The Pampa Daily News

There's only one corner of the universe you can be sure of improving, and that's your own self. You have to begin there, not outside, not on other people. That comes afterwards, when you've worked on your own corner.

New Congress Meets In Strategy Sessions

Taft And Martin Assume Leadership

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 — (UP) — The 83rd Congress came to life Friday with party caucuses in both House and Senate to elect leaders, and plan legislative strategy for the 1953 session which opens at noon Saturday.

The leadership elections were mere formalities. It was a foregone conclusion that the top jobs in the first Republican-controlled Congress since 1948 would go to Sen. Robert A. Taft, as Senate GOP leader, and Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. as House speaker.

Chief interest centered on preliminary maneuverings for the Senate's perennial fight over the right to filibuster. A bipartisan group of senators who want a stronger rule against talkathons called a meeting at 2 p. m. (CST) to draft the proposal they plan to place before the Senate soon after the first gavel bangs Saturday.

The anti-filibuster move was given only an outside chance to succeed. Republican leaders were expected to throw their support to Southern Democrats, who are bitterly opposed to any curbs on the marathon debates which they traditionally stage to block civil rights legislation.

The filibuster issue was high on the agenda for both the Republican and Democratic Senate caucuses.

No Contest Seen
In the two months since the 1952 election, party leadership questions were settled by negotiation until there was no significant contest in sight in either party in either chamber.

Senate Republicans had agreed informally in advance to elect Taft as party floor leader and to nominate Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire as president pro tempore.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was in line for the Democratic floor leadership. The Democrats also expected to nominate Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia for president pro tempore, although the election of the GOP nominee is assured.

Filibuster Due Debate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 — (UP) — An old argument about freedom of debate is coming before the Senate again in the current attempt to tighten the anti-filibuster rule.

POISON VICTIM — D. M. Morris, Beaumont, Texas, finance executive, has to help his wife walk even for short distances. For two years a sadistic killer has apparently been trying to take Mrs. Morris' life "inch-by-inch" by slipping arsenic into her food. The frightened lady told police officials she "hasn't an enemy in the world" but a series of illnesses have been traced to the presence of arsenic. (NEA Telephoto).

Kaufman Refuses To Change Rosenbergs' Death Sentence

NEW YORK — (UP) — Federal Judge Irving Kaufman refused Friday to change the death sentence which he meted out to convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, leaving them with only a last-chance appeal to President Truman for clemency.

"I still feel that their crime was worse than murder," Kaufman said as he turned down the husband — and — wife espionage team's appeal for judicial clemency.

The Rosenbergs' attorneys are expected to appeal directly to the White House to try to save the pair from Sing Sing's electric chair. They have been scheduled to die the week of Jan. 31.

Kaufman handed down the decision in the federal court building where the Rosenbergs and Morton Sobell were convicted in 1951 on charges of transmitting atomic bomb secrets to Russia. Sobell is serving a 30-year sentence in Alcatraz prison, and the Rosenbergs are in the same prison.

Violence in Texas during the long holiday period had taken 155 lives Friday — 91 of them in traffic — and Department of Public Safety officials feared the final toll would reach or surpass the 202 deaths predicted.

Six persons, three airmen and three teen-age girls, were killed near Marion, Tex., Thursday in one of the worst traffic mishaps of the new year in the nation.

The Air Force victims were Norman Wahl, 21, of Marion, stationed at Barksdale Air Force Base, La.; Alirman IC David L. Raymond, 25, of Laconia, N.H.; and Sgt. Robert K. Ralston, 26, of Sabelhis, Kan.

Marilyn Raspa, 29, of McQueeney, Tex., and Shirley Joy Fitzhugh, 17, of San Antonio, were killed instantly in the crash. Phyllis Starkey, 17, of San Antonio, died a few hours later.

The first announcement for a special March of Dimes dance was made early this morning following a conference between officers of the Pampa Moose Lodge and Warren Hanson, county drive chairman of the M.O.D.

The dance will be held in the Moose auditorium on Thursday, Jan. 22, with Leon Howell and his Melody Men furnishing the music.

Use of the auditorium will be donated free of charge by the Moose, while the members of the orchestra agreed to play without charge.

Accidents Maintain Pace Of One-A-Day

Pampa continued to maintain its one-a-day accident pace this morning with the second collision reported for the new year.

The crash occurred at 21 a. m. Thursday at the Frederic and Barnes intersection, just a few hours after the first wreck was reported involving two parked cars.

Police reports said Paul A. Sparks, 23, Berger, was traveling east on Frederic and struck the rear of a car driven by Benjamin O. Laramore, 49, 703 Frederic, who had stopped for the red light. Damages to Sparks' car was estimated at $300 by police.

There were no injuries and no traffic tickets issued.

There's Only One Way

In 1949, 1,763,290 people landed in the penitentiary; 719,515 mental patients in hospitals; 386,000 in divorce courts; 16,354 committed suicide. All these people wanted to be happy but they took the wrong way. They thumbed their nose at the faithful guard trying to stop them and never saw the warning sign, "BRIDGE OUT!" Byron said, "The thorns I reap are of the tree I planted; they have torn me, and I bleed." The way that seemeth right is the way of death. God's highway is marked by brotherhood, reverence, virtue and self-control. Time is precious. Better follow that guiding hand... Jesus said "I am the way, follow me." See you in church.

