'Phantom Financier' Plans To Come Out Of Bahamas Seclusion

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A guttural, relaxed-sounding voice on the telephone, identified by Howard Hughes' spokesmen as that of the billionaire industrialist emerging from long seclusion, said his purported forthcoming autobiography is a fraud. "Patently false" and "a totally fantastic fiction" were other terms he used to describe the book in the long-distance conference with seven reporters gathered about a table in a Los Angeles hotel banquet room. But the publishers, McGraw-Hill Book Co. and Life magazine, repeated Sunday their belief they have "the authentic biography."

All the newsmen agreed as the conference ended that it was Hughes' voice. In Somerville, N.J., Lawrence Kersta, head of Voiceprint Laboratories and inventor of a system that permits voice identification so accurate it is admissible in court, compared tapes of the conversation with tapes of Hughes' voice made nearly 25 years ago. Kersta concluded: "It is my opinion that it is indeed the voice of Howard Hughes." Filmed Friday, the two-hour, 40-minute session was broadcast in part Sunday by radio stations and the NBC, CBS and ABC television networks. NBC, which filmed it, made films and sound tapes available to the other outlets. In a voice that was a little raspy, pausing at times, the 66-year-old "phantom financier," whose fortune is estimated at $2 billion, said also: —He plans to become less of a recluse, to resume flying and return eventually from the Bahamas to Las Vegas, Nev. —He definitely expects to have a face-to-face interview with newsmen, intends to have photographs taken for public distribution and wants to resume movie production. —His health is "tolerable," but he is not happy or content and is hounded by lawsuits and "overhanging threats" such as the alleged autobiography. The news conference, said by Hughes' spokesmen to be his first in more than 15 years, provided the latest development in a dispute over the authenticity of the 230,000-word book which McGraw-Hill is scheduled to publish March 27. Life magazine plans to serialize three 10,000-word installments before then. When McGraw-Hill announced in December it had acquired rights to the manuscript, a Hughes Tool Co. spokesman denied within hours that such a book exists. Hughes said he was in Nassau in his top-floor quarters at the Britannia Beach Hotel. Asked about Clifford Irving, listed as his collaborator on the autobiography, he said: "I don't know him. I never saw him. I have never even heard of him until a matter of days ago when this thing first came to my attention." A reporter remarked that McGraw-Hill and Life have said they satisfied themselves of the autobiography's authenticity. "Well, I just don't see how it's possible," said Hughes. "I don't see how in the world statements of that kind could be made by people who at least have the resources to investigate and find the truth." In a joint statement Sunday, Life and McGraw-Hill detailed for the first time some of their evidence that the book is authentic. They said they have a 10-page handwritten letter from Hughes and endorsed checks representing payment to him. Experts have authenticated the writing, they said.

Two U.S. B52 Bombers Damaged By Terrorists

BANGKOK (AP) — Terrorists invaded the base in Thailand for B52 operations in the Indochina war early today and slightly damaged two of the big American bombers, the Thai government announced. Informed sources in Saigon said there was no curtailment of B52 raids on North Vietnamese positions and supply routes in Laos and Cambodia as a result of the attack. "B52 operations are normal today," said the U.S. Command.

U.S. officials in Bangkok and Saigon refused to discuss the attack. But the Thai government said at least three terrorists slipped into the huge Thai American base at Utapao, on the Gulf of Thailand 90 miles southeast of Bangkok, and put explosive charges under some of the parked bombers. The announcement said Thai guards killed one of the attackers.

There was no mention of casualties among American or Thai personnel. More than 6,000 Americans are stationed at the big base, which is home for about 45 of the eight-jet, $8 million stratofortresses.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon government was investigating the grenade attack that caused more than 100 casualties Saturday night at a government rally in the soccer stadium in Qui Nhon, 275 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. officials said they had reports of nine Vietnamese killed and 111 wounded, but some Vietnamese authorities put the count at 12 killed and 115 wounded. Among the wounded were several government officials, including Col Nguyen Van Chu, the new appointed chief of Binh Dinh province and mayor of Qui Nhon. Authorities in Qui Nhon blamed the attack on the Viet Cong underground, but some officials in Saigon said it may have been a local political plot by rivals of Chu.

The U.S. Command reported its third so-called protective reaction air strike into North Vietnam this year. It said an Air Force F105 escorting a bombing mission over the Ho Chi Minh trail fired a missile at a radar site nine miles inside North Vietnam after detecting that the radar was tracking the flight. There was no report of what the missile hit. The Command also announced that 3,000 more American troops left Vietnam last week, reducing U.S. strength to 154,000 men. The present target is 139,000 by Feb. 1.

On the outskirts of Saigon, more than a dozen Viet Cong bombed a government administrative office and wounded seven militiamen with gunfire after slipping past booby trap defenses early today.

Proud Liner Dead

HONG KONG (AP) — The once-proud passenger liner Queen Elizabeth, transformed into an 83,000-ton incinerator by 24 hours of fires and explosions, capsized today in Hong Kong harbor halfway around the world from the Atlantic seafarers she once ruled. "She rolled over and died," said a Marine Department spokesman at the outlying Tsing Yi island anchorage where the 1,031-foot former pride of the Cunard Line was being converted for use as a combination cruise ship and floating university for Chapman College of Orange, Calif.

The Seawise University as the ship had been renamed was lying on her side, her one remaining funnel just above the water line. The other funnel collapsed earlier in the fire. Firefighting officials said they believed no one died in the fire. Between 800 and 900 workmen were believed aboard the ship when fire broke out Sunday, but most of them got off by the normal exits. About 200 others jumped into the harbor or clambered down ropes and anchor chains. Nine Chinese workmen were hospitalized for injuries and scores more were given first aid.

The cause of the fire was not known, but the ship's last British master, Commodore Geoffrey Marr, said at his home in England: "I do not believe this fire could have started accidentally. The flames spread too quickly for that. It must be sabotage. I cannot understand how it could have spread so quickly unless it started in two or three places simultaneously." One officer of the Hong Kong fire service also commented that the spread of the fire through the ship's 11 decks was "surprisingly, phenomenally fast."

Investigating authorities said they had not ruled out the possibility of arson.

Pat Nixon Returns Home From Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Giving his wife a ceremonial, band-playing welcome home as "madame Ambassador," President Nixon said she did a better job in Africa as his personal representative than he would have done.

Hailed as a success by Nixon, the first lady's trip to Liberia, Ghana and the Ivory Coast led Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to predict an election-year future of further diplomacy for her. "We hope that this may be the beginning of other and more fruitful enterprises that you may undertake," Agnew said.

A big homecoming crowd of more than 1,000, including many school children, turned out on a rainy Sunday night in a jet-size hangar at nearby Andrews Air Force Base. The Nixons' two daughters and sons-in-laws and the President's Cabinet family were there for the combined welcome-home for Mrs. Nixon and birthday greetings for the President, who was 59 Sunday. Hand-lettered signs in the crowd carried such sentiments as "We love you," "Happy birthday,"

Public School Expenses To Reach All-Time High

THEY'RE HERE!—Cast members of the "Up With People" musical group, to appear at 7:30 p.m. today and Tuesday in Pampa High School auditorium, were welcomed Sunday night by PHS students and their parents, who will house the group during their stay in Pampa. Shown above are, left to right, Karen Cary, David Carruth, Rick King and Sue Wright, PHS students; Mrs. Mary Wright, 225 Henry, a "guest parent"; and Sady Forsman of Connecticut and Jennifer Hensley of Oregon, both cast members. Surgeon General Asks Effort To Develop Safer Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recognizing that Americans continue to smoke despite the higher risk of cancer, heart attacks and lung diseases, the U.S. surgeon general said today that new efforts must be encouraged to develop safer cigarettes.

HUD Says Check Now On Its Way

The second $150,000 payment on Pampa's $650,000 federal grant for its $1.4 million water treatment plant should be received in the mail Wednesday, according to a promise from Housing and Urban Development officials in Dallas. City Manager Mack Wofford said the promise came in a telephone call from HUD during the weekend.

