Ghosts of Virginia Town Dispelled by Two Young Girls and Hundreds of Gobs

Annie Mae Harris and partner for the moment, Gladys Arnold, are seen in a photograph. Gladys is the girl in the military-style uniform, and Annie Mae is the young woman in the light-colored dress.

By NEA Service
CLAREMONT, Va.—(NEA)—The ghosts of a pleasant past that have haunted Claremont through the years have been stilled.

Two young girls, some sailors and a few soldiers sent them scurrying. But the credit belongs to the girls and the most enterprising of the sailors. Between them they rescued Claremont and made it live and ring again with laughter.

Once, 25 years ago, Claremont was a prosperous lumber community, but the timber gave out and it became a ghost town of abandoned lumber yards, stores and houses. Grass grew heavy around the railroad tracks. Most of the population left.

Then came the navy, limping home from war with its casualty ships to be laid up in the nearby James river. The sailors found the ghost town a sad welcome. There was nothing to do, nowhere to go, few to talk to. Worst of all, no girls. Then that most enterprising of the sailors began his search. There must be, he reasoned, a girl some place nearby, a girl he could talk to and perhaps dance with. He finally found her, through a brother, in the seclusion of a little farm near Claremont. The sailor came and talked. He brought his buddies. They brought friends. And finally the girl produced her friend, the only other teen-age girl nearby.

ARMY TO RESCUE

Soon the farmhouse grew too small to hold the crowds that came nightly. Something had to be done, and the army, in the form of Major Ira F. Willard from nearby Camp Lee, came to the rescue. He called in the USO for the makings of a USO club, found an abandoned schoolhouse for a clubroom.

Now the club rings nightly with the sound of laughing dancers. There are still only two girls and the crowds of sailors grow with each new ship that is added to the stand-by in the James river, but the girls—16-year-old Annie Mae Harris and 19-year-old Gladys Arnold—have found they can handle the way out of the army besides.

"I was terribly shy at first," confesses the auburn-haired Annie Mae. "You see, I never had a chance to know any boys before."

But Annie Mae's wonderful now," says Gladys. "She can talk to all of them and make them feel at home—even the young ones who are scared of girls."

Both the girls found the dancing place a little tough at first. "I'd rather dance than eat," Gladys explains. "But one night we had a farewell USO dance for the crews of two ships and I danced so much I had to stay in bed for a day. Now I'm used to it."

Once the boys land here, they won't give us a free second. At first our feet got very tired—one pair of slippers lasted about a month. So we took to wedgies. They stand up better and are easier on the feet."

Annie Mae's mother, Mrs. Virgie Harris, is USO director and "Mom" to the soldiers and sailors that come to the club. She keeps a careful watch over the girls. Neither Annie Mae nor Gladys is allowed to make dates at the club, but once in a while, with "Mom's" approval, a sailor is allowed to walk home with Annie Mae at night under "Mom's" supervision.

SIDESTEP PROPOSALS

So far the girls have side-stepped all proposals of marriage.

The navy proposing almost at once," Gladys confides. "It takes the army a little longer to get around to it, but they're just as persistent in the end."

Gladys admits that one navy pharmacist's mate has proposed so often that she's beginning to wonder whether to "take him serious."

They claim they can spot the married boys inside of five minutes.

Reds Are Termed Double-Dealing, Double-Crossers

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—To those who still hope that China may have peace without civil war, the latest words of Chen Li-Fu may provide an eye-opener.

Chen is an important American-educated government official who is commonly referred to as "strongly anti-communist."

On Aug. 9 Chen gave a long interview in Shanghai to AP Correspondent Spicer Mosca.

The Chinese communists are double-dealing, double-crossing experts whose words are worthless, says Chen. They do not, he says, ally other parties to operate in territory under their control, as they say.

"They are selfish, cruel, untrustworthy and unpatriotic."

"Even when they put a thing down in black and white, they still lie. The communists have always cheated us. These are some accusations picked more or less at random from the interview."

He gives General Marshall and Ambassador Stuart credit for being "very sincere and hardworking, but they still work on the basis that the communists want a political settlement." Chen says Stuart and Marshall "will eventually understand that the communists are merely trying to gain time."

Chen asserts that if the government had wanted to resort to force, it easily could have wiped out the communists before 1937, but that it wanted to save its strength to fight Japan.

Communists Demand

U. S Notification

HSIANGHO, China—(AP)—A demand that U. S. marines notify Chinese communists before moving troops through Red-held areas came yesterday from a communist army officer who warned that marine vehicles would be stopped and searched.

Wang Chih-Taio, vice commander of the communists' 14th military district, issued the warning. Forces under his command attacked a marine convoy July 29 near Anping, taking the lives of four marines and wounding 11.

The communist said government troops were instigating clashes between marines and communists, adding:

"Step by step the Kuomintang (government party) is getting Americans into China's civil war."

OFA Will Appeal From District Court Ruling

FORT WORTH—(AP)—OPA attorneys announced that an appeal will be made from a U. S. district court ruling here which held legal action orders made in Texas while the CPA was inactive.

Federal Judge Davidson refused OPA's petition for an injunction to prevent county officers and 26 landlords from enforcing the eviction orders, issued between June 30 and July 25 while OPA was inactive.

OPA contends that suits filed under Texas law for evictions during the period can not be legally carried out now.

Judge Davidson granted a temporary injunction restraining approximately 26 landlords from carrying out evictions pending appeal.

Little Theater Set for Season

Pampa's Little Theater was all set yesterday for the coming season, with a new slate of officers and a repertoire of three plays to be produced locally by the recently organized West Theater.

Members chose Harry Kelley as president, Mickey Ledrick as vice president, Mrs. Leonard Belden as secretary and A. A. Schuneman as treasurer.

The Little Theater will meet throughout the year on the third Thursday of each month in the club-room of the city hall, it was announced.

The three productions of the West Theater in Pampa will be in connection with the new repertory company's plans to stage plays in about 20 Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma cities during the coming season, according to Charlie Thomas, of Pampa, manager-director.

Thomas says the company will produce three plays a season, all revivals of popular New York stage hits. The cast of six will come from New York, Massachusetts, California, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas.

