Australian Delegate Calls for Justification of Russian Demands

Red Demands Are Described As 'Lenient'

PARIS—AP—An Australian delegate to the peace conference today proposed that Russia be called upon to "justify her reparation demands" and asked that a special "on the spot investigation" be made of the ability of former European enemy nations to pay the Soviet's $900,000,000 demands.

E. Ronald Walker made the proposal to the economic commission for the Balkans after the Italian commission had approved two more paragraphs of the preamble to the Italian draft treaty.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov responded: "Australia has not had her fields, cities and industries devastated."

He described Russia as "lenient" in asking for $300,000,000 from Romania when "billions of dollars of damage has been done." Molotov pointed out that Russia had increased the time allotted for payment from six to eight years.

Russia has asked reparations from Romania, Finland, Hungary and Italy. The United States, Great Britain and France did not include reparations demands of any size in the draft treaties that the foreign secretaries conference prepared for the peace parley.

The Italian commission to date has passed on approximately 13 percent of the entire document. No progress whatever has been made on any of the other four treaties.

Nearly three and a half hours were consumed in debate before 18 words of a Netherlands amendment and seven words of an Australian amendment were adopted by the Italian commission and the fourth and fifth paragraphs of the treaty finally approved. There are more than 55,000 words in the five treaties.

The Netherlands amendment adopted after revision, had the effect of giving the ally greater recognition for her part in the war against Germany.

A concerted campaign by Russia and her satellites against countries separating the Soviet bloc from the Mediterranean seemed in the opinion of some observers to have been a "peace parley," Page 6.

Former Associate Justice Is Dead

WASHINGTON—(AP)—James Clark McReynolds, who topped all his supreme court colleagues in dissenting to new deal laws, is dead.

The 84-year-old retired associate died at Walter Reed army hospital Saturday night. He had been ill a year.

The body will be taken to Elkton, Ky., for funeral services Thursday.

McReynolds stepped down from the court on Feb. 1941 after 25 years on the bench—the last eight of them marked by fiery denunciations of legislation pushed through congress by the Roosevelt administration.

A democrat himself—he served as attorney general under Woodrow Wilson—McReynolds nevertheless voted against every major new deal measure and nearly all minor ones that reached the high court.

His death leaves only two members of the court which President Roosevelt said was made up of "nine old men" living in "horse and buggy days." They are Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts, both retired.

McReynolds' death came unexpectedly. He entered the hospital August 2 but apparent improvement in his condition led his brother, Dr. Robert P. McReynolds to leave for his Los Angeles home Friday. That day, however, the retired justice developed signs of pneumonia and falling heart.

His brother, the only close relative, was reached at Chicago and hurried back to Washington.

Firemen Extinguish Carnival Truck Blaze

City firemen, employing carbon dioxide extinguishers, early this morning brought under control a blazing Tidwell carnival truck parked in the 300 block of South Cuyler.

The fire originated from defective wiring, fireman said.

It was the fire department's first call in eight days.

NAGGING PROBLEM

NEW YORK—(AP)—The ancient nag "get a horse" got a different twist yesterday—and it happened in Brooklyn, naturally.

The preserving crew of a police emergency truck spent three hours hauling Kevin, a saddle horse who strayed from his appointed path, from a four feet of fill in which he became bogged. His rider, Brooklynite Herbert Mensch, had jumped clear.

When they finally heaved Kevin back to safety, the bay was a horse of another color—muddy black.

GTS DEMONSTRATE IN PARIS—As a gendarme stands by to avert disorder, American soldiers in Paris throng in front of the entrance of the Yugoslav legation in a demonstration protesting Yugoslav murdering our comrades. Occupants of the first American plane shot down have been released, while bodies of three flyers were found in a mass grave.

Early Hearing Set by U.N. on New Charge

NEW YORK—(AP)—An early hearing by the United Nations security council of the charge by the Soviet Ukraine that the Greek government is a threat to the peace of the Balkans appeared assured today.

Acting swiftly in answer to the Ukraine's request for speed, the United Nations secretariat and Dr. Cesar Lange of Poland, president of the security council, put the new case on the council's agenda for Wednesday, immediately after consideration of applications by nine nations for admission to the United Nations.

It was believed that the Greek case would be heard late in the week.

The case materialized Saturday when Dmitri Manuilsky, foreign minister of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic, sent from Paris to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the U. N., a complaint charging the Greek government with:

1. Numerous border incidents on the Greek-Albanian frontier "which are being provoked by the Greek armed units with the connivance and encouragement of the Greek authorities."

2. Persecution of national minorities in Macedonia, Thrace and Epirus.

The complaint said such a policy "threatens to convert the Balkan peninsula into a center of bitter conflicts and to entail international complications."

The Soviet Ukraine said the principal factors "conducive to the situation in the Balkans as created by this policy of the present Greek government is the presence of British troops in Greece and the direct intervention of British military representatives into the internal affairs of this allied country in behalf of aggressive monarchist elements, especially in the preparation of the referendum set for Sept. 1, 1946.

Which means: court action and a fair trial.

But this 14th amendment also says: No state shall "deny any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

After looking over all the civil rights guaranteed the Georgia Negroes under the constitution, the only way in which the FBI could make arrests would be this: if the couple had resided in the Woodard's Cisco home.

On Wednesday night, the sheriff said, a group of men called on Tapio and told him and his bride to leave the area. The next night, a group of men with masks approached the house and exchanged shots with Tapio who fired from an upstairs window.

During the shooting, Woodard was shot in the hip, Hart said he is recovering.

Naval Hospital Opens Tomorrow

HOUSTON—(AP)—The new naval hospital here will receive its first patients at 9 a. m. tomorrow when 90 hospitalized navy men from the navy's hospital at Camp Wallace begin moving into wards, it was announced today.

A convoy of two buses, five ambulances and several trucks carrying gear will leave the Camp Wallace hospital at 7:30 a. m. with the first load of patients. The men will be moved from the hospital ward by ward, accompanied by their doctors, nurses and corpsmen. Movement will continue throughout the day until the 90 men are brought here.

On Wednesday, the remaining 83 patients in the hospital at the naval separation center will be moved to the hospital here to mark closing of the navy's special hospital at Camp Wallace. The camp itself is scheduled to close on September 1.

Texas' Politicians Seeking Seclusion

(By The Associated Press) After seeking out voters for several months, Texas' political candidates—winners and losers—today were seeking seclusion and rest.

The winners have definite problems ahead including proposed legislation and changes and appointments. The losers' problems vary, some will return to their old businesses or jobs. Others will begin new ventures.

For winners and losers alike, however, the Sept. 10 state democratic convention at San Antonio is high on the agenda.

