Red Gunboat Seizes Ship Flying U.S. Flag

Three Americans Believed Captured

HONG KONG, Sunday, March 22—UP—A yacht flying the U. S. flag and reported carrying three Americans was captured by a Chinese Communist gunboat Saturday.

Julian F. Harrington, U. S. consul general at Hong Kong, reported to the State Department that British Navy officers had seen the gunboat towing the yacht to Red China territory. The State Department immediately ordered Harrington to take all "possible steps" to obtain the release of the Americans.

ABRUPT CHANGES—With the passing of Russia's Premier Josef Stalin bringing about abrupt changes in the Soviet Union, the effects are also felt on the Korean scene as evidenced here by a 7th Division GI bringing a road sign up to date: The sign which formerly read "Joe sees you," and now reads "Georgi sees you," lies in an area which is under constant enemy observation. Gray, Roberts Teachers To Be Feted In April

An appreciation dinner for teachers in Gray and Roberts counties schools has been planned by the Chamber of Commerce good will and reception committee, according to Jimmy McCune, chairman.

The dinner, eighth annual affair of its kind, is to be in the Pampa High School cafeteria.

Exact date for the dinner, sometime in April, has not been set but Bert Nuckols, committee member, has been appointed to clear a date with all those concerned.

A western theme in food, decorations and program will be carried out, McCune reported following the committee meeting at 3 p.m. Friday in the Chamber office.

Two former Korean war correspondents and a veteran sea captain who had run the Nationalist blockade to China had set sail for the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao a few hours before in a 42-foot yacht of the same description.

It was believed there also were aboard at least two and possibly three Chinese crewmen and there also may be one Chinese girl as a passenger.

The girl left her Kowloon home this morning with Capt. Ben Krasner. Residents of the house said they were "talking about going to Macao." They were not able to supply the girl's name.

Breakdown Blamed For Faulty TV

High winds and a temporary breakdown at KGNC-TV were the causes of faulty television reception here for several days, local TV fans and semi-experts said.

A story first started circulating that KGNC-TV had temporarily cut down its 2,000-watt power, but Kelly Maddox, manager of the station, denied the report last night.

"There's nothing to it," Maddox told a News reporter by telephone.

The KGNC manager said he had a "hunch" what would cause poor reception of the test patterns being shot out from Amarillo.

Back in Pampa, Paul Crossman, television dealer, said "several things have contributed to bad reception at times: high winds would cause it (although he quoted some technicians as saying it didn't bother TV) loose connection, and the fact that only 2,000 watts are being used.

But technical difficulties put the station off the air Thursday night when it broke down and transmission did not start again until 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Reception for Pampa is expected to be normal in quality by next Sunday when KPDA hopes to come on with its full 56,500-watt power.

Malenkov Resigns High Red Position

LONDON, March 21—UP—Premier Georgi M. Malenkov has resigned from the secretariat of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party—one of the three posts held by his predecessor Josef Stalin.

But Malenkov still is the Soviet Communist boss, even though experts here had assumed he would assume all of Stalin's powerful positions—secretary general of the Central Committee, head of the party Presidium and chairman of the Council of Ministers—the premiership.

Malenkov's stepping down from the party secretariat—which was then reduced to being the executive organ of the central committee for party affairs and appointments—may be a move toward a new post—chairman of the Soviet Communist party.

Still Top Man

The premier still holds the most powerful position in the party—the leading member of the all-powerful party presidium. And in this body he has the assured backing of six of the other nine members.

But he needs a prestige buildup. The post of chairman of the party has never existed in the Soviet setup, but it is the position held by Communist China's boss—Mao Tse-Tung.

Experts are sure Malenkov has resigned from the secretariat of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party.

Reds Ready New Purge

VIENNA, March 21—UP—Radio Sofia reported Saturday that Bulgarian Premier Vulko Chervenkov is preparing a new purge of "traitors, spies and provocateurs."

The broadcast quoted Chervenkov as saying that the purge is necessary because the Communist party in Bulgaria "has not been sufficiently vigilant"—parroting the watchword used by Moscow in the recent purge of Soviet underlings.

It was the second time in a week that the Bulgarian Reds had complained of the presence of "traitors" in their ranks and had warned that they will be "liquidated."

Allied Jets Score Stunning Air Victory Over Chinese Reds

TOKYO, March 22—UP—American Sabrejets scored a stunning victory over the Chinese Communist air force Saturday by destroying five MIGs and crippling seven others.

The toll of enemy jets was the biggest since Jan. 14.

Two new double aces were crowned in the blazing aerial duels over MIG Alley.

Ground fighting on the first day of spring dropped to the lowest point in weeks, but spring thaws forced Allied troops to air lift supplies to the western front by helicopter.

DOUBLE ACES

The air victory over 12 MIGs gave the United States two new double jet aces: Capt. Manuel Fernandez, Jr., Miami, Fla., and Capt. Harold L. Fischer, Swao City, Ia.

Fernandez, handsome and Spanish blooded ironically lifted himself to double acehood in the same way he became a jet ace—by shooting down two MIGs in one day.

Fischer destroyed one Russian-built MIG to raise his total to 10.

Saturday's other destruction claims went to Capt. Houston N. Tuel, Tacoma, Wash., and first Lt. Richard Guidrez, Houma, La.

Fischer and Fernandez are the fourth and fifth double aces of the Korean war.

One Sabrejet pilot crippled two MIGs in the furious air battles. He was Col. James K. Johnson, commander of the Fourth Fighter Interceptor wing, Phoenix, Ariz.

Fernandez had a rugged day—at one time battling two MIGs at the same time. He said that his group sighted about 30 MIGs and started chasing them.

"I picked up two that were slightly low in the group and fired on one," he said. "It caught fire and I kept on firing."

"While I was firing at the first MIG, I kept my eye on the number two man. He suddenly went under me and came up, on the right side. I left the first MIG and fired on the second as he came up past me. I fired just as he started to break left. The MIG split and started down, so I left him and got back to the first."

Scheduled steamships between Hong Kong and Macao make runs along this same route—unmanned freight-carrying motorized junks. But private craft seldom venture into these waters.

It was known the three men left the foreign correspondents' club Saturday morning, planning to sail to Macao along the route from Castle Peak in the western part of Hong Kong.

Must Be Applegate

Applegate's boat is the only sailing craft of any size in Hong Kong waters that flies the American flag. An American consul said, "by process of elimination we have decided it is probably Mr. Applegate's yacht."

American officials said they had been notified of the reported incident but said "There is nothing we can do now—we'll just have to await developments."

Pan Tech Bull Sale Scheduled for April 9

A tested-bull sale has been announced by the Pan Tech tested bull sale association for April 9 at the PanTech Farms, 15 miles northeast of Amarillo.

J. P. Smith, general manager of the farms, was in Pampa Friday inferring with local breeders who are busy feeding their herd.

The sale is to include 100 Hereford bulls and 20 Angus. The herd range and farm bulls are 12 to 18 months old.

They have all been tested for ability to gain and information will be furnished the day of the sale, according to the association officials.

Inspection of bulls is welcome any time at the farms. Colby Conkright, president, declared.

A field day is to be in the morning, barbeque at 12 noon and sale at 2 p.m., all at the PanTech Farms.

Mayor Favors New Amendment Measure Would Abolish Auto Advalorem, Hike License Fee

Mayor C. A. Huff is highly in favor of the proposed constitutional amendment which would abolish advalorem taxes on automobiles, but increase the license fee 33 and one third percent, with municipalities getting the bulk of the increase.

This was learned yesterday when the mayor sent a letter to Norman Register, president of the Texas Tax Assessing Officers Association, voicing his confidence in the measure and advising him he felt it should be presented to the Legislature.

The amendment is being sponsored by the Texas League of Municipalities.

Bolled down, the amendment would work like this:

Advalorem taxes on cars would be no more.

License tag fees would jump one third of their present cost. Of new cost, the state would get 50 percent, the county would get 25 percent, and the cities would get the other 25 percent.

However, the cities' take would come from only those cars registered within the city limits. The county's take would be limited to their present maximum participant.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it Lewis Hardware.

Can't Escape Draft 19-Year-Olds Outlook Dim

WASHINGTON, March 21—UP—Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey said Saturday that 19-year-olds can't look for much escape despite defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's intention to cut draft calls.

Hershey said the military manpower pool is very low and draft calls would have to be cut by an enormous number to make any real difference in those being called up.

"The pointer still is moving down toward the 19-year-old group," Hershey said, "and there's nothing that can be done about it."

Draft calls are running about $3,000 a month. Wilson told a news conference Friday he hoped to cut the calls and reduce the overall number of men in the armed services.

Wilson set no target. Hershey thought a decrease would make a "relatively small difference" in Selective Service's task in providing the men wanted.

Nineteen-year-olds already are being drafted by some local boards which are scraping the bottom of the manpower barrel.

Hershey intends to ask for tightened deferments for college students.

ARC Bloodmobile Schedules Return Visit Here April 7-8

The Red Cross bloodmobile is for 10 teams, led by captains, to return to Pampa April 7-8, according to Lewis Chamberlain, head of the 1953 bloodmobile campaign, with a 300-pint goal.

Head-On Crash Kills 10 Members Of Single Family

WASHINGTON, N. J., March 21—UP—The bodies of 10 members of a single-family lay-side-by-side in a mortuary Saturday while relatives arranged for a mass funeral.

The automobile crash that killed them was the worst of its kind on record. The National Safety Council in Chicago said that never before had so many persons riding in a single automobile been killed in a traffic accident.

The victims were Clarence Matlock, 33, a dairy farmer, his five children, his wife, mother and two of his sisters—all killed when a new auto in which they were driving from their home near Blairstown, N. J., to Washington collided with a trailer truck.

At nearby Fort Murray, N. J., the truck driver, John J. Scaramillo, 21, of Scranton, Pa., was arrested.

No Evidence Found So Far Stock Diseases Hint Germ War

WASHINGTON, March 21—UP—An unprecedented outbreak of animal disease in the past 15 months has caused experts to look for evidence that germ warfare is being waged against U. S. farmers.

Dr. B. T. Simms, chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Husbandry, said Saturday, "There is no evidence at all" such activity thus far.

"Of course, we have thought of a possibility and are watching it closely," Simms said, "adding at field workers have been alerted."

Military Headaches

Scientists and veterinarians have had multiple headaches during the past 15 months as both old and new animal and poultry ailments cropped up in almost every section of the country. "We've never had a time when so many came along one right after the other," Simms said.

Causes and remedy of some are still unknown. Simms said some, which have yet to hit large numbers of animals, present potential threats unless farmers are awakened to the danger. He hinted that BPH will need more money for adequate research.

(Simms said VE has a close resemblance to the dreaded cattle, sheep, and swine foot-and-mouth disease. "If we relaxed," he said, "foot-and-mouth may appear without being noticed and 'be all over the country before we know it.")

Voice Of America Expert Saved In Suicide Attempt

NEW YORK, March 21—UP—An Austrian-born Voice of America expert on Yugoslavia attempted to commit suicide Saturday by turning on a kitchen stove in the apartment of another employe of the state department's propaganda agency, police reported.

Police said Ernie Sax, 44, a former composer, was saved by an alert elevator operator, who called for help after he smelled gas escaping from a first floor apartment on Manhattan's fashionable Beekman Hill.

