Mr. Truman disclosed at his farewell news conference Thursday that an order is in the works to turn the oil resources in the sub-

Little Man From Missouri Thanks Nation For Its Help

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (UP)—The plain little man from Missouri thanked the people for the privilege of serving as their president. And he told them he believed he had done a right good job.

There was the familiar, folksy, unemotional twang in his voice as President Truman said his good-byes in a nationwide radio and television address Thursday night.

But the drama was heightened at the end when Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret walked softly to his side and he concluded: "And now, the time has come for me to say good night—and God bless you all."

Speaks Wistfully of Office.

Mrs. Truman spoke wistfully of his nearly eight years in office, of the lonely burden of decision, of his hope for peace, his fears of atomic war, his gratitude for the nation's support and his good wishes for his successor.

"The President is president of the whole country," he said. "We must all give him our support as citizens of the United States. He will have mine and I want you to give him yours."

Mr. Truman said he had "no regret" as he prepared to leave the White House to become "a plain, private citizen of this republic."

"We feel we have done our best in the public service," he said. "I hope and believe we have contributed to the welfare of this nation and to the peace of the world."

Aware of People's Help.

Through the difficult years, he told his listeners, he was aware they were working with him.

"No president could ever hope to lead our country, or to sustain the burdens of this office," he said, "save as the people helped with their support. I have had that help—and you have given me that support on all our great essential undertakings to build the free world's strength and keep the peace."

"Those are the big things. These are the things we have done together. For that I shall be grateful, always."

The 30-minute "farewell address" was first carried to the nation by television—was about the end of the presidential trail for the one-time senator and county judge.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson will give him a lunch Tuesday afternoon and four hours later he will leave for Independence.

Hopes War Can Be Averted.

Mr. Truman said he hoped his administration had brought the country to the threshold of international peace, to the point where a third world war will be prevented "as far ahead as man can see."

"We have averted World War III up to now," he said, "and we may already have succeeded in establishing conditions which can keep that war from happening as far ahead as man can see."

Looking back, Mr. Truman said it is "quite simple" to say why he has not tried to end international strife by dropping the atom bomb or making all-out war.

"We are not made that way," he said. "We are a moral people. Peace is our goal, and justice and freedom. We cannot at our own free will violate the very principles that we are striving to defend."

Atomic war, he added, is "totally unthinkable for rational men."

The "sole purpose" of his foreign policies has been to prevent World War III, he said, and "bring a war to no way to make peace."

President Truman said his most important decision of the cold war was to send American forces into Korea to oppose Red aggression in 1950.

Brotherly Love... Bob Crosby Says Bing Would Never Let Him Apply The Bite

By HENRY McEMORE
HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—It would take seven adding machines and seven tireless workmen seven long days to compute the number of people who have put the bite on Bing Crosby.

So, it was a pleasure to have lunch with the man who has never been able to hit Bing for the first week the owner of the place walked up to the band late one night and wanted to know who was the leader. I told him I was and he said, "Good. Lead that band right out of here, right now."

"I didn't have a dollar, and the boys in my band had less, but they didn't skip out on me because I told them I could wire Bing and rustle up a little money."

"So I wired Bing and we all set around in our cheap hotel rooms, feeling very gay because we all knew that we'd be loaded as soon as Bing could get to a Western Union order window. When the clerk called and said he had a wire for me, all we rushed downstairs to get it, happy as hopheads."

"Then I opened the wire. 'Well,' he said, 'working with Benny and being Bing's brother is like owning a peanut stand between Fort Knox and the Bank of America.'"

Bob told me about the finest musician he ever had in his band, a fiddle player who, as far as anyone knows, threw away his fiddle in a bottle of age of two for a bottled in bond bottle.

"You couldn't find a better fiddler anywhere on earth," Bob said. "Even when he couldn't see me at four paces. Then one day he told me that he wasn't going to buy a drink for twenty-four hours. He didn't, and he came up to my room saying, 'I never felt so good in my life. I feel like I fell down and broke his leg.'"

Bob said an early ambition of his was not to be the best singer in the world, but just to be the best singer in his family.

"It didn't take me long to find out that I wasn't going to be the best Crosby singer, so I settled down to being the second best. Now look at me. What do you think I am now? Nephew Gary has shoved me out of place position into the show slot. If my twins start singing I'll be lost in the back stretch. It's pretty tough being a singing uncle in the Crosby family."

Skeet Shoot For MOD Drive Is Scheduled

A full program of special events for the March of Dimes drive has been scheduled for the coming week end, Warren Hasse, county drive chairman, said this morning.

First will be the two-trap shoot sponsored by the Pampa Skeet Club, all proceeds going to the polo fund. Prizes have been donated by more than 100 Pampa merchants and business houses, according to a list furnished by the club.

Beginning at 8 a. m., members of the Senior High School Sub-Deb Club will hold a bake sale in the lobby of the Hughes Bldg. while the Parent Education Association will hold a rummage sale at 204 S. Cuyler at approximately the same time.

The Mile-o-Dimes drive, sponsored by the civic clubs will have the town virtually sewed up with crews manning tubs at most of the streets corners in the mid-town section.

The skaters, too, will dance for the March of Dimes at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at a ballroom dance in the Catholic Parish Hall under sponsorship of the Teen-Age Square Dance Club.

The radio marathon, sponsored each year by Station KPDN will be held Sunday afternoon starting at 1 p. m. and continue until 7 p. m. Hasse also reported an additional donation coming through the Pampa Boys' Club of $166.58 in date receipts from the Friday night fight.

Late last night the "Mystery" team was officially entered into the basketball fun tournament being held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the Field House for the March of Dimes. Eight clubs have been entered including the "mystery" team—Elks, Moose, Rotary, Kiwanis, Jaycees, Lions, and LeFors Lions.

Next week another list of special events will take place—the Moose dance on Thursday night. This dance is open to members only and their invited guests, Charlie Webb, secretary of the lodge and club manager said. On the same night a square dance will be held by the PAMP-T-A-W Square Dance Club. Another square dance for the MOD is being scheduled by the Circle 8 Club for Jan. 20.

A special dance will be held also at the Belvedere Club on Jan. 23 for the benefit of MOD and a skating party will be held by the Pampa Skating Club on Jan. 27.

