Eisenhower Becomes 34th President

Issues Guarded Invitation To Russia For Disarmament

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 —UP— Dwight David Eisenhower became President of the United States Tuesday and immediately held forth a guarded invitation to Communist Russia to negotiate "honestly" for world disarmament.

But he also warned that Americans would rather fight than "try to placate an aggressor" by "trading honor and security." He said this nation will build up and maintain its strength.

"We must be ready," he said, "to dare all for our country." The soldier-hero of World War II took the oath of office before thousands of well-wishers massed in the east plaza of the Capitol and millions more who watched by television the installation of the first Republican president in 20 years.

He extended his cautious peace feeler to the Kremlin in a brief, strikingly non-partisan inaugural address delivered after Herbert Hoover was sworn in by Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

"Declaring world peace the 'supreme' goal of his administration, Mr. Eisenhower said he will 'stand ready to engage with any and all others in joint effort to remove the causes of mutual fear and distrust among nations, and so to make possible a drastic reduction of armaments.'"

Must Aim At Peace For All He quickly added, however, that any such negotiations must be "aimed logically and honestly toward secure peace for all" and "every participating nation" must be prepared to prove its "good faith."

President Eisenhower evidently harbored no great hope that Russia would soon accept such terms. For he went on to warn his countrymen that a long, hard pull is ahead of them.

Pleading for a rebirth of the patriotism that puts duty to country above all selfish interests, he said Americans must be prepared to "accept whatever sacrifices may be required" to keep this nation in check. And he urged the rest of the free world to do likewise.

Two former presidents—Herbert Hoover, the last Republican to occupy the White House, and Harry S. Truman, who achieved ex-presidential status the moment Mr. Eisenhower took the oath—were included in the throng of dignitaries who filled the big Capitol plaza to overflow.

Began With Prayer Mr. Eisenhower began his big day by praying for divine guidance at a private service at the National Presbyterian Church. He was escorted to the Capitol by Mr. Truman and Republican leaders of the House and Senate.

Richard Milhous Nixon was sworn as vice president shortly before Eisenhower took his oath to become the 34th U.S. president. A fellow Californian, Sen. William F. Knowland, administered the oath to Nixon.

Mr. Eisenhower devoted his 2,300-word inaugural address entirely to international problems. Details of his domestic program will be spelled out in the State of the Union message which he plans to deliver in person before a joint session of Congress, probably next week.

The new president set forth nine "rules of conduct" for the United States and the world and said that if these are observed, "an Earth of peace may become not a vision but a fact."

America to Be Strong No. 1 was his promise to make America strong, and quickly followed.

Dedication Becomes A Heated Ceremony HAZELCREST, Ill., Jan. 20—UP—E. G. Ireland, secretary-treasurer of the volunteer fire department, proudly attended dedication ceremonies for a new $21,000 fire engine he was instrumental in purchasing.

While there along with fellow members of the fire department, Ireland's house caught fire.

Milk Fund Grows; Money Welcomed Pampa's Milk Fund has been growing and growing during the past few weeks, but contributions are always welcome.

A total of $1,143.04 was in the PMF coffers—in both local banks—this morning.

Of that total, the Pampa Lions Club contributed $120 recently, according to Ivey Duncan, fund chairman.

Continuing contributions are necessary, Duncan said, for "we have to have a reserve to work with." And that is what has been coming in, he said—"a little all the time."

Area residents can take or send their contributions to either local bank to be deposited in the "Milk Fund" Salvation Army and county welfare board officials file the names of needy with the banks and order milk from either of the two local dairies.

Dairies present their bills to the banks at the end of each month. As long as there is money in the fund, the program continues.

Gov. Shivers Inaugurated

AUSTIN, Jan. 20 —UP— Gov. Allan Shivers began his second term in office today, pledging his administration to "find ways of serving better the people who have elected us."

In solemn, open-air ceremonies witnessed by thousands, the governor accepted the responsibilities of another two years in office "in humility, in sincerity and with a deep sense of gratitude."

Paced by the rumbling roar of a 19-gun salute, Shivers embarked on a new term, promising him the longest successive tenure of any chief executive in Texas history.

He first took office July 11, 1949, following the death of the late Gov. Beauford Jester, and was elected to his first full term in 1951. At the end of his current two-year term, Shivers will have served about three weeks longer than did former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

Speaks From Capitol Another voice of protest over the proposed Canadian River Dam made itself heard this week from Canadian.

The protest came from Frank J. Shaller, cattleman, of Hemphill County, who objected strenuously to asking the federal government for aid and strongly doubts the feasibility of the dam, declaring it will fill with sediment before 50 years are out.

"I can see where our country is headed if it continues to listen to pressure groups demanding federal aid. I can see no other way to stop until we quit asking and seeking this assistance. Only then can we say 'NO' when other groups come forth with their demands on the treasury. . . . Seems as though we want federal aid to stop just after it gets to us," he said.

Shaller said he had been told by engineers that the dam would be filled with sediment before 50 years. He also declared he was very familiar with the soil of the area and added that the Canadian carries more sand than many of the rivers which have been dammed. The Canadian, he continued, has a greater fall than the other rivers which help to carry the sand. He said one would be surprised if they got a bucket of water.

Convicts Hold Five Guards BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 20—UP—Armed convicts held five guards as hostages Tuesday in a barricaded prison farm while authorities were restoring order at riot-damaged Pennsylvania Western Penitentiary 200 miles away.

About 575 inmates at Rockview Penitentiary in mountainous central Pennsylvania started a state's second prisoner rebellion in two days Monday night when a convict whipped out a smuggled pistol in the recreation hall.

Other convicts quickly disarmed six guards, including a cousin of Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.), and took their keys. They immediately "captured" two cell blocks and put up barricades.

The rioters released guard Rankin Tate when he complained he was ill and Rockview authorities shortly afterward chained the cell blocks from the outside and announced all prisoners were "securely locked in."

1953 Stock Show Catalogues Ready Catalogues for the 1953 Stock Show of the Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders Association are expected to be ready for mailing by February 1, according to a report from the catalogue committee today.

Proofs on copy are now being checked by M. O. Callihan, Conway, A. B. Carruth and Ralph Thomas, committee members. To be ready to go to press with the catalogue is a two-day job, the publication will catalogue 57 head of cattle.

The show and sale is scheduled for Feb. 15-17.

National Kiwanis Has 38th Birthday Pampa's Kiwanis Club will be in the midst of its 38th year Wednesday when Kiwanis International celebrates its 38th anniversary.

But no particular activities are in store for local Kiwanians, according to Clinton Evans, local president. Audrey Jones, city tax assessor-collector, is scheduled to talk to the weekly meeting Friday on tax appraisals and property evaluations.

Jones gave the same speech before the state municipal convention, according to Bob Fugate, editor of "Kiwanis Klatter," local publication of the club.

Thief Snatches Purses NEW YORK, Jan. 20—UP—Police were looking Tuesday for a thief who goes in for purse snatching on a grand scale.

While truck driver Mark Calaschett was delivering a purse to a customer Monday a thief stole his truck containing $11,000 worth of women's purses.

Ike Prays For Guidance In Midst Of Inaugural Jubilee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 —UP— Dwight David Eisenhower prayed for divine guidance today in a solemn prelude to his inauguration as the 34th president of the United States. Less than three hours before taking the oath of office at a stately ceremony on the Capitol's east plaza, Eisenhower attended a private morning service in Washington's historic National Presbyterian Church.

Accompanied by members of his immediate family and the key officials of his administration, he bowed his head in humble reverence as the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson prayed for world peace and besought God's guidance of the new chief executive.

The church services and the stately noontime inaugural ceremony were a solemn interlude in an otherwise noisy three-day political jubilee welcoming the first Republican administration in 20 years.

Sunshine Seen Weather forecasters promised that an early-morning fog would lift in time for at least a few good-omen rays of sunshine to fall on the oath-taking ceremonies.

But nothing, not even Washington's fabled humidity, could dampen the exuberant spirits of the estimated 650,000 inaugural visitors who came from every part of the nation to share "Ike's big day."

Richard Milhous Nixon will be sworn as vice president a few minutes before Mr. Eisenhower. Both will use two Bibles, each of sentimental attachment. Chief Justice Vinson will administer the oath to Mr. Eisenhower; Sen. William F. Knowland, a fellow Californian, will swear in Nixon.

There will be prayers and music. Eisenhower will deliver a 15-minute inaugural address, and the solemn part of the occasion will be over.

Silence to Embrace City But for those ceremonial moments, the city was in a state of jubilation. The inter-club basketball tournament, the Circle 8 Square Dance Club will sponsor a square dance at 8 p.m. in the Parish Hall.

The Mothers' March of Jan. 29, will be run by the Junior Arts and Civic Club, in Lefors. On that same night a minstrel and pie and box supper will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Thursday night will be the first special dance held for the March of Dimes in the Moose auditorium with Leon Howell and his Musical Men furnishing the music. Both the auditorium and the orchestra are being furnished for the campaign at no charge.

Hasse said this morning—the total amount donated toward the drive so far has not been counted, but is being turned over to the drive treasurer, Mack Hiatt, as fast as it comes in.

The March of Dimes, directed by Warren Hasse this year, recruits, on the average, six workers and involves uncounted volunteers. Net collection in this drive last year, according to Hasse, was $18,500 and the amount used under the delegation of the Gray County Police Board was $7,800.

