WALL STREET STOCKS
NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—The stock market enjoyed a selective early rally today behind steels, rails and industrials but there was little follow-through and liquidation in the final hour reversed the general direction. Prominent on the offside were Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, AF Education, General Electric, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Union Pacific, Dome Mines, Home-Stack, an International Telephone.

Meaning earnings or dividend lifted Park & Tilford, American Rolling Mill and Serval. Small improvement was retained by U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil (Ind), Texas Co. and North American.

Rising cotton futures and falling grains apparently chilled speculative and investment enthusiasm for stocks. Bonds were narrowly irregular.

Shade of Sycamore

By PERCY MARKS Author of "The Plastic Age" "A Tree Grown Straight" Etc.

XXXIII
When Gayle and Mrs. Mays packed the car once more, strapped Kent, all brown and scratched and bruised, into his little seat, and headed east again, Barney in his gray Ford coupe followed. They thought they knew where they were going and what they were going to do, and they had Barney to thank for the idea.

Gayle had been teasing him when she asked one day, "Where would you like me to settle, Barney, when we go back east? You'll still be on the job, won't you?"
"I think so, ma'am. I sure hope so."

"So do I. Now, where would you like me to be? It might as well be some place satisfactory to you."
Taking her seriously, as he always did, Barney wrinkled his forehead and considered the problem. Finally he said, "Well, ma'am, I'll tell you. My mother lives in Bedford Village, up near the Connecticut line. I gotta support her. That's why I ain't been drafted yet. My sister lives with her. It'd be mighty nice for me if you were somewhere around there."

"You mean you could live at home?"
"Yes'm. My sister's workin' now in a plant in Norwalk. It usta make gadgets, but now it's makin' parts for planes. Maybe if you were around there, I could get a job at the plant, too, and make some extra coin. I sure need it. The way you help me out, I could keep track of you easy."
"Of course," Gayle agreed, smiling at his simplicity and trust. "Maybe I could get a job in that same plant, and then everything would be perfect, wouldn't it?"

Gayle had meant to be amusing, but before Barney's last gurgle of laughter had died away, she was considering the idea seriously. It had merits, great merits. For months she had taken it for granted the work's simple. You ought to catch on to it easily."

To Gayle at times it seemed unbelievable that by moving a few miles away from her old home she could leave her old life completely behind. By driving 10 miles in almost any direction she could reach the home of someone she knew, but she came in contact with none of those people. They moved on one plane, and now she was moving on another plane far below. Those planes were parallel; they touched nowhere. The name Gayle Bartlett meant nothing to the villagers or to the factory workers, and Gayle's activities isolated her almost entirely from anyone else. She was busy and almost contented.

Bart, of course, was not forgotten, and Barney was ever present to keep her reminded that Octavia Bartlett had not forgotten her. There seemed nothing to worry about, however, not even when a letter came from Nate Kent late in November. He had written from Hawaii.

The third paragraph of his letter brought Gayle up sharp; and as she read, her heart began to pound. "Bart is here," the paragraph began, and I'll admit it was embarrassing to bump into him. But we're in the same service, and so the meeting was unavoidable. I don't know quite why, but he seems like a kid to me. Even at first when we were pretending you didn't exist, I felt as if I were talking to a kid. But then you were mentioned and everything blew up. He's just the way he was when he got into a mess with a girl when he was in college, bitter and hard as nails. Everything's your fault. He hasn't done a thing. All you want is a lot of dirty publicity, and so on. Look out, Gayle. He wants revenge.

"One thing surprises me. He's always been awfully popular with everyone, but he doesn't stand well with the other officers. He's frained with some of them, and they haven't got much use for him. They admit he's a marvelous pilot, but they say he's a rotten soldier. He doesn't know how to take orders."

given assistance to obtain available property from government surplus Hamilton Morton, Fort Worth regional director of War Assets Administration, announced today.

Morton has appointed Duncan D Myers, in the Fort Worth WAA office to handle agriculture and major farm organizations.

It is generally provided that surplus property needed to prevent impairment shall be disposed of to farm organization, cooperative association and farmers. Orders have been issued to expedite action on such certificates issued by the department of agriculture. This will be of immediate benefit to farmers in this part of Texas.

Meyers will determine the availability of farm production supplies and equipment for disposal to rural areas and also develop agricultural uses for slow-moving surplus items in the current WAA inventory.

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

and OIL-PLATE Your Engine!

BASIC forces of attraction and repulsion keep a comet in its course around the sun. By ceaseless study of the molecular attraction between liquids and solids, Conoco engineers are able to bring America's motorists new and better oils.

it belongs... prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight... you get these benefits:

- added protection when your engine starts up
- added protection from corrosive action
- added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon
- added smooth, silent miles

For example, under the laws of molecular attraction, a special ingredient in Conoco Nth motor oil is attracted to working surfaces of your engine. So strong is this attraction that cylinder walls and other parts are OIL-PLATED.

And because molecular attraction holds OIL-PLATING up where

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

By JOHN F. McKNIGHT

ROME—(P)—This old boy Boccaccio now. The schoolmarm, blushing at mention of him, hold him up as the great master of plot, the daddy of the surprise ending, the chap from whom Marlowe, Shakespeare and the rest shamelessly cribbed their stuff.

As they tell it, he spun all those wry, witty, naughty tales in the "Decameron" out of his own inventive head.

Maybe so, but foreign correspondents in Rome think they know better. All that Boccaccio did, they think, was re-write the Italian newspapers. In point of strict chronological accuracy, of course, Boccaccio couldn't have cribbed from the press because there wasn't any in his day, but he could have listened to the town crier or tramped a beat with the watch.

If this explanation seems implausible or wanting in respect to the old maestro, look at these cleanings from one day's editions of Rome newspapers:

The scene—Turin. Maria and Rosa Arrosia, elderly sisters were drastically poor. Life they decided, held nothing further. As they had lived, together, so they decided to die.

Hand in hand they jumped from their fourth floor flat. Maria plummeted to the sidewalk. Death was instant. But fate stepped in to separate the sisters at last. A steel wire at the third floor level caught and held Rosa. She escaped with only bruises.

