MARSHALL WILL REPORT TO NATION TODAY

Great Things Dependent on Moscow Report

By DeWitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Tonight Secretary of State Marshall will make a report to the nation on the Big Four Foreign Ministers' discredited Moscow Conference and its implications for world peace and well-being.

This is no ordinary accounting of stewardship by a public servant. Upon the Generalissimo's report, the fate of the administration's world policy of combating aggressive totalitarian Communism, Congress still has to deal with that policy — to implement it, or to nullify it by refusing to provide funds — and Marshall's report is DEWITT MACKENZIE bound to have vast weight.

O'Daniel Will Not Buck Approval Of Last Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) announced today that he will not oppose Senate confirmation of President Truman's nomination of Rep. Thomson (D-Tex) as a federal district judge for West Texas.

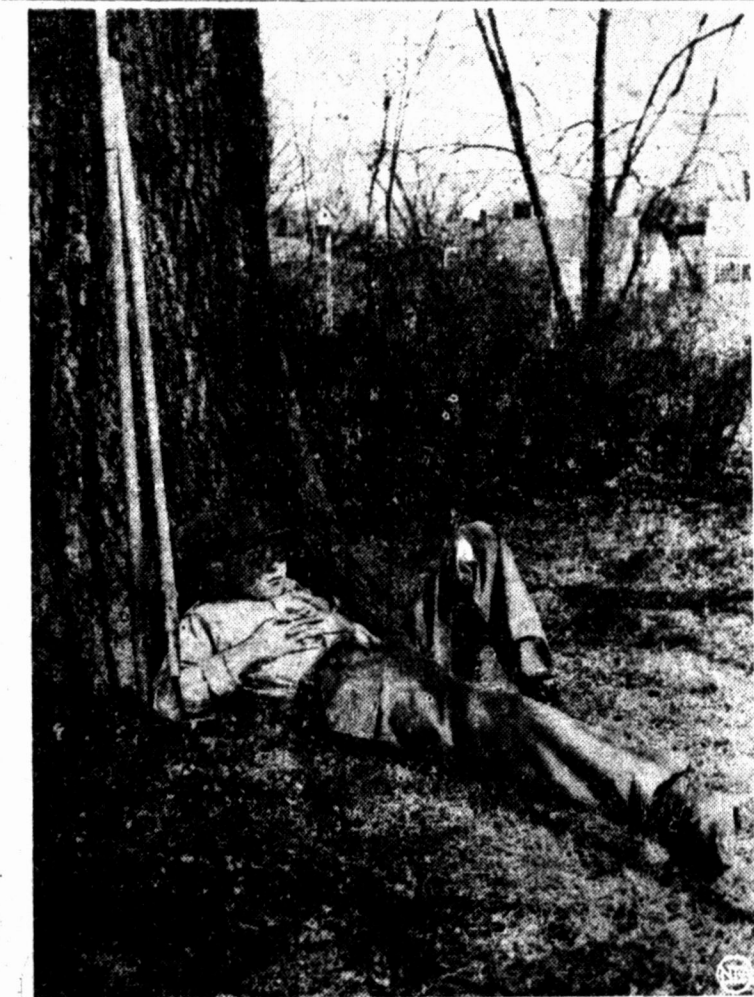

This announcement by the junior Texas senator virtually assures Senate confirmation of the nomination. Thomson was nominated last week. He is considered to be President Truman's personal selection for the job as neither O'Daniel nor his Texas Democratic colleague, Senator Connally, had recommended his appointment. The two senators have disagreed over several other nominations by Mr. Truman for federal jobs in Texas.

O'Daniel's statement concerning the Thomson nomination follows: "I do not intend to object to Senate confirmation of Congressman Irving Thomson as district judge for the Western Judicial District of Texas.

"I object only to appointments that I consider to be rotten to the core, or objectionable to a large number of the people in the interested district.

14-Nation Committee To Work on Question

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Nations Assembly, in special session, agreed today on creation of a 14-Nation Steering Committee to resolve the controversial problem raised by Arab demands for immediate independence of Palestine.

The committee scheduled its first meeting for 5 p. m. (EDT) to consider the assembly's agenda.

At present the agenda is limited to one item: Britain's proposal to set up a fact-finding committee which would make a preliminary study of the Palestine question and report to the regular assembly in September.

The five Arab members—Krag, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Egypt—have proposed the addition of an item calling for immediate ending of Britain's 25-year-old League of Nations mandate over the Holy Land.

The committee also will have to consider the rival demands of the official Jewish agency and the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation that they be permitted to participate in the debates of the special Palestine session without a vote.

Creation of the Steering Committee was proposed by Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, who was elected president of the extraordinary session, and was accepted without objection.

The committee was composed of the president, seven vice-presidents and the chairmen of the assembly's six standing committees.

The assembly elected as vice-presidents the representatives of the United States, France, Britain, Russia, China, Ecuador and India. The committees were scheduled to meet later in the day to elect their chairmen and complete the membership of the Steering Committee.

The tall, silver-haired Brazilian received 4 votes on the first ballot and immediately took the chair. Price Faisal Al Saud of Saudi Arabia, Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia, Hernan Santa Cruz of Chile, Lester B. Pearson of Canada and Herman G. Eriksson of Sweden each received one vote.

The session convened at 11:14 a. m. (EDT) with the official Jewish agency secretary absent unless it is formally recognized.

Without the usual formalities, the delegates of the 55 nations plunged immediately into the task of electing officers and setting up committee machinery.

Frank Bepko, U. N. Security officer, said there had been no reports of incidents or demonstrations. Fernand Van Langenhove, Belgian delegate to the Security Council, presided as temporary president.

Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate, and Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, gave identical answers when asked separately about their positions on the Palestine question.

"I have no comment on that now," they both replied. "I am a non-voting participant."

Shortly before the assembly convened a spokesman said the Jewish agency felt it "inappropriate to attend" until the delegates of the 55 member nations had acted on the agency's request for official recognition as a non-voting participant.

The U. N. previously had set aside 20 seats for representatives of the agency in the observers' section, but these were left vacant.

As delegates of 55 nations filed into the spacious blue-and-gold assembly hall, the room was filled with the sound of their voices. This was the position of the parties directly concerned.

A British spokesman said Great Britain, which holds a League of Nations mandate over the Holy Land, is ready to accept any decision the United Nations makes on the Palestine question, but will insist that the world organization enforce all of its own recommendations.

The Arab League, which is represented by five Arab states in the U. N., announced after a caucus that it would stand firm on its demands that Britain end her mandate and that Palestine be declared an independent country at this special session.

RENT CONTROLS LIFTED
WASHINGTON (AP)—Five areas in Texas were included on the list of areas in which rent controls were abolished by the OPA branch of the Office of Temporary Controls, announced last night.