The aim of the West Theater is to "establish a permanent repertory theater in the west," Thomas said.

Headquarters will be in Pampa.

Volunteer OPA Workers Thanked

Ray E. McKernan, general chairman of the price control board for Gray, Roberts, Hamphill Wholesale groceries, yesterday thanked volunteer OPA workers for their assistance to his office.

He also made public a recent proclamation from President Truman to "all volunteer workers of OPA" which read:

"On behalf of the grateful people of the United States, I thank you for your selfless service in your country's need as a volunteer worker for the Office of Price Administration. With your help, our nation has been able to protect its economy against the impact of total war and to assure its consumers fair prices and a fair distribution of needed goods."

"As a patriotic citizen, you have demonstrated your loyalty and devotion in a period of great national danger. Your community and your country will not forget your contribution to victory over our enemies and look to you now for leadership and example in the continuing fight against inflation."

Porter Slates 'Toughest Program Yet' To Prevent Return of Black Markets

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Price Administrator Paul Porter announced yesterday that he would soon put into effect "the toughest program yet to prevent the black market from staging a comeback along with meat ceilings."

OPA's enforcement agents are getting help from the justice, agriculture and treasury departments, Porter said in his weekly radio broadcast, and the policing plan will be unveiled in a few days. "If anyone, with a misguided ambition for illegal profits, is planning a little chiseling on the side I'd like to advise against it," he declared.

"From now on out the word will be—black marketeers, beware!" Porter predicted that some livestock producers would want to hold back meat animals from market in hopes of forcing higher prices. OPA will not yield to any "purely pressure drives," he asserted, and the ceilings will be held at "firm and equitable" levels.

Other officials reported that OPA's staff of meat inspectors is being increased well above its June 30 strength of 800 men. More than a score of ceiling increases were ordered by OPA yesterday, the 30th day since congress re-opened the agency to life. Price boosts for trucks, cotton goods, fats and oils, tuna fish, warm air furnaces, metals and building materials—most of them required by the new price control law—poured out from morning until night.

OPA opened the door for further price increases on new automobiles, but not in a way likely to please automobile dealers. Price Boss Porter rejected a proposed general 3 percent increase, designed to cover handling charges on new cars. It was requested by dealers under the price law amendment which guarantees prewar profit margins. The increases would have come on top of a 7.3 percent price increase on new automobiles. Instead, Porter offered individual increases to any dealer who can show that he charged substantially more before the war, for "preparing and conditioning" automobiles, than he is getting now.

Each dealer must inspect his records for the last three months of 1940, figure the average handling charge for each make of car, and file an affidavit with his district OPA office. Then he may charge the prewar average. The price agency announced that ceilings on margarine and shortenings would be 1 cent a pound higher than June 30 levels when fats and oils are placed under ceilings again Sept. 9.

The prices of cooking oil, salad oil, mayonnaise and salad dressing generally will be 1 cent higher than in June for each "consumer-size" package, OPA said. Lard prices will be announced soon, along with meat ceilings. A slight increase was granted in the price of flour for millers— at Minneapolis, 7 cents per 100 pounds. OPA predicted this will not be reflected in retail prices.

Mixed feeds, another "recon-structed" formula because of the removal of controls from grain, on the USS Highlands, the USS LEM 368, and the USS LSM 252, during his nine months overseas. Melton was discharged on August 16, at Terminal Isle, Calif.

Two Pampa men have been discharged from the Personnel Separation center at Fort Sam Houston. Both men received their discharges about August 20-21. They are: T/3 Jack P. Mullins, 212 East Atchinson street, and T/5 Clifton L. Caylor, Rt. 1, Pampa.

A report from Brig. Gen. John M. Willis, commandant of the Brooke Army Medical Center, states that Lt. Glenn E. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Davis, 630 North Banks, has reported for active duty at the Army Medical Department schools, Fort Sam Houston.

Lt. Davis is a graduate of the University of Texas School of Medicine, and is one of a class of reserve medical officers who are beginning an eight week basic training schedule.

F/1c Joe D. Crear, Jr., of 817 West Francis street was discharged from the U. S. naval personnel separation center at Jacksonville, Fla., on August 15.

U. S. Sees 'Release' of Litvinoff As Blow at Russian Cooperation

Litvinoff Is Out Of Soviet Office

LONDON—(AP)—Maxim M. Litvinoff, former ace Russian diplomat, and one of the oldest revolutionaries, has been "released from his other duties" as deputy minister of foreign affairs, the Moscow radio said Friday night.

The broadcast added that Fyodor Gusev, Soviet ambassador to Britain, and Yakov Malik had been appointed deputy ministers of foreign affairs, but gave no explanation of Litvinoff's release. In the past, Litvinoff's resignations and appointments of men have presaged a change in Soviet foreign policy.

After serving for a decade as foreign commissar, he was replaced unexpectedly by V. M. Molotov on May 9, 1939, in the midst of negotiations with Britain and France for a mutual assistance pact.

The significance of this move became apparent in August, 1939, when the Kremlin concluded a non-aggression pact with Germany. War broke out a month later.

Litvinoff arrived in Washington as Russian ambassador Dec. 6, 1941, a day before the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. He was succeeded Aug. 22, 1943 by Andrei A. Gromyko, at a time when the Russians were appealing for a second front in western Europe.

An advocate of collective security and close relations with Britain and the United States, Litvinoff negotiated the United States recognition of Russia with President Roosevelt and the U. S. state department in 1933.

American management, united as never before on a program for industrial peace, is asking for a program of much needed legislation to establish conditions necessary to make collective bargaining work—Carroll French, Industrial Relations Director, National Association of Manufacturers.

Chinese Troops Moving in on Key Communist City

NANKING—(AP)—Government troops were reported yesterday moving on the key communist city of communist forces besieging Tating failed in their twelfth attempt to break through stiff defenses of that important Shansi province rail hub. Chinese press dispatches said Nationalist troops had advanced to within 30 miles of Chengteh, one of the three major communist cities the government recently threatened to attack unless the siege of Tating were lifted.

