U. S. Bomber Exchanges Fire With Red Jet

WASHINGTON, March 18 — UP — The Air Force will continue weather flights 25 miles off the coast of Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula despite a recent exchange of fire between a U. S. RB-50 airplane and a Soviet MIG jet fighter in that area, a spokesman said Wednesday. He said there was no plan to alter flight courses of Alaska-based reconnaissance planes or provide them with fighter escort as a result of the incident Sunday over the Pacific "approximately 25 miles" from the Kamchatka coast, presumed site of Russian air and naval bases. One of two intercepting MIGs opened fire with its 20 MM cannon and drew a burst from the 13 50-cal. machine guns of the RB-50, a four-engine, propeller drive photo reconnaissance version of the B-50 superfort bomber. That ended the engagement. Neither plane apparently was damaged. Members of Congress commended the RB-50 crew for returning fire. The State Department, which protested within hours when Red MIGs shot down an American F-84 jet over West Germany last week, remained silent on the Pacific clash. A protest was not ruled out but informants said the department was waiting for more information. Anticipating a possible Russian claim that the U. S. plane violated Soviet territorial waters, the Air Force said that navigator's logs and position reports would prove the reconnaissance plane was over international water. It was the sixth aerial clash between Communist and Allied planes along the world's cold war frontiers since the death of Josef Stalin (See U. S. BOMBERS, Page 3)

MIGHTY MITE — Early Times, a 121-pound midget is pictured being lifted by Sheriff Rufe Jordan (295 pounds) during a visit to Pampa yesterday. Times, representing Brown-Forman Co. of Louisville, Ky., is currently on a goodwill tour of the country. While Times can lift any two persons at one time regardless of size, no two persons can lift him. Times will be in Amarillo two weeks and during that time he will demonstrate his strength to any club, banquet in the Panhandle free of charge. He can be contacted at 3-3327 in Amarillo. America Speeds Flow Of Planes, Ammo To Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa, March 18 — UP — Stepped up deliveries of guns, planes and ammunition for Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces are pouring into Formosa, the chief of the American advisory group said Wednesday. An official release from Maj. Gen. William C. Chase's headquarters said in the last two months 23 ships with cargoes of propeller-driven F-47 and RF-51 planes, artillery, machine guns, ammunition engineer equipment and vehicles have arrived. Emphasis on deliveries was put on prop-driven fighters. But a shipment of jets is expected daily. Real Threat During March, it was learned, almost double that number of ships will unload equipment to turn Nationalist China's ragged armed forces into a real invasion threat. In addition, Chase's headquarters said, the General had requested a second substantial increase in the number of military advisers to his mission. The current strength of the military assistance advisory group is about 760 officers and men of all branches of the service. The Korean advisory group consists of more than 2,000 officers and men. Gen. Chase said recently he could use 1,500 men. The latest pouring out of equipment and new advisers apparently was aimed at doing with the Nationalist army what was done with the republic of Korean army, which already has proven its worth in battles against the Communists. American military authorities also said during the next year about 600 Chinese officers will be trained in the United States at various schools and training centers. A majority of them will be from the air force. Since the United States began giving aid to Nationalist China two and a half years ago, 400 Chinese air force and army officers have completed training courses in the United States.

Four Facing Prison Terms; Two Are Freed

Four men faced prison bars today, two of them making their second and over trips to Huntsville's walls after being sentenced for theft, forgery, and possession of dope yesterday by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in 31st District Court. Two others were set free — one on probation, the other with a suspended sentence hanging over his head. Eddie Williams, three-time loser, returned to the penitentiary stealing the pistol used in the slaying of Leola Brown during a family fracas in The Flats. Williams pleaded guilty to stealing the pistol from Jeff Hazelton on Dec. 29, 1952. Judge Goodrich gave Williams a two-year sentence. With 10 other check counts held over his head, Lee R. Welch, 24, of Wichita Falls drew a five-year sentence on an indictment charging him with forging the name of L. M. Welch and passing it at the City Drug. Welch forged and passed several checks on L. M. Welch, Sheriff R. H. Jordan told the court. The defendant told Judge Goodrich he can be contacted at 3-3327 in Amarillo. (News Photo)

COOKING SCHOOL CAPACITY CROWD — The auditorium of the Junior High School was filled to capacity and overflowed into the balcony Tuesday at the first session of The Pampa Daily News all-electric cooking school. Approximately 1000 area homemakers attended the school at which Mrs. Ruth Knight demonstrated actual recipe preparations. Numerous awards were presented, all contributed by local Pampa merchants. U.S. Readies Second Atom Explosion

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 18 — UP — Preparations were underway Wednesday at Yucca Flat in the isolated, high desert 65 miles north of here for the second atomic blast in a series of 10 detonations scheduled for this spring. The 1,600 soldiers and military observers who emerged unscathed from trenches only two miles from Tuesday's blast were back safe at their nearby Desert Rock Camp Wednesday. It seemed apparent that it would take at least a week to prepare the atomic testing ground for the next explosion. The time is needed to recover and read the instruments used in the initial test, and to enter the two experimental houses which were heavily damaged and still too contaminated with radioactivity for survey teams to enter and analyze. Meantime, Desert Rock made preparations to receive 1,000 more soldiers who presumably will take part in the next test. Tuesday's veterans crouched closer to an atomic explosion than any human beings since Nagasaki, (See EXPLOSION, Page 3)

UF Voting Due Monday

Five officers for the Pampa United Fund will be selected Monday by the 15-member board of directors. Session has been scheduled for noon in the Hotel Schneider's Pine Room, according to Fund Organizer Clinton Evans. Picked at that time from among the directors will be a president, two vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, Evans said. The board of directors, selected previously by a seven-member nominating committee, was approved unanimously March 10 at a public meeting. Current plans call for the United Fund to hold its first drive in October, to coincide with those of the nation's community chests.

Masked Bandits In $500,000 Robbery

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 18 — Two masked bandits held up an exclusive jewelry shop, fired warning pistol shots and fled Tuesday night with three trays of diamonds possibly worth $500,000, Police reported. Detectives said the men were carefully disguised and left few clues but were believed to have escaped in an automobile with one or two confederates. Abe Taylor, owner of A. Taylor and Sons, told police the men smashed through a rear door while he, his wife Lillian and their son Donald were transferring the trays from a display window to a safe. They fired warning shots at the floor and grabbed four trays of costly brooches, rings and watches, he said, but dropped one tray as they fled. He said they drove away through a rear alley. Capt. Charles W. Pierce, superintendent of detectives, said Taylor did not yet know the value of the jewelry taken but believed it would exceed $500,000. Taylor held most of it on consignment, he said. Taylor told newsmen it "will run $500,000 or better."

Girl Scout Meet Slated Thursday

A Girl Scout leaders meeting is scheduled at 9 a. m. Thursday in the Girl Scout Little House, to be led by Mrs. Bob Andis, leaders club president. Mrs. Burl Lewter is to give a short course in gadget painting. All leaders and volunteer workers have been urged to attend.

Party Suspends Diplomat

QUITO, Ecuador, March 18 — UP — Ecuador's ambassadors to the United States, the United Nations and Mexico have been suspended from the Liberal party for refusing to support the party's platform of "500,000 or better."

A Western Flavor... Cooking School Features West

Western style cooking was featured at the second and final session today of The Pampa Daily News All-Electric cooking school. The 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. class was conducted by Mrs. Ruth D. Knight, home economics expert, in the Junior High School Auditorium. Mrs. Knight, her assistant, Margaret Nelson, and Anna Mette Cox, master of ceremonies, appeared clad in western regalia while the cooking school leader concentrated on bringing regional culinary ideas to her audience. She gave verbal cooking hints and demonstrated actual recipes taken from The Pampa Daily News special cooking edition, published Monday. The crowd which overflowed from the downstairs auditorium into the balcony, watched complete meals prepared on the stage with the all-electric equipment on display. And following the class session, gifts contributed by local merchants were awarded. Gifts included a Westinghouse range valued at $259.95, contributed by Monarch Hardware. Other awards included everything from household appliances to cosmetics and lady's wearing apparel. Tuesday around 1000 housewives were present for the first day of the school. Sixteen door-prize awards were presented, 13 gifts contributed by local merchants and three trays of food prepared by Mrs. Knight during the class. Those awarded prizes were: Mrs. C. R. Seals, Lefors, cream (See COOKING, Page 3)

County Commissioners Fire Wesley Lewis; Hire Tarver

Perry LeFors Field Manager Wesley Lewis was fired at 11:35 a. m. today, just 36 minutes after the county commissioners came out of another closed door session. However, Lewis was discharged in open meeting after the commissioners finally decided to let him go. effective today, but with two weeks' pay. One minute before noon, commissioners voted 3-2 to hire Horace Tarver former druggist at Malone Pharmacy, to operate the field. Although the commissioners were scheduled to meet at 11 a. m., they went into a private session more than 20 minutes before the appointed time. A reporter, covering the meeting yesterday as he was instructed to during Monday's meeting, J. B. Maguire, told the commissioners made the motion to fire Lewis and Arlie Carpenter, Pct. 1, seconded it. During the round of open discussions, Maguire advised the court that in the future it would be best to make only written contracts instead of verbal contracts. "I don't like verbal contracts," Maguire said, "there is too much chance for misunderstanding. If they are written then everybody understands what is expected of each party." The court had also considered hiring an assistant to the field manager, but definite action on the matter has yet to be taken. The court had only one applicant for that job today, Bill Scott, a 19-year-old youth who once worked with Central Airlines.

