

Shepperd's Life Threatened In Texas Commie Probe

AUSTIN, Dec. 4—UP—Harvey Matusow, an ex-Communist from New York, was docketed Friday as the first witness as the state of Texas launched an investigation into alleged Red domination of three independent labor unions.

Shepperd said there were "seven or eight" warnings, all of them received by telephone at his home. All were from anonymous callers and most were profane, he said. "They didn't bother me. It's the wrong way to stop me, if that's what they're trying to do," he said. Matusow will head a list of three other ex-Communists, one of them a former undercover man for the FBI, who are scheduled to testify. Furnished information to FBI Shepperd said Matusow joined the Communist party in 1947 but was kicked out after furnishing information to the FBI. He later worked for the Ohio legislature's Un-American Activities Commission.

The investigation was ordered after Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepperd charged there was a Moscow directed plot to seize control of vital Texas industry—especially that located in Texas' "Golden Triangle," an industrial complex based on petroleum bounded by Port Arthur, Beaumont and Orange in the extreme southeast. Shepperd spoke out after the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers Union struck 22 retail establishments at Port Arthur.

'WENT TOO DEEP' Daredevil Diver Dies In Atlantic

MIAMI, Dec. 3—UP—Scientists and "goggles" speculated Friday that a fantastic "intoxication" may have killed a daredevil diver in a record Atlantic plunge but his mother said he "just wanted to go deep." The U. S. Coast Guard announced it "assumed" amateur diver Hope Root, 22-year-old Fort Worth attorney, had drowned in his plunge of at least 400 feet into the gulf stream Thursday and gave up a helicopter search for his body. Diving experts believed Root may have suffered an organic attack or may even have succumbed to a strange malady dubbed by the "goggles"—those who swim deep, wearing eye goggles—as the "rapture of the deep" as he unofficially broke the record of 396 feet set by Maurice Fargues, who came to the top dead.

Tough Issues Face Leaders Of Big Three

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, Dec. 4—UP—President Eisenhower joined British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel Friday for a Big Three conference designed to put the work back on the road to peace. The President's special plane Columbine landed at the United States Forces Kindley Field Base at 10:12 a.m. est after flight of three hours and 10 minutes from Washington. With the President were Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and a staff aide.

Solon Asked To Testify Before Panel

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4—UP—The House Un-American Activities committee Friday invited a California congressman to explain his reported presence at a Communist party meeting five years ago. A witness before the committee, Charles D. Blodgett, 32, of Chicago, testified Thursday that Rep. Robert L. Condon (D-Calif.), of Walnut Creek, attended a "closed" meeting of the party in Oakland in 1948. In New Orleans, Condon said he "never" attended a closed meeting of the Communist party. He charged the committee was trying to "smear" him before next year's elections.

Wire-Puller Out Of Jail

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—UP—Henry W. Grunewald, one-time Washington wire-puller, was released from jail Friday after serving 80 days for probationary violations. His wife greeted him with a kiss as he stepped to freedom through the gate of the District of Columbia workhouse. Grunewald, 61, was released 10 days early for good behavior. He served 80 of the 90 days in his sentence. Grunewald faces more problems. He and his wife have been ordered to vacate their plush apartment in northwest Washington by Dec. 28. A New York store is suing him for $707 for ties he once purchased as Christmas presents for some of Washington's "best people." And Mrs. Grunewald has said the family is "broke."

McCarthy Triggers Move To Wire Ike On U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—UP—Hundreds of telegrams poured in to the White House Friday as a result of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's request that Americans advise President Eisenhower how they feel about U. S. aid for nations in the "blood trade" with Red China.

Administration sources noted, however, that the first flow of messages was not large by White House standards. When public sentiment is inflamed by a major controversy, the President sometimes receives hundreds or even thousands of telegrams in a single day. McCarthy made the statement to reporters as White House aides revealed that 120 telegrams were received Thursday afternoon and Thursday night after McCarthy urged "every American who feels as I do" to write Mr. Eisenhower demanding that he cut off U. S. aid to nations trading with Red China.

Police alerted in waterfront strike. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4—UP—Police patrolled the waterfront Friday to prevent further labor violence after more than 1,000 AFL maritime unionists stormed a police cord in a bloody effort to smash a rival union picket line. Police Chief Michael Gaffey said 700 officers had been alerted for instant action if new clashes broke out between rival unions seeking control of ships' steward personnel.