The decontrols, effective May 1, applied to all accommodations in the affected areas, including homes, apartments, hotels, tourist camps and rooming houses.

Texas areas were: Brownwood (Brown, Coleman and Comanche Counties); Dalhart area (Dallas, Hartley, Moore and Sherman Counties); Paris area (Texas-Oklahoma, including Lamar County, Texas; Pecos area (Reeves and Ward Counties), and Winkler County area.

The controls were released in 28 areas and portions of 11 others in 22 states.

"This new order covers all areas I think should be decontrolled before June 30," Max McCullough, OPA commissioner, said.

Full-Faced Case of Mumps On the Loose
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City Police are on the lookout for a full-faced case of mumps-on-the-loose attached to a 12-year-old boy who escaped from the City Detention Hospital.

The husky, dark-haired boy, a parolee from the State Training School at Helena, Okla., was arrested, weeks ago, for theft of $3 from his mother. He came down—or up—with the mumps and was placed in the Detention Hospital, Miss Katherine Syla, superintendent of the hospital, said he escaped through an open window.

Juvenile authorities had no fear he would get lost, but they were afraid he might get too near somebody who hadn't had the mumps.

Coast Guardsmen Check Loading of Texas City Ships
GALVESTON (AP)—A Coast Guard official said here today that he has stationed men at Galveston docks to supervise loading of ammonium nitrate "and to see that it is treated as an explosive."

The announcement came from Comdr. H. F. Cobb, officer in charge of Marine Inspection at Galveston as a Coast Guard board went into its eighth day of session here to determine the cause of explosives of ammonium nitrate loaded on ships in the Texas City disaster.

"Our men at the Galveston docks," Cobb stated, "are seeing that certain precautions are taken in the handling of ammonium nitrate. It is packed in 100-pound bags and we are making sure no torn bags are put aboard vessels. Our men are there to make certain there is no smoking and that nitrate is handled carefully. We, for instance, do not allow more than 24 bags to be put aboard a wooden tray to be lifted aboard a ship."

The bags of ammonium nitrate at the port here are labeled as "fertilizer" and not as an explosive and Cobb said the Coast Guard was not asking that the labels be changed.

"Samples of ammonium nitrate have been sent to Washington for tests and pending outcome of these tests we simply want to take all sensible precautions," the Coast Guard commander reported.

Rear Adm. Gordon T. Finlay of New Orleans who heads the board investigating the tragedy that took 57 lives, said he expected the hearings would be concluded by Tuesday afternoon.

Policy With Soviet To Continue Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—American hopes for an easing in U. S.-Soviet tensions were buoyed by reports that Secretary of State Marshall believes this country's firmness on European peace treaty issues may lead Russia to give ground.

Marshall's view was laid before Congressional leaders at a White House conference in advance of his radio report to the nation at 7:30 p. m. (CST), tonight on the results of the Moscow Foreign Ministers Conference.

Some of those who attended the two-hour session with the President and his Cabinet officer last night said they came away with the impression that Marshall believes the unbending attitude he displayed at the Big Four meeting already has had the effect of making the Russians less sure of themselves in their demands affecting the future peace of Europe.

The soldier-diplomat was said to have counseled patience with the Soviets in the hope that as they digest the American position in the next few months, they may go to London for the next Foreign Ministers huddle in November more amenable to suggestions from their wartime allies on vital points involved in proposed Austrian and German peace treaties.

For this reason Marshall was said to have told the Congressional leaders he believes it is too early now for this country to decide whether it should take the unsettled issues involving those treaties to the United Nations General Assembly for an airing.

The secretary was said to have related that proposed American action to bulwark Greece and Turkey against Communism appeared to have made a profound impression on the Russian people and their leaders, despite the fact that this program was kept out of the official discussions at the Moscow conference.

It was represented as Marshall's belief that when the Soviets have had additional time to think over the attitude taken by the American delegation plus the President's Greek-Turkish proposal, they may be more willing to compromise some of the issues involved in the treaty discussions.

In this connection, Marshall was said to have described as "unreasonable" the Soviet reparations demands on Germany and Austria and to have declared that there should be no American retreat on this issue.

With persistent demands in Congress that the administration say where the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish program will lead and what its eventual cost may be, some of those at the White House meeting voiced disappointment over the lack of a positive answer.

One conferee said Marshall urged speedy action on both the Greek-Turkish bill and a separate measure to provide $350,000,000 in foreign relief. But, this lawmaker added: "If there are any plans for further aid, to Korea or any other nation, I didn't hear about it."

The White House huddle came on the eve of fresh House debate on the $350,000,000 relief bill.

Little Optimism In Palestine Over U. N. Meet
JERUSALEM (AP)—A Jewish agency spokesman said today there was little optimism among Palestine Jews over the United Nations special session on the Holy Land problem.

"Many are expressing fear that political interests of the day will darken the basic issue," the spokesman said.

The possibility of a truce in the Holy Land while the U. N. debates its future apparently was ruled out by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization. In a secret broadcast yesterday Irgun repeated demands for an end to Britain's mandated government and military occupation. Irgun's announcement said there would be "no peace in the country, the Middle East or the entire world until the Palestine question is settled."

Reliable sources said advance elements of the former British First Armored (Mailed Fist) Division had arrived during the weekend. It was slated to be redesignated the Sixth Armored and to be stationed near historic Ashkelon on the Southern Coast near Gaza. Units of the division, which has been in Israel since the war's end, now are reported to be in Egypt awaiting gradual transfer here.

In new security measures against possible outbreaks of violence, the British have placed the U. S. consulate at the narrow end of 300-yard barbed wire corridor. The consulate is located on busy Mamillah Road in the heart of Jerusalem, but the street now is closed to vehicular traffic except consular cars and those specially exempted. All others, including tourists and visa applicants, must alight under the rifles of Arab guards and walk between the rows of barbed wire to the consulate. The American consulate has protested, but the British insisted upon the security measure, de See U. N. COUNCIL, Page 5

Optimism for Strike End Flares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid talk of close-riding developments, the Labor Department today drove ahead in a triple-header conference to end the telephone workers' strike.

Department officials tipped reports to watch for developments this afternoon. President Joseph A. Beirne of the striking National Federation of Telephone Workers said in Pittsburgh he expects "a major break, possibly today or tomorrow."

The source of this optimism was not explained. Earlier a wave of hope had sprung up in the wake of a $2.50-a-week wage increase offer made by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company for five Midwest states. However, it was rejected by Iowa union workers, and an attorney for the unions involved, Henry Mayer, said the New York offer was "wholly inadequate."

Labor Department meeting involving three Bell system units—the long distance division, Western Electric Company, and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company—were in progress or scheduled.

