Congressmen Cool Toward Eisenhower-Stalin Meeting

Caution Ike Demand Good Faith Tokens

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—UP—Congressmen adopted a decidedly cool attitude Thursday toward the idea of a face-to-face conference between President Eisenhower and Russian Premier Josef Stalin.

They didn't want to close any doors if there was the least hope that a meeting would help end the cold war. But they had serious doubts that it would.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that he would be willing to go half way to meet the Soviet dictator if he was convinced it would further the cause of peace and be consistent with what Americans expect of their president.

The lawmakers, conscious of the unhappy outcome of previous top-level meetings with Stalin, warned the President to demand evidence of good faith.

Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) suggested that one proof would be for the Russians to stop "pulling the strings" in the Korean war.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), a foreign relations committee member, said:

Recreation Park Repairs Planned In Time For Rodeo

Plans were being put into operation today to rebuild the chupens and judging stands at the rodeo grounds by the construction committee of the Top of Texas Rodeo Association.

The present facilities are in bad shape, the committee said, having been used the last nine years since the annual rodeo's begin ning.

The new ones should be finished in time for the 1953 show.

The rebuilding plans were laid at a meeting of the construction committee at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce of Pampa, at which time it also voted to make plans within a "reasonable distance" of Pampa.

Practical ideas seen at the other plants are to be incorporated in the construction planned a Recreation Park.

Towns with rodeo grounds to be visited include Vernon, Henrietta, Perryton and Phillips. The tour is also to include two Oklahoma towns, Woodward and Elk City.

Delegated to take the lead in purchasing material to be used in the new pens, chutes, and judging stands construction are George Neef and H. L. Ledrick, both members of the Top of Texas Rodeo Association construction committee.

These two are also to sort the information gathered from the tour and decide which ideas will be incorporated in the new building in Recreation Park.

Scouters Count $7,000 In Drive

"About $7,000" had been collected today in Pampa's Santa Fe District Boy Scout fund drive, with about 75 per cent of the returns computed.

And "that is about the same as in past years," according to Gene Fatheree, local drive chairman.

Pampa's fund drive was kicked off the morning of Feb. 16 and the contributions have been trickling in ever since.

Actually, "more than 75 per cent of the 'contact cards' have been turned in," Fatheree pointed out, "but some of the ones left are expected to have larger-than-average contributions."

Also underway at present are fund drives in Lefors and McLean, complete returns of which are expected to be computed by Saturday.

Later in the year drives will be held in Albrecht, Miami and Groom. Other communities in the district have already held their drives.

Kickoff Breakfasts... Red Cross Drive Opens Monday

The 1953 National Red Cross fund drive (March 1-31) will be kicked off in Pampa Monday with two breakfasts in the Palm Room, Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, Pampa Chapter RC executive secretary, said today.

Through a concentrated plan workers expect to complete the drive the first week in March, the executive secretary said, but if not, efforts will continue throughout the official drive month to attain the Pampa Chapter goal of $12,000.

At the first breakfast at 9:30 a.m., for businessmen, plans are to be laid and instructions given by Irwin Thompson, chairman for solicitation of all stores and employees.

The residential groups headed by Mrs. W. R. Campbell, are to meet at 10 a.m. to receive instructions and envelopes containing window stickers, membership cards and other equipment necessary to that part of the drive.

The residential area is divided into nine districts each headed by a captain with workers under her. District captains are Mrs. Tom Perkins, Mrs. Robert Vail, Mrs. Ray Rogers, Mrs. Clifford Jones, Mrs. Ralph Sidwell, Mrs. T. M. Brooks, Mrs. Harry Hoyer, Mrs. Homer McNeil and Mrs. Oscar Reid.

Mrs. Campbell asked that all persons who have contributed previously to the house-to-house drive of the district captains and workers, place stickers in the windows so they will not be contacted again.

Dimes Drive Totals Pass $14,000 Mark

Final figures on the 1953 March of Dimes for Gray County this morning show a net collection of $14,885.19, Ray Evans, Gray County Chapter treasurer, reported.

Warren Hasse, 1953 drive chairman, turned 80 percent of the amount, $7,442.90 over to Evans late this morning and forwarded the remainder by check to the National Foundation.

The gross collections made by Hasse and his co-workers from McLean, Lefors, Albrecht and Pampa amounted to $15,424.39. Expenses of the campaign, posters, postage, stationery etc. ran to $539.20.

Evans commenting on receiving the check, said: "I think that Hasse and all of his helpers in our 1953 campaign did a bang-up job for us and for the unlucky ones who have been stricken with polio. I especially want to thank Mack Hlatt, drive treasurer, who did a whole of a lot of work behind the scenes and received little, if any, public notice of the work he actually was doing in counting, wrapping coins, keeping the books and working long after hours at the job."

Other drive personnel added their thoughts that the campaign would not have, and could not have been successful had it not been for the backbreaking efforts of the residents in other communities of the county—McLean, Lefors, Albrecht and the smaller outlying communities.

New Pampans May Vote Despite Code

With the annexation of the area adjacent to Lamar school bringing an additional 100 or more potential voters into the city limits, a question as to whether they are eligible to vote in the April 7 city election arose.

"In the strictest sense of the word, they are not," City Atty. Bob Gordon said this morning, adding, "apparently under similar conditions elsewhere over the state residents of newly annexed territory have been allowed to vote for mayor and city commissioners."

The state election code is very specific in residence qualifications a potential voter must meet. He must reside in the state one year and in the city or county six months immediately prior to the election in which he wants to vote.

The new area will not have been a part of Pampa for six months by April 7.

However, a booklet published in 1951 by the Institute of Public Affairs, University of Texas, says new citizens by annexation should be permitted to vote.

Written by Charles M. Babb the section devoted to "newly annexed territory" says in part: "Although there is no authority as to whether these new citizens should be allowed to vote in the municipal elections, attorneys for

Preliminaries Slated Monday... Pampa DeMolay Makes Plans To Take Over City Positions

Pampa DeMolay boys are preparing to take over the city and county governments for a day with the first round of preparations coming Monday night when the boys file their intentions as candidates.

The running of the city and county will be handled somewhat differently this year than last. DeMolay advisors said. Only 10 officers will be elected to keep the ballot from becoming too unwieldy.

The boys will file as candidates for mayor, city commissioners, county judge and county commissioners at their March meeting, March 2. Then, they will have one month to campaign and will elect their officers on April 6, one day before the real city election.

The "City Commission" this year will hire a city manager, chief of police, fire chief, tax assessor, collector, city engineer, city attorney, city judge etc.

The "County Commissioners Court" will also hire the elective offices of sheriff, county clerk, (See PAMPA, Page 4)

Round-The-World Tour Not a Vacation... Adlai Sets Out On Weary Trip

CHICAGO, Feb. 26—UP—Adlai E. Stevenson, who lost the presidency to Dwight D. Eisenhower last November, set out early Thursday for a "long and weary" trip around the world.

Stevenson, who is to report to President Eisenhower upon his return, made it plain that his five-month tour will not "be a vacation."

Speaks At Los Angeles

Stevenson, who was to speak Thursday night at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Los Angeles, said he is looking forward to his journey in the Far East because "some of the most difficult problems we must face are there and

Fantastic Adoption Racket . . .

Police Launch Hunt For Baby Smugglers

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26—UP—Law enforcement agencies of Canada and the United States launched an international manhunt Thursday for a gang of baby smugglers accused of running a "fantastic" border-crossing adoption racket.

Authorities said they have evidence that a black market in babies, in which infants were sold for $250 each, has been operating for the past year between Toronto and New York.

"We have uncovered some fantastic evidence," a Toronto police official said. "We can't disclose much information now. The roundup has just started."

First to be arrested were a Brooklyn man and wife charged with obtaining a phony birth certificate. A police official said "four or five" other arrests were expected to be made shortly.

U. S. immigration officers said "at least 20" infants had been smuggled into the United States from Canada during the past three months. A "much greater" number had been spirited across the border in the past year, they said.

The roundup was being pushed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation, U. S. and Canadian immigration agents and police departments in Toronto and New York.

The manhunt began late Wednesday with the arrest at Malton airport near Toronto of Jack and Edith Shinder, both 29, of Brooklyn. They were nabbed by Toronto police as they were about to board (See POLICE, Page 4)

Amarillo Air Base Opens Its Doors To Area Explorers

Explorers Scouts of the Boy Scouts' Adobe Walls Council have permission today for the extensive use of Amarillo Air Force Base facilities at any time.

