Tax Cut Tops As Congress Gets Off To Booming Start

Vincent Inquiry Ordered

5-Man Board Will Review Loyalty Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — UP — President Truman Saturday night directed Secretary of State Dean Acheson to let a special five-member board determine the status of suspended diplomat John Carter Vincent who has been accused as a loyalty risk. Acheson himself had proposed such a board in a long memorandum to Mr. Truman on the case. Vincent, a career diplomat, was suspended by the State Department last Dec. 15 after the President's loyalty review board branded him a loyalty risk.

Senators Postpone Anti-Filibuster Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — UP — The Republican-controlled 83rd Congress rolled off to a booming start Saturday as the House gave top priority to a bill to cut personal income taxes and the Senate quickly put off a hotly-disputed plan aimed at adopting a new anti-filibuster rule to gag talkathons.

Both houses quickly disposed of formalities getting the new session underway. The tax cut provided in Rep. Daniel A. Reed's (R-NY) bill would become effective June 30 and amount to about 5 1/2 per cent reduction in personal income taxes as well as big business. The measure would cost the government about 1.8 billion in revenue. The Senate — with 100 per cent attendance — elected all of its officers as previously expected amid some mirth and frivolity brought on by retiring Vice-President Alben Barkley, who presided. Only the Democrats spoiled the perfect attendance record for the House — only 202 of them answering roll while all 221 Republicans answered to their names.

Eisenhower Names Banker To Budget Job

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 — UP — President-elect Eisenhower Saturday named Detroit Banker Joseph M. Dodge as his budget director and raised the job as far as he could toward Cabinet rank.

In appointing Dodge, who has been acting as his liaison with the Budget Bureau since last Nov. 9, the President-elect asked Dodge to attend Cabinet meetings and report directly to him. This request to sit in with the top command in the new administration reflected Eisenhower's desire to give him "as much Cabinet status as he can," said James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary.

Step to Change Makeup
The elevation of the budget director's post represented a new step by Eisenhower to change the traditional makeup of the Cabinet. Oveta Culp Hobby of Houston, federal security administrator-to-be, and Harold Stassen, named to head the Mutual Security Administration also will attend Cabinet meetings.

As budget director, Dodge, who is 62, will receive $17,000 a year. He gave up the presidency of the Detroit bank, oldest bank in Michigan when Eisenhower made him budget liaison man in Washington after the election.

He is a specialist in German and Japanese economies and Austrian affairs.

Envoy Suspended In Drinking Charge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — UP — The State Department Saturday removed Foy D. Kohler, who was arrested on drunk charges while carrying secret papers, from a top level assignment, suspended him for 30 days without pay, and reprimanded him for violating security regulations. The stiff punishment was meted out after an investigation of an automobile accident in nearby Arlington, Va. in which Kohler and his wife Phyllis figured.

$3 Million Hike... Pampa Bank Deposits Up

Both Pampa banks showed increases in total deposits over a year ago as the regular year-end call for condition came through by the comptroller of currency.

The Citizens Bank showed a gain of almost two and one-quarter million during the past 12 months. On the year's end call the Citizens showed total deposits on hand as of Dec. 31, 1952, of $8,814,385 as compared to $6,356,185 on Dec. 31, 1951.

The First National showed total deposits of $14,338,104 as of Dec. 31, 1952 against $12,271,463 a year ago, a gain of a little over one million.

Sons Visit Doomed Spies

ROSSING, N.Y., Jan. 4 — UP — The two young sons of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg Saturday made what may be their last visit to their parents, before they are executed the week of Jan. 12 for stealing America's atom bomb secrets.

"There were no tears," the Rosenbergs' lawyer, Emanuel Bloch, said. "The Rosenbergs received the children in prison just as if they were receiving them in their own living room."

Bloch said the children, Michael, 9, and Robert, 5, always have known their parents were in prison and just what the situation is.

The lawyer relayed a statement from the Rosenbergs Saturday to reporters standing outside Sing Sing prison on Judge Irving Kaufman's refusal Friday to grant them mercy.

"Is there no end to the indignities we must endure?" the statement said. "Casuistry upon casuistry. . ."

The judge's repeated characterization of our alleged crime "as unmasking his sanctimonious pretensions to judicial balance."

"Despite his unseemly remarks which smack of political pressure and coercion, we reassert our innocence before God and man."

Bloch still has not given up hope for saving the husband-wife team from execution. He said he will ask the U.S. Court of Appeals on Monday to stay the sentence so he can appeal to the Supreme Court for review of a recent lower court decision upholding the death penalty.

Had Secret Documents

Two secret documents dealing with Tunisian and Moroccan questions, under debate in the United Nations at the time, were in the trunk of the Kohler automobile.

Kohler said he was taking them home for a "week-end" reading. He said the documents were locked in the car during the party which led up to the accident.

The diplomat was relieved of his duties as a member of the department's top-level policy planning staff. He will be assigned other, as yet undetermined, duties. The 30-day suspension will cost him $1153 in pay.

Decide His Future

Kohler still will be on the suspended list when Secretary of State-designate John Foster Dulles takes over. Presumably Dulles will decide his future.

Kohler, a native of Oakwood, O., is a veteran of 21 years of previous service, holds the rank of foreign service officer class one, and earns $13,600 annually.

He had "no comment" on the department's action, nor would the 44-year-old diplomat say whether he intends to resign.

As a result of the accident, Kohler forfeited $8.75 on the drunk charges. His wife was convicted for reckless and drunken driving. She was sentenced to 30 days in jail but this was suspended in lieu of a three-hour jail term which she is appealing. She also is appealing $150 in fines.

Baggerman Rites To Be Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Edith Lane Baggerman, 43, of 928 S. Dwight, have been scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Duengel-Carmichael Chapel with Rev. J. S. McAllen, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, officiating. Mrs. Baggerman died Thursday afternoon in Highland General Hospital.

Rogers Is Named Officer In Texas Demo Delegation

Rep. Walter Rogers today had a new duty piled on his shoulders in Washington — serving as secretary-treasurer of the 24-man Texas delegation to Congress. Rogers was elected to the post at a breakfast meeting held in Washington Friday. Other officers of the delegation, elected at the same time, are: Rep. Paul Kilday, San Antonio, chairman; and Rep. Clark Fisher, San Angelo, vice-chairman.

Three Killed As Feud Erupts Into Houston Shooting Spree

HOUSTON, Jan. 4 — UP — Three persons were killed and a fourth seriously wounded Saturday night in a shooting melee at a Houston Houston police homicide Lt. Joe Clark, "and from what we can gather there were several people shot."

Clark said the three dead persons, the wounded man and several other unidentified persons who engaged in the duel were involved in a ruckus at the same cafe Friday night, in another free-for-all some six months ago.

One of the dead men was not identified immediately by authorities. A second man killed in the brawl was identified at Deaton hospital at suburban Galena Park as Freddie Granberry, about 22. The third man was identified at a Houston hospital as Johnny Lowe. Ernest Granberry, 31-year-old brother of one of the victims, was in serious condition at Deaton hospital with a shotgun wound in his chest.

Lt. Clark said it was difficult to get detailed information about the shooting. He said the witnesses were either drunk or drinking. Officers sought one suspect in the killings. He was identified only as a man who had had trouble in the past with Lowe, one of the dead. Joe Lampsans, who runs a driveway in grocery next door to the cafe, said the suspect walked to his store after the shooting and said, "Call an ambulance, I've just killed two or three men," then drove away in an automobile police found abandoned in a ditch about five blocks away.

Death Claims Mary Walker

Mrs. Mary Hannah Campbell Walker, prominent former Miami resident, died at 10:06 p.m. Saturday in Highland General Hospital following a five-month illness.

Mrs. Walker had moved from Miami to Englewood, Calif., in 1941 to live with her daughter, Mrs. Laverne Ahrhart. She came back to Miami and became ill in July, 1952. Born Oct. 24, 1888, at Middleborough Ky., Mrs. Walker was brought to Cambridge, Clay County, Texas, when she was two years old. Later, the family moved to Deane, Texas, where she married W. B. Walker, a cattleman, on Dec. 9, 1909.

From there Mrs. Walker lived in Petrolia and Henrietta before she moved to Miami with her husband in 1925. Mr. Walker died on March 1, 1936.

A member of Methodist Church, Mrs. Walker is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Joe Cunningham, and Mrs. Kent Philpott, both of Miami; Mrs. Val Pazzi, Monterey Park, Calif.; and Mrs. Ahrhart; three step-children, Mrs. John Cunningham, Henrietta; Frank Walker, Wheeler; and Ernest Walker, Santa Fe, N.M.; two sisters, Mrs. C. B. Smith, Woodward, Okla., and Mrs. Nora Wright, Wichita Falls; four brothers, L. C. and G. F. Campbell, both of Wichita Falls; Jim Campbell, Gardner, Colo.; and H. M. Campbell, Oklahoma City; nine grand-children and two great-grandchildren.

Love-Starved Tommie Yates Cuddles Up To New Mother

DALLAS (AP) — Little Tommie Yates, sat in his new mother's lap Saturday and cuddled up to her like a 5-year-old starved-for-love.

His new mother, Mrs. J. H. Trussell of Hale Center, Tex., held him quietly while they wait Tommie's checkup.

Tommie wears a brace on his right leg and he has two white scars that streak the dark hair on his head, scars of brain surgery.

Those are the marks of the beating that made him miss Christmas a year ago and sent his real mother to the Texas State Prison for Women.

Officers said Tommie was beaten on Christmas Eve when he tried to climb up on the foot of his mother's bed.

A judge made Tommie a ward of the State of Texas, and good people everywhere sent gifts and money totaling almost $2,000 to the little boy with big gray eyes whose picture and story was published throughout the country. Many couples wanted to adopt him.

Friday Judge Jess Owens in Vernon chose Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Trussell of Hale Center—a couple with a 15-year-old son and an emptiness in their hearts from the death of a six-year-old son two years ago from polio. They first wrote the judge about adopting Tommie last spring but didn't see Tommie until September.

JUNE IN JANUARY — Although it's still mid-winter, winsome June Stokes found sunbathing and spring flowers perfectly in order as balmy, spring-like temperatures visited Pampa Saturday. The mercury climbed to 48 degrees with even higher readings predicted today. This time last year the city was digging out from under a four-inch snowfall. (News Photo)

Dimes Drive Gets Good Start

The 1953 March of Dimes kicked off with a bang over the week end with city firemen, Girl Scouts, and Boy Scouts doing their bit to help the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis get out of its $7,000,000 plus debt.

City firemen put together hundreds of iron lung coin containers to place on counters of drug stores, cafes, stores, banks, service stations and other public establishments.

A crew of Girl Scouts stuffed envelopes with dime coin cards which were sent to virtually every citizen in the city and county. The envelopes were addressed last week by members of Jaycee-Dimes, using city water department office equipment and mailing lists.

Boy Scouts went into every nook and cranny they could find to put up posters advertising the campaign, and asking for contributions.

Wash Line Cleans Up As Pampa's Give $194

For the Girl Scouts "hanging out their wash" it was a real kick-off. They collected $194.90 Saturday, Warren Hesse, county drive chairman, elatedly reported late last night.

Rogers, Mahon Fighting For Big Project

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The $5 million dollar Canadian River dam project, planned as a source of water for a dozen Texas Panhandle and High Plains cities and towns, appears to be facing a Republican budget-cutting economic philosophy.

This was indicated by the recent report of Rep. Miller (R-Neb.), who visited the project area and came up with this conclusion:

"These towns ought to finance this project through selling bonds instead of coming to the government for a federal loan."

PRESS FIGHT FOR DAM — Two of the most ardent workers for the big Canadian River dam planned near Sanford are Reps. Walter Rogers, left and George H. Mahon. At present, these two congressmen are attempting to get approval on a one to two million dollar appropriation from Congress to get initial work on the dam underway. Total estimated cost of the big program is $85 million.

Among the cities which would be served by an aqueduct system distributing water from the dam, which would be located near Sanford, are: Amarillo, Lubbock, Pampa, Borger, Levelland, Littlefield, Lamesa, Tahoka, O'Donell, Plainview, and Slaton. One of two others have indicated an interest in the development.

The two Texans here most ardently backing the Canadian River development plan are Reps. George Mahon and Walter Rogers. They point out that the budget recommendations to come up to the Congress as soon as the session gets under way will have been prepared by the Democratic Truman administration — and so they are hopeful there will be a 1 to 2 million dollar item to initiate construction on the Canadian River dam.

The big question then, assuming it is included, is whether the Republican dominated Congress will go along with the Truman Administration recommendation.

Politics frequently play an important, if not decisive role, in the authorization and appropriation of funds for a big waterway program.

In the case of the Canadian River dam project, the situation is complicated. The legislation authorizing it was signed into law by President Truman on Dec. 29, 1950. Along with Mahon as an original sponsor of the bill was the then Panhandle Congressman Eugene Worley, now a federal judge on the U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals. Although it got quick favorable action in the House, the measure ran into stiff Republican opposition in the Senate. At this point, Worley left the House to become a judge, and Texas elected its first Republican congressman in 20 years to take his place. The new legislator, Rep. Ben Guill of Pampa, soon was able to solicit powerful Republican support both sides of the Capitol. The measure became law on Congress Jan. 3, 1951. Although a Democrat, Rogers has sided with the Republican arm and again soundly condemning Truman policies. Coupled with this is the fact that Texas went along with the Republicans in electing Dwight D. Eisenhower last Nov. 4.

Rogers hopes to persuade the Republican third Congress that the Canadian Dam project is no bond-selling, give-away deal. "Actually," he explains, "the authorization legislation provides that the federal government eventually will be repaid about 93 per cent of roughly 79 million dollars of the cost.

