ALL THAT REMAINED was this twisted, torn, and shattered pile of steel and glass, following the crash of an automobile and two Santa Fe freight trains early this morning. Driver, R. W. Riegel, 395 S. Barnes, is in critical condition in Worley Hospital. Riegel had been removed from the front seat a few seconds before the picture was taken. Rescue men had to carry him on a stretcher underneath freight cars to get him to a waiting ambulance. The car was dragged more than a block before the two trains were able to stop. (News Photo)

Pampa Man Badly Hurt In Rail Crash

A Pampa auto body wrecker mechanic was pulled, critically injured, from the ripped and snarled wreckage of his own car at 8 a.m. today after it became entangled with two Santa Fe freight trains at the Starweather crossing. R. W. Riegel, 395 S. Barnes, employed as a car wrecker by the Panhandle Auto Wrecker Co., is in critical condition in Worley Hospital, suffering from deep shock, a possible fractured skull, "tremendous loss of blood," and undetermined internal injuries. His car is a total wreck. Assistant Chief of Police J. O. Dumas and Patrolman D. L. Day, who investigated, said Riegel's car was hit by an east bound Santa Fe freight just after he crossed the track in front of a west bound train. The engine of the east bound train hit the car about the middle and carried it more than a block, turning, twisting, rolling, skidding between it and the west bound train. But the car swerved into the 11th car of the other train and got another mauling. When it came to rest at the Barnes crossing the car was reduced to a mass of twisted, broken steel, and shattered glass. Parts of the car were strewn for yards between the two main tracks. Men going to the scene to help

Riegel found him lying on the front seat, the steering wheel mashed down on him and the dashboard pinning his legs to the floor board. His head was lying toward where the door had been. The brute strength of a large number of passenger, railroad workers and others finally pried the car wreckage apart so Riegel could be extricated. But, even before workmen could get to the shattered automobile, the east bound train had to be broken to make

Gray County Pioneer Dies Here Today

Nels Walberg, 89, Gray County pioneer, died at his home, 621 E. Kingsmill, at 8 a.m. today after a lengthy illness. Mr. Walberg was born on Sept. 24, 1863, in Peris County, Wis., and moved to the Texas Panhandle in 1907, following the death of his first wife. As a young man he filed claim to land in South Dakota in 1886, and three years later married Dena Jeverson. The couple had four children. After moving to the Panhandle, Mr. Walberg farmed for a while east of Pampa and then entered the farm machinery and implement business. Later he began taking an active part in early county and civic affairs. For eight years, he served on the Pampa School Board and two other years as a county commissioner. He was also a director in the old Gray County Bank for many years. Born into the Lutheran Church he became a Mason in 1910, and was made a life member of the order in 1940. He was also a member of the local Commandery. Surviving are his wife Mary Elizabeth, two sons, Norman and Arthur, both of Pampa; one daughter, Mrs. Elia Smith, San Francisco; two brothers, Ben, Chelsea, S. D.; Julius, Groton, S. D.; and three sisters, Amelia Thompson, Baldwin, Wis.; Mrs. Annie Olson, Minnesota; and Mrs. Gene Anderson, Fletcher, N. D. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday, in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home Chapel. Masonic services will be held at the graveside in Fairview Cemetery. All Masons have been asked to report to the lodge home one hour before the funeral. Dr. Tom Johnston, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate.

Celanese Heads Due Here Today

Two plane-loads of officials of Celanese Corporation were scheduled to land here today for a tour of the local Celanese plant, according to John Frick, Pampa plant manager. Among the officials was to be Harold Blanche, Celanese president. Also expected were George Schneider, executive vice-president; New York; R. W. Kixmiller, general manager, New York; George Richards, vice-president, New York; Alex Cochran, operations manager, Corpus Christi; Homer Wilson, Corpus Christi; plus 12 company officials from Mexico.

Rains Letting Up In Southern Texas

Rains, which have soaked areas of South Texas for the past 11 days, had just about played out Wednesday, but weather forecasters said widely scattered thunderstorms were predicted for most of the state. There was the possibility of heavy rains in the Del Rio area, forecasters said, but elsewhere showers were expected to be light. Meanwhile, a 10-inch rain up-stream from Laredo on the Rio Grande Tuesday, started the river racing downstream to Falcon dam, and it reached a new crest at Laredo. However, damage was apparently light, and flooding was of a minor nature. The dam, which already holds some 185 billion gallons of water, stood at 260.1 feet above sea level Tuesday night. Rains drenched the Del Rio area Tuesday and some places in West and Central Texas. High wind, hail and rain was reported at the Panhandle community near Arlington. The area around Osona reported rain of up to two inches, and Eagle Pass reported a 3.30-inch down-pour. At Uvalde and Robstown, Tex., residents moved back into their silt-laden homes, flooded by earlier heavy rains. Waters of rampaging Cook's Slough, which runs through the western side of Uvalde, were reported to be receding Wednesday. However, a number of roads remained closed. Official rainfall reports during the 24-hour period ending at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday included: Waco

City Street Paving To Add 3.5 Miles

The 45 city blocks that will be topped off by the week's end will add an additional 3.5 miles to paved streets in Pampa, city engineering records show. Although the department did not have available the exact total number of miles of paved streets Pampa has, it is generally understood to be somewhere between 60 and 65 miles. The last five blocks in the present paving program will be topped out Friday when the 100 and 200 blocks E. Worrell and the 100, 200 and 300 blocks W. Worrell are shod with a two-course asphalt surface treatment. Contractors were finishing up curb and gutter running there yesterday. Thursday the blocks will be stabilized and Friday will be topped out.

Prints May Find Killer

CHILDRESS, Tex., Sept. 2 —UP— Sheriff Paul Griffin said Wednesday he believed fingerprints from a bloody axe might help to identify the killer of J. B. Scott, 57-year-old Lake City, Ark., man who was beaten to death in a pasture near Childress Monday. Griffin found the axe and a pair of shoes, that belonged to Scott, Tuesday a short distance from where the body was found. The axe, which had a single blade and was of the type that can be used as a sledge-hammer, was bloody on the blade and along the handle. Griffin sent the axe to the Department of Public Safety Laboratory in Austin Tuesday night where it will be checked for fingerprints. Meantime, a pickup order was sent out for a suspect in the case who left Lake City about the same time as Scott a month ago. Relatives positively identified the slain man as J. B. Scott Tuesday. L. H. Hutchins, a nephew of Scott from Gainesville, made the identification. A brother of Scott, A. B. Scott of California, confirmed it. Officers found the axe and shoes when they went back to the site to make a closer inspection of the area where the man was killed.

Army Seeks POW Betrayer

TOKYO, Sept. 2 —UP— Military police searched alleys and side streets of this sprawling city Wednesday for signs of "Slick," the notorious betrayer of fellow American war prisoners. "Slick" disappeared from a Tokyo Army hospital five days ago, shortly before he was scheduled to board a plane for the United States. Army authorities believed "Slick" may have sought to escape court-martial or an attack by fellow prisoners who swore to "get him some day." Army spokesmen said it was possible that prisoners who had suffered through "Slick's" treachery already had carried out their promise. "Slick" was repatriated with other prisoners last Aug. 15. When he reached the port of Inchon he begged the Army not to send him home on a ship. A chaplain arranged for him to be sent to Tokyo for air evacuation as "nervous and sick." Fellow prisoners called "Slick" the "worst rat in Korea." They emphasized that he was not a Communist or a Red sympathizer, just a "rat" who informed on other prisoners to receive favors from his captors. He was accused of telling guards of planned escapes and other violations of camp rules. When "Slick" reached Inchon he was carrying a guitar which the Communists had given him. Other prisoners smashed it to bits. "Slick" became nervous when he found a noose hanging over his cot.

It was then that he asked to be taken away. The men knew his name, which the Army has ordered withheld, as well as his hometown and address. Many of the men at Inchon admitted he probably would be killed if he went aboard the troopship. "He won't make it home," one said. "He's got a long way to go. If he did get home, others said, they would 'get' him 'some day, some where.' MP's looking for "Slick" in Tokyo said they were more interested in saving him from the men he betrayed than picking him up as AWOL. If it comes from a hardware store, we have it, Lewis Hardware, Ady.

Chinese Commies Warned Against New Aggression

Modest Lieutenant Wins Honor Medal

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Sept. 2 —UP— Blond 1st Lt. James L. Stone, of Hot Springs, Ark., came back from a Communist prison camp Wednesday — to freedom and his nation's highest honor. He was just another "Joe" as he jumped down from the Red truck that brought him to Freedom Village — modest, slight and a bit bewildered. The formalities of release over, they led Stone to a flood-lighted interview booth. Shakes Stone's Hand Brig. Gen. Ralph M. Osborne stepped forward and took Stone's hand. "Lieutenant Stone," the general said, "it is a great pleasure to me, and I am deeply humbled to be able to announce to you that the United States government has seen fit to award to you the Medal of Honor. That was a grateful nation's recognition of the heroism of the slender, shy soldier who led his men in a 'certain death' defense of their position on the night of Nov. 23, 1951. Award Kept Secret Stone's award had been kept top secret until he was released Wednesday, for fear of what the Communists might do if they knew they held a Medal of Honor prisoner. When Osborne told him of the award, Stone stiffened and fought to hold back tears. After regaining his composure, Stone said the honor should not have gone to him but to the men of his platoon who stood with him with no thought of running when they were hit by overwhelming waves of Chinese. Stone bowed his head briefly as Osborne spoke. Finally he managed a grin. "This happens to only a few men in our lifetime," Osborne said, as newsreel cameras whirred and flash-bulbs popped. "It is a privilege to me to be able to honor one of our heroes." "I don't know what to say," Stone said with just a touch of an Arkansas accent. "I don't think the honor should go to me. It should go to the men in my platoon. They did all the work."

Wainwright Dies Today

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 2 —UP— Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, 70, the hero of Bataan and Corregidor, died at 12:27 p.m. est. Wednesday. BULLETIN SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 2 —UP— Gen. Jonathan (Skinny) Wainwright, 70-year-old hero of Bataan and Corregidor, fell into a coma Wednesday and his physicians at Brooke Army Medical Center said they did not expect him to live beyond the day. The hospital was issuing hourly bulletins on the condition of Wainwright, who suffered a relapse Tuesday with a blood clot in an artery or vein of his brain. "He is steadily losing ground," he is comatose today and exceedingly grave concern is felt for his recovery," an 8:30 a. m. est. bulletin said. "His condition steadily continues to fail. The Brooke staff does not expect him to survive beyond today," a bulletin an hour later said. A cerebral thrombosis — blood clot in his brain — sent him to the hospital July 6 and his condition remained "generally poor" until Tuesday when he suffered the relapse and started to grow worse. A hospital bulletin said he now is in semi-coma and "grave concern for a recovery is felt." His weight dropped from a normal 180 pounds to 120 when he was released by Japan. Wainwright was second in command in the Philippines when the late President Roosevelt issued orders March 11, 1942, for Gen. Douglas MacArthur to evacuate to Australia. Wainwright and some half-starved American troops remained behind to delay the advancing Japanese. Their stubborn resistance, has been a subject of "Toasting Your Marshallows While You're Town Burns." ## Dulles Says War Might Reach China

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2 —UP— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned Red China Wednesday that it will risk retaliation against its homeland if it commits a "second aggression" against Indo-China or Korea. Noting that Red China is training, equipping and supplying Communist forces in Indo-China, he said there is a "risk that, as in Korea, Red China might send its own army into Indo-China." "The Chinese Communist regime should realize that such a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indo-China," he said. "I say this soberly in the interest of peace and in the hope of preventing another aggressor miscalculation." Blunt Warning In a speech prepared for the American Legion convention, Dulles told the Chinese Communist (See CHINESE, Page 3).

