City Approves New Head Of Public Works

James H. Cowan, 35, manager of city utilities at Spur, this morning was approved by the city commission as director of public works...

Cowan was one of two men who applied for the job, Cruce told the commission. He added that other registered engineers had made inquiries but wanted anywhere between $600 and $800 per month...

The new public works director will be on the job sometime between now and Aug. 1. He will first have to serve a two-weeks notice to his own city, Cruce said...

Cowan is a registered mechanical engineer and besides managing the utilities at Spur is also acting as city clerk and city tax assessor-collector.

Acting Director of Public Works Fred Brook would have been given the post, but he does not have his engineering license. It will be another 18 months before he will even be qualified to make application to take his state board examination.

A FINANCIAL BOOST of $500 to the city's summer recreation program was given by the Pampa Lions Club this morning...

Lions Donate To Rec Plan

The city's summer recreation program got another shot in arm today when the Pampa Lions Club presented Mayor Tom Rose with a check for $500 to help finance the $3,000 project.

In a short speech, Ed Myatt, representing the club, told Mayor Rose "I believe too in a summer recreation program for the children and so does the Lions Club."

Myatt was accompanied by Floyd Imel, president of the Citizens Bank on which the check was drawn.

The city ran into financial difficulties this year in running the program. Allotting only $1,500 for the program on the assumption that other organizations would kick in too, the city was set back two months ago when the civic clubs refused to go along again this year.

Since then, one check, from the 20th Century Club for $25 was the only help make up the other $1,500. Now only $975 has to be found some where to keep the recreation program in the three city school playgrounds going.

He later slashed his wrists and ankles in what officers described as an unsuccessful suicide attempt in Gonzales county jail and was hospitalized for two weeks.

A panel of 50 veniremen was summoned Monday with selection of 11 jurors and more talents were ordered to appear Tuesday.

East German Pledge Seen

BERLIN, June 23—UP—West Berliners led by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer mourned the death of a solemn oath on behalf of the whole German people not to rest until the Soviet Zone's 18 million people are freed and Germany is united again.

Seven of the coffins contained the bodies of Berliners who died in West Berlin hospitals. The eighth was empty, symbolic of Will Gotting.

Russian burp guns sounded again in East Berlin Monday night. In West Berlin, an angry mob sacked the fourth Communist party office since last Wednesday.

Crushed by Tanks From at least seven other East German cities came continuing reports of clashes between ragged East German workers and Russian tanks and troops. Twenty-five were reported killed in Leipzig alone where some of the demonstrators were crushed beneath the tank treads.

Throughout the entire setting zone, Russian reprisals were swift and harsh. Five persons were reported executed at Magdeburg.

The Communist press revealed prison sentences for four in East Berlin and a fifth—Will Gotting—was known to have been executed by a firing squad.

Rioting and bloodshed were reported from Magdeburg, Uerdingen, Leipzig, Thale and Schierke. Eight coffins rested side by side on the West Berlin city hall steps.

Manpower Scarcity Seen In Air Force

NEW YORK, June 23—UP—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief of staff, said Tuesday the Air Force is so short of personnel that "even if all present restrictions were lifted, we would still have a serious manpower problem for the future."

Vandenberg said measuring air power in number of planes while forgetting the people needed to keep them operating "is somewhat related to our buying millions of new automobiles while forgetting to provide highways and parking space."

"The human element in the Air Force appears now to be the most undervalued and the most misunderstood of all the elements that go to make up our strength," he said.

Vandenberg, a sharp opponent of the Defense Department cut in the Air Force budget, told the 28th annual convention of Kiwanis International that "start and stop planning" over the years "has wasted billions of the money which should have produced air power than anything else that has happened."

MURDER CHARGE FILED

Authorities Probe Fist-Fight Death

A formal charge of murder and $3,500 bond was set late this morning against a former Panamanian involved in the fist-fight death of a Cities Service engineer.

District Attorney Tom Braly near noon today announced the charge against Clyde A. Gumm, 44, Port Lavaca, who was involved Saturday night in a fist-fight with Irwin Orland (Cap) Wheelock, 46, shortly hospitalized, Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry set his bond at $3,500. Now in county jail, Gumm will await the next meeting of the district court's grand jury.

Wheelock died at 6:45 p.m. Monday in Amarillo's Northwest Texas Hospital, where he had been taken Sunday following advice of Highland General Hospital physicians.

Gumm was arrested early Sunday morning by city police at the home of Mrs. Martha Jennings, 220 N. Houston, for his complicity in the fight. He was in city jail till late this morning.

"As far as we know, though, it was just a routine fight till last night when Wheelock died," Police Chief Jim Conner said today, pointing out that he had checked Wheelock's condition earlier and found him in "not too bad" condition.

According to Conner, Gumm dictated a written statement on his activities Monday but did not sign it. Don Cain, local attorney, will represent Gumm in further proceedings, the chief said.

According to local police, there were three other witnesses to the fight—Mrs. Jennings, Beth Richards, 220 N. Houston, and Amos R. Evans, McLean. And they have helped police establish the facts in the fight which resulted in death to one of the participants.

Drouth Creates Biggest Rush On Wheat Loans Through PMA

Wheat loans made to 35 Gray County farmers in the Production and Marketing Administration of the United States created the "biggest rush in years," according to Miss Evelyn Mason, office manager.

The rush was accredited to a near-integrated-by-drouth condition throughout the area. Miss Mason said, and the early maturity of the abnormally low yield from this year's crop.

Loans made averaged only $200. Miss Mason pointed out, in comparison with an average of $2,000 made in previous years.

Rates paid now are to be adjusted after July 1 when the Commodity Credit Corporation sets the final rate.

Meantime, farmers in the area are seeking other relief from a four-year drouth disaster. The extent of disaster in the area and the need are to be determined at a public meeting in the court house at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Interest on the part of many area farmers in the relief drive has been indicated both in the PMA office and the office of County Agent Ralph Thomas.