H. Jester, gubernatorial nominee who on Saturday polled the largest run-off majority in Texas history, indicated that he may go fishing this week.

The governor-elect already is giving thought to the San Antonio convention and has reaffirmed his campaign pledges of seeking party harmony.

Homer P. Rainey said in Austin he wanted to rest at a location he did not want to reveal. His business and political plans for the future are uncertain, he said.

Jester, who spent the week-end with his family and friends in Corsicana, meanwhile continued to pile-up votes in his landslide victory that on latest returns of the Texas election bureau had given him 65.76 percent of the 1,939,493 votes tabulated.

He has received 683,665 votes to Rainey's 355,888, with returns reported from 252 of the state's 254 counties, with 235 complete.

Of the 252 counties, Jester was leading in all but Roberts, Bastrop, Travis, Loving, Zapata and Kleberg.

Other nominees include State Senator Allan Shivers of Port Arthur for lieutenant governor, J. E. McDonald for state commissioner of agriculture, and Judge Tom Beauchamp for reelection as judge of the court of criminal appeals.

Three congressmen including two veteran representatives seeking re-nomination and four freshmen, hold apparent victories based on latest returns.

They are: 1st District—J. Frank Wilson, Dallas attorney, who will succeed Veteran Rep. Hattin W. Summers, who did not seek reelection.

6th District—Col. Ole Reague, war hero from College Station who will succeed A. Johnson of Corsicana who resigned recently to become a judge of the federal court. See TEXAS POLITICS, Page 6.

Stevenson Terms People of Texas 'Stable Citizens'

AUSTIN—(AP)—Results of Saturday's election brought from Gov. Coke Stevenson the comment today that "the people of Texas are still a stable citizenship. It's a grand old state."

Describing himself as "at peace with the universe and I'm a pretty harmonious fellow, too," the governor had these other remarks to make in relation to the democratic nomination of Beauford H. Jester for the governorship.

"I see that Jester has called for peace and harmony and I'm a pretty harmonious fellow, too," he said. "It looks to me like Saturday's public approval by appointments to the board of regents."

"They weren't voting on my administration."

"I haven't made a plan in the world—in answer to a question concerning his future plans after the end of his term as governor."

To the question, "do you think both the state and senate will be in good hands with Jester and Shivers in office?" He replied, "yes, I certainly do."

Stevenson said he was not trying to run "he university, but I'm a pretty harmonious fellow, too," he said in reply to a reporter who wondered whether the "trouble" at the University of Texas would now be at an end. The governor said that was a question he could not answer.

"Did you see a candidate in the American association of university professors making its reports on the university situation just before the July and August primaries?"

"Yes, I certainly did," declared the governor.

Stevenson said that if he were to run "he university, but I'm a pretty harmonious fellow, too," he said in reply to a reporter who wondered whether the "trouble" at the University of Texas would now be at an end. The governor said that was a question he could not answer.

'Greetings' in Mail Again After Holiday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Those presidential "greetings" are in the mails again.

Shut down for two months, the draft machinery is chugging back into action.

Four new categories have just been formed next week. And by the end of September selective service is reasonably confident it will meet the army's quota of 25,000 men in the 19-29 age group.

In June while the whole future of the draft was up in the air, only 6,400 men were inducted. There were no teen agers among them. Congress finally compromised on that issue by exempting 18 year olds but specifying those 19 were to be drafted.

During the July-August holiday local boards have been registering and classifying men between 18 and 24 under instructions from Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director, to limit deferments to individuals in activities "indispensable to the national existence."

Four new categories have just been added to the list of those entitled to "most serious consideration" for occupational deferments. They are college and university teachers, home construction workers, critical production and transportation workers.

Previously local boards were authorized to consider deferments only for students in medicine, dentistry and certain teachers and research workers in physical sciences and engineering.

Fathers, certain categories of veterans and essential agricultural workers are deferred by law. Eighteen-year-olds must register but are not subject to induction until they reach 19.

For the present at least the army says it wants no one over 30.

Flour Production In July Increases

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Reflecting replenishment of wheat supplies by this year's record crop, the production of flour by domestic mills in July increased 26 percent over June, census bureau report said today.

Production was said to have totaled 22,100,000 sacks compared with 17,500,000 for June. Output in May and June was hampered by a shortage of wheat and the diversion of large quantities of grain to famine areas.

Not all of the July production was available for consumption in this country. The government is limiting distribution for domestic use to 87 percent of the quantity distributed in the corresponding months last year, so as to make some flour available for export to shortage areas.

Meanwhile an agriculture department report said wheat stocks in the four principal exporting countries on July 1 were at their lowest level since 1938, owing to unprecedented world demand for bread grains.

Total wheat supplies in Argentina, Australia, Canada and United States on July 1 amounted to 378,000,000 bushels, which was about 450,000,000 bushels less than a year earlier.

Argentina's wheat stocks were estimated at 115,000,000 bushels, Australia's at 67,000,000, Canada's at 90,000,000, and this country's at 101,000,000.

TIME ENOUGH

CHICAGO—(AP)—L. Carl Relli has had to amend his court order setting a 30-second time limit on telephone calls between state policemen on duty and their wives.

The wives objected when Relli, with romantic sympathy for unwed members of his force, allowed one minute for conversations with new girl friends; two minutes to sweethearts; and two and one-half minutes to fiancées.

So now wives get 45 seconds.

A Flying Fortress with machineguns loaded and uncovered took over today the fateful Vienna-Udine run, on which Yugoslav fighters wrecked two unarmed C-47 U. S. army transports this month.

Four flag-draped coffins, bearing victims of the Aug. 19 plane incident were taken from the Julian Alps at Ljubljana with Yugoslav soldiers paying honor. The bodies of the American fliers were taken from a tiny grave near the spot where their plane was shot down. The fate of the fifth occupant of the plane was not known. His body may be under the burned wreckage.

Russian and Yugoslav newspapers and radios cried out that the United States was conducting a planned campaign against Yugoslavia.

Lt. Gen. Sir William D. Morgan, Supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, declared that the Belgrade radio had made an "irresponsible and malicious" assertion in saying Allied aircraft still flew over that country. He said the "most stringent precautions" had been taken.

The Flying Fortress, the type used in dropping much of the $22,000,000 gifts of American lend-lease food and material to Yugoslavia during the German occupation, was the first American aircraft to fly the Vienna-Udine route since the transports were destroyed. The pilot said he avoided Yugoslav territory and carried no passengers, and that he had been ordered to make the return flight.

Lt. Gen. Danilo Likic, commander of the Fourth Yugoslav army in whose territory both American planes were attacked, organized the cortege for the bodies of the men killed by his fliers.

