Solons Drop Efforts To Confirm Wilson

COINS KEPT CLINKING into March of Dimes containers and buckets all day Saturday. Shown here is an unidentified Pampa woman putting her contribution into a container held by Frank Fata, a Kiwanian stationed at Cuyler and Kingsmill. Contributions like this one helped fill the bucket at Fata's feet and helped put Kiwanis over the top in the Mile-O-Dimes campaign among four local civic clubs and a labor union. Kiwanis total for the day was $353.90. With the other outfits it made a grand total for the day's street-corner campaign $1,694.44. ## Three Charges, $15,000 Bond Handed Brown

Bond totalling $15,000 and a formal charge of murder-with-malice and two charges of assault - with - intent - to - murder have been lodged against Bennett Brown, 34, 537 W. Elm, according to Sheriff Rufe Jordan, in connection with a shooting fracas in The Flats early Thursday night.

Holdings Stall Approval For Ike Appointee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — UP — Senate leaders Saturday abandoned efforts to confirm Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense on Tuesday. They granted the request of President-elect Eisenhower's appointee, to be heard again by the Senate Armed Services Committee, to "clarify" previous testimony.

Seven Aides Resign... HST Lauds Acheson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — President Truman accepted the resignations of seven Cabinet members Saturday and said Dean Acheson was "among the very greatest of secretaries of state this country ever had."

Pampa MOD Drive Hits $4,000 Mark

The 1953 March of Dimes shot over the $4,000 mark late last night as civic clubs totaled $1,694.44 in their street-corner Mile-O-Dimes drive.

Bond in each case was set at $5,000. The charges were filed in Justice of the Peace J. P. Andrews court at 3 p.m. Saturday by Dist. Atty. Tom Braly, Jordan said.

"You have been my good right hand," Mr. Truman wrote Acheson in accepting his resignation.

Rotary, using two spots, came in second with $487.76. The club had to use two corners when there were more volunteers for the job than there were hours for the drive.

Also arraigned as a material witness was Eddie Williams, Houston, whose bond was set at $1,000, according to Jordan.

Mr. Truman had praise, too, for the other six Cabinet members. Secretary of State Acheson was "among the very greatest of secretaries of state this country ever had."

International Oil Workers Union named the N. Hobart and Alcock intersection and hauled in $150 from cars entering and leaving the city.

The four charges were filed following the shooting scrap which left Brown's wife, Leola, 23, dead after being shot three times and gunshot injuries inflicted on Brown's five-year-old daughter, Wanda Pearl, and Mrs. Brown's cousin, Miss Georgia Mae White, 23.

The other two Cabinet members, Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett and Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer, had sent in their formal resignations previously.

Dr. Edgar Henshaw, widow of Rev. Edgar Henshaw, to whom the present drive is dedicated, will appear today as a special guest for the Radio Marathon being put on by Station KPND for the March of Dimes where everything from birds to personal services will be auctioned off at a price.

The six were to have left the Texas Panhandle this week end for the trip to Washington. They had made plans to make the trip by plane.

Girl Saved From 30-Foot Hole

GILBERTON, Pa., Jan. 18 — UP — A five-year-old girl was wedged upright in a 10-inch hole 20 feet below the surface for 90 minutes Saturday until rescuers pulled her out with a rope lasso.

The Mello-Altes, under direction of Irv Akst, will contribute the musical portion of the marathon and will present their solist, Beverly Fancher, during the program.

Another group, this one much larger, was to leave from Amarillo mid-afternoon Saturday. The delegation was to be made up of Panhandle and West Texas residents and included prominent Republican representatives from over the area.

Student In Parade... 7 Pampans Enroute To Inauguration

There will be at least one Pampa in the inaugural parade in Washington Tuesday and six others there for the festivities.

Funds raised by the young people will be used for decorating the Sunday School classroom, general equipment and for recreational facilities.

The expanded American Red Cross program for polio, according to the monthly ARC newsletter, "is estimated to require approximately $7,000,000," boosting the year's quota to $93,000,000.

The six were to have left the Texas Panhandle this week end for the trip to Washington. They had made plans to make the trip by plane.

To raise the set amount the youngsters are engaged in a number of activities — and a session of running a service station for three days is coming up.

Involved in the Amarillo Highway accident were a car driven by Herschel C. Winters, 17, 412 N. Magnolia, who was headed west on Amarillo Hwy., and a pickup truck driven by Euel B. Davis, 46, Pampa, who was heading south on the country road.

As for the band, members will be wearing colorful western uniforms of chaps, ten-gallon hats, cowboy boots, orange shirts and a purple neckerchief. It will easily be identified as "Texas" in the parade.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 — UP — A Korean narcotics ring, headed by a cripple known as "The Seal," has turned hundreds of American soldiers into heroin addicts, a former Army criminal investigator disclosed Saturday.

The long, lean years out of power contributed to the Republicans' enthusiasm which resulted in a step-by-step expansion of plans as they prepared for the Eisenhower inauguration. They started out determined to have it simple as Eisenhower wanted it. They wound up with a gilt-edge program.

Rep. Rogers Wins Assignment To Insular Affairs Committee

A new face will be seen around the table of the House Internal and Insular Affairs Committee — Rep. Walter Rogers, who was assigned to it Friday.

The committee handles such projects as the Canadian River Dam, other reclamation projects and some phases of the tidelands case.

The Pampa congressman served on Veterans Affairs Committee during his first two years in the House.

Freshman Representative Brady Gentry of Tyler drew Rogers' old seat on the Veterans Affairs Committee. The only other Texas on that committee is Olin Teague of College Station.

Rogers told newsmen, "In addition to legislation concerning the Canadian Dam, I understand the committee would handle any bills concerned submerged offshore lands in the continental shelf beyond the tidelands."

Railroaders Put Stiff Price On Canadian Homes

CANADIAN — A price of $17.00 per square foot, regardless of age, condition, was put on railroad workers' homes in Canadian during a meeting of railroaders who are protesting the proposed move by the Santa Fe to transfer the Canadian freight terminal to Amarillo.

The men, in addition, want a cash settlement of $750 to cover the cost of moving household goods to their new locations.

The company offered to give each of the men 50 per cent of their equity and permit them to keep their homes, or give them 120 per cent of their equity and take the property off their hands.

The men, meeting in the WCTU building, said they are obligated to negotiate with the railroad under a work contract now existing between the road and the union and also under the Taft-Hartley Act.

However, before any settlements are made, the application of Santa Fe to move its terminal must be okayed by the Texas Railroad Commission.

ALLERGIC TO BUSES — HARTFORD, Conn. — UP — Mrs. Suzanne G. Gaski is given unemployment compensation after she refused a job in a nearby town because riding in buses made her ill. A judge ruled, however, that it was too much to expect that work could be found within walking distance and ordered her compensation payments discontinued.

Municipalities Push Measure To Provide Tax Aid For Cities

Legislation which will benefit Texas' hard pressed cities was being pushed by officials of the Texas League of Municipalities this week end at a meeting in Austin.

The league, taking advantage of the new balance of power created in the state legislature through the last redistricting—placing city representatives virtually in control—will ask that no new taxes on cars and trucks be imposed unless the cities receive a fair share for construction and maintenance of streets.

The cities will also ask that city owned vehicles be exempt from payment of a state gasoline tax since they very seldom, if ever, use a state highway or county road.

Gasoline taxes paid by city buses and taxicabs will also be asked for by the cities instead of turning them over to the state. These vehicles, too, seldom, if ever, use state highways and county roads.

City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones, who served as president last year of the Assessing Officers Association, a branch of the league, was one of the men over the state who originally drafted the program now being put before the legislature.

Jones said he had handed over all of his records and files to the new president of the assessing association and couldn't remember the full context of the program.

However, Jones said, city taxpayers for too long have been paying state and county taxes for which they have received little or no benefit. This, he explained, came about mostly over road programs where county commissioners courts (over the entire state, not only locally) have flatly refused to do any work inside the city limits, spending the money only on rural roads.

"This attitude on their part—especially in Fort Worth and Dallas—has brought this new program to the boiling point," Jones said.

He used as an example a merchant or service man in a city who very seldom uses his delivery trucks on country roads yet has to pay county taxes for their upkeep. A whole group of these pay thousands of dollars into the county tills every year—and get nothing, he added.

"We are not trying to take anything away from the counties," Jones said, "we just want a fair share and return of any new taxes that may be imposed on cars or road users."

Another piece of legislation to be asked will be exempting all cars and trucks from an ad valorem tax and authorize cities and counties to license them instead.

This latter piece has not been brought up for discussion before the Pampa City Commission yet. B. H. Cruce, city manager, said yesterday. However, in the past, the city has turned a cold shoulder to any thought of placing all privately owned cars under a personal property tax.

The cities also want clarification of the laws pertaining to limiting of tax rates and indebtedness. They would like a constitutional amendment lifting the tax rate limit, but limiting indebtedness to about 10 per cent of the total valuation.

Quartet Slates Lefors Program

Wet-Dry Vote Stalled Due To Technicalities

CANADIAN — A petition calling a wet-dry election for the city of Canadian in all-dry Hemphill County was turned back because the signers did not include their addresses on the instrument.

The county commissioners rejected the petition on grounds that contestants might be able to call it illegal because the addresses were not included.

Another technically developed when it was learned that the election would affect only the city of Canadian, located in a county that voted to go dry throughout in 1947. The question will be forwarded to the attorney general for an opinion.

The election would be for legalizing the sale of beer, wine and liquors. Prior to 1947 beer only was legal in certain parts of Hemphill County, including Canadian.

Bloodmobile Due Return To Roberts

MIAMI — Roberts County's American Red Cross bloodmobile is scheduled for a return trip—and a bigger job than ever to perform.

Date of its return has been set for April 8, according to county Red Cross officials.

As ARC's blood collection program has been expanded to cover the gamma globulin needed for treatment of polio, more personal donations than ever will be necessary to fill the quota, officials said.

It takes about one pint of blood to make an average dose of gamma globulin as used for polio, with one injection generally giving a child protection from one to five weeks following exposure.

In order to all the gamma globulin work to the existing blood collection program—for Korean wounded and needs of civilian hospitals, ARC has raised its quota to approximately 5,000,000 pints a year.

The new program will also necessitate hiking ARC's quota by some $7,000,000, which will be apportioned among the local chapters.

Most of the gamma globulin will go to epidemic areas only, since there will never be enough of it to protect the entire population.

