Red World Loses Second Leader As Gottwald Dies

Pneumonia Blamed For Czech's Death

VIENNA, Austria, March 14—UP—President Klement Gottwald, 57, Communist dictator of Czechoslovakia, died Saturday in Prague four days after attending the funeral of Josef Stalin.

The Communist central committee immediately warned the 12.5 million Czechs and Slovaks against "weakness or panic in our ranks" — a warning identical to that which followed the death of the Russian premier.

The Prague radio said Gottwald, the illegitimate son of a farmer who turned his country over to the Communist world, died of acute pneumonia and pleurisy at 11 a.m. (4 a.m. CST).

No mention was made of a successor to the "Stalin of Czechoslovakia," but it was believed Premier Antonin Zapotocky, 69, a "tough Communist," would succeed the man who master-minded the 1948 coup that ended Czechoslovakia's brief history as a free nation.

Zapotocky presided over a meeting of the presidium of the Czech Communist party and the government shortly after Gottwald's death was announced. He had been Gottwald's comrade-in-arms for years and succeeded him to the premiership.

Gottwald's departure from world communism was sudden—his illness was announced only Friday. He was among the high Soviet and satellite personalities who attended Stalin's funeral four days ago and pledged with them "monolithic" loyalty to the Communist structure.

Secured Well Wednesday He returned to Prague by plane Wednesday in apparent good health. Photographs taken at the airport showed the stocky president, clad against the chill in a Russian fur hat and a Russian fur-lined overcoat, briskly reviewing an honor guard.

Prague radio said he was stricken with pneumonia and pleurisy Thursday morning. Czech radio broadcast mournful music as his condition deteriorated. Moscow radio which had done the same during Stalin's illness broadcast reports of his condition.

Eleven physicians and surgeons, at least two of them Russian, were called in and issued the first of six bulletins on his health. There was the same monotonous listing of the symptoms and the same roll call of eminent physicians as during Stalin's illness—and announced in the same somber, slowly enumerated manner.

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—A former Czech ambassador said Saturday "Moscow weather" and alcohol caused the death of Klement Gottwald, but other Slovaks here predicted more "deaths" among Soviet satellite leaders.

Juraj Slavik, Czech envoy who broke with Prague when the Reds took over in 1948, described the Czech dictator-president who died Saturday as a strong alcoholic.

Slavik thought Gottwald brought on his own demise by drinking heavily in the subzero temperatures of Moscow while he attended the funeral of his "protector," Josef Stalin.

But the national committee for liberation of Slovakia said Gottwald's death "cannot be explained by normal standards of thinking nor can it be accepted in good faith as such."

"The committee expects that similar political happenings as those of Czechoslovakia will soon take place in other satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain and predicts that Hungary will be next to follow Czechoslovakia with her Premier Matyas Rakosi."

Generally, American officials agreed with Slavik's feelings, but they added that the coincidence of Stalin's and Gottwald's deaths was "intriguing."

Big Atomic Test On Tap

Observers To Move In Near Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 14—UP—More than 1500 soldiers and civilians will brave the fury of next Tuesday's atomic blast from foxholes only two miles away. Closer than any human has been to an A-bomb since Nagasaki—it was disclosed Saturday.

As several hundred observers representing press, radio, television and officialdom poured into this desert city, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defense disclosed some of the plans for a public "shot" at the barren Southern Nevada atomic test site 65 miles northwest of here.

More than 1,500 GIs and military observers, plus possibly 20 newspapermen, radio commentators and photographers, will crouch in six-foot-deep foxholes a bare 3,500 yards (about two miles) from a slender 300-foot steel tower atop which a nuclear device will be detonated at 5:30 a. m. Tuesday, weather conditions permitting.

Four Miles Closest Previous In previous atomic tests at Yucca Flat, troops have crouched in foxholes and trenches four miles from the nuclear explosion.

Tuesday's detonation will be the 22nd nuclear explosion inside the United States. All but one, the original Alamogordo, N.M., test blast in 1945, have been detonated at Yucca or Frenchman's Flats.

AEC and Defense Department spokesmen emphasized that, although the troops and other observers would be a scant two miles from the atomic explosion, every precaution had been taken to insure their safety.

The nuclear device to be tested is expected to be a little less powerful than the A-bombs which wrecked Nagasaki and Hiroshima in 1945. The AEC scientists expect the bomb to produce an explosive violence equal to that which would be yielded by 15,000 tons of exploding dynamite. The Nagasaki-Hiroshima bombs, the so-called "model bombs" of the growing family of A-bombs had a blast equivalent equal to 20,000 tons of exploding TNT.

Approximately 500 civil defense governors, reporters, commentators, TV men and photographers will watch the blast from News Knob, a rocky hillock seven miles from the detonation. Those who (See OBSERVERS, Page 3)

Pampa Sweets Out CAB Ruling On Airline; Prospects Brighter

For Pampa today — and for the next few days or weeks — it will be a process of "sweating out the jury" as the Civil Aeronautics Board reviews testimony given it last week on Pioneer Airline's application to operate here.

But, the chances appeared somewhat brighter that CAB would overrule Examiner Herbert K. Bryan's decision denying the permit on Dec. 31.

Rep. Walter Rogers in a telegram to The Pampa Daily News late Friday said:

"My observation is that if the board can justify the cost to the taxpayers, the segment has a good chance of approval."

He was referring to the mail subsidy that would go along with the segment for the airline taking it over.

"We aren't making any money on it now and wouldn't if it was selling at two-bits a pound." Owens agreed it was equivalent to stores handling cigarettes at practically wholesale prices — a good "come-on" that draws business.

"I won't go up here," Owens added, saying "you couldn't get more than a nickel a cup for it, anyway."

The story was the same at Cony Island where John Gilkes, owner, said a price boost of 18 percent wouldn't affect the nickel cup of coffee.

"It will always be a nickel here," he said. Gilkes added the only reason the nickel cup would pass out of the picture would be if the per pound price skyrocketed to 25 percent or more.

Cafe owners in general looked on the five-cent cup of coffee as good advertising — one of the best — and as a come-on. None of them considered it a profit-making venture since so much of it goes out unpaid for by either themselves, the help, or lost by spillage.

Manpower Expert Says U.S. Prepared

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—Should all-out war come, the United States has trained men ready to fight it for the first time in its history, a military manpower expert said Saturday.

"We can get trained persons faster than we can get equipment for them to use," Maj. Gen. E. C. Lynch said in an interview.

Lynch is director of the office of manpower requirements in the Defense Department—the office responsible for laying down manpower policies for any future M-for-mobilization day.

A basic reason for the change from a position of military manpower shortage to one of readiness, Lynch explained, is the Universal Military Training and Service act, passed by Congress in June, 1951.

This act, supplemented by the Armed Forces Reserve Act passed last year, laid the foundation for an effective civilian military reserve capable of swift mobilization in a crisis, he said.

At present, Lynch said, there are about two million trained reservists, most of them World War II veterans, who could be tapped for military duty in case of war.

This would result in a two thirds increase in the nation's military strength, which now stands at 3.5 million men.

This standby potential, furthermore, is growing at the rate of about one million men a year as men complete military service and then are funneled into the reserves.

The Universal Training and Service Act provides for continued military obligation in the reserves after an individual has completed active duty.

The problem, Lynch said, is not finding trained men for military service in case of war but providing for their orderly induction. He pointed out that while men can be rushed into service, it will take time to demobilize ships, form squadrons, and erect barracks for the men to use.

Elks Circus Ticket Sales Total 4,800; Goal Set At 6,000

For — fifths of the 6,000 sponsored children's tickets have been sold for the Pampa Elks' circus, scheduled for April 20 in Recreation Park.

And it is hoped that the other 1,200 tickets will be sold to local business and professional persons within the next few days, according to Joe Tooley, exalted ruler of the Pampa Elks Lodge.

Idea is for the merchants who buy blocks of tickets to give them to children, Tooley said, so that very child in the Pampa trade area may see the show—for free.

Advance adult sales are expected to get underway after the Lions Club Minstrel, April 23.

Circus that will be in Pampa, the Bailey-Brothers', is one of the most active — and oldest — in the outdoor show world and this year's presentation is said to be the most elaborate of all.

All proceeds from the circus ticket sales will go to the Texas Elks' Hospital for Crippled Children.

Ike Assures Doc He Is No 'Poobah'

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—President Eisenhower told the medical Association, the President said he has no fear his administration will become "the big poobah" by creating a department of health, education and welfare.

Speaking informally to the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association, the President said he has "certain philosophical bonds with doctors" and doesn't like compulsory or socialized medicine.

Last-Minute Rush In House Hopper

AUSTIN, Tex., March 14—UP—Owners of ancient cars, soda jerks, and brewers are objects of proposed legislation among a last-minute flood of almost 200 bills introduced in the House.

Legislators, in an effort to beat the Friday midnight deadline for free introduction of bills, inundated the hopper with 189 bills and five constitutional amendments on issues including taxes, teacher and state employe pay raise bills and crime legislation.

Red Cross Drive Reaches Halfway Mark; $6,000 In

Half of the Red Cross fund campaign goal of $12,300 had been reached Saturday, halfway mark of the drive month, according to Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, RC executive secretary.

Since campaign kickoff March 2, $6000 have been accumulated, the secretary continued.

In the residential area, composed of nine districts, $1,301.72 has been turned in, according to a report by the residential chairman, Mrs. W. R. Campbell.

Mrs. Campbell expressed appreciation to her 65 workers — she asked that those persons not contacted in the house-to-house soliciting send contributions to the RC office via mail.

And Irwin Thompson, business chairman, urged men on the business committee to turn envelopes into the office as soon as possible. Approximately one-third of the business envelopes have been returned.

Funds from the schools amounted to $260 with San Houston and Carvey schools showing 100 percent contributions.

Majority of the $6000 has come from response to the "advanced mailing" requests, Mrs. Shotwell said.

Cost Per Pound May Take A Jump . . . Cuppa Coffee Still A Nickel

Despite a possible hike in the price of coffee per pound following lifting of price ceilings, the nickel cup in cafes may be here to stay — at least for some time to come.

This was the opinion of several leading cafe owners in Pampa today.

A good cup of coffee is good advertising and is manner of drawing volume, Mrs. Mildred Perkins of the Court House Cafe said.

Walker (Six) Owens, owner of Owens Restaurant, predicted that a five-cent cup will remain despite a price boost.

"We aren't making any money on it now and wouldn't if it was selling at two-bits a pound." Owens agreed it was equivalent to stores handling cigarettes at practically wholesale prices — a good "come-on" that draws business.

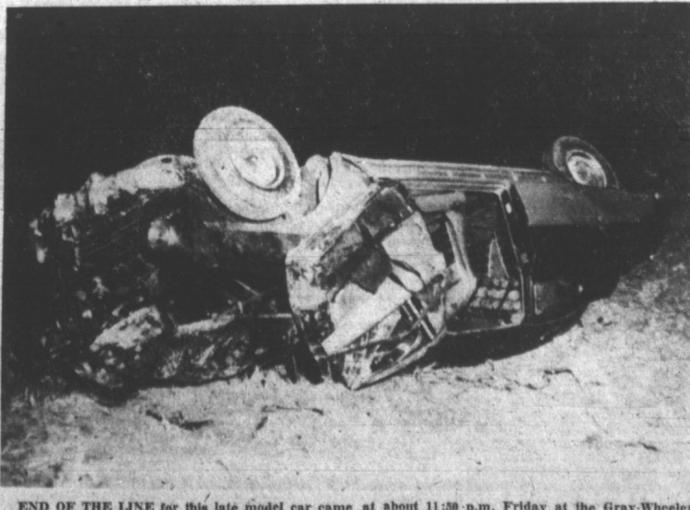

"I won't go up here," Owens added, saying "you couldn't get more than a nickel a cup for it, anyway."

Defense and Air Force officials said in Washington they were watching developments with great concern at the plant which turns out 40 per cent of the engines for the Sabrejets.

Similar TV Sets Have Like Prices

No matter what brand of television set Pampans buy, they won't have to worry about relative prices on sets of like quality and design. For there is very little difference between prices among the various standard brands, local television dealers maintain.

Main determinants of the cost are the quality of the set—the speaker, the screen—and the type of cabinet, be it plastic, wood or whatever.

Services Due Discussion In Reserve Meet

Korean veterans and pre-draft age men are to get the "low down" on service with the U.S. Army Reserve Tuesday night in the Pampa Reserve Armory, 208 W. Browning.

M. Sgt. Roy E. Lewis, former Pampa recruiting officer and now stationed with the unit in Amarillo, will lead the discussion and answer questions concerning the advantages and disadvantages of serving with a Reserve before and after being called into active military service.