Weathered Expects To Slay Despite A New Administration

Pampa's postmaster and assistant postmaster expect to be around for quite a while longer—even though President-elect Eisenhower will have hundreds of postmasterships to distribute to job-hungry Republicans when he takes office.

Both W. E. (Red) Weathered, postmaster, and O. K. Gaylor, assistant postmaster, have no intention of resigning when the incoming Republican administration takes over Jan. 20.

And no postmaster can be removed from office except by death or "good cause," Weathered said.

Since 1938 there has been a law on the books, putting the Postoffice Department under Civil Service with its tenure provisions, Weathered continued. Prior to that time, a postmaster was in office only so long as the President who appointed him was.

Now a postmaster can keep his job till the mandatory retirement age of 70, the postmaster stated.

Of the estimated 41,000 postmasterships throughout the nation, some 19,000 are in small, fourth-class postoffices whose postmasters are appointed by the postmaster general, according to the United Press.

The other 22,000 are in first-, second- and third-class postoffices. (Pampa's is a first-class postoffice.) These postmasterships are filled by nomination of the President from a list of three eligible applicants certified to the postoffice by the Civil Service Commission, the UP continued.

The President usually fills these vacancies after consultation with the senator or congressman of the district involved, the UP added.

Once appointed, a new postmaster can appoint any new help for which there is a vacancy.

Rate of retirements, deaths and resignations generally runs about 11 to 13 per cent each year, postoffice experts told the UP.

City Mercury Drops To 9

The mercury plummeted last night and today over the area with some of its coldest weather in the New Year as the clear, sparkling calm of a bitter cold wave held over the area.

Low recorded early this morning was 9 degrees. At 11 a. m. the temperature read a "warm" 17 degrees. High Thursday, was 24. The forecast called for more of the same with freezing rain predicted today and tonight in scattered parts of the East, South Central, North Central and West Texas areas and sub-zero temperatures holding throughout.

And the city blast of winter swept over the entire state today, leaving roads in the eastern part of Texas dangerous under a frozen sheet of ice and sleet. Coldest temperatures, however, were recorded under clear, brilliant blue skies in the western portion of the state.

Airline travel was halted or delayed in some areas. It appeared all flights would be suspended to Tyler, Longview and Shreveport. Austin, Fort Worth and Dallas air-line service was continued, but several flights were delayed.

The entire nation got in on some of the cold wave with the exception of the more southern Western states.

Blizzards Thursday turned the treeless plains of Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas into a white desert and piled snow high in the cornfields of Iowa and the farms and woodlands of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Rain soaked the middle Atlantic states, sleet pelted New England and snow flurries are likely when the frigid air reaches the East Coast Friday night.

A heavy fog, called "one of the worst in years," shrouded New York City and slowed maritime and surface travel to a crawl.

Some snow was reported in New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming, but temperatures were not unseasonable.

Northern California held mostly fair with temperatures near 50 in the central valley and bay areas.

All of the state, the bureau predicted, will begin clearing and will warm up slightly Saturday.

Pampans To Make Plans For Observance Of School Week

Pampa schools will join the rest of the state in observing Public Schools Week in Texas March 1-7, according to Knox Kinard, Pampa Schools superintendent. Plans have not yet been worked out for the observance, he continued.

The dates for the week were announced by John McKee, Dallas, chairman of the Texas Citizens' committee, sponsors of the statewide observance.

At the same time, Gov. Allan Shivers in Austin issued an official memorandum fixing March 1-7 as public schools week to coincide with the Texas Citizens' committee program.

And Mayor C. A. Huff, is expected to issue a proclamation verifying the dates and observance in Pampa. Mayor Huff said today he would "cooperate in every way with the desires of the school officials."

The superintendent's memorandum urged every citizen to visit at least one public school during this period to become personally acquainted with the programs and accomplishments of the Texas system.

McKee said the 1952 observance attracted 786,168 citizens to the public schools. The first year of the observance, 133,618 visited the schools.

The 1953 goal, headed by the slogan "Texas public schools—democracy in action," is to send more than 1,000,000 through the doors of the state's public schools, McKee said.

BGK Members Plan Buffet Supper

Members of the Beta Gamma Kappa heard a report from Mrs. Jack Foster on the club's gift to a family during the Christmas holidays when they met in the City Club Room for their regular business meeting Wednesday evening. Plans were completed for a buffet supper to be given by the club.

Mrs. Foster also gave the members present the questionnaire "Were You a Full Time Citizen in 1952?" Miss Jean Chisholm was appointed to mail news bulletin letters to each member during the coming year.

The next meeting will be the buffet supper held in Elks Hall on Wednesday, January 28, at 7 p.m. Husbands and dates of the members will be guests.

Present for the Wednesday meeting were Meses, Bill Bridges, Bryan Hibun, Melvin Watkins, Erwin Thompson, Foster, Frank Terhune, N. L. Nichol, Jack Benton, Bill Stockstill, Ken Reeves, Guy LeMond, L. C. McMurry, Erdine Dyer, Misses Chisholm, Ellen Mary Haley and Viclan Lafferty.

RUTH MILLETT

A married couple's social life isn't in much danger of bogging down if the wife will follow a fairly strict "pay as you go" system.

That means returning all hospitality as soon as she feels she should instead of putting off her entertaining until she finally realizes she is in debt to half the people she knows and that consequently invitations out are few and far between.

The "pay as you go" system is best for several reasons. To begin with, when you return hospitality promptly it looks as though you are sincere. When you put it off and put it off and finally get around to it, your gesture doesn't seem nearly so hospitable.

There's the danger, too, that if you get in debt to too many people you won't think of what you can do for individual couples that they will enjoy, but instead will start wondering how many debts you can get rid of at one big party.

DUTY PARTIES ARE DULL

And the result is likely to be that you will get people together who have nothing in common and your party will be a dull and stilted affair. You'll have gotten rid of some social obligations but you won't have strengthened your friendships.

Also, all the time that you are putting it off you will be making it more difficult to entertain when you do decide to catch up.