Fire Damage Heavy At Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Dec. 3—UP—A fire which threatened an entire block in the city's midsection and caused damage estimated near $100,000 was brought under control after firemen battled the blaze for two hours Thursday night. An estimated 180 spectators were evacuated from the Palace Theatre and caused damage estimated out shortly after 7 p.m. It gutted the structure before it was extinguished.

Doctors Watching Mad Dog Victim

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—UP—Doctors watched "Mr. X" apprehensively Friday to see how many glasses of water he may drink as the mad dog victim approached the greatest crisis of his life. "Mr. X," who is 44-year-old Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.), was bitten 14 days ago but went untreated for seven days, unaware the dog carried hydrophobia. The minimum incubation period of the disease is 14 days. Thus, unless the belated Pasteur inoculations have destroyed the virus before it reached the virus before it reached the man's nervous system, he could manifest the first symptoms of the disease Friday—convulsions and intense thirst.

PWs Reject Gifts Of New Testaments

PANMUNJOM, Dec. 4—UP—The 22 American prisoners who have refused to return home have rejected New Testaments and asked instead for Communist newspapers, an Indian spokesman revealed Friday. The spokesman said the self-exiled GIs flatly turned down a gift of 22 individually wrapped New Testaments sent to them from the United States.

Most of the initial batch of telegrams supported McCarthy's position, but no precise breakdown of their contents was made public. McCarthy made the statement to reporters as White House aides revealed that 120 telegrams were received Thursday afternoon and Thursday night after McCarthy urged "every American who feels as I do" to write Mr. Eisenhower demanding that he cut off U. S. aid to nations trading with Red China.

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 4—UP—The Air Force has identified four crewmen killed when their B-47 Stratofortress bomber exploded in the air and crashed while on a training flight Thursday. The Davis-Monthan Air Force Base identified the dead as Lt. Col. Douglas H. Bratcher, Dallas; Maj. Hayward W. McEver, Teasdale, N. Y.; Capt. Jesse G. Williams, Kennedy, Tex.; all of whom were pilots, and Alan C. Wren, L. Child, Nevada, 10 crew member.

US Vessel Fired On By Egyptians

CAIRO, Dec. 4—UP—An Egyptian shore battery fired on the American relief ship Albion when it entered a restricted area in the Gulf of Sinaï, it was learned Friday. The shore battery at Ras Nudrari, on the southern tip of the Sinaï peninsula, fired a warning shot across the bow of the ship which left Philadelphia, Nov. 4, with 9,500 tons of wheat for Jordan.

'Dead' Woman Rejoins Family

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Dec. 4—UP—Lyle H. Maynard, 26, who was declared legally dead after she left Nashville, Tenn., nearly 10 years ago, was to fly back home Friday. "It's true, I am that missing girl," Miss Maynard sobbed when she was confronted by her brother at police headquarters. "I had a time when I was young and just wanted to get out on my own."

Rain May Hamper Parade Tonight

There was a possibility that scattered showers might hamper Santa Day parade activities here tonight. The weather forecast for this area was for mostly cloudy weather this afternoon and tonight with scattered showers. The weatherman reported that it will be slightly cooler Saturday. The mercury dipped to a low of 29 degrees Thursday night, but the temperature had risen to 39 degrees at 11 a.m. today. Thursday's high reading, according to Radio Station KPDD, was 44 degrees.

Accident Victim's Condition Is Fair

The condition of A. G. Seitz, who was injured Thursday when his car was struck by a Santa passenger train at the Hobart Street crossing, was reported at Hill General Hospital today as fair. An attending physician said the Seitz suffered chest injuries and several fractured ribs. The physician stated that his condition was serious, but not critical.

Hank Writes Imaginary Piece On Yank-Dodger 1954 Series

By HENRY McLEMORE
 Scoop! Stop the presses! Here, almost a year in advance, is an exclusive, imaginary interview with Mr. Walter Alston, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team, on the eve of the first game of the 1954 World Series with the New York Yankees.

about tomorrow's opening game, Mr. Alston? Think you'll win it?
 Alston: I certainly do. We're going with our best, Erskine, the team spirit is fine, and all my players are in top shape. Notice the way the boys were slugging that ball in practice? I want you to know just one thing — the ball club isn't afraid of the Yankees.

