Ceremonies Mark Beginning Of New City Administration

It is Mayor Tom Rose now. The new mayor was sworn in at 9:46 a. m. Saturday in the presence of his wife, minister, newsmen and retiring city officials by City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones, who is a notary public.

A few minutes after Rose became mayor, City Commissioner Gene Fatheree took the oath of office from Jones and was followed in quick succession by Commissioners W. B. (A) Neel, Ward S. and W. D. Varion, Ward 4, who renewed their oaths.

Dressed in a blue suit, Rose stood before the commission following the ceremonies and in a soft and husky voice said: "I can, in any small way, fill the shoes of Letty that this morning that is all I ask."

In his extemporaneous inaugural talk to the commission and the retiring city officials, Rose said: "In all seriousness, I accept the responsibilities put on me. I have a lot to learn and am going to have to lean on you older commissioners heavily for help and guidance."

Fatheree in a short acceptance talk reiterated Rose's remarks saying, "I say to you — Mr. Neel and Mr. Varion — you are the older members of the commission and I, too, am going to have to lean on you and your experience in office. I have a big job ahead of me to do as good a job in this seat as Crawford Atkinson has done for the past six years."

Neel took his turn and told the new mayor and Fatheree he was not placing himself in a position for them to lean on, adding, "because I find it necessary myself to look to the city manager, the city engineers and others and have to lean on them for guidance."

"I don't think it would be amiss, either, if we turn right around and call on the retiring city officials for guidance in the future."

The last acceptance talk came from Commissioner Varion who stated simply:

"We all have to lean now on the city manager, the older experienced city officials and do the best we can."

As he handed over the city administration, Huff said to Mayor Rose:

"Tom, in your hands are placed the reins of guiding our city for the next two years. With your integrity, your willingness to serve, we have no fear of your falling in your task. We know you will do a good job. You are in the same capacity as the president of a $20-million dollar corporation with 13,000 stockholders who will be watching you for the next two years. I wish you all the luck and success in the world."

Preliminaries consumed almost 45 minutes from the time the commission met until the order declaring the new mayor elected along with the commission was passed.

After a lengthy discussion, the commission elected to put off setting the date for the runoff election in Ward 2 between Frank Dial and Dale Pinson so that the new mayor and Fatheree would have the experience in calling a special election.

To Reorganize? . . . Pentagon Blamed In Ammo Shortage

WASHINGTON, April 11 —UP— Sen. Harry F. Byrd predicted Saturday that the Senate amendment investigation will lead to a "wholesale reorganization" in the Pentagon.

The Virginia Democrat, prime mover in the inquiry, said he believes the Armed Services subcommittee under Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) already has developed a good record on the shortages first reported by Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

"I believe the record shows clearly that there were shortages in Korea," he said. "I think it shows that, to meet Korean requirements, we have drained U.S. stocks dangerously."

"I think the ammunition investigation will be a big factor in effecting a wholesale reorganization in the Pentagon—especially in the business and administrative functions of the army department."

Meanwhile, Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R-N.J.), a subcommittee member, said he would like to hear some testimony from Korean combat troops.

"We have heard a great deal from the top military minds, pro and con, on the reported shortage (See PENTAGON, Page 4)

Nuclear Explosion Seen For 600 Miles

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 11—UP—An earth-jarring blast, accompanied by a brilliant flash visible 600 miles distant, rocked the Yucca Flat A-bomb proving grounds shortly before dawn Saturday as scientists detonated the second atomic device there within a week.

The highly-secret experimental nuclear explosion was set off from atop a 100-foot tower in a test which eventually may result in the construction of half a dozen nuclear weapons.

Ideal atmospheric conditions made the flash appear as one of the brightest of the five shots held so far in the spring series on the Atomic Energy Commission's southern Nevada test site, but the size and duration of the fireball indicated it was less violent than earlier tests in the series.

The explosion lighted the surrounding desert with a blinding flash easily seen from Las Vegas, 65 miles away, and visible as far away as Durango, Colo., 600 miles distant. It also was seen in Los Angeles, Northern Nevada, southern Idaho and northern Mexico.

Las Vegas residents reported hearing "a faint rumbling sound" about six minutes after the blast. They also reported a "light concussion" which rattled a few windows.

The boiling mushroom cloud which has followed all atomic explosions formed unusually slowly and drifted to the southeast after reaching a height of only 12,000 feet. Clouds from other explosions in the present series have climbed 35,000 feet and higher.

Department of Defense officials said no troops or military observers took part in Saturday morning's test and no animals were used.

Reds Return 600 Allied Prisoners

TOKYO, Sunday, April 12 —UP— Allied and Communist staff officers agreed Sunday to begin repatriation of sick and wounded war prisoners on April 20.

Under terms of the exchange pact signed at Panmunjom Saturday, the Reds will return 600 Allied prisoners, including 200 Americans, at the rate of 100 per day. The UN said it would return 5,800 Communist captives at a 500-a-day pace.

Members of the Allied team had said they could start returning prisoners within 72 hours but the Communists' exchange machinery apparently was unable to begin functioning so soon.

Staff officers met briefly at Panmunjom Sunday morning to set the date for beginning the exchange of ailing prisoners for a week from Monday Tokyo time or next Sunday U.S. time. The UN was ready to begin the exchange as early as Wednesday morning, but agreed to the April 20 date.

The exchange could mean resumption of the full dress truce talks and possibly an early end to the Korean War.

There were no immediate indications of the first group to be released by the Reds. Besides the 120 Americans, the Reds have promised freedom for 450 South Koreans, 20 British and 15 other UN captured personnel.

The agreement signed at Panmunjom Saturday set April 21 as the deadline for the repatriation.

The Reds accompanied their signature with a demand for "immediate" resumption of truce talks and asked the UN to reply "within one or two days."

They strongly indicated they expected the truce talks to be in full swing at the time the prisoner exchange is being carried out, but there was no indication they would balk if the UN delays start of the talks.

There was no indication when the United Nations would reply to the Communists' repeated requests for the immediate resumption of the full-dress talks. But it was expected to do so soon.

$50,000 Damage . . . Non-Nuclear Blast Rocks Atomic Plant

JOPPA, Ill., April 11—UP—A non-nuclear explosion rocked an atomic energy power house Saturday and plant officials said damage to one of the world's largest steam boilers amounted to $50,000.

Earlier estimates had ranged up to $3,000,000, based on statements by workmen that the boiler was destroyed.

The blast occurred at the Joppa steam electric project, scheduled to supply conventional electric power for the atomic energy facility at Paducah, Ky.

Turner White, vice president of Electric, Inc., the firm that operates the plant, said the pilot light on the coal furnace inside the boiler went out and that accumulated pulverized coal was ignited by the heat of the boiler.

White said the boiler itself was not damaged, but the casing on the outside was ripped open.

He said no one was injured, but a workman earlier reported several persons had been given first aid for superficial cuts from flying metal.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said its Joppa agent made a preliminary check and found "no indication of sabotage," but the inquiry was continuing.

White said the boiler probably would be back in operation within a month.

ROK Forces Repel Red Counter-Blow

TOKYO, Sunday, April 12 —UP— Determined South Korean infantrymen hurled another counter-attack at Chinese troops holding Outpost Xinghe early Sunday after being outposted for the fourth time in five days.

Fighting raged at close quarters through the hours of darkness as the Reds charged three times into the South Korean assault forces. At last reports the Chinese held the crest of "Texas" and part of the heavily bunkered hill.

A communique from Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters described the situation at 6 a. m. (3 p. m. est Saturday) as "fluid" and still in doubt.

American Sabrejet pilots shot down three Communist MIGs Saturday and claimed hits on three, while the Red air force made one of its rare raids on Allied positions.

Demonstration Thwarted . . . Convicts Shatter Windows, Shout Threats Amid Riot

STILLWATER, Minn., April 11 —UP— Convicts smashed windows and rioted in their cells Saturday after Stillwater State Prison officials locked them up to thwart a mess hall demonstration.

The disorders began after prison officials learned that surly convicts planned a demonstration at breakfast Saturday morning, and locked all 1,618 inmates in their cells Friday night.

Eighty-nine convicts at the nearby prison farm were transferred to prison cells this morning as a further precaution.

But prisoners in cell block "B" where authorities said most of the "troublemakers" were housed, tore up equipment, smashed the small, frosted glass panes in their cells and shouted threats and curses.

The rioting convicts hurled ink bottles, soap and other articles through the shattered windows into the prison yard. Glaring through the broken panes, prisoners cursed guards cleaning up the debris.

"You treat us like pigs," one convict shouted.

"Keep going on those windows," a ring-leader exhorted other prisoners they cost 10 bucks apiece.

The disorders climaxed a tense week in which convicts staged a sitdown strike and for two days refused to work in prison shops.

Bohlen Arrives In Russia Hoping To Stop Cold War

MOSCOW, April 11—UP— Charles E. Bohlen, United States ambassador to Russia, arrived in Moscow Saturday and diplomatic circles hopeful of seeing the end of world tension expressed hope his arrival would mark the beginning of a new era in East-West relations.

