New Storm Threatens Holland Flood-Devastated Lowlands Count Death Toll Of 1,695

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 4 —UP— The Netherlands radio reported 7,700 persons were isolated on three flooded islands Wednesday, gravely endangered by a new storm brewing off the coast.

The death toll already had reached 1,695 in the hurricane-driven week-end storm that hit the Netherlands, Britain, Germany, Belgium and France. The country's death toll rose to 1,223.

It was feared that the final total would approach 2,000, and 300,000 persons are homeless. Britain counted 445 dead, Belgium 20 and Germany 7.

Wednesday afternoon the warning came that a 35-mile wind would hit the coast late Wednesday, bringing new heavy seas that might collapse weakened dikes.

A warning came over the Netherlands radio that 11,800 persons were still isolated on Goerres-Overtakke Island, 400 on St. Philipsland and 5,500 on Schouwen Island—all threatened by the new storm.

Authorities decided to try to evacuate all persons remaining on Schouwen, which has a normal population of 24,000.

One of the most concentrated winds of the flood battered east coast of England to brace itself against high tides and gale winds.

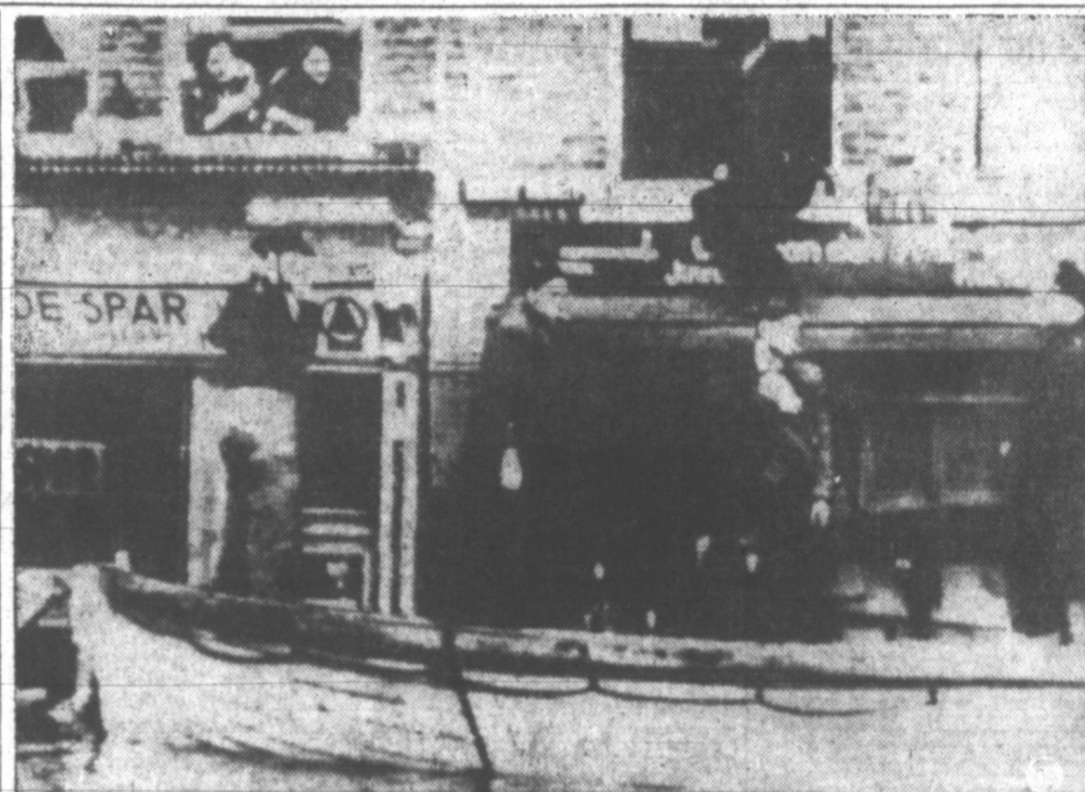

The Dutch weather bureau repeatedly warned of strong northwest winds and rising seas.

Thousands of troops and survivors rushed rebuilding of defenses against the rising seas in the stricken areas.

A ship carrying evacuees was reported in trouble in the Haring Vliet Channel in Holland's flood area.

Economy Vise Is Clamped On U.S. Spending

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 —UP— Delighted congressmen showered down their approval Wednesday as President Eisenhower launched a sweeping "austerity" program throughout the government in a drive to balance the budget and eventually reduce taxes.

White House clamped all government spending in an economy vise late Tuesday when it ordered sharp curbs on federal hiring, restricted government construction, and commanded agencies to trim expenses to the bone.

The action was one of the most ambitious economy moves ever undertaken by an administration. It reflected a sober awareness of the effort needed to pull the government out of the red in spite of crushing world and domestic commitments largely inherited from the Truman administration.

Fewer Federal Jobs
If the new economy blueprint is followed, as many as 500,000 jobs could be lopped off the 2.5 million federal payroll and the cost of government operations cut by millions of dollars.

A good start toward economy, said Senate Republican leader Robert A. Taft of Ohio. "It seems to me to be a sound approach."

Chairman Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) of the Senate Appropriations committee called it "a major constructive step to achieve the economy to which this administration is dedicated."

Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge laid down the new economy law in a letter sent to the heads of all executive departments and agencies and made available to the United Press. The main points:

Federal hiring—no new employees must be hired to fill vacancies if the job can possibly be eliminated or other workers shifted to fill it. The aim is the "progressive reduction of personnel." The President will personally approve exceptions only in rare cases.

Government construction—Disposed projects should only be permitted to begin if they are considered "clearly essential" to meet administration objectives. Stop work if possible on projects already underway if they do not classify as "essential." On all construction, there must be the "strictest standards of economy."

Agency spending—No government agency is to spend any more in any one month than it did in January unless it has "specific approval" or the extra expense is required by law. All agencies are to recommend "downward adjustment" of their programs to cut costs.

A Budget Bureau spokesman said he had "no idea" how much money might be saved under the austerity program. The big hitch is that nearly all the $80 billion in unspent funds authorized by Congress has already been committed in one way or another.

Local Construction 'Close To Schedule'

Construction work on both Lamar School and Harvester Park is under way this week, according to E. R. Cantrell, schools and stands architect. "It's rolling along—close to schedule" and should be completed by the stipulated deadlines.

Brick work on the school and excavation work for the stands are underway this week, according to E. R. Cantrell, schools and stands architect. "It's rolling along—close to schedule" and should be completed by the stipulated deadlines.

Brick laying on the gymnasium-auditorium unit of Lamar was begun the first of the week, Cantrell said, and foundation cement is being poured for the small buildings to be erected under the new stands.

Concrete beams for Lamar's classroom unit are being prepared, he continued, and foundation steel is on hand for the stands. A primary reason for the on-schedule report, the architect explained, is the good weather. In the contract for both jobs, however, are clauses permitting "credit" for any days lost through reasons not the fault of the contractor.

Reds Charge Formosa Move A 'Plot' To Enlarge The War

TOKYO, Feb. 4 —UP— President Eisenhower's Formosa decision was a part of a U. S. "plot" to "enlarge the war and further endanger peace in the Far East and the whole world." Communist China charged Wednesday.

A broadcast by Radio Peiping, monitored here, expressed the first reaction by Red China to the President's announcement Tuesday that the Seventh Fleet no longer would block any Nationalist China invasion of the mainland.

Radio Peiping, official voice of Red China, said "now that the war of aggression in Korea has met with ignominious defeat, American imperialism is actively planning to extend the war of aggression."

The propagandists accused President Eisenhower of being "out to extend the war to the entire Far East."

The President was called a "Wall Street groomed militarist President" who had declared the U. S. would "not only continue its seizure of China's Taiwan (Formosa), but will encourage and help the Kuomintang remnants to harass China's mainland and use them as an instrument in Washington's plot to enlarge the war and further endanger the peace of the Far East and the whole world."

Red China protested that the President's "undisguised declaration is a monstrous violation of the United Nations charter that no member nation should not encroach upon the territorial integrity of any other nation."

meanwhile indicated that deliveries of jet fighter planes to Chiang Kai-Shek's forces would start soon. The fighters were included in military aid orders placed for Formosa in the past two fiscal years and additional numbers are included in aid programs for the year ending next June 30.