A spokesman for the Voice of America said Sax was a 56,000-dollar producer in the Yugoslav section. He speaks two Yugoslav dialects, the spokesman said.

Police said Sax told them he tried to kill himself "because of financial troubles."

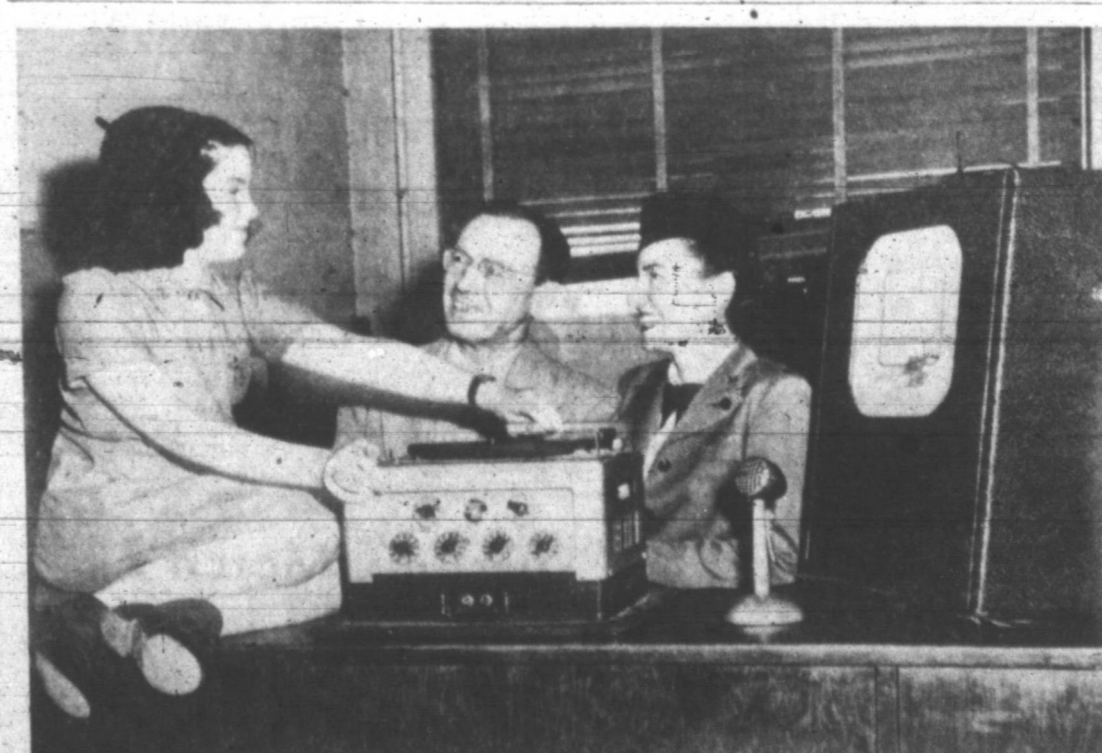

Sax was found in the apartment of Fred Hall, 50, who also is a "Voice" producer. Hall said neither he nor Sax had been questioned in the Senate investigation on charges of Communism and mismanagement in the agency.

Sax was revived with artificial respiration and taken to Bellevue Hospital for observation.

Sax was found sitting on a chair in front of the kitchen stove, police said. All the gas jets had been opened and cloths were stuffed in cracks in the window and door.

Police did not disclose Sax's condition but said the case was being listed as "an attempted suicide."

Hall told police he had known Sax for some 10 years. Sax asked him a few weeks ago if he could use his apartment, and he granted permission. Hall said he last saw Sax Friday afternoon, at which time he was "fine."

An Inkslinger 65 Years . . .

Retired Newsman Began His Career Day Garfield Killed

By ED NASH
An 83-year-old "inkslinger" who earned his first newspaper dollar in Sandusky, Ohio, the day President James A. Garfield died lives in Pampa today and likes to recall the eight national political conventions he covered.

Lucas J. Beecher, father of two Pampans, made the traditional entrance into the newspaper business (selling papers) Sept. 19, 1868, and spent the next 65 years newspapering, 45 of them on The Toledo (O.) Blade.

Type setter, reporter, associate editor, city editor—white-shocked, sharp-eyed Beecher has done them all and, like most newspaper men, likes to recall some of the more colorful highlights.

Father of Mrs. George F. Frinuf, 806 N. Somerville, and Mrs. W.S. Dixon, 809 N. Gray, the old-time newsman never worked on a paper outside Ohio but now finds himself in Texas which doesn't give him a chance to get out on the water.

While he climbed the journalistic ladder in Sandusky and Toledo, he learned to steer steamboats in Sandusky Bay (Lake Erie) and, like newspapering, has never got it out of his system.

But this newspaperman of the old school, who still inspects many a paper with a practiced critical eye, almost became a lawyer like his father and his father before him.

Exposed to Blackstone's Commentaries, Beecher was forced to go to work instead of law school—and, after that, he was never anything else but a newspaperman.

His first job was setting type on the morning Sandusky Register where he also did part-time reporting at night (50 cents a night). He was 17 then.

How did he get that job, though? Answer is possibly in that he and a colleague, Lewis W. Lea, had been running a two-column, four-page effort called The Weekly Fly.

Billed as "Lea and Beecher, Inkslingers," they gathered, set and printed local news, personals, even full-page ads—and sold their paper for one year in advance, 25 cents; three months, 10 cents.

The "personal style" journalism of the day was typified in the confiding manner in which they ran the paper's address in the masthead—"125 Columbus Ave., upstairs."

After a couple of years on The Register, Beecher heard that The Sandusky Journal, afternoon paper, was going to hire a city editor, so "I got that job." One story he remembers writing—why he isn't sure—dealt with the exotic flowers of Sandusky's park system.

Soon he became a staff member of Sandusky's third paper, The Standard, a more important paper and respondent for The Blade on which he was to spend almost a half-century of his life.

But the newsman, who incidentally wears a stiff collar now as he did then, soon latched onto a story that won him his reporter's job on The Blade.

It seems that Sandusky French girl had left home and headed overseas to enter a convent with her mother in hot pursuit. When his boss on The Star mentioned it, he had known about it for weeks, Beecher says, when it up for The Blade—and moved to Toledo. That was in 1907.

Hired as a reporter for $15 a week, Beecher, his wife, whom he married in 1909 and whose daughter was able to live comfortably in Toledo while they had a three-room apartment for $8 per month.

Assigned to the courthouse and city hall beat, he covered his first six sessions of the Ohio legislature in 1904. To go, he did all manner of state and national politics with an occasional feature-writing jaunt to Washington, D. C.

In 1912 the Ohioan, became city editor of The Blade with a staff of 15 reporters under him, and also attended his first two national political conventions.

That was the year William Howard Taft beat out Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican nomination and Woodrow Wilson ousted Champ Clark for the Democratic designation, following a heated denunciation of Clark—supporting "plutoocrats" by William Jennings Bryan, himself a three-time presidential candidate.

With the GOP vote split between Taft and FR (for "Bull Moose" ticket), Beecher said, Wilson couldn't miss—and didn't.

Four years later, Republican Charles Evans Hughes went to bed thinking he was the next president. The Blade city editor recalled, and "I was surprised a good deal at Wilson's victory."

Following the end of World War I, in 1920 Beecher attended both national conventions which nominated GOPster Warren Harding and Democrat James M. Cox.

The newspaperman knew Harding quite well—the was Ohio's (See RETIRED, Page 15)

REMEMBERING — Staff member of The Toledo (Ohio) Blade for 45 years, Lucas J. Beecher, 83, of Pampa, casts a critical eye over one of The Blade's recent efforts — which, incidentally, he thinks compares quite favorably with The Dallas Morning News and The Fort Worth Star-Telegram. An "ink-slinger" for 65 of his years, Beecher lives alternately with one of his two daughters, Mrs. George F. Frinuf, 806 N. Somerville, and Mrs. W. S. Dixon, 809 N. Gray. (News Photo)

Piano Quartet Slates Concert Here March 30

The Philharmonic Piano Quartet, which has won top favor across the nation in six seasons of recital presentations, is to appear here in the Junior High School auditorium at 8 p.m. March 30, under the auspices of the Pampa Community Concert.

This all-American group of artists, each a piano virtuoso in his or her own right, has "captivated the country," according to reviews.

In an especially prepared, varied program, their 40 fingers at four pianos will range through a repertoire which includes classics and light music, arrangements of moderns and masters.

The quartet is composed of Ada Kopets, Bertha Melnik, John Scates and Robert Emmett Bokes, who in the fall of 1952 replaced MAX Walmer.

Arrangements are made by Composer Mortiz Bomhard. All four pianists have studied

Sports Top Topic In Kiwanis Meet

Basketball players of the State-Champion Kiwanis Club were on hand at the weekly meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis Club and learned all about baseball from a local minister.

In addition to giving Kiwanians and students a graphic portrayal of "Casey at the Bat," Rev. Dick Crews, First Christian Church pastor, discussed the American heritage of spiritual freedom, "the richest of any in the world."

Introduced as a leading exponent of "Great American Poetry and Prose — our literary culture," Crews demonstrated his way, too, through the course of "The Shooting of Dangerous Dan McGrew" prior to the serious part of the program.

Outlining his thesis that "we are not free not to worship, but are free to choose our form of worship," the pastor maintained that there are three things persons can do "to learn to expand and appreciate our spiritual freedom."

(1) "Build a chapel in the soul," whereby man can have private devotion, meditation and prayer. ("It's easier now that television is here.")

(2) "Need an altar in the home," for "what's the point of having bread on the table for your children if they have no purpose in life?" ("To tell your kids a Bible story is for some persons the 364 question.")

(3) "Have a church in the community," in order to strengthen it and get it to cooperate with others in town ("Unlike service clubs, you never hear of man who missed church asking how it can be made up.")

While overseas, Delta personnel pairs to more than 200 United Nations vessels. And men and equipment were also transferred to units of Task Force 77 via a high tonnage section of the Army's line.

PIANO QUARTET HERE — Slated to present a recital through the Pampa Community Concert here at 8 p.m. March 30 in the Junior High School auditorium is the Philharmonic Piano Quartet, a nationally famous group composed of two men and two women. This will be the last Community Concert for this season. All four members of the piano quartet studied at Julliard School of Music and have given successful individual concerts.

in this country; all have given successful individual concerts. The quartet recorded two albums for Columbia Masterworks, one entitled "Music for Four Pianos" and the other, "Popular Classics for Four Pianos."

The New York Times called them a "virtuoso ensemble." In addition to the recitals, the quartet has played at New York's Lewisohn Stadium, Denver's Red Rock and for three weeks at New York's Roxy Theatre.

All four studied at the Julliard School of Music in New York. The official musical arranger for the group, Bomhard, is at present director of the Kentucky Opera Association, Louisville and of a TV opera series there.

He was formerly conductor of the Princeton University Orchestra and Glee Club, and director of New Lyric Stages.

Bomhard is also a conductor in his own right, having to his credit two symphonies, a suite for strings, sonatas, and the score to a Sean O'Casey play, "Red Roses for Me," presented at the Houston Playhouse.

The quartet travels by car, the four grand pianos precede them for each concert via private truck.

McLean Legion Plans Rodeo

McLEAN (Special) — In most places, at this time of year, the people turn their thoughts to gardening and crops, with the young man turning his thoughts to love. But Mr. McLean, the thoughts of most of the people turn to the annual American Legion Rodeo. This event will be held on the 17, 18 and 19 of April.