Sgt. Lewis said the discussion has two purposes:

1. Acquaint returning veterans from Korea with their obligations to the Reserve.
2. Inform young men below draft age what advantages the reserve holds for them.

Many men returning to civilian life still do not know they have reserve duty to perform before their five, six or eight-year periods are complete. The end of active service or duty is only the first phase of a man's contract with the Army, Sgt. Lewis added.

For the pre-draft men the reserve offers them the opportunity of entering on active service by taking this one to two years of reserve training the young man stands a chance of being advanced to private first class, possibly corporal. Then, when draft is imminent he may apply for active duty and enter with his grade in the reserve—which, of course, would in all probability be higher.

But, should he wait until being drafted he will receive a pay of one month recruit. The boy with one to two years reserve training behind him stands an excellent chance of entering active duty as a $107.02 per month PFC or even as a $129.95 per month corporal.

Parents of pre-draft age boys have also been invited to attend the discussion being Tuesday night.

Pampans Attend Wilson Lectures

Three Pampans recently attended the Wilson Lectures conducted annually at McMurry College, Abilene.

They were Lee Harrah and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson.

According to Johnson, the lectures dealt chiefly "with education from a denominational standpoint with stress placed on the advantages of education received in the church schools."

Among the leaders who spoke Wednesday and Thursday were Bishop Angie Smith, Oklahoma City; Bishop Charles C. Selecman, Dallas; Bishop and E. Martin, Little Rock, Ark.; Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist University, Claude, La.; Dr. J. B. Cook, Spearman; Deputy Sheriff Tom Ramby and Jess Love, Borger; and Jordan and his deputies. Also present was Texas Ranger Frank Probst.

Complaints were filed and warrants issued Friday morning for the pair in the court of Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry. Whitt's bond was set at $2,500. Technical charge was "burglary at night and theft."

Both suspects have been arraigned in Borger; neither in Spearman.

Nicholson is expected. Jordan said to be brought over to Pampa sometime this week for arraignment in Gray County. Both of them will probably be taken to Spearman or it is arranged in the near future, the sheriff continued.

Admitting that Oklahoma authorities wanted to take Whitt back to the Sooner State with them, Jordan said that interested Texas communities would get first crack at the suspects.

"No bis" was his reply to the Oklahoma's request.

Which grand jury in Pampa, Borger or Spearman—the pair would be brought before first would largely on which had the earliest meeting date, Jordan went on.

If indicted, they will face a trial later in the spring.

The $700-plus burglary of the Moose Lodge was Pampa's first safe job in a current rash of similar crimes throughout the Panhandle.

None of the money has yet been recovered, Jordan said.

Picked up Thursday afternoon in Borger by Hutchinson County sheriff's officers, Whitt is now in Pampa's county jail and Nicholson remains in the Borger county jail.

According to Sheriff Rufus Jordan, Whittine began making his written statements at 2:30 p. m. Saturday and signed them about 7:30 p. m.

Interrogating officers in Pampa were Jack Julian, Vallant, Okla., state criminal investigator; Sheriff J. B. Cook, Spearman; Deputy Sheriff Tom Ramby and Jess Love, Borger; and Jordan and his deputies. Also present was Texas Ranger Frank Probst.

east of the northern Mississippi town this afternoon. The victim was identified as Sherman F. Harris, 41.

After spreading death and destruction in Texas and Oklahoma Friday night, the tornado belt swept into Arkansas and Mississippi.

The tornadoes caused millions of dollars of property damage in the three states and a 30-minute hail storm at Lawton, Okla., and near Fort Sill, Okla., caused an estimated $1.5 million damage.

Two persons were injured and 25 houses were destroyed or damaged in Mill Creek, Ark. One person was injured and three homes were destroyed at Delaware, Ark. One person was injured and 37 homes destroyed or damaged at Dover, Ark.

Threatens to Call Guard

Gov. Johnston Muarry threatened to call out the National Guard in Oklahoma. He said State Safety Commissioner Dixie Gilmer told him eightseeing crowds were so great in the cities hit by the tornadoes—Dickson, Washington, Bradley and Rush Springs—that they hampered cleanup work.

Murray said he feared looting. A single tornado Friday night killed 14 persons in North Central Texas and Tom Wagley, a Red Cross disaster unit director, estimated damage at at least $1 million.

The Texas tornado struck Jud, Rochester, Knox City and O'Brien. Most of two families were killed. The roof of a $250,000 hospital was ripped off at Knox City. None of the dead, however, were among the hospital patients.

Five in One House

Mrs. J. B. Ashley, three of her children and her granddaughter were killed in one house near Jud. Mrs. Joe Klutz and her two children were killed east of Jud. Her husband was away and escaped.

Four persons were killed at Knox City, one at O'Brien, and one east of Rochester.

Fred Qualls, 84, was killed at O'Brien, Tex., and Mrs. Patricia Littlejohn 22, was killed north of Rochester.

Three persons were killed in Oklahoma—Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doyle at Dickson and Mrs. Minnie Childress, 63, at Bradley. At least eight persons were injured in Oklahoma.

U. S. weather bureau alerted central, East Texas, Northern Louisiana, Mississippi, Southeastern Arkansas, Southeastern Missouri, extreme Western Tennessee and Southern Illinois against possible tornadoes late Saturday.

The same conditions that produced the Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas tornadoes—severe thunderstorms with big winds—prevailed in all those areas.

Prior to the opening of the school a special cooking edition of The Pampa Daily News will be published Monday. The edition will include information on cooking ideas, background of the conductor and assistant and a listing of all recorded and a Knight will demonstrate.

Lewis Ready To Battle T-H Commie Rule

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers was reported Saturday to battle attempts by Congress to tighten the Reid on Communist-dominated unions through the Taft-Hartley act.

An informed source said Lewis, whose own union denies membership to Communists, is prepared to fight any new provisions in a revised labor-management law aimed at dealing with what he considers "inter-union" affairs—including stronger checks on left-wing union leadership.

This source said the 72-year-old miners' chief will take this stand when he testifies at congressional hearings on amendments to the law. He may be the only "anti-Communist" union leader in that position.

Stringent Check Planned

Congressional leaders have decided to drop the "non-Communist" oath provision in favor of a more stringent and "effective" check on left-wing unions.

Chairman Samuel K. McConnell, Jr. (R-Pa.), of the House labor committee, told reporters he and Senate GOP leader Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) are agreed that an entire new method of dealing with Communists in organized labor may be adopted. McConnell's committee is in the midst of hearings on the law. The Senate labor committee is slated to open hearings March 24.

She announced she will be in the office to answer all inquiries and to give service to best of her ability.

Bradley came to this area in 1926 and was active in the lumber business leading up to his activity in the real estate business in 1930.

The two-day hearing opened Thursday with Rogers leading off the congressional delegation arguing for the segment. Smith was first slated to speak late Thursday afternoon but the hearing was drawn out and the Pampa attorney was not called on until late Friday morning.

It will take CAB several days or weeks to deliberate on the testimony before handing down its decision.

If the application is approved, Pampa will be assured of air service to Dallas-Fort Worth via Vernon, Wichita Falls, and possibly Childress by Pioneer Airlines.

It, however, is quite possible that the segment will be awarded to Trans-Texas whose application for extending its route did not include Pampa, and Borger, but did include Childress. Rogers said if Pioneer wins its segment it will probably be ordered to stop at Childress, especially if Trans-Texas loses its appeal.

Should Trans-Texas be approved and Pioneer lose, then the former will have a route mapped out for them to include Pampa and Borger.

Senators Report Progress In New Tidelands Measure

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—A Senate subcommittee reported Saturday it is "making progress" on a tidelands bill which it hopes will meet demands of the coastal states and recommendations of the administration.

The interior committee group, headed by Sen. Guy Cordon (R-Ore.), has spent long hours working on legislation which probably will be a "package" bill covering the entire continental shelf.

Cordon declined to divulge the contents of the measure but said the subcommittee is "making progress." He said he did not know when the subcommittee's recommendations will be put before the full committee for action.

It was learned that the major difficulty in the proposed legislation centers on that part of the continental shelf lying seaward of the so-called "historical" boundaries of the coastal states.

Majority Favors States

A majority of the committee is expected to go along with giving the coastal states outright control of the submerged lands lying from the low water mark out to the historic boundaries—three miles in most cases.

The administration has insisted that the off-shore lands beyond the three-mile limit (10 1/2 miles in the case of Texas and West Florida) remain under exclusive federal control.

Solon For Europe Ammo Stock Check

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith Saturday proposed a quick and prudent Senate look into American ammunition stockpiles in Europe as well as Korea.

The main Republican who will head an investigation of the Korean ammunition situation, said the recent plane incidents over Germany suggest the necessity of a quick check of European ammo stores.

Mrs. Smith is chairman of a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee which was set up to look into Gen. James A. Van Fleet's charges that there were continuing and serious shortages of ammunition in Korea, while he was Eighth Army commander there.

Taft Wants 'Slow' Senate Pace Upped

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—Senate Republican leader Robert A. Taft said Saturday he thinks the Senate's pace is "too slow" and reported he is trying to "hurry up" the committees to get legislation onto the Senate floor.

This remark to newsmen reflected the concern felt by other Senate GOP leaders over the spread at which the Senate is moving, although they are not yet alarmed.

The Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs has been something of a bottleneck in the Senate because it is handling the bills to grant statehood to Hawaii and to establish state ownership of submerged coastal lands.

Pampa's Firemen Don't Limit Activities To Fires; Many Other Duties Necessary

By ED NASH
"Anything you can think of — that's what we're required to do."

When Pampa Fire Chief E. (Ernest) Winborne says that, he means far more than merely maintaining the city's excellent fire record of the past five years.

For the 15 members of the Pampa Fire Department are called in to help in other forms of disaster — and to perform various civic services.

What they do from time to time runs the gamut from pulling a person from a ditch that has caved in, rescuing cats and dogs and explosions to erecting civic club signs, painting and repairing toys at Christmas time and teaching first-aid to Boy and Girl Scouts.

Graying, 47-year-old Winborne is the personification of the motto that hangs on the wall upstairs in the fire station's living quarters: "Let us live together and love one another."

Obviously proud of the record that he and his other fellow firemen have set since 1948 (when Winborne became chief), the chief is quick to point out:

"Tonight the record could be ruined."

It is the element of continued awareness and alertness that characterizes the Pampa fireman's attitude and has, no doubt, had much to do with Pampa's retaining — for the fifth straight year — the 25 per cent maximum credit in fire insurance ratings.

"I never walk down the street without looking for a fire hazard," Winborne says, "and, when I find it, I get it eliminated."

Evidently, such vigilance pays off. For Pampa's total fire loss in 1952 totalled $28,275, a drop of $4,567 from the previous year. And that was easily low enough to guarantee another year of maximum credit ratings.

It is a healthy combination of personnel, peak efficiency equipment — and constant drill — utilized throughout the year that keeps the Pampa Fire Department in its present on-the-ball status.

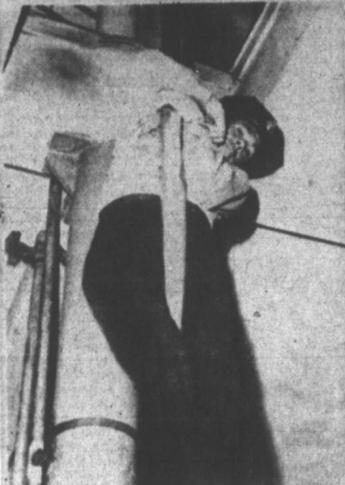

An illustration of this vigilance can be seen in the daily "street drill" in which Winborne calls out an address and points to one of the participating firemen.

The selected fireman must be able to tell what route from the fire station a fire truck should take to get to that location, the quickest — and where the nearest fire hydrant is.

And that is no easy-to-come-by acquisition with Pampa's 181 streets and 241 fire hydrants.

In fact, becoming a fireman is no cinch, the chief says. Armed with a high school education, a "rookie" must put in six months, "By that time," Winborne insists, "I can tell if he'll make a fireman."

Following the initial half-year,

SLIDING AND INSPECTING — Fire Capt. Paul Skidmore slides down the fire pole and Fire Chief Ernest Winborne checks an open valve in the department's "booster" truck. Both practices—and there are many, many more—are essential to the up-to-the-minute ability to fight fires. And jobs are switched, too. As the chief says, "I'd never ask a man to go anywhere I wouldn't go first." Even in the matter of giving first-aid, it is the desired objective of Winborne that every fireman know enough about the subject so that it could be used in an emergency. (News Photo) he is put "on steady" but he is not classed a "fireman" till he has put in a full year with the department. Then his pay is hiked from $240 to $250 per month. Three years of fire-fighting service and he can make $260, top pay except for the chief and two captains.

Equipment owned by the department includes four trucks, a portable lung and a respirator.

