Butcher Shops Run Out of Meat as Ceilings Go on Again

Prime Topic-- How Long Will Shortage Last?

WASHINGTON — AP — Meat went back under OPA ceilings today—and housewives in many cities had to turn to poultry and fish markets to round out their menus.

Even the army, the world's biggest single customer, said it may have to do likewise unless the meat shortage abates.

The new butcher shop prices average 12 percent higher than on June 30 when meat began its 7-day period in the free market. They are lower than most recent prices, but the ceilings are meaningless in many communities because counters are bare.

How long the shortage will last became a prime topic, not only among OPA and agriculture department experts but among army food buyers as well.

Any return to consumer rationing appeared to be out.

One remedy being taken at the agriculture department is a possible price boost to encourage greater production on the farms, ranges and feed lots.

But no action appeared imminent. The agriculture department—given the last word over such matters in the price control extension law—was unwilling to concede that a long and severe shortage is in prospect. A spokesman said department meat experts think the meat famine may be over in a month or so and that in any event it is too early for any prediction.

Officials admittedly were watching the meat reconrol program closely as a guide to the whole future of peacetime price controls.

Many Retailers Close; Workers Being Laid Off

By The Associated Press
Butcher shops in most cities were running out of meat today as OPA ceilings went on again.

Weekend buying sprees, in anticipation of short supplies, had left shops in most cities with little except poultry, smoked meats and cold cuts. Sharply reduced receipts of livestock at packing centers gave no hope for a quick relief.

Retail shops were closing for lack of business, and packing houses were laying off workers.

A Chicago retailers' spokesman estimated 1,100 of the city's 2,000 retail markets would be closed by the end of the week. In New York City, 90 percent of the dealers had no meat of any kind.

After ceilings were removed July 1, livestock producers sent their cattle and hogs to market in unprecedented numbers. During a week immediately following, retailers have been laid off at Omaha alone, and the United States Employment service said many were applying for different jobs.

These were typical reports in a nation-wide survey.

Los Angeles: City faces most critical meat shortage in history; Cincinnati: Most meat counters displaying only cold meats and poultry; Oklahoma City: Supplies estimated only five percent of normal; New Orleans: Butcher shops report stocks from "zero" to "fair"; Boston: Only three cars of beef reported arriving today compared with 70 last week.

There were a few oases in the meatless desert.

Chattanooga: Butchers foresaw no immediate shortages and livestock receipts were normal; Little Rock, Ark.: Livestock trading was "brisk" yesterday and expected to continue so for a week. Farmers were reported shipping their stock because pasture lands were burned up.

There were various estimates as to when supplies might be more plentiful. Dearth of feed was expected to result in lean stock, however.

Some Atlanta meat handlers predicted no improvement for a year's time. They said farmers had sold their stock to take advantage of high prices and now will have to wait for hogs and calves to fatten.

Washington: State Agriculture Director Fred Martin, forecast "there will be plenty of beef this fall" after the 1946 stock goes to market.

St. Louis OPA officials began checking meat supplies in cold storage plants. Officials said they hoped to guard against the meat finding its way into black market channels.

Divided Germany Where Byrnes Seeks Unity

Calling for an economically united Germany in his recent Stuttgart speech, Secretary of State Byrnes reiterated that the Potsdam agreement for economic unity has not and is not being carried out. Map above shows chaotic conditions that prevail under independent four-power rule. In his speech, Byrnes opposed separation of the Ruhr and Rhine and for which France has held out, blocking unity, Byrnes declared U. S. would cooperate with any ally seeking unification. Britain long ago proposed economic merger of its zone with that of U. S. but other occupying powers have held aloof. British are restless under knowledge that much of their short food and clothing supply is going to their occupation zone. Because of Soviet zone's self-sufficiency, Russia has great advantage over other Allies.

Council Debates Move To Kill Ukraine Case Against Greece

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (AP) — The United Nations Security Council was ready for a showdown today on the Soviet Ukraine's charges against Greece, with a vote due on Australia's flat demand that the complaint be thrown out of court.

The United States has rejected the Ukrainians contention that Greece was preparing for aggressive action against peace in the Balkans, but has not stated which way she will vote on the Australian motion.

Today's meeting was set for 1 p. m. (CST) when the council hurriedly adjourned last night after hearing the surprise statements that forced the whole issue near a vote.

Ex-Serviceman Is Held for Robbery

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — A youthful ex-serviceman was charged with bank robbery by the federal government today as a sequel to his swift capture following a daring $38,400 daylight holdup of the City National bank here.

The men booked by the FBI as Loy T. Shields, 23, of Holdenville, Okla., was run down yesterday by a bank employee in a restaurant to point to collect all large denomination bills, then dashed from the rear door as tellers Albert Dycine and Ray Tucker, both unarmed, pursued.

The tellers called to H. J. Cobb, a quarry and recovered the loot. Merz, who had picked up the fleeing man's gun used the weapon to march the captive to jail.

Texas Demos Convene With Unity Theme

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Democrats of Texas today were called on to forget their personal differences and to "think, work and fight together against inflation, the threat of war and the threat of communism.

Keynote speaker Sidney Johnson of Dallas delivered his address before he had been formally named in order not to interfere with a radio schedule which called for him to broadcast at 11:15 a. m.

Executive Committee Chairman Harry L. Seay of Dallas explaining the circumstances, commenting he knew there would be no opposition.

Curtis Douglas and W. J. Smith are representing Gray county at the democratic convention. Accompanying them to San Antonio were Homer Moss, Wheeler county delegate.

to Jester's choice for temporary chairman and speaker.

Johnson bore down on the theme of unity, following the course indicated for the convention by governor-designate Beauford H. Jester "the fight that is before us can only be won if we forget the past and face the future as embattled comrades, friends and neighbors," Johnson said.

The state democratic convention today got down to business half an hour after its formal opening taking up the report of the committee on temporary organization.

It came a few minutes after a stirring, much-applauded address of welcome by Maj. William Hensley, newly-nominated district attorney of Beavercreek, who warned the democrats not to take the blessings of democracy for granted to fall prey to "cynical totalitarian philosophy."

Gov. Coke Stevenson was named party chairman by the chair in place of Mrs. Steve Culo Hobby of Houston, who could not be on hand.

The reading of the name of Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel as one of the former governors named as an honorary vice-chairman brought a roar of prolonged boos from the convention floor.