The first event of the rodeo will be a horse race of four and one half miles. Present plans are that this race will start at the McClellan Creek bridge and end at the north city limits on the Pampa highway. This is a much shorter race than the only other such race which was run at Shamrock to McLean. That race permitted the use of four horses which limited the number of entries.

It is expected that there will be more entries this year since only one horse will be used for the entire distance. All entry fees will go to the first and second place winners.

There will be a parade downtown Saturday sponsored by McLean Jaycees.

Floata and bands from several towns have indicated they will be present. W. W. Boyd is parade marshal.

Spencer Sitter is general rodeo chairman, Luke Henley is in charge of the horse race and the rodeo stock will be furnished by Tom Harlan from his ranch northeast of McLean.

Free Saturdays Are Returned To McLean Students

McLean school children get "free Saturdays" back this week after attending school every Saturday for the past five weeks. The extra sessions were necessary to make up time lost earlier in the year. A week was lost last fall when the new school building was not completed by opening day.

And school was out another five days during cotton picking season when classes were dismissed so students could help with the harvest. A school band has been entered in Class B. The evening concert on "Band Clinic Day" will have Mr. Newman as guest conductor, and will feature contest numbers by the Senior Band. The younger bands will also be presented in the evening's entertainment.

Wife Comes To His Defense . . . Knight Paroled To Sheriff For Five Years In Shooting

William Edward Knight, 35, was freed today on parole to the sheriff's office for five years in the Feb. 13 shooting of his wife Lorene Knight in the James Orr apartment.

Knight pleaded guilty Friday afternoon in 31st District Court before Judge Lewis M. Goodrich to assault with intent to murder.

His wife, taking the stand, testified for her husband, asking clemency in his case by the court.

In her testimony she assumed full blame for their differences and said he guessed one of the main troubles was her running around with Orr and drinking.

Both told the court they were sure the domestic differences could be patched up and that they intended to "make a go of it" from now on.

Knight shot his wife, unintentionally he said, about 8 a.m. Feb. 13 in the front room of Orr's apartment. He told the court he did not intend to shoot her and that the gun "just went off" when she grabbed his arm. Mrs. Knight said she believed too he had no intention of shooting her.

He had the gun with him, he said, thinking he could scare her back into coming home with him. Both have been married before.

Altrusa Club Top Citizenship Scorer

Statistics show the Altrusa Club came out with the highest average score in a citizenship check conducted January and February by the League of Women Voters among local civic clubs.

Questionnaires were filed out in all clubs by which individuals could check their rating answering a question, "Were you a full-time citizen in 1952?"

Final results indicated 544 persons rated their scores; 312 women and 232 men.

Thirteen members of the Altrusa Club had the highest score of any group, 72 per cent.

Close behind was the Civic Century Club, 15 members participating, scoring 71.6 per cent. Next highest ratings were: 20th Century Club, 15 members filling out the blanks, scoring 71.66 per cent; 71 Kiwanis averaging 71 per cent; 15 members of El Progresso, 70.8 per cent; 15 members of Delta Kappa Gamma, 70.4 per cent; and 68 Lions averaging 70.4 per cent.

Organizations cooperating in the citizenship program included: Varietas, 2th Century, 20th Century Forum, Business and Professional Women, Jaycees, 20th Century Culture, Beta Sigma Phi, Kappa Kappa Iota, B. G. K., 20th Century Allegro, VFW, Auxiliary, Parent Education Civic Culture, El Progresso, Delta Kappa Gamma, Kiwanis, Lions, ESA, Altrusa.

Family Has First Reunion In 27 Years

McLEAN (Special) — Mrs. Emma Ruff of San Francisco, California, was honored with a birthday celebration and family reunion recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Windom, Sr. Mrs. Ruff is the aunt of Windom.

This celebration brought together the family for the first time in 27 years. Mrs. Ruff is a native Texan and is the sister of T. B. and K. E. Windom, both of McLean. The Windoms were all born in Collin County but became separated with the brothers coming to the Panhandle and the sister going to the west coast.

The celebration brought together members of the family from four states and saw four generations present. Mrs. Ruff was celebrating her 72nd birthday but several others of the family have or will have birthdays during March. The youngest member of the family, Pat Windom, had his birthday March 17. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Windom, Jr.

"The purpose of the League of Women Voters," Mrs. Frank M. Culbertson, president of the local League, said, "is to encourage active and informed participation of citizens in government; as one means of carrying out this purpose, the League made available to individuals the citizenship questionnaire."

Individual scores have not been revealed only the number of persons and the total score of each organization recorded.

"We believe that citizenship involves not merely allegiance or residence in a country," Mrs. Culbertson declared, "but that citizenship, as a way of life, needs the full efforts of all of us all the time."

She said the importance of the questionnaire was not in the individual score but in the consensus in the vital matter of citizenship.

League members who worked on the project included: Meses. F. W. Shotwell, Ralph Thomas, Loyd Kuntz, J. B. McCrery, Raymond W. Harrah, J. B. Townsend, Jack Foster, Knox Kinard, Ed Williams, Jeff Bearden, Leslie Hart, Howard Vineyard, E. E. McNutt, A. D. Hilla, R. W. Stowers, E. J. O'Brien, W. B. Herr, Quentin Williams, F. M. Culbertson, F. M. Jordan, George Friauf, Doyle Hopper, F. H. Jernigan and H. H. Hahn.

WHO WOULDN'T BE CRAZY — That's the question posed by Lefors senior Jack Pflug, who played a leading role in the senior play, presented in Lefors Thursday and Friday. The comedy was directed by Mrs. Zona Gettle.

'Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?'

Presented By Lefors Seniors

LEFORS (Special) — "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy" was the title of the three-act play presented by the Lefors High School seniors Thursday and Friday night.

The comedy that took place in the courtyard of the Good Samaritan Sanitarium near New York City, was presented to approximately four hundred people. The proceeds are being used to pay for the seniors trip at the end of the school year.

Jack Pflug played the part of "Speedy" — Marshall, the person who caused all of the unusual happenings at the sanitarium. Trying to dodge Harold McCafferty, a policeman, played by Russell Herring, he accidentally landed in the Good Samaritan Sanitarium where his father, Mr. Marshall, played by Billy Dan Kindie, was a director. Thinking a stay in the sanitarium would cure his son of speeding, Mr. Marshall decided to leave him there.

Jack fell in love with Lois Meredith, an actress putting on a play for the patients, played by Imogene McAnitch, so he pretended to be crazy to stay at the sanitarium.

There was no end to the happenings. A surprise ending was witnessed when none of the patients turned out to be crazy after all.

Jack won Lois's love at the close of the play. The closing lines of the play, said by Jack, were: "Look What I Got For Being Crazy. Who wouldn't be crazy."

The cast of the play was composed of: Inmate No. 1 Don Howard; Inmate No. 2 Barbara Wells; Pluribus, a Negro porter at the sanitarium, E. C. Lette; Pendie, a colored maid, Georgetown Still; Miss Lavelle, head nurse, Willow Dean McAnitch; Mr. Higgins, Special Supt., Bobby Jack Miller; Mr. Marshall, a director, Billy Dan Kindie; Jack, alias "Speedy", his son, Jack Pflug; Lois Meredith, a visitor, Imogene McAnitch; Peggie Mortimer, admirer of Lois, Billy Watson; Beatrice, Jo Ann Shore; Marjorie, Carlene Carruth; Janet, Shirley Teeters; Evelyn Winslow, a wealthy patient, Jo Ann Staley; Harold McCafferty, policeman, Russell Herring; Edward Gordon, Evelyn's fiance, L. B. Coberly.

The three-act comedy was directed by Mrs. Zona Gettle, and L. H. Berryman, the senior class sponsors.

Furniture for the play was supplied by the Pampa Furniture Store, and the Texas Furniture Store of Pampa, Texas.

Room to Spare — inside and out

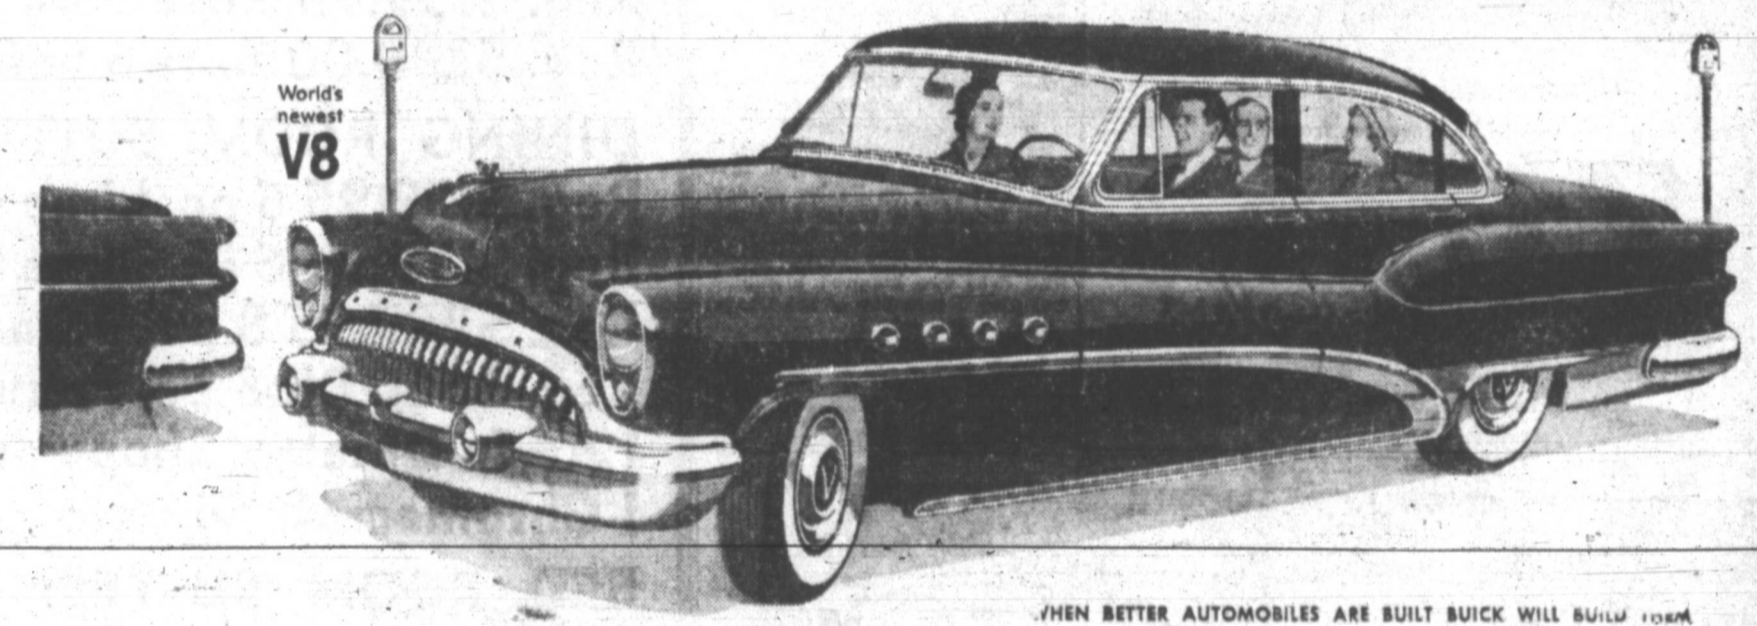

YOU'RE looking at the car that offers you more room and power for the money than any other six-passenger sedan made in these United States.

