AFTER LAST EMBRACE

Killers Go To Their Death; Leave No Clue On Ransom

By WARD COLWELL
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 18 — Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady, who cruelly tortured little Bobby Greenlease before they killed him, died painless Friday in Missouri's gas chamber.

The disolute pair which committed one of the most monstrous crimes in a generation went to their deaths after a last embrace that left Hall's lips smeared with lipstick.

The great, gray prison by the Missouri River was quiet under a nearly full moon when Warden Ralph Eldson at four and one-half minutes past midnight pulled the two-foot steel lever which loosed deadly, almond-scented gas into the metal chamber.

Held breath for 25 seconds Mrs. Heady, 41, the respectable housewife who became an alcoholic, held her breath for 25 seconds. Then she gasped. Her head fell forward. Hall, 34, the wastrel son who took to narcotics, did not fight death. He breathed in the bright white fumes with no hesitation.

Both were listed on the legal execution report as unconscious within one minute and 15 seconds after Eldson pulled the lever. Hall stopped breathing at 12:12 a.m. Mrs. Heady's breathing stopped two minutes and 10 seconds later.

Thus they died, 81 days after they had kidnaped and killed six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, son of a wealthy Kansas City, Mo., automobile distributor. They got $600,000 ransom—an all-time record. Some $303,700 of that sum still is missing.

No Last Word
If Hall knew where it was, he took his secret to the grave with him. He did not speak when asked if he had any last word.

Hall had tortured the struggling, kicking child—struck him in the mouth and attempted to strangle him with a piece of clothesline before shooting him through the head in a Kansas wheatfield.

Victim's Father Has No Comment

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 18 — Robert C. Greenlease, millionaire automobile dealer, said Friday he had no comment on the execution of the kidnap-killers of his six-year-old son, Bobby.

"I haven't anything to say about the execution," he said. "I don't think it would serve any purpose. I do want to say that our friends have been very, very kind to us."

Greenlease said he and his wife did not stay up for the execution.

The echoes of Christmas carols floated through the near-zero-cold night as hundreds of residents of Jefferson City paraded in a pre-Christmas procession. The carols could be heard in death row.

Then Evans left the pair alone. A penitentiary guard turned his back. It was then, apparently, that Hall acquired the lipstick which smeared his lower face under his black mask when he entered the gas chamber.

Shortly after 11 a.m., two big hearses, one black and one gray, rolled out of the prison gate alongside the ice-flecked river and took (See GAS CHAMBER, Page 2)

Novice Ground Crew Blamed In Air Crash

Faulty Directions Radioed To Pilot

EL PASO, Dec. 18 — "Wrong directions," given by a ground crew made up of "teen-age enlisted men, some with only six weeks training," caused the crash of a B-36 global bomber in which nine men were killed, the El Paso Herald-Post said.

The paper said Brig. Gen. John M. Reynolds, commander of the 810th Air Division at Biggs Air Force Base, called the report "false."

The 10-engine bomber was preparing to land at Biggs last Friday when it crashed into 7,200-foot Mount Franklin, on the edge of El Paso, in a snowstorm.

The plane was preparing to land on ground controlled approach during zero-visibility. The Herald-Post, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, said it learned from "El Paso aviation circles" that the GCA operators were "teen-age enlisted men, some with only six weeks' training."

It said Reynolds admitted that the plane was on a "370-degree heading" during the first landing approach but this was immediately corrected. The plane crashed during its second landing approach, the paper quoted Reynolds as saying.

(Three-hundred sixty degrees is a full circle.)

The paper said radio conversations between the $3.5 million bomber and the ground crew were monitored by CAA operators at El Paso International airport. Thomas Gore, director of the CAA control tower at the airport, refused to confirm this, the paper said.

Testify at Closed Hearing
However, the story said four CAA operators have testified at a closed hearing conducted by an investigating board named by Briggs officials.

The Herald-Post said the conversations between the aircraft and ground crews went something like this:

"GCA to B-36 — make a 370-degree heading."

"B-36 to GCA — make a 370-degree heading."

"GCA to B-36 — make a 370-degree heading."

"B-36 to GCA — make a 370-degree heading."

Binion Awaits Transfer For Federal Farm

DALLAS, Dec. 18 — Gambler Benny Binion waited in Dallas county jail Friday for transfer to the federal prison where he will spend his next five years.

Binion, a Dallas "rifle racket" operator who moved to Las Vegas, Nev., four years ago to run the Golden Horseshoe casino, actually will be serving four sentences—three of five years each for the federal government and a four-year stretch for the state of Texas.

District Judge Henry King gave Binion the last and lightest sentence yesterday on his plea of guilty to running a $1 million policy racket in Dallas. The others were assessed last Monday in San Antonio, by Federal Judge Ben H. F. Jr. on Binion's guilty plea to four counts in income tax evasion.

It took almost four years for the state of Texas to get its hand on Binion for the gambling charge, on which he was indicted in December, 1949.

He left the state before he was indicted, after a raid which led to a four-year sentence for his Dallas partner, Harry Urban. He was twice ordered extradited from Nevada, but both times he won a mission from the courts to stay.

Binion finally came back to Texas as last summer, after he was indicted for tax evasion in connection with his Texas gambling in come.

Unwilling POWs Offered Freedom

PANMUNJOM, Dec. 18 — U.S. Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya said Friday his neutral commission was making plans to offer repatriation to three to five Americans said to be unwilling prisoners of communist.

The Indian chairman of the repatriation commission said the Americans probably would not be consulted until after the deadline.

Vague Promise Only Hope
Thimayya's vague promise that he might conduct his own explanations offered Allied authorities their only hope of getting back 23 Americans and up to a dozen South Koreans now in neutral custody.

The Indian general disclosed the plan after the neutral commission failed to find any way to resume interviews with the prisoners, virtually ending their chances of voluntarily choosing to go home before the explanation period ends next Wednesday.

During a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission, Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, the United Nations chief delegate, accused the Reds of holding back the wavering Americans.