Council Of Church Women Makes Plans For Year's Program At Thursday Meet

Pampa Council of Church Women met on Thursday morning at 8:30 at the Church of the Brethren, for the purpose of planning the year's program. Mrs. Lee Harrah, president, presided at the meeting and appointed the following chairmen: Mrs. R. A. Mack, general program chairman; Mrs. W. R. Campbell, leprosy chairman; Mrs. George Maul, publicity; Mrs. Otis Nace, public relations; and Mrs. A. D. Hills, Christian social relations. Coffee and cake were served after the meeting.

The Council, composed of representatives of the various denominations of the city, is affiliated with the state and national organizations of church women. All meetings are open to the ladies of the program. On April 24 there will be a Fellowship Luncheon at the First Christian Methodist Church chapel. Mrs. Mack will be assisted by Mrs. T. M. Johnson and Mrs. W. Purvis for the program. On April 24 there will be a Fellowship Luncheon at the First Christian Methodist Church, with the program featuring migrant workers; visiting speakers will present first-hand material and slides in this field. The meeting on September 11, at the Presbyterian Church, will be devoted to leprosy and its control. The last meeting of the year will be World Community Day and will be held at the Episcopal Church. The present Council will also hold one meeting in January of 1954.

All women of Pampa are urged to keep these dates in mind and to attend these worthwhile religious meetings.

Every housewife knows that it is fairly easy to have guests if you entertain frequently but much more difficult if you entertain but rarely.

So stick to the "pay as you go" plan if you want to really enjoy entertaining. Getting deeply into social debt, like getting into any kind of debt, is depressing.

Nebraska's first state capitol was erected in Omaha in 1855 at a cost of $3,000.

Fried like doughnuts, sugared like doughnuts — but quick and easy to make! They're Sugared Golden Puffs!

You mix them in a jiffy — in one bowl. No rolling out. No cutting. Just stir 'n drop into deep hot oil or fat, fry, drain, sugar, and enjoy while still warm.

Serve with hot coffee and other beverages for daytime and evening snacks. Use a simple dessert and a lunch box treat.

Sugared Golden Puffs are sure praise-winners. Men devour them, women copy the recipe, and children ask for "More, Mom!"

Make them this way:

Sift together:

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 3 tsp. double-action baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. nutmeg or mace

Add:

- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 egg

Stir with fork until thoroughly mixed. Drop by teaspoonfuls (too large puffs will not cook through) into deep hot oil or fat 375 degrees. Fry until golden brown — about 3 min. Drain on absorbent paper. Roll warm in cinnamon-sugar or glaze by dipping into a thin confectioners' sugar icing. Makes 18.

If you use self-rising flour, omit baking powder and salt. Oil or fat is 375 degrees when a 1-in. bread cube browns in 40 seconds.

SUCCESS TIP: If too many puffs are cooked at a time, the fat cools and the puffs will be greasy-soaked.

Try this easy-to-prepare supper or luncheon:

- Broiled Grapefruit Halves
- Homemade Potato Soup
- Toasted Crackers
- Green Salad
- Sugared Golden Puffs
- Coffee or Tea or Milk

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

In her senior year at high school, Pam started going with the "fast" crowd. At home, she became critical and belligerent.

One evening, zipping up her formal for a dance, she said to her mother, "I know you and dad don't like my friends. I'm crazy about them. I guess I've outgrown your standards and have made some of my own."

"I guess so," said her mother. "Anyway, so long as you've made them, I know they're good standards."

This reply disconcerted Pam. It was not at all the kind of thing her friends' parents said. When they were told their standards were no good, they got very excited and mad. Then their teenagers could boil up passionate yells for "independence."

The parents would retort with charges of "defiance" and "damned impudence" — and in two or three minutes flat, everyone would be embroiled in fights of such bitter intensity that Pam's friends felt entitled to rush into the night and vindicate the rights of man with a highball at the nearest bar.

But without any heroic idea to vindicate, Pam went to the party just feeling awfully sober, responsible and a little uneasy. When Pam's escort, thrusting a drink at her, stumbled so that he spilled it on her dress, she felt suddenly disconnected and miserable. She thought, "Oh, I want to go home away from these unhappy tense kids. I want to go home."

And so she went. At 11:48 p.m. There was a time when I did not think Pam's mother was the way to handle this kind of thing. Now I do. I believe it is because I know that adolescent children, like you and I, are irresistibly drawn to the human being who endows us with the strength to stand without fear for our own integrity.

It is as simple as that. Unfortunately, it has been complicated for us by well-meaning writers on children, so blinded by their interest in youngsters that they forgot about us. They talked about teenagers as though they were the only people around who get scared they're not worth much.

Well, that's not true. We get scared, too. We, too, need reminding that we are strong, discerning people able to choose without fear between right and wrong. Then the conventional child guidance talk about "believing" in Pam suddenly rings a bell. If we have done our duty, ex-

Book Review Tickets Are Now On Sale

The Delta Kappa Gamma Society is sponsoring Miss Oppenheimer and tickets may be obtained from members of the society.

Miss Oppenheimer, noted author, is considered one of America's foremost book reviewers. She was enthusiastically received by Pampans when she appeared here last year reviewing "My Cousin Rachel."

Her book, "Legend and Other Poems," has been rated, according to the Dallas News by the Mark Twain Society as one of the outstanding volumes published last year.

Royal Service Study Given With Luncheon

Ruth Meek Circle put on the program with Mrs. F. E. Leech in charge. "Baptist World Alliances" was the study of the six continents. Over one hundred and twenty women were present at the luncheon.

posing the tricks of vanity, self-suspicion and fear of displeasing "crowds," we can say, without doubt to the children, "If you have made the standards, I know they are good." For their eyes have been opened to evil. When it presents itself, see won't have to "make" them withdraw from it. They will withdraw from it themselves.

Meet Westerners At Lubbock

Harvesters Put Unbeaten Record On Line Tonight

Guerillas Start Late; Lose To Sandie Sophs

The Hustlin' Harvester basketball team departed this morning for Lubbock where tonight they tangle with the dangerous Lubbock Westerners in a vital District 1-AA-A basketball meeting.

