Youngsters Take Railroad Flares, Dangerous Toys

An unknown group of Pampa youngsters today are the holders of a quantity of dangerous playthings — railroad flares, Constable A. Doggett said.

Doggett, City Police and the sheriff's Department were told by Santa Fe Railroad Inspector Lawrence Sankey a work train car was broken into sometime last week and a large number of the flares stolen.

The flares — brilliant red flares that burn like Fourth of July red amites, are painted red, and have spikes in the end of them. Railroad men use them as signals, throwing them 'spike first' into an area after they have lit the top. The flare lights by scraping its top along a hard surface.

Doggett said the flares give off a lot of heat and are capable of setting fire to a house, or seriously injuring those playing with them.

Parents of local youngsters were warned to be on the look-out for them lying around the house, in the yard, or under Junior's bed or elsewhere. They should be turned in immediately to the constable added, before some youngster is hurt or a house set on fire.

Pilgrimages have been part of the practices of many religions.

Trucking Firm Now Corporation With $100,000 Capital

The C. M. Jefferies Trucking Co. of Pampa is now a corporation boasting $100,000 capital, according to an announcement late Saturday in Austin from the secretary of state's office.

The company was chartered by C. M. Jefferies, Murray E. Body, and R. J. Bradley. Body, a former city commissioner with the trucking firm, but the George Cree oil interests in it. He is currently associated with the George Cree oil interests in Abilene.

The trucking company operates in five states, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, with its home office here and a branch office at Winters. It is one of the section's oldest trucking firms.

Bradley told The Pampa-Daily News late yesterday that some work still has to be done in working out other papers and permits connected with the company's operations, including Interstate Commerce Commission and others.

The Douglas fir is named for the Scottish botanist, David Douglas, who visited the Pacific coast in the 19th century.

Area Wind Erosion Bypasses Most Of Gray County Land

Serious wind erosion is plaguing farmers in parts of Texas and Oklahoma including parts of the Texas Panhandle. But in the Plains portion of Gray County, the problem is almost non-existent, according to County Farm Agent Ralph Thomas. A U.S. Soil Conservation expert said this week end that 118,900 acres of land in Oklahoma and Texas is suffering heavy wind erosion damage, but the loss wasn't as bad as was expected. Regional director Louis P. Merrill said 1,547,000 acres suffered moderate to severe wind erosion with the heaviest in the Lubbock-Big Spring area in Texas and in the Woodward and Clinton sections in Oklahoma. In Pampa, Thomas credited good farming and good cover for the relative lack of erosion in the Plains portion of the county but pointed out a certain amount of damage was evident in the southern part of the county where cotton is the primary crop. What blowing there has been in the plains section has been quickly halted through chiseling operations, Thomas said. Merrill said that land lacking sufficient protection in Texas and Oklahoma still totals "well over 6 million acres," although growth of new crops has been fast cutting down the exposed areas. Merrill warned that high winds still can whip top soil off land lacking enough crop or grass cover. "Where wind erosion is a continuing problem," he said, "farmers should plant more grain sorghum and other wind resisting crops this year."

Shamrock Graduate Will Be Commencement Speaker

SHAMROCK (Special) — The commencement address for the seniors of 1953 of Shamrock High School will be given by a graduate of this school, Dr. J. Bennett Clark will return to his home town for the exercises May 25, in Clark Auditorium, named for his father, the late J. B. Clark. Dr. Clark is at present an assistant professor of Plant Sciences at the University of Oklahoma. He was born in Shamrock and was graduated from SHS. He received his Bachelor of Arts in Bacteriology from the University of Texas in 1949 and his Doctor of Philosophy in 1950.

Dr. BENNETT CLARK ... returns home

He was a member of the track team and received a freshman scholarship, was a member of Phi Sigma, Sigma Xi, and received the Rosalie B. Hitts predoctoral fellowship. In 1944, Dr. Clark married Miss Kathleen E. Rose, a former resident of Shamrock, and they have one son, James Curtis Clark. Dr. Clark has served on the University Scholarship Committee and is the author of several scientific publications and several papers which have been presented at scientific meetings. He is also co-director of a bacterial cytogenetic research project sponsored by the United States Army. From 1942 until 1946, Dr. Clark served in the United States Navy. He served on the USS Monterey aircraft carrier and the 3rd and 5th Task Forces and saw action in the battles of the Philippine Seas, Okinawa, and 3rd Fleet operations off Japan. His mother, Mrs. J. B. Clark, lives in the family home in Shamrock.