Perfect Weather Blesses Shamrock Parade... Erin's Sons, Daughters Agree 'Twas A Great Day For The Irish

By LOUISE COFFMAN Pampa Daily News Correspondent SHAMROCK — (Special) — The sons and daughters of Erin agreed today 'twas a great day for the Irish Tuesday. Shamrock settled back today for a well-deserved rest after staging one of the biggest St. Patrick's Day celebrations in its Panhandle history and entertaining an estimated 25,000 visitors in a day packed with activity. Perfect weather blessed the Shamrock celebration. Wind and sand blew, but not until after the final float in the last division had filed past the judges' stand. Entertainment planned for the sound stage, auditorium, Legion Home and Community Building was uninterrupted. The winning floats were divided into three divisions: In the commercial division first place went to the First National Bank with Hunter's Department store placing second. In the community float division the City of Wheeler took the winner's plaque and the Pampa (See PERFECT, Page 3)

Advanced First Aid Course To Be Held In Red Cross Office

Miss Jane Lightfoot, Junior High School physical education teacher, is to teach a 12-hour advanced first aid course beginning March 23 in the Red Cross office. Only those persons who have completed the standard Red Cross first aid course are eligible, according to Mrs. F. W. Shawwell, Red Cross executive secretary. She said Red Cross is especially interested in attracting those persons to take the course who wish to become first aid instructors. Toward that end, H. H. Gilliam first aid and water safety director, St. Louis, is to be here to teach an instructors class April 27. Only those who have completed both the standard and advanced first aid courses are eligible to become instructors. Miss Lightfoot has recently completed teaching a junior first aid course among 112 junior high school girls from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. And Mrs. Walter Noel, home nursing instructor, is to teach a course in the Girl Scout Little House here March 24. And morning and evening home nursing courses are slated to be given March 24 in the Girl Scout Little House. Mrs. Walter Noel is to instruct the morning session starting at 9 a. m. and Mrs. Noel about the evening class beginning at 7 p. m. Home nursing training is an 18-hour course. If it comes from a hardware store we have it, Lewis Hardware.

New Southwestern Part Of City Divided Into 2 Zones

The new southwestern corner of the city was placed into two zones — commercial and residential — according to recommendations handed down by the zoning board to the City Commission. In one of the shortest meetings on record, the board met and discussed the proposed restrictions with property owners in the area yesterday afternoon in the city commission room. Although there was some disagreement, the session failed to break into any sharp words. At present there are few streets laid out and dedicated in the area itself outside of Crawford and Hobart. Although a master plan which has not been worked physically in the new area shows several 60-foot streets. (See NEW PART, Page 3)

J. P. West Rites Friday

Funeral services for John Pete West, 59, of 1001 E. Fisher, have been scheduled for 9 a. m. Friday in Pampa's Holy Souls Catholic Church. A retired Pampa drilling contractor and independent oil operator, Mr. West died at 4 a. m. Tuesday in Tulsa, Okla. Burial will be Fairview Cemetery. A longtime Pampa resident and owner of the West Drilling Company, Mr. West suffered a stroke Thursday night while visiting friends in Tulsa. He had been spending his winters in Pampa and his summers in Del Norte, Colo., for several years. Later he organized West Drilling Company which he operated till a few years ago when he turned the business over to a son. He drilled wells for most of the companies in the field. A veteran of World War I and an active member of the American Petroleum Institute, Mr. West was a member of Holy Souls Catholic Church and the Elks Lodge. Survivors include his wife, Faye, Pampa; a son, Ralph, Houston; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Stanley Johnson Pampa; two sisters, Mae West, Fryburg, and Agnes Mills, Marionville Pa.; and two brothers, A. W. West and Steve West, both of Warren, Pa. Pallbearers will be E. M. Keller, Harry Carlson, Jack Childress, H. H. Boynton, B. L. Hoover, Hamp Waddell, Roy McMurray and E. J. Dunigan.

Heart Assn. Organizational Meeting Is Scheduled Today

A Gray County Heart Association organizational meeting is slated at 7 p. m. today in the County Court Room. At the open meeting officers, consisting of a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, are to be elected and a report given of the 1952 fund campaign. Dr. M. H. Wyatt, acting chairman of the county association the last two years, said the formal organization and election is necessary prior to a North Plains District meeting coming up March 29 in Amarillo. At the district meeting, Wyatt is to take office as president of the 26-county territory, and W. D. Waters, Gray County acting secretary - treasurer, is to assume the same duties for the district. Officials for the local group must be chosen, Wyatt said, as he and Waters cannot hold both offices after the district meeting. The Gray County Heart Association has been active in state and national offices since its inception four years ago, but a local constitution and formal organization has not been enacted. At the meeting today a proposed constitution is to be presented and a vote taken to authorize it, Wyatt said.

Nation's Consumers On Their Own As Remaining Curbs Go

WASHINGTON, March 18 — UP — Consumers were strictly on their own for the first time in more than two years Wednesday as the government killed off the last of its price controls and returned the nation to a relatively free economy. The action marked the end of a turbulent postwar experiment in direct price, wage and credit curbs that began in the fall of 1950 after the Korean invasion. It also signaled the beginning of the administration's attempt to use the give and take of free enterprise rather than government planning to keep the nation's economy running smoothly. Price Stabilizer Joseph Freehill completed the step by step deconcigarettes, lard and oils, and in some places motor oil and gasoline. He predicted prices would climb more than $3 billion during the year. Consumers will pay about a third of the bill, he said, or about $20 a family. The controls agencies are being dismantled rapidly. Freehill said his office will be liquidated by June 30 with all but five field offices shut down by April 9. The price control program was one of the most controversial the government has ever undertaken. There are sharp differences of opinion on whether it was effective.

Civil Defense Authorities Say Atom Cheap At Twice The Price

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., March 17—UP—The cost of the Civil Defense Administration's construction program for Tuesday's atomic test can't be calculated until the entire spring series of tests is completed, government officials said Tuesday.

But Civil Defense authorities believe it will prove "cheap at twice the price" in bringing knowledge and awareness that can save human lives and property in the event of atomic attack on this country. The two dummy-populated white frame houses simulating the typical American home that were built to take the blast are equivalent to $20,000 houses "based on the 1951 building costs in the mid-Atlantic states," said Harold Goodwin, FCDA Director of atomic test operations.

Courage Is Aid In Bridge Tourney

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
The Approach of the Eastern States Championships, which begin this weekend, brings back a lot of memories to most bridge players in the East. The tournament, one of the oldest in the history of Contract Bridge, has always attracted a strong field from all sections of the country as well as from the Eastern states. I remember the hand shown today very clearly, because it cost a first place in the Eastern Championships of 1932. Charlie Ochridge, sitting East, opened with a psychic bid of one club, and his partner, Johnny Rau, made ump.

Johnny corrected his error by his strange contract arrived at in imping to three no trump, and a fantastic manner, could not be defeated. Elephants have short memories compared to bridge experts. After 15 years I still remember every card in the hand, and I could still heartily murder my good friends Ochridge and Rau whenever I link of the hand.

Table with 4 columns: NORTH, WEST, EAST (D), SOUTH. It lists card holdings for a bridge hand.

At these tables, dummy was able to win the first round of trumps with the jack. If a diamond was immediately returned from dummy, East still had a trump and could ruff. South did not have to see a trump trick, but he could use dummy's diamonds and therefore had to lose three hearts and a club eventually.

12 Bomb Shelters Built

The houses along main street at "Doom City" were built by carpenters, masons and other skilled workers under civilian contractors at an average wage scale of $1.85 an hour.

It was the second time the FCDA has tested home shelters. Experiments last spring resulted in modifications of earlier designs.

Those shelters in house No. 1, closest to "ground zero" were fully expected to receive the maximum load of debris from the collapse of the frame dwelling and brick chimney.

The homes were "typical" in most respects. They had plastic venetian blinds, gray-painted shutters, standard window hardware, tile lining in the red brick fireplace, standard studding and fraters, 18 inches on center, shiplap siding, and full center brick basement with a concrete slab floor.

Only difference in the two structures was the exterior finish and the roofing. House No. 1 was coated with whitewash in an attempt to minimize the possibility of the entire structure catching fire from the heat of the atomic explosion.

Careful Rehearsals Carried Out For Cast Of Academy Awards

HOLLYWOOD, March 18—UP—The "cast" of the academy awards has been rehearsed so they won't make any mistakes this year—but it was those blunders that used to make the Oscar event a colorful affair.

The producer of Thursday night's back-patting event, music director Johnny Green, said every celebrity who walks on the stage to present an Oscar has been drilled right down to which profile to turn.

The nearest moment to a mistake last year was when writer Clarence Booth Luce announced an award for director John "Husston" instead of Huston.

McLEAN (Special) — Jimmy Don Morris was elected president of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting of the organization.

Morris Leads McLean JCs

Morris succeeds Rammy Haynes and will assume his duties April 1. Other officers chosen to work with Morris include Larry Fuller, first vice president; Buddy Sutton, second vice president; Buddy Sutton, treasurer; Johnny Joe Hutchinson, secretary; C. L. Gentry, reporter.

Active directors for the coming year are to be Amos Page, J.H. Kritzer, Walter (Tuffy) Sargent, Bill Day, and James Barker, and as associate directors: J. W. Mescham, Lester Campbell, S. A. Cousins, E. J. Lander, and C. P. Callahan.

The Jaycees entered a float in the Shamrock St. Patrick Day celebration today. For more than a year now Jaycees have been trying to make the derby the "sign of McLean" and this is only one of the times that local delegations have made themselves prominent by wearing their derby hats.