Lacey based his charges on the statements of Kim Mun Zo, who escaped last Tuesday night from a compound of 104 South Koreans who have not faced KRC interviews.

Trotsky's Killer May Get Parole
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 18 — UP — The man who murdered Soviet refugee Leon Trotsky here in 1940 will be eligible for parole Sunday, but he has made no effort so far to obtain his freedom.

Jacques Mornard, alias Frank Jackson, automatically becomes eligible for parole when he completes two-thirds of his 20-year prison term.

Mexican newspapers say that both Trotskyist and Soviet agents are waiting to kill Mornard the moment he regains his freedom. They commented Friday that "Apparently is content behind the safety of penitentiary walls."

No Benefit Seen From Executions

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 18 — UP — A sociologist at the University of Oklahoma believes no useful purpose was served and no crimes will be prevented by the execution early Friday of the Bobby Greenlease kidnapers.

"Society gains nothing by killing the person who perpetrates the crime," said Dr. Gilbert L. Geis, an instructor at the university.

He said he didn't want to defend the actions of Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady and Carl Austin Hall or "say they shouldn't be punished for such a brutal and unpardonable crime."

He cited Mrs. Heady as an example. "She has said she much preferred to die rather than spend the rest of her life mopping floors."

"In a society such as ours, where we place the highest value on human life, the deliberate taking of life (by the state) should serve some useful purpose," Geis said.

"Capital punishment is not a deterrent, it does not prevent anyone from committing crimes. They still and Mrs. Heady knew if they were caught they would get death," he said.

Scandinavian countries have no death penalty, but still have one of the lowest crime rates in the world, the sociologist pointed out. Even a life sentence might not be a deterrent to the commission of crime, Geis said, but it protects society as well as the death penalty.

Even a widely-publicized execution won't prevent other murders," he said. "Neither does it restore the original victim to life."

Eleven Persons Die In State Accidents

By UNITED PRESS
Five young children were burned to death Thursday as fire swept homes in Carlton and Dallas, and a United Press survey showed at least six other persons died in fire swept their small frame houses. The dead children were Annette Ransom, two-year-old sister, Betty, one, and her brother, Kenneth, four months.

All adults in their family, except for Jim Russell, 30, were away from the home, trying to arrange for a truck to move them Friday.

The baby boy was found in his bed, Annette huddled in a corner of the room, and her sister, Betty, near the bed, where she apparently had tried to smother the flames.

Three-year-old Linda Scales and her 11-month-old brother, Charles, also were burned to death. Their mother, Mrs. Vernon Scales, was plowing in a field near the house when an older child, Patty, five, came to her screaming "The Christmas tree is on fire."

The mother rushed into the house and carried out the baby boy, but she couldn't get back in to save the little girl.

'Saucer' Is Spotted By Swede Pilot
STOCKHOLM, Dec. 18 — UP — Sweden's defense high command ordered a full-scale investigation Friday into reports that a saucer-shaped object whirled across the sky over Sweden toward Russian-controlled territory at a speed faster than sound.

Capt. Ulf Christiernsson, Swedish airline pilot, alerted the defense staff after he and his mechanic saw the object Thursday only 300 miles from the Soviets' top-secret Baltic Sea rocket bases.

Christiernsson's report was made known only two days after the authoritative "Jane's All the World's Aircraft" said Russia has developed a rocket-powered plane for target defense.

The defense staff, which governs Sweden's armed forces, rushed the investigation. Many reports of "flying saucers" and other unexplained objects have been received by the defense staff since World War II. Most came from the same area of southern Sweden but were dismissed as weather balloons or meteors.

Christiernsson said he saw the object, which was believed to be a missile, speeding over the town of Hasselholm in the main commercial airline between Stockholm and Copenhagen, Denmark.

Preacher's Gun Foils Robbery
FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 — UP — Rev. J. A. Myers, 39-year-old preacher, evangelist who was at two Negro bandits and scared them off as they tried to rob him early Friday, said later that he wishes they'd return. He'd like to convert them to Christianity, he said.

Bloodhounds Flush Three Jailbreakers

ABILENE, Tex., Dec. 18 — UP — Three jailbreakers, flushed Thursday by bloodhounds, said Friday that if they had it to do over again they wouldn't slug Sheriff R. L. (Bogue) Wilkins of Roby and break out of his jail.

The three men, Amos Benny Bolton, 22, and Huey Jack Pitts, 20, both of Dallas, and John Tarlton, 22, of Snyder, were captured after they were flushed from an abandoned farm house by bloodhounds and then spotted by an airplane.

They were plucked from a tree in rough brush country eight miles east of Sweetwater about 1:30 p.m. Thursday. They hadn't eaten since shortly before they broke jail.

Made Attack
The three attacked three other prisoners and Wilkins Tuesday night as they were being transferred to another cell in the Fisher county jail at Roby.

Wilkins, a widely known West Texas sheriff who doesn't carry arms and enjoys a reputation for kindness to his prisoners, was severely beaten.

They claimed they intended only to lock up Wilkins when they escaped, and didn't mean to hurt him. But they claimed Wilkins mistreated them.

"I couldn't get mail from my sister in Dallas who wanted to help me," Bolton said. "I wanted to get out and see a lawyer."

The three men contend they were in Los Angeles Nov. 17, when they are accused of burglarizing the C and C drug store in Rotan.

Stop at Abandoned Farm House
Bolton said the three fugitives stopped at the abandoned farm house at 5 p.m. Wednesday because they were cold. They wore only shirts, trousers and shoes. The temperature dropped to 29 degrees in the Abilene area early Wednesday and to 22 degrees early Friday.

Ailing Mom To See Daughter
DALLAS, Dec. 18 — UP — A mother who has undergone her 27th operation and may not live to see another Christmas will be reunited with her five-year-old daughter for Christmas — thanks to kind-hearted neighbors and friends.

Mrs. Ruth McCabe and her handicapped husband, Albert, were "too excited to sleep" Thursday night because of news that their daughter, Bonnie, was to arrive at Dallas' Love Field today.