DWI Case, Swindling Trial Face Clark

At least one charge of driving while intoxicated and another charge of swindling with worthless checks will be brought before County Judge J. B. Maguire, Monday when he returns from a New Mexico trip. Winds caused more damage on sandy soils than in any previous month. Most severe damage in that area is near Brownfield, Merrill said.

Most pessimistic report on April blowing came from Lubbock. Area conservationist Homer A. Taff said there was a 10,000 acre increase in land undergoing moderate wind damage in his territory. Another sharp increase in blow damage was noted in Perryton area, where 6,200 acres were in the severely damaged class.

Emergency tillage in the Amarillo area cut winter wind damage greatly, Merrill said. He reported progress in grain crops, but said lack of moisture was hurting both grain and range. Wheat growth in northwestern Oklahoma is at a critical stage, Merrill added. Conditions are not quite so bad in the eastern part of this section, field agent A. T. Elder reported from Woodward. He said there was a 10,000 acre gain in moderate wind damage in April so far. In the Big Spring area, April

Injunction Prevents Closure Of West Texas Spraberry Field

AUSTIN, April 25 — UP — A permanent injunction issued by District Judge Charles O. Betts prevented the Texas Railroad Commission Saturday from enforcing its order closing the vast Spraberry Field in West Texas. The state announced it would appeal immediately and directly to the Texas Supreme Court. The original commission order, announced March 25, was to be effective April 1. It would have halted all production from the Spraberry Trend until operators stopped flaring 220 million cubic feet of casinghead gas daily. The huge producing reservoir underlying Midland, Glasscock, Reagan, Upton and Martin counties has an oil allowable of approximately 150,000 barrels daily. Betts issued the permanent injunction against the railroad commission late Friday at the conclusion of a week-long hearing on five suits.

The five plaintiffs are not flaring gas. A number of other oil and gas companies were parties to their suits and there was a large number of intervenors. Assistant Attorney General C. K. Richard said today he would file an appeal from Betts' ruling directly with the Supreme Court. Betts ruled that the railroad commission order could not be enforced because operators in the Spraberry Field are not utilizing and the field, therefore, could not be considered a unit. At the hearing Friday, J. W. Stayton of Phillips Oil Co. asked that the railroad commission order be ruled invalid because the loss of net profit from sale of the gas, representing a $300 million investment by Spraberry operators, was far greater than the value of the gas flared. Other operators flaring gas asked that the entire commission order be termed invalid. Operators who market the gas argued that the order should affect only those now flaring gas.

Juvenile Delinquency Seen As An Adult Responsibility

REX MACKAY, State Youth Development Council field representative, put the problem of juvenile delinquency squarely up to adults in a talk to the Kiwanis at a Friday noon-luncheon meeting.

Communities should take a greater interest in youngsters, he said, and enlist the aid of capable adults to aid in combating the delinquency, which he termed "all the things you-and I did as boys — only we weren't caught."

Current trend is to blame parents, Mackay said, and gave case histories proving a percentage of the youngsters' errors could be traced to that source.

But, adults in every community are partly responsible, he continued.

"We should all look around and see the adult examples — as a whole," he said. "And look upon the youth problem as a social not criminal case."

Some things localities can do to defeat juvenile delinquency, according to the Youth Council representative, is to interest adults in the field, don't supply markets for stolen property, remove from the area those adults who prey on children, advocate spiritual guidance, support recreation programs, work with the school systems, and set good examples.

Above all, Mackay stressed understanding of the youth in trouble.

"They are not 'super criminals,'" he said, "just maladjusted kids."

New Commissioner Has Pet Plan for Keeping The City Spruced Up

HENRY S. GORDON
Pampa's newest city commissioner — Gene Fatheree — has a pet project in mind that he likes to see get underway in his next two years on the job.

There is just one hitch — he — who admits he's a "baked cook" — doesn't know how to get his project started. Maybe people think I'm crazy, but the thing I want to see is in the city, and the people in it taking pride in keeping the sidewalks and yards clean.

There would be some sort of sign, an educational campaign, but I don't know just how to do about those things," he says.

Lot to Learn
Fatheree is looking forward to two years of schooling he will get by serving on the commission.

