Gun Salesman Testifies In Parsons Trial

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 3 — UP — A former El Paso gun salesman was to return to the witness stand Tuesday to continue his testimony in the trial of Mary Jean Parsons on a charge of murdering her husband of six weeks.

The gun salesman, Cpl. William W. Henry, is now stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls.

He testified Monday that Mrs. Parsons, a 22-year-old former Tulsa, Okla., socialite, bought a .32 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver and 50 cartridges two days before she killed her husband, Lt. Richard O. Parsons, as he lay sleeping in their El Paso apartment.

Testifies to Gun Sale
Henry testified Mrs. Parsons came into the El Paso sporting goods store where he worked last Feb. 14 and "wanted to buy a gun with a silencer on it."

Henry said he told Mrs. Parsons the store had no such gun in stock, so she bought the Smith & Wesson. He said she made out the first check to pay for the revolver wrong and wrote a second one.

El Paso District Attorney Bill Clayton asked if there was anything unusual or abnormal about Mrs. Parsons' actions. Defense attorneys objected to the question. Clayton rephrased it to ask if she appeared unusual or unusual.

"Usual," Henry answered.

Defense counsel have announced they will base her plea of innocent on insanity, even though she was found sane by an El Paso jury last May.

Concentrate on Check Episode
In cross-examination of Henry, defense attorneys concentrated on the checkwriting episode. C. C. McDonald, one of the attorneys, asked Henry if the writing of the incorrect check wasn't unusual.

"It was wrong," Henry said. "Wasn't it unusual?" McDonald asked.

"It's been done before," Henry answered.

Allies Maul Fortresses
SEOUL, Feb. 3 — American infantrymen, backed by tanks, artillery and planes, mauling two Communist fortresses on the western front Tuesday in three hours of savage hand-to-hand combat.

Then they withdrew. Front line officers called the best coordinated air-ground raid a "success" and reported the Chinese suffered "heavy" casualties.

A few hours earlier 700 North Koreans slammed into UN outposts in the east-central sector and battled South Korean units for two hours before they were driven back by the ROKs, supported by Allied artillery.

U. N. attack against Red positions followed 18 hours of fighter bomber and artillery bombardments on the twin hills named "Un-gok."

Allied infantrymen charge across 1,000 yards of shellplated, no-man's land and stormed into the Chinese positions. They fought with flame throwers, hand grenades, rifles and machine guns before withdrawing, presumably under orders, United Press Correspondent Frederick Painter reported from the scene.

STATE OF THE UNION — President Dwight D. Eisenhower delivers his State of the Union message before a joint session of Congress. The Chief Executive said, "There is in world affairs a steady course to be followed between an assertion of strength that is truculent and a confession of helplessness that is cowardly; in our affairs at home, a middle way between untrammelled freedom of the individual and the demands for the welfare of the whole nation. This way must avoid government by bureaucracy as carefully as it avoids neglect of the helpless." (NEA Telephoto)

Shake-Up Looms In Defense Department

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 — UP — President Eisenhower's message fingering the national Defense Department for a big and bruising shakeup. The old soldier knows his way around the Pentagon.

The careful language of his State of the Union message to Congress did not reveal how thoroughly the defense set-up is to be overhauled nor that it actually is under charges of being unfit to function in time of war.

There will be pleader force behind Mr. Eisenhower's demand that the Armed Services be properly coordinated, that certain supply activities be consolidated, that military waste and duplication be eliminated.

Secretary Charles E. Wilson's No. 1 job is to recommend amendment of the National Security act to make the Defense Department tick and to impose real unification upon the generals and admirals who may resist it.

The indictment of the Defense Department organization is both severe and official. Former Secretary Robert A. Lovett put it in the record and gave Mr. Eisenhower a copy when he submitted his resignation in early January. Lovett's complaint was more against the defense act itself than against the high officers caught in its web of organization disorder.

Lovett reported that no one knew for sure, who really was running the Armed Services, the secretary or the joint chiefs of staff. He suggested amending the law to make the defense secretary deputy commander-in-chief. That would put him right next to the President, establishing on-the-spot civilian control over the military.

He found that the three chiefs—Army, Navy and Air—could not function as a policy team and were incapable of providing the President or National Security Council with the type of military guidance which should be available under the unification system. That's a long winded way of saying that unification of the Armed Services has not worked out.

Some To Schools . . . Horse Meat Probe Covers 20 Counties
KERMIT, Tex., Feb. 3 — Authorities checked the possibility Tuesday that horse meat, sold by a Kermit wholesaler, had gotten into the hands of retailers over a 20 county area of West Texas.

Officials announced Monday that they had unwrapped the horse meat racket after a three-month investigation. Winkler County Attorney John Lee said that Tom Gordy, owner of the Kermit Provision Co., had been charged on two counts; for possession of horse meat for the purpose of selling it for human consumption and for transferring horse meat to another person who he knew would sell it.

Lee said that Gordy sold meat to retailers as far south as Lubbock and as far south as Big Lake in Regan county, roughly, a 20 county area. The State Health Department said it was sending an investigator to Pecos to determine if Gordy had sold horse meat to all of his customers.

Thieves Break Into Gas Station Here
A cigaret machine in a local service station is minus some of its earnings today — but not a cigaret is missing.

Reported at 8:45 a.m. today, the break-in at Gulf Service Station, 801 S. Cuyler, did not net the burglars any other source of income.

Entrance was made through a rear east window in a rear room by means of a screw driver, according to Police Chief Jim Conner. Plywood over the window had been pried off.

But what tool was used to pry open the cigaret machine itself has not been determined.

China Coast Blockade President's Next Step

Serious Criticism From Allies Seen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 — UP — Congressional and military sources said Tuesday the next step in President Eisenhower's drive to crack the Korean stalemate may be to clamp a naval blockade on Red China.

Mr. Eisenhower announced Monday he was freeing Chiang Kai-shek's forces on Formosa to raid the Chinese mainland in a move to force the Reds to divert troops from Korea for home defense.

A naval blockade, certain to be opposed by Britain and other U. S. Allies, would be designed to choke off the vital war materials still streaming into Communist China from the free world via the open sea.

It is said to be one of a series of trip-hammer moves the President and his advisers are considering to make the Korean and Indo-Chinese wars so unprofitable the Reds will throw in the sponge.

Congressional reaction to denaturalization of Formosa was highly favorable, even though some Allies showed some concern and military experts said it was "questionable" how soon Chiang could mount any raids on the mainland.

Criticism Certain
But a storm of Allied criticism almost certainly would accompany any decision to blockade the China coast.

Britain has opposed this idea in the strongest possible terms on the grounds it would wreck its big colony at Hong Kong and kill off a good part of its important Far Eastern trade. It might conceivably defy a blockade, so strong is its feeling on the point.

Other Allies would object not only on loss of trade grounds but on the theory that the blockade, although technically not an act of war, might unnecessarily invoke the Soviet-China defense pact and touch off a new world conflict.

Nevertheless, underlining the possibility of a blockade was a remark by joint chiefs of staff chairman Gen. Omar N. Bradley and statements by the congressional AUSTIN, Feb. 3 — UP — William J. Disch, the "grand old man of Texas baseball," died Tuesday at his home of a heart ailment. He was 78.

A University of Texas athletic department spokesman said "Uncle Billy" Disch died shortly after 3 a.m. He had been ill since 1940, when a strained heart muscle brought on a chronic condition that ultimately resulted in his death.

Disch coached 21 southwest conference champions in his 26 years as University of Texas baseball coach, sending many of his proteges to the major leagues.

WILBURN, 34, and Lee Eitel were coon hunting on Chocolate Bayou. Four dogs treed a coon and Eitel propped his rifle against a tree.

The dogs knocked it over, shooting Wilburn in the ankle. His condition was not serious.