The government's Central News agency reported Nationalist troops had recaptured Chianghsien in southern Shansi province, and turned back a communist attack on Lan-feng, Honan province, killing every soldier who entered the city.

At Peiping, Wang Hung-hao, chief of staff of government field headquarters, mentioned the possibility of "all-out civil war" in telling newsmen that the main North China cities of Peiping and Tientsin would be stoutly defended should the communists attack. "There will be no

Seventh Polio Victim Recovering Rapidly

Gray county's seventh polio victim, four-year-old son of Bill Kelley and Mrs. Lillian Rice Kelley, is reported to be recovering rapidly from an attack of polio suffered several days ago.

The child's case was described as "only mild" by physicians. It was erroneously reported in the question about the safety of the big cities," he said.

Meantime, in the capital the first communist reaction to the compromise "last chance" peace plan, which presumably has Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's approval, was one of distrust.

Disputed areas of China, under the plan which was brought from the summer capital at Kuling Friday would be placed under United States trusteeship.

The restrictions on United States representatives in Russia leaves only the attaché in Odessa, the embassy in Moscow and a consulate in Vladivostok. Authorities here disclosed that the Russians thus far have turned a deaf ear to requests to open American consulates in various other Russian cities. They will not even answer inquiries on the subject, it was stated.

The result is that Washington authorities are seriously considering slapping a "get out order" on some Russian consulates in this country but no decision has been made yet.

The Litvinoff announcement, coming against this background of recent incidents and on top of the conflicts over Turkey, Iran, Poland, and the Balkans, and in the midst of the Yugoslav dispute, was not unexpected at the state department.

People Are Given Some Ideas About Government Jobs

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Thousands of government workers are being laid off monthly. People ask: How come? I thought a government job was a lifetime job.
Here are questions and answers about working for the government.
Q. Why are thousands being laid off?
A. Almost all are temporary wartime workers. The government is shrinking back toward peacetime size.
Q. With many thousands still to be laid off, is there any chance of getting a permanent job with the government?
A. Yes. But to do so, you must pass a civil service examination.
Q. Do any individuals, or groups of individuals, get special preference when government jobs are filled?
A. Yes. Disabled veterans, able-bodied veterans, wives of disabled veterans, and widows of veterans, or former permanent federal workers.
Q. What does permanent mean?
A. Generally, it means for life.
Q. What are the civil service tests? Are they all the same?
A. They vary. There'll be one kind for a stenographer, another for a locomotive inspector. The tests are decided upon by the civil service commission — a three-member board appointed by the President.
Q. How can you find out when a test or a worker like you will be given?
A. The government gives the tests publicly through newspapers, trade journals, post offices.
Q. What kind of pay does the government give?
A. It depends upon your classification.
Like a messenger, being in the lowest classification, gets the lowest salary.
A stenographer, placed in the fourth classification, would start off at about $2,100 a year.
Q. How do you get promoted?
A. Your advancement depends upon the recommendation of your boss.
Top civil service salary is about $10,000. Very few get it.
Q. What benefits do you get, working for the government?
Generally you have to retire at 70. You get a pension, the size depending upon your length of service and salary.
You get a vacation of 26 days a year and are allowed 15 days off every year for illness.
I am convinced that the great majority of employers and labor leaders are not out to "bust" or "hamstring" or take over the other. But they can do that without intending to do so by fighting for their own survival in ways which endanger the survival of the other.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS
When boys don't date you—and don't date anybody else, either—what can you do about it? That's the question in this letter. Is it yours too?
"I belong to a group of 15-year-old girls, all fairly good-looking, neat and clean. We are all pleasant—by that, I mean we like people and enjoy being with them and try to talk intelligently. But none of us has ever been asked for a date. The boys seem friendly, but never ask us to parties, soda dates or anything. I've often wondered why. It's evidently our fault, but somehow I can't put my finger on what's wrong. Could you help us and other 'teenagers with the same problem?'"
Another teen lass writes, "Boys here go stag if they go anywhere at all and never go out with girls. What can we do?"
First, don't get an inferiority complex about it. If boys don't date anybody, it's not your fault. Some boys just don't date early in the teens because they're shy, absorbed in boys' doings or waiting until later in life.
They'll have to get used to the idea of dates gradually, so plan Saturday swimming or bowling parties, hot dog roasts, hay rides or scavenger hunts. Invite several girls who are good fun, friendly and willing to help provide the eats. Then ask the boys if they'd like to go along too. Be casual, asking them in a friendly manner, not as if you had "boy-meets-girl and makes a date" in mind, but as if you were planning some fun and thought they'd like to share it.
Tell them several other boys will be there, that they can bring a pal if they'd like and that there will be good things to eat. Don't go in pairs; keep the conversation and fun general to prevent shyness. Some boys can't dance; practice dance steps with them and they'll soon go to school dances. After several of these shindigs, they'll be less shy, more used to "mixed parties."

Nehru Will Head India Government

LONDON — (AP) — Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the congress party, was named yesterday to head a new interim government for India to take office Sept. 2.
King George VI appointed the interim government, designed to be the first step in giving India her independence. But it is under fire already from the powerful Moslem league, which refused to participate. The Moslems' "direct action" campaign threatens to make it virtually impossible for the government to function.
The proposed constitution must be written by an assembly without the help of the Moslem league. which has said it would boycott the sessions. Whether the princely states will join in support of the interim government also is in question.
The New Delhi radio, announcing the names of the interim appointees, said King George had accepted the resignations of the governor general's council, an advisory cabinet.
The new appointments were:
Nehru, Sardar Vallabhai Patel, congress delegate to the Simla talks; Dr. Rajendra Prasad, congress working committee member; Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, former premier of Madras; Sarat Chandra Dr. John Mathai, Bombay industrialist; Sardar Baldev Singh, Sikh leader; Asaf Ali, congress Moslem leader; Sir Shafat Ahmed Khan, non-league Moslem and former high commissioner in South Africa; Jagjivan Ram, president of the depressed classes league; G. H. Bhabha, a Parsee; and Sayed Ali Zaheer, a leader of the Shia sect of Moslems.

