Peace Hopes Mount In Cease-Fire Talks

ROK Chief Hands UN Truce Demand

PANMUNJOM, Korea, June 9 —UP— United Nations and Communist staff officers started drafting a final cease-fire line Tuesday, with hope for an early armistice mounting steadily.

The staff officers met for two hours and are expected to meet again Wednesday after the regular session of the truce delegates.

In Seoul, peace-time capital of Korea, 500,000 weeping, chanting men, women and children surged through the streets protesting against what they called an Allied surrender to the Communists.

A fire hose was turned on one group — spearheaded by school girls — who tried to storm United States Eighth Army headquarters. Many were trampled in the rush to escape.

Ma J. Gen. Choi Duk Shin, chief South Korean truce delegate, demanded in a formal letter to Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, leader of the UN truce team, that the estimated one million Chinese Communist troops in Korea be sent back across the Yalu River as part of an armistice agreement.

South Korean troops jumped off the eastern front in a major bid to recapture, before the fixing of a cease-fire line, ground they lost to the Communists last week in Tokyo UN supreme headquarters started working out details of the process for signing an armistice. The armistice will be signed by Gen. Mark W. Clark, Allied supreme commander; Gen. Kim Il Sung, premier and commander in chief of North Korea; and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, Chinese commander.

Hope for Peace Soon It was hoped here that an armistice may be signed within a week or 10 days, with a cease-fire line fixed along the present battle line. After the line is drawn and the cease-fire is called, troops of both sides will move back 1 1/4 miles, establishing a buffer zone between them.

Drawing the new line was not expected to be difficult, if South Korean and Communist troops now fighting for outposts on the eastern front end the only major battle being fought in Korea.

The ROKs attempted to recoup and push the battle line farther north before the line of demarcation finally is marked and the fighting ends.

There was a tense moment when Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the Eighth Army commander who will order the cease fire in Korea, rode through the streets in a jeep plainly marked with the three stars of his rank.

Instead of shouting angrily at him, the crowd smiled and cheered, but occasionally there was a cry of "unification."

Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman-designate of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, avoided the crowds by flying by helicopter from Seoul airport to Eighth Army headquarters here.

Radford, on a tour of U. S. installations in the Far East, conferred later in the day with President Syngman Rhee, who bitterly has opposed the truce which he terms a "sell out."

Two ten local contestants have been named to compete in a national minor league baseball queen contest which offers a college scholarship or all-expense trip to Hollywood for the winner.

Miss Billie Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Clark, 400 N. Nelson, has been selected as a candidate by the First National Bank and Miss Shirley Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olsen, 907 Twiford, will be sponsored by Sunshine Dairy. Miss Clark will be a senior at Panhandle A&M, Goodwell, Okla., next fall and Miss Olsen is a 1953 graduate of Pampa Senior High.

Pampa's winner will be crowned at Oiler Park June 23. Girls will be presented in sports clothes or bathing suits at the park June 22 and in formal dresses the night of the coronation. A panel of five judges will select the queen.

Other local sponsors will be Richard Drug, Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, Elks and Knights of Pythias. Neal Miller was in charge of obtaining sponsors.

Later this morning — at 8:48 a.m. — Frank W. Nelson, 33, of 832 S. Reid, collided with 12 other vehicles stopped in a traffic jam on West Foster, west of South Somerville, police reported. They were operated by Arthur R. Meatheris, 20, of 702 N. Banks, and Robert Ferrantes, Chappagua, N. Y.

Nelson was cited for following another vehicle too closely, police continued. Only damage was an estimated $65 to Ferrantes' car.

According to Monday's order, the main issue continues to be — as it has always been — the "wait and see" attitude. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said it regretted the delay but was pleased the issue was to be settled calmly in court rather than through hysterical mob appeal by politicians.

The court appeared unanimous on at least one point — that to decree a revolution in the folkways of a nation is no light task. Negroes have contended that school segregation removes them from the main stream of American life and relegates them to second-class citizenship. State officials, on the other hand, have prophesied ceaseless turmoil if segregation is outlawed, with public school systems demoralized or even destroyed.

Some southern leaders were "encouraged" by the ruling but others adopted a "wait and see" attitude. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said it regretted the delay but was pleased the issue was to be settled calmly in court rather than through hysterical mob appeal by politicians.

Death Toll Mounting In Storm Areas

FLINT, Mich., June 9 —UP— The death toll mounted to 143 Tuesday as eastern Michigan and northwestern Ohio dug out from the shambles of one of the nation's deadliest tornado disasters in 50 years.

Michigan counted 124 dead and Ohio, 19, with more bodies being found hourly in both states. Hundreds were injured.

Hardest-hit by the series of twisters which buzzed without warning through the heavily-populated region at dusk Monday was the Beecher metropolitan district immediately north of Flint, where 109 bodies had been recovered.

Michigan Toll 124 In addition to the dead here, three persons were killed in nearby Columbusville and 12 more elsewhere in Michigan, bringing the state's death toll to 124. Nineteen persons lost their lives in Ohio, nine in Cleveland alone.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams declared martial law in the Flint area and called the National Guard to assist state and local officers. The Red Cross sent out an urgent appeal for blood donors.

Exceeds Texas Disasters The death toll already exceeded that of last month's twister at San Angelo and Waco, Tex., where 123 died, and was one of the worst in this country in 50 years. Only three other storms caused greater fatalities — a series of tornadoes in Alabama in 1932 which killed 268, one in March of last year which killed 232 in six southern states, and one in the Higgins, Tex.-Woodward, Okla., area in 1947 which killed 167.

Many of the deaths occurred and hundreds were injured as cars were thrown about like toys.

Only a light rain gave any advance indication of the tornado. It mowed a swath 10 miles long and 100 yards wide in a relentless arc curving around Flint. The city of Flint itself was not touched.

Carl Manley, representing those who asked for annexation and C. C. Simonton, representing opponents to the measure, appeared again before the commission for a definite answer one way or the other after the tie vote last week left the question unsettled.

But, this time all commissioners were present, Commissioner W. D. Varnon making an unexpected appearance this morning.

A technically, which was not contested last week by opponents of annexation, had been cleared up in the signing of an affidavit saying all petition signers were qualified voters.

Commissioner Gene Fathene again made the motion to bring the area into the city limits. This time Commissioner Frank D. Ial seconded the motion and it passed unanimously. City Atty. Bob Gordon was instructed to draw up the short ordinance so it could be passed on all three readings this morning.

'Island' Now Part Of City

The "island" in the northeast part of Pampa is now a part of the city. It was brought in this morning on unanimous approval of the City Commission in less than 15 minutes after it was reintroduced.

Canadian Dam Participants Advised To Name Directors

By HENRY S. GORDON Pampa News Staff Writer

LUBBOCK — A full board of directors to govern the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority district must be named before anything else can be accomplished, Atty. Bryce Hugenin, Dallas, told representatives of the 12 interested cities and towns here Monday afternoon.

Hugenin reviewed the special bill in the Caprock Hotel and explained the mechanics of the operations on the long haul facing the 23 communities before the proposed $85,000,000 dam near Sanford can be completed.

The 18 directors will govern the district, make its contracts for construction money, contracts with each participating city for a minimum water consumption per year, and other necessary items of business to be conducted by the district as a unit, Hugenin explained.

He asked each city commission to set about naming their directors, according to the bill passed by the Texas Legislature this year, as soon as possible so they may organize. Each director will be placed under $5,000 bond, an expense to be paid by the district. The next two steps — and they are several months in the future — will be the calling of two elections by the district's board of directors.

The first election will be to ask property tax paying voters if they want to go into the district. Cities voting against going into the district will be dropped immediately.

The second election will be a bond election to finance the project. Cities voting against the bond issue will also be dropped automatically from the district.

City attorneys or city representatives were each given a set of forms along with directions on using them when the various commissions meet.

City Manager B. H. Cruce told the commission Zoning Chairman Jimmy McCune asked for the joint meeting before any definite action is taken.

Mayor Tom Rose suggested the discussion between the two groups be held during a regular commission meeting rather than a special meeting. The commission agreed and set the meeting for next Tuesday.