Wofford said HUD confirmed receipt of Pampa's second request for funds following word that the first requisition forms, although they had been sent, never had been received at HUD's Dallas office. Pampa officials, a bit frustrated in attempts to get the money in order to pay the A. E. Mitchell Co. of Dallas, contractors for the water treatment plant, said HUD told them the $150,000 check should arrive in the Wednesday mail.

Nonsmokers in a smoke-filled room may be exposed to carbon monoxide levels exceeding some local air-pollution limits, the report said, and especially threatening to persons already suffering from chronic bronchopulmonary and coronary diseases. "We must continue to encourage cessation as the only certain way to protect

Modified Wheat Program Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is expected to announce by Wednesday a modified wheat program for paying farmers to take more land from production this year.

both the individual and society from the harmful effects of smoking." Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld said. "We must also, however, work towards reducing the dangers of smoking for those who have not quit by developing less-hazardous cigarettes and encouraging less-hazardous ways of smoking," he added.

HUD Says Check Now On Its Way

The $650,000 federal money, of which $350,000 still is due, is supplementary to $750,000 of bond money approved several years ago by Pampa voters to build the water plant. The Pampa City Commission will be asked tomorrow to grant the contractor additional time to complete the project, just off Kentucky Ave. west of Price Rd.

Work has been delayed because of the weather and material shipments. The treatment plant now is expected to be completed late in March. "Should these efforts fail, however, we would return to our previous recommendations that this should be accompanied through legislative action," he said.

The report noted disagreement among scientists, however, as to whether low-nicotine cigarettes actually would curb smoking diseases. "An alternative point of view held by some is that smoking behavior is a response to the need to reach a certain nicotine level and that lowering the amount of nicotine available from a cigarette may result in an increase in the number of cigarettes smoked, the depth of inhalation or the number of puffs in order to maintain an accustomed level," the report said. "Such an increase in smoking might result in an increased inhalation of other hazardous substances in the smoke."

HUD Says Check Now On Its Way

Sen. Frank Moss immediately announced that his Senate Commerce subcommittee will hold hearings Feb. 13 and 14 to consider legislation setting tar and nicotine limits. Health Secretary Elliot L. Richardson, in a letter accompanying the new smoking report, told Congress his department supports regulatory efforts by the Federal Trade Commission to require health warnings in cigarette advertising along with listings of each brand's tar and nicotine content. Printed health warnings now are required on cigarette packages.

"The presence of such levels indicates that the effect of exposure to carbon monoxide may on occasion, depending upon the length of exposure, be sufficient to be harmful to the health of an exposed person," it said. "This would be particularly significant for people who are already suffering from chronic broncho-pulmonary disease and coronary heart disease."

Federal Help Will Shrink One Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Education Association announced today that average per-pupil expenses public schools will reach an all-time high of $929 in the 1971-72 school year.

At the same time, NEA President Donald E. Morrison predicted that for the fourth straight year the federal share of the $50.1-billion cost of public schools will shrink to its lowest level since 1965.

The figures were given in the NEA Research Division's 30th annual report, "Estimates of School Statistics, 1971-72." Local school districts, the report said, will shoulder the largest share of public school cost—52 per cent. The states' contribution will be 40.9 per cent, and federal help will drop to 7.1 per cent from 7.2 per cent last year and an all-time high of 8.8 per cent in 1967-68.

Morrison said NEA and other major national associations soon will announce details of a new school financing program, which calls for the federal government to put up nearly $30 billion initially.

The proposed program, Morrison said, urges guaranteed basic elementary and secondary education in grades 1 through 12. Most of the funds would be used for this purpose, but some would be used in such special areas as vocational education, remedial and compensatory education, early childhood education, summer school programs, adult education and education for the seriously handicapped.

The statistical report said that for the first time since World War II the school-age population declined by 773,000 to 52,266,000.

Leveling off of enrollments and the economic slowdown probably account for the 7.1-per-cent increase in school expenditures, lowest in a decade, the report said. Teacher salaries, the report said, increased only 4.5 per cent.

The study also showed: —The average annual teacher salary is $9,690, with the Far West highest at $11,067 and the Southeast lowest at $8,113.

—Capital outlay at $4.5 billion, 3.9 per cent greater than last year.

—Total public-school revenue and nonrevenue receipts at $50.1 billion, up 5 per cent.

—The number of school districts declining to 17,218 from a high of 35,676 a decade ago.

Humphrey Announces 3rd Bid For Presidency

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey formally announced his third bid for the presidency today, calling for "reconciliation, rebuilding and rebirth."

In a speech prepared for Philadelphia's Poor Richard Club, a spot favored by wealthy Democrats, the 61-year-old junior senator from Minnesota said his first priority would be to end the war in Indochina. The former vice president, who lost the Democratic presidential nomination to John F. Kennedy in 1960 and the White House race to Richard Nixon in 1968, plans to enter the April 25 Pennsylvania presidential primary.

"Our urgent immediate need," Humphrey said, "is to end the war—and to do it now. It is taking Mr. Nixon longer to withdraw our troops than it took us to defeat Hitler. Had I been elected (in 1968), we would now be out of that war. I repeat that pledge."

Continuing his attack on the Nixon administration, Humphrey said: "Even three years of sustained indifference and error on the part of an administration with limited vision and understanding cannot fundamentally damage the underlying health and vitality of this nation.

"America is not sick! What we lack is leadership and vision.... In his seven-page text, the former vice president pledged support of equal rights for women, promised to help bring the elderly "back into the mainstream of American life" and to give youth "the full opportunity to help strengthen that sense of community without which we cannot rebuild our nation."

Pampa Woman Assaulted By Intruder At Home

A 23-year-old Pampa woman was raped at her home on Varion Drive about 7:30 this morning. Police are hunting a man about 25 years old, approximately 185 pounds and wearing white levis, a red pull-over sweater and a white scarf at the time of the assault. According to the police report, the young wife had taken her husband to work at 6:30 a.m., returned home and went back to bed. Evidently the man had entered the house in her absence. Threatening her with a butcher knife, he joined her on the bed and asked for money. She gave him all she had, $10, from her purse thinking this might get rid of him. However, the intruder sexually assaulted her before fleeing. The victim described her assailant, according to the police record, as stockily built, rather than fat. He had the white scarf pulled over the lower half of his face while in the house. Police are working on a number of leads as well as taking the measures such as surveillance of movement out of the area.

Ben Barnes Discloses Gross Income Sources

HOUSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who earns $400 a month from the state and spends almost all his time on politics reported a gross income in 1970 of $57,536. The Houston Chronicle said Sunday in a copyrighted story from its Austin bureau.

Most of the money, Barnes, executive assistant Robert Spellings said, came from the lieutenant governor's association with Brownwood contractor Herman Bennett.

The Chronicle said it asked Barnes 11 questions about his finances. Barnes, a Democratic candidate for governor, has been associated with the Brownwood contractor since 1961, during years when he was first a member of the Texas House, then speaker of the House and as lieutenant governor.

Last year, Barnes endorsed full financial disclosure for politicians and voluntarily filed a statement with the secretary of state showing a net worth of $83,621 as of May 21, 1971.

The financial statement listed assets of $267,000 and liabilities of $184,000 but did not give a breakdown of income from his various business interests and investments.

Barnes told the Chronicle his income came from his state salary of $400 a month as lieutenant governor, salary received while acting as governor on days Gov. Preston Smith was out of the state, his partnership with Bennett, farming and ranching operations with his father and real estate transactions.

Barnes said he would have to refer any questions about the Herman Bennett company's business to Bennett because this is a private matter for Bennett. Bennett has said that what he does for Barnes is between him and Barnes and "even he (Barnes) doesn't know all about it."

"I do not have a formal trustee arrangement for my business interests, but for the past several years Herman Bennett has handled the bulk of my business affairs and will continue to do so for the duration of the campaign. I do not have time to deal with them," Barnes said.

"Herman has consolidated debts (assuming all but about $20,000 of the $150,000 in bank notes which Barnes reported owing last May), may dispose of some of my interest and could possibly acquire others," Barnes said. "The decisions will be his. If I am elected governor, I would expect to continue the same arrangement and doubt that I would devote more than minimal time to any business opportunities or activities in which Herman Bennett or his company is engaged."