Major Decisions on Future Wage Stabilization Policy in Making

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Major government decisions on future wage stabilization policy were in the making yesterday while new labor storm clouds gathered in the background.
Reconversion Director John R. Steelman met with the entire wage board Friday and White House conferences were continuing over the week end to study means of staying any new wave wage demands.
Two immediate decisions had to be made:
1. Whether to continue the wage stabilization board at all, in the absence of price controls on many essentials. The board's authority over wages is linked to government control over prices.
2. Whether to take account of recent advances in living costs. The stabilization order now allows employers to seek price relief for wage increases up to 33 percent above average straight time hourly earnings of January 1941. This is because living costs were estimated to have risen that much up to last October 30. But the bureau of labor statistics now figures another 9 percent has been added to last October's estimate.
Doubt as to the WSB's future arises because its field is limited to industries where prices still are under control which might lead to complaints of hardship on workers and employers in such industries as compare with those not under control. Labor unions were flying danger signals on all sides.
1. CIO researchers in the steel, auto, electrical, clothing and textile unions will meet here Tuesday to go over the entire wage-price situation. Such a meeting precedes the CIO's first wage drives almost a year ago.
2. The CIO-auto workers will reopen their wage agreement with the Chrysler corporation October 16. This is the only wage demand, said President Walter P. Reuther,

Turkey Rejects Soviet Demands Of Joint Defense

ANKARA — (AP) — The Turkish government, commenting that it was having "difficulties in understanding Soviet apprehensions" with regard to the Dardanelles, has rejected flatly Russia's demands for joint defense of the strategic strait.
Such a narrowing control of that vital waterway to Black sea powers only.
"The government of the republic is of the opinion that Turkey herself is interested in defending with all her might the country against aggression from whichever side it may come," the government said in a long note to Russia made public, Friday night.
"To want to reinforce the form of defense at a moment when all nations of the world compete with ardor to bring their contributions in creating an area of peace and security would be to deny the existence of the aims of the United Nations and show... distrust, the cause of which the Turkish government does not understand."
"The most sure guarantee of the security of the Soviet Union in the Black Sea," said the note, "resides not in a search for privileged strategic position in the strait... but in the restoration of friendly and trusting relations with a strong Turkey, which has decided to use all her forces to inaugurate this happy era but whose efforts in this sense need to be seconded by equal goodwill coming from her northern neighbor."
The reply, handed to Russia Thursday, followed precisely the lines of earlier American, British and French notes rejecting both Soviet penetration of the strait and the proposal to shut off control of the Dardanelles from all nations except those on the Black sea, to which the strait links the Mediterranean.
The latter proposal, Turkey's note said, seems "to bar in the first place the duration of Montreux (the Montreux convention of 1936 which set up control of the Dardanelles, with Turkey as the guardian) which is destined to live at least until 1956, and in addition, the note continued, it seems to "want to ignore the interests of other signatory powers which have an equal right to participate in the negotiations."

Three Airmen

Patterson, accepted the theory that what the eyewitnesses actually saw fall from the sky were two gasoline tanks jettisoned by the fliers just before the plane crashed.

Although Patterson announced earlier today that the bodies of five U. S. fliers—the entire crew of the C-47—had been found in the mass grave, it apparently was before the graves registration squad had begun an inch-by-inch examination of the common resting place in the Holy Cross cemetery at Kropovnik. Patterson said the bodies would be taken to Belgrade for burial with military honors.

(In Paris, U. S. Secretary of State Elyria said he had asked the army to transfer the bodies to graves in the United States.)

Tito notified Patterson yesterday that there apparently were no survivors of the plane attack, which he termed "a regrettable incident."

Those who were in the plane at the time of the attack, in addition to Schriber, were Capt. Robert H. Cray, pilot; Capt. B. H. Freestone; Cpl. M. Conko and Cpl. C. J. Lower.

Tito also leveled these charges: 1. That Allied military planes, including fighters and flying fortresses, were being sent over Yugoslavia as a demonstration of Allied military strength designed to intimidate patriotic Yugoslavs and encourage "anti-national" elements in the country.

2. That pilots of Allied transport planes flew over Yugoslav territory in an "intentional and arbitrary" manner because they were only seeking "to shorten the way."

He said that the action of the Yugoslav fighters in downing the transport in which the five met their deaths "had an unfortunate ending for which we were not responsible" but added that strict orders were given to his air force against firing on any more transport planes violating Yugoslavia's air sovereignty.

Yugoslavia Seeks Return of Ships

LONDON — (AP) — Yugoslavia charged in a note to the United States last May that American refusal to release $10,000,000 in Yugoslav shipping constituted "political pressure" to force Marshal Tito to support internationalization of Danube, a Yugoslav source said yesterday.

This informant said the note proposed that U. S. failure to release 167 units of Yugoslavia's Danube fleet had cost Yugoslavia $20,000,000 in lost productivity, and that Tito's government had threatened to "take all steps to defend her interests." He said the ships were held in the American zone of Austria.

He said that the representative of the American embassy in Belgrade had declared that if Yugoslavia supported the U. S. plan for internationalization of the Danube "then some thing may be done about the ships."

It was announced Friday that Yugoslavia earlier this month had filed an appeal with the economic and security council of the United Nations asking for return of 167 vessels held on the upper Danube. That appeal did not mention the United States specifically.

(The American undersecretary of State Dean Acheson, when asked in Washington yesterday about the Yugoslav Danube situation, told reporters that the United States wanted to discuss reopening navigation on the Danube for all countries bordering on the river.)

(As for the ships themselves, he said the United States has some in Austria that were the property of individuals other than Austrians.)

Durant Trial (Continued From Page 1) before she was married) told us to take the packages to her room."

Carlton said he had discovered the packages of jewels in a second zinc box in the deepest cellar of the castle.

He said he had reported to the WAC that a German employe of the castle had told him "he knew where something valuable was hidden, and she had told him to investigate."

"Were there any regular visitors to Capt. Nash?" Carlton was asked. Over defense objections, the court permitted him to answer.

"Well, let's see—there was Col. Durant and Maj. Watson. They came four or five times a week to the castle."

