Tough Part Of Job . . . Vice-President Finds Social Functions Take Much Time

EDITOR'S NOTE: How does life with a young man in the nation's second highest office? In the following interview, Vice President Richard M. Nixon gives an insight into a personal experience of the first few months.

By WARREN DUFFEE
WASHINGTON, April 17—UP—The toughest part of being vice president, says Richard M. Nixon, "is not the work but the social obligations."

They steal his time, his energy, and often his sleep. But they have to be met because they are a major part of the nation's second highest office.

Nixon compares attendance at necessary social functions and affairs of state to a kid eating ice cream. "When you eat a gallon, it's too much," he says.

"Individually, each occasion is enjoyable, but collectively they're too much," the youthful vice president added.

Nixon at 40 is the second youngest vice president in history. He is working hard to "do a real job" of the vaguely defined office he took last November.

"It's taking far more time than I realized," he said. "I'm working harder and putting in longer hours than when I was a senator."

A decision by President Eisenhower not to accept many "outside" social engagements has put a heavier than normal load on Nixon and his brown-eyed wife Pat. The couple that understand if the President himself can't make it see no reason why the vice president can't. The Nixons attend many of the events at Mr. Eisenhower's personal request.

Nixon isn't grumbling over his "official greeter" for the new GOP regime.

"But I sometimes think one reason they want me for dinner is so they can get one of the military service bands to play free," he joked.

Military bands are available for private social functions only when the President or vice president or one of their wives is attending, Nixon explained.

Official Job Easiest

Nixon says the "easiest" part of his job is presiding over the Senate. It is one of the few duties specifically spelled out for the vice president by the Constitution. He says the task is made easier by his two years' experience in the chamber and by the expert help of Senate parliamentarians.

"I think it's an important part of the job, but any senator could do it," Nixon said.

"The most interesting" and "most stimulating" part of his job is his function as a "half member" of the executive family, the former California senator said.

He takes a deep interest in the important but super-secret work of the National Security Council. He is a member by law, Nixon is impressed by its importance. He spends hours each week on its problems.

Nixon won't talk much about his role as chief "trouble shooter" in relations between Congress and the executive branch. He feels he can get more done by keeping in the background. But in several touchy situations involving the administration and Congressmen recently he has emerged as the number one "go between." His importance in that role probably will increase.

As for his future plans, Nixon is not saying. "I want to do a good job in the job I have," he said. "There's a lot to be done."

JOHNSON * IN HOLLYWOOD *

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Guya and Dolls: Let box-office pollsters rate him among the first 10 and let critics talk about the emergence of a big-time emcee in "Above and Beyond"—Robert Taylor doesn't plan to stretch his hatband.

"A couple of bad pictures—and you can be at the bottom," Bob philosophized. "I'm the kid who knows. For about three years I was up at the top with films like 'Waterloo Bridge,' 'Johnny Eager' and 'Camille.'"

"What the heck, it's all the matter of the stories you get. My career sagged after the war. It was impossible for me to get a good picture."

All that chatter about Bob "coming of age" as an actor and his "new maturity" has him wondering how long his leg can stand hitting.

"As far as I'm concerned," he laughed on the set of "All the Brothers Were Valiant," "I'm doing what I've always done. I learn my lines and do my scenes. I've never had the artistic approach to acting. As for maturity, well—I guess the next step is wig, muff and cane in character parts. The blow's being softened for me."

"How to Be Another Marilyn Monroe" is a "how" book that doesn't interest newcomer Marcia Henderson, the beauty in U-Is "Back to God's County." Let other shapes struggle into light fitting gowns, but not Marcia. She wants to play it "on the actress level. I believe in depicting myself as an actress. I don't have time to be spectacular and flamboyant."

U-I signed Marcia on the dotted line after two stage hits—Wendy to Jean Arthur's "Peter Pan" on Broadway and in the road company of "The Moon Is Blue."

Acting Life Ends at 40

Ida Lupino, who has been reported ready to give up acting for all time to concentrate on being a producer-director, says the retirement rumors are premature.

She has a date picked out in 1955 for her retirement as a star and explains:

"I'm 35 now and I've always said that I wanted to be out of it by the time I'm 40. Acting isn't the obsession with me that it is with some actresses. I don't like what an actress has to do when she's past the age of 40."

Working with younger men so you'll look younger. Playing leads when the boat has sailed. Running your home life because nothing matters as much as looking good on the screen.

Ida, busting with pride over advance critical raves about her latest directorial effort, "The Hitch-Hiker," has a head drawn on the happy day when a big major studio will hire her to direct a picture.

Betty Grable doesn't chirp a note or do a single time step in her first CinemaScope picture, "How to Marry a Millionaire."

U-I signed Marcia on the dotted line after two stage hits—Wendy to Jean Arthur's "Peter Pan" on Broadway and in the road company of "The Moon Is Blue."

J. C. McCullough of Panhandle Lions Club has invited White Deer members to the Panhandle Lions Zone meeting to be held in Panhandle April 21. Members from Claude, droom, Panhandle and U-I.

White House Sidelights . . . Ike Picked Hogan To Cop Golf Meet

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 17—UP—Backstairs at the White House, President Eisenhower had to bet on Ben Hogan to win the Masters Invitation Golf tournament here. Size of the bet was a carefully-guarded secret.

The President, who knows the Augusta National course about as well as Bobby Jones, the man who designed it, has admired Hogan's brand of golf for a long time. He played with Hogan here Tuesday.

Mr. Eisenhower has restored the "omp and circumstance of the honor song reserved for a President. "Hail to the Chief." Ex-President Truman ankle about with freedom while the song was being played, but not the West Point-trained current President.

When Mr. Eisenhower hears the ruffles and flourishes preceding Hail to the Chief, he freezes to attention and stays that way until the music is over.

The President sings in a lusty, barbershop baritone. He uses to sing on a piano and sing old, familiar songs at the top of his voice.

When Mr. Eisenhower went to the spring dinner of the Grifiron Club in Washington last Saturday night, he stayed out later than any time since his inauguration. He got to the White House at 12:27 a. m.

Since his election in November, Mr. Eisenhower has stayed up later only once. That was last November before he went to Korea, and he ran down from New York to the Army-Navy Club in Washington for a reunion of his 1915 class at West Point. He stayed up that night until nearly 2 a. m.

The President and his wife, dotting grandparents with a capital D, would like their three grandchildren to stay with them indefinitely. They were at the White House for some weeks and came to Augusta with the first family.

Mother, the wife of Maj. John E. Eisenhower, however, is a level-headed and pretty young lady who says she now grows up with a greater sense of personal balance if they go back home to Highland Falls, N. Y.

There is another factor in the children being away from the executive mansion. The White House has the three grandchildren quarantined twice because grandchildren of a President came down with scarlet fever or diphtheria.

Well, Do They Read?
LELAND, Miss., April 17—Civic boosters said Friday no one has yet identified himself as being opposed to a sign erected here. The sign reads: "Five thousand nice people and a few old sore-heads invite industry to locate in Leland."

White Deer Lions Plan Benefit Show

WHITE DEER (Special)—All Star-Night is being planned by White Deer Lions Club with talent drawn from school and civic groups throughout the area.

The review, proceeds of which will be donated to the Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville, is scheduled for May 5. Included in the program will be music presented by the high school band and chorus and other groups invited from the area. Pampa Lions have been asked to bring a number of program specialists and a magician is to be obtained for the program.

Dalton Ford, Lions official, says there is an excellent chance a bathing beauty review can be held in connection with the show. One is to be available in the area at the time and arrangements are underway with an Oregon swimming suit firm which sponsors such a revue.

The club is beginning plans for a summer youth recreation program for White Deer children of elementary age. Skellytown Lions Club has indicated a desire to combine forces with the White Deer Club in securing a full-time director to take charge of instruction and practice in swimming, softball and other forms of summer training.