Coach Clifton McNeely and a squad of 10 boys left at 8 a.m. today and were due to arrive around noon at Lubbock. Making the trip were Jimmy Bond, Buddy Cockrell, Fred Woods, Bill Webb and Jon Oden, tonight's starters; and reserves Don Fagan, E. Jay McVain, George Depe, Gary Griffin and Gayle Trolinger.

Elsewhere on tonight's 1-AA-A card, Amarillo goes to Borger; Odessa goes to Abilene; and Midland plays at San Angelo.

The feature games are at Borger and Lubbock. Once beaten Borger will be seeking to stay in the thick of the title chase by handing unbeaten Amarillo its first district loss. The Sandies are currently decimated with the Harvesters for the 1-3A lead, each having 4-0 records. Borger has won three of four district starts and a victory tonight would at least tie them with Amarillo for second place and it could throw them into a 3-way tie for first place, pending the outcome of the Harvester-Lubbock game.

The Harvesters will be favored to keep their unbeaten record intact against the Westerners but the Lubbock lads can't be taken lightly, especially with the home court advantage. The Harvesters, the only unbeaten 1-A team for the season, will be gunning for their 13th straight win tonight.

Lubbock has won only one of four district starts but their season record is impressive. They won the Odessa Invitational tournament in which four 1-AA teams were entered and have won nine of 13 for the season. In 1-A play, the Westerners lost two close ones on the road, 60-63 to San Angelo and 64-65 to Abilene.

After tonight's game, the Harvesters will return about noon tomorrow and then get a few hours rest before taking the floor against the Amarillo Sandies tomorrow night at the Harvester Fieldhouse.

About 600 Amarillo fans are due here for the most important 1-A game to date.

Tickets for the Amarillo-Harvester game are on sale at the school business office in the City Hall. A sellout crowd is expected.

Players Frown On Banning 2-Platoon

By UNITED PRESS

College football's new rule outlawing free substitutions is being frowned on by most of the players themselves, a United Press survey disclosed Friday.

One of the biggest raps they made against the change is that fewer boys will get a chance to play.

Billy Vessels of Oklahoma, named the "Player of the Year" in a United Press poll, contends the new rule will "cut down the speed of the game and hurt it for the fans. Also, it won't allow as many boys to play."

All-America end Bernie Flowers of Purdue is the same opinion. "It seems to me it's going to make it tougher physically on players and may lead to injuries," he said, adding "fewer men will get a chance for recognition."

Harry Agganis, Boston University's outgoing passing artist, was one of the few players favoring the new set-up. "I always wanted to be a two-way player, but the platoon system forced me to play mostly offense," he said.

Here are other player comments on the sport's most revolutionary rule change in years:

"The end of two platoon football is a catastrophe; it deprives about half the number of boys who used to play from playing now"—guard Brad Glass of Princeton.

"As I see it, the two-platoon system is the most desirable way to play football and I'm very surprised at the change"—Captain Homer Smith of Princeton.

Longhorns Invade Aggie Land Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

The University of Texas Longhorns, an unexpected visitor at the top of the Southwest Conference basketball heap, put their unbeaten record on the line against unstable Texas A&M Friday night in the feature of a two-game conference schedule.

Winners of three straight games, the Longhorns will be favored to market four in a row in loop play when they invade College Station against the Aggies, who have won one game and lost two.

In the night's other game, Baylor hosts Southern Methodist at Waco hoping to stay in striking distance of the lead after being knocked out of a share of the lead by Rice Tuesday night.

Rice will not return to action until Saturday night when the Owls invade Fayetteville against Arkansas. Rice has won its only two loop starts, while the Porkers have lost two in a row—to the Aggies and to Texas.

Baylor, boasting a 2-1 record, will be no better than an even choice against twice-beaten SMU, which has failed to live up to its championship showing in the loop's pre-season tournament.

Hearing Set

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 —UP—A joint hearing was slated to decide Friday where Jersey Joe Walcott must fight heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano at Chicago Stadium, April 10, or forfeit return rights.

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, refused to sign Tuesday because he claimed the Chicago Stadium was too small for such an important fight. He said the stadium could accommodate only 25,000.

U. S. Gals Win Doubles Title

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 16 —UP—Maureen Connolly of San Diego and Julie Simpson of San Marino, Calif., won the Australian women's doubles tennis championship Friday by defeating Mrs. Hawton and Miss Barvi Penrose of Australia in the finals, 4-4, 6-2.

The final round of men's doubles was an all-Aussie affair, sending the team of Mervyn Rose and Don Candy against Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hood.

An Exciting Story

There's an exciting story breaking in the Ohio valley region right now. Exciting because it proves something. And because it makes one of the stock arguments around Washington look pretty silly.

Not long ago the governors of Indiana and Ohio climbed up on steam shovels, pushed a couple of levers and started operations on a $400,000,000 electric power system.

Specifically, construction has begun on two steam-electric generating plants that will supply the largest block of power ever delivered to one spot — 1,800,000 kilowatts with another 400,000 in reserve. The power will drive electric pumps in Uncle Sam's newest atomic weapons plant — the one to be built near Portsmouth, Ohio.

One of the steam-electric generators is being built near Madison, Indiana. The other near Gallipolis, Ohio. But the big point of the story is that private utility firms, fifteen altogether, are building this new power system, and not the government. And the argument it destroys is the bureaucratic argument that this kind of project is too big for private enterprise. It has to be handled by government.

As a matter of fact, the utility men were told by the Atomic Energy Commission that unless they could produce the power, quickly and cheaply, the job would be turned over to government. And so the Ohio valley project was a challenge. And it has been met.

Result: years saved on a major national security project as well as millions of tax dollars. For the 15 electric corporations have financed the $400,000,000 operation from private sources. And they will pay taxes on every nickel they earn. All that Uncle Sam will pay is the cost of the power actually consumed.

But a bit of background is needed before anyone can grasp the real importance, the real meaning of this story.

It all began at a secret meeting last January 23 at the Atomic Energy Commission's office. A small group of electric power executives, all with security clearance, were called into conference. They may have had an inkling of what was in the wind. But only an inkling. Then the commission dropped a kind of A-bomb.