There sure is a lot to learn, he says. He will have to learn the ropes of a reporter during an interim amidst packing cases, shelves, stacks of candy, and other sale items he and his brother-in-law handle in the Pampa State Co., 420 W. Kingmill.

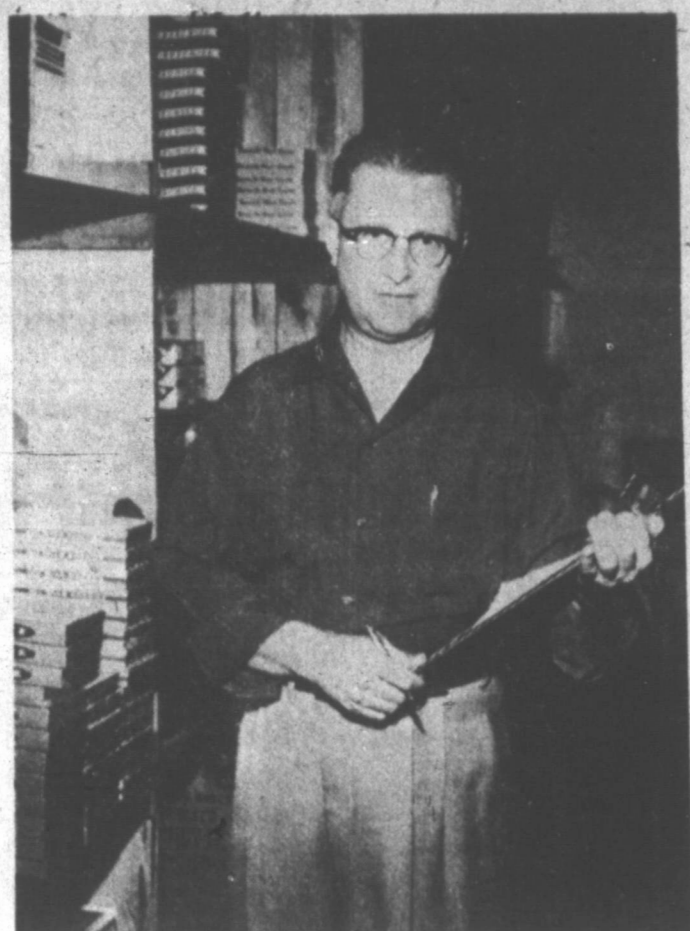

Otherwise, Fatheree thinks the city is in pretty good shape, and he doesn't think it is "in far shape than it is now."

Fatheree came to Pampa with his wife, V. E. Fatheree, in 1920. He graduated from Pampa High School in 1930, taking every year of the school had to offer to help his family.

He had a typing job in order to build up enough credits to graduate. At high school, he was tempted to skip Home Ec. but decided against it because he could have used it when he was drafted into the army in 1944 where he served two years as a cook.

Can Fry Eggs
Fatheree can fry eggs, but that's about as far as his cooking ability goes. "I guess I am only half in the culinary art, sort of 'baked,'" the new city commissioner says.

He did not take part in the election, he weighed only 112 lbs. "Heck, I was scared," he said when asked why he didn't go in for football or basketball.

Attending Oklahoma University, Gene took up business administration. He came back to Pampa before he finished and went to work for his father in the family drug store located where the Crown Theater is now, and has remained in the drug business since then.

Between the time he went to work for his father and now, the Fatherees have operated a number of drug store locations in Pampa; at one time having three here and one in Lefors. Now Gene and Clyde Fatheree have the Pampa Wholesale Co. and a drugstore in Dumas.

Past C.C. President
Congenial and witty, Fatheree has served as president of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Country Club, once served on the Session of the Presbyterian Church and helps usher at church services, was treasurer of the Adobe Wall Boy Scout Council and has served various terms as a troop committee chairman of his church's Boy Scout troop.

He won't be the first Fatheree in government. His brother Clyde has served two terms as a city commissioner and also served on

Senate Votes Extension On Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, April 25—UP—The Senate Saturday passed by voice vote and sent to the White House a bill to extend general federal rent controls for three months — to Aug. 1.

The House-approved bill also provides for continuing federal rent ceilings in tightly-defined "critical defense" areas until April 30, 1954.

Present controls expire next Thursday at midnight.

The Senate temporarily interrupted its marathon debate on the controversial tidelands bill to act on the rent measure.

Republicans and Democrats agreed to the suspension, which Republican leaders had said earlier they would not grant for anything. The measure was approved with only an hour of debate.

Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) of the Banking committee said he was informed Saturday by the White House that the three-month extension "substantially complies" with President Eisenhower's wishes. The President had asked a five-month extension to give state and local governments a chance to pass their own rent control regulations.

Canadian Suit Is Moved Here

A Hemphill County damage suit, scheduled to go on trial there last week, will be tried in Pampa June 9.

District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich ordered the change of venue because of publicity given the case prior to the trial. The motion was made by attorneys for the defendant, Donald Hodges. Attorneys for the plaintiffs, Nancy Matthews and Bobby Kemp, offered no objections.

Judge Goodrich lashed the Canadian Record from the bench for printing certain phases of the case contrary to Texas statutes covering such cases. But, by the end of the week papers on the change of venue had not been filed with District Clerk Helen Sprinkle in 31st District Court here.

The suit arose out of an automobile accident three years ago in which the two plaintiffs were allegedly injured while riding in Hodges' car. A first trial brought by the Matthews girl resulted in a hung jury and the Kemp trial postponed. In this trial the two cases were merged and styled Nancy Matthews and Bobby Kemp vs Donald Hodges.

Like Mother, Like Daughter

Mrs. Darrell Cameron, Caryn Ann And Casey

Mrs. Lewis Chamberlain And Mona

Mrs. George Hofsess And Judy

LIKE MOTHER, LIKE DAUGHTER — Pampa's youngest glamour girl can be like mother from dress, to hair-do to helper. The young lady can be a miniature prototype of her style-conscious mother at home and church, right down to the jacket with the jeweled touch so popular this coronation season. Daughter can be like mother with new spring and summer hair styles which is something new in the like-mother, like-daughter scheme. And daughter has always been mother's best-trained helper even when mother was daughter.

MRS. DARRELL CAMERON shows Caryn Ann, 4, how to hold her baby. Casey, 2 months, usually puts a halt to being the model baby in this game of wee women but daughter is usually mother's best helper after such a lesson in their home west of Pampa.

MRS. LEWIS CHAMBERLAIN AND MONA — This is the way we comb our hair, comb our hair, comb our hair — so early in the morning! Mrs. Chamberlain and Mona,

3, hold the key to the hearts of the men at 1309 Terrace — Mona's daddy, Lewis Chamberlain, and little brother, Lewis Jr.

MRS. DON CAIN AND DALE, 3, spend lots of afternoons at their favorite job of cookie baking at their 2004 Williston residence. She is mother's little helper at everything except playing the piano when she is 'helpful' with a discordant note.

MRS. GEORGE HOFSESS AND JUDY, 4, spend lots of time playing together in their home south of Pampa. They are fond of the Mexican atmosphere and spend as much vacation time as possible in South Texas and Mexico.

MRS. AUBREY OSBORN'S hats appeal to Cynthia more than the frilly bonnets designed for young fashionables. And hats are quite important to the mother and daughter at 336 Sunset Drive, especially with new spring hats styled with coronation glitter.

MRS. WILLARD LE ROI OGDEN

Frances Allman, Willard Le Roi Ogden Exchange Vows In Amarillo Church

Miss Frances Avalon Allman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ray Allman of Amarillo, became the bride of Willard Le Roi Ogden, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Ogden, 1608 Christine, in a double-ring ceremony read in the First Presbyterian Church of Amarillo recently.

Dr. Francis W. Pritchard, pastor, read the service in the presence of members of the families and close friends of the couple.

Vows were exchanged in front of a fan-shaped arrangement of white stock and lilies backed by palms.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Patricia Donovan. She wore a yellow linen suit with matching hat. She carried a bouquet of ranunculuses in a deeper shade of yellow.

Victor B. Ogden of Abilene served his brother as best man. Ray M. Allman, brother of the bride, and William N. Lampe were ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a blue linen suit fashioned with a mandarin neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, unpressed pleated skirt and silver braided and rhinestone trim on the jacket. Her white lace straw hat was accented with rhinestone clips. She carried a bouquet of white ranunculuses centered with camellias.

The bride's mother wore a navy crepe dress with navy and pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and white gardenias. Mrs. Ogden, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy linen suit with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was a white gardenia with white rosebuds.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with an embroidered white linen cloth over aqua and centered with an arrangement of white flowers in a silver bowl. Bouquets of spring flowers decorated the receiving rooms.

