Spraberry Oil Field Returns To Operations

AUSTIN, July 1 — UP — The vast Spraberry oil field was under a new Railroad Commission order Wednesday, allowing operations, but restricting flaring of waste gas.

PETITION OF INTERVENTION on behalf of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of a campaign to provide new and improved airline service to 55 cities in the Southwest, including Pampa, was signed this morning by representatives of Gray County, City of Pampa and the local chamber of commerce and will be filed immediately with the Civil Aeronautics Board. ## Dulles May Deal With Pres. Rhee

There is increasing speculation here that U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will have to come to Korea to work out a deal with President Syngman Rhee.

There still is a slim possibility that Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson will be able to agree with Rhee on a compromise truce plan.

It is known that Rhee would like to see Dulles head the American negotiating delegation. He has said as much in private conversations.

150,000 Barrels a Day

The order affected 150,000 barrels of oil a day produced in the vast West Texas field.

Austin District Judge Charles O. Betts upheld the commission order, but held that operators not flaring gas could continue production.

The Rowan Oil Co., Arthur Harvey, Plymouth Oil Co., Republic Natural Gas Co., and the Blackwood and Nichols Co. appealed the case to the Supreme Court.

Jet Crash Kills Pilot

BIG SPRING, Tex., July 1 — UP — A T-33 jet trainer plane skidded to within 125 feet of a farmhouse and burst into flame Tuesday, killing the student pilot.

Aviation Cadet Benjamin J. Moore, son of Benjamin M. Moore of Gainesville, Ga., apparently tried to parachute before the crash but didn't get clear of the plane until it hit the ground.

Moore's death was the second among personnel at Webb Air Force Base within two days. Monday, Lt. Joseph Hus of Baroda, Mich., was killed and a cadet injured when a T-33 crashed just after take-off from the base.

Young Girl Held In Decatur Death

DECATUR, Tex., July 1 — UP — Authorities Wednesday continued to question a 17-year-old girl who said she killed an unidentified man with bullets for $13.

The young girl told authorities at St. Anthony, Ia., where she was in a detention home recently, that she had killed a man in the North Texas area. Idaho authorities checked with Texas officials, who had not been able to identify the slain man or find his killer, and she was brought to Texas.

Local officers said Wednesday the girl's story checked with known facts. She told them she had stolen a car and was driving near Texarkana, Tex., July 29, 1952. She picked up the man, a hitch-hiker, and started across Texas. She said she shot him seven, eight or nine times after picking him up to get $13 he told her he was carrying.

Austin College Seeks New Prexy

SHERMAN, Tex., July 1 — UP — Austin College trustees are expected to announce a successor soon to Dr. W. B. Guernant, who resigned as president May 14.

Guernant announced Tuesday he had accepted a professorship of Bible at Hampden-Sydney College at Farmville, Va., effective Sept. 1. Hampden-Sydney is one of the earliest American church colleges.

Patrick Henry and James Madison served on its first board of trustees.

Benson To Name Wheat Crop Quota

WASHINGTON, July 1 — UP — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, who waited until the last day permitted under law, Wednesday was scheduled to call out federal marketing quotas on next year's wheat crop.

Benson has been reluctant to take the action because he thinks it smacks of federal "regimentation." But he had little choice when he looked at growing supplies of wheat now overflowing bins and warehouses.

It will be the first time since 1942 that the government has stepped in to turn off wheat production.

Current farm law requires that when supplies exceed demand and adequate reserve levels by 20 percent, the secretary must "proclaim" a national wheat quota not later than July 1 of the year preceding the quota year. His only out is a national emergency.

This year's crop, plus left-over stocks from previous years, add up to a prospective supply of 1,702,500,000 bushels, about 253,500,000 bushels above the level which would call out quotas.

Under present law, Benson could get the national planting quota as low as 55 million acres. But the House already has passed legislation to revise the rules so that the minimum national quota would be 56 million acres. The Senate is expected to approve the bill although it may drop the figure to 62 million acres.

Postmaster General Assistant Okayed

WASHINGTON, July 1 — UP — The House Tuesday passed a bill providing for another assistant postmaster general, at $15,000 a year, to be personal director of the new postal system.

Rep. John Dowdy (D-Tex.) chided Republicans for creating another top-paying job which he said was not in line with the new administration's policy of economy.

He said Congress so far under the new administration has created 14 new assistant secretaries.

GUNS CRACKLE New Revolt Seen In East Germany

BERLIN, July 1 — UP — Rifle and machinegun fire crackled over Soviet Berlin early Wednesday indicating new outbreaks in the German revolt against Red rule.

Western authorities said there was no immediate indication of the nature or extent of the new clashes that began Tuesday night.

East Berlin was the fountainhead of the strikes and riots that flashed across Soviet Germany in mid-June and which were still continuing at many points in the puppet state.

Western police stationed along the 28-mile boundary between East and West Berlin said scattered gunfire could be heard throughout the night. The heaviest volleys were fired between 11 p.m. and 3 a.m. — the hours during which the curfew had been in force.

The new outbreaks in Berlin came less than 24 hours after a wave of housewives' hunger riots had jarred the Red regime. Communist authorities rushed emergency food supplies to key points in the zone Wednesday in an effort to appease the angry women.

At the same time, reports from Austria said the Russians killed 300 workers and escaped political prisoners in the Dresden area during the June 17 riots which touched off the anti-Red revolt in Germany.

It was the bloodiest incident reported so far in the two-week rebellion, during which 50,000 Germans had been arrested, at least 68 slain by Soviet firing squads, and thousands reported exiled to the East.

Warren French Dies of Injuries

Pampa, two daughters, Sandra Yvonne and Pauline French, Pampa, his father, Oris French, Dallas, and his mother, Mrs. Isaac Stearnman, Dallas.

Warren French, 32, of 390 S. Somerville, died at 5:15 a.m. today in Highland General Hospital where he had been brought from the Crealish Oil Company's Beulah Edge B-1 lease, some 22 1/2 miles northeast of Pampa.

Accident occurred about 2:15 a.m. today when a but on the main shaft of the well stripped its threads releasing the pipe-joint and reeling bales on him, according to Roy Bullis, Pampa, Baker and Taylor Drilling Company area safety director.

"It was the weight of the block — some 1,000 to 1,500 pounds — that killed him," Bullis said, adding that the combined load probably hit him about 20 or 30 feet before it fell on him as he stood on the rig.

French had been with Baker and Taylor just four days.

According to attending physicians, French was suffering head, chest and "possible internal" injuries when he arrived in the hospital. Duenkel-Carmichael officials had sent an ambulance to the scene about 2:30 a.m. He was admitted to the hospital at 3:45 a.m.

Once in the hospital, French "never spoke a word," officials said.

Born Oct. 20, 1920, in Bowling Green, Ky., French had been living in Pampa for the past three years. Prior to that time, he had lived in Borger and Letors. He was a veteran of World War II.

Funeral services were pending late this morning with the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Helen French, Pampa; a son

Anti-Polio Serum Tests

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 1 — UP — Tests will begin soon on new anti-polio vaccine but until then gamma globulin is the "best weapon" in fighting the crippling disease, according to Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

O'Connor told volunteer workers from eight states Tuesday that tests of the vaccine will probably start late this year or early next year and "we hope it will be the answer to polio."

Meanwhile, he said, indications are that 1953 may turn into the worst polio year in medical history, with cases now running 30 percent ahead of 1952, the worst year since 1948.

O'Connor said that even if the new vaccine, developed by Dr. Jonas Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, is unsuccessful, scientists will conquer polio "within the next few years."

For All or Nothing

Rhee figures the chips are down. He feels he is playing for all or nothing.

Rhee feels he must win American acceptance of his basic demands or see everything lost — sooner or later — to the Communists. If he doesn't get the guarantees he wants, Rhee believes, there is no hope for the survival of the Republic of Korea.

The Americans feel Rhee is holding out for too much. They are a little hurt that he doesn't trust them.

A member of Rhee's cabinet explained the Korean attitude as follows:

"We must have America's assurance that she will come to our aid in case of another outbreak of hostilities. We must have solid guarantees.

There is speculation here that Rhee would like to have Dulles come to Korea, because a visit would build prestige for the war-battered republic.

