lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow ir your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Uncle Sam, this year more than ever, will have to be the Interna-tional Santa Claus. Returned soldiers will want to send something to wartime friends abroad. ONE VOTE FOR WALLACE

The venerable and bumptious George Bernard Shaw, like the younger and equally bumptious Kremlin propagandists, seem to have taken a definite stand on American politics. But the two approaches are radically dif- its manpower is spread over 12

Maybe Mr. Shaw embarrassed Henry Wallace by proposing him for President in 1948. But he may have be criss embarrased Mr. Wallace's opponents, too, or there is some doubt as to the meaning and sincerity of the Shavian acclaim.

The endorsement came, as you may have read, at the diamond jubilee dinner in London of the Fabian Society, that famous group of British Socialist intellectuals of which Mr. Shaw is one of three surviving cofounders. GBS was unable to attend the dinner, but sens this message:

"The only message I have for the moment is that the Fabian Society, having made Russia a great Fabian state, has now to make Wallace succeed Franklin Roosevelt as President of the United States."

It is quite possible that Mr. Shaw wrote that with tongue in cheek and chuckle in beard, knowing that his Arctic, she can do a little reaching, reputation is such that the message would be read with almost reverential seriousness-which it apparently was. But there are a couple of amusing discrepancies beyond the exclusion of Mr. Truman in the line of presidential succession.

For on thing, the Fabian Society took its name from a Roman general known, because of his caution, as Fabius the Delayer. The Fabians chose the name because their policy was to proceed with caution, slowly winning the British public's support by the logic of their beliefs, and shunning a shooting revolution as they would shun capitalism.

It took the Fabians 60 years to persuade Britons to elect a moderately socialistic government—assuming, segment, then it will be made to of course, that the Fabians are to be given credit for the change. Results of Freedom of Trade

This year marks the centennial of the repeal of the Corn Laws or tariff laws in England in 1846. The Free Trade Union in England is celebrating this event in its efforts to establish free trade again in that country. In a speech at a meeting celebrating this event, Sir Andrew Mc-Fadyean made this statement: "Before I turn from the past to the future let me give you two or three figures from a speech which John Bright made in 1877 review. ing the beneficient results which had flowed from the great decision of 1846. The consumption of butter per head between 1840 and 1877 had risen from 1 lb, to 6 lbs.; of cheese from 1 lb. to 51/2 lbs.; of flour from 42 to 197, and of sugar, another of those foods which the Protectionists had made scarce and dear, from 15 to 53 lbs."

These figures should be of insince the government officials seem to think they are wise enough to interfere with a free market in establishing the value of different things, as did England with its tariffs before 1846.

In another speech made by the Hon. George Peel, grandson of Sir. Robert Peel, he observes that two things were the cause of the great advancement in the standard of living in England during the middle of the last century—the establishment of a sound currency and the repeal of the corn laws, He makes this statement:

"In the first place, the currency having become a gambling counter In the aftermath of the French wars, Sir Robert Peel passed the two acts of 1819 and of 1844 to establish a sound currency. This enabled Great Britain to become the monetary centre of the world, and the 'bill on London' the money of inwords, these two statutes provided a track along which international rade could flow.

"Starvation Made by Law" "The second step taken by the Free Traders was to remove the multiplicity of tariffs which private interests had secured for their own advantage. This was achieved by the fiscal legislation which they passed from 1842 to

It is interesting to note that in 841 England had 1,200 tariff du> des, and now, has practically abolshed free trade, with over 7,000

As the Hon. George Peel says, to permit any spot in the world to the scarcity of goods at that time and the scarcity of goods now is due to "starvation made by law." We in America, having seen the shortage of meat when the government attempted to establish prices, should realize that we, too, can have starvation by law.

It is also well for us to note that we are going through the same thing that England went through 100 years ago, and is going through now-our currency has become a "gambling counter in the aftermath" of going off the gold standard and the setting up of the Federal Reserve System in this country and we have tariff walls both between peoples of different states and between peoples in the same state via OPA.

'Appetizing Joys"

Probably most happiness comes from the pleasure of accomplishment, I recently read a statement by Sir Ernest Benn, president of The Society of Individualists of London, England, which brought this fact out vividly.

An opponent of his had suggested that Sir Ernest Benn should set out the broad outlines of a policy that would restore prosperity to England. Mr. Benn's belief was that people had to learn by exerience and that they were not yet ready for broad principles; that they still believed the government could produce wealth and regulate prices; that people had departed from a belief in individual initiative and the joys that come from accomplishment.

He considers the case of emoyees of the Board of Trade, who really are government employees, as the Board of Trade is a government monopoly in England. He says:

"As members of the Board of Trade none of them can appreciate the appetizing joys of a mean bought with the money of satisfied customers, and all are doomed to dyspeptic old age on pensions the purchasing power of which is diminished by their every official action.'

Truly, people working in private Industry, or in business in private Industry, who have enough to get the comforts of life, do have the satisfaction of knowing that these comforts are given to them voluntarily. On the other hand, the man working for the state can only knew that. He or those above him have received the majority of votes and those who are paying his salary are doing in involuntarily.

The man working in private industry has to please all his cur-tomers, while the man working for the government has to please only half his customers. The result is that one man is much more alert and learns much more rapidly than the other who has to please only the majority of his customers To substantiate his statement that people have to learn the hard way, Sir Ernest Benn quotes from Milton's "Paradise Lost" this line, "Long is the way and hard, that out of hell leads up to light." More than half the population of New Zealand lives in 14 urban areas. Ninety-one percent of New Zealand's people are of British stock.