On Sale Feb. 1... New Auto Tags Are Delivered

Gray County's allotment of more than 20,000 car, truck and other vehicle license plates for 1953 are now in the county tax office, but won't go on sale until Feb. 1.

The tags, black lettering on yellow field, are for nine different types of vehicles—passenger cars, trucks, trailers, motorcycles, farm trucks, dealers' tags, farm truck-tractors, truck-tractors, and house trailers.

Three sets of pre-figure letters will be used for automobiles in Gray County this year—AR, AS, and AT. They range from AR 9100 to 9999; AS 10 to 9999; and AT 10 to 6999.

The number of tags sent for other vehicles are: trucks, 1,500; trailers, 750; motorcycles, 70; farm trucks, 240; dealers, 100; farm truck-tractors, 10; truck-tractors, 75; and house trailers, 125.

The biggest load was, of course, for passenger cars—18,880.

Will Resemble An Airplane . . . First Missiles Jet Propelled

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—UP—The first intercontinental guided missile, probably will be jet propelled, resemble an airplane and travel at less than the speed of sound, it was learned Saturday.

Projects involving supersonic—faster than sound—missiles with over-ocean ranges also are in progress.

Retiring Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter told his final news conference Friday, without any elaboration, that a trans-ocean missile would be developed "fairly soon."

Declines to Elaborate
He declined to elaborate, but earlier this week he told a reporter that "offensive" guided missiles in Korean waters, the Bon Homme Richard served as flagship for Task Force 77.

The 27,000 ton flat-top planes teamed up with other UN aircraft in the July 11 strike on Pyongyang and took part in the initial bombing of North Korea's hydro-electric power plants.

Propeller and jet planes flew from the carrier's flight deck to bomb, strafed, napalm and rocket military installations from the enemy's front lines north to the Manchurian border.

long run are likely to be "more sure of success" than those developed for air defense.

He made that observation in seeking to offset some current reports that giant strides in defensive missile development are paying the way toward vastly improved air defense. The offensive missile, like the high-speed bomber, always will get through, he said.

White Finletter said that trans-ocean missiles, or pilotless aircraft, will be available fairly soon, other well-informed sources asserted that did not mean tomorrow morning.

Five-Year Cycle
Without indicating how far along the missile Finletter had in mind may be, authorities pointed out that the "development cycle" for such a weapon could be estimated at five years from drawing board to proving tests.

Air Force Undersecretary Roswell L. Gilpatric, who will remain in office for a time under the new administration, said last spring that by 1960 the Air Force would have missiles available for all its missions—defense, tactical support of armies and strategic bombardment.

So far, it is known that there are air-to-air missiles for use in air combat, an Army anti-aircraft missile in an advanced stage of development but not yet fully reliable, and an Air Force pilotless tactical bomber of limited range and imperfect accuracy.

First Flood Of Inauguration Visitors Hits Capital City

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—UP—The first flood of inauguration visitors hit town Saturday supplied with cash and fired with Republican enthusiasm but too often short of admission tickets.

Harassed inaugural planners braced their doors against the onslaught on the last-minute hopefuls, many with a firm belief that no good Republican could be turned away.

Inaugural Chairman Joseph C. McGarraghy, boss of a three-day extravaganza built around the out-talking Tuesday of President-elect Eisenhower, was regretfully telling all callers he was sorry—period!

"When people arrive without either tickets or promise of tickets," said McGarraghy, "by and large there is nothing we can do for them."

Mingled with the moans of those for whom no tickets are available—even at fancy top prices of $15 per head for parade seats or admission to the inaugural ball—were the anguished inquiries of the far greater number who bought their tickets in advance, only to leave home by train or plane without having received them in the mail.

McGarraghy soothed this group with the promise it would be taken care of. The tickets were ready and waiting for personal delivery, he said. The lines formed long and early at the designated delivery spots.

Army Reveals Plans To Give Atom Training

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — UP — The Army disclosed plans Saturday to give wide-spread atomic weapons training to specially qualified officers.

Secretary Frank Pace Jr. said the program opened a "new career in the field of atomic energy specialization" for volunteers of the rank of first lieutenant and higher in regular and reserve forces. A similar program is in prospect for enlisted men.

A purposely restrained announcement indicated that training in actual use of atomic weapons is envisioned. It said "certain selected officers" will receive advanced, "technical training" at the Sandia Base in New Mexico. At Sandia there are an Atomic Energy Commission engineering laboratory and the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project.

The program will run the gamut of Army activities. Officers will be trained in research and development, staff work connected with "military applications of atomic energy," liaison, procurement and supply activities. All require officers with special technical knowledge, the announcement said.

Pace said officers are sought who hold bachelor of science degrees with training in electronics, chemistry, physics and mathematics. But he said that requirement may be waived in "exceptional cases." Besides the Sandia training, selected officers will get advanced work in colleges and universities. Volunteers must have at least three years service as officers.

Ag Teachers Attend Clinic

An estimated 100 vocational agricultural instructors from Area No. 1 heard Superintendent Charles Rogers, Amarillo, evaluate their role in the public school and discuss ways and means of improving themselves for service to their respective communities.

Rogers spoke at the kick-off banquet—held at 7:30 p. m. Friday in Amarillo's Herring Hotel—for a two-day clinic which ended Saturday.

Area No. 1 includes all high schools from Lubbock north to the top of the Texas Panhandle, according to E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Attending from Pampa were Wedgeworth and Paul Payne, vocational instructor for Pampa High School.

Purpose of the get-together, Wedgeworth continued, was to discuss the various professional problems confronting agricultural instructors and how they could be of most service to their respective communities.

Special guests on hand for the banquet were W. L. Strangel, dean of Texas Tech's agricultural department; T. L. Leach and L. M. Hargrave, also members of the department; Walter Labay, the area's vocational agricultural teacher training supervisor; and J. P. Smith, general manager of Amarillo's Pan-Tech Farms.

The two posts were created at the same time all other bank officers were reelected. Officers are: J. L. McMurtry, president; J. B. Hembree and J. L. Heas, vice-presidents; Clifford Allison, cashier; T. A. Massey, Milton Carpenter, J. Alfred McMurtry, directors.

McLean March Of Dimes Drive Is Off To A Good Start

LARRY FULLER
McLean MOD chief

McLEAN (Special)—The March of Dimes drive is getting off to a good start here, according to Larry Fuller, campaign chairman.

Miniature iron lungs (coin collectors) have been placed in all business houses and coin cards have been mailed to all residents of the McLean trade area, and the following activities have been arranged:

Saturday was 10c coffee day in McLean and all eating places are to give the entire day's coffee sales to the MOD.

The following Saturday, Jan. 24, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club will vie with each other in the "dishpan of dimes," with representatives of the two organizations soliciting funds on opposite sides of the street at the intersection of Main and Highway 66.

The Jaycees also have challenged the winner of the Pampa civic club basketball tournament to a game to determine the civic club champion of Gray County. Winning team will take all proceeds to their town for the March of Dimes fund.

During the last week of the month, probably the 28th, a Mother's march (porch-light campaign) is planned, and finally on the 29th a benefit dance will be held in the American Legion Hall. Admission will be $1.50 per couple and all proceeds will go to the March of Dimes. Emmett Allen and his Sunset Ramblers will furnish the music free of charge.

Local Recruiting Sergeant Announces His Retirement

After approximately five years as a "coordinator between military and civilian in Pampa as recruiting sergeant, M. Sgt. Davis A. Brown leaves today for Ft. Hood where he has applied for medical retirement from the armed service.

He plans to return here to make his home March 1 — if the Army doesn't have other plans — as a "civilian."

This is the culmination of 18 years service for the sergeant. His wife, Patricia, and three sons, Raymond, David and Ronnie, 1809 N. Duncan, plan to remain here until his return.

Brown, who came to Pampa Dec. 18, 1947, expressed his "appreciation of the cooperation of the people in this community who have from the beginning accepted him as one of them, in announcing his retirement.

The recruiting office is to be maintained, according to the sergeant, each Thursday and Friday on a temporary basis. It is to be manned by various army personnel until such time as a full-time assignment is made. It is to remain in the postoffice.

Prior to coming to Pampa Brown was stationed in El Paso where he was occupied in the transportation branch of the Army.

McLean Post Office Sets New Record

McLEAN — Postal receipts for December, 1952, surpassed a 11 previous December since 1938. Postmaster Johnny Back reported. The 1952 Christmas month receipts of the postoffice showed $13,987.24 as compared to $7,888.92 for December, 1938.

The highest year during that 15-year period prior to 1952 came in December, 1944, when receipts totaled $13,640.31. The lowest December receipts during that period came in 1939 when receipts amounted to $7,838.50.

District GG Begins Here Thursday

More than 100 boys are due to take part in the annual Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament this week, Coy Palmer, GG director here revealed Saturday.

The three-day tournament will be held this week end, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, at the Southern Club Sports Arena.

Palmer expects a score of out-of-towners to enter the district tournament here. Most of the fights will be in the high school division but those desiring to enter in the Open division may do so, Palmer said.

In addition to the Pampa Boys Club who will furnish around 50 boxers in the tournament, big delegations are expected from Lefors, Wellington, Berger, Dumas, Shamrock and possibly a few others who haven't been heard from but plan to send squads here.

The biggest out-of-town delegation is due from Berger, Glenn Elkins, sports editor of the Berger News-Herald, has informed Palmer that he plans to bring about 25 boxers to fight in the tournament of his own, but will past years, has held a district tournament of their own, but will not hold a tournament this year.

H. W. Callan, football coach of Lefors and who is tutoring the fisticuffs at the Pirate school, will have a full squad of boys in the tournament here. He will have at least one in every weight division.

Wellington plans to send 12 boys. These boys are the former pupils of John Lee, a well known figure in Golden Gloves circles.

H. L. Hanerick, Dumas boxing coach, will bring at least six boys to the meet here.

Stittner will be represented in the tournament but the exact number is unknown.

Palmer said others may enter from White Deer, Panhandle, Skellytown and other area schools but no direct commitment has been made from these schools.