Beauford H. Jester's floor leaders sought to stomp out several pre-convention fires today before they became serious threats to convention harmony.

Caucuses late last night and early today developed sharp conflicts for posts on the state democratic executive committee.

Jester informed his floor leaders that he was determined to leave a committee 100 percent friendly to him and their job was to settle differences before they flared on the floor.

The governor-nominate had named 15 aggressive political figures as his floor leaders. They were Morris Roberts of Victoria and State Sen. Jim Taylor of Kerens.

Roberts, former state senator, is a member of the outgoing executive committee and he was expected to be one of the few carry-overs to the new committee.

Roberts and Taylor, working with Paul H. Brown, Jester's campaign manager, kept in touch with Jester through the curfew but there was no immediate report of arrests or discoveries.

The military continued to cordon off nearby Ramat Gan, a Jewish town of 5,000, which has been under curfew and a comb-out since dawn.

Unofficial sources said 900 had been screened at Ramat Gan and that 30 had been detained for further questioning.

A number of bombs exploded during the night.

Approximately 8,000 troops poured into Tel Aviv at dawn to assist police in making a house-to-house search of that all-Jewish city, where two British officers were listed as killed outright in an explosion which damaged a government building.

A British communiqué said that armed Jews were responsible for the blasts, which followed by 24 hours a widespread series of raids in which Palestine rail lines were cut in more than 50 places.

The spreading wave of violence coincided with the opening of British-Arab talks in London on the Palestine problem.

British, Arabs in Conference Today

LONDON — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee opened the London conference on Palestine today with the assurance Britain was not committed to the controversial British-American experts' plan to divide the Palestine state of four zones.

Addressing Arab leaders, the British prime minister appealed to both Arabs and Jews to "make concessions necessary for peace" in the Holy Land where fresh violence flared.

Jews did not join in the parley, but indications grew that they might participate later, though not at the same time with the Arabs.

An informed Jewish source said the Jewish agency would join the talks later this week if Britain "showed a willingness to concede."

A British government official predicted that both the Jewish agency and non-agency Jews would attend later on. British cabinet ministers were reported considering a "certain formula" under which the Jewish agency has offered to participate.

Paris By El Khouri, president of the Syrian chamber of deputies and official spokesman for the Arab league delegation, said he would reply formally to the prime minister's address tomorrow.

Attlee emphasized that while the federalization plan was "the first item on the agenda," the British government was not committed to it.

"It is a proposal we ask you to consider," said Attlee. "It is open for any delegation either to suggest amendments to it or to put forward proposals for a settlement on different lines."

The Jewish agency executive met to consider Attlee's speech.

Notice Given on Display of Food

E. J. Howard and Ray Salmon, county and city health inspectors respectively, said today they were issuing a final notice to cafe and grocery store managers in regard to open display of prepared foods.

The inspectors stated that if this practice was not remedied, they would prosecute the offenders under Public Health Ordinance 245, which states that displayed foods shall be kept covered and protected from flies and other vermin at all times.

The law reads, they emphasized, that prepared foods be covered unless being dished up for service to the customer, that surfaces on which foods are prepared shall be clean and free from contamination; and that adequate fly control must be carried out at all times.

Howard and Salmon requested that the public extend full cooperation to the program, emphasizing that the easiest way to control such threats to public health, is for the customers to refuse to buy uncovered foods. They said they should complain to the management.

The inspectors stated: "This unlawful use of contaminated food will be stopped immediately, or offenders will be prosecuted."

Curfew Lifted in City of Tel Aviv

JERUSALEM — (AP) — The curfew at Tel Aviv was lifted today after the city's 200,000 Jewish residents had been under house arrest for 16 hours following a wave of terror in which three persons were killed, a number of others injured and heavy property damage caused.

Police and soldiers searched and questioned the Jewish residents during the curfew but there was no immediate report of arrests or discoveries.

Bowles Entering Governor's Race

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — (AP) — Ending several weeks of speculation, Chester Bowles, former national OPA chief and Economic Stabilizer, today announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor of Connecticut.

Bowles, stating that his decision "has not been easy," declared: "I'm deeply convinced that the election this fall will mark a turning point in our history.

"As I see it," he said, "the vote of our citizens in November—both here in Connecticut and throughout the nation—will decide whether we are to move ahead to ever greater heights of prosperity for all of our people, to a future free from want and free from fear — or whether we are to repeat the same old dreary cycle of inflationary booms followed by economic heartbreak and depression."

Bowles' formal announcement came only a few hours after a rally here of democratic party leaders in which he was a center of attention.

The party's state convention will be held next Monday and Tuesday at Hartford.

Committee To Draft Statute for Trieste

PARIS — (AP) — The peace conference commission on Italian political and territorial questions decided today to set up an eight-nation sub-committee to draft a statute for the free city of Trieste.

At the same time James C. Dunn, U. S. assistant secretary of state, withdrew three American proposals for a detailed demarcation of the international zone and Italian-Yugoslav boundaries.

American and French explanations of the American action differed.

Dunn was quoted as saying the proposals were withdrawn because they never had been discussed by the foreign ministers council. The proposals were only advanced because he had given their approval in the council to the French line to which the council agreed. Now the French have drawn up a detailed proposal and, rather than create confusion by having two proposals emanating from members of the four power foreign ministers council, the United States decided to withdraw its plan, Dunn was quoted.

A French source, however, said the American proposals were withdrawn because of adamant opposition from the Russians, who would not budge from their view that they had given their approval to the council to the French and not the American line.

The detailed American line differed from the French at two points, near Gorizia north of Trieste, and near Montefalco, west of Trieste. Lief Egeland of South Africa whose proposal to establish a sub-commission to draft a Trieste constitution and freecity charter, said the proposal should finish its work by Oct. 5. The proposal was adopted unanimously.

An indication of Big Four harmony was given in the Balkan economic commission when the Russian delegate N. S. Gerachtchenko thanked United States representative Willard Thorp for his "spirit of conciliation," in yielding to the Soviet point of view of one of the minor economic clauses of the Romanian treaty.

An Austrian proposal for a court of human rights to enforce peace treaty provisions governing man's "fundamental freedoms" attracted the scrutiny of the conference's legal and drafting commission.

An Australian spokesman—terming it "one of the last remaining hopes for a better world"—declared the proposal would ensure that the Atlantic charter make its mark on the world of the future and added: "It deserves more attention than it is getting."