The club gave the go-ahead to a committee to meet with the Skellytown group for the five-week program.

Kenneth (Bud) Livingston, assistant-coach in White Deer High School, is being considered for the post.

J. C. McCullough of Panhandle Lions Club has invited White Deer members to the Panhandle Lions Zone meeting to be held in Panhandle April 21. Members from Claude, droom, Panhandle and U-I.

W. B. Harris, zone chairman from Groom, will preside at the meeting slated to be held in the new Panhandle High School Cafeteria.

Pampa Principals Attending Austin School Conference

Two Pampa grade school principals are in Austin today participating in the annual Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association spring conference.

Joining the more than 1,000 state schoolmen are Sam Bergert, principal of Horace Mann elementary school, and Harlan Yoder, principal of Woodrow Wilson.

The Pampa principals are expected to return Sunday.

University of Texas is co-sponsor of the conference which includes addresses by Dr. Alice Keliher, New York University; Dr. G. Max Wingo, University of Michigan and Dr. John J. Brooks, New Lincoln School director, New York City.

Theme of the meeting is "Implementing What We Know About Children Through In-Service Education."

CABINET

Secretary Roger Keyes and William P. Rogers, the deputy attorney general.

Hagerty said that the "first" reason for the meeting was to discuss plans for backing up the President's foreign policy proposals.

"Business As Usual"
He also pointed out that the President, who has been vacationing here since Monday, believes that when he or members of the Cabinet are out of town or otherwise occupied, "the regular order of government should continue."

It was a member of the White House staff who labeled the following campaign as an "offensive." He said the same term covered the elaborate government program to distribute the President's speech to every corner of the globe.

The President's words already were being sent via the Voice of America to Soviet, satellite, and free countries in 45 languages. Television films left the United States Thursday night by plane for use in Japan, Britain, the Netherlands, Italy, France, Germany, Mexico and some other Western hemisphere countries.

GSA Administrator Named
WASHINGTON, April 17 — UP — President Eisenhower Friday nominated Edmund F. Mansuro, Chicago industrialist, to be General Services administrator. He will succeed Jess Larson, who resigned with the switch of administrations. The GSA is sort of housekeeper for government agencies.

assistance and cooperation of the general public in traffic law enforcement."

A Pampan since July 1, 1944, Wynne has worked here with four other highway patrolmen — Billy Ballinger (four months), W. T. Barnes (six months), Bill White (two years) and his present colleague, E. J. Robertson, for the past 4½ years. Prior to 1944, he was a patrolman in Hereford.

His family consists of his wife, Lena Mae, and two sons, Travis, 14, and Kenneth Ray 6.

And his opinion of Pampa is high: "There is no better place to work."

Pampan Completes Course From ICS

A Pampan employed by the Kerr-McGee Oil Company has received a diploma from the International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pa., following completion of a course for petroleum refinery operator.

Robert W. Karr, 1110 N. Somerville, a relief operator with Kerr-McGee, took two years of spare time to complete the course, according to Dale Weeks, Berger, I.C.S. area representative.
A graduate of Pampa High School, Mr. Karr is a veteran of World War II, having served in the Pacific theater on Okinawa, and other islands. Married to the former Elizabeth Mullinax, a native of Pampa, he has two small sons.

are in Gray County. Two of the major projects are making a four-lane artery out of U.S. Highway 66 and the $1,300,000 bridge and approaches across Canadian River on State Highway 70 is definitely scheduled for the 1954-55 program. The total amount of work now going in Gray County is more than $2 million.

Formby, the first man from the North West Texas area ever to be appointed to the highway commission, was introduced by County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr.

Prior to the principal speaker, former County Judge Sherman White briefed the county's road history. He pointed out that many people from other parts of Texas marvel at the main highways running through the Panhandle. But, he said, "one reason is that we asked the Highway Commission that our farm-to-market, road money allotments be placed into the major highways. Now we have most of them complete and still have a few farm roads here and there but we have not scratched the surface yet on these secondary road systems."

Out-of-town delegations were introduced by W. B. Weathered, chairman of the chamber's highway and transportation committee.

Mayor Tom Kose made the general welcoming address by Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Following the meeting a bouquet of flowers was presented Mrs. Formby "out of sympathy for her position in having to be on the road all the time with her commissioner husband."

Approximately 200 Pampan and surrounding territory businessmen, county officials and state highway engineers were present at the meeting.

Clark Is Director For Cities Service
Glenn W. Clark, president of Cities Service Gas Company, has been named a director of the parent Cities Service Company, according to an announcement by W. Alton Jones, president of Cities Service.

Clark has been associated with the organization since 1930. He became president of the gas company in Oklahoma City in 1932 after previously serving as vice president and general counsel for the company.

He is a member of the American Gas Association, Independent Natural Gas Association of America and Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. He is a member also of the American, Missouri and Oklahoma bars.

More Prizes Expected For Pampa Rodeo

An increase in prizes offered in Pampa's annual Top of Texas Rodeo appears likely to come up for discussion when the rodeo event committee of the chamber of commerce holds a planning session Tuesday.

John Pitts, committee chairman, has called for a breakfast meeting of the group in the Schneider Hotel at 7:30 a.m. The group is to set up prizes and rules for various events in the annual show. Prizes have remained almost unchanged for the past eight years.

Members of the committee, in addition to Pitts, include Homer Haylor, Holley Gray, Guy Andis and Floyd Imel. Paul Crouch, rodeo committee chairman, will be present also.

Contracts have already been signed with Tex Ritter, billed as the world's most lovable cowboy, and Jack Williams and his RCA recording band. Williams and his band will play for each of the dances slated Aug. 5-8.

Conte Mayo of Petrolia will continue as stock producer and the Amarillo Air Force Band has been contracted to play during rodeo performances.

Contracts are pending with specialty acts including a rodeo clown.

Membership Drive Planned By C-C

Pampa's Chamber of Commerce will be escorted into town by drive here April 27.

The drive will be kicked off with a dinner meeting at noon in the Palm Room.

Plans of the drive have not been completed to date, according to Lynn Boyd, chamber president, but it is likely the project will be patterned after campaigns in past years. These have been contest-type programs.

At present there are approximately 600 members of the local chamber with annual dues varying from $10 to $300.

It is estimated that at least 75 per cent of the present membership has already renewed contracts for 1953 and the remaining 25 per cent will renew before the drive or be added in the campaign.

There are a number of new business concerns which have moved in the city the past year, according to Boyd. These will be invited to join the community organization during the drive.

Tax Boards Launch Work Next Tuesday

Actual work for the city and school boards of tax equalization will start next Tuesday night in the City Commission room when the two groups meet to go over real estate values in Pampa and the Pampa Independent School District.

The two groups met and organized yesterday, naming C. P. (Doc) Pursley, chairman of the city's board and Clarence Kennedy, chairman of the school's group.

The five-man board for the school system has one additional chore their colleagues on the three-man city board don't have — working over an oil property tax roll.

The school hopes to get its oil properties worked out and equalized in time to hold hearings by the last week in May. But, that depends on how quickly they can get their work on the oil rolls finished. Roy McMillen, school business manager, said.

Real estate hearings on property valuations are usually held first, followed in a few days by hearings on personal property — merchandise inventories, stock and fixtures etc.

U.S. 66 Open Friday McLean To Wheeler

McLEAN (Special) — The four-lane U. S. Highway 66 was opened to traffic from McLean to the Wheeler County line at 9 a.m. today, Senior Resident State Highway Department Engineer G. K. Reading announced this morning.

It will be the first section of the four-lane modern highway, now under construction, to be made a mainline-throughfare through Gray County.

Opening of the stretch now provides four-lane traffic from McLean to the Oklahoma border — the remainder of the highway through Wheeler County was built several years ago.