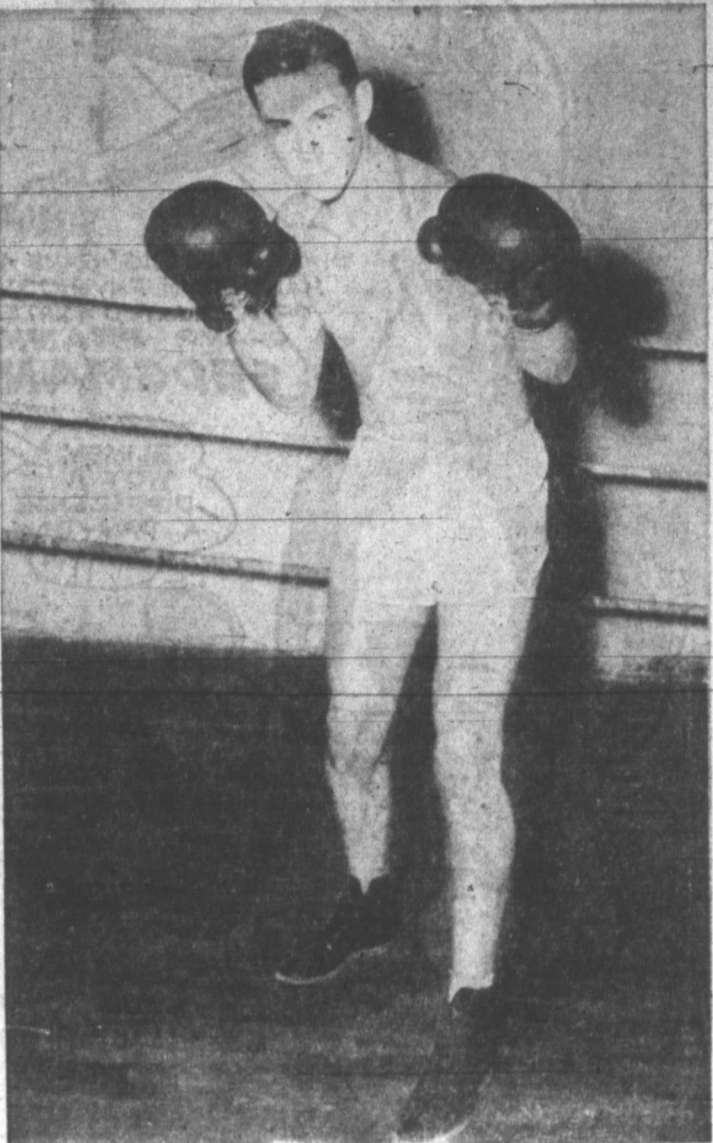

The defending champion in almost every weight division will be back again this year. Buddy Cockrell, the heavyweight champ last year, won't be back. He is busy with the Harvester basketball.

Following are last year's champions entered this year but who may be in different weights this year: 70 pounds — Ronnie Thompson, Wellington.

75 — Gary Watt, Pampa. 80 — Gary Wilhelm, Pampa. 85 — Olin Murdock, Wellington. 90 — Don Hood, Wellington. 95 — Duggie Jameson, Wellington.

100 — Ronnie Haveron, Wellington. 110 — Eddie Clemmons, Lefors. 118 — Jimmy Davey, Pampa. 126 — Scotty Thompson, Wellington.

Boston's Chances Rest On Uncle Sam

Editors Note: This is another in a series of interviews with major league managers.

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—UP—The 1953 chances of the Boston Red Sox are "definitely in the hands of Uncle Sam," Manager Lou Boudreau has stated, but he believed his club would be "definitely better" than in 1952.

"Our goal would have to be the first division," he said, predicting no pennant for the rebuilding Red Sox this year.

Already two of Boudreau's better looking lads, outfielder Faye Thorneberry and pitcher Dick Brodowski, have been called into service, throwing a minor rip into plans for next season, and some of the rest of the squad could be taken before May.

"Last year was a trial year with the kids," Boudreau said, "and they panned out very satisfactorily. I'm very hopeful for the youngsters next year, of course, we'll miss Thorneberry and Brodowski. Both of them came along very nicely."

But Boudreau was hopeful that he could hold on to such newcomers as Ted Lepcio, Dick Gernert, Gene Stephens, Milton Boaling, Ivan Delock and back again after a $2.40 close-up ringsides to the $1.80 choice reserved and the $1.20 reserved sections. Tickets may be ordered in advance through Max or Drug Co., 106 West 8th Avenue, Amarillo.

Tournament Director Duke Nally has announced that all boys who do not have training facilities at home are invited to attend the free instruction classes at either of two Amarillo gyms. One, located at 1600 Cleveland, is supervised by Marion Guana. The other is at 709 Georgia Street, with Bill Chandler in charge. Both coaches are former Golden-Gloves champions and well experienced in training and advising boys who like to box.

The tournament, starting Tuesday night, Jan. 27, runs five straight nights at the Sports Arena, championship finals in all classes and weight divisions scheduled for Saturday night, Jan. 31.

The tournament this year will be conducted in the spacious Sports Arena on the Tri-State Fair grounds. Capable of accommodating more than 4,000 fans, the Sports Arena is so arranged that every seat in the hall is an advantageous one. All seats will be reserved, ranging from the hospital sojourn, Jim Piersall. "Piersall is in good health," Boudreau said, "and I'm thinking I'll use him in centerfield. He might be (Dom) DiMaggio's understudy, or it might be the other way around."

Boudreau said he had no plans to install Piersall at shortstop, another position in which he appeared promising last year, because "Boiling has looked very good there, and (Johnny) Lipon has been doing very good too."

Boudreau hoped that George Kell obtained to play third base in a mid-season trade with Detroit, would be recovered from a broken finger and a groin injury which "hampered him all year."

"If he is," he said, "that'll take care of third base. And behind the plate, we've got Sammy White. He did a terrific job last year, and I think he was one of the best rookies in the league. Along with (Clint) Courtney of the Browns, I'd say he was the best rookie catcher, and I think he's got more promise than Courtney."

Boudreau listed his pitchers as Mel Parnell, Sid Hudson, Maury McDermott, Delock, Al Benton, Ellis Kinder, Herschel Freeman and Bill Henry.

"Kinder had a back injury most of last year," he said, "but he's all right now, and I hope so. Losing him hurt terribly. Then we've got Henry back. He pitched four or five good games at the beginning of the season before they got on to him, and I think he'll be better now."

"We're always open for a trade," he added, "but we haven't anything in sight now. We need hitting power, I'd say, and if we can get that, it won't make much difference where he plays."

"We could use a fast man, good at throwing, one who we can use to balance the team to win on the road. We had a disastrous road record last year, as we always have, and we've got to improve that to win."

(Next will be Rogers Hornsby of the Reds)

Stars Aplenty (?) To Play In MOD Civic Club Cage Meet

The greatest inter-club basketball tournament on earth will be in full swing Monday night in the High School field house, all for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

The fact that it is the only tournament of its kind has nothing whatsoever to do with the fact that it is the greatest on earth.

The dazzling (?) stars (?) of the hoop game have finally been paired and will play four games Monday night. Warren Hase, county drive chairman, announced.

Things will get rolling — probably mostly on the floor — when the Rotary Club squares-off against the Jaycees at 7 p.m. in a full four-quarter tilt.

At 8 p.m. the whistle will blow Kiwanians and Moose members into what is to be termed "action."

One hour later the Lefors Lions will roar at the Pampa Lions and bringing up the rear will be the Kings — founders of the tournament.

ment — playing the "Mystery" club remains the dark horse squadron of the tourney.

On Tuesday the winners of the first two games will play each other at 7:30 p.m. The winners of the second two games will play at 9 p.m.

Finals Wednesday

The play-offs for consolation award and championship will be held Wednesday night. At 7:30 p.m. the consolation game will start while the championship will be held at 9 p.m.

That won't end it, however, because the champions will then have to play the McLean Jaycees at a time and place decided by a flip of the coin.

Admission will be by donation to the March of Dimes.

No one, however, would say who the referees will be for these high level basketball classics of the year. But anything can be seen on the players — from old chaps, to red long-handled underwear, bathing suits and bare feet.

Loudest of the eight — Kiwanians — said they were throwing their team into not only a two platoon system, but a five platoon system. The secret was let out by J. B. Maguire, county judge (who should know better) and their predicted the affair would be mostly one-sided, all Kiwanians. Ralph McKinney tried to keep it a secret, but couldn't, that his lineup — he's captain of that mess — would consist of Hase, Ben Hase, Jolting John McFall himself, Careening Johnny Campbell, Bustling Bob Curry, and a bare possibility that two Stars (???) Willing Bill Waters and Ma Maguire (the judge) would be the surprise hotshots.

Dynamite Miller whose Moose will oppose him will enter a quadruple threat aggregation composed of Short - Circuit Ed Gething; Jarring John Forman, Breezing Red Beardson; Long-Shot Buck Lawson; Never-Miss Al Nichols; and a surprise basketeer who'll probably play a second or two — that is all that will be necessary, Miller said. Charlie Webb will do the coaching, training and statistics in his capacity as Moose secretary.

The Pampa Lions are threatening the Lefors Lions with such weight as Rufe Jordan, Bouncing Fred Carey, Dashing Donaldson (captain), team doctor, coach, trainer and all-plus several surprise artists such as Bruising Cliff Braly — the speedball of the courts.

Lingering Leverich (Jim to most of you) will lead the faltering Jaycees in their attempt to come near the score of Roaring Rotary in the first game.

Rambling Charlie Robinson, playing manager and Cruising Carmichael along with Bear-hug Fred Brooks will be looking after points for Rotary.

Towering Tooley — daddy of the tournament — will field, probably floor, his mighty Elk team with such dead-eye dicks as Panting Palmer, (Uncle Coy), and a gang of others. Tooley claimed a victory ahead of time over the opposing "mystery" team, who'll be garbed with black masks saying we'll rattle em, dazzle, startle em, and whup em bare handed. The masked marvels will call themselves the famous Masked Globe-Walkers.

The Lefors Lions were remaining quiet, not wanting to give away their strength until game time, and, of course the mystery

New Yorkers Name Pee Wee Reese 'Player Of Year'

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—UP—Shortstop Pee Wee Reese of the Brooklyn Dodgers was selected Saturday as the winner of the Sid Mercer Memorial Award as major league "Player of the Year" by the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

Reese, who completed his 10th season with the Dodgers this year and came up with the major league base stealing championship with 30 thefts in 35 attempts, is 34 years old. He batted .272 for the campaign and topped that off by playing brilliantly throughout World Series with the Yankees both offensively and defensively. He batted .346 to tie Duke Snider for the highest average of any Brooklyn player in the series.