Included are orientation flights; gymnasium; swimming pool; tours through the weather station, control tower and flight line; use of rifle range; and showing of films.

All this comes from an offer by Maj. George Green, Region Nine Explorer project officer, at an Explorer Scouting seminar held all day Wednesday in Amarillo. The region includes Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Green told the gathering that individual Explorer units are welcome to visit the Amarillo base and see any of its operations, provided they make prior arrangements, Beisenherz said.

Included, too, in the offer was the Amarillo council. A third council, Lubbock, was also represented at the meeting.

Personnel from the base—swimming instructors, cooks, rifle range directors—will also be available for Explorers, Beisenherz continued.

Among those on hand at the meeting were Harold M. West, Boy Scouts national director of Exploring, New York City, and Lt. James S. Woroner, director of Exploring at the base.

Several weeks back, area Explorers got another break—the use of the local Texas Employment Commission offices for the purpose of procuring summer jobs.

Some of the men there are going to be making history in the years to come."

Stevenson whose well-worn shoes became a campaign jest when he was running as Democratic presidential nominee, said he has two pairs of shoes in his luggage and "I don't think either of them has holes."

Like most world travelers, Stevenson has had to take inoculations for various diseases. He commented: "I've had them for everything, including the plague."

Hard Job Ahead

However, Stevenson regarded his long journey as a hard job. He said he expected to work hard and steadily throughout the trip "with very little time for what we call visiting and traveling."

At Los Angeles he will confer with Democratic party leaders from 11 western states as well as speak at $100-a-plate dinner. He was scheduled to arrive there at 10:35 a. m. est. He will fly to San Francisco Friday.

Included in his itinerary will be a visit to the battlefields of Korea. Stevenson said he will meet with government officials and will take a special interest in the training of South Korean troops, a subject (See ADLAI, Page 4)

1-Cent Hike In Cigaretts Is Foreseen

Personnel of four out of five Pampa stores checked today indicated the recent decontrol order on cigaret prices would probably result in a one-cent-a-pack increase for the consumer.

But the manager of a fifth figured that it "would not amount to anything, for stores are not in a position to take the increase—business in that line is too slow."

Wednesday the Administration announced the end of cigaret price ceilings and one company—the American Tobacco Company (Lucky Strikes, Herbert Tarletons and Pall Malls)—sent wires to its dealers informing them of the one-cent price hike.

R. J. Reynolds Company (Camels, Cavaliers) was to announce the exact amount of its increase sometime today, according to the United Press. Makers of Chesterfields, Old Golds and Philip Morris were "watching and waiting" before making any price adjustments.

Pampa's majority opinion was that local residents—and all others over the nation—would not even give a thought to the price hike. "People just have no sense about the thing" was one comment.

Archduke Will Outline Europe's Danger Spots

A leading proponent of the real war of life who is opposed to Stalin and other Marxists is scheduled to be the fifth speaker of the current Top of Texas Knife and Fork Club circuit.

Archduke Otto of Austria, heir apparent to the throne of Austria-Hungary, will appear before the next meeting of the club, slated for 7:30 p.m. March 5 in the senior high school cafeteria.

His subject will be "Danger Spots of Europe."

"If ever a man was 'born to the Blood,' Otto was," according to J. Kirk Duncan, local club secretary-treasurer. For he is the ranking member of the House of Hapsburg, one (See OTTO, Page 4)

United Nations Awaits Russ Answer To Lodge's Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 26—UP—The United Nations waited Thursday for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky to answer the American challenge to disprove that Russia's material resources are keeping the Korean war going.

Vishinsky announced in the General Assembly's political committee that he would accept the challenge by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., new chief American delegate. But he showed no briskeness in doing so.

It was barely possible Vishinsky would make a last-minute decision to speak Thursday. Whenever he does speak, his challenge is to disprove these "10 facts" put before the committee Wednesday by Lodge:

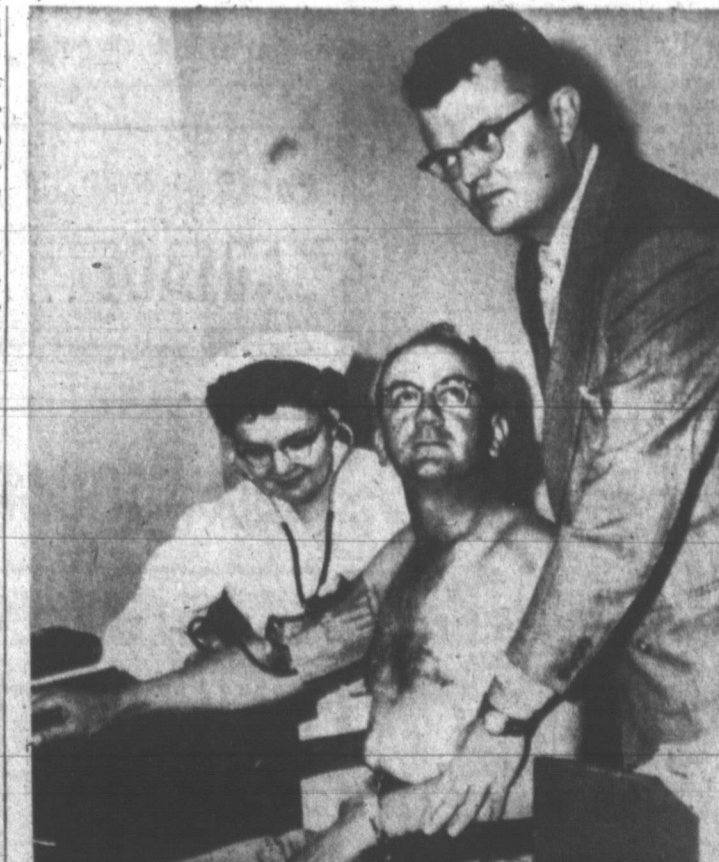

1. Russia instigated the Korean aggression and maintained it with its aircraft, artillery, tanks and automatic weapons.

2. North Korean forces took sanctuary beyond the Yalu River after the Inchon landing in 1950 and emerged almost completely equipped with Soviet weapons.

3. The "constant and steady" flow of Russian equipment accounts for the increase of the enemy's combat effectiveness during the past year.

4. The Chinese Reds, who entered the war with only light equipment, now are fighting with heavy Russian equipment.

5. Russian-made naval mines (See U.N., Page 4)

Times Turns Flips
Freed Sausage
Cheers Britons

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
Since it is well known that whatever goes into a man's belly influences his attitude toward life in general, the British got an extraordinary piece of good news the other day.

It was the announcement that this coming Sunday, March 1, will mark the return of the uncontrolled sausage.

Least the importance of this item be overlooked, it should be noted even "The Times," London's austere "Old Lady of Fleet Street," greeted the news with a gleeful editorial.

"The Liberated Sausage"
"The Times" eulogy was titled "The Liberated Sausage. Then with the reserve we expect of Britons, it said:

"To the various freedoms in which the world is supposed to rejoice, it is now to be added 'freedom of sausage'."

It concluded: "Even in these austere times we must now and then let ourselves go."

For "The Times," that was practically a handpring.

Started 14 Year's Ago
It has been 14 years since controls went on beef and pork sausages in Britain. Since then, they have contained about 50 per cent cereal which some skeptics even called sawdust.

The result was that Britons suffered both inward and outward pangs.

The announcement which restored the dignity of the British sausage was one of several which little by little have been returning to Britons some of the things that make life more pleasant.

Some of the credit goes to the Winston Churchill government. Some to the fact that this is a coronation year and the British naturally want to put their best foot forward for the hundreds of thousands of visitors who will be there for the crowning of Queen Elizabeth II.

Gradual Change
So gradual has been the change that Britons have been almost unaware that the maze of restrictions and the austerities that have endured since wartime slowly are disappearing.

More than once, however, during the 700 years in which the Hapsburgs have been a ruling family in Central Europe, the House has gone down in favor; but "each time it has bounced back stronger than ever."

An advocate of the constitutional monarchy, Otto "would ascend the throne of his fathers were he invited to; but never, in any way, would he try to move in when his people were looking the other way," Duncan continued.