A three-mile stretch of the south lane still remains to be paved between Alameda and McLean. It is expected to be completed early in May, providing then a four-lane highway from Alameda to the Oklahoma border.

Currently, contractors are stockpiling base materials for an additional five miles of the four-lane highway west of Alameda and county commissioners of Gray and Donley Counties are working on obtaining rights-of-way through the two counties for an additional 17 miles taking the road up to the Carson County line.

Work on the north lane was completed several months ago and opened to traffic. But, as soon as the current stretch is completed and set, the north lane will be used only by west-bound traffic; the south lane solely by east-bound traffic.

Sunday School Week

Pampans this week (April 13 to 19) are joining other Christians across the nation in observing the ninth anniversary of National Sunday School Week.

This all-faiths drive was conceived with the idea of stimulating the attendance of every adult and child at Sunday School class the Sunday of April 19.

The observance is sponsored by the Layman's National Committee, a non-sectarian organization consisting of men and women from civic and business fields. In a letter to Harry A. Bullis, chairman of the event, President Eisenhower said that such institutions as Sunday Schools aid in passing to children "the abiding values today so challenged by the enemies of freedom."

Laying foundations of faith through the training in religion of our children is all-important if we as a nation are to survive in today's world of paganism and constant conflict. Our Sunday schools are more than mere religious training institutions — they are a combination of the ministry and lay workers, a happy team, united in selfless dedication to an ideal of an ever-closer relation between man and God.

For McCarthy

This newspaper along with most of the dailies over the nation received a letter this week dealing with Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Unlike most writings on the subject of "McCarthyism," this letter was written in his defense.

Signing the letter were Ward Bond, William F. Buckley Jr., Oliver Carlson, John Chamberlain, John B. Chappie, Frank Chodorov, Charles Coburn, Kenneth Colegrove, Frank Conniff, George Creel, Ralph de Toledano, Devin Garrity, Frank Hanighen, Karl Hess, Robert Hurleigh, Suzanne LaPlante, Victor Lasky, Fulton Lewis Jr., William Loeb, Eugene Lyons, Adolph Menjou, Max J. Merritt, Felix Morely, J. C. Phillips, Henry Regnery and Morris Ryskind.

The names of the signers may or may not strike a familiar chord. Of them we know that many are veteran Red-fighters and know what they are talking about. We must assume that those we don't know are also violent anti-Reds, or they wouldn't be defending McCarthy.

The theme of the letter is that Joe McCarthy hasn't gotten a fair shake from most newspapers, radios and television.

First, we must plead innocence to their charges and state that we cannot be numbered among the McCarthy baiters. We would much prefer to be known as Red-baiters.

The text of the letter follows:

To the Editor: Some of our colleagues, in newspapers, magazines, on the radio and TV, have enjoyed a virtually unchallenged forum of loose-talk on the subject of McCarthyism. We feel that they owe their readers, their listeners, and their consciences an accounting.

What do they, or, if the shoe fits, what do you mean by the charge that the aims of the Wisconsin Senator are fine but his methods wrong?

What methods have his critics used to remove traitors and subversives and security risks from Government? Did they assist in the struggle — and it was a struggle — to rid government of John Stewart Service, Edward Posnick, William T. Storie, Esther Brunauer and others too numerous to mention? McCarthy did. He fought and fought hard. Sometimes singlehandedly. And he got smeared, not only by the Communists — who could be expected to honor Lenin's injunction to "write in a language which sows among the masses hate, revulsion, scorn and the like, toward those who disagree with us" — but also by anti-anti-Communists and many genuine anti-Communists.

How adequate is the substantiation of the charge that McCarthy has attacked and injured innocent people? Are McCarthy's specific charges weighed before concluding, as with Owen Lattimore, that McCarthy is wrong?

Owen Lattimore's early denials of any attachment to the Communist line were given the widest coverage. His double-talking book attacking McCarthy was given the widest circulation, and the most extravagant and unneutral support.

Now McCarthy has answered his critics in a 50-cent book called "McCarthyism, the Fight for America." How many reviews has it had? The answer — hardly any — is a blight on a profession supposedly objective and courageous. Yet in this book, McCarthy forthrightly discusses every significant charge made against him, affirms his charges, clears the air, and records more documented facts on the issue of McCarthyism than his fact-shy critics even hint exist. It deserves a reading. It deserves wide public notice. Why listen to Lattimore and not McCarthy? The answer, for a Communist, is easy. McCarthy has become one of his most formidable enemies. If McCarthy wins his fight to rid government of security risks, the cause of Communism will suffer a severe setback.

Let every honest American read McCarthy's case before condemning him out of hand. Let us think twice before giving wider currency to the charges that "McCarthyism is more dangerous than Communism" — a statement that might one day serve as the epitaph of our civilization.

Answering The Belief That The State Must Educate When The Parents Neglect

Probably the reason compulsory education has become so universally accepted is that most people believe that the state must step in and "educate" the youth when the parents neglect the child's "education" or training.

This on first thought seems to be a humanitarian act. What is overlooked, however, is that when the state has this power, it becomes the final judge as to what education is and there is no stopping it. It becomes a paternalistic state of the worst type. There is nothing more dangerous than giving any agent of the state a monopoly on what education is.

A researcher preparing data for a brief in the Mrs. William Turner case, who is fighting for her right to educate her own children, made the following report:

"For anyone who is interested in the dignity of human life, in the progress and development of the individual, in a free society, the choice between parental and State control over the children is clear."

"Is there, then to be no State interference whatever in the relations between parent and child? Suppose that the parents aggress upon and mutilate the child. Are we to permit this? If not, where are we to draw the line? The line can be simply drawn. The state, being the institution monopolizing violence and its use, is qualified to defend people against the use of violence. It can adhere strictly to the function of defending everyone from the aggressive violence of everyone else. This will include children as well as adults, since children are potential adults and future freemen. Simple failure to 'educate,' or rather, instruct, is no grounds whatever for interference. The difference between these cases was succinctly put by Herbert Spencer:

"...no cause for such (state) intervention can be shown until the children's rights have been violated, and that their rights are not violated by a neglect of their education (actually, instruction). For what we call rights are merely arbitrary subdivisions of the general liberty to exercise the faculties; and that only can be called an infringement of rights which actually diminishes this liberty — cuts off a previously existing power to pursue the objects of desire. Now the parent who is careless of a child's education does not do this. The liberty to exercise the faculties is left intact. Omitting instruction in no way takes from a child's freedom to do whatsoever it wills in the best way it can; and this freedom is all that equity demands. Every aggression, be it remembered every infringement of rights, is necessarily active; while, every neglect, carelessness, omission, is as necessarily passive. Consequently, however wrong the non-performance of a parental duty may be... it does not amount to a breach of the law of equal freedom, and cannot therefore be taken cognizance of by the state."

It might be well for those who believe that the state should be the final judge as to what education is to file this argument away and read it again and again. It seems to me that it is unanswerable.

The American Way

NATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL WEEK

By George Peck

In 1750 Benjamin Franklin said: "I think with you, that nothing is of more importance for the public weal, than to form and train up youth in wisdom and virtue. Wise and good men are, in my opinion, the strength of a state far more so than riches or arms."

On November 3, 1952 Dwight D. Eisenhower, now President of the United States of America, quoted from an author whose identity is obscure:

"I sought, for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbors and her ample rivers—and it was not there... in her fertile fields and boundless forests—and it was not there... in her rich mines and her vast world commerce—and it was not there... in her Democratic Congress and her matchless Constitution—and it was not there."

"Not until I went into the churches of America and heard her pulpits flame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and power. America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

The words of these two great Americans fit together to form the greatest challenge of our times. To lead our young into the hearing of God's Most Holy Word and to re-awaken every American to the values that lie between the covers of the Book of Books are the worthy objectives of the Laymen's National Committee which sponsors National Sunday School Week each Spring and National Bible Week each Fall.