The commission this morning also approved $19,684.77 in monthly operating bills and $92.86 in library bills.

Typhoon Kills 33 Persons TOKYO, June 9 —UP— A typhoon lashed Japan during the weekend and killed 33 persons, Japanese police reported Monday. The storm also injured 53, left 20 persons missing, damaged 200 houses and flooded 28,000 homes.

A. Huff who was named for a two-year term and Fred Thompson, named for a one-year term. Both were selected unanimously by the City Commission this morning. Huff is also chairman of Canadian River Water Users Association which will die as soon as the new authority holds its first legal meeting.

Ridgway Says Russia Shows No Sign Of Military Let-Up

PARIS, June 9 —UP— Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, in his final report as supreme Allied commander in Europe, said Tuesday he knew of no developments in Moscow lessening the military danger facing Western Europe now.

Ridgway, who becomes chief of staff of the U. S. Army, said any more relaxation of Western Defense efforts would be fatal since there is no proof the Russians are relaxing their war efforts.

He said the biggest hole in West Europe's defenses at present is airpower and warned that deficiency in supply and troop support plans are not far behind. As a result, he said, there are no grounds for believing real security has been achieved.

Ridgway's annual report will go to the British-French-American NATO standing group in Washington for approval. Throughout the long report he emphasized that any "loss of momentum" among the 14 North Atlantic members meant "the efforts of the past two years would all be wasted."

Russian forces have been systematically strengthened and "it must not be forgotten that Soviet efforts in the atomic field have also continued," he said. He added that Russian combat effectiveness is high and some of their equipment is better.

He held out some hope for Europeans by saying the armament race need not continue forever at its present pace. "If we maintain momentum," he said, "our objectives can be attained within the near future and within the economic capabilities of NATO."

"Our air power is still today the weakest link in our defense," he said. "For the next year at least, higher priority should be given to the air forces."

WASHINGTON, June 9 —UP— An obviously divided and troubled Supreme Court sought additional legal opinion Tuesday before trying to decide the momentous issue of school segregation.

After more than five months of study, the justices announced Monday they would not rule this term on Negro demands that segregation in secondary schools be outlawed.

Instead, they called for new arguments in the historic legal drama, particularly on five key points. Parties in the five test cases before the court were notified new hearings would begin next Oct. 12.

Some southern leaders were "encouraged" by the ruling but others adopted a "wait and see" attitude. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said it regretted the delay but was pleased the issue was to be settled calmly in court rather than through hysterical mob appeal by politicians.

The court appeared unanimous on at least one point — that to decree a revolution in the folkways of a nation is no light task. Negroes have contended that school segregation removes them from the main stream of American life and relegates them to second-class citizenship. State officials, on the other hand, have prophesied ceaseless turmoil if segregation is outlawed, with public school systems demoralized or even destroyed.

C-C Directors To Sponsor Local Queen Of Baseball

Chamber of Commerce directors voted to sponsor a local girl for queen of minor-league baseball at a noon meeting Monday when a number of routine matters and future plans were discussed.

The queen candidate, to be one of 10 local girls to be sponsored by local civic clubs and organizations, will tour minor league towns during the current baseball season and will compete for scholarship or all-expense trip to Hollywood. Neal Miller is in charge of the local project.

In other business at the meeting, the directors agreed to cooperate with a business-education day Oct. 12 when Pampa school teachers will visit local businesses and industry for educational and entertainment features.

Jimmy McCune, chairman of the B.E. Day planning committee, announced that city schools would be closed on that day.

S. H. Womack, Austin, instructor for the courtesy school in Pampa today through Thursday, gave a 10-minute preview of the course to be offered to the public in the Palm Room, City Hall.

Howard Buckingham presented Lynn Boyd, chamber president, with a book from the Governor of Arizona to be given to Governor Allan Shivers. The book was presented to Buckingham at the recent National Highway 60 Convention in Show Low, Ariz.

Frank Culbertson read a telegram from Price Daniel regarding the recent negative decision of the Civil Aeronautics Board to permit Pioneer Airline Service to Pampa and directors named Culbertson and other members of the aviation committee to plan a future campaign for airline service here.

County Court Handles 4 Cases

Four cases of swindling with a gravitated assault and a fifth of swindling with a worthless check, according to County Attorney Bill Waters.

John S. Griffith, 21, of McLean, was given two fines of $1 and costs in two separate cases of swindling with a worthless check, according to County Attorney Bill Waters.

James O. Neely, Cuero, was given a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of passing a "hot check" for $247.

D. Bender, Panhandle, was fined $25 and costs for passing a "hot check" of $41.20.

Lenroy Bowie, 22, of The Plains, was fined $25 and costs for the use of a knife on Herman Phillips. He was picked up Friday by city police.

Hobart Street Baptists Lead In Attendance

Hobart Street Baptist Mission of Pampa walked off with the banner for the most attendance points at a brotherhood meeting of the Palo Duro Baptist Association in Amarillo Monday night.

The group, about 400 pastors and laymen from Baptist churches of 10 area cities, heard Dr. Orville Yeager, member of the faculty of Wayland College, Plainview, discuss the cooperative program in the Southern Baptist Convention.

First Baptist Church, Pampa, is president of the association and directed the meeting. Buzzard stated more than 70 representatives from local Baptist churches attended the affair which included the address and a fried fish supper prepared by Walter Jetton, nationally-famed caterer of Fort Worth.

Hobart Street Mission was awarded the banner on the basis of greatest percentage of its brotherhood membership present, all officers and the pastor attending and completed reports.

Rev. W. F. Vandenberg is pastor of the mission and brotherhood officers include Claude Brock, Harold Stephens, O. C. Gist and Maurice Newton.

Other local churches represented were First Baptist, Central Baptist and Calvary Baptist.

Tax Collection Percentage Drops

City tax collections, from a percentage figure, fell behind last year's collection by 1.39 per cent, City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones reported this morning.

By close of business, May 30, the city collected 93.04 per cent of its levy. For 1952 the percentage was 94.34 per cent and for the year before was 94.28 per cent. All city taxes are now on the "past-due" list, Jones told the commission.

But, from a money standpoint the picture is different — collections were up, not down. Tax collections for this year, by May 30 were $318,435.35 as compared to last year's collections of $312,186.28. Collections for the previous year were $286,081.51.

Hot Weather Due To Continue

Wettering Pampans today were prepared for another willing day, following a repeat Monday afternoon of the year's record high temperature — 102 degrees.

Once before — late in May — the mercury struggled up to the same point.

Many a local resident today was convinced that June 9 would top them all, considering the warm air prevalent when most of them arose this morning. Low this morning was an all-time warm 76.

Today's weather forecast for West Texas was non-committal, though forboding. "Clear to partly cloudy with not much change in temperature," was the way United Press got itself off the hook.

Red Cross Home Service Group Meets

Five members of the home service branch of the local Red Cross chapter attended an orientation course on home service today in the Red Cross office.

The course, taught by Mrs. Ray Rodgers, is the first of three in a series. Next meeting to be at 2 p.m. June 17 will be a discussion of financial assistance.

Present for today's meeting were Mmes. Kirk Duncan, E. C. Jeffries, Sam B. Cook, W. B. Nellis, F. W. Shotwell, executive secretary, and Mrs. Rodgers.

Services are held daily at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. and will be concluded at the regular 6 p.m. service Sunday.

A vacation Bible school in connection with the revival is held daily at 9 a.m. through Friday. Approximately 125 students are enrolled in the school with A. C. Cox as director.

Busby has served as an evangelist throughout the United States for the past 35 years. At the conclusion of this meeting, he and Mrs. Busby are planning a trip to Washington, D. C. to visit their son, administrative secretary to Texas Senator Price Daniel.

Win TMA Contest

HOUSTON, June 9 — UP — Two cities in the Panhandle and two coastal cities were declared winners today of the Texas Manufacturers Association's 1953 Industrial Week competition.

Amarillo, winner in the 25,000 to 75,000 population class, also captured the state-wide grand award. The other winners were Houston, over 75,000; Texas City, 10,000-25,000; and Dumas, under 10,000.