They Should Try The Oleo Class . . . Modern Women Like Butter

HOUSTON, March 18—UP—The trouble with modern women is they are too much like butter. That's what it says—butter. They're pricing themselves out of the market and getting rancid setting around waiting for a buyer. They ought to do a little catering to the "oleo" trade.

Government Works Out Size System

WASHINGTON, March 18—UP—The government has come to the aid of women whose hip size does not correspond to their bust size, and vice versa.

The new "scientific" method of sizing up women is explained in a 97-page booklet. It represents four years of work by the Commerce Department and other groups.

Complicated System The system has been submitted to the clothing industry for comment. It is complicated, the department conceded, but it should produce more satisfied customers.

Has Advantages The Commerce Department said the new method will enable any woman to buy all her clothing by a single dress size, regardless of price, fabric or manufacturer.

Jury Panel Discharged

The 31st District Court civil jury panel for the current term was discharged today after the compensation suit of Limuel Washington vs Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners was settled out of court. The case was to be heard following completion of the suit brought against American General Insurance Co. by Carl Bryant for compensation for Brown and Root while working for Brown and Root. The jury awarded Bryant the full amount he asked for, $10,025; 401 full weeks of workman's compensation, yesterday afternoon. The jury was out one hour and five minutes to deliberate.

The suit went to trial Monday morning after eight talesmen had to be picked up by the sheriff's department to complete the whittled down panel of 45 men.

Sooner Returned To Hutchinson

The Oklahoman who signed a statement admitting his part in 12 burglaries over a two-state area including the Pampa Moose Lodge safe cracking — is back in Borger today where he has already admitted four other break-ins.

Kenneth Whitstine, 25, of Shawnee and Tulsa, has implicated both himself and Samuel Edward Nicholson, 28, in 17 break-ins over the past two months in Texas and Oklahoma.

Nicholson, now in Borger's county jail, is scheduled to be brought over to Pampa the end of this week, according to Sheriff Rufe Jordan.

Questioned in Pampa for five hours Saturday afternoon by Texas and Oklahoma officers, Whitstine has now admitted four other break-ins — two in Borger and two in Dumas.

Bond has been set at $2,500 for Whitstine by Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry on charges of "burglary at night and theft."

Bond will be set for Nicholson when he arrives in Pampa.

Cracking of the local Moose Lodge's safe Feb. 27 netted the burglars a little more than $700.

EXPLOSION

(Continued from page one) two miles closer than the soldiers who were stationed within four miles of "ground zero" in 1952. Whether the next contingent of troops will be closer yet, was not disclosed.

Co-ordination Is Purpose Purpose of the initial experiment was to develop co-ordination between artillery armed with atomic warheads and infantry intent upon the capture of enemy strongpoints blasted by the great new 280-millimeter A-cannon.

It was presumed that the next test shot could not be earlier than Tuesday of next week. It will not be open to correspondents or photographers.

Tuesday's blast, rated as powerful as 15,000-tons of TNT, was believed to be the equivalent of the new 11-inch atomic shell now in readiness for firing from the Army's great new cannon.

The guns themselves have not as yet arrived from Ft. Sil, Okla. It has been announced officially that they will be used, with atomic shells, later in the tests, possibly six-weeks from now.

Nearly half of the fatal home accidents during 1951 occurred either in bedrooms or on stairways.

Four areas of the 80 acres were zoned as commercial and the other as a residential.

They are: the south 255 feet of the northeast quarter of Suburbs 128; the west half of the southwest quarter of Suburbs 135; the south 100 feet of the north 200 feet of the southeast quarter of Suburbs 155; and the south 228 1/2 feet of the north 453 feet of Block 3, Green - Novotny Subdivision were zoned commercial. All of the remainder of Suburbs 135 and 156 were zoned residential.

This however was merely a recommendation of the zoning board, as suggested by property owners attending the meeting. The recommendations must be presented to the City Commission where another public hearing date will be set and the zoning ordinance amended to take care of the new section.

Damage $1,200 In Two Car Accidents

Total property damage in two automobile collisions — three hours and nine miles apart — are estimated today at $1,200-$1,300.

Bob Bailey, 34, of 560 Lefors, and George W. Jones, 55, of Phillips were involved in a collision at 9:15 p.m. Tuesday, some 8 1/2 miles west of Pampa on the Borger highway.

And Doyal L. Morgan, 25, of Lafonda Court, and Milburn O. Hillis, 34, of 408 Pitts, collided at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday at Wilks and Faulkner.

The Bailey-Jones accident occurred near the Gray - Carson county line, the exact location of a serious collision about six or seven months ago, according to a Chief Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nickols.

Both cars were headed east on the highway, Nickols said, when Jones — attempting to pass Bailey — collided with Bailey's left rear frame and spring. The bumper had to be cut off before the cars could be freed.

In the course of the mishap, Jones' vehicle pushed Bailey's along the road for an estimated 150 feet, Nickols continued.

At that location, he went on, "you can see for 1 1/2 miles to the east and one mile to the west."

Damages to the Jones car are figured at $300-$350; to Bailey's pickup, $50.

Morgan and Hillis were headed in opposite directions on Wilks, city police reported, when Hillis started to make a left turn and pulled in front of Morgan.

Police calculated the damage to the Morgan car at $450; to the Hillis vehicle, at $300.

Both were handed citations—Hillis, for failure to grant the right of way; Morgan, for driving without an operator's license.

Absentee Ballots In School Vote Ready March 26

Absentee ballots for voting in the Pampa school board election April 4 will be available in the city hall's school business office from noon March 26 to 5 p.m. March 31.

The three-day lapse between the absentee ballot deadline and the actual election is required by law, according to Roy McMillen, school business manager.

Deadline for filing candidacies for school board is 5 p.m. March 25.

Three candidates are now in the race—John H. Harnly and Board Members Rex Rose and Herman Whatley.

Candidates were Lello Kotara of Groom and Gall Olderkerk of Erick, Okla. Others in the queen's court were Janice Jacob, Wheeler; Wanda Jean Henderson, Kelton; Mickey Linke of Pecos; Donna Lou Hartley of Kaydon, Okla.; Patricia Shelton, Shamrock.

Trophies of Bands on the march were presented each participating band. The Kiltie Band and Amarillo Air Force Band were not entered in the competition.

A total 25 plane carrying representatives from over the entire Panhandle landed at Shamrock Air port early yesterday for the fight breakfast.

Two dances finished the planned events of the day.

Miller Brothers from Wichita Falls played at American Legion Home and the Sunset Ramblers of Almarred were at the community building.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace: My problem is this, I have been going out with a boy about three years older than myself and have had a wonderful time with him. We both have the same interests and like to go to the same places. We enjoy each other's company very much, and agree on most things in general. But now I find that he is engaged to a girl back in Illinois, and I am seriously in love with him.

Should I continue to go out with him, hoping he will forget this other girl?

He told me that she was going out with other boys but he doesn't mind as he doesn't want her to miss any enjoyment.

Is this natural where love exists? Is there any way of finding out how much he really loves her? He kisses me and it is just nice, and very well mannered, but I don't know what to do.

Helen

Dear Helen: As long as the engaged couple are so casual about their engagement that neither cares when the other dates someone else there is a very good chance that they will not marry.

If you are in love with the boy and he seems to like to take you out, accept his invitations. Perhaps you can win him for yourself.

Don't let your conscience bother you under the circumstances. If he were deeply in love with his fiancée he wouldn't be willing to have her date other boys. Probably the engagement would have been broken before this if they were together. As it is I imagine they are drifting along with the engagement more a form than anything else.

LOOK LOVELIER OFFER

40¢ NOXZEMA for only 29¢ plus tax

Try doctor's home facial! Look lovelier in 10 days—or your money back!

Have you been longing for a complexion that wins compliments—that looks softer, smoother?

Then try this Noxzema Home Beauty Routine. It was developed by a great skin doctor with greaseless, medicated Noxzema. And in clinical tests, it helped 4 out of 5 women with skin problems to have lovelier-looking skin.

MORNING:
1. Apply medicated Noxzema over face and neck. Using a damp cloth, "cream-wash" your skin. Noxzema is greaseless—you actually wash it off with water! And no dry, drawn feeling after "cream-washing"! Now smooth on Noxzema for a long-lasting powder base.

EVENING:
2. "Cream-wash" again with medicated Noxzema. See how it washes away makeup—dirt. 3. Apply Noxzema as night cream. It helps soften, smooth. Put a bit extra over any blemishes to help heal them! It's medicated!

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Walls, 448 Pitts, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to Raymond Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Williams, 432 Pitts. The marriage vows will be read in early June in the First Methodist Chapel with the bride's grandfather, Rev. S. G. Walls, officiating. Miss Walls is a student at Texas Tech.

Puppets Stimulate Child's Imagination; Give Hours Of Valuable Recreation

Puppetry is a wonderful activity for children because it both challenges and satisfies. The child's imagination is called on continuously — to choose the characters, to costume them and to make up dialogue, says Catherine J. Roach in McCull's Children's Annual. If the youngster is alone or conversing he can have endless hours of pleasure with his made-to-order friends. If he is part of a group he becomes inspired with group excitement and cooperates closely with his fellows to make the story come alive in the characters.

Writing in the first issue of this new 160-page annual which features sections on arts, crafts and activities for children to enjoy by themselves or with their parents, Miss Roach tells you how to make paper-bag puppets and puppets with the sheer fun of puppets, manual skills are strengthened in the making and manipulation of them, creative imagination is stimulated in choosing the character they are to represent, costume them and making up dialogue for them. Furthermore puppets are an activity drawing mother and children close together as they work together.