These circles expected the Kremlin to widen the Soviet peace offensive in other areas than Korea and probably propose the resumption of talks regarding Austria and Germany.

Diplomats said Bohlen may be instrumental in bringing about the beginning of the end of the cold war. There was no doubt the new American ambassador will find the Russians highly receptive to any concrete, workable proposal to reduce world tensions.

Bohlen, accompanied by his wife and two children, flew here from Berlin in a U. S. Air Force Sky-master. He was met by Jacob Beaman, U.S. charge d'affaires, and all top American embassy officials and attaches. The envoys and representatives of several Western powers were present.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry was represented by its chief of protocol, Anatole Kulashenkov, who shook hands with the Bohlens and then welcomed the new ambassador in Russian in accordance with the Russian protocol.

Bohlen replied in the Russian language.

Immediately after arrival Bohlen was driven to his Spasso house residence where he received informally the American correspondents in Moscow.

Objective observers here who have known Bohlen in the past expressed the opinion he was ideally suited by training, experience and temperament to play the historic role awaiting him as the result of events in the past four or five weeks.

Readjustment To Freedom . . . Army Will Reorient POWs

WASHINGTON, April 11—UP— The Army has readied a program to "reorient" returning Korean prisoners of war politically and psychologically to the American way of life.

The problem of how American prisoners will react to freedom after many months of imprisonment and Communist propaganda is a matter of grave concern to Army officials.

At the same time, they emphasize the question should not be exaggerated to the point where American families may get the mistaken impression their sons are returning either neurotic or Communist.

In the vast majority of cases, the Army does not believe this will be the reaction. But the Army feels it must be prepared for this eventuality among certain individuals.

Must Readjust

The Army feels its task is the psychological and perhaps ideological readjustment of the returned prisoners.

Therefore it proposes to answer this problem with the voluntary "reorientation" program and the "red carpet treatment" of returning the prisoners of war as rapidly as possible to the luxury and comfort of home life.

Psychologically, the Army believes the prisoner of war will face a mental readjustment problem in some ways similar to that of a long-imprisoned convict released to civilian life. As one Army spokesman put it: "A person can't be held for such a length of time and not have his mental outlook affected."

May Have Doubts

A medical spokesman said, however, that the Army does not expect an "excessive number" of psychiatric cases. In most cases, he predicted, the soldiers will slip

Pioneer Feels World Can Resolve Its Problems Only With Religion

By ED NASH

A deep sense of religious faith combined with a down-to-earth awareness of the problems of life characterized the typical newcomer to Pampa—in 1888. Personalizing that stripe of hardy pioneer was Thomas V. Lane, now 65, of 322 E. Brown, a bookkeeper with M. P. Downs Agency (real estate and insurance).

Today his wide-open, expressive eyes look off into the distance as he discusses—with equal affability—the day he and his family arrived in Pampa via a railroad car, the issue of communism in the world, the recreation Pampan's had before the turn of the century and the outlook for present-day world peace.

Through it all, however, is an ever-present religious spirit. "It is out of our hands now," he says, "for that Fella up above is running things."

"Brought here by the blizzard of '88," Lane and his family—father, T. H. Lane; mother, Emma Case; brother, Ray H. Lane—climbed off a railroad car, which the Santa Fe Railroad had thoughtfully provided and set to work building a two-room shack, just about the first residence in town. Then his dad became a Pampan's first postmaster.

From the day, Feb. 29, 1888, Lane arrived in Pampa (from Woodward, Indian Territory—he was born Jan. 9, 1888—to 1883, Lane "has made a couple of wheat crops with my dad," owned a grocery store with his father, "been loafin'" (1928-37) and "doing a little of this, a little of that—got much of anything." Quoting the Bible (Revelations, Chapter 11, Verse 18), Lane insists today, "I'm not much afraid of Russia and what they'll do—there's no destruction in them." "I don't think the current Ro-mean peace talks will work out," in a circle to keep up with the Joneses.

"Too many cooks spoil the broth" in the United Nations, Lane maintains, opining that it comes down to a question of the Occidental and Oriental mind — "they ain't gonna mix."

"I don't know what purpose God had in keeping them apart," he said, staring straight ahead, "but He has permitted it, hasn't He?"

After all, he concluded, "I don't think as He does."

Wheeler Minister Speaks At Kiwanis Club Luncheon

Eight wives of Pampa Kiwanis Club members were on hand at the weekly meeting to hear a Wheeler minister maintain that a return to the fundamentals of society, government and religion means a return to Jesus Christ Himself.

Rev. J. Wald Griffin, pastor of the Wheeler Methodist Church, asked a pointed question of the assembled Kiwanians, 28 of them from Wheeler:

"Are our fundamentals as secure today as they once were?"

Taking each of the major sub-divisions, one by one, Griffin went back into American history to show that religion was — and is — the mainstay of both society and government.

Prior to his discussion, there were two song solos by Miss Donna Speck, daughter of A. D. Speck, Wheeler club president. Accompanying her on the piano was Miss Sylvia Smith, daughter of Rev. M. B. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Wheeler.

On hand were Kiwanians' wives who celebrate their wedding anniversaries in April. They were Mrs. John Campbell, Mrs. Gene Smith, Mrs. Phil Pegues, Mrs. Aubrey Jones, Mrs. H. O. Darby, Mrs. Ernie Voss, Mrs. Julia Key and Mrs. Jeff Bearden.

"Without the authority of a potentate over him," the American — through the days of the Mayflower Compact, the Bill of Rights and the U.S. Constitution — has been endowed with religious integrity, Griffin stated.

And, he continued, the U.S. citizen has been able to maintain his family "under the guiding principle of motherly and fatherly love," while living "in a land in which men respect other men."

To emphasize the religious aspect of the American culture, Griffin merely indicated that in the early New England days "the first building to be erected in the community was the church."

The Wheeler pastor concluded by stating two axioms for modern-day man to go by: (1) "practice what you preach," and (2) "become an active part of the organization that promotes the things we hold to be true — the church."

Before Griffin took the floor, Club President Clinton Evans gave a report on the Wednesday meeting in Norman, Okla., at which International Kiwanis President J. L. Ray appeared.

The ancient Egyptians, Phoenicians and Persians began their year with the autumnal equinox (Sept. 21).

Police Probe New Series Of Break-Ins

City police today were investigating the current rash of minor break-ins, the last three of them reported Saturday morning.

Burglarized sometime Friday night were the Smoke House Beer Tavern, 321 W. Foster; the Top O' Texas Realty and Insurance Co., Duncan Building; and the Duncan Insurance Agency, 109 W. Kingmill.

Previously, break-ins were reported in the Strickland Grocery Store, 938 E. Frederic Wednesday, and the W&G Restaurant, 319 W. Foster Tuesday.

According to police, a screwdriver was probably used in the three latest jobs and "apparently, the same parties" pulled the burglaries.

An estimated $100 in change—half each from the juke box and the bowling shuffleboard—was taken from the Smoke House Entrance was made through a rear window.

Missing from the realty company, police said, are a portable typewriter, a desk pen and several dollars in small change. A side-ages," he said, "but there is an old army saying that if you want to find out what really goes on, ask the men in the front lines. We have not heard enough from these soldiers."

Hendrickson said he also wanted the subcommittee to determine whether American lives were lost because a shortage of soldiers sometimes forced American troops to fire on one another inadvertently through "haphazard" salvos. He said he had received one such report from Sgt. Keith E. Kentopp of East Orange, N.J., who was willing to testify.

Mrs. Smith listed Army "red tape" and lack of a "driving force" as factors in the ammunition shortage.

Byrd singled out the Pentagon's administrative operations, especially those in the Army Department, as likely spots for a shakeup. He said he thinks President Eisenhower's new team of civilian defense leaders is anxious to operate in a more business-like way.

ANNOUNCE NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE WEEK April 12-18

The Life Underwriters Code Of Ethics

MY CREED:

Life insurance is essential to the financial protection of our nation's citizens. The universal recognition of its value is a direct result of the high sense of trusteeship which is the dominating characteristic of the operation of life insurance companies.

The purpose and ideals of life insurance demand a certain definite standard of conduct on my part as a life underwriter if I am to merit and receive a public confidence comparable to that which is now accorded a well-managed life insurance company.

So that there may be no uncertainty about the invariable practices to be followed in measuring up to this standard, the following Code of Ethics:

I BELIEVE THAT IT IS MY RESPONSIBILITY:

1. To hold my business in high esteem and honor its prestige.
2. To keep my client's needs always uppermost.
3. To respect my client's confidence and hold in trust personal information.
4. To render continuous service to my clients and their beneficiaries.
5. To use all proper methods in enthusiastically persuading clients to protect insurable needs.
6. To present accurately and completely every fact essential to my client's decisions.
7. To develop my ability and improve my knowledge through constant study.
8. To work consistently and according to a program, and to devote myself exclusively to this business as a career.
9. To be fair in my relations with colleagues and competitors, always placing the client's interests first.
10. To understand insurance laws and regulations and to observe them in letter and in spirit.
11. To endeavor to submit only the applications of persons conforming to the physical, moral, and financial requirements of my company.
12. To be loyal to my associates, my agency, and my company.