Carlton, dressed in a grey business suit, said he had taken the packages of jewels from the box and "carried them in our hands" to the WAC's room with two Germans who had aided him through the concrete floor of the castle cellar.

Injured Hughes Designs New Bed For Patients

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — It was disclosed today that a contribution to modern hospital comfort may have been made by Howard Hughes, famous flyer and aircraft designer and builder who was critically injured July 7 in the crash of his XF-11, experimental army photo reconnaissance airplane.

Severe burns made it impossible to put a cast around Mr. Hughes' chest which was crushed and contained eleven broken ribs and a broken collarbone, together with other injuries.

With no cast, splint, or support of any kind, Mr. Hughes suffered considerable pain whenever it was necessary for attendants to move his body. Furthermore, this pain continued for quite a while after each time he was moved, or attempted to move himself.

Mr. Hughes decided that this pain was caused by the fact that his body, and particularly his spinal column to which the stub of each broken rib was attached, did not return (after he was moved) to its exact original position.

To correct this situation, he designed and had built in his factory a new type of hospital bed.

In this bed, the portion of the mattress which lies directly under the occupant's backbone, from the waist to the neck, is divided into six completely separate sections, each of which is five inches square.

Each of these sections of the mattress is mounted on a small screw-jack and capable of being raised or lowered above or below the level of the rest of the mattress.

Therefore, by the adjustment of one of six small cranks on the side of the bed, it is possible to raise or lower the section of the mattress under each segment of the patient's spinal column, and in that way bring the spinal column into any curvature desired.

This bed has proven quite successful. After any change in the patient's position, it is possible to readjust the spinal column back into the identical position and curvature in which it had lain prior to being moved. This readjustment naturally eliminates the pain resulting from the movement.

It is possible that this bed may be of some value to other multiple fracture cases, particularly if they should be accompanied by bursts which prevent the use of cast support. In the custody of Dr. Verne Mason, his personal physician, Hughes has been taken from the Good Samaritan hospital here to a private home.

Newspaper Suggests New Shooting Solution

JACKSON, Miss.—(AP)—The possibility that all four peace officers wounded in the battle at Sullivan's Hollow were shot by white men rather than Negroes has been suggested by the Clarion-Ledger.

The newspaper said that authorities believed the four white officers and a Negro were wounded as the result of a smoldering feud between white families.

Sullivan's Hollow is notorious as a feuding ground in Mississippi.

Police have said they believe members of the Craft family and other Negroes living in the Hollow fired on the peace officers when they approached the Craft home to investigate a previous disturbance.

The Clarion-Ledger said, however, that Johnny Craft and other Negroes held in Hinds county jail have insisted that white persons were responsible for the shooting.

Meanwhile at Raleigh, Sheriff George Hawkins said he expected to disclose the cause of the disturbance after a talk today with District Attorney O. O. Weatherly at Taylorsville.

Maritime Labor Storm Is Brewing

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Government refusal to approve wage increases for ASL seamen on the east and west coasts brewed a fresh maritime labor storm today.

Just as the shipping industry was emerging slowly from a crippling CIO strike on the Great Lakes, three decisions of the wage stabilization board applying to deep-sea sailors threatened trouble on the Atlantic and Pacific.

Dissenting WSB labor members warned that "unrest" may result among ocean seamen from the decisions yesterday which disallowed AFL wage boosts in excess of the $17.50 monthly wage increase approved for able-bodied seamen of the CIO National maritime union in mid-June.

The shipping industry still could pay the disapproved rates—$22.50 negotiated with the AFL sailors union of the Pacific and $27.50 with the AFL seafarers international union.

But the industry would have to absorb everything over $17.50 because the WSB decisions mean the government can't be charged for the higher costs involved.

Total of Livestock Marketed Increases

KANSAS CITY.—(AP)—Farmers and feeders yesterday rushed to market the largest number of livestock ever offered for sale here on a Saturday.

The heavy market reflected indications that when meat goes back under OPA control next Thursday, ceiling prices will be well under the open market prices which have prevailed since the previous OPA act expired on July 1.

In contrast to the usual Saturday offering of only a few hundred head of odds and ends, today's run included an estimated available 8,500 cattle, 800 calves and 130 hogs. No sheep arrived, due largely to the fact that, as in the past, they will not be under ceiling prices.

Ham on the hoof is scarce but "ham" operators in Pampa are as free as the air.

Over 50,000 amateur radio operators are back on the air after being suspended during World War II. The United States operators are the only operators in the world who were allowed to keep their equipment. All other countries confiscated or sealed the transmitters. At the end of the war all of the allied countries returned the apparatus to the owners, unharmed.

Herman Whately—One of Pampa's 'Ham' Operators

Some amateurs revel in contacts with far-distant countries; these are called "dx" men. Others specialize in re-voicing messages. Some are tireless experimenters, getting as much pleasure from building, improving and tearing down equipment as from actual operation on the air. These experimenters have added many new improvements to the world of radio, both commercial and amateur.

Others prefer not to specialize, but simply to "chew the rag" with any other amateur whom they may happen to contact on the air. Among the Pampa "hams" are Herman Whately, WSJG; Mrs. Ethel Eller, WSJAD; Tom Eller, WSJW; L. E. Neisy, Jordan, WSJWQ; Al Beuselich, WJEA; Cecil "Benny" Hudson, WSJGW; Bill Hawkins, Jr., WSJOK and Oils E. "Red" Payne, WSJVP. An operator is never called by his full name over the radio. Usually they are given nicknames or just called by their given name.

Herman Whately, mentioned above, is a typical amateur radio operator. He has made over 800 contacts with all 48 states, Alaska, Philippines, South America, South Africa, Hawaii, Guam, Okinawa, Porto Rico, Nova Scotia, New Zealand, Guatemala, Mexico and Canada since Nov. 20, 1945. Early this spring, Whately picked up a call from Philippines. A boy who had been in a hospital there wanted his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lambert of Enid, Okla., to know that he would arrive home soon on a hospital ship. The Lamberts had not heard from their son for many months and were anxious to hear any news. Whately notified the Oklahomans upon receipt of the message and they sent him their thanks with a present for his deed.