Yugoslavia and U. S. Tentatively Agree on Payment

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton said today that Yugoslavia has tentatively agreed to the principle of paying an indemnity for the loss of five American lives in the forced crashes of two American planes last month.

Yugoslavians officials in preliminary conversations with U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson have raised a question as to whether they should pay also for the loss of the planes, Clayton told a news conference.

The undersecretary — in conference at the state department in the absence of Secretary Byrnes and Undersecretary Dean Acheson—said no conclusive agreement has been reached with Marshal Tito's regime on the reparations matter.

All that the state department has received from Patterson thus far, he said, has been the first Yugoslav reaction to the ambassador's preliminary presentation of the issue.

He added that the state department has indicated to Patterson the amount the United States believes suitable for the indemnity payment, but he declined to make the figure public.

Clayton reiterated the position taken by the government yesterday that it would not intervene to bail UNRRA shipments to Yugoslavia because of American differences with Tito.

He said the department was sorry to see the AFL Longshoremen's union take matters into its own hands and refuse to load ships with UNRRA supplies destined for Yugoslavia.

This is a matter, Clayton said, which should be decided either by UNRRA or the state department.

Hannah Fails To Win Truce On West Coast

WASHINGTON — AP — Continuation of the AFL's paralyzing maritime strike until the wage stabilization board reverses its wage limitation decision was forecast to Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach today by Assistant Secretary Philip Hannah.

Hannah reported on his failure to win a truce, during a weekend trip to San Francisco, as AFL maritime leaders snubbed a stabilization board hearing on operator pleas for permission to pay higher wages.

At the White House, Senator Radcliffe (D-Mo) told reporters that "the navy ought to operate the ships, if necessary."

"I wouldn't stop at anything to operate them," Radcliffe declared.

Asked whether he told President Truman that, Radcliffe said he didn't go that far, but merely said some way would have to be found to start the ships moving. He declined to say what specific suggestions he had offered Mr. Truman.

The White House itself continued silent.

Hannah told Schwellenbach he was convinced after conferring with west coast strike leader Harry Lundeborg, that "unless there is a complete reversal by the board," Lundeborg won't send his men back to work.

J. B. Bryan, president of the Pacific American Shipworkers association, today appealed to the wage stabilization board on our behalf, possibly on seamen's wages which precipitated the AFL maritime strike.

He declared that if the board holds to its present position, "before we know it, we're going to have two more strikes on our hands, possibly the marine firemen and the marine cooks and stewards."

The inspectors stated that if this practice was not remedied, they would prosecute the offenders under Public Health Ordinance 245, which states that displayed foods shall be kept covered and protected from flies and other vermin at all times.

The law reads, they emphasized, that prepared foods be covered unless being dished up for service to the customer, that surfaces on which foods are prepared shall be clean and free from contamination; and that adequate fly control must be carried out at all times.

Howard and Salmon requested that the public extend full cooperation to the program, emphasizing that the easiest way to control such threats to public health, is for the customers to refuse to buy uncovered foods. They said they should complain to the management.

The inspectors stated: "This unlawful use of contaminated food will be stopped immediately, or offenders will be prosecuted."

Yugoslavia and U. S. Tentatively Agree on Payment

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton said today that Yugoslavia has tentatively agreed to the principle of paying an indemnity for the loss of five American lives in the forced crashes of two American planes last month.

Yugoslavians officials in preliminary conversations with U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson have raised a question as to whether they should pay also for the loss of the planes, Clayton told a news conference.

The undersecretary — in conference at the state department in the absence of Secretary Byrnes and Undersecretary Dean Acheson—said no conclusive agreement has been reached with Marshal Tito's regime on the reparations matter.

All that the state department has received from Patterson thus far, he said, has been the first Yugoslav reaction to the ambassador's preliminary presentation of the issue.

He added that the state department has indicated to Patterson the amount the United States believes suitable for the indemnity payment, but he declined to make the figure public.

Clayton reiterated the position taken by the government yesterday that it would not intervene to bail UNRRA shipments to Yugoslavia because of American differences with Tito.

He said the department was sorry to see the AFL Longshoremen's union take matters into its own hands and refuse to load ships with UNRRA supplies destined for Yugoslavia.

This is a matter, Clayton said, which should be decided either by UNRRA or the state department.

Curfew Lifted in City of Tel Aviv

JERUSALEM — (AP) — The curfew at Tel Aviv was lifted today after the city's 200,000 Jewish residents had been under house arrest for 16 hours following a wave of terror in which three persons were killed, a number of others injured and heavy property damage caused.

Police and soldiers searched and questioned the Jewish residents during the curfew but there was no immediate report of arrests or discoveries.

The military continued to cordon off nearby Ramat Gan, a Jewish town of 5,000, which has been under curfew and a comb-out since dawn.

Unofficial sources said 900 had been screened at Ramat Gan and that 30 had been detained for further questioning.

A number of bombs exploded during the night.

Approximately 8,000 troops poured into Tel Aviv at dawn to assist police in making a house-to-house search of that all-Jewish city, where two British officers were listed as killed outright in an explosion which damaged a government building.

A British communiqué said that armed Jews were responsible for the blasts, which followed by 24 hours a widespread series of raids in which Palestine rail lines were cut in more than 50 places.

The spreading wave of violence coincided with the opening of British-Arab talks in London on the Palestine problem.

Worries, Airborne

SEATTLE — (AP) — County Treasurer Carroll Carter, used to worry about dents in the car fenders but now he worries about scars on the family airplane.

When Carter met his wife and two teen-age daughters on their return from a Florida flight he found several patches on his plane. Daughters Mary and Sue explained they had an argument with a gas pump in Wyoming, a forced landing in Idaho—and an encounter with a bull in Florida.

SPORTS SHOTS

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF AP Sports Editor

DALLAS.—Big Ed Dusek of Temple, who played with Texas A. and M. in 1942, then went away for a hitch in the air forces, will wear contact lenses this fall as he resumes full-back duties for the Aggies.

Use of these plastic lenses that fit over the eyeballs is comparatively new in football and Dusek is one of the first to employ them in the Southwest conference.

Dusek is near-sighted and needs glasses to distinguish the figures of the other players in line at the induction station to please call out the letters in a loud voice.

Knowing he couldn't read the placards they throw at you in the eye test without help he asked the fellow ahead of him in line at the induction station to please call out the letters in a loud voice.

The other fellow did as Ed had asked so when it came Dusek's time to read the letters he stepped forward and rattled them off with ease.