Chinese Nationalist pilots recently began training in jets at Williams Air Force Base, Ariz. Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, chief of the U. S. military advisory group on Formosa, said Tuesday in a news-week magazine interview that the Nationalists would have adequate air power to support invading infantry—"if our present expansion plans are carried out." He said, however, U. S. Navy support would be essential to hold a beachhead on the coast.

Chase set up his training mission in May, 1951, seven months after an earlier mission was abruptly withdrawn. The earlier group was sent to Formosa by Gen. Douglas MacArthur after the Korean war started.

Natural Sequel
Military men said stepped-up military aid to Formosa and Indochina would be a natural sequel to Mr. Eisenhower's action to "denaturalize" Formosa.

The extent of aid up to now can not be gauged because the Pentagon refuses to break down specific figures for Formosa. But it appeared that marked increases in deliveries began in November and December. Whether the further jumps being urged by military authorities would force cutting European aid schedules could not be learned.

Superforts Smash Communist Dums; Red Casualties High

SEOUL, Feb. 4 —UP—American Superforts smashed two Communist supply dumps crammed with huge front-line stores Wednesday as the United Nations announced the biggest daily toll of enemy casualties this year.

UN headquarters said 1,900 Reds were killed or wounded in a big Allied raid Tuesday on the western front.

The B-29s flew through murky early morning skies to blast targets just south of Sariwon. The 12 Superforts poured 500 pound bombs on 130 storage buildings on a 45-acre supply area. The crews used electronic aiming devices because of the overcast, but could not see results.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 —UP— High-ranking military men are advising rapid increase in weapons shipments to Chinese Nationalists on Formosa and to French forces battling Communists in Indochina, it was learned today.

Within six to nine months, according to an excellent source, the Nationalists could become enough of a threat to the Red-held China coast to divert pressure significantly from Korean war front.

Get Fighter Planes
President Eisenhower disclosed Monday that the U. S. Seventh fleet no longer would "shield" the Chinese mainland against the Nationalists.

Meeting Today In Plainview... Cities Wrestle With Problems Concerning Canadian District

Surmounting present restrictions on water districts through special legislation is being discussed today at Plainview by representatives of the 12 cities interested in creating the proposed Canadian River Water District.

The conference, an informal discussion in the Hilton Hotel, is being held among the cities' representatives, city attorneys, and the law firm of Dumas, Huguenin and Booth-attorneys of the participating municipalities.

During the meeting today a report on the Jan. 12 hearing before the State Board of Water Engineers for an election by the qualified voters in each city, will be given.

At that time boosters of the $85,000,000 dam and its opponents were heard. Chief among the latter were Atty. Curtis Douglas, Pampa, and J. Everts Haley, Canyon and Lubbock. During that hearing Douglas contended that the old Panhandle Water Conserv-

Gray County Heart Association program for the coming year and executive plans for the Heart Fund campaign (Feb. 1-25) were in motion today, Dr. M. H. Wyatt, county chairman, said after conferences with a state executive Tuesday afternoon.

The official, Edgar M. Brown, Texas Heart Association, Inc. executive director, Dallas, stressed the importance of rehabilitating cardiac cases back into jobs and home work.

"It is one of our main objectives," he said.

Also on the agenda, according to Brown, were plans for the North Plains District, of which Wyatt is president-elect. He is to assume leadership next year of the area which takes in the entire Panhandle (25 counties).

Brown said the Texas goal for the five-year-old voluntary health agency is $400,000. Gray County's portion of that goal is $5,000. National aim is $10,000,000.

Dr. Wyatt said records show that 84 of 68 deaths in Gray County in 1952 were caused by heart diseases.

Gas Gathering Tax Is Upheld
AUSTIN, Feb. 4 —UP— The Third Court of Civil Appeals Wednesday upheld the constitutionality of Texas' tax on the gathering of natural gas.

The ruling reversed a previous holding by a Travis county district court which found that the tax was illegal.

Appeal by the gas companies to the State Supreme Court seemed assured.

The levy, enacted by the 52nd session of the Legislature, had been under attack by a score of major gas producing companies.

The law levied a tax of nine-tenths of one cent per 1,000 cubic feet of gas produced from a well. The tax had been designed to raise about $14 million a year.

Dr. M. H. Wyatt Heads Heart Assn.
Dr. M. H. Wyatt, associated with Overton Clinic, is chairman of the Gray County Heart Association and arranged for Lloyd Collins, rheumatic fever victim, to be taken to Baylor Hospital, Dallas, instead of Dr. Malcolm Brown as in Tuesday's edition of The News. Dr. Brown is not connected with the Heart Association.

Increase Legislators' Pay From $10 To $25 Per Day... Legislative Pay Boost Wins Approval

AUSTIN, Feb. 4 —UP— A bill which would increase the pay of legislators from $10 to $25 per day was sent to the Senate Wednesday with an overwhelming endorsement of 121 to 19 by House members.

The proposal, if passed by the Senate, would be submitted to voters in the first Democratic primary in 1954. Two previous attempts by lawmakers in recent years to raise their salaries have been defeated at the polls.

The plan, proposed by Rep. Charles Murphy of Houston, would give legislators $25 a day for the first 120 days of a session, instead of the $10 they receive now. After 120 days, lawmakers would get $5 a day, the same pay they receive under present laws.

Murphy's bill was given swift approval before the House adjourned Tuesday afternoon. In other major action, the House provided a test of strength on the controversial bill calling for repeal of cross-filing privileges in Texas' new election code.

Local Air Force Enlistments Steady Despite U. S. Decline

Potential members of the U. S. Air Force from Pampa and the surrounding area have been enlisting at a "pretty steady" rate, despite a sharp decline in A. F. volunteers over the nation.

Area what serves to keep them in the air force enlists are that they are a limit of two or three acceptances daily in Amarillo, according to Sgt. Le Lonnie F. Mills,

Arsenic In Cold Tablets Brings Death

LINDEN, Tex., Feb. 4 —UP— Authorities revealed Wednesday that cold capsules taken by a woman before she died and a man before he became violently ill were dosed with arsenic but said that other pills in the same shipment from an eastern firm were apparently harmless.

"We're completely baffled by this case right now," Cass County Attorney Weston Barlett said. "There's no doubt that two persons got hold of poisoned pills, but we've made 20 tests that prove there's no arsenic in other bottles out of the same shipment."

Barlett said tests showed the entire original bottle of pills that Mrs. J. W. Cross took before she died contained arsenic and two capsules from a bottle of the same medicine taken by A. D. Surratt before he became ill were poisoned.

"What perplexes us," Barlett said, "is that not all of Surratt's pills contained the poison."

"We thought about halting sale of the capsules," he said, "but tests showed there was no reason."

Barlett said that the druggist filled prescriptions for Mrs. Cross and Surratt from a 1,000-bottle shipment from the eastern drug firm. He said the same druggist had filled prescriptions from the same shipment for about 20 other people and that none of them had any ill effects.

The eastern drug firm which sent the capsules was informed of Mrs. Cross' death, Barlett said, and reported that they kept samples of everything they send out. The firm said the shipment it sent to Linden contained nothing poisonous.

Barlett said his investigation was "bogged down" until the state laboratory technicians at Austin complete tests to definitely establish the cause of Mrs. Cross' death. No verdict has been returned in her death.

"We were mystified by her death last month," Barlett said. "We have certainly found no motive for suicide or murder."

Abilene Man Is Insurance Speaker

An Abilene insurance man is scheduled to speak to the monthly meeting of the Pampa Life Underwriters Association.

Get-together is slated for 8:30 a.m. Saturday in the Hotel Schneider.

E. L. McMillon, 31, president of Abilene's Association of Accident and Health Underwriters and vice president of the Abilene Association of Life Underwriters, will speak about "Penetrating Oil."

Pilot Missing In Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 4 —UP— One of four Sabrejet pilots, who bailed out of their fighters last Saturday when a snow storm closed all air fields, was still missing Wednesday.

A farm woman found the body of one of the fliers Tuesday in one of her fields. Two other pilots parachuted safely and were rescued.