"These towns want to stand on their own feet. They will repay the cost of the dam in their contracts for water. But they simply don't have the property valuation to go out and sell bonds without some assistance from the federal government."

He suggested the communities be authorized to issue 2 per cent revenue bonds which would be tax free, underwritten by the government. They would pay off the project cost in 30 years. Among the cities which would be served by an aqueduct system distributing water from the dam, which would be located near Sanford, are: Amarillo, Lubbock, Pampa, Borger, Levelland, Littlefield, Lamesa, Tahoka, O'Donell, Plainview, and Slaton. One of two others have indicated an interest in the development.

Rogers is emphatic in his views about the need and the desirability of expanding the water supply in the Panhandle and High Plains.

After noting that most of the water in the area now comes from wells, and pointing out that the greater the depth of the water level the more expensive the pumping, Rogers declares that the most practical solution is the construction of large reservoirs.

"Right now we want to win this fight for the Canadian River Dam," he added. "But, beyond that, there should be other such reservoirs built in that part of Texas.

He suggested that two be built in the Hall, Childress, Motley, Cottle counties area, somewhere near Turkey and Quitaque.

The Canadian River Dam would be built by the Reclamation Bureau. Dams which are primarily for flood control and navigation are built by army engineers — and their costs are financed largely, if not entirely by federal appropriations. The Agriculture Department, through its soil conservation program, also is in the dam building business — mostly small check dams far up on the watershed to retard runoff and hold back the soil as well as the moisture.

A House Public Works subcommittee, has just issued a report, gross is of the other school of thought. He sponsored legislation which had much support, but never came up for a vote in the House, calling for federal aid per watershed dams "to keep the water where it falls."

The issue likely will come up for a thorough study during the new session. Although Poage will

Services Today For W. R. Pennington

Funeral services for W. R. Pennington, Wheeler, who died at 1:45 a. m. Saturday in Highland Genrat Hospital, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the First Baptist Church of Wheeler. Rev. Smith of that church and Rev. Collins Webb, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church, Pampan, will officiate at the services. Mr. Pennington died from injuries he received in an accident.

Born in Birmingham, Ala., on Aug. 10, 1873, Mr. Pennington later moved to Oklahoma and in 1920 moved to Wheeler where he has lived since then. He was a farmer all of his life, and a member of the Primitive Baptist Church. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. L. E. Pennington, Wheeler, four daughters, Mrs. K. F. Fournier, Shamrock; Mrs. Ben Westmoreland, Wheeler; Mrs. I. C. Ayres and Mrs. W. F. Slaton both of Pampan; one sister, Mrs. Doshie Johnson, Tishomingo, Okla.; 19 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Pampan's Brother Dies In Collision

Word has been received here of the death of Aubrey King, 31, brother of a Pampan, in an automobile-train collision at a Quannah railroad crossing. Critically injured in the King accident Friday night were his parents, Rev. and Mrs. John L. King, Quannah, Rev. K. Fournier, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Pampan (1934-36). King's brother is James L. King, 801 E. Malone.

Survivors said that they saw one train approaching but did not see the fast freight which struck them.

Dimes

(Continued from page one) tune of more than $600,000. In the same car alone over the country, $5,000,000 more was spent than in any previous year, a total of $28,000,000. The number of iron lungs and other lifesaving equipment distributed last year surpassed the number distributed during the last three years combined. Hundreds of recruited polio nurses were paid, their transportation and maintenance provided, costing the national foundation large sums of money. Huge sums for research were also expended. Fellowships and scholarships in its professional education program were awarded to more than 200 persons.

Fortunately, Gray County didn't feel the oite of the epidemic as did other counties. But, Warren Hasse, county drive chairman said: "We could easily feel it this year and we don't want to go running to the national foundation if we can keep from doing it."

So far there has been one special dance planned — at the Moose auditorium on Jan. 22 with Leon Howell and his Melody Men furnishing the music. All of the proceeds from the dance will go to the polio battle; the musicians receive no remuneration, neither will the Moose for use of its facilities.

On Jan. 17, civic clubs will collect dimes and dollars on street corners and the following day, Sunday, Jan. 18 — the annual radio marathon will be conducted at Station KEDM. On this program, services of people, items of this and that will be auctioned off, all the proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

On Jan. 24 coffee will be a dime a cup in most Pampan cafes and drug stores — the process, of course, going to fight polio. One of the last affairs will be the annual Mothers' March, held the night of Jan. 29.

Your Income Tax Primer: Article 1

Here's the first of 14 plain-saving articles of expert advice in NEA's 12th annual Income Tax Primer, prepared by a top-notch expert. This first chapter tells you how to use the Primer in conjunction with the official instructions to wind up with the lowest correct tax—with minimum effort and maximum accuracy.

Be sure to clip and save all 14 chapters so you'll have them ready for reference as you work on your return. Because of the hundreds of thousands of taxpayers who use the Primer each year, individual inquiries can NOT be answered by this newspaper or the author.

NEA Income Tax Expert
Campaign promises to cut taxes won't help John Q. Public face this year's tax deadline. By March 16, a record number of taxpayers are expected to report more taxes than ever before in history.

That, plus today's phenomenal cost of living, makes it especially important to take advantage of every legal tax saving. And this year it is especially important to file correct return because the newly organized Bureau of Internal Revenue has streamlined its operations and plans to audit more returns than ever.

To help you save every possible tax dollar and at the same time file a correct return, the NEA's 12th annual Income Tax Primer.

The Primer has 14 articles explaining all the tax problems of an average taxpayer in simple, easy-to-read language. Many of the important, difficult points are explained by drawings or solved by easily filled out charts. It also has a new article to fully explain "heads of households" which pleth the tax break for unmarried just became law in 1952.

printed up together and mailed to all taxpayers filing last year. Additional copies can be obtained from any Director of Internal Revenue's office or most banks.

Third, Begin with Article 2 of the Primer, which tells you what file and which form to use, and proceed through the articles, filling out the return as you go. Note how the Primer refers you to certain parts of the official instructions and then gives additional information and explanations to help you.

There are two good reasons why it's smart to fill out your return as soon as possible. If you wait till the last minute, you may overlook one or more of the tax savings tips in the Primer and, if you have a refund coming, the earlier you file the sooner you will get it.

For anyone who does wait until the last minute, the deadline for filing this year is midnight of March 16. This is one day later than usual because March 15 falls on Sunday.

Balance Sheet Shows Good And Bad News

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold war: Good News
1. After nine months of delicate negotiations the United States and Spain were near agreement on U.S. use of Spanish air and naval bases. The agreement will give the U.S. Navy bases on both the Atlantic and Mediterranean shores of Spain and will provide the giant airfields necessary in case Russia should decide to turn her global cold war into a hot war. In addition it will pump up to $500 million into Spain's economy.

2. Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey were reported to have completed the main outline of a far-reaching mutual defense alliance which puts 70 tough divisions across Russia's path to the Mediterranean. The agreement definitely brings Yugoslavia and at least 300,000 men into the North Atlantic Treaty, even though Yugoslavia is not a NATO member. Turkey has an estimated 400,000 men under arms, and Greece, 80,000.

3. Gerhart Eisele, the loud-mouthed Red who jumped bail in the United States and later showed up as Communist propaganda chief in East Germany had fallen into trouble with his Communist masters. The Eisele's health, scarcely worth much jubilation and could even be considered beneath notice except as a further indication of dismember among the Red high command which has been scrambling for scapegoats to cover up its own shortcomings.

Bad News
1. If a lot of us are blown up in an atomic war, part of the blame can be put on Dr. Alan Nunn May, a brilliant and trusted atomic scientist who sold out to the Reds for a bottle of whiskey and $600. Nunn May, unrepentant and jittery, was released from Britain's Wakefield Prison this week after serving just under eight months and six years of a 10-year term. Nunn May said he still believed he had "acted rightly."

2. French President Vincent Auriol had just about exhausted his possibilities in seeking a successor for resigned Premier Antoine Pinay, and the new year found France both without a budget and any prospect for a stable government. Parliaments are in a deadlock, and the French franc and to set up a stable economy, already had served notice that he would not enter the "Eisele's den" again.

3. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg said that in the last five years Russia had produced five times as many planes as the United States. He deplored the American "holiday" in plane manufacture during the postwar years and said that any cutback now would be "catastrophic." He said that even now the Russians were equalling our output or perhaps bettering it.

Taking Physical For Draft Is Like Dancing In Conga Line

Second of three articles giving first-hand account of what happens to a draftee at an induction center.

By RAY HENRY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Taking a physical examination as a draftee is like dancing in a conga line—slow motion. It's done in single file and has a peculiar sort of rhythm. X-ray to blood test to eye chart.

The big difference is that at the end of the exam a doctor asks you how you feel and whether you've got any complaints.

With 197 draftees, I recently was examined at the Alexandria, Va., induction center, across the Potomac from Washington. At roll call we were handed three essentials of the examination—two medical forms and a numbered tag with a string on it.

We hung the tag around our neck. On one of the forms we wrote our medical history. The other was filled out by doctors and medical corpsmen as we moved step by step through the exam—part of the time with nothing on but the numbered tag.

Among the things we had to say on the medical history form were what diseases we'd had, whether we thought our health was good or bad. We had to tell the cause of any deaths in our family.

Also, the form was used by the center's doctors to ferret out mental disorders. How a man reacts to the physical exam is often a good tipoff as to his mental condition. Sometimes men upset mentally will complain bitterly about their health when nothing much is wrong.

The center's doctors are practiced in spotting such men and almost always send them to see a psychiatrist. He can turn thumbs down on them because they'd be a bad risk for the Army.

There's always the chance, too, that men will try to fake mental disorders. After we finished the final form we stripped to the waist and lined up outside a closed door with a green light. The light flashed on and off when it was our turn to go through the door. Inside was a ceiling-high X-ray machine.

As I walked through the door, a medical corpsman told me to stand close to the machine. I heard a quick click. Then he told me to move into the next room.

There, I sat on a stool facing another corpsman. He wrapped a rubber cord around my right arm. Then he jabbed a needle into a vein and drew off three or four teaspoons of blood.

Later, I found out a doctor would hunt for signs of tuberculosis in the X-ray film. In the blood sample, the corpsman would hunt for syphilis.

FFA Gives Program For Canadian Lions

CANADIAN (Special) — The Canadian Lions Club, in its weekly luncheon meeting Friday, saw a demonstration of the care and sharpening of tools.

The demonstration was put on by a team of FFA boys of the Canadian High School; Glen Walsley, J. Frank Newton, Larry Price and Hobby Mathis. The boys were introduced by J. M. Sims, their Vocational Agriculture teacher.

The boys demonstrated the proper sharpening of knives, chisels, plane blades, drill bits and center punches. This team won in district FFA competition last fall. Visitors at the meeting were John Wilkinson and Cadet Dwight Lindley.

There are some 3,000 species of rodent.

Pampa People Are Younger Than Average, Study Shows

(Special to The News) NEW YORK — Taken as a whole, residents of Pampa are younger than their counterparts in other parts of the United States.

This age differential is brought to light by the Census Bureau after an analysis of data gathered in the recent tabulation.

Goodrich Rejects Motion For Appeal In Ted Garver Case

CANADIAN — A request for a new trial and bond for Ted Garver, convicted in December of the June 16 burglary of a Canadian department store, has been rejected by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.

Judge Goodrich, last week, sentenced Garver to a two- to 10-year sentence and ordered him sent to the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

The plea for bond and appeal came after attorneys James Crow of Canadian and Don Cain of Pampa charged misconduct of jury in the Dec. 18 trial.

According to Cain and Crow, jurors discussed Garver's present prison record, this in connection with making a decision on his guilt.

Dist. Attorney Tom Braly said that jurors had arrived at their decision on Garver's guilt on the first ballot, and had determined the length of sentence before any discussion took place regarding Garver's record.

The median age of people in Pampa is given as 25.0 years, signifying that there are as many above that age as there are below.

In the other parts of the country the median is 30.1 years. This places Pampa residents 2.1 years younger than their counterparts.

Other revealing data on the population trends in Pampa and elsewhere has to do with the increase in the number of people of age 65 and over. Advances in the medical sciences and better living standards have had a

Oldster's Bed Not So Safe After All

CHICAGO Jan. 2 —UP— Junior Mason, 81, decided to spend a safe and sane New Year Eve in bed. After snoozing awhile he was rudely awakened with a stinging pain in his leg. A merry-maker at a nearby party had winged Mason with a stray bullet.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was delivered at the dedication of a Civil War cemetery on November 19, 1863.

Of great interest also are the findings as to the educational attainments of local people as compared with those in other sections. The determination made from the assembled data is that residents of Pampa get more schooling than do people generally throughout the nation.

Among the local population, counting only those who have completed their formal education, the average person has a background of 10.9 years of school.

This compares favorably with the national figure of 9.3 years is the same — 9.3 years.

The picture presented by the Census Bureau shows also an unprecedented proportion of married couples, a record number of young children and a large increase in the working force, which is attributed to more and more women holding down jobs outside their homes.

Kiwanis Taking Part In Fight On Corruption, Choate Says

American Kiwanians — 212,000 of them — can do and are doing much to eliminate governmental corruption, dishonesty, coercion and socialism, according to the new governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district.

"God gave each generation a challenge," Bailey Choate, Sweetwater, told the Pampa Kiwanis Club Friday noon, "and at this time, it is the United States, its Constitution and its concept of the individual versus Russia, its philosophy of Karl Marx and its theory of the supremacy of the state."

On a quick week-end trip through the Panhandle, Choate was making his first official visit to a member club in the new year.

An estimated 125 persons, including 39 guests, 18 of them from Wheeler — were on hand to hear the governor's remarks.