"Son, I am sorry to say, we just changed the card—just before you read it."

But Ed got into the air forces all right, he was put in limited service. You just have to give a guy who tries that hard a break.

The fact that all the stadia in the Southwest conference combined take care of fewer than 200,000 fans has caused considerable agitation for enlargement.

This year every school anticipates sell-outs for most games. The Texas-Texas A. and M. game, Thanksgiving day, for instance, would draw 100,000 except that there are only 44,000 seats available in Memorial stadium at Austin.

Other stadiums are taking care of 21,500 and they had to transfer the Aggie-SMU game to the Cotton Bowl because about twice that many wanted in.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice says the 29,500 seats at Rice will be sold out within a week after the Texas-Rice tickets are put on the block. Baylor is having to add some 8,000 bleacher seats for the Texas-Baylor game and they are not enough.

But there are obstacles in the way of enlarging the stadia. Business managers of Athletics don't think materials will be available for several years and if so they would have to double-deck instead of increasing the circumference of the stadia so the fans wouldn't be too far away from the field. Double decking is very expensive.

They then arises this question: How long will the boom in attendance last? won't football sink back to something like normalcy in a few years when the present spurge of high salaries and high spending subsides? then there would be stadia with no one to fill them to see.

P. L. Downs, Jr. A. and M. business manager of Athletics who is a veteran at this business of selling tickets and seating crowds, thinks there will be a natural gain but that it won't be anything like the present boom that has the people flocking in to spend their money.

He thinks stadia will have to be built on a new basis.

Garland or Carithers To Face Bill Evans, Ace Sox Pitcher

By SCOTT RAFFERTY News Sports Editor

Facing each other for the fourth straight game, the Pampa Oilers and the Amarillo Gold Sox will open their half of the West Texas-New Mexico league playoff series tonight at eight o'clock at Oiler park.

Pampa and Amarillo, who finished second and third, respectively, in the league, will battle it out in a best four-out-of-seven series and will then meet the winner of the Abilene-Lubbock series for the playoff championship.

Manager Grover Seitz of the Oilers indicated yesterday that he would send one of two left-handers—Bill Garland or Jim Carithers—against the Sox tonight while Buzz Bass, Rock of the Gold Sox has already selected Colorado Bill Evans as his choice.

In Evans, the Oilers will face the league's leading pitcher. He has 27 wins and seven losses, and is the leading strikeout artist. Evans sent 295 would-be hitters down via the strikeout method, breaking by almost 30 the mark set in 1941 by Russell Crozier of the Sox.

However, Pampa's two star south-paws have made a few "marks" themselves this year.

Garland, in winning 23 and losing six during the season, was named pitcher of the year by the Oilers, while Seitz, who pitched 273 innings, also surpassing Crozier's mark, and his earned run average of less than 2.70 per game was one of the best in the league. A great hustler and one who gets on base at least once in each game, Otey will be at his regular second base position.

Following Otey in the usual batting order is Earl Harriman, a good hitter and one of the most durable shortstops in the league.

Tony Range will be at third. Range has led Oiler hitters through most of the season.

In center field will be Jack Riley, whose hitting dropped for a time last season, but who is considered one of the best outfielders in the league.

As first base will be Big Virgil Richardson, who has played every inning of every Oiler game and leads the team in doubles, home runs and runs batted in and is second on the team in runs scored.

John Fortin will probably be in right field. Fortin was obtained earlier this year from Lamesa and is only four behind Richardson in the runs-batted-in department.

Grover Seitz, whose hitting has soared from a mediocre .260 to a near-the-top .328 in the last six weeks, will probably patrol left field, although Al Johnston could possibly get the nod.

Behind the plate will be Al Zigelman, who has caught practically all Oiler games this year, with the exception of the period he was sidelined by injuries. Zigelman seldom hits above .280 but his abilities as a backstop are recognized all over the league.

Tomorrow night, the two teams will play here again and then will move to Amarillo for games Thursday and Friday.

If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played at Amarillo Saturday night and all other games, if the sixth and seventh are needed, will be played in Pampa.

The winner of the Pampa-Amarillo series will meet the winner of the Abilene-Lubbock series for the playoff championship and the right to meet the East Texas League titlist in Class C World Series.

Henderson, Texasans, Tyler and Greenville are battling for the East Texas league crown.

Plans Made for Elk Creek Lake in Future

SHAMROCK, (Special)—The Shamrock and Wellington city councils have voted to appropriate funds necessary to make a check on Elk creek in preparation to forming a lake in future years.

For every dollar appropriated by the local councils the bureau of reclamation will match a dollar, officials stated.

Plans are to construct a large dam across Elk creek south of Shamrock, thereby forming a lake for irrigation, recreation and creating a municipal water supply.

Three Longhorns Are Injured in Accident

AUSTIN.—(AP)—Three University of Texas football players and the team's student manager were injured in an automobile wreck near Taylor late Sunday.

Sam Wood, promising freshman center from Marshall and Jim Moody, student manager from Longview, were hospitalized with severe cuts.

Ralph E. (Peppy) Blunt, newly-declared state representative from Big Spring and a letterman end, and Nevada Kane, all-state Palestine tackle, suffered minor cuts and bruises. They were present for this morning's football practice but did not suit out.

The wreck occurred when their sedan struck loose gravel and overturned. Extent of the injuries to Wood and Moody were not fully determined early today.

Eighteen million pairs of cotton hose were made in the United States in 1930.

Cardinals Start on 13-Game Road Trip

By RALPH RODEN Associated Press Sports Writer

The do or die stage for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league pennant race gets underway today with the Red Birds beginning a 13-game road trip at Philadelphia while the Dodgers entertain the Cincinnati Reds.

The American league's eastern clubs take their last journey through the west with the pace-setting Boston Red Sox needing only to defeat the Detroit Tigers today to clinch their first pennant since 1918.

Leading the Dodgers by two games, the Cards will play the Phils twice and then invade Flatbush for a three-game series.

Brooklyn hurling, paced by Rookie Joe Hatten and Veteran Kirby Higbe, and the return to form of Pete Reiser, have increased the Broke's confidence in their chances of oustering the Redbirds.

The Cardinals pitching staff has shifted somewhat, with Howie Pollet and Murry Dickson hit exceptionally hard in their last outings. The Red Bird hitters are enjoying some of their biggest days of the season at the plate. Enos (Country) Slaughter has taken a commanding lead in the runs-batted-in department, and Stan Musial continued to pace the league in batting.