One of the trucks, the "booster," is used for the majority of normal fire runs, the chief pointed out. A 300-gallon-a-minute pumper, it has a water tank that holds 440 gallons and can be put into use almost instantaneously.

Fitted out with a fog nozzle, it emits a misty spray that is designed "to save on water damage."

Along with his other 500-gallon pumper, there are two trucks with that can pump water at a rate of 750 gallons a minute. "We bank in these for a major fire," Winborne says.

Each of the four trucks, he continued, has varying lengths of 1 1/2-inch, 1 3/4-inch and 2 1/2-inch line. The bigger-capacity vehicles, however, do not usually carry the smallest line size.

Additional practices that keep Pampa fire losses at a minimum are semi-monthly night drills, an every-morning check of available equipment and the unloading and washing of all hose every three months.

The first and third Tuesday nights of each month, Winborne says, are compulsory drill nights for both part-time and full-time firemen. For several hours, firemen practice various types of fires.

For about two hours every morning of the week, firemen on duty check every piece of fire-fighting equipment in the station. Everything considered, they spend three hours a day working — even if there is not a fire reported all day.

And every 90 days each piece of hose that is used is taken off the trucks, washed, has water run through it and is hung up to dry in one corner of the station house. Of course, only a few pieces of hose are so handled at any one time.

There is surplus hose on hand, too. In case of damage to any hose, there is enough other available to outfit completely one of the trucks. And it's expensive stuff, costing $1.80 per foot.

But it takes firemen to do the job of putting out a fire. Beside Chief Winborne, there are in the department Captains Paul Skidmore and W. A. Claunch; and Firemen Dennis Bryant, Elmer Darnell, Charles Elliott, Elmer Lee Fuller, A. W. Ferguson, Don Hendricks, C. C. Henshaw, J. V. Pirkle, W. D. Powers, Harold C. Rickley, L. E. Shelton and Robert L. Young.

Part-time firemen and their years of service are Robert Burns (20), Homer Doggett (12), Robert Lee Elliott, Charles Everett, Tom Haggard (20), A. J. Hindman (20) and Lester Mason (15).

Upstairs in the station house there are eight rooms, a pool table, radios, air conditioning — and combination pants-and-boots "turn-out bunkers" at the foot of each bed.

When an alarm comes in — a loud horn sounds on the second floor — each fireman can jump into the bunkers, race for the fire pole, slide downstairs, grab his helmet and jacket and be on a truck on the way out of the building in one minute.

This fast-moving outfit — men, equipment and know-how — is at the disposal of not only Pampa but also neighboring communities "within reason," Winborne says.

Pampa's fire trucks have raced as far away as Childress, Shamrock, Wellington, Wheeler and Canadian.

Majority of fire-runs, of course, are of a small nature. Last year there were 206 calls, of which 60 were trash fires and 71, residence blazes. And probably 20 per cent of the residence fires, in any one year, the chief figures, are caused by trash fires.

Carrying out further the ever-present theme of fire prevention, Chief Winborne — acting as Pampa's fire marshal — carries on an ongoing inspection of business, school and manufacturing buildings.

And, if a truck ever gets to a fire that turns out to be too big for the equipment on hand, the chief can radio back — he has a two-way radio in his car — to the station for another truck.

Married with two sons (both married), Winborne is obviously in love with his job and would like any and all Pampans to visit the station anytime ("It's theirs, not ours," he says).

Perhaps the reason that Winborne became and remained a fireman is contained in his regard for humanity:

STREET DRILL — These half dozen firemen demonstrate in street drills how they must know the location of all Pampa streets and fire hydrants. From left to right, they are Elmer Darnell, A. W. Ferguson, Paul Skidmore, Harold C. Rickley, Don Hendricks and Charles Elliott. Capt. Skidmore puts his finger on an address in the phone book as the other five mentally visualize its location. Moving Day Soon For Canadian PO

CANADIAN (Special) — The Canadian post office is to move Kingman within the next few days, according to postmaster Paul Bryant.

Workmen are busy uncrating and erecting the new furniture and equipment under direction of the Post Office Department's traveling-mechanic, L. E. Sievert, and expected to have it ready for occupancy by Saturday.

The post office has been in the Jacob Abraham building, 112 N. E. Second Street since 1923.

The new quarters, a 42x50 foot brick and tile building, was built especially for the purpose by J. C. Studer and leased to the Post Office Department on a ten-year contract as of Jan. 1, 1953.

Two members of the post office force, Preston Hutson and Carl Zybach, were employees of the office at the time it was moved from 104 Main Street to the Second Street location.

Free Men In Action

Come to think about it, the main reason there is no common ground where socialists and the rest of us can come together for a conciliatory chat is that socialists despise people and we like them.

The socialists figure mankind to be a scurvy lot with the instincts of a billy goat and morals to match. They think it is their calling in life to devise means of keeping these beasts from slitting each other's gizzards, pillaging homes for the blind and pushing their grandmothers under streetcars for the insurance money.

Well, fact of the matter is the human animal is somewhere between Jack the Ripper and the angels, but we've always found him to be closer to heaven than the other place.

Just the other night, for a fine, fat example, a great number of young men who had no financial interest in the matter risked their lives to fight a fire that was sweeping several buildings on Jackson Street in Harlingen, Texas.

Nobody offered them a dime. They didn't stop to sign a contract. They didn't ask what was in it for them. They weren't drafted, compelled, brow-beaten, or coerced.

They did a job of work because there is something pretty decent in most people; and, given the chance to act like free people, they'll do the right thing just about every time.

They are credited by the former fire chief with saving a good portion of the downtown shopping district. And, there wasn't a low in the world that put those kids on ladders or on the hose lines. They did it because they wanted to help.

Now, if you'll just stop and savor the idea — isn't there an enormous gulf between people who have faith in mankind and those who think man is an ape in britches? How can you get together with people who despise humanity?

Karl Marx hated people; so did Hitler, and Roosevelt and Truman. They said again and again that the most you can hope for is to keep the savages from each others throats while a chosen few of God's Anointed did the business of progress.

It's the theory of two classes — the great, seething boobyery and the elite corps of advanced scientists and thinkers.

The elite corps dreams up colossal projects to advance the race, while the boobs slave in the mines and grub the earth to pay the taxes; and the socialists have never a twinge of conscience, because they believe that the greatest privilege you can afford the Great Unwashed Multitudes is to let 'em pay for the show.

It's only natural that the socialists go from there to the next step in the progression and reason that the boobs should go along with these projects, whether they want to or not, because they are not capable of making an intelligent decision in the first place.

That is the basis for do-good legislation: Make 'em like it because it's good for them, even if they don't know it. The ultimate of this theory is the police state.

When volunteers fight a fire, build a canal, turn down a special-interest bond issue or perform any act affirming their faith in humanity and human decency and intelligence and freedom — it is a blow at socialism and statism.

The young men who worked on the fire lines in Harlingen demonstrated that government compulsion isn't the answer to obtaining co-operation among free people. Their elders would do well to take note.

We Can't Lose Here

Like us, you've probably been keeping a fascinated eye on that current economy battle between Republican President Eisenhower and Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R., N. Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee.

It's a sizzling-hot hassle and it's still going on. Here's the main issue: Ike, with the backing of some key lawmakers, says the first order of the day, as far as governmental economy goes, should be the whipping together of a balanced U. S. budget.

He points out that our federal machine, for years, has been spending billions of dollars more than it has taken in. The result: Uncle Sam's in hock at this moment to the tune of some 263 billion dollars, on which we taxpayers have to pay a whopping interest.

Ike believes we ought to slash-away at Washington spending and waste first, and at least balance our outgo with our income. Then we can treat ourselves to a handsome dish of income tax cuts.

On the other side, economy-bent Congressman Reed says he's still in there fighting for his bill. It calls for an 11% slash in federal income taxes on July 1.

He's for budget chopping, too, of course. But he insists doggedly that President or no President, he wants to give the American people that income tax relief first.

As we see this brisk Donnybrook, it's not only unusual but mighty pleasing. Both those guys, we'd like to point out, are in there pitching for us hitherto despised taxpayers. No matter who wins, Ike or Reed, our pocketbooks are bound to benefit.

Honestly, isn't this a refreshing change from those old Fair Deal days when the only debate was over whether we should hand our superintending in charge of foreign roatholes nine billions — or why not make it an even 10?

The Nation's Press

"AS RIGHTEOUSNESS TENDER TO LIFE . . ." By V. ORVAL WATTS, Ph.D. (From Christian Economics) Socialists believe that the Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal!" benefits only the owners of property.

So also some persons think that liars are the only those who trust them, that children should honor their parents for the parents' sake, and that murderers may escape punishment unless caught by the police.

This view of wrongdoing, I believe, is wholly unscientific, although certain self-styled "social scientists" teach it in the doctrine that all morality is relative to a particular stage in social evolution.

THE WAGES OF SIN A thief, for example, begins to suffer as soon as he decides to take another person's property and starts planning his crime. At once he begins to lose the very things he hopes to gain: happiness, health, and a feeling of security.

He plots an act of war against his intended victim and against the many persons who are ready to help stop thievery, including the police. This prospect gives rise to fears which at once begin to impair the plotter's health and his happiness.

His heart beats faster. His blood pressure rises. He becomes jumpy and irritable. He adopts a pose intended to throw off suspicion, and this creates a state of nervous tension as he worries lest some slip betray him.

After the crime his insecurity increases, and the ill-gotten gains fail to bring the expected pleasures. He may have hoped to enjoy the wealth as his rightful owner did, but he finds this impossible. Where the owner enjoyed it openly with friends, for example, the thief must be secretive and furtive. Therefore the goods lose the prestige value which they had for the owner.

For this and other reasons, therefore, the thief finds that the value of the goods declines as soon as he takes them. The receiver of stolen goods will not pay free-market prices for them; and even what money the thief does get loses much of its purchasing power because he is so restricted in the ways he may spend it.

THIEVES NEVER SUCCEED True, a thief may in time come to "enjoy" (crave) the excitement of stealing as a drug addict "enjoys" (craves) the prick of the needle.

But he pays a heavy price in nervous instability, and his twisted view of life leads him into ever greater errors and increasing trouble even though the police never catch him. Only the perversity, without understanding, of what he may gain by peaceful cooperation, can enjoy acts which earn him the enmity of others; and such a person is too ignorant of the facts of life to live well or long.

In fact, I think the thief suffers greater real loss than his victim. The victim usually can continue to earn a living. In time he may replace the stolen goods. Neighbors are likely to sympathize with him and help him, or he may have joined with them in an insurance program for sharing such losses.

But the thief loses the inestimable advantage of working with truly useful and helpful persons in society, that is with producers of useful services and commodities. Increasingly he condemns himself to living alone or to life with others like himself who produce little and who live meekly and insecurely.

Sometimes thieves form short-lived partnerships in crime. They even share in a short-term loyalty based on mutual fears, hatreds, and false ideas. But they cannot know the satisfactions of the whole-souled loyalties that grow through free cooperation in mutually helpful service.

And what is true of thieves, I believe is true of all others who violate God's laws, which are eternal principles of right conduct for mankind. The wages of sin is death.

Survival and the good life for human kind depend largely on right relations with one's fellow men, and these right relations cannot be bought merely by money or wealth. Instead they come by generous service and by appreciation for the rights and achievements of others.

A person's well-being, therefore, depends on honesty, loyalty, punctuality, forbearance, gratitude, forethought, industriousness, courtesy and other habits that build trust and goodwill in others, courage and confidence in oneself.

These qualities secure a family loyalty and the services of like-minded fellow workers, and out of this loyalty and their services comes life more abundantly.

This is what certain prophets taught a pastoral people thousands of years ago, and I believe their teachings are as sound today as they were then.

Reds May Move Immediately Into Oil-Rich Middle East

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's "new look" at the turbulent Middle East, the crossroads for three continents, assumes greater significance from Stalin's death, even though a sharp reversal of the Truman-Acheson policy was formulated before a stroke killed the aged dictator.

In order to rally Russians to the new regime, Malenkov may move into this troubled area immediately and aggressively.

Our current effort to cultivate Arab friendship and build a Middle East Command like the European Defense Community is an attempt to beat Malenkov to the punch.

Recent developments reflect the White House concern. Crown Prince Feisal of Saudi Arabia was received by Eisenhower and Dulles, and briefed on our plan to extend greater aid to the Arabian states. Their grievance against us has been that Truman showered generosity on Israel, with which the Arabs are technically at war. Secondly, Dulles will soon visit this strategic sector to implement Ike's pledges.

Looking Ahead

By GEORGE S. BENSON THE REDS' STRATEGY HERE The change in administration of the United States government was anticipated by the American Communists and their masters in Moscow, and a new program of strategy designed to strengthen their hold in our nation is already under way.

