Atomic Spy Team Appeals For Mercy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, traitorous husband-and-wife atomic spy team for Russia, appealed for mercy Saturday to President Truman, possibly their last hope to save them from the electric chair.

The appeal was delivered to the Justice Department as pro-Communist groups thundered propaganda world-wide that their trial and conviction was a "frame-up."

The State Department, by radio and press bulletins, replied that the Kremlin was behind this "exceptionally cynical campaign" to thwart justice.

The appeal met a deadline set in New York by Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman who sentenced the couple to death two years ago. The Rosenbergs originally were scheduled to die in the electric chair in New York's Sing Sing prison next Wednesday. But Kaufman, who described their crime "as worse than murder," said he would stay the execution if the appeal for executive clemency were filed by Jan. 12.

The appeal was filed by Julius Rosenberg, 37, and Ethel Rosenberg, 34, who were arrested in 1950. They were charged with passing atomic secrets to the Soviet Union.

The Rosenbergs were given a 30-day reprieve to allow time for an appeal. The appeal was filed by Julius Rosenberg, 37, and Ethel Rosenberg, 34, who were arrested in 1950.

Meredith Defends Sanford Dam

Charges Pampan's Attack Example Of Misinformation

By HENRY S. GORDON
A. A. Meredith, Borger city manager and secretary of the Canadian Water Users Association, Saturday shot back at Curtis Douglass, Pampa attorney, saying, in effect, that he (Douglass) didn't know what he was talking about.

Douglass Friday took a swing at the proposed $85,000,000 dam near Sanford, calling it "economically unjustified."

In a two-page statement, Meredith said: "The blast of Lawyer Curtis Douglass... against the Canadian River project... is just another indication of the extent to which misinformation might carry a person... even though his intentions might be the very best."

Meredith added, "It is to be regretted that people make disparaging remarks about the efforts of their local governments to do for themselves the thing that is vitally necessary not only to maintain, but to enlarge, the economy of the area by securing an adequate supply of water."

By coincidence, Meredith was preparing a press release quoting President-elect Eisenhower's stand favoring soil and water conservation projects at the same time Douglass was preparing his statement against the project. Neither knew of the other's actions at the time.

Refuting Douglass' claim that the project was an attempt of the Reclamation Bureau to branch out into a provider of water for municipalities, Meredith retorted: "The proposal is a grass-roots project. It was conceived and has been promoted by the 11 project cities as a supplemental water supply for the future."

Meredith agreed with the Pampa attorney that there is ample underground water available in the Panhandle and South Plains area in sufficient quantity to take care of the immediate needs of project cities. But the price on this water is rising rapidly and cities are confronted with the depleting water tables throughout the Panhandle where irrigation wells have increased and irrigation of farmland is being curtailed.

CAA Rejects Pioneer Bid For Air Service

Pioneer Airline's Request To Institute Service In Pampa On A North-South Route Was Refused In An Initial Decision Handed Down By Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner Herbert K. Bryan

But, the decision will be contested by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and others on the proposed Dallas-Amarillo run of Pioneer Airlines.

This was learned late Saturday following a conference between E. O. (Red) Wedgworth and City Manager B. H. Cruce.

The two decided to appeal the action following a telephone conversation with Gen. Robert J. Smith, Dallas, president of Pioneer, who declared there is still a 50-50 chance that the decision will be overruled by the CAB itself.

Wedgworth quoted Smith and the airline's attorney, Harding Lawrence, as saying: "Even though the examiner has recommended the request be turned down, there is still a 50-50 chance we will get to provide service in Pampa to points south."

Wedgworth also said, "we are filing a brief with the CAB, taking exception to the examiner's decision on the grounds that he failed to find requirements for scheduled service."

Says Truman 'Disobedience' Blast Untrue

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 — UP — Gen. Douglas MacArthur issued a statement Saturday night saying that "President Truman's charges that he disobeyed orders in the Far East" were "completely unproved" and accused the President of responsibility for any desertions from the armed forces.

MacArthur issued his statement in reply to charges made by Mr. Truman Friday in an interview with Doris Flesoon, Washington correspondent for the Bell Syndicate.

The President was quoted as saying that MacArthur's attacks on the Korea war policy had set a bad example for service men in Korea. As a result, Mr. Truman said, desertions had been reported at such a rate that he was "shocked and surprised."

In Washington, White House sources said in reply to the general's statement, that Mr. Truman will "stand on the Flesoon story." There was no further comment immediately.

In striking back at the President, MacArthur charged the President with "unjust arbitrary actions" and said any desertions could "more realistically be ascribed to a lack of faith in President Truman's policies of appeasement" in Korea.

"Mr. Truman's obvious spleen against me, given mounting expression since the election, is undoubtedly political, not military," MacArthur said.

The President's charges resulted from a realization that his "unjust and arbitrary actions" in recalling "bankruptcy" of administration policies in the Far East played a large part in Mr. Truman's overwhelming repudiation by the American people at the polls, the general said.

"Perhaps too," MacArthur added, "he is animated by pique at the President-elect's interest in ascertaining my views on Korea."

MacArthur referred to his recent meeting with President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower. It was arranged after MacArthur announced he had a new solution for the Korean war.

"It is difficult for me to conceal (See HST, Page 2)

They're Going To Call It Basketball ... 'Towering' Tooley Issues Challenge For MOD Benefit

Fun-loving, charitable minded Pampans won't have to depend on side-stepping Amarillo sports-writers and sports-casters for a March of Dimes basketball game.

The Pampa Elks Lodge has seen to that.

"Towering" Joe Tooley, exalted ruler of the lodge, has issued a challenge to all the civic clubs for a basketball tournament for the March of Dimes.

The challenge was authorized Friday night during a meeting of the lodge officers.

It was aimed at Rotary, Lions, Jaycees and Kiwanis.

Tooley, who styled himself as the "star center" for the Elks, said he hoped to see such basketballers as Ray Evans (Rotary), Doc Donaldson (Lions), County Atty. Bill Waters (Kiwanis) and others take to the courts on those nights.

All proceeds, of course, would go to the March of Dimes.

Third Man Charged in Series Of Amarillo Killings, Beatings

The third man implicated in Amarillo's 18-day stream of slayings and beatings was picked up late Saturday and has been charged with two cases of "assault with a deadly weapon."

Wade (Sleepy) Copeland, 17, an airman from Bradford, Pa., was arrested by police on the Amarillo Air Force Base at 5:50 p.m. admitted the crimes and signed a statement, according to Sheriff Paul Gaither, Amarillo.

The other two members of the trio — Joseph Paul Lucas, 29, an airman from Tamaque, Pa., and Earl George Robertson, 19, formerly of Floydada — were arrested Thursday night, signed statements and were charged with two murders and one "assault with a deadly weapon."

A Randall County grand jury has returned indictments on all three counts against the pair. Gaither told The Pampa Daily News, but no grand jury action against Copeland was contemplated this week end.

Copeland was charged with complicity in the assault Dec. 22 on Tommy Malone, 45, Amarillo cab driver, aided by Lucas, and with complicity in the murder

May Explain Weird 'Things' ... Secrecy Veil Lifted From New Missiles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — UP — Boeing Airplane Co. disclosed Saturday it had developed ground-to-air guided missiles that roared through the sky twice as fast as the speed of sound.

It also flicked back the curtain of secrecy further, with the brief, infighting information that since development of the missiles in 1949 its experiments have gone into a "new, advanced" stage. The disclosure was made with Defense Department permission.

What it has accomplished in the latter phase was left to speculation, but it appeared likely the Boeing guided missile — "GAPA," for ground-to-air pilotless aircraft — belongs in the stable of "fantastic" new weapons once alluded to by President Truman.

Boeing announced that more than 100 "GAPA" missiles were fired from 1945 to 1949 at Wendover, Utah, where the program started and at Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo, N.M.

Ground-to-air missiles are intended to track down and destroy enemy bombers in flight.

Boeing did not say whether "GAPA" had been put to this test, but it did say the missiles were tracked in their flights by radar, special radio instruments and (See SECRECY, Page 2)

Solons Blister State Dept. For Hiring Tinted Workers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — UP — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee charged Saturday that responsible State Department officials may have "willfully disregarded" the danger to national security from disloyal Americans employed in the United Nations.

In a blistering 18-page report the subcommittee said the State Department "has not served the national interest" in refusing to tell the group what officials were responsible for holding up loyalty reports to the UN on American employees.

The report accused the department of a "blind spot toward the question of subversion and disloyalty to the United States" among American employees of the UN.

Pogo, Possumland — And Walt Kelly, Too — Plot Pampans' Pleasure ...

PAMPA'S 'POSSUMLAND' — Beginning Monday, with the conviction of one Walt Kelly, Pampa Daily News readers will meet a host of new characters with such intriguing names as Chung Chung Curtis, the mailman; Porky Pine, the porcupine; Solid MacHogany, the "piggy-hog"; Howland Owl, the owl; Beauregard Bugleboy, the dog; Churchy LaFemme, the turtle; and, of course, Pogo, the possum, and Albert, the alligator. And, to keep things from getting the slightest bit serious for News readers, a bull weevil and a roon make a practice of putting in their "sense"-north. Creator of the comic strip, "Pogo," Walt Kelly conceived in 1942 (some say hatched, he admits) the idea of a feature built around the Southern swamplands. Calling Pogo "the warm-hearted little guy we all would like to think we are," Kelly maintains that Albert, "always full of knowledge and gusto that backfires, is closer to what we think of the other fellow."

County PMA Faces $100,000 Project With $40,900 Budget

The Gray County Production and Market Association is faced with the problem of stretching a $40,900 agriculture conservation program allocation to cover requests from area farmers which total $100,000.

To resolve the problem of how much to allot, where, and to whom, county committees, Clyde Carruth, chairman, H. H. Kenney and J. E. Kerby, have been meeting in all-day sessions. No results have been announced.

PMA committee members contacted area farmers in November and December to determine the requests they would make through the 1953 Conservation Practices for Gray County program and were swamped with orders.

County farmers may apply for 10 ACP practices which include:

1. Construction of terraces to guide water flow on sloping land.
  2. Construction of diversion or spreader terraces to control excess water.
  3. Establishing a permanent sod waterway to dispose of excess water without causing erosion.
  4. Bringing clof forming subsoil to the surface of a sandy cropland to prevent wind erosion.
  5. Leaving on the land as a protection against wind erosion the stalks or stubble of sorghum or millet.
  6. Control of bindweed.
  7. Constructing earthen dams or reservoirs for collecting and storing water.

Reuther Issues Warning To Auto Makers For Raise

Hike Pay Or Face Strike Is Alternative

DETROIT, Jan. 11—UP—Walter Reuther warned auto companies Saturday they must boost wages and pensions by March 1. The alternative, he indicated, was strikes. "Abnormal inflation," he said, has outmoded economic provisions of the five-year contracts signed two years ago despite the protective cost-of-living clauses written into those agreements.

The March 1 deadline was set, stragely enough, by the federal government. That is the date the Bureau of Labor Statistics switches to a new formula for figuring the cost-of-living index upon which auto workers' pay is based.

The United Auto Workers Union and the companies must come to agreement on how to apply the new index to wages "or there is no contract," Reuther said.

No Contract, No Work
And Reuther's militant UAW traditionally does not work without contracts.

He said transition to the new index would bring up what he called "related matters."

These are:
1. Higher pensions for retiring employees;
2. A 20 cent an hour higher wage base which could not be reduced no matter how much the cost of living falls;
3. A one-cent an hour annual increase in the "improvement factor" which all workers get in recognition of their increased productivity;

4. Relaxation of compulsory retirement ages.

The big auto companies—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—already have turned him down flatly on these demands. In effect, they said, "You have signed the five-year contracts, now live up to them."

But their refusals came before the matter of the change in the index started coming to a head.

Reuther said preliminary discussions already are underway with some of the big companies on the index transition. The UAW probably will use one of the "Big Three" as a target and hope the others will fall in line after a pattern is set.

Pensions now are $125 a month to workers over 65 (85 in some cases). Since the dollar isn't worth as much as it was two years ago, Reuther wants pensions increased so pensioners can "at least" maintain their living standard. Sources indicate this sum would be about $20 a month.

And to protect his working followers from a sudden drop in the cost of living, Reuther wants 20 of the 25 cents an hour they now get as a cost-of-living adjustment made part of the basic wage.

Patricia, left, and Pamela O'Neil, pictured on the 1952 March of Dimes poster, above, today are living proof of the efficacy of aid to polio victims made possible by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O'Neil, of Raleigh, N.C., they were stricken in 1948, during North Carolina's worst polio epidemic, and appear on the poster as they looked while Patricia was still wearing special leg braces. Through aid from their local chapter of the Foundation, Pat, 6, and Pam, 5, at right, are once more happy, healthy youngsters. This year's March of Dimes campaign is being held throughout January.

Whaley says he ran into a vacant office in Claude as the last time the office had an incumbent, was more than three years ago.

Conductor Falls To His Death Down Mountainside

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 11—UP—The conductor of Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad passenger train No. 9 opened the door of a coach Friday night to investigate an emergency stop and fell 1,500 feet to his death down a mountainside.

Railroad officials said Saturday the train had stopped on a small trestle on the side of a mountain southeast of here after the locomotive on the Denver-bound train had hit a small rock on the track at midnight.

The conductors, Harr N. Ralston 56, of Denver, opened the coach door to step out and see what was wrong. Passengers and crew members said they did not hear any cries or other sounds as Ralston hurled down the cliff in the darkness.

His body was found at the bottom of the canyon by the searching train crew.

MIAMI — Roberts County has found 1952 was the driest year since Dust Bowl days.

According to H. J. Cowdrey at the U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Miami, moisture totaled only 41.64 inches for the 12-month period. This is less than half the 1951 total of 77.03 inches. Roberts ranchers and farmers drew a complete blank in moisture during October and not until December did wheat farmers receive any encouragement weather-wise.

KEYBOARD CHARACTER — This impish face belongs to Henry Scott, concert pianist and musical comedian, who is to appear at the Tuesday meeting of the Knife and Fork Club. Scott has appeared in many of the leading musical centers of the nation and is a veteran of 15 years in show business. He is noted for his maniacal treatment of the sitar. The Knife and Fork Club is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Senior High School cafeteria and auditorium.

He was born and reared in Tivoli on the Hudson where his family still reside. He studied music at the College of Fine Arts in Syracuse University and married Mary Bell Baird in 1938. Scott is the father of two children.

Considered a brilliant interpreter of Chopin and Liszt, he is at the same time credited with being an authority on modern styles.

Canadian Bank Hearing Reset

CANADIAN — (Special) — Final hearing and decision on a charter application for the proposed new First State Bank in Canadian has been postponed until February 4.

Members of the board of the proposed new bank, with attorney Wm. J. Jackson, appeared before the Banking Commission in Austin Wednesday morning for a hearing on the charter application.

The board members presented their case in support of the charter application, but were advised that representatives of the First National Bank of Canadian, who have protested the issuance of another bank charter here, had been granted a delay until Feb. 4 for their scheduled hearing before the commission.

The First National Bank was represented Wednesday at the hearing in Austin by a Corsicana attorney who was permitted by consent of the First State Bank group, to sit in on the session.

Representatives of the proposed new bank, in turn, were granted permission to sit on the February 4th hearing when the First National will present its case.

Hearings on both sides had been set originally for Wednesday, but the Banking Commission granted a request from A. V. McQuiddy, chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank, for a delay due to the illness of Bank President H. S. Wilbur, Sr.

On the Board of Directors for the proposed First State Bank are R. T. Kelley, Joe Reid, G. B. Mathers, Frank McMordie, A. A. Webb, Charles Wright, Frank Shatter, Pat Huff, J. M. Greus and the executive vice-president elect, John D. Glenn, now of Wellington.

Included in his repertoire is musical skills, wig costuming and a number in which he dons a pair of mittens while playing.

Scott has been performing the last 15 years and has appeared before many well-known musical societies in the United States and in New York Town Hall and Carnegie Hall.

Sanderson also stated that the local Girl Scouts were assisting in the drive. They have provided posters and coin boxes in business houses here. Everyone is urged to have a part in contributing to this worthy cause.

Judgments In 3 Suits Are Approved

Agreed judgments in three civil suits were approved in 31st District Court by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich, totaling close to $9,600.

The largest settlement was for $5,000, paid to Ezekiel Fields, Jr. on the death of his son, Ezekiel, Jr. on Oct. 11, 1952 in a crash on U.S. Highway 86 near Groom. The defendant was Lee Way Motor Freight.

A $4,000 judgment was signed against Floyd Phillips for injuries received by Thomas G. Bruce and his daughter, Sally Bruce in a wreck near Elida, N.M., on Nov. 8, 1951. The judgment was split between father and daughter; the father being paid $3,500, including $300 property damages, and $500 to the child.

The smallest of the judgments was awarded H. C. Turner and Henry Turner from Osborne and Osborne, the total amounting to less than $500 damages.

'Guard Freedoms,' Kiwanis Club Told

Echoing the Kiwanis principle of "Freedom—Our Sacred Trust," the newly-elected president of the Pampa Kiwanis Club told the weekly meeting that "in these times of great danger" the American people had better watch-out or they would lose their freedom and privileges.