UN Testing Red Threats

SEOUL, Jan. 2—United Nations patrols, testing Communist ability to make good on Red propaganda threats to open an all-out offensive on Jan. 4, knifed into Red positions all along the frozen 155-mile Korean battlefield Friday in surprise, pre-dawn raids.

The daring thrusts, some of which carried fast-moving patrols deep into Communist-held territory caught the Red defenders completely off guard.

UN officers said the sharp patrol actions appeared to bear out their belief that the Reds have not made the necessary preparations for the threatened major offensive.

Communist frontline loudspeaker units have barked the threat to UN front line troops for days, adding appeals to South Korean troops to "surrender" before the Reds unlimber their promised offensive.

Slipping through the darkness, the raiders hit Chinese-held positions east of Bunker Hill shortly after midnight. They pelted the Reds with grenades and ran the startled defenders through with bayonets.

25 Chinese killed
Twenty-five Chinese were killed and "many more" were wounded. Then the patrols melted back into the darkness as quickly as they had struck.

UN aircraft joined in the night of punishing raids striking heavily at Communist railway and highway communications.

B-26 light bombers knocked out five Red locomotives and shot up 20 boxcars in strikes on railway lines for up the North Korean coast. Other night raiders destroyed 40 Communist supply trucks in bombing attacks near Sariwon, Syngye and Wonsan.

Thirteen Okinawa-based B-29s dumped 500-pound bombs on two Red troop concentrations and rail targets, including a 45-acre barracks area adjoining the Mokdong iron processing plant in central North Korea near Songchon.

Armenian Delicacy Banned In Restaurant

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—Horse-hoarse meat basterma for the real part in New York City, the Department of Health said Friday.

Basterma, the department said, is "a unique type of meat delicacy popular with Armenians." It is supposed to be made with camel meat.

Since few camels are available here for eating purposes, some restaurants had been substituting horse meat basterma for the real thing.

"All shipments of horsemeat basterma to New York have ended," the department said.

Guerillas Win 2 In Claude Cage Tourney

CLAUDE — The Pampa B team Guerillas swept into the semi-final round of the Claude Invitational Basketball tournament here Thursday by defeating McLean, 50-41, in the first round, and then coming back to knock over favorite Stinnett in the second round, 60-56.

The Guerillas thus gained revenge over Stinnett who had beaten the young Pampans in the finals of the McLean tourney in December. The loss is the only blemish on the Guerillas' record.

Coach Terry Culley's Guerillas had to go over time in the Stinnett tilt. In last night's tilt, the game ended 55-55 and the Guerillas won going away in the overtime session. Ken Hinkle got three of the five points scored by the Guerillas in the extra period. Buster Carter added the other two free tosses.

Doug Randolph led the Guerillas scoring in both games yesterday. Randolph bucketed 16 points against McLean and 24 in the Stinnett tilt. In the first game of the tourney with McLean, the Guerillas pulled away from a 35-35 tie at the 11:15 quarter mark to win. The Guerillas had led at the first quarter, 17-8 and 28-18 at halftime. Following Randolph in scoring in the McLean tilt, for the Guerillas were Harold Lewis with 12 points, Ken Hinkle 10, Buster Carter 7, Benny Cartwright 3 and Dwayne Kuntz 2.

The Guerillas trailed Stinnett most of the way in the second round game, 10-11 at the first quarter, 27-29 at halftime and 36-42 at the three-quarter point. But the Pampa team rallied in the fourth period to tie the score at the final gun and then win in the first overtime period.

In addition to Randolph's 24 point output, other Guerilla scoring were Carter with 15, Lewis 10, Hinkle 9 and Cartwright 2.

Guerillas will meet the winner of White Deer-O'Donnell in the semi-final tonight at 9:30.

Rose Bowl Sub Leads Trojans Over Badgers, 7-0

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 2 — UP—Rudy Bukich, a boy who came west because he "wanted to play in the Rose Bowl," Friday was the West's top football hero for leading Southern California to a 7-0 victory over Wisconsin in the New Year Day grid classic.

Like a timeworn plot from a movie thriller, Bukich was destined to play a secondary role behind Southern California's star tailback, Jim Sears. But three minutes after the game started, Sears suffered what doctors said was a broken bone in his leg.

And Coach Jess Hill called on Bukich to take over the key position in the Trojans' single-wing attack. The 22-year-old senior, who hails originally from St. Louis, responded nobly, sparking the team to the game's only touchdown on a 73-yard drive that ended when he threw a 22-yard pass to halfback Al Carmichael.

The tall, lean player's passing was the difference between the teams. Bukich completed 12 out of 20 passes for 137 yards and after the game Wisconsin Coach Ivy Williamson admitted he had not anticipated such a sharp passing attack from the Trojans. And he added, "that Bukich really hurt us."

'Best Game of Season'

Coach Jess Hill gave the credit to Bukich stepping into the gap when Sears was hurt and said the substitute tailback "played the best game of the season for us."

Bukich, a graduate of Rosemead high school in St. Louis, went to Iowa in 1949 where he was a top T-formation quarterback but he transferred to Southern California only because of his desire to play in the Rose Bowl.

Because his previous experience as a T-formation passer did not give him much training at running with the ball, Bukich saw much less action than Sears this season. But when he was needed, Bukich responded with all the gusto of a Frank Merriwell to give the Pacific Coast Conference its first victory over a Big Ten rival since the bowl series between the two groups started in 1947.