The association, upon completion of the legal board of directors will turn over what funds it has to the district to cover upcoming expenses. But the association now has more bills to pay than it has money. So, the cities will have to make an additional contribution.

Each city present expressed a willingness to go along with the cost of the dam and aqueduct before calling the bond election. The bond, all probability will be revenue bonds rather than tax bonds. This type of bond has been talked of mostly during the short life of the Canadian-River-Water-Users Association.

Provisions of the bill—described by former Mayor C. A. Huff as short full of buckshot and politics—leave the way open for the district to seek government aid to build the dam through private financing.

Hugenin advised the group to seek questions about the dam, aqueduct and methods of operations to the State Board of Water Engineers under the general laws is now null and void since the special bill takes precedence over any other conflicting state water law, Hugenin added.

Besides Huff, those attending from Pampa were Commissioners Frank Dial, W. B. (A) Neely, City Atty. Bob Gordon and City Manager B. H. Cruce.

Six of the 12 cities named in the 1949 population schedule will name two directors; the other six, all under 10,000 population, will name only one director. Pampa, of course, will have two directors on the board. The other cities having two members will be Amarillo, Lubbock, Borger, Plainview and Lamesa. The cities with only one director on the board are: Littlefield, Levelland, Tahoka, Slaton, and Brownfield.

The five-man board of temporary directors named by the State Board of Water Engineers under the general laws is now null and void since the special bill takes precedence over any other conflicting state water law, Hugenin added.

Gary found the piano amid the ruins of a house being torn down by wreckers.

Rhee's Objective Is United Korea

By EARNST HOBERECHT

TOKYO, June 9—UP—Korea is the most important thing in the life of Syngman Rhee.

Nothing comes before it.

His goal is a free, united Korea. He is not worried about the rest of the world — or what it will think of him. The big question he asks himself in times of stress is this: What will the Korean history books say about me?

While many persons may disagree with Syngman Rhee, few know him and his life's work challenge his sincerity.

Tortured in Jail

Rhee was born March 26, 1875. By the time he was 19 he was in the thick of Korean politics. He campaigned against the old Korean monarchy, even though he claimed royal blood.

Slapped into jail, he stayed there seven years. He was tortured daily during the first half-year of imprisonment. He was handcuffed, his feet put in stocks and a 20-pound weight slung around his neck. His fingers were mashed and lighted sticks were jammed beneath his finger-nails.

When he became Korean president more than 50 years later, he still had the habit of blowing on his damaged finger tips.

Methodist missionaries visited him while he was in jail and he became a Christian.

He was released in 1904 and went to the United States to study at George Washington University, Harvard and Princeton, where he won a doctor of philosophy degree in theology.

That same year, 1910, Japan took over Korea and Rhee returned to Korea against foreign influence. He finally had to flee and went to Hawaii.

Named Him President

In 1919, a group of anti-Japanese Koreans met in Seoul and named Rhee president of what they called the Korean Provisional Government. During the years that followed, Rhee badgered countries around the world to recognize him as a chief of state. Although the United States refused, he lived most of the time in Washington.

He even carried his plea to the League of Nations in Geneva and it was there that he met and married Francesca Donner, an Austrian who contributed much to his career. She is with him in Seoul now.

Rhee and his wife returned to Korea soon after the end of World War II. In 1948, South Korea's assembly named Rhee president.

Rhee was very grateful when the United States rushed troops to Korea to meet the Communist attack. However, he always has insisted that the Communists would not have attacked if South Korea had been given sufficient arms and ammunition to defend herself.

Many Koreans believe the United States "invited" the Communist attack by repeated statements from high officials to the effect that Korea was outside the U. S. Far East military defense line and was "indefensible."

Husband Slayer's Conviction Upheld By Board Of Review

WASHINGTON, June 9—UP—A military board of review has upheld the conviction of Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, the general's daughter who was found guilty of stabbing her colonel husband to death, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The Army board, corresponding to an appeals court in civilian law, also affirmed her court martial sentence of life imprisonment at hard labor.

Mrs. Smith, 40-year-old daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger, famed World War II commander, was found guilty by a court martial in January of premeditated murder in the stabbing of Col. Aubrey D. Smith in the bedroom of their Tokyo apartment last October.

She is now being held in the Army's Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco under the custody of the surgeon general.

The case will almost certainly be appealed to the Military Court of Appeals—the court of last resort under military law. Her lawyers have pledged to appeal the verdict all the way to President Eisenhower if necessary.

The defense had appealed the court martial verdict largely on the grounds that Mrs. Smith should have been tried by a civil court. It also claimed that she was insane at the time she plunged a 10-inch hunting knife into her sleeping husband and also possibly under the influence of drugs.

The prosecution charged during the court martial that she had killed her husband because he felt she was hurting his professional career and wanted to send her back to the United States.

Stray Penguin Creates Series Of Disturbances

NEW YORK, June 9—UP—A wayward penguin cooled off in the penguin pool at the Bronx zoo Tuesday, unmindful of the distress it caused an expectant father who found it on his doorstep.

Joseph Marano, a beer salesman, found the visitor from the frigid zone squatting in front of his door when he returned to his home in the Bronx Sunday night. Penguins are a rare sight, especially on doorsteps in the Bronx.

"I figured it was a penguin because I'd seen them before on television," Marano said. He took it inside.

Mrs. Marano, who is expecting a visit from the stork, was not sympathetic. "Get that thing out of here," she commanded.

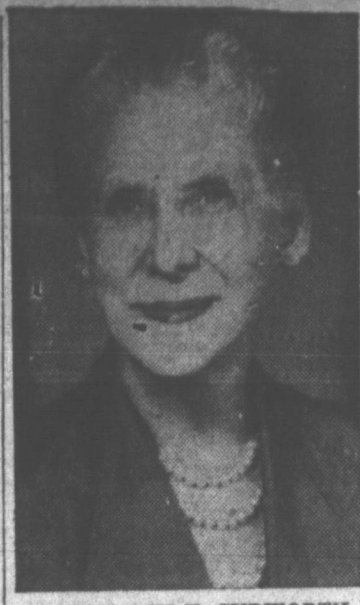

Marano persuaded her they should let the penguin spend the night although he, too, questioned whether its presence was a good influence considering his wife's condition. The penguin was consigned to the cellar.

The penguin was not happy, Marano said, and spent most of the night protesting in syllables only penguins can pronounce. First thing the next morning Marano took it to the zoo.

Experts at the zoo identified the bird as a Humboldt penguin, a type native to the southwest coast of South America. A quick census at the penguin pond showed none of the zoo's 19 penguins was missing.

"This is a real mystery," a zoo official said. "It must be somebody's pet but not many people keep penguins as pets."

Zoo officials said if no one claims the penguin it will be allowed to join the zoo's resident colony.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Friend

My husband passed away recently and of course many many friends called on me during my bereavement.

Now I am faced with returning all of those calls. What do I do, Mrs. Friend? Thank them for their interest or just ignore my husband's death and make a purely social call?

Mrs. R.

Dear Mrs. R.

Sympathy calls at the time of a death in a family are not usually returned. This is not generally understood. Many women complain that they have called on people at such times and that calls have never been returned. It is correct not to return such calls. It also isn't necessary to answer people who have sent sympathy cards.

As a matter of fact sympathy calls are more of a form than anything else as the caller does not expect to be received by the family but only wishes to convey his sympathy by way of the person who answers the door.

It seems to me that a note or flowers sent to the person is better than a personal call as naturally he or she does not wish to make an effort to visit with acquaintances at such a time.

FLLOWERS FOR SICK

Dear Grace Friend

If you know in advance that your friend is going to the hospital, do you send flowers there? Or do you wait until your friend is home again and then send flowers?

Dear K. L.

Do it either way. Some send flowers to the hospital, others to the home after the patient has returned there.

Sometimes, instead of flowers, send cologne or bath powder or, better yet, if your friend likes to read a new novel.

Summer Activities Are Underway In McLean

McLEAN, (Special)—Activities for the younger generation are in full swing. Three churches have completed their vacation church schools and a summer athletic activity is under way.