The Belgrade radio declared the United States was "attempting to put pressure on Yugoslavia" by a display of military might, including the Mediterranean cruise of the Aircraft Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt. The broadcast, from London, said the incident over the two transports and the ensuing United States ultimatum had been "inflated" by "sensation-mongers and See YUGOSLAVIA, Page 6

British Soldiers Searching Village

HAIFA—(AP)—More than 500 British soldiers today swooped on the little Jewish village of Sedot Yam, near the old Roman seaport site of Caesarea, and began an inch by inch search for munitions, sub-machine guns and other weapons.

Machine gun emplacements dotted the rocky hillside overlooking the village as troops made a pre-dawn move in an effort, the military announcement said, to apprehend the persons who blasted the British ship, Empire Rival, in Haifa harbor a week ago.

Brigadier R. H. Anderson, commanding the second brigade of the First infantry division, told newsmen that "there was no doubt the village was a pivotal point in the successful landing of 180 illegal immigrants last week. He indicated that further perpetrators of the Haifa sabotage may have operated from the same area.

The villages 200 residents were taken from their homes and herded into a temporary enclosure nearby for questioning while troops made a house to house search. Approximately 40 persons were detained for questioning.

Blount To Divide Time Between TU Gridiron, Capitol

BIG SPRING—(AP)—When R. E. (Peppy) Blount takes time out from playing football at the University of Texas this fall and glances up in the stands he will probably remark: "My, my, look at all the constituents who turned out today."

Blount won the democratic nomination as representative to the state legislature in the 91st district last Saturday, completely returning from the six counties today.

"My, my, look at all the constituents who turned out today," Blount won the democratic nomination as representative to the state legislature in the 91st district last Saturday, completely returning from the six counties today.

The former air forces pilot, who won the Distinguished Flying Cross for action in the Pacific in the recent war, rolled up 6,336 votes to 5,526 for the incumbent, Cecil H. Barnes, in the run-off primary.

Blount says he may be a little late reporting for football training at the University of Texas early next month but he not only plans to continue on the gridiron but to play basketball next winter.

Since the legislature, located only a few blocks from the university in Austin, doesn't open its session until January Peppy doesn't anticipate his law-making duties will conflict with playing end on the Longhorn football team. During basketball season, however, he might miss a game or two because of committee meetings or late sessions.

Blount last fall became known as the "clutch man" of Texas' drive to the Southwest conference championship. He caught the pass that beat Southern Methodist when Texas' fortunes were low after a defeat at the hands of Rice and he caught a touchdown pass to clinch victory over Texas A. and M. on Thanksgiving day when the conference title was in the balance.

The district Blount will represent in the legislature is made up of Glasscock, Howard and Reagan, Sterling and Tom Green counties with a combined population of 66,849.

McNeill, Guernsey Score Net Upset Over Top-Rated Kramer, Schroeder

BROOKLINE, Mass.—(AP)—Ex-Servevices Don McNeill and Frank Guernsey not only surprised the U. S. Davis cup team selectors but also themselves by getting into today's National doubles tennis championship match at Longwood.

Apparently agreeing with Walter L. Pate, non-playing captain of the U. S. Davis cup forces, that they had no chance in their semi-finals against Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder, a pair of two-time winners, McNeill and Guernsey surrendered their hotel accommodations early yesterday.

But they managed to regain them in plenty of time to get ample sleep in preparation for their final engagement with Title-Defenders Bill Talbot and Gernar Mulloy.

Fate rated Kramer and Schroeder, who were brushed off the courts by 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 margins, ahead of seven Champions Talbot and Mulloy for the challenge round duties assignment in Australia next December. The latter team had the closest of shaves qualifying for the championship round while defeating the capable Frank Parker and Ed Falkenberg, 4-5, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6. During the 16th game of the last set, Parker and Falkenberg slipped after reaching match point twice.

The women's finalists were defending champions Louise Brough and Margaret Osborne, who have held the titles since 1942, and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of Ljollja, Calif., and Mrs. Mary Arnold Prentiss of Los Angeles.

Three champions were crowned yesterday's action. J. Gil Hall and Sidney Adelstein of New York retained their veteran doubles title by defeating William Nassau of Paoli, Pa., and Dr. Herbert Fischer of Wayne, Pa., 6-1, 7-5.

Mrs. Philip Theopold of Brookline, Mass., 6-1, 6-0.

After Oliver barely missed his 10th, he walked across the green line with hand outstretched to greet the new champion.

Zaharias and Berg Enter Tournament

SFOKANE, Wash.—(AP)—A field of 40 big names of women's golf today at the Dickson Zaharias of the amateurs and Patty Berg of the professionals, launched into qualifying play today in the $19,700 first National women's open golf tournament.

The two standouts in the entry list agreed the open, sponsored by the Women's Professional Golf association and underwritten with a pot of gold from the sports-promoting Spokane Athletic Round Table, had attracted "a very strong field."

Chiango, Marshall Hold Conference

NANKING—(AP)—Fighting in northern Kiangsu province above Jakao assumed alarming proportions. Chinese press dispatches said yesterday as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and General Marshall met at Kuling, the summer capital.

Simultaneously with the reports of heightened fighting in Kiangsu province, came a call for help from the nationalist commander at Taiyuan, Shansi province capital which has been isolated by surging communist forces.

Explosive Manchuria, after a two months lull, expected major fighting to break out soon, likely at Harbin.

Marshall sought to salvage a plan to permit establishment of an all-party state council of 40 members. Without the council, it was believed here that the Nov. 12 assembly of the national constitutional body would be meaningless.

Reviewing the Manchuria situation, the pro-government newspaper, Hsin Min Pai, said the communists had established three new bases on the outer Mongolian border and Korean borders. The newspaper gave no specific locations.

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—A siren sounding curfew in suburban South Salt Lake will have to be heard down a bit. The siren sends the kids home to bed okay but scares the wits out of their younger brothers and sisters.

Mrs. M. T. Slyman says, "My children (aged 5 and 2) are terrified each night by the noise and sometimes it takes two hours to get them back to sleep."

Waco Remains Unbeaten Class

WCHTA, Kas.—(AP)—Three undefeated teams went into the fourth round of the National Semi-Pro baseball tournament here today as the marathon entered its final week.

The teams are the St. Joseph Aouts of Michigan, Waco, Texas, and Carmichael, Calif.

St. Joseph defeated the Oklahoma Champions from Norman last night 8-2 with Roy Henshaw, former National and American league southpaw, getting credit for the victory.

The Waco Dons shut out the Fort Smith, Ark., Edwards Veterans 8-0 in seven innings. The Dons, led by Ed Va. Soldiers eliminated Perth Amboy, N. Y., by a 10-1 score, while Hurley, N. M., booted Siler N. C. out of the tourney with a 5-1 victory.