Budget-Balancing Act Not As Easy As Campaign Talk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — UP — President Eisenhower's program conferences with congressional leaders are making little progress toward satisfactory answers to the vital questions of government finance.

Republican officeholders find problems of taxation, economy and budget balancing more difficult now than they appeared to be in the 1952 campaign.

As of Dec. 15, the Treasury was in the red by nearly $10 billion, with a bit more than half of the current fiscal year still to run.

Revenue Flow to Quicken
The flow of treasury revenue will quicken during the next six months. Mr. Eisenhower estimates that the treasury deficit will have been reduced to about $3.8 billion when the fiscal year ends at midnight, June 30.

But that is a long way from a balanced budget, although the president is proud of having topped $1 billion in savings.

Judge Holding District Court

District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich, in town at 10:30 a.m. today, presided over a hearing on the jury case of Mary Anthony vs. Texas Employers' Insurance Company as the first order of business.

No action had been filed by 11:15 a.m., Court House sources said.

Other action today in 31st District Court was expected to include the setting of dates on hearings for at least some of the 15 defendants for which 17 indictments were returned a week ago today. Hearing of divorce cases was expected to round out Goodrich's day in Pampa.

Warmer Weather Sighted For Pampa

Partly cloudy skies and slightly warmer weather were predicted for the Pampa area for tonight and Saturday.

Laniel Leading French Ballot

VERSAILLES, France, Dec. 18 — UP — Right-wing Premier Joseph Laniel jumped into a strong lead Friday on a third ballot by parliament for the presidency of the French Republic.

But he failed to get the necessary absolute majority and a history-making fourth ballot became necessary.

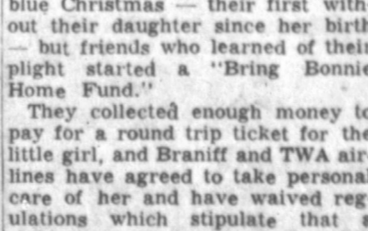

The party Independent party textile millionaire received 358 votes against 313 for Socialist Marcel-Edmond Naegelen, bitter foe of the European army pact and other measures for a united Europe.

But the man who wins must get 482 votes, an absolute majority of the members of the national assembly and Senate who, in joint session, elect French presidents.

The fourth ballot was ordered for 7:30 p.m.—1:30 p.m. est.

Yule Program Set Tonight

The eight Nativity scenes in Central Park here will be lighted for the first time tonight with appropriate ceremonies, beginning at 7 o'clock, with members of the Pampa High School and Junior High School choral groups and the High School Speech department participating.

The public is invited to witness the event that annually attracts hundreds of spectators. Preceding the program, Christmas music will be played by Irving Akst, prominent area organist, followed by a brief talk by Clinton Evans, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Narrating the Scriptures as each scene is lighted will be Don Sprinkle and Joan Rogers, High School speech students. The eight scenes, in the order of their lighting, are: "The Promises of a Redeemer," "Annunciation to Mary," "The Wise Men Coming," "No Room in the Inn," "Nativity," "Angels Appearing to the Shepherds," "The Wise Men Before Herod," and "The Flight into Egypt."

Musical numbers by the choruses from the high school and junior high school, under the direction of Robert Payne, will be: "O Come All Ye Faithful," "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," "We Three Kings of Orient Are," "Away in a Manger," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night," "The First Noel," "Lullaby-Coventry Carol," and "Joy to the World."

Why Pray out of a book?

For the same reason we sing out of a book. We pray out of the same book so that we can all pray together — in unison. Not many outside of the Episcopal Church realize that the "Book of Common Prayer" is the tie that binds this great body of Christians together.

To us who realize this, it is thrilling to know that when we follow our Prayer Book in our churches here in the United States, there are 45 millions the world around using the same service, but in their own language, to worship the living God.

Our "Prayer Book" is the guide book for the orderly Episcopal service, in which the lay members of the congregation take an active part.

We believe it true that the Book of Common Prayer, next only to the King James' version of the Holy Bible, has been the most influential book ever printed in English. When you visit the Episcopal Church near you, you'll find a copy of the Book of Common Prayer in the pew ready for your use. And a fellow-worshiper near you will be happy to show you how to follow the service.

No Obligation — You'll enjoy learning more about this great book. Send for "How We Got The Prayer Book."

Beauty Reigns As Bowl Queen

HOUSTON, Dec. 10.—UP—An amber-eyed Texas beauty who can say "you all" in French and still give it a southern drawl will reign as queen of the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1.

She's Miss Elsa Jean Holland, 20-year-old junior student at Rice Institute whose team will host Alabama for the New Year Day classic in Dallas.

She's an honor student at scholastically-rigid Rice but says she will expend all her brainy talents in a kitchen whipping up chow for a hoped-for family of at least four children.

"I'm opposed to women having careers, except as a means to an end," she said Thursday, and the "end" she had in mind is spelled matrimony.

"I'm a staunch believer in the old saying 'a woman's place is in the home.'"

Miss Holland, a five-foot, three-inch blond who weighs 107 pounds, a native of Houston, is engaged to a former Rice football player, Billy Ed Daniels, who is now a law student at the University of Texas and who commutes regularly to Houston on weekends.

Though it sounds inconsistent, Miss Holland said there is nothing more logical than her planning for a family by majoring in foreign languages.

"I plan to teach school until Billy Ed gets started," she said, but firmly added her teaching career would end as soon as he gets his legal feet on the ground.

She has made most of her own clothing for years, "because I learned I could afford a lot more if I made them."

She can cook too, though admits to a weakness in the gravy-making department.

Multiple Sclerosis Society Expanding

The Panhandle Multiple Sclerosis Society, which was just founded during the summer, now boasts a membership of 70 persons and is seeking a charter from the National Multiple Sclerosis Foundation. It hopes to include the area from the Panhandle of Oklahoma to Lubbock and border counties of Oklahoma and New Mexico in its chapter.

