

Reporter Denies Part In Campaign

TOPICKA, Kan., March 20 (UP)—Kansas City Star reporter Alvin S. McCoy Thursday admitted he was "affiliated" with the "plot" to blacken the GOP official's name. C. Wesley Roberts, who denied he took part in a plot to blacken Roberts' name.

McCoy appeared before a special state investigating committee to defend himself of charges that he took part in a "calculated plot" to blacken the GOP official's name. The charges were made earlier this week before the committee by Representative Gov. Edward F. Arn, a close political friend of Roberts.

McCoy also won permission to withhold the name of the person who gave him the "tip" leading to the first published report of a transaction with the State of Kansas in which Roberts received a $11,000 fee.

The newsmen denied he had maliciously written any stories about Roberts and the fee, which the GOP chairman received from the Ancient Order of United Workmen for his services in negotiating the sale of a hospital building to the state for $110,000 in 1951.

Records of the AOUW, an insurance firm, show that Roberts was paid $10,750 in August, 1951, and $250 previously advanced for expenses.

Newspaper Got Check
John McCuish, former publisher of the Harvey County News at Newton, Kan., told the committee the $250 appeared on AOUW books under the heading of "stationery and printing."

The $250 check was made payable to McCuish's newspaper, but he testified that he gave the money to Roberts at Newton, where the AOUW has its office. McCuish is a former treasurer of the Kansas state Republican committee, which Roberts headed before his active work in President Eisenhower's campaign brought him appointment as National GOP chairman.

State Attorney General Harold R. Paltzer has filed suit in district court here to recover the $110,000 the state paid the insurance firm for the building.

Learn This Lesson Early In Career

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Every experienced bridge player learns very early in his bridge career that it is dangerous to lead a suit that dummy can ruff.

The reason this sort of play is dangerous is that if declarer is likewise void of the suit, he may get a discard.

When this happens, the "ruff and sluff" usually gives declarer a trick on a silver platter.

Once in a great while you get a hand in which you deliberately give declarer a ruff and a sluff without losing anything by it. In today's hand, my old friend Richard L. Frey found it necessary to give declarer two of these ruff and sluff plays in order to defeat the contract.

The bidding was a bit on the betting side, but the final contract was eminently reasonable. Certainly, South would have made his contract against anybody but a bridge star of the first magnitude.

Holding the West cards, Dick Frey opened the three of spades. South took the first trick with the ace of spades and led a low trump towards dummy.

Dick naturally took the first trump trick with the jack, and looked around for a way to make sure of our trump tricks. It was obvious that a shift to diamonds or clubs would allow South to win and lead more low trumps towards dummy. Dick therefore led a second spade, thus giving declarer his first ruff and sluff.

As it happened, South didn't need any sluff. He ruffed the second round of spades in his own

Evelyn Keyes Finds Nothing Wrong With Overseas Tax Cure

HOLLYWOOD, March 20 (UP)—I guess I'll take advantage of it," she said. "I dunno, I haven't talked to my business manager yet." Evelyn Keyes, the first movie star to bustle home with a new French striped hair-do and the decision she was right to save tax money because actresses don't last long.

Miss Keyes won't say how much she saved, but the swimming pool grapevine has it she stashed away $140,000 in tax saving under a new tax law by working in movies in Mexico, England and France for a year and a half.

The law exempts Americans who stay abroad 18 months or longer from paying income taxes during that period.

Some of this cash she spent on a Paris coiffure consisting of alternate black-and-white poodle curls all over her head.

This latest hair-do you never comb, she explained, but run your fingers through it, which is a fine idea, since many hair-dos look like that most of the time, anyway.

"Movie people make their earnings in such a short period," said Miss Keyes. "An actor can work a limited number of years and that money has to last you all your life, so I see nothing wrong with this saving."

Miss Keyes added she didn't leave the U. S. with the idea of sitting it out at that Paris hairdresser's for 18 months.

Hollywoodites didn't discover the new tax ruling, designed for overseas oil and construction workers, until after she'd left.

"But since I was gone that long and had led another trump towards dummy," West stepped up with the king of hearts and led another spade, thus giving declarer his second ruff and sluff. It didn't matter where declarer ruffed this time; he was now unable to make the contract.

If he led another trump, West could win and lead a fourth spade to force out declarer's last trump. If declarer failed to lead trumps, West would be able to ruff with his eight of hearts, thus making the needed fourth trump trick to defeat the contract.

West stepped up with the king of hearts and led another spade, thus giving declarer his second ruff and sluff. It didn't matter where declarer ruffed this time; he was now unable to make the contract.

Clothiers Say Government's Parrots System On Sizes Won't Do

NEW YORK, March 20 (UP)—two days ago that after four years Women's figures never can be reduced to mathematical proportions, clothing manufacturers concluded when they heard about the government's new plan to size dresses more accurately.

It's just a pipe dream, said some executives in Manhattan's famous garment district. It's a nightmare, said a few others.

The Commerce Department surprised more designers and manufacturers with the announcement was led by Gwen Thurmond of Lefors, sub-district recreation chairman.