At Des Moines, A. R. Toepfer, secretary of the Northwestern Union of Telephone Workers in Iowa, reported that Iowa employees of the company had "definitely rejected" the offer.

The Northwestern negotiations are among the more than 20 involving Bell Company subsidiaries throughout the nation. All the companies have offered to arbitrate the wage issues in dispute. But until the Northwestern settlement, none had agreed to even a token wage increase.

The strikers cut their wage demand from $12 to $6 a week last Friday, to match the 15 cents hourly boosts granted in steel, auto and other industries.

Opinion persisted among those familiar with behind-the-scenes moves in the walkout that if the strikers' lines held solid today—the start of the fourth week of the strike—the Bell system might begin to offer other wage increases in place of arbitration plans.

President Joseph A. Beirne of the striking National Federation of Telephone Workers urged Unionists at mass meetings in Washington and Baltimore yesterday to hold out because of the importance of the next few days in the strike. Similar appeals went out elsewhere.

An end of the strike this week, with the crucial developments in the next two days, was predicted by the more optimistic officials.

U. S. Residents of East and Midwest To See Friendly Mexican President
MEXICO CITY (AP)—U. S. residents of the East and Midwest will have an opportunity to see a Mexican president on their own soil during Miguel Aleman's nine-day visit starting tomorrow.

Mild-mannered, genial and self-confident, the Mexican president will be the second to set foot on U. S. territory although three United States presidents have been in Mexico.

President Taft, some 30 years ago, crossed the international bridge at Laredo, Texas. In 1943, President Roosevelt conferred with President Avila Camacho at Monterey on wartime collaboration, and last month President Truman paid a state visit to Aleman here so cement relations between the two nations.

President Avila Camacho accompanied Roosevelt across the U. S. border at Corpus Christi, Tex., after their Monterey conference. During a brief 16 years Aleman has risen from a legal expert in the Agricultural Department to the Presidency—an accomplishment never before equaled by a civilian in the turbulent history of the nation. Equally impressive is the fact that he is a civilian—the first to be elected to the Chief Executive's job since Francisco I. Madero.

Some civilians have been named provisional presidents by Congress because Mexico does not have a vice-president.

The Mexican President whom U. S. residents will see is a smiling man, slightly above average Mexican height with olive skin, black hair, a small brown moustache, remarkably white teeth, keen eyes and an alert manner. His forehead slopes back sharply and his chin recedes slightly. He speaks softly and carefully and moves almost timidly when he is in a crowd.

Aleman is married, the father of three children, Beatriz 14, named after her mother, Miguel, Jr. 13, and a baby born this month.

Mexico's President is 43 years old. He was born at Sayula in the state of Jalisco.

Open Letter Thanks People for Kindness

L. A. McAdams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in Canadian, Tex., sent a public letter of appreciation to E. O. "Red" Worth, manager of local Chamber, thanking the people of Pampa and the Panhandle for their wonderful support given to the people in the stricken areas of Higgins, Glazier and Woodward.

"Really it was wonderful how our Panhandle people so freely rushed to the aid of these stricken people," McAdams stated in his letter.

McAdams had just returned from a trip to the three stricken towns and said "only those who have seen the terrible havoc" of the tornado can realize "how helpless one is in its path."

McAdams concluded his letter with: "The Good people in Pampa—doctors, nurses, and ambulances—were quickly on hand to attend the injured. I am sure these people will never forget this kindness on your part."

Private Services Are Planned for Owner of the Famous Hope Diamond
By RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, who in life loved parties and large gatherings, will be buried secretly Tuesday to avoid crowds.

Only survivors and closest friends will be told the time and place of funeral services for the central character of "father struck it rich," owner of the ill-reputed but magnificent Hope diamond and, almost to the end, hostess to the world's most famous names.

Her death Saturday at the age of 60 during a recurrence of pneumonia ended an era of Americana.

And it meant the Hope diamond awaits a new owner who will defy its storied curse.

A Cinderella whose dream held past midnight, Mrs. McLean began life in a two-room log cabin, the daughter of a prospector whose pickaxe dug up yellow dirt in Colorado. She grew up in luxury to marry a millionaire and become heiress to presidents and royalty.

Her father's lucky strike at Camp Bird in Duray, Colo., resulted in a glided life in one of Washington's largest mansions, residence Bar Harbor, Me., trips to Europe, hobnobbing with royalty, and marriage in 1906 to Ned McLean, son of the multimillionaire publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Washington Post.

Just as her father, Thomas Walsh, loved the ruggedness of the Rockies, she loved the vitality of party-givers. But she had no illusions about them.

Mrs. McLean, on most of the occasions on which she entertained, wore the famous Hope diamond, a 44-carat stone with strange and beautiful blue lights.

Said to have been stolen from the forehead of a Hindu idol, legend has it that the gem brought violent death or misfortune to at least six of its owners, among them Mme. de Montespan, Louis XVI and Lord Francis Pelham Clinton.

Although she professed not to believe the story of the curse, Mrs. McLean had the stone blessed by a priest shortly after she acquired it in Paris about 1912 from Pierre Car-

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN Well, I started to write this piece about a bill that was introduced in the Illinois Legislature to give dog catchers the right to catch cats. The bill denounced the cat as a pest and killing machine, and said they cost the nation $6,000,000,000 a year.

Then I fell asleep and dreamed that a cat got up in the legislature and introduced a bill giving cats the right to catch people. It said that human beings killed birds and animals and each other, too, and they should be caught before they blew up the world and put a big tent in the solar system.

The cat also said that in this nation alone human beings had run up a national debt of $300,000,000,000 which made six billion look like nothing at all. I applauded the speech so hard that I woke up.

THE STORY: After a lifetime of dazzling the world, the great actress Sophie van Eyck comes home to the little Maine coast town where she was born. Widow of an international banker, she had lived comfortably on the Riviera until the war. In her party are Victoria Marcel, her grand-daughter; Frenchman who is her portrait painter, and Sir Charles Mander, her butler. Sophie has bought the old Peabody house on exclusive Goose Neck point. Godfrey Mansbridge, who is living in an old actress' home, is on her conscience. She writes offering him a home and he accepts. While being interviewed by a local high-school girl and going for Marcel at the same time, she happens to mention Godfrey. The atmosphere becomes electric.

"SOPHIE," said the artist, "you have promised you don't talk about him. I cannot paint if I am even hear his name." "Delete that reference, Miss Flaherty," ordered Sir Charles. "There's no use giving him any free publicity."

"Ah, poor Godfrey!" cried Sophie, very much upset. She stretched out both hands in a gesture of pleading. "What good—or what harm—could the publicity do him when he's shut away in a house for old actors? You two have thought to talk about him. He was well-known in his day, Miss Flaherty, a great actor."

