

Foreign Policy Showdown Expected Today as Truman and Wallace Meet

WASHINGTON—AP—President Truman went into a round of conferences with state department officials today in advance of an expected foreign policy showdown with Henry A. Wallace during the afternoon.

The president was reported by top administration sources to have decided to tell Secretary Wallace that he must quit talking about American foreign policy or get out of the cabinet.

Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, who tried to head off Wallace's be-more-gentle-with-Russia speech of last Thursday, was scheduled to see the President twice before the secretary of commerce arrived at the White House.

Bernard Baruch, administration adviser on atomic policy, was on the White House calling list with Clayton at noon. Earlier, Clayton and Assistant Secretary of State Donald Russell had a 15 minute session with Mr. Truman.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters he did not know whether either or both of the conferences dealt with the Wallace situation. Wallace was due at the White House at 2:30 p. m. (CST).

Less than 24 hours earlier he made public—without Mr. Truman's approval—a letter he wrote the chief executive last July urging that this country agree to "reasonable Russian guarantees of security" even at the risk of "appeasement" cries.

"We have little to lose," Wallace said in calling for a "shift in some of our thinking about international matters."

The letter, which Mr. Truman simply acknowledged and passed on to Secretary of State Byrnes, proposed a long list of moves Wallace said should improve American-Russian relations.

Among them was definite treaty pledge for the eventual destruction of America's store of atomic bombs and a reassessment of this country's military as well as foreign policies to avert what Wallace described as the danger of a third world war.

The President specifically "disapproved" release of the letter for general publication on the grounds that his approval might misconstrue aboard as applying to its contents as well.

But the decision—reversing an earlier one by White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross—came too late. Copies had been distributed among reporters at the commerce department after it had been learned that a columnist was about to make the document public.

Thus it broke into print as the week-old cabinet drama moved toward this afternoon's climax act in Mr. Truman's office.

Whether Wallace would choose to keep his position in silence or get out and fight for the foreign policy he believes America should have was his own secret for the moment. But at last some of those close to him expressed belief he would elect to get out rather than be gagged.

Swiftly, these other details were learned from top administration officials:

1. Wallace, already at work on his scheduled September 24 speech at Providence, R. I., hoped last night to have it ready to take to the conference with the President. His plan to seek Presidential approval of this address evidently was made without knowledge of Mr. Truman's decision for a showdown on his cabinet status.

2. The President is deeply concerned about the effect abroad of Wallace's foreign policy declarations, fearful lest other governments might begin to act on the assumption that this government is split over its relations with Russia.

3. Through Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, who conferred with him late yesterday, Mr. Truman has sent a message to Byrnes at Paris thanking for his forbearance and understanding throughout the Wallace controversy. Byrnes has maintained strict silence.

4. Mr. Truman's stated approval—later withdrawn—of Wallace's New York speech last Thursday which

SEAPORT ACTIVITIES PICK UP

By The Associated Press

A ripple of activity stirred the nation's waterfronts today, due to release of AFL - Manned ships and foreign vessels from CIO picket lines, but the bulk of America's maritime fleet still was anchored fast by the 14-day-old seaman's strike.

The situation in New York—the nation's No. 1 port—was typical.

The U. S. Maritime Commission said 432 ships were in port. Longshoremen were at work on 82 of these, 22 were American and the others of foreign registry.

Nearly 1,000 French seamen, caught in the strike as they came to the United States to return a number of recently purchased liberty ships to France, announced today they would go to work until the national maritime union (CIO) wins its wage demands.

The 1,000 members of the world federation of trade unions which numbers the CIO among its affiliates.

Both union leaders and ship owners appeared to be sitting tight, waiting for Washington to do something about arbitrating the dispute.

NMU President Joseph Curran asked President Truman for help Sunday night. West Coast leaders appealed to the White House for relief from the stalemate yesterday.

Talks were broken off Sunday night when the operators demanded that security watches be returned to the struck vessels. The NMU had withdrawn the watches earlier in the week.

City Will Build New Fire Truck

Purchase of a new Ford fire truck chassis was approved yesterday by the city commission and the city will ask for bids to build the new truck in the near future.

The truck, which will be equipped with a Chrysler pump with a 500-gallon per minute capacity, will be built according to the city's own specifications.

Three trucks, a 1941 Ford and two American-La France makes, are now being operated by the city, although one of the American-La France trucks is not considered adequate for the city's needs.

Other business transacted yesterday included the acceptance of the resignation of Glen Ragsdale from the plumber's examining board and the appointment of W. M. Lane to replace him.

Ragsdale resigned his position due to duties that would prevent his participating in board meetings. Re-zoning of Frederick street was also discussed but no action was taken. It has been proposed that the street, now in a residential zone, be changed to a semi-commercial zone with restrictions on the types of business to be located there.

The commission also approved the lease of offices for the railroad commission in the city hall for another year.

Students and Traffic Safety

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—AP—With schools starting everywhere here are some things to remember about traffic.

Children between the ages of 5 to 14 are, and have been for a long time, setting a better safety record than their older brothers and sisters.

There are a couple of reasons for that. The 5-14 group gets safety instructions in school; motorists get plenty of warnings to slow down when approaching their schools.

It's different with the youths on both sides of the 15-24 group. It's in that age that they begin driving autos and comparatively few get the idea of safety drilled into them.

Labor Activity Is on Increase

Labor activity has been on a steady increase through this month. L. P. Fort, manager of the U. S. Employment service local office, announced today.

The organization plans to organize a ladies auxiliary at the next meeting.

Episcopal Bishop Is Named for This Area

The Rev. George H. Quarterman, rector of St. Andrew's parish in Amarillo, has been named by the Protestant Episcopal church in the U. S. A. to the post of Bishop of North Texas, according to word received this morning by the Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw of the local church.

The Rev. Quarterman, named during the church's 55th Triennial convention being held in Philadelphia, will fill a vacancy created a year ago by the retirement due to the illness of Bishop Cecil Seaman.

The new Bishop was formerly rector in Ardmore, Okla., until January, 1946, when he moved to Amarillo.

Porter Asking Restoration of Dairy Ceilings

WASHINGTON—AP—OPA Chief Paul Porter today urged the price control board to restore price ceilings on all dairy products.

Porter said that a report on retail and wholesale prices and supplies of milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products to the board as it met to decide the future of dairy products now free from ceiling.

The figures show, Porter told the board, that dairy product prices are now generally above the level of former June 30 ceilings plus subsidies.

He added that the prices of cheese, butter and other manufactured products "indicate a trend which, if continued, will in a very short time lead to a general price level substantially and dangerously above the level of former ceilings plus subsidy."

It was the second time in a month that the question of dairy product prices came before the group granted final authority by congress to impose or remove price ceilings.

At the time of its most recent decision last August 20, the board allowed dairy products to remain free of the price curbs that had expired June 30 along with OPA.