Portland, Ore., Gillette defeated the Portland, Ore., Gillette 8-2 in seven innings. The Enidards of Enid, 8-2. The Enidards were the 1945 tournament title winners.

Ferriss Racks Up 23rd Victory; Dodgers, Cards Still Deadlocked

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Dave (Doc) Ferriss, the Boston Red Sox sophomore pitching wizard, not only is the major league's biggest winner today, but appears on his way to establishing a modern record for most games won by a pitcher in his first two seasons in the big leagues.

Ferriss, whose 23rd mound triumph yesterday helped the American league leaders sweep a double header from the Cleveland Indians and in place New York Yankees to 14 games, already has registered 44 victories in his first two years, only three shy of the record of 47 set by Grover Cleveland Alexander with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1911-12.

Wes Ferrell of Cleveland holds the American league mark of 46 set in 1929-30.

Ferriss outdistanced Red Embree of the Indians, 2-1 sided by Bobby Doerr who smashed two home runs.

In sweeping the twin bill at Boston, the Sox wiped out any mathematical pennant chances of the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, after a seven hour battle in St. Louis, ended up all even in their double header. As a result they remained tied for first place in the world national league pennant race. The Brooks came from behind to eke out a 3-2 victory in the opener, but the Cards climbed all over six Brooklyn pitchers to win the wild and woolly nightcap 14-8.

The New York Yankees became the first club ever to reach the two million mark in attendance yesterday, but their joy was chilled by Hal Newhouse and Hank Greenberg, who collaborated to give the Detroit Tigers a 7-2 victory at the Yankee stadium.

Lou Possehl, former Illinois university and semi-pro righthander from Chicago, made a success major league pitching debut against the Cincinnati Reds, who divided a double header with the Phillies in Cincinnati. After Joe Beggs had blanked the Phils 7-0 in the opener, the 20-year-old Possehl won a 4-1 hurling duel with Harry Gandy in the nightcap. Trailing 1-0, Possehl was taken out for a pinch hitter in the eighth, when the Phils came up with four runs to win.

Harry Borowy pitched and batted the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over the New York Giants in Chicago. The former Fordham hurler allowed seven hits and scored the winning run in the ninth after his leadoff triple.

The Boston Braves made it 12 out of 15 from the Pirates by taking two games in Pittsburgh 7-5 and 10-5.

Washington rallied for two runs to tie the score in the ninth inning, then pushed across the winning run in the 12th on Sherry Robertson's triple and pinch hit. Early Wynn's single to defeat the St. Louis Browns in Washington 3-1. Ed Lopez pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, his 10th triumph of the season, the Mackmen, behind Phil Mardikian, came back to win the second game 6-5.

Oana Homers, Hits 2 Singles, Fans Eight in Notching 23rd Win of Year

(By The Associated Press)

Hawaiian Hank Oana, whose hurling and battling have meant much in the first post-war campaign of the Dallas Rebels, had another busy night last night as he won his twenty-third game of the season in turning back the seventh place Houston Buffs, 3-2, in twelve innings.

Oana went the route in the overtime nightcap, gave up eleven hits, hit a home run, collected two singles and struck out eight men.

In the only other Texas league game of the day, the league leading Fort Worth Cats lost their first doubleheader of the year as they were defeated by the third place San Antonio Missions, 5-4 and 9-2.

Two other doubleheaders, Beaumont at Tulsa and Shreveport at Oklahoma City were postponed because of rain.

In the second game of the Dallas twilight bill, Houston went ahead with a single tally in the fifth, which the Rebels matched in their half of the inning. Oana's homer put the Dallas club out in front again in the eighth but the Buffs tied things up, 2-2, in the ninth to send the game into extra innings.

In the twelfth inning, successive singles by Al Cary, Clint Conaster and Bob Woyler after two were out gave the Rebels the victory tally.

San Antonio's Clarence Iott, although hit hard and requiring relief in the final inning, outlasted Willard Remstedt to receive credit for the opener with Fort Worth. Charles (Chill) Wagener outpitched Al Zachary in the seven-inning second game.

Elio Marano provided the heavy Mission power in the opener, with a double and three singles, while Stan Galle collected a double and two singles in the second game.

San Antonio committed nine errors in the two games.

Today's schedule:
Houston at Dallas.
San Antonio at Fort Worth.
Fort Worth at Oklahoma City.
Doubleheaders at Oklahoma City.

THE NEW BOMBER

The giant Consolidated bomber, XB-36, was planned for possible use against Germany in the event that Britain should be defeated. It has been completed in the age of the atomic bomb. And, now that it has negotiated its first test flight successfully, some are probably wondering of what use it can be.

Is the 30-ton bomb capacity of this giant ship, which dwarfs the mighty B-29, necessary today? And if the weapon of the future is to be—God forbid—a self-propelled missile with an atomic warhead which will rocket to its destination a hundred miles above the earth, why do we need a super-bomber anyway?

These are speculative questions which require an authoritative military reply. The layman's answer to the first is obscured by the fact that the size of the bombs used at Hiroshima, Nagasaki and Bikini is a closely guarded secret. It is known, however, that though the explosive charge of an atomic bomb may be relatively small, a great deal of complicated machinery is necessary to detonate it.

It was also revealed in a story from Bikini that the B-29 was the only one of our aircraft capable of carrying the present atomic bomb. So the XB-36 might be envisioned as the carrier of a bigger atomic explosive.

As for the rocket of the future, its practical development may be so far away as to require a more present means of transportation. So perhaps the XB-36 is a logical component of our defense plans of the immediate future. And the fear which the atomic bomb inspires and the fervent prayers that it may never again be used in combat cannot cancel out the need and desirability of trying to maintain a modern and realistic national defense.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Our friend Dan Sayre Grosecbeck, the artist, whose views on life and people enchant us even more than do his wonderful studies of plunging horses, barbarous pirates, grizzly bears and leering banditti of the Tibetan wilds, had his long, painful legs folded in front of the fire and was delivering his valedictory to Hollywood.

But then, as all his friends know, Mr. Grosecbeck has killed his last bull otter than Mr. Hemingway's little madador, who used to give a farewell performance every year. But he can't actually leave. Local philosophers won't let him.

ARTISTS' GRAVEYARD
"Hollywood," Mr. Grosecbeck was saying, "is where good artists go when they die. While they've got a spark of life left in them they shun it like a haunted house."

Mr. Grosecbeck, who admires the Modas, defending the ancient practice of painting a man with only one head and snarling that the heretics are nothing but ignorant sons of commercialism misled by the saying that two heads are better than one.