This Committee, with headquarters in the Vanderbilt Hotel, New York City, is a non-sectarian, non-profit organization which was organized for the purpose of bringing about a more sober realization of the important part religious faith played in the creation of the United States of America; and how vital it is that this nation remain steadfast in that religious faith.

Its membership is composed of adherents of America's three great faiths—the Catholic, Protestant and

National Whirligig... Reassignment Of Army Brass Urgent, Senate Group Reports

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — An appalling lack of liaison and cooperation between the top brass at the Pentagon and civilian defense officials is largely responsible for mismanagement of our fighting forces in Korea, including the ammunition shortages there.

A radical reorganization and reassignment of high-ranking officers in the combined command is necessary, in the opinion of Senate investigators.

Senator Byrd of Virginia, who sponsored the inquiry, has been especially provoked by the military's apparent concealment of defects from civilian superiors. It appears to committee members that the Joint Chiefs of Staff deliberately tried to cover up its own shortcomings.

Evidence from responsible witnesses indicates that the Bradley-Collins-Vandenberg-Fecheler group deliberately bypassed the department heads (Army, Navy, Air Force), withheld information from them and strangled them in a maze of red tape.

LOVETT CRITICIZED — Former Secretary Robert A. Lovett, for instance, testified that he had heard rumors of ammunition shortages as early as the fall of 1951. But it was not until six months later that he was able to verify these rumors and engage an outside, impartial expediter to try to step up production of scarce shells.

"It seems strange to me," said Sen. Byrd, in effect, "that to depend on rumors about such Secretary of Defense should have a basic and important problem."

Despite the presence of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Jewish — of men and women of all walks of life who have become gravely concerned about the ever-increasing indifference on the part of all too many Americans to God and to His Holy Book, the Bible.

The members of the Laymen's National Committee recognize that in or prevail over a nation whose citizens draw their strength, wisdom and guidance from the pages of the World's perennial best seller, the Holy Bible — that the daily reading of this great Book and regular church and Sunday School attendance on the part of its citizenry are the bulwarks that will save this land from the sad fate that has befallen so many other nations.

Its members also believe that peace can only come to this troubled world when nations, large and small, begin to follow the teachings of the Bible — and that America, as a world leader, has a rendezvous with destiny and an obligation to set an example for the community of nations to follow.

Ninth Annual National Sunday School Week is to be observed April 13-19. Were Benjamin Franklin alive today, he would agree that the Sunday Schools of the nation provide the education to "bring up youth in wisdom and virtue."

If your children are not going to Sunday School, why not start them on Sunday, April 19, and see to it that they attend regularly every Sunday thereafter? And better still, why not attend with them?

Sunday School attendance on the part of the vast majority of our youngsters will go far toward enabling this nation to avoid the pitfall of which President Eisenhower warns: "... If America ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

Personal Observations

Hank Believes Babe Zaharias Will Return To Sports Scene

By HENRY McEMORE

LOS ANGELES — Purely Personal Observations: I had my life to live ever since I had a hard time choosing between working in a bookstore or a delicatessen. Which would be better, browsing through a book or eating a chunk of Milano salami? Last week, for some reason, I'll never know, an anonymous donor sent me a pair of ballet practice slippers. I tried them on for fun and found that they make the most comfortable bedroom slippers I ever owned. Now if my someone will just send me a letter, I'll be set for a summer at the beach.

California markets, at least the ones I have patronized, have shown an alarming lack of knowledge concerning the difference between chicory and endive. They read EN-DIVE and swear up and down that they are one and the same thing. As a cosmopolitan from the red hills of Georgia, who was raised on mustard, turnip and dandelion greens, I know they're wrong.

I see where someone is trying to place part of the blame for the scandalous ammunition shortage in Korea on General MacArthur on the grounds that he figured the war would be over in six months. Could be, but I also suppose he imagined they would let him fight the war instead of placing handcuffs on him and his troops from the red hills of Georgia, who was raised on mustard, turnip and dandelion greens, I know they're wrong.

Our Presnoid is a tough man. A real tough man. He proved that by approving plans for a Little White House on the fairways of the Augusta National Golf Club, one of the five or six toughest courses in the country. That is a game thing for a 55-to-56 shooter to do. Were I President I'd have chosen to build on the first fairway of a Tom Thumb course, or on my private course where the Secret Service men could dig cups as big as rain barrels.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The program called the young lady a "child development expert."

At her talk's end, an anxious-faced mother rose and said, "You say that the adolescent child needs emotional privacy. Is that why my 15-year-old boy gets so angry when I ask questions about the break-up he's had with his steady girl?"

The lady expert nodded vigorously. "Yes," she said. "The ego strengths of the adolescent child are not secure. This affects his sex confidence. Any rejection..."

"I don't enjoy listening to any present a child to his parent as a human freak, so I walked out on the lecture."

When I've been hurt by someone important to me, I need emotional privacy. So do you. It is not an adolescent need. It is a universal human one.

It would have been nice if the lady expert had made this point—

If she'd said, "Madam, I do not welcome other people's anxious curiosity when my husband has hurt my feelings. I bet you don't, either. Your son resents yours for much the same reason."

She couldn't say it, because she is so fascinated by the age classification of human feelings that she has become more important than the feelings. If we listen to her too long, Johnny's distress at losing his girl will not remain us of simple distress of our own, but of his age. So his distress won't touch us. We'll treat it with impatience or amusement, and is alienated from us by the artificial barrier of age, we won't be able to say, "John, I know about this, dear. I've felt it. I also know what to do about it. Come and talk when you're ready."

Any child-guidance theory that suggests that Johnny's pain is different from our pain, no matter what his age, is an alienating force between Johnny and us.

When such theories ask us to classify his feelings by age, they are confusing us with their clinical staff members whose interest in feelings is like a physicist's interest in the interaction of chemicals.

Let's leave the age classifications

Catholic Women Have Luncheon

The Parish Council of Catholic Women met recently in the Parish Hall for a luncheon and business meeting.

The meeting was opened with a prayer for universal peace led by Rev. Father Myles Moynihan, C. M.

Mrs. Tommie Owen and Mrs. Clark Rickman from Pampa and Mrs. C. H. Bellamy, a guest from Dallas, were introduced to the group as new members.

Mrs. R. E. McKernan gave a report from the "Monthly Message" on "Our Lady of Good Council."

Mrs. V. J. Jamieson, president, gave a report of the District meeting of the Catholic Council of Catholic Women held in Happy, April 13. The theme of the meeting was "Religious Vocations."

Announcement was made of a tea for the ladies on May 5 at which time the Catholic mother of the year will be honored and the following new officers, Mrs. V. J. Jamieson, president; Mrs. C. L. In a fine new book, "Man's Search for Himself," psychoanalyst Rollo May has some mighty important things to say about modern man's disease of anxiety. Other members of his profession, too, make constant use of the word "alienation" to describe the morbid emotional states that develop from our failure to recognize ourselves in our children.

MRS. GEORGE R. NORRIS JR. evokes a design out of drops of color spreading on dampened paper. Mrs. Norris will participate in an exhibit to be held in the City Library Art-Room April 20 through 25. Mrs. Fred H. Sloan will also display some of her work.

Mrs. George R. Norris Jr. Will Have Work In Contemporary Exhibition

Mrs. George R. Norris Jr., 1105 N. Duncan, will participate in an exhibit to be held in the City Library Art Room April 20 through April 25. Mrs. Fred H. Sloan, who resides west of Pampa will also display some of her work in the contemporary showing.

Mrs. Norris started her art work with private lessons when she was a child. This consisted of copying studies of flowers, animals and sunsets. She said that this approach proved a great handicap later when she began studying seriously. She said it made it difficult to develop individuality.