Chairman Roy L. Thompson noted that milk had gone up about 3 cents a quart since June 30 but that about two cents of this was due to the end of government subsidy payments. He said butter prices were "not far out of line."

But Thompson cautioned that "if dairy products move upward from here on out, this board can and will put the industry back under control."

The agriculture department's milk section announced last night that a study of retail milk prices in 25 representative cities showed an average increase of about 3.4 cents a quart since May, or a gain of only four tenths of a cent since the de-control board's decision last month.

Hixon was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner E. T. Duff. Hixon waived preliminary hearing after where he was arrested Friday night.

Archbishop Held For Collaboration

BEI GRADE—AP—Premier Marshal Tito's government announced today the arrest of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac on a charge of "crimes against the people" and provision for trying him with 19 prisoners already before a court.

Stepinac heads the Roman Catholic church in Yugoslavia. The government said he was arrested in Zagreb.

The public prosecutor obtained a seven-day postponement in the trial of the 178—who include 12 priests—on charges of war crimes and collaboration in order to prepare an indictment against Stepinac so he could be placed in the dock with them.

The main defendant in the trial is Col. Eric Lisak, who was chief of the security police of Gen. Draja Mihailovic, recently executed.

Lisak is charged with organizing terrorist Ustachi bands under the name of "Crusaders."

The archbishop's arrest was believed to have resulted from testimony allegedly linking the archbishop with the Ustachi. The government did not announce details.

Three Injured In Collision On Highway 66

Three persons yesterday afternoon were seriously injured in a head-on crash-up between a Greyhound bus and a 1941 Chevrolet sedan driven by Harry Brenner, 26, Brooklyn, N. Y., on route 66 13 miles west of Alamogordo.

State Highway Patrolmen, investigating the accident, stated that the wreck occurred on a fog-shrouded stretch when the bus, traveling east, attempted to turn out to avoid the Chevrolet. The bus came abreast the car, the Chevrolet sedan came out of the fog colliding with the Greyhound head on. The patrolmen said they towed the sedan to be wrecked beyond repair.

The injured were taken to Groom hospital by the Womack ambulance, and in an unconscious condition.

Most seriously injured was Miss Cornelia Elizabeth Brown, 18, possible internal injuries, severe lacerations, and a fractured leg. She was given a blood transfusion and a slight chance to survive. However, this morning she had responded to treatment, according to Dr. Witt at the hospital. Miss Brown was a passenger in the Chevrolet sedan.

Others injured were: William Ralph Bennett, severe lacerations of the face and head and concussion of brain and possible fracture of the ribs; and Harry Brenner, driver of the sedan, received lacerations of the forehead and left eyelid and is expected to be discharged from the hospital within a few days. Dr. Witt said.

Several passengers of the bus, including a child, were slightly injured. Highway patrolmen said.

'Trouble Spots' Showing Up in Old Dust Bowl

WASHINGTON—AP—Whipped by winds and burned by drought, parts of the old dust bowl are beginning to show new trouble spots.

This report, brought back to Washington today by a soil conservation service survey party, placed the actual trouble zones in Texas and New Mexico. In addition, the party found a considerable threat to the land in the dry-farm areas of eastern Colorado.

Fortions of this same country were harried by a dust storm a year ago which blew fine top soil as far as the eastern seaboard.

Here is a picture of the survey party's findings as outlined to a reporter by James A. Smith, information chief for the soil conservation service.

In western Texas near Brownsville there is a serious "blow" condition because the area was struck by its worst drought since 1917 and the sandy soil has been left largely exposed by cotton and sorghum cropping.

In the estancia valley of central New Mexico, two-year drought has left some land practically a desert and this, too, is a small "dust bowl." The land was plowed up for beans, and when the drought hit it blanch of the dry-land areas of eastern and southeastern Colorado are ripening for a windy harvest, because hundreds of thousands of acres of glassland were put into wind by the war.

This region, where some of the country's worst dust storms occurred in the 30's, has had above-average rain this year.

Florida Senator Dies in Hospital

WASHINGTON—AP—Senator Charles O. Andrews (D-Fla.) died today of a heart attack at naval hospital.

Andrews had come to the hospital last week for a physical checkup. His home was in Orlando.

A former member of the Florida state supreme court, he was elected to the senate in 1936 and re-elected in 1940.

The senator, who was 69, did not seek re-election in 1944, but had planned to remain in Washington until the 80th congress convened in January.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Margaret Andrews, and three sons. Andrews began his political career in 1903 as a bill clerk in the Florida state senate. He later served as judge of the criminal court of records in Walton county, Florida, and from 1912 to 1919 was an assistant state attorney general.

From 1919 to 1925 he was a circuit judge, and in 1927 served in the state legislature. He served on a state supreme court commission from 1929 to 1932.

Southwest Is Threatened by Telephone Halt

By The Associated Press

Houston telephone workers walking off the job to attend a continuous meeting today in a dispute over seniority, brought the number of major strikes in Texas to two, while a transportation strike and an electrical strike loomed.

Already on strike at Texas ports were members of the National Maritime Union (CIO).

Printers struck last midnight at the Enterprise company in Beaumont publisher of the Beaumont Enterprise and Evening Journal. The newspaper was published from engravings the afternoon as a four-page paper.

D. L. McCowan, president of the Southwest Telephone Workers union, predicted in St. Louis, Mo., that the Texas dispute would spread throughout the southwest.

The walkout was to protest the action of the company in promoting two employees, while, according to the union, three employees with greater seniority were equally capable of holding the jobs.

The continuous meeting of the telephone workers held behind closed doors with neither reporters nor photographers admitted.

Mrs. Jewell Whately, vice-president of the Southwest Texas district for the union, said no formal action was taken at the first session. A recess was held at 10 a. m.

Telephone company executives manned the switchboards for emergency calls. The walkout greatly curtailed long distance and interstate calls. Dial telephone service was not interrupted.

The maritime union, striking for pay raises equal to those recently approved for AFL maritime workers, closed several Texas ports.

At Houston, AFL longshoremen and seamen were refusing to cross NMU picket lines.

The NMU strike at Galveston has caused financial losses of $12,500 daily, E. H. Thirmer, general manager of Galveston wharves, estimated. At Sugarland, the Imperial sugar refinery closed down because of the sugar shortage, mainly caused by the seaman's strike.

Employees of the Beaumont and Fort Arthur city bus lines have called a strike for shortly after midnight tonight following breaking off of negotiations over wages and working conditions. They are members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Motor Employees of America. About 150 employees will be affected. The union is asking an increase in pay from 65 cents.

Committee Approves Military Limitations

PARIS—AP—The peace conference military commission set its seal on the military limitations clauses of the Italian treaty today, cutting the Italian fleet to 10 major ships and limiting the army to 250,000 officers and men.