Although declining to discuss the details of his investments with Bennett in several Holiday Inns, a $2.5 million shopping center in Brownwood and several other developments, Barnes emphasized that "none of these matters involves state regulation or any possibility of a conflict of interest with my public duties."

"For that matter, there is no conflict of interest in any other business activity in which I have been engaged over the years," Barnes said.

Barnes said his financial situation was "dismal" when he won election to the Texas House of Representatives in 1960 and that the $400 per month salary for House mem-

Ted Shawn Dies Of Heart Ailment

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Ted Shawn, considered by many to be the father of modern dance, is dead at 80.

Suffering from a heart ailment and respiratory disorders, Shawn had entered Florida Hospital on Dec. 23. He died Sunday.

Shawn started dancing in 1911 as therapy following a bout with diphtheria which left him paralyzed while still a 20-year-old divinity student at the University of Denver.

PAT WESTERFIELD

Gruver Native Is Added To Cattle Feeder Group

Amarillo—Lloyd Bergsma, executive vice-president, Texas Cattle Feeders Association, announced that Pat Westerfield has joined the Association staff as director of membership relations.

Bergsma said, "We are pleased to have an individual with the experience and background of Westerfield to work with the membership relations program and other special projects of the Association."

Westerfield will also be directly involved with the Association's research programs and special projects concerned with environmental problems.

Bergsma said: "Westerfield is a native of Gruver and graduated from Gruver High School. He received a B.S. Degree in Animal Husbandry from Texas Tech University in 1959. He was involved with farming and ranching operations in the Gruver area until 1968. Since 1968 he has been associated with Kidder Peabody and Co., Amarillo, as an account executive. Westerfield is 35 and is married to the former Sonja Wiseman of Borger. They have three children—a son, Max and daughters, Tina and Lisa.

Sen. Tower Believes He Can Defeat Demos

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., asserted Sunday he has a "substantial edge" over anybody the Democrats nominate to oppose his re-election. Tower also told the State Republican Executive Committee he fully intends to use any support he can get, including Democrats.

The committee met behind closed doors to discuss campaign strategy and finances Saturday and Sunday and held a two-hour public meeting Sunday.

"I believe I have a comfortable and substantial edge over anybody who runs against me," Tower said.

He said he has been campaigning during Congress' Christmas-New Year's break and plans to "intensify my efforts" because any Democrat starts out "with a substantial base vote."

"A number of wonderful people around the state who do not identify with the Republican Party have indicated their support for me, and I intend to use it," he said.

Barefoot Sanders, former U.S. District Attorney at Dallas, already has entered the Democratic primary for Tower's job. Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough also may announce for it when he reveals his political plans at a news conference Tuesday.

The Texas GOP has thrown most of its efforts—financial and otherwise—into U.S. Senate races over the past four elections, often slighting its gubernatorial candidates.

Dr. George Willeford, party chairman, said gubernatorial candidates won't be short-changed this year as the party seeks to capitalize on the Texas stock scandals in elections for state offices.

He promised a "strong, hard and winning race" for governor.

"If any of you have any doubt, I'll go and get a syringe and write this thing in blood," the Austin pediatrician said, to the committee's applause.

National committee members Peter O'Donnell and Anne Armstrong both said the scandals that hit the Democrat-controlled statehouse boasted GOP chances.

"It is not for me to think that for the 1,490,000 young Texans who are eligible to vote for the first time in 1972, their first view of the government they are about to participate in is one of corruption at the highest level," Mrs. Armstrong said.

The party's vice-chairman, Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin, said the GOP should try to bring young people into its ranks.

"I think you recognize this would broaden our philosophy. I don't think you would want to close the door to people who don't share our conservative philosophy but do share our concern with the way this state has been run," she said.

The committee adopted a resolution urging the Texas Senate not to confirm Gov. Preston Smith's appointment of Bob Bullock as secretary of state. The resolution said Bullock—the state's chief election officer—should be impartial but has "repeatedly and publicly avowed his allegiance and bias" in Smith's favor.

Pair's Christmas Vacation Spoiled By 'Wrong Turn'

McLEAN — Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ellison, both 21, are coming home via Texas Tech campus (to enroll) and a 13-day Christmas vacation on a snow-choked road "somewhere out of Las Vegas."

Parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards and Mr. and Mrs. James Ellison said Gary and Nila apparently are none the worse for their experience other than the loss of 20 and 15 pounds respectively. The couple took a wrong turn on a short-cut between Las Vegas, Nev. and Sequoia National Park and became stranded Christmas Day in their Volkswagen van in the California High Sierras.

After a regimen of potato chips, Collins mix, dominoes, cards and checkers, the pair were rescued when Gary hiked to a Boy Scout camp 18 miles away and returned with men and a Jeep. After a night at the camp the couple resumed their journey homeward.

The youngsters said they had taken candy, cigarettes and pens from Miller-Hood, The Hobby Shop and M. E. Moses stores. They had eaten the candy, smoked the cigarettes and gave the pens to other boys according to the police account.

Police released the boys to their father and reported that the next immediate action in the case was a "bottom-warming."

Two Boys Admit Taking Goods From Local Firms

Two boys, seven and nine years old, involved in a shoplifting incident at an Ideal Food Store, told police and their father that they had taken items from other stores, too.

The youngsters said they had taken candy, cigarettes and pens from Miller-Hood, The Hobby Shop and M. E. Moses stores. They had eaten the candy, smoked the cigarettes and gave the pens to other boys according to the police account.

Police released the boys to their father and reported that the next immediate action in the case was a "bottom-warming."

2 Sets Of Tires Reported Missing

At least two sets of tires, one 15-inch and one 14-inch, were reported missing in the burglary of Utility Tire Co., 447 W. Brown.

According to the police account of the incident, entry was gained by breaking an east window and reaching a lock. The missing tires were stored on a shelf on an east wall.

Police are checking out a number of clues in the case.

$750,000 Worth Of Jewelry Found

DETROIT (AP) — An estimated $750,000 worth of jewelry stolen from the Hotel Pierre in New York on Jan. 2 has been recovered here.

FBI officials said the 17 pieces of jewelry, apparently broken down from 12 originals, consisted of large diamonds, emeralds and rubies.

Authorities said the precious stones were picked up "downstream" on a tip, but they refused to be specific.

No arrests were made in connection with the recovery, they said, but five persons already arrested in New York will be charged with interstate transportation of stolen merchandise, a federal offense.

Stolen jewels valued at $250,000 were recovered earlier in New York. The total haul has been estimated at between $1 million and $4 million.

20 Texans Killed In Traffic And Shooting During Weekend

ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press began its routine tabulation of violent deaths at 6 p.m. Friday and continued the hapless count until midnight Sunday. The tally at midnight Sunday showed 20 persons had died, 11 in traffic while shootings, stabbings and miscellaneous acts killed the others.

Traffic accidents which included the hit and run deaths of two Corpus Christi youths accounted for most of the violent deaths over the weekend in Texas.

Here is how some met death:

Police reported a car struck two youths in a street near the Corpus Christi business district late Saturday night and the driver failed to stop. David Infante Jr., 15, was pronounced dead at the scene and Raymond Ortiz, 15, died about four hours later. Officers arrested a male driver after midnight and held

Free Immunization Clinics To Be Held Thursday, Friday

The Pampa Independent School District will hold another in a series of free immunization clinics from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday in Carver Center, according to Mrs. O.C. Penn, school nurse.

Immunizations will be given against diphtheria, tetanus, polio and measles. Smallpox vaccine is available if desired, but is no longer required, Mrs. Penn explained.

Purpose of these clinics is to assist parents in meeting the new state requirements for immunization of school children.

Parents must accompany their child, Mrs. Penn stated. She will be assisted by members of the Parent-Teacher Association and volunteer nurses.

him without immediate charge.

Police said a knife-wielding attacker killed Wallace Kimble, 40, on a Dallas parking lot Saturday night.