Sears Almost Tied

The Badgers, in the final 25 seconds of the game, came within one step of tying the contest as their ailing star halfback Hariand Carl, caught but dropped a pass from Jim Haluska in the end zone. Defensive halfback Harry Welch, riding out with Carl, went for the ball and knocked it from the receiver's hands as both fell out of the end zone.

The 101,500 fans who jammed the Rose Bowl were treated with similar thrills time after time as the Badgers and the Trojans moved into scoring territory only to be halted.

Quarterback Jim Haluska's performance was only slightly less spectacular than Bukich's as he completed 11 passes out of 28 attempted for 142 yards. Only the defensive brilliance of the Trojans kept some of those passes from resulting in touchdowns.

As Williamson put it, "The Trojans are a good defensive ball club while our pass defense was not the best in the nation. We played up to our ability but when we got down in their territory they really got tough."

Tex. Southern Wins Prairie View Bowl

HOUSTON, Jan. 2 — UP—Quarterback Audrey Ford got most of the credit Friday for Texas Southern's 13 to 12 victory over Prairie View A&M College in the annual Prairie View Bowl game Thursday.

Ford's passing set up two Texas Southern touchdowns in the first 11 minutes. He completed the first pass to L. Roach and the next to Fred Jackson.

MIAMI, Jan. 2 — UP—Coach Red Drew said Friday he plans to build a passing attack at Alabama next season, but a bewildered Syracuse team and tired Orange Bowl officials, still re-writing their records, figured there is no room for improvement in the Crimson Tide attack.

"I think we can develop a passing game next year," said the smiling redhead after his Alabama team-topped Syracuse, 61 to 6, in the Orange Bowl for the most lopsided victory in bowl history. "We didn't pass much this season because we didn't have anyone to throw the ball."

The Syracuse secondary, after watching three touchdowns tossed all by could take issue with Drew. Especially by producing the statistics, which show that Alabama traveled 300 yards through the air.

But Syracuse's battered linemen figured that nearly all the action took place on the ground and would prefer that Alabama switch to an overhead approach. With fullback Tommy Lewis, who plugged for two touchdowns, leading the way, the Tide rolled for 258 yards.

Both through the air and on the ground Alabama kept the scorekeepers busy, setting a dozen new Orange Bowl records while racking up nine touchdowns.

The Tide also set two national bowl records by taking the most lopsided victory in history and springing safetyman Cecil Ingram loose for an 80-yard touchdown run on a punt return.

Alabama end Joe Curtis broke the Orange Bowl record by catching eight passes and Bobby Sims broke the local scoring record by accounting for two touchdowns and seven extra points.

Cotton Bowl Longhorns Rip Through Good Tennessee Defense; Win 16-0

DALLAS, Jan. 2 — UP—Tennessee's reputation as the greatest defensive team in the land lay shattered on the brown and seuffed turf of the Cotton Bowl Friday.

A steamrolling University of Texas team ground Tennessee's reputation into the ground with a 16 to 0 victory in the 17th annual Cotton Bowl game.

Good Texas Offense, Defense

The Texas offense was superb as the Southwest Conference champions neatly averaged a post-victory Cotton Bowl defeat at the hands of a Nevada-coached Tennessee team. It was the slashing defensive play of the Texas line that shamed and knocked out the Tennessee line.

Errors Turned Into Points

Each change on the scoreboard in Texas' favor originated with a Tennessee error. Reserve quarterback Texas lineman kept the Tennessee attack wheeling in back Dave Griffith dropped the ball trying to punt from behind his end zone early in the game and was smothered for two points.

Ray Eyrd, who was a dismal failure trying to fill injured Andy Kozar's shoes at fullback, fumbled deep in his own territory late in the opening period and a Texas lineman recovered to set up a 22-yard scoring drive.

Then, midway in the final quarter, Pat Oleksiak kicked on after a fumble had interrupted a Texas drive and the alert Longhorns pounced on it and resumed their go-ahead march.

Ochoa, voted the game's outstanding back, led the Texas parade with 108 of Texas' 269 yards, while guard H. Riley Sewell earned the sports writers' plaudits for outstanding lineman with his terrific play on both offense and defense.

Neyland, in a post-mortem in the dressing room, described Texas as "one of the best teams I've ever seen" and the squad he may have coached for the last time echoed his sentiments, Neyland, ill with a serious gum infection, returned to Florida Friday to resume treatment and ponder again whether to give up active coaching. He said the final decision is up to his doctors.

Gator Bowl Florida Ekes By Hurricanes, 14-13

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 2 — UP—The fates decreed that the nation's No. 1 place-kicking specialist should miss the most crucial extra point of the year, and that's how Florida beat Tulsa in the Gator Bowl classic.

Tom Miner of Tulsa boasted the most impressive extra-point record in the nation during the regular season when he made good on 42 out of 45 conversion attempts.

But in the final quarter of the classic Thursday before 30,000 fans, and Florida leading by 14 to 13, Miner kicked wide. He had one more chance to turn things around three minutes from the final gun, but his field-goal attempt again was wide.

Fates Were Cruel

Tulsa Coach J. O. (Buddy) Ebersole admitted Friday that the game was lost on a technicality. The time to turn on Miner and his mates. But he hastened to hail the conquering Floridians as the best team his Golden Hurricanes had met. And their defense, he said, was the best his nation's No. 1 rushing team had faced.

"We expected them to pass more," Ebersole said, "we were lousy for passes. That cost us a lot of rushing yardage."

Florida led, 14 to 0, at the half. Tulsa came back with a second-half rush that netted seven points in the third quarter and six in the fourth. Ebersole said the second half was "one of the finest we played all year."