The meeting has been scheduled as part of a campaign throughout the Panhandle being promoted by area farmers and officials in Washington.

Gulf Slates Deep Test

An Amarillo firm late this morning was establishing the location of a "surprise" wildcat oil well, situated on a 200-acre tract some three miles east of Pampa.

Morris Browning Blueprint Company was doing the surveying this morning—"It shouldn't take more than an hour"—for the Gulf Oil Corporation's No. 1 E. A. Shackleton, according to Gulf officials.

Probably a month will pass, though, before a contractor is picked and actual drilling gets underway on the well which has a proposed depth of 10,000 feet. Officials said it would be a couple of weeks before a contract is executed.

The wildcat is located 660 feet from the North line and 2600 feet from the East line of Sec. 67, Bldg. 3, I&GN Railroad Survey.

"Don't believe there are any successful wells so close to Pampa," was one comment heard today.

Phillips Petroleum Company has been reported doing some drilling nearby, authorities contended. The proposed oil well "call it a rank wildcat—is some 12 miles southwest of the greatest activity in the Quadrino field, opened up some time ago.

All activity on the No. 1 Shackleton will be handled through Gulf's Fort Worth office, area officials pointed out today. A telegram from that office confirmed the fact that drillers were expected to go at least 10,000 feet into the ground.

For some time there has been talk of the possibility of such a test that Gulf is in the process of handling. Following some extensive core drilling in the area, there were some seismicographic and other exploratory work in that general vicinity.

But "you never know," officials kept saying today, "if there's coming in till you get 'em."

Trains Collide

MERCED, Calif., June 23—UP—A southbound Santa Fe passenger train collided with a northbound freight early Tuesday and the sheriff's office reported at least two persons were killed.

The accident took place at Pleasanton, Calif., 10 miles east of Merced, about 5:10 a.m. est.

The sheriff's office said the freight train apparently was turning off into a siding when the engine of the passenger train rammed into it.

Eight to 10 cars of the freight train were derailed and smashed, the sheriff's office said.

Hopes Rhee Will Cease Opposition

SEOUL, Korea, Wednesday, June 24—UP—A personal envoy of President Eisenhower flew toward Korea Wednesday with an offer of American military support which, it was hoped, might soften the bitter opposition of Korean President Syngman Rhee to an armistice.

Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson is expected to arrive in Tokyo late Wednesday—unless his plane heads directly for Seoul—in an attempt to bring Rhee into line. Accompanying him is Army Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins.

A United Nations source said that Robertson has been authorized by the President to guarantee continued United Nations military support to South Korea during an armistice and in the event that the war is resumed.

Still Defiant

Still defiant, Rhee said Tuesday that his army will "fight alone" if an unacceptable truce is signed and warned his troops will fight any Indian soldiers brought here to guard anti-Communist war prisoners.

The 78-year-old president made it clear in two public statements and at a 15-minute meeting with Gen. Mark W. Clark that South Korea's "final" decision was to continue the fight against the Communists.

Rhee also gave Clark a three-point armistice plan that would remove Chinese Communist troops from North Korea, give Rhee a mutual security pact with the United States, and limit a post-war political conference in Korea to three months.

Decision Unchanged

He told Clark at the presidential palace in a remarkably friendly meeting that his decision to reject the current agreement between the United Nations and Communists is unchanged.

Clark flew back to Tokyo shortly afterward, giving Rhee a cordial back-slap before getting on the plane.

Rhee denied reports Clark had handed him an ultimatum during a 70-minute meeting Monday and the brief encounter Tuesday.

"It would be more correct to say I delivered the ultimatum," Rhee said.

Premonition Saves Man From Death

TEXAS CITY, June 23—UP—Jimmy Key, 38, who said he had a premonition of death, jumped out of a scaffold-like "basket" as it began a slow ascent toward the top of a 175-foot water tower he was to help paint.

Minutes later, a cable snapped and the "basket" hurtled to the ground from within inches of the tower top, killing the two workmen who had remained inside it.

Frank L. Gates, 51, of Biloxi, Miss., and J. C. Sanderson, 39, of Houston, both employees of the Taylor and Wheeler Painting Co. of Houston, died in the accident Monday.

Key, who lives at nearby Galveston, also was in the "basket" with Gates and Sanderson, but as it was hoisted slowly toward the top of the water tower he yelled to be let out and leaped about five feet from the ground.

"I had a dream last night and I've been scared all day," Bob Schmidt, an inspector of an equipment company on the job site at Monsanto Chemical Co., said excess weight and a gusty wind apparently snapped a cable used to life the basket.

Rape Defendant Assessed Sentence Of Twelve Years

A 12-year prison term faces John Victor Bordeaux Jr., 19-year-old Yakima, Wash., father of three for the rape of a 14-year-old Canadian High School girl.

Bordeaux was sentenced late last night by a 12-man jury whose only job was to assess his punishment. He had pleaded guilty earlier in the trial. The jury was out a few seconds less than one hour and a quarter.

The trial in 31st District Court before Judge Lewis M. Goodrich was regarded as one of the most lackluster hearings of any capital case ever to be tried in Gray County. Even District Atty. Tom Braly and court-appointed Defense Atty. Don Cain avoided the usual sensationalism of final argument in their speeches to the jury.

The girl was the first to take the stand and detailed the incident of April 19 when she was raped by Bordeaux 12 miles out of Canadian on the River Road. She told the jury between sobs how Bordeaux bluffed her by threats of using a gun he said he had but never displayed. She was going to church when Bordeaux drove up, asked her to ride then said "I have a gun" when she first refused. She told the jury, too, he told her while they were driving he had a gun in the glove compartment; that he had killed five people and another one wouldn't matter; he was connected with Mickey Cohen, the gangster in Houston; and that "people never see my gun until they get ready to get killed with it."

Relating how he forced her to undress, she broke down for a few minutes, but regained her composure rapidly and continued.