She attended Oklahoma University where she majored in painting. She studied under Oscar E. J. Jacobson who is noted for training Indian youths to set down the fast vanishing tribal lore with their own innate taste. She was elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary fraternity for freshmen, and Delta Phi Delta, honorary national art fraternity. The honors she received while she was at the University include the Kerr Award and Letzelter medal.

Mrs. Norris exhibited some of her work at the annual University shows. She was represented in National Collegiate Art Show exhibited in Washington, D.C. Later while living in Washington she studied under Eugene Weisz at the Corcoran Gallery School of Art. Since coming to Pampa she has studied with Margaret LeFranc of Namba, N.M., who held a series of classes here several years ago. Miss LeFranc has exhibited in many galleries over the country and is now illustrating books about the Southwest.

Mrs. Norris works in all mediums but prefers water paints such as water color, tempera and casein. She says that these are easily assembled, carried and stored and meet with fewer disasters. She likes casein in particular because it offers glowing opaque colors that cannot be equalled.

She reports that she also likes to work with metals, especially tin which is fashioned into large brush holders, lamp shades, plant holders, ornaments, Christmas angels and earrings. She was recently commissioned to do some tin work for a new Pampa home that is southwestern in decor.

Her present interest is work with "avocates," a process learned from Mildred Boyd, a former Pampa non living in Dumas. This involves dropping pigment, water color or colored ink on dampened paper. The color spreads and settles into fantastic shapes.

This is the way the art gets its name because the artist "evokes" a painting from the theme suggested. This is highly imaginative work. Some of her avocates will be included in the exhibition to be held next week.

She is particularly interested in pen and media and new techniques because she says these offer a fresh and interesting challenge to one's ingenuity.

Mrs. Norris believes that a person interested in art or any of the crafts should pursue originality and the development of individuality.

One of her most recent works is a mobile for a local fisherman. A mobile is an art form consisting of metal shapes suspended from dowels by wire or thread. The entire art is based on balance and it is considered bad to have to take an article off the dowel to make it balance.

Her mobile is of fish made of blue steel primed with automobile primer then enameled. Other items on the mobile are sinkers, floats and fish hooks.

Mrs. Norris hopes to study metal craft with Robert Curtis in Albuquerque, N.M., this summer. Mr. Curtis is a refugee from Germany. During the war he was in a concentration camp for five years. When he was released from the camp, he weighed 32 pounds.

Mr. Curtis teaches classes in jewelry making and copper enameling.

After the discussion refreshments were served to Mrs. L. L. Cooper.

Three-Way Pork Shoulder Roast—Here's an interesting way to use a pork shoulder roast. Buy a larger-than-usual roast—one weighing about 6 pounds—and have it cut into steaks, a chunky roast and meat for chop suey. You'll find there's a real saving in buying meat this way, as a large roast usually sells for less per pound than the individual cuts.

One of the nearest tricks in meat buying and cooking is the three-way use of a pork shoulder roast. If you buy a larger than usual roast—one weighing about 6 pounds—you can have it cut up for three completely different meat dishes.

Buying a large cut of meat usually proves to be an economy, as it often sells for less per pound than the individual cuts. From a large pork shoulder roast you can get three or four pork steaks, a chunky pork roast (which will serve your family for two or more meals) and diced pork for chop suey.

Buy a 5 to 7 pound pork shoulder roast and ask your meat man to cut off three or four steaks. This makes meat No. 1.

Then ask him to cut a good sized chunk of the other end—about 1 1/2 pounds to cube for chop suey, pork and apple curry or sweet-sour pork. (Cutting off the steaks and the chop suey piece is a job you can do in your own kitchen, if you prefer, as the bone is in the center of the cut.) Ask your meat man to weigh the center cut pork roast and mark the weight on the package so you will know how long to cook it.

If you do not wish to prepare all three pork dishes successively, you can freeze two of the cuts in your home freezer or freezer compartment of your refrigerator for several weeks to use at a later date.

1. Pork Steak Dinner For juicy, tender pork steaks, braise them—do not fry or broil. Trim a little fat from the edge of the steaks and fry out in a large skillet or Dutch oven. Remove pieces and in the fat brown the floured steaks. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and perhaps a little onion or sage; also add a some chopped onion, if desired. Add 1/2 to 3/4 cup tomato juice or water, cover lightly and cook over low heat 45 minutes to 1 hour or until fork tender.

2. Pork Roast Dinner (It's important to know the weight of this roast so as to accurately figure cooking time.) Season the roast with salt and pepper and place on a rack in a shallow pan. Roast, uncovered, in a 325 degrees F. oven, 80 minutes to the pound. To make the gravy, pour off most of the fat, stir in several tablespoons flour, and add water, cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Season to taste with salt, pepper and sage.

3. Pork Chop Suey Cut the remaining piece of pork into cubes and make into a tasty chop suey.

Chop Suey 1 1/2 pounds diced pork 3 tablespoons fat 1 cup sliced mushrooms (optional) 1 cup sliced onions 1 1/2 cups sliced celery 1 teaspoon ginger 1 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 cups bouillon or water 1/2 tablespoon cornstarch 1/2 tablespoon soy sauce 1 can bean sprouts, drained Toasted almonds (optional) Cook pork and mushrooms in hot lard until lightly browned. Add onions, celery, seasonings and bouillon; cover and cook until tender, about 30 minutes. Thicken with cornstarch mixed to a paste with a little water. Add soy sauce and bean sprouts and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Season to taste and serve on hot rice or fried noodles; sprinkle with toasted almonds.

The drip pan in your kitchen range should be removed periodically for washing in hot soapy water. Between washings, keep it clean by wiping with a cloth wrung from soapwater.

Gassers Edge Oilers, 7-4

FREDRICKSBURG, April 17.—Special.—The Berger Gassers exhibited the Pampa Oilers in an exhibition game here Thursday night, winning the abbreviated contest, 7-4.

The game was called at the end of seven innings because of cold weather.

Max Molberg, Oiler pitching ace was honored by his home town fans of Fredricksburg in last night's game. The fans presented Molberg a traveling bag in a pre-game ceremony.

Molberg then took the mound and hurled the first three innings for the Oilers, giving up two of the seven Gasser runs.

Eddie Hughes and Sad Sam Williams finished up for the Oilers. Berger moved ahead 2-0 after one inning of play and then the Oilers tied the count at 2-2 in the top of the fourth on a run-scoring double by Ricardo Cacao. The Oilers had opened their scoring in the third when shortstop

Addington Brothers Spark SMU Golf Win

COLLEGE STATION, April 17.—UP.—The Addington brothers, Floyd and Don, shot par or better golf for Southern Methodist as the Mustangs widened their Southwest Conference leads with a 4 to 2 victory over Texas A&M Thursday.

SMU now has 16 1/2 points to 7 1/2 for its opponents in four matches. Runnerup Texas has a 12-3 point standing.

Floyd Addington was two under par as he whipped John Barrett of A&M, 4 and 2. Don Addington shot even par to beat Bobby Briggs and Barrett by the same margin once more.

The other SMU point was counted in Stewart Carroll's 2 and 1 victory over Malcolm Douglas of the Aggies.

Homer Callaway of A&M defeated Terry Morrow of SMU, 5 and 3, however, and the Callaway-Douglas doubles team beat Carroll and Morrow, 1 up.

SMU Opens Vital Series With UT Today

By UNITED PRESS
The Southern Methodist Mustangs defend their 5-0 Southwest Conference baseball record against challenger Texas Friday at Austin and then all the circuit's clubs return to loop action Saturday.

The Ponies so far hold a firm lead in the conference race. Texas and Baylor, who previously shared the top spot, defeated each other to drop behind the Mustangs.

Rice Institute, meanwhile, prepared for the Owls' meeting with Texas A&M at College Station Saturday, in one of three scheduled conference games, by whipping Lamar Tech of Beaumont 8 to 4 Thursday at Houston.

SMU and Texas repeat at Austin and Texas Christian travels to Waco against Baylor in other Saturday action.