The Methodist and Baptist Churches have completed a one week vacation church school with final activities culminating Sunday. The Presbyterians have completed a two weeks school. Their final activities were Sunday night with the "younger set" taking over the regular Sunday evening services.

Coach Hap Rogers is running an athletic program for all of the youngsters who are old enough to take part in such activities and the McLean Future Home Makers conducting a story hour each afternoon for the tiny ones. This program is expected to continue through June and July.

The yearly softball competition is in the third week with six teams competing. This is the summer program sponsored by the Lions Club. In order to defray the expenses incurred they plan an invitational tourney for July for which admission is charged. The regular playing schedule is free to spectators.

As soon as children are old enough to talk and to bring playmates home they are ready to learn to introduce their friends. The child who is taught when and how to make introductions won't stumble over introductions when he is a grownup.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Don't Complain; Find Your Errors

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Terence Reese, one of England's great bridge players, played today's hand in an English Team Match. The opponents beat him by fine defense, whereupon Reese (like the great player and fine sportsman that he is) searched for his own mistake instead of complaining about bad luck.

As the play actually went, West opened the singleton heart, East played the queen, and Reese won with the ace. Reese decided that East probably held the ace of clubs. Without giving much thought to the hand, therefore, Reese ran off his five diamond tricks, discarding a low club from his hand, and then proceeded with three rounds of spades on the theory that the defenders would have to give him his ninth trick with a spade, a heart, or the king of clubs.

Margaret O'Brien Has Decided To Postpone Dating Until 18

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, June 9 —UP—Margaret O'Brien, now 16 and a budding beauty, upset the tradition of the other former child stars today — she's not even dating yet.

"I'm not going out on dates alone until I'm 18," Maggie said.

At that age, Shirley Temple, Deanna Durbin and Lis Taylor already had husbands.

Missy O'Brien, however, announced she's decided to bypass dates and also movies temporarily to learn acting in a stage and TV career.

"When I was in New York all the papers said I was dating, but I wasn't," she said in girlish despair. "It was just a group and mother was along."

Margaret now has long, brown curls fixed in an Alice in Wonderland-type hair-do, a sweet smile, a lovely face and junior size curves. But she still turns to her mother before answering any questions and says, "Mother, when did I get off, 'That's right, isn't it, mother?'"

Miss O'Brien's current problem, said mama, Mrs. Gladys O'Brien, is escaping that "child actress" label.

The young actress tried unsuccessfully when she took an "evil" girl's role in a play, "The Intruder," that never got to Broadway.

"At the tryout in St. Louis, mothers brought their children to see 'little Margaret O'Brien,' but in the play Margaret played a girl who plotted against her stepmother," explained Mrs. O'Brien.

Legitimate Excuse

WALTHAM, Mass., June 9 —UP—Mrs. Constance C. Leyland of Waltham, Mass., pleaded guilty to a speeding charge Monday but the judge agreed she had a legitimate excuse. She was arrested May 8 while rushing to a hospital to have a baby.

The extinct dodo, which was related to pigeons, was somewhat larger than a turkey. It lived on the island Mauritius in the Indian Ocean.

"People just didn't like it. After the show, I talked to one woman who said, 'Oh, what have they done to sweet Margaret O'Brien!'"

During her growing up stage, Maggie toured in plays and appeared in a movie in Japan.

She decided to resume acting as a grown-up in summer stock and a London version of "Peg O' My Heart" because, she said, "I love acting."

Her mother agreed.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERNEST JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screens: Something bigger than 3-D or wide screens is on the way — a revolt against Hollywood censorship.

First spearhead against the censorship lines is being made by Otis Preminger and P. Hugh Herbert in releasing "The Moon Is Blue" without a film-industry purity seal. Next will come a carefully planned attack by Producer Director Robert Aldrich. Aldrich has a hush-hush project he says will stay within the confines of good taste, but:

"I'm deliberately making a picture that doesn't conform to censorship. The trouble with the industry is that we try to satisfy everybody and end up by satisfying nobody. It's better to alignate 75 per cent of the movie audience so that you can be sure of 25 per cent.

Bruce Cabot didn't realize a penny from his auction of his household goods at a swank Beverly Hills going-gone gallery. The minute the money was in for the last ash tray, Treasury Department boys swooped down and attached it on a back-income-tax claim against the actor.

Judy Garland's movie comeback in "A Star Is Born" may be filmed in 3-D. She'll make a test in front of the two-headed cameras before the decision is made.

NO SCALPING
Lis Scott and Charles Heston deny the reports of a bitter, snarling vendetta during the making of Columbia's "Scalpel." They submit that they co-starred before in Hal Wallis' "Dark City."

Anne Baxter is determined to be able to spout German like Marlene Dietrich. She's hired a teacher in Munich so she can do the German version of the flicker, "Carnival."

Ed Wynn, asked why he didn't retire after a long and successful career, retorted: "I would rather die at 80 with the customers laughing than in bed surrounded by my relatives crying."

Director Jean Negulesco will stop off in Paris in June en route to Rome to pilot "Comes in the Puntin" for Fox. Purpose: To lair his wife, Dany Anderson, into a reconciliation.

Jane Russell showed up at a glittering Hollywood party with a Bible under her arm. While the other stars laughed it up, Jane set herself in the corner reading the scriptures in silence. Why she went to the party in the first place is a puzzler. . . There's a laugh-getting sign in the card room at the Hollywood Friars Club reading: "Members are cautioned not to play with members."

VIDEO RUMBLINGS
HOLLYWOOD ON TV: Dick Wesson starts a comedy series on NBC-TV in the fall. . . There are Hollywood movie plans behind June Valli's decision to leave "Your Hit Parade" at the end of the current season. First, she'll get her own TV show. . . Eddy Arnold, the warbler, will be Dinah Shore's summer replacement. . . Frank Lovejoy will play a newspaperman in "Night Beat," a pilot telefilm adapted from radio. A sponsor is interested and the show should hit the home screens this fall. . . There's big talk of Kukla, Fran and Ollie switching from live to film. . . Bonita Granville's husband, Jack Wrather, will reprise Lynn Bari's "Boss Lady" series. It was last summer's replacement for "Fireside Theater."

The revelation that the sale of popcorn, soft drinks, candy and ice cream in the nation's theaters is now running to almost 42 per cent of the total admission sales is an eye-opener. But when theater managers became candy butchers instead of showmen the movies took it on the chin.

Rosemary Colligan, the young beauty who has George Raft going around with mooncalf eyes, will join his nitery dancing act. High point of George's return to hooting will be a number, danced to "Just a Gigolo," in which he goes to a ringside table, asks a woman to dance, then accepts a tip from her husband when they return to the table.

Free Oil Market

A great many people have been led to believe that oil prices are manipulated and often fixed within the industry. This belief caused the American Petroleum Institute to commission Harold Fleming, who is well known for independent accurate reporting of current financial and economic developments, to find out at first hand how oil prices are determined.

Mr. Fleming's study, which is the result of many months of careful research and analysis, has now been published under the title "Oil Prices and Competition." It is a factual and objective report on the subject in all its ramifications. And it thoroughly disposes of the misconception that oil prices are manipulated or set up by anyone.

Oil prices are determined, except for periods of government control, by aggressive competition in a free market. They are responsive only to the demands of the consumers. There is no such thing as a formula for determining prices in the industry. Uniform practices are rare. Each seller approaches his problems somewhat differently than do his competitors. Over the years certain patterns have developed, but these can be disrupted overnight by vigorous competition or a change in consumer buying habits.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said not long ago, "Today there is vigorous competition between oil companies for the market." The consumer can see this with his own eyes as he reads the advertisements for different brands of oil products, and passes service stations which aggressively solicit his trade. And what is true at the retail level is true throughout the industry.

Chance To Save

A large amount of water is now available for hydroelectric development at Niagara Falls as a result of a change in an American-Canadian treaty. The needed development will cost close to $400,000,000. Congress must decide whether it shall be conducted by regulated, tax-paying, private enterprise — or on a socialized, tax-subsidized basis by government.