Harry L. Pitts, about 47, was found stabbed to death Saturday night in a street outside a Dallas housing project.

Joe Marino 76, and his wife Sara, 70, apparently suffocated Saturday at their home in Houston. A medical investigator said two gas heaters were burning and the house was filled with intense heat.

A motorist was killed Saturday in Houston when his car hit a signal light pole. Papers in his pocket identified him as James Kohler, 31, and indicated he was from Oregon.

'Up With People' Cast To Sing Here Tonight

17 cities, maintained school studies, and were exposed to a multitude of learning experiences.

Highlights of the tour include a meeting and reception with the Honorable Paul Struyve, the President of the Belgian Senate, and a briefing at the Common Market (EEC), with three of its top officials speaking on the different functions of the organization and answering questions.

In Antwerp the students visited the world famous diamond cutters, and the home of Reubens, the famous artist. Later they visited the private gallery of the Bank of Paris.

The group was also given tours of See-Brugge and Antwerp, ports which are major facilities for shipping in Europe.

While in Brussels the cast had the opportunity of hearing a lecture by Eskol Block, a Scandinavia futurologist. They also visited NATO headquarters, where a panel of officials spoke and answered questions about its role in the world today.

Before leaving Europe the group toured the historic German towns of Aachen and Trier, and Paris, France.

Yarborough: U.S. Will Have National Health Plan By '77

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough predicted Saturday that the United States will have a national health insurance program by 1977.

Yarborough—who is expected to announce Tuesday as a candidate for either governor or U.S. Senator—addressed a rally of the Texas Committee for National Health Security.

"I predict we will have it (national health insurance) in five years. We may even get it this year or next year," Yarborough said.

The committee is one of several statewide groups organized around the nation to push for national health insurance bills sponsored by U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and U.S. Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich.

Yarborough is a member of the nationwide Committee for National Health Insurance, chaired by Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers.

The only question is whether we can move a government that has spent $130 billion on the Vietnam war to spend $37 billion a year on health care for the American people," he said.

He said he had received "letters from people, saying, 'I thought we were affluent until cancer hit us. We had to sell our home.'"

Private insurance, he added, involves "excessive costs people wouldn't be burdened with under national health insurance."

"This is not medicine. It is health care on the Scandinavian plan," Yarborough said.

U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, Houston Democrat, said he "would not look for a presidential veto" if the Kennedy-Griffiths bill passes.

Eckhardt's wife urged the 100 persons at the rally to generate a "Big stack of mail" to congressmen.

They count those things.

Dr. Emmett Conrad of Dallas, a surgeon and school board member, said any health plan should cover everyone and be based on need, not ability to pay.

"Services should be obtainable under acceptable conditions. No patient should suffer any loss of dignity," he said.

To System To Change Things College Students Turn Back

By TERRY RYAN Associated Press Writer
Forsaking violent demonstrations, a new generation of college students is turning back to the system and its tools to change the things they find wrong with America.

From Boston to Berkeley, from Wisconsin to Texas, a campus visitor finds evidence of these key changes in student activities and attitudes.

The radical leaders have gone, many of them to live in nearby communities to work on what they hope will be revolutionary alliances with blacks, workers, welfare mothers, prisoners.

The pressure for change, even rebellion, is still there but students generally are turning back to fighting for change within the system's rules.

—Reflecting on the turmoil of the past few years, students concede that locking up deans in "liberated" campus buildings won't end the war in Southeast Asia or racial problems at home.

—Students are registering and voting in local contests where they see a chance to affect the outcome, as they have done at Berkeley, Michigan State and the University of Texas. By and large, they do not see this opportunity on a national scale and there is little enthusiasm over the 1972 presidential election.

—A key outcome of the explosion of student power in the late '60s is the virtually complete control students have won over their own lives: rules for dress and personal behavior are falling like football goalposts after the year's big game.

Smith Asks Funds For Flood-Stricken Counties In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has asked President Nixon to declare December flooding in six northeast Texas counties a major disaster and to approve an initial allocation of $300,000 in federal funds to make repairs.

Smith said Dec. 3-27 rains in Bowie, Lamar, Delta, Fannin, Rains and Red River Counties totaled as much as 27 inches.

The governor said local judges and mayors have estimated private property damage at $20 million and public property damage at $450,000.

Smith also asked for help from the Bureau of Public Roads, Corps of Engineers and departments of Health, Labor and Agriculture in the disaster area.

The governor directed his appeal through George Hastings, regional director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Coach Eric Tipton's 150-pound Army football team won five of six games last season. Their only loss was to Dartmouth.

corporation. "Up With People" has a mobil high school, largely experimental, which is attempting to put into affect innovative ideas for high school education. It is accredited with the Oklahoma State Board of Education.

There is also a two-year university program, an extension of the University of Hartford, in Connecticut.

Both academic programs relate studies of the students to the people they meet and the places they visit and they travel in this country and abroad.

As the students travel, they live with families in the areas they visit, to add to their perspective and understanding of many different life styles.

Participants in "Up With People" are chosen on the basis of an interview and school transcripts. Only one out of 20 applicants are accepted.

Tickets are on sale in various Pampa businesses and may be obtained from any PHS senior or member of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Dear Abby

How to diplomatically cut your gift list

By Abigail Van Buren
(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: This is a tough one: How do you suddenly take someone off your Christmas gift list? And let them know in advance, so they will take you off theirs?

We have many friends and relatives with whom we have been exchanging Christmas gifts for years. It started when our children were young. We used to give inexpensive toys, elaborately wrapped, so they would have something under their tree, and the kids would have the excitement of unwrapping them on Christmas morning.

The kids aren't kids anymore. We almost never see most of them. Many have moved out of town. Christmas shopping is not only a big bore, it has become costly. I am sure these people feel the same way about it, but we don't know how to break this vicious circle. So we keep buying the same people Christmas presents every year because we know they'll buy us something.

If you have a solution for this universal problem, Abby, you're a genius.

SICK OF CHRISTMAS

DEAR SICK: I'm no genius, but here's a suggestion: Around Thanksgiving, send them a note saying you are thankful for friends with whom you can be perfectly candid. Then tell them you are trimming your Christmas gift list, and do not plan to send their children [or them, if that's the case] a gift, so to please do likewise. I promise you, it will be the best Christmas gift you could give them.

DEAR ABBY: In the summer of 1944, I met and fell in love with a wonderful marine. I know he loved me too, but for reasons I won't go into we wouldn't marry then.

I tried hard to forget him, but I guess I never really did. I still have his letters, and when I read them and play all those tunes, "I Walk Alone," "I'll Be Seeing You," "Saturday Night Is the Loneliest Night in the Week," etc., I feel he is near.

I know he is still living on the northeast coast and I would love to see him again.

While trying to forget him, I married a guy I'd known all thru school, but it lasted only five years. I guess I didn't love him enough.

Abby, I am told I'm too nice looking to stay alone, but I think I'm one of those women who can only love once. I've never met a man who can measure up to my marine. Any suggestions?

SEMPER FIDELIS

DEAR SEMPER: Quietly investigate and find out if he's married or single. If he's single, maybe you can pick up where you left off. It's worth a try. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: You have to be kidding! A suspicious wife writes her husband has taken an interest in a divorced coworker who is lonely. And you tell her to make a buddy out of this girl, invite her over, get her a date and make it a foursome.

At one time I was happily married, but wanting to do for others, I invited a "poor, lonely friend" to join my husband and me when we went to parties, or entertained.

My husband used to run over to her house and help her fix things. Well, because I was so shortsighted and trusting, you guessed it. My husband fell for her, and he humiliated me like you wouldn't believe. He left me and moved in with her.

It lasted three months. He found out what a fool he'd been and he left her. But first he scooped all the money out of what was by then their joint account. He'd never done anything like that in his life, but he had become so addled, he wasn't responsible. He messed up our lives, but good. We were divorced, washing 20 years down the drain.