Sandwiches, jello, cookies and pop was served by the Canadian MYF to representatives from the three Pampa Methodist Churches, the St. Paul, Harrah, First Methodist, the Miami Church and Lefors.

The theme for the evening was in honor of St. Patrick. Sponsoring the group of young people from Lefors were Mrs. Cliff Vincent and Mr. Walter Pflug.

Every designer's patterns would follow the same scaling, so once a woman found the perfect combination, she could stick to it no matter how much or how little she spent for a dress.

"I don't think it's possible to standardize measurements and give women fashion at the same time," said designer Adele Simpson. "When a silhouette changes, the whole balance of the dress changes. You can't stick by the same measurements."

One frequent objection involved the production problem. Any system that includes nine different combinations of size 14, which the Commerce Department's plan does would complicate cutting and boost the cost.

Other stars already out of the country to save tax money include Alan Ladd, Clark Gable, Kirk Douglas, Gary Cooper, Claudette Colbert, Gene Kelly, Gene Tierney, Gregory Peck and Errol Flynn.

Area Methodist Youth Convene In Canadian

LEFORS (Special)—The young people of the Lefors Methodist church traveled to Canadian Monday night to attend a Sub-District meeting of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

In the absence of Jack Pflug of Lefors, who is the president, Byron Byers, the vice-president took charge of the business.

Pampa's First Methodist Church had the greatest number of young people present. A committee consisting of one representative from each local MYF was selected to nominate officers for the new year.

After the business session a worship program was presented by the Canadian MYF. A special song "It Is No Secret" was sung. The worship service was held by candle light.

Four Scout Groups Planning Sessions During Next Week

At least four Boy Scout groups in the Santa Fe District have scheduled get-togethers for the end of next week — with Mardi Gras as the central theme. Scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday are sessions in McLean and Panhandle, according to Phil Pegues, district Scout executive. Stated for 7:30 p.m. March 27 are parties for groups in Pampa's Baker School and First Presbyterian Church. March is the month in which Mardi Gras (of New Orleans fame) is the theme for Scouts over the entire nation, Pegues explained. McLean's celebration will be in the Methodist Church and that of Panhandle will be held in the school cafeteria.

Girl Scouts Plan To Attend Amarillo Camp This Summer

Tentative plans have been made for Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts to attend Camp Kiwanis in Amarillo this summer. The camp trip was discussed at a scout leaders meeting in the Girl Scout Little House Thursday. And in preparation for the camp, a training course for leaders is slated at 9:30 a.m. April 21 in the Scout Little House. Other activities in the Little House includes a morning and evening home nursing course scheduled to begin Tuesday. Mrs. Walter Noel is to lead the morning session and Miss Nola Abbot the evening class.

Date for the Brownie day camp to open was set, also, with the first Monday after school is out chosen.

Name of the Leaders Club has been changed, due to confusion, according to Mrs. Dorothy Statton, scout executive, to the Girl Scout Workers Club.

Attending the morning meeting were 22 members from White Deer, Hopkins and Pampa. Mrs. Sara Lester demonstrated gadget painting.

Pampans' Relative Succumb In Wheeler

Two Pampans are among the survivors of J. L. Bailey, 79, of Wheeler, for whom funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Wheeler's First Baptist Church.

In Pampa are his daughter, Mrs. Delton Sanders, 1300 Terrace and his granddaughter, Mrs. G. R. A. Havenhill, 113 S. Faulkner. Owner of a farm between Mebee and Wheeler, Mr. Bailey died Monday night in Wheeler hospital. He had been a Wheeler resident since 1918.

Officiating at the services were Rev. M. B. Smith, pastor, and Rev. A. C. Wood, Wheeler. Burial was in Wheeler, following Masonic graveside services.

AIR HOPES

(Continued from page one) has incurred since using the large Pacemaster planes it purchased last year. The company asked for a "break - even" rate of 42 cents. CAB, highly critical of the type plane, Pioneer is using cut the rate back to 26 cents. Pioneer as a result has notified 190 of its 450 employees they would be laid off and has said it will force him to sell his nine Pacemasters, cease other purchases, cut out all advertising and revert back to a "second class" airline.

The line appealed for emergency aid pending a reconsideration of the case.

In making the appeal for emergency aid, the line also filed an appeal to suspend all operations. Both appeals were made separately.

The emergency mail rate aid would amount to $45,000 per month, Pioneer said, which would allow them to "limp along" until CAB has acted on a permanent increase. Added to this, the line also wants CAB to give it $45,000 to cover losses it incurred while switching over to the newer, faster planes last spring.

Company officials this week also told The Pampa Daily News that the initial operations with the new planes is costly, but that Pioneer should be "commercially self sufficient" in five years, providing the CAB would go along with its request of 42 cents per plane mile mail rate.

Agriculture Department officials emphasized that it is too early to leap to any conclusions about the size of the 1953 harvest. The farmer's age-old adversary, the weather, is yet to have its say. And farmers may change their planting intentions for various reasons. Nevertheless, the report caused considerable concern among officials who realize that the combination of bumper crops and falling

Motorists Warned Punishment Due For Noisy Mufflers

Pampans with noisy vehicles were warned today that their cars must be equipped with mufflers—that really work.