HEART CASE HELPED — Lloyd Collins, 22, victim of rheumatic fever the last 41 years, is shown here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Collins, Berger. Will Get Help Now . . . Youth Didn't Know About Heart Fund

A 22-year-old area youth, now in a critical stage of rheumatic fever, is to receive medical aid and treatment through the efforts of Gray County Heart Association—but the help has been delayed many precious months because the family "didn't know there was a heart fund."

The youth suffering the crippling disease is Lloyd Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Collins, Berger.

He has been the victim of rheumatic fever the last 11 years. In July the heart condition increased and Lloyd has since been in and out of hospitals many times and has been bedridden the last six months.

After word of Lloyd's condition became known to the county heart

Invitations have been sent to Pampa Republicans to attend the Panhandle Republican gathering Feb. 16 in the Amarillo Country Club for the annual Lincoln Day dinner, according to Ben Gibson, former state GOP presidential campaign manager.

The $5-a-plate affair is being sponsored by the 36th and 37th Texas senatorial districts with Rep. Clifford Hope, R-Kan., as speaker. Besides Hope, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, other leading Republicans who are to attend include National Committeeman Jack Porter, Houston, and State Chairman Avin Lane, Dallas.

Chiang Lauds Removal Of Seventh Fleet

TAIPEH, Formosa, Feb. 3 — UP — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today hailed President Eisenhower's declaration that the U. S. Seventh Fleet no longer would block any Nationalist China attempt to attack the Chinese mainland as "militarily and morally sound."

And he added, "I would like to assure our friends abroad that the Republic of China will not ask aid from ground forces of any nation to achieve our goal."

But he did not mention air or naval support, and observers here thought it was implicit in his statement that he would welcome air and sea support, especially since Mr. Eisenhower has not ordered the Seventh fleet from the Formosa straits but has only said it should not block any invasion plans Chiang may have.

Chiang's statement was a carefully worded document written in Chinese by Chiang himself in which several drafts were discarded before final approval was given for translation into English and a "for your information" copy was given to the United States embassy.

Chiang called a series of meetings with his personal advisors, including his top generals, after the President's State of the Union address to discuss the best and quickest methods to take advantage of the new freedom offered Nationalist China to campaign against Red China.

Governor K. C. Wu, who is head of the Taiwan provincial government, told the United Press, "President Eisenhower's decision is not mously" welcomed. Mr. Eisenhower whole world because it's the first time the initiative in the cold war has been taken from the Communists.

Retired General Wu Teh Chen, close friend and advisor to Chiang, commented, "America now definitely has taken the initiative in the cold war from Moscow. Whatever Stalin's previous plans were, he'll now have to think twice before making his next move and forcing other people to accept Russian communism."

AAUW Sponsors Fairy-Tale Play In Pampa Feb. 16
A fairy-tale play of dance and drama by Hans Christian Andersen has been scheduled for 4 p.m. Feb. 16 in the junior high school auditorium.

Sponsored by the Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women, the Edwin Strawbridge production of "Prince Swineherd" will make its only local appearance that day.

Designed to be shown to both parents and children, the play is an example of Strawbridge's "Children's Theater," which he calls "dance-drama."

All his plays are musical productions using dance, music and magic in telling their stories — considered "one of most unique forms of constructive entertainment to be found in our country," according to Mrs. Loyal Davies, publicity manager.

Three Continents Pouring Aid Into Flood-Ravaged Europe; 1,300 Dead

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Feb. 3 — UP — Three continents poured aid Tuesday into flood-devastated Holland and an armada of small boats battled key seas to rescue flood-bound North Sea islanders.

The United States, Canada, Sweden and South Africa sent aid to the injured and homeless of The Netherlands — which was hit hardest by a storm and flood which ravaged five continental nations.

Unofficial estimates said almost 1,300 persons had died in the flood and storm in England, Holland, Belgium, France and Germany. There were 1,073 confirmed deaths, with Holland, where 605 died, leading the list. Britain had 445 dead — including 11 Americans, Belgium had 16 and Germany seven. France also was raked by the storm and battered by the flood, but reported no deaths.

The death record was expected to be boosted Tuesday since communications around the perimeter of the flooded area of southern Holland were established Monday night bringing new casualty reports. Holland alone may list 900 dead when the final count is known.

Snow Storm
An 18-hour snow storm isolated four small villages in southeast Holland just outside the flood zone. Hundreds of rescue workers were digging through seven feet of snow to aid the towns of Holset, Harles, Kottessen and Gamber.

England Fears Toll May Hit 500; Hundreds Still Missing
LONDON, Feb. 3 — UP — Hundreds of persons were missing Tuesday along the storm battered East Coast of England and it was feared the final death toll in the worst natural disaster to hit Britain in almost 300 years would be about 500.

The government-owned British Broadcasting Company in what it called a conservative estimate said 500 persons were unaccounted for in East Anglia.

Officials already listed 445 persons dead in the storm and floods which hit Britain and its coastal waters Saturday night. Some 310 were killed by floods while the other 135 died in ship sinkings.

The North Sea coast Tuesday was digging out and searching for its last casualties and missing.

In the coastal towns of Hunstanton and Heacham — known as a "little corner of America," 11 Americans were listed as dead and six others missing and presumed dead.

Americans and British labored side by side in the rescue work in "Little America" — the two towns near the big American Southropes bomber base.

The tiny Thames estuary island of Canvey — called "Little Holland" — was the hardest hit spot in Britain. The official death toll Tuesday on the island was given by Police Superintendent William E. Pope as 46. The final figure was expected to reach 100.

Tape Distributed To 186 Youngsters

Bikes owned by 186 young Pampans have been equipped with Scotchlite and there is enough of the safety tape on hand to outfit about 50 more.

Any bicycle brought into the Pampa Fire Department will be so equipped — without charge, according to Fire Chief Ernest Winborne who admitted today he was anxious to get the tape on more bikes.

Sponsored by Pampa's Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, the current life-a-bike campaign is designed to make bike riding at night a safer practice, according to Mrs. W. R. Fairsh, local president.

If and when the remaining tape is used up, Mrs. Fairsh said, "We hope that some other local organization can see its way clear to continue the program."

ion also heard indirect complaints of citizens on dogs, rabbits and cats, and use of the alley north of W. Francis by Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners to run off used water.

Health Inspector L. E. West told the commission he felt some restrictive measures should be taken in keeping animals inside the city limits, namely goats and dogs.

As to rabbits, West, who was sporting the numerous complaints of citizens based on odors and flies of the animals, said one man in town had 500 rabbits penned up on a 50-foot lot, which also included the man's house.

The complaints against dogs were mostly on the noise factor. Some people, he said, have five or six dogs staked out around their houses.

West said present ordinances limit the number of cows and horses that can be kept on a lot and added the same should be true of goats — one to every lot.

"It should be one goat to every 10 acres," quipped Mayor C. A. West said, "It may be necessary in some cases for some people to have goats' milk, but I believe some regulatory methods could be taken. All we can do is ask people to clean the areas up, and help for a sort period of time."

Shortly before Mrs. Dee Parton started a complaint against large trucks loading water near a city barn late at night. She said the trucks and drivers kept people awake late at night and at spilled water has turned the area into a mud hole most of the time.

The complaint brought on a discussion by the commission relative to moving the water loading area for trucks to another locale and wound up in a further discussion on relocating the city barn where new buildings can be erected and more work room secured. Cruse said the buildings now being used at the city barn are situated in the heart of a residential district — are old dilapidated and not "near big enough for the purpose."

Earlier the commission approved a bid of Clowe and Cowan, Inc., for 11,000 feet of 2-inch aluminum water pipe at a bid of $2,682.80. The only other bidder was American Standard at $4,100.