Prof. Louis F. Budenz, former Red leader, told our Harvard College Freedom Forum audience the faculty and student body. The one-time Communist Daily Worker editor was invited to the campus to alert us to the new Communist strategy made necessary by the tightening of safeguards against the Reds by the Eisenhower administration.

In his address, Professor Budenz made two points of paramount importance to all Americans: (1) That while the new president and new Congress would no doubt tighten safeguards, the Reds were cunning enough to hold their own and even strengthen their apparatus. "The Communist conspiracy in America is still on the march," he said.

(2) And we can stamp out the menace only when most of our people clearly understand Communism and can recognize the Communist "line" when they hear or see it. By having leaders unable to recognize it, we led China to the Reds, he said.

NON-COMMUNIST HELP The Communist "line" is carried thinly disguised in such Communist publications as the Daily Worker and Political Affairs. The Reds throughout America pick up the line and try to get important influential non-Communists to unwittingly advocate precisely what they are trying to accomplish. For instance, Professor Budenz said, the No. 1 Communist strategy objective for a long time had been the achievement of U. S. recognition of Red China.

He named a nationally-known conservative industrialist who had advocated such recognition. "He was unconsciously expressing the Communist line," the dearest design of the Kremlin," Mr. Budenz said. The achievement of such help from conservative individuals and groups is one of the major strategy goals of the American Communist Party for 1953, he said.

CONCENTRATE IN EDUCATION In 1953 the Communists intend, said Professor Budenz, "to intensify their efforts to maintain their hold in education." For an understanding of how deeply they have penetrated American education, he cited recent testimony of Dr. Bella Dodd before the McCarran Committee. Dr. Dodd formerly ritating issue. Until Eisenhower's "new look" and his pledge to Crown Prince Feisal, Washington had shown extreme partiality toward this new state. Truman recognized its independence almost before the proclamation of freedom was issued. In seven years, he advanced $276 million to Israel, while giving only $229 million to five Arab states in four years. The Arabs resent this favoritism to a new, thriving, industrial nation which defeated them in war.

It is no secret that Truman's midnight recognition and subsequent generosity were dictated by domestic political considerations on the eve of the 1948 election. Forrestal's diary tells how the late "Bob" Hannegan, then Democratic National Chairman, insisted at a cabinet meeting on immediate acknowledgment of Israel's independence to hold the Jewish vote and to unship the wallets of wealthy contributors to the party treasury.

Eisenhower may encounter Capitol Hill opposition to his pro-Arab policy. Sen. Taft has always been pro-Israel, but, as a Middle East expert at State phrases it, "Pro-American votes in the Middle East right now, with Russia on the warpath, are more important than votes in the Bronx."

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORAN, M.D. Questions regarding childbirth are naturally of enormous interest to many women.

Q—Many doctors seem to be giving the spinal for childbirth. Is it better than ether? H.B.Y. A—The subject of what should be used to lessen the pain of childbirth is one which has been the subject of study and learned discussions for many years. Both spinal anesthesia and ether have been used successfully thousands—or perhaps millions—of times, as have other anesthetics or pain-reducing substances.

Perhaps the method of anesthesia used at childbirth which is best is the one with which the physician in charge has had the most experience. It seems to me that questions of such a technical nature should be left to the physician and that the patient can do this safely if she has chosen one in whom she has confidence.

Q—I understand that after a woman's tubes have been tied she can't have any more children, but my question is, can they be untied? Mrs. M. A—Attempts by surgery have been made to reopen the tubes or oviducts after they have been tied. If the original operation was carefully performed, these attempts are not usually very successful.

Q—I am 77, and I think, owing to my age, feel insecure when walking. Otherwise, I am in good health. Is there something I can do about this? Mrs. O. A—This is unfortunately a common occurrence to many during the later years. In all probability, there is not much which can be done to relieve the situation, but you should be extremely careful not to fall. If your feeling of insecurity is too great, you should try to hold someone's arm when you walk, unless you can hold on to something else with your hands.

Q—Will washing the hair every week cause it to fall out? A.B. A—No, although washing the hair will remove those scales which have already separated from the scalp. If the amount of hair which comes out when washing seems too great, perhaps there is some scalp condition present which would benefit by expert treatment.

was a member of the Communist national committee and legislative representative of the New York Teachers' Union. The union, she said, had 11,000 members and was at one time under complete domination of the Communist Party. "Teachers," she said, "have always been a very important part of the Communist apparatus."

Louis Budenz said another Communist objective for 1953 is to "snarl up our legal processes." The 15 Communists recently convicted of teaching and advocating the violent overthrow of our government will appeal the verdict and use every legal device to postpone their imprisonment. By the time they go to jail, he observed, the 11 leaders convicted in the Foley Square case will be free again. He said the Smith Act, through which the Communists are tried, wasn't adequate to cope with the conspiracy. He urged that the Communist Party be realistically recognized as a conspiracy, and outlawed.

OTHER STRATEGY The Communists in 1953 will try to bring more of their important functionaries into the United States and send more of their well-known American Party members abroad. These coming in will bring fresh instructions, and will go underground so their activities in the conspiracy will have widest freedom. Our government has been permitting many American Communists to go abroad and, as Americans, berate our country and thus aid the Reds' world strategy.

The Communist attempt to discredit ex-Communists who are testifying against the conspiracy will be stepped up in 1953. In their efforts to smear and vilify ex-Communists like Budenz, Whitaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley, the Reds have had the help of many influential non-Communists. Any ex-Communists who testify against the conspiracy, Professor Budenz contended, should be defended by American citizens if for no other reason than that they are helping break up the conspiracy, I agree.

Fair Enough... Good Ol' Days Of Nickel Beer Were Best For All Of America

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) The period around 1905 to 1914 was a Golden Age. In the United States, this golden era may have started a little before 1905. I am speaking of my own dawning.

In the span I mention a glass of beer cost five cents and a man could load up with all the free lunch he could eat. The beer was good domestic draft merchandise and the lunch was no mere smashes of mouse-cheese and crumbled crackers.

It was roast beef with natural gravy, between slices of rye or white bread, served on a plate; wonderful, juicy hot roast ham with fat around the rim; potato salad in the sour German ver-sal; German corned beef hash; spaghetti with splinters of beef cooked into it somehow, baked beans with brown bread and a variety of little specialties. You brought a nickel glass of beer and then you slid down the bar to the free lunch place. There, a colored man stood awaiting the pleasure of serving you.

Of course, the quality varied. On the south side of South Clark or West Madison in Chicago, the lunch was less refined than the provender put forth in better saloons within the Loop. But the Skid-Row characters who composed the clientele of the barrel-houses were apathetic toward food, anyway. It is my impression that they were mostly foreigners, for this was in the period when the restless refuse, as the poet called them in the morose greeting on the Statue of Liberty, were coming ashore unquestioned in our Eastern ports. However, many of them were American natives. If you saw the faces and listened to the talk along the Skid-Row of New York today, you will observe that the current bums are our very own. We inevitably turn out a bumper crop of these appalling wretches in all our cycles but people didn't go wrong on a couple of bad days and the free lunch that I speak of. Many a busted guy got by over a hard time on free lunch. God knows what a busted girl did to get by.

A dollar a day was mighty good pay in the words of a campaign slogan, but, in actual fact, $2 a day was a little submarginal. Dan Tobin, the president emeritus of the Teamsters' Union, relates with heroic self-pity that he worked from before dawn until after dark for $12 a week. I don't do that work. It didn't hurt Tobin. Prices were proportionate. We had a barn house of six rooms and a barn where we stored the coal, for $18 a month in Minneapolis.

Reporters were frankly understood to be on the cuff while the publishers were piling it up for fees. The telephone company cuffed you a phone, the brewery cuffed you a mug of beer and the coal company filled your bin in return for little dab of snark publicity. The same with the tailor. Milk was a nickel a quart. Bread was a nickel. Carfare a nickel. The nickel movies were just coming in with scenic travel films shown in theatres which you entered through a mock-up of the stern of an observation car. It seemed to me when I saw Lowell Thompson's cinema that the sensation of actual flight through a Rocky Mountain canyon, as though the whole theatre were whipping between the walls of the gorges, was reminiscent of the moving picture trip on the Dever and Rio Grande in those nickel theatres.

I can't conceive that the landlords could have made a cent on the rents in Chicago. You could get six rooms for $30 a month, heated by steam, janitor service. The owner salooned the walls every year or two. It was customary to offer a tenant one month's rent, free. We knew nothing whatever about taxes. The school taxes probably were paid out of the general funds, for there never was any question of tuition for rental tenants with kids. In many towns books were furnished by the school board, but in Chicago you had to take a sort of poverty plea. Only those who were really poor were willing to do that. It embarrassed the children. Nowadays children who have grown up shamelessly put their parents on state charity on the ground that they are paying taxes for the Old Age Assistance thing and will be poorer to their neighbors if they refuse, out of false pride, to take advantage of it.

When I first went to England, you could still get a custom made suit of tweed or hard cloth for $25. I got bed-and-breakfast in a roomy boarding house for 30 shillings a week. The historic Strand was only 60 cents. For another tanner, or 12 cents, to the man who carved it on a rolling table, you could get another sheet of beef. Simpson's served this butter and salt, I think this butter is of the best. Few of us remember that lavishness at so little cost. When I was in Simpson's last year, the contrast of meanness, tasteless duck and insipid fish was very depressing. The prices, under inflation, were really crazy.

Lord Northcliffe saw the submarine really taking charge of the situation, so he turned the heat on Simpson's with cartoons and feature stories about gross porcine war profiteers gorging themselves while the wives and children of Tommies at the front got a long with Kipps and sprouts. Rationing went on. Simpson's never did really come back.

The English people, even the white collar middle class, a distinct cut above the lower classes, who really were low—these English people had lived very pleasantly before the war. They spoke of heavy cream on their berries, longing for the day, which never has come, when again they would have to spoon that clotted cream out of the pitcher. They had had "joints" of beef, mutton and lamb. Real Scotch whiskey, full strength, was four cents at the second-class bar. I believe their watered, raw Scotch costs four shillings now.

The same richness was general on the Continent, and, in the worst days of the war, when England was trying austerity for the first time, France felt well and stunted on nothing.

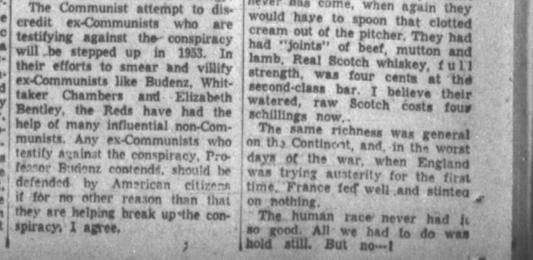

The human race never had it so good. All we had to do was hold still. But no—

'Incentive' Study May Throw Light On Future Tax Policies

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—When a Harvard professor is not listed in Who's Who, he should be newsworthy. This distinction belongs to Dan Throop Smith, bespectacled and balding young professor of finance at the Harvard School of Business Administration, who has been brought into the Eisenhower administration as head of Treasury's analysis staff.

This is the Republicans' new brain-trust organization which has been set up to do policy planning on taxation, debt management and government financing. It has taken over part of the research functions of the old Treasury technical staff and tax advisory staff, which have been abolished.

Professor Smith says, with becoming modesty, that he is not the Treasury's spokesman on these things. All the talking is to be done by Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey, Undersecretary Marion B. Folsom, and the assistant secretaries.

Out of the Smith past, however, has come a detailed study on "incentives," which may throw some light on new tax policies that will at least be considered by the Eisenhower administration.

This word "incentive" has been tossed around rather loosely and without anyone pinning it down to say just what was involved. The general theory behind it is that business doesn't expand and individuals don't show the proper ambition when high taxes reduce their income and destroy their initiative to go places and do things. In his first message to Congress a month ago, President Eisenhower mentioned the need to "encourage the free play of our people's genius for individual initiative."

There have been a couple of books written on the subject, "Effects of Taxation" by Prof. Charles A. Hall Jr. of Yale and "Effects of Taxation on Executive," by Prof. Thomas H. Sanders of Harvard.

Before the National Tax Association convention in Dallas in 1951, Professor Smith undertook a condensation of these books and other literature and thinking on the subject. It is today perhaps the briefest and most definitive statement on incentives that exists.

Based on 1952 tax rates, Professor Smith points out that it would be necessary for an executive to receive $75,000 today in order to retain the same income after taxes he had in 1929 on a $25,000 salary.

Professor Sanders is quoted on the conclusion that day-to-day activities of executives have not been lessened by high taxes. Pride and desire to dominate are still good non-monetary incentives to do a good job. Furthermore, countries that do not have high income taxes have not had imaginative business leadership.