Merchants Asked To Display Flags

All local business firms with American flags have been asked by the merchants committee of the chamber of commerce to display the emblem Saturday in commemoration of Independence Day.

Businessmen who need new flags and staffs may now obtain them at the chamber of commerce office. About 12 new flags are available. It was announced today.

Harold Miller, chairman of the merchants committee, has previously announced most stores will be closed for July 4 and regular Saturday hours will be observed Friday, according to an agreement made by chamber members earlier this year.

Texas-Born Actress Expects To Make Her Home In Mexico

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (UP)—Red-haired Ann Sheridan, Hollywood's live-alone bachelor girl, packed her bags to move to Mexico City because movietown is "getting too big and too expensive."

"The husky-voiced 'oomph' beauty from Texas is temporarily deserting movietown to buy a home south of the border. She'll also launch a new career producing her own films in Mexico. If there's a television series in Hollywood I can't resist, or a film role that is attractive material, I don't mean moneywise. I'll break my resolution and come back here," Annie said.

"But I would just take an apartment and still live in Mexico. I'll have my own company there, and I'll make pictures in English and Spanish."

Since she became a top star a decade ago, Ann has kept herself apart from the movie colony. She has lived far out in suburban Encino on a 3 1/2-acre ranch with cows, dogs and other four-footed tenants. Miss Sheridan preferred to remain a bachelor girl and never married her long-time friend, publisher Steve Hannagan, who died last year. She insisted his death had little to do with her move.

"I would have moved to Mexico, anyway," she said. "I've considered many times and always wanted to retire to Mexico. This is not retirement, but it's part of my wish. I want to enjoy it while I can."

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Gus and Dolls Victor Mature has had his hair frizzed in a permanent wave for months for his Demetrius role in "The Robe" and the current follow-up movie, "The Story of Dr. Mystus." But so far he hasn't been hooded for it.

His explanation: "I get to the golf course on my day off at six in the morning and every other golfer accepts me as 'the old man.' They know me as the guy who tees off early in the morning and plays all day. I don't go out much otherwise, so nobody sees my curls. I'm the mild anti-social jerk in the world."

Laraine Day, who's done more panel-sitting and wrist-watching selling on TV than straight acting, turned down ideas for television series for five years until Bert Grant came along with "White Collar G.I." for her.

Bert, who produced some of Laraine's biggest movie hits, created a character named Nancy Hale, from Sandusky, Ohio, for Mrs. Leo Durocher, who is bubbling "Nancy is Miss Everybody who works. Each story will be different and there won't be the same character week after week. I believe that TV audiences get weary of the same characters and the same lived acts."

During baseball season, Laraine will stay in New York with Leo. When the Giants hit the road, she'll fly to Hollywood to make the TV films.

Public Forgives, Forgets. Just in case any Hollywood producers are worried about public reaction to Joan Bennett on the screen, Zachary Scott wants it known that Joan's a regular darling — especially "TA" groups all over the country.

Each of the "TA" groups all over the country.

East German Premier May Be Red 'Fall Guy' On Revolts

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
Otto Grotewohl is 58, balding, moon-faced and bespectacled. Up to this moment he also is premier of Communist-run East Germany.

The time element here is important because tomorrow, or the day after, he may not be the premier any longer. The Russians are going to look for a "fall guy" to take the rap for the East German revolt and it looks as if Grotewohl may be tapped.

There are a number of reasons why he could have outlived his usefulness to the Reds.

The first, of course, is the East German revolt itself.

A second is the failure, in fact outright refusal of many of the East German people's police to cope with the uprising.

And, finally, the fact that Russian troops finally had to take over, effectively erasing any doubt there may have been about East Germany being a deliriously happy "peoples' republic."

Up to now Grotewohl has been a good and co-operative stooge.

The Russians put him in office because he bore none of the taint of Moscow training, and he was well-known both as a German Socialist and as an anti-Nazi, in fact served time twice in Nazi jails, once as a result of a plot against Hitler in 1939.

Thus his government had at least the outward appearance of being authentically German.

Grotewohl has the reputation of being a gambler, and he is shrewd as well as intelligent.

He took his big chance, politically, in 1945.

It was then that he jumped into leadership of the left-wing faction of the Social Democratic party and advocated its merger with the Russian-backed German Communists.

Production methods do not call for use of customary acetylene, major supplier of the vinyl acetate monomer since one of the other two producers does not sell its product in the open market.

Among the growing new developments for vinyl acetate are water-base paint, soil conditioner and synthetic textile fibers. Vinyl acetate can be converted into many other chemicals which are important in their own right.

Chief among these are polyvinyl acetate, alcohol, formal, and butyl-rubber copolymers with vinyl chloride.

Today it is capable of producing in excess of 30,000,000 pounds annually and is designed to permit a rapid increase in production as market conditions demand.

The Pampa process for making vinyl acetate is new and was perfected at the chemical division research laboratory at Clarkwood, Tex.

Scattered Rains Worth Millions

DALLAS, July 1—UP—Rains worth millions of dollars fell over Texas and Oklahoma Tuesday, and Oklahoma was to get more rain Wednesday.

The forecasts indicated the showers in Texas were about over—at least for the present.

But the rains brought the first cheer to a wide section of the Southwestern Farmers who were discouraged a few days ago now have a brighter outlook on life.

They not only have a promise of federal aid, but got quicker results from the weather. In some of the "fringe areas," where the drought was not severe, the rains of the past few days have provided enough moisture to enliven the crops.

Oklahoma's rains Tuesday fell where they were needed the most—in the western half of the state. The showers were slow and almost all of the moisture soaked into the soil.

County Agent Edd Gregory of Stephens county, Okla., in the drought-disaster area, said the rain would "pull cotton from the brink of disaster." Farmers with peanuts, castor beans, broomcorn and watermelons also benefited heavily.

In Texas, Haskell county stockman M. M. Cobb said his stock tanks overflowed for the first time in four years. Rain in his area was unofficially recorded at five inches.

At Abilene, Tex., County Agent H. C. Stanley said a 2.31-inch "swell." But he said "we need more. If it doesn't come soon we will still need help from the government—both feed and financial assistance for the small rancher and stock raiser."

Abilene was in the drought-disaster area recently visited by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

But to the west of Abilene, located in the eastern edge of West Texas, there was little moisture in most places.

'Miss Neutral Zone'

MUNAN, Korea, July 1—UP—Enlisted men at this demilitarized armistice base camp voted Christine Jorgensen "Miss Neutral Zone of 1953."

It's because he's a perfectionist. Joanne says. "He wouldn't let me slip up on anything. One hair-raising scene was really something. He made me do it over and over again. Every finger had to be in position. I'd have exploded if it hadn't been my own husband directing me."

There's a finger wagging at Marilyn Monroe and it belongs to movietown disk jockey Johnny Grant.

Affable Johnny, who holds some sort of record for bringing entertainment to Korea, says Doris Day is No. 1 on the hit parade of fighting troops trailed by Debra Paget, Debbie Reynolds, Marilyn and Rosemary Clooney, with Piper Laurie coming up fast.

Johnny tosses bouquets to Cary Grant and Betsy Drake "for arriving in Japan on their own, calling the high brass and asking what they could do to help."

Two Injured In Auto Collision

Two Pampans — one of them a juvenile — are out of the hospital today, following emergency treatment for injuries received in an automobile collision in the 2000-block of Hamilton, south of 21st Street.

Trial estimated damages to the two vehicles are $2,000, city police reported. Henry S. Lang, 24, of 1920 Wilston, and a 15-year-old Pampian were involved in a collision at 3:27 p.m. Tuesday, police said. Mrs. Lang had made a right turn off 21st street, onto Hamilton, when she collided with the juvenile who headed north on Hamilton.

They overlapped fenders in the center of the street," police reported.

Only citation was one for the juvenile on a charge of driving without an operator's license.

The Service group has agreed to act as a telephone committee to invite interested people to attend the annual Red Cross meeting, July 9, for which plans were made.

Williams Installed As Rotary's Chief

Dr. Ed S. Williams took over the reins as president of the Pampa Rotary Club during the organization's annual installation of officers and ladies night held in the Country Club dining room.