Among the contacts he has made was one to Guam, where Lt. J. J. Pfeffer, husband of the former Miss Mary Jane Davis of Pampa, was stationed. Mrs. Pfeffer and Lt. Pfeffer finally "got together" and conversed about 45 minutes. Mrs. Pfeffer plans to join Lt. Pfeffer in Guam in the near future. The contact was made through operator W6PKP Portable KB6.

Claude V. Timmons, formerly in charge of an air force squadron stationed in Guam, talked to the members of the squadron which he commanded. During his talk he was informed that the plane which he flew while he was stationed there had been completely demolished since he had come to the States.

Whately received his license in September, 1939. To receive a license, the candidate must be able to send and receive code at 13 words per minute plus a written theoretical examination given by the Federal Communications Commission. Upon passing this he receives a class C or B license. Others may be obtained by meeting higher requirements.

Whately became interested in this hobby when he was visiting in the home of Bill Hawkins, Jr., and saw the transmitting equipment. At the time the government released the ban on the amateurs, Whately was remodeling his equipment and had not finished until five days later, Nov. 20.

When your writer interviewed Whately, his transmitter was tuned to a "contact" between "Red" Payne and Operator ZL2BN in Te Iwanga, Napier, New Zealand. Payne was interested in finding the location of Pango Pango. After the New Zealander had signed off with "Cherrio," Al Beuselich broke in to give him the exact location of the island. Whately stated that someone could always give information on any question and usually did. When these "hams" "chew the rag" they give each other tips on the betterment of a transmitter and various items of their common interest.

While some operators use the speed key, which they call a "bug," just to keep from getting stale others have stage fright at the thought of using a "mike."

Each "contact" must be logged with the time of the beginning and ending of the "conversation" stated. These must be kept for one year for federal inspection.

Pampa gets its share of publicity through these channels as far as Al Beuselich is concerned. His signing off starts: "Pampa, where the oil flows and wheat grows." This trio mark includes a vivid description of Pampa, the Panhandle and Texas.

In case of any emergency or during an electrical storm, Whately has made it possible to operate his transmitter by battery.

Accusation by Crum Is Denied by Acheson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dean Acheson says it is not true that "middle level" officials in the state department have frustrated American policy in Palestine.

Furthermore, the undersecretary of state told reporters, he personally is responsible for carrying out the wishes of the President and Secretary Byrnes—and he is not so stupid as not to know whether he is being sabotaged by underlings.

Acheson's remarks at a press conference yesterday were in reply to a declaration Wednesday by Bartley C. Crum, member of the Anglo-American Palestine commission.

Crum said "middle level" officials had backed execution of the administration's policy favoring additional Jewish immigration into the Holy Land. He specifically suggested that Loy Henderson, who has the state department's middle eastern desk, offer to resign.

Guerrillas Warned 'They Better Behave'

MANILA (AP)—Brig. Gen. Mariano Casteda, Philippines provost marshal general, threatened yesterday to use bombs as well as artillery if Hukbalahap guerrillas "don't behave."

"If they don't show more respect for law, we are coming to knock them out quick," Casteneda said in an interview. "The government is not bluffing. Stability of the republic is threatened."

Sixty thousand British civilians were killed in air raids during the war.

Victor Moore Will Stick to Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Victor Moore, looking more like a New England clergyman than a veteran actor, folded his hands over his comfortable paunch and said softly that he isn't quitting this racket, even after 52 years of acting.

The little funny man, who is quiet and serious off-stage, is now in his 70th year. He could easily pass for 50.

"It Happened on Fifth Avenue" set. He wasn't working in the scene, but was quietly watching the proceedings in his shirt sleeves, minus a collar or tie. He sighed and calmly told me of these fruitful years and hoped that he could keep on for at least another 30.

"My business manager has been trying to get me to retire for some years now, but," he smiled slyly, "I won't let him force me to do it." Looking back at his long list of films, he started with Jesse Lasky; Cecil B. De Mille directed his second film back in 1916 and chose "Make Way For Tomorrow" as the film that stood out most prominently.

Many young Hollywood actors shun the sage, fearing the eight shows a wee kin all types of weather will make them old before their time. But Moore is the perfect example of how continual hard work preserves a man.

And what about the future? "I'd like to do only one picture a year and spend the rest of my time fishing," he smiled.

Axe-and-Knife Battle Results In One Death

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—(AP)—A 49-year-old negro porter died yesterday of stab wounds received less than 20 hours before in a mysterious axe-and-knife battle in which a young white girl clerk was critically wounded in the American Red Cross office where both were employed.

The porter, Percy Martin, succumbed in White Plains hospital where the girl, 19-year-old Frances Anastasi, remained unconscious and in critical condition but was reported by hospital attaches as "holding her own."

Martin and Miss Anastasi, a choir singer, were found late Friday afternoon in a basement sewing room of Red Cross headquarters in the Westchester county office building.

Screams from the room attracted the attention of passersby. Mrs.

Helen Fotillo, an elevator operator, investigated and as she neared the room Martin emerged, covered with blood, took one step into the corridor then toppled over.

The sewing room was blood-spattered and in an adjoining rest room Miss Anastasi was found lying unconscious on the floor. Beside her were a small axe and an eight-inch knife.

Chief Assistant Attorney Frederick E. Weeks, Jr., quoted Martin as saying he and the girl had been friendly but had quarreled and she attacked him with a knife. The porter, Weeks said, struck back with the axe.

Miss Anastasi suffered a fractured skull and head cuts. Martin was stabbed in the chest.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market suffered another bad week on balance, although selling dried up in the final session and modest recoveries appeared for recently weak leaders.

The Associated Press 40-stock average was off 1.2 points at 77 of the week and was but 2.8 points above the year's bottom. Transfers for the five days amounted to 41,565,536 shares against 3,744,656 the week before. A year ago the total was 3,755,650 shares.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcontrate (formerly called Barcol Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Gilbert's Progressing With Pampa

Sportsmanship at Soap Box Derby Finals Is Inspiration to Witnesses

By J. L. SWINDLE
Pampa News Editor

Carl Kennedy, who represented Pampa and the Top O' Texas in the All-American Soap Box Derby running at Akron, O., just a week ago today, is back at home.