In the only game in either league yesterday, the Philadelphia Phillies nosed out the New York Giants, 5-4, under the lights at Philadelphia.

Hughes Makes Flight in Converted B-23

CULVER CITY.—(AP)—Howard Hughes, still bearing the scars of his fiery crash in an experimental plane July 7, today took off in a converted B-23 transport for New York to challenge the revocation of the seal of approval announced yesterday by the motion picture producers' association for his movie "The Outlaw."

Piloting the twin-engine craft himself, Hughes was accompanied only by a mechanic, Earl Martyn, and a passenger, John Sleet. The plane left the Hughes aircraft plants Culver City airfield at 4:41 a. m. (Pacific Standard Time).

Hughes said the first stop, which he planned to reach in "two or three hours," would be Albuquerque, N. M.

The millionaire plane and movie maker hoped to get "seven or eight hours sleep" at Albuquerque, he said, before going on to New York.

Hughes suffered several broken bones and a crashed chest in his July accident and spent many weeks in a hospital before being removed to the home of a friend to recuperate.

The average American ate 225 pounds of fruit annually between 1937 and 1941.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. SPRINGFIELD, N. J.—(AP)—Capt. Cary Middlecoff, one guy who apparently doesn't think that shooting is harder than pulling teeth, doesn't agree with the folks who think he can belt a golf ball a mile.

After trying for the lead in the National Amateur qualifying round, Middlecoff remarked: "They say I'm a long hitter but Skee Riegel was consistently out-driving me—then when Howard Everitt came along late in the day to tie Middlecoff for the lead, Cary grinned: 'here I thought I was a big operator and you had to come along.'"

Riegel, an Upper Darby, Pa., who went West to attain golfing fame, says that "Skee" really is his name.

NOT-SO-HANDY ANDY

Andy Anderson of Oklahoma City, this department's favorite golfer because he doesn't take the game too seriously, almost set a championship record yesterday in his first appearance in the big tourney—Andy belted three drives out of bounds from the first tee and scored 10-9, ten strokes over par, for the first two holes—Then he rinned the cup shooting for a double eagle on the 18th—The U. S. G. A. record for courage still belongs to a pro, Ray Ainsley, who took 17 strokes on one hole at Denver's Cherry Hills club, and kept on playing.

ON-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Smiley Quick still is troubled with a twitch in one leg, an aftermath of bombings in the Pacific. Plenty of golfers would settle for the same affliction—and the same scores—He shot a 70 yesterday—Coach Harvey Harman cut 14 men off his squad because there wasn't enough equipment. The next afternoon more than 14 new candidates showed up—Michigan State U. is planning a 12-game Southern baseball trip next spring. The Spartans won nine straight this year and as a result John Kobs wants to card the longest tour in his 17 years of coaching.

HAPPY ALLERGY

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Allergies make some people miserable, but Mrs. Olga Sandler is thankful for hers.

Police had Mrs. Sandler's report that she was held up by two masked gunmen who took her $1,000 dinner ring and $750 wrist watch. Then asked for her wedding and engagement rings which she valued at $7,700.

"I let them at home," Mrs. Sandler said she replied, "I'm allergic to them and my fingers break out in a rash."

She held out her sore finger. The policemen looked at it, then drove off.

INADEQUATE PUNISHMENT

Col. James A. Kilian and three other officers convicted by military court of permitting brutality against soldier prisoners have been let off with small money fees and reprimands, despite testimony of several witnesses that Colonel Kilian ordered rough treatment.

There is a vast difference between strict military discipline and brutal bullying. The former is essential in any army as recent Soviet orders make abundantly clear. The latter is inexcusable.

Enlisted personnel involved in the episode drew prison sentences. Notwithstanding the limited responsibility of an underling in an army, such punishment seems just. The sentences imposed upon Colonel Kilian and his officers do not seem to measure up to their offenses.

OH, GOD

It is some time now since we saw "Life With Father" and our memory is not up to recalling each individual use of the expletive or adjuration "Oh, God," now banned in Boston. But the general impression left by the play is that only a narrow, evil mind could have found anything objectionable in its use.

"Oh, God" as an oath is really the lazy man's way of saying "God d—n it" or some variation. It seems innocuous to most theater-goers. One can hardly walk a block on the street without hearing it. But certainly it isn't pretty, and the Bible does disapprove its use.

"Oh, God," said as we remember it in the play, is not an oath but more nearly a prayer. It is, in essence, a short version of something like the plea "Oh, God, please help me to put up with this child's mischievousness—or to be patient—or to find money to pay the butcher's bill."

"Oh, God" is not necessarily profane. If it were, Boston censors could close every church, cathedral and synagogue in the city.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Just before his plane crash, Howard Hughes spent several days with Bill Cagney at his Balboa Bayshore beach-house.

One morning Bill walked past Hughes' room and saw a sign tacked on the door that read: "Don't Anyone Open This Door."

Curious, Bill lated asked Hughes about the sign.

"It's those darn mosquitoes," said Hughes. "I guess some of 'em sneaked into my room during the daytime. I'm scared to death of them."

Danny Kaye's business manager recently purchased a hotel and asked Danny to suggest a name.

"Give me a clue," said Danny.

"Well, it's a class house with a coat of arms in the lobby and heraldic patterns worked into the stained-glass windows in the foyer. Maybe Royal Arms would be appropriate. I'm sticking to my intention to make it strictly a bachelor hotel."

"That's easy," said Kaye. "Just call it 'Empty Arms.'"

WILLS MAKEUP MODESTY
We were chatting with Irene Rich the other day, and she told us a Will Rogers story which we're sure has never been printed.

"Will hated putting on makeup. In Irene's first picture with him, they were on location and there was no makeup man available. They had to do it themselves."

Just before the first scene, Will turned up missing. Irene found him. He was behind some bushes, putting on his makeup in secret, so that no one could see him.

The censors are objecting to a white sweater Laraine Day wears in "The Locket." RKO may want to re-shoot the sequence. . . . Susan Peters, still in a wheelchair, wants to return to the screen in "Millie's Love," which Charles Bickford will produce independently. G-M-G is thinking it over. . . . Sight of the week: Marie (The Body) McDonald in a one-piece white bathing-suit—the kind worn by feminine swimmers in Olympic competition—for a scene in "Life for the Loving."