"Children too small to cut out or sew costumes can make and play with puppets and even for older children a mother's help is needed in finding materials that can be used for costumes and in the making of them. And mother makes the perfect audience when puppets completed and a card table stood on edge for a stage, the show begins.

"A puppet is a bargainer — he will do the performing, but a child must do the talking. And so a shy child overcomes his shyness in contributing his share to his puppet's success. The paper bag puppet is easiest to make:

PAPER-BAG PUPPETS
Materials: 2 paper bags, newspaper, string, crayons or paint.
Directions: Draw a face on one bag using the bottom of the bag for the top of the head. Stuff the bag with newspaper and tie it at the neck, leaving an opening large enough for the pointer-finger to manipulate the head. The hair is painted or crayoned on, or yarn or strips of crepe paper may be pasted on for hair.

"The second bag makes the dress using the bottom of the bag for the shoulders. Cut a small hole in the center of the bottom of the bag and slip the neck of the first bag through the hole. Put your hand under the dress where your thumb and middle finger fit.

"Now cut a hole on each side of bag to fit fingers, using them for arms and hands. Paint or crayon on the dress in a gay color. If additional costuming is desired, such as a cape and hood for Little Red Riding Hood, they may be made from odd pieces of material or from crepe paper. Paper bags used also for masks are fun.

"Although puppets do very well alone perhaps you would like to add scenery and props for a more elaborate production. Read the section on make-believe in McCull's Children's annual for ideas that might be adapted for your puppet show. Any production is more complete with music. You can also get suggestions for making your own music from the Annual.

Divide your hamper with heavy cardboard to make a partition, keeping white and colored clothes separated. This suggestion may save you time when it comes to sorting.

U. S. Department of Agriculture chemists discovered that salt may cause brown spots and holes on cotton fabrics where metal is present. So, read the label to make sure the starch you use contains no salt.

When you make sandwiches butter both pieces of bread before adding a moist filling. The butter will prevent the filling from soaking into the bread.

Shrink-resistant wool sweaters and socks should not go on drying frames after washing. This procedure would stretch them. They should be patted into shape on Turkish towels.

Portable electric cooking equipment should be wiped off with soapy cloth after use to prevent development of black spots.

It is easy for Gloria to defend herself against Peggy's bulldozing. A child learns to defend himself fearlessly against other children through practicing fearless self-defense on us. A self-pitying parent denies him this practice.

Gloria needs our approval to live. If, through our own irresolution, we refuse ourselves as especially abused people, Gloria will have to check any spontaneous feeling that might add to our woes in order to retain our approval.

Rather than increase our suffering by proclaiming her annoyance at having to pick up paper she hasn't scattered, she'll pick it up without resistance. Rather than disturb us with her youthful ideas of justice, she'll allow us to determine all justice for her.

A little girl accustomed to expressing herself spontaneously through her mother would have had a trouble with Peggy. She'd have said to Peggy, "Go on over to Susie's. If I can't have my turn at feeding my own doll, I don't want to play with you, either."

Peggy would probably have walked around for her turn.

Moscow's Changing Climate May Have Claimed 3rd Victim

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

Moscow's changing climate (political or otherwise) is said to have taken another victim. He is Maurice Thorez, ailing secretary general of the French Communist Party, who has been undergoing a marathon "rest cure" in Moscow for the past two years. Thorez is the third to be reported afflicted in Moscow—Stalin being the first, and Czechoslovakia's Communist President Klement Gottwald the second. Stalin and Gottwald both died with their shoes off, and their cases apparently were not mysterious.

Thorez' case is different. Thorez repeatedly has been reported on the verge of returning to Paris to resume leadership of the French Reds.

Suffered A Relapse
This week, however, comrades returning from Stalin's funeral reported he has suffered a "relapse" through over-exertion after his long convalescence. The word they brought back from Moscow is that Thorez suffered a second cerebral hemorrhage.

He was conspicuously absent from Stalin's funeral. It looks as though the winter of 1953 may go down as a tough winter for Communist leadership in general.

In addition, two other prominent Reds have been reported ill in the past few days.

This week the West Berlin, anti-Communist press reported that Communist East Germany's President Wilhelm Pieck is suffering from "pneumonia and pleurisy."

Another Recovering
The East Berlin press admitted Pieck was ill, but said he is recovering from an attack of the "flu."

Pieck has been missing from East German government functions lately.

Also reported ill is Albania's Moscow-trained minister of the interior and police boss Mehmet Shehu.

The report on Shehu comes from Italy and is said to originate with anti-Communist sources inside Albania.

No Revolt Likely
An interesting sidelight on Shehu is that he has been in a long fight with Premier Enver Hoxha for supreme control of Albania. Neither Hoxha nor Shehu attended Stalin's funeral but Hoxha now is said to be "in full control of the situation."

Despite what seems to be an extremely coincidental outbreak of illness among the Communist leadership, the best European sources still seem to believe it will not open the way to revolt either inside Russia or among the satellites.

The three most likely candidates for revolt, they believed, were Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Albania.

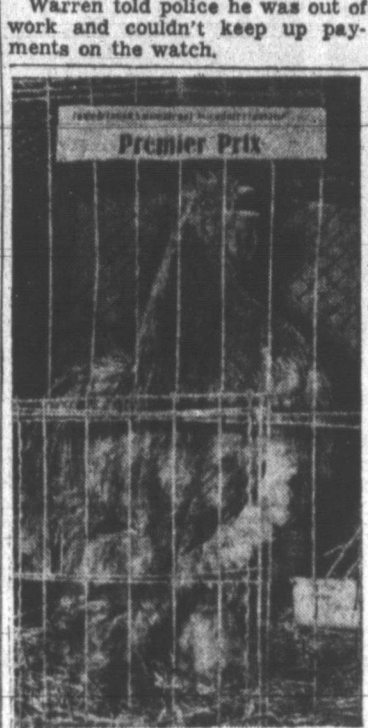

However, new groups of Soviet "technicians" have arrived in Albania recently and talk of Russia bandoning her most isolated satellite now is discounted.

Both Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria have vast numbers of Soviet "specialists" in the Army, secret police and in every branch of the administration and industry, so their chances of revolt also are considered slight.

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

A Case In Point

At more or less regular intervals, it is proposed that the government take a dominant part in the job of improving our standards of medical care, and that large sums of our tax money be used to subsidize medical schools, hospitals, community health endeavors, and other activities. These proposals invariably pay lip service to the cause of medical freedom.

Unfortunately, when government gets a finger in any pie, it usually isn't long until it has a stranglehold on the whole pie. It is equally true that the more authority we give to government, the more power government will wield — at the expense of all the freedoms.

A tragic recent example of this is found in Argentina. A year ago the Argentine Congress passed a law authorizing President Peron to reorganize the National Academies of Medicine. Dictator Peron has done that, and with a vengeance. A physician cannot leave his city or stop his professional activity without permission of the Public Health Ministry. He must obey all orders issued by that Ministry, and by the professional colleges and corporations which have become Peron's rubber stamps. Scientific societies cannot even hold meetings without police permission, and in some cases this permission has been refused. In short, the last vestiges of academic freedom in Argentina have been destroyed. The medical profession is a pawn of an authoritarian state.

It's easy to say "It couldn't happen here." But Argentina also was a free country once. So were many other nations which are now enslaved. The way to guarantee freedom is to limit, not extend, the powers and obligations of government.

Wild And Woolly

Not long ago many of us wistfully envied the cattleman. Prices were high, demand seemed limitless in spite of that, and tale after tale of fabulous profits came from the beef producing regions.

Now the picture has undergone an almost incredible change. Steers that sold for as much as 40 cents a pound are going to market for as little as 20 cents. In case after case, heavy losses have replaced the big profits.

In a recent issue, U. S. News & World Report deals vividly with what has happened. It explains the causes—the tremendous increase in our cattle population, the potent influence of weather, the speculative spree and the dream of vast profits which caused many people who knew little or nothing about the cattle business to enter it as a sideline, the booming cattle auctions where producers sold to each other at ever-rising prices.

U. S. News emphasizes that this hasn't been a fatal blow — there is still money to be made in cattle, and over a period of time the losses will be paid off and recovery attained. There has been no big rush of cattlemen to Washington for government aid. At the end of the magazine says, "Most cattlemen are willing to concede that the big prices of the postwar years are probably gone for good. Many don't want to see such prices again. . . . But almost all of them will agree with the Texas livestock man who said that the spree, while it lasted, was 'one of the wildest, wooliest, crap-shootingest booms that ever was seen.'"

So much for the facts. The moral seems to be that in a free, competitive economy, that which goes up must eventually come down.

Stretch Your Mileage

More and more is American industry following a policy of enlightened self-interest. In plain English, it is following a policy of benefiting the customer as the surest way of bringing the greatest returns to itself.

An example which affects practically every family is found in the efforts of oil companies to promote practices that increase gasoline mileage of automobiles. Raising the average mileage for passenger cars in the United States just one mile per gallon would mean a saving of 1,800,000,000 gallons of gasoline a year, or about $375,000,000, based on the average price at the service station, exclusive of taxes. Contests such as automobile economy runs encourage efficient rather than wasteful use of petroleum products by:

1. Giving the driving public a "mileage par" at which to aim.
2. Showing clearly how to improve mileage by "proper car care, careful driving," etc.
3. Proving that economical driving is safe driving.
4. Stimulating public demand for cars with better mileage capability.
5. Proving good mileage is possible with low as well as high compression engines.