Carl, who was sent to the finals by the Pampa Daily News following his victory over 18 other boys here July 22, thoroughly enjoyed his vacation trip. From the time he arrived there with the writer, at noon on Friday, Aug. 16, until the derby banquet was concluded on the following Sunday night, he was one of 112 busy boys from all parts of the U. S.

Even though he lost his race, he seemed to enjoy the affair which was attended by around 98,000 persons.

Since the "show" is over, and all the boys are back at home, it is interesting to look over the fact sheet. Among other things, it is a consolation to Carl and the Derby enthusiasts here, that he was not more than two one-hundredths of a second behind the boy who ultimately won the coveted title of national champion.

It is always interesting to construct a few "ifs" on occasions like this. For instance, if Carl had not met in the first go-round the soon-to-be winner, there might have been a different story to tell today.

Heat No. 31—Carl's race—was the second fastest in the first go-round. The time was 27.09 seconds, and, as we said, Carl was just a "breath" behind the winner, Gilbert Klecan of San Diego, Calif. Klecan, by the way, defeated a field of 473 to be San Diego's champ.

The fastest heat in the first round was clocked at 26.91, but the boy who won it lost his second race—which is some sort of proof (though inexplicable) that the cars do not run consistently. The boy who ran that fast first heat lost in a race which clocked 27.05 seconds.

Carl's car made the trip down the smooth Derby Downs on Saturday in his test run in 27.76 seconds. The track was wet on that afternoon.

Here are some interesting figures on the California boy's race. In his first heat as we said, he ran the distance of 1,000 feet—in 27.09.

In his second race, which was Heat No. 49, he clocked 27.32. In his third race, in which he beat out a boy who previously ran the track in 27.79, he came out winner with a time of 27.07. His fourth race was the fastest of the day—25.67.

In his final race, he made the distance in 27.13 seconds.

It is somewhat ironical that, that winning time was exceeded several times during the afternoon. But the boys who beat it, like Carl Kennedy, did not make it at the right time and against the right cars.

But those are the chances taken by the boys who are fortunate enough to be part of such grand show. It is when the races are over that one sees what the boys are made of. The boys in this race were good losers. Those people sitting on the sidelines went there to see sportsmanship as well as the races. They saw it, and it is an inspiration.

We believe every boy who ran in the race held at Pampa this year derived something worthwhile from it. We are looking forward to an even better race next year.

Shipment of Ice Machines Held Up

WASHINGTON—(AP)—If the "freeze" is put on a proposed shipment of 80 ice-making machines to Yugoslavia, it may be because of a self-styled "plain American citizen."

William G. Williams, 70-year-old Washington consulting engineer, put a chill on the shipment yesterday with telegrams to the state and treasury departments, the war assets administration and UNRRA.

Disturbed by the Yugoslav situation, Williams' anger mounted when he read a story from Cincinnati that the ice-making machines were being prepared for shipment by UNRRA.

Said Williams: "I'm tired, but they've got my goat. What I intend to do is find out who makes the decisions to send stuff like this over there."

"As public servants, it's up to government people from the President down to the pound keeper to listen to what I—a plain American citizen—have to say."

It appeared some listening was done. A WAA spokesman said the ice machines are being held up pending a review of the case.

USSR Criticizes Jap Land Reform Program

TOKYO—(AP)—The Japanese government's rural and reform program, praised by General MacArthur, was criticized yesterday by a Soviet embassy spokesman.

Constantin Popov, embassy press attache, declared at a press conference that the program "does not solve the problem of realizing democratic agrarian reform" and maintains "the interests of landowners obviously in the foreground."

A statement issued to correspondents declared nothing new had been done in rural land reform in the year since Japan's surrender, but admitted the government bill "is a certain step forward as compared with the former government rural land reform program."

U. N. Executive Will Attend Conference

NEW YORK—(AP)—Arkady Sobolev, assistant secretary-general of the United Nations, left for Paris yesterday to consult with delegates to the peace conference and Paul-Henri Spaak, president of the U. N. general assembly, regarding possible postponement of the assembly session set here for Sept. 23.

Truman Improves His Technique of Fishing

BERMUDA—(AP)—The impression spread among President Truman's vacation retinue yesterday that he has learned a thing or two about fishing in the last year or so.

Wetting a line for the first time since his fruitless try for salmon in Puget Sound 14 months ago, the President nautiled in the party's first fish, boated the greatest poundage and wound up with three specimens.

Let us not be too skeptical or scornful when we read of Ben, the talking dog of Royston, England, or of the Gazelle Boy of Trans-Jordan.

In case you missed the stories on these two phenomenal characters, Ben is a terrier who was visited by reporter Robert Musel. When Mr. Musel began munching on a chocolate bar, Ben said: "I want one."

The Gazelle Boy? Well, perhaps evolutionary intuition figures that the final atomic blowup might leave a few humans as well as a few dogs on earth.

We heartily advise the statesmen charged with solving the problems of atomic energy control to ponder this speculation and then do something about it.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER ABUSES: War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn acted to correct abuses in the sale of surplus property to veterans as soon as Benjamin F. Fields, the Gipsion brothers' lobbyist, Washington, told two congressional committees how he had been able to get and sell for a profit building materials wanted by but unavailable to ex-servicemen.

Spurt in U. S. Wartime Rate Due to Creation of New Families

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The spurt in the American wartime birth rate was due, not so much to an increase in the number of large families, as to the creation of new families, and to an increase in the number of families of moderate size, according to the analysis by the statisticians of a large insurance company. The American wartime birth rate reached its peak in 1943 and then began to decline, suggesting that the general wartime increase in births has not reversed the long term trend towards a decrease in size of family.

Access Roads Would Raise Timber Output

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Wilson W. Wyatt, housing expeditor, has announced that the forest service will reconstruct 17 miles of access roads into remote areas of timber lands in Texas to boost lumber output for veterans housing.