With headquarters in Amarillo, the society is also discussing ways and means of setting up a rehabilitation clinic in Amarillo which will serve Multiple Sclerosis patients and those with related neuro-muscular diseases. The society is being aided in its endeavors by Thomas Dunworth, a field director for the National Foundation, and a trained physiotherapist.

The Amarillo group was started by Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Gallagher, 3104 Van Buren, Amarillo, for the "advantage of the therapeutic effect of group therapy."

PLENTY OF STEEL—The steel industry expects to produce about 113 million tons during 1953, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute. This would top the previous record 108.5 million tons set in 1952. Above Newschart shows steel production in the U. S. from 1937 to the present.

Lions Prepare Christmas Candy

Pampa Lions grabbed, opened, stuffed and twisted at the last meeting of the club before Christmas.

What they were doing was grabbing a handful of candy, opening a small paper sack, stuffing the candy into the sack, and twisting the top of the sack to keep the candy in.

The candy will be given out at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the LaNora Theater when the Pampa Lions Club holds its annual Christmas party for local youngsters, according to Lion Paul West, Pampa theaters manager.

And that was the program at the Thursday noon meeting. West told club members he thought 1,000-1,200 youngsters would be on hand for the free party, complete with free movie. There were 1,250 sacks and the job was done in about 15 minutes.

Outside of one noisi hrtieud guests (there were 10), there was a string of announcements on upcoming dates. Some of them: first boxing match of the Pampa Boys Club in their new quarters (Saturday), Pampa Harvesters football banquet (Monday), Pampa Lions Club Minstrel Show (Feb. 25-26) and the next meeting of the club (Dec. 31).

Waldon Moore, membership committee chairman, announced that January would be the month for honoring the founders and charter members of the Pampa club. He added that there were 47,500 new members in 10,000 Lions Clubs which operate in 46 different nations of the world.

Though there will be no regular meeting of the club next week, Lions have been invited to a joint Kiwanis-Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting at noon Tuesday when Pampa High School's a cappella choir is slated to sing.

DiETING Defendant

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 17.—UP—Mrs. Winona Wilkins Wilson, mother of five, sought separate maintenance Thursday while her husband diets to "increase his virility."

Mrs. Wilson charged in her suit that the diet was inspired by "his young paramour," Oma Hayes, 19, whom she named as co-defendant.

Las Cresas Members To Have Formal Presentation Ball December 21

Las Cresas members planned their formal Christmas dance at a recent meeting in the home of Miss Beth Slagle, 1519 Hamilton. The formal dance will honor new members that have been accepted into the High School sorority. It will be held Dec. 21, in the Moose Lodge at 8 p.m. Presentation of the pledges will begin at 10. The pledge who best survived the rigorous pledging qualifications will receive special recognition. Pledges who were first invited into the club in the spring have received instructions from members ever since and will now be formally accepted. Some of the former members who are attending college and are home for the holidays will attend. Las Cresas dances are characterized by some of the members' parents. Some 350 invitations have been sent and arrangements are being made for a High School band from Amarillo to provide the music.

Members made plans to provide a box of food and a Christmas tree for a needy family. They have previously helped needy families for special projects.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend

I have a problem I can't seem to solve.

Started when my husband was sent overseas with the Navy and I went to live with my parents. There was a young man next door who used to date me when we were in high school. He always has been in love with me.

He got to spending a lot of time with me and before I knew what had happened we were intimate.

This went on several months and then my husband returned.

PREGNANT

About that time I found out I was pregnant. My husband is real pleased about having a baby and I am happy about that too.

My problem is should I tell him that I don't think he is the father? In fact I am positive that this other man is the father. It would just make him feel terrible to know about it and I think he would leave me. I can't bear to have him leave me because I really love him very much and I just got involved with my former boy friend because I was so lonely.

Do you feel that I should tell him about the baby not being his?

M. X.

Dear M. X.

Since you had no intention of telling him about your relations with the other man, it seems rather late now that you are pregnant. Especially since there is a chance that your husband is the father of the baby.

WOULD CAUSE HARM

I believe that telling your husband now would cause more harm than in keeping the knowledge from him. He would be made terribly unhappy to discover that you are untrustworthy and your child would be made to feel that you were lying to him. Better spend your life in making up to them for your lapse of faith.

Are you so immature that every time your husband goes away and you become lonely you will find it necessary to have an affair with the first available man? How can you say that you truly love your husband when you prove your lack of love by being unfaithful?

I do hope that this episode has helped you to grow up so that in the future you will be able to live up to the duties of a wife and mother so that your husband and child will not be cheated again.

Would you like it if he were to have an affair with a girl when he is away from you? To be happy with him you have to have faith in him and he has a right to feel that he can trust you.

I hope that you won't let him down again but will prove worthy of his love and trust.

I do hope that you have been made unhappy enough by this situation to have learned a lesson from it and that in the future you will be a good wife and mother.

White Deer Baptist Circles Have Royal Service Program

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The Lottie Moon Circle and the Keziah Mae Circle of the Baptist Missionary Union met recently in the church basement for a Royal Service Program. Mrs. Clifton Kelly led the opening prayer. Mrs. Howard Lyons sang a special song which preceded the topic for the afternoon, "A Sinful World."

Mrs. Leon Nicholson read the devotion followed by the group singing, "I Will Sing the Wonderful Story." Taking part in the program were Mmes. Ralph Higgins, Jay Phillips, Eugene Richardson, Clifton Kelley, C. R. Pickens, and W. B. Carey. Others attending were Mmes. G. A. Bell, Bill Boyd, Neal Edwards, and Jessie M. Pearson.

RUTH MILLET

After enduring an unhappy marriage for 36 years, here is a wife who is thinking of walking out on her husband.