Police Chief Jim Conner today issued a warning that all Pampa vehicles that emit unnecessary noise and excessive smoke will be stopped by city patrolmen and their drivers cited.

For the past several months, Conner explained, there has been an injunction on the books which prohibited the arrest of persons driving a vehicle with a muffler—regardless of whether the muffler was really effective.

The injunction had gone through Judge C. O. Betts of Austin's district court.

But Judge Raymond Gray of Austin's Court of Civil Appeals ruled several days ago that Section 134 of the traffic ordinances (muffler section) is valid.

And Conner, following suit, has told his officers that "you can now go stop some of the buzzing that has been going on."

Area Man Convicted Of Hauling Liquor

In county jail today in lieu of fine payment is a 27-year-old Shamrock man who was convicted of transporting liquor in a dry area.

Neal A. Gentry was arrested about 3 p.m. Thursday near McLean by highway patrol and was fined $100 and costs later that day in county court.

Gentry was also fined $14 in justice of the peace court on a charge of driving with defective brakes.

Upon his arrest, County Attorney Bill Waters said, Gentry had in his possession 20 half-pints of whiskey, 8-10 half-pints of gin and two cases of beer.

BLONDE

(Continued from page one) Miss Carroll was arrested early today while she was taking the baggage from Oliver's car in San Antonio. Police said she was getting ready to call a taxi, into which she presumably intended to transfer the baggage.

She had Oliver's pocketbook, which contained a $100 bill and a $5 bill. Paraffin tests of her hands showed that she had recently fired a pistol.

Blames Hitchhiker. Nevertheless, she at first had tried to blame it on a "tall, dark" hitchhiker, whom she said she and Oliver had picked up near Uvalde.

But before Oliver died, Dr. Dean P. Dimmitt asked him two questions.

He asked him: "Do you want a drink of water?" Oliver nodded.

Dr. Dimmitt then asked him: "Did you pick up anybody?" He shook his head.

She said she met Oliver, who resigned from the Shreveport police force last year, three years ago.

They started drinking in Shreveport Sunday, she said, but left there Monday and passed through Houston, Galveston and West Columbia, Tex., in a tour westward, still drinking.

Much of the prospective cut in corn acreage this year turned up in the South, where farmers are planting more hay to prevent another shortage like the one that hit them after last year's drought.

Corn cuts there ranged from 1 per cent in Kentucky to 21 per cent in Arkansas and 24 per cent in Oklahoma. They offset acreage gains in the Midwest producing corn belt area. The prospective corn crop would total about 3 billion bushels, down about 300 million from last year.

MATURE PARENT

One morning David found a piece of red string. It stimulated an idea. He saw that by tying one piece to the front of his fire engine and one to the rear, he could pull it backward as well as forward.

So he ran over to his mother's sewing basket and took out a pair of sharp shears. He was happily hacking away at his string when she entered the room and saw him.

With a loud cry, she rushed to snatch the scissors from him. Then she seized him and sat him on her lap. Tears flooded her eyes.

Holding David's face between her hands so that his terrified eyes could not evade hers, she said reproachfully: "That was bad to worry mother like that! Don't you know how unhappy I'd be if you hurt yourself? You don't want to frighten mother who loves you, do you. Then never touch..."

With variations, this scene was enacted so many times in David's childhood that he got to believing he was personally responsible for his mother's "happiness."

So he got practically no experience in testing the merits of his own wishes. Instead of not, coasting down an icy hill for the excellent reason that his sled was too light, he didn't do it to keep his mother happy. If he left a party early, it was to spare her worry, never because the party bored him or he needed sleep.

In a brief effort to look after his own happiness for a change, he married a girl who loved him. But his habit of protecting his mother was too strong for him. He had to let the wife go because the mother was worried that he wasn't appreciated.

After his divorce, he returned to his parent's home. He's there only part of the time, though. Most of his life David spends in the land the alcoholic spins off to on his Lost Weekend.

With him in mind, let's watch that we don't try to force compliance on children by threatening them with our misery or worry.

If we don't want a small boy to use sharp scissors, let's remove them. Let's give him blunt ones, not emotional appeals to soothe our fears and restore our peace of mind.

If we really suffer from excessive anxiety every time our children try to conquer the world we've brought them to, that's our problem, not theirs. If we can't overcome it alone, we should seek help for our morbid fears from qualified adults, not impressionable

Class Entertains in B. Brown Home

The Martha Class of the First Baptist Church entertained the TEL class with a covered dish luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. Boyd Brown, east of Pampa.

Following the meal, the group heard a song, "It Is No Secret," by Mrs. N. B. Ellis. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ellen Shipp.

The group sang, "Bless Be the Tie That Binds." Mrs. Myron Spencer, Martha Class president, introduced Mrs. Bob Allford who presented the devotional, "The Art of Choice."