The body found Tuesday was tentatively identified as that of Capt. Hampton Boggs of Harris, Okla. Air Force officers from Truax Air Base said the pilot's parachute failed to open.

Defense Set For Mrs. Parsons Trial

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Feb. 4.—UP—Three prominent psychiatrists, two of whom have been treating Mrs. Mary Jean Parsons since she killed her husband of six weeks, were summoned to testify Wednesday as the defense opened its case.

Mrs. Parsons is charged with murdering her husband, Lt. Richard O. Parsons of Pleasantville, N.Y., as he lay sleeping in their El Paso apartment.

Two of the doctors were from the Timberlawn (mental) Hospital at Dallas where Mrs. Parsons has been under treatment since she killed her husband last Feb. 15. The third was from her home town of Tulsa.

State attorneys closed their case Tuesday night after introducing a confession which Mrs. Parsons made to an El Paso policeman and a dramatic note in which she wrote: "I wish to God I had never committed this terrible sin."

Overruled Objections
Judge Arthur Tipps overruled violent defense objections to the admission of both the note and the confession.

Mrs. Parsons was brought to trial more than a week ago, but the jury was not completed until Monday.

Justice of the Peace Charles Windberg Jr., testified he found the note in a wastebasket after he pronounced Parsons dead, last Feb. 16.

The note said: "I had no grudge against my husband for he was the most wonderful man in the world. I had no intentions of doing him any harm, just killing myself until I caught him telling people I was immoral, fattening and illegal."

"I am a coward, a failure at life and I know that I am going to pay the full penalty," the note continued. "I wanted to have a baby and a normal home life but I never developed the way normal people do."

Turns Out Bad
"Every time I start to do something good, it turns out bad. I hate myself but do not seem to know what I am doing. I wish to God that I had not committed this terrible sin."

El Paso Detective Sgt. J. D. Hudson testified that Mrs. Parsons gave the testimony to him which was introduced Tuesday. Hudson said Mrs. Parsons told him she argued with her husband the night of Feb. 15 about the help her wealthy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burner Fleeger, were giving them.

"I was still thinking about the argument when I awoke," she said in the confession. "Then he told me to go to hell and I went into the closet and got a gun and shot."

Talent Show For Local Heart Drive

Gray county's juvenile performers from "French harp players to bird imitators" are being called for a talent show scheduled at 10 a. m. St. Valentine's Day (Feb. 14) on the stage of the LaNora Theater, Coy Palmer, sponsor of the show, announced today.

Proceeds from the show are to be added to the Heart Fund drive, he said.

Auditions are to be conducted from 3 to 5 p. m. Feb. 12 in radio station KFDN, according to Palmer, and maximum age limit is 18.

First prize, to be awarded at the Valentine's Day show, is to be a $25 savings bond and a chance to appear over radio station KFDN. Second and third prizes will also be awarded but have not yet been announced.

Betting Bill Set
The House State Affairs committee, meanwhile, set the date for an expected battle over a bill which would legalize pari-mutuel betting. The committee scheduled a hearing for Feb. 18 on the measure sponsored by Rep. Ed Sheridan of San Antonio.

A constitutional amendment aimed at cracking down on habitual criminals free on bond in felony cases was given 120 to 15 approval by the House.

The bill, authored by Rep. Douglas Bergman of Dallas, would allow a judge to use his "discretion" in granting bond to persons charged with a felony if they are under bond for a previous felony crime.

In the senate, George Parkhouse of Dallas proposed that a Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike authority be created so that a toll road could be built between the two cities.

Three other new measures hit the Senate hopper, including one which would raise the child support age from 16 to 18 years in cases of divorce, another which would set standards for teacher certification in the public school system, and one to authorize tax assessor-collectors for independent school districts.

Man Fined $176 For Traffic Violations

One of two persons picked up by highway patrol for speeding and passing in a no-passing zone has been fined a total of $176.

Clyde L. Henderson, 25, of Borger was arrested Saturday night and appeared before Justice of the Peace Sam Lanning, Panhandle, insisting that he was a "good" citizen, according to patrolmen.

Lanning fined him $80 and costs ($65) for speeding and $100 and costs ($115) for the no-passing-zone charge. Unable to pay it, Henderson is now in Panhandle's county jail.

Joe Phillips, 35, of Borger, cited at the same time, has not yet appeared for his hearing.

and P. de Seversky wrote recently that the cause is "basically a disillusionment with the minor role air power is being forced to play in our national defense."

"It is not a retreat from danger or duty by our young men," De Seversky maintained in an article entitled "Our Boys Are NOT Afraid To Fly."

The present limit on A.F. enlistments has been on the books for about a year, Mills said, and it was set up by the Air Force command.

Although Amarillo's quota was filled up till Feb. 15, "I was told to open up enlistments again this week and send some men over," Mills continued.

If accepted, they will be put on a waiting list and given a shipping date, the sergeant concluded.

"The belief that American boys are afraid to fly," De Seversky went on, "has been bolstered by episodes like the so-called 'mutiny' of some reservist pilots in Texas who refused, when recalled to duty, to go aloft."

"If there has been a lack of enthusiasm for flying both in Korea and at home," the major declared, "this must not be mistaken for a lack of courage."

Hopkins Scouts Expecting 300

An estimated 300 persons are expected to attend the annual Boy Scouts banquet in Hopkins community.

Scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Saturday in Hopkins' recreation hall, the affair will honor the community's 20 Cubs, six Scouts and 12 Explorers.

According to Phil Pegues, district Scout executive, current plans call for the major speaker to be E. F. Glasgow, Borger, financial chairman.

In past years, Pegues said, there has been a big turnout for the occasion—bigger than might be expected from the number of Boy Scouts in the community.

vation Authority be given the chore of building the dam, if it is to be built.

The decisions coming out of the meeting today, if any, will be to give the green light to writing a bill to be introduced in the 33rd State Legislature this year. It would call for the necessary powers of the proposed water district which would govern the use of the dam, and—most important—deciding on a method of financing its construction, by bond issue or a loan from the government. Either way the bonds would be paid off by revenue from the dam through the sales of water to householders and industry.

Attending from Pampa are: Mayor C. A. Huff, City Manager E. H. Cruce, City Attorney Bob Gordon, and E. O. (Red) Wedgworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

NEW STORM

diharms sent the distress call and said the ship was between the islands of Vooms, Putton and Goeres-Overlakkee.

Holland suffered the greatest death and destruction from the tide swollen North Sea. Unofficial sources said the Dutch death toll was 1,053 and might be close to 1,500. The Dutch information service in The Hague listed 873 known dead. The four nation official dead total was 1,245, with 455 known dead in Britain, 20 in Belgium and seven in Germany.

Dikes Collapse
Centuries old dikes in Holland which collapsed under the battering of the storm-driven seas still were toppling Wednesday under the pressure of the flood waters. The mayor of Der Bommel village on Goeres-Overlakkee island said a 100 foot breach was torn Tuesday night in one of the last dikes guarding the village. He called for immediate help.

One of the worst hit spots in southern Holland, where 450,000 acres were inundated by the floods, was Stavemine on Tholen where at least 200 of the 1,700 population died.

The newspaper Het Parool said that a survivor from Goeres-Overlakkee saw about 200 bodies in a barn in the town of Oude Tonge.

The island of Zeeland also was hard hit by the flood—the worst in 50 years in The Netherlands. Survivors told of fighting cold and exposure for more than 60 hours while perched in trees or house and barn tops. They said there still were many persons stranded and feared they might not live till aid arrived.

3-Car Crash Leaves $370 Total Damages
One person has been cited for following too closely, following a three-car accident which resulted in total damages of $370. Cited was Ralph S. McCool, 47, of 421 Graham, who collided with two other vehicles in a traffic lane at 3:35 p. m. Tuesday, according to city police.

James N. Shelton, 19, of 620 Christy, Frances C. Ward, 24, of 319 Purviance, and McCool were headed west on Alcock—the first two stopped at Highway 152 for a red light—when the accident occurred.

Heaviest damage was to McCool's vehicle—$250.