"Pretty soon we'll get to the point where the only safe man to have at the head of the government is a dictator," Clinton Evans told the Ladies Day gathering Friday noon, "whereas, actually, the only safe man is yourself."

"For when you turn over your privileges and rights to somebody else," he continued, "you have become slaves again."

"Casting a glance back at U.S. history, Evans generalized that "it is a peculiar thing how Americans have got more out of what they've done than has anybody else."

"All through the ages," he went on, "men have striven for freedom and yet the more they get the more they want someone—or something—to do it all for them."

It is this "wrong attitude" that Evans said he wanted Pampa Kiwanians to throw away during the coming year; for "I would like

How Average Taxpayer Reports Property Sales ...

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
NEA Income Tax Report

Most everyone owns property of some sort. Not everyone knows, however, that if he sells that property he might have income to be reported, or a loss which can be used to save tax dollars.

This article describes what property sales of an average taxpayer should be reported and how to report them. It also tells how to sell your home at a profit, yet pay no tax on the gain.

The rules given here do not apply to the sale of merchandise to customers or property used in a trade or business.

If you had one or more of the following three transactions in 1952, read this article carefully:

1. Sale of your home, car, household furnishings, jewelry, or other personal property for MORE than it cost you. If you sold any of these items for less than it cost, you CANNOT deduct the loss.

2. Sale of securities you bought for investment or speculation.

3. Securities or non-business loans which became worthless in 1952.

Any of the above transactions must be reported on the separate Schedule D that comes with the blank returns. If the transaction involves your residence, you may not have to pay any tax. In other cases, you may be entitled to report a loss that will reduce your tax.

The first step in filling out Schedule D is to determine whether your transaction should be shown under the part marked "short term capital gains and losses" or under the part for long-term gains and losses.

Here is the rule: A non-business or personal loan which became worthless in 1952 is a short-term capital loss regardless of how long ago you made the loan. The rest of the transactions will be short-term if you held the property for six months or less and long-term if held for more than six months.

If it was your residence that you sold in 1952, read over the special rules on page 8 of the official instructions. Then check over the following additional information and tips:

The term "residence" includes a house, household on house trailer, if the taxpayer lives in it.

BOUGHT THESE EXACTLY 6 MONTHS AGO FOR $150. NOW THEY'RE WORTH $300. LET'S SELL 'EM IF YOU WANT UNTIL TOMORROW YOU'LL ONLY BE TAXED ON HALF YOUR GAIN!

more than one place it must be his principal residence. When part of the property is used by the taxpayer as his principal residence, and part is used for business purposes or rented out, only the allocated gain on that part of the property used as the principal residence is not taxed. The gain on the business or rented part of the property must be reported.

For example, if a taxpayer, renting one-third of his residence, sells it for $6000 profit, he must report one-third of the gain, or $2000, but need not report $4000 of the profit if he otherwise complies with the special rules on sale of a residence.

The "selling price of the old residence" is the amount of cash plus notes or other security put on by the purchaser plus any mortgage, trust deed or other indebtedness on the property at the time of the sale which is not paid off as part of the sale. Commissions and other selling expenses are not deducted in order to arrive at the selling price.

What is the purchase price of the new residence? Include in purchase price the gains items as for sale of an old residence. Where any part of the new residence is acquired by gift, the value of such part is not included in determining the purchase price of the new residence.

If you claim the benefit of special rules on the sale of your residence, be sure to attach to Schedule D the information asked for in the official instructions. Even though you haven't purchased a new home by Dec. 31, 1952, if you think you may either buy or build within the required period, you need not report a tax on the profit from the sale of your old residence on your 1952 return.

If it develops that you don't buy or build and occupy a new residence within the specified time, then you must file an amended 1952 tax return and pay a tax on the profit.

Here are some tips to help you fill out Schedule D:

1. After filling in columns 2 and 3 (the date acquired and the date sold) check to make sure all property listed under long-term capital gains and losses was held for more than six months.

2. Put "0" in column 5 (depreciation) unless at some time you reported the property. You must show depreciation for any period during which the property was rented. Watch for Article 9 for instructions on how to compute depreciation.

3. Remember to include in column 6 the cost of any improvements, such as an additional room, front porch or the like. Do not include the cost of repairs and ordinary maintenance such as painting the house. Any cost you include here, reduces your taxable gain.

Your cost or other basis, which also goes in column 6, is what you paid for the property if you bought it. If it was inherited, it is the fair market value at the time you acquired the property.

If it was a gift, include whatever it cost the last person who bought it. Note that if you end up with a capital loss, you cannot show more than $1000 of it on the Form 1040 even though you file a joint return. If you and your wife each have capital losses, you may save money by filing separate returns. Each would then get to deduct his capital losses up to $1000. Work out your tax both ways and use the cheaper method.

SORRY, I'M CLEANED OUT AND WON'T BE ABLE TO RE-PAY THE $1000... WELL, AT LEAST I GET A SHORT-TERM CAPITAL LOSS OUT OF MY LOAN...

The schedule automatically includes only half of any long-term capital gain in taxable income. This half becomes part of your income taxed at the same rate as your other income until you pass the 60 per cent bracket.

That occurs when your adjusted gross income exceeds $14,000 on an individual return or $28,000 on a joint return. Thereafter, no matter how high your income gets, the tax on the reported capital gain is limited to 50 per cent.

After the separate Schedule D is filled out, transfer either the gain or loss to the small Schedule D on page 2 of Form 1040.

Tomorrow's article discusses income from rents, royalties, annuities, pensions and other sources.

Tax Primer Q & A

Q. We sold our house at a substantial profit when my husband was ordered into the Army. We won't buy a new house until he gets out, which will be more than one year from the sale of our old home. Do we have to report the profit?

A. The one year period is suspended for up to four years during the period your husband is in the Army, provided, however, that he serves 90 days or more. That means if he gets out anytime before four years from the sale of your old home, you will have one year from the date he gets out to buy a new one.

Q. I sold some old furniture and clothing that had been stored in the attic for years. Do I have to report the money I received?

A. Only if you sold the property for more than it cost, which is very unlikely. Since this was personal property, you cannot deduct any loss.

Q. I sold my summer house at a $5000 profit and expect to buy a new one. Do I have to report the profit?

A. Yes. You can forget the tax only when you sell your principal residence and purchase or build another within the specified time.

Income From Annuities, Pensions, Rents, Trusts ...

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
NEA Income Tax Expert

The last three schedules for reporting income on Form 1040 are: Schedule E.—Income from Annuities or Pensions.

Schedule F.—Income from Rents and Royalties.

Schedule G.—Income from Estates and Trusts and Other Sources.

This article explains what to report as income in these schedules. And what's even more important, it means the pensions which do not have to be reported as income and tells about expenses which can be deducted from rental income.

Income from pensions, retirement plans, annuities and matured endowment policies are all reported on Schedule E, page 2 of Form 1040.

The idea is to divide any such income into two parts—one representing the actual money you paid into the plan (which is not taxed) and the other representing interest on your money (which is taxed). After you have received back tax-free all the money you put in, then the remaining payments are taxed in full.

Read over the information on pages 8 and 9 of the official instructions and then fill in Schedule E. You may have trouble with lines 1 and 2. Show on line 1 what you paid in, whether as a lump sum, installments or through payroll deductions. Do not include amounts contributed by your employer to the pension fund.

Line 2 calls for the cost received tax-free in prior years. This is the total of the amounts you received in all prior years less the amount you reported as income in those years.

Do not report the following pensions or benefits, as they are not taxable:

Government pensions to veterans or their families.

Social security benefits.

Armed forces retirement pay based on a disability.

Rental income is reported on Schedule F of Form 1040. Money you receive for renting any property must be reported. However, the schedule has columns for deducting expenses so that you are only taxed on the profit.

Read over the section on Rents and Royalties on page 9 of the official instructions. This tells what to report as income and also covers the items you can deduct as expenses. Depreciation is the most difficult expense to compute, especially for those who rent only a room or two in their home.

To compute depreciation, you

NOT ALL PENSIONS AND RETIREMENT PAYMENTS ARE TAXED.

MY PAYMENTS FROM THE VA ARE NOT TAXED. MY DISABILITY PAYMENTS ARE NOT TAXED. MY CIVIL SERVICE RETIREMENT IS TAXED. MY INSURANCE PAYOUT IS TAXED.

WIDOW DISABLED VET. CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEE ELDERLY BUSINESSMAN

must fill out Schedule H and then show that amount in Schedule F.

There are two items which should be carefully determined the first year you use Schedule H. One is the cost or other basis, which goes in column 2 and the other is the estimated life used in accumulating depreciation which goes in column 7.

If you are renting out a house or anything larger, you would be wise to get expert help in setting up columns 2 and 7 the first year. After that, these items usually remain the same.

If, however, you are renting just a part of your house or relatively small items such as house furnishings, the following simple rules for filling out Schedule H will generally satisfy the Bureau:

If you bought your house or other rented property, the "cost or other basis" is what you paid for it. If you inherited the house, it is the fair market value on the day you acquired it. If it was given to you, the "cost or other basis" is the price paid by the last person who bought it.

Land is not depreciable so do not include the value of your lot in the "cost or other basis" of your house. The cost of any major improvements or additions should also be included in "cost or other basis" of your home.

If you are renting two out of six rooms in your house, take one-third of the "cost or other basis" and put that amount in column 2 of Schedule H, after filling out columns 1 and 7. If you rent one out of seven rooms, take one-seventh, and so on.

Next, estimate how many years your house or other rented property will last from the time you first began renting a part of it. The Bureau has found that the average brick house lasts about 40 years from the time it was built and an average frame house about 30 years.

Home furnishings average about 10 years. You can use these estimates as a guide for determining how much longer your property will last. If you think your property will last longer than the above guides, use the longer period. Put the number of estimated years in column 7.

Now divide the amount you put in column 3 by the number of years in column 7. This will give you the depreciation to show in column 9. This same amount is then shown in column 3 of Schedule F.

If, in prior years, the sum of the depreciation you have deducted equals the cost or other basis of the rented property, then you can no longer deduct depreciation on that property.

Note that the instructions say to report room rent as business income in Schedule C if you render services to the occupant. This applies to people operating rooming or boarding houses as a business.

Any remaining items of income are reported on Schedule G. This is the place to report income from an estate or trust, alimony or separate maintenance received under a court order, rewards or prizes, recoveries of bad debts, taxes and losses which reduced your tax in a prior year, and health or accident insurance payments received by you as reimbursements for medical expenses which reduced your tax in a prior year.

The next article takes up some of the items you can deduct to reduce your tax.

Between 1820 and 1830, students at Bowdoin College included Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Nathaniel Hawthorne and Franklin Pierce.

Harvesters Race Past Abilene Eagles 69-53

McNeelymen Boost Win Streak To 12

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa Daily News Sports Editor

The Hustlin' Harvesters helped Coach Clifton McNeely celebrate the first birthday of his twin-sons last night by racing to a 69-53 win over the Abilene Eagles in a vital District I-AAAA contest.

The victory ran the Harvester win streak to 12 straight and their fourth in succession in district play. The Harvesters remain the only unbeaten quint in I-A over the season play but the Green and Golders are tied for the district lead with the Amarillo Golden Sandies, who won their fourth tilt last night without a setback.

The Harvesters and Sandies get together at the Harvester fieldhouse next Saturday night. Prior to that game, however, the Harvesters go to Lubbock Friday night while Amarillo is at Borger on the same night.

In last night's tilt, the Eagles made a game of it through the first six minutes of play. The score was tied at 15-15 at the six-minute mark but the Green and Gold five pulled away at this point and scored ahead, 26-19, at the first quarter mark.

The Eagles never seriously threatened to catch up the final three quarters. The halftime tally stood 43-28 for the Harvesters. At the three quarter stage it was 60-43 for the Pampans.

Jimmy Bond again was the big gun of the Harvester attack, canning 25 points on ten field goals and five gratis tosses. Bond had plenty of assistance from Jon Oden with 14 points and Fred Woods and Bill Webb with 11 each. The Harvesters moved ahead 4-0 in the first minute of play with Webb hitting from the field and Bond sinking two free tosses. Eagle Bob Fry then pulled the Abileneans even at 4-4 by canning a field goal and two shots after two minutes of play.

Oden hit a free toss and Woods a field goal to make it 7-4 before Tommy Estes bucketed one from the field to reduce the margin to 7-6.

The Eagles tied it up again midway through the period at 10-10 on a field goal by Turner and Turner then gave the Eagles their only lead of the night at the 3:30 mark with a gratis toss, putting the Eagles ahead 11-10.

Webb, playing possibly his best game of the year, regained the lead for the Harvesters with a field goal and the Harvesters were never headed although the score was tied on two occasions, 13-13 and 15-15.

Oden and Bond hit two quickies from the field to send the Harvesters ahead, 19-15 and the Harvesters were off to the races. The Eagles did cut the margin to 19-17 on a field goal by Turner and later to 22-19, but Bond and Oden combined again for two field goals to hike the Harvester lead to 26-19 at the first quarter stage.

The closest Abilene came to catching up after the first period was 32-25 three minutes deep in the stanza. The Harvesters, however, collected themselves and boosted their lead to 43-28 at halftime.

Twelve points was the nearest the Eagles could come to catching up in the final two quarters. The Harvesters, after going 17 points ahead after three quarters, 60-43, saw the Eagles pull up to 61-49 and 63-51 but the Harvesters staved off any threat the Eagles might have been cooking up.

Turner was the top point maker for the Eagles with 19 points.

Bob Fry had 14 to share third best point-maker of the game with the Harvesters' Oden. Pampa hit an amazing 63.1 per cent of their field goal attempts, canning 29 of 46 attempts. The Eagles also hit a good percentage, 43.1, making 22 of 51.

Van Cuyk Inks Dodger Pact

BROOKLYN, Jan. 11—UP—The Brooklyn Dodgers have announced the signing of pitcher Chris Van Cuyk and Ron Negray, catcher Steve Lembo, shortstop Jim Pendleton and third baseman Don Hoak for the 1953 season.

Van Cuyk has spent parts of the last three seasons with Brooklyn. He had a 5-6 record with the Dodgers last year, when he also spent part of the campaign with Pueblo of the Western League. He is a 26-year-old left hander.

Negray, a 23-year-old right hander, started the 1952 season as a relief hurler with St. Paul of the American Association but won a starting role and compiled an 11-7 record before being recalled by the Dodgers late in the season. He had no won or lost record with Brooklyn.

Lembo is a 26-year-old who has been in the Brooklyn organization since 1944. He batted only .221 with Fort Worth of the Texas League in 1952 but has a good chance to stay with Brooklyn this year because Manager Charlie Dressen says he plans to carry three catchers.

Pendleton was named to the 1952 International League all-star team after batting .391 and driving in 92 runs in 151 games as Montreal's shortstop. He bats right handed and is 27 years old.

Hoak, also up from Montreal, Frank Shaugnessy of the International League as the best third baseman to perform in the triple A circuit during the past 10 years. He hit .293 and drove in 70 runs in 144 games for the royals in 1952 when he led the league in triples with 15.

Pampa Scribes Alarmed Over Refusal Of Amarillo Scribes To Play Benefit Game

FOR CRYING OUT LOUD was our reaction when Warren Hasse, chairman of the March of Dimes drive in Pampa, informed us that the Amarillo newsmen and newscasters turned down the challenge of the Pampa newsmen for a basketball game for the benefit of the March of Dimes just because they thought they got the worst end of the officiating last year.

Now, if that ain't something? When victory becomes more important than doing something towards helping crippled children to walk, there's something wrong in Denmark.

We weren't around last year when the game was played and of course we can't elaborate on the officiating, but regardless whether the officiating was bad or good, some child possibly learned to walk through the proceeds that came from the game.

And what do the Amarilloans have to gripe about anyway—they won the game didn't they? Hasse offered to play the Sandies scribes on a home-and-home basis and they could get any officials they wanted when the game would be played over there. And they even turned that down.

As we said before, we weren't here last year but from what we've heard about last year's game, it was all in fun and it really didn't matter who won because the proceeds went into the March of Dimes fund either way.

The only difference was that the winning team would get the proceeds to donate to their respective city's March of Dimes fund.

We just can't make ourselves believe that the above reason given is the reason for the Potter

Boys Club Trips Lefors, 8 To 4

LEFORS, Jan. 11—The Pampa Boys Club marched on unbeaten here Saturday night by taking an 8-4 decision over the Lefors High School team.

It was the third win for the Boys Clubbers in five starts with the other two matches ending in draws.

The Boys Club lost the night match of the program last night, Arnold Warner of Lefors deciding Pampa's Carson Watt in the opening bout. But the Boys Club team came back to win the next three matches to go ahead to stay.

Joe Dunn decided Gary Smith for the first Pampa win and then Dickie Wells put Pampa ahead, 2-1, with a decision over Tommy Wald.

Bobby Edwards gave Pampa a 3-1 lead with a TKO over Lefors' James Bigham.