The new president was installed by Travis Lively, a past president, who was assisted by Paul Beisenherz, outgoing president.

Other officers installed with Dr. Williams were: Beisenherz, who automatically becomes vice-president; Cecil Williams, secretary; treasurer; Albert Doucette, asst. secretary; Fred Brook, Dr. J. L. Chase, Jr., W. J. McNeill, E. E. Shelhamer, and Floyd Watson, directors.

Wives of Rotarians with perfect attendance records were presented compact and mechanical pencils by the club. ## Business Increase Reported By Pampa Board Of Review

The Pampa Review Board, a committee made up of business men, reported a marked increase in applications from various concerns asking for permission to solicit funds or approval to sell advertising on various out-of-town promotions.

The board was set up three years ago for the purpose of protecting Pampa business people from questionable or borderline cases, and has done an outstanding job in protecting the business people from many questionable promotions, according to a chamber of commerce official.

According to the committee, only 35 per cent of the applications received by the secretary of the committee are approved, which means the average business man is saved a lot of time and money on various out-of-town promotions by the action of the review board.

All local business people are urged to display their review board card prominently in their place of business and not to subscribe to any questionable or borderline cases that do not have their approval card. When in doubt about any particular case, people are urged to contact the chamber of commerce office where information may be obtained concerning any particular promotion.

The board does not relate its activities to any local organization whose reputation within the city is already established in the minds of the people.

Members of the review board are appointed by the president of the chamber of commerce and work as a confidential committee.

6. Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado called for an early meeting of the governors of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado to discuss the drought crisis.

Commissioners Seek Bridge Right-Of-Way

The Gray County Commissioners Court was negotiating this morning for right-of-way with Elmer Imel, of near McLean, for land near the Kellerville bridge which is to be repaired.

The bridge was washed out during the 1951 flood. Imel has asked $250 for a permanent easement but offered to give the right-of-way free of charge if the county wanted only a temporary easement.

County Commissioner O. L. Tibbets, McLean, said it would be necessary to have a permanent easement because heavy trucks using the bridge would make constant repair work necessary.

The commissioners were also paying monthly bills and approving salaries prior to going into their afternoon session.

Damages Escaped In Fire Today

No damage resulted in a city trash truck fire at 604 N. Hazel at 8:40 a.m. today, according to Fire Chief Ernest Winborne.

Club Contributes To Rec Program

A gift of $25 from the 20th Century Club this morning assured Pampa's summer recreation program of being carried through to the end of July at least.

The check arrived in the morning mail, City Manager B. H. Cruce said. It was signed for the club by Mrs. Lucille H. Massa.

Two previous donations, one for $25 by the 20th Century Culture Club and another for $500 by the Lions Club gave the program a total of $2,000. If another $600 can be raised from some other source the city could carry the program through until August 15 at least.

In addition to the gifts, now totaling $500, the city has budgeted $1,500 for the program carried on at three school playgrounds — Sam Houston, B. M. Baker and Carver.

South Koreans Recapture Post

SEOUL, July 1—UP—South Korean troops captured vital Lookout Mountain Wednesday only to lose it to the Chinese hours later in bloody hand-to-hand fighting.

The ROKs charged up the hill Tuesday night and gained the crest after midnight, but the Reds regrouped and mounted a successful counterattack.

Lookout mountain commands the former United Nations outpost line on the east central front.

Troops of the ROK Second Division grabbed two outpost positions on western front north of Chorwon, regaining territory they had lost to the Communists on Monday.

A Chinese battalion attempted to defend the positions fronting Arrowhead Ridge, but the gritty ROKs drove them off.

American fighter-bombers relentlessly pounded Red front line positions, receiving no challenge from Communist planes.

Bombers flew deep into North Korea, hoping to lure Communist MIG-15s from their bases in Manchuria. But the Communists, who lost 15 MIGs Tuesday in duels with Allied Sabrejet pilots, refused to bite.

The ground war involved only South Koreans and Communists as the ROKs fought to gain back the property they had lost to the Reds in the enemy offensive launched two weeks ago.

Assistant County Agent Arrives

The new assistant agent, to serve with Ralph Thomas, comes to Pampa from Wellington where he has served as agriculture instructor with the Veterans Administration.

In the service for the past seven or eight years, he did some Military Police work. Prior to coming to Pampa, Campbell worked in San Diego and Denver, Colo.

The bearded, 66-year-old Arab princeling was reading in the garden of his villa here at 10:25 a.m., when the would-be assassin fired a burst of pistol bullets over the wall. Azeddine was hit in the abdomen and left thigh.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Miss Friend: Would it be too much trouble for you to answer my question? I want to know which states pay their governors the largest salaries.

I got in a discussion the other day and I stated that New York's governor probably made the biggest salary and my friend said he thought California paid the biggest salary.

Since then I've been wondering. Dear Jack F. Governors who receive the largest salaries are those of New York, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania all of whom receive $25,000 a year.

Next highest salary is $22,500 paid by Michigan, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Ohio, pay $20,000. Maryland pays the smallest, $4,500. Utah pays $7,500. Most are between $9,000 and $12,000.

Dear Miss Friend: Would it look all right for me to ask the boy next door to go to a picnic some of us girls are planning? I have known him for years and years. We used to play together when we were little but then we both got other interests.

Now I sort of like him and would like to see him. Mother said why not invite him to the party. I felt it might not look well. Do you think it would be all right?

Dear Worried: I think that it would be perfectly correct for you to ask the boy to the party. I hope that he will accept and be as much fun as you think he will.

Manners Make Friends: Just because you are arriving by car for a visit with family or friends doesn't mean you have to be completely vague about your time of arrival. Let your hostess know whether you'll arrive before or after lunch or dinner.

It can be an awful headache to a hostess waiting around for guests who say vaguely they'll arrive sometime Wednesday.

RUTH MILLETT

Most questions about dating that come to this column are from girls who seem to have more run-ins with parents over how often they may date, how late they may stay out, etc., than boys do.

But lately I received a letter from a 17-year-old boy who says his parents think he shouldn't have more than one date a week. He believes he should be able to take a girl out two or three nights a week. He wants a discussion of the problem in this column.

However, he neglects to say on what grounds his parents object to his going out more than one night a week, so here are a few questions for him to answer.

Do your parents claim that you aren't studying enough and that if you went out on dates several nights a week your grades would suffer?

If that's the problem, then you should be able to handle it by showing them that you can, and will, do better in school than you have been doing.

After all, parents realize how important an education is to a man and you can't blame them for wanting you to do as well in school as you possibly can.

Is it a question of using the family car on your dates? If you would like to take the family car every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night, leaving your parents without transportation, then they would naturally feel that you expected too much.

Is it a matter of money? The 17-year-old boy who thinks he ought to be allowed to date several times a week certainly shouldn't expect his parents to give him money for every date. He ought to earn at least part of his date money.

Talk it over with your parents. Don't just tell them what "all the other fellows your age" do. Ask them why they don't want you dating more than once a week.

If you can find out why then you can probably figure out a way to cooperate and overcome their objections.

Pakistan Wheat Costs Taxpayers

While the Southwest is in the throes of a severe drought, the American taxpayers are being required to spend $20 million to give Pakistan $84 million worth of wheat.

This was disclosed in the weekly newsletter of Rep. Walter Rogers in comparing the Pakistan deal to the drought American wheat.

China, Tibet, Russia, Germany, to name a few that are outside of our borders.

Here at home — well, let me list only a few headlines from the morning papers that I was reading over my morning coffee an hour ago.

Vandenberg Warns Against Air Cuts.
Clark Escapes Judiciary Probe.
America Hated Abroad.
Kaisers Deny Politics in Airplane Contracts.

Cost of Living Rises to Year's High Point.
U. S. Faces Loss of Danish Bases.

Reds Call Electrocuted Spy Pair Immortal U. S. Patriots.
U. S. Freedoms Periled, Librarians' Chief Warns.

For any of us to worry about all these things would not only drive us crazy, but would send us into the poorhouse within a month or two.

So I am starting budgeting, just as I did in 1941.