What Kiwanians — and the nation — need are "some modern Paul Reveres, for there has never been a time when we have been aware of our protective freedom in the United States," Choate continued.

Called "a man who lives by the precepts of Kiwanis" by Fred Thompson, past district governor who introduced the speaker, Choate emphasized that "freedom can not be achieved by declaration or law."

Unfortunately, the governor went on, there is a "great chasm

60 Dead, 100 Wounded In Bandit Attack

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 4—UP—Nearly 60 persons were killed and more than 100 wounded when "bandits" attacked the Palanquero air base before dawn on New Year's Day in a vain attempt to seize arms, ammunition and food, it was announced Saturday.

Lt. Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, commander in chief of the armed forces, said "more than 50" bandits and seven members of the air base garrison were killed in the clash. One raider was captured.

Among the attackers killed in the battle was the "notorious murderer Benito Cely, who had terrorized farmers in the region" (about 80 miles northwest of here), Rojas said.

Official statements did not identify the bandits, but it appeared likely that they were members of the opposition liberal party, which has been waging increasingly fierce guerrilla warfare against the government for the last six years.

The general said the bandits attacked at 3 a.m. Thursday, when all of the garrison except the regular sentries had gone to bed after celebrating New Year's.

The sentries quickly roused the sleeping soldiers, Rojas said, and the bandits were driven off after a brief but bloody battle along the air base runways. Five soldiers, a non-commissioned technician and a sailor were killed.

Rojas, newly returned from a tour of the air base, said no damage was inflicted on planes or installations there.

He said the bandits left 33 dead on the field.

"Authenticated information indicates that additional dead and wounded were carried away by the Union Leader's Home Fired On

DEARBORN, Mich., Jan. 4—UP—Police Saturday investigated what appeared to be two bullet holes found in a second-floor picture window at the home of Carl Steltato, president of the CIO United Auto Workers local 600 at Ford Motor Co.

Steltato said his wife and 14-year-old daughter, Rosalie, heard four loud reports outside their home on Monday evening. The labor leader said he spotted the holes Tuesday morning, but did not report them until Friday when a construction worker told him they looked like bullet holes.

A preliminary investigation Friday night indicated the holes were made by B-B pellets, police said, possibly from a shotgun.

Two other prominent labor leaders, CIO president Walter Reuther and his brother, Victor, were seriously wounded in 1948 and 1949 by shotgun blasts fired through the windows of their homes. The Reuther assassinations never have been found.

Roman roads were often 3 feet or more thick.

Military Planners Map Atom Defense

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—UP—A master plan for saving the nation in event of all-out atomic-germ warfare attack was released in part Saturday by Federal Civil Defense Administration.

The remainder, which officials said Russia would like to have, was classified top secret, known only to President Truman, CDA officials, the Defense Department, and Mr. Truman's National Security Resources Board. Certain congressional committees may get to see it in full when CDA asks for money to start it rolling.

The plan was drafted after an 18-month study by Associated Universities Inc., which operates the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island.

It recommended three "urgent" measures:

1. Reducing the vulnerability of industrial and big city targets.
 2. A nation-wide air defense so tight a saturation attack would be impossible and a crippling attack unlikely.
 3. Setting up of a permanent CDA system with the aim of holding down loss of life and property destruction.
- The plan is known as "Project East River." Project director was Gen. Otto L. Nelson Jr., vice president of the New York Life Insurance Co. He blasted national apathy toward civil defense in the face of potential disaster but said if specific measures are taken "the situation is far from hopeless."
- Project participants—more than 100 scientists, scholars, businessmen and government experts—explored every aspect of civil defense including big city targets, disaster services and operations, warning and communications systems, health and welfare, and CDA training.
- Cite Bombing Power
They deplored congressional parsimony in giving CDA operating funds—only $43 million this fiscal year against $600 million requested—and painted a fearsome picture of what could happen if the nation were caught unprepared for the bombs, germs and searing chemicals which could be dropped from the skies.
- They said, for example, that 100 atomic planes can now carry destruction equal to all the bombs the United States and Britain dropped in World War II. And their report said, the enemy's stock-pile of A-bombs and "other weapons" is certain to reach "a not-too-distant date" when a knockout, saturation attack is possible.
- The report blamed many public officials, as well as the people generally, for "staggering apathy" in building up civil defense. It attributed this in part to the magnitude of task of organizing 156-million people. But it said this attitude fosters fatalistic inaction typical of countries which have perished in the past.
- "Project East River is convinced," the report said, "that civil defense can be made manageable in the broadest sense. If, however, it is regarded as merely a 'pick-up-the-pieces' operation, it is doomed to abysmal failure."
- Want Vast Machine Ready
Crux of the plan, aside from the secret role the Armed Services would play, is a division of responsibility from the federal to the local level. This envisages a vast civil-military machine which would function without a hitch if Russia tried to bomb the nation into helplessness.

This in turn calls for the CDA easing such an attack on the populace and industry; for the NSRB to advise the President on strategic dispersion of vital industries and government and economic activities essential to national security and for Defense Department to discharge its responsibilities.

The latter presumably means aerial defense as well as counter-attack.

"The threat is both immediate and long-term," the report said. "Civil defense must be a permanent partner in national defense."

General's Daughter Goes On Trial For Murder Of Husband

By WENDELL MERICK
TOKYO, Sunday, Jan. 4—UP—The daughter of an American general goes on trial for murder Monday for the knife-slaying of her colonel-husband and if convicted would face the death penalty.

Mrs. Dorothy Smith is charged with "premeditated murder" for the death of Col. Aubrey Smith Oct. 3. She will be tried by an Army court martial of 11 officers, including two WACs.

The 40-year-old brunette is the daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger, who commanded the Sixth Army in the Pacific during World War II. He now lives in San Antonio, Tex.

It will be the first premeditated murder court martial of a dependent in Gen. Mark Clark's Far East Command.

A neighbor found Smith clutching a gaping wound in his side.

ability from the federal to the local level. This envisages a vast civil-military machine which would function without a hitch if Russia tried to bomb the nation into helplessness.

This in turn calls for the CDA easing such an attack on the populace and industry; for the NSRB to advise the President on strategic dispersion of vital industries and government and economic activities essential to national security and for Defense Department to discharge its responsibilities.

The latter presumably means aerial defense as well as counter-attack.

"The threat is both immediate and long-term," the report said. "Civil defense must be a permanent partner in national defense."

Mrs. Smith sat beside him on the bed in their home, staring dazedly at the floor and gripping a knife.

Wailed Half Hour
The 45-year-old officer had lain for 30 minutes before he summoned aid. A Japanese maid entered the bedroom, took the knife from Mrs. Smith and hid it. The maid then called Lt. Col. Joseph Hardin, a neighbor and friend of the Smiths.

Smith was rushed to a hospital but died six hours later.

Army psychiatrists examined Mrs. Smith for two months before ruling she was "able to distinguish right from wrong and able to adhere to the right" the night of the slaying.

The Army did not decide to prosecute Mrs. Smith until last week after an Army board of investigators ruled on the basis of psychiatric reports that she was sane.

Her attorney, Lt. Col. Howard S. LeVie, said after that ruling that "everyone out here who is familiar with the Smiths will be surprised." He did not elaborate.

Could Get Death Penalty
Shortly after Smith's death LeVie disclosed that Mrs. Smith had been under mental treatment in the United States before coming to Japan.

LeVie said she underwent psychiatric treatment at San Antonio.

Smith was chief of plans and operations of the supply section in Clark's headquarters.

Mrs. Smith could be sentenced to death if found guilty of murder. A lesser sentence could be imposed, however, if the court should reduce the charge.

Hustlin' Harvesters Nip Broncos For 2nd 1-4A Win, 43-41

Bond Again Paces Harvesters With 21

ODESSA — (Special) — Coach Clifton McNeely's Huskies Harvesters outlasted the Odessa Broncos, 43-41, here Saturday night to run their winning streak to 10 straight games without a setback and their second win in District 1-AAAA competition.

Jimmy Bond again was the sparkplug of the Harvester attack with 21 points, 13 of them coming in the second half of play when the Broncos were fighting desperately to catch up.

Bond also stood out on rebounds, and he got plenty of help in the rebound department from Fred Woods. Between them they thoroughly controlled the backboards.

The Harvesters jumped ahead at the outset and were never headed but the Broncos kept within striking distance throughout. The Pampans went ahead 12-6 after one-quarter of play with Bond and Jon Oden leading the early attack. Bond got three field goals in the first quarter while Oden hit twice from the field.

Oden was the runnerup scorer for the Harvesters with 10 points. All of his field goals came from long range.

The Broncos were able to whittle the Harvester first quarter lead of six points by one point in the second quarter, the Green and Golders going to rest at the intermission holding a 23-18 lead.

Oden came to life in the third period to reduce the Harvester lead to 33-30. Bond did all the Pampa scoring in the third period hitting 10 points.

The Broncos' 12 point attack in the third period was sparked by Jimmy Jackson who dumped in three field goals.

But the Broncos never succeeded in overtaking the Harvesters in the fourth period. The final score was the closest the Broncos ever came in catching up.

The Harvesters went into a stall the final three minutes with a 33-38 lead. The Broncos added three free throws in the wan-

PHSians Edge Bulldogs In Opener, 52-43

MIDLAND — Center Jimmy Bond of Pampa put the Harvesters out of an unexpected tough spot here Friday night by chipping in 10 points during a four minute fourth quarter spread.

Running score by quarters: Pampa 10-15-11-17-53. Odessa 8-10-10-15-33.

The game opened District 1-AAAA and was expected to be a breather for the top rated Harvesters.

Until Bond started his scoring string two minutes deep in the final canto, Pampa trailed 41-38; and during the game, the lead changed hands six times and was tied five others.

Bond, before accumulating four at half fouls, netted two baskets and two free throws for a quick 14-8 lead, the longest margin until the end of the game.

Pampa led 14-9 at the first quarter. Bob Keising led a Midland rally, seconds later, with 10 second quarter points, that put the Bulldogs up front, 25-24 at half-time.

Coach Cliff McNeely held out Bond during the third period and E. Jay McIlvain, up from the B team led Pampa with two baskets in the third quarter. His help erased a 33-28 Midland margin and Pampa took over 38-36 as the final period started.

Two minutes later Keising, Midland's high man with 18 points, fouled Bond with Midland leading 41-38 and left the game for good.

That play enabled Bond to make two free throws, and before he quit his scoring, and before he quit his scoring.

That play left Midland without a scoring punch and turned Bond loose on his big 10 point spree. He bucketed the two free throws then followed with four straight baskets, making the score 48-41 with only two minutes left.

John Oden's basket and two free throws by Billy Webb completed Pampa scoring thereafter.

Fans Urged To Get Behind Harvester Cagers By Attending Boosters Meeting

SPORTS FANS OF PAMPA will be given a chance to back the Harvester basketball team tomorrow when the Quarterback Club will resume activity.

It will be the first time that a booster club has been organized among the fans of the city to back the Green and Gold cagers and it is hoped the club will go over as the club did for football.

Tomorrow night's meeting may determine the fate of the proposed booster club for the Harvester basketball team.

But we look for a big turnout at the meeting as the sports fans here seem to be behind the Harvesters all the way, be it football, basketball, baseball or ping pong.

Coach Clifton McNeely has a pretty potent team this year even though they were extended to beat Midland Friday night. This is written prior to last night's game with Odessa, but win, lose or draw with the Broncos, the Harvesters are still a potent team.

After what Odessa did to defending champion Borger Friday night, it wouldn't be a disgrace to lose to the up and coming Broncos.

Anyways, booster clubs are not organized for winners only. They are organized to let the players know that the fans are fully behind them and all in all, it creates more interest for each sport the Harvesters take part in.

Let's back the Harvester cagers to the 'Nth degree and attend the meeting tomorrow night and all other meetings to come.

The place is the San Houston auditorium. See you there.

Musial, At 32, Has Chance To Set All-Time NL Hitting Mark

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Each release of official batting averages embellishes the achievements of Stanley Frank Musial.

They also further stress the fact that Stan Musial is one of the most unappreciated of truly great ball players — at the plate, on the bases and in the field.

The latest batch of figures for the sixth-time crown Stan the Man as the National League slugging champion with .538, set his lifetime percentage to .579. The brightest of the Cardinals racked up a total of 311 bases in 678 official times at bat, had 42 doubles, six triples and 21 home runs driving in 91 runs. He walked 96 times, struck out only 22.

Musial acquired the batting championship for the third time with .336, a relatively poor campaign for him. This leaves his 11-year average at .346.

Wagner Won At 37
Rolling at just turned 32, Musial has a grand chance of establishing a record for National League batting championships.

Indeed, from the way the Dodgers are moving, and in view of the competition, or lack of it, he could set a major league mark.

Honus Wagner was 37 when he won his record eighth NL batting championship for himself and Hornsby was 32 when he bagged his seventh, this one for the Braves. Wagner stuck around until he was 43, Hornsby until a spur on his heel sidelined the Rajah at 37.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb was 32 when he romped down in front with his 12th American League title for the Tigers in 13 years, remained in the thick of things until 47.

So, you see, Musial, incomparable today, has plenty of time son had he not taken a year out for the military and played through another desperately in need of an appendectomy and tonsillectomy, both of which he submitted to immediately upon the season's close.

Musial's Job Hardest

Wagner swatted the old dead ball, when it was blackened by being tossed around the infield and otherwise, roughed and kept in the game until fouled or hit out of the park.

Cobb got a whack at the cork center ball after it was introduced in 1912 and at the more lively one created by the introduction of Australian wool in 1920.

Hornsby fattened up on the latter, as more jackrabbit was added to enable less powerful batters to keep in some kind of contention with the fabulous Babe Ruth, then building Yankee Stadium, by making all previous home run records look like children's marks.