And he had a secret. He had set up no less than nine defenses to stop Florida. After the Gators romped all over his boys in the first half, Ebersole told his squad to forget six of the defense schemes. The idea worked. Florida was ineffective throughout the last two quarters.

Sugar Bowl Ramblin' Wrecks Wreck Ole Miss.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2 — UP—Bobby Dodd, as pleased as a boy with a new toy, said Friday he thought the two goal line stands by his great Georgia Tech defense team were the keys in Tech's brilliant 24 to 7 victory over Mississippi in the 19th annual Sugar Bowl football classic.

"I think those stands were the real turning points in the game," said the more than pleased Dodd. "That was a blow that really hurt Mississippi's great team, and it showed our boys that they still had the defensive stuff to do it."

Coach Johnny Vaught of the beaten, but still defiant Rebels agreed but he said he thought his players got the ball into paydirt on the first one.

Players Thought Ball Over

"My boys thought they had the ball over and they were down there," he said. "The officials pushed it back two inches. It was on fourth down and Tech took over. Another score at that point would have meant a different ball game."

Churning Billy Teas, Tech's rambling halfback, fumbled on his 20 yard line. Quarterback Jimmy Lear, powered the Rebels to the five and a first down. But, the Yellow Jackets' brilliant defensive team, headed by All-American tackle Hal Miller, tackle Bill Thaden and George Morris, buckled down and, officials claimed, halted the Mississippi drive inches short of a score. The Rebel players protested vigorously.

The other bruising stand came after Tech had tied the score at 7-7 in the second period. The Rebel drive was stopped on the Georgia Tech three-yard line.

Hardeman Sparks Offense

Although it was the great Tech defense team, rated second best in the nation, that saved the day, it was Leon Hardeman, stubby half-back who hugs the ground when he's running, who was the spark-plug in the Tech offense.

The 168-pound, five-foot-seven Hardeman, who has an ankle separation that won't heal, drew the admiration of the Sugar Bowl's 32,000 fans by his never-give-up spirit.

The little speeder set up one touchdown in the second period, scored the decisive one in the third and kept the Mississippi defense in a dither before his leg finally gave away in the fourth period. In all he picked up 77 yards to lead ground-pushers.

For his afternoon's work Hardeman was voted the most valuable player's award decided by votes of sports writers covering the game. Both teams will receive some $140,000 for the day's work.

Odessa To Host PHS Saturday Night

ODESSA — The Hustling Harvester cagers arrived here late Thursday on the first leg of their journey to Midland where tonight they meet the Midland Bulldogs in the District 1-AAAA opener for both teams.

The Harvesters took their final workout in the Odessa gym upon arrival and then bedded down here for the night before proceeding on to Midland. They will return to Odessa Friday night after the Midland game. The Harvesters then will meet the Odessa Broncs here Saturday night in another 4-A tilt.

All other teams of District 1-AAAA will swing into action tonight. The feature tilt will be the Lubbock-Abilene tilt at Abilene. Both teams are rated among the favorites for the crown and a lot of bearing rests on the outcome of the game.

The other two games on tonight, Borger at Odessa and Amarillo at San Angelo, are also crucial contests.

All eight teams will again see action Saturday night. P. M. P. comes back to Odessa to meet the Broncs. Amarillo goes to Abilene, Lubbock takes on San Angelo at San Angelo and Borger inlets Midland at Midland.

The Harvesters will likely go with the same starting five that has been starting recent games, Jimmy Bond, Fred Woods, Buddy Cockrell, Jon Oden and Bill Webb.

COP Crushes Southerners

EL PASO, Jan. 2 — UP—College of the Pacific, sparked by the running of halfback Tom McCormick, took a 26 to 7 victory from an offensively-crippled Mississippi Southern here Thursday in the annual Sun Bowl football classic.

The MSC offense was slowed by costly fumbles and a leg injury suffered by its star ground-gainer, fullback Bucky McElroy, in a work-out Tuesday. He carried the ball three times in the third period, gaining 20 yards, then left the game limping badly.

However, the running of halfback McCormick and the slashing defensive line play of College of the Pacific was the real difference. MSC lost four of five fumbles committed by its hard-pressed line carriers. And McCormick whipped through Mississippi Southern's hard-pressed defenses for three touchdowns.

College of Pacific's quarterback, Ray Ottosen, also contributed to the victory before a small crowd of 15,000 spectators at Sun Bowl. He completed 10 out of 17 passes, accounting for one touchdown, and definitely shared the spotlight with McCormick in the 18th annual playing of the grid classic.

Mississippi Southern's only touchdown was scored from the two-yard line with only 15 seconds remaining in the game by halfback Hugh Pepper.