The national mileage average per gallon for passenger cars is about 15 miles, while the average in three post-war economy runs was about 22 miles. That's a mark to shoot at.

"Property Rights And Human Rights"

Here is more of the pamphlet "Property Rights and Human Rights," written by Paul L. Poirer, and published by the Foundation for Economic Education, Inc., Irvington on Hudson, New York:

The Class Struggle
"To many people, the expression 'putting property rights first and human rights second' brings to mind the old-fashioned political picture of a struggle between a few 'rich plutocrats' and 'poor corporate monopolies' on the one hand and the great body of humble citizens on the other. Much of what the public reads and hears about the recurring steel wage controversy conveys the same impression, with emphasis almost entirely on 'the workers' versus the 'big companies.' John L. Lewis' blast against what he called the 'rapacious and predatory' steel industry illustrates the point. In a message to Philip Murray, President of the United Steelworkers, offering a loan of $10,000,000 of coal miners' dues from the union treasury to back up the 1952 steel strike, Mr. Lewis said:

"We are conscious of the strength of the vast array of adversaries which confront you. Rarely has a union membership faced such a formidable grouping of financial and corporate interests as now oppose the steel workers of the nation in their long-standing struggle to achieve their rightful aims and objectives in the industry."

"In all such talk about 'big companies' and 'formidable groupings of financial and corporate interests,' hardly anything is said about the shareholders, little and big, who are the real owners of the business and whose money, plowed into plant and equipment, has made possible the large employment and the record output.

Who Are The "Propertied Classes?"
"Actually, ownership of property rights crosses the imaginary line between economic classes in the United States; and in no other country is the stake in property rights so great and so widely distributed. While we hear much about large corporations with thousands of employees and millions of dollars in assets, it is probably not generally realized that there are over 4,000,000 non-farm business enterprises in this country. Of these, over nine-tenths are classified by the Department of Commerce as 'small business' on the basis of their number of employees or dollar volume of sales. The importance of 'small business' in the economy of the country is further shown by the fact that it accounts for 45 per cent of the total employment of all business enterprises.

"One of the largest of our 'propertied classes' — the farmers — includes nearly 4,000,000 farm owners whose lands and buildings are valued at $35,000,000,000.
"Even among large corporations, the ownership of stock is widely distributed; there are now 75 American companies each having over 50,000 registered shareholders. The Bell Telephone System, in its 1951 annual report, showed 1,092,000 shareholders with no individual owner holding as much as 1.20 of 1 per cent of the total stock. Only five cities in this nation have as large a total population. General Motors, with greater sales volume than any other industrial corporation, has 479,000 shareholders.
"A study entitled 'Share Ownership in the United States, just completed by the Brookings Institution of Washington, reaches the conclusion that there are about 8,500,000 individual shareholders of investor-owned corporations. It was found by the survey — contrary to the opinions often heard — that 32 per cent of the shareholders were from families having incomes under $5,000 annually, 44 per cent had incomes of $5,000-$10,000, and only 2 per cent had incomes over $10,000.

What Are "Human Rights?"
"Now what about the so-called human rights that are represented as superior to property rights?"

What about the 'right' to a job, the 'right' to a standard of living, the 'right' to a minimum wage or a maximum workweek, the 'right' to a 'fair' price, the 'right' to bargain collectively, the 'right' to security against the adversities and hazards of life, such as old age and disability?
"The framers of the Constitution would have been astonished to hear these things spoken of as rights. They are not immunities from governmental compulsion; on the contrary, they are demands for new forms of governmental compulsion. They are not claims to the product of one's own labor; they are, in some if not in most cases, claims to the products of other people's labor.
"These 'human rights' are indeed different from property rights, for they rest on a denial of the basic concept of property rights. They are not freedoms or immunities assured to all persons alike. They are special privileges conferred upon some persons at the expense of others. The real distinction is not between property rights and human rights, but between equality of protection from governmental compulsion on the one hand and demands for the exercise of such compulsion for the benefit of favored groups on the other.

Court Rules Contributions To Tax Association Not Deductible

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — A dollars-and-cents magazine chart for thousands of small business men and farmers was recently framed when the U. S. Tax Court and the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond held that contributions to the National Tax Association are not deductible for income tax purposes. Upheld by the Supreme Court and generally applied, the decision will save many millions a year for gullible customers of such organizations.
The N.T.A.'s principal objective was to persuade Congress to impose a tax on farm and allied cooperatives, which is a legitimate endeavor. But the Federal courts held that its chief activity was "propaganda," and this it was not permitted to do.

The decision came on an appeal by the American Hardware and Equipment Company of Charlotte, N. C., against the original ruling by the Tax Court. It had held as non-deductible the firm's contributions of $1,800 in 1947 and $1,500 in 1948 to N.T.E.A. A similar decision against the Roberts Dairy Company of Omaha, Neb., was upheld by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit.

In view of these two rulings, affirmation by the Supreme Court is anticipated.
SMART PROMOTERS AT WORK
"There are scores of paper organizations which market trusting businessmen, manufacturers and farmers without giving anything in return. The Palmer North Business Committee once estimated that the annual take of such organizations runs into many millions of dollars annually. They exist in every field as a result of the tremendous federal expansion of the last 20 years.
As a rule, they are organized by a few smart promoters, who pay themselves fancy salaries. They open an inexpensive one room office in downtown Washington. They issue monthly or quarterly pamphlets, which are mostly reprints of speeches in the Senate or House. They rarely appear on Capitol Hill or anywhere else.
THE COME-ON — Some go through the motions of holding annual dinners or conventions, which usually turn out to be a fake and a farce. But it is surprising how many paying members, flattered at an invitation to a Washington affair, spend large sums to attend.
The come-on consists of programs distributed in advance to the gullible customers. These usually advertise an impressive list of speakers, including Cabinet members, members of Congress, diplomats and the heads of bureaus. But, more often than not, few of the announced guests of honor show up, and the audience is lousy if it is greeted by a freshman Representative or a third assistant commissioner.
Henceforth, firms which cannot afford their own representation at Washington should consult their Senators or Representatives before signing up with this kind of an organization. Or they should join societies, lobbying in whatever some recognized and effective assembly — business, industry, agriculture, transportation, power — the local company has a financial interest.

"MORE HORSES THAN OATS"
"Every color and design is represented," she writes, "and they are in all stages of wear. No matter how beat up they are, he keeps them. And if I should accidentally get one of the most disreputable ones into the fireplace, he misses it at once.
"If we are going out I can hardly pour him into the one suit he has, but he will throw two or three dozen ties on the dresser looking for the one he fancies at the moment. Invariably, he gets one all out of match or contrast with the shirt he is going to wear. Right now, as I hurriedly type this, he is wearing a blue and white polka dot job with a green and black shepherd's check shirt.
"Now if I wanted to get a divorce, which I don't, I know what I could use for grounds. He probably would never live down the scandal and the judge would throw the book at him. I wouldn't have to tell the judge that he never bought a single one of those 232 ties, but that he is a convenient and built-in disposal unit for all of the Christmas and birthday gifts of members of the 'businessmen's' Cabinet at Washington possessed a more bubbling sense of humor, they would fall back on Lincoln's comment on the patronage problem. Abe said his trouble was that "there are more horses than oats."
Although the Eisenhower administration may draw criticism as "spoilsmen," the Civil Service protection given thousands of minor employees by the Democrats constitutes a serious difficulty. Relatively unimportant officials can do and affect and determine high policy by slanting or coloring supposedly factual reports. Secretaries and receptionists, by refusing appointments to important figures, can create confusion, confusion and delay. They guard the big gates.
A large-scale house cleaning is necessary, in view of Eisenhower's plan to reverse so many Roosevelt — Truman policies. For these protected officials have been absorbing and peddling New Deal-Fair Deal philosophies for 20 years. It will be hard for them to change without becoming untrustworthy hypocrites or mere time-serving hangers-on.

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON
A few months ago, while nursing a broken gam back into walking condition, I decided to do a piece about some ladies I knew who had shoe fetishes and who owned anywhere from 100 to 200 pairs of shoes. The point of the piece was that some fellow was divorcing his wife because she owned 100 pairs of shoes and it goaded him. My answer was that I knew ladies with even more pairs than that and all of them were fine, self-respecting, hard-working, lovely girls. Just lovely. You would have thought I had been talking about dope addicts. Men wrote in by dozens to exhortate these girls and to class them with misers, home-wreckers, heroin swallowers and homicidal maniacs.
Sooner or later I knew that some woman would rise up in full-throated wrath and offer the trail of men in answer. It has happened. Mrs. Charles Brown, of West 54th Street in Los Angeles (62), California, had to go no farther than her own house to prove that when it comes to collecting things to wear — men are undisciplined wretches who never know when to stop. Mrs. Brown is a woman who cannot hang a towel in her house because the guy around the place fills all the towel racks with neckties. Mrs. B. owns 232 ties.
She finds neckties on doorknobs, across the backs of chairs, draped over mirrors and strewn all over the foyer. She finds them in the desk, under mattresses, behind sofas and in the lexbox. Ties crawl from under sofas and across mantles like cobras.
"Every color and design is represented," she writes, "and they are in all stages of wear. No matter how beat up they are, he keeps them. And if I should accidentally get one of the most disreputable ones into the fireplace, he misses it at once.