Reese, one of the most popular players in the majors, was the first Dodger to win the award since it went to Dixie Walker in 1945.

It marked the fourth year in a row that the award had gone to a member of the three New York teams. In 1952 it was won by pitcher Allie Reynolds of the Yankees, in 1951 by Eddie Stanky of the Giants, and in 1950 by Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees.

Clements-Kaimikoff In Wrestle Feature

"Big Train" Clements, the stormy veteran of many classic battles in the local ring, returns to Pampa Tuesday and meets Ivan "The Terrible" Kaimikoff, current Southwestern States Champion.

This main event, scheduled for two out of three falls, one hour, promises to be one of the most brutal matches ever scheduled.

Pampa mat fans are well aware of the rough tactics used by "Big Train." The record would no doubt show that he has been disqualified more times than any other wrestler to ever appear here.

Kaimikoff, the champion, has issued a challenge to any and all and will may be upset by Clements.

The last time Clements appeared here was last summer in Oiler Park. One referee was carried from the ring, and another referee quickly appointed by Promoter Howard Vineyard, and the new referee had to stop a battle out on the pitcher's mound, when the action between "Big Train" and Dory Funk became too fierce to keep in the ring. Action of this type may be expected any time Clements is in the ring, especially when he is against another wrestler like Kaimikoff.

Second half of the double main event promises to be another thriller, since it is a re-match of thriller run-off two weeks ago. Whitey Walberg, the barrel-chested Ohioan, meets Herb Parks in a two-out of three fall, one hour event. Two weeks ago these two wrestled a brilliant 20-minute preliminary to a draw. Parks defeated Dory Funk here last week, so Walberg is going to have a rugged night before him. Walberg has changed his tactics in the past couple of weeks, and gave Parks a rugged, unruly match here in their first meeting.

Buck Lipscomb, the ruffian from Oregon, comes back in the 20-minute preliminary and meets smooth Rey Urbano, the Filipino.

Tickets are $1.00, $1.20, $1.50 and 50 cents. Advance ticket sale at Sportman Store all day Tuesday.

Reds To Be Better In '53--Rajah Says

CAGE SCORES

By ED SAINSBURY
CHICAGO, Jan. 18—UP—Manager Rogers Hornsby foresaw stem to stern improvement for his 1953 Cincinnati Reds Saturday, and said he was "going down to camp with an open mind on all of them."

"We should have a better club," he said. "More power than before. Our pitching should be better. Potentially our defense should be better, and our offense, too."

Hornsby singled out as newcomers who could help outfielders Jim Greengrass and Bob Marquay, catcher Hobie Landrith and pitcher Eddie Jolson, Ed Eratt and Ernie Nevel.

Looks to Greengrass

"Everybody will have to be high on Greengrass," he said, "for the 18 games he played with us at the finish last season. I don't expect him to go that strong all through the season, but if he goes half as well, he'll be a big asset."

"In 18 games he had five home runs and knocked in 24 runs. He was scoring everybody with doubles and triples. I think he got about 80 per cent extra base hits."

"Then Marquay should be good defensive help. He's as good a defensive centerfielder as (Jim) Rivers, and he can run good too."

Hornsby saw Jolson frequently with the White Sox last summer when he sat out the interlude between managing the St. Louis Browns and the Reds at Comiskey Park. As he put his finger on Jolson's trouble.

"He's lost his confidence," he said. "He can throw real good, fast. But his trouble with the White Sox, was that he just lost his confidence, and I think if we can build it back, he'll be a big help."

Eratt, Nevel Show Promise

Eratt and Nevel both showed promise with the New York Yankees Kansas City farm club. Eratt led the league in complete games with 20 and in games won with 21, with five losses. During one stretch he won 11 straight games and finished with a .500 earned run average. Nevel pitched a seven inning no-hitter while winning seven and losing six.

"I hope that all three of them come through as starting pitchers," Hornsby said, "but I can't say what anybody's going to do until I see them against competition. This alone will take care of that."

Hornsby believed that Landrith would give Andy Seminick a scrap for the No. 1 catching job.

"Seminick hits longer, but Landrith has a lot of color," Hornsby said. "A great arm, a good fielder, a good take-charge player."

Hornsby was fairly well satisfied with some of his players.

"We should have better hitting," he said. "(Gus) Bell can hit the ball out any time, and so can (Willard) Marshall, Greengrass, (Ted) Kluszewski, (Grady) Hatton, and Seminick. That'll make your pitchers look better."

Hornsby foresaw no trades at the

Harvesters Clip Lubbock, 70-52

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor
LUBBOCK, Jan. 18—Pampa's Hustlin' Harvesters hurled the Lubbock Westerners, 70-52, here Friday night to run their victory streak to 13-straight games and their fifth in a row in District 1-AAAA play.

The win kept Coach Clifton McNeely's charges tied for the 1-4A lead with Amarillo Sandies who retained their unblemished district record with a surprising 65-43 win over the Borger Bulldogs Friday night.

Both the Harvesters and Sandies owned 5-0 district records after the Friday tilt but one of the two pace-setters was bound to fall from the unbeaten ranks last night as they were meeting each other at the Harvester field-house.

The Harvesters got off to a slow start in the Lubbock fracas here Friday night. The Westerners' battled the Green-and-Gold to an 11-11 stalemate after one quarter of play but the Harvesters pulled away early in the second period and were never headed thereafter.

Slow Start

The Westerners managed to lead three times during the first quarter and at one time held a three-point advantage, 11-8. But Jon Oden brought the Harvesters even at the first quarter mark by dropping in a free toss and then adding a field goal to tie the count at 11-11.

The Harvesters moved ahead 5-1 at the outset with Bond hitting from the field and two from the gratis line and Buddy Cockrell meshing the first of his seven gift shots of the night. Lubbock surged back to tie the score at 6-6 with Gerry Thomas, Lubbock ace, tying the score with a 2-pointer, at the 4:50 mark. Crawford dunked a free toss to put Lubbock ahead for the first time, 7-6, but Cockrell came right back to regain the lead for the Harvesters with a field goal, 8-7. Crawford then hit a field goal to send Lubbock in front again, 9-8, and the Westerners increased that margin to 11-8 on gift shots by Dale Ball and Calvert.

Oden, who sat out most of the game because of getting four quick fouls, tied the score with a drive-in shot with 30 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Bond put the Harvesters ahead to stay in the first 30 seconds of the second quarter with a free shot. The Harvesters went on to a 28-19 halftime advantage. For the only time in the game the Harvesters enjoyed good success from the charity line during the second quarter. The Pampans bucketed 11 out of 14 free shots in the second period.

For the game, however, the Harvester free throw performance was far below par. They dunked in 30 free tosses but missed 28 for a 51.7 percentage.

Oden left the game early in the second quarter and didn't return until late in the fourth. He was charged with four fouls in the first quarter and then finally fouling out after his return in the fourth.

His replacement, though, Don Fagan took up the slack by turning in his best performance of the year. Fagan baffled the Westerners with his fancy dribbling and twice dribbled away the basket for two easy buckets. Fagan wound up with eight points.

Bond High Pointer

Bond, although off form, took high point honors of the game with 20 points. Bond hit seven from the field and six charity tosses. Cockrell and Webb had 13 points for the Harvesters and Woods followed with 12. Thomas led Lubbock with 16 points.

Six Westerners and two Harvesters fouled out of the contest. Thomas, Crawford, Ball, Walker, Calvert and Thrush left the game via the personal foul route for the Westerners while Bond and Oden used up their quota for the Harvesters.

The Harvesters, after booting their lead to 13 points early in the third period, saw the Westerners narrow it down to nine points, 43-34, five minutes deep in the third, the closest the Lubbock quint came to catching up during the final half.

The McNeelymen pulled ahead 13 points again, 49-36, before the third period ended and then coasted in with the triumph.

THSCA May Waive Meeting Postponed

The Harvester Booster Club's weekly meeting Monday night has been postponed until the following Monday, Warren Hasse, club president, announced Saturday.

Cause of postponement was the conflict with the March of Dimes Civic Club basketball tournament which begins Monday night and extends through Wednesday night.

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 18—UP— The shock caused by abolition of collegiate football's free substitution rule shook high schools—the sandlot teams of the varsity and pro gridiron squads—in three states Saturday night.

Texas, Oklahoma and Ohio high schools all have abided by the pattern of the NCAA set for colleges in the past. In the other 45 states, with the exception of metropolitan New York and Chicago high schools.

These three states, which annually furnish more than their share of the famous stars in college and pro ranks, are in a turmoil over the rule change. Moves are under way in each one to see whether the coaches want to stick by the NCAA or revert to the multi-plateau system, a United Press survey shows Saturday.

In Texas, the state coaches association's board of directors already has been polled and voted by a 15-to-6 margin to ask the controlling Texas Interscholastic League to waive the new substitution rule.

The Ohio High School Football Coaches Association's directors are polling their sections for members' stand on the anti-plateau rule.

The board of control of the Oklahoma High School Athletic Association will consider the matter at its meeting next month.

While there is no urgency involved in Oklahoma, where the schools do not have spring football training, there is a need for quick action in the other two states.

Asked about injuries, 23 think they will increase, six think they will decrease and 17 think there will be no change. A number preferred a "wait and see" attitude, although one pointed out that 1952—a big two-plateau season—saw the smallest number of football fatalities since 1945.

Jes Nelly of Rice explained the restrictions on substitution: "I think it will increase injuries because coaches will hesitate to take the boys out. Now we take a boy out for a minor bump to make sure he's not hurt." Many coaches pointed out that a weary player is more likely to be hurt than a fresh player.

Most agreed expenses would be cut. Exactly 33 said expenses would fall, only three thought they would increase and 11 think there will be no change.

The sharpest division came on recruiting. Twenty-three coaches predict a decrease, 11 an increase and 16 no change. Even those who predicted a decrease hedged a bit. They will be seeking less boys, but the competition for them will be tougher.

Injuries Will Mount Under New Rule, Coaches Believe

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—UP— The nation's football coaches think the chief harm of one-plateau football is an increase of injuries, but they are resigned to the new rule and won't rebel.

That's the result of a United Press poll, which embraced 80 coaches from coast to coast. Some of them were the game's biggest; others were small college men.

Some of the results of the poll blazed old theories about the thinking of coaches on two-plateau football. For example, they were believed 4 to 1 in favor of it. Actually, the count was 34 to 24 in favor of two-plateau football—only 59 per cent "for."