The drive is conducted during the month of January each year.

The TB Association, according to Bert Nuckols, treasurer, does not go into a concerted drive. One paid worker and a few volunteers sell Christmas seals each year beginning Nov. 17 and end in January.

Proceeds in 1952 totalled $2,429 and $2,200 in the 1953 drive. Funds are delegated by a 21-member board which meets four times a year. Of the total proceeds 80 per cent stays in the county and 20 per cent goes to the state organization.

It is against the American Red Cross that the city commission during its weekly meeting.

Discuss Airline Plans United Drive Wins Backing From C of C Directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Board of City Development approve a united fund drive "in principle" and have gone on record as willing to cooperate with any other local organization interested in setting up such a system.

This action was taken at the group's monthly meeting in the Palm Room Monday when a group of local officials, a representative group of Pampa businessmen, and several men and women active in Gray County's 50th Birthday Celebration last October were special guests.

A discussion of the fund resolution was directed by Lynn Boyd, president of the local chamber, who presided at the luncheon. Other action of the board included the approval of a Business Education Day in Pampa with the date and further details to be worked out. Presented to the group by Jimmie McCune, the program is designed to bring local school teachers and industry in closer contact and is a furtherance of an "appreciation dinner" (See UNITED DRIVE, Page 2)

PUT THE BLAME ON MAM - IE, BOYS — As Dwight D. Eisenhower steps into the White House today, the influence of Mrs. Eisenhower as first lady can already be seen in the fashion world.

Mrs. Irene Reeves, 215 Kensington, the winsome young lady above, portrays how to become fashionably Republican with a new Mamie couture. Bangs "like Mamie's" can even be purchased now in a department store only a block and a half from the White House.

But the young lady above had her hair clipped to match the new first lady's. Mrs. Lena Hood Creel, local hair stylist, did a "bang-up" job, too. (Daily News Photo)

Mamie Proud, Radiant During Her Biggest Day

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 —UP— Mamie Eisenhower began the biggest day in her life Tuesday in a hat she received from a total stranger.

The bonnet, trimmed in white silk with a dash of rhinestones, came through the mail from a woman in Virginia. It was strictly an amateur production but Mamie was delighted.

Radiantly Ready She was radiantly ready to step into her role as new first lady. A final day of rest in the presidential suite at the Statler Hotel appeared to have erased the last trace of a lingering cold.

For Mamie, this was "Ike's day." But she was proud to be by his side. Mamie will entertain her first White House dinner guests Tuesday night without talking to the cook, and dress for her first presidential party without unpacking a suitcase.

For she is moving into a mansion that is run much like a hotel. But already her influence will have been at work. Belongings Moved In While Mrs. Eisenhower watched her husband take his oath as president at the Capitol, the first of the Eisenhower belongings were moved into their new home. And the new-mistress' first orders were passed along to the White House staff by intermediaries.

Surrenders World's Most Powerful Office . . . President Has 'No Regrets'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP— President Truman surrendered the world's most powerful office in the world Tuesday with "no regrets."

He seemed almost light-hearted, in fact, as he moved through the memory-filled White House for the last time, on last-minute errands. Now that it was nearly over, a United Press reporter asked the President whether he ever regretted his decision not to run for a second term.

"No, indeed," he said. Up to the last minute, the retiring, 68-year-old President maintained the secret on what he would wear to the inaugural ceremony at the Capitol.

His successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, started a wild scramble for black Homburgs by announcing he was breaking with the silk topper tradition.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it, Lewis Hardware, 427 S. 4th.

Since he didn't bother telling the White House about the decision, Mr. Truman felt free to wear any hat he pleased.

Police Seeking Burglary Suspects Pampa police today are on the look-out for two unidentified men wanted for pulling at least four—and possibly five—burglaries in the Top o' Texas area.

Clothes, bedclothes and food have been taken from farmhouses in McLean, Shamrock and Texola, Okla., according to word received here from the sheriff's office in Amarillo.

In addition, a locked strong box was taken from a Shamrock farmhouse.

Two of the jobs were pulled in McLean, one in Texola and either one or two in Shamrock, according to police records.

Local Engineers To Attend Annual Meeting In Amarillo

Seven local engineers plan to attend the 17th annual meeting of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers in Amarillo Wednesday through Saturday.

Approximately 500 engineers from throughout the state are expected to attend the meeting which convenes in the Herring Hotel. All branches of engineering will be represented.

Henry Mathieu, formerly of Pampa, now of Lubbock, is president of the state organization and will conduct business sessions during the convention.

Notable speakers on the program include John Ben Shepperd, attorney general of Texas; A. A. Smith, vice president, First National Bank, Dallas; J. D. Coleman, president of the National Society of Professional Engineers and D. B. Quarles, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Entertainment features and special programs have been planned for the engineers' wives.

A trip to the West Texas State Museum, Canyon, and to Palo Duro State Park Saturday will follow adjournment. The Panhandle chapter of the society will escort visiting engineers to the museum and park.

Those planning to attend from Pampa include George Thompson, secretary of the Panhandle chapter; G. K. Reading, Barton Doucette, Waldon Moore, Gene Barber, Kenneth Lloyd and W. T. Seitz. The engineers will be accompanied by their wives.

PRESIDES AT STATE MEETING — As president of the Texas Farmers Union, Fred Haiduk, southwest of Pampa, with direct activities of the organization's 4th annual convention in Wichita Falls Jan. 23-24. Other area farmers serving as officers at the convention include J. J. Berg, Panhandle, vice-president; and Andrew Peterson, Canadian, state extension service, state production and marketing committee, soil conservation service, farmers' home administration and from the national Farmers Union are listed on the convention program.

ter from the river — while it is on a rampage — to see just how much sand there is in the bottom of that bucket after it settled.

He said it was his opinion that if the dam is as feasible as its supporters claim, then they should have no trouble building it through private financing.

"In order to make a good showing, the proponents indicated private financing. But I observed, when the State Board of Water Engineers (at the hearing on Jan. 12 for creation of a water district) suggested that they might strike out Part 10 in their petition (a portion which alluded to information and data on the dam which could be obtained from the Bureau of Reclamation) they had some hazy suggestions."

Shaller also declared he had been in some meetings where "some of the leaders for this dam have made public statements to the effect that they were willing to get all they could out of the government." He added it was "this kind of an attitude that is throwing the country into a financial crisis."

He then suggested that if the cities involved would say "we don't want federal aid, we can do this ourselves," that it would set a wonderful precedent. He asked why such a precedent could not be established in Texas, "yes, why not from the Panhandle of Texas."

Cross charter to enter into a community chest drive, said Mrs. W. Showell, executive secretary of the local chapter. However, she stated, the Red Cross, realizing that much of the time of business men is taken up with such matters, has been making concessions. The national charter requires local chapters to participate in the March 1-15 drive although part of the funds may be secured through a joint community affair.

Annual budget of the local chapter has been set at $12,800 and last year's collection totalled $8,100. The drive is conducted in March and involves about 40 women in residential districts; about 50 men and members of the Business and Professional Women's Club in business houses.

Leaders of the Pampa Girl Scouts are "kinda neutral," according to Dr. Douglas E. Nelson, second vice-president of the association, but he feels that the group would be willing to go along with a united program. Discussion about two years ago, Dr. Nelson stated, resulted with the idea that a united plan would be better for the Girl Scouts.

Annual budget of the association is about $7,750 and the group has collected a little more than $7,000, according to a recent report. The Girl Scout drive is conducted during part of September and October annually. About 40 workers are involved.

E. D. Robinson, 1922 treasurer of the local cancer society, does not think the society would object to the united plan. Personally, he says, he thinks it is a fine idea. This group's annual budget runs between $3,000 and $3,800 and last year's collection was about $2,800. The drive began in April, Robinson stated, and straggled into September and a "bunch" of workers, including B and PW and Girl Scouts were involved.

Salvation Army Capt. W. M. Hough feels a united drive would be less burdensome on everybody. The local budget last year was set at $11,500, but funds fell short. About 80 people were involved in the drive which was held in September.

Another group in favor of the chest is the United Service Organization, Mickey Ledrick, local coordinator for the USO, mentioned that the USO drive this year lacks about $2,000 to meet its quota. This is due, in part, he says, to the number of drives both before and after this one.

To save time and money, Ledrick hasn't called on volunteer workers to assist in the drive, but, he said, we haven't got much money. He feels the imposition on workers and businessmen would be lessened in a united drive.

Boy Scout personnel had no comment to make on the subject at this time. Representatives of the group feel that it should be left up to the community which plan is used.

Details of a community chest program would have to be worked out if agreed upon by local organizations, according to discussion at the chamber of commerce meeting.

ments a silence will embrace this city of Republican revellers.

There, for all the world to see, the highest powers conferred by a free nation will pass peacefully from one man and political party to another.

The highest rites of political morality, the ultimate achievement in political freedom was on view at the Capitol Tuesday. In a way that early inaugural participants could not have imagined, this inauguration was a national occasion with many millions watching it on television screens.

Radio broadcast the story worldwide, through and beyond the Iron Curtain. Free men and women everywhere must have had a friendly thought or prayer for the central figure in this political drama upon whom so much and so many at home and abroad depend.

But the solemn mood could not be expected to last beyond the minutes of the ceremony itself. This was Republican D-Day and

In other action the commission declined to reject or approve a request by the Pampa League of Women Voters for reserving parking meters on the south end of the "Court House" for those going in to pay their poll tax.