"Never," cried Marcel. "Only love makes you call him an actor." "Hands off, I grant you," Sir Charles put in. "Call him a clotheshorse, a competent leading man, perhaps, in certain not-too-exacting parts. But a great actor—never!"

"Godfrey Mansbridge," said Marcel, and then, in a fury of frustration and jealousy he broke his brush across his knee and flung the pieces to the floor. "Fudge!" he cried. "That for Godfrey Mansbridge! You promised not to mention him."

How The Telephone Strike Can Be Settled

Question: Why are telephone workers still on strike?
Answer: They are still on strike because union leaders won't accept the Company's offer to arbitrate wages—the union's main demand.

Question: Why do union leaders refuse to arbitrate?
Answer: Because they want the Company to make a wage offer beforehand.

Question: Is the Company willing to do this?
Answer: No.

Question: Why not?
Answer: Because the Company believes its prevailing wages are good and well in line with community wage levels.

Question: Has the Company offered to allow some one else to pass on the wage question?
Answer: Yes. That is one of the main purposes of arbitration.

Question: In case a board of arbitration found an increase should be granted, what happens?
Answer: The arbitrators decide the amount of the increase.

Question: Supposing the Company reached full agreement with the Union, would that end the strike?
Answer: No, not at once.

Question: Why not?
Answer: The union states it has delegated to another group—the Policy Committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers—its right to approve wage and other demands for its thousands of members.

Question: What is the Policy Committee of the National Federation?
Answer: That is a group of 49 representatives of telephone unions from all over the country now assembled in Washington, D. C.

Question: Would the National Policy Committee approve an agreement between this Company and the union representing its employees?
Answer: They say they would not give approval unless agreements satisfactory to the union leaders had been reached with all other telephone companies.

Question: Do you mean that union officers from Florida and Oregon, from Pennsylvania and Arizona have to approve before the strike can end here?
Answer: That seems to be the position of the union's National Policy Committee.

Question: What kind of a bargain in the National Policy Committee trying to drive?
Answer: Apparently it hopes to gain nationwide power over an essential public service, with no responsibility to the public for its acts.

Question: Are Southwestern Company employees remaining on strike primarily in support of this drive for nation-wide status?
Answer: It would seem so since the strike continues despite the Company's offer to arbitrate the main issue—the employees' wages.

Question: How can the telephone strike be settled?
Answer: It can be settled quickly and fairly if union leaders will accept the Company's offer of arbitration. Other issues could then be negotiated.

Lovely Swimming Star Gives Some Advice on Buying Bathing Suits

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—47—Esther Williams, who ought to know, advises you gals to exercise a little care before you snap up your Summer bathing suit at the bargain counter.

"Girls take all the trouble in the world to purchase a suit, a coat or a dress," said the swimming star. "They make sure that they are the right color and fit correctly. Yet, when they go to buy a bathing suit, they just say, 'I'll take that one.'"

"After all, when a girl is at the beach with her boy-friend, he really gets to see her in the raw. She should do her best—with what she has—to look her best."

The MGM actress warns on the French type of suit that leaves little to the imagination. "It is not how much of the body that is exposed that makes a girl look sexy," she opined. "It is rather how she shows off the curves to best advantage."

"What could be a better example than the sweater? Nothing is bared yet the curves do the trick. The same can be done with a bathing suit."

But what about the girl who likes to swim, but doesn't have the figure to go with it?

"Then she should buy herself a nice beach robe and stay in it—except when she's actually in the water."

Oilers Beat Amarillo's Gold Sox in First Meeting 12-5

Panhandle Girls Win Volleyball Tournament Here

The Panhandle High School Girls Volleyball team, after beating the Pampa High School Girls in a closely contested semi-final, went ahead to beat the White Deer girls in the final of the Pampa High School Girls Invitational Volleyball Tournament here Saturday.

The win was an apparent upset for the White Deer girls had previously defeated the Panhandle girls in their first meeting in the double elimination play.

The Pampa High girls had progressed to the semi-final spot by virtue of their wins over both Claude and Lefors. In the first semi-final round they were beaten by White Deer, and finally after dropping two semi-final games ended the tournament in third place.

The tournament winning Panhandle club beat Amarillo in their opener but was defeated by the strong White Deer team in their second start. Panhandle then went back to the consolation round to beat Amarillo a second time and completely eliminate them from the tourney.

Panhandle then beat Claude in the quarter-finals and took Pampa in the semi-final.

An all-tournament team consisting of Avis Kelly and Alice Jean Robinson, Pampa, Francis Freeman and Lorraine Bichel, White Deer, and Joyce Christens and Pat Robinson, Panhandle, was selected by the judges.

The local volleyball club consists of Alice Jean Robinson (captain), Edeline Peyer, June Mathers, Avis Kelly, Dorothy Jones, Martha Maguire, and Reba Joyce Bain. Substitutes are Mary Kretzmer, Ann McNamara, Lajoy Duff, Betty Blustakes and Mary Jo White.

Four Teams Battle For First Places

By The Associated Press
Four teams shared the first two places in the Lone Star League today. Lufkin and Tyler are deadlocked for first, with Henderson and Marshall tied for second.

Marshall came through with a 6-8 decision over Lufkin yesterday in an eleven-inning game. Going into the final inning, the score was six-all. Marshall put over three runs, then Lufkin came back with two of its own.

In other games yesterday, Longview defeated Bryan, 9-5. Kilgore blanked Tyler, 2-0, and Jacksonville defeated Henderson, 9-6.

Bill Grafton pitched two-hit ball in shutting out Tyler, while a couple of home runs—one in the ninth and another in the tenth—gave Longview its win.

Jacksonville came from behind a two-run Henderson lead to chalk up its victory.

Oilers Hand Amarillo's Gold Hose First Defeat of Season

Pampa's Oilers, defending champions of the West Texas-New Mexico Baseball League, won their third victory in three starts in muddy 12-5 victory over their traditional rivals, the Amarillo Gold Sox.

The Oilers slugged Legomarsino for five hits and two walks that were good for six runs, one run in the first, second and third frame, to force the Amarillo hurler from the mound. He was replaced by Wescamp whom the locals later tagged for 6 runs and then by Ryan, who allowed only two hits in the last two innings.

Al Johnston, the Oilers' only southpaw hurler, pitched a better game than the 10-hit count would indicate. Johnston struck out seven men and he managed to keep Amarillo's hits well enough scattered to stay comparatively safe all afternoon.

Clovis Pioneers Give Oilers 2nd Season Win, 7-1

The Clovis Pioneers got two hits off pitcher Bill Hewitt to score first, but the Oilers came back to tie the count at one up in the last of the frame and this continued on their second start. Panhandle then went back to the consolation round to beat Amarillo a second time and completely eliminate them from the tourney.