County Agriculturalists Attempt To Buildup 'Mistreated' Lands

Local conservation officer, headed by James Strawn, district officer, works with the landmen in an advisory capacity. It supplies all technical information relative to the project. Hoped for final results of the reclamation will be a reconversion of land broken out years ago for crops, which has resplendently lost its chemical content and eroded, into terrain that can produce as much as possible and still remain in good condition. "It is really using land in accordance with its capability," Strawn said. According to the conservation officer, when farmers first came in here in the original settling of Gray County they broke a lot of sloping fields to crops — and incidentally, at the time did very well with them — that over an extended period of time left the land in poor condition with erosion blowing, low chemical con-

Panel Discussion By Panhandle Girls

Youth See Panhandle' was the subject of a panel discussion presented by six high school girls at a meeting of the Fine Arts Club in the home of Mrs. W. W. Evans at 2:30, April 9. Mrs. James R. Cox, director of the guidance department, Panhandle High School, arranged the panel including the following students: Glenna Rae Downs, Robin Williams, Mary Kate Surratt, Mary McLeod, Carol Ann Rose, and Virginia Naylor, chairman. Mrs. Douglas Smith was program director for the day and had arranged for the school group. The girls discussed teen-age entertainment, schools, clubs, churches, and home life in their home town. Fifteen problems each were summarized concerning home areas and after-school activities. One statement made was "We think that the Rotary Club really has a good project in sponsoring the softball team; the Lions do a good job with the Boy Scouts; the Jaycees are sponsoring girls' softball teams this summer. All of these things help make Panhandle a better place to live." Ranking behind chlorine as the most abundant element in sea water are sodium, magnesium, sulfur, calcium, potassium, bromine, carbon and strontium.

MIAMI — Telephone users in Miami were in the midst of a simulated strike today against what they term a "deplorable situation . . ." existing in telephone service. A petition was circulated in this Roberts County seat during the past week in which signers . . . steadfastly refuse, from this day forward to pay any sum or sums for any bill or any part . . . to General Telephone Company. According to the petition, officials of the telephone company had been repeatedly petitioned to improve local service, but so far, nothing had been done to correct the situation. Residents have said they do not blame local operators or supervisory personnel with "poor" service but charged the company had been delinquent in not providing enough help and had allowed equipment to become out-moded.

Harvesters Second In 1-AA Track Meet

Ed Dudley Is High Point Man Of Meet

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor
AMARILLO, April 11 — The Pampa Harvester tracksters furnished the high point man of the District 1-AA track and field meet here Saturday but it wasn't enough to keep the Amarillo Sandies from repeating as the district champions.

Ed Dudley, all-around Harvester athlete, totaled 13 1/2 points to outlead Amarillo's top star, Bob Crump, by 1/4 point for individual honors.

Dudley's output led the Harvesters to a second place finish with 35 1/2 points. Amarillo, however, used its numerical strength to nail down first place with 91 1/2 points. Borger was third with 18 points and Plainview fourth with nine.

Dudley, in collecting his 13 1/2 points, won the 160 yard low hurdles and broad jump; placed second in the 120 yard high hurdles; and was a member of the 440-yard relay team that placed third.

The Harvester star set a new record in the low hurdles with a time of 20.7. The old record was 22 flat set by Jimmy Albright of Amarillo last year.

Four other records were set in Saturday's meet, all by Amarillo. Crump set two of the new marks, doing the 100-yard dash in 9.8 and the 220-yard dash in 22 flat.

Amarillo's sprint relay team lowered the record by New-entrants a second with 44.8. The other new mark was set by the Sandies' Don Tricky in the pole vault with a valuet of 11 feet 10 inches.

In addition to Dudley's two first places, Buddy Cockrell gave the Harvesters another first, winning the shot put with a heave of 48 feet 1 1/2 inches. The record in this event was 48-4. Cockrell, after winning the shot put, took two extra throws and bettered his winning toss with 48-3 but this throw won't go down in the record books.

Amarillo won first in 10 of the 14 events with the Harvesters taking three and Borger one. Borger's first place came in the high jump with Bob James clearing the bar at 5 feet eight inches for the best mark in this event.

The Harvesters placed in all but three of the 14 events. Other Harvesters placing were:

John Darby, third in the 100 and 220 yard dashes; Reggie Mayo, third in the 120 yard high hurdles; James Pippin, third in the pole vault; Bill Whitsett, tie for fourth in pole vault and tie for third in high jump; Jon Cantrell, second in shot put; Cockrell, third in discus; the mile relay team, composed of Martin Coleman, Jon Cantrell, Bobby Wilhelm and Bobby Holder, finished fourth; and tie for sprint relay team, composed of Darby, Dudley, Reggie Mayo and Ken Hinkle placed third.

All boys placing at least third qualified for the regional meet to be held at Lubbock, April 24. The summaries:

Milwaukee, After 84 Years Absence, To Open Major League Season Monday

CINCINNATI, April 11 — UP — The city which witnessed the first professional baseball club in America plays host on Monday to the first new team in 50 years of major league baseball.

It will be in traditional festive settings which rival New Orleans' Mardi Gras and New York's St. Patrick's Day parade that the Milwaukee Braves made their debut in the National League. It was 84 years ago — in 1869 — that the first professional baseball club was organized in Cincinnati and the city's opening days have come down to the present as something unique in the sport.

As usual, Crosley field will be filled to its 22,000 capacity. Offices and many schools will be closed in celebration and the city will have been on an emotional binge of 24 hours by game time.

In such a setting, Manager Charley Grimm will attempt to send the Braves off on the right foot and bring them back to another momentous opening day celebration in Milwaukee the following day.

Clarence (Bud) Podbielan, a 29-year old right-hander who won only four games and lost five in 1952, has been named to start on the Reds and Manager Grimm is expected to counter with either Warren Spahn, a 14-game winner last season, or Max Surkont, a right-hander who had a 12-14 mark in 1952.

The Braves have been virtually assured of making a profit in their first two years in Milwaukee because of the financial terms granted them for renting their new park and already have indicated they are assured of a greater attendance due to advance ticket sales than they had in Boston all last season.

The test, however, will come as Grimm and Club President Lou Perini attempt to build their team into a pennant contender.

Neither is predicting anything like a pennant this year, of course, but Perini insists the Braves have been greatly improved since last season when they finished seventh and he predicts that Third-Base- man Ed Matthews may develop into one of the National League's best hitters.

The players, especially the right-handed hitters, have been especially overjoyed at the transfer from Boston because they feel the shorter left-field foul line in Milwaukee will enable them to hit more home runs. The right field fence in Milwaukee measures 320 feet from home plate. The right field fence in Boston was 319 feet from the plate but the left field was 337 from the plate and 19 feet high. In addition, the right-handers were usually hampered by a strong wind blowing from left field toward home plate.

Perini has made several important additions. He has hard-hitting Andy Pafko, acquired from the Dodgers, in his outfield and Joe Adcock, acquired from the Reds, at first base.

Both are long-ball right-handed threats and are expected to relieve some of the pressure on the left-handed Matthews.

"Our biggest improvement this year will be in our added right-handed batting strength," says General Manager John Quinn. "Last year every team threw left-handed pitching at us and we couldn't cope with them. This year they won't be able to do it with Pafko and Adcock in the lineup."

Lack of speed and a mediocre infield, Bill appears to be major problems but the prevailing attitude is the new team begins its great adventure in hope.

Lack of speed and a mediocre infield, Bill appears to be major problems but the prevailing attitude is the new team begins its great adventure in hope.

Perini has made several important additions. He has hard-hitting Andy Pafko, acquired from the Dodgers, in his outfield and Joe Adcock, acquired from the Reds, at first base.

Both are long-ball right-handed threats and are expected to relieve some of the pressure on the left-handed Matthews.

"Our biggest improvement this year will be in our added right-handed batting strength," says General Manager John Quinn. "Last year every team threw left-handed pitching at us and we couldn't cope with them. This year they won't be able to do it with Pafko and Adcock in the lineup."

Sandie 9 Sweeps Harvester Series

By BUCK FRANCIS
Daily News Sports Editor

The Harvester baseballers became the first team to score as many as four runs on the Amarillo Sandies Friday afternoon at Oiler Park but it still wasn't enough as the rugged Sandie nine chalked up a 15-4 decision.

It was the sixth straight win for the Sandies in District 1-AA play without a loss. For the Harvesters it was their fifth defeat in six 1-AA starts.

The inexperienced Harvesters, despite the 11-run difference in the score, showed a decided improvement over their previous two meetings with the Sandies.