Tangerine Bowl E-Texas Clips Tech, 33-0

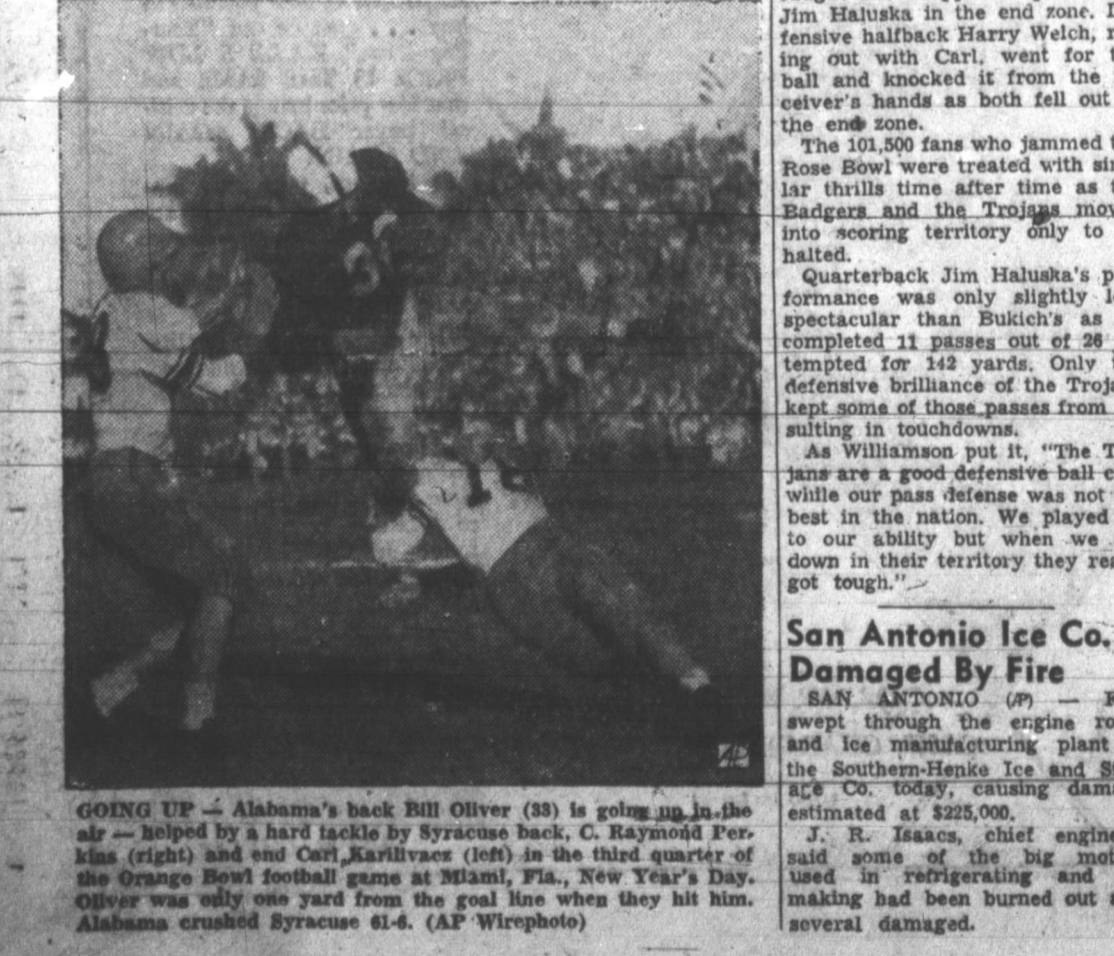

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 2 — UP—The East Texas State Lions, led by quarterback James Gray and halfback Marvin Brown, plowed through Tennessee Tech's defense with the power of a bulldozer Thursday to score a 33 to 0 victory in the Tangerine Bowl.

Brown, a speedy 150-pounder, started the scoring when he broke outside of right end and raced 24 yards into the Tennessee end zone. Minutes later Gray shot a scoring pass to end Tony McCormack for 38 yards out.

The two defenses slugged it out for the next two periods, but the Tennessee defense crumbled in the last quarter.

Minutes later East Texas State safetyman Glenn Johnson intercepted a Tennessee pass and ran 75 yards for a score. The last touchdown was made in the last minute when halfback Lucky Parks crashed nine yards into the end zone.

Federal Interference

In a recent speech, Gov. Len Jordan of Idaho declared himself solidly against the whole concept of federal valley authorities. He said, "The basic issue involved in determining whether we need federal power authorities is not one of public versus private power... It is basically the issue whether the individual states, as we know them, shall be superseded or even ignored and an over-riding super-state created over them; and whether Congress shall hand over to a federal agency a large measure of the power to legislate and appropriate which is now vested in it." In place of authorities, he advocated interstate compacts or agreements, with tax-paying electric utilities given first opportunity to develop river basin projects under plans worked out by the states involved.

Gov. Jordan is in an exceptionally good position to see what the federal planners will do if they have their way. In Idaho an investor-owned utility wants to develop, with private funds, needed power on the Snake River—a project which would create large new taxable assets for all units of government. It has been blocked by those who want the federal government to do the job with a series of tremendously costly dams. The taxpayer would pay the bill, and the government system would be tax-free.

The same thing is happening in New York, where a group of utilities want to build $350,000,000 worth of facilities for producing more power from the Niagara River, and in Virginia, California, and elsewhere. The details vary somewhat, but the pattern is always the same. Socialism comes first—and the public interest runs a bad second.

In his talk Gov. Jordan also roundly criticized other practices of the federal government, including controlling the economy of whole areas such as the Northwest and thus creating power shortages; squeezing out private power through the preference clause and other means; depriving states and local government of taxes that would be paid by private power, and moving toward socialism. These are all part of the same pattern—the pattern which, if completed, will destroy freedom and opportunity in the United States exactly as it has destroyed them elsewhere.

Spoils For GOP

The New York Times reports that these advisers "were said authoritatively to be preparing one of the most generous patronage policies in history to repay the Eisenhower Democratic leaders in the South."