You're looking at the 188-hp Buick ROADMASTER Riviera Sedan, where headroom, hiproom, legroom and kneeroom are so spacious — you can seat six full-size adults in supreme and day-long comfort.

But lest you think this premium roominess comes with a penalty in handling ease — we have good news for you.

This 1953 ROADMASTER is powered by the world's newest and most advanced V8 Engine — an engine so compact, it has permitted the building of an entirely new and far more maneuverable chassis around it.

So every inch of roominess in America's big-room sedan is retained — but now with over three inches less bumper-to-bumper length. Beyond that, you have easier handling from this Buick's short turning radius — shortest of any other car of equal size and weight.

not relinquished any of his power—a fact which probably will be emphasized in later moves. When he stepped out of the secretariat, he cut his powers and size since it now is made up of five men, all loyal to Malenkov.

The secretariat now has been reduced to the position which V. I. Lenin, the founder of the Soviet Communist party, had intended for it. Stalin by his presence on the old five man group gave it added importance. Malenkov ran the secretariat for nearly 14 years as Stalin's first lieutenant in the party.

Recent changes in the body have followed Malenkov's needs in taking over after Stalin.

Before the 19th party congress last October, the secretariat was headed by Stalin as secretary general. It included first secretary, Malenkov, and Malenkov's man, Nikita Khrushchev, who now heads the party.

Some Sharp Changes

At the congress sharp changes were made in the party setup. The old politburo and organization bureau were abolished. A new 25 man presidium, with 11 alternates was created.

A 10 member secretariat was set up and made up exclusively of Malenkov's men. All the members of the secretariat were made members of or alternates to the presidium.

kind planned goals in Bulgaria, and the Yugoslav agency Tanjug reported Saturday "many acts of sabotage have been committed recently" in the Red-held country.

Observers here suspected that Chervenkov is preparing for a big propaganda "trial" to provide scapegoats for the shortcomings of his Communist machine.

Saturday's broadcast lends color to that belief, quoting Chervenkov as saying that Bulgarian workers "have not fulfilled the economic and cultural plan," and warning that "stricter measures" will be necessary to take up the slack in production.

Six days ago, Radio Sofia said that "traitors against the will of the working class are resisting the historic will of Bulgaria," and warned that they will be "liquidated."

"We are supported by the Soviet Union," a Red broadcaster said at that time.

Magistrate Roger Buschert ordered him held in default of $5,000 bail to await grand jury action.

All of the family were killed instantly except little Raymond Matlock, who died at a hospital early Saturday—on his eighth birthday.

Scanlon told police a coal truck ahead of him stopped suddenly and that he turned toward the left lane of the highway to avoid a rear-end collision and hit the Matlock car head-on.

The impact split the Matlock sedan down the middle, throwing seven occupants to the highway. Three others were crushed in the wreckage.

Skelly Lions Club Holds Blood-Typing

SKELLYTOWN — An estimated 300-400 Skellytown residents were expected to have had their blood typed by 8 p.m. Saturday, the end of a two-day campaign by the local Lions Club.

Purpose of the typing is to set up records for a blood bank to be used in time of disaster, according to Wayne Johnson, club president.

Blood-typing was conducted all-day Friday and Saturday in Skellytown's Odd Fellows Hall by technicians from Pampa and White Deer.

Asked how the program originated, Johnson replied that "it was just one of those things that you kick around and come up with."

Continuing, Skellytown's B. O. S. Lion pointed out that local residents of times are in Pampa's Highland Central Hospital and need blood — with the result that both time and effort are used in rounding it up.

"Naturally," he concluded, "we hope that such blood won't ever be needed — this is just in case."

West Texas-New Mexico Clubs Set Up Spring Training Camps This Week

THIS IS SPRING TRAINING week in the West Texas-New Mexico League. Of course, you know that the Oilers will begin their pre-season drills Friday at Sweetwater.

All other WT-NM clubs will begin spring training this week with exception of Lubbock and Amarillo. The Hubbers will not begin until April 5th when they'll set camp at San Angelo, Amarillo will start March 29 at Vernon.

Abilene's Blue Sox are going the farthest for their spring training drills. The Abilene Hose are leaving tomorrow morning for Kismet, Fla. They will begin spring drills Thursday.

The Gold Sox will set camp at Fredericksburg Wednesday, as will the Albuquerque battermen. Rest of the Dukes are reporting April 1. The Dukes are training at home.

The Clovis Pioneers, last year's straightaway winners, will also train at home. Manager Grover Seitz will call his charges in March 27.

There have been several changes in the WT-NM since the completion of last year's race. Amarillo has lost a majority of its power hitters but have picked up at least one. Gone are Les Muleigh (to Atchafalaya of the Longhorn League), Merv Connors (to Carlsbad of the Longhorn), and Stan Machusky (to the service).

But the Gold Sox have landed the heavy hitting Jim Matthews of last year's pennant winning Clovis nine. He will make a capable replacement for the departed Muleigh.

The major shakeup on the Oilers roster was the selling of catcher Don Moore to Clovis. Moore formerly managed the Pioneers. The Oilers were forced to do something with Moore since the newly appointed manager, Ted Pawelek, was a catcher.

Then, too, the Oilers had to cut down their veteran list from eight to five as somebody had to go. Abilene sold pitcher Fred Schmidt Saturday in an exhibition game.

Monte Irvin opened the assault with a three-run homer off Red starter Al Lien in the third inning. Don Mueller and Sal Yvares added to the carnage with two-run round-trippers in later frames.

He formed the Red Heads in order to stay close to the All-American Red Heads who will face the Noblitt-Corley Chiefs at Harvester Fieldhouse Thursday night.

The Red Heads, the "Globe-Trotters" of girls basketball, boast the best women basketballers in the country.

The game, sponsored by the Quarterback Club, will end the 1952 basketball season in Pampa.

Tickets for the Thursday night fracas have been printed and are on sale yesterday at various places in Pampa. The duets may be obtained at Malone Pharmacy, Wilson Drug, B & B Pharmacy, Leder's Jewelry and Noblitt-Corley Pontiac. The tickets are being sold at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Each member of the Red Head squad has her specialty and fans attending the Thursday night performance will see the girls do just about anything with the basketball except eat it and they may do that if someone suggests it.

Comic relief and ball handling artist of the Red Heads is 26-year-old Red Mason, who's as zany as Red Skelton. Red's from Sloom Springs, Ark. She is 5-8 and weighs 140 pounds and is pictured at right.

The play-maker for Red Heads is Johnny Farley. Johnny and Red Mason played together at Sloom Springs. Her ball handling leaves nothing to be desired.

Free-throw artist of the Red Heads is Butch Moore, wife of the Red Head coach, Orwell "Red" Moore. Butch shoots her free throws in a kneeling position.

Coach Moore joined the team after seven years coaching high school basketball in Arkansas. The Red Heads were organized by Ole Glen, Oteen, one of the greatest men-cagers ever to perform on the court, played more than 3,000 games in professional basketball before retir-

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21—UP—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees said Saturday that his shortstop predicament was just as acute as it was at the close of last year's world series.

Stengel, holding a press conference after rain forced postponement of the scheduled game against the Milwaukee Braves, said that Phil Aizzuto appeared in good shape, but added he was not sure whether the little veteran can play every game this season.

Senators
ORLANDO, Fla., March 21—UP—The Washington Senators made their first cuts of the season Saturday when Second-Baseman Larry Dietzel, Pitcher Paul Spitzer and First-Baseman Fred Taylor were sent down on option, while Taylor was sold outright to Washington's top farm club.

Dietzel, batted only .227 in 12 exhibition games. He was hampered by a right leg which was broken in the same place in 1951 and 1952.

Dodgers-Red Sox
MIAMI, March 21—UP—Pounding left hander Mickey McDermott and Mel Parrell for a dozen hits, the Brooklyn Dodgers trimmed the Boston Red Sox, 8-4 Saturday before 3,876 Miami Stadium fans. It was the Dodgers ninth victory in 14 Grapefruit League games this spring.

The Dodgers did all their scoring in clusters, picking up four runs off McDermott in the first frame and four more in the sixth and seventh against Parrell.

Braves
BRADENTON, Fla., March 21—UP—The Braves rained out of their game with the Yankees Saturday, will start right-hander Max Surkont and finish up with south-paw John Antonelli against the Cardinals Sunday. A Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards will use Gerald Staley.

Reds
TAMPA, Fla., March 21—UP—A hard morning rain which showed no signs of letting up brought the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals their first 1953 cancellation of a Grapefruit League game Saturday.

Officials of the Reds called off the game before noon and Manager Rogers Hornsby gave all members of Cincinnati's team a complete holiday from baseball. He announced Hubba Church and Barney Martin as his club's pitchers against Yankees here Sunday.

White Sox Cubs
LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 21—UP—Brilliant pitching by Saul Rogovin, coupled with the hitting and base running of Orestes Minoza, gave the White Sox a 5 to 1 victory over the Cubs Saturday game between the Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Phillies.

Bolt had a 23 on each nine Hawkins, who tied the course record with a 65 Friday, had another successful day with a three-under 69. He was two-under at the turn and picked up another stroke on the back nine. Hawkins bogied one hole on the front nine but also marked up three birdies. He had one birdie on the back nine.

A light rain, which fell intermittently on the Hoyte Park course, failed to halt the par-hunting efforts of the pros. All of the top 20 were still under par at the end of the day's round.

Sammy Sneed shot a fine second round 67, giving him a total of 136—only two strokes behind the leaders. Tied with him was Lew Worsham of Okmont, Pa.

Bolt, who became known along the circuit as "Thunder" Bolt because of a fiery temper, didn't break a single club Friday. He played it calmly and smoothly, shooting three birdies on the front nine and one birdie and an eagle on the back half.

The 33-year-old Bolt, who plays out of Maplewood, N.J., but comes from Durham, N.C., said his temper is not nearly as bad as it is sometimes reported. "But I don't mind what they say," he added. Bolt's eagle came on the par-five, 466-yard 14th hole. He was about 200 yards out when he calmly swung his two-iron and dropped the ball on the green. He then dropped a six-foot putt into the cup.

Rocky Complimented
HOLLAND, Mich., March 21—UP—Former Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock complimented Rocky Marciano on his "combination" punches Saturday after the champion sparred five rounds with three mates.

Marciano, training for his return title defense against Jersey Joe Walcott at Chicago April 10, was particularly effective with combinations against heavy-weight Toxic Hall of Chicago, whom he knocked back on his heels several times.

Harvesters Cage Banquet Set Tuesday

Harvester cage fans are expected to jam the high school cafeteria Tuesday night to honor Pampa's first state championship team — the 1953 Hustlin' Harvester basketballers.

Although ticket sales for the affair picked up late in the week, there are still some left for the Tuesday night affair. The duets will remain available through Monday.

Dr. Law Sane, president of Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Sane will be re-united with Harvester cage mentor Clifton McNeely. McNeely attended Texas Wesleyan and was a star cager for the Fort Worth institution during his collegiate days.

Also on hand Tuesday night will be the two coaches that McNeely played under at Texas Wesleyan, Gus Miller and Johnny Edwards. Miller currently is the West Texas state coach and Edwards is superintendent of schools at Euless.

