Brief History of the Organization

For 55 years the White House Properties has worked continuously to further the growth and welfare of the Top of Texas.

In 1898 B. F. Tepe organized the firm under the name, the B. F. Tepe Lumber. He has been one of the leaders who have guided the business in its growth and service so that now White House includes seven yards in the Panhandle and one in Odessa. Panhandle yards of White House Properties are located in Pampa, Booker, Follett, Miami, Perryton, Shamrock and Spearman.

As White House Properties grew the firm adapted itself to meet challenging business conditions and opportunities. In its development White House Properties changed its name four times: B. F. Tepe Lumber from 1898 to 1907; The Tepe-Hoover Lumber Company from 1907 to 1910; The White House Lumber Company from 1910 to 1949; and White House Properties from 1949. Through the years White House Properties expanded its facilities to provide greatest satisfaction for its patrons. At one time it operated 15 yards. Later various business conditions caused the company to reduce the number. White House Properties learned that by consolidating its efforts to obtain the greatest efficiency it is able to offer more service and greater values with eight yards than with 15.

Employees who provide the services of White House Properties and the years they joined the firm are: B. F. Tepe of Pampa, 1898; Cecil Fitzgerald of Booker, 1930; J. B. Woodington of Pampa, 1935; Jay D. Prichard of Perryton, 1936; Joe Ruehs of Odessa, 1937; Ed Hutton of Spearman, 1942; Buck Worley of Pampa and Frank L. Gracey of Miami, 1946; E. B. Bowman of Pampa, 1948; Leroy Riffet of Follett, 1951; and Curtis L. Chasteen of Shamrock, 1953.

And now may we continue to serve you?

Sad Sam Huris Top Hitter Williams Notches 14th, 15th Wins

"Sad Sam" Williams wasn't moaning at Blue Sox Stadium Saturday pair of hits in the fifth, White and night as he hurled his Pampa Oil-Singleton connecting, and one each night as he hurled his Pampa Oilers to a double victory, taking the first game, 7-3, and the finale, 9-0, and allowing Abliene but nine hits in both games combined.

The twin win for the Oilers' ace pitcher brought his record to 15 victories against five defeats.

In the curtain raiser Williams shut out the Sox completely for four innings then allowed first baseman mere four in the opener.

Oilers Acquire Five New Players In Bolstering Team For Stretch Drive

The Ollers business management has announced the acquisition five new players who will join the club immediately.

The latest to be acquired was a rookie catcher from Wilkes-Barre Club of the Class A Eastern League by name of Lambrinos (no first name available). Lambrinos stands 6-2, scales 190 and bats and throws right. In 15 games with Wilkes-Barre, Lambrinos batted .258, Lambrinos is being acquired to give Manager Porky Pawelek some rest.

An infielder and pitcher, both limited service classification, have been bought by the Oilers from Middlesboro, Ky., of the Mountain States League. They are pitcher Norman Wood and infielder Oscar Rodriguez, both of whom come highly recommended, Another infielder and pitcher from Ft. Worth have been recommended to the Ollers by ex-Oller manager, Jake Phillips. Jim Robinson, an infielder, and Jim Kilmer, a pitcher, both rookies, joined the Ollers at Abilene last night,

Wood, Rodriguez, and Lambrinos left immediately for, Pampa and are due here when the Oilers return Tuesday from their current road

THE FIRST COURSE at dinner affords the opportunity of serving something interesting in the appetizer or soup line. Your popularity as a thoughtful hostess will spread if you serve something as interesting as this combination of pineapple, pears and maraschino cherries.

PINEAPPLE-PEAR COCKTAIL 1 cup of crushed pineapple (No. 1 1/2 cup water

3 large pears flat can)

1 tablespoon lemon juice

3 maraschino cherries

Blend pineapple, lemon juice, sugar and water and turn into refrigerator tray. Place in freezing compartment with the control set at lowest temperature. Freeze until mushy, stirring accasionally with a fork (this will take approximately an hour). Pare, core and dice chilled pears into serving dishes. Top with the frozen pineapple mixture and half a cherry. Serve at once, Serves 6.

with her daughter and family son, Gregory Lee of San Antonio until Bob was 15 years old. When she died, she left her daughter a firmly established reputation as a Great Giver.

If Mrs. Barnes made a dress for Ann, nobody took this service as a matter of course. Everyone said to Ann, "I wonder if you really appreciate your mother!"

If someone dropped in to find Mrs. Barnes ironing one of Bob's shirts, she felt compelled to say, "On the go for the children again?"
Even Mr. Barnes suffered from the general delusion that his wife possessed a rarely generous devotion to her family. Though he knew that other men's wives often baked cake for Sunday dinner, his wife's reputation as a Great Giver was too much for him. He regarded her Sunday cake as a feat of extraordinary thoughtfulness.

This was bad. What made it worse was that Mrs. Barnes herself was hypnotized by her reputation. Trying to live up to it kept her chronically exhausted.