The tournament winning Panhandle club beat Amarillo in their opener but was defeated by the strong White Deer team in their second start. Panhandle then went back to the consolation round to beat Amarillo a second time and completely eliminate them from the tourney.

With the count standing at one each in the bottom of the fourth, the Oilers tapped Pete Smar for four doubles with a walk in the middle and a single on the bottom end to send home five big runs that were never approached by the luckless Pioneer hitters.

Hurlers Bill Hewitt and Foster White teamed to allow the Clovis club only four hits. After working over Smar in the fourth, the Oilers battery worked to get three hits, good for one run, off Czapoyek (we don't know his first name), and were shut out by R. C. Okey.

Ray Elliott, the Oilers' catcher, was the bright spot of the local's defensive work last night. He did some good backing at first, once to catch Quillan off first after he had turned up the base line following a wild throw to first by R. C. Okey, second sacker. Okey had a tough night as he went hitless and charged two errors to his expense account.

The Oilers' final score came in the sixth when Johnston doubled to left field and Elliott singled in the same direction. Francis Rice, pinchhitter, climbed on through a fielders choice. Elliott was forced out at second and Johnston got home.

SATURDAY
LUBBOCK — Ocie Kolwe and Royce Mills teamed to hurl a 2-0 shutout over the Berger Gassers here Saturday night to give Lubbock its fourth straight West Texas-New Mexico League triumph before 800 chuffed fans.

Lubbock scored both runs in the third inning of the seven-inning game when First Baseman Conk Merritwater blasted a trip to the 392-foot centerfield wall to score manager Jackie Sullivan who doubled to lead off, and Rightfielder Pat Rooney who had singled.

Kolwe, after allowing six hits, was relieved by Mills after walking and being hit for a run in the seventh.

Leftfielder Sid Jamison went the route for Berger, allowing only six hits, three for extra bases.

Texas League Trail From Dugout to Mound Is Taking Less of a Beating

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff
DALLAS—(AP)—The Texas League trail from dugout to mound is taking less of a beating.

Four of fourteen pitchers yesterday managed to go the full nine innings, while two games produced only 22 runs off 54 hits. The average of 2.45 hits per run in yesterday's schedule is one of the lowest this season.

Topping the trend toward fewer pitchers, less hits, and a reduction in runs was Houston's 1-0 victory over Dallas. Jack Creel racked up his third victory in holding Dallas to six hits, while Joe Orrell pitched four-hit ball, but lost his third in a row.

Calamity Howlers Already Howling At Low Positions of Cards-Red Sox

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
What has happened to the Cards and Red Sox?
It is still a bit early for too much concern but already calamity howlers are pointing at the lowly position occupied by the defending champions in the current major league pennant race.

Instead of at least duplicating last year's glory when they won nine of their first 11 games at this corresponding date, the Red Sox, in a complete about-face, have dropped seven of their first nine starts against their Western rivals to find themselves sharing a caller berth with the New York Giants, five full games behind the first place Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Cardinals, from spark plug Stan Musial down, are not hitting their weight. In addition, the pitchers are not doing the kind of hurrying of which they are capable.

For instance, in absorbing a 3-0 shutout at the hands of the Cubs in Chicago yesterday, the Red Sox clinched a nine-game stretch during which they made only 58 hits on 290 times at bat for a meager .200 batting average. Not a single St. Louis player is hitting 300.

The Cubs moved into second place, one game behind the Dodgers.

Although not as disappointing as the Cards, Boston's Red Sox have not looked at all like the club which swept aside all opposition in easy fashion last year. Playing a majority of their 11 games against the lowly Philadelphia Athletics, the Sox have won five, lost five and tied one.

As they head west for their first extended road trip, they are only a game and half behind the first place New York Yankees, but on the gloomier side, are the same distance away from last place.

A year ago today, the Sox were rolling along, having won 10 of 13 games and were riding the crest of a 15-game winning streak.

The Sox had to come from behind to earn a standoff yesterday as rain halted the first game of a scheduled doubleheader with the Red Sox and A's deadlocked 6-6 at the end of nine innings. The second game was washed out. Trailing 6-5, the Sox tied the score in the last of the eighth on two hits and as many more walks.

Although they spoiled Babe Ruth Day for 58,339 fans at the Yankee Stadium by losing to Sid Hudson and the Washington Senators 1-0, the Yankees had the satisfaction of taking over first place from the Chicago White Sox, who dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Browns of St. Louis 4-2 and 3-2.

SUNDAY
LUBBOCK—A nine-run outburst in the seventh inning broke up a 4-4 deadlock and gave the Lubbock Hubbers a 13-6 triumph over the Albuquerque Dukes for their fifth straight West Texas-New Mexico League victory here Sunday before 3,500 "Babe Ruth Day" fans.

Bill Serena, flashy Lubbock shortstop, blasted two home runs and a pair of singles in five trips to lead the Lubbock 18-hit attack off two Albuquerque pitchers. Royce Mills, pint-sized righthander who relieved starter Ernie Nelson in the top of the seventh with the score tied, got credit for the victory.

Senate Bill to Soften Up That Passed by House

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—You've been hearing for months about Congress and bills to curb labor unions. Are you wondering: Where does it all stand now? What happens? You won't know the final answer for some weeks. Here's an ABC explanation, up to date and of things to come.

A couple of weeks ago the House, after months of work, passed a bill to restrict labor unions. This was the toughest labor bill ever passed by a House of Congress.

And the Senate this week or next will pass its own bill to restrict unions.

This bill, too, is tough, although less tough than the House bill. Because the two bills differ in many ways, when the Senate passes its bill this will happen:

A joint committee—made up of members of the House and Senate—will be appointed.

The committee's job will be to agree on one single bill, in short: A compromise bill, which means:

They'll take big chunks of the House bill and big chunks of the Senate bill and put them in one bill.

This means keeping some of the Senate bill, dropping some of it, dropping some of the House bill, dropping some of it.

When the Joint Committee has agreed on this single, final bill, it will send it back to the House and Senate for final approval.

House and Senate, as usual in such cases, are pretty certain to okay this single bill agreed upon by the Joint Committee.

Then, after all the work that went into it, the labor bill will begin what may be its death march.

It will be sent from Congress to President Truman for his signature before it can become law. There's the hitch.