The scene—Rome. Signora Carolina Penna woke to find her house strangely quiet. In some dungeon she went to wake her three maids. As she opened the door a strong smell of gas from a small gas hot water heater brought her up short. On their beds, white and still, lay the three maids—Sabatrice Benafanti, 33, Filomena Pistero, 28, Angelina Vittorini, 27. All had come to Rome recently from rural Sicily where they burn wood or charcoal for heat and hot water.

The scene—Genoa. She was in her late 30's. German-born, blonde, attractive, well to do. He was 20, dark and handsome. A train trip introduced them. Dinner wine followed. Came the dawn. She awoke to find him gone. Gone too, she told police, was her purse with Both the new Kaiser and Fraser automobiles have been on display at the Garvey Motor company, 700 W. Foster, for several days. Pictured above is the Kaiser 1947 model. Both models feature more seating width and an airstream exterior, the manufacturers say. Both are driven by a 100-h.p. motor.

Jewels and currency worth 6,000,000 lire ($28,600). Always before she said, she had worn it strapped to her body.

The scene—Milan. A few months ago, word reached Plade Francesini, business man, that he had fallen heir to 350,000,000 lire ($1,500,000). A benevolent man who loved his neighbors Plade spun large plans for public benefactions. The press heard of his laudable intentions and bruted them about. He got 3,000 letters suggesting worthy charities. Then there arrived one more letter. It said, in effect: It was not he, after all, who had inherited the money, but another fellow entirely, a fellow also named Plade Francesini.

Importance of Air Mail Service Cited

Red Weathered, postmaster, said today the theme of National Air Mail week, now being observed, is to transmit the communications of the world "Better, Faster, Cheaper."

With the inauguration of the new five-cent air mail stamp, air schedules are being pointed out to support the slogan.

For instance, Weathered said, an air mail letter leaving Pampa at 10:30 a. m. will arrive in Chicago at 11:55 p. m. the same day, or leaving Pampa at 7 p. m., will arrive at Chicago at 1:40 a. m. the next day; or leaving Pampa at 9 p. m., will arrive in Chicago at 9 a. m. the next day.

The same service is being offered to other parts of the country, he explained.

Three Pampa Vets Purchase War Goods

AMARILLO—(Special)—Bargain-hunting veterans from all parts of Texas and New Mexico converged on the Patex Ordnance Plant near Amarillo Monday for the first day of veteran buying at a site sale being conducted by the War Assets Administration.

Three Pampa veterans were recorded among the early purchasers on the opening day. J. W. Lemons, Box 940, purchased a steam hose, two fire extinguishers and miscellaneous hardware items amounting to $129.28. Thomas C. Braly, 208 Combs-Worley Bldg., obtained miscellaneous items for $8.58, while H. B. Merrick, Route No. 3, secured drills, punches, levels, jacks, hose, etc., for $28.95.

First veteran admitted to the sale, with a certificate dated Nov. 11, 1945, was Ira Earl Bowman, San Angelo, who obtained considerable equipment in hydraulic jacks, battery chargers and heaters.

Veterans from Lubbock, Wichita Falls and towns throughout the Panhandle early dominated the buying which saw "sold out" tags posted on 288 of the more than 1200 items and lots in the display room before 3 p. m. closing hour.

Veteran buying will continue through Friday of this week, with other priority purchasers and commercial dealers having their starting November 4.

Hayhurst-Tackitt Rites Are Read

PANHANDLE—(Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Hayhurst of Hammon, Okla., announce the marriage of their daughter, Lillie Belle, to Lawrence A. Tackitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Tackitt of Panhandle, at 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 26.

The impressive double-ring ceremony was read by Chaplain Morris Lively in the chapel of the Veterans' hospital in Amarillo before an altar banked with white and yellow dahlias and white and yellow chrysanthemums.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. E. B. Graham played "I Love You Truly" and the accompaniment for Mrs. Morris Lively as she sang "I Love You." She also played the traditional wedding marches.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Colleen Trent of Cheyenne, Okla., who wore a green suit with a corsage of Tallman roses.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Larry Tackitt of Panhandle.

Entering on the arm of her brother, Thomas Hayhurst of Edmond, Okla., who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a grey suit with black accessories with a corsage of gardenia.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hayhurst chose a black crepe dress, with a corsage of white carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a tailored black dress with a corsage of roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was given in the home of Mrs. Iva Pullen of Panhandle for the wedding party and the families of the young couple.

The refreshment table was lovely with a lace cover and centered with a tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was placed on a mirror.

Mrs. Tackitt is a 1945 graduate of Hammon high school and is employed in Amarillo.

Mr. Tackitt also attended school in Hammon and served 23 months in the U. S. navy. He is now receiving medical treatment in the Veterans' hospital in Amarillo.

Birthday Luncheon For Mrs. Joe Foster

A birthday luncheon was given in honor of Mrs. Joe Foster at the home of Mrs. Claude Wilson 515 N. Hazel St. Mrs. C. B. Tillstrom, Mrs. R. L. Edmondson, and Mrs. L. B. Scroggs were assistant hostesses.

The house was decorated with fall flowers. Mrs. Tucker presented a lovely corsage to Mrs. Foster.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Foster cut and served a birthday cake given by Mrs. Wilson. The gifts were then presented to the honoree by Mrs. Tillstrom.

Others present were Mesdames R. W. Bercker, Brady Davis, Earle Ellis, Emmie Mosley, Ruth Mosley, Estelle Orr, Cleo Johnson, Cloann Johnson, Homer Dogget, Bob Alford, Dexter Stokes, Earle Jordan, Hugh Ellis, E. L. Anderson, Lena Pearl Hobbs, Avis Wilson, Lilly Harfield, Don Wilson, Crocker, and Mrs. Blanch Gotlin from Amarillo.

Halloween Party Should Be Novel To Open Season

For the younger set the autumn-winter social season most frequently opens with the time-honored Halloween party. The tradition of goblins and ghosts and denizens of the nether world has given way to the custom of gayer, light of the Jack O' lanterns no longer symbolizes the threat of malignant forces but is instead an invitation to join the fun.

If you are planning a party and want something novel in the way of decorations, try this new idea: Neatly cut a circle of peel from the top of a firm, smooth-skinned orange. Then cut out your favorite pumpkin-head features on the orange carefully so as not to damage the peel. A small birthday-cake candle placed inside will furnish illumination and the top circle of peel may be replaced to finish the picture of a miniature goblin-face for place settings or other locations where a genuine pumpkin would be inconveniently large.