To Carry Out The Voters' Wishes . . . Rogers Urges Both Parties Give Support To President

"Full support of both parties" should be given to President Eisenhower so that he can carry out to effect "his campaign promises which were approved by the voters," Rep. Walker Rogers asserted today.

Two major flare-ups have occurred so far, Rogers averred in his weekly newsletter, and they have caused the "greatest disturbance."

(1) The curtailment of presidential powers in reorganizing the executive branch of the government; and

(2) The proposed tax reduction before balancing the budget.

Rogers also announced the subcommittee of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committees to which he had been named: Irrigation and Reclamation, Territories and Insular Possessions, and Mines and Mining.

Actually, the representative admitted, "very little has been accomplished in the Congress outside of organizational work," though he had hoped "operations would get into full swing immediately after the 20th of January."

Reason for the added delay, Rogers thought, was "the strife between the factions inside the Republican Party."

Certainly, the congressman insisted, "both parties owe it to this country to cooperate with him (Eisenhower) and his administration to honor and carry out the wishes of the American people."

Under present law which expires April 1, Rogers explained, the President has the right and power to reorganize the bureau, agencies or departments in the executive branch of the government by setting up his reorganization program, and submitting it to the Congress.

If Congress fails to veto such reorganization program within 60 days by a majority of the full membership of one of the houses of Congress, he continued, the program automatically goes into effect, meaning that 50 per cent of the entire membership of one house must be opposed to it in order to defeat such a program.

A bill to extend the Reorganization Act for two years was introduced, Rogers emphasized, and the new budget director spoke in favor of it, but when the "smoke cleared" the committee had voted an amendment to the law.

sources who correctly forecast the order lifting the restrictions on the Chinese Nationalists.

In a radio interview on Korean war alternatives, Bradley mentioned a blockade as one of the steps that "might" be taken.

May Be Next Move Chairman Dewey Short (R-Mo.) of the House Armed Services committee said a naval blockade may be the next move to "step up the pressure" on Red China. Conceding there was risk in the new administration's course, he said, "we can't forever have a stalemate."

which measurably cut down the presidential powers."

This amendment, the congressman reiterated, "provided that a presidential reorganization could be effected on the floor of either house by the vote of a simple majority."

The tax reduction proposal of Rep. Reed (N.Y.), Rogers went on, is designed "to cut off the last tax increase at an early date," which would mean a "tax reduction of around 3 1/2 per cent in 1953 and an overall tax reduction in later years of approximately 11 per cent."

The concern on Capitol Hill, the representative continued, "centers around the question of which is to come first — the chicken or the egg in tax cut or a balanced budget?"

"I do not hesitate to tell you that I expect to support Mr. Reed's position for the tax reduction, if for no other reason than to be consistent," Rogers stated.

"It is my thought," Rogers concluded, "that the budget will be balanced much quicker if we take some action reducing taxes, than will be the case if we spend a year or two discussing what we might possibly do without in the way of federal expenditures."

association, swift steps were taken to place him in Baylor Hospital, Dallas, where he "will receive the benefit of more complete care," according to a local association leader.

According to the family at one time they asked a nurse if heart disease aid funds were available and the reply was "I never heard of such a thing."

But someone had heard. Someone referred the family to Dr. M. C. Overton, Jr. at Overton Clinic when Lloyd was last in a Berger hospital a few days ago.

The boy's parents contacted the Pampa clinic and were turned over to Dr. Malcolm Brown, associated with the clinic and chairman of the Gray County Heart Association which was organized here two years ago.

The Collinses brought their son, pale, quiet, and plucky to Pampa Monday.

Brown, after his examination, contacted Baylor Hospital and arranged for Lloyd to be taken there today via ambulance for a complete diagnosis and such treatment as is known.

Gray County Heart Association is affiliated with the state and national associations. Baylor Hospital is one of the hospitals in the state where research is being conducted on heart disease through funds made available by the heart fund — accumulated through the drive which is now in progress.

It is a teachers center associated with the Southwestern Medical College. Medical students and leading doctors will be there to study Lloyd's case, Brown said.

According to Brown, expenses for long distance calls, ambulance transportation and help with the care will be borne by the local association and he stressed, "It doesn't matter that his home is over the county line. Gray County Association's purpose is to aid all those stricken with any heart disease."

House Republicans See Good Chance For Income Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—UP—House Republican leaders said Tuesday there is a good chance that federal income taxes can be cut by July 1 without violating the fiscal ground rules laid down by President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message.

Senate leaders, however, were not yet ready to make any promises about tax relief this year.

Both professed complete agreement with the President's statement that tax reduction "will be justified only as we show we can succeed in bringing the budget under control."

A small storm, which sent temperatures tumbling below zero in Wisconsin and Minnesota, moved eastward Tuesday over Ohio.

In the path of the storm, snow fell in New York state, eastern Pennsylvania and southern New England, with some snow flurries reported in northern Michigan and the southern peninsula.

The cold snap brought a quick end to the Midwest's brief respite from chilly winter weather. A layer of cold air lay over the area from Ohio to northern Missouri and northward to the Canadian border.

Five new enlistments were accepted into the area National Guard Monday and a change has been made in officers, Capt. Charles L. Robison, company commander, announced today.

The enlistments include Buddy Cockrell, Lee Frazier, Donald J. Phillips and Robert W. Richardson from Pampa and Lou Wayne McBee from White Deer.

Lt. Milton A. Frappe has been changed from battalion supply officer to battalion radar officer.

And according to Robison, a new building has been leased for the storage of the 13 vehicles of the Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 47th Field Artillery and Observation Battalion.

In accordance with the plan for each guard unit to procure its own supplies, a trip was made to Austin by Sgt. Wesley Langham and Sgt. Libern Howell where they obtained survey equipment.

Debate Team Will Represent Pampa In Speech Clinic

A debate team from Pampa High School composed of Charlotte Call and Pat Franklin will represent Pampa in a speech clinic slated in West Texas State College Friday and Saturday.

Cameron Marsh, high school speech teacher, will accompany the two Pampa students who are to debate Friday on the subject, "Resolved that the Atlantic Pact Should Form a Federal Union."

The local team is to take the negative side.

The speech clinic was announced by Dr. Carrell Tolliver, WTSC speech department head, who estimated between 200 and 300 students and teachers would be present for the workshop which has been held annually since 1947.

The clinic offers criticism in the fields of forensics and is to prepare students entering the Texas Interscholastic League contests.

No decisions are to be given in the Friday session. Dr. Tolliver and Dr. Fred J. Barton, speech department chairman in Abilene Christian College and president of the Texas Speech Association, are to criticize and evaluate techniques and methods and make suggestions for improvement.

The team is then scheduled to enter a debate in Panhandle in late March or early April where judging is to be made. In the Panhandle debate the team is to draw for a negative or affirmative side.

Coming up this year... 50th Southwestern Life's Birthday. TWO fiftieth birthdays, as a matter of fact. The first historic day will arrive in March. It was on March 10, 1903, that the State of Texas issued a business charter to the Company. The second milestone will be reached on July 4, 1953. On Independence Day in 1903, this Company issued its first life insurance policy. That policy was purchased by a Texan, naturally. Southwestern Life has been doing business with Texans, growing with Texas, ever since. Today, more than a quarter million Texans are providing a measure of future financial security for themselves and their families through their investment in Southwestern Life Insurance. In a half century Southwestern Life has become what the people of Texas have chosen to make it. Their faith and support have caused it to become the largest life insurance company in the Nation which does business only in its home state. And, in the year ended December 31, 1952, Texans purchased more Southwestern Life insurance than in any previous year. For records such as these we give grateful thanks to the policyowners who made them possible. In the years ahead Southwestern Life, believing in the modern private enterprise concept of profit through service, fully expects its business progress closely to parallel the development of growing, expanding Texas. 1903 1953 Southwestern Life Insurance Company JAMES RALPH WOOD, PRESIDENT HOME OFFICE • DALLAS FAMILY PROTECTION • BUSINESS LIFE INSURANCE • ANNUITIES • PENSION PLANS • GROUP LIFE INSURANCE

AEC Quells Fears Of Danger From Atomic Weapons Tests

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Along with its announcement that a new series of atomic weapons tests will be made in Nevada in March, the Atomic Energy Commission has disclosed that in these tests existing safety standards are more than adequate to overcome any radiation danger to the rest of the U.S.