According to her story, her husband was never around when she needed him, even though he found time for other women. He was tight with money and never gave her gifts. He left the responsibility for bringing up the children to her. And he never showed any appreciation for her until now, when he is fruited tea and fruit cake with whipped cream were served to Mmes. E. Stidham, L. B. Haggard, Lizzie Welton, Isa Saltzman, E. L. Anderson, Mrs. Tom Duvall, John Haggard, J. O. Pearce, Ernest Vanderburg, Lloyd Bennet, Nell Earp, Ernest Baird, R. L. Sauter and Bonnie Rose.

Well, there are a few words in the marriage ceremony that are a good reason for your not walking out on your husband when he needs you. They are, "For better, for worse . . . in sickness and in health."

This is what you agreed to 36 years ago. Perhaps your husband did go back on his marriage vows. But that doesn't excuse you for going back on yours.

Walk out on a sick husband and all you'll have to live with through the years is the degrading knowledge that you finally "got even" with him; that you waited until he needed you and then deserted him, as you feel he deserted you by being a poor husband.

Stick by him and take care of him and you'll have something much better to live with — the knowledge that you are doing the right thing.

If you can do that and be generous enough not to let your husband know he is a burden, you'll be able to respect yourself.

Beta Rho Members Host Party For Music Students

The Beta Rho Chapter of the national chapter of Pi Mu, which is a musical organization for students, were entertained by pupils of Mrs. Lilly Hartfield with a Christmas party Tuesday evening in the City Club rooms. They were assisted by members of the Mother Club of which Mrs. George Adams is the president.

Beta Rho president, Kay Stewart, gave the story of how Christmas was first observed in different countries and of how Santa Claus came to America by way of Holland.

Claudette Matheny gave a piano solo, "But Who May Abide," from Handel's "Messiah." The group exchanged gifts and joined in singing Christmas carols and Santa Claus songs. They were accompanied by Clo Ann Johnson, Sheila Lemons, Mary Puresley and Claudette Matheny.

Candies, cookies and nuts were served in individual Christmas cornucopias from a lace covered table centered with the chapter's emblem, a gold lyre. Each student brought gifts and assembled a Christmas box for a needy family.

White Deer Venado Blanco Club Holds Christmas Buffet

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The Venado Blanco Club met recently in the home of Mrs. H. C. Little, Jr., at Skellytown with Mrs. Bert Isbell and Mrs. Luke Geurin as co-hostesses. During the business meeting, plans were completed for the Santa's trek which will be held this week. The club, along with others in the area, agreed to join in the Table Setting Contest which will be held in Pampa January 22. A committee was named to make the necessary arrangements. Secret pals were disclosed during the evening, and plans were made to draw names for the remainder of the year.

The Christmas Dinner, which was served from a buffet decorated with wrought iron reindeer and other Christmas motifs, was set at green and red covered tables. At each corner of each table hung a cluster of bells and holly.

Members attending were Mmes. D. V. Biggers, Bert Isbell, Alvin Smith, Bernard Weeks, Velma Marx, Huelyn Laycock, David Grayson, Gene Gaston, Horace Williams, Jimmy Haught, Clifton Kelly, Luke Geurin, H. C. Little, Jr., Al Smith, and Miss Claudia Everly.

To take some of the drudgery out of window washing, remove the surface soil from the pane with cleansing tissue or soft cloth. Apply cleaning fluid, rub dry with a lintless cloth or soft paper.

Mrs. John Haggard Hostess For First Baptist S. S. Class

Mrs. John Haggard, 1301 N. Russell, was hostess to the Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church recently at a Christmas party in her home. Mrs. R. L. Sauter, class president, introduced the program. Mrs. Tom Duvall gave the opening prayer and Mrs. E. L. Anderson presented the Christmas story, "The Virgin's Story," from the book, "Christ and the Fine Arts."

Special gifts were presented to Mrs. Tom Duvall, Mrs. T. W. Pearce and Mrs. R. L. Sauter. The group sang Christmas carols and packages were taken from a white Christmas tree before the picture window of the living room. Other gifts were brought for the Buckner's Orphan's home at Dallas.

Fruited tea and fruit cake with whipped cream were served to Mmes. E. Stidham, L. B. Haggard, Lizzie Welton, Isa Saltzman, E. L. Anderson, Mrs. Tom Duvall, John Haggard, J. O. Pearce, Ernest Vanderburg, Lloyd Bennet, Nell Earp, Ernest Baird, R. L. Sauter and Bonnie Rose.

Christmas Table Fiesta

The spirit of Christmas—good fellowship, hospitality and brotherhood—reminds us to consider our "good neighbors." Yuletide activities here prepared to those south of the border are a good example of the universality of Christmas. Latin Americans have borrowed some of their symbols of the season from us—Santa Claus, mistletoe—but many of their celebrations are uniquely characteristic of their countries. Parades, bull fights, and street dances are held all during the month of December, with a real climax of activity on Christmas eve.

You can bring the gaiety and charm of a Latin American fiesta to your holiday table by combining Mexican pottery with eggnog and holly—the traditional American holiday table—a setting that expresses the "good neighbor policy."

For an unusual touch to your refreshments, use a tasty anchovy-cheese "dip" covered with a poineetta for a natural Christmas decoration.

ANCHOVY DIP: Soften one package cream cheese and blend with anchovies and 1/2 pint sour cream. Four into bowl and arrange six anchovy strips on top of the spread to form a poineetta.

Here are three colorful and delicious punches you can prepare easily in advance:

SPARKLING PUNCH: Combine the juices of 4 oranges, 2 lemons, and a 3 lb. can of pineapple juice with 1 small bottle maraschino cherries in a punch bowl area cake of ice. Add 2 qts. sparkling grape juice (or sparkling burgundy) just before serving. (Serves 20.)

ORANGE EGGNOG: Beat together until creamy, yolks of 12 eggs, whites of 6, and 2 cups orange juice (if a heavy head of foam is desired, beat before adding beat and add the other six egg whites). Stir in 1 qt. blended 7 crown. Chill, and when ready to serve, stir in 1 qt. milk for 1 qt. cream, 1 qt. milk, if you like very rich. Chill your bowl and a few minutes before guests arrive, pour eggnog into it and top with grated nutmeg. (Serves 20.)