James Warner decided Gary Watt to cut the Pampa lead to 3-2.

The Boys Clubbers then won the next three rights to take a commanding 6-2 lead. Calvin Ervin decided Sonny Bigham, James Weathered decided Cecil Sanders, and Benny Dickerson decided Tex Nolan for three Pampa wins that hiked their lead to 6-2.

Ronnie Rice of Lefors decided Ronnie James of Boys Club to make it 6-3 but Jerry Bruce came back to give Pampa another win, deciding Lefors' Johnny Qualls.

Sooty Davey won the eighth of the night for Boys Club with a decision over Fred Blackwell. The final team match of the night saw Jimmy Pennington of Shamrock, fighting for the Lefors team, decision Pampa's J. N. Wright. Bobby Wilhelm, ace of the Boys Club squad, and Kenneth Woods of Shamrock, fought a three-round exhibition match with no decision awarded.

Jody Coberly and Tommie Smith of Lefors also fought a no-decision exhibition match.

Harvesters Use Fast-Break To Blast Bobcats, 69-55

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa Daily News Sports Writer

The Hustling Harvester cagers ripped the full-court pressing of the San Angelo Bobcats to bits Friday night as they romped to a 69-55 triumph over the tail Bobcat quint.

The win was the Harvesters' 11th in as many starts this season and their third victory in District 1-AAAA play. They went into last night's game against Abilene tied for the 1-4A lead with Amarillo who also posted a 3-9 record.

Amarillo won their third district clash of the year Friday with a 61-54 win over Odessa at Amarillo. In the other two games Friday night, Borger surprised highly-rated Abilene, 65-42, while Lubbock won over cella-dweller Midland, 66-44.

The Bobcats Friday night attempted to bottle up the Harvester scoring attack by covering them all over the court but the Green and Golders escaped a fast break throughout the contest that gave them several crisp shots that befuddled the Bobcat outfit.

The Harvesters possibly turned in their best performance of the year from the standpoint of ball-handling. Their smoothly functioning machine worked wonders in working the ball down-court on the fast breaks.

Despite the ability of the Harvesters to score at will on the fast breaks, the Bobcats never came out of their full-court pressing defense.

Lead From Start
The Harvesters grabbed the lead in the first 15 seconds of play in the Bobcat tilt and were never headed. Fred Woods dropped in a free toss to give the scoring. Jon Oden made it 2-0 with another gift shot at the one minute mark and then Woods taking a long pass from Jimmy Bond who stole a Bobcat pass in the San Angelo end of the court, dribbled under for a crisp shot to hike the Harvester lead to 4-0.

Stirring Harris, one of the Bobcats' stringbean lads at 6-6, gave San Angelo its first point with two minutes gone on a free toss. Milton Nickle then hit the Bobcat field goal seconds later to reduce the Harvester lead to 4-3. That was as close as the San Angolans ever came to catching up as Bond, Billy Webb and Woods hit successive field goals to jump the Harvester lead to 10-3 midway through the first period.

The Harvesters went on to make it 15-3 before the Bobcats scored again. Webb, Oden and Webb again dropped in free tosses and Woods connected from the field to make it 15-3 with two minutes left in the first quarter.

Cuts Lead
San Angelo cut the lead to 17-8 before Bond dribbled under for a crisp on a fast break just as the buzzer sounded ending the first period, giving the Harvesters a 19-9 lead at this point.

The McNeelymen held their advantage throughout the second quarter and went to rest at half-time leading 35-26.

Ram Stars Lead Nationals To Win

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11—A pair of veteran Los Angeles Rams and an ailing fullback with an artistic toe led the National Conference All Stars to a 27 to 7 victory over the American Conference Saturday in the National Professional Football League's third annual Pro Bowl.

Kramer and Sedgman split their first two matches at Los Angeles this week. But Kramer believes he will have to build up an early lead if he is to dominate the 25-year-old Aussie during the swing through 100 U. S. cities, South America, Europe, Africa, Asia and Australia.

"My big hope is to get a sizeable edge on Frank in the early engagements before I begin showing my age," Kramer said.

Sedgman indicated Kramer's age, not his, has impressed him so far.

Kramer, former U. S. and Wimbledon champion who won the last three Pro Bowls, is promoting the 1953 grid. He signed Sedgman, the 1952 U. S. and Wimbledon champion, even if you are the number one guy, if you lose you're looking for a new business.

"If Frank loses, we'll have to be looking for a new Sedgman. If Sedgman wears me out, he's got to find a new partner."

Kramer said his tour with Bobby Riggs in 1949 drew almost 500,000 fans and he hopes to do as well this year to help pay the $75,000 he guaranteed Sedgman and the $25,000 McGregor will get.

Tech 5 Meets H-SU Tuesday
LUBBOCK, Jan. 11 — Hardin Simmons football teams have frequently met Texas Tech gridmen after the Red Raiders had disposed of Southwest Conference foes, but in basketball this season the situation is reversed.

Staged Long Drive
After that, neither team could put together a scoring drive until late in the third period when Harder booted a field goal from the American 23, climaxing a National drive from its own 44 to the American 14 in nine plays.

Graham finally led the American Conference team to a touchdown early in the fourth period with an 82-yard drive in 15 plays, plunging over from the one after sparking the march with passes to Hugh Taylor of Washington and Pete Pihos of Philadelphia.

A few minutes later, however, Harder booted his second field goal of the day from the American 21 after the Nationals had driven from their own 24 in 13 plays.

The Nationals scored again late in the fourth period after Gene Schroeder of the Chicago Bears intercepted a Graham pass on the American 25 and ran back to the 15. Seven plays later Van Brocklin passed to McElhenney in the end zone.

Next: Jimmy Dyles of the Athletics.

Lubbock Grid Banquet Delayed
LUBBOCK, Jan. 11 — Pete Cawthon, athletic director at the University of Alabama, has been forced to postpone a banquet appearance in Lubbock for two weeks.

Reapers Bow To Austin
The Pampa Junior High Reapers dropped their second Panhandle Junior High Conference verdict Friday when the Stephen F. Austin quint of Amarillo handed the young Pampanas a 69-43 defeat.

Buddy Sharp led the Reapers with 14 points, followed by Dickie Mauldin with nine points and Glen Gilmore with eight points.

In other games Friday, Horace Mann of Amarillo handed Phillips its first defeat, 32-29; Borger trimmed Nixon, 47-29 and Borger won over Sam Houston.

Horse Mann, Austin and Borger are now in a three-way tie for first place in the conference standings, each with 3-1 records.

The Top O' Texas Handicap Bowling Tournament for women, sponsored by the Cabot Companies, swings into action this weekend at the Pampa Bowl.

The tourney, which is due to attract some of the leading lady bowlers in Texas and the Southwest will run on two consecutive weekends, starting this week.

The first portion of the tournament will be conducted next Saturday and Sunday with the latter portion to be held the same two days of the week the following week.

Cash prizes and trophies will go to the winners. The tournament will have three events, team play, doubles and singles.

Kramer Even With Sedgman In Net Tour

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—UP—Jack Kramer, confident but aware of his third straight victory over Ken McGregor, Sedgman's Australian teammate, in the opening match at 1 p. m. est. Kramer and Sedgman meet the Australians in doubles in the final match on the program.

Kramer and Sedgman split their first two matches at Los Angeles this week. But Kramer believes he will have to build up an early lead if he is to dominate the 25-year-old Aussie during the swing through 100 U. S. cities, South America, Europe, Africa, Asia and Australia.

"My big hope is to get a sizeable edge on Frank in the early engagements before I begin showing my age," Kramer said.

Sedgman indicated Kramer's age, not his, has impressed him so far.

Kramer, former U. S. and Wimbledon champion who won the last three Pro Bowls, is promoting the 1953 grid. He signed Sedgman, the 1952 U. S. and Wimbledon champion, even if you are the number one guy, if you lose you're looking for a new business.

"If Frank loses, we'll have to be looking for a new Sedgman. If Sedgman wears me out, he's got to find a new partner."

Kramer said his tour with Bobby Riggs in 1949 drew almost 500,000 fans and he hopes to do as well this year to help pay the $75,000 he guaranteed Sedgman and the $25,000 McGregor will get.

Staged Long Drive
After that, neither team could put together a scoring drive until late in the third period when Harder booted a field goal from the American 23, climaxing a National drive from its own 44 to the American 14 in nine plays.

Graham finally led the American Conference team to a touchdown early in the fourth period with an 82-yard drive in 15 plays, plunging over from the one after sparking the march with passes to Hugh Taylor of Washington and Pete Pihos of Philadelphia.

A few minutes later, however, Harder booted his second field goal of the day from the American 21 after the Nationals had driven from their own 24 in 13 plays.

The Nationals scored again late in the fourth period after Gene Schroeder of the Chicago Bears intercepted a Graham pass on the American 25 and ran back to the 15. Seven plays later Van Brocklin passed to McElhenney in the end zone.

Lubbock Grid Banquet Delayed
LUBBOCK, Jan. 11 — Pete Cawthon, athletic director at the University of Alabama, has been forced to postpone a banquet appearance in Lubbock for two weeks.

Reapers Bow To Austin
The Pampa Junior High Reapers dropped their second Panhandle Junior High Conference verdict Friday when the Stephen F. Austin quint of Amarillo handed the young Pampanas a 69-43 defeat.

Buddy Sharp led the Reapers with 14 points, followed by Dickie Mauldin with nine points and Glen Gilmore with eight points.

In other games Friday, Horace Mann of Amarillo handed Phillips its first defeat, 32-29; Borger trimmed Nixon, 47-29 and Borger won over Sam Houston.

Horse Mann, Austin and Borger are now in a three-way tie for first place in the conference standings, each with 3-1 records.

Parks To Battle Funk In Feature

Dory Funk, the hot tempered boss of the Flying Mare ranch will meet an opponent in Tuesday night's main event on the Southern Club Sports Arena that may well give him the roughest battle he has ever had in Pampa, and that covers some rugged matches. Harp Parks, the cagey Canadian, takes on Dory Funk in the two out of three fall, one hour time limit.

Both Funk and Parks are getting quite a name for themselves for "dirty" wrestling. Harp Parks drew the wrath of the fans in last week's matches for his rough tactics against Whitey Walberg.

This main event promises some of the fastest action seen in the local arena, as both Parks and Funk are extremely fast. Parks, fresh from a near-defeat over Danny McShain, is fast earning the respect of both the grapplers and fans as a top contender for Ivan Kalmikoff's title.

Carlos Moreno, the terrific 210 pounder from Mexico City, makes his second appearance in the local ring Tuesday and collides with Cowboy Carlson in a 2 out of 3 fall, one hour event. Carlson, co-owner of the tag team weighed about ten pounds and will have his hands full.

Moreno took young Ray Urbano in his first match here, and made a great hit with the fans for his clean, fast wrestling. Carlson, famous for his "mule kick" and bull-dog hold, will need all the tricks in the bag against the out-sized Latin-American.

Along with the double main event will be a preliminary match of one fall, 20 minutes between Whitey Walberg, the powerful Ohioan, and Frankie Hart, another Canadian. Frankie Hart wrestled here last spring and was one of the most popular wrestlers ever to contend here. His style is strictly scientific, when it can be, but he can become as vicious as any.

Tickets will be on sale all day Tuesday at the Sportsman's Store until 7:00 p. m. and at the Southern Club from 7 on. Tickets are $1.00 general admission, $1.50 reserved bleachers, $1.50 ringside—and 50-cents-for-children under 12.

Ox Higgins Dies Suddenly

AUSTIN, Jan. 11 — UP — C. L. (Ox) Higgins, prominent Southwest sports figure, collapsed and died Friday night at Lockhart while watching a high school basketball tournament.

The sporting goods executive, a former star University of Texas athlete, died in the stands as Austin high school's reserve team snared a 48-45 victory over San Marcos.

Higgins' eldest son, Mike, 17, was in the dressing room with the Austin team when his father died. At the tournament with Higgins were two other children, Pat, 11, and Alane, 9.

Widely known over the Southwest as a star for track meets, Higgins had been president of the C&S Sporting Goods Co. since 1932.

He was a freshman football coach at the University of Texas before joining C&S, a firm that operates stores in Austin, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

In addition to lettering in basketball, Higgins starred on the gridiron for three years and was an all-Southwest Conference tackle in 1927.

Survivors include his wife, the children, Mike, Pat, Alane and Ernie, 14; his mother, Mrs. Frank Higgins of Austin, and two brothers, Frank (Pinky) Higgins, former major league baseball player, and Jimmy Higgins, Dallas.

Will Take It — Fred Woods, with ball, gets a rebound under the San Angelo Bobcat goal in Friday night's Harvester-Bobcat game and is holding it out of reach of two pursuing Bobcats, Jerry Jones, No. 22, and Milton Nickle, No. 28. Jimmy Bond of the Harvesters, No. 11, is standing by to aid Woods while Billy Webb, No. 44, breaks for the Harvester goal. It was fast breaks that had much to do with the Harvesters emerging with a 69-55 victory in the district 1-AAAA contest. (News Photo)

Scarbath Top Back On Pro Football Draft Lists

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—UP—The quarterback-starved National Football League was an odds-on choice Friday to make Maryland's Jack Scarbath the "bonus" pick in the 1953 draft of college football players.

Hardly a team in the circuit had enough signal callers, and the situation was made even more critical when three veterans, Washington's Sammy Baugh, San Francisco's Frankie Albert, and Los Angeles' Bob Waterfield, retired at the end of the 1952 season.

Thus Scarbath, who won All-American honors as Maryland's top player last year, won top mention on nearly every pro scouting list.

Other signal callers also were apt to be high in the picking this year when the league meeting convenes at Philadelphia Jan. 22. Among the standouts were Texas' T. Jones, Oklahoma's Eddie Crowder, Charlie Maloy of Holy Cross, Ted Marzullo of Detroit, and Dale Sam-

Two other quarterbacks probably would have been high on the list, perhaps challenging Scarbath for "bonus" honors, but both Tommy O'Connell of Illinois and Harry Agganis of Boston College will be unavailable. O'Connell was drafted by the Chicago Bears a year ago after his original college class graduated, while Agganis was expected to skip pro football for a baseball career with the Boston Red Sox.

Six of the 12 National League teams were eligible to get the "bonus" selection: Cleveland, San Francisco, Green Bay, Pittsburgh, the Chicago Cardinals and the Dallas franchise, expected to switch to Baltimore.

The names of these clubs will be placed in a hat and the one pulled out will get first choice to open the draft meeting.

All other clubs in the loop have had a "bonus" pick in the past and hence will not be eligible to

Castellani Seeks Middleweight Title

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—UP—Rocky Castellani will move on to another middleweight elimination bout on Feb. 6 as a reward for his hit-and-run victory over Ralph (Tiger) Jones in their return bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., fifth ranking contender for the vacant middleweight crown, will meet Pierre Langlois of France at the Garden on Feb. 6.

Brown-haired, rangy Rocky won a split 10-round decision over Dusky Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., Friday night before 5,540 fans. It was a repeat victory over the plodding body-puncher, whom he had outpointed at the Ridgewood Grove Club last March 5.

Castellani, the 7-5 favorite, ran State, Harry Babcock, Georgia, and Tom Scott, Virginia, linebackers Dick Tamburo, Michigan State, Flowers, Purdue, Ed Bell, Pennsylvania, Paul Dekker, Michigan center Tom Catlin, Oklahoma, and circled and jabbed and hooked and held in the nationally televised bout Friday night. But he landed the most punches, even though eighth-ranking Jones forced the fighting in every round and gashed Rocky's left brow in the third session.

Castellani out-weighted the 24-year-old Yonkers Negro 160½ pounds to 154½, but it was his foot-speed and hand-speed that determined the outcome. Rocky's frantic footwork usually kept Jones at such a distance that he was unable to bombard the Rock's midriff successfully.

First NY Giant Inks Contract
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—UP—Eddie Price, the 187-pound New York Giant fullback who succeeded Steve Van Buren of Philadelphia as the National Football League's top ball carrier, Saturday became the first member of the club to sign a 1953 contract. In his three pro campaigns, Price has gained a total of 2,422 yards.

Richards Believes Chisox Can Unseat Yankees In 1953 Race

Editors note: This is another in a series of interviews with major league managers.

By ED FITE
WAXAHACHIE, Tex., Jan. 11.—UP—Paul Richards declares his Chicago White Sox could be the team to break up the Yankees' pennant-monopoly in 1953.

Richards has ordered a mid-January reporting date at Fort Pierce, Fla., for some of his more promising rookies and is confident he can put a bit more spit and polish on them and improve some of his older hands enough to challenge the world champion New York Yankees for the American League flag in 1953.

The popular Sox manager, lounging at his home here between golf games, refused to put either the Yankees or Cleveland ahead of his bustling club as far as next season is concerned and warned that not only the White Sox, but Philadelphia, Washington, Boston and maybe even the St. Louis Browns might be ready to step into the picture should Casey Stengel let his Bronx bombers slip a little.

"We didn't put together enough punch with our pitching at the right time to catch the front-runners last season," Richards said of his club whose pitchers held the opposition to 3.25 earned runs per game to lead the circuit in that respect.