This is perhaps the most reassuring news that AEC could make at this time to quiet fears of lasting injury to human, animal and plant life from what is known as "fall-out."

This is the name given by atomic scientists to the falling back to earth of radioactive particles in the cloud that rises from an atomic explosion.

Twenty "nuclear devices or weapons," as they are called, have been exploded in the last two years at the 650-acre proving ground 45 miles north-west of Las Vegas, Nev. Detailed scientific measurements have been made after each of these tests, all over the United States.

In fact, a radiation monitoring system of 121 stations has now been established in this country to insure the safety of the American people not only from U.S. test weapons but also from any enemy A-bombs that might be dropped in a surprise attack.

It is generally assumed that the Nevada explosions of next March will be the first tests of the new atomic artillery shells, though there has been no official announcement to this effect. Further preliminary tests for the hydrogen bomb or its components are also possible.

18,000 Engage in Test

Early in December the AEC announced contracts for the construction of over a million dollars' worth of "expandable structures" at the Nevada proving ground. Work on these structures is now being rushed, and it is assumed that some of them will be ready for the March tests, in which 18,000 U.S. troops will be maneuvered.

All these tests serve to familiarize the armed services, civil defense workers and the entire U.S. civilian population with safety precautions to be observed against atomic weapons. With further tests to be scheduled later, AEC is anxious to have this information spread as widely as possible.

The effects of the first 20 explosions in Nevada are summed up by the commission in this way:

One. No person has been injured by blast waves or exposed to a harmful amount of radiation from fall-out. This radiation has been far below the level which would cause any detectable effects on the children of exposed people.

Data collected from Japan indicate only an "insignificant increase" of detectable changes in the children of A-bomb victims exposed to radiation hundreds or thousands of times greater than from fall-out.

Two. There has been no accumulation of hazardous radioactivity in the soil. The uptake of radioactivity by plants has not created any dangers of radioactivity in food supplies.

Three. About 100 head of a herd of 500 cattle grazing in the test area sustained skin lesions in one of the 1952 tests. This caused some hair discoloration, but neither the health nor the reproductive ability of the cattle was impaired.

Four. For the 20 explosions, a total of 453 claims were filed for direct blast damage in Las Vegas and other nearby communities. This damage consisted of cracked plaster or stucco and broken windows. Three hundred and eighty-one of these claims were allowed, and settlements of $42,929 have been paid.

Five. After the original Alamo-gordo, N. M., explosion, water containing fall-out particles was used in the manufacture of straw-board. This paper was later used to package photographic film, and the film was fogged because of its great sensitivity. Subsequent tests have proved that up to 84 per cent of this radioactivity can be removed in the rapid sand filters, normally used in city water supply systems.

This safety record in connection with the Nevada tests has been achieved largely by pre-test precautions. Ample warnings are given before each test. Troops and AEC workers in the blast area are required to face away from the blast at the instant of explosion. Civil Aeronautics Authority keeps all aircraft out of the test area. If wind and weather conditions are such that radiation or fall-out might be dangerous, the test is postponed.

The AEC system of monitoring all atomic tests is to be continued and strengthened. Public health officials are to be kept advised on the levels of radioactivity from fall-out of explosion. Says the commission: "There is now no reason for alarm, since the radioactivity released by fall-out has proved not to be hazardous."

Some writers have attempted to identify Opimie, the source of King Solomon's gold, as part of Africa, possibly in the area of the present Portuguese colony of Mozambique.

Pastry chefs call that day blessed when some genius of the culinary department placed apples, peaches, or pumpkins between two layers of crust or pastry, baked the concoction, and called it pie — but they had yet to hear of the glorious addition to the pie kingdom.

That is Peanut Brittle Pie. This is the pie that a football player, or an athlete of any kind, likes to get his teeth in, sink 'em in and keep 'em there. It is the pie that mother always wanted to know how to make.

Well, to help mother out, and put her at the top of the pie-making mothers of the nation, here is the way peanut brittle pie goes into production. Follow carefully, and make sure the peanut brittle is crushed!

- PEANUT BRITTLE PIE
- 1 cup milk, scalded
 - 2 egg yolks and whites
 - 2 cup brown sugar
 - 1 envelope of gelatine
 - 2 tbs. sugar
 - 1 cup whipping cream
 - 1/2 cup peanut brittle, crushed
 - 1 tsp. vanilla

Beat egg yolks with brown sugar and add to scalded milk. Cook until thick. Dissolve gelatine in cup of water. Add to above mixture while hot. Cook until mixture is set and add beaten egg whites of eggs which have 2 tablespoons sugar. Add cup of cream whipped, crushed peanut brittle and vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell and serve with whipped cream with brittle in it.

Margaret Truman Working In Show

NEW YORK UP—Miss Margaret Truman, on her own for the first time in 22 years, revealed Monday she is working on a new television show and the climate finally is right, if not bright, for romance.

For the first time in seven years there are no secret service men, no secretary-chaperons, no politicians and no whistle-stop campaigning to interrupt her career.

"I'd like to be a success," she said, "but I reserve the right to change my mind about my ambition. If I could have as happy a marriage as my mother and father, then I'd want that. But that is not easy to come by."

Miss Truman said she never has had a serious romance and has "never been close to being engaged." But her boy friends include a publicity man, a young lawyer, a writer, and a few boys in television.

For Miss Truman, the career is the thing. She revealed she has taken an option on a proposed series starting her in an hour-long National Broadcasting Company program.

The show would be called "The Cinderella Hour" and would star Margaret in the role of mistress of ceremonies, plus giving her a chance to do some singing. Her present contract with NBC runs out in June.

Margaret uttered only the mildest complaints about the restrictions imposed on her during the years that usually are the gayest and freest in any girl's life.

It was her first interview since she changed her home address back to Independence, Mo., where she lived until she was 10 years old. Pale from a light case of the flu, she sipped a cup of tea and talked with candor about her life.

Fashions Feature Luxurious Frills

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON—(NEA)—Tiaras and coronets, gleaming brocades, rustling taffetas and shimmering satins, diaphanous laces, gold and shimmering ostrich feather boas marked the second day of the Coronation collections.

A spectacular gown of cream silk brocade, encrusted with glittering jewel embroidery like the robe of an Oriental idol was shown by Hardy Amies, one of the youngest of the London designers. Cost of the dress is around $1000.

Another, in pearl yellow silk satin, had the bodice and top of the flowing skirt embroidered in thousands of seed pearls representing sea anemones with glittering diamond heards.

The entire Amies collection featured British fabrics. It also introduced the "buttoned look" with slim coats fastening like umbrella sheaths from throat to hem. There were buttoned tabs on jackets and controlling pleated panels placed fore and aft on coats and jackets.

In suits, jackets buttoned high so that they could be worn with or without a blouse. They had stiffened basques, slightly shorter, and there were some amusing pocket details — saddle, pouch, gathered or patch pockets. Sleeves were stovepipe-straight and narrow.

Sophisticated dresses for formal afternoon functions had slender skirts either of the wrap-around variety, with full bias panel side, or a wide sash tying at the side with long ends. Bodices emphasized the bosom with deep décolletés. This type of dress was worn with cartwheel straws or tiny hats sitting flat on the head.

For the London season, young women will fall for the romantic, undulating, ultra-soft chiffon frocks massing accordion-pleating around a slim waist and teamed up with a perfectly simple shirtwaist bodice.