They broke the news about needing 1,800,000 kilowatts for the new uranium separation plant to be built near Portsmouth. That was a pretty big shock in itself, to make a bad pun. But the real one-two punch was the speed and economy the commission demanded. When you're buying that much juice, every mill — the tenth part of a cent — per kilowatt hour adds $15,000,000 to part of a cent — per kilowatt hour adds $15,000,000 to Further, the atom plant would be built in two years, while the steam-electric generators needed would take four years. Interim power for the uranium plant would have to come from the private electric systems already in existence. But the faster the big generators were built, the better.

And in the background was that alternative. Another government power plant. Another federal finger thrust into private business.

The utility men, after they regained their breath, agreed to do the job. They didn't know quite how right then, but they reasoned they could find out.

Within less than eight months they had the problem licked. They organized the 15 utility corporations into the Ohio Valley Electric Corporation. They went to banks and insurance companies for financing. They signed up five major coal companies to supply 7,500,000 tons per year for the steam-electric generators. And they came back with a proposition the Atomic Energy Commission could buy. Result: a twenty-five year contract for the biggest one-shot block of power in history.

The contract is a major event because it could be, in the opinion of some utility experts, a turning point in the long, long drift toward federal power in this country. It could scotch the old argument that if the job is big, government should do it. An argument which has echoed up and down the Tennessee Valley, at Boulder and Grand Coulee and Bonneville dams; at Niagara and in Hell's Canyon, Idaho.

The argument usually begins that these government projects are flood control or water conservation projects, not primarily electric power projects. But more lately the government has been building steam generator plants, in direct competition with private industry. No one can argue these are flood control projects.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the largest federation of business men in America, has adopted this policy statement:

"In the United States those who believe in establishing a socialist state by encroachment have seized upon control of natural resources in the name of conservation, as one tool to be used. More particularly, conservation of water resources and water resources development have been and are being used as the initial step in the socialization of natural resource industries."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

PTA Folders

I have a couple of small folders issued by the millions by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. One is headed "The P.T.A. Needs You" and the other is headed "I Belong To A P.T.A." Because "They list what are supposed to be the reasons parents and those interested in education should belong to this program, collectivist organization. Both of them are simply a eulogy to the National Education Association and the officers of the Parent Teachers Association. One of them says: "In the P.T.A. you, as an individual, count and are counted upon. The great and growing parent-teacher organization will continue to represent the highest hopes and best efforts of the American people to preserve for their children America's heritage of freedom. There's a new and better world to be fashioned for all children and for all mankind."

It is hard to comprehend how this organization can preserve for their children freedom. If there is anything that is contrary to freedom, it is what is advocated by the parent-teacher organization, namely, the right of the state to conscript the children from their parents against the parents' will and train them — not educate them — in a manner that the parents believe will reduce their liberty and their freedom. There is no more chance of public schools teaching freedom than there is of Joseph Stalin to preach American liberty. Both public schools and Joseph Stalin's ideas are based on the theory that the state has a moral right to do things that are immoral for an individual to do. Both of them believe that the state is superior to the individual. Both of them are worshipping idols — the state as an idol.

Now, notice they talk about a new and better world. I wonder what they regard as never or better than the ideologies set forth in the Declaration of Independence. They evidently believe that governments that do not derive their just powers from the consent of the governed are never as better than the Declaration of Independence. But governments that do not derive their powers from the consent of the governed are as odious as government. They believe that the people derive their liberties from the government rather than from God or from Nature.

They talk about joining an organization that is working together successfully in 38,000 P.T.A.'s of the National Congress of Parents and of the P.T.A. think it is successful to pile-up around a $1,700 debt for every child. Evidently they think they are successful when we are so poorly educated that we have long periods of unemployment and money without any actual value in itself, mounting taxes and almost continuous wars. One wonders what the idea of successful is of the officers of the parent-teacher organization.

The organization that is using the PTAs is undoubtedly the National Education Association. And let it be remembered that the National Education Association is subsidized by such organizations as the Carnegie Foundation, of which Alger Hiss was president. If we are to judge the P.T.A. by the company it keeps, we cannot expect very much.

Undoubtedly the great majority of people who belong to the P.T.A. believe they are really helping their children to get an education. The teachers and the P.T.A. officials have been propagating the American people for half a century so successfully that most people believe that tax-supported schools, headed by men who will not answer certain questions about what they are doing, can educate.

We are reaping exactly what we are sowing — a form of collectivism.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORAN, M.D.

Few things in this world cause more distress than the birth of a baby which has some serious malformation.

Q—Our baby was born with what the doctors call spina bifida. It looks like a water blister, about the size of a silver dollar, on the back. What is the cause of this and can anything be done? H.W.B.

A—Spina bifida is one of the congenital defects and involves the lower part of the spine, often with the pushing out of some of the soft tissues of the spinal cord itself. It is likely to be associated with other defects of development. The outlook depends on the size of the defect and the presence or absence of other malformations. It seems as though an operation would be worth while in this case, especially best done during the first few weeks of life.

Q—I have a condition of the mouth called black hairy tongue. What is this? F.M.

A—This most cases the cause of this condition is uncertain and various yeasts or fungi which are found are considered to be secondary. There have been reports of this condition developing from penicillin, however. It is harmless and treatment with such drugs as seem advisable is aimed at clearing away the offending growth.

Q—A friend of mine has an itching red skin irritation behind the ears which has bothered him for several years. This first came on after playing golf in the hot summer sun and was all around the eye area and ears where the plastic part of his sunglasses came in contact with his skin. This has cleared up except behind the ears, but here it still itches and is red and the rubs and scratches it in his sleep. Can anything be done to help? M.L.B.

A—This certainly sounds like a case of eczema or dermatitis from plastic material contained in glasses made worse by sunlight. Apparently your suffering friend no longer is exposed to the plastic material which caused his original difficulty, but his present trouble is probably the result of scratching. If ordinary soothing lotions or ointments relieve the itch, it would

National Whirligig... Ike's Dixie Supporters Are In Stew Over Patronage Jobs

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — If Sen. Taft and the Republican faithful on Capitol Hill think that "complete confusion" marks President-elect Eisenhower's handling of federal patronage problems, they should huddle with the spokesmen for Southern Republicans, Eisenhower Democrats and the Citizens-for-Eisenhower who rolled up such a huge vote for the GOP in Dixie last November. They are in a political stew.