Peter Edson's Column: AMERICAN HOSPITAL NEEDS SURVEYED

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Less than one-third of America's hospital needs will have been met when all of the $112,000,000 of federal, state and local funds have been spent under the new five-year hospital survey and construction act recently signed by President Truman.

In 1945 the American Medical Association made a survey of existing facilities in general hospital, mental and chronic-disease hospitals in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. It showed 6511 hospitals in operation, with 1,739,000 beds.

To bring U. S. hospitalization up to an adequate minimum standard, says the U. S. Public Health Service, would require provision for 7,000,000 new beds, the replacement of 201,000 existing beds with new facilities, and the construction of 4500 new public-health centers and clinics on the basis of one such center for every 50,000 population. The total cost of this program would be $3,939,000,000.

Only one-third of the $112,000,000 which may be spent under the new hospital survey and construction act is to come from federal funds. It is to be made available as grants-in-aid to the states and territories at the rate of $75,000,000 a year for five years. The remaining two-thirds of the money must come from non-federal funds.

A part may be raised by state and local taxes or bond issues. Such money would normally go into state, county, or municipal hospitals and institutions. But a large share of the money raised in each state must come from state bonds and state campaign drives to aid private non-profit hospitals.

ONLY NON-PROFIT HOSPITALS CAN DRAW FEDERAL AID. The non-profit angle is important. Private hospitals run for a profit will get no share of the federal funds to be allocated.

Another important consideration is that no local hospital project will get its grant directly from the federal government. Each state or territory must set up a single designated agency to make a survey and plan for its grant.

Two million dollars of federal money is already available to aid the state agencies in their planning. This money will soon be apportioned by Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the U. S. Public Health Service, under whose organization the entire hospital program will be supervised.

Housing Plan Dream Cottages Still Are Castles in the Air

It's "encouraging," says Housing Expeditor Wilson Wyatt (above) about the results of the housing program thus far. But house-hunters and home builders don't find his dream so rosy. They find a lot of the "dwelling units" he reports are converted army barracks, like the one at right, and a lot of the others he mentions in his figures are "starts" like the cottage at left which starts unfinished in the continuing shortage of materials.

By MARC J. PARSONS
NEA Staff Correspondent
For want of some nails, wood, pipe, and everything else it takes to build a house.
Despite continued government optimism, the dream cottages of millions of veterans are failing to materialize with anywhere near the speed required to satisfy present or future demand.

Housing Expeditor Wilson W. Wyatt says the results so far are "encouraging." He's far more encouraged than the house-hunters and home builders.

Builders, squeezed between an active black market in construction materials and an order limiting single-dwelling houses to $10,000 call priorities for building materials a "hunting license."

Reconversion Director John R. Steelman admits that "an extensive black market has diverted large quantities of building materials from essential uses." And Wyatt emphasized the point when he revealed that four government agencies have launched a concerted drive against this black market to prevent any further diversion of items critically needed in the nation's housing program.

How effective the drive will be is an open question.

"BOOTLEG HOUSES"
The non-governmental National Committee on Housing has been making a detailed study of the problem. Mrs. Samuel L. Rosenman, committee chairman, believes lack of enforcement provisions in current laws will leave the black market relatively unmoiled.

Mrs. Rosenman's committee found a thriving business in "bootleg" houses, homes built without permits and sold above the $10,000 limit.

Wyatt still is clinging to his rosy dreams of 1,200,000 new homes started this year, 2,700,000 by the end of 1947. There are a couple of things wrong with the 1,200,000 goal for 1946. In the first place, those are "dwelling units" and could be anything from a snug little bungalow to a converted army barracks. Another thing, they are "starts"—dwellings on which construction is started but not necessarily finished.

Shortage of materials has slowed completion of new home construction from a pre-war average of three to four months to a point where it now takes anywhere from seven to 10 months to do the job.

Government well-meaning red-tape isn't altogether a help. Builders condemn it as one of the biggest draw-backs to full home production.

Under the $10,000 limit, the GI is squeezed in by rising prices. To get a priority to build his house and not together can't buy a house for $10,000 bought more house last spring when the limit was fixed than it does today. The veteran has to cheapen his dream home today—or keep on dreaming.

NON-VETS OUT
Non-veterans are out unless they buy existing construction. The FHA will accept application for priorities cases, but few such priorities are granted.

Non-veterans can't even buy a new home, built since last March, until after veterans have had a 60-day crack at it. And few new homes today start on the open market 60 days. Non-vets also have to wait 30 days for veterans to decide whether they'll take new rental units.

These restrictions don't apply to construction started before last March.

Even Wyatt's version of the housing situation isn't as rosy as it first appears.

He admits that he hoped for 250,000 factory-built houses, or prefabricated dwellings, this year. After waiting for six months, he cut his estimate to 100,000. Factories haven't toolled up at the rate he expected.

He says 225,000 houses and apartments have been completed already this year. But 72,000 of these are temporary re-housing conversions or just plain trailers. Another 113,000 houses and apartments were started last year and have just been finished. The other 40,000 finished were largely started in the first few months of the year.

Another half a million were started and may or may not be completed before the year is out. Only 331,000 of these were listed as new permanent dwellings. The others could be anything from trailers to Quonset huts.

Even so, the home-hunting veteran who plans to build or buy a house isn't so badly off as the one who has to rent a home, apartment or even a room. Steelman says 45 percent of all units started this year, including those "temporary units (like Quonset huts) and conversions (like barracks are rental units. But he goes on to admit that, on the basis of FHA reports, "many of the permanent units which received priority assistance as rental units may never reach the rental market."

The house-hunting GI and his civilian contemporary have had a hard first year of peace. It doesn't look as if they're going to have it much easier next year.

National DAV Has New Medical Advisor

Dewey Belmont, commander of Pampa Chapter Number 35 of the Disabled American Veterans, advised all local DAV members yesterday that the organization has appointed a national medical adviser.

Dr. Clarence R. Strickland, former medical rating specialist for the Veterans Administration and one-time Indiana university professor, has been named to the job, Belmont said, adding:

"Expert medical opinion is a great help to our service officers in properly presenting a disabled veteran's claim. Our national service officers now are able to submit problems to Dr. Strickland for authoritative opinion."