Bordeaux's car—stolen from Utah—refused to start up after the crime was committed and the two walked toward the house of John Isaacs. The girl, warned against making any outcry—went with him to the Isaacs home. Isaacs, who later took the stand, had to drive the couple back to Canadian, no Bordeaux could get a distributor cap. The girl got out at the street corner near her aunt's house where she expected to find her parents. She found them, told them of her experience and her father went for the sheriff.

The group then went to the scene of the crime, the girl said, and while on the way they noticed headlights in the back of them. It was

City Seeks Recreation Panel

An advisory board of 10 men representing the city and five representing the county — is Chamber of Commerce Agriculture committee two weeks ago on few days to study a long range planning program for Recreation Park.

This development arose today following a report of Ward 1 Commissioner Gene Fatheree on his meeting with county officials and Chamber of Commerce Agriculture committee two weeks ago on few days to study a long range planning program for Recreation Park.

Fatheree told the commissioners that Pct. 2 Commissioner W. E. Jarvis "was very insistent as to where the building should be put up out there." Jarvis' idea of its location differs with the idea of the city and some of the agriculture committee.

City Manager B. H. Cruce said there has been no planning of building construction at Recreation Park and it would be better to organize a Park Board which would be advisory in nature rather than administrative.

It was first suggested the duties be passed on to the Board of City Development, but since it has 15 members, the commission decided it would be better to have a 10-man group made up of five from the city and five from the county, none of whom should be city commissioners.

The county wants at least three acres at the park for the proposed $22,000 building. Ward 3 Commissioner W. B. Neel suggested the city trade with the county — give them the acreage at Recreation Park in return for the acreage on which the county barn now is located in The Flats. This land lies adjacent to school property and could be turned into a Negro Recreation Park. The proposition is sure to be brought before the county commissioners before any deed to acreage in Recreation Park is signed.

Isaacs bringing Bordeaux back to fix his car, just as Sheriff Clyde Risley suspected they would, she said.

Risley searched Bordeaux but found no gun. He was arrested on the spot, charged with rape.

Dr. Russ Snyder who examined the girl said his examination showed the girl had been raped.

It was no surprise when Cain had his client plead "guilty." — the big surprise came when Cain declined at the last minute to put Bordeaux, also convicted of forgery in Perryton on the stand. Bordeaux was scheduled to be the only witness for the defense, but when Risley took the stand to testify Cain changed his plans.

Part of Risley's testimony was the fact Bordeaux's car had a Utah license tag. Had Bordeaux taken the stand the fact the car was stolen in Utah would have come out, hurting him with the jury.

After the jury was finally picked the trial moved a head rapidly. Witnesses for the prosecution were removed from the court room when Cain asked that the rule keeping them out of the hearing be invoked. Cain's resistance, highly followed by Cain's "the defense closes."

The court's charge instructed the jury to find Bordeaux guilty but it was to assess his punishment in accordance with law — death or the number of years in prison they determined. While Braly declined to ask for the death penalty, he asked the jury to "be sure the penalty is full measure of this crime against this young Canadian girl." Cain asked that the jury give his client the minimum, five years.

Bordeaux waived his two-day waiting period and asked to be sentenced by the court last night.

When asked if he had anything to say why the sentence should not be passed by Judge Goodrich, Bordeaux replied in a clear, calm voice:

"No sir, all I can say is I am sorry for what I done."

The youth was permitted to amble almost at will around the courtroom and corridors. He chatted amiably with officers, the district attorney, his attorneys, the judge and newspaper reporters.

He will be taken to the penitentiary sometime later by Risley. His case had been removed to Pampa from Hemphill County last month on a change of venue asked for by his court-appointed attorney, J. E. Crow, in Canton.

In addition to his conviction here last night for rape, Bordeaux was also recently sentenced to two two-year sentences for forgery in Perryton. He is also wanted by the FBI on car theft charges in Utah under the Dyer act, bringing a stolen car across a state line.

Trial Set June 14 For Triple-Killer

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., June 23 — UP — Sheriff T. A. Cauthen said Tuesday he would present to a grand jury on Friday the case of Willie Matt Allen, 47, accused of murdering three persons here June 14.

He said Allen Monday admitted shooting Mrs. Ara Lee Flores, 22, and her mother, Mattie Ella Thomas, 44, then setting their house afire. Mrs. Flores' seven-month-old daughter, Terry Lee Gray, also died in the blaze. All involved were Negroes.

Cauthen quoted Allen as saying he met Mrs. Flores through a lone-member, the commission decided it would be better to have a 10-man group made up of five from the city and five from the county, none of whom should be city commissioners.

The county wants at least three acres at the park for the proposed $22,000 building. Ward 3 Commissioner W. B. Neel suggested the city trade with the county — give them the acreage at Recreation Park in return for the acreage on which the county barn now is located in The Flats. This land lies adjacent to school property and could be turned into a Negro Recreation Park. The proposition is sure to be brought before the county commissioners before any deed to acreage in Recreation Park is signed.

Hold Up Harlingen AFB Bids GALVESTON, June 23 — UP — Col. J. D. Lang, Galveston district engineer, said Monday bid on construction at Harlingen Air Force Base have been held up pending an "overall review of the Air Force" of its proposed new budget.

Isaacs bringing Bordeaux back to fix his car, just as Sheriff Clyde Risley suspected they would, she said.

Risley searched Bordeaux but found no gun. He was arrested on the spot, charged with rape.

Dr. Russ Snyder who examined the girl said his examination showed the girl had been raped.

It was no surprise when Cain had his client plead "guilty." — the big surprise came when Cain declined at the last minute to put Bordeaux, also convicted of forgery in Perryton on the stand. Bordeaux was scheduled to be the only witness for the defense, but when Risley took the stand to testify Cain changed his plans.

Part of Risley's testimony was the fact Bordeaux's car had a Utah license tag. Had Bordeaux taken the stand the fact the car was stolen in Utah would have come out, hurting him with the jury.