London courtiers say that perreeses attending the ceremony at Westminster Abbey will be forced to wear slender gowns under the robes, not only because of the few inches of space allotted but also for sheer comfort. For Court balls, however, and other formal functions, the spreading, voluminous, romantic skirt will be preferred.

A candy pink organza with billowing skirt confirmed the return of all soft pinks for evening wear, with violet, white and lemon. Amies uses a good deal of navy and some black for town ensembles, but always lines the coats with a pastel shade. Neutral beiges and grays are still used and yellow crops up everywhere, but there are no "Coronation colors" proper.

John Cavanagh's "Coronation collection" brings a breath of fresh air as well as youth to the general picture. His clothes are dedicated to young women from 15 to 25. They have a restrained elegance, but with a zip.

His "Cascade" movement, the current, usually in the form of deep unpressed pleats, is a definite theme. His suits are the slimmest of the slim, but beautifully tailored and each has a distinctive touch. Jackets are seamed and definitely longer-waisted, and sleeves are simple.

For afternoon, there are dresses

Paint a Pretty Valentine Picture

By TOM WOODWARD—Beauty Editor, ANS

MOST APPRECIATED VALENTINE GIFT, for loved ones, is a portrait of you. So here's how to get the best results when having your picture taken.

A good portrait doesn't just happen; it takes planning. It's wise to arrange your appointment in advance of gift-giving time so that your photographer can take his time in developing and retouching the print.

Try to arrange your schedule so that you're unhurried, because you just can't slip on a serene expression over a hurried face.

The dress you select should be typical of the type you wear most, but kept on the simple side without any ruffles or bows to detract from the heart of the picture which is your face. Simple jewelry may be worn.

Clean, glossy hair, done a day or so beforehand, photographs the most naturally. Wear glasses if you usually do; modern photography finds them no obstacle.

As for make-up, try the lightest film of baby lotion. This creamy oil and water emulsion with lanolin softens lines and gives skin a more even tone and texture. It makes a creamy type foundation that gives a more highlighted tone than a mat foundation. In smoothing on the foundation, carry it from the hairline down below the collar line so there will be no contrasting shades between face and throat. Then coat a sterile cotton ball with powder, and press, don't pat, it firmly into the skin. When the skin has been thoroughly coated with powder (and you look as if you fell into a flour barrel) use a fresh cotton ball to whisk away the excess, using light downward strokes. Turn the ball as you use it, so that it picks up all but the faintest veil of powder.

RUTH MILLETT

In response to a recent column based on a letter from a lonely woman who asked how a stranger could find friends in a large city, a university teacher writes:

"I have lived in 17 towns and cities of a dozen well-scattered states. The difference in communities is very great. Some are cordial to desirable newcomers and quickly take them into the life of the community. Others are cold and standoffish toward any newcomer, simply because he is new."

"Of course, the burden of adjustment to a new place must to a great extent be on the newcomer. But let some of the burden also fall on the old-timer. In these troubled times, when people are being shifted from place to place, the happiness of thousands would be so much greater if adjustments were made a bit easier."

"But the old-timers may ask: 'What's in it for us? We have our circle of friends. We are busy with club and community activities. We already belong.' Why should we put ourselves out for strangers?"

"When you shut yourself off from strangers you are narrowing your interests and asking for boredom and eventual loneliness."

Nationalist Marines 'Ready' To Make Raids On Mainland

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3—UP—Chinese nationalist marines are "fully trained and ready" to make raids on Communist-held mainland China if the need should arise, a top-ranking nationalist officer said here.

Maj. Gen. Chou Yu-Huan, commander of the Chinese marines corps on Formosa, arrived here Monday with Vice Adm. Ma Chih-Chuang, commander in chief of the nationalist navy.

They were on their way to Washington for a "courtesy" visit with high American military officials. Their stopover here coincided with President Eisenhower's announcement.

Editors Note: Dayton Moore covered the White House for United Press during the last seven months of former President Truman's tenure of office. Accompanying Mr. Truman on his 18,000 miles of political campaigning last fall, Moore had a close-up view of the outgoing President both in the White House and on the road. Moore went to Kansas City and Independence, Mo., last week and, in the following dispatch, reports on Harry S. Truman, private citizen.

By DAYTON MOORE
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 3—UP—The elderly man in a light gray hat and blue topcoat walked unnoticed through the hotel lobby, and got in beside the driver of a small green sedan.

It was quite a contrast to the exit from the hotel the jaunty, cane swinging man would have made before last Jan. 20. He then was President Truman.

He is Harry S. Truman, private citizen, today.

While at his Muehlebach Hotel penthouse offices here when he was President, Mr. Truman used a private elevator guarded by secret service agents. A lane was cleared through the lobby for his entrances and exits. Persons in the lobby often applauded.

Back to Simple Life
After nearly eight years of rich—but often restricted—living in the White House, Mr. Truman has gone back to the relatively simple life of the upper middle class in the Midwest.

He appears to be making the switch without any great sense of loss. In fact, he seems to be getting a big kick of being free of such formalities as having a butler serve the family meals.

At the White House, Mr. and Mrs. Truman had many servants at their call. In their comfortable, two-story "gingerbread" home at Independence, they have only one full-time servant—Vieta Garr, a Negro maid and cook. She has been with the Trumans for years, going to Washington with them.

Had Valet
As President, Mr. Truman had a valet to take care of his clothes. He now carries his suits, two or three at a time, to Kansas City to get them cleaned and pressed.

In contrast to the large office staff he had in Washington, Mr. Truman is starting here with only Miss Rose Conway, his personal secretary for many years, and her assistant.

They have a backlog of tens of thousands of letters piled up in Mr. Truman's three-room suite of offices in the Federal Reserve Bank building here.

Mr. Truman settled down Monday in earnest to answer it. After stirring up a full-blown controversy over whether Russia has the atomic bomb, he said, for the time being, he will not comment on public affairs.

Gets Up Later
Mr. Truman has been getting up an hour later than he did in the White House—6:30 a. m., instead of 5:30 a. m. Most mornings, he takes a 30-minute walk accompanied by an independence police officer in plain clothes and sometimes some newsmen.

Chatting with reporters on the walk, Mr. Truman points out local landmarks involving himself—such as the drug store where he worked in his early teens. He laughingly said it got the whiskey trade of the churchgoers who did not want to be seen going into a saloon.

Mr. Truman says he still carries the same amount of pocket money as he did when President, "about three or four dollars." Mr. Truman handles his big spending, he says.

Half-Million Texans Fall Victim To Flu

AUSTIN, Feb. 1—UP—More than half a million Texans have been stricken with influenza in the last four weeks, the State Department of Health has reported.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said that the 500,000 cases are a "conservative estimate," for the month-long toll.

Last week's totals showed 91 counties reporting 100 or more cases of flu with 13 counties not reporting.

However, Cox is "inclined to think the peak has been reached and with good weather ahead there should be a decline."

He warned present damp weather over much of Texas could be treacherous.

Coleman Stars On Battlefield

SEOUL, Feb. 2—UP—Capt. Jerry Coleman, always a steady performer with the New York Yankees, is hitting two-for-two as a Marine reserve pilot.

In his first day of combat flying, Coleman was credited with knocking out a rail bridge south of Sarwon. The following day his Corsair flight was responsible for destroying another bridge in North Korea.

His flight leader, Capt. George W. Martin of Victoria, Tex., said of Coleman's first mission, "his 1,000 pounds ripped huge holes in the bridge, and it probably will be some time before the Communists haul supplies over that line."

Coleman, winner of two distinguished flying crosses and seven air medals as a pilot in the Solomons and Philippines in World War II, called it "like old times flying with the Marines again." But he's eager to return to the Yankees.