I'm still single, altho I've had offers. Since then he has had several marriages, divorces, annulments and his life is so fouled up it's unbelievable. He looks 20 years older than he is, and his future is behind him. And it all started when he took an interest in a "poor, lonely girl," just like the one in your column.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN TROUBLE AND ASHAMED" IN SAN FRANCISCO: If you're too ashamed to contact your parents directly, get in touch with their attorney, clergyman, family doctor or a relative or close friend. But let your parents know where you are. I promise you, you'll sleep better tonight. And so will they.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Aleman-George Vows Said In Canyon Chapel

Miss Ann Aleman and Scott Edward George were united in marriage Sunday, Dec. 19, in Joseph A. Hill Chapel at West Texas State University, Canyon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Aleman of Hereford, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don J. George, 2121 Dogwood, Pampa.

THE CEREMONY

Rev. Bill Webb, director of the Baptist Student Union at WTSU, officiated for the double-ring service.

Miss Rachel Toscano, pianist, played "Twelfth of Never," "O Perfect Love," and "We've Only Just Begun." The congregation sang "Praise Him, Praise Him," and "Joy to the World." The bride wore a gown of white organza over peau de soie. The bodice was styled with a Victorian neckline, edged with teardrop pearls, and bell sleeves of organza, accented with lace. The floor-length, A-line skirt was highlighted with lace.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza over peau de soie. The bodice was styled with a Victorian neckline, edged with teardrop pearls, and bell sleeves of organza, accented with lace. The floor-length, A-line skirt was highlighted with lace.

Her floor-length veil of organza, edged with lace, fell from a headband of silk lace featuring two beau de soie roses. She carried a cascade arrangement of white phalaenopsis over a white prayerbook.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Marilyn Aleman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Marilyn Aleman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore of white peau de soie gown, styled with a high neckline, slit to a V in front and white mermaid sleeves. The neckline was edged with ice-blue embroidery which also accented the front of the bodice. Her headpiece was a cluster of white carnations on mermaid with white and ice-blue streamers.

Miss Maria Montoya, bridesmaid, was attired in a dress of ice-blue, embroidered with royal blue, styled like that of the maid of honor. Her headpiece was of white carnations on ice-blue and royal blue mermaid streamers.

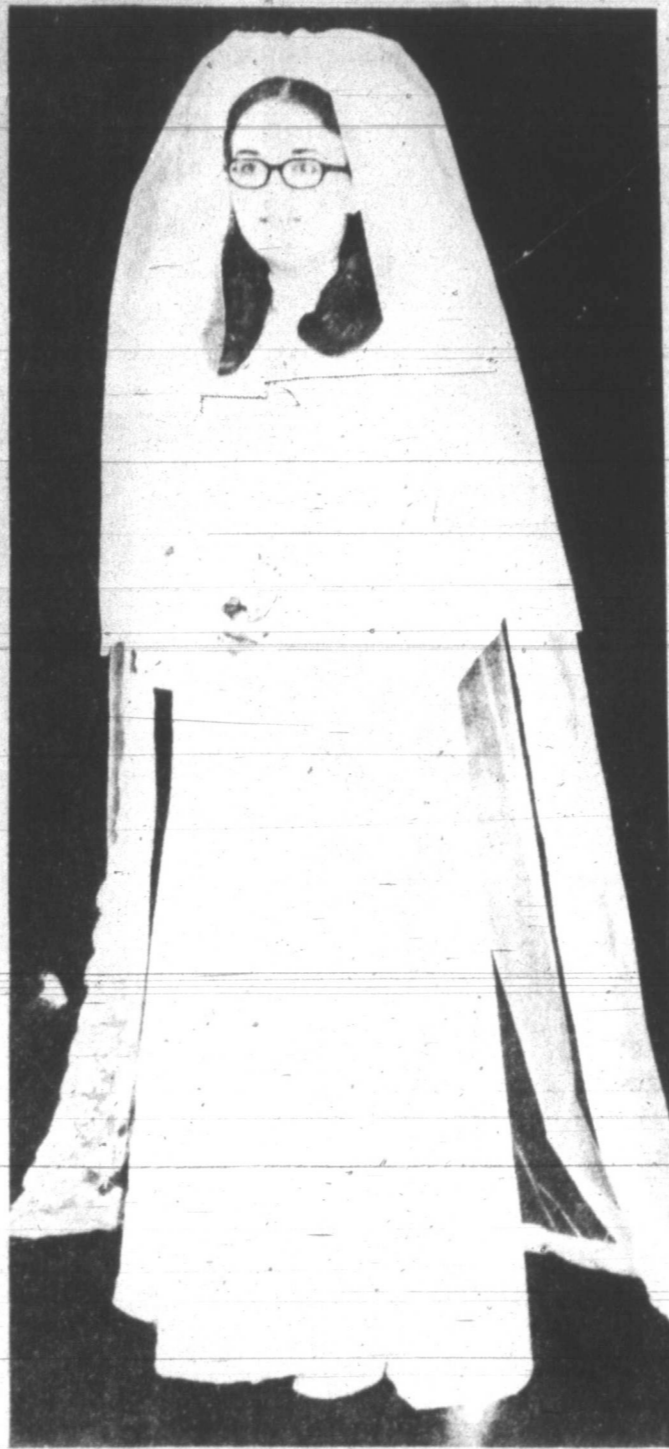

Both attendants carried nosegays of white carnations with ice-blue and dark-blue streamers. Barry George served as best man and Buddy Stewart was groomsman. Ushers were Jerry Crain, Curtis Lay, Nathaniel Shaw and Jimmy Aierman.

RECEPTION

At the reception in the Baptist Student Center, guests were registered by Mrs. Lupe Contreras.

Members of the houseparty were Miss Peggy Halman of Laredo, Miss Karen King of Bledsoe, Miss Judith McClaran of Idalou and Miss Yolanda Ramirez of Amarillo.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a brown dress with a ruffled collar and matching accessories. The couple will live in Sunday Canyon.

Members of the houseparty were Miss Peggy Halman of Laredo, Miss Karen King of Bledsoe, Miss Judith McClaran of Idalou and Miss Yolanda Ramirez of Amarillo. For the wedding trip, the bride wore a brown dress with a ruffled collar and matching accessories. The couple will live in Sunday Canyon.

The bride is a senior student at WTSU, is secretary of the WTSU Anthropological Society and is an active member of the Baptist Student Union. The bridegroom is a graduate of WTSU and is a member of the Anthropological Society.

Sorority Fetes Members

A double shower in honor of Mrs. Mike Weatherley and Mrs. Aaron Penland highlighted the meeting of the Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the home of Mrs. Mike Case.

The serving table was decorated with clowns and rag dolls. Cake, decorated with green and yellow booties, and punch were served. The Multi-colored napkins were shaped like baby kimonos and the nut cups were shaped like basinettes. The gift table was centered with a small baby doll peeking out from under a large yellow umbrella.

One of the honorees, Mrs. Penland, was unable to be present, having given birth to a son that afternoon. Her presents were delivered to the hospital by a committee, headed by Mrs. Harold Taylor.

Mrs. Dean Wilson, president, led the business session during which Mrs. Morris Wilson reported on the success of the annual Christmas bazaar.

New Year Is Time For Remembrances

NEW YORK (AP) — At the advent of a new year, we look ahead and after.

It is a time to make modest or vast new plans for the days ahead, but it is also a season of remembrance, a time when the heart lives again in its past.

Your own mind and heart have much to recall if you can look back and remember when—

On Monday while doing the laundry, housewives spent most of the day talking to themselves with their mouths full of clothespins.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who started smoking corn silk cigarettes behind the barn at 15.

Few communities ever voted down a bond issue to build a new school building. Education was held to be the best answer to the challenge of the future.

Someone in the house always buttered the inside of a metal pail before taking it to the corner saloon to be filled with beer. The butter was supposed to cut down the amount of foam.

Business secretaries, wore long skirts and white blouses and usually had a pencil stuck in their hair buns.

A young teacher sometimes secretly dated a member of the high school football team, but if her principal or the school board found out it would cost her her job.

Superstitious kids walked carefully along the sidewalk for fear that if they stepped on a crack they'd break their grandmother's back.