C Of C Plans Radio Program; Revision Of City Brochure

Work on the revision of a brochure on Pampa and its trade area and plans for a "salute to Pampa" radio program is underway today by members of the Chamber of Commerce publicity committee, according to Howard Vineyard, committee chairman.

It is to include script and pictorial information of the city's cultural, economic and social advantages of the city and is to be distributed to industrial concerns and other interested parties considering Pampa as a new business or home location.

And a program is being prepared and personnel chosen to appear on the CBS affiliate station KRFD program, Dallas, from 9:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. March 13 which is to salute Pampa.

Bond Set For DWI Offender

A Pampa second-offender had his bond set at $1,500 and a Wheeler doctor has been jailed—both on charges of driving while intoxicated.

W. W. (Pete) Farley, 42, with his bond set, now awaits the next meeting of the grand jury. Picked up Friday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard, he had been running vehicles off the road on the Lefors highway.

As it was second offense, his case will not be tried in county court and will be handled in district court.

Dr. Glenn R. Walker, 55, was picked up at 1 p. m. Tuesday by highway patrol and lodged in Panhandle's county jail overnight. Proceedings were scheduled to get underway today.

Cs Consider Taxes And Tape

Taxes and tape occupied the majority of time at the weekly meeting of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Lubrey Jones, city tax assessor, repeated the talk on appraisals, building valuations and the makeup of Pampa's government that he has been presenting local service clubs in past weeks.

And Ray Duncan, Scotchline campaign manager, reported that approximately $600 worth of the city tape had been sold so far. That various fleets of vehicles were being so equipped.

Admitting that elected city officials too often disregard the informing-the-public aspect of their jobs, Jones explained that he and Manager B. H. Coice — at whom Jones shot a friendly barb for his absence at the meeting — had decided one way to help Pampans understand their government was by means of this talk.

The city's tax assessor — collector urged Jaycees — and all others — to visit the tax office so that more of Pampa's governmental workings could be explained.

Jaycees again will stage their Scotchline installation program from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at the south end of city hall. And, Duncan said, prospective plans call for blocking off a street Sunday afternoon for a continuance of the tape-selling.

The Pampa High School A Cappella Choir, directed by Kenneth Baumgardner, is scheduled to sing at next week's meeting of the Jaycees, it was announced.

J. C. Hopkins has been appointed treasurer for the board of directors, replacing Gene Scott who has left Pampa.

And Jaycees have a new member — Jack Samsel, assistant manager of a local department store.

Honor Group Initiates Six In Ceremony

WHITE DEER (Special)—A huge replica of the National Honor Society emblem, flanked by the White Deer chapter's colors of blue-and-gold, provided background for the White Deer initiation.

The affair was held in White Deer's grade school auditorium.

Initiates were Annie Lou Riggs, Dick Poose, Shirley Smith, Barbara Evans, Patricia Hendricks, Delbert Lemley; with one new member, James Huffines, to be initiated at a later meeting.

Organized in 1938, the White Deer Honor Society has initiated 167 students into the national group.

The ceremonial lighting of candles is a tradition — with the large candle, which is seven years old, being used each year. Each initiate gets a few drops of his candle fall on the master candle to designate Unity.

Carl McCabe, presented the history of the Honor Society. Following the historian, Yvonne Henry told the basis for selecting new members; Guyda Eaten discussed "Scholarship"; Morian Shuman, "Leadership"; LaVerne McAdams, "Character"; Jerry Poose, "Service"; and David Bradford, "Insight."

Betty Lou Cofer, pianist, led the pre-arranged preceding the lighting of initiates' candles by Nancy Ford and Betty West.

The singing of the theme song, "I Would Be True", accompanied by Betty Lou Cofer followed Bill Wilkerson's leading the Society Pledge.

Sponsor of the White Deer group is Claudia Evely.

Beside participants in the program, members of the society include Philip Rapstine, Barbara Bentley, Alma Howard, Betty Webster and Pat Kalka.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Behind the Screen: Marilyn Monroe, the calendar girl, is all tuned up and "ready" for a chance to shift her happy gears and join Olivia, Claudette, and Betty in the high-cotter league.

That's the flash from her dramatic coach, Natasha Lytess, who has The-Doll rehearsing scenes from "Wuthering Heights" and "Cradle Song" when she isn't wiggling her derriere as baby-talking Lorelei in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

And it was Marilyn herself telling me:

"Really, I'm serious about acting. I don't want it to be 'Gentlemen Prefer Blondes' for the next 10 years."

But the box-office bells are ringing, the studio stockholders are beaming and Marilyn's leap into high dramatics, it's said, is about as remote as Mickey Rooney playing Camille.

Lew Ayres became a star in one picture — "All Quiet on the Western Front" but he isn't unhappy because 200 pictures have failed to make him a star in the art world.

The most serious of all Hollywood's amateur painters — he has 200 canvases after painting eight hours a day for two years — Lew's back in movie make-up for "No Escape," and saying of his undecorated easel talents:

"Some day I'd like to put on a one man show. But it will have to wait until I'm ready. And I'm still not ready. But I haven't become frustrated."

Limit To Cheesecake "Take it off — take it off." Loretta Young did in "Because of You" and she's blushing admitting that the switch is bringing a deluge of "Atta girl, Loretta" fan mail about her shapely gams and torso curves.

Even requests for pin-up pictures in that brief costume.

"It's not because I'm a threat to Marilyn Monroe," Loretta shrugged on the set of "It Happens Every Thursday." "It's just because nobody expected it of me. My body's not that divine. I think it's good, of course. I'm used to it and I've lived with it a long time. But I'm certainly not going in for cheesecake in the future unless the picture calls for it."

The big-orbed star is more worried about fully-clothed movie queens than scantily-clad ones.

"I don't understand actresses who walk around in dirty slacks. An actress has responsibilities to her public. If you ask me, these sloppy movie queens are just lazy. All I have to say is that if you HAVE to wear slacks, make sure they're pressed in the seat."

Anne Francis is drawing a red circle around the day she was signed to play fiery, sexy Flamingo in James Cagney's "A Lion Is in the Streets" and hoping she'll never have to play a cool, virginal heroine again.

"If you're blonde and blue-eyed, it's murder," Anne wailed. "They try to cast you as a Mona Lisa, ice-water blonde. Hollywood signed me because I played a bad girl in 'So Young, So Bad,' then put me into three pictures in which I was a completely opposite type. Then finally I was told that I wasn't the type they had signed me up for in the first place."

Anne on her love scenes with Cagney: "He's bashful. He gets a funny, kid smile on his face and starts to chuckle and turns red behind his make-up."

Packages For Delivery If Shelley Winters could give Hollywood Vittorio Gassman, Yvonne de Carlo can keep space by delivering handsome, blond Argentinian Carlos Thompson.

Carlos is Yvonne's co-star in "Fort Algiers" as a result of the gander Yvonne took at him when visiting movie studios in Buenos Aires and he's saying in the flawless English he learned as a New York schoolboy:

"We're both too independent to be married, but whatever I do, Yvonne will be the one who deserves the credit for starting me off. I'm only too grateful to her. Hollywood would never have sent for me."

Carlos spouts fluent Spanish, Italian and French and made 15 pictures in Argentina during the last three years.

Don't Send Husband To Perfume Counter

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

Women, not men, should have the last word when it comes to perfume. And this statement comes from a man!

Georges Baud, a Paris perfume maker who used to be a mining engineer, says a woman knows better than a man what scent is best suited to her. She's just kidding herself (this is an approximate translation, since Baud speaks little English) if she sends hubby to a perfume counter alone to pick something that sends him. What dazes him dabbed on the wrist of the blonde behind the counter may leave him cold when his wife applies it.

Baud decided to go into the perfume business while he was a prisoner of the Germans in 1940. He escaped in 1942, but had to wait until after the war before he and two partners could start their new business, Carven Perfumes. This gave him plenty of time to ponder the possible effects of perfume in a woman's life.

"We decided there was too much heavy perfume," he said through his translator on a visit here to arrange distribution of his two scents in American shops. "Very few women should wear heavy, dramatic perfumes. So we developed something that gives her a lift. It is no reason to wear a perfume just because her husband admires some one else."