Big School Theory Out

Another theory was that the big schools were for two plateaus and the small against it. Yet two-plateau opponents included such big timers as Bob Neyland of Tennessee, Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Don Faurot of Missouri. Meanwhile, the two-plateau system was supported by such small school men as Bill Heise of Colorado College and George Allen of Whittier.

Some of the pro-two plateau men are rabid—they want either to rescind the new one-plateau rule immediately, or else waive it for a year so they'll have time to convert their squads. They are in the minority.

The coaches voted 29 to 15 against rescinding the rule. They voted 39 to 15 against waiving it for a year.

And they voted 32 to 14 to let the nine-man NCAA rules committee keep its power, although some think it does not represent moment, but said he'd like to get "another infielder, and you can always use pitching. But we'll take any good ball player."

PREPAREDNESS For Inauguration Day

PARADE DOWN "HISTORIC MILE"—On Jan. 20, Dwight Eisenhower will have his first ride down Pennsylvania Avenue as the newly-elected President of the U. S. It is historic because every president since Jefferson has taken the traditional route after the inaugural ceremony. From his hotel, Gen. Eisenhower will ride to pick up President Truman at the White House and they will ride together to the stands before the Capitol building where Eisenhower will be inaugurated before noon. After the ceremony, Mr. Truman will drop out and President Eisenhower will lead the parade along the route shown on above Newsmap to the White House. It is expected that Mr. Truman will go directly to Union Station and board a train for Independence, Mo.

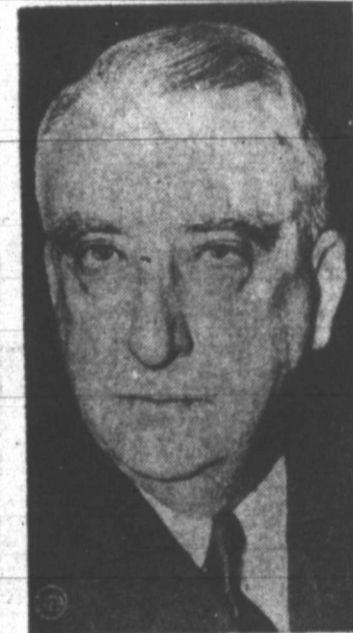

Above is the architect's sketch of the President's reviewing stand for the parade following Dwight D. Eisenhower's inauguration. Designed by Robert A. Wepper, Jr., of Washington, D. C., the stand is situated along Pennsylvania Avenue, in front of the White House. It is 80 feet long, 35 feet wide, and 30 feet high. The structure provides seats for distinguished guests, reception rooms, and four radio control rooms.

RECEPTION GOWNS—The dress at right, above, was in the height of fashion at the time of Harrison's inaugural festivities in 1841. Elaborate jade beading and fringe trimmed the high-collared floor-length, mauve faille reception gown. For the Eisenhower inaugural reception, Omar Klam of Ben Reig, designed today's afternoon dress of brown taffeta with low oval neckline, left. The Harrison era's elegant tulle hat contrasts with today's simple white straw. These contrasting costumes are from a collection of world-famous designs to be shown by Julius Garfinkel & Co., of Washington, at the January 17th pre-inaugural fashion show honoring the Republican Party's most distinguished women.

BEFORE INAUGURATION — PRAYER—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower will attend a prayer service at the National Presbyterian Church, above, in Washington, shortly before the inauguration ceremonies get underway at the stands in front of the Capitol.

TO ADMINISTER OATH—In keeping with inauguration tradition, Fred M. Vinson, Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, will administer the presidential oath to Dwight D. Eisenhower. The ceremony, on Jan. 20, will take place in stands before the Capitol Building.

FIRST PRESIDENT WORSHIPPED HERE—President George Washington was a vestryman of Christ Episcopal Church, above, in Alexandria, Va., from 1776 to 1779. It was here that the man who became the nation's first president came to pray before his inauguration in 1789.

INAUGURAL LICENSE PLATE—License plates which bear portraits of Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon will be affixed to vehicles carrying participants in the inauguration ceremonies in Washington, D. C., on January 20, Joseph C. McGarraghy, left, chairman of the Inaugural Committee, shows one of the plates to Mrs. Mary Jane Amann, of Washington.

"CHURCH OF THE PRESIDENTS"—More presidents of the United States have knelt in prayer in the church, above, than in any of the other religious edifices in Washington. It is St. John's Episcopal "Church of the Presidents," located across Lafayette Square from the front entrance to the White House grounds. Built in 1816, it has numbered several presidents among its parishioners. Many pre-inaugural prayer services have been held in St. John's, including those for President Roosevelt in 1933 and for President Truman in 1949. Dr. C. Leslie Glenn, inset, is the present rector of St. John's. He is a former Navy chaplain.

WASHINGTON'S FEW IN CHRIST CHURCH—George Washington occupied this pew in Christ Episcopal Church, Alexandria, Va., as he sought spiritual guidance before his first inaugural. The Rev. R. B. Comer, left, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, above, examines the first "Minutes Book" of the parish, which contains an account of Washington's purchase of Pew No. 5 (now No. 60) for 36 pounds, 10 shillings.

The three religious leaders, above, are the co-chairmen of the religious committee for Dwight D. Eisenhower's inaugural. At left is Msgr. Patrick O'Boyle, Archbishop of the Archdiocese of Washington. In center is Rabbi Norman Gerstenfeld, spiritual leader of Washington's Hebrew Reform Congregation. At right is Right Rev. Angus Dun, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington.

PRESIDENTIAL BIBLE—Dwight D. Eisenhower will take his oath of office as President on the Bible, above, the same one used for the inauguration of George Washington. The Bible is opened to the page where Washington placed his hand when he took the oath. The 200-year-old Bible has been owned for the past 195 years by the St. Johns Lodge of the Ancient York Masons.

Pampa Delegation Expected To Attend National Convention For Highway 60

A group of Pampans are expected to attend the 22rd annual National Hwy. 60 Association convention to be held in Show Low, Ariz., May 15 and 16.

The announcement of the convention was made by Howard Buckingham, Texas Branch U. S. National Hwy. 60 Association.

Nine states are to be represented in the convention which is slated to signify the opening of the "all-weather" coast-to-coast road, spanning the nation. They are Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Governor Howard Pyle (Ariz.) is to be principal speaker during the May 15 business session.

Highlight of the second-day session is to be the official dedication of the new Queen Creek Tunnel and bridge through Devil's Canyon between Miami and Superior, Ariz.

Convention center, Show Low, is a short drive from the Petrified Forest, Painted Desert, and Grand Canyon. Arrangements are being made to assist delegates to tour the area on the convention trip.

BUCKETS OF DIMES — Volunteer workers from various civic organizations and labor unions in Pampa spent the best part of Saturday, soliciting dimes to put on the March of Dimes. In the upper picture, member of Local 255, International Oil Workers (CIO), is serving up a bucket to a truck driver at the intersection of Stock, Francis and Hobart. In the lower picture, another volunteer — Walter Eller, Lions Club — stops a passing motorist to talk him into contributing to the March of Dimes. A bucket here, too, is the means of collection. From 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, representatives of the IOW, Lions, Kiwanis, Jaycee and Rotary Clubs took turns on street corners and in the middle of streets, asking Pampans and visitors to the city for their aid in helping children crippled with polio. Saturday's program was merely one of many being employed during March of Dimes, scheduled during the month of January. Fortunately, spring-like temperatures blessed the city all day — thereby enabling the volunteer workers to make the best showing possible. For the results of the day-long program, see pictures and stories in other parts of today's Pampa Daily News. (News Photos)

Roberts County Officials Granted Salary Increases

MIAMI — All Roberts County officials and employes have been granted an increase in salary for 1953 by action of the county commissioners court.

It was the first time in the history of the county that all officials and employes had been given an increase at one time.

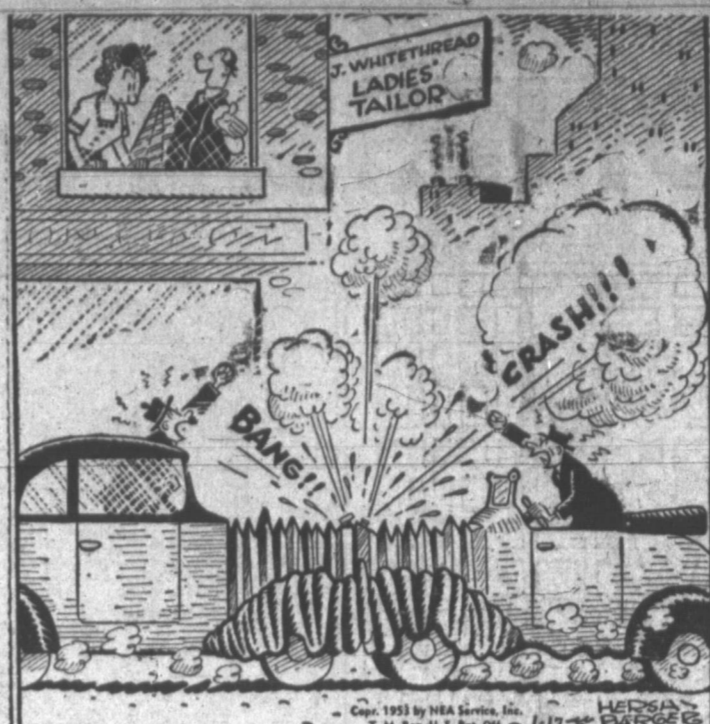

Voting in favor of the increase were Commissioners Woods King, J. T. Webb and Paul Caylor. Lone dissenter was Commissioner Wilbur Clark.

Since 1944 the state legislature has twice enacted laws granting counties power to increase salaries as much as 25 per cent, to enable officials and employes to cope with the rising costs of living.

Heretofore, however, Roberts County had felt that such an increase could not be afforded.

Present financial condition of the county, though, has made it possible to grant an increase of approximately 10 per cent. Last year the county had a surplus of about $10,000 in funds and tax collections for this year are expected to surpass last year's collections by more than $4,000.

Increased tax collections are expected to take care of all salary increases — totaling $4,420 per year.

Joining The March

"TOWERING" JOE TOOLEY AND "UMP" WARREN HASSEE might even join or be joined by the spectators in the "free-for-all" called basketball. The tournament among civic clubs starts Monday in the Pampa High School Field House at 8 p. m. The "take" from the pockets of the jeerers will be given to the March of Dimes. Tooley issued the challenge from the Elks Club to all other civic clubs in Pampa. Hasse is Gray County Chairman for the March of Dimes campaign.