Straws Aid Color Scheme

The accepted color scheme of black and orange can easily be carried out in the usual ways—ake frostings, table linens, etc. Even beverage service can be keyed to any desired color scheme because paper straws for home use are available in a neutral color that will fit perfectly into your plans.

One beverage that will fit in perfectly with Halloween or Harvest tones is Peach Nog, made with six sieved peach halves, including peach syrup, mixed with four tablespoons of sugar, four cups of milk, a teaspoonful of vanilla, a half teaspoonful of salt, and four beaten eggs. Served in tall chilled glasses with a pair of tempting drinking straws, this rich new beverage will serve eight delighted merrymakers.

A Mirror Phantasy

If you really want to make your party exciting from beginning to end, place a mirror in the entrance hall. Dim the light and nearby, where it will be reflected in the mirror to greet arriving guests, construct a "gothic" using a lighted pumpkinhead, a small table, flowing white drapery, and any other adornment you find at hand. Your creation will gain in eeriness by being reflected.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

The vacuum cleaner goes on the blink, or the washing machine draws a shuddering last breath. Just try to get it fixed.

That has become one of the housewife's big problems—keeping her labor-saving devices in repair.

First there's the job of finding someone to do the work.

Then comes the problem of trying to get an estimate on the job. "I can't tell until I get it apart," is the pat answer today.

Then there's the period of waiting. "Sorry, I haven't had a chance to get to it yet," the man who promised to "get it at it" on Monday says the following Saturday.

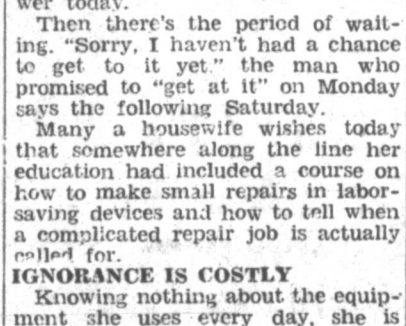

Many a housewife wishes today that somewhere along the line her education had included a course on how to make small repairs in labor-saving devices and how to tell when a complicated repair job is actually needed.

IGNORANCE IS COSTLY

Knowing nothing about the equipment she uses every day, she is completely at the mercy of repairmen.

Says one housewife who has a college degree: "If I had it to do over again, I'd swap at least two years of college for short courses in plumbing, electrical repair, and carpentry."

Save Waste Fat

Did you know that the left-over fat from a leg of lamb makes wonderful soap for washing dishes? Here is the formula:

Melt about six pounds of fat in a porcelain enameled pan and strain carefully. Add two and one-half pints of water to a can of lye. After the bubbling caused by the lye stops, stir the mixture into the fat until it thickens. Pour the liquid soap into a small porcelain enameled pan—the individual left-over refrigerator pan is ideal for this purpose—and allow it to stand overnight. Cut the soap into pieces and let it stand for about a week before using.

This simple method of soap making will give you plenty of soap for the dish-washing chore and will help save on the hard-to-get soap flakes, too.

Magnesium is finding new uses because of its vibration-dampening properties.

Last Minute Plans for Halloween

By NEA Service

Trick new way to make your party table setting symbolize Halloween is to use a pumpkin clown centerpiece. It can be a real or faked pumpkin, dressed in a cap of leaves and a ruff of black crepe paper. You can add more atmosphere by centering autumn leaves, orange bitersweet and ears of Indian corn around the "clown."

To make place cards, cut cats' heads out of shiny black paper and paint on faces. Then letter names of guests with luminous paint. Put these in the center of dinner plates, preferably plates of gray pottery. Nice touch is a gold table cloth, for which Irish linen is available now by the yard.

Veteran Is Guest Speaker for Club

PANHANDLE, (Special) — Cpl. Norman Smith, who is on terminal leave from the army after spending 15 months in Korea, was guest speaker for the Pine Arts club when they met on Thursday, Oct. 24 in the home of Mrs. J. E. Southwood.

Cpl. Smith highlighted his talk with snapshots taken in Korea. After his talk a question and answer period was enjoyed by the guests.

Mrs. H. H. Smith, mother of Cpl. Smith, modeled elaborate Chinese and Korean costumes, her son had sent her from those countries.

In the business session with the president, Mrs. V. D. Biggs, presiding, plans were completed for the reception to be given by the club in honor of their twentieth anniversary in the home of Mrs. J. Sid O'Keefe.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Cpl. Norman Smith, Mesdames J. E. Weatherly and H. J. Smith, guests and Mesdames Joe Forex, V. D. Biggs, George Graves, Joe Cleek, T. M. Cleek, J. Sid O'Keefe, H. B. Skelton, Walter Denny and Ralph Randel, members.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, (NEA)—John Loder plays a romantic heavy opposite his wife, Hedy Lamarr, in her new movie, "Disordered Lady."

And we have it from Hedy herself: "It was so funny. I almost doubled up laughing."

"I was turning on all the charm I could muster," John groaned, "and she just laughed."

Hedy dug into a second plate of spaghetti and explained, "Imagine your own husband trying to compromise you! I tried to remember it was only a movie, but every time he made a pass at me I got hysterical. I allowed myself two hysterical rehearsals of every scene with him. Then I forced myself into playing it straight—between laughs."

SHE'S FOOD HAPPY
Hedy apologized for the amount of food she consumed—a salad, two glasses of milk, two plates of spaghetti, a big dish of strawberries and two cups of coffee.

"Every time I'm having a baby I get food happy," she said. "We get up in the middle of the night," John said, "and have salmon sandwiches and hard-boiled eggs."

"John," Hedy cooed, "is a wonderful cook. We haven't been able to get any good servants, so John cooks, and I do the housework. Nobody believes me, but I wash diapers, dust and run the vacuum sweeper."

John nodded. "Mama," he said, "is a good housekeeper."

Hedy becomes a mother for the second time early in March. Their first daughter Denise, was born a year ago last May. In addition, Hedy has an 8-year-old adopted son.

June. With the family getting bigger every year, the Loders just bought a five-bedroom, $100,000 mansion across the street from Jack Benny in Beverly Hills, after selling their hilltop estate to the H. Bogarts for an equal amount.

"One day Benny came over to see Denise," Hedy said. "She was out in the patio with our French nurse. It was funny. I finally had to say, Jack, pay more attention to the baby. You're just looking at the nurse."