Fair Enough... Federal Employees' President Answers Civil Service Charge

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees, has sent me a generally temperate discussion of my criticism of the Civil Service as a parasitic thing but he winds up on a shrill note of protest against my remark that it is profitable to poke up the animals to arouse discussion and circulate information. Mr. Steward is a professional bureaucrat in a special bureaucracy growing on the federal public bureaucracy, and his anger vindicates my observation that all opposition to the abuses of Civil Service and all objection to the opposition to the abuses of Civil Service and all objection to the disparity between its retirement benefits and those of Social Security move such people to fury.

"There may be perhaps to some, a form of macabre fun to be derived from... to quote your column, 'Taking a poke at the animals,' as you writes, 'disputing my remark.' We can be permitted to question, however, whether that sort of thing is in the public interest."
For contrast, another letter, from Miss Ruth E. Fleming, of Long Island City, a Civil Service worker in the Veterans Administration, repudiates the bureaucrats' bureaucrat in these words:
"I agree with your statement concerning poking up the animals and the resulting stimulation of discussion. That's why I wrote this letter, the first such letter I have ever written."
All the members of Civil Service quoted by Earl Williams are regarded themselves as diligent, hard-working, if not overworked, citizens of the finest character. I have no de-ire to disagree with these estimates, for most of us admit that the basic employees of the government are decent people. However, by oversight, no doubt, neither Mr. Steward nor any of the Civil-Service workers mentioned the fact that their 5 per cent contributions to their retirement fund are matched, though not equally, by appropriations out of the taxes of the rest of us, just as the employer is required to match the employee's Social Security tax. We tax producers or their employers. This appropriation is recommended each year by the Civil Service Commission and its proportion to the 6 per cent deduction fund is variable and indistinct.

There is a third source of money to meet the retirement payments which for some fastidious reason are not called pensions. That source is the interest on 6 per cent kiddy investments. I do not plunge into dispute over the dead-weight of this retirement system represented by these congressional appropriations. I just state that such appropriations by Congress from our taxes are a part of the system and note that Mr. Steward and others are so ill-informed or so careless as to have failed to mention them.
Mere repartee is not the intention of these commentaries, however. In poking up the animals my purpose is not to offend the virtuous and respectable employees of an extended bureaucracy. My purpose is to emphasize the fact that they are against any proposal to restrict their pensions to the limits which are set for the rest of us in Social Security System. My purpose is to throw into prominence the fact that the bureaucracy has become a devouring sinkhole in the rest of us, with a first lien on our earnings.
True, Civil Service jobs can be abolished by law and the vested interest in those jobs thus can be terminated. But, generally speaking, that is the only way by which this vested interest of persons who deserve no special privilege from the tax-producing workers, can be wound up. Civil Service has become the protector of thousands of unemployable mediocrities and sub-mediocrities who know they cannot be fired for cause this side of felonious conduct.

Waiving the irrelevancy of this reference to my own affairs, I would say that I did find out about waste in "agencies" in Europe and I have dwelt on specific cases of many parasitic labor attachés in the diplomatic system and while collar union bums at the Marshall Plan, Hoffman and Harriman machines. A horde of such characters have been living high on the hog in Europe ever since they were darning more pay jobs at home, drawing expenses as well, and enjoying a complete waiver of the taxes which all of us who support these leeches must pay on our liquor and cigarettes. They get groceries and watches, cameras and perfume at cost — a bonus — with which to pay their rent, as though all of us did not have to pay rent for our homes.
Shepard Stone, of the New York Times propaganda system, who was named next to John McCloy, the Hologalorum of the Hicog of Germany, was no mere labor attaché nor underling. He was a dignitary, allowed seven servants drawn from the German civilian population, to manservant rubble at a region smashed to rubble where the good Germans as well as the Nazis were condemned to horrible hovels. We were trying to "democratize" these good Germans.
Mr. Stone, on leave from the Times, a man of superior degree, with a favorable opinion of him, self, loudly said that this was only reason he availed himself of such a large staff. But the New York Times version of "democracy" was not excessively appetizing to intelligent, moral human beings whose children had already spent seven years in degrading squalor under the iron heel of a luxurious and patronizing conqueror. Mr. Stone has since returned to continue his missionary work among us American natives as an official of the Ford Foundation. A Senate committee or Civil Service admitted that 100,000 of our employees abroad were parasites, but there has been no mass elimination to date.

The Civil Service workers who have written me all around me, they, too, pay income taxes. I was well aware of that out the fact remains that public employees are still consumers rather than producers of taxes even though they do pay income taxes in the same proportions that apply to the rest of us. The point at issue is not that the public service is parasitic in its very nature. That is not debatable. The point is that a system intended to limit the evils of the spoils system has become a device of the spoils system.
For a witness as to this I call R. A. Vander Pyt, of Kenosha, Wis., who has been in Civil Service many years. He writes:
"The blanketing into permanent status of political employees has been only part of the growing paternalistic attitude of government that is surely bringing this nation to the brink of ruin."

Oiler Baseball Stock Rises With Signing Of Hughes; Harvester Banquet Nears

THE OILER BASEBALL stock got a big boost yesterday when business manager J. A. "Jimmy" Hamilton informed us that Lefty Eddie Hughes has come to terms on his contract for the 1953 season.

Hughes got his discharge from the Army last November and he reports that he has been keeping in shape during the winter and is rarin' to go.

Hughes possibly has the best chance of going up in baseball of any other member of the current Oiler roster.

Of course we hope all of the 1953 Oilers go on up the ladder in the diamond sport.

Hughes, however, is young (he's 23) and has the size and speed to make the grade in baseball. Many Oiler fans will remember him from the 1950 season when he finished up the season with the Oilers.

We weren't around then but the ones we have talked to were very impressed with the crafty left-handed pitcher.

Hughes was signed by the late Bill Eastick, one of the most noted baseball scouts of all time. Eastick picked up such stars as Joe Judge, Lefty Gomez and Yogi Berra to mention only a few.

Hughes caught the eye of Eastick in 1950 and Eastick said at the time that Eddie was a major league prospect.

If Hughes comes up to expectations, the Oilers will benefit from his services in more ways than one. He will not be counted against the 15-player squad limit allowed each WT-NM club since he is a returning service man.

Meanwhile on the Oiler front, manager Ted Pawelek last year took for Galveston where he will work out with the Oklahoma City Indians who are in spring training there.

Pawelek found an apartment for his family before leaving. The apartment, however, isn't large enough to meet the needs of the family so Oiler fans are still urged to keep on the lookout for a 2-bedroom furnished apartment. When you hear of one, please call the Oiler office.

Pawelek will remain with the Indians until March 26 when he will return to Pampa to join the Oilers preparatory to going to Sweetwater for spring training. The Oiler training camp will begin March 27.

While at Galveston, Pawelek will be looking around for talent for the Oilers.

Two former Oilers are in training with Oklahoma City, catcher Teddie Tata and infielder Bobby Brown. Brown has been given a good chance of sticking with the Indians. The Tribe is using him at third base.

We'D LIKE TO REMIND you of the basketball banquet honoring the state champion Pampa Harvesters which is less than a week away. The affair is set for March 26.

It's not every day that we will get to honor a state champion so let's make this banquet a big success.

The Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee and Booster Club are going all-out to make the banquet a big success. A big program has been lined up.

The two sponsoring clubs were holding a meeting this afternoon to put the final touches on the banquet arrangements.

In case you haven't noticed where the banquet tickets are being sold, they can be obtained at Clyde's Pharmacy, Richard's Drug, B & B Pharmacy, Malone Pharmacy and the Chamber of Commerce office.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

Michaels Leads

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 18—UP—Veteran infielders Cass Michaels and Pete Suder led the Philadelphia Athletics seventh day Wednesday after nine Grapefruit League games.

Michaels, a 19 year man at 37, had 13 hits, including three doubles and a triple and three homers, for a .400 average, while the 37 year old Suder had nine hits in 27 at bats for .333. The Athletics, given St. Patrick's Day off, oppose the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday.

The Phillies suffered their ninth loss in 11 games Tuesday when they bowed to the Cincinnati Reds 7 to 6.

Bosox Nip Cards

LAKELAND, Fla., March 18—UP—Stan Musial led the National League's six-time batting champion, who was red-hot Wednesday but you couldn't prove it to the St. Louis Cardinals' won and lost record.

Musial hit his third home run in two games Tuesday but it wasn't enough as the Boston Red Sox beat the Cardinals 6 to 5 in 14 innings. It was the Cardinals' seventh defeat in 11 exhibition games and their third in the last four. They play the Detroit Tigers Wednesday.

Giants Lose

FRESNO, Calif., March 18—UP—Manager Leo Durocher's high hopes that Ruben Gomez would be the "surprise pitcher" of the New York Giants this spring were a bit jaded Wednesday.

Gomez, a sensation in the Cuban winter league, suffered his second setback of the spring as the St. Louis Browns downed the Giants 9 to 4. And, as in his previous appearance, Gomez was victimized by a six run inning.

The Giants, whose Grapefruit League record dropped below the .500 mark, resume their series with the Cleveland Indians Wednesday. The series stands 3 to 2 in favor of the Indians.

Sauer Sidelined

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 18—UP—Hank Sauer, the National League's most valuable player, was sidelined with a fractured finger Wednesday but was expected to be in shape for the Chicago Cubs' opening game of the season.

Sauer suffered the injury to the little finger on his right hand when he slid into first base in a game with Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League Monday.

The Cubs play the St. Louis Browns Wednesday. The Browns defeated the New York Giants 7 to 6 Tuesday for their ninth triumph in 11 games.