Mrs. Ellen Shipp, class teacher, dismissed the group with prayer. Members of the TEL Class attending included Mrs. Jennie Keaney, Joe Mullins, W. B. Vandover, J. H. Ayre, L. H. Greene, G. L. Wilson, R. E. O'Keefe, Laura Silver, W. S. Benton and J. L. Strope.

Martha Class members attending were Mrs. Parker Mangham, Vada Gibbins, James Hopkins, Ellen Shipp, Bob Allford, O. B. Schiffman, T. J. Owens, M. L. Eppa, Myron Spencer, Bob Clements and Brown.

Other guests included Mrs. Johnny Diggs, N. B. Ellis and Miss Jane Goad.

tells me, "The alcoholic need has babies."

For as it is now, New York City psychiatrist Dr. Frank Hale becomes avarice escape of young people who are hounded by a sick sense of obligation to keep some parent "happy." Unable to destroy this impression, they resort to whisky bottles to destroy themselves.

Golden Circle Class Meets For Bible Study

The Golden Circle Class of the Calvary Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Jack Robertson, class teacher.

Mrs. Robertson gave the devotional. Mrs. B. L. Bennett led the group in prayer. Games were played and the group exchanged gifts.

Attending were Mrs. Sam

NEW YORK—Tuberculosis remains a major national health problem despite all that has been done in recent years toward reducing it to a minor role. But the public generally seems to have an idea TB has been licked for good. That alarms the people who know better.

The National Tuberculosis Association has had a statistical analysis made with which to stem any misunderstanding of how far "wonder drugs" and more effective medical and surgical techniques have progressed in suppressing one of the scourges deadly to man.

The present annual rate of active cases is between three and four for each 1,000 adults or approximately 400,000. This includes cases under treatment but not yet made inactive, plus new cases. At any given time there also exist 800,000 inactive cases.

Finding Cases A Problem

An active case is a TB victim whose illness both is dangerous to himself and to everyone who comes in contact with him. Since TB is an infectious disease, an inactive case is a victim who no longer can give the disease to others and in whom the disease is arrested. He still has to have care.

The estimates were based on large-scale surveys incidental to case finding. TB is insidious in that its victim can have it for years without knowing it. Just the

U. S. Making Strenuous Effort To Smoke Out Russ Intentions

By PHIL NEWSOM
 United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

THE GOOD

The United States was making a strenuous effort to smoke out the new Russian regime as to its real intentions toward world peace. In the United Nations, we demanded that Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov prove good faith by cooperating to end the six-year stalemate over a world disarmament plan. A hint of the Russians' course may be expected with the return to the United States of Andrei Vishinsky, Russia's UN delegate.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is determined to have Bundestag ratification of the European army plan in his pocket before he visits Washington next month. He pushed the army treaty through its third and final reading in the West German lower house despite strenuous Communist attempts to disrupt the debate. Adenauer is particularly anxious to prove good faith because his talks in Washington will deal with continued U. S. financial help.

Great Britain rolled out the red carpet for Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito who was making his first visit to a Western capital since his rebellion against Moscow five years ago. Queen Elizabeth II had him to lunch, and then he, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and other top British diplomatic and military figures got down to the real business at hand—Yugoslavia's place in Europe's defense and early settlement of the dispute over the disposition of Trieste.

THE BAD

Russian MIGs fired on a U. S. weather plane 25 miles off Kamchatka in the North Pacific, and the U. S. plane fired back. There were no casualties but it brought uncomfortably close to American strel production indicates it will be the best show ever, according to Joe Donaldson, club president.

Lions Pack Candy For Minstrel Sale

Pampa Lions Thursday made up 4000 boxes of candy to be sold during the Lions Club Minstrel April 23 in the Junior High School auditorium.

Individual wrapped taffy kisses and prizes were put in the boxes during the club's noon-luncheon meeting program period.

In charge of the candy boxing was Doss Millsap and Sam Malone, concessions committee co-chairmen. They head a 20-man committee which is charged with making all concession arrangements and collecting all prizes to be given away each night of the show.

The candy is to be sold during intermission and prizes presented at the same time.

Wife's Curiosity Gets Husband Free

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 19—UP—A wife's curiosity got her husband free of a drunken driving charge.

Wilbur Ramsey was arrested when state highway patrolmen said they smelled alcohol. Ramsey claimed it was the smell of a chemical he uses in his work with the State Health Department.

Ramsey was jailed until his wife rushed to the jail and gave her husband a big kiss.

"I wanted to convince myself he hadn't been drinking," she told the judge. "He hadn't."

Ramsey was freed.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 19—UP—Calorie chart and Bibles are the things most often stolen from the Birmingham Public Library, director Emily Miller Danton reported.

Horse Is His Downfall

WEST CAROLINIAN, Ohio, March 19—UP—Rufus Stapleton of Mansfield was arrested by the state highway patrol for the second time in a month for drunken driving.

Both times Stapleton was riding a horse.

JOHNSON
★ IN HOLLYWOOD ★

By FRSKINE
NEA Staff
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: It will surprise Hollywood, but Barbara Hale, one of the town's real beauties, is going into partial and maybe permanent retirement as a film star. She confided:

"It's not that I've been unhappy in the business. Hollywood's been wonderful to me and I love acting. I know my decision will surprise people. But there are many things I want to do in life and most of all I want to enjoy my home and my family."