GETTING TIRED NOW
Hedy just completed two movies—"The Strange Woman" and "Disordered Lady"—in quick succession, investing about $50,000 of her own money in each.

But now Hedy wants to take it easy and work in only one picture a year.

"I'm getting tired," she said. "I want to spend more time with the children."

But she's not too tired to continue her tinkering. She's an inventive inventor, inheriting it from her father, who was a precision engineer. She invented a couple of household gadgets, including a thing she hooks onto an alarm clock which makes the alarm go off not once but at intervals over a five-minute period.

Loder told us that Hedy made a wonderful remark when police came out to turn over some of the stolen loot in the robbery of their home. One of the officers told Hedy about one of the burglars trying to sell her mink coat for $500 in a Main street bazaar.

"My mink for five hundred bucks," screamed Hedy. "Why, that guy ought to be punished for the insult alone."

Strikes: What They Have Done To American Reconversion Plans

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

One short, simple, too-familiar word gives the prime answer to many of the most urgent questions that are driving the American public to distraction today.

The word is strikes.

It is a major reason that dwarfs all other answers to why you can't get new shorts and skirts, why you can't get a new automobile, refrigerator or range, why everything costs so much.

Since V-J Day there has been a wave of big, long strikes without parallel in our history. Because of these industry has been slow about reconverting from bombers and guns to automobiles and washing machines. And because the store shelves were so bare, while everybody needs everything and has money to pay for it, prices have skyrocketed toward the stratosphere.

The actual number of strikes during the first twelve months of peace is high, but not a record. There were 4664, which is almost 300 less than in the wartime year of 1944, with its no-strike, no-lockout pledges. But they were bigger, they lasted longer—and above all, they stopped production in those key industries upon which all others depend for raw materials and parts.

The number of workers involved in first-reconversion-year strikes was 4,911,700, which is more than twice the number of in any previous year.

The number of man-days lost was 116,405,000 in the first eleven months. The figure for August has not yet been released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which is the source for these data. Even that incomplete figure is more than three times the time lost in any preceding year in BLS records.

SPREADING EFFECT
Those who belittle the effect of strikes on reconversion like to point out that this loss is only about one day out of every 75—that in the worst month, February, time lost through strikes was only one day out of 25. But the BLS does not sanction this use of such figures the effect of strikes. It points that these losses are only the direct ones—and no attempt has been made to ascertain the amount of labor—and therefore of production—lost because employees not on strike can't get to work, because when they report there is no power, no steel, no copper, or no lead; because a strike somewhere else has cut off fractional horsepower motors, or compressors, or textiles, or leather, or any of hundreds of other vital materials and parts.

It is impossible to measure these effects statistically. But they can be indicated indisputably, and they are the real key to the shortage of goods, of housing materials, and to the high prices that result from those shortages.

Last September John Lewis' bituminous coal workers walked out for a month. Aside from all other effects, the coal that they did not mine in that period cost us at least 600,000 tons of steel ingots.

In January almost 500,000 steel workers struck for a minimum of 25 days. More than eight million tons of steel ingots were lost in that strike. The industry was just getting back on its feet when the coal miners worked out again, this time for 59 days. This has cost us at least six million tons of steel, and the effect is still apparent. Meanwhile a strike of 10,500 Westinghouse white collar employees threw a total of 37,590 out of work for 18 days in September. General Motors' Frigidaire division was strike-bound six days in October. Westinghouse, General Electric and the electrical works of General Motors were struck in January, with 180,000 out for a period ranging from 30 days at GM through 60 days for GE to 115 days for Westinghouse.

These electrical strikes prevented the manufacture of large quantities of refrigerators, stoves, washing machines, radios, automobiles, electric razors, and consumer gadgets of various types. That is generally recognized. But they did much worse than that. They stopped the reconverting production of parts essential to thousands of other products that do not bear the GE, GMC or Westinghouse names, so that the layman does not realize it was these strikes that kept those products out of production.

LINKS IN THE CHAIN
Your oil burner, for instance, has a fractional horsepower motor and in many instances more than one. It needs electrical controls of various styles. It requires copper—scarce because of strikes—and rubber—held up by a Goodyear and a Goodrich strike in September. A Firestone strike in October, a Goodrich strike in November.

This nation has achieved almost unbelievable productive capacity through the assembly line, specialization, sub-contracting techniques. Because of them, even the biggest manufacturers are dependent upon smaller factories for supplies and parts. This works splendidly when everything functions smoothly. But a single break in the chain wrecks the entire process.

Let one intermediate group on a production line strike and the whole line shuts down. Let fabrics for automobile seats be held up, and the entire cars is delayed. Let strikes cut down the supply of lead for storage batteries—as they have—and the great General Motors Corporation has to decide whether to offer you a car without a battery—which won't go, unless you can find a decrepit old battery somewhere else, or to shut down.

Facts, both partisan and objective, are abundant to demonstrate that much of the scarcity in critical consumer supplies is traceable to shortages in raw materials and in parts produced by industries that have been hit by major strikes since V-J Day.

CPA REPORT PROVES POINT
The earliest way to prove the point is by taking a quick look through

'NO SMOKING'—The idle worker gazing at smokeless chimneys of the steel mill below was not on strike when this photo was made. Both he and the factory were idle because of last April's coal strike—an indirect reaction that typifies the effect a strike in one industry can have on total reconversion.

any issue of the Civilian Production Administration's monthly report. For example, covering the month of August:

Lumber-critical. (44,000 men out from two to six months in the great northwestern production area.)

Plumbing Fixtures—critical. (Steel and iron, short because of strikes discussed above, being channeled to this use to help break bottleneck.)

Washing machines, hampered by shortages of copper products and fractional horsepower motors.

Refrigerators—hampered by shortages of steel, condensers, fractional horsepower motors.

Vacuum cleaners—hampered by shortages of fractional horsepower motors and switches.

Sewing machines—hampered by shortages of fractional horsepower motors, lumber for cabinets, gray iron castings.

Electric ranges—hampered by shortages of steel, switch plugs, copper.

Low cost clothing—critical because of labor shortages and scarcity of fabrics. (Northeastern textile printing plants out 13 days in September; New England textile mills out 133 days beginning in November.)