"I want to get the job done and get home," he said. "I expect to rejoin the Yankees for the 1954 season."

Roman feasts of Pomona, goddess of harvest, are part of the tradition which has gone into the making of Halloween.

Wellington Boxing Stars Are Former Grid Pupils Of Reaper Coach Frazier

AUBRY "RED" FRAZIER, the general Reaper grid coach, is beaming this week over the fine showing of three of his ex-pupils in the Regional Golden Gloves tournament at Amarillo last week. The three boys are DUEY Jameson, Jimmy Thompson and Floyd Hood, all of Wellington.

Frazier coached all three during his two years as coach in the Wellington school system. Not only did all three win their weight titles in the district meet here and at the regional meet, the "outstanding competitor" award in both tournaments came from this threesome.

Thompson won the award in the district meet here and Jameson won the trophy at Amarillo. The three boys all played under Frazier on the gridiron. Jameson was quarterback on Frazier's Wellington Junior High eleven in 1950; Thompson and Hood played on the Wellington B team in 1951, coached by Frazier. Thompson is a quarterback and Hood a full-back.

Thompson, incidentally, may represent the Amarillo region in the state Golden Gloves tournament at Fort Worth next week. The 18-year old high school senior was easily the class of his weight in three of his appearances in the tournament in the first round.

Another honor came Pampa's way in the regional tournament when it was revealed yesterday that Bobby Wilhelm's fight with Johnny Boyce was judged the outstanding fight of the high school division. Wilhelm knocked out Boyce in 1:30 minutes of the second round. Boyce is from Amarillo.

None of Wilhelm's fights went the three round limit. He had one first round KO, a second round KO, and a second round TKO.

The Pampa-Boys Club may have one or two more team matches before hanging up their gloves for this season, according to Oran James, president of the club.

The Boys Club had a magnificent year. They went unbeaten in team matches during the year and then walked off with team honors in the regional tournament.

Most of these boys will be back next year. Some may turn to the Open Class such as Dick Murray and Murray, incidentally, still has a some boxing to do this season.

By virtue of his winning the Open lightweight title at Amarillo, Murray will be on the Amarillo team next week in the state Golden Gloves tournament at Fort Worth.

The method in which Murray handled Bill Chandler in the finals Saturday night makes Murray a threat in the state tourney. Chandler had much more ring experience than did Murray but it didn't look like it in the Saturday night bout between the two. The fight only lasted 45 seconds as a flurry of rights by Murray was too much for the veteran Chandler.

SKIPPING OVER TO BASKETBALL, Harvester coach Clifton McNeely was asked last night at the Booster's Club meeting "how did Midland play such a close game with the Harvesters when the two teams met at Midland." (The question was asked in view of the easy time the Harvesters had with the Bulldogs here.)

Well, McNeely had a good answer to the query. "We've shown lots of improvement since then," was Mc's reply. "Then too we had a bad night when we played 'em down there."

Not that it's anything outstanding, something unusual occurred in the Harvester-Odessa fracas Saturday night. All five of the Harvester regulars had denied the scoring column when the first six points were rung up on the scoreboard. This isn't sound proof that the Harvesters aren't a one-man team as many think. But all of the Harvester regulars and two or three of the subs have developed into consistent scorers. Anyone of that starting five is apt to score anytime he gets his hands on the ball.

Billy Webb comes under the heading of the most improved player on the squad. Buddy Cockrell, after a late start with the cagers due to football also has come along fast.

Fred Woods has been burning the nets up since district play started. His jump shots are deadly. Jon Oden, although his scoring has fallen off in the past few games, is still a dangerous scoring threat. Oden is a fellow who can come through when the chips are on the line. (Amarillo will testify to that.)

Billy Webb comes under the heading of the most improved player on the squad. Buddy Cockrell, after a late start with the cagers due to football also has come along fast.

Brumbevel and Vaughn are former TCU stars, while Sikes was an ultimate great at Texas A&M. Bell formerly coached at both of those schools before moving to SMU.

SMU could be expected to move fairly fast in picking a successor for Russell, however, since spring training time is at hand—in fact, it's already here.

It might take some time for any coach who is presently tied up by contract to get out of it.

Seton Hall Holds No. 1 Cage Spot

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—UP—DePaul's upset kings and Louisiana State moved up among the top 10 teams Tuesday in the United Press college basketball ratings as undefeated Seton Hall edged Indiana for the No. 1 spot for the third week in a row.

The leading coaches who comprise the United Press rating board voted Seton Hall the top honor over Indiana by just five points—the same margin that separated the teams last week. Two weeks ago Seton Hall edged the Hoosiers by two points.

The coaches, basing their ratings on games played through Saturday night, Jan. 31, gave the Pirates from South Orange, N. J., 19 first place votes and 287 points. Indiana's Big Ten leaders had 10 first and 282 points. Seton Hall, with a 21-0 record, is the nation's only undefeated major college team. Indiana won nine of its first 11 games.

Overwhelmed Notre Dame DePaul, which seems to be making a career out of upsetting top-notch teams, overwhelmed Notre Dame last Saturday night for its 15th victory in 19 games and advanced from 11th to eighth place. The Demons from Chicago also have beaten LaSalle twice and Oklahoma A&M once.

Louisiana State, top team in the Southeastern Conference with a 14-1 overall record, jumped from 12th to 10th place.

Build Up Your Bowling By Knockin' 'Em Down

With STEVE NAGY, Bowler of the Year

By STEVE NAGY
Bowler of the Year

The accompanying picture in today's lesson certainly looks right to most bowlers, and no doubt, most bowling instructors would agree that the most comfortable stance on the approach is the correct one.

However, there is one chief danger involved in centering the ball in the middle of the body when standing on the approach. It generally causes the arm to swing back and out to the right. This is a natural consequence. When I begin to move forward, and the ball drops into its pendulum-swing, it is only natural to swing the ball to the right in order to avoid having it strike my right leg on its way into the backswing.

Rumors Thick On Who Will Replace Rusty

DALLAS, Feb. 3—UP—A few more names were tossed into the rumor mill Tuesday, but Southern Methodist University appeared no nearer having a head football coach than it did immediately after H. N. (Rusty) Russell resigned under fire Sunday night.

It took a good 24 hours for the speculators to recover from the shock of Russell's decision to give in to alumni pressure before they could start casting the names of possible successors into the wind.

But while the talk ran from Doak Walker, former three-times SMU All-America back, to Athletic Director L. R. (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian, SMU officials kept a closemouthed silence on what might be in their minds.

Athletic Director Madison Bell admitted that "we've always figured that Walker could fit into our coaching staff any time he decided to take up the profession," but he said at the same time that "it wouldn't be fair to Doak to shove him into a head coaching job with no previous experience."

Meyer and Bell both had "no comment" replies to questions about a move that might bring Meyer out of coaching retirement less than two months after he had resigned out to devote his time to directing athletics at TCU, where he has spent 30 years as player and coach. The deep personal friendship between Meyer and Bell was mainly responsible for the Meyer speculation.

Other names being bandied about included those of Howie Odell, late of the University of Washington; Buddy Brothers, who recently quit at Tulsa; Mike Brumbevel, now at Texas Western; J. V. (Ski) Sikes, who is at Kansas; and Johnny Vaughn, coach at Mississippi.

Brumbevel and Vaughn are former TCU stars, while Sikes was an ultimate great at Texas A&M. Bell formerly coached at both of those schools before moving to SMU.

SMU could be expected to move fairly fast in picking a successor for Russell, however, since spring training time is at hand—in fact, it's already here.

It might take some time for any coach who is presently tied up by contract to get out of it.

Houston Quint Bows To Pittsburgh 66-63

HOUSTON, Feb. 3—UP—Pittsburgh beat Houston 66 to 63 Monday night on two field goals in the final 30 seconds after a lack-luster game exploded into a mad scramble in the final period.