Musial hits under more distressing circumstances than any of the others, what with all save Sunday and holiday games at Sportman's Park played at night, and meals at all hours. Southpaws are stacked against Musial, the lefthand batter, and he sees more relief pitchers in a week than the others saw in a season.

Stanley Musial must be judged on a contemporary basis. Comparing him with Wagner, Ty Cobb, or Hornsby on a man-to-man basis wouldn't make sense. Musial probably would have tied Wagner's eight the past season in another era.

Today's Sports Portrait Hardeman May Lead Ga. Tech To Another Perfect Season

By BILL FERGUSON

ATLANTA, Jan. 4 — UP—Georgia Tech's Leon Hardeman, a gridiron fire truck disguised as a fire plug, Friday had Engineer football fans talking about another perfect season in 1953.

The squatty halfback from LaFayette, Ga., Thursday wrote an appropriate ending to a sensational season by leading the Engineers to a 24 to 7 victory over Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl.

However, even more important to Tech followers, Leon proved that the lingering foot injury which sidelined him for nearly two months is not going to slow him down.

The five-foot, six-inch junior started out the season jarring the opposition at a 100 yard per game clip.

The crew-cut youngster could slam his 172-pound frame at the line with all of the power of a fullback, or skirt the ends with a change of pace that any halfback would envy.

Each week "stumpy" would come up with an ailment, but each Saturday he "rallied" and went out to lead the Engineers to a victory. Around the Tech campus he was known as "aches and pains."

"I don't know just what it happens," said Hardeman. "I get feeling pretty bad through the week, but on Saturday I feel fine. Can't explain it."

For seven weeks, Hardeman's ailments were confined to between Saturdays and the hard-charging halfback clipped seven teams for 102 yards.

Then against Army Hardeman received an injury he couldn't shrug off. He opened up against the Cadets by streaking 23 yards for a touchdown. But two plays later he was hit hard and hurt his foot.

The trainers said the injury wasn't serious and Hardeman should be ready for the final Tech game—three weeks off.

However, the foot didn't heal and doctors decided that he had a separated ligament. It was not until late in December that Hardeman looked well enough to start in the Sugar Bowl game and not until three days ago was it thought that he might be able to play the whole game.

Today's Sports Parade Battle For Middleweight Title To Feature Pro Boxing In 1953

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 — UP — Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club said Saturday the scramble for the vacant middleweight crown unquestionably will be a feature of boxing this year.

He noted the middleweight class "now has a greater number of high-caliber fighters than any other division." The 160-pound class is the liveliest of all.

Sugar Ray Robinson "really started something" when he gave up the title and retired from the ring on Dec. 18 so that he could concentrate on night club work, Markson added.

Law Burston, head of the IBC's foreign department, will return next week from Europe, where he has been negotiating with Randy Turpin of England and Charles Humes of France.

Burston has been trying to convince ex-champion Turpin and Humes that it would be to their advantage, financially if they came to the U. S. and took part in the tournament here to determine a successor to Robinson.

Turpin, the No. 1 contender, and Humes, the No. 3, had previously indicated they preferred to fight it out in Europe for the right to a shot at the final surviving American contender.

At any rate, Markson and promoter Jim Norris of the IBC plan that the new champion will emerge from a big outdoor bout in June, probably at New York. It is expected either Turpin or Humes will be one of the principals.

Because of the large number of American contenders, Markson said the U. S. semi-finals and final may be slated for 15 rounds to leave no uncertainty about the ultimate American survivor.

Right now, Carl (Bobo) Olson of Hawaii would be favored to win the American tourney. He is rated second among the world's middleweights, incidentally, had been matched to fight ex-champion Jake Lamotta at San Francisco on Jan. 26, but that show was cancelled after Lamotta's key by Danny Nardico at Miami Wednesday night. The IBC would like to use Olson in New York soon.

Meanwhile, the IBC will start the eliminations rolling next Friday night when Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., and Rocky Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., meet in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Markson and matchmaker Billy Brown are trying to pair Bobby Jones of Oakland, Calif., and Willie Troy of Washington for St. Nicholas Arena, Jan. 23. Jones recently lost a disputed, split 10-round decision to Olson.

In conclusion Markson emphasized that other good middleweights would be used as fast as possible, Americans and foreigners — Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J.; Norman Hayes, Boston; Joey Giardello, Philadelphia; Walter Cartier, New York; Pierre Langlois, France; Joe Giambra, Buffalo, N. Y., etc.

Davis Will Take On All Comers

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 — UP — Featherweight Teddy (Red Top) Davis, following an impressive 10-round decision over Fabela Chavez, announced Saturday through manager Minsky Salow that he will take on all comers up to 135 pounds, including lightweight champion Jimmy Carter.

Davis, sixth-ranked featherweight contender said he hoped to be matched with other featherweights but figured he would have to campaign with lightweights if he hoped to get frequent bouts. Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler is in the Army.

Davis, 131½, out-jabbed and out-fought Chavez, 131-1-4, ranked No. 10, in the featured 10-rounder of the year's first card at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The Hartford, Conn., boxer was favored as follows: By Referee Al Berle, 5-4-1; Judge Bill Recht, 7-2-1 and Judge Harold Barnes, 6-3-1. Chavez, of Compton, Calif., started fast but Davis took command in the second half of the bout.

Sugar Ray Robinson

RUGGED—North's Fred Franco, Navy, is tackled by South's John Alderton, Maryland, and a teammate after gaining six yards on a pass in the second period of the game in the Miami Orange Bowl. The All-Stars tied 21-21, in tense aerial duel in closing seconds. (NEA)

Johnny Mize Named Leading Performer In '52 World Series

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 — UP — Johnny Mize, who started the classic on the bench, was selected the outstanding performer in the 1952 World Series and winner of the Babe Ruth Memorial Trophy Saturday by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The 39-year-old first baseman of the victorious New York Yankees won the award over teammates Mickey Mantle and Allie Reynolds and Brooklyn Dodger outfielder Duke Snider. He was the fourth consecutive Yankee to win the award, following Joe Judge, Gerry Coleman and Phil Rizzuto.

After sitting out the first two games, Mize made his Series debut with a home run as a pinch-hitter in the third contest. He took over at first base in the fourth game and hammered a double and a home run, hit his third homer in as many games the next day and produced two hits and drove in a run in the seventh and deciding game. His series average was .400. Mize had planned to retire after the series but, taking heart from his great showing, is now expected to continue for another season.

Mississippi Blasts Officials In Sugar Bowl

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 4 — UP — Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi has exploded to Southeastern Conference officials over what he termed "the worst officiating I have ever seen" at Thursday's Mississippi-Georgia Tech Sugar Bowl game.

"In my judgment I witnessed the worst officiating that I have ever seen... at the Sugar Bowl game," White telegraphed to Bernie Moore, commissioner of the Southeastern Conference. "I am surprised that the Southeastern Conference tolerates such officiating."

The governor sent a similar telegram to George Gardner, head of conference officials. White rebuked a fair catch decision, in which Mississippi was penalized for hitting a Tech player who made a fair catch signal, and also pointed out a first period play in which officials ruled that Wilson Dillard had been stepped on Tech's four-inch line.

"If we are going to have clean sports," White colleges are going to have to wake up to what's going on."

National Golf Day Set May 23

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 — UP — National Golf Day, when any duffer in the nation can compete against a national star on payment of $1, will be held next May 23, it was announced Saturday.

A year ago more than 80,000 duffers "competed" against Ben Hogan, U. S. Open champion. The duffers used club or allotted handicaps while attempting to match Hogan's score from scratch on the Northwood Club course in Dallas.

The golfer, who will play against the field this year, will be announced in the near future.

The old Norse ships had steering oars only on the right side near the stern and the term "starboard" (steerside) is believed to have derived from that fact.

Randy Clay Inks NY Giants Pact

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 — UP — Randy Clay, former University of Texas halfback now in the Army, has signed a 1953 contract with the New York Giants of the National Football League, the club announced Saturday.

The club said that Clay, a star as a rookie in 1950, expects to be discharged next May and "could not wait to put his name on the dotted line."

It has been estimated that there are 4-1/2 million cubic miles of salt in the ocean.

Mr. Modesty, Himself...
McLemore Says New Golf Star Emerges; His Name: McLemore

By HENRY McLEMORE
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Watch out, Hogan. Duck, Demarit. Hit the ground, Middlecoff.
A new professional golf star was born today. As old as the game of golf is, as many masters as it has produced, this new star has burst across the fairways and greens with the brilliance of a meteor seen through Palomar's telescope.
His name? Ah, lads and lassies, I hesitate to tell you. Modesty holds this man back as a rubber hand does a cougar. I talked to him last night and he asked me not to divulge his name. I said, as a reporter, I must tell the golfing world what will soon be sprung upon it. He told me that if I did he would smash my head in with a baffle, strike me around the ankles with a mid-iron and make a tie for me with a cleat. I was obstinate. I told this golfer that no matter if I placed my life in jeopardy I would reveal his name, and his name I now propose to reveal, let me be buried alive if it comes to that.
Strange as it seems, the long

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Simple Play Often Escapes Any Notice

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
The star play in today's hand is so simple that it may escape notice. Nevertheless, most players would miss it in a regular game.
When West opens the jack of clubs, a low club is played from the ace. South now leads a heart and plays the king of hearts from the dummy. "The contract."

John Brown remarks in "Winning Defense," an excellent book, "hinges upon whether East wins or not."
In ordinary play, East would probably win with a heart, and return a low diamond. South hops up with the ace of diamonds, leads his remaining heart to dummy's queen, and ruffs a heart with a high trump.
South can now draw three rounds of trumps ending in the dummy and can cash two good hearts. He makes his contract with five spades, three hearts, and two aces.
If East refuses to take the first trick, the contract is defeated. This simple hold-up play prevents declarer from establishing and cashing the dummy's heart suit.
After the king of hearts is allowed to win the second trick, what can South do? If he continues the hearts, he can reach the dummy only once more. With this one entry to the dummy he can ruff a heart to set the suit up, but he will never be able to return to dummy to cash the established hearts.
Hence declarer will eventually lose a diamond to West, whereupon a club continuation will give the defenders two tricks in that suit. A heart, a diamond, and two clubs are enough to defeat the contract.
It isn't always safe to hold up and see when you are a defender, for sometimes you wind up taking that ace to bed with you. But when it seems unlikely that declarer has led a singleton (as in the case of today's hand) the simple hold-up can have a devastating effect.

Roberts Kicks Off Annual Dimes Drive

MAMI — Roberts County kicked off its annual March of Dimes drive Friday and today drive chairmen still were seeking volunteers to help in the campaign.
Atty. Harold Sanderson, campaign director, said the number of volunteers mustered into the campaign would have to be increased in the same proportion to the increase in the number of cases of polio. Last year there were 5,000 cases reported in the nation.
"I want to have six months' peace and quiet in this house," he said. "We will not go in for big parties and receptions, but keep to ourselves."
The British actor, who visited the house with his lawyer, said he, his wife Oona and their children will move in Monday.
"I had bought or is renting the 19th century mansion, but informed sources said he purchased it outright from Minot Crafton, a former U.S. ambassador to Berlin. Crafton's asking price was known to be $350,000.

Peg O' Pampa

WELL, HERE WE ARE starting a new year, saying goodbye to 1952 and hello to 1953. Going to have to remember whenever I date letters or checks that important last numeral. It looks as though about all of the college students have gone back to school and of course the young'uns will start back tomorrow, along with the other school kids. Some were fortunate enough to make the trip to Dallas to the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day. Understand that Dr. and Mrs. M. McDaniel, Jimmy and Sara Leverich, the H. L. Ledricks, Jr., Colleen and Jeanne Chisholm, Bill Bush, Mickey Ledrick, and the Joe Mitchels were among those that did see Texas beat Tennessee.

HAVE YOU SEEN the Life magazine that came out this past week? In it is pictured the "Trade Secrets" home which will soon be under construction in Pampa by Dick Hughes. It certainly is a cosmopolitan design, and so liveable looking too from the series of pictures shown in the magazine.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bruce, Jr. on the birth of their little daughter, Sharon Elaine, who was Gray County's first baby of 1953. And according to that old poem about "Born on Monday, fair in the face, etc." She was, "born on Thursday, merry and glad."

January

By her who in this month is born,
No gems save Garnets should be worn;
They will insure her constancy,
True friendship and fidelity.

PAMPA PANORAMA: Sandy Williams looking charming in a satin and taffeta blocked skirt with a brown velvet top. The Julian Keys having as house guests during the holidays Katie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. White, and her sister, Frances, of Port Arthur. Congratulations to the Bill Richeys on the birth of a son, Robert Rankin, born to the couple this past week in San Antonio. Paternal grandparents are the J. C. Richeys on Mary Ellen, Lula Khun looking pert in a gray sweater and skirt and a red boxed hat. Jane Reynolds entertaining daughter Pat's houseguests with a luncheon at the Country Club recently. Nancy Davis in a brown taffeta cocktail dress at the club's New Year's dance. Also among the crowd there were Floy and Bill Arthur, the Clinton Evans, Gertie and Bob Clark, and Maxine and Rex Rose. Rae Eldee, getting over a bout with the flu. Martha and Roy Webb and son back from Brady where they spent Christmas with her mother. Dorothy and Art Teed proud of son, John, winning Pampa's "Voice of Democracy" contest. Mrs. Art Atergui and Mrs. Elmer Francis helping out on March of Dimes. Mrs. Louis Johnson of Roswell visiting her daughter, Mrs. Joe Donaldson. The Earle Scheigs, former Pampans now of San Antonio, visiting here during the holidays. Betty and Clifford Whitney having the John Kubitzas and daughter, Katen, of Waco as houseguests over New Year's.