C-C Banquet Speaker Is Named Here

William F. Bird, general manager of the Southwestern Division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker at the annual Pampa Chamber of Commerce membership banquet scheduled for Oct. 29. This announcement was made this morning by Clinton Evans, chamber vice president and chairman of the banquet committee, at the monthly meeting of C-C board of directors. Evans said Bird had chosen as his subject, "Toasting Your Marshallows While You're Town Burns." The 18 directors present also heard reports on a number of chamber projects. They included: Oil Progress Week (Oct. 11-17), made by George Cree Jr., chairman; Business and Industry Day scheduled for Oct. 12 made by Jimmy McCune, chairman; McCune is also chairman of Goodwill and Reception Committee and gave a summary of its activities. City Manager B. H. Cruce reported on progress made toward Hobart Street underpass; developments in long-range planning of Recreation Park, reported by Fred Thompson, committee chairman; United Fund drive plans reported by Paul Brown, chairman; Perry LeFors Field operation, reported by Buck Burdette, chairman; the forthcoming Texas sight tour in Pampa (Oct. 13) reported by manager, Wedgeworth also summarized developments in efforts to obtain airline service to Pampa which are being made in cooperation with other North Texas cities.

Court Costs Hiked By Commissioners

It will now cost $4 more to file a civil case in district and county court than it did before. County commissioners yesterday boosted the $1 library fee attached to all civil litigation to $5 — a boost of $4 — to help defray expenses in keeping up the county's law library. The boost was allowed under legislation passed by the state this year. In other actions yesterday, the commissioners signed a number of contracts, one for seal coating the Celanese Road for 11 miles under a bid let last month, two others with the McLean Library and the Pampa Library; and three with the McLean, Lefors and Pampa Fire departments. Under the contracts, the McLean Library receives $1,200 support from county and Pampa Library, $2,100. Each of the three fire departments will be paid $50 per run plus $5 per mile, at a $100 per run limit.

CIVIL DEFENSE POINTERS — are being explained here by B. E. Nuebel, county schools superintendent, to Mrs. Mildred Christian, Pampa registered nurse, and her daughter, seven-year-old Candy. Nuebel spoke on Civil Defense here Tuesday night to registered nurses of a 13-county district. (News Photo)

Forty-Two Dead In Air Wreckage

BARCELONNETTE, France, Sept. 2 —UP— Forty-two persons, including violinist Jacques Thibaud, died in the fiery crash of an Air France Constellation into a 9,368 foot peak in the French Alps, a rescue party learned Wednesday. The four-engine plane smashed into Mount Cemet and burst into flames shortly before Tuesday midnight. Some of the bodies were hurled 1,800 feet from the wreckage. A party of police, soldiers and civilians despatched to the scene reported that Thibaud, 52, and his accompanist, Rena Herbin, were among those killed. They were scheduled to play soon in Tokyo. The plane, bound from Paris to Saigon, Indo-China, carried no American or British passengers. Most of those aboard were French and Viet Namese. One infant was among those killed. The plane was 30 minutes out of Paris and was scheduled to land at Nice in 20 minutes when it struck Mount Cemet. Flames immediately shot up over the peak and were visible for three hours 10 miles away at the winter sports village of Barcelonnette. It took five hours for the 40-man rescue party of police, soldiers and civilians from Barcelonnette to make its way over the barren, rugged, rock-strewn route to the crash scene. They reported that they found the burned skeleton of 43's Lockheed plane but no survivors.

France Replaces Tunisia Leader

PARIS, Sept. 2 —UP— France ousted its resident commissioner in Tunisia Wednesday in what was regarded as the first move in a drastic purge of "tough" French officials in strife-torn North Africa. Count Jean de Hautecloque was replaced as commissioner by Pierre Armand Voisard, France's representative to the tiny gambling principality of Monaco on the Riviera.

Relief Sighted After Heat Takes Death Toll In Nation

By UNITED PRESS
The summer's worst heat wave took a growing toll of lives Wednesday, but a low pressure system rolling out of Montana promised some relief for most of the nation by the weekend.

The blistering sun marred a monster parade of the American Legion convention at St. Louis by killing two Legionnaires in the line of march and prostrating at least 230 spectators and marchers.

The Legion casualties were William P. Randolph, 51, Hot Springs, Ark., and Saleem Al Hatem, 41, New York. Hatem was carrying a flag when he collapsed.

10 Majorities Collapse
The 100-degree heat felled 10 of 22 dancing majorities of the Hinds Junior College band histers from Raymond, Miss. The girls said they drank ice water after the exhausting parade.

Murderous hot weather killed six persons in New York Tuesday, a high school football player in upstate New York, a Moline, Ill., man, and a Cleveland resident. Philadelphia has reported 14 heat deaths during the nine-day hot spell.

Crop damage, especially to wheat, erjng Iowa and Nebraska corn stands, was also heavy.

Heat Blamed for City Deaths
The New York City health department said 414 persons died there in the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. Tuesday, or more than twice the average of 185. Experts said heat was undoubtedly responsible for most of the increase.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said a "very promising" low pressure area spawned in Montana was pushing turbulent cool air eastward and denting the blanket of hot air over the eastern two-thirds of the country.

A forecaster said the cool air should reach Chicago by late Friday night and the Atlantic Coast sometime during the weekend.

Records Fall
Meanwhile, more temperatures in the 90's and 100's were forecast. Five different weather records melted in Chicago's sizzling 100.6-degree heat, the eighth consecutive day of temperatures more than 95 degrees.

Readings of 100 degrees were common in other cities and weather records were also set at New York (92.1), Cleveland (103), Mt. Vernon, Ind., (104.6), Indianapolis (99), Springfield, Ill., (99.2) and other cities.

WORKERS ACT FOR DEFENSE—Rescue workers snap into action as they remove "casualties" from the wreckage of a building in Washington, D.C. Walls of three buildings were collapsed to add realism to the show. Medical and Health Service civil defense men held the show to demonstrate how new equipment can aid in the diagnosis of casualties in the event of an enemy raid.

Rich Man Started Business With Ingenuity, 36 Cents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—UP—George Papanicolaos started out with nothing, worked up to 36 cents and now counts his stack in six figures.

Papanicolaos, and let's just call him George hereafter, is a prominent District of Columbia lawyer and a nationally known Greek-American leader. He is friend to many a biggie on Capitol Hill. Recently he built a 20-room palace on 50 acres across the lane from the Congressional Country Club.

This place has a fun room in the cellar that is bigger than most young houses. On the walls are several original oil paintings that cost George numerous thousands. The crystal lamping on the ceiling of the main dining room must make the chandelier in the state dining room of the White House pause to count its crystals.

Not Always in Chips
George wasn't always in the chips. There was the time he was going to high school out in Michigan and needed some pin money. His brother owned a couple of movie houses and offered our lad a meal ticket plus sleeping pad if he would slap puts on the billboards and put up signs.

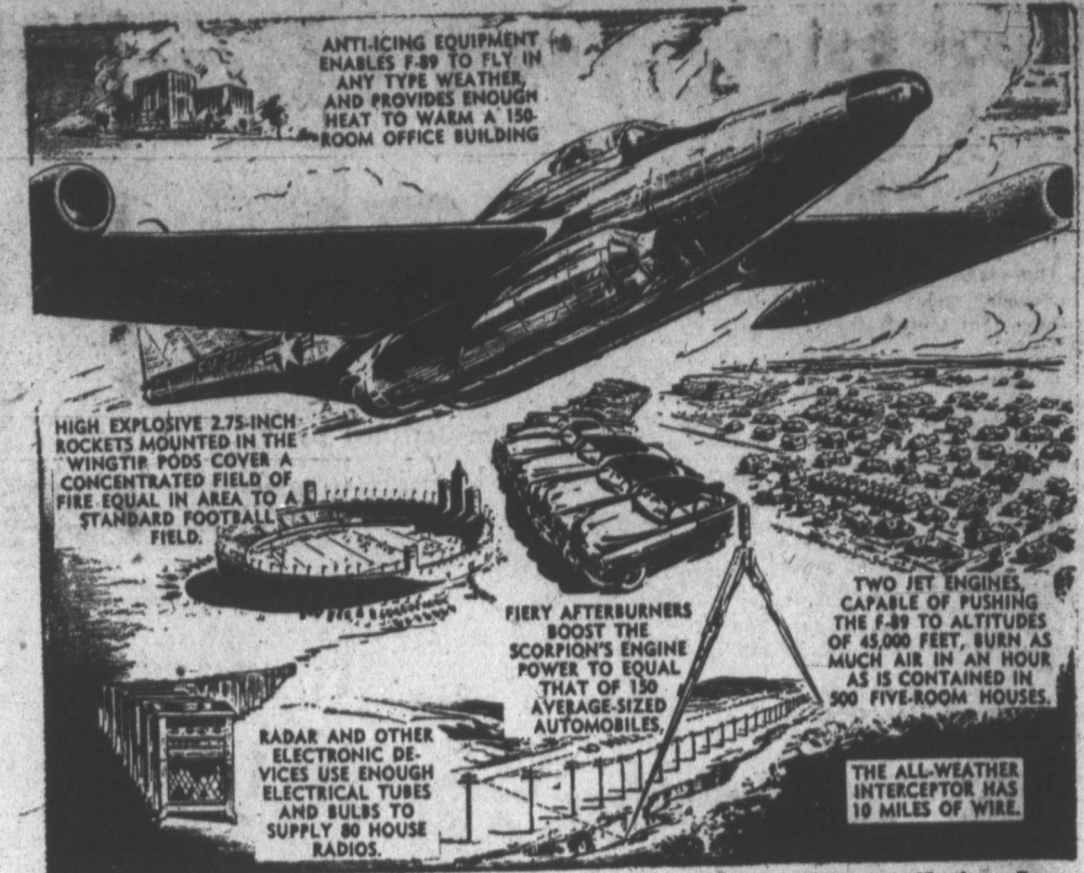

George took the offer. He said the meals were fine and the bed, straw and all was sleepable enough, but where was the money? The brother said that could be fixed easily. He would give George all that was taken in after the start of the second show. The brother kind of snickered, thinking he had pulled a cutie. But our George won. He lined up all his high school thumbs and offered them half-price tickets, half minute after the second show started.

He made a small pile, but, as we said, later was to reach a point where his fortune amounted to the above-mentioned 36 cents.

Formula Not Recommended
It was at this point he signed a "contract" with a cousin, named Art. They put two minds together and, with George's 36 cents, went into the face-cream business. This was in the long ago when ingredients were cheap. The 36 cents bought a pound of paraffin, a dab of citric acid, and a few small jars. They were out of funds, but still needed perfume. George thought up something. He wrote to a lot of perfume companies, said he was setting up shop and asked for some samples.

He got them, and he and Art were in business. (Incidentally George does not recommend his formula. It sold all right, but it didn't do the faces of a lot of nice ladies much good.)

Anyhow, that was the beginning. And who can deny George did not make a pretty nice thing out of nothing plus 36 cents?

SCORPION'S NEW JET BUZZER—This is an artist's conception of the new Northrop Scorpion F-8D jet interceptor now in production in Hawthorne, Calif. The plane's unique features are highlighted by comparison with some everyday illustrations. Some 165,000 parts go into the manufacture of the plane, which is capable of downing the largest bomber with one blast of its high explosive air-to-air wingtip rockets.

Lawyer To Probe Death Of Client

DENVER, Sept. 2—UP—A Honolulu attorney began poring over police files and checking medical reports Wednesday in an effort to find out where and how Hugh Patten of Honolulu received the skull fracture that caused his mysterious death here Aug. 20.