Men are blissfully unaware that perfume can give a different impression on different women, Baud added, so they'll only be baffled when the effect of the Christmas perfume turns out to be disappointing.

Scores of visitors from the Continent since the war have given their opinions of American versus French women in the matter of wearing perfume. But Baud, who discusses the matter with the business-like approach of a mining engineer, consented to make only one comparison.

"Maybe French women do one thing better," he said. "They carry perfume with them and renew the scent every few hours. It is wrong to put on a lot at one time to try and make it last through a day or an evening."

Woman Of The Week...

MRS. RAYMOND HARRAH, 621 N. Frost, is this week's Woman of the Week. She is very active in local club work and is president of the Council of Clubs. Mrs. Harrah was Gray County campaign chairman for the "Ike for President" promotion and attended his inauguration. She is past-president of Twentieth Century Club and is an officer in the eighth district of Texas Federated Women's Clubs.

hing better," he said. "They carry perfume with them and renew the scent every few hours. It is wrong to put on a lot at one time to try and make it last through a day or an evening."

WINDOW TREATMENTS
A strong trend toward hanging draperies from ceiling to floor was forecast for 1953 home decoration, although the basic theme of still, apron or floor length will remain popular.

Area Nurses Attend Meeting At Hospital

Representatives from Shamrock, Canadian, Perryton, Phillips, Borger and Pampa attended the Registered Nurses Club at the meeting held Monday evening at the Highland General Hospital. Dr. Doris-Deal Vendrell gave a talk on preventative treatment in childhood illnesses.

The purpose of this group is to organize a new district of American Nurses Association. After the state board meeting in April, the final organizing will be completed.

The next meeting will be held March 2 at the Federated Club Rooms in Borger at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments were served to over 50 members.

Mrs. Vonelle Turner is president of this group. Mrs. Wanda Dickinson of Borger is secretary.

RUTH MILLETT

Maybe you recently read of the generous, open-hearted gesture of a small-town physician. When the people of his town arranged a big celebration to honor the doctor who had cared for them in sickness for 44 years, gave him presents and publicly thanked him for his service to the community, the 72-year-old doctor rose to his feet and instead of trying to express his pleasure only in words, said: "As of this date, I cancel all indebtedness that may be owed me. We'll start all over again, all of us together, for another 44 years."

That generous gesture must have had a wonderful effect on the man who made it and on those who were in his debt.

And yet, generous as it was, it probably cost him little in actual money. For bad debts usually have to be written off in the end.

GREATEST-GEST WAS RESTORING DIGNITY

The real worth of the doctor's gesture wasn't in relieving those who owed him of the necessity for paying him the money they owed. Many would probably never have paid anyhow. The real worth of what the doctor did was in relieving them of the feeling that they did owe him something. And at the same time, of course, he relieved himself of the feeling that there were those who owed him.

With one gesture he wiped the slate clean.

All of us, at any time in our lives, could with the same kind of generous gesture wipe the slate clean of all the things we think others owe us and have never repaid, of all past hurts and disappointments in others, of all past failures and disappointments in ourselves.

With one sweeping gesture we could say to ourselves: "As of this date, I wipe the slate clean and start anew." If each of us did that at some time in our lives, how much happier we would be. And how much more we would be able to enjoy the remaining years.

We don't have to carry past hurts, past mistakes, past frustrations, past disappointments and others on our backs all our lives. With one generous gesture we can decide to wipe the slate clean and start all over again.

Thought Blueprint

The tumult and the shouting over the inauguration is over. Dwight Eisenhower is now at work as President.

As we have indicated from time to time, we are pinning our hopes on the members of Congress for any start toward limiting the power of government, returning to fiscal sanity and in part lifting the dead hand of government from our necks.

Not only is there a great field of accomplishment ahead for the new administration in reduction of government spending — something that can be done immediately and directly — but the new administration has before it the opportunity to do something of more lasting importance: returning the thought and trend of our people toward a more limited government and away from the "creeping socialism" that is at the end of "the road ahead."

That there are enormous and direct savings to be made in government costs, which would result in reduction of taxes, is obvious to anyone who has given the slightest thought to the problem. Even the mere hiring of efficient and honest government employees will go a long way toward bringing about this highly desirable condition. That even bureaucrats can (and will, if forced to) reduce expenditures has been demonstrated in the General Accounting Office headed by Lindsay Warren. Fulton Lewis Jr. in a recent report from Washington told how Warren had 14,904 employees in 1946. On Jan. 3 of this year his office had only 6,204 employees, a cut in personnel of 60 per cent. This reduction in personnel was taking place at a time when the "business" of the office was steadily increasing and some of the major departments of the federal government were increasing their personnel by 25 per cent.

So, economies can be accomplished if the administration and the new Congress want to make such economies. We hope that President Eisenhower and his entire executive branch of the government will appreciate what has to be done and will accomplish this project.

As to the second and probably most important phase of the task at hand, that of changing a trend in the thinking of the people, the blueprint is not so simple. But some of the steps necessary will be readily available and all that is needed is understanding and the political courage to act.

Among other things that President Eisenhower and his associates will have to do, is turn their own thinking away from paternalism. This will mean that the first thought will be "how can we avoid this expense" and not "how many votes will this cost the administration." It will mean resistance to all of the pressure groups seeking special privilege and the political courage to say "no" to those who seek to advance the cause of big government. It will mean daily and conscious effort on the part of all the new administrators of the various offices of government to say to themselves "does this action promote freedom for all individuals." It means, in short, that President Eisenhower and all of his staff must become conscious believers in liberty and resent any action that is against the liberty of Americans — even though they are part and parcel of the action.

Whether the new executive administration of our national affairs will have direction of this sort from President Eisenhower remains to be seen. Most of the evidence at hand, judging from previous statements and actions and appointments, is that the new President doesn't have a much different approach to the problems of big government than did his predecessors.

Courage To Lose

Time magazine recently ran a long feature story on the Amerasia Petroleum Corp., which is engaged in searching for oil within this country and Canada. It described the tremendous risks involved — most of the exploratory wells that are drilled never become producers and wind up as worthless and exceedingly costly dry holes. It quoted the company's president, Alfred Jacobsen, as saying, "If you don't want to take risks you can't make money. If you haven't the courage to lose, you stay out of oil."

Near the end of the article, Time said that it is because of the great gambles in oil that "the U. S. oil industry has been able to make liars of the professors and bureaucrats who have periodically announced that the U. S. would soon run out of oil. In 1908, one expert put U. S. oil reserves at 15,000,000,000 barrels. Yet in the years since, the U. S. has burned up about 40,000,000,000, has proved another 12,000,000,000 in reserve. It has managed to add to reserves every year despite today's record rate of consumption of 2,700,000,000 barrels a year."

The men who found and developed our oil resources took long chances. They willingly risked their money, time, and skills. Some of them won and some of them lost. And no one in his right mind would have taken such gambles without the knowledge that if he did succeed, there would be profit which was his to keep.

The left-wingers revile the profit system, as it applies to oil and all other enterprise. But that system is responsible for our strength and security as a nation — and for the unrivaled living standards of our people.

"Engineers — Scientific and Social"

In the next few issues I want to reproduce an address made by Admiral Ben Moreell, Chairman of the Board of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, to the Society of Automotive Engineers on January 14, 1933 at Detroit.

Ben Moreell is one of the few industrialists that I know or have read their beliefs who is consistent in his stand for liberty and the American way of life and the ethics of the Golden Rule. He is one of the few men who can explain the blessings and the advantages of free enterprise. He seems to realize that good economics and good morals are the same. Because he can explain things so vividly, I am reproducing his address in several articles. I quote:

"Tonight I would like to talk with you about engineers and their significance to our economic and social structure.

"My dictionary defines engineering as 'the art and science by which the properties of matter and the sources of power in nature are made useful to man in structures, machines, and manufactured products.'

"We engineers have learned that our unceasing efforts to perfect this art and science are essential for the improvement of our material standards of living. And I believe that we may, with due modesty, point with pride to our professional achievements.