Town Buzzing After Cager Buckets 116 Points In Game

RIO GRANDE, Ohio, Jan. 11.—UP—This town, once known as the home of the college with the longest football losing streak in the country, Saturday buzzed with the excitement of being in the basketball limelight.

Saturday it is joy instead of sadness for in lanky Clarence (Bevo) Francis, Rio Grande College has a freshman who is putting national scoring records into the books.

"There's no telling what may happen next," they said as they talked about Bevo's latest exploits.

Bevo led the way Friday night as his team defeated Ashland Junior College of Ashland, Ky. The score was 150 to 85. The 150 points was the most ever scored by a college basketball team in one game. The combined total equaled the record for a college game.

Scores 116 Points
Bevo scored 116 points. That was a record for one player in a single game. It enabled local people to boast that Bevo broke the record for small college players set by Rio Grande's Jack Duncan in 1941 when he hit 87 points. It topped the major college record of 85 points set by Paul Arizin of Villanova against a service team in 1949.

Are Baseball Ills Actually Remedied During Off-Season?

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—UP—Through some unexplained quirk, baseball illis and ailments suddenly are "remedied" over the winter.

A ballplayer can fall down a flight of stairs in August, crack three vertebrae and tear three quarters of the cartilage in his body, but he vows he's "as good as new"—maybe even a little better—when January rolls around.

Let's take little Bobby Shantz, the fractured arm when hit by one of Walt Masterson's fast balls late in September.

From his Lincoln, Neb., home, Shantz already has reported that he has recovered from his accident and believes he can throw as well as ever.

Far-Off Confirmation
To make it official, Jimmy Dykes, the Athletics' manager who lives in north Hollywood, Calif., more than 1,500 miles from Lincoln, volunteers the information that "Shantzle will be just as good as he was before. His injury is all healed."

Could be, and everyone hopes so, of course, but it seems as if all those ailments get better far faster in the winter than in the summer.

It is the same way with Ned Garver, the baby-faced right-hander Detroit acquired from the Browns last season.

Garver won only one game for the Tigers, beating the Browns whose batting weaknesses he knew by heart. He was little more than excess baggage as he nursed a sore arm the remainder of the year.

Now, however, comes a heartening report from the Browns that the once sore member "feels swell" and it is so limber again, indeed, that he is using it to signal fouls with as a collegiate basketball referee.

Break Makes Ankle Stronger
The other day, Monte Irvin signed his Giant contract for 1953 and took the occasion to proclaim that the ankle he broke in a spring training accident last April, is stronger than ever Friday.

What strengthened it? The winter's rest, of course.

Not long ago Sal Maglie of the Giants reported from Niagara Falls, N.Y., that the back condition which plagued him last summer no longer does now.

The lone "holdout" in the wintry "good news" department is Giant pitcher Larry Jansen, known as the strong, silent type, anyway. Jansen also was troubled with a bad back last summer and did practically no pitching the last six weeks of the campaign.

Richards was high on Rocco Kramlich, the rookie who closed out the season at third base in such commendable fashion.

"He's an exceptional fielder," Richards said, "and while he may not hit much for awhile, he's a good clutch man. Why, he drove in the winning run for us in six games in less than two months despite his .231 average."

If Kramlich bears out Richards' hopes, it means that Orestes Minoso will stay in the outfield along with Jim Rivera and Sam Mele instead of being brought in to third base for another trial.

The rest of the infield is set, Richards said, with Ed Robinson at first; Nelson Fox, the league's top hit collector, at second, and Chico Carrasquel at short.

Not Loafing
Richards discounted talk of Carrasquel loafing last season and said the far-ranging Venezuelan never hit top speed after suffering a hand injury that sent him to Memphis for a spell of recuperation.

Sherm Lollar still is being counted on for most of the catching, but Richards said that rookie Darrell Johnson was coming along fine.

Bill Wilson, now playing in Cuba after finishing a two-year stretch in service, may break into the outfield, Richards said in painting a glowing tale of the former Memphis graduate.

Richards classed 14-game winner Saul Rogovin and lefty Bill Pierce, who won 15, as the anchors of his mound staff and said he hoped the somewhat older twosome of Joe Dobson and Mary Grissom, who won 26 games between them, would hold that pace.

He said he hoped to find a starter or two from a group made up of Lou Kretlow and three newcomers—STL outfielders and of Lou Kretlow and three newcomers—Bob Keegan, up from Syracuse; Tommy Byrne, acquired from the St. Louis Browns; and Mike Fornieles, a young Cuban obtained from Washington in a trade for Chuck Stobbs.

(Next: Edle Stanky of the Cardinals).

Bevo's teammates fed him the ball all the way. There was no bitterness on the part of his teammates. They grabbed him when the final whistle blew, hoisted him to their shoulders and carried him off the floor.

Francis scored his 116 points on 47 field goals and 22 free throws. That's an average of better than a field goal a minute and a free throw every two minutes.

NEW CHURCH in Pampa, the Evangelistic Tabernacle, 324 S. Starkweather, is scheduled to hold its opening services at 8:45 a.m. today. Under construction for the past month, it is located on the site of Ward's Cabinet Shop and will have as its pastor, Rev. R.F. Miller, present pastor of the Light House Mission, members of which helped solicit contributions. (News Photo)

January Is C-C Month In Canadian

CANADIAN (Special)—January might well be called "Chamber of Commerce Month" in Canadian. The membership committee is actively seeking pledges to meet an increased budget for 1953, while the banquet committee is working out details for the annual installation meeting tentatively scheduled for Thursday night, January 29.

The C of C directors, in a called meeting, approved $4,500 in which it sought to earmark funds for all phases of the entire year's work so that special solicitations during the year might be avoided.

In the year's budget, in addition to administrative expenses, rent, office supplies, etc., are $300 for the annual Christmas dinner-Livestock Show scheduled for February, a $175 fund for the girls Future Homemakers Association; $125 for the annual banquet (to cover costs in excess of ticket sales); $100 for Highway 60 and 83 Associations; $225 for membership in West Texas and U.S. Chambers of Commerce; $450 for the annual Community Christmas Program; and $200 for a projected Labor Day celebration.

Ben R. Ezzell is president of the C of C; Erbin Crowell, vice-president; and John Wilkinson, secretary.

Approximately 50,000 persons sleep in Pullman cars on the nation's railroads each night of the year.

New Church In Pampa Holds First Sunday Services Today

Opening of a new Pampa church, the Evangelistic Tabernacle, 324 S. Starkweather, has been scheduled for 9:45 a.m. today.

Located on the site of Ward's Cabinet Shop, the old building was built up and remodeled by contributions of Pampa merchants through the efforts of members of the Light House Mission, 1124 S. Wilcox.

Pastor of the new tabernacle will be Rev. R. F. Miller, who will retain his position of Light House Mission pastor, according to Mrs. James A. Burgess, Mission worker.

Purpose of the new building is to provide a place for visiting evangelists to preach. Too, Mrs. Burgess explained, there was a problem of being overcrowded in the Light House Mission.

Still incomplete, the job has already cost an estimated $8,000, Mrs. Burgess said. Purchase price of the old building was $4,500 and another $3,500 has been spent on remodeling, part of it on credit. "At least $4,000 more" will be needed on the work, she continued, before the job is completed.

That means, she went on, that about $6,000 of the total $12,000 is still unsubscribed. The Light House Mission is appealing to area residents for "contributions whether large or small."

During the Christmas holidays, Mrs. Burgess said, the Light House Mission aided more than 100 needy families and passed out an estimated 2,000 articles of clothing. The Mission does not make any organized drive for funds, relying on personal contacts.

All persons are invited to the opening services in the Evangelistic Tabernacle today.

Wood pleaded guilty late Friday after being handed over to county authorities by city police.

Man Sentenced In Weapon Charge

Burlus W. Wood, 25, Pampa, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr., for illegal possession and carrying a hand-chain.

Police picked Wood up Thursday morning near Foster and Hobart and discovered the chain when he attempted to flip it in back of police car. Police had been looking for him following notification that he had been in a fight earlier at the Belvedere Club, W. Alcock and had beaten up R. M. Whoten, also of Pampa.

Wood pleaded guilty late Friday after being handed over to county authorities by city police.

Appeal Slated By Defense In Life Sentence Of Mrs. Smith

TOKYO, Jan. 11—UP—Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, 40-year-old daughter of a retired four-star general, was sentenced Saturday to life imprisonment at hard labor for the premeditated murder of her husband, Col. Aubrey D. Smith.

Army defense counselors announced immediately they would appeal the sentence and the verdict of a nine-officer court martial which by a six to three vote found Mrs. Smith guilty of murdering her 45-year-old husband Oct. 3 with a 10-inch hunting knife.

"It will be carried all the way to the President of the United States, if necessary," special counsel Brig. Gen. Adam Richmond (Ret.) said. "We have definite hope."

The court martial rejected the defense claim that the daughter of retired Gen. Walter Krueger of San Antonio, Tex., was insane and possibly under the influence of drugs when she killed her husband with the hunting knife as he slept in their Tokyo home.

For "Natural Life" An hour after the court martial returned its verdict, the trial president, Maj. Gen. Joseph Sullivan, his voice quivering and barely audible in the bleak Army-barrack courtroom, sentenced the attractive brunette "to be confined at hard labor for the term of her natural life." If the verdict of guilty had been unanimous, the death sentence would have been mandatory under Army law.

The prosecution claimed in the six-day trial that Mrs. Smith fatally stabbed her husband because he felt she was hurting his professional career and wanted to send her back to the United States.

Defense attorney Lt. Col. Howard S. LeVie said Saturday a reversal of the verdict would be sought on the grounds the Army court ceased to have jurisdiction over Mrs. Smith when her soldier husband died. The defense contended Mrs. Smith should have been tried by a civil court.

The commanding general of the Army's Headquarters and Service Command in Tokyo, Brig. Gen. Onslow Rolfe, confirms the court's verdict and sentence and then forwards them to a military review board in Washington.

Mrs. Smith heard the sentence with little emotion. She walked out of the courtroom with LeVie, her head down to avoid photographers.

She was taken to a guard cell in the mental ward of an Army hospital here, where she has been held since the murder and during the long examination of her sanity.

She will be held at the hospital until the trial record is reviewed. Her attorneys said they believed she then would be transferred to a state hospital in the United States while the case goes through Washington appeal channels.

Just before the board left the court to consider its verdict, Mrs. Smith screamed "no" as the prosecutor said she was seeking freedom while her husband "lay moldering in his grave."

Although the technical charge of "reckless driving" has been deemed unconstitutional, all city, county and state law officers intend to enforce the law—to the hilt.

Instead of citing a law-breaker on that general charge, according to Police Chief Jim Conner, officers on the scene of a car collision will merely be more specific on their reports.

There are plenty of charges for which a person can be cited, Conner said—including speeding, failure to grant the right-of-way and driving on the wrong side of the street.

County authorities and state highway patrolmen echo Conner's intention of continued strictness in the enforcement of the law.

Although the state court of criminal appeals ruled a "reckless driving" charge unconstitutional in October, official word of it from the state department of public safety only came through to the Pampa area in the past few days, Conner explained.

The "reckless driving" charge was contained in Art. 5, Sec. 51, of the Uniform Act regulating traffic on the highways, passed by the legislature in 1947.

Texaco Venture Proves Successful

HOUSTON, Jan. 11—(UP)—A third attempt for a discovery has apparently paid off and the Texas Company Saturday announced completion of the Well Bay Jimpop No. 3-2 in Terrebonne parish, La., a gas well.

The well, owned jointly by the Texas Company and Union Oil Company of California, produced at a rate of 63 barrels of oil daily through a quarter inch choke.

It was shut in with tubing pressure of 4,400 pounds. Drilling went to 13,812 feet with perforations at 12,666 and 12,682 feet.

The company said the gas-oil ratio was 65,731 to one. Corrected to the Bay Jimpop 3-2.

The Texas Company first attempted to strike a discovery in 1928 and the current effort is the third time it has entered the Jimpop area.

The nearest production is in Dog Lake field which is 10 miles east

R. E. Senterfitt Moving Into Historic Second State Term

AUSTIN, Jan. 11—UP—Speaker Reuben E. Senterfitt of San Saba will move into a history-making second term as presiding officer of the House of Representatives when the 53rd Texas Legislature convenes Tuesday.

Senterfitt, a balding 35-year-old Navy veteran, will become the second man in Texas history to succeed himself as speaker.

The first to turn the trick was former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, who held the gavel-wielding post in 1933 and 1935.

Senterfitt, assured of re-election without opposition after the withdrawal of Rep. Bill Daniel of Liberty, surprised legislators in his first term two years ago when he announced committee assignments on the opening day of the session.

Committee appointments traditionally are not announced until the session has been underway for two or three weeks, meaning that lawmakers in the lower chamber have undergone a "cooling off" period of little work.

Senterfitt promised to announce the slate of 729 appointments to 43 House committees "as early in the session as I possibly can," but was not sure he could repeat the opening-day trick of two years ago. "Naturally, I'd like to do it the first day," he added, "I hope I can."

However, Senterfitt said he is abandoning a policy he established two years ago of barring from membership on the important appropriations committee any member whose district included any state-supported institution.

The policy automatically severed big-city representation from the powerful spending group, and drew criticism from many lawmakers.

Senterfitt, entering his seventh term as a member of the House, served during World War II in communications with the Seventh Fleet and was separated from the service with the rank of Lieutenant Junior Grade.

He made what probably was the longest trip ever taken by a Texas lawmaker to return directly to legislative duties, flying from the Dutch East Indies in 1945 to take his seat in the lower chamber.

Senterfitt was graduated with top honors from the University of Texas Law School in 1940. He is married and has three adopted children.

Peg O' Pampa

IT IS SO NICE to settle back down to the old routine and not have that rushing here and there having to do this and that like we all did during the holidays. Instead, with the whole new year ahead of you get that "plenty of time" feeling. Like having that second cup of coffee after you get your husband off to work and the kids off to school.

MY FAVORITE LITTLE SPARROW informed Peg that quite a few Pampans turned out to hear Horace Heidt over in Amarillo last week. The James Evanses, Frank Fatas, James Leverichs, Bill Davies, George Snells, Tom Rosses, Bob Carmichael, Bob Baldwin, Price Dosters, Harold Rineharts, Tex Evanses, James Washingtons, Loretta Robinson, Mable Davis, Leora Rose, and Vera Davis were among Pampans applauding the show. Understand the performance was so good and, of course, the work Heidt is doing in giving young people a break in show business is most commendable.

SUPPOSE YOU HAVE HEARD by now that Pampa's fifth elementary school is being named Lamar after the second president of the Texas Republic. The school, to be located in the southwest part of town, has been needed for such a long time due to the crowded conditions in the elementary grades.

THE MARCH OF DIMES drive is certainly getting off to a big start. The young'uns brought home their own little cards with the "slots" for the dimes. It makes the youngsters feel right proud to have a part in making other children well from polio. The youngest has already informed Peg that he has found a can so he can start saving his money for the drive next year.

JUST FINISHED READING "The Silver Chalice" by Thomas B. Costain—a wonderful story and Peg was interested to find that the Delta Kappa Gamma is sponsoring Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer of Dallas, in a review of this book January 19 in the Woodrow Wilson School auditorium. Miss Oppenheimer is considered one of America's best book reviewers, and the date should be circled on your calendar.

UNDERSTAND THAT Henry L. Scott, noted interpreter of modern music, will be the guest entertainer Tuesday night at the Knife and Fork Club meeting. Have heard that Scott is very "tricky" on the piano. . . playing a composition along and all of a sudden in the middle of everything he puts on gloves without missing a note of the piece he is playing.

PAMPA PANORAMA: The nearly "June in January" weather we have been having. Mrs. Malcolm (Betty) Wyatt, stunning in a wine suit, winter white hat, and beautiful mink cape. . . Becky Schumeman, busy decorating her house. . . Charles Thomas, on his way back to Carmel, California. . . Dark and attractive Margaret Deer and husband, Zenas, and family in their new home on Hamilton (that cute red-trimmed gray house on the corner of Hamilton and Kentucky). . . Louise and Tom Reed—dear, dear, dear—leaving today for Drumright, Okla. . . The adorable Mrs. Mary Grady (Mrs. Creel) wears most of which are made by her mother. . . The Ralph Sidwells, Ralph Gardner, Homer Johnsons, and C. V. Timmons host and hostesses for the Country Club's monthly dance last night. . . Congratulations to the Carl Langs—parents of a boy, . . . and the Mike Shepkins on the birth of their first girl, . . . Jean and Charlie Cook in Chicago on a business "n' pleasure trip. . . The Girl and Boy Scouts working hard on the March of Dimes campaign along with the various civic and social groups (like that clothes line idea of the Girl Scouts). . . Community Concerters enjoying the performance of Frances Yeend Friday night. . . Knitting those tiny garments—the Lee Moore, Jr.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT that some of the very sayings we take for granted such as "the apple of my eye" or "abson in body, but present in spirit" . . . sayings that you probably heard all your life, . . . came from the Bible? And about the leopard changing his spots; to eat, to drink, and to be merry; in the twinkling of an eye; the love of money is the root of all evil; a man after his own heart; and many more. Was looking up a quotation and just ran across a few of these. Do you know of any more?