Otto follows four other Knife and Fork Club speakers—Admiral Decker, commander of Yakusuka Naval Base, Japan; Ruth Bryan Rhode, daughter of William Jennings Bryan; Sydney R. Montague, Royal Canadian Mounted Police man; and Henry L. Scott, concert humorist.

But, until the poll list is made up by the county tax office there is no way of knowing exactly how many eligible voters live in the area.

There are now 25 per cent more tractors on American farms than at the end of World War I and 25 per cent fewer horses, mules, and people living on farms.

At a later date these boys will spend one day with their adult counterparts in actually running the city and county.

The day will be climaxed for the boys by a dance at the Country Club when the DeMolay queen will be crowned. The queen will be elected by the boys and serve for one year.

The date of April 21 had been set by the DeMolay advisory council for the boys to take over and hold their dance. However, the date may be pushed back because the city will have a new mayor and at least two new commissioners who may not be familiar enough with their duties by that time to thoroughly explain them to the boys.

The new mayor and commissioners will take over on April 14, one week after the city election.

This will be the second consecutive year that DeMolay Chapter boys have been given the reins of local government for a day and to actually spend most of the day with their adult counterparts.

Workshop Slated For Girl Scouts

The group is to take up sawdust molding, textile tube painting, leather tooling, gadget painting, book binding, glass painting, and etching, copper tooling picture frame making and weaving.

Participants are to bring lunches. Read The News Classified Ads.

Ridgway Warns That Russia Might Stage A-Bomb Attack

PARIS, Feb. 26 —UP—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said Thursday "we always have in mind" the possibility of a Russian atomic attack. He warned that World War II tactics are outdated.

As the Allied supreme commander in Europe held a press conference, it was disclosed by reliable sources that American experts in atomic defense are now attached to his staff.

Ridgway met with reporters after a two-hour session with the civilian North Atlantic Treaty Organization council on major problems confronting the western alliance.

Asked by reporters about current defenses against atomic attack, Ridgway said: "That is something we always have in mind. We certainly do not want criticism thrown at us that we are thinking in terms of the late unpleasantness—World War II, in the European phase of which no atomic weapons were used."

Ridgway's statement came after the disclosure Wednesday that plans are under way to train all Allied troops in Europe in atomic defense and that strategy is being studied to defend the continent against any Russian atomic attack.

Ridgway is one of the key American officials selected to receive restricted atomic information, which is forbidden to the Allies by American law.

Two Pleas Made To Rotarians

Pampa Rotarians held two pleas for cooperation in two upcoming events during their weekly program in the Palm Room, City Hall.

First to take the rostrum was Rotarian Travis Lively who urged fellow members and their wives to attend the open house being sponsored by all city public schools next week in conjunction with Public Schools Week as set aside by the State Legislature.

Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, executive secretary of the Pampa Chapter, American Red Cross asked Rotarians to lend their full support District Boy Scout fund drive, for funds in March.

In the House there also was considerable caution. No one would buy the proposal outright but neither would they rule out the possibility.

Other developments: Valts Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was called before Senate and House committees Thursday. He hoped to quell congressional demands for outright repudiation of wartime secret agreements with Russia.

Education A House committee investigating Red influences in the nation's schools called Daniel J. Boorstin, an associate professor of history at Chicago University, to testify on charges that he once was a member of the Communist party.

Budget Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said President Eisenhower's attempt to balance the budget this year is a lost cause. The former chairman of the House Appropriations committee predicted that a proposed $10 billion cut in spending cannot be made "without tampering with national security."

The Senate approved two measures to strengthen existing laws banning shipment and mailing of obscene matter.

In a separate action, twenty-four senators introduced a resolution proposing an equal rights for women amendment. And the House and Senate passed bills authorizing the Federal Housing Administration to insure an additional $500 million in housing improvements loans by private lending institutions.

Will Visit Formosa The former Illinois governor will also visit Formosa, headquarters of the Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-Shek. He said he is also particularly interested in his visits to Indonesia "one of the first so-called revolutionary governments set up since the war" and India.

He pointed out that he has never had a chance to travel in many of these countries before and added that "now is the logical time to do it—between jobs."

Stevenson made a quiet departure from Chicago, accompanied only by William McCormick Blair Jr., his administrative assistant and secretary, with whom he plans to work on correspondence before he sails for Honolulu from San Francisco next Monday on the American President Line's President Wilson.

HIKE

"I sure don't think that the wholesalers' increase will increase the retail price," he emphasized. K. E. McGuire, Ideal Food Store No. 1 assistant manager, said that "the penny raise will not stop anybody — they'll go right along with it." If the price does go up, "it may cut some smoking," he added.

Smokers have "always gone along with cigaret price rises," a Crestway Drug Store spokesman pointed out, and "I imagine they'll still buy 'em."

Ninety-nine per cent of local smokers "will just buy cigarets" at any increased price, according to Paul Martin, Wilson's Drug Store, adding that there "might be one per cent who would go to Amarillo to get them a bit cheaper."

Brilliant 'Cousin Rachel' Is A Rare Film Masterpiece

Seldom has Hollywood transferred a best-selling novel to the screen with all the brilliance that Twentieth Century-Fox has achieved in filming Daphne du Maurier's "My Cousin Rachel," the superb suspense drama which shows today through Saturday at the LaNora Theatre.

Like the novel which was on best-seller lists for two years, the film makes no attempt to solve the mystery of whether "Rachel" is a murderer or not. Mr. Johnson, like the author, wisely offers circumstantial evidence, both convicting and exonerating her. Leaving the audience to decide her guilt or innocence, Mr. Johnson has come forth with one of the most talked about films in Hollywood history.

To play the provocative heroine, Twentieth Century-Fox was fortunate in being able to lure Olivia de Havilland back to the screen. Using every acting device at her disposal and combining her exceptional talent with a backing of acting experience, Miss de Havilland's portrayal of "Rachel" ranks with the greatest dramatic achievements of modern times and truly puts her high on the list when Academy Award time rolls around next March.

No less memorable is Richard Burton, a newcomer from England, who makes his American film debut as the youth who falls under Rachel's spell. Strong and handsome, yet weak and cowardly when the story requires it, Burton rises majestically to the occasion and seems destined for cinema greatness.

$11 Million For GG Is Goal Of Polio Group

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—UP—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis plans to spend $11 million for gamma globulin in the next 18 months to help see the nation through any polio epidemics that may arise.

Paul O'Connor, president, announced Tuesday night the foundation will set up a huge stockpile of the gamma globulin blood fraction which in large scale field tests last year was found to give temporary protection against paralytic polio.

The "GG" including the entire inventories of five pharmaceutical houses, will be turned over to the Office of Defense Mobilization for distribution when polio strikes.

O'Connor announced last week the foundation would spend $5 million up to June 30 of this year from gamma globulin. Tuesday night he said the planned expenditure had been more than doubled because "it became clear that we must now plan to assist the nation to the greatest extent possible in producing the maximum amount (of gamma globulin) for the polio season of 1954."

Chuck Connors Says Movies and Baseball Are Just Alike

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25—UP—Chuck Connors, movietown's first ball player turned actor, died Wednesday his 12 years on diamond were movie training—use "baseball is a show, too."

When the Los Angeles Angels led their spring training in mud Monday, their ex-teams were crawling through other on the war set of "The Man Have a Word For It" at War-Studio.

Connors' not much difference, he said. "The tall, blond actor explained both mediums are exhibition—baseball is a show, too."

"I always played baseball the crowd. Once, with the Mon-Royals, I got down on my knees and prayed at bat. A lot of players are called 'showboats.' Like a guy making an easy catch, only he'll wait until the last minute so he can make a dramatic lunge for it. Baseball is a show, and you're as great as your performance."

Connors was renowned for his clowning when he played with the Chicago Cubs and other teams. One day MGM casting chief Billy Grady invited Chuck to take a swing at a movie role in "Pat and Mike."

It was off baseball season, so last fall Connors acted in several other pictures. Last week he decided to switch from home runs to histrionics for keeps.

"I'd probably miss baseball practice if I wasn't doing something interesting, but this acting is a lot of fun," he said.

"Even when I'm not acting, I hang around the set and watch the work. You learn something new every minute."

"My wife and I are great movie fans. I get a kick out of meeting the stars," he beamed, and peered at Doris Day, Keefe Braselle around the Warner commissary to and Hollywood's only publisher-turned-actor, Will Rogers Jr.