A spokesman for five major electric companies recently appeared before joint hearing of the Senate and House Public Works Committee and presented the case for private enterprise. Here is a summary of his principal points:

1. The Niagara project is not a multiple-purpose project, involving reclamation or flood control. It is solely a power project.
2. The five-company group is "ready, willing and able" to undertake the program. The scenic beauty of the Falls is to be preserved.
3. Construction by the five companies would not involve the use of any public funds. It would yield upwards of $23,000,000 a year in new taxes — in addition to the $170,000,000 in taxes the companies now pay to local, state and federal governments.
4. The investor-owned companies would make no money on the water itself. They would earn a return only on their investment in physical facilities.
5. Government power development of Niagara is "wholly unjustified."

Private enterprise can take on the biggest conceivable power-producing jobs — we don't need socialism in the field of power development any more than we need it in farming, manufacturing, retailing, newspaper publishing or anything else. A tax-saving bill to authorize the five utilities to go ahead at Niagara is now in Congress.

Shrinking Violets

For a couple of decades the fellows in Congress have been yelling loudly about the government's use of "propaganda" to perpetuate itself in power. They mean, of course, the practice of grinding out news releases and making endless speeches to put across the administration's viewpoint.

The danger is real. Any government has at its disposal vast machinery for keeping itself in a strong position before the public. And its control over important sources of information makes it extremely hard to get a balanced picture of administrative operations and motives.

But the lawmakers who serve as one check on the executive branch don't exactly shrink from publicizing their own activities.

A survey shows many send out "newsletters" to constituents or local newspapers from one to four times a month. The paper and envelopes for these come from their $800 stationery allowance (per member each year). The busy lawmakers also make 1000 radio recordings a week, for home use, at the capitol studio, not to mention 19 TV films each week. They spend about $14,000 a week on radio and TV (their own money).

If you could monitor some of these presentations, you'd probably hear quite a bit about how government people talk too much.

"Forces Affecting American Education"

I want to continue to comment on the new 1953 Yearbook issued by the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, a department of the National Education Association.

Would that every man who really believes in freedom and is really interested in education would read this book and find out what kind of treatment our children are receiving when they come in contact with teachers under the domination of the National Education Association and its Curriculum Development committee.

As I stated in my last article, the phrases in this book are so loose that they can have as many different meanings as there are readers.

Mr. Till, one of the book's authors, in the foreword closes his statement by saying:

"We all hope that the book will foster reflection on forces affecting education at the mid-century as America struggles to maintain and extend the American democratic way of life and as the schools struggle to hold to democracy's method of intelligence."

Now I wish someone would tell me what "democracy's method of intelligence" means. It does not make sense to me. Nor do I believe it makes sense to the author of the statement, because he would not dare to attempt to define what he means by such a statement in such a manner as Emerson specified — to admit of no further questions.

Here is another example of the loose terms used in this book from the Preface:

"Throughout this book we contend that educators should foster a democratic way of living marked by the free use of man's intelligence."

What in the world does democratic way of living mean? Does it mean that the majority has a right to force people to read certain books that the representatives of the majority believe important?

Here is another phrase that has no meaning: "We believe that our public schools are our chief and most effective means of making this democratic aspiration fully meaningful in the lives of succeeding generations."

In other words, they are trying to say that the majority can lift itself by its own boot straps or that in order to become educated you need not come in contact with a logical mind, but that the most illlogical person under the democratic way of life has as much to say about what is taught as the most logical. That is equivalent to saying that we can lift ourselves by our own boot straps.

What does this sentence mean? "Young people are entitled to such knowledge and experience as are appropriate to the nature of the problems under study."

Young people are entitled to be free, but they are not entitled to any knowledge that they do not get by working for it. And it is just as absurd to talk about young people being entitled to knowledge as it is to say they are entitled to food, shelter and clothing without an effort to get it or some one willing to voluntarily give it to them.

The book also says: "Young people are entitled to the opportunity to develop the habits of critical thought which democratic society requires."

That statement implies that the young people will get it by having textbooks selected by counting noses and having the teachers selected in the same way. That is just the way they will never get it. All they can believe under such training is that might makes right, and that there are no moral laws that govern human relations.

The book speaks of the rights of the "common man." What do they mean by the "common man"? No man is common. Every individual is different. Every individual is subject to respect and to the right to choose and the right to pursue happiness. And no man is good enough or wise enough or honest enough that it is safe to give him the right to initiate force to make the youth of the land follow his pattern of life.

The foreword of the book also talks about one of the members of the Yearbook Committee having poor health and for a time being "literally a casualty of the struggle for freedom of the mind" and was unable to continue as editor of the yearbook. If there is anyone who is not struggling for freedom of the mind, it is the man who believes that the majority has the final say as to what education is. Such a man invariably defines education as anything that gives him more power and prestige. Such men are absolutely opposed to individuals having the right to freedom of the mind. It seems that they mean by freedom of the mind that the youth of the land should not be taught any moral principles.

That is about what they mean by freedom of the mind. I drew this conclusion because they say: "However, they (the teachers) must not direct or compel any particular judgments."

Then we must not teach that it is wrong to murder and to steal and to covet and to violate any of the Commandments or that two plus two is four.

(To Be Continued)

Teacher — Willie, spell "blind pig." This — Certainly, teacher. B-I-N-D-P-I-G.
Teacher — But, Willie, you left both "I's" out, they (the teachers) must not direct or compel any particular judgments.
Teacher — Certainly, teacher. Did you ever see a blind pig with eyes?

National Whirligig... Ike Will Attend Bermuda Meet With Foreign Affairs Control

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower will now go to Bermuda with far greater influence because of the new political courage he has shown in wresting control over foreign affairs from both hostile and friendly critics and interveners on Capitol Hill. Most remarkable feature of the development is that he has done it without antagonizing them.

Since the clashes covered the whole area of international differences, observers find it difficult to single out any success for special note.

But the most important and least understood, perhaps, was his sidetracking of the resolution to oppose China's admission forever. Even proponents of the resolution, Sens. William F. Knowland of California and Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, concede that Chinese membership, in the President's opinion, might be possible and desirable in the far future.

That day would come when and if Peiping breaks with Russia.

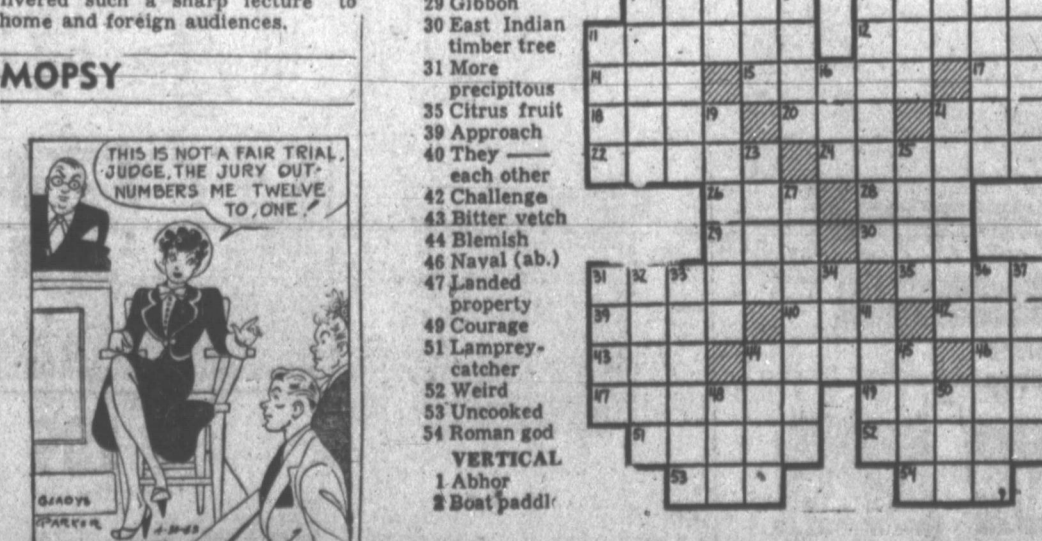

Eisenhower's quick dissent from Sen. Robert A. Taft's "go it alone" idea was in similar vein. Although the President misunderstood the Taft position because he had not read the Ohioan's speech, the adverse reaction in Europe and the Far East forced the White House to repudiate even its own misinterpretation.