But the question is raised of what effects high taxes would have on the choice of career if they were continued for, say, 30 years or more. If such taxes forced more bright boys into government service, it would not be an unmitigated evil, Professor Smith concludes.

Salary increases and bonuses do become less attractive as tax rates go higher, he says. By contrast, any deferred compensation can be made attractive because it will be subject to lower tax rates. This has led to the development of pension plans.

An alternative is a stock purchase option plan. It provides an opportunity for capital gains, which are taxed less than high pay. But really to be effective, these stock option and profit-sharing plans should get favorable tax treatment. This would be a direct incentive.

Pension Plans

The effect of pension and other deferred-payment plans is analyzed as tending to freeze executives in one firm, continued employment. To the extent that this reduces labor turnover, it is considered a good thing. But to the extent that it tends to make executives too sure of their future, and so reduce their incentive, it might have the opposite effect.

"On balance," Professor Smith declared, "it is my belief that under a system of high taxation, the compulsory retirement required under pension plans increases efficiency. It is not clear to me whether personal accumulations under a lower tax system might not also provide a basis for retirement."

Smaller companies have been reluctant to adopt pension plans says Professor Smith, because they mean higher fixed costs. And the attraction of capital gains is greater in small business. There is still not enough general experience on which to base deferred-payment plans is best, the Treasury's new analyst concludes. On the assumption that a dynamic economy is desired, pensions as executive compensation may be considered bad.

Bonus and profit-sharing plans are next. But stock options are considered good if they can be made into a long-term investment for the executive and his family.

Since stock options were given favorable tax treatment in 1950, they have come nearest to giving salaried executives the long-term, proprietary point of view.

5 Candidates File For Miami City Offices

MIAMI (Special) — The names of five Miami men will appear on the ballot for city offices in the election to be held April 7, according to Mayor R. J. Bean, with whom the names were filed.

Mayor Bean and Aldermen Newton Cox and James Seitz are seeking re-election. Bean is president of The First State Bank, here, Cox is manager of the Magnolia Service Station and Seitz is postmaster.

Two more names were added to the list through nominations at the Democratic mass convention held in the city hall Friday night, March 6. This is the first time names have been filed through and in accordance with a new nomination at a mass convention, state law legalizing such action.

The convention nominations were Fred Gordon, Roberts County farmer and ranchman, and former member of the city council, who will oppose Mayor Bean; and Frank Gracey, another former council member, who will be a candidate for alderman. Gracey is manager of the White House Properties here.

Deadline for filing was March 7. Those who are nominated may decline the nomination not later than ten days before the election, however, none have signified their intention of withdrawing.

Quartet Will Appear Here

The Stamps Ozark quartet, Wichita Falls, will appear in a concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Sam Houston auditorium, according to Elmo Hudgins, Gray County Community Singers president.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to conduct a school of music, sponsored by the Community Singers, here April 23.

The school, according to Hudgins, will be opened to underprivileged children in particular and anyone else desiring to attend.

For further information about the singing school, persons may contact R. K. Ekins, 1228 Duncan. Or they may contact Hudgins, at 616 N. Dwight.

Life In A Sanitarium Subject Of Lefors Senior Class Play

LEFORS (Special) — "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy!" a three-act comedy by Katharine Kavanaugh, will be given by the senior class of Lefors High School on Thursday and Friday, March 19 and 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The play, produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Company of Chicago, will be directed and managed by Mrs. Roy Gettel and L. H. Berryman, class sponsors.

"Who Wouldn't Be Crazy!" takes place in the garden of a sanitarium for mild mental cases who are from very wealthy families.

"Speedy" Marshall (Jack Pflug) dodged into this sanitarium to avoid a traffic cop. Hardballed McCafferty (Russell Herring), Speedy's father (Billy Dan Kin-die) decided to let him stay there to be cured of his speed mania. However when Mrs. Marshall comes to take Speedy home, he refuses to go because he has discovered that he likes to be crazy about Lola Meredith (Imogene McAninch) who is there to present a play for the inmates. After Speedy's arrival at the sanitarium, there is so much excitement the superintendent (Bobby Jack Miller) is happy to see him leave so there will be peace and quiet again.

Others in the cast are Inmate No. 1 (Don Howard) who thinks he is Hamlet, the Prince of Denmark; Inmate No. 2 Barbara Wells who sings grand opera tunes; Pluribus (E. C. Lette) an amusing colored boy and Pen-die (Georgetta Still) his chocolate-colored angel; Miss LaVelle (Willa McAninch) a capable head nurse; Reggie Mortimer (Bill Watson) a foppish young man who likes to act; Evelyn Winslow (Ann Staley) a wealthy patient; Edward Gordon (L. B. Conroy) a struggling young artist; and Beatrice (Jo Ann Shores), Jorie (Carlene Carruth), and Janet (Shirley Testers), the debutantes who adore Reggie.

WHITE DEER (Special) — Girl Scout Troop 51, White Deer, held formal initiation recently in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. J. A. Cooley giving the invocation.

Speaker for the evening was Mrs. Dorothy Statton, Pampa Girl Scout leader and director of this area. Mrs. Statton spoke of Scouting, its meaning, and what is expected through Scouting.

Following the speaker, each girl observed the candle-lighting ceremony and repeated Scout laws. Miss Marion Hones, troop leader at White Deer, presented the girls with their pins.

Following the ceremony, Girl Scouts and their parents were honored at a reception, also held in the Methodist Church.

MIAMI (Special) — A mobile unit from the Red Cross Blood Program will be in Miami on April 9, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Volunteers to give blood for the National Blood Program are being asked to sign with local leaders of the drive. Blood given to this drive will be used to save lives among our fighting men and to contribute to other lifesaving agencies of the Red Cross.

Tax Cheaters Will Suffer, Official Says

WASHINGTON, March 14—UP—The government sounded a stern warning Saturday that it will deal harshly with citizens who try to cheat on their income taxes. With the deadline for 1952 returns less than 48 hours away, the Internal Revenue Bureau and Justice Department announced a "vigorous and impartial" crackdown on tax evaders—big and little alike. Both agencies at the same time assured honest taxpayers that special measures were being taken to "avoid innocent mistakes" in the processing of an estimated 55 million returns.

Although March 15 is the traditional deadline for filing income tax returns, it was shifted to midnight Monday because of the holiday Sunday. Tax collectors throughout the nation were braced for the usual last-minute rush. And regardless of irritations, they had orders from Tax Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews to meet taxpayers with a smile. "There was little doubt the government meant business in announcing the campaign against evaders. Both Justice and Internal Revenue have been doubly anxious to do a good job since they came under attack for irregularities more recently under new Republican management. "Every effort will be made to discover and prosecute those who wilfully attempt to evade their taxes," Coleman and Assistant Attorney General H. Brian Holland said in a joint announcement. They said there would be a campaign to check returns of all sizes.

Irish To Have Shamrocks Flown From Ireland For Big Festival

SHAMROCK (Special) — Glen L. Hall, Amarillo, district manager of Trans World Airlines, found himself a victim of the old-fashioned stock when he came to Shamrock last week. Terry Moore Says Oscars Are A Jinx

HOLLYWOOD, March 14—UP—Terry Moore, up for an Oscar this year, announced Saturday she's one nominee who doesn't want to win. She thinks a victory is a jinx. Other nominees nominated in the Oscar derby have been bustling about movie-town wearing political smiles and vote hopes. But Terry, who has a talent for speaking up at the unexpected moment, declares she doesn't give a hang whether she totes home a gold statuette. "I wanted to be nominated for supporting actress, but I don't particularly want to win," explained the shapely actress, to whom this viewpoint is very logical. "I think it's a jinx. Most people remember who was nominated—but who ever remembers who won in the supporting category? I bet most people can't remember who won last year."

Terry was "really thrilled," she sighed blissfully, when she snared a nomination for her portrayal of an overheated college girl in Come Back, Little Sheba. She modestly thinks that's enough honor for the year. The final voting has ended, so it's safe to say that now, anyway. She insists she won't mind if one of her competitors—Gloria Grahame, Thelma Ritter, Jean Hagen or Colette Marchand—is called to the stage of the Pantages Theatre Thursday night to receive the academy award.

"What happens to the winners? Katina Paxinou won a supporting Oscar, and Mercedes McCaig, Kim Hunter won last year and has not done a movie since," she said. "Couldn't get work." Dean Jagger, a supporting actor winner, once complained he couldn't get work for months because movie makers figured he'd accept only award-type roles. Big-eyed Terry added she'd be happy to some day win the top Oscar, for best actress. But that honor has not brought celluloid luck to some of its winners, either. Ronald Colman hasn't appeared in a picture since he won the best actor award in 1947; he became a radio star. Broderick Crawford hasn't topped his All the King's Men role that won him the academy award.

Farouk Blames Iron-Willed Mother-In-Law For Troubles

ROME, March 14—UP—Exiled King Farouk of Egypt, blaming an iron-willed mother-in-law for the loss of his wife, vowed Saturday he never will give up his baby son. A spokesman for the ex-king said Farouk will "do his best" to retain custody of 14-month-old King Ahmed Fuad II "in all eventualities." Baby Fuad was left behind when ex-Queen Nour, 49, quit Farouk's Italian villa two days ago and flew to Switzerland with her mother, Mrs. Assila Sadek. A Sadek family spokesman said Nour will go later to Cairo for a divorce, enabling her to institute legal action against Farouk for custody of the child.

Farouk admitted Friday that he was "grieved" by the death of his wife. He said he was "grieved" by the death of his wife. He said he was "grieved" by the death of his wife.

Policeman Dies In Car Accident

SAN ANTONIO, March 14—UP—An Austin police captain died Saturday in a San Antonio hospital of injuries suffered last night in a traffic accident near Charlotte, which also claimed the life of a police sergeant. Capt. W. W. Blackburn died at 2:46 a. m. in Baptist Memorial hospital while undergoing surgery. Austin Police Sgt. Jerry Joslin was killed instantly in the accident, which state police reported occurred on SH 97 west of Charlotte when the Austin men's car struck a cow. The two policemen were accompanied by a third Austin man, Hymie Sangarten, and were en route to Roma, in Starr county on a fishing trip. Sangarten was not injured. Joslin, 45, headed the school safety patrols and was a personally known to hundreds of Austin children. He was married and the father of two sons.

Farouk explained Friday why he went night-clubbing in Rome the night Nourman left him. He was grief-stricken, he said. Mrs. Sadek said at Geneva that Nourman (who has been reported pregnant again) would go to Lausanne for medical treatment and then return to Egypt. Major Leagues Approve The Transfer Of Braves, Browns

To Consider Request Today

TAMPA, Fla., March 14.—UP—The Boston Braves Saturday asked for permission to move their team to Milwaukee and baseball's executive council planned a meeting today to consider the situation.

Braves President Lou Perini announced at Bradenton, his plans to move to Milwaukee, and then telephoned league President Milton Giles to request an immediate meeting of club owners. They must give unanimous consent to such a move.

The National League already has approved the move of its owners, it was learned. They have approved Perini's plan to switch his team to Milwaukee by an unanimous vote is required for such a move in the National League.

The big trick now is to convince the younger circuit's big owners, it was learned. Perini will meet with Frick and Giles Sunday to prepare for the Wednesday meeting. And in Milwaukee, the county park commission voted to grant the Braves a lease for the new $5,000,000 county stadium.

The contract calls for $1,000,000 a year for the first two years and a small percentage of the gate for the ensuing three years. Joseph Cairnes, vice-president of the Braves, attended the commission meeting and explained a low rent was necessary because it would cost the Braves a lot of money to transfer.

Cairnes had come from Toledo, Ohio, where he made plans to move the Braves' Milwaukee franchise in the American Association.

Miller to Buy Interest
Brewer Frederick Miller revealed that he will buy a part interest in the Braves if its move to Milwaukee is approved by the National League. He had tried to buy the Browns and the St. Louis Cardinals from Milwaukee.

But the Browns are headed for Baltimore. That seemed sure. Al Veck, president of the Browns, said he would like to see the Browns move to Baltimore. He said he would like to see the Browns move to Baltimore. He said he would like to see the Browns move to Baltimore.

Perini Determined
But Perini seemed more determined than Perini to move. It was learned that August Busch, beer dealer who bought the St. Louis Cardinals several weeks ago, offered $1,000,000 for Sportsman's Park, which the Browns own and the two teams now share.

This also considerably more than Bill would hope to get for it. "Bill would move the club to St. Louis," one baseball man explained. Veck seemed to have no opposition within the American League, or from the Baltimore International League team. This Baltimore team probably will be moved to New England, with Pawtucket and Providence, R.I., and Hartford, Conn., the outstanding prospects.