Peter Edson's Column:

TAKE IT EASY NOW, FARMER BROWN

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Washington Correspondent
Peter Edson is on vacation
WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Organized labor has constantly fought for a good living wage in a shorter work week. One of the main ideas behind this constant drive is to let the working man share the benefits of labor-saving devices, industrial progress and the general wealth of the nation.

But what about the farmer? Nobody, least of all the farmer himself, has spent much energy trying to get a 40-hour week for him.

Well, the time will soon come for him to start working a shorter week. When the world food crisis is over, the American farmer, if he is smart, will start taking it easy.

He should step in bed longer in the morning. He should knock off work at 4:30 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon, instead of waiting until the sun goes down. The chores can be regulated to a shorter working day. He should catch up on some of the current books. He should make more trips to the dentist and doctor. He should take a correspondence course. He should spend more time with his family and get to know his children. He should start getting a little more enjoyment out of life.

This is all implied in a department of agriculture report called "Changes in Farming in War and Peace" written by Sherman E. Johnson.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Question: Does the world still have religious faith?

Answer: Thousands of soldiers in Camp Lee, Va., knelt in the posts ten chapels Sunday and prayed for divine aid for seven-year-old Nancy Henderson of Burlington, Vermont, whose doctors have pronounced her incurably ill from brain tumor. Nancy is the daughter of Master Sergeant Ralph W. Henderson.

Over in England people throughout the country at the week-end thousands prayed for better weather, which would permit harvesters to begin the salvage of grain from rain-sodden fields.

Meantime in Philadelphia Britain's Archbishop of Canterbury was telling a national convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, Episcopal lay organization that world brotherhood and peace never will be attained apart from Christianity.

So there is faith—and far more than could be indicated in these three instances. However, there has developed a threat to religion which was brought out in the Philadelphia convention by John Foster Dulles, copal lay organization that world brotherhood and peace never will be attained apart from Christianity.

Controlling at home ten percent of the human race, it offers leadership to a further 75 percent constituting the overwhelming majority of Europe, Asia, Africa and South America. That challenge has had an initial success. In every part of the world there are influential groups which accept leadership from Moscow.

The archbishop had a word about Russia also:

"We must convince Russia that, on our own principles, we do not want to invade her living in her own ideology. But we must convince her we do not want another ideology imposed there. It has no welcome."

The significance of these statements is that communism is the doctrine of the masses and must be eliminated.

Apart from communism, untold thousands of people in Europe came under the evil influence of nazism, are bogged down spiritually, morally and in morale. Hitler deliberately corrupted all he could among his own people and the peoples of neighboring states who came under his control.

This group of wanderers constitutes one of the greatest problems of rehabilitation. They are without guidance and in due course they are going to be caught by one of two faiths—red communism or Christianity. It depends on which gets there first with the greatest driving force.

"This boy is forced to sit in a classroom with little children in the Fifth Grade where he cannot learn to read. The psychologists say he has a block, but he has no block when it comes to building a trap or putting a roof on a barn, or soldering a leaking pipe. He cannot read. Alas in Wonderland! Having reached the age of 15, he reads Third Grade books. His arithmetic is so-so. But as a plumber, he is superior to one who charges $5 an hour. He can recall that the first President of the United States was George Washington, but, for him, the second President was Abraham Lincoln. Nevertheless, when a pump in his house became defective, he spotted the flaw in the motor, corrected the short and saved his farmhouse from burning down."

"If education to keep such boys out of jail until they are 18 or 19 or whatever the law requires, dulling their spirits, creating inferiority, breaking the will, whereas if the boy went to work as an apprentice, he would accomplish something worthy while? Who is so knowing that he has a right to imprison a child in a classroom?"

"The answer, of course, is that compulsory general education does not recognize exceptional human beings. In some cities, there are trade high schools, but such a boy as my little friend cannot reach high school grade. He is stuck, with his brilliant native intelligence, because he cannot read a blueprint. At school I must find a place for every kind of student whatever his hopes and talents."

We are stating the simple fact that, in an industrial age, no alternative exists to the wide-spread employment of minors, not much more likely, their widespread unemployment) except some concept of schooling which recognizes and adjusts the differences among students.

"But no system of education can meet the characteristics and requirements of the exceptional child. The child can go to a private school or hire tutors. The brilliant pianist or violinist is permitted to devote himself to his skills. But no consideration is given to the child of the Edisons or Henry Fords. They are required to read Shakespeare when their inner being demands that they tinker about in an old barn, using their hands and their imagination."

Note Sokolsky's statement, "Who is so knowing that he has a right to imprison a child in a classroom?"

The person who endorses tax supported schools so exalts his wisdom that he is willing to use compulsion to make every man pay for something that the bare majority wants taught.

We have taken up the sword in our tax-supported educational system and this sword, this force, will eventually destroy us. This is the whole philosophy of Jesus. If it is not so, his teachings were in error. I do not believe they were.

The results we are reaping indicate the He was the Great Teacher, the Great Leader, the Great Philosopher.

Colman Improving After 3-Day Illness

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—(AP)—Severely ill for the last three days with a head and scalp infection, Movie Actor Ronald Colman was showing improvement today, said his physician, Dr. Robert J. Kostich.

day difficulties, and they are hitting out blindly against federal lawmakers.

VINDICTIVE—This element of the electorate is defined as men and women making from $1,500 to $5,000 a year, possibly more or less, and who have enjoyed no visible benefits from government handouts, increased wages, rising prices and other political or economic gifts.

"These voters do not seem especially sure the party in power, although the democrats may suffer more severely because they happen to be in the majority.

The folks are not selective in their punishment at the polls. They are downright vindictive because they feel that their interests have been neglected.

BITTER—Although any accurate analysis or weighting of the prejudices and psychological forces which move them would be only guesswork, bewildered politicians think that they discern a certain unity of pattern among the voters.

While not anti-labor in a general sense, they feel that the unions have pushed the normal wage scales too high, that major strikes have kept them from getting the goods they need, and that leaders of the movement seek to run the country.

They are especially bitter against the C. I. O. They point out that the price bulge was preceded by the administration-sponsored plan for fattening pay envelopes.

PRICE-FIXERS—The present-day voter is also described as extremely anti-bureaucratic and anti-complexities, and he tends to associated these two.

He cannot understand why he should have to live under federal controls, now that the war has ended. He has the feeling that certain officials at Washington—and his principal gripe seems to be against the price-fixers—want to maintain controls simply for the sake of controls.