The commission eyed the request coldly on the ground it would open the way to more similar requests for other causes and that car owners would only abuse the reservations anyway.

The commission, however, did decide to widen the entrance and the beachhead was secure. The town was overflowing with people, laughter and good cheer. There were hands galore.

lowed by the peace fever to the Kremlin.

Then, in rapid-fire order, Mr. Eisenhower:

Scorned appeasement — "A soldier's pack is not as heavy as a prisoner's chains";

Called on every free citizen everywhere to "place the cause of his country before the comfort of himself";

Pledged himself to foster policies that encourage productivity and profitable trade;

Rejected "any insinuation" that one race, or people is inferior or expendable;

Quest Will Never Cease

Promised to make the United Nations an effective force for peace.

"And in our quest of honorable peace," he said, "we shall neither compromise, nor tire, nor ever cease."

"This hope—this supreme aspiration—must rule the way we live. We must be ready to dare all for our country. For history does not long entrust the care of freedom to the weak or the timid. We must acquire proficiency in defense and display stamina in purpose."

"We must be willing, individually and as a nation, to accept whatever sacrifices may be required of us. A people that values its privileges above its principles soon loses both."

Methodist Men Meet Wednesday

Rev. Frank Beauchamp, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Shamrock, will be the featured speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the local First Methodist Men's Club at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Fellowship Hall.

"A New Year, A New Life, and A New Task" will be the speaker's topic.

A special musical program will follow group singing and Sam Regert will preside during the meeting.

However, the top bar over both gates will remain low to keep the trucks from going underneath them. A sign will be placed at the gateways telling trucks to keep out.

The week of Feb. 8 to 14 will be set aside as "Government Open House Week" by the city in cooperation with a request sent out over the state by the Texas Bar Association.

Citizens over the state will be encouraged during February by cities and counties to get better acquainted with their local governments and will be urged to attend at least one city commission meeting and one county commissioners court meeting and closely observe the proceedings. The idea, the letter said, is to give citizens a better understanding of what their local governing agencies can and cannot do.

The city will also into a new traffic experiment in the residential sections of the city. Some of the numerous stop signs will be replaced with signs reading "Yield Right of Way."

Twelve of the signs will be purchased and placed at still un-designated intersections when they arrive.

Power that leaves the past far behind

Close its door and you close the door on the past. The most thrilling driving of your life lies ahead in a new 1953 Lincoln.

For power can take over—almost everywhere. Touch a button, and power moves the front seat not just back and forth but up or down. Step down on the pedal, and a 205-horsepower V-8 engine leaps into action. And helping you to control this magnificent Lincoln are power steering (combined with exclusive ball-joint front wheel suspension)—and new power brakes.

All this power blends with Lincoln's modern living design. Remember, too, Lincoln is the car that competitively proved itself by winning first, second, third and fourth places in the world's toughest driving test—the Mexican Pan-American Race. We can reveal all the superiority this implies in just one drive. Won't you let us put you behind the wheel of a new Lincoln Cosmopolitan or Capri—soon!

Following a report on recent activities of the aviation committee by Frank Culbertson, the board voted to approve the committee's intention to contest a recent decision of the Civil Aeronautics Board denying Pioneer Airline service to Pampa. They also resolved to ask congressmen and senators to aid in securing this service.

Reports were also made by Fred Thompson on a recent trip to Austin in connection with the progress of plans for State Highway 70. Thompson stated plans indicate an engineering contract will be let by summer and work should begin by September.

He estimated the highway would be completed and in first-class condition in about a year and a half.

Water Policy Urged

He suggested "the writing and implementing of a sound state water conservation policy ... co-ordination of our program of higher education ... reorganization of certain departments upon sound administrative lines ... stabilization of personnel policies, both as to qualifications and salary, in the various agencies of government ... (and) an orderly approach to the growing problem of governmental housing."

"These," he said, "are merely some general suggestions. There are opportunities before us for saving money — and of spending money more wisely. Few of them offer a chance for spectacular reforms, but rather for increased economy and efficiency in our government."

"The opportunity," he continued, "is not so much to make headlines as to make history."

"That we will have the wisdom to see our duty, the willingness to undertake its accomplishment and the energy to carry it through, is my hope for all of us. With divine guidance and sufficient human courage, all tasks can and will be done," he said.

plish much in equally important fields.

Water Policy Urged

"These," he said, "are merely some general suggestions. There are opportunities before us for saving money — and of spending money more wisely. Few of them offer a chance for spectacular reforms, but rather for increased economy and efficiency in our government."

"The opportunity," he continued, "is not so much to make headlines as to make history."

"That we will have the wisdom to see our duty, the willingness to undertake its accomplishment and the energy to carry it through, is my hope for all of us. With divine guidance and sufficient human courage, all tasks can and will be done," he said.

Highlights From Inaugural Speech

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—Highlight quotations from President Eisenhower's inaugural address:

"We are called, as a people, to give testimony, in the sight of the world, to our faith that the future shall belong to the free."

"We bring all our wit and will to meet the question: How far have we come in man's long pilgrimage from darkness toward light? Are we nearing the light—a day of freedom and of peace for all mankind? Or are the shadows of another night closing in upon us?"

"At such a time in history, we who are free must proclaim anew our faith. . . in the deathless dignity of man, governed by eternal moral and natural laws. . . it establishes, beyond debate, those gifts of the Creator that are man's inalienable rights, and that make all men equal in His sight!"

"The enemies of this faith know no god but force, no devotion but its use. They tutor men in treason. They feed upon the hunger of others. Whatever defies them, they torture, especially the truth."

"The faith we hold belongs not to us alone but to the free of all the world. This common bond binds the grower of rice in Burma and the planter of wheat in Iowa. . . it confers a common dignity upon the French soldier who dies in Indo-China, the British soldier killed in

Ike Smooth On Outside; Tough On The Inside

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The new President of the United States has been described as a man smooth on the outside and tough on the inside.

To get a clearer hint of what U.S. Foreign policy may be like during the next four years, I searched through a file of Eisenhower speeches looking for precise definitions of the role he believes both he and the United States should play in world affairs.

The overall impression is that his foreign policy will have its tough side, too.

Discussed Most Subjects

Over the last three years, as educator at Columbia University, as soldier-statesman in command of NATO forces and as Republican candidate and President-elect, the new President has discussed subjects ranging from isolationism and foreign aid to possible talks with Stalin and use of the atom bomb.

Here is a thumbnail sketch: The atom bomb—"If I thought the net (destruction of the enemy) was on my side, I would use it instantly, because I proceed from this basis: The United States is not going to declare war or conduct an aggressive campaign. It is merely going to defend itself. . . (but) I believe in using what we have in defending ourselves."

Meeting with Stalin—If Eisenhower had "the slightest reason to believe" it would promote world peace, he would "go anywhere in the world." But he doubts that issues between East and West are negotiable—"so long as Russia pursues a policy of 'subversion, bribery, corruption and armed aggression' toward her neighbors."

An indication for Korea

Korea—One phase of the world-wide struggle against communism, more than any other, has been for our forces there. Communist aggressors in Korea must be "induced" to want peace. Eisenhower opposes forced repatriation of Red war prisoners in UN hands.

U. S. aid to Europe—"There is no acceptable alternative because standing alone and isolated in a world otherwise completely dominated by Communists, our system would have to wither away. We would suffer economic atrophy and then finally collapse. . . But 'it would be fatuous for anyone to assume that the taxpayer of America will continue to pour money and resources into Europe unless encouraged by steady progress toward mutual co-operation and full effectiveness."

European unity—(In a statement to the North Atlantic Council) "I do not need to recite to such a body as this the great advantages that would come to us through the unification of Western Europe, the unification of its economy, its military systems and finally its political organs. . . But German help also is needed. 'With justice and respect to them and to ourselves."

FORMER DALLAS MAN KILLED

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—UP—Isidor Grainick, former partner of the Dallas symphony, fell from a platform in Pennsylvania station Wednesday night and was killed by a passing train. Police said Grainick, who had been concertmaster of the Radio City Music Hall Orchestra for several weeks, complained earlier to his wife that he had a dizzy spell.

FROZEN ASSETS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — UP—After a fire in the building where he lived threatened his possessions, George Walp put $1,175 in war bonds in the freezer compartment of his refrigerator for safekeeping. Less than a month later, somebody stole the bonds.

Weather Man Had Much To Do With Changing Inauguration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—The weather man had a lot to do with changing the presidential inauguration date from March 4 to Jan. 20.

So did Ellsworth C. Alvord, a lawyer, affable Washington lawyer. When the 20th "lame duck" amendment to the Constitution was being thought up in Congress, Alvord was assistant legislative counsel of the House.

He told me that drafting the amendment took a lot of doing. The weather wasn't the only consideration, of course, but it was an important one.

Weather Maps Studied

"A small congressional committee was named," he said, to look into the matter. It concluded after studying stacks of weather maps that March 4 had been pretty nasty down through the years."

Eventually the amendment was submitted and ratified. It went into effect Feb. 6, 1933, too late to change the date for Franklin D. Roosevelt's first inauguration, but in plenty of time for his second.

So what happened? On Jan. 20, 1937, it rained. And rained. In sheets. The temperature was well above freezing but it was low enough, what with the rain, to make unprotected spectators shake and shiver.