Don Costa's triple with the bases loaded gave Rice 3 runs Thursday and then Costa scored on an infield out during a big fifth inning that assured the Owls the game with Lamar Tech's Cardinal. Rice scored six of its eight runs during the frame.

Rice got seven hits all told off Arnold Sherer and made all of them count. The only Owl runner left on bases was sent there on a walk. Bob Leggett allowed Lamar Tech seven hits.

In other Southwest area baseball, third baseman Don Green caused in on a four-base error in the bottom of the eighth at Tulsa to give the Tulsa Golden Hurricane its winning run in a 10 to 9 victory over University of Arkansas, a Southwest Conference school which plays baseball independently. Tulsa whipped the Razorbacks twice Thursday, 18 to 6 and 9 to 2.

Scores by innings:
Lamar 100 020 010—4 7 3
Rice 000 280 000—8 7 4
Sherer and Shaw, Parma (7); Leggett and Davis.

John Sanderson singled in a run. The Gassers took the lead again, 5-2, with a single run in the bottom of the fourth but the Oilers again tied the count with another run in the fifth. Saly Copeland singled in the tying run in the sixth.

Borger came back in the last half of the fifth to score what proved to be the winning runs with a pair of tallies. The Gassers added two more insurance runs in the sixth.

The Oilers' final tally came on a single by Cacao, who was making his debut in a Oiler uniform in Thursday night's game.

Jim Cain and Joe Borrego, the top two Gasser pitchers, divided mound chores for the winners.

The Oilers will return to Sweetwater today where they'll wind up their exhibition schedule. They meet the Sweetwater Indians Saturday and the San Angelo Colts of the Longhorn League Sunday, both carded for Sweetwater's Sportsman Park where the Oilers have been in spring training the past three weeks.

After Sunday's game with San Angelo, the Oilers will return to Pampa Monday.

An open house at Oiler Park has been set for Wednesday night at 8. All fans of Pampa are invited to attend the open house. There will be no admission charges and free coffee will be served.

Thursday night's line score:

Boren Takes Batboy Lead; Contest Closes At Midnight

David Boren surged into the lead in the race for Oiler Batboy through the 9:30 count this morning.

Boren, leading for the first time since the contest began, had totaled 341 votes at this morning's count. Albert King, yesterday's leader, dropped to second place with 253.

Following is the standings of the six boys through this morning's count.

Boren — 341
King — 253
John Bob Wilkinson — 115
Jerry Pope — 51
Gene Brown — 49
Donald Darling — 10

The contest closes at midnight tonight. The boy with the most votes will become the official Oiler batboy for the 1953 season. The runnerup will serve as the visiting team's batboy, while the third finalist that they may turn in all votes they collect before midnight tonight at Radio Station KPDM on the bottom floor of the Hughes Bldg.

All votes that are received in the Saturday morning mail deadline not later than midnight will be counted in the final official count. The winners will be announced in the Sunday edition of the Pampa Daily News.

Oiler Business Manager Jimmy Hamilton announced yesterday that the four boys who don't finish in either the No. 1 or 2 spot in the voting will be given odd jobs at the ball park if they want them.

The parents of the winning boy will receive a season pass to the Oiler home games this season.

Obtain Crack Shortstop... Dukes Serious Flag Contender

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series on West Texas-New Mexico League prospects for the 1953 season being written for newspapers of the member cities.)

By J. D. KAHLER
Albuquerque Journal Sports Editor
ALBUQUERQUE, April 17.—A deal with Denver which optioned 20-year-old rookie Shortstop Don Lauters to the Dukes has converted Albuquerque from the 'also ran' class to a very serious contender, Manager Tom Jordan said.

"We were woefully weak at short and this glaring weakness was felt all over the club," Jordan admitted. "With Lauters in the lineup, the hole is plugged, we've acquired extra power at the plate and our infield is tight. He'll make this ball club."

Lauters, originally optioned by Oakland to Denver after being discharged following Korean service, is expected to team up with veteran Jim Hayes at second to give the Dukes a sparkling double-play combination. With veteran Herb Simpson again on first and Longhorn League 'Rookie of the Year' Bob Lemmel at third, Jordan has a potent defense. No later is lost in two of the three outfield posts either with veteran Pedro Santiago in center and returning Gil Dale Perry in left.

Right field is a complete blank at present with big, Negro rookie Bill Guice holding down that area. But Guice lacks experience with a field to blend with his longball bat and will be optioned to Class D. However, when Hayes relinquishes his winter job and reports, rookie shortstop Larry Segovia—now out of a job through Lauters' assignment—will undoubtedly shift to right. The little Coast rookie knows this position well, having gained the attention of PCL scouts in playing Legion ball at the outfield. Segovia's blinding speed and plate power can't and won't be overlooked by Jordan.

Pitching for the Dukes will be with Al Chiochi knocking in four runs.

Six of the clubs remain at the same stands Friday night—Port Worth at Oklahoma City, Dallas at Tulsa and Shreveport at San Antonio—but Houston moves to Beaumont.

Death Claims Tom Sharkey
SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—UP.—Sailor Tom Sharkey, one of the last of the great time heavy-weight prize fighters, died at San Francisco hospital Friday. He was 76 years old.

Sharkey, called the "uncrowned heavyweight champ" at the end of his career, died at 5:15 a. m. of a heart failure.

Sharkey, who had worked as a night watchman here for several years, had been ailing for some time.

Sharkey died after being admitted to the hospital for the 10th time for treatment of a heart condition. Dr. Minton Evans pronounced the old batter dead.

Sharkey had never won the heavyweight title during his long career but he had fought nearly every champ during the glittering era of boxing in the late 1800's.

Cards Blank-Cubs... Pierce's 1-Hitter Wins For W-Sox

NEW YORK, April 17.—UP.—Billy Pierce, the first player who came to the White Sox in a five year rebuilding program that started in 1948, celebrated the second one-hitter of his career Friday but he was no more joyful about it than his big boss, Frank Lane.

Pierce, the 28 year old "dean" of the youthful White Sox, is the oldest player in point of continuous service with them, and, if he continues to pitch as he did in his 1 to 6 triumph over the Browns Thursday, he might personally bring Lane's pennant time - table to fulfillment.

Pierce was fierce Thursday as he mowed down the Browns to duplicate the one-hitter he pitched against the Yankees in 1949. But he had to be, for lefty Harry Brecheen, the 38 year old Cardinal castoff, pitched a two-hitter in defeat and the only Chicago run was unearned.

Little Harvey Haddix of the St. Louis Cardinals turned in a pitching job only slightly less brilliant when he set down the Cubs, 3 to 0, in a night game with only three hits. He allowed only two walks and fanned five batters.

The Cards tagged Warren Hacker for three runs in the sixth inning on Solly Hemus' double, two outs, a walk, and Country Slaughter's homer. At Washington, long John Sain of the Yankees struck out eight men and scattered nine hits for a 6 to 3 victory over the Senators in which President Eisenhower threw out the first pitch. Ex-Yankee Bob Porterfield was rapped up for 11 hits before being relieved.

Elsewhere it was strictly a day for the hitters as Pittsburgh outblasted the Phillies 14 to 12 in the National and the Red Sox pounded out an 11 to 6 victory over the Athletics, and the Indians drubbed Detroit, 11 to 8 in the American.

Ryan Ties Modern Record
Connie Ryan made six straight hits, two of them doubles, to tie a modern record in the Phils' losing cause at Pittsburgh.

At Detroit Larry Doby drove home five runs with a homer, single, and long fly, and Jim Hegans contributed a double and two singles in a 15-hit Cleveland spree against three pitchers. Ray Boone also homered for Cleveland.

The Red Sox made 19 hits, 11 off last season's rookie of the year, Harry Byrd who beat them five times in 1952, in their victory at Philadelphia.