One Warner producer, Sidney the inner circle of baseball as Connors, is just as impressed with Connors is with movies. The movie-maker rushed over to ask Connors to take him into the dugout at the next ball game.

Besides being a good source of baseball tickets, Connors already has another claim to fame in the Cinema City.

He's the only citizen who has told off Zsa Zsa Gabor.

The excitable Hungarian glamour girl and the ex-ball player share seats on a local panel television show. Once when Zsa Zsa started to cut in on Connors' gag, he roared "Zsa, Zsa, shut up!"

"You gotta do that to women like that once in a while," he said.

Emily Post's TELEPHONE TIPS

A correspondent writes: "You've told us that long distance calls go through faster when they're placed 'by number.' Will you please explain why this is so?"

Yes. When you don't give the operator the number, she must first call the information operator in the distant city. Only after the operator has made this "detour," can she put your call through. When you call by number, you eliminate this "detour" and your call goes straight through.

Selected from questions in the mail—some do's and don't's of good telephone manners.

- DON'T play the childish game of "Guess Who" when you call a friend.
- DON'T make excessive use of the telephone at parties and gatherings. It doesn't make you look important—just ill-organized.
- DO call busy housewives after meal hours rather than before or during meals.
- Do keep conversations with busy people as brief as possible.

A man asks: "If I call a co-worker or business acquaintance at home and someone else in the family answers, how should I ask for the person I want to reach?"

Ask for "Mr. Jones," not "Walter Jones." Even though you are in the habit of calling him by the first name it isn't correct to do so when you do not know the person who answers his telephone.

Sound Off By A Leaguer

Someone passed the following on to us, and it merits sober reflection on the part of everyone:

"DID YOU KNOW? Edward Gibbon finished his monumental work, 'The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire', just 165 years ago. He listed five reasons for Rome's catastrophic end: 1. The rapid increase in divorce. (The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis of human society.) 2. Higher and higher taxes. (The spending of public monies for free bread and circuses.) 3. The mad craze for pleasure. (Sports becoming every year more exciting and more brutal.) 4. The building of gigantic armaments. (The real enemy was within — the decadence of the people.) 5. The decay of religion. (Faith faded into mere form, losing touch with life and ability to guide the people.)"

Ike's Economy Plans Will Not Hurt The Navy

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26—UP—President Eisenhower's "balance the budget" economy program will have no effect on the Navy's national defense effort, according to new Navy undersecretary Charles S. Thomas.

But, he added, the Navy will cooperate by cutting its fringe operations and eliminating duplication.

Thomas, a former Los Angeles businessman, arrived here Wednesday "to take a look at and get the feel of" Naval installations from San Diego to San Francisco. He was appointed to the undersecretary post early this month.

"The only way to balance the budget is to reduce expenses where it is possible," Thomas declared. "Where fringe operations and duplication can be eliminated, they will be. But we won't cut Navy manpower nor any vital part of the defense program."

Song Must Be Strictly From Corn To Become Hit Nowadays

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25—UP—How does a song become a hit on radio and the jukeboxes? Nowadays a tune has to be strictly from corn, Margaret Whiting said today, because the sophisticated tunesmiths have written themselves out.

Western and hillbilly ditties used to be in a stepchild class by themselves, and a top chirper like Maggie wouldn't be caught singing one. But now top warblers from Rosemary Clooney to Perry Como have got folkay and given up the big-city type tunes.

"This is a whole new field," said Miss Whiting after rehearsing a new hillbilly song for her NBC radio show with Bob Hope.

"The songwriters ran out of those Moon and June songs. How many can you do?"

"This hillbilly Western trend started with 'Ghost Riders' and now look how many there are. It's the biggest thing since bebop. That didn't last, but I think this will. People want emotional songs, either very happy or very sad, and simple ones. These folk tunes are that way. There's nothing subtle about them."

Miss Whiting has recorded three such songs, including "Slipping Around." Then there's "Cold, Cold Heart," "If You Loved Me," "I Went To Your Wedding" and "Don't Let The Stars Get In Your Eyes."

A Western song, "High Noon,"

Advertising In Juke Boxes In The Book

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—UP—We hear aspirin and clam juice ads on street cars and buses—and now it looks as if we may have to tolerate same in the pubs and soda parlors.

A New Yorker by name of Sverre Rasmussen has on file patent No. 2,627,215. He calls his brain child an "electrical automatic time control."

In his description on file at the U. S. Patent Office here, Rasmussen says:

"This invention... will operate one or several advertising records in automatic juke boxes."

Extra Revenue Cried

The inventor says all coin phonographs are silent at certain times (a blessing). It's a chance, he says, for the owner of the juke boxes to pick up a little extra revenue.

The tab for the ads, he says, would be picked up by the advertiser.

"Neither," he adds, "would the customer get cheated if he had already deposited one coin or more." The ad would not come on until all deposited coins have been used. "And then not often than every three minutes."

So one day soon — if Rasmussen sells his gimmick to some coin operators—you may learn as you pick up a crock of suds or down a sundae that some hardware store is offering lawn mowers at a one third discount. Or that you can relieve indigestion by swallowing some new pill that has found its way onto the market.

Possible Drawbacks

There may be some other drawbacks for the customer.

Neat Defense Led To Tourney Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In one of the most interesting hands of the recent World Championship Match in New York, Howard Schenken put up a very neat defense that led to the defeat of the Swedish declarer. I give full credit to my good friend Howard, but I think that the Swedish declarer should have made his contract anyway.

Schenken opened the deuce of spades from the West hand, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer immediately took the ace of diamonds and led a diamond towards dummy. Schenken put up the king of diamonds to win this trick, and thoughtfully returned a low trump.

This was the only defense that had any real chance to defeat the contract. Without a trump return, declarer could ruff two spades in the dummy.

Pampan Candida For Personality Crown At Canyon

CANYON (WTNS) — Jan Stallings, senior student from Pampa, is one of seven boys competing for Personality King of the West Texas State College campus.

Final voting will be March 4 and the King and Queen plus their court, will be presented at the annual Personality Dance on Saturday, March 6.

Stallings, a 21 year old music major, is a member of Kappa Kappa, Buffalo Band, and the A Cappella Choir. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stallings of 211 Cook Street, Pampa.

At this point South went astray. He ruffed a spade in dummy, cashed the queen of diamonds to discard a club, took the ace of clubs, and ruffed a club. He now led the jack of spades, hoping that West would be obliged to win and return a trump up to the king-queen.

Instead, East was able to win the spade trick and lead through declarer's trumps to give West the setting trick.

When South ruffed the third round of spades with dummy's ace of hearts, it was apparent that West's original lead had been made from three to the queen of spades or four to the king-queen. The correct choice was easy, since it was extremely unlikely that Schenken would have led the deuce of spades originally from four to the king-queen.

After South has ruffed his third spade with dummy's ace of hearts, he can still make the contract by guessing West's distribution. He cashes the queen of diamonds, dis-

Declarer returned dummy's low spade and West won with the nine. Schenken followed through by leading another trump. South won with the nine of hearts, and now dummy had only one trump that could be used for ruffing spades.

"This is our second day and no sign of landing a husband — maybe I shouldn't have passed up that job in the haberdashery!"

Experience Shows Hank... Man Stops Being A Man When He Gets Sick; Becomes Baby

By HENRY McLEMORE
LOS ANGELES — I wish women, especially wives, weren't so brave.

Medical science has proved that seven out of ten wives are braver than their husbands and with accept everyday aches and pains with much more fortitude than their belt-buckle breadwinners.

Wives think they are doing their husbands a favor when they vacuum the living room with a sore throat, when they thumpback on fresh shelf paper if they have miseries in their backs, and when they shake off a light attack of flu without a single-word of complaint.

Actually, they aren't doing their husbands a favor at all. Truth is, they are making it rough on husbands. I am not at all sure that they are not cognizant of this.

A girl who has lived in a house with a father or a brother has to be stupid indeed to reach the marriageable age without being aware that the male of the species is a natural-born grunter and growler.

She can't help knowing if she can spell cat, that a man at being a man the second he gets even so much as a head cold. He becomes a baby, right off the bat. Two sneezes and he is ready for the cradle and hand-and-foot waiting on.