She often wished she could buy Ann's clothes and send Bob's shirts to the isundry. But she'd learned-from her own mother—to depend on self-denial for self-respect, so she dared not stop self-denial, Inevitably, in exchange for her own aelf-denials, she felt that the children should go in for it, too.

As a consequence, Bob married a girl whom his mother detested, Because of his sense of obligation its the Great Giver, he had to hide his relationship with the girl. When Mrs. Barnes discovered it, he felt so guilt-stricken that he needed all the comfort the girl could give him. So at 20, he quit college, married, and divorced her three years later.

The "natural love" for any. thing made of wood led a one-time Western Union messenger boy to head for the tall timber and emerge years later as head of a thriving lumber yard chain on the High Plains of the Texas Panhandle.

Briefly, that is the history of Ben Tepe, veteran of 55 years in the lumber and building business who now heads the sprawling White House Properties whose general offices have recently been moved from Canadian to Pampa, "where it should have been for several years."

Communist Flip Flop

While American public interest has been focused on Korean truce possibilities, recent developments in the Soviet zone of East Germany have been no less signifi-

They are highlighted by the latest case in which East German authorities relaxed a production speedup after 20,000 building-trades workers had protested in East Berlin. The mere fact that anybody under a Communist government control can protest against any decree is surprising enough in itself. But the fact that the workman had their demands met is positively sensational.

It is possible that the long-repressed workers taking this concession as a sign of weakness, were inspired to the widespread riots that brought out Russian tanks and machine guns and resulted in martial law being declared. Before this, over the past couple of weeks, West Berlin and West German authorities have been astounded by these other events:

1. A change from a Russian military commander to a civilian high commissioner.

2. A halt on expansion of the collectivized farm sys-

3. An offer of state bank credits to private businessmen to reopen shops and factories that had been closed down because they offered competition to state indus-

4. A promise of amnesty and return of property to refraces who would return to East Germany.

5. Relaxation of controls over the churches, church property, clergymen and church organizations such as youth groups.

6. Issuance of ration cards to all East Germans, regordless of whether they had Communist Party political

The suddenness with which these reforms have been put into effect in this latest turnabout of Communist policy has of course sent all non-Communist government officials searching for motives.

When the U. S. High Commissioner to Germany, former Harvard-President James B. Conant, returned to Washington early in June to testify before congressional committees, he made one radio appearance in which he laid great stress on the completeness of the separation between East and West Germany

He emphasized that this sovietization of East Germany had been intensified over the past year. From the very day on which the new "contractual agreement" peace treaty had been signed last May between West Germany and the western allied powers, the Communists began to tighten their hold on East Germany.

The border had been closed at all points except the autobahn and the railroad into Berlin. Collectivization of farms was stepped up. More private industries were closed down. Production quotas on farms and factories were raised to levels impossible to meet.

The result was that the number of refugees fleeing from East Germany to West Germany increased. When West Berlin's Mayor Ernest Reuter was in Washington last March, he reported the refugee stream approaching 60,000 a month. Though Berlin had camps capable of handling 65,000 refugees at a time, the capacity was being increased by 25,000. Only half as many refugees could be airlifted out daily to West Germany as came into Berlin.

The main reason given for flight was sovietization of the economy. When their property was confiscated, East Germans felt it was time to leave. Nobody knew what conditions would be tomorrow. Better leave to-

There was general feeling that the split between East and West Germany might last for 10 years. But before Dr. Conant could get back to his post, all this was changed. Communist policy did another one of its inexplicable flip-flops.

The search for motives behind this reversal is as fruitless as most speculation about Communist policy. It is generally recognized that the new policy could be reversed again on no notice.

Why the Communists allowed the refugee stream to pour into West Germany is a mystery. One guess is that the Communists were deliberately trying to rid their zone of anti-Communists in this way. There were wild rumors in Germany last year that the Russians wanted to repopulate East Germany with Russians - or even

When the net effect of this policy was that 10 per cent of the East German population had migrated or been sent to concentration camps, food production began to fall off sharply.

East Germany — once Europe's richest breadbasket may this year have an actual food shortage. This economic factor alone might be sufficient reason for the Communists to relax their sovietization of East Germany, to lure back the refugee German farmers.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Ostrich "Educators"

Probably most readers think that I overdo opposition to tax supported schools. I devote so much attention to them because I am convinced that we cannot reverse our trend towards Socialism and get people to believe in individual liberty and freedom and responsibility pending upon education from men who act like ostriches, from men who have to go underground and have certain moral questions they will not discuss. The usual answer of a superintendent when a proposal is made to give him $500 for an hour's time to investigate whether tax supported schools are in agreement with the Golden Rule is, that it would do no good. Just recently an old classmate of mine got that answer when he approached an ex-school superintendent in the city in which I was reared. The Superintendent at Santa Ana brushed off the proposal by the same answer.