Friendship—Three Thousand Miles Apart

Ever play chess? It's a great game! One of the strongest friendships I know of started with a game of chess—between Dad Hoskins, in our town, and a man named Dalton Barnes, in England.

They've never seen each other, never met. But for the past eight years they've been playing chess by mail together—Dad puzzling over Dalton's latest letter, while he sends a chart of his next move to England.

Dad always thinks best with a mellow glass of beer beside his chessboard. And the Englishman writes him that he does the same. "You know, it's almost as if we shared a glass of beer together, too!" says Dad contentedly.

From where I sit, you can talk about diplomacy and foreign policy, but it's often those little things—like a game of chess or a glass of beer—that can make for tolerance and understanding... between people of all nations... between neighbors here at home!

Stabilization

VIENNA, Ga. — (AP) — Senator George (D-Ga.) today urged immediate price decontrol on manufactured cotton goods "to stabilize the cotton market."

George said he had wired the reconversion director urging that the decontrol be put into effect immediately.

The recent drop in cotton prices and closing of the country's principal cotton market is due mainly, the senator said, to inability of mills under OPA control to forward price finished goods for more than 120 days.

"As a result," he said, "they are limiting their purchases at a time when the new crop is coming in and the supply is heaviest."

George said the cotton price fluctuations are "demoralizing to our whole economy and have badly shaken the cotton growing regions."

Immediate decontrol of manufactured cotton products, the senator said, would permit mills to return to normal purchases which run as much as a six months supply. He added that he did not believe decontrol would result in a price rise in manufactured goods since mills now set the price on a cost of manufacture basis.

Return of the mills to the long term market would "at least stabilize" prices, George said, and might cause some increase.

U. S. Army Will Take Over Transportation

STUTTGART—(AP)— Moving to avert winter hunger and possible food riots, the U. S. army today stepped into Germany's transportation crisis with a promise to provide army trucks and drivers to collect food and fuel.

For these reasons, Lewis' wage demands, still unannounced, come at a bad time for the government. In order to avoid a strike over wages if Lewis ends the present contract as he says he can do November 20, the government would have to negotiate a new agreement calling for pay concessions.

In effect, a direct wage increase would fix a pattern for a second round of postwar pay boosts at the very moment the government is trying to get away from such formulas. Therefore some other type of adjustment may be considered.

General Douglas MacArthur was the youngest man ever to serve as superintendent of West Point.

Simultaneously, Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala.) called upon President Truman "to exercise whatever power he may have to immediately stabilize the cotton market."

Sparkman announced he had suggested to executives of the New York, New Orleans and Chicago exchanges that the three markets "remain closed" until a stabilization program is worked out.

The Alabama asked the President in a telegram to use the war powers act and said he expected to renew the request at a noon conference which he, Governor-nominate James Folsom and Representative-nominate R. E. Jones, both Alabama democrats, had scheduled with the chief executive.

In addition, Sparkman said he and Senator Maybank (D-SC) proposed to present to Economic Stabilizer John Steelman "definite recommendations" for stabilization later today. He did not disclose details.

The suspension in New York, Chicago and New Orleans called an effective halt to trading in cotton for future delivery. There is no way to prevent the actual buying and selling of so-called "spot" cotton.

That means cotton which is baled and on the market. There are 11 principal spot cotton centers in the United States, all of them in the South and Southwest.

K. G. Hunt, secretary-treasurer of the Dallas cotton exchange, in announcing that center would remain open, added that its "members will be ready to buy spot cotton if it shows up."

A Memphis, Tenn., cotton trader, who declined to be quoted by name, told an Associated Press reporter on the floor of the New York exchange today that there had been floods of wild rumors in southern cotton centers, including some "panic talk." The trader had flown to New York last night.

Molotov

(Continued From Page 1) President Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium asked if there was any more business before he adjourned the session. The hall was already largely empty.

Molotov sprang suddenly to his feet and said: "The Soviet delegation calls on the other delegations to express their views on disarmament."

The other delegations were caught off-guard, but Philip Noel-Baker, Britain's chief delegate, objected that there was neither time nor preparation for such a debate. Molotov was overruled by Spaak.

His insistence on the point, left no doubt that the disarmament plan would almost certainly be Russia's primary concern during the remainder of this session. The four points of his plan are:

1. The general assembly should declare that it considers a "general reduction of armaments necessary."

2. It should particularly call for "banishing the manufacture and use of atomic energy for military purposes." This would put the United Nations on record as demanding that the United States stop making atomic bombs.

3. The assembly should call on the security council to carry out these two objectives.

4. The assembly should also call on all member governments to cooperate in the arms reduction and atomic bomb projects.

4. Extension of five-year leases on lands outside the geological structure of a known producing field for a second five-year period. In cases where lands were included in such fields after the original lease was authorized, the lease may be extended two years.

The regulations also provide that the secretary of interior may authorize the subsurface storage of oil on public lands to prevent waste.

Coal Situation

Careful study of the miners' present contract reportedly convinced some government lawyers that Lewis has a strong argument to support his contention that he is entitled to reopen the entire question of wages, hours and other matters. By contrast, Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug has maintained there can be no question of a new contract and only the present working agreement with the government can be discussed.

Some officials privately expressed belief that Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collier, pinch-hitting for Krug at the Friday conference, might offer another type of concession than actual wage increases. Krug himself is away on a Western inspection tour. He is not scheduled to return to Washington until after November 6.

Despite the timing of Lewis' wage demands—hitting right at the peak of the government's efforts to junk both price and wage controls and still discourage industrial strife—the administration was reported ready to get rid of the wage stabilization board as it now stands.

Reconversion Director John R. Steelman's 12-man advisory board was said to have recommended to President Truman yesterday, replacement of the present three-way (public-industry-labor) wage stabilization board with some other smaller panel.

In the coal dispute, Lewis has the administration in a corner because: 1. The wage decontrol program is roaring into high speed as whole industries and big chunks of others are moved out from under price ceilings. Wages automatically become unrestricted in those lines.

2. Yet the government is stuck with control over the soft coal miners' wages. The coal pits have been under federal operation since the 89-day strike last spring. To unfreeze the mines now would mean a quick strike, because the mine owners have indicated they are not all ready to meet Lewis' terms.