While we are on an international theme, take a tip from the English and serve this particularly nice punch as a lift for your "tea"-trotting guests:

TEA PUNCH: Place 2 tbl. tea leaves in earthenware bowl. Pour on 1 qt. boiling water. Cover well with heavy folded napkin, let stand 5 minutes and strain. Add 1 cup sugar, the juices of 2 oranges and 2 lemons and crushed mint leaves, if desired. Cool and serve, adding ice and 2 qts. chilled soda water at the last minute. (Serves 20.)

These suggestions are simply to stimulate your own imagination to create a gay and unusual holiday "fiesta" on your Yuletide table.

'Contempt' Toward Your Child's Anger Won't Pacify Him

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

As a child, Margaret lived with a mother who had a furious temper.

For some reason, her mother was very proud of the vigor with which she could lose it. After she'd recovered it, she would say complacently, "I can't help it. I've had a quick temper all my life, you know."

In a tantrum, Margaret's mother was a terrifying spectacle. Her face would redden, seem to swell and her voice begin to rise.

If it happened to be Margaret who had irritated her, she would advance upon her child with such violence that she could only yell, paralyzed, in horrified fascination. Then Margaret's mother would discharge the violence in slaps, pushings and buffetings.

Any resistance to this violence only increased it. So Margaret learned to accept it without resistance. But since she wasn't an inanimate punching bag, but a living creature, she couldn't accept the violence without some feeling about it.

She felt, of course, fear and rage. Forbidden to express them, what could she do with them? For some time, this was a difficult problem for Margaret.

But one afternoon when she was eight she found an answer. In the midst of physical attack by her mother, Margaret decided that she felt "contempt" for anger. She decided to "despise" physical contact by an angry person.

Now, years later, she's been having an awful time with her own 4-year-old son.

For "contempt" toward Randy's anger in a tantrum does not pacify him. Instead of appreciating the passivity with which his mother endures his slaps, pushings and buffetings, he bitterly resents it.

So he is sullen and defiant after tantrums, instead of relieved and amiable. Unlike his grandmother, he does not embrace his mother emotionally, saying, "Let bygones be bygones. I've always had a quick temper, you know."

It takes us some time to learn that as parents, we cannot always apply the survival techniques we adopted as children.

We cannot, for instance, hide from Randy our rage and fear of physical attack by him by thinking of them as "contempt." For his intuition is uncorrupted. He knows we're terrified of bodily contact by his anger. And unlike his grandmother, he cares about this. He is not proud of making us afraid of him.

Our fear and rage fill him with dismay. Because, though we were not safety and protection to our parents, we are to Randy. We are the firmament under his feet, his mother, he cares about this. He is not proud of making us afraid of him.

That's why we have to see how silly we've been to confuse Randy's anger with our mother's.

Lemons Couple Honored On Silver Anniversary

Friends and relatives gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lemons, 1421 N. Russell recently, to honor the couple on the occasion of their silver anniversary. The Lemons were married in 1928, in Mangum, Okla., and moved to the Panhandle area where Mr. Lemons has been associated with Cabot Company for 21 years.

A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the dining table which was adorned with an arrangement of white mums.

On the piano was a carnation bouquet.

Serving were their daughters, Mrs. W. W. Gurley Jr., Amarillo, and Miss Sheila Lemons, assisted by Mrs. E. L. Waters and Miss Etie Seawright.

Mimic Asks Yule Gifts For Stars

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14 —UP—A pudgy "St. Nick" with long hair and a cigarette holder wrote with a flourish today his list of Christmas gifts that he guarantees will never wind up under anybody's tree.

Arthur Blake, the nightclub mimic who cuts stars to ribbons with his sharp imitations, is movie-town's satirical "Santa." With yuletide around the corner, Blake said he can think of a few choice items he'd like to hurl down chimneys around town:

For Gary Cooper — another expression.

Anne Baxter — A good, five-cent exploding cigar.

Lana Turner and Lex Barker — A safe and sane fourth (marriage).

John Wayne — A leather bound copy of "Latins Are Lousy Lovers."

Esperanza (Chata) Wayne — White sidewall tires for the red pickup truck she drives since their double divorce.

Mrs. Estelle Auguste — a good left hook from Jilted Jack Dempsey and a copy of Emily Post.

Pink Bollworm Threat Jumps

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 17—UP—New infestations of the pink bollworm were found in 1953 and the pest may seriously threaten cotton crops in Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana in 1954, cotton farmers were told Thursday.

R. W. White of the Bureau of Entomology and Quarantine, told the annual insect control conference here that a continued buildup of bollworm infestation in east Central Texas would increase the danger to crops in nearby states.

White urged early crops followed by prompt harvesting and thorough destruction of crop residue as a means of helping control the pest.

The bollworm infestation in most quarantined areas dropped last year except in east Central Texas, White said.

"If further infestation builds up there," he said, "it is quite obvious the danger of further spread to Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi will be greatly increased."

He said new infestations were found in 1953 in parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Another speaker, Dr. F. C. Bishop of the co-operative pink bollworm research project, said recent expanded efforts are still inadequate to control the insect when its total destructive potentiality is considered.

Bishop said the bollworm situation is alarming "but not hopeless."

He said the spread of the pest "clearly shows the need for an expanded and accelerated research program with the hope of discovering more effective means of checking the spread of the pink bollworm and perhaps of pushing it back into the restricted area of South Texas where it was held for over 30 years."

Bishop said the bollworm caused about $34 million damage in 39 South Texas counties in 1952.

Thursday's sessions ended the annual conference sponsored by the National Cotton Council.

Carpenters Get Raise
GALVESTON, Dec. 17 —UP—Some 600 carpenters in the Galveston area worked Thursday under a new contract, negotiated by the Brotherhood of Carpenters (AFL), Local No. 328. It raised the basic wage from $2.48 per hour to $2.63, and put the carpenters on a par with those in Houston, where the pay hike was effective in September.