Brooklyn 4. We return to the clubhouse.
 Reporter: That was a tough one to lose, wasn't it, Walter?
 Alston: It sure was, but you can't win 'em all. Remember, this is a long series, and we're far from licked. There's no sense in that home run Rizzuto hit. Erskine put the ball just where he wanted to — a low curve on the outside corner. I'll bet Rizzuto hasn't hit that kind of ball all year. And that catch Woodling made off Snider! He couldn't do it again in ten years.

Britishers Bid Is Too Strong

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for NEA Service
 North's bidding was a bit too strong by American standards, on the hand shown today. South might bid, and North would make allowance for that possibility by raising to only three hearts. South would then go on to game.
 The hand was actually played in the European championships by a team of English women against a team of Swedish women. Mrs. Nico Gardener held the South cards at one table, and had no objection to her partner's vigorous bidding. North could well afford to bid the hand to the hilt, for Mrs. Gardener proceeded to play it to perfection.

West opened the deuce of diamonds, and Mrs. Gardener tried the jack from dummy. East covered with the queen, and declarer won with the king. She next led a trump to dummy's queen and returned a trump, forcing out West's ace. West got out with a third round of trumps, leaving it up to declarer to find a way of avoiding the loss of a diamond and two spades.
 Mrs. Gardener found the way. She cashed the top clubs and ruffed a club. She next entered dummy with the ace of diamonds, noting that West had to discard a spade on this trick, and then led the last club from the dummy. Instead of ruffing, declarer threw her losing diamond, allowing West to win the trick with the ten of clubs.
 That was the end of poor West of course. She had to lead spades, allowing declarer to make her king. South lost only one trump, one spade, and one club, making her contract. At the other table, the Swedish declarer missed this line of play and was set one trick.

Opposes Slash In Depletion Allowance

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 3 —UP—A cut in the present depletion allowance on oil operations would be "fatal" to any expansion by the industry, Sidney A. Swensrud, chairman of Gulf Oil Corp., said here Wednesday.
 It would have to be offset, by inflationary (to the consumer) rises in crude oil prices and by a vastly augmented stream of imports, he said. "Neither substitute would be a welcome or desirable alternative."
 Swensrud also forecast a rise in world consumption of oil by at least 5.5 million barrels per day within the next decade.
 By 1963, Swensrud told a meeting of the New Mexico Oil and Gas Association, the domestic demand for oil will be about 3 million barrels daily, an annual increase of about 300,000 barrels a day for the next decade.
 Swensrud cited figures compiled by the Chase National Bank to show "vastly expanded" capital requirements of the oil industry and said depletion and depreciation allowances are not now sufficient "to cover exhaustion of plant and properties in the presence of rising costs."

Ridgway Hurls Charge At Reds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 —UP—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway charged Wednesday that the Communists in Korea failed to return 8,608 American prisoners known to have been victims of Red atrocities.
 The Army Chief of Staff told a Senate Investigating subcommittee that Defense Department figures show 13,239 soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines were subjected to "inhuman" treatment. Of these, he said, only 4,621 have been repatriated.
 This "tragic void," Ridgway said solemnly, "can be directly attributed to Communist mistreatment of prisoners."
 Ridgway was first witness in a three-day series of hearings that will include GIs eyewitness accounts and first hand descriptions of atrocities.

 The former United Nations Supreme commander read to the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.), a "staggering list" of atrocities he said were proved beyond question. It included:
 "Deliberate shooting" of wounded prisoners because they couldn't march fast enough, "brutal mutilation of dead and wounded," "cruel tortures for minor infractions of prison rules," and the serving of "maggoty food" which the Reds knew would bring illness or death.

Apple For McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—UP—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) posed for photographs with some red northern spies. He also showed them a note that came with them. It read:

 The red northern spies were apples of the Northern Spy variety.

Farm Women Find Selling Of Home Cooked Foods A Profitable Business

By BETTY PRYOR
WASHINGTON UP—During the worst of the depression in 1932, a few Maryland farm women set up a tent on the outskirts of Washington to try selling their home-grown and home-cooked food.

That experiment, started by necessity, now is a thriving $300,000-a-year business.

GRACE FRIEND

FAMILY PROBLEM
Dear Mrs. Friend
My elderly mother has lived in our home for several years.