Cotton Market

(Continued From Page 1) tives of the department sometime are estimated that the carryover as of August 1, 1947 would be less than 4,000,000 bales, the smallest in 17 years.

Simultaneously, Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala.) called upon President Truman "to exercise whatever power he may have to immediately stabilize the cotton market."

Life After Forty More Complicated In Health Field

AUSTIN—From a health standpoint, life after forty begins to be complicated for the average individual in many respects. According to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, the principal health ills confronting people in middle life are heart disease, cancer, kidney disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy, diabetes, and arthritis.

Middle aged people of today are healthier than were those of preceding generations, and the present generation, when they reach middle age, should enjoy even better health than their parents of today.

Medical care in middle life has two important phases. The first is going to the doctor at regular intervals for a complete physical check-up more often than they have been symptomatic that suggest the need for medical attention. The second is prompt attention to any illness which may mean the difference between a complete recovery and a limited good health and prolonged invalidism. It is difficult to say which of these phases is the more important.

It has been found that men and women who faithfully pursue the habit of regular health examinations and who follow the advice arising from them tend to live longer and more comfortably and are free from disease than those who simply take a chance and go to the doctor only when pain or disability forces them to give up their normal activities.

It is also a fact that many diseases of middle age respond to treatment in early stages whereas if neglected until later stages they often result in permanent invalidism and even death.

Good advice for persons over forty is that they have regular physical examinations and obtain prompt medical attention for any and all illnesses.

Reporter Claims U.S. Officials See War With Russia as Certain

NEW YORK—War with Russia is inevitable, in the opinion of top Washington officials, and they accept the fatal trend as a reality. Yet they dare not tell the people of the United States. This astounding assertion is made by Mrs. Raymond Clapper, astute Washington observer for Look Magazine, in a recent issue.

Mrs. Clapper cites numerous instances of that state of mind. A member of the White House secretariat, in talking to a young veteran pleading for a peace program, said, "Don't be ridiculous, young man. We will be at war with Russia any time." A cabinet officer declared that we are in a political war now, and that a shooting war would follow as surely as night follows day.

A U. S. senator said, "The gap between the Eastern and Western blocs of nations is already too wide to bridge. Sooner or later we will have to fight it out."

Mrs. Clapper disagrees with these views. She believes that bold approach to the problem by the President and state department can avert calamity. She advocates getting together with Russia, finding out exactly what she wants, and then trying to plan a workable peace. "The United States should be prepared to make reasonable concessions. Only if our sincere efforts to obtain a real peace fail, does it mean war," declares Mrs. Clapper. Then, if the time comes, the United States should be fully prepared and ready to fight.

A U. S. senator said, "The gap between the Eastern and Western blocs of nations is already too wide to bridge. Sooner or later we will have to fight it out."

Mrs. Clapper disagrees with these views. She believes that bold approach to the problem by the President and state department can avert calamity. She advocates getting together with Russia, finding out exactly what she wants, and then trying to plan a workable peace. "The United States should be prepared to make reasonable concessions. Only if our sincere efforts to obtain a real peace fail, does it mean war," declares Mrs. Clapper. Then, if the time comes, the United States should be fully prepared and ready to fight.

Association Offers Rules of Gun Safety For Hunters as Season Gets Under Way

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It's here again, and there's not a bear, prairie chicken, elk, fox deer, woodchuck, duck, or HUMAN BEING safe in any batch of woods in the United States for the next two months. Yes, the hunting season is here with us again—it's "open up those pearly gates" for many an innocent hunter and time to bring forward the National Rifle Association's rules of gun safety in order to keep those gates closed.

The NRA realizes that this year the danger will be greater than ever. Roughly 11,000,000 men and women will try their luck. Many will be new to the sport and out for the first time, and if the percentage of deaths as compared to the number of hunters holds true as in past years, the NRA predicts that of past seasons, roughly 750 will meet accidental deaths by firearms in the next two months.

In 1944, the last year for which statistics are available, 2,412 people met death in the United States through gun accidents. True, there were 56,030 accidental deaths from all causes and firearms were responsible for but slightly over 2 1/2 percent. But there were 2,412 accidental gun deaths that could have been prevented by observing a few simple gun safety rules.

The two most murderous months were October and November—the hunting season. They have always proved so and probably will again this year, the NRA warns. Of the 2,412 deaths in 1944, 640 over 25 percent of the year's total came during the hunting season.

It's a figure of carelessness and can be prevented. You can have your fun and help cut down that sorry figure by following the NRA's five simple, sensible gun safety rules:

- (1) Point the muzzle in a safe direction.
- (2) Keep your gun unloaded until ready.
- (3) Be sure of your target.
- (4) Be sure you know the range of the cartridge you are using and how far it is dangerous. Just because there's nothing within the range of your vision doesn't mean you might not accidentally become a murderer.
- (5) Know your gun and ammunition.

Keep your guns clean. Make sure you're using the right cartridge in the right gun. Read the directions on the ammunition box and abide by the warnings. Don't tinker. The manufacturer knew how to build that gun and make it safe for everybody. An amateur gunsmith can't improve on it. Don't take a chance with a foreign weapon. Have it thoroughly examined by a competent gunsmith before using and make sure you are using the right ammunition.

Harvesters Working on Single Wing Plays for Saturday's Battle

Hawk-Perryton Battle Is Tops

The Phillips Blackhawks, who knocked Panhandle's Panthers out of the unbeaten ranks, 19-14, last week, will try to make it upset No. 2 this week when they battle the league-leading Perryton Rangers at Perryton.

Since losing to Wellington in its season opener, Perryton has won six straight games.

In other games, White Deer battles Dumas in a non-conference affair while Canadian entertains Amarillo's Yarnigans in a non-league game.

Aggie-Rice Tickets Are Selling Fast

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—Less than 3,000 tickets remain here for the Nov. 16 football game between Texas A. & M. and Rice Institute to be played at Kyle field.

Sales are reportedly booming in Houston, following Rice's 18-13 victory over Texas last week.

The two teams currently are tied for the Southwest conference leadership, with two wins against no defeats.

Little Davidson Leads College Grid Elevens in Defense on Ground, Air

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
NEW YORK—(AP)—Harvard and Davidson share the honors this week as the football teams owning the best defensive records among all the college elevens in the land.

Rice End Named Lineman of Week

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK—(AP)—Wadell Williams, end on the Rice university football team, injured his ankle in practice a week ago. It didn't look like he would play against Texas.