CHINA'S ADMISSION POSSIBLE — In return for this congressional concession, Ike did NOT agree to oppose China's admission forever.

COMMERCE WITH RUSSIA — Washington again quieted Anglo-French fears and averted pre-Bermuda misunderstanding on the controversy over our European Allies' trade with Russia. Eisenhower authorized Harold E. Stassen, Mutual Security director, to explain that there was no objection to a certain amount of commerce with Russia in nonmilitary goods.

DULLES TALK FRANK — But the address which really startled the diplomats along Massachusetts Avenue and the politicians on Capitol Hill was — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' bold and frank analysis of the problems which he and Stassen bumped into on their tour of the Middle East and South Asia. Rarely has any presidential spokesman delivered such a sharp lecture to home and foreign audiences.

Hank Contends France Wants U.S. To Fight Reds For Them

BY HENRY McLEMORE

Fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong! That's a mighty old saying, and maybe it was true once upon a time, but no more.

At least fifty million Frenchmen would like the United States to take over Indo-China and fight the Reds for France.

There's a color scheme for you. France not only wants our green money, but our red blood.

Just where does a country get that much gall? Is there a gall factory somewhere along the Seine, or on the Rue St. Honoré, or perched high on Montmartre? There must be. And it must be working three shifts a day, not excluding Sunday.

Else how could a nation, in all good sense, ask another to fight its battle?

The United States already is pouring money by the trefail into France's fight against the Reds in Indo-China. The chances are this country is paying a full third of the financial cost of the fight.

That France is fighting a vital battle in Indo-China no man in his right mind would deny, but no American in his right mind would ask our fighting men to assume the burden of chasing the Communies out of those far-away and steaming jungles. Not when we have Korea on our hands, and France has yet to draft men for the battle for its colonial possessions.

There must be a limit to all things. And France's hope must be the limit, if there ever was one.

If there is one thing I don't know anything about it is atomic power, so I don't blame you if you wonder why I choose to discuss it.

All right, this is why I saw a picture of the atomic cannon that was fired a few days ago near Las Vegas, and the picture of it convinced me that no matter how effective it proves to be about as practical as a third world war.

How is that cannon, and any other like it, going to be hauled around and placed in firing position? Imagine getting that monster out of the mud, or pulling it from a snowdrift!

General weather makes it tough.

The Nation's Press

THE TAX BOGEYMAN (The Wall-Street Journal)

During the Hoover Administration the House of Representatives — it was under Democratic control at the time — seemed all set to pass a Federal sales tax. One day the late Fiorello La Guardia rose to his feet and delivered a characteristically impassioned speech warning devotees of the sales tax that terrible political punishment awaited them.

After Franklin Roosevelt was elected, but before he took office, a congressional delegation called on him and inquired about his position on the sales tax. Mr. Roosevelt let it be known that he was "shocked" at the suggestion.

There were suggestions that the shock of Mr. Roosevelt was not so much over the idea of the sales tax as it was over the fact that he believed the sales tax idea was the pet project of Ogden Mills, then preparing to retire as Secretary of the Treasury. What Mr. Roosevelt thought of Mr. Mills, and vice versa, could not be printed in the pages of this newspaper.

At any rate, it came to be accepted as a political rule that to support a sales tax was a sure way to commit suicide politically, and so for twenty years, while the Federal Government was raising existing taxes and thinking of new taxes, the sales tax was a taboo.

The idea seems to be that the taxpayer will know he is paying a sales tax, but that he will be blissfully unaware that he is paying taxes if you call the levy something else. Tax his cigarettes, his wife's cosmetics, his railroad ticket, his telephone bill or his automobile and somehow the poor wretch that pays won't know that he is paying. But if you tax other things and call the tax a "sales" tax, the citizenry will fly into a rage.

Well, it may be that way. After all it is the business of politicians to run for office, and it is altogether possible that they know more about how to run for office than people like editors who have never run for office.

But it does seem to us that a case can be made for the sales tax in some form, either at the manufacturer's level of the retail level, and that nobody has ever tried very hard to explain that case to the taxpayer. It might be found that he is more sophisticated tax-wise than the politicians suspect.

The truth is that there is no tax that the consumer does not pay. Talk about taxing the corporations is so much tosh. The consumer pays that tax when he buys the corporation's product. You don't need any careful study to learn that. The consumer pays for a very simple reason. There is no one else to pay.

The present Administration is studying the whole tax structure with the thought of rebuilding and reforming it. It is said to be considering the sales tax in that connection.

Molberg Stars In Oiler Victory

PLAINVIEW, June 8 — Righthander Max Molberg was called from the bullpen here Monday night in the last of the ninth with one run in, the bases loaded and no one out and retired the next three men in a row without a run scoring to give Pampa a 10-8 win over the Ponies before 1,258 fans.

Molberg's fine pitching saved the game for left hander Ed Hughes, who had relieved starter Ben Quintana in the fourth. Ed Lee Gatewood, who started for the Ponies was charged with the loss. He was relieved by rookie Stan Debusk in the fourth inning. The Oilers collected only eight hits off Gatewood and Debusk, but they made the most of eight Ponies errors to score their 10 markers. The fourth inning was the big one for the Oilers as they pushed across six runs on five hits. The big blow of the inning was shortstop John Sanderson's homer with two men on bases. The Oilers had scored single runs in the second and third innings, but trailed the Ponies, five to two, going into the fourth, thanks to a four-run Plainview rally in the fourth, sparked by John Warren's double that batted in two runs. The Ponies had scored a single marker in the second on a double by Don Stokes and single by Froaky Kennedy. After the big Oiler fourth inning, the Ponies knocked Quintana from the box with a two-run outburst in the last half of the frame. Hughes came in to end that rally, and blanked the Ponies until the ninth.

The Oilers return to Oiler Park tonight when they take on the Albuquerque Dukes in a doubleheader. First game starts at 7 p.m.

Pampa got what proved to be the winning run in the fifth on a walk to Barber, an error by Debusk, and a squeeze play bunt by Ed Lewis, all in the fifth. The final Pampa run came in the eighth on two Plainview errors and a single by Doug Lewis. Hughes, who had been mowing the Ponies down since relieving Quintana, suddenly lost control in the ninth, walking Jim Calahan and Manager Jack Sullivan. Don Stokes singled to center leading the bases, and Froaky Kennedy walked, with Calahan scoring. At this point Molberg, who had pitched a complete game here Sunday, came in to relieve Hughes. He got John Warren and Wally Hanna on call third strikes and forced Cecil Davis to pop out to short to end the threat and the game.

Indians Playing Their Best Ball

CLEVELAND, June 9 — UP — The Cleveland Indians are currently playing their best baseball of the season, but Manager Al Lopez said Tuesday he didn't care a bit if the fans didn't notice.

"Let the Yankees get all the headlines," Lopez said. "Maybe it will put more pressure on them. As for us, we'll just play our game as they come."

The Tribe, which opens a three-game series here Tuesday night against the Washington Senators has won its last five in a row. Better yet, the Indians came home from an ill-fated eastern swing to win 12 of the next 17 games.

"Unfortunately for Cleveland, of course, New York has more than equalled that pace. The world champions have an 11-game win streak.

Although the Yankees have left considerable light between the top and bottom of the first division, Lopez and his men have grimly held on. They are still 5½ games out of first.

"Everybody asks how we feel to win so many games but not gain on New York," Lopez said. "Well, I will tell you, it doesn't bother us a bit.

"Oh, it would be nice if New York didn't win so often," he said. "but our worry is right here, not where New York is playing. If you win enough ball games, you get a pennant. We're concentrating on the game at hand. Win enough and we're in."

Champion Is Big Favorite

HOUSTON, June 9 — UP — Nineteen-year-old Lesbia Lobo of San Antonio, the defending champion, was a four-stroke favorite Tuesday on basis of qualifying rounds to repeat at Texas Women's Public Links golf champion.