Recently her health has failed and she no longer likes to take part in dinners etc. when we have a few friends in.

A few weeks ago we had a little party and later I heard that one of the people at the house was very critical of me for "not allowing my mother to attend."

I just don't know what to do. Should I insist on mother being at parties which no longer interest her or should I just ignore such criticism.

Most of the women specialize in their wares. For example, Marie Boland makes doughnuts, cookies, cakes, and potato salad.

Others sell such things as fruits, vegetables, cream, butter, turkeys, fudge, fruit cake, baked beans, hominy, bread, rolls, pies, home-cured ham, cottage cheese, relishes, preserves, and, in season, partridges, squabs and rabbits.

HAUNTED
Dear Grace Friend
I have just read Mrs. A's letter. She speaks my feeling as to regard to the advice you gave in the been age girl in regard to her parents' cocktails.

I feel that even in adding a wish about giving the girl a little different answer had you a chance to do it over again, you still have pulled far short of a wise answer.

According to God's holy word here is not a class of people such as nice and unwise. We are either children of God or children of the devil.

Brownie Troop 24 entertains Families At Birthday Dinner
Girls from Brownie Troop No. 24, entertained their families with a dinner recently at the Girl Scout Little House to celebrate their third birthday.

Qualifying for their Brownie pins are Donna Gay Bullard, Paula By Bullard, Priscilla Goodwin, LaToia Shouse, and La Nelle Riley.

Forty one guests were registered.

MRS. WILSON IS CUSTOMER
Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the former president, is a regular customer for country sausage.

Each of the farm women is an independent seller with a booth to display her wares. Individual sales vary from $400 to $12,000 a year, according to Mrs. Kingsbury Matson, manager.

The women's profits have paid off mortgages, sent children through college, and financed refrigerators, new stoves, and other farm and home improvements.

Mrs. Charles G. Howard, who joined the cooperative nearly 21 years ago, said the venture was a real boon to her family in the depression.

"If it hadn't been for the market, I would have been working by the day," she said.

Each woman specializes in their wares. For example, Marie Boland makes doughnuts, cookies, cakes, and potato salad.

Others sell such things as fruits, vegetables, cream, butter, turkeys, fudge, fruit cake, baked beans, hominy, bread, rolls, pies, home-cured ham, cottage cheese, relishes, preserves, and, in season, partridges, squabs and rabbits.

University Is Adviser
Before any woman is admitted to the cooperative, a market committee inspects her kitchen and the quality of her cooking.

Mrs. Matson said the market means more than a source of income to the farm women, many of whom live in remote areas.

Cupid Suffers Rousing Loss In Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4—UP—Jane Wyman's broken marriage makes it a clean sweep today against cupid. Cupid has been blasted to a rousing defeat in the Hollywood glamour girl department.

The year 1953 was a flop for Hollywood love life, and during the past few weeks there's been a number of screen stars shedding mates and boy friends before the new year begins.

Miss Wyman's third husband, husband Fred Karger, moved out of her home this week of her home this week and friends blamed it on "career trouble."

"He's in great demand for parties and works mostly at night," she explained. "This leaves her home alone and she doesn't like that. They don't see much of each other."

His friends said Jane was "the typical dominating movie queen who's hard to get along with."

Karger said he didn't want a divorce and would try to talk the Oscar-winning actress into a reconciliation.

Pugnacious Jane joins an impressive list of cinema sirens who are having marriage trouble as the year draws to a close.

Leslie Caron, MGM's pixie star, who won the Oscar for her role in "From Here to Eternity," is estranged. Guy Madison says he'll file for divorce after wife Gail Russell's drunken driving charge is aired in court.

Filmstars have known for years of the cowboy star's fight to hold the marriage together and help his unhappy spouse.

Ida Lupino is back in town after a year in Phoenix from her break-up with Howard Duff. She said she "did my best to make the marriage work and I'm just fed up."

Ava Gardner took off for Rome after promising to end her ties with Frankie Sinatra when she comes back in April. Eleanor Parker and Julia Adams won recent divorces and Susan Hayward has a date with a judge.

Zsa Zsa Gabor was beat to a divorce filing by suave George Saunders, who also swiped their butler—her only witness if she filed a suit.