It will be one of Ike's most seem probable that he would get over it if he did not scratch for a week or two.

Q—My husband has attacks of what we have been told is acute paroxysmal tachycardia and feels each time as though he were about to die. Is this a heart condition and is it serious? Mrs. R.E.

A—This is a heart condition, usually of unknown cause. What it means is that the heart beats extremely rapidly, but that this comes on only from time to time. A goodly number of people have had this condition for many years without suffering any harmful effects except at the time of the attack.

Obviously, however, it is important for such a person to be thoroughly examined by a physician who can advise just what he should or should not do.

Nurse—Why were you sent to this institution?
JESSIE PATTON—FOR NO REASON.

A diplomatist is a man who always remembers a woman's birthday, but never remembers her age.

Like the other morning when a cold drove me to studying the smallest items in a huge newspaper simply to try to find something to be angry about. It was found, of course. If you look for anything hard enough, you will find it. Whether it be a new girl, a lost five-dollar or a year-old receipt for a paid gas bill. What I found didn't, actually, incite me. I was more amused or contemptuous than angry. All it was, no matter how you slice it, was a few lines quoting the famed Russian newspaper, "Pravda," which was peevish because some famed Communist artists were perverting their skills and talents. Superficially, it had much more significance. It proved beyond all debate that "Pravda" is an untruthful journal.

The editorial complained that world-renowned filigree artists in the Crimea were making mouse traps instead of filigree work, that able woodcarvers in the Gorky sector were turning out three-legged stools of the crudest design instead of exquisite woodcarving, and that the noted Kaslin foundry had abandoned lush and beautiful statuary to make, instead, unedifying frying pans.

The untruth is not that these artists are guiding their skills toward mundane works, but that they are charged by implication with doing so by choice. No one in Communist Russia makes anything but what he does anything but by order from on high. No skilled worker in metal statuary would dare to make frying pans unless he had been expressly ordered to do so. No cartoonist in Russia would dare to abandon these figurines for milking stools unless a grim man in a long gray coat with a rifle slung across his back had come to the door and commanded him to do so.

Like all Communist propaganda, the "Pravda" editorial has its phony base. What is bewildering in all this is that the Russian propaganda machine seems to be blind to what is obviously chicanery in its own designs. How a "Pravda" editor could sit down and write a snarling editorial of that kind without knowing that the artists in question were under orders to fabricate dull but useful articles is only adding mystery to the case. It is a fit and bright example of what Winston Churchill once described, if my memory is sound, as "a puzzle within a puzzle." If that is incorrect quotation, it still is close enough to the original to serve.

No man turning out bronze statues or iron figures of Stalin would live 24 hours if he suddenly decided to give up this work and turn out a few frying pans, instead. He would be seized, hustled to the Lubianka cellars; worked over with a rubber hose and some rawhide thongs and then be tossed to the Lubianka cellars, worked madder would have the courage to give up his filigree work on his traps. He just wouldn't. He'd know that his life wouldn't be worth a nickel. The USSR frowns on that kind of initiative and every artisan within its borders knows it.

"Pravda," as usual, hasn't sense enough to cover up its own lies.

Baseball fan — (proposing) How would you like to sign up for a life game?
Gai — O. K., when's your diamond?
Night fell and the two tramps began to look around for a place to lay their heads.
Willie — What are you going to use as a pillow?
Tom — This bit of brain pipe.
Willie — Drain pipe! Won't that be a bit hard?
Tom — Course not, I'm going to stuff it with straw.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS REWARDED — Although Eisenhower has rewarded several Texas Democrats with important posts, his handling of patronage here cannot be regarded as a definite pattern for the South. He has appointed Mrs. Oleta Culp Hobby, Houston publisher, as Federal Security Administrator, and Robert Anderson of Vernon as Secretary of the Navy.

Like consulted both Gov. Allan Shivers and Sen. Price Daniel, Eisenhower Democrats, on these selections. But he also cleared them with Jack Porter, Republican National Committeeman. The appointments were eminently satisfactory to the GOP leader.

PROTESTS AGAINST TEXAS SYSTEM — Republican politicians in other states, notably Louisiana and South Carolina, however, have protested against the Texas system. National committeemen, state and county chairmen and local workers insist that they be given first priority in getting jobs or sponsoring friends.

Although they will not protest against choosing Democrats for top-level posts, they demand that they be given such bread-and-butter places as postmasters, marshals, district attorneys and similar rewards on the local plane.

Fair Enough... Americans Have Never Voiced A Desire For A 'Labor' Law

By WESTBROOK FEGLER

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The American people never have expressed any desire for a national "labor" law. In a grand referendum after intelligent debate, they might vote to repeal the whole apparatus of the Labor Relations Board and the Wages and Hours Administration.

The Wagner Act was sprung on us on the pretext that the workers of the nation were suffering terrible persecutions at the hands of "the bosses."

Undeniably some large corporate employers had put oppressive practices into force and were callous in mass dismissals of employees to meet emergencies in their commerce. These defects could have been remedied by the men of management. But even if not, the neglect and inefficiency of a few corporations certainly did not justify the revocation of inherent constitutional

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

When a man gets a simple head cold it is a violent and cosmic matter in which tranquility, human relations and vegetation are destroyed for miles around. He sits huddled in a bed or a large red leather chair issuing steam, vitriol, children get colds and get over them and they don't even ruffle the surface of a house. Women get colds and go on about their tasks with only an occasional dip into a handkerchief or a nose tissue. But men, the pampered, weak, snarling little fangs, make all life miserable for everyone and can be warranted to come up with weird notions.

Like the other morning when a cold drove me to studying the smallest items in a huge newspaper simply to try to find something to be angry about. It was found, of course. No one in Communist Russia makes anything but what he does anything but by order from on high. No skilled worker in metal statuary would dare to make frying pans unless he had been expressly ordered to do so. No cartoonist in Russia would dare to abandon these figurines for milking stools unless a grim man in a long gray coat with a rifle slung across his back had come to the door and commanded him to do so.