Barbara recently completed a starring role opposite Jimmy Cagney in "A Lion in the Streets."

Gene Kelley's return to the U.S. this summer with a tax-free fortune of around $400,000, earned in Europe under the 18-month overseas income tax law, will be an eye-opener. I've always believed that movie stars, who are in the big money bracket for only a few years, are too heavily taxed.

But $400,000 tax free earned in only 18 months! I'm writing to my congressman, along with a lot of other taxpayers.

Despite Pat Wymore's statement that all's well, the name of the Princess of Bella Clara, an Italian beauty, keeps being linked with Errol Flynn. Fun in Hollywood Dept.— Rita Hayworth's new boy friend, Manuel Rojas, wired a phony smoke-and-noise bomb to the motor of her limousine as a practical joke. But Rita didn't think it was funny.

A Texan, visiting Ciro's, told owner H. D. Hover: "I can't dance but, boy, I sure do like to hold 'em while THEY do."

Plays It Cool
Hildegard, "the incomparable," is on the verge of writing her biography, but the galley proofs will not be sent to movie studios for a possible film.

She's turned down offers to celluloid her life and she'll turn them down again when the book is published. "I'm going to let a film biography wait until I'm in the 60's or dead," she told me. The veteran supper-club star— she's been on the cover-charge circuit with her gloves, handkerchief and Hildegardian chatter since '32— has kept a daily record of her life since the age of 12.

"My book," she says, "will be in a strange new style. I'm going to write it myself. I'll write the way I talk and it will be honest—a real Hildegardian type of thing."

Hildegard's incomparable in the off-stage charm and question-and-answer game, too. She answers 'em faster than you can ask 'em.

About working 48 weeks a year, hopping from city to city: "I'd die without it. I'm a gypsy. It's in my soul. Retire? I don't even think about it. I'm a prisoner of show business and I love it."

Or why she's never married: "I've never met Mr. Right, but I've been pretty close on three occasions."

Took Long Chance
Rudyard Kipling's famous poem, "If," has become a song, with music by Louis Herscher. It took the tunesmith 11 years of negotiations with the Kipling estate to clear the copyright.

Phil Regan, the Irish singer who starred in Warner musicals in the early '30's, is blushing over some of his old films playing the TV circuit.

"My grandchildren can't understand why grandpa is making love to all those dolls on television," Phil flipped.

Still black-haired and youthful looking, Phil's the father of five children. The eldest is a 28-year-old son.

Now an executive with an eastern brewery, Phil was in the mob at the Shadow Mountain Club's annual Shadow Ball and joined James Alexander in entertaining Alexander, who starred in 1500 performances of "Oklahoma!" confessed to me that he made the mistake of his life when he turned down an offer to do the show in London.

An unknown named Howard Keel stepped into the role and it was Keel, not Alexander, who was discovered by Hollywood and became a movie star.

Evelyn Keyes, back from Paris, tells about three French children seeing their first "torrid love scene" in a movie. "Look at the man and woman talking," said the youngest. "They're not talking—they're making love," corrected the next eldest. "Yes," added the oldest boy sagely, "but NOT very well."

Sister Didn't Visit

PITTSBURGH, March 18—UP— Mrs. Clara Fantillo knows now why her cousin from Cleveland, Ohio, disappointed her the summer of 1927 when she failed to show up for a planned vacation at the family farm.