It is hard to conceive how the superintendents of schools can draw that conclusion unless they believe that their judgment is infallible. Of course, it would not do much good for increasing state power, but it certainly would do a lot of good in promoting a belief in freedom and liberty and a definite limited government. Evidently most superintendents use . the method of judging whether a thing is good of bad by whether it will increase their power.

Just how can they know that others would not benefit by such a discussion? I believe we cannot give too much time or energy to the kind of education we are getting. I believe Pope was right when he said: 'Tis education forms the common mind; Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

GOD'S DECISIONS (Christian Economics)

"God is Lord or economic decisions," says a book reviewer in 'Protestant Church Life." That is a true statement, and he who disregards it must pay the penalty. Some of the decisions God has made and which are immutable for all time to come are:

cisions has been disregarded. God is indeed Lord of economic decisions, and these decisions have been written into the Moral Law. Economics and morals are closealter economic law than we can alter the Moral Law. We do not speak of bringing the Ten Commandments up to date, and neither can we revise the fact that God created all men free and implanted in them the desire to satisfy their needs and wants with the least expenditure of human energy. Decisions must be made in the realm of production, commerce and finance and in the realm of government, but the objective should always be to understand God's Law better and to bring all human action, government and business included, more and more into harmony with it.

DESTROYING HUMAN RIGHTS The Bill of Rights in the American Constitution forbids government to interfere with certain liberties of the people. It guarantees greater freedom for the individual by limiting the power of government over him

The so-called Declaration of Human Rights prepared by the United Nations Commission does exactly the opposite. It extends the power of government over the individual; it would confer rights upon him. In an effort to implement these so-called rights, it would have to take more freedom from the people. Moreover, if the state can confer rights, it also can take them away, and the individual becomes a victim of the state. Men are born with freedom.

16 PAMPA MERCHANTS TO SPONSOR GOOD WILL ADVERTISING PROGRAM

Sixteen local merchants are sponsoring a good will-get ac-quainted adv rtising program starting this week. Certificates for $35.45 in merchandise and services are to be distributed among local residents and the only cost to those who will re-ceive them will be a $2.25 service charge for the booklet which contains the certificates, The idea of the program is one of the oldest in advertising. Be sides being a good will gesture it gives the merchant the opporunity to demonstrate the quality of his products.

Selection of the residents who are to have the opportunity to services wil be made from the telephone directory, Phone numbers on some@streets will be called but on others no calls will be made, However no chance l involved in the selection of the numbers to be called and the residents name is not known until he is phoned.

The resident is called and in formed that his phone number has been selected to receive the merchandise and services. Then the booklet is delivered to him at which time he pays the $2.25 service charge. He then takes the booklet to the various firms and receives the products which are absolutely free, All of the Certificates in the booklet will be good until Dec. 1st, 1953.

Costumes For Effect

NEW YORK, July 3 -UP-The Metropolitan Museum of Art was picketed Thursday by a medieval knight, a revolutionary war soldier, an ancient Greek and a caveman. Four off-duty museum guards donned the costumes with approprinte signs to publicize their un-ion's demand for a $500 a year wage increase. Museum officials say no funds are available to grant the raise.

Dog Likes Luxury RIVERSIDE, Calif., July 3 -UP James Bullock asked sheriff deputies to make the lady next door stop wooing his two-year-old Fox Terrior, Bambi. He complained that every time he drags his pooch home, the neighbor lady lures it back to her house with choice morsels of food and a down pillow.

No seeker for a better, fair land;
For all who reach that blissful,
happy shore,
Will never cry nor sigh, nor wish for more.

Mary E. Raiston

We wish to express our sineere appreciation to our friends and neighbors who were so thoughtful to us during the illness and time of death of our beloved mother and grandmother who passed to her reward at the age of 93 years after a life of service to her family and community. We appreciate the comforting words of the ministers of First Methodist Church, Rev. P. H. Gates and Rev. C. H. Bumpers, and to the personnel of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home for their understanding and beautiful last rites. May God bless you all.

Pay no attention folks to the heading of this ad . . . that was the cement in the office floor cracking from the dry weather . . . Ive been here for the past 47 years, and I havnt seen anything like it yet.

... What I want to sell this week is the fine home of the Noel Daltons up at 1229 North Charles street . . . Noel has been transfered to Houston, and of course he is going to have to sell this fine house. As all of you no, if you have a family, this location cant be beat for sending the kids to school . . . I no, because I lived up there myself for 8 years, and my kids even walked home for dinner on a 30 minute lunch schedule

. . . This home consists of 3 bedrooms . . . a living room with fireplace . . . dining room . . . kitchen with dishwasher . . . a breakfast nook . . . lots of big closets and storage space, and a big fine den . . . Also a good basement, and a double garage. Now what we want to do is make a quick sale, as the Daltons have allready bought in Houston, and Noel has got to get down there

. . . If you would like to look at it, give me a ring (my ranch telephone is 4102-J-1 in case Im not in the office), and I will be glad to show it to you . . . My guess is that it can be bought worth the money, and it will carry a large loan. And before I forget, this home was built by the Daltons before the war when the lumber was the