The lawyer, Hyman Greenstein, flew from San Francisco late Tuesday to make his own investigation of Patten's death. Patten died in Denver nine hours after collapsing at Stapleton Airfield.

Greenstein said he did not know how long he would be in Denver, or whether he would travel from here to Wyoming and possibly South Dakota to check on Patten's activities before his collapse. Patten is known to have spent four days in Wyoming and Rapid City, S. D., and was presumed to have been on his way home when he died.

"It depends on what my investigation turns up," Greenstein said. Patten and Philip Brooks, an insurance executive, went to Sheridan, Wyo., early in August to testify for the government in the income tax evasion trial of Dr. Irages, and substituted fruit juices, an osteopath. King was sentenced August 15 to two and a half years in prison and fined $1,000 after being found guilty by a federal jury.

Both Patten and Brooks denied on the witness stand they knew anything about a $30,000 gift King said a "friend" in Honolulu had given him.

Ancient Bass For Paints
DENVER, Colo., Sept. 2—UP—Jerry Miller, head of the Marion, Ind., high school art department and a summer student at Denver University, received his master of arts degree here by completing an oil painting with paints made from the dust of 6,000-year-old Egyptian mummies.

The coconut palms, to which Palm Beach, Fla., owes its name, were the result of the wrecking of a Spanish cargo of coconuts off the coast in 1879, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Farrell Has Fan Variety

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2—UP—It's a whole new world for Charlie Farrell, the distinguished actor-face-tennis star, who now has fans among 'teenagers as well as the 'over forty-set.'

"Not only have I got an entire new generation of fans," Charlie says, "I'm hearing from relatives who didn't even know me when I was the star of 'Seventh Heaven.'"

The impact of his co-stardom with Gale Storm in NBC's "My Little Margie" is an awesome thing to Farrell who says he can hardly wait until the show returns to the air Tuesday night.

He gleefully tells an anecdote about the time he came out of voluntary retirement to appear opposite Janet Gaynor on a radio version of "Seventh Heaven."

"I was walking down Vine Street with Janet's mother during a break in rehearsals when a couple of tourists approached us. 'Can you tell us where to see some stars,' they asked.

"Mrs. Gaynor pulled me aside and said: 'Why don't you tell them who you are?' I was a little reluctant but I asked: 'Say, have you heard of Janet Gaynor?' nothing. 'Did you ever hear of 'Seventh Heaven'?" nothing.

"So I told them to drop into the Brown Derby and look around."

The same thing happened during the war when Charlie was a naval officer. When he came aboard ship, word got around that he had been a big movie star, but none of the young sailors had ever heard of him.

However, after they had written

Educator Offered Post
AUSTIN, Sept. 1—UP—Alabama educator York Wilburn Tuesday was asked to take over as executive director of the Texas Legislative Council, replacing John D. Moseley, who resigned to become president of Austin College. Sherman Wilburn, a native Texan who heads the University of Alabama's department of political science, said he would announce a decision before Oct. 1.

Sew Limbs On
LONDON, Sept. 2—UP—Russian surgeons have devised a way to amputate animal limbs and then sew them back on again as good as new, Moscow Radio reported Saturday.

A broadcast monitored here told of an experiment in which a dog's leg was amputated. It said that less than an hour later, the leg was put back on, with the bones joined by a metal plate, and the nerves, large blood vessels, muscles and skin sewed together. The report said the dog was "fully restored" to health five or six months later.

Lucy Hayes, wife of President Rutherford B. Hayes, often was referred to as "Lemonade Lucy" while she was mistress of the White House. She refused to serve wine or intoxicating beverages, and substituted fruit juices, an osteopath. King was sentenced August 15 to two and a half years in prison and fined $1,000 after being found

It's good to be missed

Now that Schlitz is again available everywhere, orders are pouring in at an unheard of rate. No such flood of orders has ever been seen in the history of this or any other brewery.

Absence has made the heart grow fonder. Based on the orders on hand for Schlitz, the most popular beer in history is destined to become even more popular than ever.

The power behind these orders is the pent-up demand of the American people for the brand they know and like best—a beer so fine it made a city famous.

This is the public's response to Schlitz quality after ten long weeks of absence. It's good to know you've been missed.

The reason is that Schlitz has given more satisfaction to more people than any other beer in the world.

Needless to say, The Beer that Made Milwaukee Famous will continue to meet the high standards you yourself have set for the finest beer obtainable.

Schlitz takes this opportunity to thank our millions and millions of friends, our wholesalers and dealers.

There's no doubt about it—if you like beer, you'll love Schlitz—America's largest selling beer.

Real Estate Board In Monthly Meet

Extensive vacancies, care of property and the value of advertising comprised the major subjects at the September meeting of the Pampa Real Estate Board. In addition, details of the 1953 Annual West Texas Real Estate Sales Clinic, scheduled for Sept. 1 in Abilene, were announced. Out-of-town members held a noon luncheon in the Pine Room of the Hotel Schneider.

Discussing why there are so many vacancies in Pampa these days, E. L. Campbell, board president, told the 10 others present that times have changed. Now, days, he said, residents are moving out of "undesirable" places to get their standard of living and are taking more pride in their surroundings—for example, the recent best-yard contest in Prairie Village.

Officers Nab 3 Fugitives

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2—UP—Three desperate fugitives, the last of six who escaped Tuesday night, were captured Wednesday after bloodhounds surrounded them at the edge of a snake-infested swamp south of here.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Sharpe of the East Baton Rouge parish sheriff's office, one of about 200 searching for the convicts, said they surrendered meekly and handed over a gun as the dogs tracked them to a water-filled ditch.

Earlier, police and bloodhounds had surrounded a stagnant and tangled swamp near Phoenix after the three fugitives had been seen to fight their way into the wilderness.

At that time, hunters reported by radio that "we can get in and they can't get out."

Authorities said the three apparently had returned to the edge of the giant swampy area and "hoped to make a break for open country."

Sharpe said the prisoners were "in a sad condition."

Their dejected nature was in sharp contrast to that at the time of their escape when one of their number, Herschel Adington, 20, of San Francisco, boasted he planned "to kill some cops."

The other fugitives nabbed in the swamp were Jerry Scott, San Antonio, Tex., and George Allen Elliott, 21, of New Orleans.

Kerr Blasts Farm Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—UP—Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) said Wednesday that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson is more interested in "purity than parity" for farmers.

Kerr said the secretary "crusades for rigid moral supports, but favors flexible or no price supports."

In a weekly news letter released by his office here, Kerr said: "Regardless of my differences with Mr. Benson, I think he is personally a fine gentleman, but his trouble as secretary of agriculture is that he is more interested in 'purity of farms' than parity for them."

Parity is the figure which the Agriculture Department economists say represents the fair price for what a farmer sells in relation to the prices he pays for what he buys.

"What he (Benson) is doing to the farmers may strengthen their character but it sure weakens their morale and destroys their purchasing power," Kerr said.

Kerr is a leading advocate of high government price supports. He has frequently criticized Benson for indicating that he is against high and rigid price programs.

School teacher and the juvenile authorities worry about them. Various types of advertising and value advertising were discussed by Mrs. Jessye Stroup, classified advertising manager for the Pampa Daily News.

Campbell struck the keynote of the session when he insisted that he only thing property owners can do now is put their property in viable condition—without raising the rent too high. And he added, here are 24 real estate dealers in Pampa today.

Others present for the meeting were Mrs. M. E. Downs, Bob Williams, Quentin Williams, Charlie Ward, Garvin Elkins, Maxine Stallup and Mr. and Mrs. John I. Bradley.

Next meeting is slated for Oct. 6.

room for the rescue party to get to him.

The west bound train had to be moved back and forth, too, in order to free the car.

Police quoted both engineers as saying they first saw Riegel when "they were on him."

T. W. Cooper was the engineer of the west bound train which police said was moving slowly at the time Harry Manning, Amarillo, was engineering the east bound train which struck the Riegel car.

D. C. Reigel, brother of the injured man, said Riegel had been going home to put some peas on the stove since he didn't have to go to work until 9 a.m. at the time of the crash.

Late this morning Riegel was being given blood transfusions and treated for shock. Doctors would not allow the injured man to be moved for X-rays. He was still unconscious this morning.

Married, he is the father of two children—a 14-year-old daughter at home and an older daughter, Mrs. Oscar Sargent of Washington.

Riegel was alone in the car when the wreck occurred.

Ike Delayed In Returning To Denver

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 2—UP—President Eisenhower planned to return to his summer White House in Denver Wednesday unless another big trout influences him.

The President was all ready to drive back to Denver Tuesday, but he landed a big rainbow trout he had been trying to catch for days and decided to stay here an additional 24 hours.

Members of his staff stopped packing and unpacking and eyed St. Louis Creek for concrete evidence of presidential plans. They reasoned there were other large uncaught trout in the stream and this situation conceivably could lead to another change in travel plans.

Note Sent to Iran Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he felt virtually certain the President would motor to Denver late Wednesday.

"But," said Hagerty, "it is so pleasant here and the trout are biting—we'll just have to wait and see."

Late Wednesday, the White House disclosed from Fraser the President had sent another note of encouragement to Iran, this time promising the United States would give "sympathetic consideration" to an Iranian request for immediate financial assistance.

This was the first "hard" news to develop at this small mountain town since the President's arrival. Disclosure of the correspondence between the President and General Fazollah Zahedi of Iran threw the tiny railroad depot into a clattering whirl of activity. The press room for the reporters traveling with the President is in the depot and thousands of words on the international situation poured out of Fraser.

Long Quest For Fish Mr. Eisenhower came here last Thursday for rest and relaxation on the Byers Peak ranch of Askel Nielsen and Carl A. Norgren, both of Denver.

For the first few days, a sore elbow discouraged the President from casting but he strolled frequently along the creek running through the ranch and spotted a large pool inhabited by one particularly large and inviting trout.

He started fishing for this particular trout on Saturday Tuesday after a morning of careful casting with a nine-foot fly rod, the President finally scored.

Two Texans Killed in Wreck WHITE CITY, N. M., Sept. 2—UP—Two Texans, John S. Nancy, 24, of Henderson, and Alvin N. Dalley, 37, of Buffalo, were killed Tuesday when the car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned four miles south of here on U.S. Highway 180. A. M. Dalley of Buffalo was hospitalized with internal injuries.

Baptists' Rally Set Here Monday

September 7, at the First Baptist Church in Pampa.

Both the promotional and inspirational speakers the program will include a song service, Scripture, a stewardship testimony by a layman, and a message by District Missionary O. C. Curtis of Pampa.

Conferences similar to the one held in Pampa are being conducted in each of Texas' 121 associations which are geographic designations of the state convention.

Texas Baptists now have 3,483 churches with 1,272,652 members who will be encouraged to practice Christian stewardship through these conferences and rallies.

The associational conferences are followed by church conferences and climaxed by schools of stewardship which last one week. After the schools, annual church budgets are subscribed for local and world missionary expenses.

regime bluntly that if the Korean war were renewed, it likely would spread to China itself. He recalled that the 16 United Nations fighting aggression in Korea had declared they will resist any new outbreak of aggression there and that the fighting might spread beyond Korean boundaries.

"Since 1950, the forces of aggression have been supplied, equipped and protected by air, from unimpaired bases in China, just north of the Yalu," he said. "If, however, the Communists desire to resume the war, they now know that they could no longer count on this 'privileged sanctuary.'"

Dulles emphasized that the United States wants peace and said he served the warnings on Red China only in the interest of peace.

Requires Anticipation "Peace requires anticipating what it is that tempts an aggressor and letting him know in advance that, if he does not exercise self-control, he may face a hard fight, perhaps a losing fight," he said.