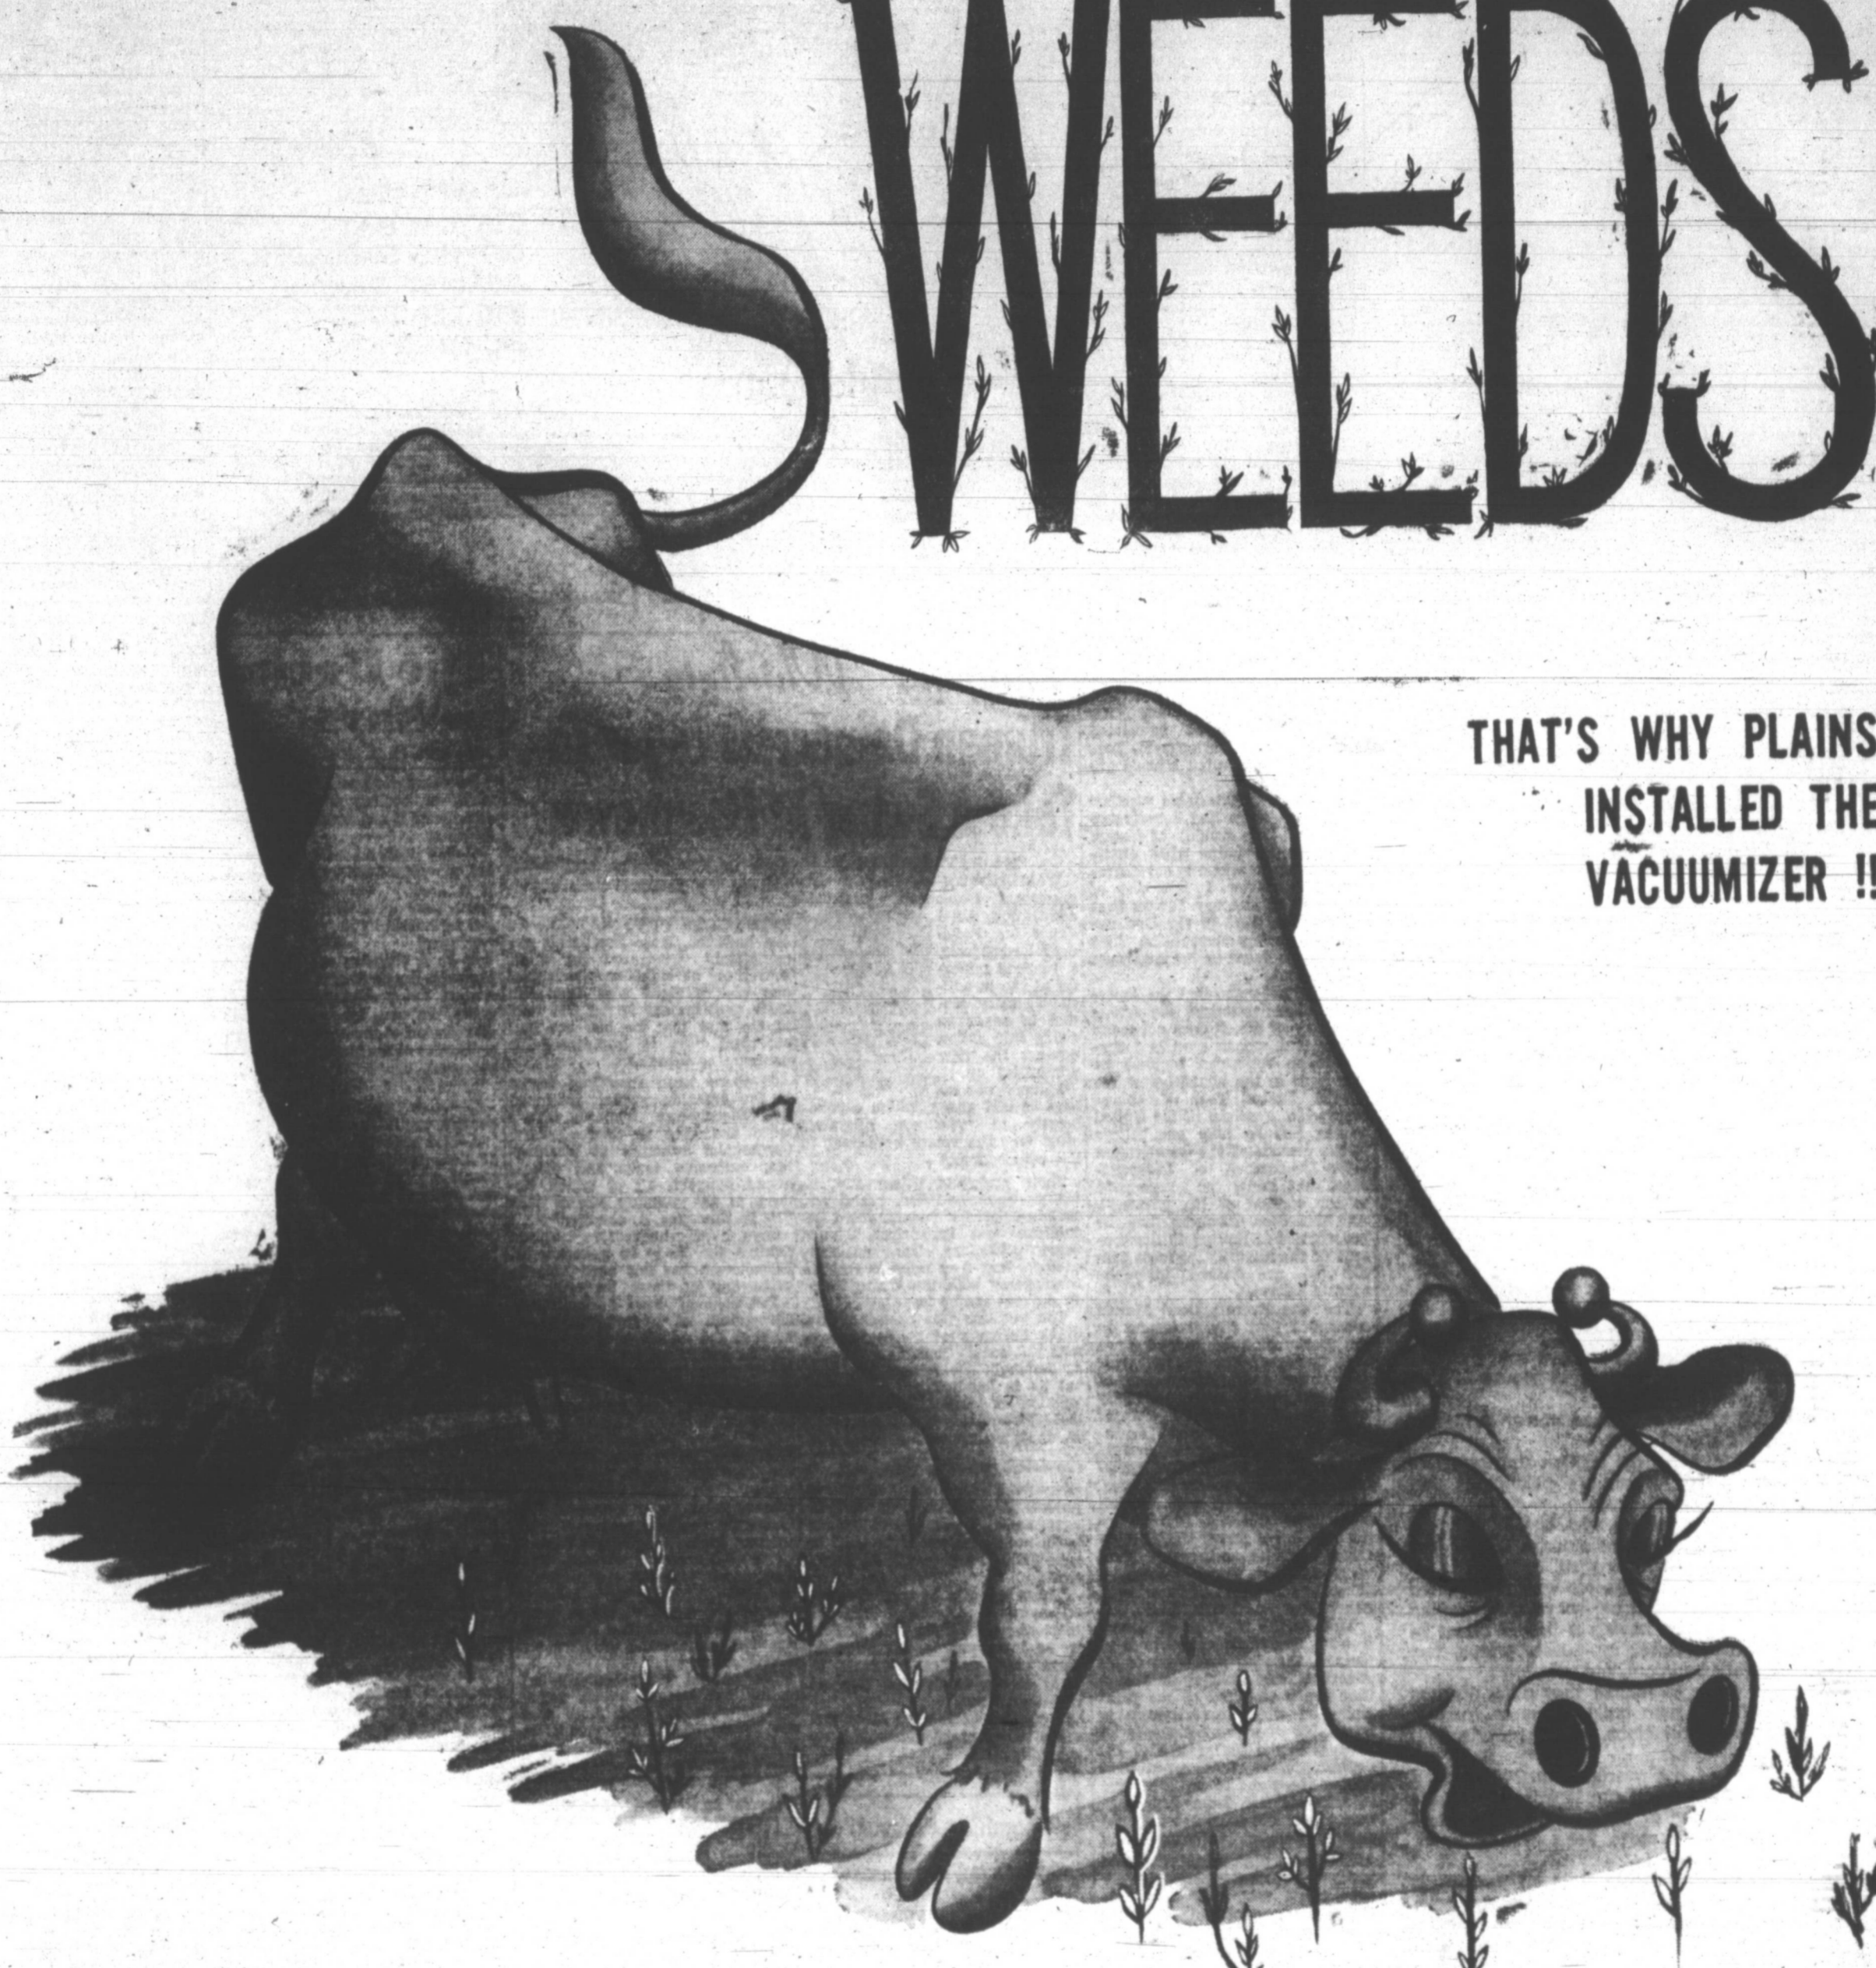

In a letter written 26 years ago the cousin, Anne De Capite, explained something else had turned up and she wouldn't be able to make the trip.