Even romances have suffered. Robert Taylor ended his long courtship of German beauty Ursula Thiess. Attorney Greg Bautzer stopped dating blonde Mari Blanchard, and Marilyn Erskine and Donald O'Connor gave up. Other couples who've called it a day recently are Jane Powell and Gene Nelson, Dorothy Malone and Scott Brady, Marilyn Maxwell and writer Jerry Davis, Pier Angeli and Kirk Douglas, and Debbie Reynolds and Bob Wagner.

Population Of Canines Is On Increase

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—UP—How long we may have to do something about people to make room for a lot of dogs.

The plain facts are that the dog population in the United States is increasing at the rate of over 900,000 a year. Lady dogs have litters which run from four and five to sometimes up to 18 or 20.

These facts are revealed in what a tin-can company, which recently made a survey, likes to call the "Tin-ey" report. The company is anxious to say that the count of dog-cars stemmed from the fact that the outfit puts up dog villas in tin cans.

Cats Also Counted

The tin outfit also, while it was about it, counted cats.

The results are rather astounding.

As of now, there are 22.6 million dogs in the land of the free, of which more than half live in the outlands where they have more room to romp and play than in a crowded city like Washington.

The cat count runs up to 26.7 million, most of them of the alley or barn variety. Very few of them are in the cat book of blue-bloods.

The survey shows that "even though cats outnumber dogs, they are concentrated in fewer households." The average family that has cats around has 2.21 of them. The average dog-owning family has only 1.21.

It's hard to take the word of the researchers that the dog and cat population of the country outnumbers families of humans by about eight million.

A Particular Lot

It seems that any dog these days who would stoop to gnawing on anything but a dime-store rubber bone is a social outcast.

The modern dog looks down his snout at any four-legged critter that would settle for table scraps. Let a dog off the leash or turn a cat loose and they follow native instincts. They knock off lids of garbage pails and get a load of left-over. The owner then sits up half the night treating a belly-ache. Next day the master hits it to the store for a sack of expensive vitamins and chains up Tower or Tabby.

Slippery Prisoner

DUQUESNE, Pa., Dec. 4—UP—Duquesne police kept their eyes on tight-fingered James Thompson Friday.

Thompson was arrested on a disorderly charge Thursday but shortly after he was locked up, both Thompson and the keys to the jail disappeared.

Police re-arrested Thompson at his home and retrieved their keys.

PUMPS LIFE FOR DAUGHTER—Bernadine Pollock, 14, background, is still alive after 14 months in a coma, thanks to the homemade suction pump exhibited by her father, Cecil Pollock, foreground. The pump, fashioned from a refrigerator compressor and washing machine motor to save the cost of a professional model, is turned on every half hour to clear mucus from the child's throat, and has been in operation for 11 months. Bernadine, who entered a state of coma in August, 1952, following operation for an abscess caused by a mastoid infection, may regain consciousness at any time, say doctors who give her a 50-50 chance to live.

Fiendish Suspect In Critical Shape

HOLBROOK, Ariz., Dec. 4—UP—Carl J. Folk, 60, suspect in the brutal rape - murder of a young Pennsylvania mother, "isn't talking period," investigators said Friday.

The husky, 210-pound, six-footer was under guard at Holbrook Hospital where Dr. H. B. Potthoff said he was in critical condition from a gunshot wound inflicted by the victim's husband, Raymond Bruce Allen, 25.

Allen, who was forced to watch helplessly as his wife was beaten, tortured, raped and then strangled during a six-hour orgy, left by air Thursday night for their Wattsburg, Pa., home. He was accompanied by their 10-month-old son. The body of his wife, Betty Faye, 22, was being returned east by train for burial. Her funeral will be held Monday.

Oppose Tourist Cards In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4—UP—The Mexican Tourist Association was on record Friday as opposed to a recent order which required $3 tourist cards for visits to Mexican border cities.

The Association said the order "has complicated things."

"That, and the bad publicity given the (Mexican government) disposition cause thousands of tourists to abstain from coming to Mexico," the travel group said.

Director General Ricardo Estrada Berg said the tourist trade has given "economic life" to the border cities of Ciudad Juarez, Nuevo Laredo, Reynosa and Matamoros.

Before the cards were required, tourists were allowed to make short visits within 15 miles of the boundary without payment.

School Bus Routes Mapped By Nuckols

The county schools superintendent is "back in school" — he's drawing maps.