Pittsburgh got an early lead and used a speedy break and heads-up ball handling to outplay Houston completely in the first half, which ended 33 to 31 in the Panthers' favor.

They added to their lead in the third period, which ended with Pittsburgh ahead 47 to 23. But the Cougars came to life and went ahead with two and a half minutes to play. From there on it was a fighting, fouling scramble for possession of the ball.

Guard Clarence Burch led Pittsburgh with 15 points, followed by center Don Virostek with 13. Jack Bell, who recently returned to the Houston lineup at guard after laying out a semester because of injury, scored 14 points.

Elton Cotton was second for the Cougars with 13.

Sooners Hod Big Seven Lead With 73-69 Win Over Iowa S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—UP—Five of the nation's highest-ranked college basketball teams put important victories into the record book Tuesday but Oklahoma was left with only a shaky hold on the Big Seven leadership as a result of a 73 to 69 defeat by Iowa State.

The loss was the first in four conference games for Oklahoma and means that Kansas State now can tie the Sooners for the league lead by beating Nebraska Saturday night.

Oklahoma led by 25 to 22 at halftime in the game at Norman, but Iowa State rallied and assumed a 67 to 57 lead with only three minutes to play. The Sooners, ranked No. 20 nationally, staged a desperate finish, but Iowa State stalled out the final minute. Delmar Dietz of Iowa State and Bob Waller of Oklahoma tied for scoring honors with 20 points each.

Expected Victories
Indiana, Illinois, the Oklahoma Aggies, Western Kentucky, and Minnesota all came through with expected victories to strengthen their claim to national honors.

Indiana and Illinois, one-two in the Big Ten, took a night off from league activity to score "outside" victories. The Hoosiers, ranked second nationally, ran up the highest score in their history to crush Butler, 105 to 70, as Don Schlundt racked up 33 points although he played only 28 minutes. Illinois, ranked fourth, trounced De Paul, 93 to 69, as Johnny Kerr's 17 points and Jim Breder's 16 led the attack.

In official Big Ten games, Minnesota, ranked 19th nationally, beat Northwestern, 72 to 69, and Ohio State shaded Purdue, 79 to 77. Chick Mencil tallied 28 points and Ed Kalafat 20 for Minnesota, which scored six points in the last minute to win. Fordham, Ohio State, Jack Jones' set shot in the final seconds broke a 77 to 77 tie. Paul Ebert scored 25 for the Buckeyes.

Aggies Win Easy
The Oklahoma Aggies, ranked No. 7, tightened their grip on the Missouri Valley Conference leadership with a 67 to 58 conquest of Detroit. Norman Swanson scored 26 points for Detroit, the greatest total in history against the Aggies on their home court, but the Aggies led almost all the way.

Western Kentucky, ranked 15th, walloped Bowling Green, 71 to 60. It was the 17th victory in 20 games for the Hilltoppers.

In other leading games Monday night: Clarence (Bevo) Francis sank 41 points to lead unbeaten Rio Grande, Ohio to its 28th victory, 97 to 81, over Cleveland College of Kentucky, boosting his scoring average to 50.1; Clarence Burch scored 15 points to lead Pittsburgh to a 66 to 63 win over Houston; Alabama downed Mississippi State, 70 to 58, and Mississippi edged Georgia, 77 to 75, in Southwestern Conference games; Texas Christian beat Arkansas, 49 to 45, in the Southwest.

North Carolina and Texas risk their conference leads in top games on Tuesday night's schedule. North Carolina, with a 13-1 Southern Conference record, will be at home against Richmond. At the Tarheels lose, Maryland, 7-1, can move into the lead by beating George Washington, Texas, 3-1 in the Southwest Conference. Meats Baylor, which could grab first place by winning this one.

Other leading games Tuesday night include: SMU vs Texas A&M in the Southwest, Hardin-Simmons vs Temple, Ariz. St., and West Texas St. vs New Mexico A&M in the Border, and Drake vs Oklahoma City.

Qualifying Starts For El Paso Open

EL PASO, Feb. 3—UP—Qualifying rounds for the $10,000 El Paso Open golf tournament began Tuesday over dyed greens.

The El Paso Country Club, scene of the tournament, completed preparations for it Monday by treating all greens on its near-desert course with green dye to provide better targets for the golfers and make it easier on the eyes of the gallery.

Two longtime professional golfers, Lloyd Mangrum and Jimmy Demaret, announced as the winter tour moved into Texas that they would bypass the El Paso Open. Mangrum to vacation with Texas relatives and in Mexico. Demaret already has left the winter tour for New York, but both golfers indicated they would rejoin it later.

The El Paso Open is sponsored this year for the first time by the city's junior chamber of commerce. Tommy (Thunder) Bolt, who won the Tucson Open, was the center of attention as early arriving professionals began practice rounds Monday.

But El Paso had its hometown favorites, too: Jack Hardin and Fred Hawkins Jr. Cary-Middlecott of Memphis is defending champion.

Van Football Coach Quits

VAN, Tex., Feb. 3—UP—J. O. Reeves announced Tuesday he has resigned as coach at Van high school to become coach at Pecos, where he will receive about $6,000 a year.

Reeves' first team at Van in 1948 went to the Class AA quarterfinals, while his 1952 team lost to eventual Class A champion Wink in the semi-finals.

Reeves will report at Pecos in mid-February.

Woods Surpasses 200 Scoring Mark

Fred Woods, with 34 points in last week's tilt against Midland and Odessa, became the second Harvester eager to go over the 200 mark.

Woods' outpour last week boosted his total for the season to 218 points. His average in 17 games is 12.8.

Jimmy Bond, however, continued to hold a commanding lead among the Harvester squad. Bond, slowed down by the flu last week, added 23 points to his season total, giving him 367 points for the year.

Bond got 11 against Midland and 12 against Odessa. It was the first time since conference play began that he fell under 20 points for a single game. His average for the year is 21.6.

There was no change in the top five scorers after last week's games but the remaining three of the first five are closely bunched. Jon Oden is third with 151 points; Buddy Cockrell fourth with 149; Bill Webb fifth with 144.

For the season the Harvesters have earned 1,220 points in 17 tilts for a 71.7 average.

Following are the individual Harvester scorers:

Rassle Royal At Mat Arena Tonight

A six-man royal, always a crowd pleaser for wrestling fans, will be unreeled tonight at the Southern Club Sports Arena.

Tonight's show is one of the most attractive that promoter Howard Vineyard has lined up in recent weeks.

In addition to the six men who will participate in the royal, the Southern Club will attempt to keep the boys under control. The ring will be considerably crowded with eight heavyweights inside the ropes at the same time.

The six wrestlers scheduled to mix up in the bout are Whitey Washberg, Frankie Hart, Dizzy Davis, Herb Parks, Billy Weidner and Buck Lipscomb. The two referees haven't been named.

All six grapplers will be on his own. The first two to be pinned will be through for the evening. Second two to go out will return for a two-out-of-three fall or 45-minute semifinal match.

The two that manage to outlast the other four will clash in the main event, which will be a best two falls or one hour time limit affair.

There is all types of wrestlers in tonight's royal. Some are "dirty" fighters, others like to keep it clean.

However, all are able to get mean if they have to and before the night's over promoter Vineyard probably will wish he had hired more than two referees.

Ticket office at the arena will open tonight at 7. The royal, which opens the program, will begin promptly at 8:15.

GALVESTON, Feb. 3—UP—Frank E. Simmen, president of the Galveston White Caps, Tuesday announced the appointment of Joe Boughton, 29-year-old former manager of his Gulf Coast League baseball team, as manager of the Gulf Coast League base ball team.

He replaces Harry Gumbert, whose contract was not renewed for 1953 after the Galveston club's receipts dropped in 1952.

