fed steers and heifers weak to 25 lower; grassers steady; beef cows weak to 25 lower; bulls, yearlings and calves steady; most medium and good beef steers 17.00-19.25; good and choice fed heifers and good yearlings 16.00-18.50; medium and good cows 11.00-14.00; good and choice yearlings and calves 15.00-17.50. Hogs none; compared Friday last week unchanged at ceiling levels.

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Cotton futures were irregular here today, due to week-end covering. The market closed barely steady, 40 cents a bale lower to 15 cents.

NIGHTMARES AMONG THE HORSES

TOWSON, Md.—(AP)—James M. Vaughan, Baltimore county board of commissioners secretary, has been called out of bed at many odd hours to receive messages and complaints but the latest—at 3:30 a. m.—had him baffled.

"Send your vans to the railroad station and pick up a carload of race horses just in from Saratoga, N. Y.," the voice on the other end said.

Vaughan finally convinced the caller, an express clerk that he was not B. Frank Christmas, Monkton, Md., horse owner and trainer.

Med School Will Continue Same AUSTIN—(AP)—The University of Texas board of regents announced yesterday it has ordered continuation of the medical school without change of current operations of the university's medical school and its branches until the legislature can make necessary budget adjustments.

In a statement for the press, university President T. E. Painter, Dean C. D. Leake of the medical branch and Regent Chairman D. K. Woodward, Jr., declared they had made a careful analysis of operations at the medical branch during the current biennium before deciding on this course.

"Gratifying progress has been made during this period in research, in teaching, and generally in broadening and strengthening the field of the medical branch," the statement said. "Its standards have been constantly improved until it now occupies its rightful place among the leading medical schools of the country. No effort will be spared to accomplish continuous improvement in the future to the end that Texas may have a medical school second to none."

The statement noted that prices and labor costs have appreciably increased since the school's budget for the current biennium was prepared in 1944. It was proposed to take the matter before the 50th legislature immediately upon its organization.

In the interval, the statement declared, the medical school will continue to provide "nothing less than the best of training and research in the field of medicine."

The dominant note in the world a year after World War I was hope and confidence. Today it is fear and frustration. One year after the first World War we had signed the peace. Today there is no peace.