"Although," he conceded, fairly, "on some producers they might be." And he recalled the time he was commissioned to paint an advance visualization of a scene in "The Good Earth" showing a cloud of locusts—"grasshoppers," he called them—descending on the crops.

"The people," he explained, "were supposed to be in despair—which was just plain damn foolishness, because this picture was laid in China, and in China they eat grasshoppers. I know. I've eaten some myself, and they're right tasty. You toast 'em."

"Why, I told this fellow on the picture that these grasshoppers showed up the people would have gone on a regular grasshopper binge. Well, he couldn't believe it. He said he couldn't imagine any-

Peter Edson's Column:

DOING NOTHING AND SAVING MONEY

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Here's another angle on the great economizing wave now sweeping over Washington in the wake of the departed congress.

If congress had given the President everything he asked for in his budget message of last January, the expenses of the federal government for fiscal 1947 would be over a billion dollars higher than they are going to be. And the budget would be out of balance by 2.9 billion dollars, instead of by the 1.9-billion-dollar deficit now estimated.

When the budget was made up last January, 1.5 billion dollars was allowed to finance new legislation requested by the President. The congress passed about a third of this program—principally increased veterans' benefits and federal employees' pay increases.

Among the projects which congress was asked to approve but didn't were a scientific research program, a health and medical care program, universal military training, grants-in-aid to states for raising educational standards, school- and hospital-building proposals, extension of crop insurance, a long-range housing program and projects for the development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway, and of the Missouri and Columbia valley authorities.

Look 'em over:

RESEARCH PROGRAM WOULD HAVE COST $40,000,000

The scientific research program, passed by the senate but not acted on in the house, would have created a science foundation to promote scientific study and research. The President's budget message of last January included an estimate of 40 million dollars for the first year's operation. By not completing action on the project, congress saved that money.

The health and medical care program recommended by the President was covered by the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill. The backers never managed to bring this bill to a vote in the last session of congress, but it will be brought up next year. It would appropriate 40 million dollars for grants-in-aid to states for public health, maternal, and child-care benefits, aid to the needy, and research. By not acting on the bill this past session, congress saved that amount.

The President recommended a broad system of state grants to raise educational standards. The budget bureau had tentatively estimated a cost of 150 million dollars a year for that, plus another 150 million dollars to build school-houses. Congress saved 300 million dollars.

The President also beat the drums for compulsory military training. Congress refused to consider it in an election year, with public sentiment running heavily against both the draft and maintenance of a big army and navy. Giving 800,000 trainees a year's military education, at an estimated expense of $1,000 each, would have cost 800 million dollars. By refusing to act, congress saved that money.

HOUSING PROGRAM'S COST CAN ONLY BE ESTIMATED

The President asked for a long-range housing program. The senate crashed through with the Wagner-Elliender-Taft bill. No estimates are possible on what its total drain on the treasury would have been,

Up to 133 million dollars a year could have been spent for 45 years on urban and rural slum-clearance and low-cost housing developments. Much of this might have been returnable. Congress saved whatever failing to pass the bill.

The possible cost of the President's recommendation for increased crop insurance is likewise indeterminate. For the 1945 crop year, the government took in nine million dollars in premiums, and paid out 21 million dollars in indemnities. Total loss: 12 million dollars. This covered only five crops—cotton, wheat, flax, corn and tobacco. Very little of the wheat crop was covered, and the loss on cotton alone was over 13 million dollars. Any additional crops covered by government insurance might make proportional demands on the treasury. By not expanding the program, congress saved that uncertainty.

When you get into the valley projects, you run into the really important money. The St. Lawrence project may cost 500 million dollars, if and whenever completed. Expenditures would spread over a number of years. Equal sums could be spent in the Missouri and Columbia valleys. The Tennessee Valley development has cost nearly a billion dollars in the past 12 years, with its receipts plowed back into the business.

From the looks of this line-up, congress is at its best, economizing, when it doesn't do anything. Or, at least, when it doesn't do everything the President wants it to. Similarly, it's at its worst when it spends money the President has not asked it to spend.

Radicalism Of The Printers' Union

I want to quote for a couple of days from the Economic Council Letter published by the National Economic Council under the heading, "Good-Bye—Freedom of the Press!" I quote:

"In the new Russian-Communist Republic of Czechoslovakia and in Indianapolis in the union-ridden Republic of the United States of America, printers' unions have almost simultaneously told newspaper publishers that they must not publish.

"Thus in two cities 5000 miles apart this 'one world,' ice-creeping hand of barbaric Communism casts its shadow before it. It foretells the presently complete blotting out of one of the boasted 'four freedoms' with which Franklin Delano Roosevelt beguiled and deceived his fellow countrymen while he actually sold out the 150-year-old freedom of the American people.

"The American publisher can today write what he pleases. He can get it printed—if the printers' union permits. He can report, influence the writing of his newspaper, and editorial staff—unless the American Newspaper Guild forbids. He can get his papers distributed, if printed—provided the deliverers are not on strike.

"But as a matter of fact, the publisher today has little freedom left. What remains is slipping fast. 'How he lost that freedom may be gleaned from what follows below. Whether he can regain it depends upon whether he can go back to the courage and patriotism and stamina of his fathers.

"The New York Times of June 1, 1946, stated that a certain newspaper, Cas, published in Czechoslovakia, did not appear on June 1 and would not be published the following day as a result of the refusal of the typographers' union to let it be printed. Said the Times:

"In an ultimatum to the editors, the workers said they would refuse to set type for the paper unless guarantees were given that it would stop publishing articles of Fascist tendencies. To make it certain that it would not be published, the workers, according to the management, removed parts of presses."

"Of course, 'Fascist' here, as elsewhere, means merely anti-Communism. So, these workers refused to set type because the paper is anti-Communist.

"The workers demanded that state here—yet. But we are on the way. 'Recent developments show a clear trend in the direction of the complete subjection of American newspapers to the union itself. That, of course, means subjection to the handful of men who control the union. In fact, in the space of three short years the International Typographical Union has become one of the most tyrannical and despotic unions in the land. It could hardly be more despotic if it were under the direct control of Joseph Stalin.

"No law that, in so many words, suppressed freedom of speech in America would stand a chance against the American legislative body. But the hard substance of freedom of speech can be no less effectively destroyed if today's clear trend is not stopped and its course reversed.

"Woodruff Randolph was recently elected to a second term as President of the ITU, indeed, the entire 'progressive ticket' of officers was elected by an overwhelming majority. These progressives had campaigned for votes on the ground that more strikes had been successfully prosecuted and more wage increases had been recorded during the last 18 months than during any like period in the history of the union. President Randolph announced that his object was to go to promote 'constructive action by unions in the printing industry.'