Supplementing a decision yesterday which consigned most surplus fleet units to the Big Four for division and requires Italy to destroy the rest, today's unanimous action lets Italy keep 20 battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers, as well as minor units. The army armament is restricted to 200 medium and 100 light tanks.

Stirred by the news that Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace had urged President Truman to seek an American-Russian treaty on atomic energy, the peace conference also approved headed for a showdown on a British effort to prohibit atom bomb manufacture in the beaten Balkan nations.

The British amendment—seeking to add atomic fission weapons and controlled torpedoes to the list of arms prohibited in Bulgaria—already has met with violent Slav opposition in the military commission, which had the matter on Monday's agenda.

A former member of the Bulgaria state supreme court, he was elected to the senate in 1936 and re-elected in 1940.

The senator, who was 69, did not seek re-election in 1944, but had planned to remain in Washington until the 80th congress convened in January.

Arkansas, Texas Governors Have Watermelon Fight

AUSTIN—AP—That Arkansas watermelon books like a lion compared with Texas melons, and Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas has a picture to prove it.

He has written Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas, photo enclosed, striking the first verbal blow in a watermelon fight that will go right on in 1947.

Laney started it when he sent the governor of Texas a 125-pound melon, saying that "Arkansas grows the biggest watermelon in the world." The 1946 melon season is about over, but the City of Nacogdoches has accepted Gov. Laney's challenge for next year.

It will produce a melon weighing more than 140 pounds at its watermelon festival on July 4, 1947. Stevenson has informed Laney.

He told the governor of Arkansas there was no record of its weight, but the picture showed the top of the melon was on a level with the eyes of a 6 foot four inch Texan standing near it. The Texas melon had stripes at least 12-inches wide.

"This is by no means one of our largest melons," the governor of Texas wrote the governor of Arkansas. "I think it can be considered, however, as an indication that when the farmers of Texas accept your challenge, they will present you with melons which will make the Arkansas variety look like a California lemon."

Now associated with the William E. Bush Estate, O'Brien returned from service just recently.

In his campaign through the Panhandle, O'Brien has said:

Rebs Win First Game of Series

By The Associated Press
Dallas Rebels have placed their home run bats into use again to gain an advantage over their arch rivals and neighbors the Fort Worth Cats, in the final series of the Texas league championship playoff.

The Rebels, who won two games of their semi-finals series with San Antonio through use of these same bats, took a 7-3 win from Fort Worth last night as Left Fielder Hal Hirsch and First Baseman Bob Meyer connected for four-baggers that accounted for five of the Dallas scores.

John Van Cuyk, who two weeks ago held the Rebels to two hits, was the victim of the Dallas assault, while Tom Pullig, who chalked up only nine games against six defeats in the regular campaign, was the winning moundman. Van Cuyk is the league's leading strike-out artist.

Hubbers Push Across 3 Runs In 1st Frame

By SCOTT RAFFERTY
New Sports Editor
After seeing the Lubbock Hubbers push across three unearned runs in the first inning, Pampa's Oilers came back to win the opening game of the West Texas-New Mexico league championship series 7-5, before 2,300 persons here last night.

Joe Isaacs, making his first start in the entire playoff series, went the route for the Oilers, giving up 10 hits while Pampa was collecting 14 base knocks off the offerings of Lennie Heinz, star Hubber right-hander.

The two teams will play here tonight at eight o'clock with Warren Hacker scheduled to go to the mound for the Seitzmen while Manager Hack Miller of the Hubbers will probably send Paul Hinrichs to the hill.

After tonight, the teams will move to Lubbock for games Thursday and Friday. If a fifth game is necessary it will be played at Lubbock Sunday afternoon instead of Saturday night, as originally scheduled, with the Texas Tech-West Texas state football game. Any other games will be played at Pampa.

Bob Stone, first man up for the Hubbers last night, hit a ground ball to Second Baseman R. C. Otey, who juggled the ball and Stone was safe. Watty Watkins slapped a single through the pitcher's box with Stone going to third. Sullivan sacrificed with Stone scoring and Dodge walked. Sullivan scored on Hack Miller's fly and Dodge scored on Pat Rooney's single and Joe Fortin's had throw to home.

In the last half of the first Otey reined in on Stone's error, Fortin singled to left. Range hit into a double play. Stone to Sullivan to Kuykendall, and Riley singled to score Otey.

Fortin added another in the third when Otey singled and scored on Earl Harriman's double to center.

The Oilers knotted the count at 3-1 in the fifth when Otey again singled. Sullivan scored on Hack Miller's fly and Dodge scored on Pat Rooney's single and Joe Fortin's had throw to home.

Richardson led off the sixth with a double to right and scored on Fortin's single. Seitz sacrificed Fortin to second. Ziegler grounded out with Fortin going to third and Isaacs singled to right to score Fortin.

Lubbock tied it up in the eighth when, with one Miller walked, Rooney grounded out and Frank McAlexander hit a home run over the left field fence.

The Oilers put the game on ice in the last of the eighth when Fortin walked. Seitz sacrificed Fortin to second. Ziegler grounded out with Fortin going to third and Isaacs singled to right to score Fortin.

Harriman, Oiler shortstop, nearly brought the house down with a sensational catch in the seventh inning that saved two possible runs.

Phil Kuykendall, first man up in the seventh, singled to left. Heinz singled to right and Stone walked. Watkins hit a ground ball to Isaacs who threw to Ziegler to catch Kuykendall but the throw to Richardson at first was too late. With two men on base, Sullivan hit a high fly to short center field that Manager Seitz, Jack Riley and Harriman went after. Harriman was backing up all the time but leaped far back and made a great catch for the third out.

He has lost only seven times in 72 starts. He has knocked out some pretty good men. He has won 12 straight since 1944, and in his most recent bout stopped Bruce Woodcock, the British heavyweight champion, in five rounds. Woodcock knocked out Gus Lescault in a non-title bout in London last night.

He is only 23, weighs close to 200, and is tough and confident. Also, he has trained for this one strenuously and earnestly.

So, of course, is Louis. The big Negro doesn't ordinarily say much, and he has surprised the boys with his outright assertions that Tami should be easy to hit and that it shouldn't last long.

A BATTY TRICK
ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—(AP)—The rats in the meat packing and milling district here are going to get a two night feast this week and then—Saturday and Sunday nights the raptors have a surprise. They're mixing the meat with a fatal poison of alphanaphthothiourea (alphanaphthothiourea that is).

A combination of a serious shortage of meat and an over-supply of rats in the district prompted the wholesale extermination plan.

MAURIELLO FACES Bomber at Yankee Stadium Tonight

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis makes the 23rd defense of his heavy title tonight at Yankee Stadium with Tami Mauriello of the Bronx being served up as the sacrificial goat.