This reaction of the male to even the most minor of ailments has been a subject of talk and paring notes on who has the big for centuries. Wives go about conculgher among the female tribe get baby for a husband.

I never have been able to see the funny side of this discussion. It is a well-known fact that most major illnesses start with fairly gentle symptoms. Man's motto is to stop them before they develop into something serious.

The husband also figures that if he doesn't moan and complain his wife won't know that he is ailing, and the next thing you know he'll be ordered to the corner grocer, in a pelting rain, to get a loaf of bread, a can of pea soup and a half dozen eggs.

For the fiftieth time in my life it was driven home to me last week that a husband must let his hurts be known immediately. I got up one morning with a stiff neck. Not just a crick from sleeping on the starboard ear all night, but a stiff neck that stretched from third chin to collar-button, all the way around.

It would have been foolish of me, I figured, to get up as I usually do and put the coffee on.

You're Wealthy

We recently heard of some ambitious executives discussing their ambitions. They were even as you and we: they wanted to get rich.

We made the suggestion that everybody could get richer if the government got out of all business and repealed all socialist measures. We thought they'd buy the idea.

To our surprise some of them said that some of the New Deal was a good thing. Why?

Because it did something to mitigate the horrible crimes of the free enterprise era preceding it. What were those crimes?

Well, take Andrew Carnegie, somebody said. "He made $20 million in 1900; his average employee made only $400 per year. That just isn't right!"

"What's not right about it?" we asked. "Was the money made honestly?"

But whether or not it was made honestly wasn't the issue. The issue was: the great difference.

We thought this idea had been exploded back in 1850 by Frederic Bastiat, the boy who gave this paper most of our economic theories.

He called this idea (that it's wrong for one man to make lots more money than another man) Egalitarianism.

Most objections to another man's wealth are based on simple envy. But let's credit our friends with sincerity, which means they are willing to follow their own ideas even if it costs them something.

If they were as rich as Carnegie, they'd be willing to share their huge bankroll with their poor workmen.

They don't know it, but Carnegie was just as willing as they are. The following story quoted from National Narrator shows this:

Andrew Carnegie was once visited by a Socialist, who ranted against the possession of great wealth and advocated equal distribution. Carnegie cut the speaker short by asking his secretary for a statement of his holdings, at the same time looking up the figures on the world population. When the statistics were ready Carnegie figured for a moment. Then he said to his secretary: "Give this gentleman 16 cents. That's his share of my wealth."

Let's take this idea further.

Let's abolish great differences of income whenever we find it. Let's follow this idea to its logical conclusion, which is to make everybody a little more equal.

Say we Americans have an output of $200 billion worth of goods. (This statistic comes from William A. Paton, author of Shirtsleeve Economics.) Say we share all our goods equally with 150 million Americans.

It amounts to $1,333 per person.

This division wouldn't make us all rich, but it would improve the lot of the poor. PROVIDED we went on producing $200 billion worth of goods to divide.

Would the above-average producer, men such as those who brought up this argument, continue to produce? Those men, the sincere and idealistic, would continue to produce with small reward.

Most other people wouldn't.

Hold on there!

"We didn't mean make everybody's income equal. We just mean abolish great differences!"

Very well. Let's do that.

But don't let's be selfish about it, isolationistic, or nationalistic. Let's be idealists, one-worlders, and remember our poor brethren in heathen lands.

The average American makes $3500 per year. Compare this with the average Japanese's income. Before the war the Japanese earned around $50 per year.

Even though he could buy more food with $50 over there than he could here, he ate nothing but raw fish and rice. He slept on a mat on the floor. His house was made of highly flammable paper.

That's the average Japanese.

The poor Japanese made from $18 per year on down. Our poorest, the hoboes, who live in box cars and panhandle for a living, are millionaires compared to the average Japanese.

"Such conditions are wrong!" so they say.

Those who say this, if sincere, should be willing to divide up their above-average incomes (which makes them look like Carnegie to a Japanese) with the Japanese, the Chinese, the Indians and all others who regard the average American as millionaires.

You readers, all of you, average and poor, are in the same bracket as Andrew Carnegie when you compare yourself to the average Japanese, Chinese, or Indian.

If you believe great differences between incomes should be abolished, start with your own.

An economic justification for the existence of stupendous fortunes is this:

The first motor cars cost from $10,000 to $30,000. Only the Carnegies, Astors, Vanderbilts, could afford to buy them.

They didn't buy them for use; they bought them as toys, luxury objects, completely unnecessary.

If they wanted to go anywhere they went by horse carriages or train. When they went for a joy-ride in their horseless buggy, it usually left them stranded. Its motor quit. Its tires blew out. Passers-by hollered: "Get a horse!"

If these men hadn't had their untaxed thousands to waste on these useless richmen's toys, the motor car industry would have died aborning.

The colossal rich were the only men who could afford to own and operate the first experimental automobiles.

The absence of great fortunes may explain the current absence of new inventions being produced for the use of the average man. Think of all the new inventions on paper. Then ask yourself why you can't buy them.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"Planning For Freedom" VII

Dr. Ludwig von Mises concludes his book with chapters on "Economic Teaching at the Universities," "Trends Can Change" and "The Political Changes of Genuine Liberalism." All three of these are very interesting chapters.

On the subject of "Economic Teaching at the University" he writes:

"The pseudo-liberals monopolize the teaching jobs at many universities. Only men who agree with them are appointed as teachers and instructors of the social sciences, and only textbooks supporting their ideas are used. The essential question is not how to get rid of inept teachers and poor textbooks. It is how to give the students an opportunity to hear something about the ideas of economists rejecting the tenets of the interventionist, inflationist, Socialists and Communists."

Dr. Mises tells about being invited to give a lecture in one of the universities that was heavily loaded with collectivists. He explained to those who gave him the invitation that it would be useless to try to explain in a couple of hours the philosophy of free enterprise when the youth were being saturated day after day with textbooks and teachers who were advocating collectivism.

Under the chapter "Trends Can Change" Dr. Mises talks about historical trends and makes this observation:

"Today the doctrine of the irreversibility of prevailing trends has supplanted the Marxian doctrine concerning the inevitability of progressive impoverishment. Now this doctrine is devoid of any logical or experimental verification."

"But even if it were true that an historical trend must go on forever, and that therefore the coming of socialism is inevitable, it would still not be permissible to infer that socialism will be better, or even more than that, the most perfect state of society's economic organization. There is nothing to support such a conclusion other than the arbitrary pseudo-theological surmises of Hegel, Comte and Marx, according to which every later stage of the historical process must necessarily be a better state. It is not true that human conditions must always improve, and that a relapse into very unsatisfactory modes of life, penury and barbarism is impossible. The comparatively high standard of living which the common man enjoys today in the capitalist countries is an achievement of laissez-faire capitalism. Neither theoretical reasoning nor historical experience allows the inference that it could be preserved, still less by improved socialism."

"The typical graduate of colleges and high schools very soon forgets most of the things he has learned. But there is one piece of indoctrination which makes a lasting impression on his mind, viz., the dogma of the irreversibility of the trend toward all-round planning and regimentation. He does not doubt the thesis that mankind will never return to capitalism, the dismal system of an age gone forever, and that the 'wave of the future' carries us toward the promised land of Cockaigne."

Dr. Mises points out that most people think our socialistic trend is due to the masses. He explains that this is not true. He says the cause of this trend is due to the so-called intelligentsia—the "educators," preachers and publishers—who want to be popular. He explains it in this manner:

"The main error of this widespread pessimism is the belief that the destructionist ideas and policies of our age sprang from the proletarians and are a revolt of the masses. In fact, the masses, precisely because they are not creative and do not develop philosophies of their own, follow the leaders. The ideologies which produced all the mischiefs and catastrophes of our century are not an achievement of the mob. They are the feat of pseudo-scholars and pseudo-intellectuals. They were propagated from the chairs of universities and from the pulpit, they were disseminated by the press, by novels and plays and by the movies and the radio. The intellectuals converted the masses to socialism and interventionism. These ideologies owe the power they have today to the fact that all means of communication have been turned over to their supporters and almost all dissenters have been virtually silenced. What is needed to turn the flood is to change the mentality of the intellectuals. Then the masses will follow suit."

If we could only get a few people who have influence to really understand free enterprise and be able to explain it, we would have no trouble with the great masses.