After the jury was finally picked the trial moved a head rapidly. Witnesses for the prosecution were removed from the court room when Cain asked that the rule keeping them out of the hearing be invoked. Cain's resistance, highly followed by Cain's "the defense closes."

The court's charge instructed the jury to find Bordeaux guilty but it was to assess his punishment in accordance with law — death or the number of years in prison they determined. While Braly declined to ask for the death penalty, he asked the jury to "be sure the penalty is full measure of this crime against this young Canadian girl." Cain asked that the jury give his client the minimum, five years.

Three local insurance agents plan to leave Wednesday for Houston where they will attend the Texas Association of Life Underwriters Convention through Saturday.

D. C. (Jack) Ash, newly-elected president of the Pampa chapter of the association, O. F. (Ott) Shewmaker and John A. Wells are to attend the meeting.

C. W. Stowell, Pampa's U.S. Civil Service representative, today announced that men are needed to fill positions of patrol inspector (trainee) in the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

These jobs, which pay $3,795 per year, are located in various cities and towns in the vicinity of the land borders and certain coastal areas of the Southwest, Stowell said.

Further information can be obtained from Stowell.

Gunshot Victim 'Doing Fine'

The Pampa woman whose small son accidentally shot and critically injured her almost a month ago was reported "doing fine" this morning in Worley Hospital.

"It won't be too long" before Mrs. Lilla L. Simpson, 31, wife of J. L. (Shorty) Simpson, 1029 Huff, is out of the hospital, according to hospital authorities.

"She has been getting up and around for some time now," Mrs. Simpson's small son at mid-morning May 29 accidentally shot his mother with a .22-caliber revolver he found in the house. She suffered shock and internal injuries.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Close-ups and Longshots: When James Jones was in Hollywood working on the screenplay of his own "From Here to Eternity," he made a date for 5 o'clock at his studio bungalow to talk to press agent George Lait. Lait showed up at the appointed time and found the novelist's secretary about to leave for the day.

"Mr. Jones," she announced, "was very disappointed that you couldn't keep the appointment."

"But I'm here," protested Lait, looking at his watch. "It's just 6."

"I'm sorry," said the secretary, "but when Mr. Jones makes a 5 o'clock date it's always for 5 in the morning. He waited for you until 6, had breakfast and went home to bed for the rest of the day."

Remember all the big stories about how Portland Mason, the darling of James and Pamela, was swimming before her first birthday? Now four, she's so terrified of water that she has to be bribed into the bath tub.

Vily de Mond, the Hollywood hosiery king, answers the "How are things?" query with: "I'm still giving the women a run for their money."

The famous "Mountains of Nebraska" phrase from the stage play, "Rain," spoken by Mr. Davidson as he gazes at Sadie's low-cut dress, does not pop up in the new film version, "Miss Sadie Thompson." Censors hacked it out.

Hard-Water Bargain When Jose Ferrer signed Walter Slezak for the lead in his Broadway hit, "My Three Angels," the contract specified that Walter could live in Jose's suburban New York home for the run of the play.

Just after Celeste Holm completed her first 30-minute telecast in her new NBC series, "Carolyn," she went around shaking hands with the crew members and congratulating them on their work.

"Imagine such wonderful quality in only three days of shooting," Celeste raved. "We really should continue and make a full-length movie."

"What?" piped up an assistant cameraman. "and work ANOTHER DAY!"

Skip the talk, says Producer Bob Fellows, that Broadway actors and stage technicians will take jobs away from seasoned movie personnel because of big-screen and 3-D movies.

All of Hollywood's talent claims Bob, "can adapt to these new film methods without extra training."

Joan Crawford's hunch was right when she cast Jack Palance as a heart-pounding "Sudden Fear." The feminine fan mail is piling up and Jack's playing the romantic lead now opposite Joan Fontaine in "Flight to Tangiers."

As mean as they come in "Shane" and "Second Chance," Jack's hoping his villainy won't swing the pendulum back. "If you do a heavy well in Hollywood," he says, "the producers think it's because you're a real-life heavy. You get no credit for acting. You have to fight for your life as an actor."

Marilyn Erskin, who plays the role of Ida Cantor in Cantor's film biography, was asked to describe her role with Lee Bowman in "The Glass Cage" on TV.

"All I can say," replied Marilyn, "is that it was like going on Ida Cantor to Sadie Thompson."

While filming "Susan in Berlin," James Mason reports, he dropped into a German restaurant noted for an inter-table tube message system. Autograph requests soon were slipping to him but one message from a woman read:

"I enjoy your pictures. Could you possibly give me Alan Ladd's home address in Hollywood?"

A spokesman for National Safety Council explained. "If you are highly strung, nervous and impatient, you cannot be a good driver. We have to weed these types off the streets."

Appointed to Missionary Service McLean, Tex., June 22 (UP)—The Southern Baptist Foreign Missions Board has appointed Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Petty to missionary service in the Middle East. They have been given teaching positions in Nazareth, Israel.

Woman Treasurer Uses Tricks From Phone Operating Days

WASHINGTON, June 22 (UP)—When the phone rings in the office of the Treasurer of the United States, pretty Ivy Baker Priest answers with "Just a minute, please."

Then she reaches into her desk, whips out a head receiver set, adjusts it and starts listening.

That's the way Mrs. Priest operates. Once a telephone operator, always a telephone operator.

"I can get a lot of work done while I talk and listen," she told me in an interview. "Sometimes I jot down notes or even add a few lines to a speech I may be writing. It's easy if your hands are free. A telephone operator learns to do a lot of things at the same time."

Second Woman Treasurer Mrs. Priest is the second woman treasurer in history. The first was Georgia Neese Clarke, who was appointed by President Truman.

Mrs. Clarke had a background in the banking business. Mrs. Priest has none. She has dabbled in merchandising, done a little teaching and in recent years she has been interested in politics, particularly in her native Utah.