This bill coming out of Congress

EVOLUTION OF UNIFORM AND EQUIPMENT OF THE U. S. ARMY INFANTRYMAN—The progress of the United States in providing for its national defense is pictured graphically in the sketches above. The pitifully small but courageous force mustered by the new government in 1790 paraded in cocked hat and long-tailed coat and carried the ancient flintlock musket. In the War of 1812 the uniform was improved but the flintlock remained, except for Jackson's famous riflemen in New Orleans. The percussion musket, along with the rifle, came in 1846 late in the Mexican War, when a conspicuous uniform and a cockaded cap made the soldier a perfect target. In the War Between the States the long-barreled rifle remained. The uniform was blue, a color that was popular with the quartermasters as well as with the soldiers, until khaki was introduced in the Spanish-American War in 1898. The breechloader and repeating rifle came in during the Indian campaigns in the 1870s. World War I saw amazing improvements both in uniform and equipment. Infantry units embraced machine gun platoons and the new steel helmet was of practical service. The sketch labeled 1947 was made from a photograph of a soldier in the latest outfit, with battle jacket and overseas cap. The color is "O.D. 33", a shade of olive drab. The sketch shows a carbine, but the infantryman may also carry the M-1 rifle and hand grenades, and among his comrades are teams trained in the use of the machine gun, the bazooka, the tommygun, automatic rifle, etc.

GOP Clubs Said To Be Increasing

DALLAS — There will be more than 300 Republican Clubs of Texas as in actual operation throughout the state by the first week of May, Capt. J. P. Lucey, president of the organization, declares.

Lucey, a Dallas oil man who was at one time head of Belgian relief, and war food administrator for this country during World War I, said the clubs had already passed the 200 mark and that more than a hundred further applications were being processed in the club headquarters at 1911 1/2 Pacific Avenue, Dallas.

"We have no quarrel with the Republican Party in Texas or any member of the party," Lucey said. "We are merely interested in building up a two-party system in this state. We think the only hope for improved government in Texas lies in the two-party system and our sole objective is to bring that to pass. The two-party system is something that Democrats should welcome as eagerly as Republicans and much of our encouragement has come from Democratic sources."

He said that small advertisements being run by the club in most of the daily papers of Texas are bringing in recruits by the scores. The advertisements include a coupon asking Jefferson Democrats and Republicans to send in for a free copy of "The Secret of Better Government in Texas," a pamphlet published by the Club which explains the economic and political advantages of the two-party system and telling Texans how they can join the Club movement.

Mexican Chief

(Continued From Page 1) of Veracruz. His family, though cultured, was poor. One of Aleman's first jobs was as a newsboy, a job which marked his first contact with the public. In both his private and public life since he has been in touch with the people. His father, a 1910 revolutionary general, was killed in 1929, the aftermath of earlier political unrest.

In all his government career he never served a term throughout. As senator he obtained a leave of absence to be governor of Veracruz. As governor, he resigned to return to the Senate in 1939. A few months after he was reelected, he became campaign manager for Manuel Avila Camacho.

When Avila Camacho took over the Presidency, Aleman became his Secretary of Interior (gubernacion), a job he quit June 4, 1945, to become a candidate for the Presidency.

Many of the ideas which Aleman worked out while he was Governor of Veracruz have been put into practice on a larger scale during his five months as President. The speed with which he has changed the business administration of government, the speed with which he has carried out his initial promises of government reorganization has made Mexican eyes bulge.

On the basis of performance during his first five months, Aleman is becoming the strongest figure on Mexico's varied political stage in a score of years. His firmness and objectiveness in all departments of the government have won many friends and little if any open criticism.

STILL A PLACE FOR HIM

A speaker at a conference on medical education said 90 percent of medical students today seek to join clinics in order to become specialists. Such a figure suggests medicine may be getting too much of a good thing and that the present trend, while a boon to the science of healing, may turn out to be a little hard on the patient.

Specialization is wonderful. It has brought mankind far along the road from the medical Dark Ages. It has conquered many killing diseases, and will conquer many more. It has saved countless lives.

It is small wonder, then, that most doctors want to specialize. A professional lifetime is not too long to spend on many single branches of medicine or surgery. This concentration leads to highly developed skills and knowledge.

As skills increase so do the opportunities for a lucrative practice. Specialists tend to gravitate to the cities, where there are ample facilities for their work and where patients are likely to be more prosperous as well as more numerous. All this is fine if it doesn't go too far. But at the present trend threatens serious neglect of one important field in medicine.

That is the field of general practice. Some effects of overspecialization are already apparent. Many rural communities are experiencing a shortage, both in quantity and quality, of medical assistance. The young men specialize and go to the city. The rural community's health becomes the responsibility of a few old-timers.

In the cities, too, it is often difficult to find a general practitioner. There are specialists galore. But outside of crowded clinics, it is sometimes a real feat to get a general examination or treatment for a minor ailment.

The problem extends beyond the tangible realm of statistics. For there is a real need, in this troubled world of apprehensive people, for the old-fashioned family doctor.

HOLLYWOOD—A famous illustrator of beautiful women is disappointed in the beauty of Hollywood's stars. He even went so far as to accuse them of looking like "feminine versions of hoboes" in their off-screen dress.

"The most beautiful girls in the film industry are extras," Merin dared to tell me. And then we both ran for an abandoned air-raid shelter, where this dispatch is being written.

Hollywood glamor has taken criticism before, but it has been nothing like the brickbats hurled by illustrator Merin. Merin's last name is Enabutt, but he never uses it, because people confuse me with a candy bar or a new kind of sandwich.

But after Hollywood's glamor girls finish reading this, I'm afraid Merin's last name will be mud.

Merin's complaints about Hollywood beauty:

1. The stars' complexion aren't good as a rule.
2. They are very sloppy about dressing their hair.
3. And when they dye it, they apparently ignore their own skin or eyes as far as color tones are concerned.
4. They have no color sense in clothes.
5. They know nothing about clothes.

When they dress up they over-dress. They think because their gowns are from Adrian's and their hats from John-Frederics, they are well-dressed. Usually they aren't, because they have no understanding of their own individualities—absolutely no taste.

"Of course," Merin said, "they don't always bother to dress up. I had two Hollywood stars come to my studio, and I prayed that

THE 'UMTEES'

FORT KNOX, Ky. (NEA)—The best day's work any Congressional Armed Services subcommittee could do for itself right now would be to take a junked Fort Knox and see the Army Ground Forces "Umtee," or Universal Military Training Experimental Unit, in operation. These 600 teenage recruits from 44 states have now completed the first two months of a six-month course to find out how universal military service can be adapted to U. S. ideas of democracy.

President Truman's ten-man commission to study universal service, headed by President Karl T. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is coming down for a one-day look. That's not long enough. This commission of prominent educators, churchmen and civic leaders is due to make recommendations next month on how this thing should be run. It has held a few hearings in Washington.

But that's operating in a vacuum. The only way to find out how universal military training is going to work is to come down and see it working.