Better Flow Of News Expected From Ike's Press Conferences

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — An extremely important reform in President Eisenhower's press conferences will mean a freer and more reliable flow of news to the American people.

Although not sufficiently emphasized in news dispatches, his dismissal of an official and personal clique from these sessions marks a great and needed innovation. These outsiders stood between the President and the people. Here is how it worked:

ASQUEZE PLAY — Presidents Roosevelt and Truman used to invite a select group of friends to these interviews. They consisted of cabinet associates, generals and admirals, the White House secretary, party politicians and even members of their families—Eleanor and Anna Roosevelt, Margaret Truman. Roosevelt liked to perform for them; he was always at his most theatrical with them on hand.

In addition, although there was no justification except in wartime, they permitted a score of government press agents from departments to attend. Sometimes they filled the conference room so that there was hardly enough space for working reporters.

AN EFFECTIVE GAG — This clique served a useful purpose for the White House. By parrying or laughing off reporters' questions it protected their boss and covered up the news. It was reminiscent of the paid admirers actors used to hire in the early, primitive days of the theater — to applaud their employer and shout down his critics.

Many a time, when Roosevelt or Truman responded to a query with a hostile quip or brushoff, this paid clique would burst into laughter, which ridiculed and belittled the inquisitive reporter. After a few such experiences, even veteran correspondents preferred to confine themselves to innocuous or friendly questioning.

CRUEL AND EMBARRASSING — This subtle and indirect form of censorship — or browbeating — was especially cruel and embarrassing to young news gatherers at Washington. And yet, as men actively covering State, Treasury, Defense, Agriculture, Commerce, etc., it was the questions which produced information of broad and butler importance to their millions of readers.

Eisenhower plans to have only his two press secretaries—Hagerly and Snyder — with him at these conferences. Now and then, when problems affecting specific departments are especially important, he will ask the appropriate cabinet member or expert on the subject to attend.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION — Although this may seem like only shop talk and a discussion of trade practices to the average reader, the disappearance of this biased and interfering clique will make for better and more impartial reporting of the government's top policies.

Contrary to advance reports, and as forecast here, Eisenhower plans to permit department heads to give out more rather than less news. As he notes privately, his new program can be put into effect by departmental change of policy and direction as much by legislation.

It will be a slow and everyday

Fair Enough...

Pegler Believes Perle Mesta Is Adequate As U.S. Minister

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

I have read that President Eisenhower intends to leave Mrs. Perle Mesta in Luxembourg a least until, I believe, the Coronation, thus permitting her to enjoy official status and the prerogatives thereof during the conjunctions in London.

This would be very decent of Ike and a good decision from the standpoint of our relations with the people of Britain. Their silly press, which appals and exaggerates the worst faults of ours, will go into frenzies over our, will leave more laughter and hangover than heartache.

To my confusion and surprise, I observed when I met Mrs. Mesta, a woman of strong character whose frivolity nevertheless is genuine, a baffling combination of traits overlaid by extravagant generosity. I found myself entangled in this lavishness on my arrival in the city of Luxembourg about eight o'clock of a cold, snowy night after an alarming drive over slippery roads — through a stretch of the poorest, meanest country in northern France. Although I had never met her and she had no recollection of me, she was son to put herself out for an adverse critic of the Truman administration, she had reserved a fine suite in a hotel whose name she pronounced "Brasserie" because, she said, if you call it the "Brasseur," people think of cassiers, anyway, and it comes easier.

There was a message commanding me to phone her at once, which being done, she said "Come on out here" and sent her car down, driven by a chauffeur named Frank who soon found a chance to confide that he was terribly homesick and hoped madam was going back to Washington for the Jackson Day dinner. We went to the ignition and met one of the most interesting and ingratiating women I have ever encountered and her beautiful sister, Mrs. George Tyson, and Mr. Tyson, a retired banker from Boston.

Madam minister's publicity out of Washington had prepared me to find a raucous parvenu who would spit through her teeth and slap her butler on the back. I found myself scanning the line of madam's chin and sampling the challenge of a pair of shrewd, knowing eyes. We left for Frankfurt in our own car in another blizzard but before we shoved off, Perle had sent Frank back to the legation with a big box of cold lunch which she had sent down earlier, to tell the butler to do a prettier job on the wrapping. I then discovered that, except for the bar bill, our hotel had been lifted by Mrs. Mesta — and nothing I could say would dissuade either her or the hotel man.

I had been watching the expressions of the Luxembourgers in many public places, at lunch and tea, and though I drew beads on many of them when they could not have seen what I was up to, I saw no cynicism, no sneers, no flicker of that contempt which I had been prepared to expect from a raucous parvenu of an American woman who was undoubtedly a spendthrift more spectacular and gauche than any phantom of fiction but with an endearing quality no more easily defined than love.

Professionals of diplomacy and jaded journalists of conventional taste and manners deplored her conduct as being patronizing and impolite. And there was legitimate ground for criticism on the score of her politicking among the American soldiers and Air Force men from Verdun, Metz, and thereabouts who were brought in aboard chartered buses with many wives and children, every two weeks for a series of feasts and dancing, all at Perle's expense. The Eisenhowers had flown in the people of these and Perle had pictures of Ike in a chef's hat and apron making a potato salad which is a secret vice of his.

Perle said she had danced with many GI's including Negroes, explaining that, although this had not been her custom in Oklahoma where she spent much of her girlhood, she thought she was representing all the people of the United States in Luxembourg. She confirmed the incredible quirk in "Call Me Madam" whereby the arriving Madam Minister misses a turn on the road and goes to Brussels by mistake but only to the extent that she wound up at a Belgian customs gate. She and the "foreign minister" both had seen Ethel Merman in "Madam" and Perle insisted that she had a good time. This undoubtedly was a lie because, notwithstanding her repeated assurance that she never let her personal feelings run against any honest newspaper comment on her behavior, I discovered later that she and Marguerite had been deeply hurt by some of my impressions.

I learned this two months later in Rome when we came upon a friend from Luxembourg in front of the Grand Hotel. We had read that Perle and Marguerite were in town and had just ordered a large bouquet of red roses, white lilies, and blue lilies, tied with a star-spangled ribbon.

"Can I tell you something in confidence?" he asked, solemnly. "Oh, but are you in the doghouse."

I said, "If you see a red, white and blue bouquet come sailing down into the street, that's ours."

But Perle and Marguerite did accept an invitation for cocktails and Marguerite, with a trace of a tear, said: "Well, we wouldn't have cared if we hadn't learned to love you so much."

In Chicago, while the Democrats were nominating Stevenson, Perle gave her most prodigious brawl, a donkey suit, a thought that a New England statesman wound up in the can for Dr. Dewey. Considering the fact that Chicago has a Democratic mayor this mishap to a Democratic source of considerable rank should give you a clew to the oceans of the occasion.

The next time I saw Perle she returned an answer that confirmed her political acumen. She had struck with Truman in 1948 when Tom Dewey was leaning against the ring-post picking his teeth while Truman was swinging like a preliminary boy. Now, in answer to my question, "Are you looking for a new job?" Perle said: "Why don't you think Ike likes me?"

I am sure he does and if he doesn't need that job for some Republican more regular and loyal than Clara Luce, he well might leave Perle where she is.

Before The Dishes Are Done

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

THE BRITISH ARE MAD AGAIN!

The British are mad at us again! This is getting to be a habit,—a habit which was unfortunately hatched by the continuous coddling of the Truman-Acheson regime, which used to tremble publicly whenever our "best friend's" feathers became ruffled. Accustomed as they have become to their veto power over any U.S. policy which displeased them, the British are naturally affronted by the Eisenhower-Dulles switch toward American independence.

All Mr. Dulles said was that the U.S. might have to do some "rethinking" about its policy in Western Europe, if France, Germany and England did not start producing more effective results for their own mutual security. What in the world is wrong with that statement—except that it is woefully overdo? After handing over billions upon billions of dollars to England and Western Europe to build up their economic and military strength, do we not have the right to expect a few beneficial results,—or chance our future policy? Apparently not! British Statesmen are highly annoyed. The Daily Express calls it a "slap in the face." It says that the "British are a proud people... that they did not allow Germany to push them around nor will they allow anyone else—not even well-meaning friends." The New York Times reports that in Britain, "the people and the press are demanding declarations of independence from the United States," and the Chicago Tribune, quite naturally answers: But, of course, independence carries with it the necessity of standing on one's own feet!