AUCTIONEERS BEN OGDEN AND PAUL BROWN swoon to their own music (?) when they go on Radio Station KPDN for an "airathon" at 1:00 o'clock this afternoon until - - with everything from dogs to doughnuts being auctioned off with proceeds going to the polio fund.

LIVING POSTERS are portrayed by Girl Scout Troop 15 with Linda Fair, Carolyn Long, Barbara Maxwell and Karen Capps participating. These portraits will appear Saturday in downtown Pampa. Mrs. Omer Bybee, 1901 Coffee, and Mrs. A. C. Brewer, 209 Cook, are scout leaders for the troop. Girl Scouts have had several projects in this campaign with each troop planning an activity.

MRS. W. L. HESKEW, 1120 N. Somerville, mixes a cake to be donated to the KPDN "airathon." Cakes, pies, cookies, hams, eggs and boxes of groceries will be donated by Pampan then auctioned to the highest bidder.

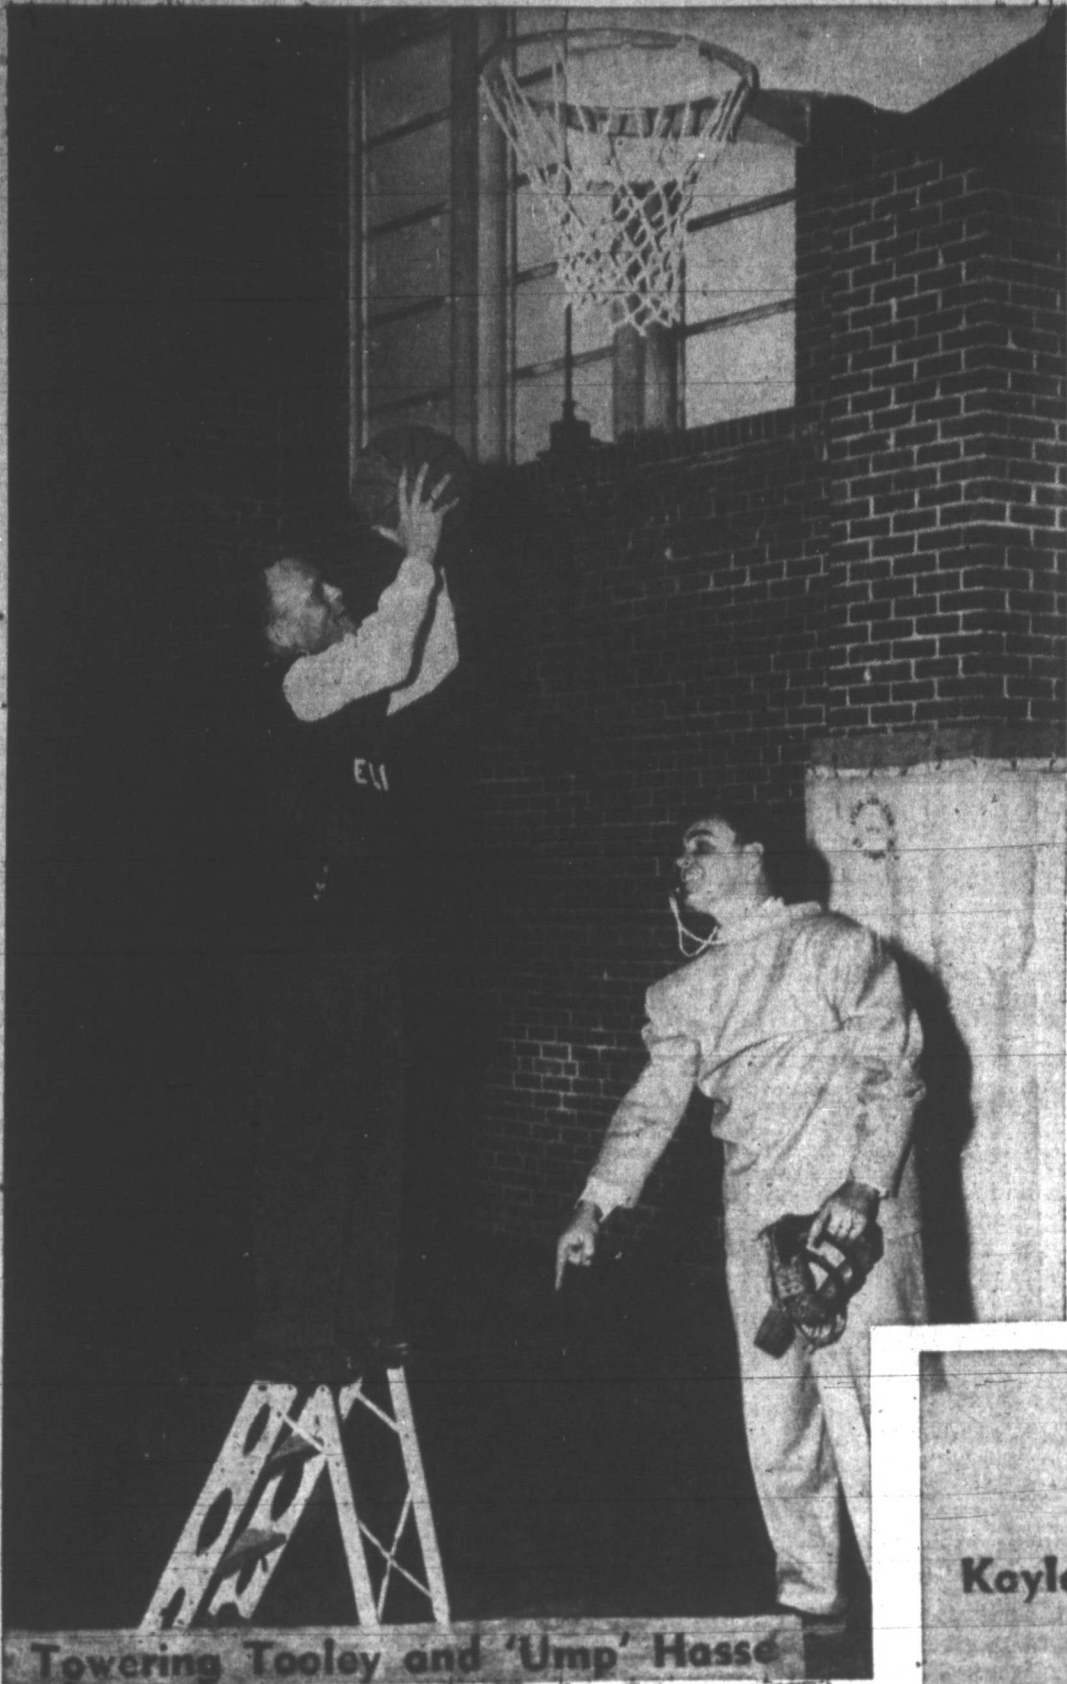

LIONS CORNER is just one of the corners hit Saturday by the local civic clubs in their Mile of Dimes campaign.

KAYLEEN LAYNE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Layne, 1300 East Browning, knows the pain of infantile paralysis. She was stricken on September 9 and taken to the Plainview Polio Clinic. Kayleen, a pupil in the second grade at Sam Houston School, is completely recovered after three months of treatment.

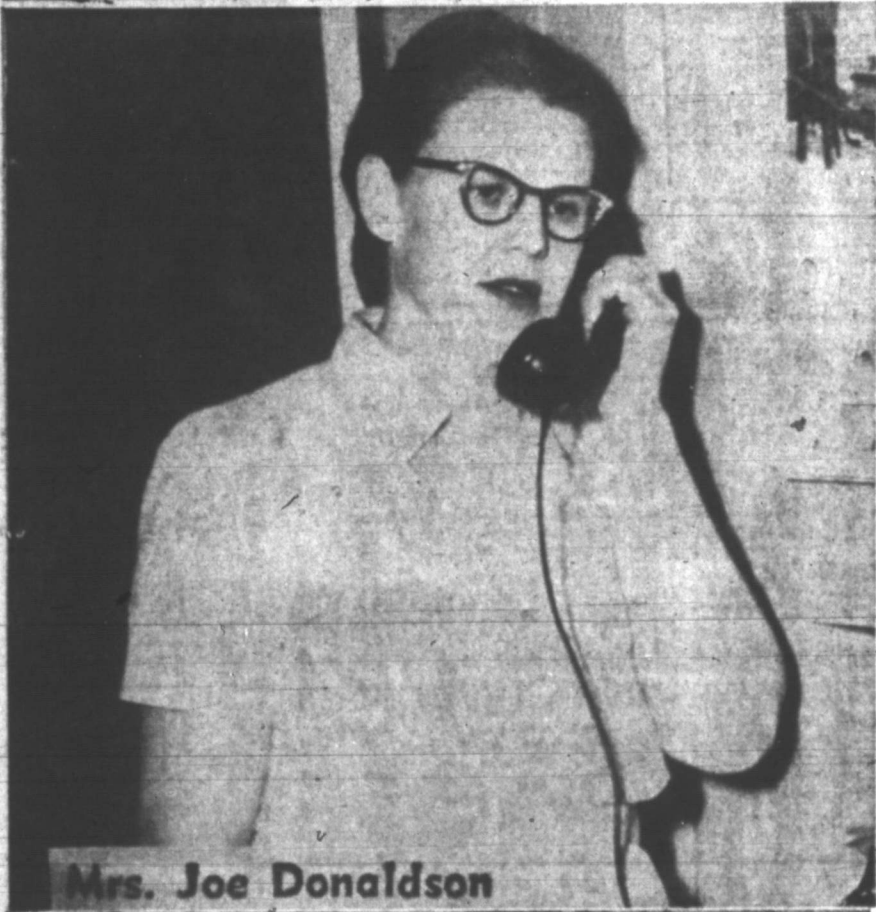

MRS. JOE DONALDSON, 1137 North Starkweather, calls a neighbor to remind her of the Mother's March planned for January 29. This phase of the March of Dimes is headed by Mrs. Carlton Nance. Mrs. Donaldson knows the need for polio research, as her two small daughters were stricken with polio early in November.