Miss Margaret Jane Zimpfer, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake. Mrs. R. M. Allman, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. William Lampe registered the guests.

For the wedding trip to New Mexico the bride traveled in a navy gabardine suit with gray and white accessories. Her corsage was of white camellias. After June 1 the couple is to be at home in Seneca Falls, N. Y.

Mrs. Ogden was graduated from Amarillo High School, attended Texas Tech in Lubbock and received a BA degree in speech and drama from Texas Christian University, Fort Worth. For the past year she has been teaching in Pampa. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Iota and the American Association of University Women.

The bridegroom received his Bachelor and Master degrees in management at Texas Tech where he was a member of Delta Sigma Pi, Sigma Iota Epsilon, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Phi Eta Sigma, Saddle Tramps and president of the Tech Management Association. He is now serving in the Air Force.

Manners Make Friends

The custom of calling on new neighbors is all too often neglected today. Mrs. Jones meets a neighbor who has been living across the street for three months and says: "I'm ashamed I haven't been to call on you — but I've been so busy. You know how it is . . ." The neglected neighbor says she understands. So a lame excuse once again takes the place of old-fashioned friendliness. It is really a shame for human beings haven't changed just because everyone today can claim to be too busy to bother about anyone else.

Families Wait For Word Of Prisoners

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK, April 25.—In one living room a young wife sits alone watching the television screen for a name she recognizes. A 17-year-old boy keeps interrupting his homework to ask "any more names?" His older brother has been in a North Korean prison camp since 1950.

These are the families who have watched in vain for the names of their husbands, sons and brothers on the list of prisoners released at Freedom Village. They don't venture far from their living rooms when new names are being released. They stay up later than usual for fear of missing a name.

Watching And Waiting
"Everybody's watching and waiting," sighed Mrs. Edward Brown. "I keep thinking somehow he'll show up. Seems as though I'd be relieved, even if he was sick." Her son, Harold, 23, has been a prisoner more than two years.

Many of the families have had letters recently. For some letters came instead of the news they hoped for.

"I prayed all day Sunday for some news of Harold," his mother said. Her husband and four of her seven children sat with her in their Manhattan apartment living room Sunday night. The name they waited for never appeared.

"Monday morning I got a letter from him, the first in six months. He said not to worry about him." In an apartment in Queens, Mrs.

Maryjane Shadish, 27, put her two children to bed early each night of the prisoner exchange. Billy, 4, and Mary Elizabeth 3, don't remember their father, Capt. William R. Shadish, 29, a doctor in the Army Medical Corps.

"They were too young to understand about the prisoner exchange, so I didn't mention it," their pretty mother said. "I watched television alone."

She was watching for names of 15 men she's never met, as well as her husband's. He mentioned the names of fellow prisoners in his letters to his wife and suggested she write to their families.

"One boy was an amputee, and I was sure he'd be sent back, but I didn't see a single name I knew," Mrs. Shadish said.

WHAT'S COOKING IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB WORK

By HELEN DUNLAP
Gray County HD Agent

A county dress revue for all women, who attended the various training schools held in the county this spring, will be held in the city club room the night of May 25. Those who took the course but are not members of home demonstration clubs are especially invited to take part to show their work also. This is an opportunity for the women to show the public the results of their training in the advanced dressmaking schools. Through the use of the information, given by Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, in the training schools, the women have been able to put style in the garments made in the home. These garments were made for themselves and different members of their families.

They and their children will model different types of garments which the women made. Among them will be cotton, rayon and blended fabric suits and better dresses, play garments and school clothing.

The women learned that garments with innerfacings have better style and hold their original shapes. They learned too that frequent pressing of the parts of the garment under construction, help materially in producing a garment with a professional look.

Another help the women received from the training classes was to have good equipment. Sharp scissors that clip out to the point, they found are indispensable in making the piped buttonhole and other places where exact cutting is necessary. An accurate tape measure, a seam gauge and sharp pointed brass dressmaker pins, are conducive to accurate sewing. A tracing wheel and carbon paper are still added equipment that make more accurate sewing possible.

The tailor's ham, an oval shaped pillow, which is stuffed with either new wool or finely chipped scraps of wool material, is most useful in pressing curved surfaces. This is another aid in producing a garment with style.

The women also learned to trim the material into beveled edges at lapels and at openings to get the material turned with sharper corners and lines.