But Alvord, watching the parade from a well heated room, was not too disturbed. He figured, or anyway hoped, that the future would

One President Keeps Office

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—Although it's the season for switching presidents, President Howard Norton is staying in office until summer. Norton, 37, of Fort Worth is president of the American Legion's Boys' Nation. He was elected to his one-year term last year. He is attending the Eisenhower inaugural ceremonies as the Legion's guest.

Another Precedent Retired

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—An old precedent goes out with the old President. In the past the new President and his wife have gone from the Capitol to the White House on inauguration day in separate cars. Not this time. Dwight D. Eisenhower ruled that he and Mamie would ride together.

Ten Percenters Still Around

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—As the Republicans move in, a Washington moving firm offered a 10 per cent discount Tuesday to Democrats who want to move out.

Just A Demotion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—Harry S. Truman isn't going out of office, he's just being demoted.

senhower ruled that he and Mamie would ride together.

A Parade Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—The inaugural parade committee claimed Tuesday that the 62 bands and bugle-and-drum corps it assembled constitute an inaugural record.

Attorney Roy Bass Addresses Annual Girl Scout Installation Banquet

"If characteristics of the age of bustles and the age of bobby sox could be fused into a happy medium, the seeds for a better world would be planted."

This statement was made by Roy Bass, Lubbock attorney, in an address, "Bustles, Bobby Sox and a Better World" at the annual installation banquet of the Pampa Girl Scout Association Monday night in the Palm Room.

To the "bustle age" (1830-50) Bass ascribed an interest in "simple things, a vital interest in politics and a child-like faith in the Creator."

He pictured a contrasting bobby sox age (beginning in 1940) as one of constant rush, great enthusiasm, energy and "jitters." The increase of external stimuli, such as radio, television, and movies, had a great effect on this change, Bass stated.

Girl Scouts, Bass pointed out, can play a vital role in bringing some of the "fundamental calm and sedateness of the bustle age into the over-stimulated bobby sox era for a happy medium."

The address followed the presentation and installation of new officers for the Scout association for 1953. Rev. R. W. Crews, pastor of the local First Christian Church, praised the work of the officers and their devotion to the community youth in an installation message.

The installation service reinstated Mrs. Rufe Jordan as president. She is to serve with Mrs. Bob Andis, president of the Leaders Club; Mrs. R. H. Nestell, vice-president; Dr. Douglas E. Nelson, second vice-president.

Mrs. Julian Key, secretary; Miss Ellen Keough, treasurer; Mrs. Ed Williams, organization chairman; Mrs. Harold Osborne, training chairman; Mrs. Ed Barnes, program chairman; Mrs. J. M. Nutting, public relations; Mrs. Gene Fatheree, Juliette Low chairman; Floyd Watson, finance; E. W. Layne, camp chairman; Mrs. J. D. Wright Jr., day camp chairman; and E. O. Wedgworth, nominating chairman.

New officers were presented to the association by Mrs. Joe Gordon, member of the nominating committee.

Ed Myatt served as master of ceremonies during the banquet. He gave special recognition to decorations prepared by Girl Scouts under the supervision of Mrs. Art Aftergut and to Troop 7 of Miami.

Routine reports were made by Mrs. Key, secretary, and Miss Keough, treasurer. Leslie Hart introduced the guests and the invocation and benediction were given by Dr. Nelson and Rev. Crews.

The banquet adjourned with a brief acceptance of the presidency by Mrs. Jordan.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Six weeks ago, Philip's grandmother fell on an icy pavement and broke her leg.

Thirty minutes after the hospital telephoned, Philip's mother had him zipped into his snowsuit, ready to deliver to a neighbor. Preoccupied, her mind on trains, she hugged him and the neighbor goodbye, saying, "He won't be any trouble. Mother will be home tonight, dear. Daddy and I will collect you in time to take you home for supper."

But she couldn't keep this promise. Though her husband collected their child that evening, she had to remain with her mother for five days.

"Now he won't let me out of his sight," she writes. "I can't even persuade him to go out into the yard alone. Though I've tried to explain that I had to stay with his grandmother, nothing I say has any effect. Do you advise my taking Philip to a child psychiatrist?"

No, Child psychiatrists are very busy, overworked people. If we can possibly solve our problems without taking time from other children who may need it more than ours, we should try to do so.

Philip's mother, for instance, will be able to dispose of her problem quite easily, once she stops feeling guilty for breaking her word to him. Now it's got her all confused. It's making her feel helpless and incapable of regaining his trust. It's trying to make her believe that she was a bad mother.

That's evil nonsense, of course. So let Philip's mother be done with fear that she has injured her little boy. If she wants him to believe in her again, she begins by believing in herself again.

Just as soon as her self-trust is restored, she can begin to take definite action on Philip's fear of her disappearing again.

The action should consist of constant reassuring reports to him on her whereabouts.

For example, when they go out to the yard together, let her give him his shovel and say happily to him, "Have a good time digging, darling — and when you want Mother, she'll be just inside in the kitchen. She won't leave the house."

When she tucks him in for his afternoon nap, let her say, "My, how safe and cozy you are! Nothing can hurt you. Mother is just downstairs."

Or when visitors come and Philip tries to distract her attention by clambering up on her lap, let Philip's mother deliberately interrupt her talk with her caller to cuddle her little boy and say, "Everything's fine, darling. Mother's right here in the room with you."

If she seizes every opportunity to quietly contradict Philip's fear

There's Still Time To Sew Your Own Spring Clothes From New Designs

Make the most of the little time left before Easter to sew your own spring costume. From new patterns, Barbara Hodgkins selects several attractive topper, suit and skirt combinations for McCall's for February. Along with these, are patterns for a jiffy dress and some shining new collars:

"A short, flared topper has a pointed collar and an interesting yoke — round in front, pointed in back. It is handsome when worn over a slender wool skirt with set-in banded pockets. Another topper has a shawl collar and shaped patch pockets, set low on the body. It is good over dresses or with a skirt.

"A tailored suit for half-sizes has a slenderizing, long-line jacket with patch pockets turned back in points. The skirt back is cut in three gores. A suit with double buttons at the waistline, long revers and a slim skirt — looks like Easter when made of faille, gabardine or rayon suiting.

"Consider contrast fabrics for a suit that looks very Rue de la Paix. Use flannel for the jacket and tweed for the skirt, collar, cuffs and pocket flaps. A spring suit for juniors has a hip-length jacket to wear belted or loose, raglan sleeves, a narrow skirt. It is especially stunning in checked flannel.

"Here is a new dress you can make in a jiffy. The entire back of this tie-on dress is cut in one piece — bodice, skirt, and sleeves. The front of the skirt is a white apron, attached only to one-half of the surplus bodice. It wraps to tie at center back. We made the dress of a crush-resistant acetate-and-rayon fabric.

"In the wardrobe designed for Neva Jane Langley, the reigning Miss America, are these two patterns for shining cottons. The snugly fitted torso of one of the full-skirted dresses is done with two rib-hugging set-in sections. Bracelet-length sleeves are unmounted. The neckline has revers and no collar. Scallops edge the scoop neck of the other pretty afternoon dress. It has tiny raglan sleeves and a six-gore skirt that's almost five yards wide. A bias sash is included in the pattern.

cream cheese. Add enough milk to soften and a dash of Worcestershire sauce for flavor.

ICE CREAM SANDWICH
Slices of brick ice cream between slices of toasted angel food, pound or sponge cake fashion an unusual ice cream sandwich. For added glamour drizzle your favorite sundae sauce over each sandwich.

GINGERBREAD WITH APPLE SAUCE

A delightful winter luncheon dessert can be made in a jiffy by topping slices of baker's gingerbread with applesauce. Sprinkle a mixture of sugar and cinnamon over each slice and broil under low heat until the applesauce bubbles.

CROUTONS WITH CHOWDER

Let the natives of Maine and Manhattan argue the relative merits of clam chowder. With or without tomatoes, either is a satisfying dish. In fact any kind of chowder is hearty and good to eat. To make this national dish ever more hearty and satisfying, offer your family croutons to sprinkle over the soup. Saute' soft bread cubes in melted butter or margarine until they are a delicate brown. While hot, sprinkle with a mixture of celery and onion salt. Serve immediately.

RYE BREAD - ROQUEFORT APPEZIZER

The new tidbit trays make entertaining easy. Thinly sliced ice box rye bread spread with a roquefort cheese mixture makes a perfect tidbit. To make enough spread for a dozen slices, cream a tablespoon of grated roquefort cheese with three tablespoons of

BSP Members Hear "Silver Chalice"

Members of Beta Sigma Phi met in the city club rooms Monday evening after they attended the review of "The Silver Chalice" given by Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer.

Miss Oppenheimer compared the Silver Chalice to the atom bomb as you would compare David and Goliath. In the early days, Christians believe when the Silver Chalice was lost it would be recovered when the world needed it most.

The club made plans for the proceeds from the annual doll sale to be donated to Girls Town, Mrs. Martin Stubbe, president, appointed a committee to contact business men to nominate the Woman of the Year.