OILER OFFICIALS ARRIVE — Ted Pawelek, left, field manager, and J. A. Hamilton, business manager, met for the first time yesterday and immediately laid out plans for the coming Oiler baseball campaign. Oiler Heads Arrive; '53 Plans Outlined

The Pampa Oilers' field manager, Ted Pawelek, and business manager, J. A. Hamilton, got together for the first time yesterday with owner Doug Mills here to complete plans for the coming 1953 baseball season.

The above threesome, who will guide the fortunes of the Oilers this season, got right down to brass tacks in outlining the '53 campaign.

Seven members of last year's squad are included in the 1953 plans. They are pitchers Maxie Molberg, Ted Gardner, Morris Shipman and Eddie Hughes; first baseman Doug Lewis; infielder Hal Hays; and centerfielder De-Ed Wald.

Ed Sudol, first baseman, and catcher Don Moore, both members of the '52 Oiler team, have been sold. It was revealed yesterday. Sudol was sold to Charleston, S.C. of the Class A South Atlantic League while Moore was sold to Chicago.

Pawelek drove here from Chicago, arriving in Pampa late Friday night. Hamilton arrived here Friday after seeking player talent in Cuba and Florida.

Pawelek, however, will depart Monday for Galveston where he will train with the Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas League until the Oilers report for spring training March 26. While in Galveston, Pawelek will seek help from the Oklahoma City club with whom the Oilers have a working agreement.

Others on the Oiler roster at present are Gregory Solis, limited service catcher, who was with the Oilers the first part of last season but who was optioned to San Angelo of the Longhorn League; Roger Aldridge, rookie pitcher from Miami; Jose Luis Velazquez, rookie pitcher from San Juan, Puerto Rico; and Ricardo Cacao, rookie third baseman from El Salvador, C.A.

Norm Auerbach, the '52 Oiler third baseman, has been optioned to Statesboro, Ga., of the Class D Georgia State League.

Aldridge and Velazquez come highly regarded by Hamilton. Aldridge, who tips the scales at 180, is strong and has a terrific fast ball, Hamilton said. He is 19 years old. Aldridge attended University of Miami last year but dropped out of school to seek a baseball career.

Velazquez is an experienced rookie, Hamilton said. He has been playing winter baseball in Puerto Rico and will be making his debut in the states this summer.

A contract has also been seen to a promising outfielder in Clario Duany of Cuba. Duany is a slugger and will help us a lot if he elects to report, Hamilton says.

The Oilers will report in Pampa March 26 and will leave that day for Sweetwater where spring training will begin the following day. A seven-game exhibition schedule has been lined up for the Oilers. The first game will be against Plainview at Ballinger, April 5.

The remainder of the exhibition slate will be:
April 7—Plainview at Sweetwater.
April 9—Lubbock at Sweetwater.
April 16—Borger at Sweetwater.
April 18—Plainview at Plainview.
April 19—San Angelo at Sweetwater.

The Oilers will return home after the San Angelo engagement and await the season opener, at 11:30 p.m., April 24, here. No games will be played in the home park prior to the season opener.

Outlook Promising For 1953 Oiler Season As Officials Arrive In Pampa

IT WAS OUR PLEASURE to meet the two new Oiler heads, field manager Ted Pawelek and business manager J. A. Hamilton yesterday.

And it looks like the Oilers are going to be in good hands this season. Both of these men know baseball from A to Z and to us the prospects for a fine season is most promising.

After a brief get-acquainted session between Pawelek and Hamilton, it was only a matter of minutes that the two got down to serious business with owner Doug Mills in mapping out the 1953 plans.

For one thing, you can wager your bottom dollar that these fellows are going all-out to give Pampa a winning team. Hamilton remarked during yesterday's session that the Oilers certainly have a promising squad in which to start building.

The greying Hamilton, he's been in baseball 30 years, has had six years of scouting experience for major league clubs and he is well satisfied with the personnel that the Oilers have on hand at present.

He has picked up a couple of rookies that should help the Oilers amply. If they look good to you, they will.

ST. LOUIS, March 14 — Baseball's have-nots, the fans of the St. Louis Browns, are mad enough to run "the Shirt" through a mangle.

"The Shirt," of course, is Bill Veeck, sportshired owner of the Browns, who is ready to move the club to Baltimore.

Veeck, a personable character with a ready grin and engaging informality, made friends by the score when he came here midway in the 1951 season to buy the club from the De Witt brothers.

While the deal was still pending, he called upon all owners of Browns' stock to sell out to him in the interest of building a pennant-winner for St. Louis.

The small owners, ranging from holders of five shares and less to opera singer Helen Traubel, with a substantial block, responded.

Owners Respond

A tireless worker, Veeck promised to revamp the defeatist club entirely.

"We'll have one team playing, one leaving and one on the way," he said. And he did just that, getting rid of manager Rogers Hornsby and ace pitcher Ned Garver in his first full season in 1952.

The results of his promotion and his rebuilding were reflected in advance ticket sales for this season. Fans, sure that they would have a in years, shelled out without hesitatingly strong-club-for-the-first time.

Fans Scoff at Reports

Rumors of the sale of the Browns were flying thick and fast all last week but the rosters, with Veeck's speeches fresh in their memories, scoffed at all reports.

Now that Veeck has confirmed the prospective deal, the barber shops, the street corners and the taverns are echoing with moans of anguish.

Mayor Joseph M. Daret has issued an angry statement.

So has the Chamber of Commerce.

Sports columnists have added their bit to the anvil chorus and a "citizens' group has threatened to file suit to keep the Browns here.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14 — The Detroit Tigers handed the St. Louis Cardinals their sixth defeat of the spring against two victories and their first shutout Saturday, 4 to 0, when Bill Wight and Milt Jordan collaborated in pitching a three-hitter.

Senators Wins Orlando Derby

ORLANDO, Fla., March 14 — The Washington Senators rapped out 35 hits including four homers, two doubles and a triple, Saturday as they routed the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-8.

Gil Coan, Mickey Vernon, Eddie Yost and Jackie Jensen hit the Senators homers. Coan and Jensen got their blows with the bases empty, while Vernon and Yost each had one man on base when they connected.

Yanks Dodgers

MIAMI, Fla., March 14 — Home runs by Gene Woodling, Mickey Mantle, Bob Cerv and Phil Rizzuto accounted for six runs and propelled the New York Yankees to an 8-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Saturday before 8,427 Miami Stadium fans.

Woodling's clout to right field came with a man aboard in the fourth inning when the Yanks scored three times against losing pitcher Russ Meyer.

Browns

MONTEREY, Calif., March 14 — The St. Louis Browns scored four runs on Don Fracchia, Oakland rookie right hander, to gain a 6 to 2 victory Saturday before a crowd of 1,861.

Fracchia walked two, hit a batter, and gave up three hits, one a windblown pop fly that fell between the fielders.

Cubs Chisox

MEXIA, Ariz., March 14 — Home runs by Hank Sauer and Bob Ramazzotti gave the Cubs an 8-7 overtime victory over the White Sox Saturday, their first in four games with their Chicago rivals.

In the tenth, with two out, Ramazzotti whacked his game ending drive over the left field wall off Gus Keiarakos, rookie right hander. Sauer sent the game into overtime with a ninth-inning homer to tie.

Bears Sign TCU's Martin

CHICAGO, March 14 — Wayne Martin, end and halfback at Texas Christian last year, Saturday became the seventh new player to sign a 1953 contract with the Chicago Bears.

Martin, 27, weighs 198 pounds and is six feet two inches tall. He played offensive end and defensive halfback last year and was rated one of the best defensive men in the Southwest Conference.

Miss Berg hit the 54-hole mark in the 72-hole tournament with a 219. Only a complete collapse in Sunday's final round can keep the chubby St. Andrews, Ill., golfer from winning.

Betsy Rawls, the Spartanburg, S.C., girl who shot a 78 Saturday, was a distant second with a 227. Louise Suggs of Atlanta, another experienced tournament player, fired a third round 78 also for a 228 and third place.

Jackie Pung of Honolulu and Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., were tied for fourth. Each had a 231.

Crafty Admiral Top Winner in $50,000 Gulfstream H'cap

HALLANDALE, Fla., March 14—UP—Crafty Admiral raced Battledfeld head to head for a 16th of a mile Saturday to win a stirring victory by a neck in the $50,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap before a crowd of 20,220.

It was the second year in a row that the Charfran Stable star, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cohen of Miami Beach, had taken the top handicap event here.

This year he ran with the top weight of 128 pounds, 14 more than last year, and galloped the one mile and a quarter in 2:00.4. The time last year was 2:01.

The stretch duel was too much for George Widener's Battledfeld. He pulled up lame at the end of the race and Jockey Albert Schmidt had to dismount on the far turn so Battledfeld could be led back to the paddock.

Crafty Admiral, the five-year-old son of Fighting Fox, atoned for his sixth place finish in the $100,000 Widener at Hialeah last month. He came from just off the pace, set by Main Chance Farms' Admirals Pride, to take the lead as the field of 11 turned into the stretch.

Battledfeld finished six lengths in front of Dulat, ridden by Conn McCreary. Pace-setting Admirals Pride, with Jimmy Combes up, finished fourth, another length back.

Major Sammy Lee, double Olympic high diving winner in 1948 and 1952, is the four-time National AAU champion.

Hank Iba Attacks Present Foul Rule

MANHATTAN, Kan., March 14—UP—Coach Henry Iba of Oklahoma A&M College attacked the present foul rule Saturday and said because of it collegiate basketball is in its most dangerous phase.

One of the nation's leading coaches, Iba said that if the coaches of America in their meeting next week in Kansas City, Mo., do not act to reduce free throws, the fans are going to quit paying to see the game.

"We have to realize," Iba said, "that we don't charge three dollars to demonstrate free throws. If we don't do something—and do it at once—we'll find our big fieldhouses empty and fans now being planned won't be built."

Iba brought his Missouri Valley Conference champion Aggies here for the western regional play-offs of the NCAA tournament. The Aggies met Kansas' University Saturday night for a berth in the finals at Kansas City, March 17 and 18.

Iba said there were some coaches who would allow a star player to make five fouls and remain in the game.

"I say let's go back to the day when four fouls were the rule," Iba said. "Then if the clown can't cover, let him leave the game."

Eight Letters For McMurry Cagers

ABILENE, Mar. 13—Three seniors, three sophomores, and a single junior and freshman made up the eight-man list of McMurry College basketball lettermen for 52, 53 released by Coach Mel Jowell this week.

The three senior basketmen hold two other letters under mentor Jowell. They are: Carl Jowell, 6-3 forward from Dimmitt and brother to the coach; T. D. Hamilton, 6-2 forward of Andrews; and a captain Eddie Behrends, 6-2 center from Tulla.

Back for a second letter with the Indians is sophomore Fred Shelton, 6-1 guard from Avoca who rated the second team All-Conference last season as a freshman.

"First year" lettermen include Jerry English, junior transfer from Clarendon Junior College—he's a 6 foot guard from Phillips; Jim Jowell, 6-2 forward from Dimmitt, another younger brother of Coach Mel; Bill Anderson, 5-10 sophomore guard from Gatesville; and Don Taylor, 6-4 freshman forward from Avoca.

The close of the recent season brought to an end one of the most publicized basketball careers in McMurry's history on the hardwoods—that of Carl Jowell, twice All-Conference and a clinch to rate the 1953 selections. Jowell holds the Texas Conference scoring record at 534 points, a record which he set at one point less—533—in 1952. During his three years on the Reservation Carl has totaled an amazing 1,992 points.

The Tribe cagers failed to live up to pre-season predictions of copping the TC crown but they did break even in conference play, with an 8-8 record. The quietest ended the campaign with a 10.15 season's win-loss tally.

SPEARED—With Bob Harris' arms poised like a hoop, Odie Spears of Rochester reaches over the Boston ace's shoulder as though he's tipping the ball through a rim of a basket during a scuffle under the backboard. The Celtics won in overtime, 88-85. (NEA)

Two-Way Tie For Lead At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14—UP—Dick Mayer, the hometown favorite, made a stirring comeback on the second nine Saturday to stay even with veteran E. J. (Dutch) Harrison at the end of three rounds in the $10,000 St. Petersburg Open Golf Tournament.

Mayer, of St. Petersburg, and Harrison, the "Arkansas Traveler" now playing out of Ardmore, Okla., each fired three-under-par 68s for three-round totals of 200.

The two par-busters were now setting their sights on a tournament record Sunday as well as first place money. Jackie Burke set the mark last year with a 72-hole total of 266 and stood at 200 after three rounds in 1952.

Only a stroke off the pace at the 201 was Pete Cooper of White Plains, N.Y., who shot a 68 Saturday. Mayer, who was tied with Harrison Friday at 152, blew hot and cold on the third round while Harrison was the picture of consistency.