"The Korean war... should finally have taught us that if we can foresee aggression which will cause us to fight, we should let this be known, so that the potential aggressor will take this into his calculations," he said. "This administration intends to act realistically to win the battle for peace."

Dulles cited the proposed U.S.-South Korean mutual security treaty as a "clear warning" to any aggressor with designs on Korea. He said the pact will make it unlikely that an aggressor will attack South Korea knowing that the United States might be called into the battle.

He hinted that the United States may want to discuss the Indo-Chinese situation at the forthcoming Korean political conference. He said peace in Korea is the first order of business for the meeting, "but growing out of that conference could come, if Red China wants it, an end of aggression and restoration of peace in Indo-China."

Young Dix Dies In Accident

MOUNT SHASTA, Calif., Sept. 2—UP—Richard Dix Jr., 18-year-old son of the late movie star, was killed in a logging accident Monday at Ponderosa, 38 miles east of here, Deputy Coroner Lloyd B. Noble Jr. disclosed Wednesday.

Noble said the accident took place when young Dix was unloading logs and rolling them into a pond. An investigation of the accident is still under way.

The youth had been working in Siskiyou county for the past four weeks. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Virginia Van de Camp of Beverly Hills.

Dix had planned to quit work at the lumber camp Tuesday and return to Santa Barbara State College.

Reds Release 300 POWs As Slowup Seen

PANMUNJOM, Sept. 2—UP—The Communists released only 300 prisoners, including 100 Americans from 24 states, Wednesday and announced the slowdown would continue Thursday.

Since the beginning of Operation Big Switch 29 days ago, the Reds, with one or two exceptions, have delivered the 400 prisoners they had promised daily in return for 2,400 from the Allies.

The slowdown apparently was designed to hold back at least 60 Americans who fought indoctrination until the United Nations returns die-hard Communists who incited riots at Kojedo.

To Release 80 Thursday According to the Communist announcement they will release only 80 Americans Thursday, bringing the number of U.S. personnel freed to 3,027.

The Communists originally had promised to release 3,313 American prisoners, but the exact number may be higher. Thursday's delivery of six Canadians will bring the total of freed Canadians to 30, 18 more than the Reds had scheduled for repatriation.

Still awaiting release are "reactionary" Americans who were segregated in a camp four miles south of the nearby Communist camp of Kaesong. They may be the prisoners "pardoned" by the Reds Monday after being sentenced to jail terms for alleged prisoner camp crimes.

'Hold Back Prize Prisoner' The Reds also are holding back their prize prisoner, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, who was captured in the battle of Taejon in July, 1950. They have said he will be the last prisoner repatriated.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—UP—The Army was expected Wednesday to announce a new cut of about 8 per cent in civil works spending for the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

Informed sources said that "no major projects" are likely to be hurt, however, the slash is being made in line with President Eisenhower's call for immediate new economies to help bring the budget into balance.

Fashion Picture Gets Complicated

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—UP—Once there were three Kentucky women who wore three Paris-designed dresses backwards and never knew the difference.

This, briefly, indicates how confusing the whole thing has become. It's such a small world and fashion is such big business now. Even some of the designers on the left hand side of the Atlantic don't seem to know what the right hand's doing.

Take a nice, well known Paris name like Christian Dior. (We'll get back to those Kentuckians in a moment.) You might buy one of those short-skirted models he electrified Paris with last month. Or perhaps you'd prefer one of the Dior dresses his company makes here, previewed a month earlier than his Paris collection without a mention of shorter skirts.

A Complicated Business
A plane load of French fashions arrived here last week, bought by U. S. stores for copying in their own workrooms. So you have the choice of waiting for the American copy, which won't have the designer's name on the label. Stores pay from $700 to $3,000 for one of these Paris frocks and the privilege of copying.

All of this makes for considerable variation in one style, to further complicate matters. Questioned about which side of the Atlantic gets the newest styles, a Christian Dior representative admitted his American showrooms lag a little behind the Paris salon.

Our hemlines weren't noticeably shorter," she admitted, referring to the new Dior dresses revealed here a month before his Paris show. "His American collection is not usually so extreme. And of course, he does design it first."

Fath Was Really French
Jacques Fath, another Paris designer, joined with Joseph Halpert after World War II to have his designs made here in Halpert's workrooms.

Halpert insists Fath often uses ideas from his American group, also previewed before the Paris openings, as the basis for his French collection.

"Fath comes here twice each year to do his American collection," Halpert explained. "The first collection was nothing but real French clothes. You needed a diagram to get into them. A Kentucky store sent me an ad they carried on the first group, and they had pictured three of the dresses backwards."

Halpert laughed and recalled his hasty phone call to the store to explain the error, but the call was too late. The dresses already had been sold—backwards.

3-WAY DESSERT
Not only summertime fare, soft drinks can be the basis for many glamorous desserts such as this Southern Fluff. Simple enough for a beginner to master, it can be used three ways: as a sherbet, pudding, or pie. After preparation, it can be stored in the refrigerator without loss of flavor or appearance.

SOUTHERN FLUFF
2 bottles Dr. Pepper
1 envelope unflavored gelatin (1 tbs.)
Juice of 1/2 lemon
2 egg whites
1/4 tsp. salt
4 tbs. sugar

Willing To Try Again
COLUMBUS, Ind., Sept. 2.—UP—Elmer Dean, 67, and Mrs. Anna Dean, 82, applied for a marriage license in the Bartholomew county clerk's office for the third time. They were married to each other and divorced from each other twice previously.

Just before the molting season, ducks and geese fly to bodies of water where they will be safe from land enemies. They molt their primary feathers all at once and for a short period, cannot fly.

The tarrier is a small lemur-like animal. The name refers to the great elongation of two of the bones of the tarsus, or ankle. It appears to be nearer the ancestral tree of man than any other of the lemurs.

GRACE FRIEND
Dear Grace Friend:
Maybe you don't get many letters from men, but here goes, anyhow. I have a real problem that maybe a woman could help me solve, and I have no mother or sister to help me out. Hope you can do something for me.

I came from a home where everything was neat. My wife started out fine, but now she is so sloppy it makes me sick. She looks like a mess, and she keeps the baby clean, but the house is awful. I do what I can on weekends, but it is rough on me, as I need some rest then. I have a job that takes a lot out of me.

My wife just sits and drinks coffee with the neighbors, or goes over to her girl friend's house every day and I can't tell for the life of me what they do. Supper is always late, and sometimes I have to eat cornflakes when I get home, because she just didn't know what time to come home, or she hasn't got around to shopping yet.

I gave her the devil last week—just blew my top. I'm sorry I yelled, but I'd had about all a man can take. That night she took sick, and it sure looks fishy to me. She just lays in bed and looks sad and sighs. She won't let me call a doctor, so I can't tell if she really is sick or is just sulking.

You got any ideas on how to make her snap out of it? She's got me stymied.

Yours,
Blue Husband.

Dear Blue Husband
Whether your wife wants a doctor to examine her or not—call one in.

There is a possibility that she really doesn't have the energy to do her housework. She may be anemic since the baby came, for example. A doctor could fix her up in no time with the proper vitamins, minerals etc. added to her diet. I don't suppose that she is eating any better than you are and if she is at all run down since the baby's arrival she is in need of a good wholesome diet.

Many times we make the mistake of calling a person lazy when actually he or she simply isn't well. Make sure your wife is well before blowing your top.

If you find that she is below par, it might help to have a woman come in once a week for a few hours to do the heavy work until she can take it on again.

The fact that she started out doing a good job does make it seem that her health is involved now. I just can't believe that she has suddenly lost all interest in her home.

In any case, call in a doctor and make sure that she is well. If she is well and still unwilling to do her share you might talk the matter over with her mother who may be able to show her what she has a duty towards marriage as well as you. I wonder what she would say were you suddenly to stop doing your share—no paying the rent or providing money for necessities. Marriage is something you both must work to make it successful and you two have a double incentive with your baby.

MATURE PARENT

By MUREL LAWRENCE
She is a pretty, talented child of 15 who has been singing and dancing in public for some time. She is cheer leader for her high school athletic teams, and what with her boyfriends and entertaining dates, has to stay up late to get her school work done.

Her mother, however, has her nervous state whenever she has to face school tests and is disturbed by the impatience of her daughter's teachers.

"They do not understand that I love and admire to do well," the mother writes. "My reader's worry is a healthy sign. It is time that her child began to learn how to perform without applause."

Schools are not established merely to teach algebra and history, but to help young people learn to do what they're told without the support of love and admiration.

We're the people responsible for the love and encouragement, not teachers. They are the people who prepare children to work for employers who are not fathers, mothers or admirers, but who just want jobs done. They serve as intermediaries between homes and the world where children must work for those whom they do not love and who do not love them.

We underestimate the real function of school experience when we think of it merely as education in algebra and history.

If I had a young daughter who found it impossible to be interested in any activity that did not bring her admiration and applause, I would crack down on those activities. I would explain why it is important to be active without the drug of flattery.

I would do this out of a personal conviction that intoxication induced by flattery impairs the true self-esteem of children. Unless we have such a conviction we may indeed be in a spot when our athletic children and cheerleaders' daughters come home so drunk on applause that they cannot put their minds on algebra and history.

If we are going to continue to expose adolescent children to the heavy doses of public applause from grandstands the way we do, we should see to it that they get loving and persistent instruction on the value of the noise made by hands beaten together.

We tend to neglect this duty. That is why in our society we have so many people who make careers of playing to grandstands long after the audience has found other shows to amuse and entertain.

I am not suggesting that algebra or history are vital to the peace of talented children with aptitudes for dancing, Italian arias, violins, water colors or carrying the ball over the net line.

This attention is a responsibility. If it is not assumed, they are excused them from ordinary responsibilities, that they are entitled to evade any that is not connected with applause.

Such misleading training produces middle-aged men who only happy recalling the day when they won the game for dear old something. It produces the maladjusted artists, writers, actors and musicians who go to pieces under criticism and are never done complaining about it.

They never got a "break." We should take more care how we encourage talented children to regard their gifts as claims to special privileges. Unless the talent is directed in character that weathers the rainy as well as the sunny seasons, it is not an asset to our talented child, but a grave liability.

Potato Quarantine Lifted
AUSTIN, Sept. 1.—UP—A sweet potato weevil quarantine in Smith and Marion counties was lifted Tuesday by Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, ending a three-year control program in the two counties. White said the end of quarantines will mean a return to unrestricted shipments and an additional $0 to 75 cents per bushel profit to the farmer.

Lightning Kills Farm Worker
GRANT, Mich., Sept. 1.—UP—Jose Gonzales, a 19-year-old itinerant farm worker, from Round Rock, Tex., was killed Monday night by a bolt of lightning as he ran for shelter during an electrical storm near here. Eight other harvest workers were knocked to the ground by the lightning, but none was seriously hurt.

Collins-Jones Vows Read In New Mexico
WHEELER (Special)—Miss Loma Fae Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Collins of Amarillo and Troy Dean Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Jones of Allison, were united in marriage Tuesday, August 18, at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church at Portales, N. M. with the pastor of the church, Rev. L. A. Doyle, reading the double-ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were among the Allison High school graduates last year. He received the scholarship for the highest ranking boy in the class.

After the ceremony the young couple left for Colorado Springs for a brief honeymoon.

Only attendants at the wedding were her parents. They will make their home at Lubbock where he will attend Tech College.

Cover Pin-Curls For Street Wear
By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Saturday seems to be National Beauty Day among housewives, if one can judge by the number of busy young mothers seen wearing pin-curis on the street on a Saturday morning.