Joe Tynes went the route for the Harvesters and gave up 14 hits to the heavy hitting Sandies. Tynes, in making the distance, looked better than the first time he faced the Sandies in Wednesday's doubleheader when he failed to get anybody out in starting the second game of the twin bill.

The Harvesters collected six hits off pitcher Bill Wyrick, three of them coming in the seventh inning when the Green and Golders rallied for three runs.

Wyrick stopped the Harvesters without a hit the first four innings but Ray Cooper spoiled what intentions he had of a no-hitter with a looping single to right field. Cooper later scored the first run for the Harvesters. He went to second on an error, to third on a wild pitch and scored on pinch-hitter James Waner's fly to left.

The Harvesters staged a three-run rally in the final inning with some faulty base-running possibly preventing more runs. In the Harvester seventh, Waner slammed a triple to right center after one was away and scored when pinch-hitter Dean Franklin grounded out. J. T. Lamberson followed with a double and after Larry Larsen drew a walk, Gerald Mobley singled to score Franklin and Lamberson but Mobley got caught in a chase between first and second after running up on baserunner Larsen at second. That ended the rally and the game.

New Network Gets Game Of The Night

DALLAS, Tex., April 11—UP—The Knickerbocker network, a new national radio chain which will feature a major league baseball "game of the night" was announced here Saturday.

The games will be broadcast by Gordon McLendon, former president of the defunct Liberty Broadcasting System who is known as "the old Scotchman."

The colorful, 39-year-old McLendon was thrown off the airwaves a year ago by the major leagues for allegedly damaging minor league attendance and that action was instrumental in the collapse of the Liberty network.

It could not be ascertained immediately who the stockholders in the chain would be, but it was learned that among the first affiliates were two stations which McLendon owns, Station KLIF in Dallas and KLSB in Houston. McLendon said, "It might be," was financially interested in the new network, said, "it might be."

Leading Games Aired

Ray A. Lewis, general manager of the new network, said both day and night major league games would be broadcast and that those aired would be the leading games among all 16 major league clubs.

"Our first broadcast will be Tuesday night with the game between the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns," Lewis said.

Lewis said response to the new network had been "highly gratifying" and that already a number of affiliates were in the fold, but he delayed announcing any of them pending some final "paper work."

Lewis said that at first games would be "re-created," which means that McLendon will take abbreviated reports of the game and combine them with sound effects as background to his announcing, but that negotiations were under way for live broadcasts and that "it is conceivable that we will later have some live broadcasts."

Majors Make Many Changes In Lineups For 1953 Season

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

Major league baseball, with new faces and its first new team in a half-century, opens its 1953 season Monday with close pennant races predicted in both the National and American leagues.

The Dodgers are favored in the National, the Yankees in the American.

The new team, the Milwaukee Braves, will meet the oldest team in professional baseball, the Cincinnati Reds, at Crosley Field in the National League curtain raiser Monday while in the American, the Yankees, going after an unprecedented fifth consecutive pennant, will face the hopeful Washington Senators in the nation's capital.

The remainder of the teams begin play Tuesday.

A capacity crowd of 32,000 was assured for Cincinnati, where the long range forecast was for cloudy and cool weather. At Griffith Stadium, where Vice President Richard Nixon will throw out the first ball in place of President Dwight Eisenhower, who will be on a golfing vacation at Augusta, Ga., a capacity crowd of 29,731 was anticipated. The forecast there was clear and fair.

In Full Swing Tuesday

On Tuesday, in the National, it will be the downtrodden and former Pittsburgh Pirates at the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Philadelphia Phillies at the New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals at Milwaukee and the Reds at the Chicago Cubs. In the American, it will be the Chicago White Sox at the Cleveland Indians, the Philadelphia Athletics at the Yankees, the Senators at the Boston Red Sox and the Detroit Tigers at the St. Louis Browns.

Manager Casey Stengel named his clutch ace, Allie Reynolds, hero of the Yankees world series triumph over the Dodgers last fall, to hurl the first game for his world champions. Pilot Bucky Harris of the Senators countered with his right-handed star, Bob Porterfield.

Writers Pick Bums, Yanks To Win Flags

NEW YORK, April 11—UP—Major League baseball writers predicted the New York Yankees will win an unprecedented fifth straight American League pennant and the Brooklyn Dodgers will win a second consecutive National League title in the annual pre-season United Press survey.

Of the 117 writers from big league cities, 88 picked Manager Casey Stengel's Yankees to become the first team ever to win five consecutive flags and 82 chose the Dodgers to make it two in a row.

The Cleveland Indians received only 19 first-place votes but were picked to finish second in the American League while the New York Giants, receiving 22 first-place votes, were chosen to finish second in the National.

Order of Finishes

The order of finishes as forecast second in the National

Order of Finishes as forecast by the survey were:

American League: Yankees, Indians, White Sox, Athletics, Senators, Red Sox, Browns and Tigers.

National League: Dodgers, Giants, Phillies, Cardinals, Cubs, Braves, Reds, Pirates.

The writers were virtually unanimous in predicting that the Yankees will finish last in the National League with no fewer than 112 picking them for the cellar.

Four writers forecast that they would finish seventh and one picked them to finish sixth.

Writers Pick Bums, Yanks To Win Flags

On a basis of eight points for a first place vote, seven for second, six for a third, etc., the Yankees received a total of 897 points. In addition to their 88 first-place votes the world champions received 19 for second and 10 for third. No writers picked them as low as fourth.

Dodgers Get 893 Points

The Dodgers, although picked by one writer to drop to fourth, received 893 points, adding 28 second-place votes and six third-place votes to their total of 82 for first. The Giants' point total of 755 was followed by the Phillies 716, the Cardinals, 630, Cubs 392, Braves, 336, Reds, 321 and Pirates, 123.

Behind the Yankees came the Indians with 800 White Sox, 685, Athletics, 570 Senators, 463 Red Sox, 334 Browns, 292 and Tigers, 187.

Other First Votes Cast

Only four teams received first place votes in each league. In addition to the votes for the Yankees and Indians nine writers predicted the White Sox would finish first and one picked the Senators to win the American League flag. The Senators were the only team which received at least one vote for every spot in the standings.

The Phillies received a total of 10 votes for first place and three writers picked the Cardinals to win the National League pennant.

In last year's survey the writers favored the Indians in the American League and the Dodgers in the National.

McLEAN, April 11—(Special)—J. W. "Hap" Rogers, the newly elected McLean High School football coach, will take over April 20 at which time he will conduct the spring workouts.

Rogers will be entering his eighth year of coaching next fall. Prior to taking the McLean job, he had coached at Vernon, Snyder, Okla., and Price College High School of Amarillo. He has been at the latter school the past four years.

The new Tiger coach is a 1946 graduate of West Texas State's football and basketball.

In addition to his football duties here, Rogers will also serve as the Tiger basketball coach.

... to captain teams in tag bout

Big Train, Cordova To Head Teams In 6-Man Go Tuesday

A six-man tag team battle, most action-packed event in the wrestling business, tops a four bout card at Pampa's Southern Club Sports Arena Tuesday night.

Six of the hardest wrestlers, some of the most unpopular to ever appear here will be in the ring slugging it out more than once. The last six-man tag match scheduled here three weeks ago proved to be popular with the spectators and the fans have asked for another.

Ray "Big Train" Clements, the rugged and rowdy master of wrestling without rules will captain one team. He has chosen two partners who are equal to the rugged "Big Train" Jack O'Reilly, fresh from a successful swing through Houston, Tulsa, and Chicago fighting heavyweights, comes back to Pampa and sides with Clements.

O'Reilly was one of the most unloved wrestlers ever to appear here, although fans did admire his aggressiveness, and ability to take punishment. Benny Trudell, the Badman from Canada, fills out Clements' side.

The other team is made up of Captain Polo Cordova, the sensational Latin-American flash who is making his third appearance here, John Henning, and Johnny James.

Henning and James wrestled in what turned out to be the outstanding match of the night last week. In the opinion of many fans, either could hold Gypsy Joe's world title any time they want it. There was not a foul blow struck in their 45-minute battle, but it was sensational.

wrestling. Henning won the match, but by no large margin, and both of "Big Train" Trudell and O'Casey Colo., should give the team of these boys, teamed with the Reilly a rough night. Tempera are sure to flare, and then the fat is in the fire.

In the three preliminary matches in which some brilliant duels will start, Trudell meets handsome Johnny James, O'Reilly tackles Henning, and Big Train takes on Polo Cordova, in that order. Each of these matches will be one fall, or 15 minutes.

Tickets will be on sale Tuesday night at 8:00 p.m. at the Sportsman's Store, and then at 7:00 p.m. will go on sale at the Southern Club Sports Arena. Matches start at 8:15 p.m.

Coach John Truelove was presented a $70 gift certificate in high school assembly April 8 by the boys he has coached the last two years in Panhandle High School. Marshall Sherwood, senior athlete presented the certificate.