There appears to be little doubt in anybody's mind except possibly Mauriello's, that Louis will retain his crown by a knockout, but some 20,000 are expected to be drawn to the big ball yard on the chance of seeing a lot of fight while it lasts.

In the latter respect Tami has something of a tradition to uphold. He is a barkeep, and so was Tony Galento, who for a brief time one night gave Louis a hounding of a fight and bounced him off the floor once before being beaten into hamburger by Joe's fists.

Tami is supposed to be of the Galento breed. He knows only to move forward and slug it out. While this ordinarily is considered an admirable trait in a prizefighter, it cannot be recommended as a method of fighting Joe Louis.

The odds-makers are almost positive Tami will get it early. They are offering even money that Louis knocks him out inside five rounds, and 9 to 1—and even greater—that the champ wins. They have gotten very little action on either count.

While Mauriello does not appear to stack up as a serious threat to Joe's title, he boasts a much better

Pollett Wins 20th Victory of Season

By RALPH RODEN

They used to call Carl Hubbell the "meal ticket" of the Giants when the great New York lefthander was winning pennants for Bill Terry about a decade ago. Today the experts are pinning the same tag on Howie Pollett, the hungry-looking portlander of St. Louis who will have to receive a good chunk of the glory if the Cardinals go on to win their ninth National league flag.

Pollett hurled his 20th win of the season yesterday as the Cards hammered the New York Giants 10-2 to protect their two game first place margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who downed the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Thus, the slim portlander became the first hurler in the league to win 20 games, and also the first lefthander in the loop to reach the set mark since Hubbell and Melton of the Giants performed the feat in 1927.

His "country" Slaughter supplied most of the batting power as Pollett coasted to his 13th win (against two defeats) over the Giants during his career. The North Carolina better batted in five runs on a homer and single.

The Red Birds, who invade Boston tonight for a two game series with the Braves that will terminate their final eastern trip of the year, have ten games left to play, while the Dodgers, playing most to the Pittsburgh Pirates in a three-game set starting with a doubleheader today, have 12 games left. If St. Louis wins six of its remaining games, the Dodgers will have to cop nine of theirs to tie the Cards for the flag.

Brooklyn wasted little time sewing up its 4-2 victory over Chicago. It scored three runs in the first inning, two of them on Dixie Walker's two-base hit.

In the only other scheduled national league game, the red hot Boston Braves scored their fifth straight win by trouncing the Cincinnati Reds 8-2.

The Detroit Tigers won the only game scheduled in the American league, defeating the Washington Senators 6-4.

Oilers, Majors Must Play Game On Neutral Field
(By The Associated Press)
Henderson and Greenville will meet tonight at Texarkana in the seventh and deciding game of their semi-final round of the East Texas playoff.

That is the latest word from league President J. Walter Morris, who early yesterday ruled that the game, originally scheduled for last night at Henderson, would be postponed and played at neutral Texarkana.

Morris reiterated his order last night after protests were made by Henderson club officials who have called a special meeting of the league's board of directors this afternoon at Tyler.

When informed that Henderson would not consent to the transfer, Morris said in Shreveport last night that failure of the Oilers, who finished in first place in the regular season, to report in Texarkana

Hubbers Push Across 3 Runs In 1st Frame
By SCOTT RAFFERTY
New Sports Editor
After seeing the Lubbock Hubbers push across three unearned runs in the first inning, Pampa's Oilers came back to win the opening game of the West Texas-New Mexico league championship series 7-5, before 2,300 persons here last night.

Joe Isaacs, making his first start in the entire playoff series, went the route for the Oilers, giving up 10 hits while Pampa was collecting 14 base knocks off the offerings of Lennie Heinz, star Hubber right-hander.

The two teams will play here tonight at eight o'clock with Warren Hacker scheduled to go to the mound for the Seitzmen while Manager Hack Miller of the Hubbers will probably send Paul Hinrichs to the hill.

After tonight, the teams will move to Lubbock for games Thursday and Friday. If a fifth game is necessary it will be played at Lubbock Sunday afternoon instead of Saturday night, as originally scheduled, with the Texas Tech-West Texas state football game. Any other games will be played at Pampa.

Bob Stone, first man up for the Hubbers last night, hit a ground ball to Second Baseman R. C. Otey, who juggled the ball and Stone was safe. Watty Watkins slapped a single through the pitcher's box with Stone going to third. Sullivan sacrificed with Stone scoring and Dodge walked. Sullivan scored on Hack Miller's fly and Dodge scored on Pat Rooney's single and Joe Fortin's had throw to home.

In the last half of the first Otey reined in on Stone's error, Fortin singled to left. Range hit into a double play. Stone to Sullivan to Kuykendall, and Riley singled to score Otey.

Fortin added another in the third when Otey singled and scored on Earl Harriman's double to center.

The Oilers knotted the count at 3-1 in the fifth when Otey again singled. Sullivan scored on Hack Miller's fly and Dodge scored on Pat Rooney's single and Joe Fortin's had throw to home.

Richardson led off the sixth with a double to right and scored on Fortin's single. Seitz sacrificed Fortin to second. Ziegler grounded out with Fortin going to third and Isaacs singled to right to score Fortin.

Lubbock tied it up in the eighth when, with one Miller walked, Rooney grounded out and Frank McAlexander hit a home run over the left field fence.

The Oilers put the game on ice in the last of the eighth when Fortin walked. Seitz sacrificed Fortin to second. Ziegler grounded out with Fortin going to third and Isaacs singled to right to score Fortin.

Harriman, Oiler shortstop, nearly brought the house down with a sensational catch in the seventh inning that saved two possible runs.

Phil Kuykendall, first man up in the seventh, singled to left. Heinz singled to right and Stone walked. Watkins hit a ground ball to Isaacs who threw to Ziegler to catch Kuykendall but the throw to Richardson at first was too late. With two men on base, Sullivan hit a high fly to short center field that Manager Seitz, Jack Riley and Harriman went after. Harriman was backing up all the time but leaped far back and made a great catch for the third out.

Harvesters Working Hard for Friday Tilt With Mustangs

Finishing three days practice with a tough drill this afternoon, the Pampa Harvesters leave tomorrow morning for Sweetwater where they will battle the Mustangs of District 3-AA Friday night in the second game of the season for Pampa and the first for Sweetwater.

Regarded as a serious contender to Odessa's claim on the 3-AA crown, the Mustangs have been rated among the top 25 teams in the state.

End and Co-Captain Bill Speer will still be absent from the lineup when the Harvesters take the field Friday night but, otherwise the Harvesters will be at near full strength.

Coaches Otis Coffey and Jack Whittington have divided the duties of passing and kicking this week with practically every member of the backfield on the throwing end.

In the kicking department, Carl Hayes, Louie Mayer and Charles Laffoon have divided the duties. Laffoon's quick-kicking was one of the highlights of last week's 19-6 win over Electra.