Attending were Meses, Stanley Chittenden, Tod Cone, Ralph Eason, Joe Fischer, Bob Fugate, Norman Fulps, Bill Gantz, Leymond Hall, Malcolm Hinkle, Rufe Jordan, Travis Lively Jr., Roy McKee, Ralph McKinney, B. M. McMullan, Clifton McNeely, Ben Meaders, Fred Myers, John Phelps, John Plaster, Ken Reeves, Martin Stubbe, Bill Sullins, Johnnie Thompson, Kenneth Young and Elmer D. Young.

Misses Thelma Bray, Gerry Caruth and Dorothea Kurtz.

It might cost as much as $500,000 a mile to reproduce an ancient Roman road, if it were hand built as the Romans built it.

Best Face Forward

Soap - and - water beauty Marjorie Steele, appearing in the movie duo, "Face to Face," gives some tips about putting a new face forward for spring. Say she - resolve right now to brighten your complexion to really thoroughly soap and water care. Don't limit the face washing to a quick sudsing, but do a complete job with wash cloth or complexion brush. Remember to give special attention to areas where make-up tends to cake — at the hairline, and around the mouth and nose. Use lots of cold water for rinsing. It's a tonic for your skin, adds the lovely actress.

During the Civil War some of the first volunteer Union troops sent to Washington were housed in the Senate and House chambers of the Capitol.

A Personal Tragedy . . . Hank Slips, Falls And Breaks His Thumb In Hotel Bathroom

By HENRY McLEMORE
LOS ANGELES, Calif. — If you don't care anything about thumbs don't read this, because this is a story about a thumb. I broke the thumb on my right hand yesterday.

How I'd like to be able to tell you that I broke my thumb showing it through the wicket of a cashier's cage to foil a robbery in the First National Bank! How I would like to be able to say that I broke my thumb landing a jet plane with Thurber and Walter Mitty aboard!

Speaking of Walter Mitty, wouldn't it be great if I could tell you that my thumb is broken because I hit Rocky Marciano too hard, or that I stuck it in a dike to save Holland, or poked out

NEW TWIST IN TOYS—"Max und Moritz," Germany's make-believe equivalent of all mischievous boys, have appeared in toy form for the delight of all little Hansels and Gretels. The toys, made in West Berlin, are manufactured of a flexible, plastic-coated wire which children may bend into any position they desire. The toys are shown with an orange and walnut to indicate their size.

When I stood up my foot slipped. In the twinkling of a split second it flashed through my mind that most accidents occur in a home or a hotel, and this column is being written in a hotel in Hollywood.

I grabbed for everything in sight. All I found was the floor. My thumb landed first. The dear little thumb bones, which have been with me so long gave way. I know you won't believe this, but my thumb looked up at me and said, "Henry, why did you do this to me?"

Try to work with a broken thumb. Try to eat with a broken thumb. Try to brush your teeth with a broken thumb. Try to shake hands with a broken thumb. Try to write on a typewriter with a broken thumb. Try to comb your hair with a broken thumb. Try to strike a match, try to shave, try to pick up a cup of coffee.

I salute the thumb. Just as you never miss the well till the well runs dry, you never miss a thumb till the thumb goes bum. There are monuments to almost everything on earth. Soldiers have monuments, scientists have monuments. Why no thumb monument?

Think of what thumbs have done for people. Certainly they have made manicurists happy. Hitch-hikers have found them very valuable. The Caesars used them up and down.

Mine is giving me fits. I roll over at night, touch it and jump

Small Towns Accused Of Speed Trap Prey

AUSTIN, Jan. 20—UP—A Fort Worth legislator Saturday proposed a crackdown on small-city "speed traps," and accused some Texas towns of "preying" on through traffic.

State Rep. Vernon Smith prepared a bill for introduction in the House of Representatives next week empowering the State Highway Department to regulate speed traps and establish proper signs and signals in cities of 2,500 population or less.

"Of course," he pointed out, "because of the population figure, it won't eliminate all speed traps. But it's a step in the right direction."

Married In Hospital

DALLAS, Jan. 20—UP—Dorris M. Richardson and Ernest F. Ryan were married Saturday in Gaston hospital, although neither is a patient there. The wedding was held in the room of the bride's mother, Mrs. Clem E. Meyer, who is paralyzed as a result of a Dec. 1 auto accident.

Affection For Child Blamed In Kidnapping

WACO, Jan. 20—UP—A young baby sitter, held here on a charge of second degree kidnapping, said Tuesday she took her employer's child and fled from Nevada to Texas because she felt a "deep affection" for her and wanted her for her own.

The suspect, 24-year-old Mrs. Helen Biggs, spoke through FBI agent Fred McIntire of the San Antonio district. She refused to say anything further to newsmen.

The child, three-year-old Margie Arlene Stokely, was reunited with her mother, Mrs. Nadine Cleo Reed of Winnemucca, Nev., Monday. Margie squealed with joy when she saw Mrs. Reed and literally jumped into those of her mother.

Mrs. Reed said she was at a loss to understand why Mrs. Biggs took Margie.

"She's a good woman," she said. "I don't know what got into her. Mrs. Biggs disappeared with the child Dec. 15. McIntire refused to disclose details of her capture but said she first went to Fort Worth, where Margie was kept in a series of places, before coming to Waco. Mrs. Reed said that the suspect's husband had "been feeling terrible about the whole thing."

"I saw him Christmas Day and it wasn't much of a Christmas for him or me either."

The mother and child left Waco Monday night for Lamar, Colo., where they will visit several weeks with Mrs. Reed's mother, Mrs. Clara Myers, before returning to Winnemucca.

Margie's step-father, Walter Reed, lives at Lamar, Calif. Mrs. Reed said that she hired Mrs. Biggs last August at $10 a week to care for her daughter while she worked as a waitress at Winnemucca.

Comeback Trail A Happy One For Member Of Famous Trio

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20—A year ago the second member of the famed Clayton, Jackson and Durante team of the '20's was admittedly a has-been with an old-fashioned style.

Now Eddie Jackson, originator of the top hat strut-and-grin bit, has made a fabulous comeback complete with fan photos and clamoring autograph hounds.

How he got back to the top is the story of the warmest friendship in show business.

"I first met Jimmy in New York in 1916, and in 1924 Jimmy, (the late) Lou Clayton and I had the Club Drante. It was one flight up at 58th St. Jimmy was no entertainer then, he had a rag time band.

"In '28 we got our first break in vaudeville and in 1931, Jimmy went to Hollywood to make pictures. Lou went along as business manager, so I went, too.

"I did benefits. After a few years I just didn't want to hang around Jimmy, I wanted something to do. Things got bad. I didn't want Jimmy to know where I was, so I up and left. I didn't want no money from Jimmy or nothin'.

"I was playing a club in Ohio."

ers spotted me. I asked him not to tell Jimmy, but he did, and Jimmy phoned me to come back and do a vaudeville date with him.

"I did but then nothin' else happened. I told Jimmy I'd do anything for him on radio, the money don't matter, if he'd let me sing a song once in a while. I was doin' nothin' just workin' benefits, Jimmy said when the time comes, Ed, I'll put you on, but the time never came.

"Finally he said he'd put me on the TV show. And everybody says I'm bigger then I've ever been.

"Why," he said, "I had to send out a thousand pitches to fans today. I've never sent out pitches before. I've never been so happy in my life."

Durante always calls Eddie to do his bit on the TV show.

"He says, 'go get 'em, Eddie,' that's all I need. I'd go through an iron will," he said. "I love being out there. I'm in a different world. I don't even see the audience. I don't know from nothin'."

Eddie's turned down offers to do a single.

"I don't do anything without Jimmy," he said. "He gave me my start again. Besides, I love to be with Jimmy, that's all."

The Made Trip Before

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—On March 4, 1913, a 22-year-old cadet marched in the cold with other West Pointers from the White House to the Capitol for the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson. This time he'll make the trip in an automobile. The cadet was Dwight D. Eisenhower.

GOP Fixes Prices

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—The Republicans went in for price fixing—at least, on inauguration day Tuesday. They ruled that licensed street vendors must charge 25 cents each for hot dogs and 15 cents per cup for coffee.

From Shortest To Longest

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—The longest inaugural address—8,000 words—was delivered by President William Henry Harrison in 1841. The shortest was George Washington's at his second inauguration. It ran 134 words.

Small Direct Cost

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—Cost of the Eisenhower inauguration has been estimated at $1 million. Of that, the taxpayers put up only $150,000, the sum voted by Congress for the ceremony at the capitol.

Durante says, "Before, they thought his stuff was old-fashioned. Now everybody wants to hire him. Oh, dose huns!"

In Case It Freezes Over

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—UP—Sno-Cos, big machines used by the Air Force to clear runways, are part of this year's inaugural equipment. The Air Force provided them on a just-in-case basis.

Proposed Bridge Approved

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 20—UP—U.S. Army Engineers gave their approval to a proposed $90,000 bridge over Lake Texoma. Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma announced Tuesday. Albert said the bridge would replace one covered by Lake Texoma waters when the dam was closed during World War II.

YOUNG COLLECTOR William Drobak, 11, works over his collection of more than 8000 seals and labels. He gets 'em free from assorted household items, which is big reason the labels have replaced stamps as the number one hobby of youngsters.

High Cost Of Living Hits Youngsters' Hobby Habits

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The decline and fall of stamp collecting from the top spot among children's hobbies had psychologists worried. What was the reason for the spectacular drop?

The answer, according to the American Hobby Federation, is pure economics. Juvenile economics, but economics nonetheless. It seems you can't be a practicing philatelist if you're philat broke. And the high cost of living has resulted in many youngsters struggling along on a reduced allowance.