There were more walrus mustaches than there were walruses.

You knew you were in a cultured family if all the girls in it could play the piano or foot-pumped organ.

When a son or daughter of an immigrant family graduated from his school, his diploma was framed and hung on the living room wall.

If you were middle-aged and wanted to look elegant, you wore rimless eyeglasses—like President Woodrow Wilson's.

You could make a child happy for days by buying it a ten-cent red rubber ball to play with.

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

- TUESDAY, JAN. 11: Your birthday today. Begin a search for perfection, precision, useful new skills, and avenues of self-expression. Many of today's natives will switch into new careers around midyear. Today's natives as a group are generally a very definite, determined lot with nimble minds.
- Aries (March 21-April 19): Seize an early opening, make a deal. Then farm out the chores you've let yourself in for, if you can. Group and family ventures are due to thrive today.
- Taurus (April 20-May 20): Competitive urges come to reality. Be ready to give as good as you get or actually make the first move.
- Gemini (May 21-June 20): Outstanding problems find relatively simple, temporary solutions—accept everything for what it is.
- Cancer (June 21-July 22): Unusual answers are at hand for chronic questions. Think big and with hope as you search. Refinancing may be feasible and useful.
- Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): You are not alone in your main concerns—moreover, make room for colleagues, perhaps some who normally compete against you.
- Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Orthodox ideas work better at the moment as there is nothing particularly new about the situation, even though you may lack familiarity with some details.
- Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): If your trip relates to your work and getting greater skills, it's favored. Idle fun, pleasure for its own sake tends to pall—don't blame this on people you care about.
- Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Chance meetings promise well; explore them for possible future cooperation. Getting out and staying on the move is tenfold better than staying at home.
- Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Collect what is due you today. Apply for grants, scholarships, increases.
- Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Seek recognition for what you've achieved lately. A leisurely, graceful approach works.
- Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Find a balance between what is wanted and what is reasonable to expect. You'll find something to do about it, once you see practical reality.
- Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Your praise, your acceptance of mate, foibles, follies, and faults included, may bring about a minor miracle now.

EMPHYSEMA IS NOW A MAJOR DISEASE

In the last ten years, tests have shown that emphysema is now a major disease. It is no longer a "minor" ailment, but a serious condition that can lead to death. The only way to prevent it is by stopping smoking and using special devices when necessary.

Matson Wants Another World Record Distance

Long throws are common in football and baseball but Randy Matson, a Pampa High School graduate and father of two children has bigger things in mind for the coming year.

Matson, the current world record holder for the shot-put, said in an interview that he would like to improve on his record distance of 71'5 1/2" and make amends for a disappointing 1971.

Matson will be competing in

Playoff Rounds To Start

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Oh, I'll go out and chase it around and try not to hit too many people," was Dave Hill's laconic assessment of his game plan for today's 18-hole playoff for the title and the $25,000 first prize in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

The slim, dark Hill, a sometimes bad boy who has had countless run-ins with golf-dom's authorities, canned a dramatic 30-foot birdie putt on the final hole to tie the George Archer and Tommy Aaron at the end of 72 holes Sunday and force the extra round.

All had 72-hole totals of 270, 14 under par on the 6,823-yard Rancho Park Golf Course. Hill, the last man to finish, and the 6-foot-6 Archer, each had a five-under-par 66 on the sunny final day and Aaron, who sported a three-stroke lead going into the round, had a 69.

Albuquerque this Saturday and has hit 66'8" in practice this week.

According to Matson, "I haven't stayed around for four years just to go back to the Olympics."

"I haven't thought about goals in terms of distance, but I'll be real disappointed if I don't improve upon the record. I was disappointed last year that I didn't improve it."

The 26 year old super athlete continued, "I think the problem was that I forgot what really got me to the top, which was technique. I think I've neglected working with the shot, studying it, so I've changed that part of my training this year. I think my technique is closer now to 1965 and '67 than it's been."

After '67, I made some changes in my technique that were textbook correct, but weren't for me. For example, I lowered my lead hand some (carried above his head previously) and looked more straight ahead instead of down.

"But technique is an individual thing, so I've been dropping my head at the back of the ring and raising my hand back up. I need to get lower and under the shot more to throw farther. I'm a better standing thrower than most guys, so I need to get in a release position close to my standing release to throw real well."

Matson plans to work through the indoor season which includes meets Jan. 21 at San Francisco, Jan. 22 at Los Angeles, Feb. 4 at Fort Worth, Feb. 11 at Los Angeles and Feb. 12 at Oakland, Calif.

Pampa Ranked Eighth

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Dallas Highland Park (24-0) owns today the only perfect record in Class 4AAAA schoolboy basketball and district plays looms ahead.

Highland Park stands No. 1 in the initial Amarillo Globe-News statewide 4AAAA ratings.

Runnerup is Houston Wheatley (24-2) while Midland comes in third with a season record of 17-2.

Pulling into fourth place is Victoria with a 17-2 record which includes 10 consecutive victories over San Antonio schools.

Here are the top 20:

1. Dallas Highland Park (24-0)
2. Houston Wheatley (24-2)
3. Midland (17-2)
4. Victoria (17-2)
5. San Antonio Jefferson (19-2)
6. Houston Washington (22-4)
7. South San Antonio (20-2)
8. Pampa (16-2)
9. Houston Yates (23-2)
10. Corpus Christi King (17-4)

Hall Of Fame Inducts Three

Three new members were installed into the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame Sunday afternoon. Included in the new faces are John Blaine who coached at Dimmitt, Jim Weatherall of White Deer, and Gib Ford a basketball standout from Amarillo.

This was the 14th annual meeting of the PHOF.

Dumas Will Battle Harvesters Tomorrow

With a 16-2 season the Harvesters are to challenge the Dumas Demons in Harvester Fieldhouse at 8 p.m. tomorrow night.

Dumas has already fallen to the Harvesters three times, twice in the Top O' Texas Tournament, but as Harvester Head Coach Robert McPherson said, "they were hard fought games and it would be a mistake to take them lightly."

"Dumas has improved considerably since we played them," he said. He went on to add, "They defeated Levelland, who was pre-season picked to win their district 62-60."

Dumas experienced a bogged down start as the players were greeted with a new coach, Dick Rector, and a new system of attack. Presently Dumas has come forward and the "fearless five" of Pampa will have their hands full.

on the All-Tournament Team in the Top O' Texas Tourney. After putting Lawton to shame in their own territory and ending the 22 home-game Wolverine winning streak, the Harvesters came to realize the real work to begin with tough district play just around the corner.

The healthy Pampa cagers have only three more non-district games to go and they are expected by McPherson to be mean ones. He comments, "If we continue to play together as we have in the last few games, there will be no stopping us. He added, "Our players don't play selfishly on the court any longer. When they see a teammate in the clear, they don't hesitate to pass the ball and that is what makes a good team."

"We've got a good team and many Pampans don't know what they are missing," said McPherson as he went on to say, "This year we have the best team Pampa has probably had in 15 years or more."

"The stands should be packed," he stated. "Some people don't realize how important it is to the players to have verbal support." The next contest after Dumas will feature Lawton in Pampa Saturday night with hopes of regaining face, followed by Pampa traveling to Lubbock to face the already once Harvester defeated Monterey Plainsmen.

The Harvesters have hopes for the district title to be theirs once again and possibly State. Attend the next game and see why they can afford to set such goals.

Reeves Under Pressure When Dallas Goes East

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pressure hangs heavy on 28-year-old Danny Reeves on the week of Super Bowl VI.

Reeves must not only have the Dallas Cowboy backfield properly prepared to go against the tough Miami Dolphin defense, but he must be ready himself for a quick call from coach Tom Landry as he was in Super Bowl V.

Reeves, the only player-coach in the National Football League, says, "This likely will be my last year as a player. They (the knees) have done better than I thought they would. I've had a little trouble with them the last five weeks... a little irritation."

A knee operation cut short Reeves' fulltime playing career three years ago. After a severe knee injury in a game against St. Louis Reeves was never his old self.