Girls Town Needs New Station Wagon

The greatest need at Girls Town, with an open fireplace in the center at the present time is a new station wagon, according to Miss person sits in the room he or she Amelia Anthony, founder and director. She said.

Miss Anthony, who was visiting in Pampa this week, said that the old one she has now has just about served its usefulness. It has more than 200,000 miles on it now, she added.

"If I had a new station wagon I would have brought my girls chorus along with me as well as the two little girls who did accompany me," she stated.

The Girls Town director, along with Mrs. Maud Herman, head nurse, and the two little girls were guests of the Pampa Rotary Club at the noon luncheon.

"We are in the middle of a building program right now," she said. "Our dining hall is now under construction and it would be completed within 30 days if we had the money to buy steel. However, the work is progressing on the building, but we are paying for the work as we go. In fact, we pay for everything we get and buy nothing on credit."

She said that when the dining hall is finished, work will begin on another residence. "The one we have now was built at a cost of $125,000, made up entirely of $5 and $10 donations," she said.

Each of its 38 rooms is occupied and the building is filled to capacity. It has a huge living room.

She is very proud of her 76 girls in Girls Town. She is counting the days until next May when two of her girls will graduate from Whiteface High School. They will be the first girls of Girls Town to graduate since the town was founded in 1949.

The average age of the girls at Girls Town is 15, she asserted, adding that the oldest is 19 and the youngest is 16 months old.

The girls raise most of their food items, she said. Besides vegetables, they raise rabbits, chickens, cattle and hogs. "We have 113 head of cattle now and 14 of these were given to us by ranchers from the Pampa area," she stated.

Nine of her girls are from Pampa, including little five-year-old Mary, whom she calls her full-back, who accompanied her to Pampa Wednesday.

She said people called her a fool, but with a dogged determination she went ahead with her plans and now Girls Town, USA, is enjoying a steady growth.

She had high praise for the interest Pampa residents have shown in Girls Town and has issued an open invitation to people here to pay the girls a visit at any time.

Takes Longer Now
CHICAGO, Dec. 17 —UP—Airline stewardesses are slipping as husband-catchers, it was revealed Thursday.

United Air Lines said a survey of 900 young women showed that average stewardess works about 29 months before she snares a man and retires.

During World War II most stewardesses needed only 18 months to get married, the air line said.

Periods Important To Time Magazine

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 —UP—A Lubbock, Tex., trucking company has until Jan. 4 to answer charges it indulges in an "unfair competitive practice" when the periods are left out of the firm's name.

The charge was brought before the Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday by Time, Inc., New York magazine publisher, against T.I.M.E., Inc.

Time Magazine said the Lubbock company was trying to simulate its name and trademark, and to give a false impression the magazine sponsored the trucking company.

The magazine said T.I.M.E. displayed its name, without periods, on its trucks and stationery, and in its telephone listing at Montebello, Calif.

This practice caused considerable confusion, Time said, as people called the magazine's Los Angeles office to ask that freight be picked up.

Time wanted T.I.M.E. to keep the periods in its name.

PHS 5 Hosts Rams Tomorrow; Boys Club To Oppose Amarillo

PHS Cagers In Final Home Tilt Before Christmas

The Hustlin' Harvester cagers will be in quest of their 34th straight victory tomorrow night when they play hosts to the Portales Rams of New Mexico.

The Harvester cagers have racked up five straight wins this season to go with the 28-game string they had built up through last season's play.

The Green and Golders, still without their head coach, Clifton McNeely, drilled long and hard yesterday under the direction of assistant coach Terry Colley. A long scrimmage session capped the strenuous workout.

McNeely is still in Highland General Hospital recuperating from a rheumatic condition. He may be released over the weekend.

Tomorrow's Harvester team boasts a scrappy team but lacks height. Their tallest cager is Barry Stone, a 6-3 sophomore. However, four others are 6-0 or better. They are Stanford Denver, 6-0; Thurman Tallery, 6-2; Keith McCrary, 6-0; and Fred Hinsley, 6-0.

Coach Aud Smith of the Rams will bring a 10-man squad to Pampa for the clash.

Jimmy Bond and Gary Griffin continue to play the leading roles in the Harvester scoring. Bond has garnered 95 points in the five Harvester tilts to date while Griffin has accounted for 78. E. Jay McIlvain follows with 60.

These three will be in the starting lineup tomorrow night. The other two will be guards Ken Hinkle with 31 points and George Depee with 13 points.

Tomorrow's game will be the last home tilt for the Green and Golders until after Christmas. The Harvester will journey to Plainview next Tuesday to close out their pre-Christmas schedule.

The five Harvester victims to date have been Tulsa, 55-42; Snyder, 61-35 and 60-32; Clovis, 58-45; and Plainview, 55-42.

Barrow Funeral Set Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 —UP—Commissioner Ford Frick and American and National League presidents Will Harridge and Warren Giles head a list of baseball dignitaries who will be honorary pallbearers when Ed Barrow, former President of the New York Yankees, goes to his final resting place Saturday.

Barrow, 55, died at United Hospital, Portchester, N.Y., Tuesday night after a long illness.

A spokesman for the Yankees, who are handling the arrangements for Mr. Barrow, said there would be approximately 100 pallbearers—ranging from clubowners to managers and former players.

Basketball, Boxing, Banquet On Tap For Local Sports Fans Over Weekend

LOTS OF ACTIVITY ON TAP for Pampa sports fans here tomorrow night.

The Hustlin' Harvester cagers will be shooting for their 34th straight win at Harvester Fieldhouse tomorrow night against the Portales Rams of New Mexico and at the same time, the Pampa Boys Club will be opening their home slate by meeting the Amarillo Golden Gloves at the Boys' Club's new home on South Cuyler.

It's a shame that these two fine attractions are falling on the same night. One can't, of course, be at two places at the same time and so the fans will just have to choose between these two for tomorrow.