SINCE WE ARE STARTING a new year Peg always likes to remember some good advice to start right along with the New year. Ran across this by Abraham Lincoln. "Do not worry; eat three square meals a day; say your prayers; keep your digestion good; exercise; go slow and easy. Maybe there are other things which your special case requires to make you happy, but my friend, these, I reckon, will give you a good lift."

SOLUTION TO AN OLD PROBLEM

"I eat my peas with honey
I've done it all my life.
It makes the peas taste funny
But it keeps them on the knife."

DON'T FORGET the Community Concert presentation of the Soprano, Frances Yeend, this Friday night, January 9, at 8 o'clock. And the famous De Paul Chorus is coming to Pampa January 29. These two programs should be on your "must hear and see" list for they both are very good.

HEARD THAT TELEVISION was on a tear New Year's Day around Pampa. From those who had their sets turned in the weather was perfect for bringing in clear pictures. Some said that they caught plays of the Cotton Bowl, Sugar Bowl and Rose Bowl games.

HERE'S WISHING all of you much luck, health and happiness during the coming year.

From,
PEG O' PAMPA

Elegant Legs Bare Of Fuzz For Sheer Nylons

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

You want your legs to be elegant-looking even when they are bare and, of course, who wants sheer nylons spoiled by hair showing through? This practically prescribes a weekly defuzzing program.

The type and frequency of hair removal varies entirely with the individual. There are three choices of methods: shaving, abrasion, and depilatory. You may have to try all three before you discover which gives you the longest-lasting, smoothest result.

Shaving has the advantage of being quickly and cleanly done and no matter what method you regularly use, it might be a good idea to have a sharp razor always in your bathroom. You may want to wear evening nylons unexpectedly and without time for your regular method.

Never shave a dry leg. Use either a special shaving lotion or soap-type shaving cream. If you use the cream, have your water very hot and use plenty of lather. Your blade must be very sharp. When you are finished, dust with fragrant bath powder to prevent irritation. Rub some oil or lotion into your legs every day to keep new hair growth soft.

Some girls find that shaving produces coarse, bristly stubble on their legs no matter how often they oil them. These girls can try a depilatory from a firm of good reputation and follow the directions on the package to the letter. The newer ones are fragrant, creamy and easy to apply and remove.

Be sure to make a trial as the package suggests before doing your legs, because you may possibly be sensitive to the ingredients. If the method is for you, you will be pleased with the results.

Abrasion with fine sandpaper-like discs is a clean, tidy method that can be used in a very relaxed way, in any part of the house. It requires no water. Results are excellent, but it takes far more time and patience than other methods.

Unless you care for your legs with plenty of soap and water and oil, any defuzzing method may produce coarse stubble. Care plus experiment with all three methods should find one to fit your beauty needs.

A hostess can reduce kitchen trips to a minimum when she is serving a meal if she serves the first course in the living room and places main course on the table before seating guests. Use a kitchen cart or buffet wagon for serving and for removing dishes between courses.

Use any method for your defuzzing that agrees with your skin but do as the girl above does and powder afterwards.

MATURE PARENT

Callie's mother "did" modern interiors for an exclusive, big city department store.

All her women friends "did" things, too. In and out of Callie's childhood they went, the chain-smoking, tense women, smelling of expensive perfume. Without knowing it, Callie came to the conclusion that female destiny was acting in theaters, sketching gowns at "fashion openings" or writing copy for lipstick ads.

She married soon after she got a job in the studio of a famous stage set designer. A little later, her doctor told her she was going to have a baby.

Callie burst into tears. Her baby is now five years old. She is an over-demanding and aggressive child.

With her on my mind, I said to a noted psychiatrist, "What makes an over-demanding child?"

"You know," he said. "We regard him as over-demanding before he was born?"

"Yes," he said. We are a nation noted for its over-demanding children. Some time soon, we might try linking up this reputation with American women's contempt for female destiny.

A lot more of us suffer from it than we like to think. But we don't catch on. We go right on saying to the girl children, "And what are you going to be?"

I personally quit asking that question some time ago. Now to the girl children with the bright eyes and bright brains, I say, "And what are you going to be besides being a mother?"

We really can't expect them to approach motherhood with much enthusiasm if we are going to continue to suggest that this role is a fifth-rate alternative to the production of good copy for lipstick ads.

The career ladies have had the limelight for some time now. We shouldn't begrudge it to them. Freely often, that manufactured light is all they have, besides the expensive perfume. It's just that we shouldn't be quite so dazzled by it that we begin to wish we were the lady giving the press interview on her favorite canape recipe, instead of a woman who is teaching children how to live.

If we don't make some kind of start at placing female destiny back into its momentous creative meaning, it's going to be increasingly hard on the babies.

When you're using canned boneless ham you can count on about six slices to a pound.

County HD Agent Present At Worthwhile Club Meet

Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, presented a program on styles at the first meeting of the new year of the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Roy Tinsley Friday afternoon.

At a business meeting led by Mrs. Roy Tinsley, president, dues were paid, yearbooks filled out and committees selected.

Newly appointed officials included Mrs. O. A. Wagner, food demonstrator and Mrs. Roy Robertson, clothing demonstrator.

Miss Dunlap, in her program, stressed that all women should plan their wardrobes with a look to the future and select materials accordingly.

The home demonstration agent introduced several new textiles, including some plastics, which she said are most proof and hold pleats.

Among those she mentioned were nylon, orlon, dacron, dynel, vicara, acrilan and fibre. Dacron, she stressed, is to be used mostly for draperies.

A meeting is scheduled the last week in January with Miss Dunlap for clothing demonstrators and leaders.

The next meeting is to be in the home of Mrs. G. H. Anderson, 637 N. Nelson, Jan. 16.

Sharle Esther Gill Becomes Bride Of Donald Black

MIAMI (Special) — In a home wedding, Sharle Esther Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Gill, became the bride of Donald Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Black, Saturday evening.

Rev. Roy Manning, pastor of the First Baptist Church, solemnized the single-ring ceremony before an improvised altar flanked by tall white wrought-iron baskets, filled with pink gladioli.

The bride wore a gray sheer wool suit, with a navy velvet hat, and navy accessories. She carried a white Bible and a white lace handkerchief. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses.

Miss Katherine Noltz, the bride's attendant, was dressed in a black and gold ballerina-length dress of hammered satin. With a winter-white hat. Her costume was complemented with black accessories, and her corsage was of white carnations.

James Roy Gill, brother of the bride, was best man.

Mrs. Gill, mother of the bride, wore a black sheer crepe dress with black accessories, accented with a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Cecil Gill registered the guests.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the bride's home. The serving table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a bouquet of pink heather and pink carnations.

Mrs. James Seitz, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. C. W. Ferguson of Riverton, Wyo., aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake.

Included in the guest list were both grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. J. M. Gill and Mrs. L. J. Laffin. Others present were Mrs. Ferguson and children, of Riverton, Wyo., Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gill, Shamrock; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Craft, Seagraves; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Turcotte, Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. James Seitz, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gill.

Both young people were reared in Miami and graduated from Miami high school. Mrs. Black has been attending Draughan's Business College in Amarillo.

The bridegroom served with the Marine Corps after his graduation from high school. One year of his service was in Kobe, Japan. He has been home a few months.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Stinson, where the bridegroom is employed by the Willis Clark Company.

If you are planning to serve roast turkey to guests, save time on the day of the party by preparing the dry ingredients for the stuffing the day before and refrigerate them. Barrett-Williams Marriage Is Read

In a double ring ceremony read Dec. 21 in the McLean Church of Christ Miss Barbara Jeanne Barrett became the bride of Robert Leroy Williams, Phillips.

The nuptial vows were read by Rev. Ernest N. McCoy, minister of the Berger Church of Christ, before an altar banked with woodwardia palm. On either side of the altar were tall baskets of American Beauty roses and candelabra bearing white lighted tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Barrett, McLean, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Cecil B. Williams, Sanford.

For the processional a group of McLean Rainbow girls hummed the wedding march and for the recessional sang, "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds."

Preceding the wedding service, Miss Rebecca Breining, Letonia, sang "Because," and the Phillips High School quartet sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "Indian Love Call." Members of the quartet are Alan Green, Charles Hamilton, Donald Han and Cecil Morris.

Rev. T. F. Shropshire, minister of the McLean Church of Christ, gave the wedding prayer.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. H. D. Butram, sister of the bride. And bridesmaids were Misses Jean Cowan, Mary Ann Beck, Mary Holloway and Waneta Hupp. Attendants' attire was identical dresses of aqua satin designed with portrait necklines, fitted bodices and cap sleeves. They each wore matching balos and carried fan shaped bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Joe Cooke, Berger, was best man. Ushers and candlelighters were four brothers of the bridegroom, Clinton, Panhandle, Jimmy, Lubbock; Donald, Dallas and T. D. Paris.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, H. E. Barrett, wore a gown of white slipper satin and chantly lace styled with a fitted bodice and long fitted sleeves which terminated in petal points. A yoke of nylon illusion was outlined with scrolls of satin. The full skirt fell into a cathedral train. Her tiered veil was attached to a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones.

She carried a white Bible topped with a single white orchid showered with satin streamers and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Barrett, mother of the bride, chose a navy suit with pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Williams, wore a beige-crepe dress with pink carnations corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the American Legion Hall. Mrs. Winston Brown, Berger, presided at the great book. Serving at the reception table were Mrs. Richard Back and Miss Dorothea Back, Dumas and Miss Oletia Walker, Berger. Irma Ruth Fulbright, Seminole, was in charge of music.

The couple left immediately after the reception for a wedding trip to Kansas City, Kan. and St. Louis, Mo. After their return the couple will be at home in Berger.

Mrs. Williams is a graduate of McLean High School and since graduating has been employed with Phillips Petroleum Co., Phillips.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Phillips High School and Texas Tech, Lubbock. He served two-and-a-half years with the Navy during World War II and at present is assistant coach in Phillips High School.

Avoid storing canned goods in high kitchen cupboards, because it is usually too warm there for them.

When the family gets tired of plain buttered carrots, team the cooked diced vegetable with snap beans, dried cooked celery, or canned whole-kernel corn. To peel tomatoes easily, insert fork in stem end and swirl each tomato over gas flame of top burner of range until skin blisters and splits.

If a tree is badly affected, it should receive a second treatment just before the buds begin swelling. This is one of the most dreaded diseases among the orchard. Nothing can be done to combat it next summer, and the same is true of the peach tree curd. Now is the time to do your control measures if you want fruit next summer. If your orchard is troubled with brown rot, this same spray will help some to lessen it. However, in dry climates, brown rot is not generally prevalent.

Pruning is another winter orchard job. A peach tree should be pruned to 5 to 7 main branches staggered around the trunk for strength. Limbs growing opposite each other on the trunk, should be made a weak place which may split during a wind or ice storm.

Grape vines should be pruned during the winter, when the sap is down, to prevent their "bleeding". If they are pruned, when the sap is rising it will drip out at the cut stems, causing the plant to die.

Those limbs cut from the grape vines make good cuttings from which new plants are grown. These should be made immediately after the pruning, to prevent them from drying out. These cuttings should be about 6 to 8 inches long, and the wood should be cut off just below the lowest bud. The roots start from the bud, and getting the surplus wood removed helps to insure a living plant.

When these cuttings are set out, about 12 inches apart in the row, it means they can be cultivated easily, to encourage growth. All the cuttings are placed in the soil, with the exception of the top bud. The soil should be pressed firmly about the cutting to push the air out from about the base.

This is another precaution to making in successful cuttings to insure growth. It is well to locate the cutting row near a supply of water, as the plants will need to be watered next summer. A good thorough watering at planting time is a help in getting them started. NOW is the time to make and plant these cuttings.

If you failed, last spring, to cut out the blackberry canes that bore last year's fruit, it should be done now. The old canes will be in the way of harvesting this year and they may be harboring insects or diseases, which could be destroyed by burning. These canes should be pruned to the ground soon after the berries are harvested. This gives the canes, which will bear the next year's fruit, a chance to make a good growth.

The growing of fruits require both winter as well as summer care. To neglect caring for them means a sacrifice in both quality and quantity of home grown fruits.

Now is the time to do those winter jobs in the orchard. Spraying is one of those jobs that pay off. If it is done at the right time. The dormant spray is the only one that will help control San Jose scale and peach tree curd. It should be applied now, before the trees begin growing. The same lime sulphur spray will control both, and that is a time saver to the producer. San Jose scale shows up as a white, waxy color on the bark of the limbs.

The lime sulphur spray is made by combining 12 gallons of liquid lime sulphur, or 50 pounds of dry lime sulphur, with 100 gallons of water. It should be sprayed all around the limbs and on the trunks of the trees during winter season.

Nothing can be done to combat it next summer, and the same is true of the peach tree curd. Now is the time to do your control measures if you want fruit next summer. Apple Brown Betty is one of those quick-to-make desserts that's delicious plain, or with a topping of light cream and it's so flexible it lends itself to many variations. You can add currants or raisins for a deep color contrast and sweet surprise - ornaments for a crisp accent - coconut for a little chewiness and a feathery look. Though bread crumbs or cubes are the usual base, you can use crushed graham cracker or zwieback crumbs or even cornflakes. But no matter what changes you make in the original recipe, the spicy apples are always the same. Firm-textured and juicy, so they'll keep their shape during baking, the late-harvested red Winesaps from Washington State are in good supply in local markets now. These choice - quality apples are an all-purpose apple so they're wonderful for refreshing between meal snacks and crisp salads as well as all types of cooking and baking.

Here's still another variation for Apple Brown Betty for it has the addition of snowy marshmallows to the bread crumbs. They melt and mingle throughout the pudding, giving an interesting, sweet contrast to the tangy apples.