Other interested parties have been here, all right—in droves. Parents, teachers, club women, church groups, four- and five-star generals from China, Brazil, and such places. Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson himself has just made an inspection and come away more than satisfied with what he saw. He said a UMTI law passed by this Congress before it goes home.

This is without doubt the biggest experiment in mass, compulsory education ever attempted. Sixty units of commanding officers, Gen. John M. Devine, 51-year-old former commander of the Eighth Armored Division, a West Pointer and a former instructor at the Academy and Yale University, will match the behavior

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

QUESTIONS—It is not true that the high cost of living has been brought about largely by the enormous government purchases of our basic commodities for export, thus creating shortages here at home and so increasing prices? The question comes from J. C. M., of La Jolla, Cal.

Answer: Unquestionably. Of the estimated $20 billion which we have borrowed, loaned or credited to foreign nations hardly a dollar has been transferred abroad—a consideration which few people realize.

We have exported food, building materials, farm crops and many manufactured articles. Naturally, stripping ourselves of such a vast amount of goods has created a short supply in many lines. Government agencies have bid against one another, and have entered the market as purchasers at inopportune times. They say that they now try to eliminate competitive and hit-or-miss buying.

DEPLETIONS—Worse still from the long-range viewpoint of preservation of our natural resources, we are shipping rich topsoil, emptying our mineral deposits and denuding our forests. Mineral experts tell me that the depletion of certain metals has been appalling.

As a matter of fact, despite our complex and the need for a restored universe, the most important and most frequently asked question at Washington these days is: How much longer can the United States feed, clothe, shelter and finance the world?

BALANCED—"Has there ever been a time," asks S. C. of Lansing, Mich., "when the national budget was balanced and the Treasury had a surplus, or have we always operated at a deficit?"

Answer: Yes. The budget was usually in balance in the "good old days" before World War I, when the annual cost of government was approximately $1,000,000,000. During the Coolidge-Mellon era, we not only balanced bills and receipts, but Washington also lopped billions off the public debt and reduced taxes.

POTATOES—"I understand that the government has destroyed $20,000,000 worth of potatoes under the subsidized price plan," complains G. H. C. of Charlotte, N. C. "Why can we not ship these spuds to hungry people overseas?"

Answer: Potatoes contain so much water and require so much bulk shipping space that they are not an economical commodity for export.

Grains have a far greater food value in proportion to their cost and cargo demands.

HANDICAP—"The fate of the postwar world," says S. M. L. of Chesapeake, Pa., "will be determined by the Teheran and Yalta by the 'Big Three' in complete violation of the Atlantic Charter. Former President Roosevelt was primarily responsible for a sell-out of eastern Europe and the Orient to Soviet Russia. As a consequence, our leaders are now fighting a losing battle. Is that not correct?"

Answer: Today's diplomats, including President Truman and Secretary Marshall, do believe that Roosevelt-Churchill concessions to Stalin handicap them in the current attempt to negotiate permanent peace. Despite changed conditions, the Kremlin insists on the "boundless" Russian sphere of influence in the Teheran and Yalta pacts.

However, the western leaders at those conferences figure that keeping Russia in the European war and persuading her to attack Japan after Hitler's defeat were so essential that they let themselves be out-traded.

But until the day of his death, D. D. E. felt that he could outsmart or cajole "Uncle Joe" at the final peace table. He also trusted the Soviet leader. His heir to this country, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain.

Peace with justice is the dearest aspiration of every heartstone in the world.—Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R) of Michigan.

Half of your success in an international conference is in growing what you want when you start.—Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson.

That existence of Communist-dominated governments any place in the world is dangerous to the security of the United States.—Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson.

The old idea of Voluntary cooperation between the Army and Navy is dead. It received its death blow at Pearl Harbor.—Secretary of War Patterson.

WALLACE—Question from A. R. of Cheyenne, Wyo.: "Do the politicians think there is any chance for creation of an effective third party in 1948 along the lines sometimes mentioned by Henry Wallace and his so-called liberal faction of the Democratic organization?"

Answer: No, and I don't dare quote the remarks of the clubhouse boys on this subject. For one thing, the election laws in most of the states are rigged against rebels. It is almost impossible legally to submit an independent ticket to the voters. It was the believers in politics-as-usual who framed the state laxis. So far, there has been only one V. D. case. Chaplains also come into the picture for a series of 13 weekly lectures on good citizenship.

Say the chaplains: "All this is the kind of work which we have never done right."

SIX MONTHS WILL DO THE JOB
Only about half the Umtees have gone in for education courses on the side. But they're there for those who want them through Armed Services Institute correspondence courses or vocational training in auto mechanics, radio, and communications work.

Illiterates are put in a separate platoon of "Pioneers" to be trained as engineer troops and taught to read and write.

Discipline is run by a demerit system, patterned after West Point. For violations of orders there are courts of one officer and seven trainees. Other trainees act as prosecutor and defense counsel. Maximum sentence is seven days' hard labor. So far there has been only one general courts-martial, for a $86 theft.

There is a great tendency on the part of visitors to over-emphasize the frills of the unit, neglecting its principal function, which is to give basic training for the armed services. About 700,000 U. S. boys reach their 18th birthday every year. At first it was thought they would need a year's training. Now it is thought six months will do the job. At the end of that time they'll be good material for national guard units or for further specialized training.

The cost of such a program is now estimated at one billion dollars a year. The question for Congress to decide is if it's necessary for national defense and a good investment in character building for the young men themselves.

election status. Moreover, the Wallace group has no leader and no issue. The Iowan has more followers than is generally realized, but he is no crowd charmer. He is when so managed, a personality as "Teddy" Roosevelt tried to crash the gate in 1912. He succeeded only in electing Woodrow Wilson.

Washington will not be surprised if the former Vice President and Cabinet member, after looking over the 1948 field, keeps quiet or gives real support to Harry S. Truman. They have not spoken since their ideological clash last summer, but where else can Henry go?

LOOKING AHEAD
By GEORGE S. BENSON
President, Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

COMPETE AND LIVE
America's workers take pride in their ability to do hard jobs well. They are willing to let merit be the judge of their handiwork. Pure craftsmanship, whether in skilled or semi-skilled trades, is a quality for which employers are willing to pay well. Even in ditch-digging, know-how adds a man apart as a desirable workman. Such added traits as speed, accuracy, stamina, dependability, and initiative are what get a fellow ahead.

America has seen this kind of competition make real men. In turn these free men have made America. Every worker, no matter whether he makes use of strong hand or agile mind, puts his faith in the integrity of the valuable commodities he possesses to his employer. Competition is good policy for craftsmen, athletes, scholars, fishermen, shopkeepers, and American business in general. The American people have reasoned wisely that competition in industry must be maintained so that the whole nation may benefit.