"Mr. Randolph has adopted a policy under which all contracts of all the newspaper mechanical unions shall begin and end on the same date, be negotiated at the same time, and contain the same principles. The 'cohesive action' he calls for, promises, unless something unforeseen intervenes, the

WASHINGTON

By RAY TUCKER

HOPPLESS—The outbreak of major warfare between Kuomintang troops and Chinese communist forces came as no surprise to military and diplomatic students of the Oriental scene at Washington. They had been prepared and unity in the Orient was almost a hopeless task.

Perhaps the least surprised man over the new conflict was Lieutenant General (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell, the original commander of our armies in this area, and the hero of the "retreat from Burma."

Although other actors in this theater have spoken their pieces, in-cluding the Chinese and speaking in their language, "Vinegar Joe" came to feel that the Generalissimo was using lend-lease weapons merely to bolster his personal regime, not to fight the Japs.

His observers on the front lines, meanwhile, reported that the "Com-mies" were harassing Tokyo's occupying units in regular and guerrilla warfare.

Chiang Kai-shek opposed Stilwell's recommendations bitterly, and he had the enthusiastic, arm-waving support of Ambassador Hurley. The conservative Pat threw all his cowboy weight behind Chungking because he hated and dreaded communists and communism in any form, either as friend or foe.

GAMBLE — The Stilwell-Hurley dispute was submitted to President Roosevelt after several months of wrangling at Chungking, and also to Prime Minister Churchill. P. M. B. trusted Kai-shek as he did Stalin in those days—it was another "great gamble" in foreign relations—and he sided with Ambassador Hurley against General Stilwell.

The British leader backed Mr. Roosevelt because he did not want the communists to gain power in a sphere where the empire has so many financial interests. So Washington and London laid all their chips on Chiang Kai-shek.

Note: As chief of staff, General Marshall favored the Stilwell plan of distributing American arms to all Chinese units which were fighting the Japs. Neither military leader, however, considered himself an expert on "heavy diplomacy," leaving final decisions to the "top level," as even "Ike" Eisenhower had to do in Europe.

But in his current attempt to promote peace in China, General Marshall has discovered that his lack would have been made easier if General Stilwell's advice, not Ambassador Hurley's had been accepted at Washington and London.

PROMISE — Moscow, naturally capitalized on the Roosevelt-Churchill-Hurley policy of withholding weapons from the Chinese communists. Although Japan tottered on the brink of collapse from our naval, aerial and atomic bombing, Stalin invaded northern Manchuria in the dying days of the war.

The invasion was in fulfillment of a promise in their minds, a triumph—which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill had wrung from the dictator at Yalta. Stalin kept his troops in Manchuria until long after Tokyo's surrender. Then, without notifying Washington, London or Chungking, he withdrew precipitately, leaving the maritime province open to the Chinese communists, whom he had armed and equipped with American lend-lease weapons and munitions.

GESTURE—Chiang Kai-shek's recent announcement that he would provide the Reds lay down their arms and aside by the popular decision, is regarded here as his reply to the pessimistic Marshall-Stuart pronouncement. It was his way of trying to retain Anglo-American support against communist encroachment backed by Moscow.

Washington, unfortunately, anticipates no success from this desperate, last-minute gesture. Nor do Anglo-American observers look for permanent peace in China, which will remain as another happy hunting ground for "Uncle Joe."

Thus endeth the latest chapter of the China story.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

Goodness knows, I've heard George scream enough about the scarcity of men's clothing, but I didn't realize how bad it was until I read about a man in Port Huron, Mich., who was put in jail for stealing some clothes to get married in. What's more, it was said he took them from a man who needed them to wear as best man at another wedding.

Unless something is done about the clothing shortage, the grass widow will be replaced by the heringbone old maid. And when a groom does venture to the church, clad in a barrel, the bride will have to promise to love, honor and knit him a knee-length sweater.

Cupid doesn't want to find himself out of a job here, better trade in his bow and arrow for a pair of shears and a needle—and get busy fast.

Washington, unfortunately, anticipates no success from this desperate, last-minute gesture. Nor do Anglo-American observers look for permanent peace in China, which will remain as another happy hunting ground for "Uncle Joe."

If you need a new car, why worry about a 1946 model? A 1911 locomotive will fill your bill. Ask a couple of Harvard students who own one.
John Bacon, Wellesley Hills, Mass., and Bob Merriam, Edgewood, R. I., drove into Dallas with one of the Vintage models, and said all the trouble they'd had on a 5,000 mile trip was a flat tire. They said the "super-deluxe locomotive is hard to beat."
They left Boston July 24, visited Chicago and Hollywood, plan to see the old South before returning home to Boston. They said they have had no motor trouble at all, even in crossing the rough west of the Rockies.
Young Bacon once owned a fleet of 14 ancient cars, now has it cut down to a 1904 Road and the locomotive.
They've averaged 45 miles an hour on the trip, get eight miles to the gallon of gasoline.
They had to have special tires built for the car—36 by 4 1/2 high pressure tires.
Original cost of the locomotive was $5,000, but Bacon bought it six months ago for $150. It was built in Bridgeport, Conn., 35 years ago.
A business man from the north visiting Brownsville wanted to telephone a Mexican in Matamoros, across the river. He'd left the telephone in a number, wait, frown and hang up.
"Who's '3 this guy Wayne I keep getting?" He finally asked in exasperation.
They explained to him that Mexicans answer the phone by saying "bueno" instead of "hello."