Her appointment as treasurer came as a surprise. After the election she did some research on how women could fit into the Republican scheme of things.

"I got a call to report to Republican headquarters in New York," she said. "Naturally, I thought they wanted to know what I had found out in my survey. I nearly fell over when I learned Mr. Eisenhower wanted me to become treasurer."

Lucky To Get Job Maybe Mrs. Priest was lucky to get the appointment at that. She was a committeewoman from Utah, but had no control over her delegates to the GOP convention in Chicago.

"All of them," she said, "were lined up against Mr. Eisenhower."

Mrs. Priest, in her job, has a lot of other duties besides adding her signature to new paper money. Her office is essentially the banking facility for the government and is required under law to service practically the entire federal establishment in Chicago.

She is charged particularly with the receipt, disbursement, and accounting for public monies; the procurement, custody, issue and redemption of United States paper money and coin; the furnishing of checking account facilities to all agencies of the government; the payment of principal and interest on the public debt; and the safekeeping of securities deposited as collateral and otherwise.

The lady needs a lot of hands, although, of course, she has others to help her.

Has Three Children Mrs. Priest doesn't find much time to be with her husband, Roy. He's in the furniture business and travels most of the time. But she takes pride and delight in her three youngsters — Patricia Ann, 16; Nancy Elle, 11; and Roy Jr., 10.

Murder Follows Petty Argument

HOUSTON, June 22 (UP)—Mrs. Felice Annie Emmert, 65, Monday was charged with murder in the slaying of her husband and said they had argued over who they should will their bed to when they died.

Mrs. Emmert told homicide officers she shot her husband, John Hurst Emmert, 63, after he got a .38 caliber revolver from a dresser and they wrestled over it.

She said they had been arguing during the evening "because I wanted to will the bed to my sister when I died. It is 100 years old and came to me from my mother, who got it from her mother," the woman said.

Mrs. Emmert was freed on $2,800 bond.

Pigeon Blamed for Fire LOWELL, Mass., June 22 (UP)—Authorities said Tuesday that a cigarette "sniping" pigeon apparently caused a $25,000 fire when it dropped a smoldering butt in its nest.

The nest, in an air shaft of the GE more Trust Co., caught fire and ignited the building.

Business Light At City Meet

Tuesday's City Commission meeting may be "short and sweet," City Manager B. H. Curce said this morning as he reported little or no business set for tomorrow.

About the only thing the commission may discuss is construction of the proposed combination county barn and show arena on city property at Recreation Park.

"Unless something develops between now and later today, that's about all we have facing us tomorrow," Curce added.

Wives Wouldn't Take... Use Of Lie Detector In Family Life Would Be Awful Mistake

BY HENRY McEMORE I don't see in Sen. Joe McCarthy the one that a great many people do, but the man does alarm me more than a trifle with his great enthusiasm for the use of the lie-detector test in searching for the truth.

As an old member of the cross-my-heart-and-hope-to-die school of truth telling, I don't believe I could ever come around to putting my full faith in a mechanical gadget when it comes to reading a man's heart and mind.

There are too many things that could affect a man's pulse while he was being questioned and make it skip like a rock on water. A fellow could be as innocent as a lamb only to have an old Marilyn Monroe picture cross his mind and whammo! the lie-detector would brand him a horse, thief and a traitor to his country.

For us to accept the lie-detector as the only sure means of getting the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, would disturb the past and raise the very devil with the present.

For example, how would we be able to place any faith in one of this country's most cherished beliefs, namely, that young George Washington was on the level when he told his father, "I cannot tell a lie. I chopped down the cherry tree." Washington, Senior, didn't have a lie-detector handy to strap on young George's arm, so for all we know the boy who was to become the Father of His Country might not have cut down the tree at all, but was only taking the rap for his mother, a cousin, a favorite aunt, or a playmate.

Did Lincoln really mean what he said in the Gettysburg Address? Or was Honest Abe only taking advantage of the not being such a thing as a lie-detector when he expressed such magnificent and lofty sentiments that day?

Was Nathan Hale sincere in expressing regret that he had but one life to give to his country? Or would a lie-detector have shown that he didn't mean a word of it?

If others begin sharing Senator McCarthy's fondness for the detector you may rest assured that it won't be long before companies will be putting out home, office, and portable models.

It is the home, or family, model for which I have the most dread. Husbands have a hard enough time as it is without the introduction of a gimmick which would make it impossible for them to get by with even the little bit which they get by with now.

Family spats can be healed now by the husband (always the husband) asking forgiveness and saying, "I'm sorry, honey." The apology on the part of the breadwinner seldom fails to bring his mate back to her good senses, even though she knows the husband wasn't to blame, and that he doesn't mean a word about being sorry.

With a lie-detector no farther away than the kitchen shelf wives will be tempted to make a grab for it, strap it on their husbands' arms, and then flay the daylight out of him when it shows him to be a liar.

Husbands, of course, will not be allowed to put their wives to the test. The courts will rule it as a brutal practice, and even if they don't the wives will. They will say the detector isn't becoming, doesn't fit, or doesn't go with the dress they are wearing.

If the senator ever acquires a wife and she slaps one on him, he'll quickly lose his enthusiasm for the detector.

Britain 'Shocked' By POW Release

LONDON, June 22 (UP)—Britain has sent a strong note to South Korea expressing its "shock" at President Syngman Rhee's release of anti-Communist war prisoners, Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced Monday.

As a member of the United Nations whose military forces are participating in the Korean action, her majesty's government strongly condemns this treacherous violation of the authority of the UN command to which the government of Korea had agreed in 1950," Churchill said in a House of Commons statement.

Announcing that the British protest note was delivered to the South Koreans Monday, Churchill said the British government was "shocked" to read Rhee's statement last Thursday in which he said he personally ordered the release of the prisoners.

Women Pilots Are Ready For Handicap

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY NEW YORK, June 23—An interested group of men gathered around Mrs. Barbara Clud, 31, the other day while she explained her plan to enter the seventh annual all-woman transcontinental air race.