Both Miller and Edwards will address the banqueters briefly Tuesday night. Miller will introduce Dr. Sane.

McNeely played under Miller prior to World War II. After a stint in the service, McNeely returned to TWC and finished his college career playing under Edwards.

The presentation of the "Hustling Harvester" award will highlight the banquet program. The player that has shown the most hustle both in games and on the practice court in the minds of Coach McNeely and his assistant, Terry Culley will win this high award.

It will be the fourth annual Hustling Harvester award. Jimmy Howard was the first winner and Marvin Bond won the honor the past two years. Coach McNeely will make the award to the Hustling Harvester at Tuesday's feed.

Another top attraction at the banquet will be the crowning of the basketball queen. The Harvester cage captain, Jimmy Bond and Jon Oden, will crown the queen, given by the Junior Sextette of Pampa High School.

Special entertainment will be given by the Junior Sextette of Pampa High School. Irvin Akst will play dinner music over the Hammond Electric Organ.

Dr. Tom Johnston, pastor of Pampa's First Methodist Church, will give the invocation. Master of ceremonies will be Dr. Joe Donaldson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee.

After the address by Dr. Sane, the game between the Harvesters and the basketball queen will be shown.

The banquet is being jointly sponsored by the Harvester Boosters Club and the Sports Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The Boosters Club is defraying the expenses of all guest tickets.

Twenty members of the basketball team and their parents or guardians will be special guests at the banquet.

TENNIS OUTREAGER

Dissension Hinted On Dodger Squad

MIAMI, Fla., March 21—UP—Brooklyn Dodger Vice-President Buzzy Bavaal huddled through a series of heart-to-heart talks with veteran players Saturday in a swift move to stamp out dissension on the club.

He denied persistent reports that a racial issue was involved.

The trouble centered around Billy Cox, who was ousted from his regular third base job in an experiment by Dodger Manager Charley Dressen, Jackie Robinson was placed at third and rookie Junior Gillom at second in Robinson's place.

Robinson and Gillom are Negroes. Cox is not. And New York newspaper reports said that some white players jumped to Cox' aid, complaining about the number of Negroes on the team. The New York Post said "ugly sounds of dissension and racial bigotry" prompted Bavaal's flying trip here.

Bavaal said Saturday the Dodgers have "no serious racial problem."

"I met with a few of the veteran players and I am satisfied that the entire club is satisfied," he said. "The whole thing has been exaggerated. There is no racial problem on the club and I assume there never will be."

He quoted Dressen as saying that Cox remains the regular third baseman—at least until the experiment proves successful.

Dressen, however, said he has had the switch planned since he traded Rocky Bridges to the Braves before the start of spring training.

Robinson admitted that Cox had acted testily, but insisted he read no racial motives into Billy's behavior.

Lefors Defeats Exes, 19-13

LEFORS (Special)—The Lefors Pirate spring football team beat the Exes in a scrimmage game at Shaw Field with the final score being 19 to 13.

The first score of the evening was made by Eddy Clemmons running the quarterback sneak to gain the necessary thirty five yards. The try for the extra point was no good.

Bill Watson, outstanding Ex-quarterback, ran fifty-five yards after faking a kick to even the score and the extra point being good put the Exes ahead, 7-6.

Joe David Martin made the next touchdown for the Pirates, but the Exes came back with a pass from Bill Watson to Jimmy Doom that added another six points to the Exes score.

Eddy Clemmons, the Pirate quarterback, passed to Johnnie Rowe and the game ended with a score to make the deciding touchdown, of 19-13 in favor of next year's Pirates.

H. W. Callon is the Lefors head coach, and C. H. Keeton and H. Arledge are the assistants.

Approximately 35 participated in spring training and the prospects look mighty bright for another good Pirate football team next year.

Jim Finks Signs Steeler Contract

PITTSBURGH, March 22—UP—Jim Finks, who became a record breaking quarterback with the Pittsburgh Steelers last season after three years as a defensive half-back, signed his fifth contract with the National Football League entry Saturday.

The former Tulsa University star threw 20 touchdowns passes in 1952 to tie with Otto Graham, Cleveland Browns' sharpshooter. He completed 158 out of 336 pass attempts with an average of 23.07 yards per throw for a new club record. He gained 2,307 yards passing last season and 2,344 yards in total offense.

Finks, a native of Salem, Ill., now making his home in Pittsburgh, was the ninth player to sign with the Steelers.

Rupp Files Suit Against Woman That Had Sued Him

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 21—UP—Kentucky Basketball Coach Adolph Rupp threatened Saturday to sue the woman who is suing him, Mrs. Louise Chumbley Bradley of Athens, Ga., sued Rupp, racketeer Frank Costello and gambler Ed Card for half a million dollars Friday, charging they operated a fixed basketball ring which cost her brother $191,000 in lost bets.

Saturday Rupp's attorney, William Townsend, said, "It is hardly if it is difficult to recover damages against a person who may bring a baseball suit against another, but in this instance, where all allegations, insofar as Coach Rupp are concerned, are so scandalously outrageous it may be, as it should be, that recourse can be had against plaintiff and counsel."

Lefors Gal Cagers Receive Letters

Willow Dean and Imogene McAninch, co-captains of the team, received white sweaters with four stripes, and Shirley Smith received the manager's jacket.

Yale Favored To Win Swim Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 21—UP—The nation's finest collegiate swimmers, including three world record holders, will match their talents here next week in the annual NCAA championships, with Yale favored to take Ohio State's crown.

The entry list sparkles with the names of 13 olympic swimmers and divers, but one of the finest swimmers probably will be only a spectator. He is Ford Konno, winner of NCAA and olympic titles for Ohio State, who was stricken with mumps several days ago.

The Buckeyes figure to take the two diving events with Bob Cloutworthy, third in the olympics in the one and three meter plunges here, the defending champion, has finished his collegiate career.

Kiner Signing; Thomson And Sauer Injuries Are Highlights

By FRED DWIN, United Press Sports Writer

The end of a holdout campaign which had reached Ruthian proportions, injuries to two key players and reports of discontent on the two leading pennant contenders in the National League marked the third official week of spring training.

In addition, the Boston Braves, charter members of the National League, became the Milwaukee Braves in a historic franchise switch.

However, it had little effect on the Athletics sweating under Manager Charley Grimm's whip at Bradenton, Fla.

The key events of the week were:

1. Ralph Kiner signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates for $76,000 ending his long and bitter holdout.
2. Hank Sauer, the National League's most valuable player, suffered a broken finger on his right hand and will see little or no action during the remainder of spring training although he is expected to be physically able by opening day.
3. Bobby Thomson of the Giants suffered a broken bone in his right leg, further complicating Manager Leo Durocher's infield experiments.
4. The Giants were reported angered by the lackadaisical efforts of Alvin Dark in exhibition games and Durocher was forced to announce there was no trouble between him and Dark.

It was reported that the Dodgers were incensed over Manager Charley Dressen's shift of Jackie Robinson to third base and Junior Gilliam to second base, thus ousting Billy Cox from his third base job.

Kiner's capitulation ended one of the most bitter and spectacular holdout campaigns in years—a war of words which had been carried on between Havana, Cuba, and Palm Springs, Calif., for three weeks. Kiner finally reported to Havana on Thursday night and received a greeting worthy of Bath himself.

By the end of the week, Kiner had been signed but there was no way to predict whether he would be able to make up the time lost or whether, for that matter, his long holdout had definitely earned him a new club.

The Cubs suffered a sharp blow when Sauer's injury was diagnosed as a broken little finger on his right hand. Sauer, key man of the Cubs, was told by a physician that he would be ready by opening day but Manager Phil Cavarretta said it could be two months before Hank could swing properly.

Thomson's injury followed an announcement by the Army that Gi-

Majors To Desert California For Spring Training In 1954

TAMPA, Fla., March 21—UP—A year for their hideaway base in Sunny California appears doomed as a major league spring training base at least for 1954 when the Chicago White Sox and the St. Louis Browns are expected to take over camps in sunny Florida along with the 10 clubs already established there.

Thus there will be only three clubs left in the Far West, all in Arizona, since the Pittsburgh Pirates deserted California this year for their hideaway base in Havana, Cuba.

The White Sox have completed definite arrangements to take over next year, here in Tampa, where a new ball park will be built.

The Cincinnati Reds, who have trained in Tampa for a number of years will remain here and the teams will alternate home exhibition games.

"We have been assured by city officials that the new park will be ready by next spring which was our chief concern," said Frank Lane, the general manager of the White Sox. "If that is settled we don't have anything to worry about."

The desertion of California by the White Sox would leave only the Browns there, and Bill Veck, the hardied owner who had a rough time of it this week when the other American League officials turned down his bid to switch to Baltimore, also is considering a switch to Florida. There is of course, the chance that Veck will sell the club and another owner will take over spring training arrangements.

But right now, he is anxious to coordinate all of his spring training operations under one tent as the Dodgers have done with their farm clubs at Vero Beach, Fla.

Although all of the clubs training in Arizona, the Giants at Phoenix, the Cubs at Mesa, the Indians at Tucson, have expressed satisfaction with their facilities, it could well be that in a year or two they also might be forced to come to Florida. The lack of major league opposition and the fact that there is no opportunity to size up the other clubs in their league, would mitigate in favor of such a switch. And there are numerous sites available throughout Florida for all of the big league clubs.

Musial Was Happy To Be On Card Farm For $85 A Month

NOTE: This is the first of several articles on "My Story" by Stan Musial as told to NEA Sports Editor, Harry Grayson.

Owners weren't giving untried kids big bonuses when, as a kid of 17 in 1917, I signed with the Monaca club of the Class D Pennsylvania League for $8 a month.

I could throw the ball hard and knew it. I was such an eager beaver that I gladly would have played for nothing.

I was pitching for my high school team at Donora, Pa., on the Monaca River, 24 miles south of Pittsburgh. Donora is a steel, zinc and wire town. My father worked in a steel mill.

Donora High has a remarkable athletic record. Four year ago, 32 Donora graduates played with major college football teams. One was Arnold Galiffa, the Army quarterback. They were coached in high school by Jimmy Russell, who got his football from Knute Ricks at Notre Dame.

I had been the water boy for a zinc plant team managed by my neighbor, Joe Barbo, my pitching in high school attracted attention, plant teams were supposed to be fixed things so I could pitch for the big fellows.

It was about this time that Johnny Burnard, Donora sports editor, took me to my first big league game in Pittsburgh. The Traynor managed the Pirates and on the club were the Warner brothers, Arky Vaughan, Gusie Suhr and Bill Brubaker. I recall Cliff Melton pitching for the Giants, whose stars were Bill Terry and Mel Ott.

Unimpressed by Stars I was anything but a cocky kid, but none of them impressed me. What I saw made up my mind that I could be a major league pitcher.

I pitched batting practice at Monaca, across the river from Donora, for four days, and was signed. Andrew French was the business manager. Ollie Vanek, who four years later was to take a desperate chance on me, was the manager. It was a St. Louis Cardinal farm.

I had two more years of high school, and French told me I'd hear from the organization in the following June, which was 1933.

No word came. I suspected that the Cardinals had forgotten about me. So I went to Pittsburgh and pitched batting practice for the Pirates for a week.

Notice finally came from the Cardinals that had been assigned to Williamson of the Mountain State League. Traynor was very nice about it. He told me to go ahead and to return if things didn't pan out and I was made a free agent.