The letter was found last week behind a partition in a former branch post office building in Cleveland that was being moved. Mrs. Fantillo was traced to her present address and the letter was delivered Tuesday.

White Deer Lions To Erect Street Signs

WHITE DEER (Special) — Deputy District Governor Dalton Ford of White Deer spoke to the Lions Club at the school cafeteria recently.

During the business meeting, Boss T. C. Jackson led a checking measure on individual perfect attendance records. April 21 meeting will be the time members will receive special recognition for attendance.

Ford spoke on "Lionism" to the forty members present. Among other remarks, he commended the club for interest that has been shown in civic projects and other phases by which they have learned to enjoy the club.

Following the regular meeting, the Lions Board of Directors met to discuss installation of street

Confusing Directive

WASHINGTON, March 19 — Rep. Allan Oakley Hunter (R-Calif.) said employees of the District of Columbia had a hard time figuring out this directive from the city commissioners: "The second non-work day of the calendar week is hereby established as the regular non-work day in lieu of Sunday for the purposes of this sub-section except that the first non-work day of the calendar week is hereby established as the regular weekly non-work day in lieu of Sunday for the uniformed force of the fire departments."

He Was Recognized As Best Dressed Georgia Kid

More cropping set we wouldn't be without it.

It was a second Bible.

The grown-up men would read it under the lamp to find out if their overalls had the proper drape for cotton chopping and plowing, or if their camp meeting coats were dignified enough, or if their coon hunting jackets were like those being worn in the grouse boxes of Scotland.

The womenfolk poured over it to see if their Jub. Jud. J. B. or Jericho looked as jaunty as the next husband when the family drove old Beas into town for Saturday shopping and some friendly horseshoe pitching.

We kids all but tore the magazine and ourselves apart to get hold of the "Tailor and Cutter."

We wanted to see how London mothers were cutting hand-me-downs, and if black-ribbed stockings still were fashionable for Sunday School wear.

I hadn't given a thought to the "Tailor and Cutter" until a few days ago when I read its selection of the best-dressed men in the world. The average man sort of loses his zest for the pages of "Tailor and Cutter" when his mother stops making his clothes and he starts making his own living.

At this point I would like to make you readers a bet, namely, that you think that I am going to make some joking remarks about four-year-old Prince Charles of England being included among the best-dressed men in the world. Well, I'm not. To me, his selection is perfectly natural, because when I was his age I doubt if there was a baby in the world who could successfully challenge my wardrobe, despite the fact that my parents didn't have half the money that Queen Elizabeth and the Duke have.

Prince Charles got on the list because of the way he wore a bow tie, a fawn stalker, and a double-breasted woolly vest. I swept all sartorial contest in Georgia with outfits that — well, let me name a few of them.

For swinging from grapevines I had a THREE-BUTTONED vest, the back of which bore the coat of arms of the Pillsbury Flour Co.

When I sat down to let my they did four times a day at least. I wore a suit of the palest dogs lick my bruised knees, which blue denim, contrasting patches adding back interest.

My swimming hole attire was of the simplest, yet tremendously effective. So well cut, indeed, that I am still wearing it today.

I had a suit for fighting my sisters. It was of burlap, with loose shoulders, loose sleeves, loose buttons, and belt. This allowed my wardrobe included a spin-the-free-play of my muscles, if I had had any.

bottle suit, a worm-digging ensemble, and a sturdy number designed especially for wear when I dreamed of running away from home after being spanked.

The only property that you cannot buy with money alone is life insurance. Over 300,000 applicants were "turned-down" last year. Someday everyone crosses the line of uninsurability.

Breakdown Blamed For Faulty TV

High winds and a temporary breakdown at KGNCTV the causes of faulty television reception here for several local TV fans and semisaid.

A story first started circled that KGNCTV had temporarily down its 2,000-watt power. Kelly Maddox, manager of station, denied the report.

"There's nothing to it," dox told a News reporter by phone.

The KGNCTV manager said no idea what would cause reception of the test pattern shot out from Amarillo.

Back in Pampa, Paul Crook local television dealer, said all things have contributed reception at times; high could cause it (although he ed some technicians as why didn't bother TV) loose connection, denied the report.

But technical difficulties the station off the air Thursday night when it broke down transmission did not start until 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Reception for Pampa is expected to shoot upwards in quality next Sunday when KPDA come on with its full watt power.

Pan Tech Bull Sale Scheduled For April 9

No Evidence For Stock Di

WASHINGTON, March 21 — An unprecedented outbreak of disease in the past 15 years has caused experts to look for evidence that germ warfare is waged against U. S. farmers.

Dr. B. T. Simms, chief Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Husbandry, said today, "There is no evidence of such activity thus far."

"Of course, we have the possibility and are watching it closely," Simms said, "that field workers have been infected."