"However, my purpose tonight is not to give an accounting of the good works of scientific engineers. For I believe that we should now be more concerned with a 'pseudo-engineering' that is developing to an alarming extent among us — a kind of engineering which is quite different from that science by which the properties of matter are made useful to man. I refer to the profession of 'social engineering,' whose practitioners are known as 'social engineers.' A MASTER PLAN

"These social engineers — who appear to be more numerous and, at the moment, far more powerful, than we scientific engineers — are dedicated to the thesis that, by using the force of government, mankind in the mass can be changed and molded to conform to a master plan, in much the same way that engineering materials can be processed in accordance with preconceived designs.

"We scientific engineers have the unchanging laws of chemistry, physics, and the other natural sciences to guide our efforts. We need to understand them, we can predict the behavior of the materials and forces of nature. But the social engineers either know nothing of nature's immutable laws, or choose to ignore them. Instead, they have their man-made and silly laws — compulsions, prohibitions, and other restrictions on the free actions of individuals. By means of these, they CLAIM, they can COMPEL the BEHAVIOR of men in a manner that will redound to the good of mankind.

"We scientific engineers recognize that the materials we use and the laws we follow come from the Creator — a Power of which we are but infinitesimal manifestations. For example, these materials may be used and these laws observed to the advantage of mankind. The 'raw material' used by the social engineers is all of mankind itself — and the laws and rules which they follow come from no source other than their desire to remodel humanity in their chosen images. Scientific engineers process their raw materials to create products that serve the service of mankind. Social engineers use their raw material — human beings — to create products designed to serve and please their own fancy — and frequently to satisfy their craving for personal power. And often they do this by appealing to the baser traits of man — laziness, greed, selfishness and irresponsibility.

"We scientific engineers do extensive planning and experimenting. We construct models in order to obtain data with which to predict the behavior of the full-scale prototype.

"Social engineers also are given to extensive planning and experimenting. They, too, construct models in order to secure a better idea of how they may control the full-scale project. For example, in 1933 practically an entire State, with all of its people — Tennessee — was selected for what was called a pilot plant and a yardstick. I refer to the Tennessee Valley Authority, a project to which its 'social engineer in charge' proudly referred as 'a seamless web — the unity of land and water and men,' all under his direct authority.

"The Chief of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Social Engineers is famed for her experiments with model villages and other 'social reforms.' From these she moved into the Planning Division of the United Nations where — in collaboration with the master social engineers of other nations — she has been busily planning to apply her experiments on a world-wide basis.

"Social engineers who have worked in the field of agriculture have, at various times, set aside tracts of land and all their inhabitants for test projects. Then, satisfied that they have produced a happier, healthier, and more perfect human being, they have returned to Washington and attempted to place into operation a master plan to transform ALL of mankind by use of the force of government.

Crossroads Of His Career . . .

Hank Will Have A Part In Next Martin - Lewis Motion Picture

By HENRY McEMORE

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — My appointment with Mr. Hal Wallis, Paramount's celebrated producer, was not until eleven in the morning but I was up before the percolator had dried from the night before.

Homesick owls cast soft shadows on the frost of my bathroom window as I shaved for what would well be the turning point of my life. I was combing and brushing my hair a good hour before milk bottles would begin to rattle on the streets below.

Dutiful Mary was up and about our lukewarm flat, pressing my suit, taking spots off my tie, my shirt, and blacking my boots.

This was the crossroads, for sure, and I was as nervous as a condemned prisoner with a deaf governor.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JOKAN, M.D.

Rheumatism is an old-fashioned name, but even now there are some muscular aches and pains which cannot be blamed on any definite form of arthritis or neuritis, and for which muscular rheumatism is still the best label.

In many cases muscular pains start suddenly and sometimes without any apparent reason. If they do not disappear without treatment, a search has to be carried out for some distant source of infection, such as infected tonsils or abscessed teeth.

One common type of muscular pain and aching is that which develops when a person has been sleeping or sitting in a drafty place. This can be most severe. Occasionally, someone wakes up with a muscular pain in the neck or shoulder which makes turning the head impossible. Usually, however, this kind of rheumatism lasts for only a few hours or days.

George Spelvin Is More Than Somewhat Irked By Tax Setup

By WESTBROOK FEGLER
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

I would like to lend you the $500 because I know how painful your emergency is but these days a fellow must earn at least $1,000 and perhaps as much as $1,500 to clear $500 for himself after taxes. You can see "What a Hoax" in our case. I know as well as you do that a broken hip is a terribly expensive proposition in an old lady and I devoutly hope that our inventive genius will come up with something on the order of a harness or derrick that will

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

You walk along Fulton Street at smells of fish and wet seaweed as heavy as the veils of fog through which you push your slow way. Barrels of fish are rolled across sidewalks and onto waiting trucks. Men in from the Grand Banks slosh by in hip boots and sou'westers. A grinning fish-scaler, his knife slung at his side, holds up a giant lobster with claws as large as catchers' mitts, a true Old Man of the Sea hauled to light and air, at last, in the net of a trawler. He was once a young lobster with a will to wander and he wandered into deeper and deeper water until the trawler's nets yanked him up, a titan of his kind. Two Chinese and an Italian bid for him; they alone, of all races, knowing how to stew and make tender and succulent the leathery flesh of the old monster.

You decide to go in out of the raw air and call on Mr. Oyster. His real name is Royal Toner and Mr. Toner is not exactly a fish man. Mr. Toner is a farmer. Mr. Toner farms 6,000 acres — every foot of which land is under water. He is a fabulous, large, colorful and easy-talking man who doesn't think it strange that he has to buy fire insurance on 6,000 acres of land under water. The Counties of Suffolk and Nassau in New York's Long Island have laws which treat real estate taxes in with automatic fire insurance. Thus, in paying taxes on the land, he also pays for fire insurance. It seems very odd of which land is under water.

Toner is Mr. Oyster. He knows all the ways and wiles of oysters, the kinds, the best waters, the science and the traditions. He is known from Coast to Coast and as far as Japan, and is now First Vice President of the Oyster Institute of North America. You don't get to be that unless you know all there is to know about oysters.

It isn't true; it isn't at all true, says Toner, that oysters are safe and good only during the "R" months. The reason oyster people don't push oysters in May, June, July and August is that those are the breeding months and to dredge up and sell oysters then would be to destroy in time the breeders and the breeding grounds. They don't want to have their oyster business, even though oysters are almost as palatable in those four months as any other time. Almost. The oysters are a little stringy. They are stringy because each adult has just borne between 25,000,000 and 60,000,000 baby oysters and is feeling a little lassitude of an aftermath. Most of these babies will perish. It is just as well. If they didn't, the entire world would be 100 feet deep in oysters inside three years.

Long Island oysters are the champagne of the crop. Next to them, the tiny Olympics on the West Coast which are really tiny, maybe 100 to a cocktail glass, and taste sharply not of the iodine they are supposed to but actually like cucumbers. In recent years a Japanese genus has been imported to the West Coast and is acclimating itself nicely to our temperature and waters. They come from the north end of Japan. South end "seeds" didn't live in Oregon and Washington waters.

There is a black dot about the size of a lead in a pencil in each raw oyster you eat. When you eat that black dot you are eating the Vitamins A, B, D, E, F and G equivalents of a dinner plate loaded with vegetables.

It used to take between four and five years, sometimes three to five, for an oyster to mature to table size. In the last 15 years the maturing process has slowed up steadily until now it is between six and seven years. Mr. Toner has no scientific proof, but he believes that the shifting Gulf Stream has caused this maturity drag. Oysters are sensitive to tidal and temperature changes and are whim-struck creatures. They sulk if the water warms up as much as two degrees. There is a chain of mountains between Georgia and the British Isles which controls the Stream. If the Stream ever breaks across that submarine barrier, the Polar cap would melt, and New York would be under six feet of water and you couldn't get an East Coast oyster between Maine and Texas.

We went to lunch after awhile and had oysters.

reduce the incidence of broken Statistics show that in the fiscal year 1950-51, broken hips of mothers-in-law rose 127 per cent above fiscal 1949-50 and that the cost of hospital rooms, nurses' salaries, surgical care, including those pins and the process of putting them in and taking them out, lasts to and from hospitals for members of the family, flowers, X-rays and incidentals increased 24.8 per cent.