Sing A Song Of Months
January — snow and ice;
February — sometimes nice;
March — winds fly away your kite;
April — rain, then sunny, bright;
May — will give us lovely flowers;
June — warm days, and play-filled hours;
July — holidays we love;
August — sun shines hot above;
September — school—sleepy-head;
October — apples, rosy-red;
November — skiing on the run;
December — wintertime and fun!

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Early one afternoon, after setting four-year-old Toby for his nap, young Mrs. Williams walked to her mother-in-law's house. She took a bus downtown to the corner where she had worked before her marriage, and got her old job back.
That evening, her knees shaking, she broke the news to her husband and his mother. Her cries were unsteady. Young Mrs. Williams said, "If it's been Jesse—well, he's been keeping Fred, Toby and me from a home of our own. I'm going to help get the money."
Some months later, she got it. But when she had bought the home she had wanted so, she discovered that she also had an unhappy, angry little son to put into it. And she began to wonder if she'd made a terrible mistake.
Exhausted, bewildered after one of Toby's screaming tantrums she'd think wildly, "Oh, what have I done? He hates me for leaving him to go to work. This is what I get for wanting a home so much. What have I done to my baby?"
Young Mrs. Williams, so well grounded in grammar, history, none anything — except to emulate that famous little monkey who squats with his two brothers on mantels, his paws light over his eyes and sees no evil.
Young Mrs. Williams, so well ballroom dancing, stenography and other subjects considered essential to her social survival, has never had five minutes' instruction in the intricacies of hate.
Though emotionally aware that her husband's mother has resentment losing a son to his independent home, nobody had ever told her that we have to use our heads as well as our eyes when we hate.
She would have been shocked if anyone had said, "Take precautions against jealousy."
So she had no idea that Toby bit her and screamed because jealousy had said to him, "Don't go looking for your mother out of the window, like that. She doesn't love you. Mothers who love children stay at home to take care of them. They don't go to work."
A psychiatrist had to remove the thorn of planted terror for Toby. After he had time to recover, young Mrs. Williams' small son was able to believe that his mother loved him, and he could kiss her goodnight again.
But hate shouldn't have been able to get away with it. It wouldn't have if young Mrs. Williams' education had not been so badly neglected.
Someday we are going to be wise enough to talk about hate to our children as openly and impersonally as we tell them about matches and red traffic lights.
Perhaps our physical hygiene teachers will be able to take a little time to tell students how hate can be diagnosed. Then young mothers like Toby's won't be hurt when they are exposed to it. They'll say to themselves, "I am made to feel worthless, stupid, selfish and clumsy. I guess someone's sick with hate around here."
They will then take precautions, washing the hate from everything that is handed to them. They will either immunize themselves or move away from the con-

Methodist WSCS Begins New Study

First Methodist Church circles began new studies at the first Women's Society of Christian Service meetings held this week.
Circle One met in the home of Mrs. J. O. Dumas with 17 present. The study, "African Heritage," was introduced by Mrs. Harry Hoyle, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson and Mrs. Luther Pierson. Mrs. Hutchinson gave the devotional and prayer. The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. B. Homer, 1327 Charles.
Circle Two met in the home of Mrs. Walter Purviance. The meeting was opened with the singing of "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Mrs. Joe Shelton, circle chairman, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. R. K. Elkins, supplies chairman, announced a box is being made up for the Harwood Girl's School, Albuquerque, N. M. Mrs. G. F. Branson, WSCS president, visited the circle and made announcements concerning the Council of Church Women and the Worker's Sub-District meeting. Mrs. B. F. Jackson led the devotional. Mrs. J. G. Lyons began the study, using the text "Toward Understanding the Bible." Sixteen members were present. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Joe Shelton.
Mrs. Sherman White was hostess to Circle Three. The chairman, Mrs. R. W. Lane, presided and gave a devotional appropriate to the New Year. This was followed by prayer by Mrs. T. M. Johnston. Mrs. M. E. Cooper presented the new Bible study titled, "Toward Understanding the Bible." Fifteen members were present and a new member, Mrs. George Nelson, the meeting adjourned, and will meet with Mrs. S. C. Evans at 1800 Charles on Jan. 21.
Circle Four met in the home of Mrs. H. P. Dossier Sr. Mrs. Glen Radcliff, circle chairman, had charge of the business meeting. Mrs. John Hesse gave an over-all picture of Africa and her people. The map of Africa flanked with lighted candles behind an open Bible made up the worship center. Mrs. Carlton Nance told about the Southern part of Africa. Mrs. Price Dossier gave the story of Philip Cambarne on his pilgrimage of Africa. Mrs. Tom Cook brought the devotional "Out of Egypt I Call My Son," St. Matthew 2:15. Mrs. John Hodge gave the closing prayer. Eleven members were present. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Nance.
Circle Five met in the home of Mrs. Jack Foster. There were eight members and one visitor. Mrs. Foster's mother, Mrs. J. B. Veale, chairman, presided at the business session. Mrs. Ed Williams, study leader, presented the taminated area. They will not feel ashamed of their desire to live in a wholesome place.
The monkey with his paws over his eyes is a dangerous little animal. We should remove him from the mantel piece where children can see him and grow fond of him. If we want something on the mantel piece to replace him we might try framing this Biblical Proverb: "Let thine eyes look right on and let thine eyelids look straight before thee."

Resort Fashions Show Slim Silhouette, Pleats, Separates, Elongated Lines

Leisure has nothing haphazard about it these days; it's something to count on, something to plan for, as a perfectly reasonable part of today's living. Nothing haphazard about the clothes for today's leisure either. This leisure is the essence of today's resort clothes. Functional, yes, but not so that you notice it. These resort clothes make going places and doing things more fun.
After thoroughly reviewing the clothes that manufacturers are showing for the coming resort season, the fashion editors of Women's Wear Daily note that there is a feeling of more in the sportswear picture for resort and cruise, 1953. They find that there are more types of separates to mix into your wardrobe; much more variety in sundresses, plus variety in cover-ups for bare shoulders. There is also variety in silhouette — the new, easy lines which is based on a columnar line, the molded midriff which shows off a waistline.
The slim silhouette is unquestionably the new silhouette, and in sportswear is seen mostly in sheath-like two-pieces of tweed or flannel, in slim straight hanging coats, in the long-line swimsuit, in a few slinky dressy separates. The big difference between 1952 and 1953 is that the very full gathered skirt is passe. The silhouette is cut down a good 20 degrees on each side.
Pleats are still a big talking point, especially in the Orion and wool combinations which have such remarkable staying power. Pleated skirts are generally slim, sometimes evenly pleated all around, but more often a novelty grouping of pleats.
Dresses Are Slim
All the way, the "softer look" is a basic style point in dresses for resort wear. The costume look is a signature, according to Women's Wear Daily, using a raft of little jackets and companion stoles for daywear. This involves the dressmaker travel or cruise suit as well as dress. Boxy hipbone cuts are top fashion news in the jacket categories. There is, however, another strong season coming up for the cropped bolero or Spencer jacket. "Stay-on" is a vital word for stole coverups by way of one-sleeve or one-shoulder or cape or wrap for the removable. A lot of stoles are part of the dress.
Stoles match dresses. On the other hand, there is a large crop of jackets that are not matching, designed for wear with other dresses. Added attractions for these jackets are beads, pearls, sequins, metallic embroideries or appliques, rhinestones, glitter.
Print silks are major phases of the resort story in dresses. Many more this year, ranging from a giant crop of flower garden designs to individual novelties for all hours of the day or night. Natural color, and often natural size, flowers are top features in prints.
Deep stand-away turtlenecks endorse the very bare look in fashions so typical of the season's knit story in everything from the littlest sweaters to the dresses with jackets are an important entry in resort knitwear, holding a spot for town or evening wear. Off shoulder deeply cutout front and back, they are an exciting new chapter sparkling with stones and beads, gently outlined in angora.
Soft And Full Skirted
Softer silhouettes and softer fabrics get their biggest boost in resort-cruise evening fashions, Women's Wear Daily fashion experts point out. While full skirts are first choice, the slim silhouette is also represented, specifically in dressy and after-five linen costumes, or in white beaded crepe sheaths with the dress cut bare at top.
Chiffons, silk prints, manipulated crepes, laces, supple jerseys and nylon tulles — these are the top fabric features for resort evenings. All project the softer look with full skirts.
Much draping goes with the softer silhouette. Cow necklines and crisscross draped bustlines, draped hiplines and polonaise sashes come up strongly for evening. Laiter ars special means for easing the look of a sheath. Short lengths rule for evening, meaning 19 inches from the floor or the newer "waltz" length of seven inches from the floor.
More Latitude
The joy of separates is their flexibility says Women's Wear Daily. The very fact that they are "costumes in pieces" allows for latitude in the combination of fabrics and in the character of the individual parts that are worn together.
Dress tops for one-piece shorts

Local Music Teachers Hold Meeting In Baumgardner Home

The Pampa Music Teachers Assn. held its monthly meeting recently in the home of Kenneth Baumgardner. Members brought favorite records and the evening was spent listening to the recordings. A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Roy Johnson.
The following music teachers were present: Bill Haley, Eloise Lane, Carolyn Boyle, Mrs. W. D. Waters, Mrs. Lilly Hartfield, Louise Doyle, Mrs. H. A. Yoder, Mrs. Johnson and the host.
During the evening Mrs. Baumgardner served refreshments to the group. For its next meeting the music teachers plan to go to Amarillo to attend the meeting of the Amarillo association.
definitely get away from the mannish shirt idea and are more curvy and becoming. Soft skirts to over the shorts for cover-up and make impressive play outfits. Middy tops mix in anywhere, over full skirts or slim, for the long lanky torso look which is important for certain figures.
More pants plus skirts — or without them. Pants take bare tops for the sun, or softer more covered tops for the street and will undoubtedly be worn more pieces than ever before, for casual shopping to sports events. These are pants cut to flatter the figure — curved and shaped — and they rate costume accessories. And instead of changing, more often a skirt is whisked on over them for public appearances.
Elongated Lines
This season's swimsuit emphasis is on elongated and slim line via strap halter cover-up, narrower skirt, boy pants and bloomers. The hip line is the new focal point in suits with subtle low draping, low waisted self cuffs and hip yokes often punctuated by flounces. Bra lines are more elaborate with detail varying from soft layers of drapes to pleated fill-ins. Straps in a bevy of unique ways work out of the bra to encircle the neck. Sea worthy are all the elasticized cinched waistlines, low scooped backs (for greater freedom and more sun), underwear prints and marine colors. The pantie line is bigger, more important, cuffed or uncuffed, bloomed or tapered narrow, in one-, two- or three-piece sea separates.
New Mexico possesses the only NATIONAL PARK completely underground—Carlsbad Caverns.

MRS. NATHAN E. TURNBO Barbara Brisham, Nathan Turnbo Wed In Single-Ring Ceremony In New Mexico

In a single-ring ceremony solemnized January 3 in the First Methodist Church in Clovis, N. M., Barbara Brisham, daughter of Mrs. H. H. Hill of Mountain View, Calif., became the bride of Nathan E. Turnbo, son of Y. E. Turnbo, 318 N. Faulkner.
Rev. Thomas H. Raper officiated at the ceremony.
For her wedding, Mrs. Turnbo selected a gray suit styled with a loose fitting jacket of pocket cloth. She wore black accessories.
After a short wedding trip, the couple established temporary residence at 717 W. Francis. After February 1, Mr. and Mrs. Turnbo will reside in Lubbock where he will resume his engineering studies at Texas technological College. He is to be graduated in July.
Mrs. Turnbo is a graduate of the Achille, Okla., high school, and has been employed by the Pampa First National Bank the past four years.

A quick hair glamor trick for teens requires nothing more than bobby pins and a chignon. In a matter of minutes you can change from short-haired informality to the softer, more feminine appeal of a long-hair fashion. And some of the prettiest and most original hair ornaments are the home-made variety. String or wire jeweled or colored buttons or odd earrings to bobby-pins (left). Before you attach your chignon, pin curl several rows of back hair so that you will be able to anchor the chignon securely (above center). Use rubber-tipped pins. They're comfortable and won't harm your hair. A real hair piece, matched to your own hair, will give a smooth, sleek effect (above right).

Highlights Of Rosenberg Atom Spy Case

Steadfastly refusing to admit their guilt, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg are unrepentant in Sing Sing's death house while a storm of controversy concerning their fate rages throughout the world. Convicted of giving our nation's atom bomb secrets to Russia during wartime, the New York engineer and his wife, in the words of the trial judge, committed a "crime worse than murder." Their best hope to escape the chair is presidential clemency. Pictures below show highlights in the spy drama.

THEY SPIED and gave Russia our A-bomb secrets. Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were sentenced to death April 5, 1951—the first time an American civil court gave the death sentence to spies.

THEY TRIED the Rosenbergs and found them guilty of recruiting spies, including Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, who worked at the Los Alamos, N. M., A-plant. The federal jury is pictured in New York, March 28, 1951, the day before their verdict.

Gideon Bible Forces Cabbie To Surrender

HOUSTON, Jan. 11—UP—A Gideon Bible in a hotel room in Oklahoma City led a taxicab driver to surrender in Houston on charges of kidnaping and armed robbery.

Adolph Nourney Stroter surrendered to police Friday night, telling officers he decided to give himself up after reading the Bible in the hotel room.

He is one of two men charged in connection with robbing a Houston taxicab office of $1,000 and kidnaping a cafe-owner last Monday.

He told officers that the Bible made his conscience bother him and that he tried to pray. Then he caught a bus for Houston where he surrendered and handed a .22 caliber revolver over to police.

Stroter and the other man, Edward J. Hall, 27, were identified from photographs last Tuesday by one of their victims, Roland Alexander, 51-year-old cafe owner.

Alexander said Hall and Stroter forced him into his car after Monday's taxicab robbery and made him drive to San Antonio, where he said they took $105 from his billfold.

His action ended a widespread search for Stroter but a pickup was still out Saturday for Hall, an ex-convict who is charged as Stroter's accomplice in both crimes.

"I'm no hijacker," Stroter told homicide detectives after giving himself up. "I don't know why I did this."

Stroter said police were right in believing the pair drove Alexander's car to Kerrville, Tex., and caught a bus to Austin. He said they went to Oklahoma City from Austin on another bus and that was where he last saw Hall.

Stroter was greeted affectionately by his wife, Geraldine, who told officers earlier this week she would notify them if her husband called her because she wanted him to give up. She said she would stick by him regardless.

Hershey Says Draft Due For 19-Year-Olds

AUSTIN, Jan. 11—UP—Maj. Gen. Lewis Hetshey, national head of Selective Service, says 19-year-olds will have to be drafted by April or May.

Hershey was to leave for New Orleans Saturday after speaking to a University of Texas audience here Friday night.

He said most draftees now were 20 or older, but that the majority would be younger before summer.

He said it was more difficult to keep the armed forces at a strength of 3.6 million men now than it was to maintain a 12 million man force during World War II.

The trouble now, he said, was that about 16 million veterans are draft exempt, and another 1.2 million have a reserve in the Armed Forces since the Korean war started.

The low birth rate of the depression during the 1930s has also cut the number of eligible men, he declared.

Winter Wheat Due To Be The Lowest In 10-Year Period

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—UP—The Agriculture Department stood firm Saturday on its estimate that the 1953 winter wheat crop will hit only 611,141,000 bushels—the smallest in 10 years.

The department noted that winter acreage losses on the crop planted last fall is expected to be heavy. It said in a report Friday "there is little general information yet to encourage hope that the Dec. 1 estimate of production will be exceeded."

In fact, the department said, "factors" likely to affect total 1953 crop production, mostly dry weather, have supported this estimate. It based its statement on conditions as of Jan. 1.

The report pointed out that while recent rains have counteracted some dry conditions slightly, subsoil moisture is still short throughout the Great Plains and other scattered areas.

Prisoner Saved From Chair Begins Serving Life Sentence

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Jan. 11—UP—Robert Ernest Miers moved from death row in Huntsville State Prison Saturday to an ordinary cell, where he will spend the rest of his life.

Miers, 21, scheduled to die in the first few minutes of Saturday in Huntsville's electric chair, got a commutation of sentence late Friday from Gov. Allan Shivers, who stipulated Miers should never be eligible for parole or clemency of any kind.

Miers' brush with the electric chair was the second this month. He was first scheduled to die early Wednesday morning, but Shivers gave him a 72-hour stay of execution — after his head had been shaved and he was dressed in a dark blue "execution" suit—so his attorney could present a final appeal to the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Note Is Changed
That plea, made Friday, was successful in changing the board's two-to-one vote for his death to a two-to-one vote for a recommendation for clemency.

Chairman L. C. Harris was the man who switched voting with R. A. (Smoot) Schmid for clemency. T. B. White continued to hold out for the death sentence.