Baby doesn't mind seeing mother in pin-curis as she pushes him in his carriage and goes from one errand to another, hauling groceries, wet wash, shoes for repair, and a morning's worth of other foot-tiring occupations.

Her husband's, not there. He'll see her later, with hair freshly washed, set and brushed out for their Saturday night date.

Then who minds the pin-curled locks? No one minds at all—unless the girl goes around with the pins naked to the eye, or covered with a soiled, rose-spattered kerchief.

If her neighbor, who also wears pin curls on Saturday morning, can look pretty with the cover-up she's hiding her pin-curis under, can't she, too?

RUTH MILLETT
For the woman of any age who wants to get along well with men, and what woman doesn't, here are a few important guide-posts:

Don't be afraid to show that you like men, enjoy their company, and respect their ideas. The woman who is always trying to prove that women are just as smart or a little smarter than men doesn't appear to like men. Should she expect them to like her?

Don't let yourself grow cynical about people or life in general. Cynicism in a woman repels and frightens men.

Be happy-hearted, not long-faced. At the next party you go to watch how the men sneak away from the woman who wears a discontented look.

Don't kid yourself you needn't make the very most of your looks. Few men will bother to find out whether or not a carelessly dressed poorly-groomed woman has anything to offer.

Watch your voice. A loud-talking woman may be impressed with herself, but she doesn't make a favorable impression on the men she meets.

Don't try to get the best of a man in an argument. What if you do prove that one of his pet ideas is stupid? You prove at the same time you're a woman he can't like.

Remember you don't have to be witty or clever. You can laugh readily at a man's wit and be quick to appreciate his cleverness.

Be willing to be impressed, rather than make an impression. The woman who turns on the charm every time a man approaches is often ridiculous, but the woman who is pleased to see him and willing to let him impress her holds real charm for any man.

Steak Tastes Scrumptious — With Peppers

"GOOD as all get out!" That's how the comments fly when you serve the plates with Pepper Steak.

Take a piece of beef and you have something precious anyway. Then when you cook it in this southwesterly way, you come out with a dish that's plain irresistible.

The zippy topping combines generous strips of green pepper, savory tomato soup, thin slices of sharp onion, onion, and garlic. Cooked all together, it's a glorious tasting mixture.

You can take your choice of cuts of beef for the dish—either round or flank steak or another less tender piece. If using flank, be sure to score it well by cutting across the long fibers with a sharp knife. As meat cooks, you can quickly prepare the rest of this meal: Battery mashed potatoes, topped mixed greens for salad, fresh apples and grapes for dessert.

Pepper Steak
1 pound round or flank steak (1 1/2 inch thick)
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 large green pepper, cut in 1/2 inch strips
1 medium onion, sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 cup shortening
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed tomato soup
1 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 thin slices lemon

Sprinkle steak with flour and seasonings; pound until thin. Cut into 4 serving pieces. Cook pepper, onion and garlic in hot fat; remove from skillet. Brown steak. Add cooked onion, pepper and garlic; blend in remaining ingredients, placing slice of lemon on each piece of steak Cover. Simmer 1 hour or until tender. 4 servings.

SOUP SCOOPS
Pack Beans for Picnic: Getting toward the end of the picnic season, you want to make the last outings "the best yet." For beans and hot dogs will be welcome, you know. Heat the beans in a big skillet over the campfire while the crowd toasts franks on sticks. First brown chopped onion and green pepper in hot shortening in skillet. Use 1 large onion and green pepper. Then stir in 2 cans of beans. Heat till bubbly, and flavor is blended. Pile onto paper plates, alongside toasted franks, pickles and crisp celery. Later pass a basket of doughnuts and apples.

Onion Soup Like a Chef's: For onion soup that's grand as a chef's, use this simple recipe based on condensed bouillon. First cook 1 cup thinly sliced onion until limp in 2 tablespoons butter in saucepan. Add 1 can condensed bouillon and 1 soup can water. Simmer gently for 30 minutes. Serve topped with toasted slices of French bread, sprinkled with grated Parmesan cheese.

Feminine Reporter Collects New Fans After Nudist Story

By ALINE MOBBY
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2—UP— I must take off my clothes more often. Since I un-covered a nudist convention in my birthday suite, the mailman has brought fan letters and even one honest-to-gosh proposal.

Marilyn Monroe skipped to stardom after she posed in the nude and now I can immediately report I, too, have found a few fans because I stripped to report a meeting of sun-all-over-lovers.

A worker at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., wrote "I would marry you if you were here." In fact, he added, "I would even travel to L. A. to marry you," indicating ardent devotion.

"I am a nice looking fellow of 27 with blue eyes, dark hair and a loving disposition," his letter said. "You are a very beautiful woman, dressed or undressed. You can swim in the gulf here." With my bathing suit on, I trust.

A Macon, Ga., fellow enthused "When you get this letter please return your personal address for other communications, you being willing. It could hardly be imagined you would not be willing." Now what could he mean by that?

My journalism school professor at Missoula, Mont., wrote that somehow he must be responsible for all this. A Caruthers, Calif., reader wants to know how he can join a nudist camp, and a Medford, Ore., lady asked if I could send her some false eyelashes.

A Nashville, Tenn., newspaper, the Banner, invited me to cover a nudist convention there, if they ever have one. The Police Gazette and Man's magazine asked for my memoirs of my day in the sun. And next week I'm lecturing on nudists at the annual banquet of the Publicity Club of Los Angeles.

A nudist magazine in Germany, "Sohnen Freund," wrote it wanted to publish "a full-length picture of you at the nudist encampment." There isn't one available, I hope, except a cartoon the South Haven, Mich., Tribune printed and sent along. I can answer, however, seven requests for my autographed calendar photo, the only authorized version, a back view from the waist up.

Even movie stars are interviewing me now. Humphrey Bogart and Victor Mature still don't believe I did it. But I still have my sunburn in the wrong places as proof.

Yugoslav-Italian Frontier Disputed

ROME, Sept. 1—UP—Yugoslavia protested to Italy Tuesday against "armed demonstrations" along the Italian - Yugoslav frontier and threatened to appeal to "a competent international forum."

The Yugoslav note was announced by the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, which said it was delivered Tuesday to the foreign ministry here.

Marshal Tito's government has reported the movement of strong Italian armed forces to the vicinity of the frontier since a Yugoslav news agency dispatch aroused Italian fears over the weekend that Yugoslavia might try to seize its occupation zone in the Trieste free territory.

Yugoslavia called the alleged armed demonstrations a "gross breach" of the customary practice between two countries which maintain diplomatic relations, Tanjug said.

The demonstrations, it was said, serve only to make a solution of the Trieste problem more difficult.

"Such actions of the Italian government constitute the postwar continuation of a policy of hostility toward Yugoslavia which that government has been pursuing for quite a long time," the Belgrad note was quoted as saying.

"They are in direct contradiction of the spirit of the peaceful settlement of disputed questions and obligations of all countries to settle their disputes with peaceful means so as not to endanger peace and security."

Police School Instructor Hits Horse-Buggy Thinking

Inspector C. G. Conner, Austin, brother of Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner, condemns the "horse-and-buggy thinking" of the American people now that the horseless carriage has been around for 50 years.

In Pampa to help kick off a two-week police school for all area law enforcement officers, Inspector Conner told the weekly meeting of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon:

"If we were to stop U.S. vehicular highway traffic, we would paralyze U.S. political and social life."

Continuing to emphasize the important part the automobile plays in the life of mankind, Conner pointed out that in 1900 was the first time man was able to speed up his land transportation. Before the turn of the century, "he was still bound to the speed of a horse."

"The development of the motor vehicle struck the shackles of land transportation from him," said Conner.

The inspector then launched into the problems of traffic congestion and the "more significant" aspect of traffic accidents.

"In my 16 years of police work," Conner went on, "I've seen dozens of those things (accidents), the roadside tragedies, the stark horror, the scenes of pain, sorrow, dirt, filth, ugliness, the twisted metal and the mangled bodies."

In Texas in 1952 there were 2,600 traffic deaths and 70,000 traffic injuries.

To indicate how accidents can strike at home, the Austin official maintained that one of a family of six persons would be killed or injured within the next 10 years by a traffic accident—a "tragic condemnation of land transportation management."

"Driving is a matter of education and training," the inspector continued, adding that there are insufficient law enforcement personnel and inadequate training, equipment and court procedure.

"There's not a model traffic court in Texas." Of the 1,224 state highway patrolmen needed—a minimum—there are only 470 authorized and only 426 on the books now, he said.

"We cannot shirk our responsibility. We can stop this thing in Texas," he declared, asking the

Mixed Up Kids

It just doesn't pay to have allies in these days when the world appears to be populated with blood thirsty Communists and crazy mixed up kids.

All the kids seem to be on our side. Take President Syngman Rhee of Korea. Somewhere along the line Rhee got thoroughly confused. He completely forgot that we sent our soldiers into Korea to chase the Communist North Koreans back into their own yard. He became convinced that what we were there for was to unite North and South Korea.

That would be a neat trick if it could be done without exterminating, one by one, all the Communist North Koreans. Since it is impossible to distinguish a Red Korean from a "white" one by looking at them, even foolish, old, middle-aged, do-gooding Uncle Sam would not take on a job like that — we hope.

Uncle will be doing the best that can be expected if he gets back all his captured sons and persuades the Chinese Reds to retire across the Yalu.

After that he had better skedaddle quickly before Phae snatches up his shotgun again and resumes his demand for an instant wedding.

The next most mixed up kid is Johnny Bull. The British cabinet served notice that Britain will press for Red China's admission to the UN if the Korean peace conference is a success.

Perhaps we are wasting our time bothering about this since the peace conference has less chance to succeed than Miss Columbia has to win a world popularity contest judged on the volume of applause from the spectators.

But the British attitude is just another in a long series of examples to illustrate the still unanswered question of "How confused can one get?"

It will be remembered that Britain persisted in the belief that free nations could do business with Hitler right down to the time the bombs started dropping on London.

Sir Winston Churchill and a majority of British citizens apparently are still of the opinion that the West can do business with Moscow and Chungking. Winnie pines to root around in the hall closet at No. 10 Downing Street, come out with Chamberlain's famous umbrella and head for a palover in the Kremlin.

The British tradesmen-politicians would swap the world's chances for freedom for a few million pounds sterling worth of trade with Red China.

England is notorious for muddling through one situation after another, but muddling becomes entirely too dangerous on a path strewn with Moscow's landmines.

This is not to say that everybody is crazy and mixed up except the big brained U. S. statesmen.

Right now they and we are just as confused as anybody, but there are a few pitfalls we are trying mightily to avoid.

No Compromise

In the August 10 issue of The Freeman, Frank E. Holman, a past president of the American Bar Association, comments on the Bricker Amendment. Holman played a prominent part in the promotion and endorsement by that organization of the proposed "Bricker Amendment" to the Constitution, which would declare any treaty in conflict with the Constitution to be without force and effect. Holman writes: "The main argument advanced by the opposition... was completely discredited in the hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee."

The whole course of the earlier judicial thinking on this subject was changed, Mr. Holman maintains, in 1920 by the case Missouri vs. Holland, which, "in the minds of federal expansionists has given rise to... the doctrine that the treaty power is unlimited, capable even of overriding the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, and... that by its own voluntary act of making a treaty with another nation, the federal government can, apparently without limit, increase its legislative power at the expense of the states... Thus, as matters now stand, any administration in power could — by the device of first making a treaty — then make laws for the people of this country affecting their life, liberty, and property without paying any attention to provisions of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights which were designed to protect our basic rights and freedoms."