Toddler-Size Dresses Copy Latest Grownup Trends From Fabric To Trim

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY, UP-Staff Correspondent. Toddler-size dresses carefully copy the latest grownup trends in everything from fabric to trimming. "Everything is surface interest these days," said one New York designer of dresses from sizes one to three. Rough textures in little girls' dresses are achieved in washable fabrics instead of the textured woollens and silks in adult fashions. Embossed cotton is a favorite for new young fashions. In pique and pebbly weaves, the embossed finishes give a silken look. Knit Trim on Cottons. Sophisticated knit trim on cottons is the latest thing for the young ladies just out of the crawling stage. One embossed green and white polka dot cotton by Nannette designers has ribbed cotton knit sleeves and collar. For girls from three to six Cinderella dresses created a new grey chambray spring dress with a striped cotton knit yoke and sleeves. Straw fabrics are fashion news in grownup circles. Again the little girls aren't lagging behind. They have their straw cloth skirts and straw-trimmed cottons for spring too. Tattered denim and polished denim are two new treatments of sturdy fabrics. Both Nannette and Cinderella dresses feature polished denims in children's fashions. One snappy outfit has a polished denim skirt combined with a tattered denim top, a wide elasticized belt and a separate navy blue ascot to tuck in the V-neck. Big Assortment. Boat necklines, cowl necklines, sleeveless dresses, wide belts, jeweled trim and combinations like a coffee-colored pique jumper worn with a beige organza blouse all can be found in size one dresses. Junior can show pop a thing or two about new styles around Easter time too. New suits for boys from four to 12 are made from a rayon suiting that's snoot resistant and water repellent. The chips and twigs boys' fashions include these rayon fabrics in natty two-pants suits with reversible vests. One pair of trousers is plain, the other checked, and the vests can be reversed to match either pair. Faded blue denims are old fashioned for young living room cowboys, according to one designer. The newest idea for little boys' play clothes are burnished denims in nubby textures. Some of the denim shirts that go with the coveralls have terry trim. WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

Barcontrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple. Just go to your drugstore and get four ounces of the new improved Barcontrate. Pour into a pint bottle or jar and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves — if you're losing pounds and inches of excess fat — it will disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles. Just return the empty bottle for your money back. No starvation diet for your money back. No starvation diet the Barcontrate way.

Unions' Leaders Show Worry In Willingness To 'Cooperate'

WASHINGTON (NEA)—(NEA) — Gilt statements by AF of L President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther about wanting to cooperate with the new Eisenhower administration are the usual stuff for this season of New Year resolutions as yet untried and unbroken. But they may also be an indication that union politicians may be running a little bit scared. Not so much of Eisenhower, maybe, as of the new Congress.

A checkup on the new Congress by the AFL Labor's League for Political Education sizes up the situation this way: House — 180 friendly to organized labor; 239 unfriendly and 56 doubtful. Senate — 58 friendly, 87 unfriendly, 1 doubtful.

For The Other A Humiliating 20-Minute Journey... For One, A Brief Exhilarating Ride

By DOUGLAS LARSEN NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — For one man it will be an exhilarating ride of fleeting moments, the final ritual before being officially designated the most influential man on the face of the globe. For his companion on that journey, at best, it will be a deflating, unpleasant experience, and perhaps the most humiliating bitter 20-minute ride of his life.

LAST POLITICAL CHANGE-OVER of Presidents put Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt side-by-side in the ride down Pennsylvania Avenue. They spoke scarcely a word during trip.

ANOTHER BITTERNESS RIDE was made by Woodrow Wilson (left), whose mood, plus illness brought on by defeat, was apparent on inaugural day journey with his successor, Warren Harding.

It will be the 10th time in U.S. history that one party, on the mandate of the electorate, relinquishes control of the federal government to the other party. However, if there is bitterness in the hearts of either man during that ride, for things said during a bitter campaign or since, it will not be new.

In 1801 Republican Thomas Jefferson took over the reins of government from the outraged and defeated Federalist, John Adams. A terrible row developed over the appointment of new officials and the firing of some of the relatives of Adams and his wife who had been put on the U.S. payroll. This dispute engendered as much heat as did the issues of the campaign.

As a last gesture of ill-will, Adams made several "midnight" appointments, which Jefferson later refused to recognize. Out of this dispute came the first instance of the Supreme Court assuming authority to declare laws unconstitutional.

When the whole struggle was being thrashed out, Jefferson dared to visit Adams to try to talk things over, only to be met with the angry charge by Adams: "You have turned me out; you have turned me out."

In a state of high agitation Adams slipped out of town to avoid the inauguration. When Lincoln took his oath on the Capitol plaza he was probably a little sick inside, sensing the terrible crisis ahead for the country. A little more than a month chanan had been unable to halt the decay of relations between the North and South. When Lincoln took his oath on the Capitol plaza he was probably a little sick inside, sensing the terrible crisis ahead for the country. A little more than a month which was inspired by the sound of telephoto network and newsroom teletype machines. The Dwight D. Eisenhower March begins with what LaValle called "the presidential fanfare—bugle call and flourishes." Then the melody begins with the three notes D-D-E. These notes are repeated in various combinations throughout the march.

"After I met Mr. Eisenhower at a luncheon a few weeks ago I started thinking about this," LaValle explained, quickly writing the first eight bars of his march on a note pad to show how he created the melody. "His name and his initials kept running through my mind, and decided to see what I could work out with the initials, since they also represent the second and third notes of the C major scale.

"I had the theme worked out in my head before I started moving the notes around on paper. Writing it down took me about eight hours."

LaValle has composed other marches, including his most recent, "The United Press March."

Walter Babb and Irvin Babb, both of Sierra Blanca, were convicted of smuggling. Wayne Babb of Sierra Blanca and Joseph T. Marchant, a Midland cattle dealer, were convicted of conspiracy.

Herman, Fred and Leon Wilkerson, Big Spring truckers, were acquitted. The original indictments contained 10 counts against each defendant. It was cut to eight during the trial for all except Marchant, and to one count—of conspiracy only—for Marchant.

Two Chihuahuas, Mex. cowboys, Francisco Tarin, Preeto and Alberto Olivas, testified they helped Walter and Irvin Babb smuggle 150 head of cattle from Mexico in April, 1952.

Walter (Dixie) Babb, owner of the Babb ranch at Indian Hot Springs, was convicted on all eight counts. Wayne Babb was convicted on seven. Both were found guilty of concealing and transporting stolen cattle.

Irvin Babb, who testified he had no connection with the cattle, was acquitted of concealing and transporting the cattle. He was convicted on three counts. The stolen cattle were sold at Lexington, Austin and San Angelo.

Plastic Bodies For Autos May Help Cut Fatality Rate

DETROIT, Jan. 18 —UP—Plastic bodies for automobiles instead of convention steel may some day help cut the nation's rising highway fatality rate.

That's the prediction passed along to the Society of Automotive Engineers by a plastics manufacturer whose product he claims has better "crashability" than steel.

"The damping power of fibrous glass and plastics together with the type of impact occasioned (in automobile accidents) should result in less drastic injury than with metal which collapses with a tearing, pinching effect," said Dr. Games Slayter of Fiberglass Corp.

In addition, he said, reinforced plastic springs back into place and so would not trap an occupant in a vehicle, nor would it least make his removal from it simpler, faster and safer.

Flastics Don't Collapse Unlike sheet metal, plastics do not collapse when struck. They either puncture or crack. Thus, the danger of being trapped in the twisted wreckage of a car would be lessened considerably, Slayter said.

Aside from the safety factor, he said, repair bills could be cut in half. One reason, Slayter said, is a plastic's ability to absorb blows better than steel. Another is that if damage does occur it is much more readily repaired with heat and patching than the tedious "bumping" now required with steel.

Slayter would make no predictions as to when automobile manufacturers would start producing plastic auto bodies. But he warned the engineers: "Surprises in the plastic industry in 1954 will cause you to take a careful look at your drawing boards for the 1955 automobiles."

Stamping Steel Faster The auto industry has been experimenting for many years with plastics. Henry Ford was one of the first. So far none of them has proven adaptable to modern mass production methods.

James C. Zeder, vice president of Chrysler Corp., pointed to their biggest shortcoming. That is the necessity of molds for fenders and other parts that now are stamped out with a big press in one big "crunch."

A quick method of stamping plastics may be Slayter's "surprise" for 1954. If it is, then auto makers indeed will begin taking plastics more seriously.

Picked up at 12:15 a.m. Thursday by city police in the 700-block of West Foster, Hartwell was found carrying a .25 calibre automatic and possessing $200 in cash.

Lodged in city jail overnight, he was taken over to county authorities the following morning.

Jury Convicts Four For Theft

EL PASO, Jan. 18 —UP— a federal jury Friday convicted four West Texas cattlemen of smuggling or conspiring to smuggle 155 stolen cattle from Mexico into the United States.

The jury deliberated three hours and 40 minutes. It acquitted three other defendants.

Eisenhower's Name Inspires March Based On Notes D-D-E

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 —UP— As President-elect Eisenhower rests on the night before becoming President, there will be played for him a new march inspired by his name.

The composition, which will have its premiere performance Monday night on the Cities Service Band of America radio program, is named "The Dwight D. Eisenhower March." Its musical theme is based entirely on the notes D-D-E.

Bandmaster Paul LaValle, who directs the Band of America and who composed the march after meeting the President-elect several weeks ago, explained the novel inspiration for the music.

"This actually spells his name in music," he said. "It is one of the toughest assignments I've ever given myself, because I have been limited to keeping the theme of these three notes prominent."

LaValle has composed other marches, including his most recent, "The United Press March."

GG Vs Polio: At The Moment It Is Science's Best Weapon

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — You had better familiarize yourself with the two words "gamma globulin." They may play a big part in your lives. For the moment, gamma globulin is about the best science has to offer you as polio protection.

It's far from perfect, far from complete. For one thing, there's not nearly enough of it to go around. For another, it only gives a child protection for about a month. And, thirdly, even then it's no guarantee — a child still may get polio, although probably not as readily and not as severe a case.

Despite these drawbacks, gamma globulin is a vast step forward. It means that, in the face of an epidemic, doctors at last have a weapon with which to fight back.

Gamma globulin is that part of the blood which contains antibodies. Everybody has antibodies in his bloodstream. They're the substances that your body forms to fight a disease, and they usually last long after the disease is licked.

Most people have mild attacks of polio as children. These are normally so mild that they're mistaken for a bad cold or mild flu. But they're polio, and your bloodstream swarms with anti-polio antibodies.