Miers was told of the governor's action by newsmen, who said he didn't appear as nervous when they told him as he did when he was told Tuesday night Shivers had given him a 72-hour stay.

"I sure sweated this one out," Miers said. Then he asked Rev. Francis Duffy, the prison chaplain, to tell his friend, Linda Clark, of the commutation.

Sentenced To Die
Miers was sentenced to die for his part in the murder of A. J. Sndemer, a San Antonio city worker who was killed March 8, 1951.

Plans for a commutation of his death sentence were based on his youth at the time of the murder, and the fact that none of his accomplices received a death sentence.

Attorneys For Traxler Plan To Appeal Ruling

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11—UP—Attorneys for Roy (Pat) Traxler Saturday planned an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court against a ruling that Traxler must serve five years in jail for stealing a car at gunpoint in 1937.

Traxler has been leading "an exemplary life" in Texas, his lawyers said.

Friday John C. Powell, presiding judge of the Oklahoma Criminal Court of Appeals, signed an order permitting Traxler to remain free while his lawyers appeal the case.

Traxler was convicted last year of stealing the car in 1937 while he was fleeing from a Texas prison farm. He was captured and returned to the farm.

Since his release he has worked as a plumber in Wharton, Tex. Traxler's lawyers said the appeal would be based on the argument that the Oklahoma prosecution should have begun earlier.

Grain Dealer Begins Term

LUBBOCK, Jan. 11—UP—O. L. Shannon, 48-year-old Sudan grain dealer, began serving a five-year prison term Saturday for embezzling government-owned grain.

Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley sentenced Shannon to 38 concurrent terms and fined him $15,000 Friday. He was found guilty Thursday on 41 counts of embezzling grain stored in his elevators.

Judge Dooley suspended three two-year prison terms, which were to run concurrently, on condition that Shannon pay the fine within 90 days.

Government witnesses testified Shannon was short 30,831,406 pounds of grain sorghums and 87,876,980 bushels of wheat all owned by the government's Commodity Credit Corp.

Shannon's motion for a new trial was overruled immediately by Dooley, and his lawyers indicated he would appeal his conviction.

Military Analyst Insists We're Underestimating The Russians

By RAMSAY D. POTTS, JR., Condensed from Air Force Magazine (Distributed by NEA Service)

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We of the Western democracies seem to have a habit of thinking of Soviet Russia as a semi-barbaric country full of louts in baggy pants who somehow manage to win military victories by overwhelming an enemy with masses of troops.

This was sharply brought home to me by a man who had spent several years of the post-World War II period in making analyses of military problems.

He said that even after he and his associates pieced together a picture of Soviet strength in certain fields of armament, he nevertheless tended subconsciously to reject his own conclusions.

"The picture that always comes to my mind when I think of Soviet Russia," he said, "is of a woman plowing a field behind an animal-drawn plow. I am trying to erase that mental image, and replace it with one of the MIG-15 pulling away from the P-51 at 40,000 feet."

The Russians have depressed their civilian standard of living in order to concentrate upon investment in capital goods, machine tools and armaments.

By dint of this and by borrowing and stealing designs from German, British, American, Swiss and other sources, the Russians have been able, by concentrating on the armaments segment of the technological front, to achieve performance that matches the best in the U. S.

The most striking illustration of this is the quantity production of the MIG-15, but other examples can be noted in the quality and quantity of Russian tanks, artillery pieces, rockets and radar.

In connection with the MIG, it should be pointed out that the Russians recently captured an American jet fighter equipped with our prize gunsight.

The sight is the one item of equipment on our fighters in Korea which is markedly superior to the Russian. It is one of the two main reasons why we have been able to hold the upper hand in air combat.

As a result of the plane's capture more than six months ago, we may expect to find before too long that Communist pilots will be shooting with far greater accuracy than they have done so far in Korea.

Finally, an area in which we badly underestimated the Russians was in the amount of atomic information we credited them with having at their disposal.

When the Russians were told that the U. S. had solved the problem of making atomic bombs, Stalin was able to receive the news with the utmost composure. For the great secret was no secret to him.

The Russian espionage organization functioned throughout the war with remarkable success especially in the field of atomic energy. The cases of Allen Nunn May and Klaus Fuchs are familiar to all of us.

Through these and other spies, the Russians were able to obtain the most complete information about our vital processes and production techniques for making atomic weapons.

In addition Soviet Russia has an atomic energy organization that compares favorably in size to develop the atomic bomb if they did it in secrecy and without aid from the United States, Britain, or Switzerland.

This low opinion of Russian science and industry has also been the view of Dr. Vannevar Bush who from 1945 to 1948 held the key scientific advisory post in the Department of Defense as Chairman of the Research and Development Board.

It can be said that the Bush view of Soviet Russian capabilities exercised virtually a controlling effect on national policy and military programs during the period from 1945 up to the end of 1949.

We seem to have reasoned from meager information to a general premise that would fit a preconceived notion of Russia as industrially backward.

WHEREZIT And WHATZIT

Spain, guarding the western approach to the Mediterranean Sea, is of vital importance to the NATO nations as the U. S. attempts to close another door against the advance of international communism. Although primarily an agricultural country, Spain has an abundance of minerals such as copper, iron, zinc and coal—but the U. S. is more interested in her location than her resources. Spain provides a great land mass from which Allied planes could take off for the defense of the rest of Europe and of Africa and a final bastion from which Allied armies could fight in the event of Red aggression from the East. The Pyrenees Mountains separating France and Spain, provide one of the great natural defense lines of Europe. Spain will not become a member of NATO, yet the effect on Western defense will be the same because of her ties with the U. S. The U. S. is negotiating for air and naval bases in Spain, Spanish Morocco and such other areas as the Balearic Islands. The deal between the U. S. and totalitarian Spain is being made on the basis of mutual benefits. One of these to Spain will be $100 million earmarked under the Mutual Security Program. Others include the modernization of her 400,000-man army, and the modernization of her archaic highway system. Under this program of cooperation, France is expected to ask the return of Gibraltar to Spain. The Spanish take the position that with all of Spain made available to Western defense, the British no longer have any real reason for hanging onto Gibraltar. But the British who have held the "Rock" since 1713 are in no mood to give it up. In fact, both Britain and France, two of the original members of NATO, have objected to the proposed U. S.-Spanish alliance. Both have opposed Spanish entry into the Atlantic Treaty organization on the grounds that the Franco dictatorship was incompatible with the aims of the treaty among the NATO nations.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screen: Victor Mature doesn't know how the rumor germinated, but he's denying that he's bored with his career as a movie profile king or has any notion about quitting the sound states. Big-shouldered Vic has three more years to go on his Fox contract and quips: "Why would I want to leave pictures, anyhow? It's the biggest racket in the world. I get a bonus the end of every year—a big one that drives everybody at the studio crazy when it's mentioned in print. No, I'll stick to acting. If the public hasn't caught up with me yet, why should I retire?"

Vic's co-starring with Mari Blanchard at U-I in "Prince of Baghdad," his first turban-and-scarf opera since "The Shanghai Gesture" in 1941. In those days he was tagged as Hollywood's "beautiful hunk of man" but it's been a con's age since Vic's heard the term.

"I was able to shuck it off in the service," he says. "I came out after five years with a good record and was accepted as a real guy."

If the Crosbys could work it out, so can the Whittings! Younger sister Barbara turns singer in MGM's "Dangerous When Wet," but Margaret Whiting doesn't have to worry because—

"Because I'm trying to sing as unlike her as possible," Barbara said. "There could be a similarity but I try to go the other way. I haven't let Margaret coach me, either. I don't want it said that I sing like her."

The most Junior Whiting started off her film career like a Roman candle in Fox's "Junior Miss" in 1946, then sputtered out until Ida Lupino gave her a small role in "Ewary, My Lovely." Now Barbara's all smiles about her role in "Dangerous When Wet"—"It's the biggest break a girl could have."

No Retreat

It happened with Jimmy Cagney and Edward G. Robinson in years past, and now Warner Bros. are hoping it will happen with Frank Lovejoy.

Frank, who showed he had the stardom stuff as a tough guy in "I Was a Communist for the FBI," "The System" after a series of nothing-to-shout-about-roles and is saying:

"I'll go the best I can. Stardom's territory there's very little retreat from. Just like the bonus you don't deserve, you get the rapa you don't deserve."

Piper Laurie wants it known that she didn't kick up a fuss about co-starring with Tony Curtis in "The Golden Blade" and that she had nothing to do with Rock Hudson sharing honors with her in Tony's place.

Pouted Piper: "I never knew Tony was being considered for the picture. It was my impression about a year ago that it was being written especially for me. I haven't seen Tony for months. I have nothing against him and I don't think he has anything against me."

"As for Janet Leigh, I'm friendly with her. I think she's a beautiful and clever girl. I don't particularly care what people are saying, or thinking. If they insist on creating a feud between us, there's nothing I can do."

He's Settling Down.

Nick Stuart, a top star in the days when theaters were advertising "All-Talking Pictures," is back again in Hollywood after an absence of 15 years to pick up the career he left behind.

"I got mixed up in the band business and I've been on the road all this time," going gray-at-the-temples Nick confided. "A year ago I decided I wanted to settle down with my family in one spot. I want to be known strictly as an actor from now on."

The former husband of Sus Carol (now Mrs. Alan Ladd) landed in two serials—"King of the Congo" and "Black Hawk"—in his comeback effort and recently signed a contract with Romer Grey to star in TV westerns.

"I'm not in the Marlene Dietrich leg league!"

Jane Russell, whose gams are being glorified again in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," as a switch on anatomical emphasis, talks about the excitement they generated when "Son of Paleface" hit the theaters.

"But it's fine, though, to be asked to show my legs and have them talked about," she added. "I was bored stiff with the other thing years ago."

She said she was just in the car, too, when Mr. and Mrs. Jermain talked a San Antonio garbage collector, Fynee Joles, into going to a tourist court with them. The four registered as "Mr. and Mrs. Jermain and family."

As soon as they got inside the tourist court, Jermain pulled a gun and made Joles take off his clothes. Then they tied him with venetian blind cords, threw him in the back seat of his car and drove into the country.

They hung him from a tree limb, still naked, by his feet. When he

Teen-Age Girl Arraigned For Giving Help In Holdup

EL PASO, Jan. 11—UP—A 14-year-old Beaumont, Tex., girl was arraigned Saturday on a charge of helping her sister and brother-in-law—who later held up a soldier and left him bound and naked on the desert—take a stolen car from Louisiana to Texas.

She is Ora Mae West who was held in $1,000 bond on order of U.S. Commissioner Henry Clifton. He turned the case over to U.S. Probation Officer Jesse Saxon.

Ora Mae told Clifton she was merely in the car when Maria and James Jermain, her sister and sister's husband, held up Pvt. Robert Jackson along a desert highway, stole his car, took off his clothes and tied him up, then left him lying on the desert.

She said she was just in the car, too, when Mr. and Mrs. Jermain talked a San Antonio garbage collector, Fynee Joles, into going to a tourist court with them. The four registered as "Mr. and Mrs. Jermain and family."

FORT WORTH, Jan. 8—UP—A 30-year-old Fort Worth man was electrocuted Wednesday while working with a hand drill on a ventilation system on a local restaurant.

Priemien gave the victim, Robert Dale Wilhelm, artificial respiration but could not revive him. Wilhelm's employer, Robert A. Bowman, who was working on the same job, said that Wilhelm suddenly dropped the drill and fell off the ladder he was using.

Bowman said the drill had shocked him once before but he didn't think anything of it.

KILL THE TASTE BUD APPETITE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Over four and a half million bottles of Barcenatrate have been sold in Texas in nine years. During the past year, the makers of this product have done extensive research work and experiments toward making an excellent product still better.

We now announce the new improved Barcenatrate. The original formula remains the same, except that an additional ingredient has been added.

But in addition to the liquid Barcenatrate we have added tablets which are dissolved on the tongue before eating. These tablets help to lessen the taste bud appetite—to help kill the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. Thus, with the new improved Barcenatrate, your stomach appetite is satisfied so that you need not know a hungry moment. And the "taste" appetite created by the taste buds is lessened.

With the new Barcenatrate, you will eat all the food you require, but you will not be still and not know a hungry moment. The liquid Barcenatrate stimulates, dehydrates, and also helps to satisfy stomach hunger with less food. The new ingredient added to the liquid supplies nourishment and energy.

Just go to your druggist and get the new improved Barcenatrate. Pour the contents of the four-ounce bottle into a pint bottle or jar. Add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablets spoonful twice a day as directed on label. Take the tablets as directed on container and presto—watch the fat roll off. If the very first bottle and tablets don't show you the way to reduce simply, easily and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle for your money back.

14 POUNDS LOST

"I have lost 14 pounds taking Barcenatrate," writes Mrs. Rose Alexander, 1109 Elmwood, Fort Worth, Texas. "I have found Barcenatrate very beneficial in many other ways, other than reducing Barcenatrate left me feeling so much better."

Discordant Notes

A man and a maid can make beautiful music together, as long as they're in harmony. But, oh, the cruelties they are capable of when the melody turns sour.

In divorce courts, the stories of these cruelties come to light. During 1952, perhaps because of the increased tempo of the times, they were even crueller than usual. Viz and to wit, the dizzy divorce parade:

Mrs. Charles Bookman, suing for annulment in Syracuse, N. Y., told the judge that her husband wouldn't give her household expense money unless she won it from him playing blackjack. Then the scoundrel would go and stack the deck.

Tearfully, Mrs. Alfonso Arenas told a Los Angeles judge that she had had enough. It seems her husband, a boxer named Apples Arenas, used her for a sparring partner.

You'd think old age would mellow a man. But it didn't have that effect on Albert Lavy, 97, of Ithaca, Mich. His wife, Ido, 87, got her divorce when she told how fit used to dump anti-freeze in her bath water.

There is a very shapely young burlesque queen named Rose LaRose, who separated from her husband, Franco Ruocco, for a good reason. Ruocco didn't approve of her strip-teasing job, so he forced her to eat spaghetti, ravioli and lasagna to put "some fat on her."

And, in Los Angeles, pretty Judie Lee Gaudin won a divorce because her husband took her back to his college fraternity house right after the wedding. He wanted her to be the house mother, she testified.

Cruelty isn't confined to men. Frances Davis, of Connersville, Ind., had three reasons for divorcing his wife. He said she threw dishes at him, broke up the furniture, and burned his clothing.

And George Bushmire of Pittsburgh had four complaints against his wife. Mrs. Bushmire, said George, put broken glass in his bed, hid his car keys and let the air out of his tires; beat him with her shoes and threatened to poison him.

Less physical was Mrs. Robert Smith, of Benton Harbor, Mich. But Smith wanted a divorce, anyway. He said his wife and he went to the movies, but if the film featured girls in bathing suits, she made him stand in the lobby.

Some men are never satisfied. That was the trouble with Ephraim Morgan, of Birmingham, England. His wife was a dutiful housekeeper. She'd even vacuum around his bedroom at four in the morning. Ephraim and the judge agreed that was cruelty.

Just the opposite was Sydney Clarke, a London butcher. He took all the housekeeping chores away from his wife, Betsy. He did all the cleaning and shopping and cooking. Betsy got a divorce when she told the judge she was a more efficient housekeeper than he was.

Every woman loves flowers. But not the way Raymond Kidd, of Detroit delivers them. Mrs. Kidd got her divorce when she told how her husband tossed her into her mother's rosebush, saying, "Your mother can have you back."

It was just one thing after another for Thomas Oxx, of Newport, R. I. In fact, it was 70 things — all of them cats. Mrs. Oxx kept that many cats around the house. But Oxx's complaint wasn't cats, it was fleas. He won his divorce when he told the judge that the cats were mungy and "the fleas used to jump on me and bite me."

Television figured in the divorce proceedings of Mrs. George Kane, of Los Angeles. She complained that George would spend all his time watching TV. He never paid any attention to her, she said, except every once in a while he'd stop watching and throw things at her.

Cecil Jewell, of Detroit, thought his wife was a swell dancer. He'd come home at 4 a.m., for example, and demand that she dance for him. She'd have to dance "until 9 or 10 in the morning or until I got too tired to dance any more."

A woman in Los Angeles won a divorce when she told the judge how her husband was "seldom at home." Not unusual in itself, but it is tragic when you learn the name of the couple, it was Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Marriage.

It's Still Socialism

Some time ago the head of the American Medical Association said, "We begin to hear that the government's compulsory health insurance plans are not socialized medicine. That's ridiculous. Any plan supported by taxation of the people in which the rules are written by government bureaucrats who also determine the fees is socialized medicine in any intelligent person's language."

It's the old story of the camel who stuck his nose under the side of the tent. Before long he worked his whole body into the tent and took up all the room. That's the way socialism works. Attractive phrases may be used in an effort to camouflage it; but the result is always the same — more and more political domination of our lives, and less and less freedom and opportunity and incentive for the individual.

In the case of medicine, moreover, socialization, as we have witnessed it abroad, has in many cases resulted in very serious declines in the standard of medical care. Regimented doctors, bound to follow the rules laid down in a politically-written book, aren't progressive doctors. And the costs to the taxpayers have been staggeringly high.