Truelove leaves Monday for Lockney High School for a month to direct spring training. His resignation at Panhandle was accepted March 10 by the Panhandle School Board. At the same time he announced his decision to accept the position at Lockney, a Class A District 3 school.

The coach has already profited from the gift certificate. He went to the Hibbs, Amarillo, yesterday and bought a sport coat, slacks, and shoes. Total cost: $69.50. "The store not having anything that cost a dime," he says. "I just bought a pair of $1 socks and paid the extra 90 cents myself."

Truelove, a 1948 graduate of West Texas State College, Canyon, came to Panhandle in 1951 as athletic director and head football coach. The Panthers won 14 games and

Bantam Ben 4 Strokes Ahead As Masters Enters Last Round

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 11—UP—Ben Hogan all but clinched his second Masters golf crown and a record score for the classy event Saturday as he stunned the field with a 66 good for a three-day total of 205-11 under par.

The 40-year-old Texas dynamo, who apparently won't quit until there's nothing left for him to shoot at on this continent, has only to score a one-over par 73 Sunday to shatter the 14-year-old mark set by Ralph Guldahl and tied in 1948 by Clyde Hartport.

Hogan Saturday was part of the fastest twosome ever to shoot down the stretch in the Masters in his 17 outings. Ed Oliver, the 220-pound

Palm Springs, Cal., clubber, fired a 67 with the help of an eagle but despite his brilliant round lost ground. Oliver was in second place, four strokes behind Hogan, among early finishers. Oliver himself could tie the tournament record by shooting a 70 Sunday.

Duel 66 Completed On a best ball basis, Oliver and Hogan compiled an incredible 60 as about half of the 12,000 spectators on the branched course followed them all the way.

Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., who trailed Hogan only by a stroke after two rounds, kept a toothhold for Sunday's Hogan chase by shooting a two-under par 70 and a total of 210, one stroke behind Oliver.

Next came Chick Herbert of Detroit, the first day leader, with a 70 and a 211 total. All the rest appeared completely out of it.

Hogan rifled his layups in a low trajectory to nullify a shifty wind and protect a putting game that wasn't quite up to his long game. He three-putted twice—but only once for a bogey as he was on the green with his second shot on the par-five 13th.

Carling Puts Outstanding Yet, his outstanding shot of the day was a putt—a curling, up hill 60-footer on nine for a birdie. He also holed out a 10 footer to save himself a fault on the first hole, and birdied the second with a 12-foot putt. But he drove within three feet of the cup on the short fourth to make an easy drop.

On the 520-yard eighth Hogan slammed up to the green in two shots and was down in two for his third bird, immediately followed by his fourth on nine. The crowd went wild as it recognized a typical Hogan drive for the kill. His birdies on the eighth and ninth were the third straight for him on both, giving him six under for two holes in the tournament.

He birdied the 10th by getting down with a 12-footer and missed another bird on the short 12th when his first putt stopped an inch away. 14th Birdied Then he birdied the 14th by putting his second within five feet, came his putting lapse on 13 but he still made it in par. On the 15th, scene of Gene Sarazen's double eagle 18 years ago, Hogan cleared the lake and reached the green with his second to get down with a birdie four. But he three putted the 125-yard, water-girt 16th for his only bogey and finished out in pars and a 66.

When he had finished, Hogan seemed surprised to hear he was heading for a record but said "I felt sure someone would set it this time."

The weather has been the best it ever has for the tournament," he said. "I was lucky with the wind. When it did catch my shots it favored instead of hurting them."

Hot Springs Club Readmitted To Cotton States Loop

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 11—UP—The Cotton States Baseball League, which kicked out the Hot Springs club earlier this week because it refused to release two Negro players, readmitted the club Saturday on orders from Minor League President George M. Trautman.

The Negroes, James and Leander Tugerson, remained on the roster and Hot Springs resumed its spring training and practice game schedule.

It planned to open the season April 21. Officials of the Hot Springs club were jubilant over Friday's order by Trautman to the Cotton States League to reinstate the Bathers, pending decision on Hot Springs' appeal from the ouster.

Other members of the circuit were mum. Clyde Rawlings, general manager of the Meridian Millers, said "I'd rather withhold comment until this thing develops. We may have to get another league meeting to get it straightened out."

MGM Fires Lanza For Not Working

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 11 —UP—Tenor Mario Lanza, fired by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer on grounds he cost the studio $800,000 by refusing to work on a musical movie, denied Saturday that he wouldn't work.

Lanza said he wrote Loew's Inc., which controls MGM on April 7: "I shall report to you at the time specified... and I shall perform all the terms and conditions... with respect to the employment period."

He said the letter also asked for instructions as to when to report and to whom.

Since rubbish is a fire hazard, keep all such material in covered, galvanized steel garbage cans until it is ready to be disposed of.

U.S. MARINE CORPS AIR STATION, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii — Marine Sgt. Morris G. Spencer, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Spencer, 324 S. Cuyler is now undergoing amphibious training in the Hawaiian Islands.

Entering the service in August, 1947, Sgt. Spencer is now performing the duties of a stock clerk.

The training is under the guidance of the First Provisional Marine Air Ground Task Force FMF, at MCAS, Kaneohe Bay. This organization has just been activated under the command of Brig. Gen. James P. Risley, USMC.

As a member of a select battalion landing team from the Third Marine Division, the Marine arrived several weeks ago from Camp J. H. Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif. The unit will undergo six months' training before returning to the States to be replaced by a similar team.

The training, coordinated with fighter squadrons from Marine Air Group 13, is to insure maximum combat efficiency and coordination between Leatherneck air and ground forces. The Marine specialty of close air support is taking up a portion of the training time. This system, wherein fighter-bombers serve as airborne artillery to blast objectives ahead of advancing ground forces, has proven itself in Korea.

IN KOREA — Pvt. Billy W. Luedcke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Luedcke, 915 S. Reid, is now serving in the Quartermaster Corps, Seoul, Korea. Pvt. Luedcke is a former Pampaian who is now a resident of Memphis. His wife, Sue, now is making her home with her mother, Mrs. Bonnie Kerchville, Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Reed, 320 N. Dwight, are back in Pampa today after meeting their son, B. C. Anderson, U.S. Navy machinist's mate 2c, as he stepped off his ship, the USS Thompson, a minesweeper.

Aboard the Thompson for five years, Navyman Anderson had completed his second tour of duty in Korean waters when the ship docked March 14 at Long Beach, Calif.

Anderson is now stationed in Long Beach aboard the mine sweeper. Prior to going into the Navy, he attended Pampa High School.

According to Mrs. Reed, the Thompson and her sister ship, the USS Carmick, were given a wild welcome home with the Long Beach Band on hand to greet the returning crewmen. And scores of relatives and friends cheered as the ship docked.

The Thompson, Mrs. Reed continued, brought back battlescars, now covered with paint. It had been hit in August from shore batteries while patrolling off Song Jin. And four men were killed in the battle.

A second hit was registered by the enemy exactly three months later, but the shell struck a deck frame and skidded off without causing much damage.

She will operate with a fast carrier task force and have training exercises in gunnery, anti-submarine warfare, amphibious operations and convoy exercises.

The crew of the Dickson gave a children's party in Goona, Italy, while making a goodwill visit to that port. More than 80 children from the Sacred Heart House of Refuge for Abandoned Children visited the ship and were given toys and ushered on a guided tour of the ship.

Mrs. Hardy H. Hicks Beta Sigma Phi Woman Of The Year

The sweetest lives are those to duty wed,
Whose deeds both great and small
Are close-knit strands of an unbroken thread,
Where love ennobles all,
The world may sound no trumpets, ring no bells,
The Book of Life the slurring record tells.
Thy love shall chant its own beatitudes
After its own like working. A child's kiss
Set on thy singing lips shall make thee glad;
A poor man served by thee shall make thee rich;
A sick man helped by thee shall make thee strong;
Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense
Of service which thou renderest.
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

MRS. HICKS is pictured informally in her home north of Pampa which is a rendezvous for her many friends. The three family pets — Sir Thomas, a gray cat; Smokie, a white lamb; and Stephen, a dachshund — have free run of the spacious Hicks residence and grounds and are a fixed part of the scene. The pets have been trained to play together and get along famously, Mrs. Hicks reports. She is shown here with each of the animals and also seen at work in her kitchen, talking over the telephone, and standing by the organ in the living room.

Peg O' Pampa

GONNA HAVE TO START that spring housecleaning pretty soon, especially since the little Indians hid Easter eggs in the house all day last Sunday. (Remember how wet it was outside?) There were little bits of egg shells everywhere and that "green grass" stuff that they put in those baskets was in places Peg would never have thought of. Why, yesterday Peg even found an egg in one of her best china cups.