Supplementing Mr. Holman's article in an editorial, The Freeman writes: "Even if the Bricker Amendment has been buried for this session, we are glad that Senator Bricker is not accepting any compromise which would emasculate or otherwise cripple it. The very purpose of the amendment is to clarify beyond dispute the supremacy of the Constitution to any treaty. We neither need nor want any 'compromise' that would continue to leave everything ambiguous."

The Newest Idea

The Fairport, New York, Herald-Mail recently said: "Our country with its idea of individual liberty as stated in the Declaration of Independence is still the newest idea in the world... Many of us in our own country fail to understand fully the essence and the newness of the American idea."

Were our government to follow the example of many of the old-world countries and socialize the property and enterprise of the people, it would be so engrossed in ownership that it would no longer be a government of the people but only the proprietor and administrator of the nation with no responsibility toward the individual other than that of ruler and keeper.

The idea of serfdom is old. The idea of liberty for all is new.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"The State The Enemy"

I just finished a new, 1953 book written by Sir Ernest Benn entitled "The State The Enemy." Sir Ernest Benn is a man who must be up in his 80's. He is an Englishman. He is one of the few well-to-do men who understand free enterprise and the laissez-faire economy and can explain and defend them. Two of his other books are "The Return to Laissez-Faire" and "The Confessions of a Capitalist," which had a circulation of 250,000 copies. This is a remarkable circulation for any book that deals with moral and political subjects. I want to quote a few gems for a day or so from this book that shows the blessings and advantages that come from respecting the inalienable rights of the individual and how the state, when it becomes positive rather than negative, is the real enemy of mankind.

Of course, Sir Ernest Benn has been fighting socialism in England and sees the results that the English people are suffering from the infringement by government on individuals' inalienable rights.

In the first chapter he starts out by saying:

"We now hear, more of the State than we used to do, we have Ministers of State and of course the Welfare State. The Ministers were wartime novelties and the Welfare State is an extension of the 'Fruits of Victory' which we earned but never enjoyed from the First World War. The use of the word State in such connections is not only new but highly significant. Lenin, Mussolini and Hitler all erected altars to the State, the service of which, to them, transcended every other purpose of life. In the long list of titles of our government departments the word State does not occur. All of which lends force to the suggestion that the nature, functions, powers and possibilities of the State should now be re-examined in the light of modern experience. Such discussion would disclose differences of opinion, ranging from Gladstone, who would undoubtedly describe the Welfare State as 'the negation of God erected into a system of Government,' to those who admit no limit to the power of the State for good. The actual fact to which this little book endeavors to call attention is the absence of, and the necessity for, a general public interest in a matter which concerns the foundations of our being, whether as individuals or as a nation."

Spreading Half Of Income
"At the present time the State is spending half the national income, although the State as such is incapable of economy. Necessity is the mother of economy and is outside the range of the State machine..."

"The tendency to uniformity and the suppression of the urge to be different and better is now spreading to all the corners of the earth, because the forms and movements of the machinery of State as invented and practiced, first by Germany and then by us, are easily copied by any group of politicians who can secure the reins of government in any country. As a matter of convenience we adopted bulk buying and exchange control, and presented Peron with the power to rule the Argentine. The dictatorship of our Ministry of Food is now influenced almost as much by the views of the foreigner as by consideration for our national needs. Our own difficulties in overseas trade have become international difficulties, and because bureaucratic ways and methods are independent of race and language the trade of the whole world is frustrated."

"The endeavor of this book will be misconstrued if it is regarded as an attack upon any particular political party. It is rather an appeal to all to think in terms of arithmetic, logic, or cause and effect, to take a long-term view and to recognize the folly of the passing satisfaction at the expense of future good."

He points out that limiting food and issuing permits and licenses by the government are a flat denial of the freedom we still profess to prize. Then he goes on to say:

"After nearly half a century of experience of this phenomenon it is time to recognize the inherent error and to realize that while the State can manufacture and circulate paper money the rest of its new powers operate to discourage every other sort of production."

"Simplification of ideas is perhaps the most urgent of the needs of the age, and really big ideas are often quite simple. Instead of thinking of the State as the fairy god-mother, it should be considered as a mere machine for the employment of the people who work it. 'Government,' said Carlyle, 'is emphatically a machine.' The American poet did not overstate the case as 'The incredible cunning of the monstrous plan whereby the spider State has set its web for Man.'"

National Whirligig... Wilson Says What's Good For Business Is Good For U. S. A.

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — "What's good for business is good for the United States."

The paraphrase of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's reference to the intimate relationship between national and general Motors properties behind the Eisenhower administration's plan to organize a new kind of economic intelligence system, based on periodical reports to the White House by key businessmen and industrialists.

Wilson was not indulging in smugness, selfishness or cynicism with this remark before the Senate Armed Services Committee, although he was generally assailed on that ground. With G. M. spending hundreds of millions annually for labor, raw materials and finished products, the secretary of Defense was simply uttering an economic truism.

MISUNDERSTOOD OUTBURST — The withdrawal of General Motors from the market as consumer and producer would be a severe blow to Detroit and to hundreds of communities throughout the nation. It would reduce federal revenues by many billions over a long period. And Wilson, as he has since explained, had in mind the lack of complaint indicates that a business make to the general welfare, not simply his own firm's role.

It is not too widely appreciated, but if any single principle animates the Eisenhower administration, it is the economic soundness of Roosevelt and Truman regimes, it is this misunderstood outburst by an automobile engineer and executive.

His belated grasp of Wilson's broader meaning may explain why there has been almost no criticism of the administration's latest proposal to rely on the advice and cooperation of private enterprise in framing major policies. The lack of complaint indicates that the American business and industry, by the public as well as by the politicians, have been released from a 20-year-old doghouse.

NEW INTELLIGENCE SERVICE — The inspiration for the new intelligence service came from Walter Williams of Seattle, under secretary of Commerce, and he has been transferred to the White House to set it up. He saw the need for improvement in this field when he headed the Committee for Economic Development, a group of progressively minded businessmen, with offices in the Commerce Department here.

He then discovered that CED reports on general conditions were more prompt and informative than statistical data assembled by federal agencies—Commerce, Labor, the Federal Reserve, Treasury, etc. When the government's material reached Washington three months late, it was of value only to historians and college professors, not to private or public managers of the nation's economy.

WILSON'S METHODS — From his contacts as head of the National Citizens Committee for Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign, Williams was able to confirm his earlier impressions. He had no difficulty in selling the plan to the President. As his top commander in Europe, he kept in touch with his field staff by telephone instead of dispatches frequently delayed in transmission.

With the government virtually underwriting business activity by its vast expenditures, it has a great responsibility for checking on the effect of its intervention.

It needs "prompt and objective" reports on important trends: a drop in orders, sales, inventories, collections; bottlenecks in production or distribution; price changes in raw materials and consumer goods; increases or decreases in wages and employment; movements of exports and imports. And it needs this news before it goes to state in order to apply immediate remedies.

A DIFFERENT EXPERIMENT — The Eisenhower-Williams program is not an entirely new experiment. F. D. R. and Truman tried to keep in touch with conditions through other than federal channels. But there will be an all-important difference in the reporting personnel.

In the New Deal-Fair Deal era, the economic scout consisted of men like Henry A. Wallace, Harry Morganthau, Leon Henderson, Harry Hopkins, Leon H. Keyserling, and regional political leaders.

Their usual prescription for all economic ills was to spend more of the taxpayers' money.

IN FAIRNESS TO THE INDIAN
Veto Urged By Many On Sneak Bill Restricting Tribal Rights
(The New York Times)

In the closing days of this session there was mysteriously sneaked through Congress a bill that could do great wrong to the American Indian population of many states, a bill that President Eisenhower in simple fairness to the Indian ought to veto.

The measure, known as H. R. 1063, would authorize any state to assume complete civil and criminal jurisdiction over all Indian reservations within its borders, thus severely limiting the tribal government under which many Indian groups function today.

As first passed by the House, the bill was restricted in scope. But suddenly, without warning and without hearing, it was enormously broadened in the Senate, and in the adjournment rush the amended version was sent to the White House, virtually without debate.

Even if the bill were desirable this would be no way to pass legislation vitally affecting a minority group—especially one that has had such a long record of maltreatment at the hands of the government and people of the United States. But this legislation is not desirable, and is in fact a direct threat to the historic rights of self-government of many Indian tribes, guarded by treaty, law and custom.

The basic objection to the bill is that it would give a blanket authorization to all states irrespective of the wishes of the Indians. The key to the whole issue is Indian consent. The measure in its present form was whipped through Congress so rapidly that practically no one interested in Indian affairs—least of all the Indians themselves—knew what was happening until it had already happened.

—Am I the nicest girl you ever kissed?
—As a matter of fact, yes.

FBI Works Civil Rights Cases And Overlooks Union Violence

By WESTBROOK FEGLER
Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Today's essay will present the contrast between the conduct of the FBI in petty civil rights cases and its attitude toward the more serious cases of union violence.

The Miami Herald of April 30, reported that a "Civil Rights" case was about to be presented to the federal grand jury in which a city prisoner accused a police detective of slapping him. The prisoner had complained to the FBI.

In New York, a New York federal grand jury indicted a detective for hitting the cop with officious harassment, regularly sits in Cabinet meetings with Martin Durkin, the secretary of Labor on leave from a union of the AF of L, the parent organization of the unions concerned in the Louisiana Civil War.

Herb Brownell, the attorney general who makes the FBI middle petty routine police cases, is beginning to pick its reputation to pieces by pointing out that they have to cope with all kinds of crime, including many FBI categories, whereas an agent of the FBI can even ignore a stick-up before his eyes by pretending to be a civilian and ducking around a corner.

Oilers Start Final Homestand Tonight; Meet Dukes At 8:15

Win Road Finale At Plainview, 5-3

The Oilers will return home tonight and will make one last desperate bid to crash the first division when they open the six-day and eight-game stay.

Albuquerque's league-leading Dukes will move in tonight with Abilene and Plainview to follow. Tonight's game has been set for 8:15.

The Oilers retained their play-off hopes last night with a stirring 5-3 win over the Plainview Ponies. The Oilers remained 2½ games back of fourth place Clovis who shaded Amarillo.

Eddie Hughes will likely get the starting call for the Oilers in tonight's game. Hughes, who has a 5-1 record with the Oilers since returning from Baton Rouge where he was optioned, will be seeking his 12th win of the year. Deck Woldt, who has missed the last three games due to his teaching duties, will rejoin the Oilers tonight.

night's game, evened their last Southern invasion at 3-3.

Jake Hanson went all the way to notch his 11th win last night.

The Ponies led off the scoring with a single marker in the first as Brown singled, took second on an error, went to third on an out-of-fly, and scored on Kennedy's fly ball to the outfield.

The Oilers knotted the count with a run in the second on singles by Quincy Barbee, Ted Pawelek, and Johnny Sanderson, and took the lead with two in the fourth on singles by Doug Lewis and Barbee, and a double by Pawelek.

Pampa scored a single run in the fifth on a single by Ed Krewell, a fielder's choice grounder by Manny Temes, and Lewis' double.

Plainview picked up a tally in the sixth on a double by Stokes, Kennedy's infield single, and an error.

The Oilers scored their final tally in the seventh on a walk to Krewell, a single by Felder, and Lewis' fly ball to the outfield.

Plainview added their final marker in the eighth on a double by Stokes, and a two-base error by Pawelek, who threw the ball into left field trying to stop Stokes from moving to third.

The Ponies threatened in the ninth. With one out Gatewood was hit by pitch and Rose flew out, but Bobby Brown kept hope alive with a double to right field. Joe Borrego ended the rally by being called out on strikes.

The Oilers retained their play-off hopes last night with a stirring 5-3 win over the Plainview Ponies. The Oilers remained 2½ games back of fourth place Clovis who shaded Amarillo.