The last election was a victory, for those who believe in freedom and it was a setback for the socialists in and out of government. General Eisenhower opposed socialization of medicine. But that doesn't mean the issue is dead. It will keep on arising in one guise or another. The socialist camel never stops trying to get his nose under the tent.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

U.S.A. Reading Habits

I was rather surprised, although I shouldn't have been, at a report by the George Gallup survey on the small percentage of adults in the United States who read books. A smaller percentage of United States adults read books than do those in England and other European countries. The survey reported that the number of people found to be reading any books or novels was as follows in the latest survey:

U.S.A.
Yes	18%
No	82%
In similar surveys in other countries the results were as follows:
England	55%
Norway	45%
Canada	40%
Australia	35%
Sweden	33%

Then the survey states: "The American situation is dramatically illustrated by comparing the number of bookstores in this country with the number in other countries. Denmark furnishes a good example."

"The population of Denmark is 4,900,000—about 1/26th the size of ours. In the United States the American Booksellers Association reports 2900 bookstores but only half of these, 1400, sell a fairly complete line of books."

Denmark Compared
"Denmark has 650 stores where books are sold exclusively, and another 350 secondary outlets."

"If the United States had the same population, we would not have 1400 but 22,000 bookstores."

Then the survey points out: "The high percentage of book reading in England is especially interesting because only 23% of the population—less than one person in seven—has gone beyond elementary or grade school. In the United States the comparable figure is 53%."

Does Compulsory School Attendance Stimulate Education?

"Thoughtful people would like an explanation as to why the American people do not read books—whether escapist literature or books for information."

I feel that it was because there are more moving pictures, more radios and automobiles, more things to compete for the time of the individual. However, I believe that will not stand investigation. It seems to me the most logical explanation for the fact that American adults do not read books, no matter what kind, is that our compulsory attendance laws are not being enforced.

Years ago I said I believed that a man would be better educated (not trained), at 40 if he didn't go to college than if he did. My reasoning was that he was self-taught with reading, and when he was through college he thought he had an education and didn't need to make an effort to learn. When a man doesn't go to college he sometimes thinks he has handicapped and thinks he will have to put forth extra effort to gain understanding, and the result is that he is more likely to be a reader than the college graduate.

Examples
I have a couple of examples. I personally know of two well educated individuals who never went to college and hardly attended any school. Isabel Peterson only went to school two years in her life and that was when she was a little girl. And she wrote "The God of the Machine" which Ayn Rand says is the greatest book published in the last 50 years. When she was asked what her background was that enabled her to write such a wonderful book, she replied she guessed it was because she never went to school.

Rose Wilson Lane only went to school six months in her life, and she paid income tax one year on $65,000 as a professional writer. She wrote "The Discovery of Freedom," "Give Me Liberty" and she is now writing "The Discovery of Liberty."

These individuals were not conscripted to attend high school "education" directed by sneaky Tony, however, read widely for information.

No wonder American people do not read.

The Doctor Says
By EDWIN J. JOE, M.D.
An interesting subject is brought up by D. W. T., who writes: "Please tell me what causes purpura. Is there a cure for this disease?"

First, for the benefit of those readers who have never heard of purpura, this is a condition in which purple patches, usually small, appear on the skin or mucous membranes, resulting from leakage of blood into these areas. It is similar, therefore, to an ordinary bruise and indeed in the presence of purpura, black and blue bruises are likely to appear much more readily.

There are many complicated aspects of purpura that can develop as a result of a large number of infections, including measles, meningitis, or pneumonia; it can follow administration of drugs to those who are sensitive to certain of them. In many cases it is related to malfunctioning of the spleen—in some the cause cannot be discovered at all.

In a more general way, it may be related to changes in the capillary blood vessels which allow the blood to sweep through more easily than usual, or to changes in the various parts of the blood itself.

Whenever purpura occurs a number of tests must be taken to find out what kind of purpura is present, what treatment offers the best chances of improvement, and what the outlook is for recovery.

If the condition, for example, is the result of an infection which is likely to improve, little may need to be done; if it is the result of taking some drug, perhaps discontinuing the drug alone will be enough.

On the other hand, if it is the

National Whirligig... Churchill And Ike Talk About Future Course Of UN In Korea

By RAY POWELL

WASHINGTON — Editorial and congressional protests against further subsidies to England account for the rash of official and off-the-record assurances that the Eisenhower administration gave no secret pledges of American cash, credit or long-range financial underwriting to Prime Minister Churchill at his recent conference with the President-elect. Indeed, the advance notices here and abroad warned the "grand old man" not to come begging again.

As soon as his trip was announced, the barage began. The State Department has been flooded with clippings of editorial complaints against more handouts. Members of Senate and House rejected suggestions that, as a kind of purpura resulting from malfunctioning of the spleen, serious consideration will have to be given to removing that organ. In fact, the spleenic kind of purpura removing all of the spleen, which lies in the abdominal cavity, and the functions of which are not yet fully understood, can be removed not only without harmful effects, but also with great benefit in a few conditions. Purpura is sometimes one of them.

Although most readers of this column will fortunately never have occasion to become personally concerned about purpura, they should realize that the de-ward conduct of the Korean war and American support of NATO.

The Prime Minister's fine understanding of American politics sharpened his fear about Eisenhower's plans for intensifying or terminating that conflict. Although Ike's go-to-Korea pledge was denounced as "campaign demagoguery" by Truman, Churchill had partially on that issue, and, having made the trip, the President must do something positive after he takes office.

The British are as exasperated over the Korean sacrifices as is the American public. But they are even more frightened over any action that might enlarge the sphere of military operations—in China, Indo-China or the Middle East. So, the victor's first question was: "What are you going to do about Korea, Ike?"

CONTRIBUTIONS — The second relates to continuing American contributions to the European defense system. The Prime Minister recognizes that it will fall apart without our interest and reinforcement. He sought assurances that, despite the possible shipment of more men and weapons to Korea, the U. S. will not reduce its flow of arms and funds to Western Europe.

Eisenhower, it is known, asked a few questions himself. He wanted, principally, sound commitments that London would take steps to solve the Iranian and Egyptian problems, and to bring its general Far Eastern policy into closer accord with Washington. It was, perhaps, the first time in recent years that an American President or President-elect gave nothing to a foreign visitor, and asked something for the United States!

TAX REDUCTION — Political rather than economic considerations account for the fact that House Republican leaders are more insistent on immediate tax cuts than their Senate opposites.

Whereas "Speaker" Martin and Representative Daniel A. Reed, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, have made a 1953 reduction the first order of business at the current session, Senator Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee, believes that the primary need is to balance the budget. The Martin-Reed group believes that both can be done simultaneously.

House members want quick action because they must seek reelection in 1954, and must have a selling talk for the voters. They cannot wait two or three years to make good on last autumn's pledges. Holding their seats for four or six years, the Senators are not subject to this sort of pocketbook pressure.

Capitol Hill betting is that, unless Eisenhower opposes, a 5 1/2 per cent slash in present rates will become effective by next July 1.

BID FOR A SMILE

By WHITNEY BOLTON

A man who dropped in at his favorite bar had been noticed an old fellow gniping down glass after glass of beer as fast as he could be served. He reached out with his free hand for the next glass while the first one was still at his lips. The onlooker watched in amazement, then tapped the man on the shoulder with a quick, "What do it any other way since by accident."

"What accident?" "Trouble," answered the old fellow as he blushed at the mere memory. "I once had a beer knocked over" — Mr. Davis, Great American Sports Store, 1010 N. 10th St.

Milton was asked by a friend whether he would instruct his daughters in the different languages to which he replied, "No, sir; one tongue is sufficient for a woman."

Proof that brevity was something of a virtue in the old days is seen in the fact that while a directive from the Office of Price Stabilization has 12,000 words, there are only 237 in the "Commendments and Res in Lincoln's Gettysburg Address."

The Prime Minister's fine understanding of American politics sharpened his fear about Eisenhower's plans for intensifying or terminating that conflict. Although Ike's go-to-Korea pledge was denounced as "campaign demagoguery" by Truman, Churchill had partially on that issue, and, having made the trip, the President must do something positive after he takes office.

The British are as exasperated over the Korean sacrifices as is the American public. But they are even more frightened over any action that might enlarge the sphere of military operations—in China, Indo-China or the Middle East. So, the victor's first question was: "What are you going to do about Korea, Ike?"

CONTRIBUTIONS — The second relates to continuing American contributions to the European defense system. The Prime Minister recognizes that it will fall apart without our interest and reinforcement. He sought assurances that, despite the possible shipment of more men and weapons to Korea, the U. S. will not reduce its flow of arms and funds to Western Europe.

Eisenhower, it is known, asked a few questions himself. He wanted, principally, sound commitments that London would take steps to solve the Iranian and Egyptian problems, and to bring its general Far Eastern policy into closer accord with Washington. It was, perhaps, the first time in recent years that an American President or President-elect gave nothing to a foreign visitor, and asked something for the United States!

TAX REDUCTION — Political rather than economic considerations account for the fact that House Republican leaders are more insistent on immediate tax cuts than their Senate opposites.

Whereas "Speaker" Martin and Representative Daniel A. Reed, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, have made a 1953 reduction the first order of business at the current session, Senator Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee, believes that the primary need is to balance the budget. The Martin-Reed group believes that both can be done simultaneously.

House members want quick action because they must seek reelection in 1954, and must have a selling talk for the voters. They cannot wait two or three years to make good on last autumn's pledges. Holding their seats for four or six years, the Senators are not subject to this sort of pocketbook pressure.

Capitol Hill betting is that, unless Eisenhower opposes, a 5 1/2 per cent slash in present rates will become effective by next July 1.

Fair Enough... Effort Will Be Made To Revive Legitimate Drama In New York

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1953, King Features, Syndicate Inc.)

Bernard Gimbel and Robert Moses, New York citizens of high spirit and purpose, have undertaken to get new theatres built, hoping this to arrest the ethical decline of the drama and revive the city's renown as the capital of nice frivolity. Standing theatres are dirty, antiquated and economically impossible.

Most of them are of that strange turtle-back design which came to be prevalent out of respect for a superstition that, in case of fire, it were safer to have no offices or other accommodations above a playhouse. However, there never was a holocaust in which the presence of other enterprises, heaped however high above a theatre, had any bearing on the case.

The Iroquois was incidental to an office building, but the trouble there was that the curtain burned or couldn't be got down in time to hold back flames and gas. Anyway, as the Messrs. Gimbel and Moses hold, modern materials and methods of putting them together dispose of any lingering fear that a theatre with a roof like that of a union station is safer than, say, the Paragon.

There are other important reasons why the speakies have declined almost to extinction none of which, I am persuaded, Mr. Gimbel would like to attack although the cantankerous Mr. Moses might delight to. The worst of these is the palatial grand and arrogant of the stage unions, including the Actors' Equity and the lesser guilds of the professional poseurs who are encouraged to call themselves artists.

Mr. Gimbel is a bland soul who looks for good even where he knows it ain't. He would never attack these Barbary pirates but would try to reason with them on the ground that "labor" has rights. To be sure, "labor" does have rights, but the trouble with all unions is that they respect no rights of anyone else and therefore must be fought and can't be dealt with.

Moses, of course, would rejoice in a rough-and-tumble with the whole cartel if the issues were personal. But, in his public capacity, even Moses must yield to the fact that the high racketeers have more influence than he. So Bob, like Beanie, would have to try reason on a rattlesnake and that would settle that.

The stagehands and electricians are the worst predators and have probably accounted for the demise of many shows and the consequent, as it were, of even more. The stagehands are idle, obstreperous-bums; yawning and scratching their way through life on the ground that "labor" has rights. To be sure, "labor" does have rights, but the trouble with all unions is that they respect no rights of anyone else and therefore must be fought and can't be dealt with.

The electricians are roughly alike and the musicians under Jimmie Petrillo are a racket run strictly by whim, often with the spiritual conviction of eminent malfactors. La Boca Grande, in a memorable case, turned in her tickets and went somewhere else because she found a string of pickets outside a theatre where the union was trying to extort pay for a stand-by crew of snare drummers, saxophonists and similar unemployables at a show without music.

U. S. Has Made Giant Strides In 20 Years, Politics Or Not

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The United States, which President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's Republican administration takes over on Jan. 20 is a far different country from what it was when the Democrats took over 20 years ago. The changes are worth examining as a matter of sheer growth, and not just as a matter of political cause and effect.

From one point of view, the United States is where it is today in spite of the last 20 years of Democratic rule or the 12 years of Republican rule before that. In this period the country has survived a ruinous depression, a hot war and a cold one.

The fear of the atom bomb and of another war have taken the places of fears of poverty in 1932. The U. S. armed forces numbered 800,000 men then, and the world was enjoying disarmament treaties. Today the U. S. has 2.3 million men and women in uniform.

There is social security for most of the people today — old-age retirement, unemployment insurance and such things. The standard of living is visibly higher. Its new ultimate seems to be the deep freeze, the automatic washing machine and the television set — all of which were just being dreamed about in 1932. Lagged drinking has replaced life expectancy, home brew and bathtub gin in all but the local option states. The number of passenger cars has more than doubled, from 20 million to over 40 million.

The FBI reports this 20-year change in the crime rates: Murder and voluntary manslaughter are down 27 per cent. Robbery is down 50 per cent and auto thefts down 49 per cent. Burglary is about even, having declined only eight-tenths of one per cent. Life expectancy has been raised from 65 to 70 for men, 63 to 71 for women.

School attendance has increased from 27 million to 29 million with a growth in population from 125 million to 145 million people. The number of college graduates has increased from 122,000 in 1932 to 271,000 for 1952. Infant mortality rates have been cut down from 90 per thousand to 30. The total death rate has dropped from 18 per thousand to nine. Life expectancy has been raised from 65 to 70 for men, 63 to 71 for women.

There are more and better food and consumer goods available — and they cost more. The cost-of-living index has more than doubled from the low of 92 in the 1930s to over 190 today. In the same 20 years the average earnings in manufacturing have jumped from $17 a week to $70. If you figure today's dollar as worth only half of what it used to be, the wage rise is still double. Statistically, the per capita disposable income has jumped from $382 a year in 1932 to an estimated $1,466 today.

More people are earning this money. The labor force has increased from 81 million in 1932 to nearly 100 million today. Unemployment has dropped from over 12 million to less than three million. So the net figures on employment are an increase from 39 million to 62 million — which is nearly 60 per cent.

The number of families, or households as the census takers call them, has increased from 30 million to 45 million. Over a million new housing units have been built in each of the last five years. They cost a lot more than houses used to cost, too.

Perhaps the greatest changes of the last 20 years have come in farm life. They are measured not alone in better roads and more of them, rural electrification and inside plumbing. In spite of declining farm population, farm production has increased through new farm practices and programs that together mean a higher standard of life in a vast realm of figures which ever known.

These are the facts of everyday living as they hit the average citizen. Over and above them is a vast realm of figures which measure the economic growth of the nation as a whole.

The gross national product of goods and services has risen steadily from $56 billion in 1932 to a rate of $242 billion. The index of industrial production is up from 55 to 230.

New construction has risen from $2.9 billion for the year 1933 to $2.7 billion for the month of November, 1952, alone. Bank loans are up from $30 billion in June, 1932, to $140 billion. Consumer credit is up from $3.5 billion to $22 billion. In this same 20 years the government debt has risen from $20 billion to $260 billion but few people seem to worry much about debts.

Federal tax collections have risen from $2 billion to $82 billion in these same 20 years. There's plenty of worry about that.

IT'S YOUR DEAL

Follow Tips To Enjoy Casino

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
"Can you suggest an easy way to count in the game of Casino," requests an Oakland, Calif., correspondent.

Most people think of Casino as a child's game, not realizing that it is one of the most difficult of all card games to play well. One of the difficulties in the game is the problem of counting.

If you know which cards have been played, you will be able to make much more intelligent plays towards the end of a deal than if you are operating completely in the dark. The player with a fine memory is practically sure to win from the player who depends on guesswork.

The expert Casino player remembers every single card that has been played. There are several different memory systems used by Casino experts, but not one of them is really easy. The principal requirement is a good memory to begin with, and very few people have this equipment.

As a substitute for remembering all of the cards, you might want to use the principle of "pairing." Before any card has been played, there are two pairs of kings, two pairs of queens, and so on.

If one pair of nines happens to be played, you make no special note; another pair of nines remains among the unplayed cards. If a single nine is played, however, you make a mental note that an unpaired nine is still among the unplayed cards.

As the hand continues, you remember other single (or unpaired) cards that are played. If somebody plays a second nine, however, you tick that off because that pairs up the nine previously played.

Towards the end of a hand, you may have to remember seven or eight unpaired cards, but that is all you do need to remember. In the very last deal, you will probably need to remember only two or three unpaired cards. You may see some of those in your own hand, and you will know that your opponent has the others.

For example, suppose you know when the final deal is made that nines, sevens, sixes and fives are unpaired. You have one nine in your hand, a pair of kings, and an eight. You know that your opponent has the seven, the six, and the five that are unpaired.