The obvious purpose behind such a generous and open viewpoint is to bring into the Republican camp, particularly in the Senate, sufficient majority that both domestic and foreign policies will carry over the Democrat minority. This will have the effect of showing to the Democrats who couldn't stomach Trumanism any longer that they will not suffer unnecessarily for the switch of their political support to Eisenhower.

One of the plans cooked up by the Republicans is the creation of a system of committee vice-chairmen so that top-ranking Democrats who aided Eisenhower will be given a special standing on these committees which of course will have Republicans as chairmen. This is a brand new wrinkle in the political whirl in Washington but the bolt of so many leading Democrats was something new, too, and calls for some sort of new wrinkle so they may be rewarded.

Not since the days of Andrew Jackson, who blithely said "to the victor goes the spoils," has there been such a frank position taken by a political party. The Republicans apparently are ready to throw out any pretense of selecting the proper person for the various political plums that are to be passed out and the jobs will be to the "deserving" only.

Speaking of political plums, a Washington reporter dug up a beauty the other day. It is the commissioner in charge of maintaining the border between the United States and Canada. You may not have known that there is such a job but a Buffalo, N. Y., resident has the job now which pays him $11,800 a year—and he has at least two assistants at $8,000 and $7,000 a year to help him see to it that nobody steals any of the border!

We would like to suggest to the incoming Congress that the tax-payers be saved $26,800 a year. The way to do it is bouce out three Democrat bureaucrats and not replace them with Republican bureaucrats.

New York Crime

The revelation of racketeering on the New York waterfront which costs shippers—and the public—an estimated $350 million a year, does not come as a great surprise. This evil condition has long been known to exist.

Only now it is becoming more or less official with the New York Crime Commission dipping into the facts. But the facts when revealed in detail are nevertheless shocking.

For instance, it has been admitted that known criminals are hired as bosses on the waterfront. Also, there is so much pilferage that it runs into the tens of millions every year. One act of pilferage, for example, involved the disappearance of 10 tons of steel.

Pay kickbacks by longshoremen to their bosses and gratuities to labor officials by stevedoring companies also run into the millions annually. The crime investigations may bring about some reforms on the New York waterfront. They're long overdue.

General Information Folder On PTA Makes Folas Statements

It is very difficult to get the complete cooperation and understanding and program of the national and state PTAs. They all want to hand out what they think the public will swallow. They expect people to join this organization before they understand what the PTA is attempting to do and the methods it proposes to bring about its objective.

Here is a statement made in the General Information folder on the National Congress of Parents and Teachers that doesn't stand up under investigation:

"The parent-teacher association is the voice of the people, speaking for the children and the improvement for action in behalf of all children; it is democracy at work—making a place for all citizens regardless of color, race, religious belief, political preference, or economic and social status."

How can an organization claim to be speaking for all children and to be an implement for action for all children when every Christian and Jewish religious organization that stands for the ethics of the Golden Rule and the Commandments doesn't consent to having the PTA speak for them? It seems that it would take a lot of nerve for an organization to make such a statement.

The same pamphlet also says: "Each local unit (of the PTA) is a self-governing group, that plans its programs and activities to meet the needs of children and youth in the community, thus promoting the fundamental purposes of the Congress." But in the by-laws in the state yearbook, this statement is made: "The Congress, its districts, council, and local units shall not seek to direct the administrative activities of the schools nor to control their policies." Yet the pamphlet they send out to get dollars to promote their propaganda contends that the local units are self-governing. They might be self-governing as far as where they meet and how they meet, but any unit that cannot discuss both sides of a question is certainly not self-governing.

It is hard to conceive what moral code of ethics the home of the national PTA use to permit them to do so distort facts.

The same pamphlet says: "We will continue to interpret the philosophy and progress of education to the public in order to protect our schools from unjustified attacks."

That undoubtedly means that anyone who believes in individual liberty and the right to derive their just power from the consent of the individual and thus opposes mob rule education is unjustly attacking what is called public education.

The same pamphlet also says: "We will strive to impress upon the community the need to acknowledge and accept responsibility for its spiritual climate."

They never once say what they use as a norm or standard or as a guide or principle to determine whether or not a climate is spiritual or not spiritual. They certainly do not use the Golden Rule as their guide. Would any of the officers of a national PTA be in agreement with the state PTAs content for obtaining the Gold Rule to grab the children of parents who wanted to educate their own children, and educate them in a different way than what the parents approved and at the same time compel the parents to help pay for an education that they thought was immoral?

The same pamphlet says: "The greatest barrier to satisfactory citizenship lies in making democracy work."

The whole literature of the PTA is constantly talking about democracy. They never define their terms. They do not seem to realize that the United States government is a republic and a democracy. It is a republic and the word republic means that there are things that belong to the consent of the things that do not belong to the public. But democracy means that there is no limit to what the state can do. That is evidently what the PTA officers believe when they endeavor to grab education.

This folder does have the courtesy and courage to let the public know that the PTA endorses the United Nations. They undoubtedly have to do that because they cannot endorse it in the schools without letting the public know. Listen to this:

"As the best basis for international cooperation, we will support the United Nations."

The national and state officers of the PTA evidently believe that can serve two masters. How can anyone successfully serve the United States government and the Declaration of Independence and at the same time try to serve another government that takes away from the United States its form of government that derives its just power from the consent of the governed? The United Nations will derive its just power from might, by the sword. It is the very antithesis of the American way of life and yet the PTA that professes to be able and wise enough to educate the youth of the land is advocating substituting the United Nations for the United States!