Farm Feed Scarcity Reported About Over
CHICAGO. — The animal feed shortage, until just recently the most serious in our country's history, is now about over, the American Feed Manufacturers association declares.
In a statement which contained good news for farmers, as well as city consumers of meat, milk and eggs, the feed association also revealed:
That livestock and poultry feed pipelines, long practically empty, are flowing almost normally again;
That feed supplies will be so plentiful during the 1946-47 crop year that a desired increase in production of meat, dairy and poultry products will result.
That there will be enough feed available to feed all our livestock and poultry without using any more wheat for feeding than was used before the war.
And that feed supplies will be so large that at no time during the coming year will the cost of feeds in a free market become unreasonably high.
Large Parade Opens North Texas Fair
ARLINGTON (AP) — Some 350 mounted horsemen, bugles and wagons rolled down the street, Texas beauties glided by on top of convertibles, sleek navy gliders soared overhead, and the first annual North Texas fair officially was on at 3 p. m. here today.
A snappy blue-dressed marine color guard marched in front of the naval air station band from Corpus Christi, leading the parade.
At 4 p. m. the gates of Arlington Downs were opened and some 10,000 persons swarmed in.
Stimulated by the drive against black marketeers and other wartime evaders, hundreds of taxpayers throughout the country have had sudden recollections of memory.— Treasury Secretary Snyder.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook
By TOM REEDY
EGLINGF, Germany. — (AP) — Germany is getting crowded with Adolf Hitler and Eva Brauns.
The latest Hitler in a growing crop turned up here in a sanitarium insisting one minute that he was Adolf himself and in the next that he was pinching until the real fuhrer returned.
There have been at least six Hitlers and possibly as many Evas in various hospitals for the mentally ill in Germany since the capitulation.
Doctors think it is quite usual for a deranged German to get such a delusion these days; it's a little like the Napoleon complex.
Egling hospital got its Hitler off the streets some months ago. He was a corporal in the wehrmacht the same as der fuhrer; he was a painter by trade; his name is Ludwig Doll.
Doll formed a "committee" of seven just as Hitler did in Munich, 10 miles away, 25 years ago. He was all set to proceed when the authorities decided to break up his street speeches. One Hitler was brought.
When Ludwig was taken to the hospital, he stood on his dignity as a true fuhrer. But that got pretty tiresome and the party work was being neglected. So he was taken back. He said he wasn't the fuhrer at all; that he had been "appointed" to act for the leader until he gets back from Valhalla.
Doll drew up a new flag for his program; a set of party rules and named a "cabinet" to rule the world. He proposed President Truman as finance minister; Stalin as police chief. British he says, would provide the navy; Russia the SS and Gestapo, the United States the propaganda and—of course—the dough. German would be the intellectual leader.
Doll hasn't adopted the moustache. But he gets his hair cropped short so that one lock falls down over one eye, reminiscent of a certain character.
Most of all he wants out of this place. But he isn't going to get out. The doctors know that the first thing he'll do is to get up on a soapbox and make a speech—and there may be just enough darned fools around to listen.

Homicide Toll Mounting, Say Statisticians

NEW YORK, N. Y.—That the Biblical proverb which counsels a soft answer to turn away wrath, may still be a wise bit of advice for the atomic age is indicated by a mounting toll of homicides, with the majority of slayings ascribed to petty quarrels and domestic disputes as immediate causes. For the first six months of 1946 the rate was more than one-third above the figure of a year ago, and the highest in seven years, among industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Since September 1945, each month has shown a higher homicide rate than the corresponding month of the preceding year.

While the homicide death rate among the industrial policyholders rose to 4.2 per 100 for the first half of 1946, a parallel increase is noted among the general population of the United States. Latest official reports, based on a 10 percent sample of the deaths reported in the country, indicate that the homicide death rate for the first five months of 1946 was 3.2 as against 4.0 for the like period of 1945, an increase of nearly one-third.

Among industrial policyholders, the rise has been fairly uniform for the several color and sex groups, except for white females, among whom homicide mortality is negligible. Figures for the first six months of 1946 show that the rise from the like period of last year was 36 percent among white males; 33 percent among colored males, and 37 percent among colored females.

When the data are examined by age, however, very considerable differences and even contrasting trends are observed, the statisticians note. At the age periods under 45 years, large increases in the homicide death rate are evident. But at ages 45 and over, the rates tended to decrease.

The explanation for the observed increase is not altogether clear, the statisticians remark: "In the government figures for the general population of the United States, a part of the rise may well be attributed to the inclusion in the records for 1946 of large numbers of returned veterans who were not included in the official statistics of the United States population while abroad during the war years. These men are precisely the age groups which normally contribute a large proportion of both the culprits and the victims of homicide. But this cannot be the whole explanation, because the mortality records of the industrial policyholders show the same trend, although they include the men in service overseas.

"Among the various contributing factors to the rise in the homicide rate must undoubtedly be reckoned a postwar letdown in national morale, particularly a natural unrest among discharged servicemen, suddenly left on their own resources and responsibility. In addition there is the wartime acquired familiarity with firearms and unusual number of these weapons available, largely souvenirs from the war years. In the general population, another possible factor has been the cutback in industrial employment and the discontinuance of civilian war activities. As a result of these, presumably people have more time and occasion for petty quarrels and domestic disputes which are notoriously the cause of a large proportion of homicides."

While the statisticians see no simple solution to the complex problem, they believe that further restricting the sale of firearms would undoubtedly have a salutary effect. "More generally," they conclude, "greater efforts should be made to eliminate such environmental factors as poor housing, ignorance, and the lack of proper recreational facilities, conditions that encourage crime and anti-social behavior."

In state legislative races, an early survey indicates that Texans in the July and August primaries selected ninety-four new members of the senate and house of representatives. In commenting on the coming convention at San Antonio, Jester yesterday said that he was not ready to reveal his choice for the chairmanship of the state democratic committee. He indicated he may make an announcement this week.

"Whoever it is, he must be a leader who can restore a spirit of harmony in this democratic party in Texas," Jester commented.

Ferry L. Seay of Dallas is the present chairman. While he did not openly endorse either Jester or Rainey, most political observers believe he was for the former university president, William H. (Bill) Kitzel, committee secretary, announced his support of Rainey early last week a day after Myron G. Blacklock of Marshall national democratic committeeman from Texas, had endorsed Jester.

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER
By Alice M. Laverick
Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: I, Cecelia Hart, was only 17 when I came to Innisfail that eventful summer to help out Cousin Ellen, who was Fitzgerald's housekeeper. Lovely Charlotte Brent captured my heart immediately but anticlerical old Honora Fitzgerald, who ruled the household from a sick bed, frightened me. I was terrified until Professor Mark told me I could read any of his books that I wanted.

I went to sleep then and dreamed that old lady Fitzgerald was playing the piano and Mark Fitzgerald was dancing on top of it with, of all people, Cousin Ellen. And the next day, which seemed at its beginning to be a day like any other, should have been marked in red letters on the calendar. Innisfail, house of Fitzgerald, would never be quite the same again. And never again that summer would it be quiet for any length of time.

For Colin Fitzgerald came home. COLIN FITZGERALD arrived at Innisfail in the midst of a thunder storm late that afternoon and there was no one to receive him but myself.

Miss Charlotte and the Professor had gone to town shortly after breakfast and a little later Cousin Ellen left for market, with strict instructions to me to make myself useful in her absence.

I was in the library dusting the books and, incidentally, looking over "The Hound of the Baskinville" when I heard the romantic adventures of a princess in disguise. I was barely conscious of the fact that somewhere in the house there was music, beautiful music. It made a soothing background to my reading, though I hardly realized it existed.

Cousin Ellen, coming up to bed later, ordered me to put away my books and say my prayers. "Did you hear Father Burke playing the piano?" she said. "Glory be to Heaven, how that man can play! Himself asked him to play the 'Ave Maria' and sure 'twould bring tears to the eyes of a stone itself to hear him." When Cousin Ellen's emotions were aroused, her brogue was apt to become very pronounced. She sounded now like a greenhorn just off the boat.