APPLE BROWN BETTY

- 3 red winesap apples
 - 5 cups toasted bread cubes
 - 1 1/2 marshmallows, quartered
 - 1/2 cup hot water
 - 1 tsp. grated lemon peel
 - 3 tbsps. lemon juice
 - 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- Peel, core and slice apples thinly and arrange in layers alternately with marshmallows and bread cubes in a 6 x 10-inch baking dish. The top layer should be bread cubes. Combine hot water with lemon peel, juice and butter or margarine. Pour over apples and bread mixture. Bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 35 minutes or until apples are tender and top is lightly browned. Serves 6.

Apple juice makes a delicious punch for small-party parties. Combine the apple juice and mix with orange juice and ginger ale. Garnish each serving of the punch with a maraschino cherry.

Never boil frankfurters when you are heating them in water. Drop them into the boiling water and then simmer them for about seven minutes or until they are hot through. To simmer water means to keep it just below the boiling point.

It's handy to remember that a pound of prunes, when cooked and pitted, will make three cups. Serve the cooked pitted prunes with breakfast cereal, or stuff them with cream cheese for a salad dessert. Children usually like the prunes stuffed with peanut butter; serve these with graham crackers and milk as an after-school snack.

Beefs that are mature usually need at least an hour's cooking time. If you use a pressure saucepan, the cooking time will be greatly reduced. Orange juice, orange rind, melted butter or margarine, a little brown sugar, and a dash of salt will combine to make a pleasant-tasting sauce for the beefs after they are cooked, peeled, and sliced.

Pork chops are delicious when they are first browned and then baked with sauerkraut and diced peeled apples. Season the sauerkraut with a little brown sugar and a dash of ground cloves. Pork loin chops are best when they are cut no less than three-quarters of an inch thick.

New Worldly Cottons Float Chiffon Stole

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA, Woman's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The things that are happening to cotton are nothing short of miraculous. Each new season brings fresh fabric treatments that put cotton in places it's never been seen before.
Lately, it has joined forces with chiffon and wool to produce an evening fashion (left) of great beauty. In Hope Skilman's satin piqee, the dress is embroidered with pearls and beads around the bodice and is belted with a swath of bright orange wool. The chiffon scarf floating free in the breeze, is edged in the same bright-colored wool.
Seersucker, once the lowliest of cottons, has acquired real chic. It has come out of the ranks of utility clothes and has moved up into the foremost ranks of fashion.
Here we see a star-spangled seersucker (right) turned sleek and beautifully simple in the hands of designer Pauline Trigere. This is a cotton that looks nearly tailored at first glance, but that is actually a marvel of fashion understatement.
Far from being confined to summer wear, cotton is a year-around fabric now, suitable for many occasions and climates.

RUTH MILLETT

"It's tragic that so little has been done to help married people recognize serious threats to their happiness," says Dr. David R. Mace, a university professor of human relations writing in the Woman's Home Companion.
And then Dr. Mace points out: "The first danger signal in marriage is usually a decline in communication."
The real pity is that women generally seem to sense that danger signal. Again and again in their letters to this column wives say, in effect: "My husband doesn't talk to me any more. He doesn't discuss his business or his plans for the future the way he did when we were first married. And he seems completely disinterested when I try to talk to him about the things that deeply concern me."
Wives seem to know instinctively that lack of communication between husband and wife is a threat to the marriage. It is on dangerous ground if the husband and wife think their own thoughts, struggle alone with their own worries, refuse to share their dreams of the future.
They know the danger and they worry over it. But what can they do about it alone?
A wife can't make her husband confide in her. She can't force him to come to her with his worries. She can't make him listen to her with an understanding heart.
No, as long as she alone is aware of the danger of a husband and wife's drifting into the habit of keeping all they really think locked away from each other, she is completely stymied. The real tragedy is that husbands don't realize the threat to married happiness by refusing to talk to their wives about the things that are their daily concern.

Small Things Will Brighten New Year

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Newsfeatures Writer
With a brand new year stretching out in front of us, it's pages invitingly blank and to be filled in slowly, all of us are filled with hopes, fears and ambitions for coming events.

Our fingers are crossed and we dream of a new year in which peace will come, in which the dollar will return to 100 cents, in which both taxes and the cost of living will drop, in which the scoundrels will be chased out of government, in which there will be plenty for all people.

In these large scope matters the individual voice is pretty small. But each of us could play a small part in improving conditions in the small area we inhabit.

For instance, it would improve things considerably if none of us ever encountered a friend or acquaintance with a remark no matter how warranted — like, "Helen, whatever have you been doing? You look so tired. Aren't you feeling well?" Helen or Henry might have been feeling just fine up to that point, but it's a cinch they are done in for the next 24 hours, will start worrying about their health and are beset by all manner of unpleasant — albeit imaginary — symptoms.

On the other hand, considerable joy can be broadcast by utilizing a simple device in greeting people. In halting any friends on the plump side, merely look them over with a discerning eye and query: "Why Helen, haven't you taken off some weight?" This works with male acquaintances, particularly those over 40 and accustomed to three-course lunches.

It might be more difficult, but another good work would involve determined refusal to pass on to others any gossip, no matter how fascinating and sensational. A good test in evaluating gossip would be to ask whether repeating it would hurt the central figure. If it's harmless, anecdotal in character and come in character, go ahead and repeat. But never embroider just to make it a good story, when you're naming names.

Return borrowed tools, books or anything else out on loan. Lenders hate to request things back, even when they have every right in the world to ask for them.
Resist the temptation to proffer advice — particularly if no one asks for it. Most people resent being bustled up to an acquaintance with having outsiders jump gratuitously into their affairs. If advice is asked for, approach the subject gingerly and be prepared to sit back and be a good listener for chances are the asker is not looking for an audience.

Watch your telephone manners. If you're an important type with a secretary, don't have her get the person you want to speak to, on the wire and keep him hanging until she switches the call to you.
Never under any circumstances bury up to an acquaintance with some such remark as "Remember it's embarrasing because lots of people aren't good at names, no it's apt to embarrasing a chance — by identifying yourself right away — to say, "Why certainly, Helen Smith, how are you?"

Try to be on time for appointments — nothing is more distressing than waiting around in strange places for an unreliable date. Keep your promises — orankfurters in a pound.
Broiled chicken tastes delicious when it has been spread with a mixture of butter or margarine, salt, pepper, and paprika before it goes under the heating unit. Makes a little gravy with the drippings in the broiling pan and serve with the chicken and steamed rice.

One Texan Dead, 7 Injured In Fighting

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — (UP) — The Department of Defense reported Saturday, in its 721st Korean casualty list, that one Texan had been killed in action and seven others wounded.

Pfc. Dennis R. Armstrong, Wichita Falls, a soldier previously reported missing in action, was killed, the department said.
The seven wounded, all soldiers, were Sgt. Pedro Casablanca, San Antonio; Pvt. Arturo H. Garcia, San Antonio; Pvt. Salvador Gonzalez, Beeville; Pvt. Clarence R. Huber, Anson; Sgt. Wendie F. Moore, Wilson; Pvt. Robert W. Taylor, San Antonio, and Pfc. Pedro A. Torrez, San Angelo.

If you want to make a really delicious stew be sure to brown the meat on all sides in a little fat before adding any liquid. Chopped onions may be added during the browning process. Add other vegetables to the stew just long enough before the meat is tender so they will not be overdone.

Green peas and cauliflower with cheese sauce are good vegetables to serve with corned beef hash. For a salad choose cole slaw or hearts of lettuce with Thousand Island Dressing.

Story On Induction Newsman Gives Inside

(First of three articles giving a first-hand account of what happens to a draftee at an induction center.)

By RAY HENRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — At 8:41 the sergeant began the roll call. To him it was just another morning at the induction center. But to the 197 men standing around him it was a personal D-day.

During the next 4½ hours they were to see whether they would be acceptable for military duty. What happened to them would have a good deal to do with how they spent the next two years of their lives.

With the Defense Department's approval, I stood among them to be examined too. No one at the center but Maj. Valentine Lentz, the commanding officer, knew that I wasn't really a draftee.

The place happened to be the induction center at Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington. It could have been any one of 73 other centers around the country.

As a group, the men were like those going through other centers that morning. Ten were married. They averaged between 21 and 22 years old.

Seventy-three would be rejected. Twenty-six would fail the mental test. 38 the physical test. Four would be turned down because they were psychologically unfit. Five had police records that would disqualify them. Some of the rejects would eventually end up in the service after further examination. Some of them wanted to go into service and some didn't.

One fellow told me he planned to attempt to get deferred as a college student until he was 26 when he would be too old to be drafted. He didn't know that if he got a deferment before he was 26 he could be drafted until he was 35 if the reason for his deferment ended.

A couple of the men said it didn't make much difference to them whether they went, but that they were going to wait until they had to go.

I watched another fellow plead with the center's psychologist to get him to go in. He'd flunked his mental test once before and was being re-examined.

But, no matter how they felt about service, they were there because their draft boards had sent them. Their draft boards were following the Universal Military Training and Service Act. That's what we were told in an orientation lecture. We were also told: "While you're here, you'll be processed to see whether you're qualified for military service. You'll be examined mentally, physically and morally."

"In from seven to 10 days after you leave this afternoon, you'll get a letter from your draft board telling you whether you passed or failed. Then in from 21 to 320 days — maybe more — you men who've passed will get another letter telling you to report here for induction."

"Up to the time you're actually inducted, you can volunteer for any of the services. Otherwise you'll go into the Army."

"After you've served your 24 months you'll have to go into the reserves for six years."

"There's one thing I want you all to understand. Don't quit your job or break up your home until you're inducted."

you're sure of when you're going to be inducted."

Then, we heard the steps of how we would go through the examination:

The first thing would be the mental test. It would take about an hour.

Then, we would fill out a medical history form and be given our physical examination. This would take an hour or so.

Later, some of us would fill out special forms and, perhaps, be given personal interviews.

"If everything goes well," we were told, "most of you should be out of here about one o'clock." (Next: Physical Exam.)

Carson Road Job Approved

WHITE DEER (Special)—Farm-to-Market roads will be affected by the program recently approved by the State Highway Commission. The program, which will be carried out during the next two years, will be financed by combined federal and state funds made available within the time.

Roads selected for improvement extension, or a combination are as follows:

From junction of U.S. 66 and FM 284 south to Armstrong County line, a distance of approximately 1.7 miles.

From end of FM 293, west and south to FM 683, a distance of approximately 3.4 miles. From FM 293, 5 miles west of Panhandle, north-west and north to road intersection, a distance of approximately 3.1 miles.

The total mileage affected by the program is 30.2 miles with an estimated cost of $105,200. The right-of-way is to be furnished without cost to the state by the county.

Carson TB Seals Bring In $834

WHITE DEER (Special) — A recent report from Mrs. J. B. Howe, Panhandle, treasurer of the Carson County Tuberculosis Association, states that 556 Christmas seal letters had returned a total of $834.97.

Although seals were limited, more letters were sent this year than last. Receipts for the year are expected to be higher than those of last year also.

"Perhaps you would be interested in a chair like this for your husband?"

Heart Scoring Is Real Easy

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

"Please suggest a good way for us to score in the game of Hearts," asks an Oklahoma correspondent.

"In our game we count one chip for each heart and 13 chips for the queen of spades. At the end of each hand some players are supposed to collect chips while others are supposed to pay them out.

"It takes us forever to work matters out, and we have about three times as many arguments as we need in the process. I should add that the number of players in the game varies from one week to another.

"Is there any simple way of doing this bearing in mind that we are not mathematicians?"

"There is a simple method of scoring by chips, but we don't guarantee to stop all arguments. Card players will always find something to argue about, and perhaps this is one reason they enjoy their games so much.

"There always are two steps in the settlement. Paying out and collecting. Each player begins by putting chips in the center of the table, and when all players have thus contributed, each player then takes the proper amount of chips out.

The right amount to put in the middle of the table is the number of hearts that you won multiplied by the number of other players in the game. For example, if you won six hearts in a fourhand game, you must put 24 chips in the middle of the table. (There are three other players, so you multiply six hearts by three.)

After all players have put chips in the middle of the table, each player then takes out 26 minus the same number of hearts that he won.

For example, a player who won six hearts in a four-hand game would subtract six from 26 and get a remainder of 20; he would therefore take 20 chips out of the middle of the table. (If you remember, he had previously put 24 chips in the middle of the table, and therefore has a net hand of 4.)

Let's take one more example. You win eight hearts in a five-hand game. You put in 40 chips (4 times four, for the other four players) and take out 32 chips (26 minus 8, for a net loss of 6 chips on the hand.)

This method sounds a little complicated, but it is very easy to operate. After you have done it on one or two hands it will become completely automatic and very simple.

HE MAKES MINIATURE MUSIC — Composer Fritz Kragel, above, of Munich, Germany, puts the finishing touches to a page of miniature music, in a tiny volume, each page of which is less than an inch in depth. The volume when completed will contain 20 or more pages, each containing a musical score, and each perfect in every minute musical detail.

Eisenhower's Doctor Says Ike 'Picture Of Good Health'

By H.-D. QUIGG

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—(UP)—Seven days before inauguration, President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower is a picture of good health, his physician said Saturday.

Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, who has kept a "careful watch" on Eisenhower's health since 1945, said the President-elect is in "very good" condition.

"He hasn't been ill during the campaign, nor since," Snyder said in an interview. "He's capable of sustaining long hours of effort and, if fatigued, he recovers very quickly with little rest. He has a splendid amount of reserve which comes into play after a little rest."

Eisenhower was 62 last Oct. 14, which is reasonable as an index for the heart and arteries of a man of Eisenhower's type and age.