Now, in your position, working for a shaky company and facing the fact of your unfortunate lack of competence to progress further in your line of business, we would never be able to pay me back the $500. Knowing you as I do, I would count on you not to put aside your dime and quarters in a cookie jar and to pay me $5 or $10 at a time. People used to do that but they just don't do it any more and moreover they have an idea that a fellow with an earning capacity relatively larger than their own has plenty of money and doesn't miss $500 or $1,000. I don't blame you, because an income of $25,000 a year sounds like a million, for not realizing that the income tax hits deeper as the income mounts higher.

I will tell you what, though. I don't mind lending or giving you the $500 and hope it would help you in your trouble. I know what worry you are suffering and your poor wife is such a wonderful girl and so loyal and frugal that I would like to save her a little sleeplessness if I can. So, I will send you $500 but I want you to sign a note for it with interest at, say, 10 per cent so that the deal will be strictly businesslike. Let us make it a three-year note so that I can get it off the books in a reasonable time.

At the end of three years I will write you a formal demand for the $500, plus interest and you can write me a rather insulting letter telling me that you have no assets, that your salary is barely enough to cover current needs, that you are insured for all borrowed up and that, anyway, I ought to be ashamed to demand my money, a man of my income and wealth. Lay it on a little because I want to be able to show the internal revenue that I made a conscientious effort to collect a "bad" debt, but failed for no want of sincere harassment.

Now this will put you into the record as a penny ante Elliott Roosevelt, but people will realize that we had to do this in order to redress a disadvantage put upon us by the income tax laws, and will be so full of good will that I will say I was a nice guy to get up the $500; they will understand that you honestly couldn't carry the load, they will see that I was a gift of friendship and they will applaud both of us for finding a way to duck the payment of a 100 per cent or even a 200 per cent penalty in income taxes as an act of generosity to an old friend.

If I wanted to give $500 to the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League to let them give to steel companies from law-abiding citizens, I could deduct that from taxable income. These tax avoidance organizations not only better which enjoy the same privilege of "deductibility." Yet if I want to give $500 to an old friend to see him through a crisis which might end in a family disaster, I have to pay the government at least as much as I give the friend, or perhaps twice as much to make up for the tax deductions taken by contributors to the Anti-Nazi League for the hire of professional thieves.

But this government, since the Roosevelt came in, hasn't set a store by the family as an institution. You may not realize that actually you pay income tax money spent for every morsel of food and stitch of clothing which you buy for your wife and each of your children above the exemption of $600 per person per year.

This is the law. And in the official government instructions published by the government printing office, it says "loans to close relatives" which are not paid back "must not be listed as deductible losses."

So a playful fellow who gets in dutch over some tramp through cheating on his wife and finds it necessary to pay her $10,000 in the guise of a loan, can get things so as to write it off as a bad debt after a certain time and escape taxes. But if your own brother is broken in health and absolutely down and out and you want to send him to Florida and buy or rent a little place for him, nothing to do. You have to pay Uncle Shylock just as much or twice as much as you want to give or lend your own brother.

But, as I say, you can deduct your contributions to Isidore Lipschutz's Anti-Nazi League to hire thieves to steal from law-abiding citizens. This government just doesn't like the family of income between husbands and wives, and that ought to be the sublime partnership in our civilization — show a hostility to the family as an institution.

I am enclosing my check for $500. As soon as you can get around to it, will you please send me your note for the loan?

Sincerely,
George Spelvin, American

Thomas Top 1-4A Scorer, Bond 2nd

Gerry Thomas, Lubbock Western, regained the individual scoring lead in the District 1-A-AAA past week, pouring 23 points through the hoops in two games to hike his total in district play to 157 points.

Phillips Edges Reapers 41-34

The Reapers held a one-point lead at the first quarter mark, 16-15, before the winners took over in the second period. Phillips moved ahead 23-18 at halftime and 33-27 at the third quarter mark.

At one time in the first quarter the Reapers held a seven-point lead but the Little Black Hawks caught fire late in the period to pull within one point of the Pampas and then go ahead in the second canto.

High point man of the game went to Buddy Sharp of the Reapers who meshed 13 points. Mitchell with 11 points and Wiley with 10 were high for the Phillips.

Other Reaper scorers were: Melvin Romine, 4; Gene Brown, 4; Glenn Gilmore and Dickie Mauldin, 3 each.

The loss yesterday gave the Reapers a 3-5 non-loss record in conference action. Next on tap for the Reapers will be Dumas at Dumas Friday. The Reapers defeated Dumas in an earlier game. The Baby Demons also own a 3-5 mark in conference play.

In other Panhandle results yesterday, the Berger football team took over first place with a 69-49 win over Horace Mann of Amarillo at Amarillo and Stephen F. Austin won over Sam Houston, 39-21.

er center. Bond, who saw only limited action in last week's games with Midland and Odessa due to influenza, bucketed 23 points nevertheless to bring his district total for the year to 182 points.

Bond had led the district in scoring since the second week of the season. Thomas was the first week leader and then Bond took over and held it until last week's games.

Two other players are within shouting distance of Thomas and Bond. Amarillo's Melvin Wright has 168 points and Jerry Turner of Abilene has accounted for 160 points.

There's a terrific jump from Turner's fourth place standing to fifth place. A pair of San Angelo Bobcats, Milton Nickel and Hubert Whitley are tied for the No. 5 spot with 111 points apiece.

Still three others have gone over the 100 mark in district competition. Rookie Rogers of Borger has 119 points; Herbert Zavors of Odessa has 107; and Fred Woods of Pampa has 102.

Amarillo's Wright has the most field goals — 68 — one more than Thomas and Bond. Thomas has the most free throws with 87 and Bond second with 82.

Five Pampa Harvesters are tied among the top scorers. In addition to Bond and Woods, Buddy Cockrell ranks 19th with 77 points; Billy Webb is 21st with 75; and Jon Oden 25th with 65.

Other Reaper scorers were: Melvin Romine, 4; Gene Brown, 4; Glenn Gilmore and Dickie Mauldin, 3 each.

PILING ON — Shown above is about 1,200 pounds of human beef stacked up in one pile. This action took place in the 6-man rattle royal at the Southern Club Sports Arena last night. The six hefty participants in the brawl averaged 200 pounds per man. The only identifiable grappler in the above pile is Frankie Hoyt, the man on top. Hart was the eventual winner of the show. The other five who took part in the royal and who are shown in the pile-up was: Whitley-Wahlberg, Herb Parks, Billy Weidner, Dizzy Davis and Buck Lipscomb. (News Photo)

Snavely Throws Hat In SMU Ring

DALLAS, Feb. 4 — UP — A half dozen "top flight" men have applied for the head coaching job at Southern Methodist University vacated when H. N. (Rusty) Russell quit early this week under the pressure of criticism, SMU officials said Wednesday.

Among the latest applicants was North Carolina Coach Carl Snavely. Others included Andy Pinner, assistant coach at Tulane; J. O. (Buddy) Brothers who quit as head coach at Tulsa at the end of this season and Bill Daddio, one-time Pittsburg end who was dropped as an assistant coach by the Chicago Cardinals last month.

There was apparently no No. 1 prospect but the men mentioned most in discussions were Brothers; Mike Brumblow, head coach at Texas Western College in El Paso; Johnny Vaughn, now at the University of Mississippi and L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, athletic director at Texas Christian.

SMU athletic director Matty Bell said Tuesday that the man picked to succeed Russell must be a "strong man with a personality." "It will take someone like that to smooth some of the riffs left in the wake of Russell's departure," Bell said. "A new man naturally will have to make himself popular with everyone concerned or for purpose in hiring him will be defeated."

Bell apparently meant that Russell's successor must please the alumni whose pressure forced Russell to resign as well as mend the rifts in the football squad itself where several players were unhappy with coaching methods.

Hart won the first fall with a Boston Crab off the ropes and then took the second when Parks was disqualified by Referee Rey Urbano. Parks had pinned Hart in the second fall but refused to break the hold and Urbano reversed the decision and gave the fall to Hart.

Parks became irate over the decision and fought for several minutes with Referee Urbano after the match. Hart and Parks gained the right to fight in the night's main event by outlasting four other heavies in a 6-man royal.