Not so very long ago, Great Britain herself was the number one power among nations, and it is from that era that her current pride and arrogance stem. She will claim that she used her power wisely and well, and in many ways she did, but there was never any doubt as to who made all the decisions. As No. 1, she felt no obligation to take "advice" or "orders" from any other nations, nor to sacrifice any British interests in anyone else's behalf. She wrote the rules for all her "investments," and would have been highly scornful had any weaker or "beneficiary" nation dared to suggest that they too deserved a voice in them. The trouble with our British friends is that they wish to go on living and bossing as they did in their "glorious past," while somebody else pays the bills! It's nice work if you can get it,—and so far—they have!

But arrogance combined with weakness has also made them rather than an overnight, spectacular process. Therefore, the sources for information on the "Eisenhower revolution" will be at the lower levels, not at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

BUSINESSLIKE SYSTEM—President Eisenhower has suffered considerable criticism for his dictatorial conduct of press conferences. He took charge like the chairman of a board of directors, expressed his views on five major matters, and then remained for only a few exhilarating questions.

However, a firm and guiding hand has been needed for years. Many reporters waste moments in asking trivial or too-easy queries, which could be better answered down below. Many behave as district attorneys belaboring a hostile witness.

Others consume important minutes out of a feeling of self-importance. Roosevelt and Truman often wasted the reporters' and taxpayers' time. A more businesslike system will benefit everybody concerned.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERKINE JOHNSON NFA Staff Correspondent

BLESSING FROM ST. ANTHONY—Six-year-old Paola De Palci, of Rome, Italy, brought his pet cat, Miomao, to the Church of St. Anthony to be blessed in honor of St. Anthony, patron saint of animals, who started the custom 800 years ago.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: Hollywood is covering 3-D but Eddie Cantor has discovered 3-E.

It's what the doctor ordered for Eddie now that he's back on his feet and feeling great after a heart attack which put him in the hospital for two months.

The doctor's prescription is engraved on a gold charm given him by his daughter, Marjorie, and attached to his automobile keys. It reads:

"Dear Daddy, Remember the 3 E's."

The 3 E's Eddie has to remember are: Over-EATING, over-EMOTION and over-EXCITEMENT.

"I even take a 45-minute nap after dinner every night no matter who is in the house," Eddie told me. "When I can't sleep, I just think of course, I don't think about Marilyn Monroe, I confine my thinking to Sophie Tucker or Ted Lewis' hat, or something like that."

There's an ironic note to Eddie's two-month hospital stay. "The Eddie Cantor Story" now filmed at Warner Bros., ends with the star having a mild heart attack and being told to take life easier.

"But it was written," Eddie reveals, "a YEAR before I had one. Now it's believable. I bet Jack Warner said, 'Thank you, Eddie. You didn't let us down, when he heard I was in the hospital.'"

Buxom Maureen O'Hara's crystal-clear answer to the question of what she thinks about 3-D.

"It's good for girls."

No Limit To Realism. Cinemas, the neg big screen process, gives the illusion that you are in the scenes. So this conversation, says Alan Wilson, may happen:

Usher to noisy patron at a Cinema showing: "You're disturbing the audience with your talking. You'll have to leave." Patron: "I can't. You see, I'm IN the picture."

It's almost all over between Jean Peters and the bachelor movie executive who doesn't like to see his name in print. "Somebody has his wires crossed. Allan Jones announced he would yodel at the Coronation, but the touchy ones in charge of things around Buckingham Palace are screaming, 'Not true.'... Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride, who aren't too willing, have been alerted by U-I for another in the "Ma and Pa Kettle"

U.S. Trying To Deport Actress On Charge Film Is Red-Backed

SILVER CITY, N. M., Feb. 26—UP—Immigration authorities at El Paso, Tex., are holding Mexican actress Rosevelt Revueltas for deportation proceedings, a movie producer said here Thursday. District Immigration chief Joseph Mintof in El Paso refused to confirm or deny the charge.

Miss Revueltas is playing a leading role in a film which a member of the House Un-American Activities committee said was being made by "a bunch of Communists." Morris Wright, acting public relations man and editor of a newspaper published by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union of Denver, who is producing the film, said Miss Revueltas was arrested Wednesday by immigration men whom he named as "Stewart and Schoenberger" of El Paso.

Wright said the Mexican actress, who won her country's "Oscar" in 1950, was told she had the option of leaving this country voluntarily or being arrested and deported.

Ike Thinks Truman's Balcony A Good Idea WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—President Eisenhower thinks that ex-President Truman's controversial White House balcony was "a pretty good idea."

Mr. Eisenhower, leading a group of Congressmen on a tour of the White House Tuesday, said he liked the balcony and doesn't agree with the criticism heaped on Mr. Truman when the balcony was constructed in 1948.

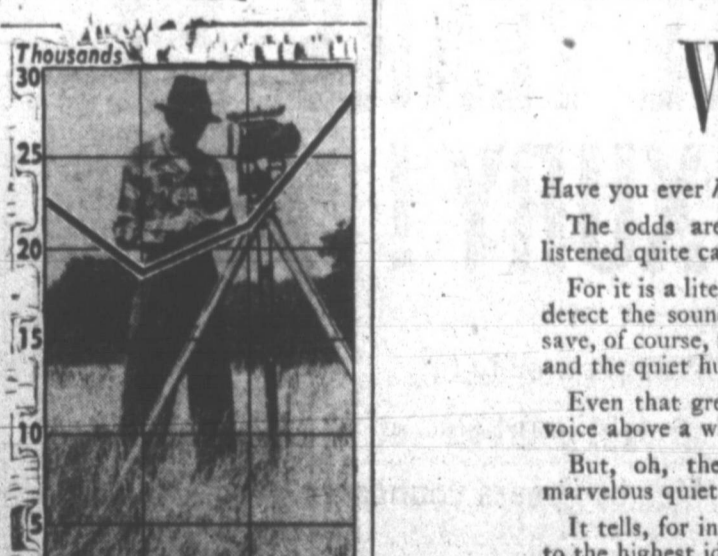

But He Doesn't Play One WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—Howard Mitchell, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, said that when he presented Mr. Eisenhower with a symphony season ticket he asked the president his musical preferences. "Piano playing and bass singing," was the president's reply.

Sikkim, a tiny Buddhist state in the Himalayas, held its first democratic election of a government in 1952.

SLIP-STICK FAMINE—Newschart above shows the present and future critical shortage of engineering students graduating from American universities and colleges. Industry will need at least 30,000 new engineers each year for a long time to come, according to the Engineer's Joint Council. Contrasted with Russia's increase in engineering and technical graduates, the U. S. shortage is viewed by experts as a security threat.

Father Divine Lets Loose His Wrath Against Turnpike

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26—UP—Father Divine let loose his heavenly wrath on the New Jersey turnpike Thursday.

He ordered all his angels to boycott the multi-million dollar super-highway and withdrew his blessing from it "until further notice." This means, he warned, that the toll road faces "curse and disaster."

The self-proclaimed Messiah struck back at the turnpike after paying a total of $60 in fines for chauffeurs in a four-car caravan who were pinched for speeding near Moorestown, N. J. Father Divine, who was a passenger in one limousine, believes the fines were "illegal and unjust."

A spokesman at Father Divine's headquarters here said turnpike officials would be notified of the boycott.

Teacher Didn't Know She Was Pregnant

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—UP—The first grade school teacher excused herself when she felt a severe abdominal pain while in her classroom.

Ten minutes later, while her husband, a teacher in the same school, paced a corridor, Mrs. Sandra Fendrick, 21, gave birth to a five pound boy.

The surprised new mother told school authorities she didn't know she was pregnant.

MEN AND WOMEN TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many men and women have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs less than most reducing preparations. Just get to your drugist and ask for four ounces of Barconrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of grapefruit juice. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help retain slender, more graceful curves; if, reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles—just return the empty bottle for your money back.

ABILENE MAN LOST 15 POUNDS Mr. Paul Gordon, 522 Chestnut St., Abilene, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I have lost 15 pounds taking Barconrate. I take a bottle of two occasionally to keep my weight down and I have never found anything any better for keeping down gas on the stomach."