Carl Hayes, red-headed track star, did most of the punting last Friday. Hayes, the heaviest man in the backfield at 168 pounds, has the speed and ability to develop into one of the outstanding backs in the district.

Although Coffey has not yet announced a starting lineup for Friday's game, much of the line personnel will depend on whether the Harvesters' kickoff or receive, as was the case last week.

A few changes will probably be made before the conference season opens in order to give the Harvesters more strength in the aerial department. Speer, who may see little action before conference season opens, is expected to be the starting quarterback.

WE, THE WOMEN
HERE'S A LESSON FOR ALL PARENTS

By RUTH MILLETT
EA Staff Writer

"Thank God our prayers have been answered. We've learned our lesson. If we ever hire another maid it will be after an exhaustive investigation," said the Kansas City father upon finding his 3-year-old daughter who had been kidnapped by a maid he hired off the street.

Maybe the story, frontpage papers all over the country, will teach other parents a lesson, too.

For hiring unknown girls and women to take care of children has become a common practice.

Papa and Mama are invited to a party. Comes the problem of finding someone to look after the kids. All the baby-sitters they know are busy, and so Mama begins to telephone frantically.

Finally she locates somebody about whom she knows absolutely nothing—and thankfully turns her evening over to the stranger for the children.

So far as Mama and Papa are concerned, a crisis has been met. They've solved their problem. They have saved from the awful possibility of having to miss a party.

If the unknown baby-sitter turns out to be okay—it is nothing more than luck. For they don't know the first thing about her.

TERRIFYING DANGER

For all they know she may be mentally off; she may be mean to the kids; she may frighten them into being good with scary stories. She might not even be dependable enough to get the children out of the house in case of fire.

"We've learned our lesson," said the Kansas City father, who was fortunate enough to have his kidnaped child returned to him unharmed.

Maybe thousands of other parents have also learned a lesson.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By JOHN R. WARD
MANILA, P. I.—(AP)—Students returning to shell-scarred Philippine universities are finding that five years of war and occupation have wrought vast changes in the islands' education scene.
Most of the professors are back but they are changed. All are wearing out-sized khaki suits. U. S. government issue. Khaki predominates among the men students, too, and few of them could be regarded as college "boys".
Many of the familiar faces are gone. As the days go by students tell innumerable touching stories of the boy in political science who died across a whipping post in his home town, of the athletic co-ed from Laguna who was taken by Japanese "thought police" and never was seen again, of the stud-ous Caviteño whose entire family was wiped out when a U. S. plane bomb bay loaded plummeted into the center of the town.

Those university buildings not leveled by shelling were used as quarters for American GI's after the city was re-taken. The gutted buildings have been partitioned into classrooms with bamboo matting.
The tell-tale marks of war are everywhere. Steel reinforcing dangles crazily from walls and roofs. Even the blackboards are bullet-riddled. The registrar is a harried individual whose records have been burned. Students are placed on their honor to list the courses they had taken and passed prior to the Japanese invasion.
The enrollment, about 2,000, compares with 8,000 before the war. There is no lack of prospective students. There simply is no place to put them. Far Eastern university La Salle college and other schools in the Manila area report enrollments in excess of prewar figures.
Schools have been slow in reopening throughout the islands. Secretary of Instruction Manuel V. Gallego reported that more than 525,000 children seeking admission to schools cannot be accommodated.
The Japanese destroyed virtually all textbooks and even seized typewriters to make small cookstoves for troops by removing the type baskets.

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER

By Alice M. Laverick Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

XXVII
OH, I had been kissed before. It was part of growing up and losing one's freckles, acquiring a complexion and replacing bones with curves. There had been a few dramatic skirmishes after high school hops with half-grown or over-grown youths who pressed clumsy kisses on my reluctant lips, provoking no singing in my heart, no feeling of ecstasy. Only boring anti-climax.
But this was different. This was Colin Fitzgerald.
"I'm not the first man to fall in love with his nurse," he had said. And I could bear witness to that, also. There had been that middle-aged widower whom I had nursed when I was still but a probationer, who had asked me to share his home and his three children with him.
I had been kissed before. But this was Colin Fitzgerald and I held it to my heart for a long moment and defied anything else to enter.
And then the ghosts came. The ghost of Beatrice Harrington, the ghost of Charlotte Brent, for surely, though Charlotte lived, she yet was dead.
And slowly and wearily I rose to my feet and began to pack for my return to the hospital. I left early the next day.
And I did not see Colin again before I went.
The epidemic was worse even than I had feared and I was kept busy indeed. Which was what I both needed and wanted. So that it was three weeks before I returned again to Innisfail.
It was then that I heard from Ellen that Colin Fitzgerald had gone away again. "He had this elegant chance," Ellen said vaguely. "I don't know—something to do with horses. It was. And Mark tholic priest and some of the 1,200 natives signalling from the outskirts of their village, partly covered by the lava flow.

Niufou is known among Philatelists for its "tin can mail" carried out to passing ships by swimmers. Its volcano erupted before in 1929 and in 1856.
SOMETIMES, looking back on the next few years of my life, I smile a little sadly remembering how, at the age when most girls are thinking only of clothes and dates and dancing, I was throwing my whole self into my work at the hospital.
To be sure, I was making quite a reputation for myself there at Saint Gregory's. So much so that when the new wing was opened up, I was appointed head of the whole surgical floor, something of a triumph for one so young.
Yet I remember, too, my surprise and chagrin that Father Gene was not more impressed by this signal honor given me. Though I should not have been surprised, for he had often urged me not to take myself so seriously. "You're too young," he would say. "Get out and play more. Go out dancing. I know there are plenty of lads who'd be glad to take you, if you'd give them any encouragement at all. Go along and laugh loud for a change."

He frowned, too, at my spending so much time at Innisfail. "Every time I go out there," he said once, stopping by my desk at the hospital, "there you sit like an old crane, drinking your tea and kuggamugging with Ellen in the kitchen. In heaven's name, Cecilia, what's the matter with you?"
"I don't know," I said, laughing. "Perhaps I'm a little fey," the lads'dying away at Saint Gregory's remembered that this was the very speech Charlotte had made to me so often that first summer at Innisfail.
"Then you're not fey," Father Gene was saying emphatically. "You're as sane as anyone I know. Indeed, you're a little too sane. At your age you should be giggling and wriggling instead of sitting there like a graven image. If you had a vocation, now, I might understand how you'd like to live like one cloistered. But I don't believe you have."
I shook my head, laughing again at the idea of my having a vocation. He eyed me shrewdly for a moment, then he said, "I've a notion you have some special lad in mind, Cecilia, that dims all the others."
"Touche," I said with what was meant for airy nonchalance. It must have been most unconvincing, for he added hastily, "Now, Cecilia, I didn't mean to pry into your business. But if anything's bothering you and you'd like my advice, you know I'd be glad at any time."
He left abruptly at this, leaving me staring after him, somewhat puzzled. Until suddenly dawned on me that Father Gene was disturbed, thinking that I might be in love with another woman's husband.
Naturally, he could not suspect that Colin Fitzgerald was the man who dimmed all others in my poor foolish heart.