His enforced wartime friendship for and confidence in the Russians, including their allies in this country, have vanished. Many suspect that both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations were too generous toward Stalin, and democratic scouts welcome the more determined and stubborn Truman-Byrnes program toward the Soviet.

CONFIDENCE—The two party chairmen—Democrat Robert E. Hannegan and Republican Carroll Reece—draw sharply different conclusions from these canvasses.

Mr. Hannegan expresses confidence that the great mass of voters still admire and adhere to the major Truman-Roosevelt program, or, as he prefers to put it in his public addresses, to the basic Roosevelt-Truman philosophy.

Barring a serious economic slump, he feels that there are at least two more ballot-box triumphs—one next November and one in 1948—in their policies.

PEAK—Mr. Reece maintains that the resentment will reach such a peak two months hence that the democrats will lose their hold on the house, and possibly on the senate.

He thinks that the party in power has lost popularity with the workmen with numerous racial groups and with millions of republicans who voted for F. D. R. because they thought him more experienced to lead the nation to a victory over the Axis.

If the white-collar class has taken to the warpath against the "ins," he looks for a republican congress in January and a G. O. P. return to the White House in January 1949.

MAGIC—President Truman's success in "purging" Missouri Representative Roger C. Slaughter, has encouraged him to play a more active role in the 1948 congressional campaign than he had intended a few months ago. His aides insist that there is still magic in the presidential office, and that a swing might help the ticket in several tight spots.

California democrats have asked him to appear on the coast, where Senator William F. Knowland, republican, is making a neck-and-neck fight of it with Will Rogers Jr., son of the humorist. Senator James W. Huffman will undoubtedly need White House reinforcement in his re-election battle against John W. Bricker.

The Mead-Lehrman slate in key New York State could use a presidential appeal. So could New England democrats, especially in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, where the G. O. P. will seek to capture the three senate seats in those states.

Today's Schedule of Redeployment

More than 1,300 service personnel and 321 war brides and children are due to depart today from three ships at New York and San Francisco.

Ship arriving:
At New York—
Maritime Victory from Bremerhaven, 1,237 troops; President Tyler from Bremerhaven, 47 troops and 321 war brides and children.

At San Francisco—
Thistle from Pearl Harbor, 36 troops.

If they (the Soviet) should continue to press their plan for world domination, it is difficult to see how we are finally to avoid trouble with them.—Frank E. Gannett of Rochester, N. Y., newspaper publisher.

More Products Under Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—OPA ceilings go back on canned meats, with shortening today.

Tomorrow they return to fresh meat. This complicating the farmer-to-consumer chain started when the price decontrol board ordered livestock products brought back under price control.

OPA has announced that canned meats will be rolled back to June 30 levels lard is due to average five and one-half cents a pound more and margarine and salad oils about one cent more for the usual consumer-size container.

The ceilings on fresh meats will average three and one-half cents up from June 30 but considerably below recent prices, the agency has said. Some cuts will be as much as 16 cents a pound higher than they last sold under OPA tags.

Despite industry predictions of a new meat famine, officials in the meat prospect to a return to rationing is remote.

In Chicago, the meat packing industry pledged its best efforts to make the new meat ceilings work.

"One of our great advantages is that we have a common language world-wide. Perhaps if the whole world spoke a common language we might get along better," said Adm. Luis de Florez, assistant chief of navy research.

acres than they would normally be worth.

INFLATED INVESTMENTS MAY RUIN FARMERS
Farmer Brown has capitalized his gains. Then he's back in the same work-rut as before. He's trying to get a profit from land that cost him too much in the first place. He's got to work harder than ever to make it pay.

For a while he might make more gross income. But all the farmers in the area have done the same thing. Soon they can't sell all they grow. Brown's savings are gone, and he's saddled with a lot more responsibility.

If he had been content with the farm he had in the first place, at least he would have had his savings left. He could have spent part of them for washing machines and appliances to make his wife's work easier. Or he could have spent for farm equipment to make his own chores easier.

This situation, multiplied in every farm community all over the country, adds up to a future of more work and more headaches for the farmer.

That's the outlook, based on the best information at hand. If the export market should boom, and if the U. S. should begin eating a lot more food, and if industry should find new uses for farm products, the farmer could easily expand and further mechanize after a proven increased demand exists. There would be a real incentive for it then.

But in the meantime, Farmer Brown, plan to take it easy.

German Requests Just 'Kind Word' From GI

RICHLAND.—(AP)—E. F. Lewis of Richland Springs has not decided whether to fight or be taken home, a request made of him by a German citizen who had fed him and two other GIs a few days before the time the German army was retreating and the allies were capturing Braunfels, Germany.

153 Customs Houses Closed by Strikes

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—The Association of Customs Agencies closed 153 member houses here at Tampico and Veracruz yesterday in protest against the leaders' strike which has shut all agencies in Nuevo Laredo since Sept. 2, paralyzing trans-border traffic with the United States.

The 48-hour protest lockout began today at noon. Officials said the action would cost the government 10,000,000 pesos ($2,000,000) daily in uncollected duties.

Loaders struck 55 customs agencies in Nuevo Laredo demanding 10 percent wage increases. The agencies offered eight percent.

President Avila Comacho, in an interview with labor representatives here today, predicted a "satisfactory settlement" of the dispute, and the federal labor department said it had invited management and labor delegates to confer here. Conferences with regional labor representatives failed.

Maritime

no representative of the striking AFL seamen were on hand. Their leaders apparently were going through with their plan to remain away.

Bryan told the six board members that the raise of $22.50 a month which Pacific ship owners agreed to pay west coast able-bodied seamen and firemen is "not inflationary." The board ruled on August 23 that $17.50 was the limit under the present wage price policy.

Bryan said the seamen agreed to forego over 60 other demands.

"In many cases," he said, granting a single one of these demands would mean an increase of more than the $5 representing what the board turned down.

As the hearing opened he resumption of American shipping was at stake.

The board was gravely aware that America's merchant fleet lay motionless as the members met for a second look at their ruling.

The resumption of ocean shipping is at stake.

So, too, perhaps, is the future of the board itself and the whole government wage-price policy laid down last February 14.

Here is the board's dilemma:
 1. If it sticks to its August 23 ruling that able-bodied seamen should get no more than $17.50 a month as a wage increase, the strike might go on and on with dire results.
 2. If it reverses its position it would do something which a majority of its members have said "would seriously weaken the whole stabilization program."