But he stayed with the team's trainer for hours on Wednesday Thursday and Friday determined to play. He achieved his objective in such startling fashion that today he was selected as the "line man of the week" in this fourth Associated Press poll of the season.

Able to play only on the offense (his ankle wasn't strong enough to stand battering on defense) Williams caught 2 touchdowns passes. On the first touchdown he ran into a fence and hurt his wrist so badly he had to leave. But later he came back to snare the pignskin for his second TD, a feat that tumbled Texas out of the unbeaten and untied ranks in a major grid upset.

Williams thus joined Walter "Piggy" Barnes, of Louisiana State; Burr Baldwin, UCLA; and Bernie Gallagher, of Pennsylvania, who gained the lineman award in previous weeks.

Other linemen nominated included: Ends—Wilson, Southern Methodist, Poole, Army, and Edwards, Georgia.

Tackles—Stautzenberger, Texas Aggies, Edwards, Texas Christian, Frizzell, Tulsa and Greene, Tulsa.

Guards—Wright, Southern Methodist.

Marriages are not made in heaven, as we have been given to understand, but are based on mutual understanding. — Dr. Anna K. Banks, Brooklyn college home economics department head.

Western Conference Ready for Contract

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Western conference is fairly certain today that it would be represented in the 1947 Rose Bowl.

Ballots from the nine member schools voting on a five-year tieup with the Pacific Coast conference were scheduled to be turned in by Nov. 15 to Professor Frank Richart of Illinois, secretary of the conference faculty committee.

The 5-4 majority to carry the plan has already been assured with Purdue, Iowa, Ohio State, Michigan and Indiana reporting in the affirmative. Northwestern and Wisconsin have yet to ballot. Minnesota's senate has been reported to have joined Illinois on the negative side.

French scientists have won the Nobel Prize 16 times during the 45 years since the scientific award was established.

Grid Fireworks Are Due Friday
By the Associated Press
Four games Thursday night, none of them important in the campaign, start the week's schedule in Texas schoolboy football.

The fireworks come Friday night when 22 conference games are played with all 16 districts involved.

But the major game of the week will be Saturday night when Lamar and Jeff Davis, both undefeated in conference play, clash at Houston.

Amor Carter-Riverside meets Port Worth Tech in the Port Worth district and San Jacinto clashes with Austin in the Houston district on Monday afternoon.

Neither has any particular bearing on the title races.

Non-conference games have Adairson (Dallas) playing Jesuit (Dallas) and Sam Houston (Houston) meeting St. Thomas (Houston).

Cooper Moved To Guard Slot; Lockhart Set

For the first time this season, Pampa's Harvesters will use the single wing formation, alternating with the "T" in their game Saturday night at Fort Worth with the undefeated North Side Steers.

The squad, under Coaches O.K. Coffey and Jiggs Whittington, have been working on single wing passing and round plays since the first of last week.

In using the single wing, coaches will have Charley Laffoon at quarterback, Carl Mayes at tailback and Jim Wilson (or Laddie Mayes) and Phil Anderson, a wingback.

Now, coming to "advertise" the use of the single wing, the Harvesters coaches have been working quietly on the formation, concentrating on speed and deception on fakes and spin plays.

Yesterday, the squad worked on both passing and running plays with several plays being alternated in the first string line.

In five games, Davidson has held its opponents to an average of 105 yards per game. Harvard has a defensive average of 112.4 yards per game.

The ten leaders in each department (x denotes one game unreported):
Total defense—Davidson, 105 yards average yielded per game to rushes and passes; Harvard, 112.4; North Carolina State, 135.2; West Virginia, 135.7; Alabama, 142.5; Louisiana State, 150.3; Notre Dame, 151.3; Hardin-Simmons, 154.8; Army, 160.3; Indiana, 160.7.

Rushing defense—Harvard, 23.8 yards average yielded per game; Davidson, 33.8; Alabama, 59.8; Oklahoma, 61.2; Pennsylvania, 68.3; (x)-Mississippi State, 69.3; Georgia Tech, 69.4; Hardin-Simmons, 71; North Carolina State, 76; (x)-Wake Forest, 76.

Passing defense—Navy, 34 yards average yielded per game; Indiana, 34.7; Louisiana State, 36.6; New York university, 44; Holy Cross, 46.8; (x)-Colorado A. and M., 47.2; Florida, 47.4; Baylor, 48; Detroit, 48.7; Washington State, 51.5.

Texas Horse Is In Top Bracket

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymlie, often called turdum's biggest bargain, will have an opportunity to boost his all-time earnings another $25,000 Friday in the Pimlico Special, and a victory in this mid-and-three-sixteenths classic would put him in reach of the record set by Whirlaway.

The Texas-bred, five-year-old, claimed by Mrs. Jacobs' husband, trainer Hirsch Jacobs, for a mere $1,500, arrived here by van yesterday from New York, scene of his $50,000 win in Jamaica's Galant Fox handicap last week.

The Gallant Fox purse brought Stymlie's earnings to $516,285—just $44,876 short of the roll banked by Whirlaway before his retirement.

Assault, the King ranch's up-and-down three-year-old, remains in New York, and decision on whether to ship him for the Special will depend in large measure on his performance in a workout today.

The snap from center sailed over his head and Clyde picked it up on his own eight yard line. We wish everybody would quit asking if Borgers is going to beat Amarillo next week. The Bulldogs could do it, of course, but they're going to have to try very, very hard. Especially so if Amarillo opens up with a passing attack. The Borgers pass defense looks like a sieve.

Right now, Amarillo appears to still be the team to beat in District One, with Borgers as a close contender. That's all we'll say.

District 3-A Is Dominated by 2 Football Teams

Shamrock's Irish and the Wellington Skyrockets, perennial leaders in District 3-A, are roaring along the undefeated conference trail toward their November 8 date at Wellington that is due to decide the district title.

Winners of six straight games since an opening defeat by Class AA Childress, the Irish, nevertheless, had trouble last week winning from a surprisingly strong Lakeview outfit, 32-18, while Wellington was trouncing Midway, 39-0.

In other games, the Lefors Pirates trounced Memphis, 29-6, and Clarendon knocked off the Wheeler Mustangs, 30-7.