At the turn Harrison had a 33 while Mayer soared to a 36. But Dick came back with a 32 after getting hot on the 13th when he banged his approach shot six inches from the pin for a birdie three.

Harrison also fauted on the back-side, taking a bogie four on the 17th after nearly driving the green. He picked-up a par on the 48-yard 18th hole which has been a standard birdie hole throughout the tournament.

Bo Winger, in 15th place Friday, vaulted into contention with a blazing 65 to move within two strokes of the leaders.

Chick Herbert held down fifth place with a 203 after collecting a 79 over the Pasadena Municipal course.

Food Poisoning Strikes Stinnett Team At AAU Meet

TEMPLE, Tex., March 14—UP—Three players and the coach of the Stinnett, Tex., basketball team were hospitalized here Saturday with food poisoning and forced to drop out of the state TAAF tournament.

Hospital attendants said those admitted were Coach Tom Bannister; Leroy Bannister, his brother; Dan Seymour and James W. Malone. The coach and Seymour were released from the hospital Saturday morning, and the others expected to leave during the afternoon.

The attack of food poisoning forced the team to forfeit its morning game with Woodward Motor Co. of Dallas. Woodward was scheduled to play Gilbert Building of Houston Saturday afternoon.

Lincoln Downs Opens LINDCOLN, R.I., March 14—UP—New attendance and betting records were set Saturday as 35,000 fans turned out at Lincoln Downs for the opening of the New England racing season and watched their hero, Tony Despirito, ride four winners.

Jayhawks Repeat As NCAA Champs

MANHATTAN, Kan., March 14—UP—Defending national champion Kansas fought its way into the 1953 NCAA title play March 17-18 by beating Oklahoma A&M 81 to 68 in a heroic final period.

Despite his height, got but one field goal after Born left.

The Big Seven champions now join three other regional winners in Kansas City, Mo., next Tuesday and Wednesday for the 1953 showdown that saw the amazing Jayhawks without a tall pivot man.

It was Dean Kelley who hit 10 hot points in the third period to save off any serious Aggie threats. Kansas led at halftime 30-28.

Mattick and his talented mates from the Missouri Valley champion Aggie squad, including Harold Rogers, fought for a championship berth.

But the spirit that has carried Kansas all year prevailed. Allen may go on forever. Some fans and friends thought he might quit after last year's NCAA and olympic glory. But actually he has got a bigger kick out of winning with this team of "little kids" than he got with his superb '51-'52 team.

Mattick was the game's top scorer with 22 points. Dean Kelley got 16 for Kansas. His battling brother, Al got 13.

Lodge Stole The Headlines From Russ In UN Debate

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

The Good
1. Substitute Russian delegate Andrei Gromyko ran through the usual list of Communist propaganda charges against the U.S. in the United Nations this week and then settled back comfortably to wait for tomorrow's headlines.

But the U.S. stole his thunder. U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. didn't wait for the headlines. The U.S. troops in Korea, which Russia now criticizes, are the same as helped Russia in World War II, he said. Then he added the dig that the Reds were afraid of their own people: Lodge's unexpected and rough-and-tumble diplomacy took the headlines from Gromyko.

2. Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito left Belgrade for his first visit to a Western capital since his break with Russia. The date of his visit to London had been advanced at his own suggestion.

Tito had just okayed a new treaty with Greece and Turkey, strengthening NATO's mid-Eastern wing and now his advice on dealing with the Russians after Stalin's death was expected to be invaluable.

3. The United States and Britain concluded an important conference in Washington. Through Foreign Minister Anthony Eden Britain agreed that no ships carrying war goods to Red China would be allowed to refuel at a British post and that no ship under British license would be allowed to carry strategic material to the Red Chinese from any port. Economic talks provide Britain and the Commonwealth nations with "trade not aid" also made progress.

The Bad
1. The cold war in the air suddenly became hot over Germany this week. Two Russian-made MIGs darted across the border into West Germany from Czechoslovakia and shot down a U. S. Thunderjet.

Less than 48 hours later new-type swept-wing Russian jets shot down a British bomber over the corridor between Berlin and Hamburg, and made a "mock" attack on another British plane. The West lodged vigorous protests and then wondered what the Russians were up to.

2. Mao Tse Tung and other Red Chinese leaders pledged their adherence to the new Russian government of Premier Georgi M. Malenkov and reaffirmed Soviet Russia's leadership of the Communist world. It was a blow to Western hopes that the Chinese would break

Mail Route Bidding Open

Bidding is now open for a star mail route in the local area, according to W. B. Weathered, Pampa postmaster.

The route is from Pampa to points in Laketon, Mobeetie, Briscoe, Allison and back to Pampa. Anyone interested in bidding for the mail contract may contact the local postmaster for forms and additional information. Weathered said.

Qualifications are that the carrier must be over 18 and if a woman, must be married.

The contractor is required to furnish all equipment necessary to transport all mail.

Bidding is strictly on a competitive basis. The sealed proposals must be in the Assistant Postmaster's office.

3. Iran served notice she would reject the latest Anglo-American offer for a settlement of the dispute over Iranian oil. The deal reportedly would have involved a $100 million advance to Iran the U. S. to help restore Iran's economy and to be repaid with oil.

Meanwhile, the Iranian government was jubilant because an Italian court refused over the protests of the British, to seize oil shipped to Italy from Iran's Abadan oil refinery.

Plan AAUW Parties

University Women..

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN in Pampa represents 25 colleges and universities. For individual institutions West Texas College has the most graduates in the Pampa branch. Activities of the branch which was organized in 1928 include several things of interest to the public.

AT HEAD OF AAUW BRANCH — Officers of the Pampa branch of American Association of University Women include (left to right) Mrs. O. M. Prigmore, third vice-president; Miss Nova Mayo, treasurer; Miss Evelyn Milam, president; Miss Sibyl Turner, first vice-president; and Mrs. M. Roy Sullivan, second vice-president. The branch holds its general meetings on the third Tuesday of each month in the City Club Room. Mrs. J. E. Thompson is secretary.

PLAN AAUW PARTIES — Mrs. O. M. Prigmore, left, is the AAUW social chairman. She and her committee are planning a tea for Pampa High School girl graduates and their mothers. Shown in the M. Roy Sullivan home with Mrs. Prigmore are Mrs. H. Y. Cornelius, Mrs. Lee Harrah and Mrs. Dudley Steele. At the first of each club year a reception honoring new and prospective members is given. Other entertainment this year included a dinner, a Christmas tea and a covered dish supper.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS — Mrs. Kenneth P. Walters, international relations chairman, finds time to relax with foreign students, Miss Gretchen Johannsen and Burkhard Brehm. The AAUW plays a combination role of sponsor, foster parent and college dean to women students from 20 countries. This is the seventh year the association has provided international grants under a program established to give women from abroad training for constructive service in their homelands and also to further international understanding.

ON THE SOCIAL SIDE — Mrs. Myrl Salmon chats with Mrs. Loyal Davies and Mrs. Otis Nace. Mrs. Salmon is chairman of the status of women committee. Mrs. Davies is publicity chairman. The committee on the status of women believes that the great social, technological and economic changes that have affected working conditions since the first "protective" labor laws were enacted and the vastly increased extent to which women are now gainfully employed as compared with fifty years ago require a reappraisal of the association's traditional attitude toward this type of legislation — especially as it relates to the association's stated principle of working continuously for the removal of obstacles confronting women.

CREATIVE ARTS — Miss Frances Huff, left, receives instructions from Miss Verdie Denton at a get-together of the art study group of the AAUW. Mrs. Espar Stover, Miss Mary Morgan and Mrs. C. P. Farmer, seated on the floor, work on various hobbies. Besides socials and study of the arts, the Board of Directors of the AAUW, advocating a "bold, positive and frontal attack on the whole problem of the communist threat to freedom and democracy," has issued a statement to the AAUW membership defining the issue and urging individual and branch study of the problem. The board states, "Communism is a threat to freedom and democracy. We are against it. Fascism is likewise a threat to freedom and democracy. The use of totalitarian means to fight communism or fascism is a threat to freedom and democracy. We are against it. . . . There is also danger, the board warns, that we may lose our liberties by the very means employed to defend them. (News photos by Fred Ditzian)

Sun Specs That Will Flatter Face

For years the goggle type of sunglasses has been a cartoon symbol of summer and winter resorts. Girls went around in those places hiding not only their eyes but half their faces from the sun and from their fellow vacationers' gaze. The results were a slightly affected look to those girls and round, white circles spoiling their faces.

Now designer Claire McCordell has supplied a remedy for this situation. She has designed a sun spec that will flatter many girls' faces and protect the eyes only, almost constantly in summer. This white, shallow curve fits snugly above and below the eyes, a gentle, shallow curve fits snugly over the bridge of the nose and under the chin. It is just what you need for the sun. It is just what you need for the sun. It is just what you need for the sun.

You may have these glasses in one of three styles: black, white or a choice of pastel lines and red rims that way. So to go with your summer and re-wear sunglasses whenever necessary. The frames are of sary, but don't overdo them. opaque plastic and the green. If your eye physician has given lenses or six-base curved, ground you special directions in regard to and polished by a famous optical course, follow them to the letter.

It's a good idea to do without your sunglasses whenever possible. Read The News Classified Ads.

Former Pampans Honored At Open House On Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Nicholson, former Pampa residents, were honored at a golden wedding anniversary in Hinton, Okla., recently.

About 100 guests attended the open house. Among the guests were the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson. They are Russell Nicholson of White Deer, Raymond Nicholson of Toledo, Ohio, and Chester Nicholson of Berger. The Nicholsons have six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. O. G. Smith of Pampa attended the reception. Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Frazer of Kingsmill also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson were Pampa residents from 1912 to 1942.

mental and silly with dreams of world reform or go hostile and furious with demands for constant change.

Our psychiatrists know how urgent is this need. One of our leading ones writes:

"Young people with grandiose ideas of serving 'mankind' in the abstract need first to succeed in serving the people close around them in their families and neighborhoods. International amity does not begin in the United Nations; it begins at home. In families and neighborhoods alone can we develop the solid foundation that is essential for citizenship on higher levels."

Those are the words of Dr. George S. Stevenson, Medical Director of the National Association for Mental Hygiene.

So I have a suggestion to make. We have in our country what may well be the most remarkable system of public and private social service in the world. I want to suggest that our Boards of Education and Community Chests get together — and work out a plan to give academic credits to high school students in "social studies" classes who volunteer service to their communities' humanitarian agencies.

They represent our country's conscience, its sense of love and justice to the weary, the weak and the disabled. It's time our young people were directly involved in America's heroic battle against disease, despair and apathy. It is time we used it to inspire the youthful idealism which is our most precious and most neglected national asset.

An estimated 50 million citizens will get living room side seats to the event, televised on three half-hour programs, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

In addition to the guest singers, Mrs. John McDonald was a guest of the club. Members present were Meses W. D. Allen, C. C. Carr, W. L. Russell, A. H. Gordon, Eunice Holland, R. E. Webster, J. McCustion, J. K. McKeon, C. Carmichael, Howard Mulkey, R. E. Thompson, Theo Jenkins, and W. F. Locke.

During a social hour, the hostess served refreshments featuring the St. Patrick's Day theme.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

My friend Bill J. is an engineer, a realist by nature as well as by profession. He is also the adored father of two young people, one in college and the other cruising around somewhere with the U.S. Navy.

One night last week I was dining with him and Jo. To a question I put to him, he said, "Anti-American propaganda? Sure, our kids were exposed to it in high school and college. Jo and I didn't mind. We knew they'd been immunized."

When Bill puts down his pipe, it's to say something he thinks is important. He put it down now and said, "Why do you think Sister worked without pay in a settlement house the Summer before last? Why do you think we encouraged young Bill to donate his Friday nights to a downtown boys' club his last year in high school? Do you think we pushed these activities just so that we could be sure we could find the children when we wanted them?"

"No," I said.

"We wanted," the children's father said, reaching for his pipe, "to let the youngsters in on what their country is doing about 'social injustice' and 'discrimination' so that when they heard their country libeled, they would have answers ready."

FEEDING YOUTH'S HUNGER

Maybe my friend Bill has found the answer to the problem that has perplexed many of us who have watched newswreels unfold the bright, dedicated faces of Nazi and Communist children.

Maybe he's found the way to help us all feed youth's hunger to feel part of a noble national purpose. For years we've fussed and fumed because we have not known how to make our American vision of brotherhood thrilling and powerful to our young people.

Like any other human hunger, the need to work for a noble purpose can go rancid and bad, these activities just so that we

"BEWARE THE IDES OF MARCH"

"Beware the Ides" — old Caesar, J.
 Received the words with scornful snorting;
 But now the date's the final day
 To do our income-tax reporting.
 We've got the bunch of forms, complete
 With lots of "helpful information"
 To make the task an easy feat
 Of fabrication.
 Yet folks there are who view the job
 With doubt or fear, and, willy-nilly,
 It gives them jitters in the nob
 And damps their fevered brows. How silly,
 When just two little things will see
 Them through their mental acrobatics:
 A pencil, and a Ph.D.
 In mathematics.