SAN ANTONIO LADY LOST 20 POUNDS "Before taking Barconrate, I weighed 160 pounds," writes Mrs. Nellie Brownlee, 527 King Ave., San Antonio, Texas. "I now weigh 140, a loss of 20 pounds, and feel like a new person."

Where Silence Is Eloquent!

Have you ever heard a 1953 Cadillac? The odds are that you haven't—unless you've listened quite carefully. For it is a literal fact that you must concentrate to detect the sound of a Cadillac in motion... save, of course, for the soft song of the passing wind and the quiet hum of the tires on the pavement. Even that great, powerful engine never raises its voice above a whisper! But, oh, the wonderful, wonderful story this marvelous quiet tells. It tells, for instance, of Cadillac's rigid adherence to the highest ideals of automotive construction... of the great engineering that enables every part of the car to perform in perfect harmony... of the magnificent styling and design that give the car its smooth, easy, steady, floating ride... and of the flawless craftsmanship that keeps the car so unbelievably free from vibration through the miles and the years. And, of course, it speaks with equal clarity of the many things a Cadillac provides its owner. It promises rest and relaxation... and a freedom from distraction that adds safety to every journey. It foretells mile after mile of extraordinary dependability and a minimum of upkeep expense. And, of course, it prophesies longevity... and, hence, bespeaks the wisdom and soundness of its owner's investment. Yes, the quiet of the Cadillac car tells a wonderful story all of its own. And it's one that we think you should "hear" for yourself. Why not come in soon—and spend an hour with a 1953 Cadillac? We think you'll agree that silence has never been more eloquent.

High Schools To Get Vote On 2-Platoon

AUSTIN, Feb. 26 — UP — It was up to Texas high schools Thursday whether they would use the NCAA limited substitution rule in football.

The Texas Interscholastic League executive committee voted Wednesday to submit to member schools the question raised by recent action of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in outlawing the two-platoon system.

The committee decided to hold a referendum, and said ballots would be mailed to more than 1,200 high schools and junior high schools in March. The committee said about the rule adopted by the majority would be used in the 1953 season.

The committee said it based its action on a permissive clause in the NCAA rule, which states that preparatory and high schools may, by mutual agreement, adopt more liberal substitution regulations.

The action followed a period of uncertainty which came after the NCAA adopted the limited substitution rule. The interscholastic league has for the past several years followed rules used by the NCAA.

The executive committee said it found the permissive clause "makes necessary a referendum in order to avoid complete chaos which would result if league schools attempt before each game to decide which of many substitution rules would prevail."

Dixie, Stanky Teammates Again

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26 — UP — Drawing Dixie Walker was celebrating a reunion Tuesday with his old pal Eddie Stanky and harboring a dream at last they both might wind up winning a world series.

Walker, back in the majors as a coach of the St. Louis Cardinals, said "I don't know if I ever should have been out of a big league uniform but I'll tell you one thing — I'm doggoned glad to be back in it."

The former Dodger outfielder who as the "People's Choice" when he was the hero of Flatbush, said it would feel a little strange to go back to Brooklyn in the uniform of the team they used to have their hottest battles with.

Walker said when he was managing the Atlanta Crackers he never really felt he had left the majors.

"Every day, no matter what was going on in our league, I couldn't wait to get the papers to see what was happening in the majors," he said. "You get those old-time associations with your pals and you keep wondering who is having a good year or who is in a hitting slump."

Walker said he had left the majors in 1941 to join the St. Louis Cardinals. He had played for the Cardinals from 1941 to 1945, then for the Philadelphia Phillies from 1946 to 1947, and for the New York Yankees from 1948 to 1952.

150 Attracted To Houston Golf Open

HOUSTON, Feb. 26 — UP — A field of some 150 golfers, attracted by the $20,000 prize money and a top bounty of $4,000 waded onto long Memorial Park golf course here Thursday and the first round of the 72-hole Houston Open.

At best the 7,000 yard Memorial course is tough on the timid, and suffering from an onslaught of rainy weather it was conceded by all to be a good test for the best.

Sammy Sneed, the slow-talking West Virginian, made his first 1953 PGA appearance here and was ranked with Lloyd Mangrum as favorite with the "sentimentalists" sticking to young Jackie Burke, a youthful Houston player whose late father was a favorite golfer in this area for many years.

Burke won last year in the middle of his blazing streak that put him into the 1952 top money bracket. He fired 277 in four days of rain. So far, Burke has not won a tourney this year.

Memorial is tailored for such long-ball hitters as Sneed and Robert Devincenzo the Argentine winner of last week's Mexico City Open.

Mangrum shared the favorite's spot with Sneed, if for no other reason, for his performance so far this year when he won the Los Angeles, Palm Beach and Phoenix Opens.

Practice With Youngsters — Most of the top pros, limited to 18 holes, will practice with youngsters at the club.

Rajah To Be More Lenient

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 26 — UP — Manager Rogers Hornsby, who once refused players permission to attend the movies during the season, surprised the Cincinnati Reds at their opening workout Thursday with a list of lenient rules for spring training.

Hornsby's "new deal" permits players to fish and play golf and beer lines for being over-weight. In recent years Cincinnati managers have declared nearby golf courses "out of bounds."

Hornsby made it clear, however, that he would continue to judge his players on the field by his own demanding standards.

"You can fish and golf if you like," Hornsby declared. "But if it interferes with playing baseball to the point that you fail to win your jobs it'll be your own hard luck."

Hornsby said he had left the majors in 1941 to join the St. Louis Cardinals. He had played for the Cardinals from 1941 to 1945, then for the Philadelphia Phillies from 1946 to 1947, and for the New York Yankees from 1948 to 1952.

Layne Agrees Verbally To Lion Contract

DALLAS, Feb. 26 — UP — Nick Kerbawy, general manager of the Detroit Lions professional football team, said Thursday he had arrived at a "verbal agreement" with Bobby Layne for the 1953 season.

Kerbawy, who left Dallas Thursday for Oklahoma City where he was to arrange for a pro football exhibition game, said he and Layne had reached agreement on a one-year contract.

He said the contract would be signed formally "in the future."

Layne, a former Texas University football great, is in the automobile business at Fort Worth when he is not playing pro football.

Kerbawy, who spent seven days in Texas, said he had accomplished six "very satisfactory" jobs during his Texas stay. He listed them as:

- 1. Signing of Doak Walker's contract.
- 2. Arrival at a verbal agreement with Layne.
- 3. Came "close to terms" with Dick Hoerner, former Dallas Texas football great, in a trade last January with the Baltimore Colts. He said he expects to sign Hoerner "soon."
- 4. Completed arrangements for the fourth annual exhibition game in Dallas in August between the Lions and the New York Giants.
- 5. Completed arrangements with KRLD-TV, Dallas, to produce a Detroit Lions TV show every Sunday during the National Football League season.
- 6. His talks with Cloyd Box, of Waco, former West Texas State College football star, had reached "passé."

On Jan. 23, 1947, the first white child, Charles Phelps Stiles, was born in the Western Reserve. The youngster, son of Job Phelps and Tabitha Cumi Stiles, was born in Cleveland.

Riley Nears End Of Boxing Trail

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 26 — UP — Charley Riley, a grand little St. Louis fighting m.c.h., appeared near the end of the boxing trail Thursday after his defeat Wednesday night by Teddy (Red-Top) Davis.

For Riley, the split decision loss to the Hartford, Conn., featherweight added up to an overall record of 60 victories and 24 defeats since he became a pro in 1944.

It was his second defeat in three fights with Davis.

Riley lost by a very narrow margin. One judge saw it 52 to 48 for Davis and another 51 to 49 the same way. The referee, Jimmy Parker, gave it to Riley by a 51 to 49 score.

Hutch Praises Young Rookie

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 26 — UP — Satisfied that his pitching will do, Manager Freddie Hutchinson of the Detroit Tigers Thursday singled out 2-year-old rookie shortstop as the key player in his 1953 plans.

The rookie in question is Harvey Edward Kuen Jr., just a year off the University of Wisconsin campus.

"He can make or break our infield," Hutchinson explained. "If he does as well all season long as he did in the 19 games he played for us at the fall end of 1952 there's no question but what he will make the grade. Shortstop has been a weak spot for the Tigers for many years, but it looks like we really have come up with something in this youngster."

Immediately after the birth, mother and child were removed to nearby woman's hospital—the obstetrics section of Sinai isn't scheduled to open for another month.