He must also have an eight, because eights are paired. This knowledge will help you play the last deal properly.

In the other room a Norwegian player demonstrated a better way to play the hand. After winning the first trick with the ace of spades, he promptly led his singleton heart. This play could cost very little if East had the ace of hearts, but it would gain a great deal if West had the ace of hearts.

Norwegian Shows Way To Win Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY

The match for the World's Championship now ending reminds me of some of the fine hands played in the European Championship last summer. A Swedish team won that championship and earned the right to compete against the American champions for the world championship.

Today's hand was played during the European Championship between the Norwegian and the English team. In both rooms the final contract was four spades, although it was reached by somewhat different bidding in the two rooms.

In the first room the English declarer won the first trick with the ace of spades and promptly led a low diamond from his hand. When West played low, dummy finished the seven and East won with the jack.

East realized that South would not attempt this deep finesse unless he had three diamonds. This

Income Drops 12 Per Cent ... Alarmed GOP Leaders Plan Fight On Farm Depression

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—UP—Alarmed Republican leaders are planning new measures to head off a threatened farm depression. Farm income dropped 12 per cent in 1952 in the face of rising farm costs. Economists predict the situation will get worse instead of better this year.

"This can't go on much longer," warned Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.). "We've tried to stop this decline in farm earning power with government guarantees and controls and it hasn't worked."

The Vermont senator, who takes over soon as chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, said the time has come for a new approach but refused to elaborate. "Got Some Ideas" Aiken said, "But there will have to be anything definite to present." Aiken is anxious to let incoming Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson get his administration underway with the least possible interference from Congress.

Alkei also favors giving Benson his head on the "touchy problem of setting up a federal farm advisory commission. Farm organization leaders disagree on the question of what powers should be granted to the proposed commission. The National Grange favors a body advising the secretary of agriculture on methods of operating farm programs.

The American Farm Bureau Federation says that would take over the secretary's responsibility. Aiken said he doubted Congress would approve anything curbing the secretary's powers or responsibility.

Emphasis on Research As chairman of his Senate committee, Aiken said his first job will be establishing co-operative working relations with the new Agriculture Department administration.

When the inevitable battle over price support levels comes again, Aiken will oppose efforts to freeze based supports at 90 per cent of the parity, or fair income, standard. "I'm not satisfied with a 90 per cent price," he said. He wants farmers to earn more, though 2:1 with federal guarantees and controls.

Seven Locations, 12 Wells Finaled In Panhandle Field

Activity in the Panhandle Field picked up slightly during the past week as area operators staked seven new locations and completed 12 wells of which seven were new offers and five gasers. New oil potential totaled 251 barrels while gas totaled 8,305 MCF. There was no new wildcat activity reported during the past seven days by the Railroad Commission.

Oil Companies Push Building Projects For New Office Space

TULSA, Jan. 11—Construction work on new Tulsa office buildings for Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. and Carter Oil Co. will begin within the first two months of 1953. The Tulsa Investment Corp. will start work the latter part of this month on a $4 million six-story building to provide office space for building, most of which has been leased by Sinclair for office space. The National Bank of Tulsa will construct a 14-story addition to its Carter Oil Co. The project will begin in a few weeks.

Logan county in Central Oklahoma took the spotlight of oil development in Oklahoma at the start of the new year, with discovery of two new pools.

MacMillan Petroleum and others are opening a multi-zoned field one mile south of the west Navina pool where the No. 1 Krupt flowed more than 100 barrels of oil per hour on a second test of the second Wilcox at 6,500 feet.

As for 1953 drilling estimates, PAD at Washington set a goal of 55,000 wells, but some oil operators say that indications point to a lower figure.

A total of 739 wells were completed in the U.S. the week ending Jan. 3, compared with 459 the week ending Jan. 5 of 1952. The last week reported 382 oilers, 44 gasers and 313 dry holes.

The steel situation prompted a recent survey by the Independent Petroleum Association of America, which indicated a shortage of 300,000 tons of steel due to depleted inventories and little or no second-hand or salvaged pipe available. The oil industry's estimated drilling goal for 1952 was about 2,000 wells higher than the actual number of wells drilled. Last year's total was approximately 48,000. It might have been higher but for the steel strike.

Tidelands Dispute Now In Full Bloom

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The tidelands oil dispute burst into full bloom in the new Congress this week.

"Practically everybody got into the act. Developments ranged from a reported threat of President Truman to proclaim the rich coastal oil lands and the entire continental shelf a naval petroleum reserve, to prospects the issue will be used as a civil rights filibuster weapon.

Even before the Truman plan could materialize—assuming it is in the works—freshman Sen. Price Daniel of Texas moved to circumvent it.

He introduced a bill which would make all the continental shelf a part of the public domain. The bordering states would have exclusive oil and gas exploration rights and would pay over to the federal government 62 1/2 per cent of net revenues which, in turn, would be applied against the huge national debt.

States Get 37 Per Cent

The states would keep the remaining 37 1/2 per cent and also would regain control from the government of all submerged coastal lands "out to the three-mile line or to 10 miles in the case of Texas and Florida.

Daniel did not mention the rumored Truman plan, but said: "This legislation is necessary in order that Congress may once and for all express disapproval of the federal seizure of state or private property under the new-found theories of 'paramount rights' and 'inherent powers.'"

Daniel also endorsed a bill introduced by Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) and supported by 30 other senators. This measure would force the government to surrender all its tidelands rights, except in the case of navigation, national defense and the like. It was passed in 1952 but was vetoed by Mr. Truman.

Patman Asks Vote

While Daniel and Holland were firing their legislative barrage, the powerful oil lobby was doing some watchful waiting. In the House,

Wildcat Reports

meanwhile, Rep. Wright Patman, another Texas Democrat, issued a plea that the House vote quickly to give the tidelands back to the states.

Statewide Oil Output Tops Billion Barrels

DALLAS, Jan. 11—Texas petroleum production in 1952 exceeded the billion barrel mark for the second time in history, with Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reported Saturday.

Based on U. S. Bureau of Mines figures, the association said Texas production last year was 1,168,000,000 barrels of petroleum.

Broken down, this represented 1,025,000,000 barrels of crude oil and 143,000,000 barrels of distillate, or 45 per cent of all U. S. production in 1952.

The state's fat total was some 700,000 barrels a day, more than the rate for the whole Middle East; more than 300,000 barrels per day, more than the total output of all western hemisphere countries outside the U. S. and more than twice the estimated output of Russia and her satellites, an association spokesman said.

The state had 139,629 producing oil wells, with 7,182 increased over 1951 in 3,241 separate fields, a gain for the year of 676. Production and refining provided employment for 103,000 Texans, an increase of 9,900.

The association said some statistics in the year-end picture spelled rougher times for Texas oil and gas producers. It said the nation's tank farms "were pretty well loaded with crude—some 272 million barrels, nearly 50 per cent of it from Texas—forcing slow-downs in production allowances.

The sale of crude oil poured approximately 43 billion into Texas business arteries plus some $705 million added to its value by transportation and manufacturing processes, the association added.

Based on certificates of necessity granted by the Defense Production Administration, some 9900 million were scheduled during the first 11 months of 1952 for increasing oil and gas processing, manufacturing, and transportation facilities.

The allowable are unchanged for Texas producers, but will force some changes in New Mexico production operating in two zones. New Mexico's former allowable in the Drinkard was 80 barrels a day, and 425 barrels a day in the Devonian.

Texas made a concession on the number of days a month that operators may pump, Spurrer said. Texas has been allowing production only 22 days a month, but now will grant production on each day of the month.

States Solve Problem On Oil Allowable

SANTA FE, Jan. 11—UP—New Mexico and Texas have settled the question of whether they should get together on oil production allowable in two oil pools common to Mexico-Texas state boundary.

The Texas Railroad Commission and the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission reached an agreement on the matter here Friday after several months of study.

New Mexico commission, said the two groups decided to set the allowable in both states at 91 barrels a day in the Dollarhide Drinkard pool, and at 100 barrels a day in the Dollarhide Devonian pool.

The allowables are unchanged for Texas producers, but will force some changes in New Mexico production operating in two zones. New Mexico's former allowable in the Drinkard was 80 barrels a day, and 425 barrels a day in the Devonian.

Texas made a concession on the number of days a month that operators may pump, Spurrer said. Texas has been allowing production only 22 days a month, but now will grant production on each day of the month.

Two Facing Extradition

AUSTIN, Jan. 8—UP—Gov. Allan extradition Thursday of two men wanted in Virginia on murder charges.

Secretary of State Jack Ross recommended Wednesday that warrants of extradition be issued for the two suspects, Darrell J. Herbert and William Calvin Johnson, who are now being held in Bexar county jail at San Antonio.

Herbert and Johnson are charged with the slaying of James H. Lewis last Dec. 8.

Why Dogs Bark... How A Person Gets To Be Dog Psychologist Puzzles Henry

By HENRY McLEMORE
 LOS ANGELES — If you are ever 45, shoot yourself.

Things are too fast for us oldsters.

Those two first sentences are prompted by a story I read in the Los Angeles Times. The story, on the front page, said that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had employed a psychologist to treat neurotic dogs.

I want to ask a few questions to start with. What language does the psychologist speak? Boxer? Fox terrier? Poodle? Spaniel? Doberman Pinscher? Irish wolfhound? I happen to speak three dog languages — cur, mutt, and Labrador retriever.

To prove to you that I know them I will now tell you in three sentences how to speak to the three dogs mentioned.

When you want a cur to go upstairs and chew-up your bedroom slippers, tell him this: "Go upstairs, cur, and chew up my bedroom slippers."

When you want a mutt to bite a postman, say, "Zango zip chew January white sales."

The Labrador retriever is a little more difficult. It took me two years in night school to master that language. Say that you want a Labrador to bring in firewood. This is how you would tell him: "Very big, dog, please go out and help us around the house."

I have had dogs ever since I was knee-high to my Mama's nightgown, but none of them was neurotic. They acted like dogs. They scratched quite a bit because our house was always full of fleas. Mama and Papa used to wonder where the fleas came from, but were so nice that they never blamed them on the dogs.

The SPCA psychologist, according to the Times article, said that dogs that bark too much had been offended or hurt, and dogs who bite people could be taught not to bite people, and dogs who jumped up on you with dirty paws were suffering from an inferiority complex brought on by the modern-day work world.

I have another question to ask. How does a man become a dog psychologist? Where is the turning point in his life when he decides not to be a dentist, a lawyer, or a plumber, but a dog psychologist? When does a fellow, on a cold, gray morning, say to himself, "Philip, starting today, you are going to treat neurotic dogs?"

I have often wondered how men decide to choose a profession. How does a lion tamer become a lion tamer? There is no school for lion tamers, there is no such thing as taking it up because you get a scholarship. How come human beings? No mother ever taught me to be a cradle and dreamed of her baby's becoming a man who could work up the side of a building without benefit of ladder or elevator.

The psychologist I am writing about says that most dogs are spoiled. I'd like him to tell me a better way to spoil a dog than to pamper him under the care of a psychologist. Ever wish you were the same after he's had one or two treatments, Hell, I wish Ben, Sport and Trxie, who haven't been to the psychologist, as if they were dogs.

This sort of pampering of dogs had better stop. It had, in a few years, dogs will be demanding an extravagant bone allowance each week, hard-to-open convertible cats to chase, and reading lights in their kennels.

KEEPING IN PRACTICE—This French soldier isn't getting ready for a date. He has a long tour of duty ahead of him piloting his amphibious vehicle through rice paddies in French Indo-China. He's just taking advantage of a lull in the fighting to keep in practice with the razor.

GETTING A GLOW ON—The hornet, above, will really be lit up when he finishes his tall drink of honey in the Brookhaven National Laboratory, at Upton, Long Island. The honey contains a tiny quantity of radioactive substance, and scientists will later expose a piece of photographic film by placing the insect against it. In this way they are able to trace the progress of the fluid through the insect, in their search for more knowledge of life processes.

FLYING BASKET—Henry Meider, of Manila, P. I., extreme left, stands beside the "Flying Basket," which he recently successfully piloted. The Flying Basket's body was manufactured of stripped bamboo and wood obtained in the Philippines and determined whether local products could be substituted for expensive imports in plane construction. The project was sponsored jointly by the Philippine Air Force and Institute of Science and Technology.

The psychologist I am writing about says that most dogs are spoiled. I'd like him to tell me a better way to spoil a dog than to pamper him under the care of a psychologist. Ever wish you were the same after he's had one or two treatments, Hell, I wish Ben, Sport and Trxie, who haven't been to the psychologist, as if they were dogs.

This sort of pampering of dogs had better stop. It had, in a few years, dogs will be demanding an extravagant bone allowance each week, hard-to-open convertible cats to chase, and reading lights in their kennels.

KEEPING IN PRACTICE—This French soldier isn't getting ready for a date. He has a long tour of duty ahead of him piloting his amphibious vehicle through rice paddies in French Indo-China. He's just taking advantage of a lull in the fighting to keep in practice with the razor.

GETTING A GLOW ON—The hornet, above, will really be lit up when he finishes his tall drink of honey in the Brookhaven National Laboratory, at Upton, Long Island. The honey contains a tiny quantity of radioactive substance, and scientists will later expose a piece of photographic film by placing the insect against it. In this way they are able to trace the progress of the fluid through the insect, in their search for more knowledge of life processes.

FLYING BASKET—Henry Meider, of Manila, P. I., extreme left, stands beside the "Flying Basket," which he recently successfully piloted. The Flying Basket's body was manufactured of stripped bamboo and wood obtained in the Philippines and determined whether local products could be substituted for expensive imports in plane construction. The project was sponsored jointly by the Philippine Air Force and Institute of Science and Technology.

Plumber Is Cleared In Houston Killing

HOUSTON, Jan. 9—UP—A 50-year-old plumber was virtually cleared as a suspect in Tuesday's flower shop murder Friday when the owner of the shop said he "definitely" was not the man who stopped his pickup truck at the flower shop and asked directions of her only 10 minutes before she left Mrs. Ruth Aline McCasland alone to tend the shop.

Stars and Stripes

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Faire of Naval Reservists in three specialized fields to act within the next 90 days will result in termination of their reserve status.

The Navy Department has issued a new policy regarding naval reservists, who are graduates of an approved school of medicine, dentistry, or theology. Personnel in these categories, whose reserve status differs from their current civilian qualifications, are invited to submit resignations from their present naval reserve commissions, or to request discharges from enlisted status for the convenience of the government, concurrently applying for appointment in the appropriate grade and staff corps, if such appointment is desired.

Should the individual fail to initiate the required action within approximately the next 90 days, it will result in administrative action to terminate his reserve status. This will also apply, at the time of graduation, to all naval reservists who are now enrolled as students in approved schools of medicine, dentistry, and theology.

In view of the continuing critical need for medical, dental, and theological officers in the armed services, and knowing the similar need in civilian communities, the Navy Department does not intend to order to extended active duty those individuals whose Navy skills now are unrelated to their recently acquired civilian skills.

In the past, a number of Doctors of Medicine or of Dentistry, and a number of Clergymen who, as a matter of personal preference, or through inadvertence, have continued their prior naval reserve status as an officer or enlisted man of the line or of a staff corps other than that directly concerned with their civilian acquired skills.

The Chief of Naval Personnel appreciated the many individuals who influenced these individual reservists to retain their original reserve status, but considered the change-over as necessary in the best interests of national defense.

CAMP CHAFFEE, Ark.—Pvt. Cecil McPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. McPherson of Pampa, Tex., has been selected to attend the 5th Armored Division's Radio Operators school.

During the intensive 12-week course, McPherson will receive 10 weeks of classroom study. His final two weeks will be spent in the field in practical operation of various voice and code radio sets.

Prior to graduation the Texas soldier will participate in a field problem simulating actual combat conditions.

Before entering the Army, McPherson was employed as a welder's assistant by G & K. Trucking Corp.

A-2c Jimmy Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin, Cities Service Booster plant, southeast of Pampa, will leave by plane today from Amarillo to Harding, Germany, following a 30-day furlough. His wife, Mrs. Dolores Martin, is living in Borger.

Woman Sues Church For Gambling Losses

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 7—UP—Mrs. Irene Walhite has sued St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox church and bingo operator Robert Kerner for $4,000 she claims she lost playing bingo at church over a two-year period. Her attorney, Sherman Bean, said that Mrs. Walhite's losses amounted to more than her earnings during the period. A Michigan law permits recovery of gambling losses, he said.

DON'T TAKE MY SHOES!—His party hat forgotten, this Korean war orphan tightly clutches his precious gift of new shoes, fearful lest the cameraman should attempt to snatch them from him. The boots were a gift from the members of the Fifth Air Force stationed in Korea, who to date have contributed more than $10,000 to war-orphan care.

TOO TEASING FOR "TISA"—While a U. S. Senate committee is investigating the literary and artistic merits of many of the many pocket-sized books on the market, British censors have begun to crack down on the low-priced publications. The picture of authoress Helga Moray, above, which appears on the American edition of her book, "Tisa," will not appear on the jacket of the British edition. The censors considered the book "torrid enough" without "the kind of cover found on American pocket-sized books."