WALL STREET STOCKS
NEW YORK—(AP)—Selling cut down stock market leaders 1 to more than 3 points in the forefront of today's session but offerings later dried up appreciably and extreme losses were reduced at the close with modest plus marks appearing here and there.
Declining trends ruled at a fairly active opening. By midday prices were at or near bottom. Timid demand then cropped up for a few steel, rail and industrial. Most of these, though, failed to follow through and the direction was irregularly downward when the final gong sounded. The ticker tape frequently loafed on the attempted rally and transfers for the full proceedings dwindled to about 1,400,000 shares, a low for the month to date.
Advanced were retained by Bethlehem, United Aircraft, Dow Chemical, Anaconda, Great Northern, Goodyear, Allied Chemical and Johns-Manville. On the offside were Youngstown Sheet, Shryver, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Union Carbide, Du Pont International Harvester, Electric Power & Light, American Smelting, Eastman Kodak, Standard Oil (NJ), Chesapeake & Ohio and Union Pacific.
Many customers, it was said, believed the list was overbid and ready for a good technical revival.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO—(AP)—Grain futures moved upward toward the close of a dull session today, the upswing being attributed to announcement of additional purchases of wheat by government and the strength of September oats at Minneapolis.

erage developed in the wheat pit, in a light trade.

Court Hands Down Four Convictions

One two-year prison term and three suspended sentences were handed out yesterday for four Negroes by District Judge W. F. Ewing in Wheeler county district court, on charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft.

Sentenced to the penitentiary at Huntsville for a two-year term was Robert Sims, 34, while his companions, Mrs. Irma Lou Sims, his wife, and J. T. Trimble, and Ola Mae Trimble were given two-year suspended sentences.

According to District Attorney Walter Rogers, Sims and Mrs. Trimble went to the farmhouse of the Rev. and Mrs. Lee Gibson and opened the door. Mrs. Gibson attempted to close the door and Mrs. Trimble placed her foot in door to prevent it's closing. The Negroes left only after Mrs. Gibson threatened to shoot them, according to testimony.

The Rev. Gibson had left home shortly before to attend a church service.

The four in their defense attempted to prove that they had merely gone to the house to borrow a wash basin to do some washing, but Mrs. Gibson's testimony brought out that they attempted to force their way into the home.

Foreign Policy

touched off the uproar is being explained by some of his aides as having been given after hearing only a disjointed reading of the text. Because of frequent interruptions to handle other business, these aides say, he did not discover the explosive nature of the address.

In cancelling that endorsement Saturday, Mr. Truman said he had intended to approve only Wallace's right to deliver the speech. This statement, in turn, was welcomed by Wallace as indicating a presidential okay for him to carry on his campaign.

This the commerce secretary followed up on Monday with his own statement that he intended to make more speeches on foreign policy—the next presumably the one set for Providence.

It was this declaration, coupled with yesterday's release of the July letter, which apparently brought Mr. Truman to the point of determining that he had to act decisively on Wallace's position in the government.

Wallace's New York speech prompted Adm. William H. Standley, the country's wartime ambassador to Moscow, to declare that the commerce secretary "has sabotaged our ship of state."

"He is not only guilty of disloyalty to his President and nation," the retired naval officer and diplomat said in a speech at Los Angeles last night, "but he has given aid and comfort to a virtual enemy, an offense for which, in time of war, he could be shot."

Pampa will get its first real taste of "winter" in mild form tonight and early tomorrow when a cold front expected to bring temperatures down to the 50's moves in.

Pampa, Amarillo and Sulphur Springs, near Dallas, reported lows of 64 yesterday, according to the Associated Press and rains fell in some parts of the state, although most sections were covered by fog and mist.

an hour to $1.10 and other benefits.

Southeast Texas and western Louisiana faced a strike scheduled for October 12 by the Gulf States Electric Service Employees association, an independent union of employees of the Gulf States Utilities company.

The company served as area extending from Waco, Texas, to Baton Rouge, La. Headquarters are at Beaumont.

Union officials said a strike notice under the Smith-Connally act had been filed and that the executive committee would meet Sunday to determine if a strike vote would be taken. About 1,200 of the 1,500 company employees would be affected, union officials said.

The union is asking wage increases equal to prevailing wages for similar work in other industries. Roy S. Nelson, company president, said increases of 10 cents an hour had been offered.

Maritime

the day.

On the west coast, there also were no signs of conferences between the operators and the striking CIO marine cooks and stewards union, and the independent marine firemen, oilers, waiters and water-tenders, which struck with the NMU Friday at the end of the AFL stoppage to enforce demands for wage parity with AFL seamen.

The operators have insisted the men returned to work before re-opening negotiations.

But AFL maritime workers trudged back to work on ships in New York and other Atlantic and Gulf ports yesterday after Joseph Curran, president of the NMU, ordered that picketing be restricted to CIO-contracted vessels.

He said in a statement in New York today, however, that the CIO seamen's strike was "100 percent effective" with "approximately 900 vessels demobilized in various ports throughout the nation."

Withdrawal of picketing from ships manned by the AFL seafarers international union, he added, "affects less than 300 ships" in the country.

Fifty eight vessels were worked yesterday in New York harbor—according to the maritime commission, while Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL international Longshoremen's association, reported that more would do so today.

He said Bryan "thus far has arbitrarily refused to meet with West Coast unions to settle the wage question," and that government agencies showed no inclinations to use on Bryan any of the pressures they have already used to successfully settle the AFL section of the strike.

The AFL seamen ended their strike, begun Sept. 5, when they were granted increases of $2.50 monthly on the West Coast and $2.50 on the East Coast. The CIO unions won increases of $1.75 monthly in recent negotiations with ship operators.

MAKE IT EASIER FOR CAREFUL DRIVERS

The state of Missouri on October 6 institutes a new law, called the safety responsibility act. Somewhat of a misnomer this title does not describe a bill which will make any safer driving on our increasingly crowded roads; but does describe a bill which is designed to eliminate one of the more perplexing problems.

The law will make responsible the person who causes a wreck, and who damages other people's property and possibly is the cause of someone's death.

It provides that any person who has failed for a period of 30 days to satisfy a final judgment for damages because of bodily injury or death, or damages to property, will have his driver's license suspended or revoked until such time as the judgment has been satisfied.

Needless to say, a similar law is badly needed in Texas. Thirty-six other states already have it, and the remainder need it very much.

As the matter now stands in this state, a man driving a run-down jalopy, with no insurance and 15 cents between himself and the poor house, may have been the cause of a destructive and fatal accident. But he may continue to drive on the roads, although he may not have paid the damages. It has happened many times in Gray county and the Panhandle.