Eddie Hughes will likely get the starting call for the Oilers in tonight's game. Hughes, who has a 5-1 record with the Oilers since returning from Baton Rouge where he was optioned, will be seeking his 12th win of the year. Deck Woldt, who has missed the last three games due to his teaching duties, will rejoin the Oilers tonight.

AT OPENING WORKOUT — Shown above is the 1953 Harvester football squad, taking calisthenics at yesterday's opening workouts for the season. The Harvesters reported 42 strong and all appeared to be in good physical shape. One-a-day workouts will begin today, after yesterday's double drills, included among the 42 candidates were 13 returning lettermen.

Harvester Gridders Open Drills With 42 Candidates

Bond Dons Moleskins As Drills Begin

The Harvesters reported 42 strong and all appeared to be in good physical shape. One-a-day workouts will begin today, after yesterday's double drills, included among the 42 candidates were 13 returning lettermen.

Forty-two candidates, 13 of them returning lettermen, were on hand yesterday when Coach Tom Tipps and his aids issued the initial call of the season for the 1953 Pampa Harvester football edition.

The Harvesters took two drills on the opening day but since classes started officially this morning, only one session a day will prevail from now on.

Another 27 aspirants reported to Guerrilla coaches Weldon Trice and Orville Lewis, bringing the total of 69 boys out for football at the high school. Reaper coaches Marvin Bowman and Deck Woldt were swept checking in boys yesterday and will get their drills underway today.

The Harvesters, after a brief session yesterday morning, wound up with a two-hour drill from 5 to 7 yesterday afternoon. Most of the initial day work was taken up with fundamentals and getting limbered up.

In the afternoon drill, passing plays got most of the attention with J. N. Wright, Jerry Neef, Dean Franklin and Buddy Sharp doing the tossing. Wright is the only letterman of this group while Neef and Franklin are from the Guerrillas and Sharp coming up from the Reapers.

A newcomer to the Harvester squad at the opening drills was Jimmy Bond, all-state basketball star for the state champion Harvesters last winter. Bond, who stands 6-4, will be bidding for an end position. Bond showed up well in the pass receiving department at yesterday afternoon's passing scrimmage.

The players on hand for yesterday's two sessions were: Ends—Bobby Holder, James Pippen and Travis Taylor, all lettermen; Bill Culpeper, squadman; Jim Greene, Marion Stone, Jon Cantrell, B team; and Jimmy Bond, newcomer.

Tackles—Ronnie Elliott, Bob Prigmore and Chick Jordan, all lettermen; David Hutchens, Ben Sturgeon, and Jerry McNaughton, up from B team; Edward Strickland, up from the Reapers.

Guards—Alton Flynn, letterman; Ray Fitch, John Langford and Eugene Bealy, squadmen; J. R. Cross, John Schofield, John McBride and Ray Bensch, up from B team.

Quarterbacks—J. N. Wright, letterman; Jerry Neef and Dean Franklin, up from Guerrillas; Buddy Sharp, up from Reapers.

Halfbacks—Ed Dudley and John Darby, lettermen; Bill Edwards, Carl Blonkvist, Bill Fullenwider, Tommy Darling and Bob Marlar, up from B team; Jackie Edwards, up from Reapers.

Fullback—Harold Lewis and Bob Wilhelm, lettermen; Robert Fleming and Harlan Boyle, up from B team.

The Harvesters will have less than three weeks to get ready for the season opening against Austin of El Paso at Harvester Park.

Willie Pep To Meet Winner

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—UP—Promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club has announced former featherweight champion Willie Pep will meet the winner of Friday night's Lulu Perez - Dave Gallardo fight in Madison Square Garden, Nov. 13.

Tony Trabert Is Engaged

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1—UP—Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 23-year-old Davis Cup tennis star has revealed he is engaged to Shauna Wood, Salt Lake City model who was "Miss Utah" in the recent Miss Universe beauty contest. Trabert said they planned to be married in January at Salt Lake City.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—UP—The high-riding New York Yankees blithely turned to making plans for the World Series Wednesday, now that they have just about snuffed out the last flickering pennant hopes of the Chicago White Sox.

Whatever fortune hopes the Sox may still have been cherishing were practically annihilated Tuesday night when Mickey Mantle's homer and Johnny Sain's clutch relief hurling gave the Yankees a 3 to 2 win over the Sox before 45,003 fans at Yankee Stadium.

The arc-light victory gave the Yankees a two-to-one triumph in the crucial series and boosted their league lead to a whopping 9½ games. Moreover, it reduced the "magic number" for the Yankees to 15; they can clinch the pennant by winning 15 of their remaining 24 games.

Stengel Eyes Series Tactics

In that commanding position, Manager Casey Stengel was frankly eyeing his World Series strategy as the Yankees moved into St. Louis for a series with the last-place Browns.

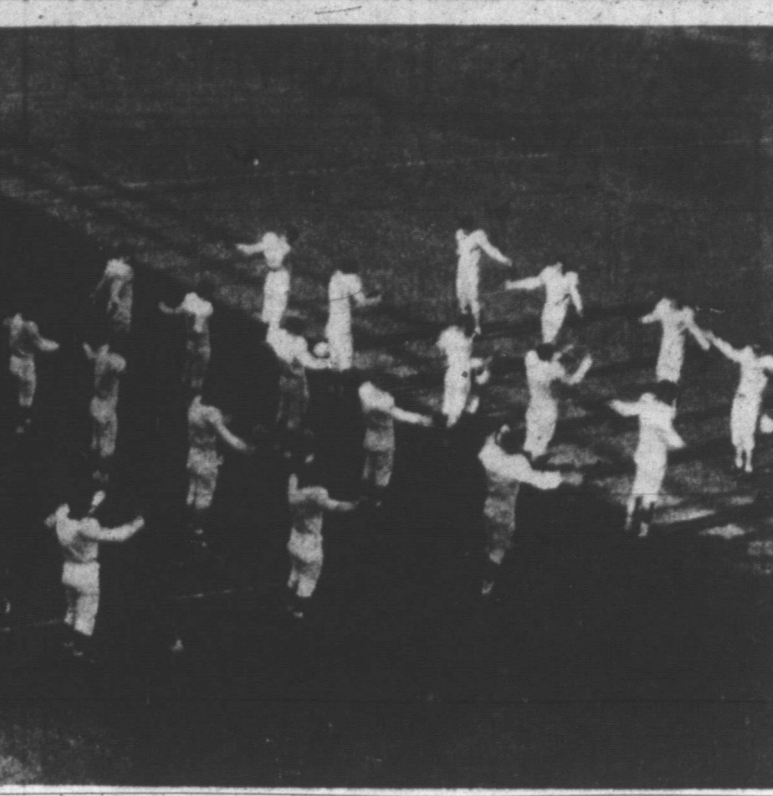

Stengel indicated the Series is what's on his mind now when he said that veteran Allie Reynolds would start Wednesday night's game against the Browns.

Whitey Ford, a leading candidate for the job of pitching the opening game of the series, was Stengel's nominee in the playoff battle with the Sox and he emerged with his 16th victory.

Phil Rizzuto's two-run single in the fourth inning and Mantle's 17th homer in the seventh had given Ford a 3 to 1 margin, but he was derailed when the Sox loaded the bases with none out in the seventh. Sain came on and retired the side with only one run scoring to preserve the victory.

That was the only night action in the major leagues, but the chief day game saw the Dodgers go on a 15-hit spree to whip the Cardinals, 12 to 5, and go 11 full games ahead of Milwaukee in the National League race. The "magic number" for the Dodgers now is 13.

For once, the Bums didn't get any homers but Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson each whacked a double and three singles to lead the assault. Preacher Roe pitched the route for Brooklyn; he gained his 10th, and perhaps oddest, victory of the season. Roe served up five, count 'em, home run balls, but very thoughtfully served every

27 Guerillas Report For Opening Drills

Coaches Weldon Trice and Orville Lewis of the Pampa B team were greeted by 27 hopefuls yesterday at the first practice session of the year.

The Guerrilla coaches, however, were disappointed at the small turnout and have issued an invitation to all sophomores and transfers in the high school to come out.

A nine-game schedule has been lined up for the Guerrillas, one of the roughest slates ever undertaken by a Guerrilla team.

The Guerrillas will open the season Sept. 17 against the Canadian Wildcats at Harvester Park.

Following are the boys reporting to yesterday's first call:

Ends—Luther Sober, Larry Cox, Don Hinton and Lee Teague.

Tackles—Don Jordan, Bob Weaver, Tommy Richardson, John David Meek, Jeffery Dunn and John Perkins.

Guards—David Mullins, Gene Parr, Charles Watson.

Centers—Tommy Rhoten and Cecil Reynolds.

Backs—Don Babcock, Bennie Hollis, Jimmy Alvey, Joe Cook, Bill Thornton, Tony Gonzales, Donald Woolley, Pat Hawkins, Russell Morrow, Rabbit Ramirez, Jim Kirkham, Gene Emmerson.

The season schedule for the Guerrillas is as follows:

Sept. 17—Canadian here.

Sept. 25—Clarendon, there.

Oct. 1—Turkey, there.

Oct. 8—Amarillo B, here.

Oct. 15—Amarillo B, here.

Oct. 22—Amarillo B, here.

Oct. 29—Amarillo B, here.

Nov. 6—Open.

Nov. 13—White Deer, there.

Nov. 20—Borger B, here.

Yanks Stretch AL Lead With Win Over Chicago White Sox

one of them with the bases empty. Error Costs Cubs Game

The Dodgers open a two-game series with Milwaukee Wednesday night that could be Milwaukee's last chance. It's Russ Meyer hurling for the Dodgers against, probably, Warren Spahn.

In other National League games, the Giants beat the Cubs, 10 to 9, when Dee Fondy's error set up an unearned run to settle a slugfest which had seen homers by Ralph Kiner, Roy Smalley, and Bubba Church of the Cubs and Dusty Rhodes of the Giants.

In American League games, Al Rosen clinched his 36th homer and Eary Wynn fanned 10 batters in gaining his 16th win as the Indians beat the Red Sox, 13 to 3; and Ray Herbert's relief pitching led the Tigers to a 3 to 3 win over the A's, despite Gus Zern's 36th and 37th homers for the A's.

There were no other games scheduled.

Tuesday's Star: Mickey Mantle, whose 17th homer gave the Yankees their winning margin in an important 3 to 2 win over the White Sox.

Tourney Qualifying Set At 10 Friday

The Pro-Amateur event will usher in the 1953 Top of Texas Invitational tournament tomorrow morning with many of the top pros and amateurs of the Panhandle and West Texas area due to be on hand for the firing.

Facilities will get underway in the morning at 10:00.

Pros who have already indicated they will be here are Joe Houck, Borger; L. P. McCarthy Phillips, Vern Farquhar, Ross Rogers at Amarillo; Bud Posey, Hereford; Joe Lopez, Memphis and Johnny Austin of local club. Others are expected.

Following the pro-amateur, qualifying for the 18th annual Top of Texas will get underway Friday at 10. Only those qualifying that day will be eligible for the medalist trophy.

The championship flight will consist of 32 players while the other flights will consist of 16 players. The title flight will play first round matches Saturday and then play two matches each on Sunday and Labor Day Monday.

The lower flights will play one match on Saturday and Sunday and two on Monday.

One of the fastest fields in history of the tournament is expected here for the tournament.

Entry fee for the tournament is $10. The pro-amateur fee tomorrow will be $5 for the pros and $3 for the amateurs.

SWC Begins Drills For 39th Season

By UNITED PRESS

Southwest Conference teams ran through light drills Tuesday as the 39th season opened in unseasonably cool weather.