Indo-China will get no more of my worrying time than my insurance payments. Henry J. Kaiser will get less time than that spent in wondering what I am having for dinner tonight. Any man who can get as much dough from the government as Mr. Kaiser...

I just tore a hole in the knee of the best suit I own, so Indo-China's problems will have to wait until I see whether or not a weaver can do a good job of weaving.

In short, I think all of us should have a little time for our immediate problems. After all, there are the closest.

It is a time that calls for understanding, too. If I had a love one in Korea I'd scream to the heaven against Mr. Rhee and the U. N. and this government stand. But not having a loved one there, I can't help but feel that old man is right. He just is willing to sell out his country.

The truth is that the U.S. has the world by the tail and is wondering, like the little boy at the zoo who grabbed the tiger's tail if it weren't a mile too enthusiastic!

Jockeys Face Hearing
COLLINSVILLE, Ill., June 30—UP—Fairmount race track officials said they would wait for the results of a hearing before the Illinois Racing Board before taking any legal action against eight jockeys, a jockey agent and a tavern owner accused of fixing races.

Because the polar bear can't control his North Pole cooling system, he just has to take the cold the way it comes.

But with an electric room cooler, you choose the temperature that suits you personally. And, because the air is filtered before it enters the room, dust and pollen stay out.

Keep cool this summer the electric way—the way that has your comfort always in mind. It beats being a polar bear.

Oilers romp to Westland Final of Hubs, 11-6

Open Road Trip At Lubbock Tonight

The Oilers showed off for Lubbock today when they opened a six-day road trip into the southern end of the league. The Lubbock Oilers dealt the Oilers some rude treatment the past two nights, completing the sweep of the two-game series here last night, 11-6.

After two games at Lubbock, the Oilers will move on to Abilene for two games Friday and Saturday night and then to Plainview for two Sunday and Monday. They return home next Tuesday for a six-day homestand with the Albuquerque Dukes coming in for the opening series to be followed by Abilene and Plainview.

Last night's game was a nip and tuck affair for seven innings. The Oilers led 4-3 after the stretch inning had been completed, thanks to a towering homer over the left-field fence by Quincy Barbee that broke a 3-3 tie.

Lubbock broke the game wide open the ensuing two innings when they came up with four runs in each frame. Loose play aided led to the Oiler downfall in the late stages.

Manny Diaz singled with the bases loaded for the eighth, to drive in the tying and lead run to give the Hubs the lead they never surrendered.

Jim Schindler led the Hubbar attack with four hits in five trips, one a homerun in the second in-

Bosox Extend Yank Streak Phillies Catching Fire In NL Race

NEW YORK, July 1 (UP)—Granny Hamner called it a "catch fire" ball game and Manager Steve O'Neill of the Phils, who has seen many a thrilling late inning rally, agreed that the 10 to 9 10th inning victory over Brooklyn "could start us on our way."

"I said all along that if we could just stick in fairly close until Curt Simmons can pitch again, we might get enough of a lift to move right up to the top," said O'Neill.

"The kind of a league it is this year, any team which gets hot now for a stretch can win," whooped Hamner, who had driven in four runs with a homer and double.

"We're hitting and I think we've got the pitching."

The Phils, though still in fourth place, three games back gained on all the leaders. And they won it the hard way on a two-run single by rookie Ted Kazanski, plus a deft squeeze bunt by Richie Ashburn, which netted them three runs in the 10th to cushion against a last ditch Dodger rally that produced two tallies on a bases-loaded two-out single by Gil Hodges.

Milwaukee's eight-game losing streak finally came to an end in the second game of a double bill at Cincinnati when Eddie Mathews hit his 22nd homer in the 10th with a man on base for a 4 to 4 victory, after Cincy had taken the opener, 6 to 3 on homers by Andy Seminick, Jim Greengrass and Bob Borkowski in the late innings. Cincinnati's victory was its sixth in a row, but the Milwaukee win ended the streak and put the Braves within half a game of the top-dog Dodgers.

Trouble still plagued the Yankees who blew a 4 to 3 lead at Boston with two out in the ninth when Sammy White hit a two-run homer to give the Red Sox a 5 to 4 victory and extend New York's losing streak to eight games. George Kell also homered for Boston and Alva Reynolds went down to his fourth defeat. Andy Carey and Yogi Berra homered for the Yankees.

Cleveland moved to within five games of the panicky world champions with a labor-saving, five-inning 6 to 4 victory in a rain-halted game at Detroit. Al Rosen and Dale Mitchell each hit two run homers for the victory margin. Detroit scored on a homer by Johnny Pesky just before the rains came.

The White Sox came to the end of a seven-game winning streak when the Browns defeated them 4 to 2 with a 12-hit attack that included a homer by Jim Dyck.

Bob Porterfield of Philadelphia when he pitched his fourth shutout, a six-hit 3 to 0 victory for Washington in which he also delivered a home run. It was his ninth triumph.

The Cubs lit into the three-place Cardinals again for 18 hits and handed them their third straight loss, 10 to 3 as the Phils moved within half a game of the St. Louisans, RE Chicago hits.

Tuesday's Star: Bob Porterfield of Washington who pitched his fourth shutout and ninth victory and a hit a two-run homer in a six-hit 3 to 0 decision over the Athletics.

HOW TO PLAY GOLF

(Second of a Series) BY JULIUS BOROS

Concerning the grip, you might refer to me as a two-grip golfer. That's because I teach one grip and play another.

Most of my golfing days had been spent using the routine over-lapping grip. Then one day about two weeks before the National Open in Dallas in 1952, I got to experimenting with the interlocking grip. I hit a few shots in a practice round and they worked out beautifully.

I finished the round interlocking and wound up with a surprisingly good score.

I kept right on using it into the Open, and I honestly believe that was one of the key reasons for my winning the championship.

Actually, I do not advise using the interlocking grip for all golfers. There must always be a specific reason for using it. One of these — and the one which led me into it — concerns a weak left hand.

Most golfers who have a weak left hand have a tendency to let loose at the top of the backswing. That's where the interlocking grip can help. It aids weak left hand players to hang on to the club better at the top because it gives a firmer left hand.

Much of this looseness, with most golfers, can be traced to small hands or to be more specific, short fingers. In my own case, I have fairly large hands but my fingers are short.

When I overlap, I find that I become a little more lax and surrender some of my control of the club.

The overlapping grip nonetheless is a more natural grip for most players, and the success of it certainly can be attested by the fact that most of the leading money-winners on the professional tournament circuit swear by it.

Overheard In Major Dugouts

NEW YORK, July 1 (UP)—They say in the dugouts:

Gene Woodling of the Yankees came up with a case of poison and a neighborhood pharmacist for help.

"Is there anything I can do to help this?" asked Woodling. "Yup," replied the druggist, "don't sweat too much." Woodling thought, "I got an answer a moment and said: 'Got your suggestions?'"

Outfielder Tom Wright of the White Sox has a son who plays shortstop in the Little League.

"Say, dad," the boy said recently, "I close my eyes whenever the pitcher throws me a curve ball."

To which the older Wright advised: "Don't worry about it a bit—son, I keep my eyes open but it still does not do me much good."

"We may not have had the best ball club in the world this year," admits St. Louis Browns Manager Marty Marion, "but we certainly had the best automobiles."

Brownie players who showed up with Cadillac limousines were pitcher Bob Cain, Harry Brecheen, Earl Harriot, Satchel Paige and Gene Bearden, outfielder Hank Edwards and Marion, himself.

Speaking of automobiles, outfielder Bob Kennedy of the Indians is regarded as baseball's number one sports car racing enthusiast. He owns a $14,000 Italian-made Sciatra racer; which does 130-MPH without half trying.

Peannita Lowry of the Cardinals boasts he knows more Hollywood movie stars personally than any other big leaguer. A native of Los Angeles, he used to wash their cars for them when he was a kid.

Sad Sam Holds A Win Over Every WT-NM Club With Exception Of Borger Gassers

OILERS FITCHER SAYS SAM WILLIAMS holds a win over every club in the league this season with exception of the Borger Gassers. But the lean Negro right-hander hasn't had a shot at the Gassers. He has appeared in only one game against the Borgerans—that in a relief role. Williams faced the Gassers for 1 2/3 innings in the first game of a doubleheader here June 20th, coming in with the Oilers already behind.