Like all Communist propaganda, the "Pravda" editorial has its phony base. What is bewildering in all this is that the Russian propaganda machine seems to be blind to what is obviously chicanery in its own designs. How a "Pravda" editor could sit down and write a snarling editorial of that kind without knowing that the artists in question were under orders to fabricate dull but useful articles is only adding mystery to the case. It is a fit and bright example of what Winston Churchill once described, if my memory is sound, as "a puzzle within a puzzle." If that is incorrect quotation, it still is close enough to the original to serve.

No man turning out bronze statues or iron figures of Stalin would live 24 hours if he suddenly decided to give up this work and turn out a few frying pans, instead. He would be seized, hustled to the Lubianka cellars; worked over with a rubber hose and some rawhide thongs and then be tossed to the Lubianka cellars, worked madder would have the courage to give up his filigree work on his traps. He just wouldn't. He'd know that his life wouldn't be worth a nickel. The USSR frowns on that kind of initiative and every artisan within its borders knows it.

"Pravda," as usual, hasn't sense enough to cover up its own lies.

Night fell and the two tramps began to look around for a place to lay their heads.
Willie — What are you going to use as a pillow?
Tom — This bit of brain pipe.
Willie — Drain pipe! Won't that be a bit hard?
Tom — Course not, I'm going to stuff it with straw.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS REWARDED — Although Eisenhower has rewarded several Texas Democrats with important posts, his handling of patronage here cannot be regarded as a definite pattern for the South. He has appointed Mrs. Oleta Culp Hobby, Houston publisher, as Federal Security Administrator, and Robert Anderson of Vernon as Secretary of the Navy.

Like consulted both Gov. Allan Shivers and Sen. Price Daniel, Eisenhower Democrats, on these selections. But he also cleared them with Jack Porter, Republican National Committeeman. The appointments were eminently satisfactory to the GOP leader.

PROTESTS AGAINST TEXAS SYSTEM — Republican politicians in other states, notably Louisiana and South Carolina, however, have protested against the Texas system. National committeemen, state and county chairmen and local workers insist that they be given first priority in getting jobs or sponsoring friends.

Although they will not protest against choosing Democrats for top-level posts, they demand that they be given such bread-and-butter places as postmasters, marshals, district attorneys and similar rewards on the local plane.

How Ike solves this problem may determine the South's future political leaning and affiliation.

How Could The Reds Attack?

AT THE RATE WE'RE ARMING, IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE FOR THEM TO FIGURE WHICH OF US IS THE WEAKEST LINK!

NATIONS JOCKEYING FOR POSITION IN A UNITED EUROPE

One—Do you like home cooking?
Two—I did before I got married.

Large, lovely tapestry love seat; will sell or exchange for two occasional chairs.
Nurse—Why were you sent to this institution?
JESSIE PATTON—FOR NO REASON.

A diplomatist is a man who always remembers a woman's birthday, but never remembers her age.

Like the other morning when a cold drove me to studying the smallest items in a huge newspaper simply to try to find something to be angry about. It was found, of course. If you look for anything hard enough, you will find it. Whether it be a new girl, a lost five-dollar or a year-old receipt for a paid gas bill. What I found didn't, actually, incite me. I was more amused or contemptuous than angry. All it was, no matter how you slice it, was a few lines quoting the famed Russian newspaper, "Pravda," which was peevish because some famed Communist artists were perverting their skills and talents. Superficially, it had much more significance. It proved beyond all debate that "Pravda" is an untruthful journal.

The editorial complained that world-renowned filigree artists in the Crimea were making mouse traps instead of filigree work, that able woodcarvers in the Gorky sector were turning out three-legged stools of the crudest design instead of exquisite woodcarving, and that the noted Kaslin foundry had abandoned lush and beautiful statuary to make, instead, unedifying frying pans.

The untruth is not that these artists are guiding their skills toward mundane works, but that they are charged by implication with doing so by choice. No one in Communist Russia makes anything but what he does anything but by order from on high. No skilled worker in metal statuary would dare to make frying pans unless he had been expressly ordered to do so. No cartoonist in Russia would dare to abandon these figurines for milking stools unless a grim man in a long gray coat with a rifle slung across his back had come to the door and commanded him to do so.

When a man gets a simple head cold it is a violent and cosmic matter in which tranquility, human relations and vegetation are destroyed for miles around. He sits huddled in a bed or a large red leather chair issuing steam, vitriol, children get colds and get over them and they don't even ruffle the surface of a house. Women get colds and go on about their tasks with only an occasional dip into a handkerchief or a nose tissue. But men, the pampered, weak, snarling little fangs, make all life miserable for everyone and can be warranted to come up with weird notions.

THIS SEAT RESERVED

Was this pew provided for you? The empty seat means someone is missing food and fellowship. Is it someone whom you might have invited to church? Without food and fellowship we become skeletons and hermits. An empty pew means a starving soul. Jesus doesn't like empty pews. He knows the tragedy of starving souls. The Bible says for us to attend church. Hebrews 10:25. This seat is reserved for you. Blessed are they who hunger after righteousness, for they shall be filled. Matt. 5:6.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — UP — Miss Hazel Davenport wondered if the dog was tired of music. It came out of St. John's Episcopal Church here with a song book in its mouth and buried the book in the yard.

MINIATURE MUSIC—Composer Fritz Kragel, of Munich, Germany, has created this miniature volume of tiny tunes. Each of its 30 pages is less than an inch in depth. The rule, shown for comparison, is marked in centimeters, not inches. Each tiny page is complete in detail, and the music is written for the violin.

FILES FOR TRUMAN MUSEUM—Under the watchful eye of an Army guard, right, one of 12 trailers filled with President Truman's personal files is unloaded at the Jackson County Courthouse, in Kansas City, Mo. Special security measures have been taken to protect the documents, many of them containing confidential information, while they are stored in the courthouse. Mr. Truman's papers will eventually be filed in the Harry S. Truman Memorial Library, at Grandview, Mo., now under construction.

BUSY WITH THE BUNTING—Thousands of flags and banners are fluttering off the production line at William Parrack's flag factory at Rochford, Essex, in England. With the help of only 17 employes, Parrack hopes to produce at least ten million of bunting by April, and all of it will go to decorate the Coronation route over which Queen Elizabeth II will travel in June. Union Jacks, red-and-white ensigns, and the colors of Scotland, Ireland, and Wales are hand-printed on wool, then washed and dried.