SHOULD HAVE BEEN THERE: At Twentieth Century Allegro's tea Tuesday where, Peg understands, Mrs. Traylor Price very capably presented an illustrated talk on "Flower Arrangements." The serving table was covered with an aqua cloth and centered with the cutest lavender-duck sprinkled with purple sequins and containing a "sprig" bouquet of purple iris, daisies and daffodils. Hostesses for the event were Mmes. Raymond Reid, Jerry Thomas, Price Dostier Jr. and George Cree Jr.

AND AT THE PARENT EDUCATION tea held the same day, the club had its speaker, Mrs. Oma Link Rowley, director of Amarillo's Little Theater, who discussed plays on the Broadway stages. The serving table was covered with a floor length pale pink moire cloth which was centered with a pink hat box containing pink carnations, purple lilacs, and lavender iris. The guests received as favors a miniature hat. All the hats were decorated in pastel colors with ribbon streamers, lace, or flowers. These came out of a miniature pink hat box lined with a purple ribbon. Hostesses were Mmes. J. B. Veale, Robert Clark and Myron Marx Jr.

SPEAKING OF MODERN CONVENIENCES — The garden supply manufacturers have spent the winter growing new ideas for gadgets for you to use in your yard this year. If you hate grass mowing (take note Mr. Peg) one company will sell you a chemical solution which is said to retard the grass's growth by as much as four months. At the other extreme, another company offers a substance guaranteed to grow grass on any bare spot. You can buy a gasoline-powered scythe, or a spring-loaded spade that kicks the dirt into the air once you've shoved the spade in the ground. HO-HUM. Another company has come up with a lightweight cooker attachment which will hook over your garden cart, so you can cook your food outdoors and wheel the meal right up to the table! How lazy can we get???

COOKBOOK, 1870
Though grandma, as a supercook, was rated as terrific, the recipes in this old book are strangely unscientific. It says, "Take ten cents' worth of this."
A penny's worth of that.
A pinch of salt; then (hit or miss) just add a little fat.
I'm sure if granny lived today she'd love our modern tricks! So many things in boxes sky.
"Just open up and mix."
Alice Martin Lester

RAN ACROSS THIS OLD RECIPE of Granny's that you might like:
SMALL WHITE CAKES
4 egg whites 1-2 tsp. almond flavoring
3-4 cup sugar 1-2 tsp. cream of tartar
1-2 cup flour
Beat egg whites till stiff; add sugar and beat two minutes. Add cream of tartar and flour which has been sifted twice. Brush iron pans (well Peg said it was Granny's!) with butter. Fill 3-4 full. Dust with sugar. Bake in moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes.

HAVE YOU NOTICED in this week's Life Magazine, the three pictures shown? All you need is a mirror, and if you follow the directions given, you will be able to get an idea of the new 3-D movies. . . It certainly gives you an odd sensation the first time you try it. . . What won't they think of next?

You can wash soot and dirt off the leaves of house plants, enabling them to "breathe." First protect the earth in the pot by placing a piece of waxed paper, slit at one side around the stem of the plant. Dip leaves into warm soapsuds and then into rinse water. Broad leaves can be wiped with sudsy cloth, then with a rinse cloth. An atomizer will clean delicate foliage well. Dry plants away from sunshine.

MARRIED — Miss Patsy Ruth Walls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Walls of 1348 Garland, became the bride of Roy Allen Goodwin, son of Mrs. Mamie Goodwin of San Francisco, Calif. The double-ring ceremony was held in the First Methodist Church in Clovis, N. M., recently by Thomas H. Raper. The bride's parents were the only attendants. The bride was attired in a pink poodle suit with navy accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. The traditional something new, something borrowed and something blue was carried out. Mrs. Goodwin is a graduate of Pampa High School, class of 1952. She is now associated with Fraser Insurance Company. The bridegroom graduated from Vici High School, Vici, Okla., and is now stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin. Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's great-aunt, Mrs. A. H. England, in Clovis.

RUTH MILLETT

A wife wrote me to comment on a recent column in which I discussed the successful man's wife who leans so much on his success that she becomes dull and uninteresting herself. She says: "I happen to be the wife of a successful man. Am I dull? Yes, I'm probably considered dull. But why? For the simple reason that I have been living the kind of life my successful husband wanted me to. As a result, at the age of 45 I am a little on the dull side."

T-Men Are Busy

Countless American husbands who consider themselves the head of the household would have that claim quietly disputed by their wives.

The claim is disputed, too, by the people who wrote Uncle Sam's instruction booklet on filling out income tax forms for 1952. As a result, a large number of taxpayers who filed their returns in March have shorted the government and will be hearing about it from the Internal Revenue Department soon!

The booklet printed two tax rate tables for "long form" taxpayers. One was labeled "for all taxpayers except head of household only." A great many taxpayers, it now appears, carelessly used the lower tax rates in the second table, taking it for granted that it applied to them as husbands and fathers.

But to the Department of Internal Revenue, the head of the household is something quite different. For tax purposes, it means someone who is unmarried or legally separated, and who furnishes more than one-half of the maintenance of a home in which a dependent or some other member of his family resides.

In one Internal Revenue office, it is reported that 2 1/2 per cent of the returns so far audited contain this error. It isn't a minor error, either. If the wrong table is used, the shortage in the case of a couple filing a joint return on a net income of $6000, amounts to $128. Catching these mistakes and collecting the underpayments will be a costly proceeding.

A new proposal, if adopted, would go a long way toward eliminating such mistakes. A plan to relieve people whose income is derived entirely from salary from the necessity of filling out income tax forms is being considered. The Internal Revenue Department would compute how much such taxpayers owe over and above the total amount of tax withheld during the year from their salary checks or the amount of refund due, and send them a bill or refund as the case may be.

The new plan would save vast quantities of paper and cut down appreciably on the aspirin consumption of taxpayers who regard the filling out of Form 1040 as only slightly less onerous than having a tooth pulled.

It has one serious disadvantage, however. Economy-minded economists long have pointed out that the bug in the withholding tax system is that it makes tax collecting relatively painless. If income taxes were not withheld by employers, and all taxpayers had to pay their taxes in full or in quarterly installments after the due date as was formerly the case, today's high tax rates never would have become politically possible.

As a result of the withholding innovation, people have come to think of their earnings in terms of take-home pay instead of the gross amount of their paycheck. The new proposal diminishes the average wage earner's awareness of the taxes he pays by eliminating his yearly discomfiture over filling out his return.

R.I.P., R.F.C.

The decision has been made by the Eisenhower administration to lay to rest the depression born, scandal ridden Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Only the exact manner and time of death are still uncertain.

Within the next 60 days, however, about 50 per cent of the agencies offices throughout the country will be closed, according to House Speaker Joseph Martin. Also, until the expiration of its authority, the RFC will grant no loans over $1,000,000.

There will be many a dry eye over the agency's passing. Born in the depression, the RFC should have died with the depression. The lending of taxpayers' money to business ventures too shaky to obtain credit from banks and other private agencies long has been an indefensible practice.

Stubborn Career

Premier Mossadegh of Iran, who apparently never gets out of bed except to get into another one, has surprised nobody at all by rejecting another British offer for settlement of the long-standing oil dispute.

It seems pretty unlikely that Mossadegh ever will find a British proposal palatable. Why should he? He has founded a successful career on opposition to Britain. It is his stock in trade. Without it he'd have nothing but those well-worn pajamas, which he has practically elevated to the status of a uniform.

Mossadegh is plainly confident he soon will be able to market Iranian oil without British approval, so he feels no compulsion to abandon his politically rewarding stubbornness.

But to the outsider it still looks like quite a contest—whether Iranian oil will find a world market before the tottering Iranian economy crumbles.

BETTER JOBS

School Administrators
Selection of Speakers

I continue to quote from an address recently made before the American Association of School Administrators by Mrs. Agnes Meyer as reported in the National Education Association News magazine.

The School Administrators thought so much of this that they had thousands of copies printed for distribution. It shows the way school men are thinking. I quote: Liberty of Conscience Endangered

"It is precisely the last sign of freedom mentioned by Acton, liberty of conscience, that is now endangered. You school administrators have long been aware of the risk anyone runs today who wishes to defend the rule of reason, freedom of the mind, and freedom of conscience from the many self-appointed and self-styled 'patriots' who wish to establish thought control. Recently our universities and colleges have been selected as the latest victims of that No. 1 superpatriot, Senator McCarthy, together with Senator Jenner and their counterpart Congressman Velde. But the public school administrators are not going to be overlooked. For McCarthy said, 'We are going into the educational system' and Velde added that the private schools are also on the list. Senator Jenner began his hearings with the statement that the McCarran Committee hearings contain evidence that there are many hundreds of teachers organized by the Communist party in a secret underground operation—subversion organized so purposefully is properly the object of our attention.