Williams has started 16 games this season and has gone 11-6 in 33 of 'em. He has won nine and lost four of the games that he went all the way.

Sad Sam hasn't had a shutout yet but he came close on one occasion. Virgil Richardson dealt the starting mound call tonight and Williams of a whitewash job.

Turner, Alvin Lewis, Lester Robertson, Leon (Nick) Nicholson, James Stalls, Moses John Baird and Mike C. T. Smith, all of the Oilers, will return to the Oiler forces to a sore arm. Molberg will get the starting mound call tonight at Lubbock where the Pampans played a 6-day road jaunt.

MEET THE OILERS

Roy J. Woldt, better known to Oiler baseball fans as "Deck" in having one of his better years in the diamond sport after eight odd years in the professional ranks.

Deck is in his third year with the Oilers and through games of Monday night, he owned a .356 batting mark. One of the highlights of his stick work this season was the 24-game hitting streak in which he hit safely in 17 of 20 dozen straight games without missing. Going into last night's game with Lubbock, Deck had collected 89 hits this season in 250 trips. He had scored 73 times, had rapped out 40 doubles, four triples and four homers, had drawn 52 walks and had 23 RBI's to his credit.

Woldt's value doesn't stop with his hitting. He is considered the finest centerfielder in the league. The Decker hardly misses a game of robbing an opponent of a base hit with his fly-chasing in the middle garden.

The Decker, who has been a fan's favorite here since donning an Oiler uniform three years ago, is another "feather" to his cap. He was named "Most Popular Player" among the Oilers for the month of June. For this honor Deck received a gold wrist watch from Leder's Jewelry.

Woldt broke into professional baseball in 1940. He was signed by the Chicago Cubs that year and was optioned to Eau Claire, for the latter part of the '40 season and the first part of the '41 campaign. He joined the Air Corps in the '42 season and hit .253 in the '42 season and hit .253 in the '43 season and hit .253 in the '44 season.

Deck was picked up by Oklahoma City of the Texas League in 1946 upon being discharged from the service and optioned to Clovis. There he hit .338 for the Oilers in the '46 season and slammed 26 homers.

He was then optioned to Jacksonville of the East Texas League in 1947 and had a .302 batting mark. In '48, the Decker was sent to Wilkes-Barre of the Class A Eastern League and hit .283 in the '48 season and hit .283 in the '49 season.

Cals Win Mutual Game Of Day With 6-0 Victory Over Tulsa

By UNITED PRESS

Two of the Texas League's leading pitchers, Wayne McLeland of Dallas and Don Fracchia of Beaumont, won games Tuesday night as a doubleheader and three single games had little effect on the standings.

McLeland, a righthander who seems to thrive in the hot Texas weather, chalked up his 12th win of the year in beating Oklahoma City in the finals of a doubleheader.

Fracchia, also a righthander, got number 11 as Beaumont pounded San Antonio 11 to 4. In other games, league-leading Shreveport swept its two-game series with Houston 3 to 0 behind seven-hit pitching of Dave Cyrus and Fort Worth's Pete Wiley blanked Tulsa 8 to 0 in an afternoon game broadcast nationally from Fort Worth by Mutual Broadcasting System.

All five runs in the first Dallas-Oklahoma City game came via the home run route. Jay Van Hook recently acquired from Houston, and Ray Cash slammed four-basers for the Indians, good for three runs, and Dallas' Willard Brown cracked a homer in the sixth inning for Dallas two tallies.

Shreveport's Cyrus struck out 11 Buffs in gaining his ninth win of the year against five losses.

Shreveport scored all its runs in the first inning on a walk and three hits. Jack Cardey was the loser.

San Antonio Negro fans honored Mission Pitcher Harry Wilson in pre-game ceremonies, but Wilson was blasted from the box by Beaumont in the second inning after giving up six runs. Milt Jeffe connected for a home run for Beaumont and Charley White slammed a homer for San Antonio.

Committee Probing Labor Strife In Kansas City Area

KANSAS CITY, July 1—UP—House probes Wednesday continued an investigation of labor strife in the Kansas City area after they were told "featherbedding" by unions hiked defense project costs 10 per cent.

Labor strife in the area has idled at least 20,000 construction workers, some of them employed on defense contracts.

John Hillburn said his electrical firm and other companies had to add about 10 to 15 per cent to their bids to "come out on a job" because of labor disputes.

In Literary World

BUENOS AIRES, July 1—UP—A local "drugstore cowboy" crashed the literary world here Tuesday the hard way.

Arietto Gatti paid an unsolicited "Latin compliment" to shapely Mrs. Carlos de Silva when she passed him on the street. Her husband promptly threw Gatti through a bookstore window.

World's northernmost golf course is on the north shore of Hudson Bay, latitude 67, and the southernmost course on the Straits of Magellan, latitude 53.

Hardly one person in a thousand who is invaded by one or another has polio so you could recognize it. Nevertheless, the invasion produces anti-bodies which are in the blood stream for many years, perhaps for the life of the person.

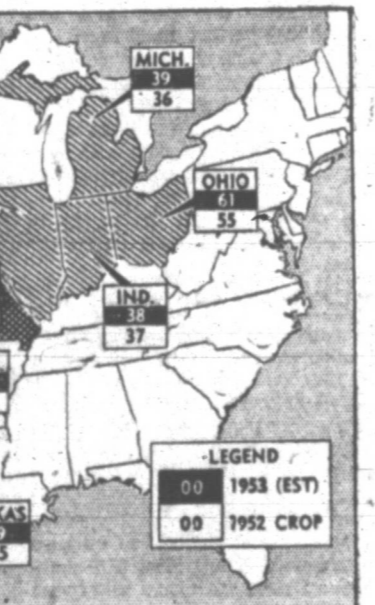

There being so many thousands upon thousands of these carriers of anti-bodies against polio micro-organisms, it was reasoned that if you took their blood and mixed it all together, as is done in the Red Cross blood pools, and then extracted the gamma globulin from the pool, you'd have a substance teeming with anti-bodies to all three of the polio micro-organisms.

This was demonstrated in 1951 and 1952 when this gamma globulin was injected into 27,388 children in polio epidemic areas.

During the first week after injection, it seemed to give the children little or no protection. But those who got polio had very mild cases, as though the "borrowed" anti-bodies had averted the incubation of the polio micro-organisms which were already in their bodies.

The protection seemed at its height during the second week and continued high through the third, fourth, and fifth weeks. Thereafter, it diminished rapidly. It did not always work 100 per cent, but the relatively few children who developed polio anyway, had mild, non-paralytic cases.

RICH DEPOSIT FOUND
Cross on map shows location of one of the richest deposits of nickel ore ever found. It is near Lynx Lake in Western Ontario, 53 miles northwest of Kenora, Ont. Plans are under way to begin mining the ore as early as August. The nickel in the rich vein assays at 10 per cent, while ore which runs at 1-per-cent nickel is considered 'good.'

Map illustrates the abnormal conditions ruling this year's wheat crop. As can be seen from comparative 1952-53 figures, the great western "breadbasket" states (dark shading) will have a much-reduced harvest. In contrast, the eastern crop is expected greatly to exceed that of 1952.

'Don't Drive,' Is Claimed To Be Safest Holiday Tip

WASHINGTON, July 1—UP—Fifty million American motorists are warned before each national holiday of the hazards of the road at such times.

And just about that many motorists disregard the sound advice, which is, "don't drive."

L. S. Harris, executive director of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, realizes that many times he is wasting his breath. But he says what he has said many times before: "Immobilizing is the best holiday policy."

Last year over the July 4 holiday, Harris said 348 persons died on the highways. And he adds: "But Millions Will Travel."

"In view of the inexorably intolerable and dangerous traffic conditions when additional millions of drivers take to the highways—many with rusty driving skills—it would be wiser to select holiday entertainment which can be reached afoot or by public transportation."

Harris admits that a lot of people will insist on driving anyhow. He thinks that these folks would greatly "improve" their chances for survival if they would back off a few paces and make three frank admissions to themselves.

1. Admit that your car is not new
2. Admit it when you are tired.
3. Admit that you are late. And don't try to make up lost time by breaking speed and safety regulations.