It is only the part of the blood that contains the antibodies — called gamma globulin — that's now given to a child in the face of an epidemic. It is, simply, a transfusion of antibodies. Unfortunately, polio antibodies will only last four or five weeks after being transplanted.

But, during those few weeks, they'll turn back most assaults by polio virus. In an exhaustive test made by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, now conducting its annual March of Dimes campaign, 54,000 children were inoculated in three scattered cities. Half got gamma globulin, half got a harmless substance. Not even the doctors knew which child got which; only the Foundation knew.

Of the 27,000 children who got gamma globulin, 26 contracted paralyzing polio. Of the 27,000 in the "control" group, 64 were attacked. And the cases were much milder in the gamma globulin patients.

Manufacturing gamma globulin is a complicated, lengthy and costly process. The raw material is whole blood which must be donated by everyone. For this, the American Red Cross has taken over the job of collection, utilizing its existing network of blood donor stations.

The actual manufacturing is being done by commercial laboratories, many of which have been making gamma globulin for years, although in much smaller quantities. The serum has been used since about 1944, as a treatment for measles and infectious hepatitis.

From whole blood to gamma globulin takes three months. First the liquid portion of the blood (plasma) is separated from the red and white cells. The gamma globulin is in the plasma, colorless fluid. But the gamma globulin is in only about six per cent of the plasma, together with other proteins.

The other 94 per cent is called serum albumin, and is useful for transfusions. A blood donor can thus give for two great causes.

Slowly and painstakingly, the proteins are separated by a method called "fractionation." The usual fractionation includes about six separate steps before the gamma globulin white powder — is isolated. It's then bottled in solution, ready for inoculation.

Actually, the longest part of the production takes place after the gamma globulin is bottled. It goes through eight weeks of careful testing before final shipment.

Partly because of this lengthy manufacturing process, and partly because of the scarcity of adequate manufacturing laboratories, the supply of gamma globulin will be short for some time to come.

One dose, which is enough to protect a child, takes one pint of whole blood. And the Red Cross estimates some 2,000,000 doses will be needed next summer, in epidemic areas alone. Undoubtedly, many more parents will want to see their children inoculated.

So at least 2,000,000 pints of blood will be needed for '53.

Somebody's N (Nuts) . . . H (Henry) Takes Off L (Lid) To Eng (Englishman) For Idea

By HENRY McLEMORE
LOS ANGELES, Calif. — Englishmen say there will always be an England. . . .
I hope so. Ferrevently.
If there weren't an England I couldn't write this column today. So 'elp me Good Queen Beas, I read in the newspapers and heard over the air that an English scholar said Americans use words that are too long.

The man, if my ears were tuned in right, said that we were wasting our natural resources by calling an elevator an elevator when we could call an elevator a lift. We call baby carriages baby carriages when it seems so much easier to him to call them prams.

He wanted to know why Americans didn't save words by calling gasoline petrol, suspenders braces, chocolate milk shakes chocs.

Now my column starts.

Let me tell the English gentlemen that he doesn't know the first thing about how to shorten words. Let us start at the top and work down. Let us start with President-elect of the United States. We call him Ike in America. Three letters. Would it be out of line for me to ask the Englishman what they call their ruler? Have the English shortened the royal title to something as short as Ike is? Is field marshal shorter than general? Is lady-in-waiting much shorter than friend?

America being the home of invention, I would like to tell the man from the other side of the Atlantic that it wouldn't be too much trouble for us Americans to boil words down to their essential oils and get them real short.

Beginning tomorrow America will send England bucks. That's a shorter word for money than dollars. Let us start with England's Prime Minister visits us next time we will unwillingly refer to him

Little Hope For Curb Bill Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — UP — A bill calling for an immediate end to livestock price controls stands little chance of immediate action, Chairman Homer E. Capehart of the Senate Banking committee indicated Saturday.

The Indiana Republican said the livestock decontrol bill would be lumped with other control legislation. The committee will hold hearings on the whole controls question.

But Capehart said it was unlikely that the committee would single out the livestock decontrol plan for quick action before April 30, there is little need for the Griswold bill if no further controls are voted.

Griswold said even if his bill is not passed before April 30, it would help "in obtaining the needed elimination of livestock price and grading by executive order."

He said livestock controls, long under attack by the meat industry, have discouraged maximum meat production.

Sens. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) and Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) introduced a bill to continue price supports of basic crops at 90 per cent of parity through 1957.

Young also introduced a measure for 90 per cent support of oats, rye, barley and soybeans, which are not now included in the mandatory 90 per cent supports.

Even if volunteer donors contribute that much, it is highly doubtful if the decontrol can process fast in time. And much of the gamma globulin will continue to be earmarked for treatment of measles and infectious hepatitis, where its usefulness is completely proven.

not as Mr. Churchill, but as Win- I don't like the Englishman's suggestion for shortening words because everything in the world is getting tightened up. People can't be natural any more. I suppose I could survive if I called trousers ira, pants pa, girdles ga, lingerie la, and shoes sho, — but what's the hurry?

What would a fellow gain if he called a sweater a swa, a rabbit an r, a mule an m, and his wife a wi?

I like words I'm accustomed to. I will grant you that as a columnist it would make things a lot easier for me if I could write a column, say, that went like this: "L F O M T M."

In abbreviated English that would mean, "Leonard Fairfax owed me ten monkeys." Throw a few dots and dashes in the middle of that, mention M M's name (for Marilyn Monroe) — and there's a column for you.

My H (hat) is off to the Eng (Englishman) who suggested such an idiotic idea.

Wounded Soldier Finds He Has At Least 21 Blood Relatives

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — UP — Pfc. William F. Hannon got to counting Thursday and discovered he has 21 "blood relatives" he's never met.

The New York soldier is a patient at Walter Reed Hospital here, and has been since last August.

Since he was wounded in Korea in October, 1951, Hannon has received 21 transfusions.

"If I knew who all these nice people were," he said, "I would write each one a letter of thanks. Without these life-savers, I would not be talking to you now."

An Infantryman
The 21-year-old lad is a former 24th Infantry soldier. He was hit by a rifle bullet and fragments from two grenades during a hill-top fight south of Seoul.

"It was three o'clock on the morning of Oct. 25," he said. "After I was hit I played possum until the medics picked me up four hours later. I lost a great amount of blood on that hill — from a bullet hole through my right elbow and fragment wounds in my back, stomach and both legs."

lost so much during each operation. But don't get me wrong, mister. I'm not complaining."

Hannon spent four days in an Army hospital in Japan and after receiving another pint of blood, he was put aboard a plane for the United States.

Then More Blood
"By the time I got to Fort Campbell, Ky.," Hannon said, "I was pretty weak because I lost blood all during the flight. The doctors said it was the blood the medics pumped into me and my spirit. I had two more operations at the post hospital there and got four more pints of blood."

The plucky young man expects to remain at Walter Reed for several more months. He is now up to 125 pounds.

The blond, blue-eyed Hannon remembers "at least" seven operations since the hill-top disaster, and knows there are more to come.

"I still can't do without blood transfusions," he said, "because I

What To Do With Chiang A Problem Confronting Ike

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
 One of the 864 questions facing the new administration of President-elect Eisenhower is what to do with the troops of Chiang Kai-shek now cooling their heels on the island of Formosa.
 These troops, holding the last remnant of Nationalist China, have been "neutralized" by order of President Truman since the beginning of the anti-Communist war in Korea.
 The estimated number of these Nationalist forces varies all the way from 850,000 to 600,000, with the truth probably somewhere in between.
 During the recent political campaign there were many Republican demands, first, that more U. S. aid be extended to Chiang, and, second, that some use be made of his troops. The Republicans now are in a position to put those demands in effect.
 There is one very strong argument against the use of Chiang's forces in Korea.

 It is that to transport Nationalist Chinese to Korea simply would be to transplant the Chinese civil war to Korean territory and to extend the Korean conflict indefinitely. Certainly, Chiang, intent on the recapture of his own lost territory, would not be content to stop at Korea's Yalu River boundary with Manchuria and Red China.
 Eisenhower already has made it clear he regards Korea only as part of a global conflict.
 He also has made it clear that he hopes to avoid extending the war, or at least our part in it, beyond the limits of Korea.
 However, that limitation need not necessarily extend to Chiang Kai-shek.
 Hot wars against the Communists are being fought today at two points in Asia—Korea and Indo-China. Between the two, and feeding supplies to each, is Red China.
 Proponents of the use of Chiang's forces argue that his troops are not getting any younger. They argue further that an attack on Red China by an exclusively Chinese force under Chiang could not in any way be interpreted as outside interference which would be apt to draw Russia into the struggle.

 It would be oriental against oriental.
Would Divert Reds
 The argument, further, is that such an attack immediately would draw up to two million Chinese guerrillas to Chiang's side from the mainland; and that, inevitably it would divert the Reds both from Korea and Indo-China.
 We already have seen the effect of Red intervention in Korea.
 Red-Chinese supplies also flow into Indo-China and the French fear that Russian-built MIG 15 jet fighters also soon may make an appearance there. If so, they would outclass anything the French have.
 At the outset, any Nationalist attack need not necessarily be against the China mainland.
 Another tempting target is the big Red-held island of Hainan, off the coast of Indo-China.
 Such speculation gives away no military secrets.

REDS ARE GLAD THEY'RE HOME—Safely home in Minneapolis, Minn., twin 1st Lieutenants John and James Kumpf demonstrate an aerial maneuver that gave Communist pilots double-headed headaches while the twins flew F-86 Sabrejets when attached to the 51st Fighter Interceptor Wing, in Korea. Both John, left, and James completed 100 combat missions, both won the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with two clusters, the Presidential Citation and the Syngman Rhee Medal.

Pretty Bullfighter Is Improved

AGUASCALIENTES, Mex., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Patricia McCormick, Texas' pretty girl bullfighter, was reported "amazingly" improved Saturday from a wound she received in a practice fight with a young bull.
 Attending physicians said an eight-inch gash in the torera's leg would be sewn up Saturday.

 "Patricia's wound was very serious," her doctor said. "But she's got all of the courage a matador needs."
 Miss McCormick vowed on entering the hospital that she would get back in the ring with the toro that gored her and added, "I'll be the one who walks out."
 This was the first time the El Paso girl had been seriously hurt in a bull fight since she quit school last year to follow the colorful career.