Sixty-six players reported to Coach Ed Price at the University of Texas, the defending champion. The big problem for the Longhorns, 16 to 0 winners over Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, was a replacement for James Carroll. T. Jones, departed quarterback Bunny Andrews appeared to have the inside track to the job.

Coach George Baier started shifting his personnel as Baylor got down to its first two fall sessions, one of which was marred by afternoon showers at Waco.

The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian reported 54 strong — 18 of them lettermen from last year. They began workouts under new head coach Abe Martin, who took the reins from Dutch Meyer who gave up coaching to become TCU's athletic director.

At Fayetteville, Ark., the University of Arkansas also began workouts under a new coach — Bowden Wyatt, formerly of Wyoming.

Wyatt, who succeeded Otis Douglas, sent his 55-player squad through some light contact work, but spent most of the time on signal drills in his newly-installed single wing formation.

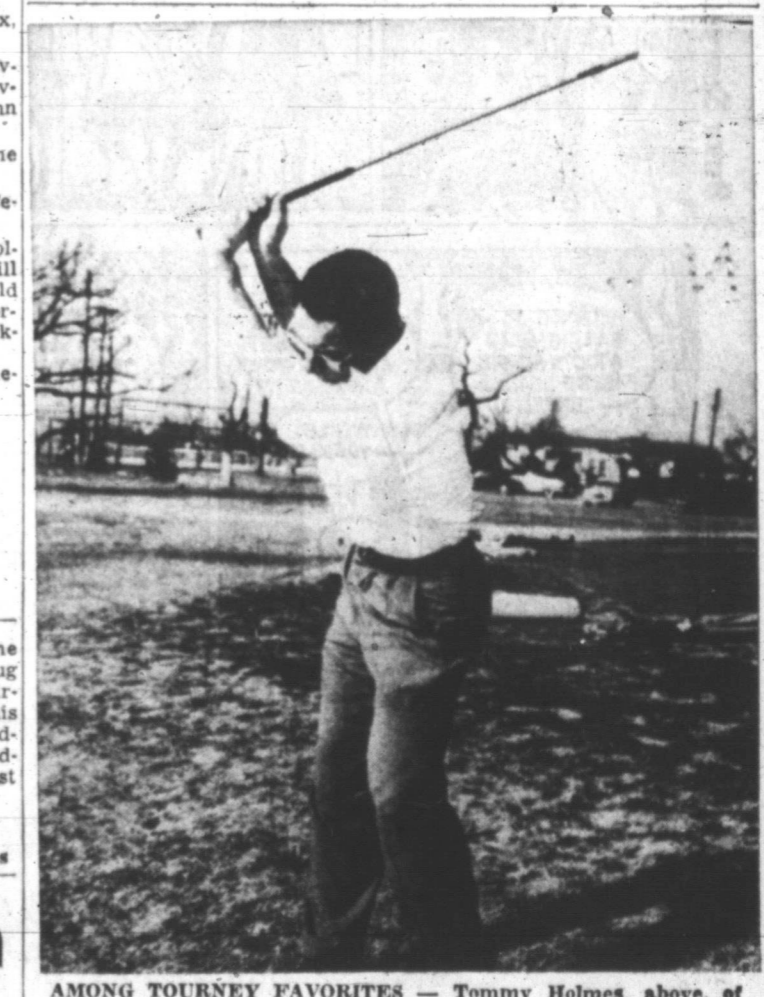

Coach Jess Neely and 54 Rice Owls opened drills Tuesday but spent most of their time indoors because of a soggy drill field. However, the Owls were able to move outside in the afternoon for two hours and spent the last half hour running through a dummy scrimmage.

The SMU Mustangs, under new coach Chalmers (Woody) Woodard, drilled lightly. Seventy players turned out, 21 of them returning lettermen.

SMU will try the split-T for the first time this year. Woodard introduced that formation when he came here from little McPherson, Kans., College.

AMONG TOURNEY FAVORITES — Tommy Holmes, above, of Shamrock and Hardin-Simmons University, will be among the favorites to cop the 18th annual Top of Texas tourney title this weekend. Holmes, the No. 1 golfer on the Border Conference champion H-SU team, was a finalist here in 1951, losing to Jack Williams of Plainview for the title. Holmes won the Phillips tourney title this summer.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Hold Tongue, Play And Then Talk

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

When you find yourself in a contract that you don't particularly fancy, play the hand first and make your comments later. You cannot improve the contract by discussing it promptly, and there is the danger that you will give useful information to the opponents.

When today's hand was played, South ruffed the opening club lead and then delivered himself of the opinion that his partner was a first degree panty-waist. "What sort of dynamite do I have to use to get you, to a slam?" he demanded.

Sighing heavily, South prepared to play the hand safe for 10 tricks. His plan was to cash both red aces and then cross-ruff the hand so as to make eight trump tricks.

When South led the ace of diamonds at the second trick, East dropped the king of diamonds. Geoffrey Mott-Smith held the East cards, and he tried this desperate sales card since it was apparent that no ordinary play would stop the game in view of South's comment.

North-South vul. South West North East 1 Pass 2 Pass 3 Pass 4 Pass 5 Pass

Opening lead - 4 J

The appearance of the king of diamonds at the second trick induced declarer to change his mind. He had intended to settle for 10 tricks, but now he saw no reason to give up a "sure" 12 tricks.

South cashed the ace of hearts, ruffed a low heart with dummy's ace of spades, and then drew four rounds of trumps, discarding two low clubs from the dummy.

South then led a low diamond from his hand and finessed dummy's nine. That was the end. Mott-Smith took the ten of diamonds and four club tricks to set the contract two.

TV Shows Return Following Summer

By JACK GAVER
NEW YORK, Sept. 2—UP—The major television shows are beginning to return to the air in increasing numbers after the summer layoffs and with them comes the free ticket problem.

The networks are old hands at this by now, having gone through the same thing when all the big radio shows were "live" and were performed before audiences. However, the problem is no easier for all that experience—the requests always outrun the number of seats.

A lot of people from out of town are always surprised when they descend on New York with the expectation of picking up two or more tickets for their favorite TV programs. The trouble is that these—especially the big variety, the give-away and other audience participation programs—are also the favorites of a few million others, many of whom live right in the New York area.

Write Ahead For Tickets
So, for many programs, it is impossible to pick up tickets on the spur of the moment. In some cases the persons have had ticket requests in for weeks or months before they have been able to see a show.

The networks maintain departments to handle ticket requests, so it is always advisable to write in well-ahead of any trip to New York and place your order.

Of course, in some cases it is possible to get tickets in advance on your home grounds through dealers in products that sponsor various shows. The sponsors actually get the bulk of tickets, not the networks.

Batches of tickets—also go to the advertising agencies handling the programs. If you know the agency for any particular show, that is a possible ticket source, if others fail.

Joan Crawford to TV
And still they come—the movie stars into television.

Ray Milland heads up a new comedy series called "Meet Mr. McNutley," starting on both CBS-TV and radio Sept. 17, and will be available each Thursday evening thereafter. He will play an absent-minded professor in a college for women.

Joan Crawford, who has been in the top glamour ranks for almost 25 years through all the Hollywood changes, will bow in on the "Revlon Mirror Theater" program Sept. 15 over CBS-TV. This will be her first TV work and is undoubtedly a testing measure that may result in more work in this medium.

CITIZEN, JUNIOR GRADE—Rev. Ernest Ewald, left, Lutheran minister, stands proudly with his foster son, six-year-old Philip, as the boy becomes a citizen in Chicago Federal Court. The youngster, a German DP, was adopted four years ago through the Lutheran home-finding service. Administering the oath of allegiance is Federal Judge Walter J. LaBuy.

Bolivia, A New Game, Is Fun

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One good thing about all the new canasta games is that they have taught us something about the geography of South America. The original game of canasta was developed in Uruguay and Argentina.

Later on we got the game of Chilean canasta, and the latest to develop is Bolivian canasta. In the new geography, children will be taught that the principal exports of the South American countries are jokers and red threes.

The new game of Bolivia, or friend Mrs. Otilia Reilly is very much the same as Samba. If you are familiar with the game of canasta with three decks of cards Bolivian canasta, developed by my known as samba, you will have no difficulty in adjusting yourself to the four main differences that switch the game into Bolivia. These are:

1. It is possible to meld a canasta of seven wild cards, for a bonus of 2500 points. This type of canasta, called a Bolivia, may never contain more than seven cards.
2. You need at least one sequence (samba or escalera) in order to meld out. As in the game of samba, you need two canastas in all before you can meld out, and at least one of these must be a sequence canasta. (In the game of samba, you are allowed to have two ordinary canastas if you choose.)
3. Any black three that is still in your hand when some other player melds out counts 100 points against you. In ordinary canasta and in samba a black three always counts only 5 points.
4. The game ends when the score of either side (or both sides) reaches 15,000 points at the end of a hand. As in every form of canasta, the game is won by the side that has the higher score. If both sides go over 15,000, the higher score wins regardless of which side happens to meld out on that final deal.

Q—Is there any form of canasta in which you are allowed to meld wild cards with your black threes?
A—No. You are never allowed to meld a wild card with black threes. (The rule was different when the original game of canasta came out, but the present rule dates back to the beginning of 1951.) This rule applies to canasta, samba, Bolivia, and all other games of this family.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 2—UP—Dr. Joseph McGill's wife gave birth to a boy Tuesday and restored McGill's faith in mathematical odds.

McGill, already the father of a girl, studied Mendel's laws of heredity and stated cautiously, before his son's birth the odds were 100,000 to 1 against another female in the family.

Real Gone Gun
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (UP) — Mrs. Tom Kinder said a stranger knocked on the door and asked to see "the pistol your husband is going to sell me." Mrs. Kinder told the man that her husband owned a shotgun but not a pistol. The stranger asked if he could see the gun and the man ran away with it.

Necessary Break-down
BUFFALO, N. Y. — (UP) — Unlike almost any other product manufactured, a grinding wheel is made to break down in use. That's because as the abrasive grits dull, the bond that holds them together must break down to present new cutting surfaces, say researchers of Electro Refractories and Abrasives Corp. The wheel that doesn't wear down becomes glazed and smooth on the face. Then it doesn't cut.

MAKES THE FUR FLY—Probably the world's only cat to fly faster than sound is Zero, six-toed alley cat mascot of the 62nd Fighter-Interceptor Squadron at O'Hare International Airport, Chicago. She made her supersonic flight in an F96-D Sabrejet, piloted by Maj. Richard Garrett, squadron commander.

Dies of Auto Injuries
WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Sept. 2—UP—Carol Ann Henderson, 5, daughter of M. Sgt. and Mrs. C.A. Henderson of Sheppard Air Force Base, died Tuesday night in Wichita Falls hospital of injuries received when she was struck by a car in downtown Wichita Falls.

Wildcat Blows In
ELECTRA, Tex., Sept. 2—UP—A new wildcat oil well, five miles from the nearest producer, was flowing at the rate of almost 150 barrels an hour Wednesday five miles east and two miles north of Electra. The well, the No. 1 L. B. Slaughter, Sec. 18, H&GN railroad survey, blew in at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday at 3,700 feet. Leasee is Charles E. Morrison.

Ruling on Turnpike Authority
AUSTIN, Sept. 2—UP—The attorney general's office ruled Wednesday it was legal for Texas Highway Commission members to serve as unpaid ex-officio members of the newly-created Texas Turnpike Authority. Attorney General John Ben Shepperd returned the ruling in response to a query from Commission Chairman E. H. Thornton as to its constitutionality.

The word mayhem once meant an assault which deprived the victim of a part of his body used for defense, such as his arm, leg or foretooth, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.