A 10-Year Plan
The Auto Manufacturers Association wants Congress to adopt a 10-year road modernization program. They think it would help to solve the nation's congested traffic and save a lot of lives.

James Cope, vice president of Chrysler, has presented the AMA proposal to a House committee. "Overcrowded and unsafe roads and streets, he said, cost the motoring public at least $3 billion each year."

"AMA studies," he adds, "also show that two in five traffic deaths could be avoided if needed improvements were made in roads and streets. At the current rate, this would mean 15,000 lives annually."

Cope thinks it costs far more to tolerate unsafe and inadequate highways than it would cost to finance a road system which would eliminate the economic losses which would eliminate economic losses.

Bumper crops, like this one at West Farmington, Ohio, prevail in the eastern wheat states. Ohio's crop may exceed 60 million bushels, the previous record. Storage space in these states is very limited. That spells "headache" for farmers and federal officials. Even moth-baited ships are being pressed into storage service.

Meet Gamma Globulin

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Writer

Gamma Globulin, one of the many components of blood, containing the "anti-bodies" with which the body fights off invasions of disease-causing micro-organisms such as viruses.

When foreign bodies get in, the body reacts chemically to protect itself. It manufactures anti-body substances which are tailor-made to knock off the particular invader and none other. These appear in huge quantities in the blood stream and after the invader is routed, they remain in the blood for a long time.

Polio can be considered three diseases, not one, because it is caused by three different micro-organisms or viruses, the anti-bodies which protect against one, are no good against the other two. But all three viruses are extremely inefficient as disease-causers.

WASHINGTON, July 1—UP—Rep. John J. Dempsey (D-N. M.) asked President Eisenhower Tuesday to act immediately to help cattlemen hit by the drought in New Mexico. ## Biblical Charity

(Ed. Note: The following story of THE GOOD SAMARITAN is excerpted from the book "Essays on Liberty," published by the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington on Hudson, New York.)

By THE REV. RUSSELL J. CLINCHY

... The one story which best exemplifies all the teachings of Jesus regarding our relationship to the need of others is the story of the Good Samaritan. There was a man who was beaten by robbers and left to die.

A priest, and then a Levite, came along. As it should be, the choice of helping the man was left with each of them. Both chose not to help.

Then a Samaritan came by. He personally and voluntarily accepted a responsibility for the man who was in need. He knelt down and bound up the man's wounds, took him to the nearest inn, and paid for having him cared for until he could return and pay the bill in full.

In accepting this personal responsibility for the need of his neighbor, he acted in accord with God's commandments.

But in this immortal story, we should remember that Christ did not say that part of the duty of the charitable man was to levy a tax upon the priest and the Levite so that they would be forced to pay two-thirds of the cost of helping the wounded man, even against their will, while he would pay the other third, which would be his share under such an arrangement.

The Bible confronts each with his responsibility. But in addition to being purely personal, it is also completely voluntary. And the excuse of "good motives" in voting to confiscate another's money will hardly be adequate.

For how can charity — the love of a person for his fellow men — ever be connected with force and compulsion in any form?

Are not these two concepts — the voluntary law of love of person for person, and the compulsory law of force of person against person — irreconcilable in all respects?

We would like to hear from our readers whether or not they agree with this radical interpretation of a parable by the greatest radical who ever lived, Jesus. If you agree with this interpretation you may begin to question whether or not any function of government which is based on the idea of forcibly taking away from Joe in order to do good to Jim is in harmony with Christ's teachings.

"When World Government Moves In"

Here is the last installment of an article by Douglas Reed on "When World Government Moves In," as published in the Economic Council Letter No. 312.

In the last issue Mr. Reed was giving a little background on Edward Mandell House's endorsement of some type of association or league above nations, and reported that House prompted President Wilson in 1916 to publicly support the plan for "some league of nations."

I continue to quote: "Mr. Wilson himself never 'seriously studied' the program of this league implicitly approved by him. At that point a wise man put in a word (which was ignored): Lord Robert Cecil reminded Mr. House that the Holy Alliance, too, had been started 'as a league to enforce peace, but unfortunately it allowed its energies to be diverted in such a way that it really became a LEAGUE TO UPHOLD TYRANNY.' (The capitalized words correctly describe today's attempt of the One Worlders.) In 1932, incidentally, Senator Robert Taft used similar words in his book, 'A Foreign Policy For Americans': 'The theory of an international state bearing the same relation to nations and their citizens as our Federal Government bears to the States and their citizens appears to me, at least in this century, to be fantastic, dangerous and impractical.' American friends tell me that this opinion may have cost Senator Taft the presidential nomination. I am not competent to judge if that might be so; if it is, it shows that the One Worlders are powerful, not merely 'crackpots.'"

"In the sequences to President Wilson's speech, Mr. House set up a body called merely 'The Inquiry' to draft the plan of a 'new world order.' The leading spirits were Dr. Sidney Mezes (Mr. House's brother-in-law); Dr. Isaiah Bowman; and Mr. Walter Lippman (who today is a vigorous opponent of the Briker Amendment). Apparently this body produced the first American draft of a Convention for a League of Nations; Mr. House's biographer says that 'Mr. Wilson was not and never pretended to be the author of the covenant.'"

"Nevertheless, Mr. Wilson insisted that there must be a new 'general association of nations' and so stated in his famous Fourteen Points speech of January, 1918. The fate of the Fourteen Points is known; one of them related to the independence of the Palestinian Arabs. However, the 'association of nations' in its first edition, was established. The League to Enforce Peace was the first open move of the One Worlders; out of it came the League of Nations; and out of that came the United Nations. The present plan is one to realize, through this misnamed body, the United Nations, the fullness of the old, original plan: a league of upholders of tyranny. There is a fairly clear line of descent from the Illuminati, who aroused George Washington's misgivings, through Louis Blanc and Philip Dru to Waplag (World Association of Parliamentarians for World Government) of 1953.

"Waplag and its kindred organizations will be interesting to watch, especially in 1955. The men whose names appear on the letter-heads and playbills may be crackpots or cranks, or delusional or reverts out of a job; the men behind them are dangerous, known exactly what they want, and through two generations of Western politicians, dazzled by the word 'internationalism,' have come near to achieving it.

"They have more than one iron in the fire, too. The plan to superimpose their World Government on nations through treaties is a skillful one, and there is a Californian judgment on record to show how insidiously the incredible might be achieved. Something equally dangerous (and against this not even the Briker Amendment or like safeguards in other Western Countries would give protection) is the possible use of force, in any situation resembling the anarchic one which existed in Western Europe in the 1920's following the end of the fighting.

"The seizures in 1951 and 1952 of various American cities by troops, apparently ordered and authorized to consider themselves as members of a World Army, might be of significance in this respect. These incidents looked like rehearsals for the kind of regime outlined in the Waplag document which I have summarized above. There has been at least one similar incident in another Western Country; France, where the Mayor of Cahors (a One Worlder) suddenly seize a neighboring town, declared it to have been 'mundialized,' and compelled the citizens to subscribe themselves as World Citizens in the main square.

"To me it seems clear that the One Worlders would use any third way to clamp down on mankind a tyranny worse than the Communist one, the destruction of which would, at the outset, be declared as the objective. That would simply be the repetition of the course taken by the Second War, in which tyranny was overthrown merely to enlarge the area of tyranny. It is from this third quarter that the new falsification of purposes threatens. The One Worlders, I estimate, need more vigilantly to be watched than even the Communists; and home defense in the West needs to be directed against them even more than against bombs, for those forty years have shown them to be expert in the thought-control of leading politicians."

What's Been Biting You?

National Whirligig... Discontent In Red Empire Will Force Foreign Policy Revision

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — The revelations of widespread popular discontent within the Communist empire will force a sharp revision of Washington's policy toward the Kremlin's dictators, as distinct from the oppressed Russian and satellite peoples, that offers promise of eventual liberation will supplant the Truman-Acheson-Kennan program of "containment" and building "positions of strength" against Soviet expansion.

Although this strategy was necessary to save the free world from engulfment in 1945, a more positive thrust to break the Politburo's grip on almost 800,000,000 unhappy people is needed now.