Braves Nip Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18—UP—Jim McDonald, a flop with a .34 record in 1952, boasted the finest record of any New York Yankee pitcher Wednesday in his bid to make Manager Casey Stengel's staff.

McDonald was the first Yankee pitcher to go six innings and has yet to permit an earned run in 15 frames. He was touched for an unearned run Tuesday as the Yankees lost to the Boston Braves 5 to 2.

Warren Spahn and Johnny Antonelli, who limited the Yankees to four hits, also snapped Mickey Vernon's nine-game hitting streak. The teams play again Wednesday.

Reds 7, Phils 6

SARASOTA, Fla., March 18—UP—Two "hot" teams met Wednesday as the Cincinnati Reds opposed the Boston Red Sox.

Reds scored their third consecutive triumph Tuesday as they defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7 to 6 with the aid of two home runs by Ted Kluszewski and one by Jim Graessgrass. The Red Sox, meanwhile, made it six wins in seven games when John Merson's double scored Al Zarilla from first base to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 5 in 14 innings.

Bums Make Shift

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 18—UP—Jackie Robinson shifts to third base and rookie Junior Gilliam, the International League's most valuable player in 1952, takes over at second Wednesday as the Brooklyn Dodgers face the Washington Senators.

The move makes Billy Cox, the best third baseman in the National League last season, Brooklyn's utility infielder.

Dykes, Frenchman Clash In Dallas

DALLAS, March 18—UP—Rangy Bobby Dykes meets Frenchman Pierre Langlois in a nationally televised middleweight boxing bout on Wednesday night that might turn out to be the crossroads of a brilliant fistic career.

The 24 year old Texan with a tendency to take some opponents too lightly has seen his stocks in the middleweight division drop from fifth to ninth in recent months because he wasn't in peak form against Gil Turner and Joe Miceli and lost to both.

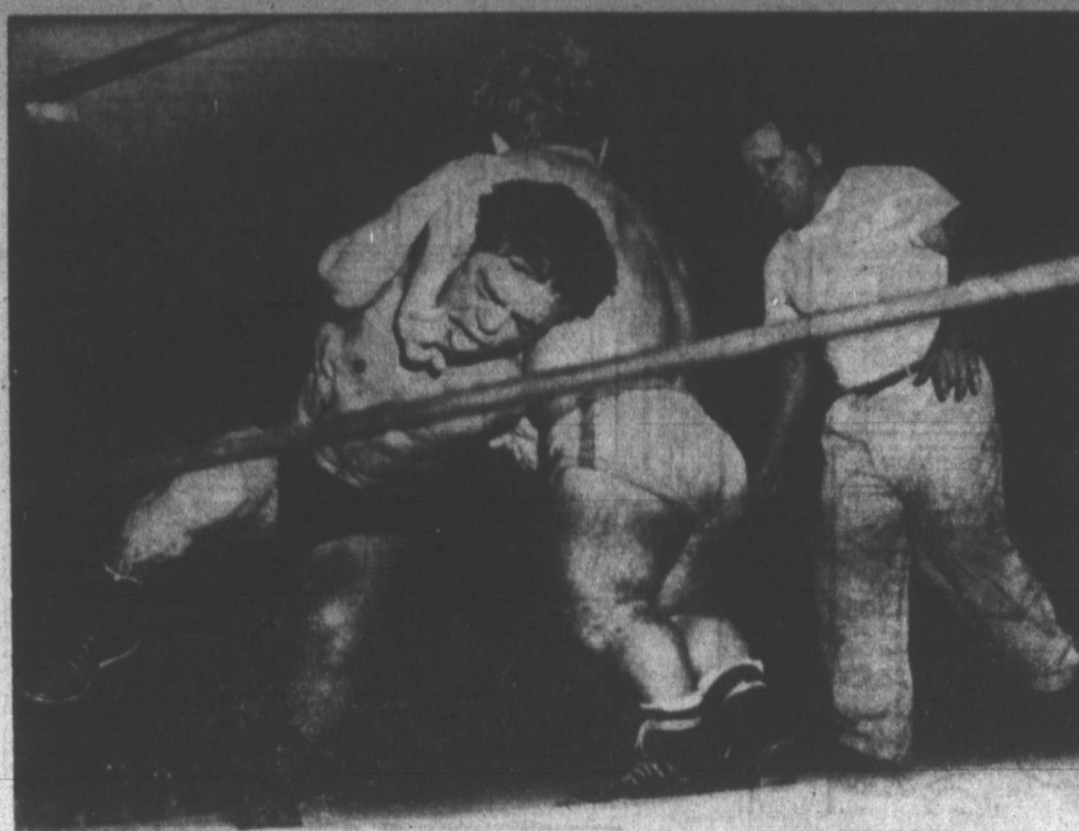

He cannot afford to loaf if he hopes to start a climb back toward the top in the Sportatorium 10.

Jayhawks, Hoosiers Reach NCAA Finals

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 18—UP—The Kansas University Jayhawks, who pulled many an "upset" this season to clinch the Big Seven title, will try for another "upset" and the national college basketball title Wednesday night when they meet the nation's number one team, Indiana.

The defending national champions, who won international fame in the Olympics last spring, moved into the final NCAA playoffs Tuesday night by trouncing the Washington Huskies, 79 to 63, on the heels of Indiana's 80 to 67 rampage over Louisiana State.

If Coach Forest C. (Phog) Allen's Jayhawks win, they will have earned records equaled only by Oklahoma A&M and Kentucky, Oklahoma A&M was national champion in 1945 and 1946, while Kentucky, which was not allowed to compete this year, won in 1948, 1949 and 1951. Indiana won the title in 1940.

The Jayhawks won the NCAA title last year by downing St. Johns of Brooklyn, 80 to 63, their loss to the American Olympic finals, 62 to 80, to the Peoria Caterpillars. A combined Kansas Caterpillar team swept the Olympics 36 to 25 from Russia in Helsinki, Finland, last spring.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 18—UP—Pete Cooper was the leader at the start of the second and final round Wednesday in the Seminole promoter tournament, but Ben Hogan was the man opposing players were watching.

Cooper, who now plays out of White Plains, N. Y., gained a two-stroke lead on the breezy, Ocean-side course Tuesday by carving out a six under par 66.

But Hogan, in one of his few tournament appearances of the year, fired a creditable 69, which gained him a tie for third place with Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., and Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y.

Herman Scharlow of Boca Raton, Fla., was Cooper's nearest rival with a 68. However, Hogan was given the best chance of catching the leader on the basis of his opening round form.

Ben knocked a stroke off par on the front nine for a 35 and picked up two birdies on the back nine for a 34.

Cooper, meanwhile, toured the tough front nine in 34 and returned in 32. The ex-truck driver, who also is president pro at Ponte Vedra, Fla., credited his fast start to steady putting.

Five veteran pros were bunched at 70, four strokes back of Cooper. They were Jimmy DeMaret, Sam Snead, Art Wall, Al Besselink and Cary Middlecoff.

Each pro is bracketed with two club members in the best ball competition. The leader in this phase of the tournament was Dan Topping of New York, who used a 13 stroke handicap to post a 64.

Robert R. Young, the railroad magnate, employed a 12 handicap in rounding a 66.

round main event against the speedy Frenchman before a Columbia Broadcasting System television audience at 9 p. m.

Corbett Wins All-Midget Mat Battle

Gentleman Jim Corbett won the first and third falls last night to capture the all-midget scrap from Fuzzy Cupid before a standing-room-only crowd at the Southern Club Sports Arena.

Corbett was the crowd's favorite from the start and he rewarded his fans with a well-earned victory. After winning the first fall with an airplane spin and body pin, Corbett and Cupid swapped the same holds in dividing the last two falls.

Cupid supplied an "upside-down" hold that dropped Corbett on his head on the canvass to even the match in the second fall and then Corbett supplied the same hold to win the third and deciding fall.

Doby Funk won another popular decision over Judo Jack Terry in the night's final event. Funk used his famous step-over-toehold to win the first and third falls.

Both matmen went against the wrestling rules throughout but no disqualifications resulted.

The preliminary bout pitting Ace Abbott and Benny Truddell ended in a draw.

Native Dancer Back Home

NEW YORK, March 18—UP—Native Dancer, winter back favorite for the Kentucky Derby, was back on his home grounds at Belmont Park Wednesday following a winter vacation in California.

Alfred Vanderbilt's unbeaten colt arrived late Tuesday by train from Santa Anita and was judged in "excellent condition" for the resumption of his racing career at the forthcoming Jamaica meeting.

Native Dancer has not raced since last fall, when he closed out his juvenile season with his ninth straight victory in the East View stakes.

NL to Vote On Braves' Move Today

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18—UP—The National League's club owners met in secret session Wednesday to study a six-point agenda and then give Lou Perini a "yes" or "no" answer to his proposed shift of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee.

Perini, despite the American League's rejection of a similar proposal by Bill Veckh last Monday, said he expected to receive the unanimous approval required by National League regulations. George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, predicted, however, that the proposal will be rejected and Warren Giles, president of the National League, warned that the agenda contained difficult problems.

The first of these points, according to Giles, was a solution to the schedule problems which would be created by the shift. The next four points "involve details which arise because of the time element," Giles said, while the sixth point is a study of a decision which will be reached by representatives of the American Association at an earlier meeting.

The final point on the agenda is the actual voting, with unanimous 7-0 approval required. No owner has stated that he is sufficiently opposed to cast the single dissenting vote, but Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has hinted that he takes a dim view of the move at this time. A high baseball official also revealed that the Pittsburgh Pirates will not decide their vote until the first point is cleared up to their satisfaction.