TIPS FOR TASKS

Tired-looking candles, drooping from the willing effects of hot summer weather, can be kept from this unhappy fate in the first place by dipping them in thin shellac. Let them dry thoroughly before using.

to East and only 19 planes finished," explained a spokesman for Ninety-Nines. "The rest got weathered in at Wheeling, W. Va."

MEMBERSHIP EXPANDS The membership in that unusual group started out as 99 with Amelia Earhart as president in 1929. Now there are 1,150 members, and Mrs. Alice Hamond of Detroit is president.

"One of our members is a pilot for a cargo plane; another operates an air field in Texas; one girl flies a paper route in Kansas and a great many teach flying or do crop dusting," the club's spokesman said.

Former club President Jacques Cochran recently became the first woman to break the sound barrier. She also set a new speed record of 662 miles an hour for a 100 kilometer course, flying an F-86. She doesn't take part in anything so restricted as an all-woman handicap race in standard aircraft.

"But I think it's marvelous for aviation," Miss Cochran said. "Women make just as good speed pilots as men."

SOCIAL CALENDAR MATURE PARENT

WEDNESDAY 2:30 — The Ruth Meek Circle of the First Baptist Women's Missionary Union will be held in the home of Mrs. Lewis Hoilar, 118 S. Starkweather.

By MURIEL LAWRENCE Some months ago, Mrs. D. divorced her husband. He was, she says, a "mama's" boy. During their 11 years of marriage, he seemed unable to make any decisions of his own.

Manners Make Friends

The mother is a good friend of yours but you do not know the married daughter who is coming to visit her parents. Call on her — certainly. And if possible entertain her in some way.

China or pottery bric-a-brac, kept for decorative reasons, is easily cleaned with a cloth wrung out in baking soda solution. Use a soft brush moistened with baking soda for crevices.

Lamp shades should measure not more than three times the base of the lamp in diameter.

Don't throw away those old baby-food bottles. When opening, pry off the tops carefully, and save caps and bottles. Next time you have grease from frying, or throw away, pour into bottle, and re-seal with cap, then deposit in rubbish.

A new type of flytrap is baited with food and a special toxin. Made of metal, it screws on a quart mason jar. The insects can go into the trap but are unable to leave.

It gives you the right to question anything I say that does not seem true or just to you.

I would have to say this because I believe that loyalty to people instead of to principles breaks the First Commandment. I agree with the great British novelist, D. H. Lawrence, who once wrote out of his own disillusionment with the his own, disillusionment with the loyalties. "I want relations which are not purely personal, but which are built upon some unanimous accord in truth itself."

Who is thinking of John when we get into these fights for his personal loyalty? How dare we ask it when our mistaken judgments are the very cause of his problem? What kind of love is it that insists we be trusted as blindly as we trusted?

First Christian Junior Department Members Attending Ceta Glen Camp

Sponsors going with the group include H.L. Ledrick, Mrs. Pearl Thurman, Mrs. Clayton Dunham and Mrs. Sandra Cartwright.

Attending the Camp from Pampa are Jack Zuerker, Lickie Dunham, Freddie Thurman, Kristi Brown, Linda McDonald, Kent Stephens, Don and Walter Owens, Billy Cooper, Vickie Payne, Larry Shultz, Gary Shultz, Larry Rabe, Donny Kirkham, Jan Ann Gilliland, James Hall, Joan Spinks, John Mullin, Mike Bolton, Jerry McGuire, Linda Warden, Don McGuire, Carolyn Richardson, Larry Bolander, Janette and Glenda Harris.

There will be study, crafts, swimming and other activities during this week.

RUTH MILLETT

I have written today's column for the benefit of June brides. Make sure your first home, even if it is only a tiny apartment, is as much your husband's home as yours.

Encourage your husband to help you select furniture and color schemes. Plan room arrangements together. Decide as a couple what to buy first and what to put off until later.

Don't assume that because you are a woman your taste is superior to his. Or, that you can laugh at his suggestions and dismiss them with: "But I had my heart set on such-and-such."

You'll probably get your way if you use those tactics but your husband's interest in his home will begin to slacken.

If you are sure his taste can stand improvement don't poke fun at it. Educate him. Subscribe to at least one good decorating magazine. Take out books from the library. Discuss what you read with him and show him pictures so that he can visualize your ideas.

ASSUME HIS PARTICIPATION From the very start, let him know that you assume he will take care of the small household repairs. Encourage him to get the tools he needs to be a handy man. See that he has a place to keep them. The man who keeps his home in good repair takes more pride in it than the man who doesn't.

Try to combine beauty and comfort in every purchase you make for your home. Never sacrifice comfort for beauty. What use is a beautiful chair if your husband won't sit in it because it is so uncomfortable?

Never use the words "my house." Always, even in your thinking, it should be "our house."

Americans Discover California's Casual Living; Mood Set With Rustic Furniture

BY KAY SHERWOOD NEA Staff Writer LOS ANGELES, Calif. — Southern Californians tell me they're having the last laugh these days. For years they've been boosting the pleasures of casual indoor-outdoor living which their pleasant climate offers.

The easy upkeep of ranch-style homes and simple furnishings are an old story to them. Now, the rest of the country, thanks to the mushroom development of ranch-style houses, is "discovering California" as one booster put it.

The mild weather can't be exported, but the booming demand for casual smart furnishings has sparked a lusty young furniture industry.

Visiting here recently, I parked the children with their grandmothers and went shopping for new ideas. Knowing that most of us have to content ourselves with sun porches or screened-in breezeways instead of palm-bordered patios for our limited warm-weather season, I was impressed by new furniture designed for use indoors or outdoors.

Milo Baughman who proves that smart furniture can be inexpensive and good-looking indoors, and rugged outdoors.