Invited Communist Invasion — The idea of "containment" or "co-existence" with their official fallers never had any appeal or inspiration to revolt for the subjugated victims. To them it signified Western acquiescence in their permanent imprisonment by Moscow's tyrants and their secret police-military stooges.

It meant our acceptance of incarceration for them so long as we could remain free, or make a workable deal with the Kremlin behind their backs. When Dean Acheson delineated the Pacific and other frontiers that we would defend, it appeared to them that we had turned the lock in their dungeon door. It also invited Communist invasion of South Korea.

LIKE ADVOCATES LIBERATION — President Eisenhower sensed the difference in the two approaches when he advocated "liberation" during the campaign, presumably with his eye on certain racial elements' support.

He modified his suggestion to "peaceful liberation" when Truman and Stevenson turned it against him. "We shall never acquiesce in the enslavement of any people in order to purchase fancied gain for ourselves."

In addressing the editors in April in a major foreign policy speech, he would confer with Georgi Malenkov for discussion of an overall settlement of world difficulties — and end to aggression, free elections in the satellite states and a willingness to cooperate for international peace.

The riots in East Berlin, the strikes in the uranium mines in Germany, the Czechoslovakian revolt against monetary revaluation, the refusal of 40,000 North Korean prisoners to return to Communist captivity — all prove that Ike was right.

TIME FOR BOLD ACTION — Eisenhower must now devise practical means for capitalizing on this anti-Kremlin bitterness. He also must convince our European Allies, especially Churchill, that further attempts to deal or negotiate with a shaky dynasty of murderers should be abandoned.

The Nation's Press

THE REVOLUTIONARY IDEA (The Wall Street Journal)

The Yugoslavs are doubtless not the only ones surprised by the results of their first, faint dabblings with a market economy. The self-anointed apostles of the socialist, completely managed economy — of whom there are many hereabouts — must be equally hard put to explain the startling success of even small doses of free enterprise.

Two years ago Yugoslavia had an almost perfect mechanism for making a managed economy. In the best socialist fashion it had a centralized bureaucracy to allocate all the nation's raw materials and labor, to fix prices and wages, and to direct the distribution of the product. Being totalitarian, the state also had the power to enforce its plans with police decrees.

The mechanism worked fine. The only trouble, in the words of Economics Minister Vukmanovic-Tempo, was that "the results were disastrous." For want of bolts, heavy industries stalled; for want of shoelaces, pins and buttons, the store shelves were empty; for want of crops, the cupboards were bare.

So the revolutionary Yugoslavs tried — a bit timidly, to be sure — a revolutionary idea. The manager of each individual enterprise has been given a good deal of independence and freedom to bid for his own materials, sell wherever he can and produce according to the cues of the marketplace.

As our Mr. Phillips reported yesterday, the first steps have brought to millenium but the results were certainly startling. A coal "shortage" disappeared in a matter of months; foundry output doubled; farm production climbed; and a man can buy shoelaces even in state run stores.

The explanation, we think, is not difficult. In part it is due to the fact that a market economy provides an incentive for management and for labor: the Yugoslavs found it made quite a difference when the foundry workers' wages were not "guaranteed," but depended on the foundry's output.

In part it is due to the spiritual release that comes to men who no longer feel themselves mere ciphers at the bottom of a monopolistic state.

But there is more to it than a change of motive for men to work. The mechanics of the marketplace provide something state planning cannot, a method of determining the relative values of things the community needs, and thus a means of allocating its resources to best meet those needs.

What is the proper price relationship between buttons and shoelaces? How many buttons should you make relative to the number of shoes? Which is the most economical fuel for a community to use in its locomotives: Coal or diesel oil?

A competent engineering planner can tell you at what point it is better to shift from coal to oil — if he knows the price of coal and the price of oil. But if some other bureaucrat is setting the price of coal and oil by guess, the engineer has nothing to plan with. The other bureaucrat may be able to do a reasonable job of determining the price of coal and oil if he knows the price of say, labor in producing it, and getting it to the place of use. But if its price of labor, too, is set by arbitrary decree, then everybody is at sea without a compass.

Under such a system even the most devoted officials and conscientious workers flounder. Planning is fine; men must do so if they are to make the most of their world. But the fatal flaw in the socialist system is that by destroying the marketplace, it de-

Fair Enough... Witness Says He Did No Work While On Government Payroll

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

One of the sterling statesmen who furnished government propaganda facilities for the Society for the Prevention of World War III is Congressman Arthur G. Klein, a Roosevelt-Truman Democrat of the 19th district which lies on the east side of New York from Fortieth Street down. The government printing office printed documents, including propaganda for the Morgenthau Plan which would have left all Germany easy prey for an unobstructed Russian invasion. The stuff was shipped to the New York office of the society and from there it was broadcast by mail with free postage under the franks of numerous accommodating congressmen.

By this process Klein and others burdened taxpayers with the costs of spreading political propaganda for Isidore Lipschutz, a diamond dealer who took sanctuary here from Hitler's fury, and others implicated in the society. These include Quentin Reynolds, who gets by these days as a minor pundit on television. He also discourses "narrative" for the soundtracks of "documentary" propaganda movies.

Many persons listed by Lipschutz as members or officers of his society actually had become suspicious and quit. One of them, an admiral whose rank gave a dressy touch to the list, said he never really joined. He just gave Lipschutz permission to list his name when Lipschutz approached him at a public dinner. Lipschutz also is the backer of a privately operated espionage bureau called the Non-Securian Anti-Nazi League. His operatives have boasted of thefts and other crimes done under a pretext of opposing "racism."

One of the documents sent under Klein's franks was dumped into the Congressional Record with Klein's perfectly open admission that it consisted of two editorials from the official publication of the society. This magazine has a small circulation and its cost per copy is high. Thus, Klein's generosity to Lipschutz, Reynolds and his other associates at the expense of the taxpayers relieved the group of a financial burden.

Our interest today, however, concerns the character of Congressman Klein. I refer to the official record of the New York state Crime Commission. The witness is Arthur Ricca, a typical, useless New York political hanger-on who landed on the payroll of the Congressman when he acted as a secretary and drew salary regularly although he never did a lap of work nor either of them.

He worked only a few months for Edelman, but landed with Klein when he took the seat on Edelman's death.

Ricca is a clerk in his wife's liquor store and captain in the Sixth Election District. As captain, his duties are to "try all my best to help the people in the district; especially all those who couldn't speak English. I try my best between religion and the club."

Ben H. Matthews, a special assistant to the attorney-general of the state, asked Ricca whether he ever got any reward for this. "I was clerk to Congressman Michael Belmont for a month, getting about $118-$120 a month—I don't remember exactly."

Mr. Matthews presented a letter from the House of Representatives showing that he was Edelman's clerk from Feb. 6 through July 29, 1941, at $1,800 a year. "And you also were clerk to Congressman Arthur G. Klein."

"That's right," Ricca said. "In the 19th Congressional from Feb. 19, 1946, through to June 30, 1948, at $1,300 a year."

"That's right," Ricca said. "And from July 1, 1948, to June 30, 1948, at $1,502.16 a year."

"It must be right," said Ricca. "Now who got you that job?" "Recommendation from my leader."

"What was that for?" Ricca said. "You know what it is," said Ricca. "Commissioner Proskauer broke in. 'No, we don't know. We want you to tell us.' Ricca said: 'The congressman, he has so much; ten, fifteen thousand dollars a year.' Proskauer: 'The question is what did you get for? How did you come to get it? Was it a reward for your work?' Ricca: 'I mean through my leader.' Proskauer: 'What were your duties?' Ricca: 'Nothing.' Proskauer: 'You just got a gift of $1,500 a year from the government?'" Ricca: "That's right."

Matthews: "Where were you supposed to work?" Ricca: "I don't know; I never worked. I received a check, that's all I know." "How did you get on Congressman Klein's payroll?" "Through my leader." "The only work you did was to stroy the only means by which the planning of men can be intelligent." How can even the all-powerful men in Moscow's Politburo tell whether their planners have put a sane price on a bushel of wheat, except by comparing it with the relative value on the world markets outside — probably by looking it up in some capitalist newspaper like this one? It's quite revolutionary discovery the Yugoslavs have made for themselves. And fortunately the mechanism of the market place exists in the old-fashioned part of the world, and all they have to do is import it. Otherwise, they would have had to invent it.