Games this week send Lefors to McLean, Shamrock to Clarendon and Memphis to Wellington, while Wheeler and Lakeview are open.

Natural Increase In Population of Canada Favorable

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The outlook for continued population growth by natural increase is distinctly more favorable for Canada than for the United States, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, who base their conclusion on a study of the 1941 birth records of the two countries.

The statisticians' report shows that for Canadian women the peak in reproductive life is not only higher, but is also reached later in life.

"Only among very young women, those under 20 years of age, is the fertility rate slightly lower in Canada than in the United States," say the statisticians.

"American girls marry earlier. At the United States state, the population of Canada was growing at the rate of 27 percent per generation, while the corresponding condition in the United States were not much above the level required to just maintain a stationary population.

To Buddy Sawyer for making three low tackles in a row at football practice yesterday. Harvesters tacklers too often start on the ears and work down.

To employers who graciously gave those employees who played in Monday night's football game at least a half day off.

To the fans who contributed to the "kitty" at the GI game Monday. This money will be used to buy equipment for a complete sports program for Pampa G.I.s. Also, to all fans who wish to contribute more. Just give us a ring.

We met Frank Wilson, new high school principal, yesterday. Winston Savage, outgoing principal, kidded us a little about our remarks concerning the press box at Harvesters park. He asked us to write if we wanted unpainted furniture in the box. Imagine that.

We wish everybody would quit asking if Borgers is going to beat Amarillo next week. The Bulldogs could do it, of course, but they're going to have to try very, very hard. Especially so if Amarillo opens up with a passing attack. The Borgers pass defense looks like a sieve.

Right now, Amarillo appears to still be the team to beat in District One, with Borgers as a close contender. That's all we'll say.

Panhandle News

PANHANDLE—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Garretson and granddaughter, Ramah, have returned from a ten-day trip to Kansas. They visited with Mrs. Garretson's brothers, Harry Ware and family of Topeka; Will Ware and wife of Garnett and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Leonard of Leona, Kans. They also visited in Wichita with their son, Harry and family.

Edward Homen returned last week from a pheasant hunt in South Dakota. On Sunday he entertained in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Homen with a pheasant dinner. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gruber of Amarillo.

Games this week send Lefors to McLean, Shamrock to Clarendon and Memphis to Wellington, while Wheeler and Lakeview are open.

DO IT AGAIN, MISTER
When Western Illinois (Macomb) Teachers college JV's played Monmouth JV's in the rain recently, quarterback Clyde Scott of Western dropped back to kick. The snap from center sailed over his head and Clyde picked it up on his own eight yard line. Four Monmouth linemen were coming at him with unpleasant intentions, so Scott dashed between them, skidded to a stop and then booted the ball 60 yards downfield—that was a heck of a play in any game.

Civil Service Jobs Open to Residents
New examinations for budget examiner and organization and methods examiner were announced recently by the U. S. Civil Service commission to fill federal positions in Washington, D. C. Salaries for these jobs range from $3,397 to $5,502 a year.

No written test is required, but applicants must have from 4 to 6 years of responsible administrative experience, which has provided a knowledge of management principles and practices.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local representative, Mrs. Cassie Balthorp whose office is located in the post office building.

From the outset unscrupulous persons lost no time in taking advantage of veterans' training on the job. The dishonest employer and the unthinking veteran have already infected the program in many states.—Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administrator.

Scott's Scrap Book
By SCOTT RAFFERTY
Lay off, you wolves, lay off. Our blaine appearing twice in yesterday's paper WAS NOT a question of ego; it was just one of those mechanical errors. We were even accused of typing it twice on the copy. Tsk, tsk. Pretty harsh charges.

A few pats on various and sundry backs.

To Pampa Senior high for arranging to send over 200 students and a band to Fort Worth for the Harvesters-North Side game Saturday night.

To Buddy Sawyer for making three low tackles in a row at football practice yesterday. Harvesters tacklers too often start on the ears and work down.

To employers who graciously gave those employees who played in Monday night's football game at least a half day off.

To the fans who contributed to the "kitty" at the GI game Monday. This money will be used to buy equipment for a complete sports program for Pampa G.I.s. Also, to all fans who wish to contribute more. Just give us a ring.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE

Viewing the valley: There's plenty of meat these days for a price—but bacon is still so scarce that E. C. Osborn in his column in the Brownsville Herald wistfully suggests a "bacon bender" the first time he gets hold of a pound.

He said that as soon as he and a friend can get a pound each, they're going on a bacon bender—cook the whole works, eat it at one sitting.

But across the border, operative Q-13 reports there's plenty of everything. A meal that sells for $1.75 offers venison steak and quail, roast goat (cabrito) and turkey, white-wings, beef, chicken, any style, and Mexican dishes including tacos, tamales, enchiladas, chile, delicious aguacate salad called guacamole.

Further, drinks such as Scotch are available.

Five-year-old Bill Garner of Harlingen will get along in the world all right. He's quick on the trigger mentally.

For example, he spilled a big blob of tomato catsup on the tablecloth. Before his mother had a chance to reprove him, he leaned over the spot and said admiringly: "That's my favorite color."

A Harlingen army wife received from her husband a gorgeous housecoat made by Philippine natives. The husband said he had obtained the right size by indicating a girl in the shop who was nearest his wife's build.

"That's all right for housecoats," she warned him in a letter, "but don't you go any farther."

In Brownsville, a 20-30 club project is building and installing safety sallys near schools, warning motorists to slow down.

They report ruefully that of 39 installed the first week, 26 were destroyed by motorists. One lasted exactly 20 minutes and 22 seconds after it had been put in place.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

Well, I see that a New York judge refused to annul a marriage when the wife admitted she was aware of her husband's faults before she married him. She said she had hoped to break him of these faults, but the judge held that you can't divorce a man just because you fail to reform him.

Such a ruling ought to practically do away with divorce. In the first place, it doesn't take more than one day with a man to spot his faults if a girl is smart, and she must be smart or she'd never have gotten a man to ask her for a date.

In the second place, all wives try to reform their husbands and they all fail. For instance, George has the bad habit of screaming every time I buy a hat. For years I've tried to reform him, but I'm sure I'll run out of closet space before he runs out of lung power.

Dry crocheted or knitted hats over a strainer of the proper size. While shaping the hat, this allows air to circulate for quick drying.