They can't afford to buy stamps—not with the rising costs of ice cream, sodas and comic books and such—so they've had to switch to a cheaper hobby. Which is one reason why the favorite pastime of America's youngsters today is collecting seals and labels.

That's the result of a two-year survey of 8414 children's hobby clubs, which the AHF just completed. The seals and labels category, not even in the top ten in the last survey, is the children's champ. And the top hobby in 1950, stamp collecting, is now only sixth on the list.

A seal and label collection consists of hundreds of such items obtained from household objects like food, cosmetics, clothing, confectionery, letters and packages. They cost nothing. The hobbyists divide them into two categories—seals are usually embossed metallic foil, while labels, are made of paper with a gummed or a plain back.

While they are originally free some seals and labels have matured into objects of value. One collector somehow came in possession of an old label from a Lydia Pinkham bottle. He's since turned down offers of up to $100 from avid fans. Fans of the hobby, that is, not Miss Pinkham.

Autographs, like the leading seals and labels, is an inexpensive hobby. For the price of a little ink and some scrap paper, a youngster is a bona fide autograph collector. Which is all right if he wants bona fide autographs.

Model plane making is a tribute to the air age. Insect collecting is an old favorite, and a great way to trample the zinnia bed. The Federation says painting, which has made tremendous strides in two years, has been pushed by school teachers and community center instructors.

Doll collecting is, of course, a favorite of little girls. Most little boys wait until they're big before they go in for it. Model railroading, for some reason, is more popular in smaller cities than in larger ones, possibly because homes in smaller cities generally have more room. It's tough to have a decent model railroad in a 1½-room apartment.

The American Hobby Federation is emphatic about one thing. A sport, they claim, isn't a hobby. So playing or watching baseball doesn't count. Neither does throwing rocks at trains, which would have been first except for that technicality.

Varied Costumes Feature Civic Tourney

(Editor's note: Since the technicalities of last night's games didn't matter much, The News assigned its society editor, Merle Cox, to cover the exhibition — just for a laugh.)

By ANNA MERLE COX

Against an impressive musical background, four games of basketball were played last evening in the massive Pampa High School Field House.

William Tell Overture under the direction of Victor Kott's horned march struck as J.C. McWilliam dressed in colorful Hawaiian shorts. In this first game, done by the Jaycees and the Rotarians, Ray Duncan wore a cute little Kemper warmup suit and black shoe laces in white tennis shoes for contrast. After he got warmed-up, he wore a dainty white T-shirt.

Bubba Hill, umpire, looked adorable in blue and red shirt. Henry Sharp also carried a whistle with a pretty red cord around his neck.

Dr. J. L. Chase wore a delectable navy blouse. Kay Fancher looked very striking in his blue uniform. Bob Quick wore Hawaiian print shorts with the colors duplicated in the tongue of his tennis shoes and socks.

The scoreboard gave a very colorful lighting effect as it kept changing colors all during the games. Ray Evans, a spectator, kept changing their little blue shirts because they got tired of them.

Ed LaPorte was very unusual during the evening because he was good at playing basketball.

The second game of the evening was between the Kiwanis and Moose featured petite Earl Miller Ed Gething in his chic bedroom slippers and Artie Aftergut, who had played in two games in the same costume.

The Kiwanis wore "the most striking costumes of the evening" with Jolanie Campbell in a most dashing "stripes for a slenderizing effect." Warren Hesse had a slim silhouette which is one of the best lines for spring. Ralph McKinney, clashed with Hesse in his red abstract design.

Donnie George McClure looked charming in argyle socks. Tom Bates wore a baby blue costume with a nipped-in-waist and bodice of terry cloth.

The loud buzzer which kept interrupting the music disturbed the players so badly that sometimes they would just stop playing.

Joe Fischer was very dainty in his maroon and grey shirt. Bob Curry looked dashing in gold shirt. For the game he donned shorts. Archie Roberts (No. 56) carried out the grey and green colors in his beguiling two-piece. "Shortie" Lane was the only player to keep the traditional green

The Winnahs

Incidentally the winning teams were:

Jaycees took the first tilt over Rotary, 29-20, forcing the winners into another game at 7:30 p.m. today.

Kiwanis eked out a win — helped mostly by depth — over a hard-playing Moose team, 21-15.

The Lefors Lions, 22-18 in the third round.

The Famous Harlem Globe Walkers — wearing full hoods — nipped the Elks, 32-29.

At 7:30 p.m. today the Jaycees will meet the Kiwanians while the Lefors Lions face the masked marvels of the court.

Tomorrow, the winners of tonight's two tilts play for the championship. The losers play for a consolation award. The winner of the championship tilt must play the McLean Jaycees at a later date.

The first night's take was $157.43.

Tickets On Sale For GG Tourney

Tickets are disappearing fast for the annual Pampa District Golden Gloves Boxing Tourney to be held Thursday through Saturday at the Southern Club Sports Arena.

The tournament, co-sponsored by the Pampa Boys Club and the Pampa Daily News, is being held at the Southern Club for the first time. Previous tournaments have been held at the junior high school gym.

Reason for the change was to accommodate more fans and the Southern Club is better fixed for staging the tournament.

Tickets for the three-night show are now on sale at Leder's Jewelry, Jack Vaughan Service Station, Sportsman Store and James Feed Store.

The tickets are divided into four separate brackets, ringside, reserved, bleachers and student tickets.

More than 100 boys are due to take part in this year's district tourney. Practically all of the 1952 champions will be back to defend their crowns.

Winners in the district meet here, 105 weight division upwards, will qualify for the regional meet at Amarillo next week.

All weight winners, including the Pee Wee division, will receive trophies at the district meet here. The trophies are now on display at Addington's Western Store.

All boys planning on entering the tournament are asked to attend the weigh-in at the Southern Club Thursday between 2:30 and 5 p.m.

Dumas, Borger Bringing Strong GG Squad Here

Dumas and Borger will furnish several champions of the coming Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament to be held at the Southern Club Sports Arena, Thursday through Saturday nights — if past records of the two squads are of any indication.

Dumas, coached by H. L. Hanerick, will be represented by 10 or 12 boys, many of whom fought their way to the regional meet at Amarillo last year.

Heading the Dumas list will be Bobby Joe West, Doug Kirkland, Kay Patrick, Jerry Cashion and Kenneth Castleman, all district winners at Borger last year.

Glenn Elkins at Borger plans to bring a squad of about 25 boys.

Possibly the top title contender among the bunch is Don Poindexter, winner of the 126-pound district title at Borger last year and who later reached the finals in the regional at Amarillo only to be defeated for the regional crown.

Poindexter is eyeing the district and regional crown this year.

Other title threats of the Borger team are Harold Jassen, Robert Prosser, 155 pounds; and Jackie Hall, 180. All were district champions at Borger last year.

Borger will not hold a district Golden Gloves tournament this year. Most of the boxers in the Gasser city will enter the Pampa tournament this weekend.

George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers in the NBA has been named State Chairman of the Crusade for Freedom drive which started recently in Minnesota.

Rockne, Crisler, Blaik Were Men Behind 2-Platoon System

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of four dispatches telling the two-platoon story, and deals with the history of the system.)

By STAN OPOWOSKY
United Press Sports Writer

Knute Rockne started it. Fritz Crisler perfected it. And Red Blaik made it legal.

Those were the three men behind the two-platoon system.

Once football was a game of 90-minute iron men, replaced only for injuries (and they had to be pretty big injuries, at that). Then came substitutes for rest, and, finally, substitutes for specialization.

For all practical purposes, the pre-war substitution rule said a player pulled out of a game in one quarter could not re-enter until the next quarter. So coaches did not pull out their first stringers except in desperation, or else they'd lose the use of these first stringers for the remainder of the quarter.

But Rockne, with his great manpower resources at Notre Dame, started the two-platoon system with his "shock troops." At first, this meant that a "second team" started the game and blasted the foe with ferocity for five minutes or so.

These Notre Damers did not have to worry about getting tired — as the opposing team did — because they knew suddenly an entire new team would come in. This was the real "first team," and it entered the game fresh just when the foe was reeling from the blows of the "shock troops."

A New System Develops

From here football progressed to a two-platoon system of one team for the first and third quarters, another team for the second and fourth quarters.

That produced the first major rule change — the first step toward legalizing the two-platoon system. The limitation on the player re-entering the game was removed. He could come back in any time. But there was still one hitch. Each team was allowed only three time outs. And substitutions could be made only during time outs.

That's where Crisler, then coaching at Michigan, stepped in. He dreamed up the two teams, one for defense and one for offense, and fielded them in 1941. He decided that he was willing to pay the price of 100 many time outs (a five-yard penalty in order to get a fresh batch of specialists in the game).

Football was revolutionized.

Across the land, the coaches saw the great possibilities of the two platoons. But some did not want to pay those penalty prices. Of all people, Crisler was the one who warned them to go easy — to avoid following his example until they knew what they were doing.

Opposed Making It Legal

It has not been revealed before, but Crisler told a private meeting of the football coaches rule committee in 1941:

"Gentlemen, I am opposed to legalizing this. It will make changes in football we don't want."

But Army's Blaik moved in. His manpower reservoir then was similar to the one which blessed Rockne at Notre Dame. He enlisted the aid of Columbia's Lou Little, chairman of the coaches' rules committee and one of the most influential men in football.