The hope that a Republican Congress would demand a higher sense of responsibility from Senator McCarthy seems unfounded. The first thing the Congress did was to increase the budget of his investigating committee. This is inexcusable when we consider that a committee of Congress has presented serious evidence against McCarthy that impugns his honesty, his moral integrity and therefore his right to represent the Senate. Before Senator McCarthy is allowed to investigate anyone else, would it not be more appropriate for the Senate to investigate McCarthy? For his record as an investigator is shameful. He has accused innocent people of communism on mere hearsay evidence, thus traducing our American principle of law that a man is presumed innocent until proven guilty. By such methods he has weakened the moral of our Federal Services and spread suspicion and fear throughout the nation. He has stirred up hatred and used every device to destroy the confidence of Americans in each other. He has used the technique of insinuation against innocent people and debauched the Senate's power of investigation by introducing authoritarian practices that are akin to the communism which he professes to hate. Even those admirers of McCarthy who insist that his purposes are good, must concede that he vituperates with evil means. If we are to condone his methods, however vicious, on the theory that the ends justify the means, then we are already on the way to totalitarianism. If we are going to uphold democracy against despotism, it can only be done successfully with democratic processes for the means we use to determine the ends we achieve. That is why McCarthy's behavior is an affront to the dignity of a free people. Norman Thomas said in a recent letter to the New York Times: 'For the moment I think McCarthyism a more immediate danger inside America than communism.' Yet this man whose moral integrity is questioned by a Senatorial committee, whose scores of democratic processes, of law and of justice is evident, whose methods are so sinister that he has lowered the prestige of our country throughout the world—this man has the audacity to announce that he will not attack the chief bulwark of our democracy, its educational institutions."

Mrs. Meyer does not tell who McCarthy has called a communist. Nor does she tell what person he "vituperates with evil means." She accuses him of being dishonest but does not give a bill of particulars. She disobeys her own advice that a man is innocent until proven guilty. Nor does she tell who were on the committee of Congress that presented serious evidence on McCarthy's honesty. Nor does she give one single bit of proof that he is dishonest.

Just recently the Post Standard, Syracuse New York retracted all their accusations against McCarthy after its owner Mr. Newhouse got the facts about what they had printed that resulted in McCarthy starting a libel suit. You will note that all Mrs. Meyer does is to smear representatives of the government who want to expose men who are promoting some form of state socialism—state slavery.

Self appointed "Patriots" Notice how Mrs. Meyer uses the smear words. She calls those who oppose an unlimited government "self appointed and self-styled 'patriots,'" and she puts parentheticals around the word patriot. Just as if they were not patriots. Just who would appoint a man to be a patriot if his moral conscience guided by the Golden Rule was not to be his guide. Evidently Mrs. Meyer wants to leave the impression that men must not oppose an unlimited government—a dictator form of government unless he is given authority to do so by some professional educational group. And yet she talks about freedom of the mind. But she only wants professional edu-

Revolution A "Must" What Britain needs for basic restoration is another industrial revolution. In the opinion of American experts, the trade, not aid, program will have no real meaning unless the British modernize their production plants and their selling practices. A recent survey by the Wall Street Journal shows that, despite severe tariff cuts here over the last 20 years, the British have made for an interstitial increase in sales in our markets. The same applies to Anglo-Canadian commerce.

The British refuse to adopt our assembly-line production methods, which prevents them from competing abroad save in a few special lines. They will not change patterns or designs to conform to shifting consumer preferences. They make no attempt, through sales or style agents stationed overseas, to anticipate or follow buying trends. They pursue a policy of "take it or leave it." Save for antique furniture, expensive china and Bond Street men's cloth, foreign buyers are not "taking it."

Labor Responding British labor is not responding to the government's insistence on "greater productivity" in an attempt to match American volume and unit costs. When the late Sir Stafford (Austerity) Cripps coined the slogan of "Work or Want" to stimulate this trend, it was to have freedom of the mind.

Note she quotes a socialist-Norman Thomas to prove that McCarthy is a danger to America. One could always prove a real liberty loving American to be a menace by quoting some socialist. There is no common principle governing a Socialist and an American who believes the government should never do anything that is not moral and ethical for every citizen to do. And remember the School Administrators were so pleased with her address that they had thousands of copies printed for distribution. If seems the only defense that can be made for the socialist school system is a smear campaign.

National Whirligig... England Shows No Indications Of Recovering Former Power

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Our most powerful and reliable ally in the cold war — England — shows no signs of recovering her historic boldness of spirit or economic strength, according to well-informed American students of the islands. Behind the brave and hopeful talk of Churchill and Eden there is a foot-dragging in the front offices and in the factories. The British government's recent economic survey, which is required reading at Washington for the light it casts on Britain's future role in the anti-Russian alliance, is a pessimistic document. So is the reaction of many political and labor leaders to the new program under which London seeks greater trade with us rather than direct financial aid. That will require more aggressive management methods and more intense labor productivity, and neither group appears willing to bestir themselves.

Although the survey records a $750 million balance of trade surplus in 1952, as against a 1951 deficit of $900 million, the figures are deceptive. More than $300 million was accounted for by American grants. A drastic reduction of imports, including foodstuffs, figured in the more favorable showing. The balance came from a drop in the price of raw material imports and higher prices for manufactured exports — a development not likely to continue.

Workers' Reaction This attitude, which also prevails among some management and industrial political circles, is difficult for us to understand. But it is only a natural reaction among millions of poorly paid or unemployed workers who endure greater everyday hardships than the vanished Germans. And, as they listen to the Voice of America's peans about our postwar prosperity, they have no stomach to suffer even more grievously because of what they regard as a U.S.-U.S.R. conflict.

A curious incident in Commons a few days ago epitomizes this attitude. A speaker at a labor mass meeting at Liverpool brought cheers with the remark that this plea to "engage in greater productivity would result in many workers joining the unemployed." As an alternative, he suggested increased trade with Russia, Communist China or any nation that would buy British goods.

"It is easy to write off such talk as the Communist or fellow-traveling line," comments the same Manchester Guardian. "But it may be rather too easy. Up and down the country there are very many working men and women who would not cross the street to listen to a Communist, yet feel in their bones that there may be something in the argument that increasing productivity may put them out of work."

What Britain needs for basic restoration is another industrial revolution. In the opinion of American experts, the trade, not aid, program will have no real meaning unless the British modernize their production plants and their selling practices. A recent survey by the Wall Street Journal shows that, despite severe tariff cuts here over the last 20 years, the British have made for an interstitial increase in sales in our markets. The same applies to Anglo-Canadian commerce.

A rich old lady was putting a needy student through college. One of her friends asked if it was very expensive.

British lethargy and weariness. When Admiralty Secretary Thomas announced that Britain, once the respected ruler of the seas, now ranked only third in naval power, behind the United States and Russia, there was hardly a ripple of indignation along the Thames.

Down South War-Time Prosperity Is Sure To End In Bankruptcy For U.S.

By THURMAN SENSING
We seem to be talking one way these days and acting another. We all say we want peace and yet our actions would indicate we fear its coming.

There have been varying opinions about the "cold war" of recent years, as well as about the "hot war" in Korea, which is the third worst foreign war in our history even though it has been characterized as "police action."

There have been those who thought previous administrations were not averse to the continuance of the requirements for war in our history even though it has been characterized as "police action."

There are those who think that any communist overture for peace are inspired by the fact that they realize the cold war is not producing the ends they desire, but that they also believe peace would bring depression to the United States and that as a consequence our way of life would be destroyed without their prosecuting either a cold war or a hot war.

That's a strange philosophy that has taken hold of us. If it were true, then it should be our national policy to remain constantly at war — and the bigger the war the better, because the bigger the war the more prosperous we would be.

Why have we been caught up in such a ridiculous doctrine? There may be a number of subsidiary reasons but the main reason is undoubtedly the false notion that has been promulgated among us in recent years that spending produces prosperity — no matter what the sending is. We saw it tried in the "pump priming" days, we have seen it tried in lend-lease and foreign aid, we have seen it tried in subsidies without end, and we have seen it tried in other ways. It has been preached to us so long and so vigorously by supposedly intelligent leaders that we have generally come to believe it.

Yet the doctrine is not so — and the sooner we realize it is not so, the better it will be for all of us. It is not so economically and it is not so morally. Spending for unproductive purposes simply brings on inflation, thereby often causing an illusion of prosperity, but the result is like treating a patient with narcotics rather than curative drugs. Also, those laboring under the delusion of war prosperity might ask the 132,000 casualties of the Korean War — those who can answer — and their families if they think we have had prosperity as a result of that war.

If we have reached such a low point in initiative and self-reliance that we must depend upon war for prosperity, then we don't deserve prosperity. Any thinking person, of course, knows that we must not depend upon it. He knows that there are thousands of new things to be made and thousands of wants to be satisfied that will produce a sound economy in time a peace — and that a peacetime economy is the ONLY sound economy.

There is a lady in New York working at the full-time job of running a magazine and I would like to meet her. I don't want to sell her any stories. I just want to shake her hand. Her name is Elizabeth Gordon and she is the boss of a glossy handbill called "House Beautiful," an item you need not dip into unless you are willing to go for a fat bundle of money in the way of reading and associated knock-knacks. Miss Gordon's four-color job doesn't go in for hogans or pop tips.