The White House, the labor department, the maritime commission, the army, navy and other agencies stood by. There were conferences, but no definite plan of government action emerged.

One thing that could make the task easier for the wage stabilization board is "new evidence."

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff

The national science scientist of Lightning Bug Hollow down near Italy way, says solemnly he'll soon be commercializing rabbit tail loupes if the OPA doesn't step in and plank a ceiling on his products.

This, of course, is strictly off the level. For the benefit of those who prefer one syllable words, it's just a plain lie. But Rollins says he has developed a rabbit with a tail as long as its body.

The tail, he says, is like that of a large Persian cat, and when the rabbit is excited, it sorts of spreads out like that of a skunk. The hair, he continues, is very fine.

Rollins may be remembered as the technician lighting bug that was supposed to lure bull weevils from cotton patches.

He says he's going to show his new rabbits at state and county fairs.

Houstonians were startled recently by a dog. It was large, and striped like a zebra. The stripes were about half an inch wide, and spaced four inches apart around its body—even around its nose.

Mrs. W. M. Wolf, who exhibited the hound, said it was a genuine, honest-to-goodness Mexican zebra hound. She says she knows of but one other such dog in the United States.

It's smaller than a bird dog, is a fighting fool, is named Pooch, and is perfectly normal except for the stripes. The Houston Post carried its picture to prove it.

Then there was that cat born north of Bonham.

Most cats have nine lives, they say, but this one had eight legs. J. J. Kincaid found it, and brought it to Bonham to show around. It didn't live.

Liquor Charges Are Filed Here Today

J. L. Fitzgerald of Clinton, Okla., was arrested by Bill Money, agent for the liquor control board yesterday on charges of transporting liquor without a license.

The county police said, Fitzgerald, who was apprehended on U. S. highway 60 in Pampa, pleaded not guilty and was released on $250 bond.

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER

By Alice M. Laverick Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

OVER and over in my mind I have turned the events of that day, the last day of summer, the day that this shadow fell, and wondered if I couldn't have done something to avert the disaster.

The day began quietly enough. Cousin Ellen had decided at last to put away Mrs. Fitzgerald's clothes, a thing she had not had the heart to do before, and I was helping her. We worked all afternoon, Cousin Ellen weeping now and then over the lovely silks and velvets, the priceless laces that Honora had loved, telling me for the hundredth time through her tears what a proud, handsome woman herself had looked wearing them.

Toward evening, Ellen sent me down to the kitchen to get things started for dinner. It was getting late, and we were expecting Beatrice.

I saw Mark, as I passed his study door, but I gave no thought to the fact that Charlotte and Colin were not about. I did not miss them until Beatrice arrived and they were not there to greet her.

Beatrice came into the kitchen, as was her friendly custom, and asked where everyone was. She was casual about it and she sat talking to me, while I gazed in admiration at her lovely dinner dress, a soft rose color and most becoming.

"I just got it, Cecelia. Do you like it?" she said. "It has a little train, isn't it regal?" She walked across the floor to show me the little train sweeping behind her, giving it a gay little kick, as she turned.

She said softly, "Do you think they'll like it, Cecelia?"

And I told her I was sure they would.

I think it was while we were discussing the dress that Cousin Ellen called from upstairs, "Cecelia, do you bring me the little key you'll find hanging inside the cupboard door. It'll be the one with the blue tag that says 'black leather trunk'."

And Beatrice said, "I'll take it up to her, Cecelia. You stay here and watch your biscuits, I'm too fond of them to let you burn them."

We were both laughing as she trailed the rose-colored train up the back stairs.

I was putting a blueberry pie on the window sill to cool, when I saw her, Miss Charlotte and Colin, coming slowly up from the river together. There was something in the way they walked, the way they looked at each other, the way they did not seem to know where they were going, that made me unable to look away, as they passed close by the window where I stood.

And I remembered, then, how Beatrice Harrington, her sweet face alight with eagerness, had said softly, "Do you think they'll like it, Cecelia?" Only, of course, what she had meant was, "Do you think he'll like it? Do you think Colin Fitzgerald will like it?"

FBI Courses in Law Enforcement Are Offered Here

Four highly specialized instructors from the Federal Bureau of Investigation will teach classes in criminal apprehension and law enforcement in Pampa this week Chief of Police Louie Allen announced today.

The school is offered to instruct new officers on the force, most of whom are veterans, who have a basic knowledge of firearms, but need more training in the many technicalities of law enforcement, Allen said.

Officers from the city and county forces will be present, as well as many officers from other towns of this area. Classes will be conducted at the courtroom from 3 to 6 each evening, starting today and ending Saturday. They will follow this schedule:

Tuesday, September 10, Classes on instruction in fingerprinting, by H. E. Plaxleo.

Wednesday, September 11, Classes on the facilities of the FBI laboratory, by Max Richardson.

Thursday, September 12, Classes on the mechanics or arrest, by Earl H. Clark.

Friday, September 13, Classes on searching at the scene of the crime, also by Earl H. Clark.

Saturday, September 14, Classes on the preservation of evidence.

Allen stated he was expecting a large attendance to these classes since they will prove beneficial to any officer in conjunction with his work.

And, without quite realizing why I did it, I hurried to the front hall to tell Colin and Charlotte that Beatrice had come.

But I didn't tell them. For, when I opened the door, they were standing there close together, looking into each other's eyes. And just then, as I hesitated, Colin, with a sound like a groan, swept Charlotte into his arms and held her close. And without a word, Charlotte lifted her face, and they kissed, oblivious of everything around them.

And at that moment, I looked up and saw Beatrice come hurrying to the top of the stairs. And just as she was about to descend, she saw them there, Colin and Charlotte in each other's arms.

She tried to take a step backward, tripped on the train of the rose-colored gown and plunged headlong down the stairs.

It was Mark who picked her up, rushing from his study before any of the rest of us could move. And even I realized instantly that she was dead.

And somehow in those first horrible moments while Mark shouted at Colin to call the doctor, while Ellen clutched the railing at the top of the stairs and screamed, while I struggled to keep from fainting, I was aware that Charlotte Brent had not moved nor spoken. Then, suddenly I heard her laugh that shrill, peculiar laugh of hers, over and over.

And I was never to forget the terrible look of horror turning slowly to the blankness that wiped her face empty of expression. The blankness that had come to stay.

The shadow had fallen over Innisfaul.