Dizzy Davis and Billy Weidner were the first two to be eliminated which finished them for the night. Buck Lipscomb and Whitey Wahlberg were the second two out and they returned for the final event with Wahlberg winning two falls to one.

Whitley lost the first fall but came back to win the second and third falls with a full Nelson. Parks became irate over the decision and fought for several minutes with Referee Urbano after the match.

Baylor Clips Texas, 60-59; Ties For Lead

The University of Texas lost its No. 1 spot in the Southwest Conference basketball race by bowing to Baylor Tuesday night by a mere one point 60-59.

The loss gave Texas a 3-2 conference record and put them in a two-way tie for second with Rice, Baylor and Texas Christian both with 4-2 records moved to the top of the loop.

Texas tried desperately to force the game into overtime but lost their chance when George Scaling fouled as the final gun sounded. Scaling sank his first free throw then missed a second one.

Baylor held a 19-18 lead at the quarter and a 37-28 margin by the half. Texas rallied and outscored the Bears by eight points in the third but were still trailing 50-49.

Gib Ford put in a brilliant all-around performance for Texas in his first appearance since he broke his hand six weeks ago.

John Starkey of Baylor was the evening's high scorer with 25 points while Leon Black of Texas made 20 and Murray Batley of Baylor scored 17.

At College Station the Texas Aggies avenged their conference defeat 3-3 and forced Southern Methodist deeper into the cellar with a 51 to 43 victory. The Mustangs now have a 0-5 season record.

Aggie center Roy Martin who had averaged only four points per game until Tuesday night was definitely the star of the game.

The 6-foot eight-inch sophomore scored the first 17 points for the Cadets and had accounted for 18 of their 20 points at the half. His 23 point total was the best of the evening and the highest individual point total of any Aggie player this year.

SMU grabbed a quick 7 to 4 advantage in the opening minutes of the game but the Aggies pushed ahead and led the rest of the way. Guard Charles Gray was high point man for SMU with 10 points.

Hart won the first fall with a Boston Crab off the ropes and then took the second when Parks was disqualified by Referee Rey Urbano. Parks had pinned Hart in the second fall but refused to break the hold and Urbano reversed the decision and gave the fall to Hart.

Tarheels Upset By Richmond, 87-82

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 — UP — A missed free throw knocked Texas out of the southwest conference basketball leadership Wednesday, but North Carolina clung to first place in the Southern Conference despite a surprise, double-over-time loss to Richmond.

George Scaling of Texas was the hard-luck guy who missed the foul shot that cost the Longhorns a 60-59 defeat by Baylor, which moved up into a first-place tie with Texas Christian.

Scaling was fouled just as the gun sounded in the game at Waco, Tex. He sank the first of his two tosses

Water in the basement was an advantage in pioneer homes of the United States. Built directly over a brook or spring, many homes thus included a built-in spring-house, predecessor of the refrigerator.

Londoners can keep leaking tires pumped up while riding to the repair shop, if they own one of the devices pictured above. A small compressor is on the market which runs on storage-battery power. It can be attached by means of tubing to a universal joint clipped to the wheel hub, and from there to the valve stem of the inner tube.

Ike's Decision On Nationalists A Hornets' Nest For Dulles

By PHIL NEWSOM
 United Press Foreign Analyst
 Secretary of State John Foster Dulles ran into a hornets' nest when he reached London.

But actually the furor over President Eisenhower's lifting the ban on Nationalist Chinese attacks on the Red mainland only points up a number of differences between the United States and Britain.

And the differences are not soothed by the fact that Britain knows she is tied to the tail of the U.S. kite, and in the hot and cold wars against Russia knows she must fly or crash with us.

Either that or join up with the Russians.

In protesting the U.S. decision to denaturalize Formosa, the British are not on a very firm ground.

U.S. Decision
 Former President Truman's 1950 decision to "neutralize" Formosa was a U.S. decision alone. The decision to denaturalize it also is a unilateral U.S. decision.

But that's by no means the only difference between the two countries.

The British are resisting our pressure on them to take a greater part in the European defense community.

So far as the British populace is concerned the Korean war is an American war, or what's more important, a "forgotten" war.

The British were deeply offended by our refusal to include them in the "Anzus" talks with Australia and New Zealand for Pacific defense.

They also are offended by our refusal to share with them our atomic secrets.

Trade Not Aid
 Finally, the British go along with the rest of Europe in demanding "trade not aid," but so far the proposals have not seemed very practical from our standpoint.

London financial circles, for example, have suggested that one way to reduce American dollar aid to the Allies would be to raise price of gold above the $35 per ounce.

Americans, whose insurance policies, retirement funds and other fixed investments have suffered from inflation already, would not be very happy to see them lose still more value while on the other hand living costs skyrocketed.

A persistent British view is that, while the United States may have the power and the money, it still is not mature enough diplomatically to be trusted with world leadership.

To the American who remembers the European handling of world affairs that led to Munich and the appeasement of Hitlerism, the current British view scarcely seems realistic. At least we can't do any worse.

Three Wilson Speeches Of '51 Are Searched For His Views

By PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — New Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson says it was three speeches he made in the fall of 1951 which probably led to his appointment to a cabinet job.

After he had made the first speech, but before delivery of the other two, the General Motors president sent copies of all three speeches to General Eisenhower.

Within two weeks the general wrote back to Mr. Wilson, commending him for demonstrating that we can and must produce national security without falling into national bankruptcy. That was the beginning of the contact that led to the President's appointment of Mr. Wilson to the top defense post.

Washington today is studying these three speeches to get a better grasp of the ideas which the new Secretary of Defense may be putting forward as his policy.

Highlights of the three speeches include:

1. A plan for "dual purpose" manufacturing plants, capable of being shifted rapidly from civilian to defense production or used simultaneously for both.
2. An end of direct government controls over prices and wages and the substitution of indirect controls over money and credit supply to end inflation.
3. A justification of the General Motors - United Auto Workers wage formula which includes periodic cost-of-living adjustments and an annual improvement increase of 2 1/2 per cent a year.

Dual - Purpose Defense Plants
 Mr. Wilson's first point was covered in a "Preparedness Policy" speech before the American Ordnance Association in Cincinnati. Its main argument can be summarized in oversimplified form like this:

Americans want peace with a stable economy and an ever-improving standard of living. In solving this problem we must preserve American free competitive society. Maximum flexibility must be retained to convert rapidly from peace to war. Since 148, the U.S. has not had a practical industrial mobilization plan.

At the end of World War II the defense production plants were liquidated or converted to peacetime use. Examples given are the Ford Willow Run plant, the Chrysler engine plant at Chicago, the Cleveland bomber plant of General Motors.

Mr. Wilson therefore proposes that defense plants be designed for dual, peace - or-war production on at least 10-year contracts, made renewable for several generations if necessary.

Either plant would use the same offices, canteens, power plants and hospitals. The greatest advantage would be in the use of the same labor force without dislocation.

Mr. Wilson would use the present government plan for accelerated tax amortization of these plants, leaving them for private-

Industry operation.

Economy Imperiled
 Mr. Wilson's economic views were outlined in his second speech before the Dallas, Tex., Society for Advancement of Management.

The U.S. faces two major problems today, he said. The first is possibility of a third world war. The second is the danger of losing our free society in the process of preparing for war.

At the present time, he said, the U.S. has resorted to a system of wage, price and production controls in the name of stopping inflation. He was specifically critical of rent controls, government production of synthetic rubber and its steel allocation program.

"The military program must not be expanded beyond the minimum needed to defend the country," he summed up. "We must adopt indirect controls that will avoid inflating the money supply. We must act as quickly as possible to get rid of direct controls which interfere with individual initiative and personal rights."

In justification of the GM-UAW five - year labor contract plan, frequently criticized by other big manufacturers, Mr. Wilson delivered his third address on "Wages and Economic Stability" at Michigan State College.

In it he expressed his conviction that the business cycle could be controlled and a drastic depression such as occurred in the early '30s avoided.

His formula here was a repeat-tion of the principles given in his Dallas speech, plus the use of his wage plan. He says it will double the standard of living every 25 or 30 years.