This source, who is close to Commissioner F. C. Frick, explained that some owners favor asking the Pirates to take the schedule originally drawn up for the Braves with the new Milwaukee club in heretofore Pittsburgh's original schedule.

The Pirates may be opposed to this solution, the source explained, because one-third of their season ticket sales are advance-season sales. This figure now approaches $600,000 for the 1953 season and the Pirates may not want to risk the loss of a large portion of that sale by accepting a new schedule—particularly one which would pit them against the 12 powerful eastern teams at the beginning of the season.

The Pennant Club finished second in team play with 2,320 and Clyde's Pharmacy wound up third with 2,297.

Barbara Ross and Lilith Martin won the top prize in doubles play. The two combined for a 1-118 series to finish seven pins ahead of Mary Giddeen and Lili Baxter with 1,111 in second place. Vera Harrison and Claudine Bradley ranked third in doubles with 1,103.

Miriam Luedders posted a 596 series to win first place in singles. Mrs. Luedders rolled games of 171, 185 and 183 plus her 87 pin handicap.

Fay Coleman was second in singles with 553 while Nancy Lewis finished third with 566.

Mary Giddeen was declared the "sweeper" champion with 1,725. Following her were Barbara Ross, 1,685; Elaine Riddle, 1,675; Lilith Martin, 1,637; Miriam Luedders, 1,629; Nina Howe, 1,629; Jean Chisolm, 1,627; and Alberta Rader, 1,615.

The tournament was one of the most successful meets held in recent years at the Pampa Bowl.

Malone, in winning the team trophy, had a series of 2,407—an average of 599 per game.

Jma Petrie, the defending all-events champion, led the Malone team to the title. Mrs. Petrie had a series of 554 during the team play.

WASHABLE SNOWSUITS
Most children's snow suits are soap-and-water washable—poplin, Byrd cloth, cotton gabardine, rayon, nylon, Orion and Dynel—if the linings are equally washable. They are done by hand or in machines. Close zippers, clean collars and cuffs with a soap brush before immersing. Most suits require no ironing, but should be blotted with towels and shaped with the hands while damp.

Rejects Degree
TORONTO, Ont., March 17—UP—Walter Stewart, a senior at the University of Toronto, said Tuesday he will refuse to write any final examinations because the university degree isn't worth the paper on which it is printed.
Stewart said there are three factors at this university which render it useless—the administration, the teachers and the students.
He charged the administration talked in terms of dollars, the teachers in terms of "and" and the students in terms of sex.

Card of Thanks
The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: For Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou crownest my head with oil: My cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

What Malenkov Will Do . . . Hank Joins Ranks Of Experts And Predicts Russia's Future

By HENRY McEMORE
LOS ANGELES — Not since I saw my first giraffe have I been so astounded as I have by the 2,233,666 words which have been written on what will happen in Russia now that Stalin is dead.

Authorities who know nothing more about Russia than how to spell Kremlin and Siberia have bounced out of journalistic hibernation to predict, flat-footedly, what course the new leaders will pursue.

Wouldn't you think that they would have volunteered their information before? After all, this country, along with the rest of the free world, could have used their knowledge long before this. It would have been a help to know the name of the man who was to succeed Stalin.

Experts on Russia came out of the bushes like flushed partridges once Stalin kicked the bucket. With a New Jersey manufactured samovar in one hand, and a typewriter in the other, they let fly the stuff.

To read the stuff you would have to fight against believing that they had played gin rummy in the Kremlin, had been hiding behind a curtain at Politburo meetings, had been best man at Vasily Stalin's wedding, and were the only ones allowed to comb Stalin's mustache.

They uncovered facts that Eisenhower didn't know. They told stories that Churchill never heard of. These men were shooting for the quick dollar, and I have no fuss at that, I like quick dollars myself.

I think I'll earn myself a few, right now.

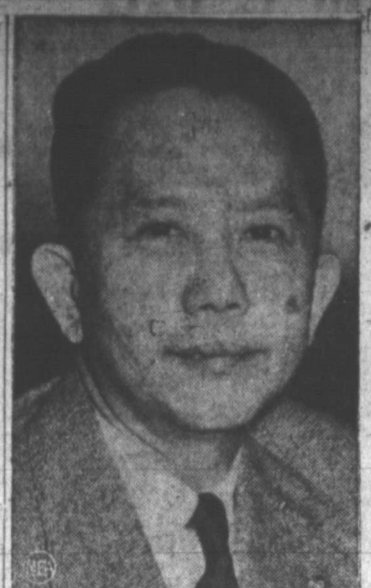

Here come my predictions on Russia, by a man who is short at the bank, but who can guess with the best of them.

Russia soon will undergo a great purge. Owls, the common hood variety, will be the victims. Malenkov doesn't like owls. They look too much like him, for one thing, and for another, they keep him awake at night. The lone-some wall of a hoot owl reminds him too much of the years he spent cutting throats.

Malenkov will get a severe sore throat as a result of talking about the peasant while living like a king.

Malenkov will agree to meeting Eisenhower any place in the world to discuss why the United States doesn't take a firm stand against murderous acts by Russia. At the meeting he will suggest that our planes have only one wing, so that the destruction will be only half as great, and that all our infantrymen be young, single orphans so that mothers, fathers, wives, and children won't be distressed when they are killed.

At this point there is a 500-

NEW UN HEAD?—Brig. Gen. Carlos Romulo, of the Philippines, has been frequently mentioned to succeed Trygve Lie as Secretary General of the UN. The 54-year-old soldier-statesman has been his country's chief representative to the UN's General Assembly.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: Fabulous Gloria Swanson is abdicating as a big-screen movie star in favor of television emoting and writing a book about "the rise and fall of an illusion known as Gloria Swanson."

"I doubt if I'll ever do another movie," 54-year-old Gloria confided on the set of "The Last Duchess," one of a series of 26 Crown Theatre half-hour telefilms in which she's acting, narrating and playing femcee for Bing Crosby Enterprises.

"I'll never be able to top 'Sunset Boulevard,'" she explained. "It was a once-in-a-lifetime thing. I tried a comedy after that and it was compared to 'Sunset.' It wasn't fair. I took 'Sudden Fear' to Paramount. No one was interested. Now I'm no longer interested in Hollywood stardom."

She completes the Crown Theatre series for Director Harry Foster next month and "then I'm going to lock myself in my New York apartment and write about a woman named Gloria Swanson. But this Gloria isn't me—she's an illusion created by Hollywood."

Burt Lancaster is giving fan word description of Red Square, the ballet, the music, the caviar, and all the other nonsensical things Moscow authorities write.

Russia, through Molotov, will complain that Oatis is upsetting the jail routine by wanting a little more to eat than bread and water, and that if he (Oatis) doesn't start behaving, Russia will send more MIGs to Korea.

Russian women will get more dowdy.

Russia will show its appreciation of its UN veto by buying it a new coat with a fur collar, and giving it the Star of Lenin with crossed bayonets.

Russia will continue to show its contempt of this country until it has worn out both cheeks of Uncle Sam and finally exposes his heart.

Then Russia will get its star-spangled come-uppance.

magazine scries a bad time with his refusal to be interviewed . . . John Boles just opened a big electronics plant in LA and is on his way to another million . . . The Gene Evans-Patty Powers marriage is no longer scheduled and chances are that it will never come off . . . To avoid criticism from church groups, Columbia is changing the classic Reverend Davidson character in "Miss Sadie Thompson," the musicalized version of "Rain," to plain Mr. Thompson, a professional reformer.

Easy Money
Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz just signed another nothing-but-money contract. This time to be featured in the first 3-D magazine ever published. Readers will view Lucy and Desi through Polaroid glasses.

MGM bosses look puzzled over Mario Lanza's claims that the studio will let him star in "Carrousel" and "The Vagabond King." MGM doesn't own either property.

Ouch, the things that Hollywood's learning but 3-D! Now comes the 3-D gangster and he can't be dressed in the traditional blue suit with big white stripes that has been standard for mobsters since the days of Eddie Robinson in "Little Caesar."

Columbia fitted an actor in their depths, "The Man Who Lived Twice," in the accepted gangster costumes for a wardrobe test. Now he's wearing a plain black suit. The stripes came right out in the middle of the audience!

All hair restorers having failed, Frank Sinatra has now taken to wearing hats. Errol Flynn's doctors in Rome have barred all liquor because of his yellow jaundice . . . Movieland attorney Greg Bautzer and Mari Blanchard have postponed the altar march.

Hal Wallis saw Benny Rubin's new comedy act in San Diego and now they're talking a movie deal. "Glamor For Met Star"

Producer Sam Spiegel will attempt a glamor campaign for Met Opera star Patrice Muret to help sell his production of "Met."

Ken Murray's story of how he almost hired an unknown doll named Marilyn Monroe to replace Marie Wilton in his "Blackouts" four years ago is getting snickers from a gent who was there when it happened.

Ken says he "sorrowfully" had to turn her down because of extensive alterations to Marie's wardrobe.

The man who was there says Ken took one look at Marilyn in a sweat and promptly dismissed her with:

"Sorry, not big enough."

Without having yet sung on the screen, Joanne Gilbert was billed by a New York night club as "Paramount's New Singing Star." She'll be one, too, after her first musical, "Red Garters."

The Gone Set is flipping over Herbie Baker's new "Love Song," introduced by mama Bella Baker. He wrote it originally as a campaign song for Adlai Stevenson.