Another point of interest in the advanced-dressmaking course was to alter the pattern to fit the individual before cutting the garment. This not only saves time and energy, but it helps to insure a better fit. The amount of alteration depends upon the individual. Some was slight such as lengthening, shortening, enlarging or increasing the size. The method used was to take measurements of a garment that already fits and checking those of the pattern against them. This enabled the women to change the pattern to conform in size to the individual measurements.

As the women observed these principles in their sewing, they produced the garments, which they will wear in the County Dress Revue on May 25th. The public is invited to come to see the result of the principles taught in the spring training classes.

To Our Ministers!

Each Sunday and oftentimes throughout the week, the minister of your church lifts his head in prayer and envisions the heaven of your faith. He is a patient man. He is an understanding man. He's there, your loyal friend, in sickness, sorrow. He officiates at weddings and visits the homes of his parishioners. Yet with all his biblical knowledge and his interest in his sermons, he is a man. A fine man. And he should be treated as a friend and companion, not merely as a cleric. Your minister and his church deserve all the support you can give them. Attend services regularly and be generous with your contributions.

Hollywood Star Says Diet Plays Big Role For Keeping Teeth Pretty, White

Actress Jan Sterling fakes dental care, seriously. She makes regular dental appointments. While dieting, or at any other time, she is sure to include, in her daily intake, foods good for teeth.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the third of seven articles in which a noted doctor and a Hollywood star have teamed up to show you the way to be sensibly slender in a new diet for spring, summer — and all year long. Dr. Norman Jolliffe is director of Bureau of Nutrition, New York City Health Department, and author of "Reduce and Stay Reduced," published in 1952 by Simon and Schuster. Jan Sterling, Paramount actress, is in the forthcoming film "Pony Express.")

By JAN STERLING (Written for NEA Service) As with any star, my teeth are part of my stock-in-trade. I value them highly, and, therefore, take excellent care of them as a matter of routine.

I'm positive that I'd do the same if I weren't a star. I have enough natural woman's vanity to want my teeth to be white and as perfect as my care at home and my dentist's care can make them.

Diet plays its part in all this. Even after one is an adult, calcium is required in regular amounts to keep the teeth healthy. I see to it that I get daily servings of milk or cheese or other calcium-rich foods. Vitamin C is a necessity for healthy gums on which healthy teeth are based — so I have half a grapefruit or a full 4 ounce glass of orange juice daily.

I brush my teeth following every meal, using a down-on-the-uppers and up-on-the-lowers motion plus a sweep over the grinding surfaces. I rinse thoroughly afterwards and use dental floss if necessary. I have two brushes which I rotate so that one is always thoroughly dry.

I see my dentist twice a year because I know it's so much less painful and costly to have tiny cavities filled immediately than great craters filled months later.

Meteorologists Disagree... 'Bitter' Hailstones Claimed To Have Killed San Antonian

SAN ANTONIO, April 25—UP—State officials sought Saturday to discover whether a three-year-old boy's death was caused by eating "bitter" hailstones the size of golf balls.

Meteorologists said it was impossible, but other San Antonians reported they became sick after biting into the "bitter" stones that peppered the city Thursday night. A newsman reported that "even sane, unimaginative people are talking seriously about radioactive hail forming from clouds that somehow drifted from Nevada."

(The Atomic Energy Commission has been conducting atomic explosion tests on the desert near Las Vegas, Nev.)

A San Antonio meteorologist, who refused to identify himself, said there was "nothing to this business of bitter hailstones." He said he didn't know of any hailstones that could pick up anything coming down through the atmosphere.

The dead child was Ramiro Cunaes. Contents of his stomach and some of the hailstones, preserved through refrigeration, were sent to Austin, Tex., for laboratory analysis by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Ramiro's mother said he ate two or three hailstones. He had convulsions a few minutes later while she was bathing him, she said, and died before he could be taken to a hospital.

Mrs. Janie Kelley, an assistant police dispatcher, said she bit into a hailstone, too. "It was bitter and drew up my mouth," she said. "I spat it out, but I became violently ill anyhow."

Police Sgt. W. E. Stover said his five-year-old son, Leon, ate several hailstones and vomited.

At the U. S. weather bureau in Dallas, a major Texas weather station, meteorologists said they'd never heard of anyone suffering harmful effects from eating hailstones or snow. Rain from which hailstones form is presumably pure, a forecaster at Dallas said.