Thursday's star—Connie Ryan of the Phils, who tied a modern major league record in a losing game when he made six straight hits, two of them doubles, in a 14 to 12 defeat to Pittsburgh.

IF AS IT FEELS YOU'RE THINKIN' OF BEIN' A TV CENSOR AN' A BORDER GUARD BARRIN' BIRDS AN' ALL, I GOT A POEM HERE MIGHT HELP YOU WEIGH THE PROBLEM.

Give me your tired, your poor, Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, The wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost, to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door.

WELL... WHAT'S THAT ALL ABOUT?

AT 5 BY MIZ LATAKIS, BLESS HER HEART... AN' IT'S ABOUT OUR SHAMPOO... OUR HONOR... WHERE WE DON'T TAKE THE DOOR... THERE WE KEEPS A EXTRA FISH IN THE POT FOR STRAY COMPANY.

A DOOR CLOSERS ON TWO PRISBS... FASHIBSRE THAT.

COME! COME! NO NONSENSE VERSES ON OUR TV SHOW... CAN YOU DANCE, ACT, SING OR IMITATE A LOCOMOTIVE WHISTLE? IF SO BLOW.

Jackson Twins

I THOUGHT SO, BUT IT'S THE JUDGES WHO COUNT!

HERE COMES MIZ HOLZMEYER!

AS IS SO OFTEN THE CASE, THE CONTEST WAS VERY CLOSE... HOWEVER...

AFTER MUCH DELIBERATION, WE FINALLY DECIDED THAT THE BEST COMMERCIAL... THE ONE THAT WOULD ACTUALLY SELL THE PRODUCT... WAS THE ONE ON THE L.A. TV KING POWER MOWER?

SO LITTLE PAINT, THE WESTERN PONY GOES TO FREDRICK MYCLUSKEY!

Blondie

NOW, WHO COULD'VE DONE A THING LIKE THAT? IT'S RUINED!

WHICH CARELESS, THOUGHTLESS, HEEDLESS PERSON LEFT MY NEW SAW OUTSIDE IN THE RAIN OVERNIGHT?

IT WAS YOU!

ME?

WELL, I'LL EXCUSE YOU THIS TIME, BUT DON'T LET IT HAPPEN AGAIN!

Alley Oop

BE LARGE IN MIRTH, ANON WILL DENK A MEASURE, THE TABLE ROUND...

TO ALL OUR FRIENDS, MY HEART'S WELCOME!

THERE'S BLOOD UPON YOUR FACE!

IT'S HIS THROAT IS CUT; THAT I DID FOR HIM!

GET THESE TOMORROW, WE'LL HEAR OF US AGAIN.

...MY ROYAL LORD, THE FEAST... MAY'N PLEASE YOUR HIGHNESS, SIT!

Bo

GOSH—JUST AS I'M BEGINNING TO LIKE IT HERE, THE FOLKS ARE GOING HOME—

WELL—HOW CAN WE STAY EM?

JUST BECAUSE THE OTHER VACATIONIST PAID A LITTLE ATTENTION TO HIM, MRS. GREEN GETS SORE—

I DON'T THINK THE SACCHARINE SOAP PEOPLE ARE GOING TO LIKE US WALKING OUT LIKE THIS—

IF WE COULD ONLY THINK UP SOME WAY TO DELAY LEAVING...

I CAN'T THINK OF ANYTHING BY THE WAY, WHERE'S MY KITTY?

Buzz Sawyer

SHE'S A MERMAID! A DREAM! VENUS!

A BOAT! A BOAT! MY KINGDOM FOR A BOAT!

OR A BATHING SUIT!

HEY! I'VE GOT IT! I'LL RUN TO TOWN AND BUY A BATHING SUIT!

Chris Welkin

ALL RIGHT, LAUGHING BOY, GET OFF YOUR KNEES... YOU'RE SAFE!

HE MADE IT... HEY! SUFFERIN' SATELLITES! THE COMET'S CLOSER TO ME THAN I THOUGHT!

USING HIS PISTOL FOR PROPULSION THROUGH SPACE, CHRIS TRIES DESPERATELY TO MOVE OUT OF THE COMET'S PATH...

MIGHT... MAKE IT... IF... THE NUKLEUS MISSES ME...

Mutt & Jeff

YEH, I'D LIKE A JOB IN THE CIRCUS!

OK, ONE OF OUR GORILLAS DIED! PUT ON THIS GORILLA SUIT!

FINE! ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS SIT IN THE CAGE! NOBODY WILL KNOW THE DIFFERENCE!

HELP! LEMME OUT!

SHUT UP, YOU JERK! DO YOU WANNA GET US FIRED?

MUTT!

Bugs Bunny

THAT'S IT, FER TODAY, FOKKY!

NOW WHERE DID I PUT THAT KEY?

PONT TELL ME YOU LOST IT!

HERE IT IS!

HURRY UP AN' GET THESE THINGS OFF!

SAME TIME TOMORRE.

Priscilla's Pop

MORE BONNIES IN MY CHAIR!

THAT DOES IT!

I MEAN IT, PRISCILLA! THAT DOG WAS TO GO FIRST THING IN THE MORNING!

(WHY DO YOU ALWAYS SAY "FIRST" THE MORNING?)

THAT GIVES ME ALL NIGHT TO CHANGE MY MIND!

GEE, I'M GLAD WE MARRIED HIM!

THE QUICK LEARNERS

NOW THIS MACHINE IS CALLED A PLANKER—NOTICE HOW DIFFERENT FROM A LATHE!

IT'S IN THE LADIES YOU SEE HOW FAST THINGS ARE MOVIN' THESE DAYS—A FEW YEARS AGO THEY'D BE HOLDIN' THEIR SWIRTS AN' DUCKIN' DIRT, GEARS AN' DANGER, AND SEE NOTHIN'!

I'LL GET TH' FIRST THING TH' BULL NOTICED 'IS HOW QUICK THEY FIND THINGS TO LAY AROUND ON!

I THINK I'VE GOT SOMETHING MAJOR, AND I MEAN MORE THAN BAGGY KNEES!—LET ME TAKE THIS TIN ZOMBIE OUT FOR SOME FRESH AIR— AN IDEA JUST HIT ME AND I DON'T WANT IT TO BOUNCE AWAY!

EGAD, MR. SIMS! AREN'T WE BEING BIZARRE?—FRESH AIR?—UM! ARE YOU SURE YOU AREN'T COMING DOWN WITH FLU?

YOU CAN'T LOSE MUCH, MAJOR! YOUR IRON CHUM AINT VERY GOOD COMPANY—MAYBE MR. SIMS CAN TEACH HIM TO PLAY CHECKERS!

UM! THAT SOUNDS A TRIFLE UNCONVENTIONAL.

Steve Canyon

AS THE FAKE AIR RAID HITS INDIAN CAPE, THE PEOPLE DO EXACTLY WHAT THEY HAVE BEEN WARNED NOT TO DO...

IS IT A RAID, COLONEL CANYON?

IT LOOKS IT AND SOUNDS LIKE IT. PIPPER! NO NEWS FLASH ON THE CAR RADIO! STOP! I'LL PHONE THE FIELD!

RAIN, LEAVING THE INTERVIEW WITH SUMMER, IS AS SCARED AS EVERYBODY ELSE AT FIRST... THEN THE REDS HAVE COME!

BUT HOW DID THEY FIND INDIAN CAPE?

I'LL TELL YOU HOW! THAT OLSON WOMAN IN THE HOTEL COULD HAVE COME HERE TO DIRECT THE ATTACK... SHE WENT OUT WITH COL. CANYON—WHICH MAY BE WHY THE JETS AREN'T UP TO PROTECT US WHEN WE NEED THEM.

HE'S RIGHT!

Vic Flint

GOOP! THEN THE MAID HADN'T HAD A CHANCE TO CLEAN UP IN THERE.