In Super Bowl V, Reeves was used on passing downs against Baltimore. In the closing moments, he tipped a high Craig Morton pass, which was intercepted by Mike Curtis, leading to the Colts' winning field goal by Jim O'Brien with eight seconds left.

Reeves tried to take the blame for the miscue in the Cowboy dressing room after the game but films later showed it would have taken a great catch for him to make the play.

Now Reeves says, "Miami is just like Baltimore. They aren't going to give you the deep pass. You've got to take what they give you."

Reeves said Dallas is a different team than the one which has ultimately failed in its last five playoffs.

"You have to be awful lucky and awful good to make it to the Super Bowl twice," Reeves said. "When Coach Landry went to the one-quarterback system, it kind of brought the team together."

Reeves says Roger Staubach "has had a great year. Last year, the run bore the brunt of our offense. Now we can pass. We've just been conservative in our last two playoff games against Minnesota and San Francisco because we were ahead and didn't have to throw the ball much."

But this team can throw the ball. We got off to a slow start while we installed the passing game and it took receivers like Lance Alworth and Billy Truax time to learn the system."

Reeves adds, "We have a healthy quarterback this time. Craig Morton's arm was hurting so much against the Colts we couldn't pass deep. Now we can run and pass."

Reeves says the Cowboys have a lot of respect for Dolphin coach Don Shula.

"Miami has great enthusiasm and has a lot of things going for it," Reeves said. "Shula has been to the Super Bowl before and that should help the Dolphins."

Shula was the coach of the Baltimore team which lost to the New York Jets in the 1969 Super Bowl.

Reeves says he hasn't had an off day since football season started.

"The hours are bad because when the rest of the players can rest on Monday, I have to go to the office... It's obvious that I enjoy doing it," Reeves said.

Reeves also must work with perhaps the most mysterious running back in professional football in moody Duane Thomas.

Reeves says, "Thomas has done his job whether you agree with him how he goes about it."

Thomas missed an entire day of practice last week without telling anybody why. After a 45 minute meeting Landry, Thomas returned to practice the next day and was on the team plane which landed in New Orleans Sunday night.

Reeves says "I guess we'll just have to accept Thomas the way he is. He's a heck of a football player when he has his mind made up to play football."

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
 TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

A Laughing Matter

For most scientists, science is no laughing matter. Some, however, can find a chuckle or two from their own work and the work of their colleagues.

At the recent American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting in Philadelphia, a special symposium was held on humor in science.

The session ranged from the serious—meanings of various types of humor—to the ludicrous. The latter was illustrated by Dr. Alex Kohn, director of Israeli's Biological Institute of Ness Ziona, who brought down the house by reading from some actual scientific papers.

His scientific colleagues were convulsed with laughter when he discussed a report (real he swore) on the "Effectiveness of the Human Hand for Squeezing Food."

The report concluded that the effectiveness varied according to the hand doing the squeezing and the food being squeezed.

Joel Kirschbaum, of the Squibb Institute, New Brunswick, N. J., read a spoof-paper on "Lycanthropy Induced by Irradiation," explaining deadpan that he had discovered how to turn man into wolf by the light of the moon. His experimental volunteers, he insisted, grew hair and developed "ravenous appetites" upon exposure to dollops of moonlight.

Organizer of the session was Dr. James McConnell, a psychology professor from the University of Michigan. "Wouldn't it be something," he said, "if someone who didn't realize that these papers are spoofs came in and thought this was a regular scientific meeting? They might not know the difference."

Indeed, one scientist, already fatigued from three days of meetings, shouted from the rear of the room: "There is no difference!"

Of Monkeys And Men

In a more serious vein, scientists and students from the University of Wisconsin offered observations on man based upon research with monkeys at the Wisconsin Regional Primate Research Center.

Drs. Harry Harlow and Allyn Deets concluded that aggression is probably an inborn trait in primates—including humans.

The researchers theorize that aggression toward members of the same species may be an important factor in allowing some primates to adapt to changing living conditions. The relatively aggressive rhesus monkey has been able to adapt to environments ranging from remote forest areas to overcrowded urban ghettos, they said.

Gorillas, however, which display relatively little aggression toward each other, are now threatened with extinction, being unable to cope with man's encroachment upon their traditional habitat.

In a related study, nine undergraduate students reported that monkeys forced to live in crowded cages with several other strange monkeys become alarmingly more aggressive than usual.

Jake Emmerick, a senior psychology major and the group's spokesman, said the results of the study of monkeys caged under various degrees of crowding have great relevance to man.

When four monkeys were housed in a cage meant for one animal, rates of aggressive behavior jumped. Four monkeys kept together in larger cages showed less inclination toward aggressive behavior—and even when aggression did occur, the victim had a chance to escape.

Emmerick noted that prisoners are similar to over-crowded cages of monkeys. As long as human prisoners are kept in crowded facilities, he continued, there is little chance that they will learn to adjust to life outside the prison.

Quick Quiz

- Q—In a solar eclipse, what is the maximum duration of totality?
- A—The total part of an eclipse may last as long as seven minutes, 40 seconds.
- Q—What is a soft-shell crab?
- A—A crab which has very recently shed its shell and has not had time for the new one to harden.

Lesson Of Vietnam Is Bitter But Beneficial

BY PAUL HARVEY

Never in my professional recollection has everybody been so willing and eager to stay out of a war as during the India-Pakistan thing. Apparently Vietnam, however bitter, was a beneficial lesson.

If we all learned that outsiders in a family fight are wrong, even when they're right, then those 46,000 American boys did not die for nothing.

Robert Orben says it will help you understand intramural wars such as Indochina, the Middle East and India-Pakistan if you picture the TV program. All in the Family, with guns.

There is an unprecedented bill in the hopper on the Hill. Never in our country's history has the disinclination to fight been so conspicuous.

It is a bill on which the Senate will be voting early in the new year which would prevent any President from committing American troops abroad for more than 30 days without congressional consent.

And you know, despite White House opposition, that bill cleared the Senate Foreign Relations Committee 13 to 0. And former Hawk, Sen. John Stennis, is one of its authors.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor: I see where the Army has been spending millions of dollars on an advertising campaign saying "The Army Wants to Join You." But it's said that not many youths have responded to this clever pitch and allowed the army to join them. So the kids may be true to breed than they or we think, and—like us—can understand a flea joining an elephant, but have some trouble visualizing an elephant joining a flea.

The news says that President Nixon slapped a veto on the program which Congress passed to set up multi-billion-dollar day care centers for pre-school children of working and/or otherwise busy mamas. But the people-planners will be back again with another try to take over children at age 1 and wire them for mind control by socialousy-know-besters. But if federal child-rearing works like federal mail-carrying, the next generation of kids will be tuned to taking ten day to do a three-day job while demanding higher wages and more holidays.

—D. E. Scott
 Crossroads, U.S.A.

AND I QUOTE

"I am one of those who do not believe that a national debt is a national blessing, but rather a curse to a republic; inasmuch as it is calculated to raise around the administration a moneyed aristocracy dangerous to the liberties of the country." — Andrew Jackson.

You and I have watched for signs and symptoms that war as a means of settling international differences is going out of style. This is concrete evidence. A bill supported unanimously by Hawks and Doves, Republicans and Democrats, which says no President can start us fighting unless our own troops are somewhere under attack—and then only for 30 days.

After that Congress must concur or the war's over. Now this cannot be called "isolationism" when our diplomatic and commercial intercourse with other nations is in all ways expanding.

Now does this necessarily mean that we will promptly revert to the Gibraltar concept of keeping all our armies at home, though there are increasing arguments for that, too.

This past year the United States spent three times more supporting men and machines for war than did all of our NATO allies put together.

Three times more! Almost 78 billion dollars! In one year! It's just become too doggedly expensive to play policeman.

You know to knock down one enemy plane in Vietnam it costs us 8,000 times more than during the Korean war!

What that means is that a sophisticated Sparrow missile costs 2,000 times what a 50-caliber machine gun burst costs and it's only 25 per cent as effective.

So if only for hard-headed dollars and cents reasons, war is not worth it any more.