Snyder said the President-elect eats as varied a diet as he desires and has a good appetite and good digestion. His disposition is "generally excellent."

"He's getting a little belly," Snyder said. "But when he wants to, he cuts down at the table and takes his weight down to 172, where he likes to keep it."

Eating A Little More

"He was at that weight for a year and a half at Allied powers, headquarters in France before returning here for the campaign. He's been eating a little more since he got back and hasn't had so much exercise. I don't pay much attention to that six pounds. He pays more attention to it than I do."

The President-elect sleeps well and requires no more than six or seven hours a night. "That's enough for him; he's not a restless sleeper," said Snyder.

His blood pressure is 140-80, "which is reasonable as an index for the heart and arteries of a man of Eisenhower's type and age."

Snyder said the President-elect eats as varied a diet as he desires and has a good appetite and good digestion. His disposition is "generally excellent."

"He never worries about his health either as to eating, or during athletics or bad weather. We had a hard time during the campaign keeping a coat and muffler on him even during blustery weather. He seems to look at bad weather as 'we all did when we were young men.'"

Quiet Week End Due

The President-elect planned to spend Saturday and Sunday quietly at home. Apparently he is being kept informed of Republican movements in the new Congress.

His press secretary, James C. Hagerly, declined to comment on a newspaper report that some of Eisenhower's aides are strongly advising him to abandon news conferences in favor of fortnightly radio television reports to the nation, somewhat on the order of the late President Roosevelt's fireside chats.

Holiday Death Toll Lagging Behind Average For 1952

By UNITED PRESS

The New Year holiday death toll Saturday lagged behind the average hourly traffic death rate for all of 1952, but weekend outlays could send it soaring again.

Safety experts felt that motorists could have done better, but were still pleased at the relatively safe showing made during the dangerous New Year Eve and New Year Day period. With two days of the long, four-day holiday left, they had their fingers crossed.

The latest United Press tabulation showed that at least 210 persons were killed in traffic accidents since 6 p. m. Wednesday. Plane crashes took another four lives, 25 persons died in fires and 46 in miscellaneous mishaps for a total of 284.

This brought the combined traffic total for the four-day Christmas holiday and the present New Year period to 798. The total for both holidays for all accidental deaths was 1,018.

Motorists and pedestrians were being killed during the present holiday at a rate that fluctuated around 3.6 an hour. Last year's average hourly rate was about 4.3, based on National Safety Council statistics that traffic deaths in 1952 would be 28,000.

The safety council has estimated that 410 persons will die by midnight Sunday, a prediction that could come true if the weekend death rate jumped about one death every two hours.

Safety Council President Ned H. Dearborn said the all-time traffic death record of 7,874 which was set over the recent Christmas holiday may have sobered drivers and helped hold down the present accident rate.

But he said that the country still didn't have much reason to brag about its performance on the high ways and that the deaths were coming only a little behind the count.

"But we may have a chance to go below our 1952 record," he said. "At least we're hopeful and we're over the hump of Eve, which is the most dangerous part of this holiday."

The March Of Dimes

In dedicating the 1953 March of Dimes campaign to the memory of the late Rev. Edgar Henshaw, Pampa minister who gave so generously of himself in promoting previous drives, Chairman Warren Hasse and his co-workers expect to move Pampons to give an extra dime or dollar this year. We hope they are right because in our opinion the fight against polio deserves the support of all of us financially able to contribute.

The dimes and dollars we give to the March of Dimes constitute the best investment in polio protection an American citizen can make. By no stretch of imagination can this uniquely American institution be called a charity. It is, rather, an inspiring example of how enlightened individuals can protect each other and themselves from the bankrupting assault of an enormously expensive disease.

Even if the Gray County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis did no more than pay the cost of treatment for every polio patient who needed it, the March of Dimes would not be a charity. If it were, then four out of five patients would be "charity cases." For few of us indeed can pay costs that run above $50 a day and, in some cases, add up to more than $20,000 per year.

But your March of Dimes investment does more than pay the treatment bills. It buys and transports iron lungs; it finances the training of skilled and professional people; it meets the cost of transportation, salaries and maintenance of nurses recruited for service anywhere in the nation; it finances the most determined onslaught waged by volunteers against a disease; through every medium it seeks to inform the public about the problems of polio and protection against it.

All of these are vital services of direct benefit to patients and public alike — whether we are well-heeled or down-at-the-heel.

This means that all of us — no matter whether we can "afford" to have polio — are investing in our own protection when we join the March of Dimes.

Political Trap?

In Washington the reports persist that President Truman may ask Congress for much less defense money than he requested last year; less, too, than anyone expected him to seek.

This could turn out to be the neatest political trap of the decade for the new Republican administration.

During the presidential campaign, the Democratic spokesmen decried all talk of defense economy by their opponents as cheap tactics. They intimated economy could be achieved only at the cost of national safety. Mr. Truman was one of the most vociferous in advancing this point of view.

In the meantime, no official in government has announced that the peak of defense activity is about to be reached and passed. Presumably, maximum output is a goal still well ahead of us.

True, expenditures lag substantially behind appropriations, and money voted earlier by Congress could be intended to push production to its peak at some future date; while new appropriations now might forecast a later production drop-off.

But rumor says Mr. Truman may recommend a $12 billion slash in defense appropriations. That would suggest a pretty sharp decline from any projected peak.

If such cuts actually are urged in the President's January budget message, it will be fair to suspect that he is trying consciously to embarrass his successor, General Eisenhower.

Since reductions of that size this year would be totally unrealistic, Eisenhower naturally would have to request higher sums. Then Mr. Truman would have the GOP trapped into asking Congress for more money than did their lately departed Democratic cousins. And the Republicans' economy talk would be made to sound quite hollow.

No one really knows, of course, that the President will do this. But in his present bitterness over the Nov. 4 election verdict, he might try.

If the new budget does show these drastic reductions, it ought to be measured carefully in public. First, against the Democrats' own statements that such sweeping slashes were impossible. Second, against the government's previously announced defense production goals.

If it becomes readily apparent those goals cannot be attained without heavier outlays, it is evident as well that Mr. Truman has suggested cuts which would halt the rise in output short of the projected levels, then the President will be clearly shown to have resorted to political trickery.

Mr. Truman ought to think twice before employing a device that would make it exceedingly difficult for his party to engage in honorable debate on the vital economy issue.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE CAUSED BY SOCIAL SECURITY

By DeWitt Emery
A 71-year-old resident of Chicago, Ralph P. LaBelle, recently attempted suicide by slashing his wrists and throat because he was penniless, hungry, had no place to stay and his social security had been shut off.

What crime had this old man committed which caused his social security check to be withheld? Last January and February he earned $118.00 as a messenger. Under Social Security he was permitted to earn only $50.00 a month. So, since he had earned too much, he had to be punished. As he expressed it to the judge after the police had taken him first to the hospital and then to court:

"They called me into the field office at 1045 Lawrence Avenue and said I would be penalized a full month's payment for earning $18.00 too much in January and February. I didn't have any money, couldn't get a job, my landlord told me to get out because I hadn't paid my rent. I was cold, hungry and there didn't seem to be any way trying to stay alive."

The judge figured out a way to put LaBelle into the county hospital until his next social security check is due. When he gets out, he says he'll try to find a job — some-thing which will pay him more than $50.00 a month.

Social Security is the keystone of the great social progress which has been made in the past twenty years. It's the very first of the first things. It's the greatest humanitarian achievement by any government in the history of the world. It banishes the want and fear of old age. At least these are some of the claims made for social security when it was being sold to Congress and the American people.

If you buy an income policy from a private, a free enterprise insurance company, you pay in so many dollars for so many years, after which you receive an income of a predetermined number of dollars every month as long as you live.

Two years ago a friend of mine paid the last premium on an "income-at-age-65" policy. He thought when he took off this policy that he'd retire at 65. When the time came, he decided to keep on working. Did that make any difference on his getting his retirement income? It did not. He gets a check from the insurance company every month. The fact that he is also getting his full salary each month hasn't anything at all to do with it. He has real security because he earned it for himself.

My friend was not forced to buy this insurance policy. He did it entirely on his own because he wanted to. Do you have any choice on social security? You do not. You take it and pay for it every month whether you want it or not. When it comes time for you to collect, you are not a free agent no matter how many years you have paid in or how much you may have paid each year. You do it exactly as the government says, whether you want to or not, or you won't collect a dime.

There are many things wrong with the social security set-up which must be corrected. I'll discuss some of them in a later piece — but certainly one of the very first things — the new Congress should do is to change the law so that when someone becomes eligible for the benefit he has paid for, he or his survivors will get that benefit irrespective of anything else.

"CAPITALISM" ISN'T A BAD WORD
Recently a rather prominent person, writing in one of the top quality magazines, suggested that America should discard the word "capitalism" and the term "private enterprise" to describe our economic system. His theory was that in their present general usage the terms had become unenvy and therefore harmful to the great effort now being undertaken. In effect he was bowing to the power of Socialist and Communist propaganda which has worked cunningly for many years to create confusion in words and terms that our own people would drop our own terms and slogans and peddle theirs.

The meaning of "capitalism" and "private enterprise" cannot be changed unless we want to tear up our dictionaries and create a new language. Since the origin of the English language the word "capital" in its economic sense, has meant money or an aggregate of goods with which to engage in the production of other goods or services. "Capital" is money or property at work.

YOU'RE A CAPITALIST
If you've got a steady $50 balance in your checking account at the bank, or a $50 balance in your savings account, it's "money in the bank." If you use it to make or buy Christmas cards for your son to sell door-to-door you are practicing the philosophy of "capitalism" and you're a "capitalist."

But don't blush with shame over being a capitalist. Most Americans are, in a small way, providing capital which in some manner is going into the stream of American business and commerce to keep our economy alive, and dynamic, and progressive. Managing your life so well that you can put some of your earnings to work as "capital," directly or indirectly, is the attribute that has built the foundation for American progress. And it has done more for the improvement of the economic welfare of the human race than anything else I can think of.

International Whirligig... Red Propagandists Improve On Hitler 'Big Lie' Technique

By JOHN FISHER
The skepticisms with which so many free world diplomats greeted Stalin's recent overtures indicate how thoroughly they lack confidence in the Kremlin's veracity.

Communist leaders have lied so many times in so many ways that the outside never can be sure whether they are sincere or are meaning what they say. This condition in itself is a moral tragedy for a group that has based its words and deeds on a materialistic opportunism that shuts out God and the ethics of Christendom.

Communist are willing to employ any means, regardless of facts or moral principles, to promote their type of society. They are so adept in falsehoods that again and again gullible people not necessarily Reds, have fallen for their tricks.

But at long last the free world governments seem to doubt any expression or gesture from Moscow unless it is bolstered by concrete action.

Deceit Pattern
The pattern of Soviet deceit has many forms. At the moment Stalin is in a nation or society in which each individual unit or family week to week and month to month lived up all its earnings. Although the more industrious and enterprising families would live better than their neighbors, there would never be an abundance or even a surplus; and there ultimately would be scarcity and famine.

If our insurance companies and banks and other lending institutions were to cease to exist tomorrow because of lack of capital to lend, our commerce and our economic life would quickly grind to a halt — unless, of course, the government took over and operated business and industry. And if government took over we would have Socialism, with the slow march of progress guaranteed. Socialism and Communism operate on the theory of "production for use." They propose economic progress through planning and humanistic progress guaranteed. They never demonstrated in practice an ability to bring economic progress at any cost.

THE MECHANISM
"Capitalism" is an economic philosophy, a doctrine, or concept, the principle for using available money or property in productive work to replenish and expand, to reproduce wealth and goods. The "Private Enterprise System" is the mechanism through which "capitalism" operates in our country. Webster described it as an economic setup in which the ownership of land and material wealth, the production, distribution, and exchange of goods, and the operation of the system itself, are effected by private enterprise and control under competitive conditions.

"Capitalism" in its purest sense does not necessarily establish the right of private property, or private ownership. The private enterprise system does. Private property is the keystone of the system. In my opinion the right of private property is the one mighty pillar that supports the house we all live in. America, our way of life, the very freedom that permits us to grow in moral, physical, material, mental and spiritual stature, Next week's column will examine in detail the "private enterprise system" with its private property keystone.

Fair Enough... Eisenhower, Left Now Equal in Popularity in The Midwest

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Ralph Nicholson, the publisher of the Charlotte Observer, objected to some recent comments of mine on the character of our daily journalism. Many famous weeklies and other members of our periodical journalism are much worse but escape consideration because it is not our habit to think of magazines as part of "the press." However, some of them, such as the Luce and Cowles outfits, have become very influential political papers and have sneaked up on us, as it were, with ulterior pleading and other artful propaganda in favor of persons or policies approved by a few crafty individuals for undeclared purposes.

We can deal later with these phases of the betrayal or, at best, the abuse of the stewardship of the American free press. My theme today is a reply to Mr. Nicholson's criticism of my remarks about the daily element of our press.

"You generalized," he writes, "and rendered many people a disservice. I too am a critic of the press but I cite persons and instances."

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON
This is about as good a week-end as you can check back over the year and count the rocks as well as the blessings, with a special obeisance to the latter which, providentially, were in the majority. A few rocks were thrown, of course, but I managed to duck most of them. It was a year in which a syndicate list grew, several newspapers having decided to take a chance on a man who could bring to the public the news they couldn't get elsewhere. He would do New York one day and Nostradamus the next, chorus girls and theater on a Tuesday and how deep sea divers solve their emotional problems on a Wednesday. Editors have been patient and sometimes enthusiastic and their readers have been wonderful. No man could overlook either the editors or the readers in his particular thanks because, if for no other reason, without them a column doesn't exist except as a state of mind. But there is another reason: I've called humility and appreciation I hope that 1952 hasn't whittled them out of me.