She shot a 75 over Memorial Park course Monday, four strokes better than runner-up Diane Garrett of Houston. The score of 85 or better was required for the championship flight and eight women golfers who turned in an 85 were forced into a shoot-off of two remaining berths.

They went to Joanne Bruni, a 13-year-old Laredo girl making her first appearance in the Publix, and Mrs. H. W. Tyson.

Publix finals were scheduled Saturday.

Class D Ball Will Try To Play With Only 7 Clubs

MIDLAND, Tex., June 9 — UP — There were no takers Tuesday for the defunct Lamesa - Winters-Ballinger franchise in the Longhorn League, so the Class D baseball circuit will try operating with only seven clubs.

Lamesa - Winters-Ballinger collapsed twice within a week, first at Lamesa; then at Winters-Ballinger.

The seven teams which now make up the Longhorn League include San Angelo, Odessa, Midland and Big Spring, Tex., and Carlsbad, Artesia and Roswell, N. M.

Dates originally scheduled for the defunct franchise will be left open. Member teams left idle will attempt to schedule games with semi-pro teams.

Hogan, Snead Are Oakmont Favorites

OAKMONT, Pa., June 9 — UP — What promised to be the toughest U. S. Open of them all began Tuesday with 299 golfers teeing off in the first of two qualifying rounds and bantam Ben Hogan and Slammin Sammy Snead as joint favorites at 4 to 1.

The two qualifying rounds of 18 holes Tuesday and Wednesday will narrow the field down to 149 who will join defending champion Boros in the tournament proper starting at the Oakmont country club on Thursday.

Boros, who has been off his game in recent weeks, was held no better than 15 to 1 to win the title for the second year in a row. The starting field was split in two sections, with one-playing Oakmont and the other the nearby Pittsburgh field club course Tuesday. Wednesday those who play Oakmont Tuesday will play on the field club course, with the other section switching to Oakmont.

Both are among the toughest courses in the country. "That's what makes this one of the toughest of them all," said Jackie Burke, a 12 to 1 shot in the star-studded field. "First you have to work all the way to make the tournament proper and then you face four more rounds. It eliminates any luck—any hot streak. You have to be a golfer all the way."

Kiwanis Softball League

By Raul (Rabbit) Ramirez
A capacity crowd watched the opening of Kiwanis' 10th year of softball league play at Kiwanis Park Monday night. Seven games were played.

Scores ran the gamut from 38 (Hobart St. Mission) to 2 (Harrah Methodist).

This is what happened:

CENTRAL BAPTIST - 11
Big First Baseman D. W. a. n. Green was the hero of this game when he knocked out a homer in the last inning to win the game for Nazarene.

Nazarene took a fast lead early in the game when they racked up four big runs in the second inning.

However, going into the third, a three-run homer by Eugene Beatty tied the game at 6-6 for Central Baptist.

Winning pitcher was Gary Green while the loser was Bobby Hoot. But Bobby had one distinction — he was the only man in the game to have a "perfect night" at the plate. Four times at bat and four times he walked.

Lubbock Holds League Lead

By UNITED PRESS
Lubbock held a two-game lead in a tight West Texas-New Mexico League race Tuesday that saw six of the eight teams playing at a 500 per cent or better clip.

Only four games separate Lubbock from sixth-place Albuquerque after Monday night's game in which Berger beat Albuquerque in a doubleheader, 8 to 4 and 19 to 10; Lubbock and Abilene split two, the Hubbers winning the first game 17 to 4 and Abilene taking the second 7 to 4; Clovis outslugged Amarillo 13 to 10; and Pampa beat Plainview 10 to 8.

Lubbock's Rene Vega pitched both seven-inning games against Abilene. He gave up only five hits in the first game, but Abilene got four runs in the first and three in the fourth innings of the nightcap to win.

Albuquerque plays at Pampa Tuesday. Clovis at Abilene. Berger at Plainview and Amarillo at Lubbock.

Dallas Eagles Push Sports For TL Lead

By DICK HARDWICK
United Press Sports Writer
Shreveport's Texas League lead — a fat five and one-half games four days ago — was down to three and one-half Tuesday and the runner-up Dallas Eagles were casting a covetous eye toward the top spot.

Dallas had another date with the Sports at Shreveport Tuesday night after beating the leaders Monday night 3 to 0 on Wayne McLeland's six-hit pitching. McLeland fanned five batters in registering his eighth victory of the year against a single loss.

Veteran catcher Phil Mast accounted for one Dallas run off Shreveport pitcher Hugh Sooter with a home run, and Wiley Moore and Jodie Beeler drove in the other two.

In other games, Danny Ozark's 11th inning home run gave the Fort Worth Cats a 9 to 6 win over Beaumont; Houston scored three times in the seventh inning to break a tie and beat Oklahoma City 4 to 1; and the bottom-rung San Antonio Missions handed Tulsa its fourth straight loss 4 to 2 at San Antonio.

In the 11th inning, three Fort Worth hits filled the bases. Ken Staples' fly scored Harry Scherting from third base with the tie-breaking run and Ozark holisted the ball over the left field fence off Beaumont pitcher Don Swartz for three more.

Carroll Beringer, the third Fort Worth pitcher, was the winner and Swartz the loser.

Houston's three-run cluster in the seventh broke up a fine pitching duel between the Buffs' Jack Carney and Bill Greason of Oklahoma City. Joe Reardon relieved Greason in the eighth.

San Antonio righthander Vachel Perkins gave Tulsa only five hits, all singles and two of the scratch variety. He struck out nine.

Perkins faced only 15 batters through the first five innings. A double play erased the only Tulsa base runner, who reached first on a walk. The loser was Cliff Ross.

Tuesday's schedule remains the same — Fort Worth at Beaumont, Dallas at Shreveport, Oklahoma City at Houston and Tulsa at San Antonio.

For Not Hitting Dresden Benches Roy Campanella

NEW YORK, June 9 — UP — Roy Campanella, the major league's leading run producer, was benched Tuesday for not hitting.

Dodger Manager Charles Dresser admitted it was a drastic experiment and that it probably wouldn't go beyond Tuesday after Monday's game with Cincinnati. But he hopes that the rest may have the same tonic effect on Campy that a similar benching did for Gil Hodges, who came out of his slump after a brief rest and has been terrorizing the pitchers ever since.

"I've got a little theory about some of the older guys who have to bounce back and play after we have a tough night game," Dresden said. "And I think if Campanella sits one out now and then he will be of more help to us."

An Understatement
That business about the "tough night game" was an understatement. The Dodgers ran headlong into a streaking Cincinnati batting order and suffered an 8 to 5 defeat as the Ohioans prolonged their winning streak to five games and pounded out 10 hits including homers by Gus Bell and Ted Kluszewski. Bell drove in four runs off loser Rube Meyer, who suffered his third defeat. Relief pitcher Frank Smith held the Pirates to four hits for 2-3 innings to gain his fifth victory without a defeat.

Campanella, who has batted in 18 runs and still is seven runs ahead of major-league runner-up Ed Mathews of Milwaukee, will be replaced by Rube Walker. Campy doesn't need to worry about Mathews catching him in the RBI department, but the lefty slugger for the Braves did the him Monday for the home run leadership when he clouted No. 17 and Kluszewski's blast was his 16th making the race in that department red hot.

Mathews was the big show for

Cards End Losses

The Cards ended a five-game losing streak at Pittsburgh but it took them 12 innings to do it. They defeated the Pirates 5 to 3 when Steve Bilko and Rip Repulski drove in runs with a double and single in the 12th. It was Pittsburgh's fifth straight defeat. Al Brazo won his third game in a relief role. Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst hit earlier homers for St. Louis.

NEW YORK, June 9 — UP — Roy Campanella, the major league's leading run producer, was benched Tuesday for not hitting.

Dodger Manager Charles Dresser admitted it was a drastic experiment and that it probably wouldn't go beyond Tuesday after Monday's game with Cincinnati. But he hopes that the rest may have the same tonic effect on Campy that a similar benching did for Gil Hodges, who came out of his slump after a brief rest and has been terrorizing the pitchers ever since.