COLORFUL WASHDAY—The women, above, have a long, long job of washing ahead of them. Employes of William Parrack's flag factory at Rochford, Sussex, in England, they will have scrubbed and hung up to dry an estimated ten miles of bunting by April. With the help of only 17 employes, Parrack is turning out the bunting which will decorate the Coronation route the Royal Procession will follow on the occasion of the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

Guessing Is Vital In Poker

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

Most of the art of playing successful poker consists in guessing successfully what your opponents are doing. This is especially important when you have a hand that is a probable but not a sure winner of the pot.

In such situations there will usually be one opponent about whom you are worried. Is his hand better than yours, or is he trying to bluff you?

If your opponent is an absolute beginner you have no problem at all. The ingenious player looks guilty when he is trying to bluff anybody. If he bets quickly, he probably fancies his hand.

If he takes a long time to bet, he probably doesn't think too much of his hand. If you cannot successfully figure out this type of player, give up poker! It simply isn't your game.

The tricky opponent is—more difficult to handle. The tricky opponent, and most veteran poker players fall in this category, will look confident when he has a poor hand and will practically tremble with fear when he has a hand that is sure to win the pot. In short, he is always acting as hard as he can to represent exactly the opposite of what he really has.

When you are up against the tricky sort of poker player, study his act carefully. You cannot really miss it, because your tricky opponent wants to make sure that you get his act.

When you have absorbed as much of this little comedy as you care for, play in accordance with the principle that the player who acts as though he has a bad hand really has a good hand, and vice versa.

The most difficult opponent of all is the "unreadable" opponent. If he is really unreadable, there is nothing much you can do about it. You must simply try to use good technique and win or lose on the merit of your cards.

If your opponent is not completely unreadable, the following device may prove valuable against him. Relax completely and see whether or not some very subtle impression is conveyed to you. Your opponent will not put on any very broad act for your benefit.

But he may do something very subtle to give you an impression of the strength or weakness of his hand. Once you have received that impression, play the opposite way.

In other words, the act may be more subtle than that of the tricky player, but the procedure is just the same. If your opponent wants you to think that he has a weak hand, you must assume that he has a good hand—and vice versa.

WORK STOPPAGES RISE—A major problem facing the new GOP Congress will be how to curtail the rising trend of strikes. Strikes last year cost the nation 55 million man-days of idleness, the highest number since 1946, when 116 million man-days were lost as shown on above Newchart. About 3.5 million workers were involved in work stoppages in 1952, compared with 2.2 million during 1951. Data compiled by Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Solons Of House Come Across With 200 Bills To 'Save World'

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If you want to know what particular anti-are in the pants of the new Congress, all you have to do is look at the titles of the 204 new bills and the 125 resolutions introduced in the House of Representatives on opening day.

Everything was there from a bill by the Hon. Usher L. Burdick of North Dakota to take the United States out of the United Nations, to a bill by the Hon. Eugene J. Keogh of New York to prohibit the use of the words "White House" in any trademark, and another by Rep. Carroll D. Kearns of Pennsylvania to ban the use of the U. S. flag in advertising.

There are some other dandy ideas among the new bills to show how deeply the lawmakers think and how seriously they have weighed the big issues of the day. Representative Burdick, for instance, has one bill to provide uniforms for employes of the United States government, and another to regulate the fertilizer industry.

It was largely the old-timers in Congress who were there on opening day with bills to save the world. One exception was new Congressman Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia who introduced a bill to all things, repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law.

This was obviously to carry out a campaign promise. But this Representative Byrd of WEST Virginia should of course not be confused with Sen. Harry P. Byrd of Old Virginia, who obviously wouldn't think of such a thing. Representative Keogh of Brook-

City Police Record Tenth '53 Accident

Tenth city automobile collision of the year has been recorded by Pampa police. Clarence E. Hollis, 28, of 621 Lewry, had pulled up near Hobart and Foster at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

lyn was tops with 42 proposals. One of his bills would provide study periods for post-office clerks. Another would increase employment opportunities for blind. Two others would raise the pay of all federal judges and give them the Congressional Record for free.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts was second highest scorer on opening day, with 34 bills. Nearly all of them related to veterans' affairs. Long a champion of the servicemen, Mrs. Rogers will again be chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee in the new Congress.

Reduction of taxes was second, with 18 separate proposals to cut in one way or another. Rep. Dan Reed of New York, who will be chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee in this session, got to the hopper ahead of everyone with his bill to reduce individual income taxes on June 30. But there were other bills to cut federal tax benefits on livestock, soil conservation payments by farmers, excise taxes, transportation taxes and admissions taxes on movies.

Several other congressmen introduced bills to give the states title to the so-called tidelands—Omar Burleson of Texas and F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana. Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas proposed that the tidelands be sold by the federal government.

Give Opponent Lead For Throw-In Play

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service All expert bridge players know that in order to execute a throw-in play it is necessary to put an opponent in the lead at a time when he has no safe cards to get out with.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

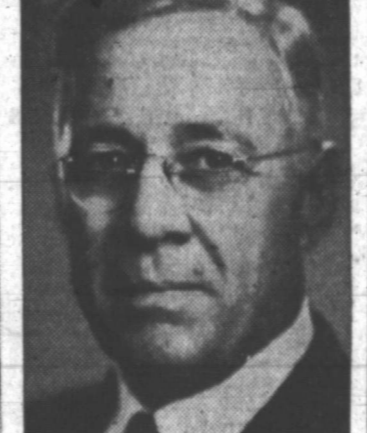

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the screen: It may not be off our battles with bossman Hal Wallis, but Jerry Lewis is determined to stick to the Chaplinesque character that he tried for the first time in "The Stooge," best of all the Martin and Lewis comedies.

It will be a loveable, wistful Jerry, with a minimum of prat-falls, mugging and seltzer water: from now on out, and he's saying: "I can't agree with the public or Mr. Wallis that with a pie in the face you get as much laughter with pathos and heart. A dramatic actor can be so-so for 30 years. A comedian can't be so-so for 30 days.