It is time that the local members of the PTA realize that their membership and their contributions are impeding the American way of life and making it more difficult for the youth of the land to understand the ethics of the Jewish and Christian religions.

National Whirligig... Strong Action By Washington Would Clean Up Nation's Ports

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The shocking racketeering conditions along the nation's waterfront, which involve bribery of public officials, graft payments to union leaders, criminally inspired strikes and murders, could be eradicated long ago by federal prosecution, if strong action by Washington had not been deemed politically inadvisable and dangerous.

Every attorney general for the last twenty years has been urged to undertake an investigation of the tieup among gangsters, politicians, longshoremen union bosses and the steamship companies.

It was suggested that the Kefauver Committee turn its inquiry in this direction, when it questioned Mayor Ambassador O'Dwyer about his failure to break up Murder, Inc. and its waterfront allies, the Anastasia Brothers.

IN FAIRNESS — Largely for political reasons, the Department of Justice preferred to look the other way. In fairness to the Kefauver Committee, it should be noted that its funds and its term of authority were running out when it stumbled on this situation.

Interestingly enough Rudolph Halley, chief Kefauver counsel and now president of the New York City Council, has proposed numerous reforms of a local nature to break the criminals' and the politicians' domination of the docks.

Fair Enough... Unions Merely Job Monopolies In Hands Of Unprincipled Men

By WESTBROOK FOGLE (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

In principle, a "labor" union is simply a club or society of individuals who act in concert to obtain financial benefits for themselves. It has no more virtue than any other club organized for selfish purposes. The title of "labor," loosely connoting an uncertain nobility, actually means nothing. Most of us labor most of our lives. The great majority of us never joined a "labor" union and thus are the intended victims of the acknowledged greed of the unioning. All the rest of us who labor are at least as noble in this respect as those "laborers" who join unions.

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

Anyone expecting a major glimpse of Broadway, Manhattan, the breathing Drama, or who is sniffing upon this fine pleasant day might just as well go back to his whittling and forget what is here, because I have no bright messages from the Boulevard of Broken Dreams or even one close-up of any lady remotely connected with the theater. This is going to be about adolescents, the school system and the French language.

An increasing number of teenage high schoolers have been appearing by lately once again to demonstrate that young people think above and beyond what rigidly hidebound teachers think they think. The present nonsense and furore has to do with rebellion against the stale archaic and inhibiting method of teaching foreign languages in public high schools and for all I know private schools. The young people are so-called rebels. They tell me that the old-fashioned Latin school teacher is still in vogue and that an unconscionable attention to irregular verbs is still the fashion. They hate it; they are chilled in their enthusiasms for learning other languages and they have painfully and slowly to slog through weeks and months of getting that dreadful red pencil moved from the table of the desk to the chair in the garden of their desks. Don't blame them for issuing steam from their ears.

During World War II, if teachers don't know it, the government rigged up a way of teaching a working knowledge of French, Arabic, Fijian, Spanish, German and I suppose, Melanesian in about six weeks. Japanese and Chinese took a little longer, but not too much. This was accomplished by bringing in platoons of Frenchmen who knew both French and English inside out and who poured it on the students day after day without regard to the nature of irregular verbs or infinitives.

At the end of six weeks students in the armed forces were not grammar-perfect, but neither after all these years—is Charles Emsley grammar-perfect in English, strange as that may seem. And the students could converse well enough to get along with ease in France with the French. The grammar was almost instinctive after the right week and they spoke their French easily and without any horrifying pauses. We don't expect visiting Frenchmen to be perfect in English and they don't expect us to be flawless in their language either as to syntax or accent. The men and women loaded at these centers of commerce. A great part of this additional cost is borne by the United States government, for it is imposed on shipments of food, weapons and other supplies to our armed forces overseas and to our NATO allies.

Not even the Barbary pirates in the Mediterranean, a gallant whom the young nation waged its first foreign war, took such a toll from the American people in the early years of the 19th century.

ANTI-GANGSTER WEAPON — The anti-gangster weapon, always available in the federal armory for attacking the criminal army — and which President-elect Eisenhower may use — is the "interstate commerce" clause of the Constitution. It has been utilized against far less menacing crooks than the waterfront thieves, murderers and corruptors.

When the white-slave trade became threatening many years ago, transporting a woman across state lines for immoral purposes was made a federal offense. After the Lindbergh kidnapping it was invoked so that federal detectives could enter such cases.

It was subsequently directed against thefts of automobiles that became an important part of the nation's criminal machinery. As a result of the Kefauver investigation, Congress enacted a law against interstate transportation of slot machines. Obviously, only a small portion of our multibillion dollar commerce is used or consumed within the borders of the states where it enters. It crosses every state line as it enters into the national business and industry and economic system. Similarly, exports have been transported across state lines en route to embarkation points.

Join Women's Club And See The World In This Day Of International Women

By DOROTHY ROE
Women's Editor

As a timely start for 1953, let us consider the international women, a species peculiar to our times.

She may be career girl or club-woman or one of the seldom-idle rich, but whether for business or pleasure, she commutes a woman's world's cities as casually as her grandmother used to hitch up the survey to drive into town.

She's at home in any country, poised, suave and impeccably groomed. Her nomadic life has developed a new kind of wardrobe, which can be packed into one bag weighing not more than 45 pounds and sufficient to see her through any occasion in any country from a formal ball in London to a hike through the Alps in Switzerland, a day on the beach at the Riviera or luncheon in Rome.