"I've got a little theory about some of the older guys who have to bounce back and play after we have a tough night game," Dresden said. "And I think if Campanella sits one out now and then he will be of more help to us."

An Understatement
That business about the "tough night game" was an understatement. The Dodgers ran headlong into a streaking Cincinnati batting order and suffered an 8 to 5 defeat as the Ohioans prolonged their winning streak to five games and pounded out 10 hits including homers by Gus Bell and Ted Kluszewski. Bell drove in four runs off loser Rube Meyer, who suffered his third defeat. Relief pitcher Frank Smith held the Pirates to four hits for 2-3 innings to gain his fifth victory without a defeat.

Campanella, who has batted in 18 runs and still is seven runs ahead of major-league runner-up Ed Mathews of Milwaukee, will be replaced by Rube Walker. Campy doesn't need to worry about Mathews catching him in the RBI department, but the lefty slugger for the Braves did the him Monday for the home run leadership when he clouted No. 17 and Kluszewski's blast was his 16th making the race in that department red hot.

Mathews was the big show for

EDSON IN WASHINGTON

Benson's Problem Is Deciding On Policy To Curb Price Drop

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Sec. use $4.5 million to conduct elec...

The situation arises out of huge surpluses of wheat and cotton now in sight. This year's crops in these two basic commodities...

Such a course of action, or no action, would be supported by the theory that if prices go down, farm...

Boosts Surpluses In following this course, the farmer would simply be reasoning that with his profit per bushel cut...

As opposed to these no-action policies of letting supply and demand correct their own abuses in a free market, there is a very definite program of controls which Secretary Benson might invoke under present law.

This would call for an election on wheat and cotton farmers, and the one million cotton farmers would be entitled to a vote. If two-thirds of all the farmers...

Some experts believe that if this were allowed to happen, it would break the back of the entire farm-price-support system. In any event, it would give Congress a tremendous problem to decide next year.

Knotty Problem Present legislation calls for a support price of 90 per cent of parity on basic farm crops through 1955.

Secretary Benson doesn't have time to make up his mind on these matters. He must decide by July 1 whether to ask for an election of wheat farmers on imposing a quota on the 1954 crop. He will probably wait until after the June 15 estimate of the 1953 crop before deciding. The election must be completed before winter wheat planting is begun.

On cotton, the decision on whether to call for an election must be held in December. Two precautionary measures have already been taken in preparation for farmers elections.

Newsom Fears Korea To Open Up Another 'Pandora's Box'

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
Pandora opened a box entrusted to her by the Greek god Zeus, and thereby loosed upon the world all its troubles.
There is a suspicion that a truce in Korea also may open a "Pandora's box."

The suspicion arises because of our almost total ignorance of present Communist motives. All we know is that after the death of Josef Stalin, the Kremlin suddenly began to talk softly. The trouble is that we don't know why.
Nor do we know why they seem suddenly ready for a truce in Korea.

May Need A Calm
It could be that the Kremlin leaders need a period of comparative world calm in which to solidify their own new positions.
It could be that the Communist Chinese have seized this opportunity to show independence of their Russian partners and have declared for an end of the Korean war in order either to strengthen their own neglected internal position or to prepare for new adventures elsewhere.

It could be part of the global Communist "peace offensive" which could serve the dual purpose of bringing to an end a shooting war which no longer serves any Communist end and of being a "deed" proving Communist good intent.
It could be any one or any combination of the three.
As a "deed" it could be a new, formidable Communist weapon.
The United States has proved its international maturity in the Korean war. Public opinion has supported it as a dirty war that had to be fought. And public opinion has continued to support it even when it became obvious that we could have ended it months ago simply by returning 14,000 unwilling Chinese to Communist overlord who wanted them as ax-men.

Heavy Costs
At heavy cost in lives and money the U. S. has fought for its principles. But its principles have not always been popular even among friends.

The Indians have accused us of failure to face facts in refusing diplomatic recognition of Red China.
The Indians, British and others have looked with strong suspicion on our continuing recognition of Chiang Kai Shek.
The British have refused to go along with us on total embargo of trade with Red China.
A truce in Korea is certain to revive British and French demands for a four-power conference with Russia. It also is certain to revive demands for Red China's admission to the UN.
And in the Korean truce agreement is a trick clause. It was inserted by the Reds and provides that the political conference to follow the truce shall seek a "peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc."

The "etc." opens the way to every unsettled question in the Orient, including Red China's demands on Formosa and a Red peace treaty with Japan.

WHITE HOUSE GOSSIP Observers Say Part Of Ike's Mail Shown On TV Was HST's

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, June 9—UP—Backstairs at the White House: This from two eye-witnesses—Some of the mail displayed by President Eisenhower on his television program with four cabinet members was addressed to "President Harry S. Truman."

The cameras did not show the actual writing on the letters. The President pointed to a large hamper stacked high with letters and told his TV audiences that this was only part of a day's mail to the White House.
Before the program, however, at least two persons got a close look at the mail hamper. They both re-professionals who handled the television show by his concern over meticulous details. He rehearsed with his supporting cabinet cast twice an hour each time.

The r in behind the cameras and the monitor screens felt he was better in the second rehearsal than he was on the actual telecast, itself.
Before the program, the President asked Bill Woods, the CBS producer who handled the show for the network pool. "Do you think I should say 'Good evening, ladies and gentlemen' or 'Good evening, everybody'?"
Before Woods could answer, the President said, "Good evening, everybody" — I believe that's better.
Roger Steffan, the "office manager" at the White House, has been missing from the scene for several weeks. Investigation of his whereabouts produced this story: When he accepted his job from Mr. Eisenhower in January, the former vice president of the National City Bank of New York agreed to join the White House staff only on one condition. He said he had a long-standing agreement with his wife to take her to the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II and he wanted to keep his promise.

The President agreed and Stefan left for Europe several weeks ago. As far as a recent count of noses showed, he was the only member of the President's staff present for the big British ceremony, although Mr. Eisenhower was represented by an American delegation headed by former Secretary of State George C. Marshall.
The White House has stopped giving out copies of the President's recipes. The President is something of an amateur chef and has a number of favorite recipes for masculine treats like chili and barbecue sauce.
His recipe for chili was broadcast during the winter and the White House was flooded with requests for other recipes. The staff finally had to establish a policy and now Mr. Eisenhower's formula for barbecue sauce is top secret.

NEW YORK, June 9—UP—A well-dressed young man entered a liquor store here Monday night and ordered a bottle of wine from clerk Marvin Kern.
While Kern was wrapping the purchase the customer asked: "Do you keep a gun around here?"
"No," Kern replied.
"In that case, let me have all the dough you've got," the man said as he drew a pistol from his pocket.
Kern handed over $75.

Eisenhower Stages Dinner For Friends

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, June 9—UP—President Eisenhower gave a private stag dinner Monday night for 13 top-drawer national figures, including ex-President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur who were making their first White House visit since the Republicans moved in last January.

The White House described the dinner as "a purely social affair arranged two weeks ago." One of the guests supported this description, saying the President had a few friends "in to dinner" just like you would have friends to dinner.
The nature of the guest list, the timing of the affair — when a Korean truce seemed not far away — and the last-minute manner in which the White House disclosed the gathering set off speculation Mr. Eisenhower might be seeking counsel on some major policy decision. But the most careful checking failed to turn up any proof this was the case.
Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced shortly after 7 p.m. the President was having a private dinner party, starting about 7:30 o'clock.
The guests, in addition to Mr. Hoover and MacArthur, included Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York; Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. representative to the United Nations; Secretary of State John Foster Dulles; Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey; Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin; Edward L. Ryerson, Chicago, chairman of the board of Inland Steel Co.; Lesing J. Rosenwald, Philadelphia philanthropist; Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the President, and president of Pennsylvania State College; Henry D. Collier, San Francisco, board chairman of the Arabian American Oil Co.; Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post, and Lewis L. Strauss, White House adviser on atomic energy.