I pitched and was used as a pinch-hitter for Williamson from June on in 1933 and '34. I won 9 and lost 2 for a percentage of .818 and batted .352 in 71 trips to the plate the latter season.

That took me to Daytona Beach of the Florida State League in '40, when I was managed by the man who did most for me in baseball, Dickie Kerr. It was this fine little gentleman who gave the Black Sox mess of '19-20 a brighter side.

Others to whom I owe a debt of gratitude for their help in my early days were Dr. Michael Duda, who coached me in high school, and Buck Shotton and Ollie Vanek, I looked up at Kerr because of his White Sox background. He had been a left-hand pitcher like myself. He is a kindly man and was an excellent teacher.

My first child was born in his Daytona Beach apartment and is named after him.

NEXT: Damaged goods.

Bratton, campaigning lustily for another shot at the welterweight crown, demonstrated impressively before 4,275 in the nationally televised and broadcast fight at Madison Square Garden that he is a deadly man at long range.

6-Man Tag Match Features Mat Bill

A first for Pampa wrestling fans will be on tap Tuesday night when Promoter Howard Vineyard brings the first six-man tag team ever held here.

Six wrestlers, three on a side, will be in the main event, and probably all in the ring at the same time on occasion. It is very doubtful if any referee could control the line-up of first rate talent that will be in the ring.

The usual tag-team rules apply: that there be only one man from each side in the ring at a time, but who could keep such men as Dory Funk, Whitey Whittier, Benny Trudell and the others from coming in to help a buddy.

The teams are lined up this way: Dory Funk, Polo Cordova, and Ben Davidson will oppose the rugged combination of Herb Parks, Badman Benny Trudell and Whitey Whittier.

Whittier is a newcomer to his town, but has made quite a name for himself in towns like Amarillo, Dallas and Chicago. He is a rugged boy and is sure to make a lively evening for someone.

Three matches will be unraveled before the main event. Pairings for these include Benny Trudell against Ben Davidson in the first event.

The second match pits Polo Cordova, a Latin American with the hot temper associated with the race, meets Herb Parks, the rugged Canadian.

The third match, probably the hottest of the first three, will be between Dory Funk, Southwestern States Junior Heavyweight, and Whitey Whittier. These two have met before twice and fireworks pop when they do.

All of the first three matches are one fall, 15 minute affairs, and will serve as a lively prelude to what is coming in the full-hour main event.

A capacity crowd is anticipated for this violent set of matches, so fans are urged to pick up their tickets Tuesday at the Sportsman's Store from 9 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. or at the Southern Club Sports Arena beginning at 7:00 p.m. Matches start at 8:15.

Qualifying Starts Monday For Texas
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 21—UP—Qualifying rounds in the 32nd annual Texas Women's Golf Association will open at 8 a.m. Monday at the San Antonio country club.

Pre-tournament competition begins at 9 a.m. Sunday with a four-ball tourney. The annual business session will be Tuesday at 5 p.m., with association president Mrs. T. E. Patterson of Lubbock presiding.

The 36-hole finals in the championship flight are scheduled next Saturday, following 18-hole matches Tuesday through Friday.

Defending champion is Mrs. Harlan Riedel of Dallas, with Pat Garner of Midland holding the runner up spot. Both are on hand for this year's tourney.

Losers in the 32-woman championship flight Tuesday will drop to the first flight for the second-round match play.

Bevo Francis Can Do Things As A Frosh Dukes Can't Do As A Senior - Russell

By MURRAY OLDERMAN—NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA)—The Bevo Francis, aka this observer included, should listen to Coach Honey Russell of Seton Hall before writing off the Rio Grande phenom as a publicity freak.

"He's as good as they come," admitted Russell, who's qualified to speak his piece after guiding his Pirates to top national basketball ranking.

Honey was a doubter, too, before he saw Bevo in action on a double header card with Seton Hall in Cleveland.

"I had scouts down at that North-South all-star high school game in Kentucky last summer," said Honey, "and they didn't even mention Bevo. So I figured he couldn't be much.

"But I watched him closely now, and that boy's got it. He can do things as a freshman that my own men, Walter Dukes, still can't do as a senior."

Dukes was the unanimously acclaimed All-America collegian of the year.

"He's as good," continued Russell, "as Tom Gola of LaSalle was as a freshman last season."

And Gola led LaSalle to a National Invitation Tournament title and almost put the Explorers in the Olympics.

"Let me qualify that," amended Russell. "I'd like to see him face the same type of competition Gola did as a freshman."

"But I'll tell you what I liked about him. He's a smart ball player. He knows how to get position even when he's crowded, and he can anticipate where a pass is going to be. That's something you can't teach a boy."

But after he's got the ball he can shoot only one way, Honey. Can Cover Court.

"True, he depends mostly on a right-hand jump shot, but he can get it off either going to his left or right, so that gives him enough versatility."

How about his speed?
"Listen, I saw him lead the fast break down court on a plenty big floor, so what more could you ask of a big man. I liked the way he maneuvered when he had the ball, and he knew when to pass off. He was plenty quick defensively, too."

Russell was impressed with Bevo's supporting cast on the small Ohio college team—"Some pretty fair ball players, and they know what to do."

So Rio Grande, unbeaten in its junior college caliber competition—and uninvited in the post-season tourneys—has picked up one big-time basketball adherent. Or could it be the buildup for possible scheduling next season?

When Bevo gets mentioned in the same league with guys like Gola, it's time for the skepticism. After all, we've seen him, too, to pop up again.

Jersey Joe In Top Condition For Title Match With Rocky

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J., March 21—UP—If condition can win a championship, Jersey Joe Walcott was a cinch Saturday to regain his world heavyweight crown.

Walcott, even though an admitted 39 years of age, weighed 201 pounds now and anticipated no trouble in shaving off another five before entering the ring in April against titleholder Rocky Marciano.

"I can taper off anytime," he said. "I don't have to worry about my weight."

Walcott had plenty of speed in his workouts this week, displaying expert speedy footwork which should be far faster than he'll need to have against Marciano.

He has tricked his sparring partners steadily with the same dodge 'em ring tactics that confounded his opponents regularly, and obviously planned to confuse Marciano with fancy footwork and speedy hands.

Walcott has worked over his practice opponents expertly with his training punches and can hit as usual with either hand and at any time. But his dancing footwork could be his biggest edge against Marciano.

Marciano doesn't rate as a boxer, Walcott believed, and could do nothing more than slug. Hence, the former champion contended, by boxing him for the entire 10 round distance, he can take the title again with ease.

Most of the observers at camp believed Walcott was right in planning to outbox his younger opponent, but they feared that he could get hit with another "lucky punch," and lose in a rush.

Walcott, however, had no time for such fears.

"Hell never be a boxer," he said, "but he can hit. But don't think he can get me, because all he can do is punch, and I'm figuring on boxing him all the way."

'Push-'Em Away' Paying Off With Wins For Bratton
NEW YORK, March 21—UP—Slick Johnny Bratton warned Saturday that the push-'em-away tactics with which he set up Bobby Jones for a fifth round knockout would be used on all future "riders."

"They're not going to keep in and on top of me any more," said the explosive boxer who knocked out Jones of Oakland, Calif., at 2:51 of the fifth round Friday night after Bobby had threatened to give him a thorough trouncing.

The winner was favored at 17 to 5. Bratton, campaigning lustily for another shot at the welterweight crown, demonstrated impressively before 4,275 in the nationally televised and broadcast fight at Madison Square Garden that he is a deadly man at long range.

Flowers That Bloom in the Spring

Batter Up

A Young Man's Fancy

Suddenly It's Spring

SUDDENLY IT'S SPRING — Spring is what poets write about, lovers sing about and Panhandlers wonder about. To Pampans, it means the trees budding, the water pipes freezing, convertible weather, a snow storm, a baseball game, rain with sun shining, a picnic, a thunder storm, and the sun finally shining — all because it's Spring. It is the time of year that you wear cotton clothes one day and a winter coat the next. And about the time that you think Spring is finally here it is summer.

BATTER UP — Batter Sam Cornelius, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Cornelius of 1232 Garland, watches the baseball with an eagle eye. Bobby McCain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCain of 617 Bradley Drive, is eager for the "ump" to call that strike! Sam and Bobby are just a few of the Pampans taking advantage of the mild weather this week.

FLOWERS THAT BLOOM IN SPRING are selected by Mrs. T. C. Carter, 1157 N. Starkweather. The dainty pansy has top priority at this local greenhouse and also with Mrs. Carter.

A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY lightly turns to thoughts of love. And what young man's fancy wouldn't be turned by Miss Ann Outhier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Outhier of 309 N. West. Witness John Darby, son of Mrs. T. E. Darby, 909 Fisher.

FISHIN' POX — Beware of the fishin' pox. This disease is very contagious to adult males. Symptoms include the continual complaint of the need of fresh air, sunshine and relaxation; he has a blank expression; he is deaf to his wife and children; he refers frequently to a fishing catalogue; he gets secret phone calls from his fishin' pals; and exaggerates continually about size of fish. There is no cure known. This fisherman-to-be is Leymond O. Hall, 620 Deane Drive.

MY-TURN NEXT — Barbara Lee Crews, center, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Dick Crews of 121 N. Starkweather, tells Janet Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd F. Campbell of 207 Price, that she is next at this game of hopscotch. Awaiting her turn is Jenny Ledrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ledrick who reside north of town.

Peg O' Pampa

For, lo! The winter is past,
The rain is over and gone;
The flowers appear on the earth;
The time of the singing of birds is come,
And the voice of the turtle
Is heard in our land.
... The Song of Solomon, II, 11, 12

AS LONGFELLOW SAID in his poem, "Hiawatha," "Came the spring with all its splendor, All its birds and all its blossoms, all its flowers, and leaves, and grasses." Yes, it's that time of the year when our thoughts lightly turn to birds, blossoms, and BASKETBALL! Course the birds and blossoms Peg was thinking of were the kind you find on hats. And the baseball is what you ask the kids not to play, on the grass you're trying to grow.

OUT OF THE MAH-BAG—When the time comes when Pampans are viewing the program, "I LOVE LUCY," on television every Monday night, there will be one Pampans, who will be doubly interested in the show. She is Mrs. Henry (Venus) Speer whose sister, Vivian Vance, plays the part of Lucy's friend and neighbor, Ethel. Even though Vivian is miles and miles away out in California, Venus will probably feel like now she can at least see her sister once a week in her own living room... via TV. Previously Vivian had been on the stage in New York in such hits as "Red, Hot and Blue," "Sky-lark," and "Music in the Air." She and her husband, Philip Ober, went to Hollywood from New York. And at the time she was chosen to play the part of Ethel on "I Love Lucy" she was appearing at the La Jolla, Calif., playhouse in "Voice of the Turtle." Venus and Vivian's parents, the R.A. Joneses, live in Albuquerque, New Mexico. "I Love Lucy" is rated at the top in audience ratings and after you view the show you'll understand why!

FOR A VERY TASTY dish that takes only a jiffy, is one Peg made note of at the Cooking School. Take potato chips and sprinkle a little garlic salt on them, pop into the oven and presto! you have a delicious snack. Ruth Knight said that the secret of a cooking school success was to have one of the town's best cooks to help out. . . which she did, Mrs. Harry Hoyler, who helped out on Tuesday.