Redwood, for example, loses its rustic bulkiness in skilled hands and gains a comfortable, contemporary smartness. Although the redwood is two inches thick, he cuts down the bulky appearance by beveling edges, and tapering table tops and bench backs in a surfboard curve. Curved, black wrought-iron legs instead of massive wood ones also contribute to the lighter look.

Deep cushions for the sectional settees and club chair in this group can be covered for indoor or outdoor use.

This designer, who is in the 30-year-old group himself, styled this redwood furniture for limited budgets, mindful of the problems faced by young married homemakers who must furnish a house. It is scaled down to a size suitable for contemporary small-home interiors.

Later, I think it will look as well on the breezeway, porch, terrace or rumpus room where, with reasonable care the wood will resist weather and juvenile bouncing.

in new contemporary designs. Hand-woven in Asia of cream-colored peel cane over natural rattan frames, these pieces combine well with modern furniture, painted or natural wood, and colorful fabrics.

Chairs are lightweight, about 10 pounds, so it's easy for a woman to tote them outdoors in mild weather. Table tops are of wire-brushed Philippine mahogany and sensibly finished in a pale amber plastic coating which resists moisture.

To keep a toilet bowl deodorized and sparkling, pour in a solution of 2 tablespoons baking soda per gallon of water every day and allow to stand a few minutes before flushing. This is in addition to the regular weekly cleaning.

Charlie Chaplin's Studio For Sale

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, June 19—UP—A derby, a cane, footprints, an Oscar, some dusty movie sets—that's all that is left of Charlie Chaplin in Hollywood now.
The comedian, perhaps Hollywood's greatest creator, is living in Switzerland now, and his closed studio is up for sale.
A non-movie company may soon buy the film factory and tear it down, so I paid a visit to the Hollywood landmark.
Passing tourists often miss the old studio, on the corner of Sunset Blvd. and La Brea Ave., because it looks like a row of brick English cottages. Only a tiny plaque on one door is marked "Charlie Chaplin Studio," unlike the mammoth signs at other studios. Yet in the modest, old-fashioned studio were born such screen classics as "Modern Times" and "The Circus."
Inside the gate stands a tiny dog house and hydrant for the studio mascot, now gone. By the paint shop you can see footprints in cement signed "Charlie Chaplin, Jan. 21, 1918," the day the plant opened.
Chaplin worked in a little bungalow which used to be a stable behind an empty white southern-style house that hides one side of the small studio.
"The house was on the property, so Chaplin left it there," explained Lois Runser, Chaplin's secretary

Man-Wife Team Assigned To Separate Broadcast Program

By JACK GAVER
NEW YORK, June 19—UP—Mike and Buff are having an unusual experience this summer. Accustomed to working together as one of the better known man-wife teams of radio and television since their marriage more than four years ago, Mike Wallace and Buff Cobb have been assigned temporarily to opposite sides of the street by the broadcasting system, which has them under contract.
Each is on a different new CBS panel show for the summer. Wallace is involved in the five-week "I'll Buy That" and Miss Cobb is on the Monday night "Masquerade," replacement for the Red Buttons program.
In addition, Wallace is one of the two commentators on the CBS hour-long Sunday program, "Adventure" which is done with the Museum of Natural History.
"I've been taking flying lessons for the 'Adventure' program on Sunday," Wallace explained. "I started going to fly a plane. I started lessons four weeks ago and I'm now ready to solo."
"The program next Sunday built around the history of fly from the earliest attempts to present, with the bulldip bet that everything has been developed to make it possible for Mike Wallace (anybody) to be able to fly. We can't make a list out of this thesis, so there's nothing to do—it says in the script but get in a plane and fly it."
Mike's flying will be done in four-place Piper from—Milton Field, Long Island, probably between 5:30 and 6 p. m. Sunday.
"What if it rains?" asked matter-of-fact wife.
Wallace had no answer except shudder.

WHITE HOUSE GOSSIP Cab Drivers Make Big Haul In Presidential Reception

WASHINGTON, June 22—UP—Backstairs at the White House. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained recently at an afternoon reception for the delegates to the eighth Pan-American Railway Congress.
The delegates arrived in a fleet of taxicabs, the drivers of which were paid $6 a day each to chauffeur the railroad experts around Washington during the conference.
"Man, after this, I'm going to the beach for a vacation," one of the drivers reported gleefully.
Probably the most crestfallen country club members in the country are at Lead, S. D.
Ten days before Mr. Eisenhower went to the Dakotas recently for a combination speaking and fishing vacation, an advance party of Secret Service agents and Army Signal Corps communications experts arrived on the scene.
The President based at Custer Lake, S. D., and his hosts thought he might like to play golf at the Lead Country Club about 40 miles away.
Whereupon, the Signal Corps experts duly installed a special telephone system at the country club, stringing wires eight miles from the town of Lead to the country club—just in case the President showed up there for a few hours.
Members of the club joined the greenkeepers and manured the fairways and greens with extra care to be sure the course was in tip-top condition for Mr. Eisenhower.

Communists Picked Poor Time For Their World Peace Meet

EDITOR'S NOTE: Edward M. Korry, United Press Paris bureau manager, kept a diary last week when he attended a meeting of the Communist-sponsored "World Peace Council" in Budapest. Korry reports some observations in two dispatches. The first follows.
By EDWARD M. KORRY
United Press Staff Correspondent
The Communists picked a poor time for their big "World Peace Council."
The delegates arrived just as the riotous demonstrations of Czechoslovak workers broke out against the currency reform which wiped out their savings.
Then, while the Communist and fellow-traveling orators were doing their stuff, the really serious revolt of East German workers against the Communists erupted.
The impact the Berlin story made upon Hungarians may best be judged from the fact that the news reached American correspondents first from Hungarians, and that as it spread even Communist officials, unable to curb their curiosity, asked about it.
There are fewer Soviet soldiers in evidence in Budapest than ever before. During my stay I saw only six—two tipsy privates entering a night club, two other privates walking down the main street during the day, and two spic-and-span officers at the popular "Casino" night club.
But the Hungarian secret police are decidedly in evidence. I was standing at a fifth floor window looking down into a subway construction project, surrounded by a high wooden fence. A truck drove up. Secret police, carrying machine pistols, opened the gate, and the truck went inside. From a nearby pit came a scrubby line of workers in black and white striped blouses. Under the guns of two guards, the workers clambered into the trucks. Two guards followed them, and the truck drove off. They're slave laborers, a handful of the millions behind the Iron Curtain.
Despite all this, Red Hungary of course has its new constitution. It was adopted with great fanfare in 1951. It provides that a meeting of Parliament shall be held within one month after elections. A rubber-stamp election was held May