W. B. France

COULDN'T HELP RUNNING that poem since it fits in perfectly with today being THE day when everyone is supposed to have that "fatal" or "unfatal" (as the case may be) tax report in. It's a shame we couldn't just have March 15 every four years... like Leap Year. But you know as Halburton said, "Death and taxes are inevitable." Just no way around it.

PEG'S PASSING ALONG A CLUE: she has discovered in finding out the Woman of the Year. Peg understands that the woman chosen this year by the Beta Sigma Phi society has been a full complexion! Of course, as always, the choice is based on accomplishment in homemaking, church, cultural or civic work, business, or other outstanding community service. Have you figured who it may be yet?

HEARD THAT THE FIRST BAPTIST Church again outdid themselves in the banquet they gave for the seniors of Pampa High. The theme this year was based on the World Travelers. Understand that past themes have included Hawaii and Valentines

SHOULD HAVE BEEN THERE: At a recent shower given for Ellice Hobbs, by the Beta Sigma Phi society... They say that the table was out of this world. The tablecloth was blue and the centerpiece was a seven branch dresden candelabra with white tapers... It was surrounded by a blue and white lei of carnation interspersed with mallee... quite effective. One of the most beautiful antiques was a hand-painted china punch bowl belongs to Mrs. H. H. Threat.

DEDICATED TO THOSE IRISH:
 When Erin first rose from the dark-swelling flood,
 God blessed the green island, he saw that
 It was good.
 The Emerald of Europe, it sparkled
 And shone
 In the ring of this world, the most Precious stone.

Army Champs Show How To Win Hands

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for NEA Service

"After three unsuccessful tries, I finally put together a team which won the Prince Takamatsu Team - of - Four Championship," writes my old friend, Col. Tim Willis.

"As you know, it is a semi-annual knockout team game, sponsored by the Tokyo Bridge Association (Japanese), and open to all nationalities. My team was made up of Sgt. Al Mastron, Sgt. Bernard Wolff, my wife, and me. Our opponents in the finals were a group of Tokyo foreign businessmen.

"We won the final match by the small margin of 970 points, and "The most interesting hands, strangely enough, resulted in 15 swings for our opponents.

"In the accompanying hand, my partner led the jack of hearts. Joe Jacob, playing the South hand, then led the two spades from the dummy. I played the three, and the spectators gasped as Joe Jacob finessed the five and held the trick!

"Of course Mr. Jacob proceeded to coup me. Our teammates went down one at four diamonds on this hand."

There is much more in the letter, but space prevents me from quoting it all. American bridge fans will be glad to know, however, that this is the first time that an American-Armed Forces team has managed to win the Tokyo Championship.

Col. Willis didn't bother to point out the entire play of the hand, but it's easy enough to reconstruct it. After winning the second trick with the five of spades, declarer cashed dummy's top diamonds and ruffed a diamond. He entered the dummy with a heart to lead another diamond through East.

At this point East had to ruff, since otherwise South would discard a losing club. If East ruffed low, South could overruff with the jack, return to dummy with the last top heart, and lead the fifth diamond.

If East ruffed high on the fourth round of diamonds, South could discard a club and eventually get back to dummy with a high heart to take a second trump finesse through East. Either way, declarer was sure to win eleven tricks.

Dairy Products Are Plentiful This Month

Now is a good time to get more dairy products into your menus. There is an excellent supply, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration.
 In fact, they're the USDA featured plentiful food for the week of March 22-28.
 Among these dairy products are cheddar and cottage cheese, non-fat dry milk solids, butter and buttermilk.
 Cheddar cheese is perhaps the most popular of these dairy products. Sharp or mild flavored, it finds its way into many tempting dishes. And it's chock-full of nutrients we need for good health.
 For instance, cheese ranks alongside meat as an efficient source of protein. It contains riboflavin. If it's made from whole milk, it has some vitamin A. And, it contains calcium. In fact, you get as much calcium from one ounce of cheese as you do a cup of milk. And calcium is one nutrient often lacking in many of our diets.
 Here's a main dish you might like to try. It's baked oysters and cheese.
 For 4 servings you will need 1 cup grated cheese; 1 pint small oysters; 4 slices toast; 2 beaten eggs; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon prepared mustard; 1/2 teaspoon paprika; 1/2 cut milk.
 Cut slices of toast in quarters. Combine beaten eggs, seasonings

Sprinkle with grated cheese. Repeat layer reserving enough cheese for top. Cover with milk mixture and top with grated cheese. Tips For Tasks
 If you want to make a quick gelatin dessert in ten minutes, add two packages of gelatin to one pint of boiling water. When it dissolves, add about ten ice cubes, stir until melted and place in refrigerator. The gelatin will be ready in a jiffy.
 with a rotary egg beater or an electric mixer about 2 minutes.
 Shrimp — Clean green or pre-cooked shrimp. Dip in batter; drain and fry in hot deep fat (375 degrees F.) 2 to 3 minutes.

 Fish filets — cut filets into small pieces. Dip in batter; drain and fry in hot deep fat (375 degrees F.) 2 to 3 minutes.

Field Activity Declines In The Area As Operators Stake Six; Complete 15

Wildcat activity in the Panhandle declined last week with only two new ventures reported for the area. Activity, in general, followed the same trend with six new locations staked and 15 completions including four new oilers, three new gasers and seven plugged wells.

The new wildcat locations are in Roberts County, one by Gulf and the other by Cabot. The Gulf test is in the Quinduno area.

The following is a take-off on the week's drilling:

Knox City Residents Describe Building Sale Effects Of Destructive Tornado Is Defended By Roberts

KNOX CITY, Tex., March 14.—Dr. T. P. Frizzell called on a patient suffering with a heart disease Friday.

He saw at once the man needed to be in a hospital, so he called an ambulance.

Dr. Frizzell saw the patient safely loaded into the ambulance, and started out ahead of it in his automobile.

When he arrived there wasn't much hospital left to put a patient in. The tornado had ripped the roof from it and damaged it beyond repair.

Mrs. Nacona Wilson, 42, a waitress in the City Cafe here was driving to work with Mrs. Ola Finley, the cafe's cook.

"It started to rain and hailing so hard that I had to drive slow and turn the lights on," she said. "Then the rain sicked up and we could see a red cloud whirling over the southeast and east part of town."

"I told Mrs. Finley there was something in the air. We came on to the cafe and standing out in front we could see big pieces of paper and other debris in the cloud as it rolled away."

Ed Wynn, a husky, 18-year-old who graduated from high school last year, was alone at home when

Flier Given Credit For Stealing MIG Building In Texas Sags

WASHINGTON, March 14.—UP—A privately-financed flier in international intrigue was credited Saturday for the escape to the west of a late model Soviet jet fighter carrying design secrets of vital interest to the United States.

A 23-year-old Polish Air Force lieutenant landed the plane March 5 on Denmark's Baltic island of Bornholm. It was the first undamaged MIG-15 to fall into Western hands. The plane probably will be returned to Poland—but not before its secrets have been thoroughly read.

Former Maryland Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. told part of the cloak-and-dagger story behind the MIG's flight from behind the Iron Curtain.

Involved were a former U. S. secret agent and an unrevealed number of underground operatives in Poland and elsewhere, all of whom asserted they did their dangerous work without benefit of any official assistance. The whole fantastic plot was carried through at a cost of only $10,000, Lane said.

American officials denied any connection whatever with the spy-thriller episode. They predicted that Moscow will picture the incident in the wildest propaganda terms to persuade the world there is something to its espionage charges against the U. S. government and individual Americans.

The officials declared in advance there is no basis to any such accusations.

The GOP chairman was called to testify before a special state legislative committee investigating the sale of a building which some contended the state already owned.

Roberts said he acted "in a public relations standpoint" in assisting the Ancient Order of United Workmen, an insurance firm, in negotiating the sale of the building erected in 1928 for $110,000. It was located on State Tuberculosis Sanatorium grounds at Norton.

Earlier testimony in the week-long investigation had indicated that by terms of an obscure contract the state was to acquire the building free in event the insurance firm withdrew.

Roberts read from a prepared statement to charge that political connections and circumstances around his $11,000 fee to "blacken my name and destroy my usefulness in my present position."

"I challenge these accusers to bring forth a single person with whom I was in contact in this transaction who will stand up to me and say I exercised any political influence, directly or indirectly," he said.

Accused Robber Arraigned
EL PASO, March 14.—UP—Alber Dennis Holliday, a 31-year-old former jockey, was arraigned 3 1/2 weeks before U. S. District Judge R. E. Thomson on charges of trying to rob two El Paso banks in less than an hour. He was charged with trying to rob one El Paso bank on Feb. 19. When that was unsuccessful, he got in a taxicab, went to another bank and used a butcher knife to force a woman teller to hand over $311. He was caught as he left the second bank.

WHY YOU NEED LIGHT around your TV PICTURE

HALO LIGHT
 The Most Modern, Most Exciting Development in Television

Scientists have proved that when viewing a brightly lighted object in dark surroundings, you need "surround lighting" for real eye comfort. Now Sylvania's scientists, long prominent in lighting research, have applied this principle to television.

Halolight is an exclusive Sylvania development. A frame of soft, cool light surrounds the entire picture screen. The picture looks larger, clearer, and viewing is kinder to your eyes. The greatest most important advancement in television viewing!

Realtors May Create Industry By Anticipating, Speaker Says

Realtors can help create industry in a community by anticipating development, a state officer of the Texas Real Estate Board told local board members recently.

The officer, Louis Strey, Houston, president of the state Real Estate Association, said unless we have good industries in the cities we cannot expect growth.

"And it is the realtor's job to keep abreast of new development," he continued.

Too often the mistake is made of communities underestimating development, he stressed.

Strey turned to the national scene and stated that we "should support the government... not the government support us as it has tried to do in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations."

He warned we should turn away from socialistic trends and governmental supports.

"You get nothing free from your government," Strey said.

Strey said the real estate business was one of the highest professions in the country... and one of the oldest. King Solomon was one of the earliest builders and realtors, he said.

Home ownership was emphasized by the state officer who urged all local board members to maintain high standard in all phases of their business and to support the local group.

Accompanying Strey on his visit to Pampa was Edward J. Voltin, Austin, secretary of the state association.

Preparations are underway for a state convention June 10-12 in the Shamrock Hotel, Houston. All state and national board members and families are urged to attend.

In charge of the board meeting was Troy Curlee, new president. He introduced the guests and gave the invocation.

Others present were John I. Bradley, Mrs. Deane Bracey, Mrs. Laura Bell Cornelius, Lynn Hughes, E. L. Campbell, Garvin Elkins, Charlie Ward, Quentin Williams, Mrs. Jessye Stroup, Mrs. Dorothy Tibbets, Mrs. Sybil Weston, Jay Flanagan, J. D. Hethcock.

Girl Scout Group Exhibits Skills To Local Kiwanis Club

Pampa Kiwanians today should know all about using the "envelopes" to make a bedroll, lashing together a storage rack, giving artificial respiration, even singing "Home on the Range."

For six Pampa Girl Scouts performed these items Friday noon at the regular meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis Club in connection with their other activities during National Girl Scout Week.

Led by Mrs. Dorothy Station, Scout executive, and Mrs. Herman Jeter, troop leader, the Scouts on hand were Kay Layne, 12; Joan Thompson, 11; Kay Wagner, 12; Sylvia Grider, 12; Jo Krinklow, 14; and Sally Bruce, 14.

minutes to put together, is used for hanging up cooking utensils and protecting a fire built under it.

The bedroll — with the blanket on the outside — can contain everything from a pillow to "unmentionables" (as Mrs. Jeter put it).

Demonstrating a new method of artificial respiration, Miss Krinklow warned against hasty moving of a victim with a broken limb, but insisted that a "compound fracture is better than a corpse."

Two of the girls sang a couple of musical numbers, accompanied by their own ukuleles, and then got all Kiwanians on hand to join in on "Home on the Range." Concluding selection was a humorous radio commercial on the merits of a certain lipstick by Miss Bruce. Call letters of the station she was "broadcasting" from were K-L-S-S.

"For the strength of the nation is in the character of its people." In Scouting, the executive said, girls are taught about music, the arts, literature, the out-of-doors — and "we urge girls to work with all groups."

It definitely stops you eating more than the body requires for the energy you spend. At the same time it dehydrates and eliminates.

Just get a four-ounce bottle of Barconate at your drugstore. Pour contents into a pint bottle or jar and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day.