Build Up Your Bowling By Knockin' 'Em Down

With STEVE NAGY, Bowler of the Year

By STEVE NAGY
Bowler of the Year

The accompanying picture in today's lesson certainly looks right to most bowlers, and no doubt, most bowling instructors would agree that the most comfortable stance on the approach is the correct one.

However, there is one chief danger involved in centering the ball in the middle of the body when standing on the approach. It generally causes the arm to swing back and out to the right.

This is a natural consequence. When I begin to move forward, and the ball drops into its pendulum-swing, it is only natural to swing the ball to the right in order to avoid having it strike my right leg on its way into the backswing.

At the top of my backswing then, my ball is too far out to the right, and I retract the same path in coming forward in delivering the ball.

This is called "sidearming" and results in extremely poor direction in delivering the ball.

Since the ball travels in the direction you throw it, if you start too far to the right in most cases the ball will go over to the left side of the lane.

NEXT: How the proper position of the ball during stance leads to a natural backswing.

Robby Davies, star player for the Rochester Royals in the NBA, once won the Pennsylvania State Marble Championship. He was 11 years old at the time.

Kiss Bandits Goodnight? Hank Decides He Will Succeed Emily Post, Etiquette Arbiter

By HENRY McLEMORE
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — As much as all of us would welcome it, for she is one of the loveliest of ladies, Emily Post can't go on forever. There is bound to come a time when the mistress of etiquette will have to sit by a sunny window and allow people to use the wrong napkin ring, let a bride's mother wear a hibiscus instead of a cheese croquette, and not suggest that it be wiser for a treasurer of a moving machine company not to announce his promotion to the vice presidency by hiring a helicopter equipped with streamers. Who will succeed Emily Post? Who will be the final arbiter on what fork to use, how to say goodnight to a bandit, and what to say when the chicken is either underdone or overdone? I have decided that I am best fit to follow in the footsteps of Mrs. Post. As a matter of fact, I decided this quite a few years ago, and have been conducting a subscription, etiquette column for years. If you will allow me, I'll put down some of the questions and my answers and let you judge for yourself if I am not the logical successor to the one and only Mrs. Post. I am 62 years of age. A spinster. My sister is marrying next month for the first time. Would it be proper for me to try to catch the bride's bouquet? A. Yes, if you can hit. An outfielder must be able to sock the ball for a close to .300 average. If you can't hit, but only field, you might pass up the wedding and go into spring training with Browns, the Pirates, or the Boston Braves. Q. I would like to serve shrimp cocktail at my next P. T. A. luncheon but do not have any cocktail forks. Can you help me in this dilemma? A. Make your luncheon a Japanese luncheon, and ask the guests to come in kimonos. In Japan, the shrimp are always eaten with the fingers. To make it complete, you could ask your guests to leave their shoes outside the front door, smoke a little opium, and, at the finish of the luncheon, call Gen. MacArthur at Remington Rand and ask him how he is doing. It is little surprises like these that make a party different — and General MacArthur mad. Q. We are having weekend guests and our guest room mattress is lumpy. Would it be proper for me and my husband to insist on our guests staying in our bedroom, where the mattress is not lumpy? A. If the guests are relatives or close friends of your husband, put them in the better bed. If they are, and you don't, you'll never hear the end of it. If they are relatives or friends of yours, don't risk your marital happiness by moving your husband to the lumpy bed. You'll never hear the end of that, either. Q. At a formal television party should the guest of honor sit at the right of the hostess, the left of the hostess, the right of the host, the left of the host, or should he be given a seat where he can see? A. That depends upon the program. If it's Jack Benny, place him where he can see. If it's — well, there's no use in creating hard feelings — place him where he can't see, even with radar and periscopes. Note to Mrs. Post: Bless you. You have given me another column. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

SHE'S IN THE CHIPS—Joan Gehan, 19, above, has been named "Miss Potato Chip of 1953." Choice of the Columbia University sophomore is appropriate, as she is an Indian, and legend has it that the first potato chips were manufactured by an Indian woman at Saratoga, N. Y., nearly a century ago.

Stock Show In Fourth Day
FORT WORTH, Feb. 2.—UP—The Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show swung into its fourth day Monday with the big event to be selection of the grand champion steer and a grand champion lamb. The two selections were scheduled to be made by judges Monday afternoon from among record entries in the respective fields. Show officials reported Sunday night was the fifth straight sellout for the rodeo and horse show, and indicated a record attendance is expected for the 10-day event. Between 150 and 200 newsmen and magazine writers converged on the show grounds at Will Rogers coliseum for press day, among other "special days" being observed. LABORIOUS TASK Silkworms can be cultivated in the United States as well as in other countries, but the tedious, exacting, and hardly profitable hand labor of unwinding the cocoons does not appeal to American laborers.

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: There will be no sugar-coating of the life that Sophie Tucker has lived when Betty Hutton plays the Last of the Red-Hot Mamas in "The Sophie Tucker Story." Celebrating her 65th birthday at a party tossed by Jimmy Durante and Herman and Yvonne Hoover before her opening at a niter, Sophie told me that the screen play will be based on her own handwritten story — "Some of These Days" — with all the gaudy passages her publisher omitted as "too frank." "No honey, I won't let 'em sugar-coat me," Sophie said. "I didn't live my life that way. All through my career and life I've told people, 'Let me be myself. Don't try to change me or make the something I'm not.' I want an honest story that tells everything about me."

Hush-hush reason for Bing Crosby's withdrawal from his own golf tourney was a red light from his doctors. The Greater is groaning from a gallstone — and faces an operation.

Rudy Vallee's plotting a return to the screen as the star of Jesse Lasky's "The Big Brass Band" — Joy Lansing will take the Reno route to divorce — Lance Fuller, who admits that Pat Knight may be his next mate, told me: "I flipped over Pat. She's got me 'in a spin'." — Walter Wanger is now living in Joan Bennett's home in case you're wondering how the reconciliation attempts are working. Joans on tour with "Bell, Book and Candle."

Feud For Though Mario Lanza, now paley-waley again with MGM, is testing for the lead in "Kiss Me Kate." If he gets the role, insiders expect Kathryn Grayson to ask the studio to release her as the film's co-star. And that's feud for thought.

Tony Dexter and his estranged wife, Marjorie Craig, are close to the reconciliation announcement. Bob Taylor's mother now is making it a threesome with Bob and Ursula Thiess. A close-to-the-altar note?

Preston Sturges' deft staging of Robert E. Sherwood's "The Road to Rome" at his restaurant should have the studios lining up for his services as film director. Cheers, too, for Carolyn Jones as the feminine star.

Paramount in a delete Joanne Gilbert's bit in "Houdini," made before she became a $4000-a-week nitery star. The studio figures the youngster is too good to be seen in a bit part now.

Diana Lynn is beaming. For the first time in her career the censors nixed some of her stunts for "Plunder in the Sun" as being too sexy.

Someone asked Tommy Noonan how he was enjoying himself working with Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." "Well," cracked Tommy, "I beat up my wife the other night — something I've never done before."

Cops And Golfers Jane Russell and Bob Mitchell, by the way, want to team up in a golf story, "Just Like I Hate Money," by Jim Phillips, with technical direction by Jimmy Demaret. It's a cops-and-a-robbery yarn that would have Bob playing a golf pro and Jane a society doll.

The Hollywood underground buzz that Stanley Kramer's films have lost money is 100 per cent wrong. "High Noon" for one, will gross $5,000,000 and all the others are in the black.

"Robin Hood" and Burt Lancaster's leading lady in "His Majesty O'Keefe" — is dating David Green, son of comedian Harry Green, in London. Elliott Nugent's close pals are worried about his health and his long hospital siege. Sally Forrest and Milo Frank, who said they couldn't live apart, have been made the decision to try it for the sake of Sally's movie career.