Step by step, the two platoon system became legal. First, time outs were ordered automatically every time the ball changed hands. This provided the breathing space for the coaches to swap offensive and defensive units without being charged for a time out.

But not even this was enough. Coaches dreamed up field goal platoon and kickoff platoons. So even more time outs were needed. The legal number — in addition to the automatic "changing hands" time out — was upped to four per team, and then to five.

More Liberal Rules Sought

Even at the NCAA convention in Washington this month — as the death knell of the two-platoon system was sounding — Blaik fought for even more liberal rules. He wanted to make it possible for a team to substitute after every play.

But the two-platoon system was taking a toll in money: in coaches' time, in recruiting woes. The Blaik "big time" clique was opposed by an anti-platoon lobby. Quietly, as most of the delegates were packing for home, an anti-two platoon resolution passed the NCAA convention. The vote was only 43-23, although 315 schools played football last year.

The football rules committee at St. Petersburg, Fla., acquiesced. It passed a rule reverting almost to 1941. A player now can enter a game only once per quarter except for the last four minutes of each half.

The two-platoon system was dead.

Braves To Depend On Youth In 1953

Editors Note: This is another of a series of interviews with major league managers.

By BOB PARKIN
GRAY SUMMIT, Mo., Jan. 20—UP—Jolly Charlie, Grimm, said Tuesday his Boston Braves are right back where they were last fall—with the accent on youth.

"Youth and optimism are the bywords in our camp for next season," he said. "We contemplated some deals at the winter meetings, but since none developed, the club as of now, stands as it did at the end of last season."

"However, the important thing is that our youngsters now have a year's major league experience under their belts."

Boston finished seventh last year. Grimm, driving toward a pennant for Milwaukee when he took over as manager of the floundering Braves last June, said he's "optimistic," but added that he never predicted the standings and isn't going "to start now."

Working on Youth Move
At Boston, "we're still working on our youth movement and it may very well pay off this season. I can't say we're set definitely, but we get some power hitting and a few breaks, we may move up a notch or two," Grimm explained at his winter home here.

The return of Del Crandall from service is the "best news yet," the amiable off-season farmer said. "Andy Pafko, whom we just got from Brooklyn, will help plenty, too."

Crandall, who's not yet 23 years old, will undoubtedly be the first string catcher, Grimm said. Reliable Walker Cooper, now almost 35, would be around to spell him.

Grimm agreed with his predecessor, Billy Southworth, who said Crandall was the "greatest prospect I ever saw" when he broke in at the tender age of 19. Mechanically, he's "smooth" backstop and his hitting should pick up, Grimm said.

Grimm's infield will average 25 years of age with veteran Earl Torgesen, 29, at first; Johnny Dittmer, who'll be 25 in January, at second; 25-year-old Johnny Logan at short stop, and Eddie Matthews, only 21, at third base.

I developed Logan at Milwaukee and he did a great job for the Braves last season, hitting better than I expected. He hit around .280 and left nothing to be desired defensively. I look for him to set up our infield," Grimm said.

Spahn Best Lefty
"Torgesen will be at first—at least most of the time—and Warren Spahn should be a 20-game winner for us," he said. "He's the best lefty in the league."

Grimm said his frontline mound staff would be composed of Spahn, Vern Bickford, Max Surkont, Jim Wilson and his young reliever, Lew Burdette. He's also high on rookies Don Liddle and Murray Wall whom he handled at Milwaukee.

Pafko, Sid Gordon, and Sam Jethroe will be in the outfield along with 25-year-old Bob Thompson who was going well until injured in mid-season.

"The best outfielder I have come along is the Brewers' Bill Brunson," Grimm said. "He's a great defensive centerfielder and did a fair job of hitting."

"We're looking for some power hitting," Grimm said. "If we get just some fair country hitters, we'll be all right."

Next: Fred Hutchinson of the Tigers.

Big Train Returns To Local Mat Arena

Ray "Big Train" Clements, making his first appearance here since last summer, takes on Ivan "The Mad Russian" Kalmikoff in the main event of tonight's wrestling card at the Southern Club Sports Arena.

Clements, who generally has a split following, half of the fans cheering him and the other half booing him, is one of the most colorful wrestlers in the business. The Lubbock hefty and his tonight's opponent, Kalmikoff, rely mostly on rough tactics in winning bouts, with both disregarding the rules on most occasions. Kalmikoff currently is the Junior Southwest Heavyweight champion but he will not put his title on the line in tonight's bout. Big Train and the Mad Russian will square off in a best two falls or one-hour time limit.

Tonight's semi-final, which is being billed as a co-feature with the Clements-Kalmikoff duel, pits Whitey Wahlberg and Herb Parks. Wahlberg and Parks met in a 20-minute preliminary here a couple of weeks ago with neither gaining a decision. The two, generally known as scientific wrestlers, turned to "dirty" tactics in the meeting two weeks ago and both are rarin' to get at each other again.

They will also meet in a best two falls or one-hour time limit. Stated in tonight's preliminary is Buck Lipscomb and Herb Urbano. They will meet in a one-fall or 20-minute time limit at fair.

Wyatt Gels Release From Wyoming

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 20—UP—Bowden Wyatt, released from his 16-year coaching contract at the University of Wyoming, was on his way here Tuesday to formally sign a five-year contract as University of Arkansas football coach at $21,000 a year.

Wyatt was released Monday from his Wyoming contract which still had nine years to run and immediately was named successor to Otis Douglas, who resigned after three years as coach at Arkansas.

Upon learning that the Wyoming board of trustees finally had accepted Wyatt's resignation, Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, Arkansas president, declared: "We are very well pleased that the thing has been consummated and we are all looking forward to Wyatt's arrival on the Arkansas campus."

Wyatt's coaching contract at Arkansas went into immediate effect upon his release from Wyoming.

"Terminating Wyoming the 'best school in America,'" Wyatt said, he was "sincerely sorry" that he had to leave. Accompanying him to his new job are Line Coach Dick Hill, Backfield Coach George Cafego, Freshman Coach John Bailey and Assistant Leroy Pearce.

Obviously, disturbed at Wyatt's sudden decision to leave Wyoming where he had compiled a record of 29 victories, 17 losses and one tie, Milward Simpson, president of the board of trustees, said, "There are better coaches than Bowden Wyatt and we'll get one."

One of the latest candidates mentioned for the Wyoming post was Johnny Lujack, former Notre Dame star who also played professionally.

Wyatt said the move from Wyoming

Seton Hall Jumps From 5th To First In UP Basketball Survey

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—UP—Seton Hall, which convinced one and all of its claim to fame by keeping its record spotless through 18 consecutive games, emerged the nation's top college basketball team Tuesday in the United Press ratings by a bare margin of two points over Indiana.

The 35 leading coaches who comprise the United Press board made this week's the closest in the three-year history of the ratings after weekend upsets claimed Kansas State, Illinois and LaSalle last week's 1-2-3 teams.

The coaches based their ratings on all games played through Saturday night, Jan. 17.

Other Teams Close
So close was the contention for positions this week in the wide operational basketball scramble that only one point separated the third, fourth and fifth teams—Washington, Kansas State and Illinois. Seven teams received first place votes.

Seton Hall, the only unbeaten team in the major college ranks, jumped all the way from fifth to first place after scoring victories over three opponents last week. Coach Honey Russell's Pirates attracted 12 first place votes and 254 points; Indiana's Big Ten leaders, which upset Illinois for their eighth victory in 10 games, had 10 first and 252 points.

The Washington Huskies 13-1, coming to Arkansas was prompted by a doctor's order that his wife find a more favorable climate and by a greater challenge the Arkansas job offered because of the rugged Southwest Conference competition.

Arkansas won only one of six games last year in Southwest Conference play.

Team	Points
1. Seton Hall (12) (18-0)	254
2. Indiana (10) (8-2)	252
3. Washington (6) (13-1)	232
4. Kansas State (3) (8-2)	231
5. Illinois (8-2)	230
6. LaSalle (2) (14-2)	187
7. Ohio A&M (12-2)	154
8. North Carolina St. (1) (16-2)	123
9. Kansas (1) (9-3)	61
10. Notre Dame (10-2)	37

Oklahoma A&M (12-2), North Carolina State (16-2), Kansas and Notre Dame completed the top 10 teams. Kansas, which leaped all the way from 21st place after upsetting Kansas State, was in this week's top 10, replacing Southern California.

Oklahoma A&M was seventh with 134 points and North Carolina State eighth with one first place vote and 123 points, exchanging places from last week. Kansas, which leaped all the way from 21st place after upsetting Kansas State, was in this week's top 10, replacing Southern California.

Ten points are awarded for a first place vote, nine for a second, and so on down to one for a 10th place vote.

Louisiana State (11-1) led the second 10 teams with 29 points, trailed in order by California, Fordham, Tulsa, Holy Cross, St. Louis and Southern California. Minnesota and Western Kentucky were tied for 18th place and UCLA and DePaul tied for 20th.

Oklahoma, Wyoming, Oklahoma City University, Brigham Young, Michigan State, Columbia and Wake Forest were others among the 28 that received votes in this week's ratings.

Of the 105 players in the National Hockey League, 13 were born in the Province of Manitoba, Canada.