This is strictly a state matter, as we see it. If the state does not see fit to enact such law, there will continue to be the same irresponsible highway driving as we are daily—and regrettably—experiencing. A man's life savings may be squandered through the irresponsibility of some other person. No one will say that is just and proper.

As society becomes more complicated—with more machines on the road, more population—the responsibility on the individual must necessarily increase. It is unfortunate, but it is true.

The highway with its accidents is one of our greatest social problems. We must meet it in Texas as much as is possible, just as other states are beginning to meet it.

We probably will never eliminate death and destruction on the roads; but we can at least mitigate the financial load for those who are not irresponsible and reckless.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By GLENN BABB
AP Foreign News Analyst
(Subbing for Mackenzie)

Developments of the last few days gave notice that the noisy, bitter wrangling at Paris over the frontiers of Bulgaria, Italy and Yugoslavia are only a pale prelude to the bigger frontier disputes yet to come. Secretary Byrnes for the United States, supported by a British foreign office spokesman, and Foreign Minister Molotov for the Soviet Union have laid the issue of the German-Polish frontier before the world. If and when the great powers dispose of the lesser tasks of map drawing in Europe they will be confronted with still greater disputes. The matter of setting the limits of the new Germany in the east.

The Russian position in a nutshell is that the Potsdam conference, already held, has fixed the new frontier and that any further decision should be nothing more than formal confirmation. The American-British contention is that the line drawn at Potsdam was only provisional, for administrative purposes, and that exact definition of the areas to be transferred from Germany and Poland was to be left to the peace conference.

What is actually happening is that the Soviet and Polish governments, taking advantage of some loose drafting of the Yalta and Potsdam accords and the stern truth that the red army is in complete control of the areas involved, are presenting the world with a new frontier which probably could not be upset by anything short of a major upheaval or change in Soviet policy.

Molotov disregards this sentence in the Potsdam accord: "The three heads of government (Truman, Attlee, Stalin) reaffirm their opinion that the final delimitation of the western frontier of Poland should await the peace settlement."

It should be noted that the Russians and Poles have not cheated themselves in their drawing of the line. Stalin had become Szczecin, Polish ports are placing the German population (which has some 270,000 in 1939) and evidence points to intentions to make the city the chief port of the new Poland.

Osmium, a rare platinum-like metal, is the heaviest known substance, and weighs more than 25,000 times as much as hydrogen, the lightest.

Episcopalians Elect Presiding Bishop

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, bishop of Massachusetts, was elected today as the new presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the U. S. A.

He succeeds the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker of Richmond, Va., who has held the office since 1937 and who will retire on age December 31.

The new presiding bishop was chosen at a closed session of the house of bishops at the church's annual convention in the city. The election was announced immediately after the church's house of deputies, also meeting in closed session, concurred with the bishops.

CLEAN COAT TALE

But after several months the coat wasn't reclaimed, so Zuppan took it to a shop to be cleaned.

But he isn't going to get the coat out the cleaners. The owner of the establishment identified it as his garment.

NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLES

Why We Need Gold
The real reason we need gold as some other thing of value as money is so that we have a more constant measure of value. When we have gold we have something that is more difficult for politicians to change in value; it has real value.

Politicians can, of course, fool the people as to its true value, by making laws that permit special groups, like bankers, to issue a lot of over-expanded credit that they cannot convert into gold. This makes people think that the gold has a lower value than it really has.

Then again when we have gold or some other thing with value in itself as money, the politicians cannot get money to promote so many socialistic ideas. People will not pay enough taxes in real wealth to permit the politicians to buy votes to keep themselves in power.

But when we discard gold as money and use pieces of paper that are merely orders for money or wealth as a substitute, the politicians can have a lot of this kind of "money" printed and fool the people for a long, long time.

This is the reason that the federal government that has the power to coin or print money can be more socialistic than the states which have no authority under the Constitution to coin or print money.

This is the reason when a governor or state legislator promises a lot of socialistic utopias, they are soon voted out of office because they cannot fool the people for so long.

People will not lend them the money and they cannot create it out of the air as the federal government can create fiat paper money out of the air.

Of course, the more fiat money printed, the less it will buy, everything else being equal.

And an important fact that we should learn is that the first function of money is to measure values. Just as we cannot measure distance without having some fixed unit by which to measure, so we cannot measure real value without having something with real value in itself to measure it by.

When we have fiat counterfeit rag printing money, as we have now, and are not permitted to have gold, people are bound to be confused. There is bound to be great injustice done to the different portions.

We really need a better understanding of the function of money. Money is more than what many people say it is—merely a medium of exchange. If it ceases to have value in itself, it is only a question of time until it ceases to be a medium of exchange.

A Good Suggestion
In a full-page newspaper advertisement run by the Plains Cooperative Creamery of Portales, New Mexico, a very clear case is made that "the free market is the white market."

It is encouraging to see institutions like this taking a stand for the American way of life as opposed to a planned economy or the European way of life.

The ad has a very interesting "script set in black face type. It reads:

"If agriculture is to have government controls we demand 1/2 inch of moisture each week, plenty of labor and all the machinery we need."

The government has just about as much chance of regulating prices and still keeping a free economy as it has of regulating the amount of rain the farmers get each week. The farmers see the absurdity of the government's plan and are using a little sarcasm to drive their argument home.

Would that more institutions followed the example of the Plains Cooperative Creamery.

Today's Schedule of Redeployment

By The Associated Press
Upward of 3,000 Pacific veterans are due to embark today from three vessels at San Francisco.

The ships are: Hawaiian Shipper from Honolulu, 1,832 troops; Waterfront Victory from Yokohama, 1,432; Gen. Gordon from Bombay, 1,432.

About 16,000,000 American homes are heated by stoves, 7,500,000 by team or hot water and 7,000,000 by hot air furnaces.

DOUBLE CROSS-IT

It was then that Stalin staged the historic double cross—a move parallel to Stalin's tie-up with Hitler on the eve of the Polish invasion and his subsequent move toward Japan.

Soviet spokesmen and publications—Pravda, Izvestia, the Daily Worker, etc.—denounced the American attitude as a resumption of dollar diplomacy, not toward Argentina alone but toward all South America. They charged that the U. S., through wealthy Ambassador Braden, sought to smash the border labor movement below the border. Toledano wrote the words and the tune for this anti-American chorus.

Few weeks later, a Russian trade mission more elaborate than ours or England's showed up in Buenos Aires. Stalin and Peron clasped hands.

NOTE—Washington and London immediately saw the red light and abandoned their hotly-totly attitude toward Peron.

England sent a tonpoch trade mission to B. A. We immediately unloaded $600,000,000 of Argentine gold that had been frozen at New York for several years.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
News Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—The "I-want-to-see" system is the latest rage in Hollywood.