And so generally obvious has this fact become that more and more nations seeking alternatives. Even the mostly toothless United Nations has managed to stop or help stop fighting four times in the Middle East, three times in the East Indies, twice in Kashmir. Once each in You know, as we all have differing thresholds of pain—we all feel the same hurt with varying degrees of intensity—even so we react with varying degrees of compassion when we see a child crying, a black man abused, a refugee starving. But our Good Samaritan impulses need not seek satisfaction beyond our own doorsteps—and it may be we have learned that now.

Your Health

BY LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—What do you think of the increasingly popular "organic foods?" Can one be assured that they are grown without chemical fertilizers?

Dear Reader—Like many people from rural America, or almost anyone raised before World War II, I grew up on organic food. Every farm boy did. I've hauled manure, not in little pails but by the wagonload. It was customary for people to grow all their own food and eat it. The cellar was the winter storehouse for what you raised in the summer. Like all small all-purpose farms even the livestock were fed on organic food—crops raised the natural way. We even picked potato bugs off the vine by hand. So I am amused by the new fad of organic foods. I wish I could have shared some of that organic experience when I was a boy with some of today's enthusiasts.

I have also raised lots of food using chemical fertilizer. There is nothing wrong with it. Nitrogen is good for the soil that needs it, whether it comes in a bag in powdered form in the manure wagon or is put in the soil by legumes (bean family), plants that take nitrogen from the air. Nitrogen, after all, is nitrogen. The same can be said about a lot of other chemicals used to build up the soil.

There is no doubt that good soil raises good plants. That is just common sense. Any good farmer can tell you that. That is part of what makes the difference in upland and bottomland.

On the whole I think the organic food movement is a healthy one. I am not confused by some of the unscientific claims sometimes made, though and know that, as stated, nitrogen is nitrogen. In fact, some chemicals that are not found in manure are needed for particular soil problems.

Although many people include the question of using insecticides in organic gardening—as a pursuit on the use of the words, I object to that wording, whether insecticides are good or bad. I suspect that insecticides do little harm if the food is properly washed and prepared before use, although they can cause other problems in environment.

The difference in the taste in a lot of "organic foods" is related to the difference in when the food is harvested. I suspect that a lot of people don't know the difference between a watermelon ripened on the vine and one shipped half green to the store. Most of the food in supermarkets is picked before it is ripened by nature. And that has very little to do with whether you hauled manure or fertilized by chemicals.

BRUCE BIOSSAT

Uncandidate Ted In the Forefront

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

Freeing himself for the presidential campaign, Sen. Edward Kennedy today resigned from public office.

Ah, yes, the politics of the absurd. But in Kennedy's case, we may be getting pretty close to it.

It isn't easy for him to say he's not a candidate, and have it stick. Polls keep him way up there. So do a lot of dreamers in the Democratic Party. Likewise magazines and other news purveyors who think it pays to follow the dream.

After the newest flurry of Kennedy articles, a staff man told the senator the only way he could end the presidential talk was to get out of public life. Hearing of that another aide scoffed: "That wouldn't work, either. People would just say he'd come up with the greatest, most original play ever conceived in presidential politics."

So the scoffing assistant found it a quick jump to the strangely real absurdity quoted here at the outset. It encapsulates the Kennedy

Wit & Whimsy

You don't have to worry about the international situation until it is past-tense. Some people play cards for fun; others still have a couple bucks left.

One of the most beneficial exercises is to learn how to shut the mouth firmly when the boss is a little toady.

For some persevering fellows, it's love at first sight. There's nothing more cozy on a cold winter's day than an overpaid fuel bill.

Some of those old dishes mom used to make are, thankfully, forgotten.

The nicest thing about February is that it has 29 days only once every four years.

Worry Clinic

By - GEORGE W. CRANE, PH. D. M. D.

Contrast Annette and Amy, for both are intelligent teen-agers with spunk and a willingness to challenge ideas. They are independent thinkers who don't wish to be stamped like sheep. But beware of letting atheistic emotional bias becloud logic!

CASE S-567. Annette and Amy are both 15 years old.

Annette lives in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, while Amy's home is in Jackson, Mississippi.

They are regular readers of this "Worry Clinic" who show independence of thought.

"Dr. Crane," Annette began, "the reason so many married women hate you, is just because you step on their toes."

"When you 'pick' on women, I realize it is to help cut down the divorce rate, as by warning them against being 'waddling walruses.'"

"And I think the woman's liberation is pretty silly!"

"For we already have the right to vote and work and talk freely."

"What more could a woman ask for?"

"I don't want to be the equal of any man!"

"In biology class we have learned the structural differences between male and female."

"And women are not built for competition with the male, for the female is more sentimental and should take pride in that fact."

"Dr. Crane, I have seen married women throw temper tantrums worse than a 9-year-old!"

"Since divorce is one of the greatest problems in the United States, I am reading your column to warn me in advance."

"Keep up the good work and may God grant you every good wish."

AMY'S PROTEST

Now listen to the opposing remarks of Amy:

"Dr. Crane," she starts out, "I wish to protest against your recent article in our CLARION LEDGER."

"For you said there is logical proof of God."

"And you argued that atheism is illogical."

"Well, I am an atheist, so I believe the other way around!"

"I see no logic in God or the holiness of Jesus or a belief in heaven."

"Dr. Crane, I don't need such fairy tales to help me behave myself!"

Amy apparently agrees with Aristophanes, who once states:

"Wise men, though all laws were abolished, would lead the same lives."

Alas, many people in past generations have been coerced into law-abiding behavior mainly by fear of policemen or Hades.

"Character," said Dwight L. Moody, "is what you are in the dark."

But whether we are good or bad begs the question as to whether or not there is logical proof of God.

But this 25-cent booklet digests this proof for use by church leaders and all teen-agers with a quizzical mind and a debater's hunger for logic.

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg. Mellot, Indiana, 47958, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Beautiful But Deadly Fireworks Display In Laos Jungle

OVER THE HO CHI MINH TRAIL, Laos (AP) - North Vietnamese anti-aircraft fire arcs through the night sky. Exploding bombs from a Phantom strike briefly illuminate the jungled mountains like giant sparklers. Two more enemy guns open up, their tracers search the blackness for a victim. They are wide and everyone relaxes.

This is the night war over Laos, a beautiful but deadly fireworks display where the hunter often becomes the hunted.

Below, camp fires wink on the Ho Chi Minh trail and truck headlights move like fireflies in Hanoi's relentless push of troops and supplies to the battlefields in Cambodia and South Vietnam. Above, the truck killers prowls a dangerously crowded sky. Stinger 03 is a truck killer, an antiquated C-119 cargo plane converted into a 40-ton aerial gun platform. It is too heavy and slow to survive the jet-age daytime war. Darkness and a fighter bomber escort are its protection against hundreds of gun emplacements that guard the North Vietnamese traffic.

It can circle a target long after the smaller jets run out of fuel, carries sensitive electronic sensors that turn night into day and has a very vicious sting - two 20mm cannon and four miniguns that spew out 24,000 rounds a minute.

The 10 U.S. Air Force men who fly in Stinger 03 come from different towns and different generations. But they are a close-knit crew.

Maj. Wiley Gilmore, 37, of Rockdale, Tex., is the aircraft commander, a former cargo pilot who volunteered for Vietnam "because I needed a C-109, combat duty, if I wanted my Air Force career to go anywhere."

Tonight, he's swapped seats with Capt. Walt White, 29, of Greenville, S.C., so the younger pilot can learn to shoot trucks.

Crouched behind them is the flight engineer, T Sgt. Morris W. Blick, 35, of Disputanta, Va. He's already had one combat tour in Vietnam "and I sure as hell didn't volunteer for this one. No Sir!"

The navigator, Lt. Col. John M. Franta, 44, of Little Rock, Ark., sits behind his "bullet-proof curtain" at the rear of the cockpit. It's not really bullet-proof.

Without the blackout curtain, enemy gunners would be able to zero in on the light Franta needs for his computations. When Stinger 03 flies over Laos the curtain is drawn and running lights are doused.