E. R. Nuckols these days is working on a map of the 35 different public school bus runs that originate in Gray County.

Requested by J. W. Edgar, Texas education commissioner, for the Texas Education Agency in Austin, the maps are designed to supplement the descriptions of the bus runs that Nuckols sends along each year.

The map-drawing routine only comes up every three or four years, however.

Sixteen of the bus runs are for Pampa. Nuckols stated this morning, pointing out that McLean has six; Letors, six; Alnreed, five; Grandview, three; and Hopkins, two.

Further complicating the superintendent's map-drawing duties, though, is the fact that three of the county's school systems run buses into other counties: Pampa into Roberts; McLean into Donley, Wheeler and Collingsworth; and Alnreed into Donley. "And they didn't send me any maps for those counties," Nuckols commented.

State funds pay for Pampa, McLean and Alnreed bus runs, Nuckols continued, in explaining the purpose of furnishing the state such information.

Bargaining

By Paul L. Polrot
INSTALLMENT XII
Industry-Wide Bargaining
A fourth reason for believing that monopoly power may be the objective of some union activities is apparent in the trend toward industry-wide "bargaining" — the idea that all the competitors, both the competing employees and the competing employers, is an entire industry ought to "bargain" through a single union.

Aid Means Control

For some time now we have warned against federal control over the lives of the American people, including federal aid to and ultimate control over the field of education. We have repeatedly warned that with federal aid there is always the threat of federal control. It remained for Sen. Joe McCarthy, whose activity in uncovering Communists and fellow travelers in government we have often applauded, to show how government aid can mean government control.

A London news item quotes an English observer of U. S. ways and customs, in contrast with Britain's, on his return home from a visit over here. Says Henry Longhurst: "First, the chief difference is work and money. The United States has at least three times as much of both. Second, production speed at an American company, which also has a plant in Britain and uses the same machines and materials in both, is four times faster at the home plant."

The independent company-wide union coincides in scope with the natural bounds of business organization, and it has potentialities as a valuable part of the voluntarily cooperative procedures of competitive private enterprise. This is not to say that a company-wide union will function perfectly or that it might never be perverted. Many independent company-wide unions have failed, just as there have been and perhaps always will be failures in any general field of human endeavor.

There is little point in debating the role of company management in the development of industry-wide labor unions. It is undoubtedly true that some of the business managers, who have not realized the ultimate consequences, have actually welcomed the "security" of industry-wide control over wages and hourly output per employee and other variables which might otherwise provoke competition.

National Whirligig... Federal Employees Aided Ickes In Compiling Lengthy Diary

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Harold L. Ickes' 6,000-page diary was compiled by a question among his overburdened successors at Washington of when this literary Colossus found any time to work for Uncle Sam instead of for Harold L. Ickes. It was still alive, some taxpayers might bring suit for recovery of the several hundred thousands of dollars paid him during his twelve years as secretary of the Interior. Leaving out the odd figures, the "Old Curmudgeon" wrote 500,000 words a year during his twelve years here, 10,000 words a week and almost 1,500 words a day. His laborious, copy-reading methods often multiply the mystery of how he reconciled his role of diarist with his responsibilities as a public servant. Ickes was a sports reporter in Chicago many years ago.

As James A. Farley says, Ickes' belief that either party would name him for President is the "sildest fantasy" in political history. But the writings show how many men around Roosevelt were ready and willing to fight for the nomination in 1940 and 1944, and possibly disrupt the hedgepodge Democratic organization, if F.D.R. did not silence their clamor and rivalry by running again. PRESIDENTIAL HOPEFULS — Within the White House family, either seeking it on their own or friends, were Ickes himself, Henry Wallace, Cordell Hull, Louis Johnson, James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. Standing on the outside but always available until his death

KEPT SECRETARY BUSY — He made his first copy in pencilled long-hand, which was then typewritten by a secretary on the federal payroll. After he had edited this original draft, he frequently corrected it, or expanded it. It was then retyped. In addition, he was a prolific writer of books and magazine articles, and was never averse to making a withering speech. He poured out more than words, however, which makes his achievement all the more bewildering. He physically and mentally was poured out his intense emotions of hate, envy, ambition, frustration and plain disgust with so many of his fellow officials, including Franklin D. Roosevelt. CARELESS DEPARTMENT WORK — This literary expansiveness explains, belatedly, why the Interior Department was conducted in such