No longer, say producers do they worry about whether audiences will like their latest pictures. It's all worked out in advance.

Before a film's release a "jury" of from 50 to 100 people is taken to a studio projection room. It includes bankers and salesmen, housewives and bell-hops, truck drivers and socialites.

Each set has two buttons connected with an electrical device which adds up their likes and dislikes. One button is for a bad reaction, the other for a favorable one. The results are added up. If one scene receives too many bad reactions, it is eliminated. The same goes for dialogue situations, scenery, clothes, background music, and even the best man at the heroine's wedding.

"The public," say the producers now, "is editing our pictures. People worry about getting just what they want to see."

THUMBS DOWN ON THESE
"Okay, boys, but today we give you the Johnson 'Don't-want-to-see' system."

We have suffered too long. Our friends have suffered too long. Something should be done about it. For instance:

FOOLED—The belated recognition was also inspired by the demonstrated fact that Moscow pursued tactics of Moscow's trouble-making behavior as slightly overdrawn until they came face to face with the fact from Trieste to Korea.

Mr. Byrnes's Stuttgart speech reflects, finally and utterly, their acknowledgment that they had been deceived and mistaken.

Washington no longer underestimates the Soviet's threat to world peace and our own security.

ARGENTINA—The Russian offensive against hemispheric unity began at the San Francisco Conference in the summer of 1945, when Foreign Minister Molotov and Ambassador Andrei Gromyko argued that Argentina was a "fascist state" and, therefore, unfit to become a member of the United Nations.

The Moscow speaker spoke of Buenos Aires in the same terms they once directed at Hitler's Berlin.

When Latin-American delegates assembled at Mexico City to frame the Pact of Chapultepec, Soviet emissaries sought to prevent Argentina's immediate or eventual admission, and succeeded in putting B. A. on probation.

Stalin's handy man here was Lombardo Toledano, the radical leader of the Mexican labor movement, then a member of the Mexican cabinet and once a close ally of the Wallingford "liberals" at Washington.

Toledano prosecuted Moscow's case against Argentina abroad as well as at home. He laid his charges for the United Nations and the International labor office.

Communist newspapers from New York to Rio de Janeiro, especially Argentina's Daily Worker, headlined the "party line" against the Peron regime, blackening it worse than they did the Franco government in Spain.

OUTLAW—Washington was then under wartime spell of trust and friendship for our heroic ally, and the administration felt completely friendly to the government of Juan Peron.

Spruille Braden, then our ambassador to Buenos Aires, delivered so sharp an attack on Peron on the eve of election that the local general was forced to give up his bid for his person and the American Embassy. Argentine indignation was inflamed further when he was subsequently recalled and promoted to the post of ambassador to the state handling South American affairs.

The state department next issued its famous Blue Book indictment of the Peron regime as wartime and postwar sympathizers and helpers of the Hitler-Mussolini-Franco dictatorship. Peron was elected president by a three-to-one vote.

In short, the U. S. joined hands with the U. S. S. R. in branding Argentina as an outlaw state.

DOUBLE CROSS-IT was then that Stalin staged the historic double cross—a move parallel to Stalin's tie-up with Hitler on the eve of the Polish invasion and his subsequent move toward Japan.

Soviet spokesmen and publications—Pravda, Izvestia, the Daily Worker, etc.—denounced the American attitude as a resumption of dollar diplomacy, not toward Argentina alone but toward all South America. They charged that the U. S., through wealthy Ambassador Braden, sought to smash the border labor movement below the border. Toledano wrote the words and the tune for this anti-American chorus.

Few weeks later, a Russian trade mission more elaborate than ours or England's showed up in Buenos Aires. Stalin and Peron clasped hands.

NOTE—Washington and London immediately saw the red light and abandoned their hotly-totly attitude toward Peron.

England sent a tonpoch trade mission to B. A. We immediately unloaded $600,000,000 of Argentine gold that had been frozen at New York for several years.

OFFICE CAT

Frank and John, sons of our neighborhood, were recently visited by a friend from the other end of town. In the course of the afternoon, their mother brought in a plate with three pieces of cake so it . . . two were equal size but the third much smaller.

The plate was passed to the friend who took one of the large pieces, then to John who took the remaining large piece, and of course, Frank got the smallest piece and he did so, said in an aside to John:

Frank—Hog.
John—Well, what are you kicking about? That's the piece you've got, isn't it?

Alien Vets Urged To Obtain Papers

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark reminded alien veterans today that the mere fact they wore American uniforms during World II does not make them citizens.

They can become naturalized much easier than non-veterans, but the law providing for this faster citizenship procedure expires at the end of the year.

Hence Clark issued a statement urging the "alarming number" of World War II alien veterans who believe themselves to be citizens to get in touch with the nearest naturalization office.

but the picture never turns out to be as good as the first one.

Don't want to see.
The villain who is about to shoot the hero is suddenly shot in the back by someone. The someone turns out to be the film's drunken dope, who sobered up just in time to redeem himself in the final reel.

Don't want to see.
When Mrs. Charles Tomak set her shopping bag on the sidewalk to halt a taxicab, a sneak thief made away with it. He's due for a surprise.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—(AP)—The parcel contained two pounds of live snails.

So They Say

The improvements which have been made will be of no avail unless we are able to train the men to use them.—Rear Admiral Luis de Florez, navy assistant research chief.

With the leadership and ranks of both labor and management a broader outlook on the problems involved in the peace and progress of mankind, as well as such self-discipline as was conspicuous during the war, is urgently needed in the continuing national and international emergency.—Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

The brightest (enlisted) boys in the AAF were the weather forecasters.—Dr. Thomas W. Harrell, U. of Illinois psychologist.

We are going to take or fail to take our national position in the world as a rallying point for those who yearn for the way of life you (veterans) and the nation fought for in our last war. More is expected of us than moral probity, even though the first requisite is that our moral position should be unimpeachable.—General Eisenhower.

We must remember that we are here not to seek benefits but as ambassadors of people who want peace.—Sen. Tom Connally of Texas at Paris Peace Conference.

Football Issue Remains in Air

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—President Truman's military aide says he has told selective service officials that the chief executive doesn't relish the idea of football players leaving the service academies to play at their home schools, the Commercial Appeal said today.

The newspaper quoted Maj. Gen. Harry M. Vaughan as saying that our action in this matter is entirely passive. But I did tell selective service of the President's attitude."

The article said Vaughan added: "We take a very pale view of a man who accepts a West Point appointment during the war, accepts the money West Point gives him, accepts the $2,000 a year that is spent on his education and maintenance and then when the shooting is over and armored vest is not a necessity, resigns and then goes back home to play football."

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said in Washington that there was "absolutely nothing" to the report.

Alaska's 1945 fur crop totaled 223,800 pelts.