Borba, official organ of the communist party in Yugoslavia, said the campaign against Yugoslavia had been "invented" and had reached such proportions "it had forced the Paris peace conference into the shadows. Glas, another Yugoslav paper, printed the headline, "campaign of lies and slander" over an article on the incidents.

The Moscow paper Pravda lauded Yugoslavia as a country with enough nerve to stand up to its legal rights," and said the United States press "as if under a leader's baton, raised a frenzied campaign against Yugoslavia."

Plans were completed at Belgrade for the Yugoslav Fourth army to accord highest military honors to the three American fliers whose bodies have been recovered from the Aug. 19 incident. Their bodies were to be buried under Yugoslav military escort from their common grave at Korprivnik to Belgrade.

The U. S. Ambassador to Belgrade, Richard C. Patterson, who on Thursday discussed with Tito the American ultimatum shortly after the release of nine occupants of the first plane forced down Aug. 9, conferred for several hours yesterday in Vienna with Gen. Mark W. Clark, American commander in Austria.

Turkey sent demands to Yugoslavia for information on the condition of a tenth occupant, a Turkish captain, who was wounded by fire from Yugoslav fighting planes.

Dear Judy:
Remember how fascinated you used to be by baton twirlers? Well, now you can take lessons if you want to. Betty Atkinson, who was twirling majorettes during the three years she served with the University of Southern California football team and is now with an ice show, has made arrangements to give group lessons in the twirling art to teen-ang clubs.

Heard from Elinor Chuha of Johnstown, Pa. She just loves to read our letters but says she is way behind on the definitions of the hep phrases. Maybe she can get a fresh start, eh?

It seems the solid senders are still in the groove and a column called "The Teen Ager" is making a hit with the Dallas, Texas kids. Joan Edwards, 15, and Laura Rivers, 17, a couple of high school girls, won the competition to scribe the column for the Dallas Morning News. Bet they're having a swell time being hep-snoopers.

Did you know the USO was now taking teen-age hostesses? It seems the 18-year-old recruits complained that they had to dance with "old women of 21." Bet my sister is popped over that remark. But it'll be lots of fun for the 16 to 18-year-old heps. Do they have this program where your schoolmates, things are pretty snitzy.

Bye Pet.

shower roses down upon you?"
"Oh, no," I said hastily. "I help Cousin Ellen in the kitchen. I'm here for the summer."
"Ah, that's good. Then we'll be seeing more of each other, won't we?" And he came into the hall and threw down his wet coat and his bag, and immediately the house seemed to sit up and take notice, like a big dog which has long been half asleep and suddenly rouses and becomes excited at the sound of a familiar voice.

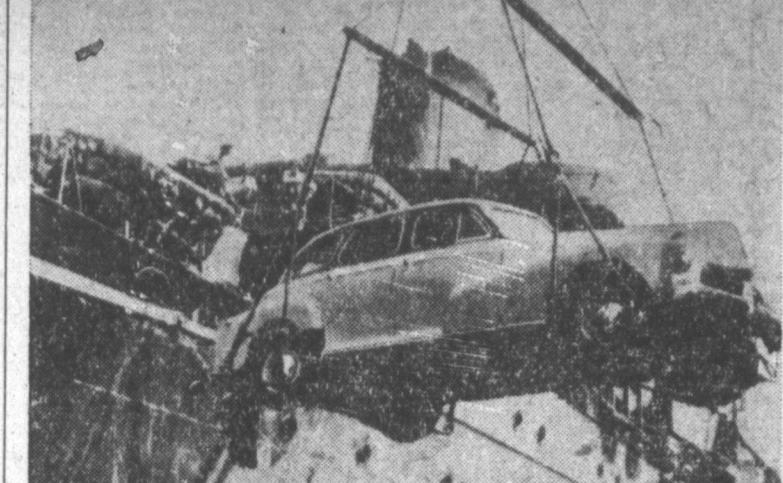

I FELT oddly excited, myself, and somehow it seemed fitting that Colin Fitzgerald should return against a background of wind and thunder.
I said breathlessly, "Won't you let me take your things?"
But he hadn't heard me. He had let me and gone into the living room, though after a few quick glances around the room, he was back, and the hall came alive again. A flash of lightning made his bluish skin look bronze and his eyes and hair very dark, and I saw that he had a thin line of a black mustache.

"Beware of a black Irishman!" How often had I heard my mother say that. (All her people were sandy.) I had always tried to do my mother's bidding, but today I looked up into Colin Fitzgerald's dark eyes and I fell in love with him instantly. Thin and treckled and gatche I was, and young for my age, but I knew in that instant that never again would I meet such a magnetic man as this black Irishman.

"Where is everyone, Cecelia?" he said. "How is my mother?"
At this, old Honora herself heard his voice and screamed. Was that her Colin, she wanted to know. It was her Colin, she knew it was her Colin, and he was to come up and see her. "At once, at once, do you hear?"
Colin took the stairs three at a time and I heard her glad cry and then his voice calling her endearing names over and over.

Guam Hero Keeps His Promise

Navy radioman George Tweed, who for nearly three years escaped capture by Japs on Guam while living like a hunted animal in the island's hills, promised to send an automobile to Antonio Artero, one of the heroic natives who befriended him. He recently kept the two-year-old promise. At left, above, Tweed, now a Navy lieutenant (j. g.), and H. S. Arner, of General Motors, stand on a San Francisco dock, watching a new Chevrolet, addressed to Antonio Artero, being loaded aboard a Guam-bound ship. Inset shows Tweed shortly after his rescue in 1944.

Injuries Are Fatal To Dallas Woman

DALLAS—(AP)—Mrs. Ama Ray Ward, 38, of Dallas died in a local hospital late Saturday of injuries received when she was struck by two automobiles.
Investigator W. A. Davis said Mrs. Ward was struck by an automobile which tossed her into the path of another.

She is survived by her husband, M. L. Ward; four daughters and a son, all of Dallas, and five brothers. Funeral services will be held in Wichita Falls tomorrow afternoon.

Tidwell Shows Open Week's Stand Here

T. J. Tidwell announced the Pampa opening of his midway and carnival attractions for the week of August 26 through Aug. 31, on the lot south of the Amarillo highway at West Wilks street.
Tidwell Shows, which have been playing Pampa and vicinity for the past twenty years, boast of the widest selection of show attractions and rides that they have ever had. A variety which they were not able to secure during the war. They are featuring two major attractions, the double ferris wheel and the educated animal show, with Gerie the human chimpanzee and Queenie the most gentle of all elephants.