Officials Eye Drouth Relief

Texas congressmen, Frank Icard, Walter Rogers, and George Mahon, have been holding a series of conferences with government departments—the Bureau of the Budget, the Department of Agriculture and the Farmer Home Administration—in an attempt to seek economic relief for the drouth-stricken farmers of the Panhandle.
Rogers, in his weekly newsletter, said attempts will also be made to obtain some help for the area from the president's emergency fund. However, some sources in governmental agencies, Rogers said, were of the opinion that fund does not embrace such emergencies as a drouth area. He said he and other congressmen pointed out that it does, and his letter to President Eisenhower recently pointed out that the disaster of an almost complete crop failure this year and urged action as early as possible.
In his letter, Rogers also said an investigation into the cheap fares paid by Rosenberg mourners and sympathizers to travel to Washington from New York and back again is likely to be made. He said people could not figure out why the round trip fare should be only $5 when the regular bus fare is $17.
Washington was jammed with governmental agencies for the Rosenbergs, the Pampa congressman said, and many times made it impossible to pass through the halls in the capitol by crowding into the capitol building.

BASKING IN A BASKET—Two claims are made for this device. It can be used as a chair, as the young lady is doing, or it can be used as a basket, handy for carrying garden produce. The chair was exhibited at the International Garden Show in Hamburg, Germany.

Youngsters Pose Problem To Hotels

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, June 23—UP—The hotel people here dearly love children, but sometimes the young fry pose a problem.

During the spring and summer, some 300,000 youngsters visit our town. Mostly they come in class groups, properly chaperoned. But when you turn a couple of hundred kids loose in a single hotel, something's bound to happen.

One hotel manager said that a few years ago the bellhops were unhappy because a kid would come to town for the weekend with enough luggage to carry him through the summer.

Work With No Pay
"The kid would expect the bell-boy to lug his gear up and do it without a tip," the manager said. "We sympathized with the visitors who maybe had saved $3.10 from their paper-carrying money and were not about to give it away."

The hotel association finally settled that by slapping a 10-cent fee on each bag going in and out of the hotels. This inspired most of the young gawkers to carry their own stuff.

It is not to the discredit of the young of America that they like to take home some memento from a visit to Washington.

The manager of the Willard Hotel told me that it took some time to solve this one.

"We decided to let it get around to the kids that the maids were responsible for all of the property in the rooms and would have to pay for anything that was missing," he said. "A lot of keys, which cost a dollar a piece, were disappearing. So we asked the chaperons to collect all the keys and deposit them at the desk."

A Numbers Racket
The numbers on the doors used to make fine souvenirs. These were metal and expensive. Now in most Washington hotels, the numbers are made of plastic and are screwed and cemented to the doors.

"If you think the kids walk off with things, you ought to see what some of the adults lug away," another manager said. "They are great collectors of drapes, bathmats and even pillows." Are screws and cemented to the doors.

Speaking of pillows, they used to be quite a problem with the children; too. They would not take them. It was more fun to pitch them at one another. A maid would spend half her morning picking up feathers. Foam rubber bounces a lot better.

Hand Similar To No-Trump Opener

The overall of one no-trump shows much the same sort of hand that you would need for an opening bid of one no-trump. In today's hand, South was a bit weak in spades, but his hand was otherwise ideally suited to a defensive overall of one no-trump.

North responded exactly as though his partner had opened the bidding with one no-trump. He had a count of 11 points and expected his partner to have about 16 to 18 points. Obviously the total was enough to provide a play for game, and North wasted no time in reaching a game contract.

When West opened the ten of hearts, declarer stopped to plan the play. It was obviously easy to take four tricks in each red suit and the ace of spades for a total of nine sure tricks. Since, however, the hand was being played at match point pair tournament, South was interested in making as many overtricks as possible.

Approved Dewey Man

Taft and Eisenhower see eye-to-eye on a tax program of no cuts this year.

Taft approved the naming of Leonard W. Hall as Republican National Committee chairman, although Hall was a Dewey man. Taft secured the confirmation of Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Moscow and Dr. James B. Conant as high commissioner to Germany. And he pushed confirmation of the entire Eisenhower cabinet, even though he hadn't picked any of them and in spite of the fact that he deplored the nomination of Martin P. Durkin as Secretary of Labor.

On all these points the President can find no fault with his Senate leader. It was Senator Taft who announced the original 11-point list of legislation essential for passage by this session of Congress.

So far only two of the 11 have been passed—tideland and reorganization powers. Two others have passed the Senate—the mobilization bill and Hawaii statehood, but the latter has a rider which would also admit Alaska, and that administration doesn't want.

Taft had hoped to complete the 11 "must" measures and adjourn by July 1. It doesn't look now as though he'll make it.

This isn't entirely Senator Taft's fault. While Taft men are chairmen of 11 out of the 15 Senate committees, the Republican majority in the Senate is only one vote. And the House of Representatives has held up some things like Taft-Hartley labor law revision.

Senator Taft has known exactly what he wanted on this all along, even if the President has given him no help.

Two tricks with the queen and ace of spades.

There was no way for East to set the contract, but he would have fared better if he had taken the king and ace of clubs as soon as he was given the chance to do so. After winning the second and third tricks with high clubs, East could have exited safely with another club, after which he could sit back and wait for a spade trick to be given to him.