Chances the power to tax consumers. He is indeed the government. In one or another manner, also, the power of the government has been granted to the officialdom of organized labor. Taxpayers are obliged to provide unemployment benefits for those who have been forced into idleness by the tactics of "unionism" — high labor-union practice. This is monopoly power in its most terrible form. To blame union organizers for usurping power and for exercising the authority which has been granted to them by law, is to miss the important point. The fact is that the power of compulsion cannot be thus exercised until it has first been delegated by our individual selves to the agency of government. As the government increases its power over the individual citizens, this means a corresponding decrease in the personal freedom to compete and to bargain. If the government, either directly or through its authorized agencies of compulsion achieves control of food, banking, transportation, steel, coal — the basic industries — it is then able to force individuals to its own terms. Those who depend upon the government for the necessities of life have lost all means of regulating that government. Such a government is a real monopoly, one in which an individual must pay tribute — or else. If the right to compete is lost, bargaining is out of the question. The scene is drawn upon freedom when "collective bargaining" comes to mean monopoly and tyranny. (To Be Continued)

Ickes Diary Reveals Roosevelt Wanted To Oust Robert Moses

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The cherry voice of Bob Moses asked, "Have you seen the Ickes diary?" I said, "No," but Ray Mosley wrote that it showed he cultivated Drew Pearson to keep the Droop's old man on the payroll, and Ray added, "It belongs with Peppy, Marco Polo and other fictioneers, including Quentin Reynolds' latest." "I have got a galley proof," Mr. Moses gushed. "I am sending it right over. You will enjoy every word of it. Read the parts I have marked." The package arrived and the marked portions proved to be an unabashed admission by one of the chief crooks of the foul regime that F.D.R. tried to throw Moses off the Tri-Borough Bridge Commission because Moses had caught him stealing $5,000 a year from the public treasury. The first entry read: "We had a staff meeting of PWA. I have been insisting that Mayor La Guardia must get rid of Robert Moses as a member of his Tri-Borough Bridge Commission. This has been at the instance of the President." "It seems that Moses is a bitterly persistent enemy of the President and the President has a feeling of dislike for him that I haven't seen him express with respect to any other person. I have called La Guardia twice. I told him I did not see why he should be expected to carry out a federal project with a man who has criticized the federal administration as bitterly as Moses has. I decided not to make allocations for any more projects in New York City until this has been adjusted. I am considering refusing to honor requisitions for funds on pending projects."

Looking Sideways
By WHITNEY BOLTON
The way to find out how people feel about things is to take a tilt at a beloved institution and wait for the votes to come in. The United States Weather Bureau, it appears, is a beloved institution to six out of ten persons and a collection of mischievous boys playing with barometers to the other four. It all came out at a recent column asking how airplane pilots and private weather forecasters would rate the storm of November 7th was coming to the Eastern seaboard, but the U. S. W. B. did not. The one thing that all friends and foes alike, agree upon is that barometers are far from foolproof, are as whimsy as angora cats and are scarcely to be relied upon by sensible people. This I found a disillusion of major size. I had always looked upon barometers as infallible and accurate, and as far as my experience with them goes they have been. Either I have had lucky barometers or am careless in reading them. I never was fooled once by one of them.

R. A. Lombard, on the other hand, a hotel man at Lakeview, N. Y., goes along with me and cites the disastrous misforecast of December 31, 1952, as proof that a lot of nonsense is going on in the Weather Bureau stations. Louis D. Rubin, a private, amateur and nothing for sale, forecast-er in Richmond, Va., agrees that the Weather Bureau has a speaking coming to it but explains that without W. B. maps and tables the best private forecasters would fall on their faces. Mr. Rubin, on the record, forecast the storm 36 days before it happened. He also has forecast a record of 87 storms as much as 80 days ahead. All of which, if the ladies and gentlemen who took the trouble and time to write will forgive me, gives me arms and ammunition.

A wise man looks both ways, B C and A D. He looks B C for wisdom and guidance but A D for character and usefulness. History is B C but Faith is A D. Any man should reach higher than his father because he stands on his father's shoulders. Performance, not pedigree, is the passport to posterity's appreciation. A Bible-reading, church-going society is the fruit of God-fearing ancestry. Don't miss a service.