THIS SIGN'S BEEN ON THE POOR EVER SINCE HE CHECKED IN YESTERDAY.

WHY DO YOU SUPPOSE HE CHECKED IN YESTERDAY?

PROBABLY WANTED LOTS OF TIME TO FAMILIARIZE HIMSELF WITH THE LAYOUT.

LIPSTICK ON THE BLONDE FROM THE DANCE FLOOR. FINE. PROBABLY CHANGED CLOTHES IN HERE.

TWO TO ONE FROM THE BLONDE.

LOOK AT THIS, WILL YOU?

Little Doc

WONDERFUL! SHE SINGS LIKE A BIRD!

A BIRD?

WOULDN'T IT BE NICE IF SHE COULD SING LIKE A GIRL?

Wash Tubbs

NOTHER BURST FROM A NEILSON'S GUN IS HIGH, AS EASY GIVES THE DYNAMITE STICK A MIGHTY HEAVE.

IT FELL SHORT! BUT TH' CONCLUSION MUSTA PUT HIM OUT FOR A LONG COUNT! OLSON AN' I GETTIN' OUTA HERE!

I'LL GO AFTER NIKVA!

Boots

IF YOU DROP AROUND TONIGHT, HANK, I'LL BE BABY SITTING AT...

SORRY, LITTLE ONE, I GOTTA DATE!

DATE?? OH! I KNOW?

DUNNO! HE ISN'T MY TYPE, BUT HE WANTS ME 'HELP' IN WASH CARB—AT TH' CORNER GARAGE—TWO NIGHTS A WEEK! SEVEN TO NINE!

TWO NIGHTS A WEEK!

WOULDN'T BOTHER ME, IF MR. WARRNER SIT INSIDE TH' CORB WHILE I WORK! TH' WINDOWS WOULD BE CLOSED, SO I COULDN'T HEAR A WORD YOU SAID!

Mickey Finn

IT'S FUNNY I DIDN'T THINK OF THAT JEALOUSY ANGLE MYSELF, SERGEANT! I'M SURE THAT'S WHAT IT WAS NOW!

WELL, OF COURSE, PAM MAY SIMPLY HAVE FORGOTTEN TO TELL MICKEY; TOM—SHE WAS BUSY RIGHT UP TO THE TIME WE ALL WENT HOME!

YEAH—SHE WAS AT THAT! GEE, WHO'D HAVE THOUGHT THAT THINGS WOULD GET ALL FOULED UP LIKE THIS?

WHEN DO YOU THINK MICKEY WILL BE COMING IN?

I DON'T KNOW! HE SAID HE WAS GOING OVER TO THE PARK—AND WALK AROUND FOR A WHILE! THE POOR GUY IS IN A DAZE!

NATURALLY! WELL, WHATEVER WAY IT ALL WORKS OUT—I SURE HOPE IT'LL BE THE BEST WAY FOR HIM!

G-GOSH, PAM! WHAT ARE YOU DOING SITTING OVER HERE?

Freckles

OUT! ALL OF YOU! YOU'VE WRECKED MY ESTABLISHMENT!

BUT WE WERE JUST DANCING TO THE NEW STOMP-BOLA!

IF YOU FEEL THAT WAY ABOUT IT, WE'LL FIND SOME OTHER STOMPING-BOX!

YEAH! THE CRUMPET HAT ISN'T RUGGED ENOUGH FOR MODERN DAY SHAGGING!

WELL, WELL! THE CRUMPET HUT CROWD! WELCOME!

PRINGS!! PLANG!! CLINK!! DING!!

Red Contamination Expected In Military's POW Retreads

By PHIL NEWSON
United Press Foreign Analyst
Joe Doaks, a reservist, wasn't very happy when for the second time in his life he was called to war.

It meant, at the very least, giving up his grocery store, his public business or the job in which he was trying to get a start. Often, it also meant leaving behind a young family. But he said, "what the hell," and went off to do his duty. Soon he found himself in Korea. With a very sort of humor, he called himself a "retread."

And it wasn't long after that that one of several bad things happened. May Be Coming Back
It might have happened during a fighting retreat back across the ice of Chosen Reservoir in the terrible cold of the North Korean winter of 1950. It might have happened during the sneak Chinese attack at Unsan up north of Pyongyang.

Or it might have been a night in the spring of 1951 when the Chinese struck just above Hoengsong in the center of the peninsula east of Seoul. Those were the days when we still didn't know exactly what kind of an enemy we were fighting. The Americans were streaming south in retreat that night, too, many in panic, few with any idea of a plan or where they were going. Chinese burp guns from both sides of the road cut them down like straws. Some of the men who disappeared then may be among the 120 American sick or wounded who will be exchanged for Communist sick and wounded at Panmunjon next week.

And because of what they've been through, the Army is worried about more than just their physical condition. For months, the United Nations command has had working on the problem a committee for the repatriation of prisoners of war. A staff member on it was Maj. William J. Fox, who now has returned to civilian life as United Press manager for Knoxville, Tenn. Recently, an officer still in Korea wrote to Fox, discussing the question of returned prisoners. The Army takes it for granted that at least some of the returned Americans will have become contaminated with Communism. It will be the result of unending hours of Communist indoctrination while in prison camp; of being cut off for many months from all ties with home; physical weakness, and, sometimes, fear.

Fortunately, the Army feels that the best cure will be home—as quickly as possible. But Bill Fox's Army friend raised a pointed question: "The people back home," he said, "must understand in general terms what these men have been subjected to and that it is essential that something be done for them when they get back."

And then he asked: "Do any of the local chambers of commerce, American Legion, VFW or other service clubs have plans or programs mapped out to help such a man re-establish himself in business, get a job or get a house for himself and his wife?"

Rites Today For Sister Of Pampan

Funeral services were to be held in Weatherford at 2 p.m. today for the sister of Mrs. O.C. Cox of Pampa.

The sister, Mrs. Ruth Floyd, 60, died in her home in Weatherford Wednesday night following a heart attack. Mrs. Cox, 426 N. Ballard, left here Thursday for Weatherford. Survivors in addition to Mrs. Cox include two other sisters and a brother. Burial will be in Weatherford.

Enrolls In Rice

WHITE DEER (Special)—Jerry Foote, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Foote, of White Deer, will be one of the 400 freshmen students who will enter Rice Institute for the 1953-54 terms. Foote, who will be graduated from White Deer High school this spring, was in Houston recently to file his application for entry.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Conceal Anxiety From Opponents

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
A good player seldom gets to a game contract in no-trump with one suit completely open. Since it does occasionally happen, however, you should be ready with a few tricks up your sleeve to conceal your distress from your opponent. Today's hand, played in a recent team match, illustrates the point.

The bidding was the same at both tables, and in both cases West opened the three of spades. The first declarer won the opening lead in dummy with the nine of spades and promptly tried the club finesse. West took his king of clubs and looked at the dummy with an appraising eye. What could he do to stop declarer from taking nine tricks in a hurry?

After some thought, West led the king of hearts. East signaled enthusiastically with the seven of hearts, and West continued the suit. The defenders therefore took four heart tricks and one club to defeat the contract. At the other table South looked ahead before he played a single card from the dummy. He could see what was likely to happen if the club finesse failed, and cooked up a little stunt to steer West away from the shift to hearts. Declarer played the nine of clubs and was so beguiled by the idea that South now had the trick and then promptly won the trick with his own king. The idea was to make it look as though he held only the blank ace-king of spades. South then entered dummy with a diamond and tried the club finesse. West won with the king of clubs and was so beguiled by the idea that South now had the blank ace of spades that he never even considered leading a heart. West happily returned the deuce of spades and was astonished when South played a small card, allowing dummy's ten to hold the trick. South had no further trouble of course. He could take three clubs, four diamonds and three spades, making his contract with an overtrick.