Some typical examples of this new brand of world traveler are now on their way by plane for a global tour, led by Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren of Whiting, Ind., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, accompanying Mrs. Ahlgren are 14 clubwomen. Their first stop will be Honolulu.

The globe-trotting girls will be guests of Hawaiian women's clubs affiliated with the federation. Next they will fly to Tokyo, to greet the Tokyo American Round Table, a club made up of Japanese women desirous of affiliating with the federation.

They will drop in at Manila, Hong Kong, Bangkok, Calcutta, New Delhi, Bombay and Cairo.

What today's women are doing would have seemed impossible even a few years ago. International affiliations of women's clubs make world travel almost a requirement for national officers.

An increasing number of today's jobs send bright girls cloud-hopping around the globe. Buyers in many of the nation's big department stores take semannual trips to Paris, Italy and London as a matter of course. The girls who work for the airlines either as stewardesses or in executive jobs have the world as their apple.

There is no place in the highest heavens above nor in the deepest waters below where the moral law does not reign.

It is believed that the cultivation of rye started comparatively late in comparison with some other cereals, possibly in the bronze age.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Right desire guides and protects mankind today as unerringly as it led the children of Israel through the Red Sea. This is a leading point in the Lesson-Sermon titled "God the Preserver of Man" to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 14. The Golden Text is from Psalms: "O my God, I trust in thee... Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee. Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles!" (25:2,21,22).

The following verses will be read from the Bible: "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love" (1 John 4:8, 18).

Applying these truths to daily activity, the following statement will be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give opinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action. Love is priest-ess at the altar of Truth. Wait patiently for divine Love to move upon the waters of mortal mind, and form the perfect concept" (p. 454).

MORALS

Reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principles. Washington

Men are not made religious by performing certain actions which are externally good, but they must first have righteous principles and then they will not fail to perform virtuous actions. Luther

The highest possible sage in moral culture is when we recognize that we ought to control our thoughts. Darwin

RUTH MILLETT

Several couples, all in their late thirties or early forties, were having a serious and somewhat depressing discussion.

All agreed that they were "on a treadmill," working hard and seemingly getting nowhere.

By the time the discussion ended, they were all feeling pretty sorry for themselves.

Yet none of them should have been considered a failure. They hadn't failed at marriage. They all had children, and all were making good homes for their children. The men were all well on the way up the success ladder. The women all had comfortable and convenient homes.

It was difficult to understand why they weren't all giving thanks for what they had instead of feeling sorry for themselves for working so hard and getting "nowhere."

What is wrong with so many middle-aged couples today? Where do they want to go—and what do they want to get—that they so often have the feeling of "getting nowhere"?

After all, what are the middle years for if not for hard work, responsibility toward children and aging parents, enjoyment of family living, and building toward a peaceful and secure old age?

Why should any middle-aged couple expect that they should be as carefree as in the early days of their marriage, or that they should have the kind of peace and contentment that comes with happy old age?

The middle years are years of striving and struggle and responsibility. They have always been so, and always will be so.

Yet that doesn't mean they can't be happy years. Working and achieving is a satisfying way of life to those who aren't too taken up with feeling sorry for themselves for having to work so hard.

The treadmill so many middle-aged couples feel they are on is only in their minds. They're getting some place, but they are so absorbed in feeling sorry for themselves they don't notice that they are really making headway.

All moral obligation resolves itself into the obligation of conformity to the will of Charles Hodge.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

"Why do you punish your child?" demands a reader who does not sign his letter. "Why don't you come right out for spanking as the only way to control children? Don't you know the statistics on juvenile delinquency? Can't you connect up these phony child psychology theories with the moral breakdown in the American home? Can't you..."

What is this new yearning to beat up the children, anyway? My correspondent seems to be an unusually violent crusader for the return of the whip. But a good many of us appear to agree with him in principle. We have only to read the letters that are published quite regularly in our newspapers.

Are their writers trying to promote the idea that we haven't lived, if we haven't spanked? That all we have to do is give Jimmy a good hiding—and all our troubles will melt like lemon drops?

If so, I wish to suggest that if we have spanked out a child's trust and respect for us, we are not intense, not excited, but rather quiet people. We are filled with humility and gratitude to God. We do not call the world's attention to our triumph, but hold it as a dear, private and most personal blessing.

So I hope I may be forgiven if I suspect that our present spanking crusaders are not a confident and sure of their position as they would have us believe.

If we really believe that Jimmy needs a spanking, let's spank—and get it over with. Then we can discover the score for ourselves and be done with wondering if the psychologists are right or the crusaders are. Because we're wasting precious time dreaming about whipping the immemorial answer to all problems posed by one of the most demanding human relationships going. We're yearning after a fantasy.

Spanking is occasionally useful when children are young. It can prove that we have the humility to speak to Jimmy in his own primitive action language. It can demonstrate that we're not scared of physical clincs. But the idea that the whip is our Father Godmother's wand given to relieve us of the work of justifying our moral leadership is one for the shirkers or autocrats.

If we have spanked to demonstrate that we are capable of reverting to Jimmy's primitive language, we have made a point that does not require perpetual repetition. We do not become crusaders for the whip.

What's it all about? Perhaps the terror of a future we can't control possesses many of us. Maybe this has something to do with the new yearning to beat up the children. If we can't spank the Politburo, there's always Jimmy.

School examinations are on-sited; it is not so much academic education, as a moral and spiritual culture, which lifts one higher.

Mary Baker Eddy