FORCED AGREEMENTS
Does competition on the level of labor have any value for the welfare of the nation? It is obvious that our industry, of which labor is a part, exists for the sake of those who consume goods. Policies that add unreasonably to non-competitive practices, endanger the free economy that made our country what it is.

Closed-shop agreements, usually signed by management under duress, present this kind of danger. The non-competitive monopolistic nature of such enforced closed-shop agreements is apparent. Labor groups themselves need the stimulus of fair competition, for the sake of improved service. Unions need not find their only competitor in the employer. Rather, management and labor have need of cooperation, for they complement each other.

TOO DANGEROUS
Mr. Gunnar Anderson, executive vice-president of the Federations of Swedish Labor Unions, told me that 80 per cent of Swedish labor belong to unions. Yet, he informed me, the federation of labor unions is unopposed to the closed shop. They feel that the closed shop is antagonistic to the very principle of freedom which labor unions enjoy and which they must help enjoy and their own interest.

A universal closed shop in America would amount to one tremendous monopoly of non-competitive labor, with the premium placed on mediocrity. This would also make labor more powerful than any plain American would wish. Any segment as powerful as that either would be actual head of a totalitarian government, or would be so powerful that only a totalitarian state could deal with such a power. A national closed shop is too dangerous for America, and would mean the end of free labor unions.

SELLING SERVICE
Labor wants no such regime, whether you call it fascist, communist, or by some other fancy name that may yet appear. Under any other system you can think of, as compared with a free America, labor would be the loser. In Nazi Germany, Hitler found it necessary to protect his totalitarian state by abolishing labor unions. In Russia, Stalin simply runs them. There's every reason why we must avoid monopolies of either labor or industry, and instead must foster competition in every way.

Even within labor unions there is need for competition. Leaders should be elected regularly, in a democratic way. Fair competition among our labor leaders always adds to the service they render. Honest emphasis on the value of good service represents the most important item of bargaining. Our leaders in every field must learn to build by good promotion and by the idea of doing service, the public is anxious to buy.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK—(AP)—A Polish devil dealer says many people are turning to magic as part of the modern escapist trend.
 "At least seventy-five percent of the people are still superstitious," said Count S. Colonna Walewski, whose small "esoterica" shop in Manhattan's exclusive Sutton Place section contains 20,000 occult and mystic curios. They range from a Tibetan devil trap to a bimetallic ring for rheumatism.
 "Physiologically, superstition is necessary to most people," said Walewski, "it gives them confidence—strangely—for it gives them a chance to feel that they can get around in their life.

 "It is pure escapism. People who don't have a happy life, who feel they are misunderstood or surrounded by problems too heavy for them, turn to occultism and mysticism. This gives them a way of escape."
 Through charms and amulets they hope to make their dreams come true. Most popular among East Side fashionable people today are Egyptian scarabs—traditionally supposed to endow the wearer with long life and wisdom.
 Walewski will sell you a genuine scarab for $5 to $200 but won't guarantee it will make you wise.
 "You cannot say they actually work magic—it's against the law," he said, smiling. "It's all—how do you say it?—It is alleged."

 The count, a gray-haired Buddhist-shaped connoisseur with the largest library on demonology in America, came here in 1916 as an inspector of munitions for the Russian Czarist government. He remained and invested in the occult.
 He sells largely to museums, medical libraries and private collectors. But a surprisingly large number of ordinary citizens drop in to buy $5 frog images and other age-old symbols of vitality.
 "It's a good thing—anything is a good thing—if it helps people mentally," he said. "Everything, after all, is mental with human beings."
 Walewski thinks the human race will never outgrow placebos—the medical term for harmless substances given patients to make them feel better in their minds, such as sugar or bread pills.
 "In the 18th Century they used to swallow a powder made from dried Egyptian mummies," he said. "Now they take bicarbonate of soda.

It's all the same."
 Walewski stocks many trinkets employed in the "black religion" of Tibetan monks, including an apron of 200 human bones, a trumpet made from a human thighbone and a drum made from the skulls of an eight-year-old boy and an eight-year-old girl.
 "Nice sound—yes?" he said, thumping the drum.
 On one side of his shop he has some fifty devil masks of different religions. On the other are ranged about the same number of saints.
 "There is good and bad in everything," he said. "The saints and devils get along together fine. After all, most gods of one religion become the devils of the religion that takes its place."
 Walewski is currently out of iron chastity belts, invented by knights to keep their fair ladies faithful while they hid away on crusades. He also recently sold his last iron mask for garrulous wives.
 It was painted red and had a long nose. A funnel forced into the female's gossip's jaws enabled her to whistle but prevented her from talking.

 "It was a wonderful thing," said Walewski, pleasantly. "It still would be good to have some around handy."
 Yes, he's superstitious himself and carries three good luck charms at all times.
 "Makes me feel better—psychologically."
HOGAN ENTERS PLAY
 FORT WORTH—(AP)—Defending Champion Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., has added his name to the list of entries in the Colonial Country Club's second annual $15,000 National Invitation Golf Tournament here May 15-18.
 Other recent entries include Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio; Johnny Bulla, Chicago, and Amateur Wilfred Wehrle, Louisville, Ky. The number of golfers who have accepted their invitations now totals 12.

Prominent Member DAR Succumbs
 HOUSTON—(AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Danely Taylor, 74, prominent member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Colonial Dames here who died yesterday, will be held here tomorrow morning.
 A native of Galveston, Mrs. Taylor had lived here 42 years.
 Survivors include her husband, William Josiah Taylor, and a son, William Josiah Taylor, Jr., of Houston.
Former Texas Editor Dies in Baltimore
 BALTIMORE—(AP)—Albert W. Perkins, 72, once editor of a weekly paper at Crystal City, Tex., and of anti-saloon league publications at Dallas and Westerville, Ohio, died here yesterday following a heart attack. Perkins went to the Baltimore News-Post in 1919 and was real

HELPS KIDNEY
 Remove Harmful Impurities
 Backache, loss of the old pep, getting up nights, and headache are often caused by clogging more than improper kidney action due to excess acid in the urine. The kidneys are one of Nature's ways of removing impurities from the blood. And when these impurities back up, trouble may start.
 So if you have these troubles, give your kidneys and bladder a good flushing out by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. It works on the kidneys to flush them out... increasing the flow of urine to help relieve that excess acidity and ease that burning sensation when you pass water... helps that bladder irritation that makes you get up nights.
 Made of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, and balsams, Swamp-Root is absolutely non-habit forming. Millions have taken it for three generations... often with wonderful results. Caution: take as directed.
 For free trial supply, send to Dept. K, Kilmer & Co., Inc., Box 1155, Stamford, Conn. Or—get full-sized bottle of Swamp-Root today at your druggists.