It was a year in which Fate made it possible for me to take a healthy whack at a mortgage, an instrument I hope that 1952 hasn't whittled them out of me.

It was a year in which my bride with a burning yearning for a paid-for mink coat turned down $40,000 annually for five years for an occasional TV drama in which they can say a few lines and shed a tragic tear rather than $1,000 a week for 40 weeks during which, with infinite charm, they tell you about the latest uses of a new electric iron or the joys of a refrigerator that doesn't frost up. If you can solve that, you will never be mystified by an actress. But as you are solving it, don't forget that there is a mighty force called professional pride and most of the girls have it as a desert has sand.

It was the year in which I sold my first piece to the Saturday Evening Post and it was indicated that they would not flinch if I wanted to try for another, but it was also a year in which economics decided against a new car and car's dig it out, forget that there is a new tire, a new battery, a motor job and a front-end repair that ran to $81. The new one would have required $487 cash, plus the old car, and the repairs to the old car to almost $200, and still left me with the aging heap. There is a lesson or a moral there somewhere but I forget the formula and can't dig it out.

It was a year in which my children remained healthy, my home happy and my serenity suffered only momentary raids. I did fall from a ladder and break my ankle and foot, but after 15 weeks in plaster it didn't bother me too much and they think I'll walk all right by February, which would be seven months after it happened. I expect we gaffers take a little longer to mend. It was a year in which I got to know a brilliant young actress named Patricia Wheel and one which brought a dear friend of 15 years, Jessie Royce Landis, back from London and into the hurly-burly of modern theater.

It was a year in which I discovered an extraordinary young Cellini of our time, Oscar Berlin, and one in which he, to the sorrow of all of us who know him, had a hideous time of things. Fate seems to exact a heavy price from authentic artists and creators.

Some friends for whom I wished heartfelt blessings have had a dismal time of it, and some of them, in all candor, I hadn't the slightest interest or regard have prospered mightily. Which is all right. Maybe 1953 will be a year in which some skilled, bright and professionally neglected friends will come upon their personal versions of Fort Knox.

The bride has herself a star job in a Broadway play, and that's a nice recompense for tossing away that forty grand on TV, for which I respect her greatly. The movies have nibbled at a notion or two I offered. I can look back at it with some pride. I put some film, didn't go to jail, had fewer disappointments than triumphs, however minor, and I can put 1952 down as the one that was all right all around. Not great, but all right.

As to Andrews conduct there can be no charge more serious than that of gullibility. For have a right to ask your editor, whether the reporter did not seem to shape his work to accommodate the editorial political policy against opponents of Communism in government.

I have just telephoned Mr. Andrews and asked whether it were true, as I said I had heard from a number of well-informed individuals in Washington journalism, that he got this material at a handout from Thurman Arnold. He said that my method of using responses to questions asked in telephone calls deterred him from answering me. I asked what a peculiar use such answers he had in mind and he replied, "I have no way of knowing how you're going to use it."

However, he said that if I would write the questions he would answer them in writing. I believe this is the first time the question ever has been put to the ribbon across page one as seen as any in Washington.

Andrews or Arnold, or possibly both in sympathetic collaboration, pleaded outrage at behalf of Dr. Edward U. Condon, the so-called Hollywood Ten and others. Developments later proved that the House Committee was right about the Hollywood Ten and Hollywood in general and Condon's attitude was abusive and defiant rather than one of cooperation with the Congress of the United States when doubt was expressed that he chose his social friends with due caution.

It is becoming increasingly clear to those who have been observing the state of mind in the capital and the rest of the nation that the threat to civil liberties, as America has known them, is as serious at this moment as it has ever been in history. Andrews and/or Arnold wrote in conclusion, "Officialdom is suffering from a bad case of jitters. There is alarm. There is hysteria."

When Lattimore was indicted, and remember that Joe McCarthy said he would make his "whole case" on the guilt or innocence of Lattimore, his statement was issued from the office of Abe Fortas, a memorable New Dealer of the widest era. When he showed up in federal court to plead he was attended by Thurman Arnold as counsel. They are partners in the law firm.

Although Lattimore was not a point of chronology the "Witch Hunt" he has all the lineaments of the Herald Tribune's witch.

API Charges States Misuse Gasoline Tax

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—UP—The American Petroleum Institute has reported that million of dollars in gasoline taxes are being diverted to non-highway uses, with New York state the chief offender. In its bi-monthly tax economics bulletin, the API cited Federal Bureau of Roads statistics to show that while highway use tax revenues are setting new records each year, there is not a corresponding increase in taxes set aside for what they were originally intended—building and improving important traffic arteries. (Newsweek magazine said recently in a report on highway needs that from 1924 through 1950 $3 billion collected from highway users was spent for other purposes than roads. It said that at today's prices the diverted funds would have built 9,000 miles of modern four-lane highways similar to the New Jersey Turnpike.)

Pay Higher Taxes—(President) Ralph Thomas of the American Automobile Association said in a year-end statement that 1952 spending on highway and street improvements hit a record $5 billion. But he warned that the motorist will have to pay still higher taxes to foot the bill. He said it is almost inevitable that auto taxes will rise again this year. The only Bureau of Roads figures available are for 1951. Figures for 1952 will not be issued until September. The API said these show that in 1951 a record $2,863,225,000 was Collected in highway user tax receipts but that $267 million of this was diverted to non-road purposes such as "education, non-highway debt and miscellaneous." This amounted to 91.2 cents of every dollar collected. And while levies on the motorist were hitting a new record—a gain of 10.7 per cent over 1950—the amount set aside for roads increased only 6.6 per cent.

Tax 7.35 Per Gallon
"This national diversion does not begin to tell the seriousness of the problem in some states," API said. "For example, New York diverted $77.5 million in 1951, but allocated only $81.4 million for work on state highways." The institute listed other figures showing that gasoline tax collections nationwide up to Sept. 1, 1952 totaled $534,154,665, while the new federal levy on diesel oil for highway purposes totaled $9,562,763. Added to this for the same period were $66,915,257 in taxes on lubricating oils and $21,478,118 on pipelines.

The average state-by-state gasoline tax on Sept. 1 was 7.32 cents a gallon.

ALBANIA, the area once referred to by Winston Churchill as the "soft underbelly of Europe" is still a soft spot in NATO's plan to assure the defense of the Mediterranean Sea. This tiny (10,631 sq. mi.) land on the Adriatic remains Russia's eyes and ears on the Mediterranean. Its mountainous terrain has few resources of any importance, but its Bay of Valona, protected by the Soviet-fortified island of Saseno, could be one of the largest naval bases in the area. Albania has been the scene of many conflicts with Turkey. The Balkan states and Italy for many years. Part of the Turkish empire, it became an independent principality in 1912; was invaded by the Serbs in 1913, independent again in 1917, a republic from 1925 to 1928 when its present, Ahmed Bey Zoga, became King Zog I. He fled in 1939, and Albania was overrun by the Axis until 1944. A provisional government was established by the West with the understanding that free elections would be held in 1945. The Reds, through strong-arm methods, won the election and Albania was proclaimed a "people's republic" in 1946. Another country had fallen behind the Iron Curtain. Sovietization was immediately started with strict security enforced. Submarine pens were built at Saseno and airfields at the capital of Tirana. In 1951, Albania's tough mountain men tried to revolt, but Soviet-led troops squelched the uprising. After the revolt, General Enver Hoxha was deposed as leader of the National Liberation Movement, the sole party, and Mehmet Shehu, a Soviet favorite took over. He immediately instituted strict disciplinary measures against "enemies of the state," linking Albania closer to the Soviet Union in the "cold war."

FTC Draws Sooners' Ire

By ROBERT B. BIZAL

TULSA, Jan. 4—UP—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission in Oklahoma City marked the end of 1952 by denouncing "reference in a Federal Trade Commission report that the compact is part and parcel of a scheme to use conservation as a slogan to make oil scarce."

The compact's resolution is just one of the blasts and counter blasts between the oil industry and the FTC. The quarrel stems from an FTC report charging the existence of a global combine of major companies to control the free world's production of oil, the markets and prices.

The compact said, "we have the spectacle of one segment of our government praising the oil industry for a job of matchless enterprise and efficiency (Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman) while still another small segment is trying to indict the oil industry and those conservation officials who strive to prevent waste in oil and gas production."

As a result of the FTC report, a federal grand jury has been called to determine whether any federal laws have been violated. One of the trade commissioners says he may propose a congressional investigation of both FTC findings and what he calls a propaganda campaign by the industry to "discredit the report."

On the oil labor front, O. A. Knight, president of the International Oil Workers (CIO) served year-end notice that he will drive for a "productivity" wage increase for 90,000 oil workers in 1953.

He is trying to form a solid coalition of all the CIO, AFL and independent oil union and predicted that they "will be strong enough to strike in 1953, if necessary." Last spring, Knight failed to solidify the workers during a costly two-week strike.

Two Oklahoma oil firms started the new year with announcement of purchase of natural gas plants in Texas.

Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., of Oklahoma City has purchased the Fortland natural gas plant near Pampa in the Texas Panhandle.

Company officials said the consideration was in excess of a million dollars. The plant has a capacity of 30 million cubic feet of gas daily. Kerr-McGee was nearing completion at another Texas Panhandle gasoline plant. The $550,000 plant a mile east of Etter will have a capacity of 55 million cubic feet of gas per day.

Warren Petroleum Corp. of Tulsa said it has purchased a majority of the outstanding stock of Grege-Tex-Gasoline Corp. at Longview, Tex. Grege-Tex has a natural gasoline plant with daily average output of 130,000 gallons in the East Texas field.

Wells completed during the week ending Dec. 27 in the United States totaled 756, of which 387 were oil, 50 gas and 319 dry holes. Completions to that date in 1952 totaled 45,844, compared with 44,362 on the same date of 1952.

Card of Thanks
He came to us a baby dear, He left from somewhere into here, He won our hearts with a baby smile And made our lives more worth while.

Born in joy on Christmas Eve, On Christmas Eve he had to leave, Thirty-nine years to the day Was all the time he had to live, Lots of sadness, joy and tears Came to him throughout these years, Never thing he did but very best, Bearing proudly every test; Laughing, a joy, a very best, A dear, dear husband, brother and dad.

A dear son, a helping friend, Thinking of others to the end, If he could speak, he'd wave his hand, Say "Meet me folks in another land."

Let's not be sorrowful; let's be gay And plan a meeting some other day, My love and I will be together, But he'll be by for you, you know, And so with Him I'll wait the day When Angels of Mercy show you the way.

R. H. "Bob" Anthony
We wish to express our sincere appreciation to all those who did so much for us at the death of our loved one in the loss of our loved one. For the expression of sympathy of our friends and neighbors for the lovely floral offerings, the comforting service of Mr. Greenhaw of the Church of Christ, we are indeed grateful. We especially wish to acknowledge the kindness of the members of Resurrection Lodge, the G. K. Trucking Co. and the H. W. C. Co. employees.

Mrs. R. H. (Bob) Anthony
And Pearl Anthony mother
H. J. Anthony, father, and family.

And we know that all things work together for good of them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose.
—Roman 8:28

E. C. Barrett

Congress Casts A Cool Eye To Sharing Of Atomic Secrets

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON — The new Congress has cast a cool eye toward high-level suggestions from both sides of the Atlantic that the United States should lower its secrecy bars and share again some atomic information with Britain. Incoming congressmen willing to take a stand in an Associated Press survey lined up almost against an open interchange of date with the ally who teamed jointly with the U.S. in developing the first atomic bomb in the World War II. But there was a lively argument on the issue, and many lawmakers said they have not made up their minds.

Favorable replies voiced such views as these: Rep. Cooley (D-N.C.), "Britain is our best ally"; Rep. Seely-Brown (R-Conn.), "The free world will stand or fall together"; and Rep. Hyde (R-Md.), "Either we're allies or we're not." And the more numerous negative side sounded these themes: Rep. Hollifield (D-Calif.), "British security system doubtful, too dangerous"; Rep. Gross (R-Iowa), "In the light of Britain's refusal to aid according to her ability in the Korean War . . . I would not make available to her any information whatever."

At any rate, the Congress convening Saturday seems certain to take a long look at the proposition in the light of paramount new developments 20 years after the first successful atomic chain reaction in December, 1942, raised the curtain on the atomic age. These developments include (1) Britain's first explosion of an atomic bomb, (2) progress in the U.S. on a hydrogen or "hell" bomb, (3) new demands for steps toward atomic power for industry, and (4) a growing insistence from free world military leaders that they share enough knowledge about U.S. atomic weapons to help plan a common defense. Britain, Canada and the U.S. worked hand-in-glove on a joint atomic program until the 1946 were cut in 1946 by a U.S. law forbidding the passing of any American atom information to a foreign power. The tight security regulations of the 1946 Atomic Energy Act were relaxed slightly by Congress in 1951. The 1951 amendment permits the U.S. to share with friendly nations certain atomic energy data outside the field of military weapons — such things as reactor development, treatment of source materials and production of fissionable material. But sharing of information about atomic weapons is still prohibited. Prime Minister Churchill recently he thinks Britain and the U.S. should share information again, after President-elect Eisenhower takes office Jan. 20. Churchill reportedly will press this point, using Britain's atomic explosion as a bargaining point in talks with Eisenhower in New York next week.

And in Washington, the State and Defense Departments' and Atomic Energy Commission were reported to have agreed informally that the 1946 act should be modified at least so the U.S. could give some information on atomic weapons to its North Atlantic Treaty allies. Obviously, Eisenhower and his incoming administration hold the key to whether such a program will be recommended to Congress. Eisenhower has given no hint of his attitude yet. Early Christians were often falsely accused of human sacrifices in their religious ceremonies.