Desperito Ahead Of 1952 Pace

OLDSMAR, Fla., Jan. 20—UP—Tony Desperito has had only two riding days so far this year but he is three victories ahead of the 1952 pace that brought him a record 590 victories.

Desperito, who has been vacationing and ill since riding one winner at Tropical Park on Jan. 1, came back to Sunshine Park Monday and won with the only two horses he rode, Top Spring and Alabama Belle.

Indiana Sweeps To Eighth Straight Win In Big Ten

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—UP—Indiana and Louisiana State picked up steam in their drives for league titles and tournament bids Tuesday as they continued to "win 'em all" in their respective conferences.

Indiana's Hoosiers, shooting for their first undisputed league crown, made it eight triumphs in eight Big Ten games Monday night by whipping Purdue, 88 to 75, to reach the mid-year examination milestone with a two-game lead over Illinois. And Louisiana State fixed its Southeastern Conference record at 5-0 with a 55 to 50 victory over Georgia.

Sophomore Don Schlundt, the big center who leads all Big Ten scorers with a 25-point average, paced Indiana to its triumph with 26 points and teammate Bobby Leonard added 21.

Illini Regain Winning Stride
Illinois, beaten by Indiana Saturday night, regained its winning stride with a 76 to 64 decision over Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich. The Spartans trailed by only three points with five minutes to go, but then the Illini opened the gap. Al Ferrari led Michigan State with 24 points and Johnny Kerr had 20 for Illinois.

In other Big Ten tussles, Wisconsin held high-scoring Paul Ebert to 14 points and beat Ohio State, 64 to 51, and Deacon Davis' last-minute free throw gave Iowa a 69 to 62 victory over Northwestern.

Louisiana State was again forced to play without high-scoring, 6-foot-9 Bob Pettit, ill with pneumonia, and trailed Georgia by 27 to 24 at halftime in their game at Athens, Ga. But LSU took the lead in the third period and Georgia never caught up. For LSU, which now has won 10 out of 11 games, Norman Magee, was high-scoring with 20 points while little zippy Morocco had 19 for Georgia.

Notre Dame Downs Bradley
Notre Dame, the nation's 10th-ranked team which was upset by St. Louis on Saturday, bounced back to beat Bradley, 76 to 67. Dick Rosenthal of the Irish was high scorer with 20 points.

In other leading games: Willard Eagler tallied 22 points to lead Nebraska to a 73 to 62 Big Seven victory over Missouri; Alabama downed Mississippi 60 to 54 in the Southeastern Conference.

Turpin Records 6th Round KO

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Jan. 20—UP—Randy Turpin, former world middleweight champion who has entered the light heavyweight ranks, knocked out Victor D'Haes of Belgium with a right to the head in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round bout Monday night.

D'Haes used clever boxing and a longer reach to stay in the fight until Turpin floored him in the sixth with a flurry of blows. The Belgian got up at the count of nine and poked two lefts at Turpin before taking a hook to the head and the full count.

Vejar Wins First M'weight Start

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—UP—Young Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., yelled for admittance to the middleweight tourney Tuesday because he had stopped Italo Scorticini of Italy in the fourth round of their television fight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night.

Vejar appeared stronger and more durable in his first start as a middleweight than in his previous 50 bouts as a welterweight.

The appearance of the Syracuse football team in the Orange Bowl will mark the first postseason bowl contest for any Syracuse grid squad.

Road Test and Rate the New Dodge V-Eight

You've heard talk about how this new Dodge performs. About the new 140-h.p. Red Ram V-Eight engine. About the new design that does away with "deadweight." And about the new feeling of mastery! So you say to us, "How about that 'Road Test Ride' you're offering?" You step in. You take over. And from that moment on, all your ideas about motor car performance are changed. Your own Road Test Rating will convince you. Come on in... today!

1 Roominess Check on the extra leg-room, head-room. More space, greater visibility.	2 Acceleration Feel the surging power of new Red-Ram V-8 engine. Amazing Gyro-Torque Drive.	3 Maneuverability Check on the feeling of complete control in traffic. The nimblest car of all.	4 Cornering Discover how Dodge "snugs down" on curves for greater "Roadability."	5 U-Turnability Shorter turning radius lets you U-turn in limited space with less effort.	6 Hill-Ability No "deadweight" haul. Outstanding performance with power to spare.
7 "Scat" Action Just wait till you try the "Scat" gear! Really "digs in" for added power.	8 Road Handling See how Dodge design cuts wind-wander, side-sway for mastery of the road.	9 Smooth Ride See how Oriflow ride control tames bumps. Road-leveling action always.	10 Brake Safety Two brake cylinders in each front wheel. Safer stops at all times.	11 Parking You can "cut her sharp," slip into tight spaces with minimum effort.	12 Economy Performs on "regular" gas. Maximum engine efficiency at your command.

Specifications and equipment subject to change without notice.

Binion Wins Victory In Nevada Court

DALLAS, Jan. 20—UP—Authorities admitted Tuesday that it may be months before they can force gambler Benny Binion to return to Texas from Las Vegas and face state gambling charges and a federal charge of income tax evasion.

Binion won his latest victory Monday when U.S. District Judge E. Whitfield Davidson ruled that he need not return to Dallas for arraignment until Jan. 25, or until the U.S. Supreme Court acts on his appeal. Binion has asked the high court to reverse a Nevada court ruling directing him to return to Texas.

U.S. attorney Lester May said Davidson's ruling meant Binion's return would be delayed at least a week, and maybe several months.

May said he asked the court to order Binion to Dallas Monday, not knowing that Binion had been granted a stay in Nevada until Jan. 23.

Two attorneys for Binion, Russell Allen and Nash Adams, appeared in Davidson's courtroom with a large scrapbook containing 270 clippings from Dallas and Fort Worth newspapers about Binion.

They said they would use the book to prove that the gambler's case had received "too much notoriety" to be tried in Dallas.

Davidson pointed out that Binion would have to be in the courtroom if a motion for a change of venue was filed.

Serious Influenza Epidemic Alarms Hidalgo Co. Officials

McAllen, Tex., Jan. 20—UP—Alarmed officials of Hidalgo County took steps Tuesday to curb a serious epidemic which has sent 13,700 persons to bed with influenza, 86 with pneumonia and caused six deaths in the past 10 days.

County Health Officer Charles Miller Jr. said that he had recommended that all schools in the county be closed and that all public gatherings be postponed. Miller made the recommendation after surveying 46 of the county's 78 doctors.

Mission schools were the only ones closed Tuesday, although schools in Donna, McAllen, Pharr, San Juan, and Alamo closed last week. Miller termed the epidemic as "very serious," but said that decisions about closing schools and banning public gatherings must be left up to local officials.

Theater owners, who met in McAllen Monday night, agreed to run trailers saying, "If you have a cold stay at home, if you have fever see a doctor."

The theater operators said that they would close, however, only if schools and bowling alleys and other public entertainment spots closed also.

One theater in Mission closed Monday.

Superintendent Ohland Morton of Edinburg schools said that about 15 per cent of the student body was absent Monday compared to 37 per cent Friday. He said part of Monday's absenteeism was due to "confusion" about closing.

In Pharr, 1,000 students were absent but Superintendent D. U. Buckner guessed that some of them played "hokey."

Storms Bear Down On Pacific Coast

EUREKA, Calif., Jan. 20—UP—Two Pacific storms bore down on the West Coast Tuesday and threatened to dump more rain on northern California and southern Oregon where floods and cloudbursts have isolated a dozen towns.

At least six persons were killed by high water or mud avalanches.

The weather bureau reported one storm of "moderate intensity" was located about 300 miles west of Seattle, Wash., and the other was developing "rapidly" about 2,000 miles farther west.

Forecasters warned that both would lash the Pacific Northwest, bringing "intermittent rains" which will be "locally heavy."

At least a dozen flooding rivers and creeks were lapping over the countryside or running bankful in Oregon and California. The floodwaters washed out highways and communications and forced families to leave their homes to the mercy of the water in several communities.

Authorities declared a state of emergency in Del Norte and Humboldt counties in California's extreme northwest corner.

Klamath, Calif., a coastal town of about 600 population was mostly under water. All of its residents were reported evacuated to high ground east of the town.

Orick, 20 miles south of Klamath, also was completely under water. One resident was reported drowned and another died of a heart attack trying to escape flood waters from Redwood creek.

Eureka, county seat of Humboldt county, was completely cut off by flooding and earthshakes on U.S. 101 and 299.

Other California towns either partially flooded or isolated by high water included Loleta, Ferndale, Fortuna, Arcata, and Crescent City.

In Oregon, a Red Cross field rep-

Musicians Pay Bill
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — UP — James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL Federation of Musicians, said Saturday his union would foot the bill for all musicians who play at official inauguration functions. The union will pay the hire of seven name bands, three Washington orchestras playing at festival shows and three Washington dance bands.

Says U.S. Parachutes Spies
LONDON, Jan. 18 — UP — The Polish government has sent a note to the United States claiming that two "subversive agents" parachuted into Communist Poland from a U.S. military aircraft, the Polish Press Agency reported Saturday.

Hoover Outranks Vinson
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — UP — The State Department reversed an earlier ruling Saturday and said former President Herbert Hoover outranks Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson. That means Mr. Hoover's open sedan will precede that of Justice Vinson in the presidential division of Tuesday's inaugural parade. Originally the department had said the two ranked side-by-side and their cars were arranged in that manner.