SHEILA and NONIE NELSON, daughters of Doug Nelson, are getting cute, trim figures in more ways than one. It seems that Doug is giving them two dollars for every pound they lose. My goodness, that's an idea. Wonder if Peg could talk Mr. Peg into doing the same thing?

HEARD THE TALK that Mrs. George Friauf gave at the AAUW meeting recently was most interesting. Her talk was on the American housewife's viewpoint of England. Of course you could transplant most any housewife in Pampa in England and they could find all the difference in the world in cooking and the clothes styles. For instance Peg couldn't decide on having Spanish Steak for supper, because the butcher may not have any round steak. There is practically no choice of meat and the butcher just sends what he has available. As for clothes. . . to be smartly dressed is considered in bad taste. For they feel that you are trying to make an effect. . . But Peg is sure a housewife in England would find some of the things we do over here just as strange. . . It all depends on where you were born and what you are used to.

HM. . . THIS SPRING FEVER must be getting me. Of course it really started before that. Every day Peg kept going out to see if her "johnquills" had come up. The lady across the street had beautiful ones. Every day she looked, but not even a sprout of green was up. Peg just couldn't understand it. And then the dawn came. She remembered that she dug them up in the fall to move them and forgot to plant them again. Don't know what Peg could blame that on. . . Do you?

WHEN WE THINK OF SPRING, we like to think of something new besides a new bonnet along the food line. Here is an orange refrigerated cake which is as refreshing as spring itself.
2 cups sifted cake flour 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2-1/4 cups sugar 1 cup less two tablespoons milk
3-1/2 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt 3 egg whites unbeaten
1-2 cup shortening
Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt into mixing bowl. Drop in shortening and lemon rind. . . add 2-3 of milk, then vanilla, and beat 200 strokes (two minutes by hand or on mixer at low speed). Scrape bowl and spoon or beater. . . add remaining milk and egg whites and beat 200 strokes. Bake in two square 8x8x2-inch greased pans, moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes.
Chill layers and split in half. Spread orange filling and sweetened whipped cream between layers. Refrigerate for several hours before serving and keep refrigerated until all is served.
Filling
Mix 3-4 cup sugar, 2-1/2 tablespoons cornstarch, and 1-8 teaspoon salt thoroughly in top of double boiler. . . add 1-4 cup lemon juice and grated rind of 1 lemon and mix well. . . add 3 egg yolks beaten slightly, 1-2 cup orange juice, and 2 tablespoons butter and blend. . . Place over boiling water and cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly (about 20 minutes). . . Cool.

Psychological Tests Show That Women Are Far More Intelligent Than Men

Which are smarter — men or women? This is an age-old question that has usually been settled in favor of the men or dodged judiciously by those who didn't want to hurt the ladies. But now educators have approached the question from entirely new angles, says John E. Gibson in McCall's Magazine — and with surprising results. Writing in the April issue, Mr. Gibson tells you how the experts have now proved that, by tests of humor, balance, judgment, intuition and self-sufficiency, women come out ahead of men.
Studies at several leading universities indicate that a person's sense of humor is a remarkably accurate index to his intelligence. Psychologists at Wesleyan University and Smith College subjected several hundred men and women from both institutions to a sense-of-humor test, which consisted of one hundred representative jokes ranging from extremely funny to utterly pointless.
"The men laughed harder at all the jokes than the women did, and they gave all of the jokes both funny and unfunny, in a higher ratings than did the ladies. The girls were not amused by the poorer jokes, but they rated the really funny ones higher than the men did. That men tend to laugh at anything labeled 'joke' strongly suggests that their sense of humor is less well developed and discriminating than that of women and that their intelligence is correspondingly inferior.
"Another good indication of intelligence is balance. Men, of course, have long prided themselves on having more mental and emotional stability than women have. Studies at Oregon State College and Columbia University showed that men lost their tempers twice as often as women did. Colgate University studies have also shown that women are less easily flustered and embarrassed than men. Women proved themselves appreciably better than men in these tests. The psychologists found this particularly true of women over thirty.
"Findings of research psychologists also show that women are better judges of character than men are. The University of London recently tested men and women from all walks of life on their ability to judge character simply by looking at photographs of faces. Women proved themselves appreciably better than men in these tests. The psychologists found this particularly true of women over thirty.
"Women may not be smarter than men about money matters, but in far more cases than not it is the woman who manages the family income. A nationwide survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion showed that less than one husband out of three is boss when it comes to deciding how his income is to be spent.
"Women are more self-sufficient than men, according to a study of six million average people made by The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Women, the investigators said, show an infinitely greater capacity for adjusting themselves to the single life than men do. Physical and mental breakdowns, for example, occur far less frequently among spinsters than among men who think they can get along without wives."

WHAT'S COOKING IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB WORK

By HELEN DUNLAP
A course in advanced dressmaking with the clothing leaders and demonstrators of the home demonstration women of Gray County has just been completed. They made steeple dresses and suits of rayon and cotton materials. The professional touch they gave these garments would behoove the work of more experienced persons in some tailoring.
They learned that good equipment—used properly assisted them in getting the better style in their garments. For example: the ham, which is a piece of pressing equipment, made in the home, was found to assist in more effective pressing of curved surfaces.
A small sharp pointed bra pin, they discovered, as to be desired because it leaves no large holes in the material. Good sharp scissors make more accurate cutting possible. It also saves time and the need for interfacing to help pressing as one sews makes a neater and more professional finished garment.
In this course, we emphasized the need for interfacing to help give body and a finished look to the garment. It also helps the garment to keep its shape and prevent sagging and stretching. Interfacings are often made of permanent finished lawn, batiste and organdy.
For light weight materials permanent finished net or marquisette are often used.
Taffeta is sometime used to give crispness to the garment.
Light weight hair canvas is often used in light weight wool and rayon suits.
For cotton materials such as gingham and chambray, a light weight smooth, unbleached muslin

RETIRED

(Continued from page two) Neutnant governor when Beecher covered the legislature, but felt that "Cox was much better quality than Harding." But the nation's voters disagreed.

After the end of the war, Beecher got a reprieve from the city desk and was sent to South America to do a series of articles on U.S. trade for The Blade, The Detroit (Mich.) Journal and The Newark (N.J.) Star - Eagle, all directed editorially by N. C. Wright.

In 1926 Wright died and Beecher was given the job — temporarily — of associate editor under Editor Grove Patterson.

For 20 years he held the same job, writing editorials and "watching over editorial copy." And then he retired — in 1946 — to come to Pampa and live, alternately, with his two daughters.

One of the Toledo stories he enjoys recalling concerned a vote of the city council ousting the street railway franchise from the city.

Perhaps one reason he remembers it is that it brought him a $10 a week raise through the actions of the Cities Services Owner, Henry L. Doherty (no kin to Harding's Attorney General Harry L. Doherty of Teapot Dome fame).

Other local papers carried stories saying that the bill had not passed but Beecher got a young reporter, on the staff only a short while, to go and dig through some of the votes and found that the bill actually had passed.

And, during the night, Doherty took all his street cars over the state line into Michigan with the result that Toledo was without public surface transportation for 30 days.

Beecher covered national political conventions off and on through the 1936 GOP convention which Kansas Alfred M. Landon won hands-down. He didn't cover FDR's second Democratic nomination because Democratic nomination befell his page.

Down here in the Texas Panhandle, Beecher still keeps track of The Blade (circ. 200,000), which is sent to him gratis, feeling that it compares quite favorably with The Dallas News and The Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

Collector of many a clipping or about him, Beecher is perhaps most proud of a column in which his old boss, Grove Patterson, mentioned him:

"Beecher has steadfastly refused to be sophisticated . . . brought

Will The Crown Fit?

Joseph Stalin who was born in a Russia burdened with Czarist oppression fashioned a despotism of his own that made the Czars seem benevolent.

His weapons were ruthlessness and intrigue and in the era of his power he made the world afraid.

His hands were stained with blood. He caused the death of more human beings than any man who has ever lived. A modest estimate of the dead for whom he was responsible has been set at 20,000,000 souls and the probability is the number ran closer to double that figure.

His death is no loss to mankind and it is no indication that the Satanic machinery he created will collapse. This will depend on whether Malenkov is strong enough in Russia today to hold the key cords of the web of conspiracy that keep the dictatorship together.

Certainly Malenkov is no friend of the United States. He has never been out of Russia and students of Russian politics contend his thinking is darkly colored by the propaganda of the Communist Party's own making.

It would appear that Malenkov comes to power on the testament of Stalin himself, but the Soviet chain of command is not dedicated to a philosophy that a dead hand can pass along its scepter.

Lenin himself left a last testament with his wife which was suppressed for many years, but disclosed when finally revealed these words: "I am not sure Stalin always knows how to use that power with sufficient caution. Stalin is too rude. I therefore propose to the comrades to find a way of removing Stalin..."

The rude Stalin, hardly known outside the inner party circles in 1924, twisted the advice around and history recounts who among the comrades was "removed."

It is a horrible hope to entertain but it must be a common one in the world that civil war generated by rivalry for power will split the Soviet Union from border to border, and destroy the menace of the Kremlin to world peace.

Dr. Albert Parry, an authority on Russia and chairman of the Department of Russian Studies at Colgate University, writing a special article for NEA predicts the Russians cannot avoid a civil war. He bases his prediction on the fact that the illness and death of Stalin were made public.

The reasoning in this premise is that if Malenkov strongly controlled the central machinery of the Kremlin he would have concealed the death of Stalin and operated on the fiction of Stalin's everlasting presence.

Those who have read George Orwell's "1984" will recall that this was the Big Brother technique of that fanatical dictatorship.

This, of course, is only a deduction. The situation may well be that the remaining dictatorial leaders are a smooth running team or that Malenkov has the situation well in hand.

When Lenin, the immediate predecessor of Stalin and the god of the modern communists, died in 1924, Leon Trotsky was the next most popular Russian leader. But the machinery of the Party was in the hands of Stalin and while Trotsky delivered speeches Stalin welded the power that was to set the pattern of Russian political morals for 30 years.

He instigated the Stalin-Zinoviev-Kamenev triumvirate that drove Trotsky out of Russia. Once Trotsky was exiled, Stalin wasted no time in solidifying his position. Zinoviev and Kamenev were murdered, and the purge of opposition to his rule became the favorite weapon of the Man of Steel who by World War II was not only the ruler of Russia but actually Russia itself. His fingers of terror were the secret police; his muscles the Red Army; his eyes and ears the members of the Communist party at home and abroad. Stalin's scowl became a death warrant; his frown could drive a Russian writer or composer out of fashion. He was the final arbiter of all things Russian or Russian-ruled.

His death poses important questions not only for the Soviet Union but for the world. Will his passing lead to a revolution? Will Georgi Malenkov have to vie with Vyacheslav Molotov, Secret Police Chief Lavrenti-Beria, the Red Army spokesman, Nikolai Bulganin, or some unknown for his seat of power? How will Chinese communists cooperate with the new Russian regime? Is this the end of the Russian empire drive or the beginning of a stronger campaign of conquest?

The speculations are rampant but the definite answers are not readily available.

All the world really knows is that the human being who achieved the closest resemblance to Lucifer, prince of darkness, has dropped the scepter, and his soul has gone to its reckoning.

The old king is dead and the new king is named, but in a transitional dictatorship the crown has to be made to fit.

New Social Problem

By decreeing early working hours for his White House staff and for many of the people who inevitably deal with him, President Eisenhower has put a severe crimp in Washington's social life.