U.S. Army's Elite (And Brainy) GIs: the SPPs

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
ARMY CHEMICAL CENTER, EDGEMOND, Md.—(NEA)—The U.S. Army has at last found a way to put square pegs in square holes.
Several thousand, anyway.

And the results are turning out fine, although with a few discomforting twists.

The SPPs are a group of very brilliant young enlisted men known officially as Scientific and Professional Personnel.

As of now, to qualify for an SPP job, you've got to have a masters degree in some science or profession. And I think I've been able to make a real contribution to the project I'm on.

Nielsen, according to his commanding officer, is a brilliant chemical engineer. He was graduated from the University of Michigan last year and worked for an oil company while finishing his graduate studies before he was drafted.

The SPPs have their own club
and they constitute most of the GI force on this large base. There's no guard house because there's no discipline problem.

It also means no chance to become an officer, a very difficult chance even to get an enlisted promotion, and no chance to win
medals or overseas ribbons.

In exchange, however, the SPP
gets to spend his period of service in his own field of scientific work and gets out of the Army with valuable experience under his belt.
The Army may lose a good general duty officer and field leadership material, but it gets the use of a lot of scientific brain-power which it can't buy on the civilian market today.

There are close to 1000 of these master-minds in the current Chemical Corps SPP program, the biggest one in the Army. They hold down key jobs in the labs
and get all kinds of complicated,
technical assignments.

One officer estimates that the SPPs do close to one-third of all of the scientific and technical work accomplished here. The work they do is so important the details of contract, and he was afraid that the opponents could make five hearts.

South might have beaten five hearts if he had opened a low diamond, taken the ace of hearts promptly, and led another low diamond to North's queen in order to get a spade ruff.

But South was better, off not even trying to find such a fantastic

their club bridge team is rated the best in the East. They've set up a job-placement office, which is constantly hounded by personnel officials from the biggest corporations.

And they've started a scholarship fund to send the outstanding high school graduate of adjoining Harford County to college.

About one-third of the present
SPP crop has indicated a desire to stay on here as civilian scientists after they get out of service.
All of them have had several years of good jobs in private industry when they get out.

Since the Army started the program more than a year ago, 11,000 SPPs have participated. "It would be hard to overestimate the tremendous contribution these men have made to our research and development program," says Lt.
Col. Walter W. Kuehler, head of one of the labs.

The same sentiment is echoed by everyone who has had anything to do with the SPP program.

That doesn't keep Pvt. Paul O.
Nielsen of Detroit from speaking out on what he thinks about the program, however.

"I must admit that I was skeptical about the idea at first," he says, "having heard so much about Army methods. But it has really amazed me how well the thing works. My job has been a constant challenge to me. I've learned more than I think I could have in private industry, in fact.
And I think I've been able to make a real contribution to the project I'm on."

Nielsen, according to his commanding officer, is a brilliant chemical engineer. He was graduated from the University of Michigan last year and worked for an oil company while finishing his graduate studies before he was drafted.

The SPPs have their own club
and they constitute most of the GI force on this large base. There's no guard house because
there's no discipline problem.

It also means no chance to become an officer, a very difficult chance even to get an enlisted
promotion, and no chance to win
medals or overseas ribbons.

In exchange, however, the SPP
gets to spend his period of service
in his own field of scientific work
and gets out of the Army with valuable experience under his belt.
The Army may lose a good general duty officer and field leadership material, but it gets the use of a lot of scientific brain-power
which it can't buy on the civilian
market today.

There are close to 1000 of these
master-minds in the current Chemical Corps SPP program, the biggest one in the Army. They hold down key jobs in the labs
and get all kinds of complicated,
technical assignments.

One officer estimates that the SPPs do close to one-third of all
of the scientific and technical work accomplished here. The work they do is so important the details of contract, and he was afraid that the opponents could make five hearts.

WASHINGTON, June 30—UP—
Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.)
said Tuesday the U. S. foreign aid program has about outlived its usefulness and should be wound up within a year.

His statement, in a speech prepared for Senate debate on the pending $5,318,000,000 mutual security bill, came as a surprise because Mansfield has long been regarded as a leading congressional supporter of foreign aid.

"For the sake of our foreign policy objectives, we should begin to wind up foreign aid as quickly as possible," he told the Senate.

He proposed an amendment to limit the mutual security program to one additional year, and require Congress to make a "thorough examination" next January of the need for any further aid. The pending bill would extend the program two years as recommended by President Eisenhower.

Senate leaders, meanwhile, hoped for passage of the aid measure, without substantial change, by Wednesday. The bill merely authorizes another round of foreign aid spending, and the actual money must be voted by Congress in a separate appropriation bill later.

'Ivan' On Short End Of East German Anti-Red Activities

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
It's abundantly clear now that Ivan came off on the short end in an old-fashioned shell game in East Germany.

For four years he has been making like a city slicker who knew all the answers in the East—West game of putting German military might back into harness.

He jumped the gun on the Western powers by creating the nucleus of a German vest-pocket edition of the Red Army in the guise of a para-military "people's police."

That made it look like Ivan knew where the elusive pea was on the first move.

Then Heavy Betting
So Ivan got down to heavy betting. He upped the Volkspolizei to 120,000 men. He gave them tanks, armored cars, artillery, automatic weapons, uniforms patterned after the garb of the Red army itself.

At least 134 of its officers were reduced in ranks.

Soviet zone Communist leader publicly announced that plans to expand the "vopos" into a full fledged army have been scrapped.
They said finances were to blame, but the real reason was obvious as a black eye in the church choir.

The police army was at best a dismal flop; at worst downright moot.

Some Facts Known
No one west of the Iron Curtain is likely ever to know the extent of its failure. But this much is certain:

At least 826 of its officers and 120,000 men were sentenced to prison camps, and some were sbernarly shot, for refusal to obey
Soviet orders to fire on the rioters.

Bill Helps Korean Vets
WASHINGTON, June 30—UP—
The Senate passed and sent to the White House Monday a bill giving Korean war veterans the same government credit benefits for purchases of homes and farms held by veterans of World War II.

At least 134 of its officers were
reduced in ranks.

Dummy's Deception Lifts Eyebrows
BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Every experienced player has made deceptive plays as declarer or as a defender. It is more unusual, however, to make a deceptive play in the dummy—the hand that is in full sight at all times.

South didn't bid six clubs with any certainty that he could make the contract. He just knew that he would not be hurt badly at a club

South might have beaten five
hearts if he had opened a low
diamond, taken the ace of hearts
promptly, and led another low
diamond to North's queen in order
to get a spade ruff.

But South was better, off not
even trying to find such a fantastic defense. It was far safer to play the hand at six clubs, especially since a slip in the defense allowed him to make this slam contract.

When West opened the king of hearts, declarer said that the slam
contract depended only on restric-

But South was better, off not
even trying to find such a fantastic
defense. It was far safer to play
the hand at six clubs, especially since a slip in the defense allowed
him to make this slam contract.

When West opened the king of
hearts, declarer said that the slam
contract depended only on restric-

ing the diamond loss to one trick.
He had to do everything in his power to persuade the defenders to discard diamonds.

He refused the opening heart lead in dummy, led a trump to his hand, and ruffed another low heart in dummy. He then proceeded to lead all but one of his trumps, forcing the opponents to search for safe discards.

As soon as dummy ran out of trumps, declarer discarded a low diamond from the dummy; and on the next round of trumps he discarded another low diamond from the dummy.

By the time that South's hand had been reduced to one trump and three diamonds, West had to decide which four cards to save.
Should he save three diamonds and the black ace of spades? This might allow South to set up a spade trick. It looked safer to hold two spades and only two diamonds, particularly since the diamond discards from the dummy indicated that South was not greatly interested in that suit.

When West reduced to only two diamonds, it was a cinch for South to lead a low diamond from his hand and win two diamond tricks.
However, if dummy had carefully saved all of the diamonds, West might have saved three diamonds, and then South would have lost two diamond tricks.