It is Miss Gordon's irritated opinion that modern design is for the birds. It is also for the victims. I won't walk a whole block with her in her belief that modern housing is an international plot formulated to make us want less of this world's desirable goods. I'll go with her part way in her yell that modern architects seem determined to promote crude unlivability, "stripped-down emptiness," "lack of storage space and, therefore, lack of possessions." She is exactly right and why some decorative magazine hasn't had the nerve to make this cry before is not easily to be understood.

When, along about 1928, modern furniture and associated items came out of Europe I took a stance: I wanted not one stick of mechanistic, so-called functional furniture in the house and the first kins-woman who spent my hard-earned loot on a tub-shaped chair with iron legs was going to get a flat-iron across her skull plus the back of me hand. I'd as soon sit in a cement mixer as in most of the modern chairs and the only thing I can see modern sofas good for is a tonic. The sofas look like surgery tables and are about half as comfortable, in spite of foam rubber and inflated pads.

Modern houses look like wind-tunnels with holes cut in them or like prize-winning gas station designs. At this point a modern architect, with his gorge filling so fast, can rise and muck me for being sucker by Victorian neuroses as curly as an old bell's back hair at a picnic. So be it. I'd rather live in a jig-sawed braid than at the bottom of a drained swimming pool.

The New York Times, to pin the label on still another publication, has probably almost the best Sunday magazine supplement printed anywhere in America. But its editor is costing a hand of four a good, expensive but free Sunday dinner in seven courses. I have pledged this family of four just such a dinner on the first Sunday on which the Times does not do a magazine piece on modern furniture. Sunday after Sunday the decor section of the magazine comes out with two pages of stretched birch, upholstered ash-cans, zebra wood statuettes and similar goodies of the Modern Era. I want for the Times once, just once, to feature a chair, table or sofa made earlier than last Saturday.

Miss Gordon is convinced that a cabal of architects is sworn to "manipulate" our tastes. Well, I have a schizoid of news for Miss Gordon: they aren't manipulating mine and I am wed to a bride twice as militant as I am. Show her a low-slung coffee table shaped like a wet spot in the road and she will foam at the mouth in such rage as Miss Gordon couldn't whip up in seven weeks. The last time I visited any museums from Vienna to New York I didn't see any moderne tables or chairs strung like tennis racquets. I saw some excellent Chippendale, some lovely French pieces, some exquisite English side tables and even some exceptional American primitive designs. Shaverton had a set of eight dining chairs fit to make you glow and Duncan Phyfe was on hand, too. But I didn't see a single iron-legged slab of wood by Salazar Schlump, the eminent Brooklyn butcher. The china on exhibition had handles on the cups and the plates were decorative and round. The silver had body to it and beautiful chasing.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JOR, M.D.

A good many people have been disturbed and puzzled by reports in the newspapers or through the grapevine of a new and mysterious disease which broke out among United Nations and United States personnel in Korea about the middle of 1951.

It is now possible to discuss some features of this illness, since reports on it have begun to appear in the medical journals. The disease is now known as epidemic hemorrhagic fever. It was first studied by the Japanese more than 10 years ago, and so far as anyone knows, it is not likely to constitute a danger to residents of the North American continent.

The symptoms are said to involve three stages: First is invasion, in which the victim becomes suddenly acutely ill with chills and fever, headache, backache and general muscular aching. After a short time the fever stage begins. The patient is likely to feel worse and severe vomiting is not unusual. At this time the urine is likely to show blood and albumin. The final stage is convalescence, and this lasts from three to six weeks.

Ninety-three out of 100 stricken by epidemic hemorrhagic fever recover. In those who recover there do not seem to be any lasting effects nor have there been any second attacks.

As is the case so often when a new disease develops, neither the cause nor the way in which it is spread are yet known. The indications are that it is probably a virus or a rickettsia, both small living organisms less easy to identify than ordinary germs.

Also, as with many newly found diseases, a good specific treatment has yet to be discovered. The most successful management, the medical reports say, seems to be bed rest, good nursing care and measures aimed at the relief of symptoms.

PROGRESS IS MADE Naturally, the appearance of epidemic hemorrhagic fever in the combat zones of Korea produced intense activity on the part of those medically responsible. The set to work with the most commendable zeal and have already made long strides in the understanding of this disease, even though there is much still to learn. Parents, wives and others close to our men in Korea can feel that the chances are excellent that this disease will not strike. If it should, the chances for recovery are good, and finally, that everything which can be done is being done.

Octogenarian Honored Here On Birthday

Mrs. A. D. Fish of 1000 West Buckler was hostess at a family reunion Sunday in honor of her mother, Mrs. W. E. Sullivan of Ropesville. Mrs. Sullivan was celebrating her 80th birthday. Five generations of the family were represented at the reunion, ranging from Mrs. Sullivan to tiny Mary Ellen Koscheki, daughter of R. J. Koscheki of Laredo. Also present was Koscheki's mother, Mrs. A. N. Koscheki, of Adair, Okla., who is Mrs. Fish's daughter.

The honoree, Mrs. Sullivan, is a pioneer of the South Plains. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bratcher, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hodges and family, Borger; Mr. and Mrs. Don Stone, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McGinnis, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Koscheki, all of Pampa.

With a wonderful guy and a family.

Finis — The End

Eye-popping note: Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis will get $50,000 a week as a 70-30 split of the gate when they play the New York Paramount theater in August. Dean, an expectant papa for the sixth time, is quipping to pals that the baby will be named Termaine — Italian for "absolutely the end."

Will Rogers, Jr., has the plot of his next movie all picked out — the life story of famous western painter Charles Russell. Now it's up to Warner Bros.

Overheard: "She has a husband? No kidding? Whose?"

Jean Simmons is still gasping about Teresa Wright playing the "Fame and Fortune."

"I thought she looked younger than I did," Jean said. "But when the camera turned, she suddenly became very mature and gave a brilliant performance. A lot of actresses use tricks when they play an older woman, but Teresa, without seeming to try too much, somehow aged herself from within. It was amazing."

Dee Dee Barrymore, John's daughter, and comedian Lew Bedell are an altar threat. They were introduced by Cara Williams. Dee Dee's new sister-in-law.

Removal of John Buckmaster, Gladys Cooper's son, from the role of Caligula in "The Robe" is almost a parallel to the Vivien Leigh headlines. Ironic twist is that Vivien saw him only a few hours before her own emotional collapse.

A Sunset strip drive-in is advertising "Cineraburgers—They're Bigger."

Mittie Green is admitting that she's interested in the talk that she would be perfect for "The Fabulous Fanny," life story of Fanny Brice, but she says that re-creating Fanny's Baby Snooks character on TV is absolutely out.

Dale Robertson vows that he's never met Rita Hayworth, and Rita pleads that she hasn't even seen him in a movie. So that should take care of rumors linking the stars.

One theory is that petroleum was originally formed from hydrogen and carbon in the rocks, but most scientists believe the hydrogen and carbon were first plants and animals.

Six Wildcats in Panhandle Located During Past Week

Wildcat activity over the Panhandle picked up in the past week with six new locations staked, out, three of Gulf Oil Corporation wells in Roberts County's Winduna Field.

Humble Oil and Refining Company located a Hansford County well with a potential depth of 8,500 feet.

Two others were Catherine C. Whittenburg's in Carson County (potential depth: 6,000 feet) and Cosden Petroleum Corporation and the Wrightsman-Oil Company's them Gulf Oil Corp. wells in Childress County.

Completions for the week listed with the district office of the Texas Railroad Commission, included two oilers and six gasers, two of each in Hutchinson County.

Two intentions to drill, one intention to deepen and two plugged wells rounded out the week's oil field activity.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By FRSKINE JOHNSON
NFA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) - Exclusively Yours: Percy Kilbride and Bajorie Main agreed to do "Ma and Pa Kettle Hit the Road" at U-I only after big salary boosts.

The pair are the most coddled stars in Hollywood, with rights to chose their own days off, an early daily quitting schedule and a say-so on story points.

Kilbride's even transported to and from the studio each day in a limousine - a courtesy even stars like Lana Turner, Loretta Young and Jimmy Stewart don't rate.

No. 1 adorer in Margaret Whiting's life - and the reason why intimates are saying that her separation from Lou Busch is permanent - is her young agent, Phil Loeb.

Jerry Devine of "This Is Your FBI" fame will produce a movie, "Babes in the Woods," in Ireland this summer. Few people remember that Jerry played Mary Carr's son in the famous 1929 movie classic, "Over the Hill."

Deanna Durbin, hubby Charles David and her two children are London - bound to see Elizabeth crowned. They'll return to Hollywood in late summer but not for Deanna to make her TV debut, as has been rumored.

"I've officially retired and movies and TV are out," slim and beautiful Deanna told me when I quizzed her about the video talk. "I'm one of those lucky people - I've found happiness with a wonderful guy and a family.