The man who has to be at the White House door at 8 a. m. to see the President just can't be out partying until two o'clock the night before.

Clearly this has the corollaries of the capital social set considerably disturbed. It is just possible there may be severe cutbacks in the list of hostesses long before the axe is applied to the federal bureaucracy.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Running Away From Life-Light

I recently drove through Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. I picked up a young man who wanted a ride who said he was going to Beaumont, Texas. He said he had not had any sleep for four nights and seemed to be very much interested as to what was ahead when we crossed state lines. He acted to me just as if he were running away from something — that he was running away from life or responsibility or from light. He probably had gotten into some mess and was trying to get away. He contended that he wanted to go down to Beaumont, Texas to get a job playing a piano.

If my suspicion was right, this young man knew he was running away from life. It occurred to me that a lot of people are running away from life and don't even know that they are trying to run away from life or light or responsibility.

The publisher of a newspaper or a magazine who is always trying to cater to popular ideas, no matter how harmful they may be, is really running away from life. He is trying to get dollars and is missing real life or real light.

Too many politicians who are seeking office and who are willing to promise anything in order to get the job are running away from life. They don't get much out of life because they are afraid all the time that they are going to lose their job. They don't try to adjust themselves so as to be of real service to their fellow man and thus are always in fear that they will lose their income or position.

Entirely too many of our "educators" are running away from life. The fact that they have never been able to find any superintendent of public schools who will investigate the morality of public schools is evidence that school superintendents are trying to run away from life, from responsibility, from light. If they were interested in securing light on moral questions, they would want their ideas challenged; they would not be running away from life.

It is no wonder we have long periods of unemployment, one war after another, ever mounting taxes, discriminatory laws and a longing for material security when the youth of the land is supposed to get an education by coming in contact with teachers and textbooks selected by these superintendents running away from life.

A great many preachers are running away from life. It is just as immoral for a preacher to be interested primarily in the number of people in his church without regard to the lack of principles his church members have as it is for a businessman to be seeking dollars without any regard for principles. Both are running away from life and not getting much out of life. They are, to my mind, living in hell on earth.

What we need most is men and women who do not try to run away from life, from responsibility, from light, from understanding. We have too many men holding positions of trust who are trying to run away from life, just as this young man was trying to run away from life. That is the reason our moral fibre is being weakened and we are gradually losing our liberty and self-respect.

Man cannot run away from life no matter how hard he tries.

Man cannot run away from life no matter how hard he tries.

Man cannot run away from life no matter how hard he tries.

Man cannot run away from life no matter how hard he tries.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORAN, M.D.

Perhaps there is nothing which so astonishes a physician who is in practice even as recently as 20 years ago as what has happened to lobar pneumonia. This formerly common infection of the lungs used to be known as the "old people's friend" because it so often proved an easy and painless final illness.

Today, lobar pneumonia is almost a rare disease, and when it does occur recovery is the rule. The speed with which this occurs is amazing to all those who remember what used to be.

It is interesting, and even now important, to discuss this disease. A typical case starts suddenly with a severe chill which may last for as long as half an hour. Soon after the chill, the temperature begins to go up and it rises rapidly to around 104 or 105 degrees.

At the same time a person coming down with pneumonia may have general aches and pains with headache.

Pain in the chest or side like that which is present in pleurisy, is also common. Cough which produces pain, and does not bring up much mucus, starts early. The breathing becomes rapid and each breath is shallow.

These symptoms can be confused with other conditions, but are certainly suspicious of lobar pneumonia. Examination of the chest by a physician and especially taking an X-ray film generally bring a diagnosis early.

Unless steps are taken to treat the condition promptly, the typical signs develop by the second or third day. By this time cold sores around the lips are likely to be present, the facial expression shows anxiety, the pain in the side or chest is severe and the breathing is rapid. Cough brings up a fair amount of sputum which is likely to be tinged with blood. The temperature stays high, at 104 or 105 degrees.

PENICILLIN BRINGS RELIEF. Penicillin and its relatives almost always bring remarkable improvement in a short time. A quick fall in temperature and relief of the cough and pain occur promptly. The breathing becomes slow and normal and no longer is it necessary to wait for the crisis

Fair Enough... Union Rackets In Cincinnati Smashed After 25-Year Reign

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

I have a letter from Stanley Struble, of Cincinnati, who was the judge in the lawsuit whereby a group of local unions of teamsters finally broke the power of a grafting scamp appointed by Daniel J. Tobin, the national president, after a reign of 25 years. In all that time, this crook, by name Brocky Farrell, made no accounting to the underpaid teamsters and helpers.

A restricted "accounting" was given in the end, but meanwhile Farrell had been the official Good-Time Charlie at many conventions, picking up the tabs for the booze and meals of a parasitic mob of panoplied pigs of the court circle. No reckoning of that squandering could be expected.

In actual fact, after Dan Tobin, the grand exalted father of the international, had appointed this high officer with plenary powers, like a court receiver but with evagraceless bum to represent his to know what the outcome will be. Today there is only about one chance in 20 or 25 of dying from the disease instead of one chance in three. Lobar pneumonia has dropped from being one of the most important causes of death to being one of the least important of the major diseases.

But remember, the diagnosis must be made early and treatment started promptly, because the results are much more likely to be favorable than if pneumonia has been present for several days.

National Whirligig.. Misbehavior Of Philippines Does U.S. No Good In Far East

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Philippine Islands, which have been advertised as "the American showcase of democracy and self-government" in the Far East since we grasped their independence in 1946, are misbehaving in such a way that they may not enhance our prestige in the eyes of the Japanese, the Koreans and other peoples in this vital area.

As the native politicians square off for next fall's presidential election, charges of corruption and graft, like those heard here last year, have been hurled against President Elpidio Quirino. The wealthy landowners and politicians refuse to break up vast plantations to satisfy the earth hunger of the farmers, whose status is hardly better than that of peons.

Ramon Magsaysay, whose aggressive action as defense secretary broke the Communist-led Huk rebellion, has resigned from Quirino's Liberal Party to seek election as presidential nominee of the Nacionalistas. But he faces opposition from Sen. Camillo Osias, recognized Nacionalista boss. The result may be re-election of the present corrupt regime, and continuing failure to solve the problems which beset Communism in backward lands.

The difficulties in this key fortress of our Far Eastern defense wall furnish Eisenhower with a delicate predicament. Although Washington professes to pursue a hands-off attitude toward domestic island politics, the United States has a definite concern with the natives' well being and resistance to Chinese Communist infiltration.

If this venture in international idealism should fail, Uncle Sam may lose more valuable friends in this section of the world. The Japanese, who are none too happy over their brief experience with democratic forms of government, are following the results across the waters that separate the two archipelagos. Moscow and Peking will have any breakdown as a victory for totalitarianism.

Magsaysay was the fair-haired boy of the Pentagon during the Truman administration. It looked as if the military were trying to build him up as an opponent of Quirino. But the Eisenhower administration seems to look more favorably on Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, the handsome and eloquent ambassador to the United States and United Nations.

White House sponsorship of Romulo as successor to Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary general, was an utter surprise to diplomatic and State Department circles. It had been expected that Eisenhower would back Lester B. Pearson, Canadian secretary for external affairs. But Romulo is well known at Washington, and, as Philippine president, would probably take more advice from us on needed reforms and improvements.

It is pointed out, however, that both Magsaysay and Romulo are former members and beneficiaries of the Quirino machine. As was true of Stevenson when he ran under Truman auspices, neither would be able to capitalize on the present regime's corruption and indifference to the farmers' miserable lot. Moreover, Romulo is the "Hoover" of Philippine politics. He has made his reputation in overseas diplomacy, and is not well known at home.

The U.S. has recognized the Philippines' importance in many ways. The grant of independence was a demonstration of our democratic ideals. More than $2 billion has been advanced for rehabilitation since 1945. We maintain air and naval bases to enforce the 52,000-man army, and their expenditures provide internal revenue.

The Bell and Foster commissions conducted surveys that led to recommendations for land, tax, tariff and sanitation reforms. The islands now have a small surplus. We have sent there technical assistance experts on agriculture, handicrafts, education. We have given generous customs concessions on imports of the major crops—sugar, cordage, copra, rice, etc.

Looking Ahead

By GEORGE S. BENSON

THE COMMUNISTS DIG IN. Louis Francis Budenz, who knows the Communist mind and the Communist "line" as well as any American, is afraid we will quite fighting the Red conspiracy within our nation before the danger is over. The former high official of the Communist Party, who has been a decisive government witness against top Reds, spoke on the Harding College campus. He voiced a fear that the change in our national administration would lull the citizenry into a false feeling of security against Stalin's Fifth Column.

Only a few days after his Harding visit, the newspapers carried dispatches from Washington reporting that work on two Voice of America radio transmitters costing $18 million had been stopped after Sen. Joseph McCarthy's committee had produced evidence that the transmitters were being built at locations making them utterly ineffective as weapons in the propaganda war against Communist Russia. The sensational disclosures indicate that the Reds have penetrated the Voice of America and are sabotaging its effectiveness. Sen. John McClellan, of Arkansas, a member of the investigating committee, said: "The thing looks rotten on the face of it."

It is pointed out, however, that both Magsaysay and Romulo are former members and beneficiaries of the Quirino machine. First Multi-County Library Voted By Carson, Hutchinson

WHITE DEER (Special) — Establishment of the first multi-county library in the state of Texas was voted by the Commissioners Courts of Carson and Hutchinson Counties as a cooperative library program.

Lillie Hostetter, librarian of Hutchinson County for the past 11 years, plans to retire after the establishment of the new library system. Head of the system will be Carson librarian, Jo Battle of Panhandle.

Under the proposed plan, Miss Battle will be both Carson and Hutchinson County librarians and her annual salary will be paid by both counties. Carson will pay one-third, and Hutchinson the remaining two-thirds other than this, there will be no interchange of funds between the counties on the library matter.

There will be little duplication in purchasing books as all books will be interchanged between the two systems with Carson County having access to the Hutchinson book collection and record collection.

The plan will benefit Hutchinson County insofar that Carson County Bookmobile and film collection will be accessible.

The plan is scheduled to go into operation around April 1 if all details can be worked out by that time.

Gasaway Executed

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., March 21 — Samuel James Gasaway, 34, was executed in the Huntsville state prison electric chair early this morning.

Gasaway was a 19-year-old inmate of the prison. He was convicted of the murder of a woman in 1935. He was sentenced to life in prison but was paroled in 1948. He was re-arrested in 1951 and convicted of the murder of a woman in 1951. He was sentenced to the electric chair.

The State Board of Pardons and Paroles late Friday refused to grant another stay of execution for the convicted rapist. A stay had been granted Feb. 18, when the board said it recommended the action "in order to study further information that has been submitted."

Gasaway was convicted by a Pampa jury of raping the girl June 23, 1951.

He was accused of enticing the child into his automobile after having accosted her while she was delivering newspapers on the outskirts of Amarillo.

Lefors Organizes New Church Group

Interest in the beginning of a new church in Lefors is gaining impetus recently — to one of our project leaders, with a two-week period slated to start at 7:45 p. m. today.

The planned church is to be a Pentecostal Holiness.

Heading the revival is to be Pampa evangelist Rev. G. B. Nichols.

Announcements of the church and revival was made by Elmer Pritchard, Lefors, proposed minister of the new church if it is formed.

The revival is designed, he said, to further push on the church.