Which ever is chosen, you can't go wrong. The Harvesters are the defending state cage champions while the Boys' Clubbers are defending Regional Golden Gloves champs for the past two years. That's just a sample of the caliber of activity the two local athletic aggregations will be putting on the line tomorrow night since both are as strong this year as last.

AND STILL ON THE SPORTS scene, another fine attraction is coming up Monday night when the Pampa Quarterback Club will honor the Fighting Harvester football team with a banquet in the high school cafeteria.

Ticket sales to the banquet were reported going pretty good this morning by ticket sales chairman, Ralph McKinney. And if you don't have a ticket to the banquet yet,

Rice Five Topples St. John's, 85-81

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 —UP—New York's once-haughty college basketball team is destined to serve as little more than punching bags for the national powers visiting Madison Square Garden this year.

That, at least, is the way the handwringing on the wall reads after the first four Garden doubleheaders of the season. Out-of-town teams have taken a 5-3 edge over

Texas Bows To Duquesne

A strengthened Texas Christian is the only Southwest Conference team in action Friday night, after a night in which two loop schools split a pair of games with major eastern teams.

Texas Christian, with Ray (Shag) Warren in uniform for the first time this year, takes on Abilene Christian at Fort Worth.

Thursday night, Rice nosed out St. John's 85 to 81 in a Madison Square Garden thriller while Texas was losing to Duquesne 71 to 58 at Pittsburgh.

It was the fifth straight win for Rice, and its second this week on a road trip. The Owls trimmed Tulane 56 to 49 at New Orleans Monday night.

A big third quarter turned the trick for Rice, as their diversified attack saw Don Lance score 24 points, Gene Schwinger hit for 19 and Monte Robidoux get 16.

Texas, in action for the first time this week, sank below the .500 mark with its loss — the third in five games. Duquesne led all the way. The burden of the Longhorns' attack fell on Gib Ford and Bob Waggoner, each of whom got 18 points.

Saturday night, as usual, will be the week's heavy night, with five teams in action. Only Texas Christian and Texas will be idle, with Missouri visiting Arkansas, Baylor at Vanderbilt, Rice at Tennessee, Southern Methodist hosting Abilene Christian, and Texas tackling Manhattan in New York.

To Mix With Good Ground Game OU May Go Aerial In New Year Tilt

EDITORS NOTE: This is another of a series on the prospects of the New Year Day football bowl teams.

By PHIL DESSAUER
NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 18 —UP—There is a possibility that Oklahoma's Sooners may cash in on their little known "pass-ability" in the Orange Bowl game against Maryland.

Coach Bud Wilkinson likes to cook up surprises and he admits he has lost a lot of sleep lately. That probably means he has been laying awake nights figuring out an aerial attack to go long with the famed Sooner ground game, one of the best in the nation.

For one thing, they've been throwing a few more footballs of late in the daily workouts. That is unusual to say the least, because Oklahoma seldom passes.

Enough Aerial Performers
If the Sooners do take to the air they have a full cast of characters for tossing routes. Gene Calame, the No. 1 quarterback is a first rate passer, Buddy Leake, his understudy, does an even better job while even Larry Grigg, the team's famed line-backing expert, has been known to hurl the ball instead of himself at the opposition.

Sophomore quarterback Pat O'Neal has shown special talent at long distance passing.

But the Sooners may not need to resort to passing. On the grounds they ran up 8,069 net yards rushing in 10 games this year and during that time they completed only 22 passes, a little more than two

21-Car Special Carrying Broncs Fans To Houston

ODESSA, Tex., Dec. 18 —UP—The largest special train ever to pull out of West Texas leaves Friday night with Odessa high school football fans — destination Houston and the Bronco-Lamar Class AAAA championship game Saturday.

Texas and Pacific Railway officials said the 21-car delegation was the largest "special."

White Deer Meet Reaches S-Finals

WHITE DEER, Dec. 18 —(Special) —Tulla, Canyon, Perryton and White Deer won first round games in the White Deer Invitational Basketball Tournament here Thursday and thus gained the semi-final round.

The semi-final clashes will be unreheated today. First round in the consolation bracket will be held this afternoon.

Duke Snider Top Slugger

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 —UP—Duke Snider of Brooklyn is acknowledged the National League's slugging champion of 1953 Friday, beating Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee for the title by two-tenths of a point in one of the closest races in the past 10 years.

Snider, with 370 total bases in 500 games at bat, wound up with a slugging percentage of .671 while Mathews, the league's home run king, had 383 total bases in 500 games up for a mark of .629, according to the final official averages released Friday.

Slugging percentage, not to be confused with a batting average, is determined by the total number of bases as compared with a player's total number of times at bat.

Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella, the circuit's most valuable player, was third in slugging with .610 while Stan Musial of the Cardinals was fourth with .609 and Carl Furillo of the Dodgers fifth with .580.

Musial established a new league record by hitting for 300 or more total bases for the ninth time in his career. He had 361 total bases in 593 times up the past season.

In addition, the veteran Cardinal cloutier drew the most bases on balls, 105, to lead that department for the first time. Ralph Kiner of the Cubs and rookie Junior Gilliam of the Dodgers tied for second place with 100 walks each.

Little Billy Hemis, the Cardinal shortstop with the chin-over-the-plate stance, was hit most by pitched balls, 12 times.

Bulky Steve Bilko, Cardinal first baseman, struck out 125 times, tops in that department, while Don Mueller of the Giants struck out the fewest times, 13, among regular players.

Joe Adcock of Milwaukee grounded into the most double plays, 22, and at the other end of the scale, Cal Abrams of the Pirates had the least, 2.

per game. Moreover, they out-rushed every team they faced, including Notre Dame.

J. D. Roberts, the All-America guard who is one of Oklahoma's all-time greats, said "on the ground or in the air, we want to beat Maryland so bad we can almost taste it."

"Everybody on the team wants to knock them off because they're the nation's No. 1 outfit," he said. "We really want to win this one and we'll be primed when the time comes.

Usual Game Good Enough
"What's more I think we can take our basic offense and just play our usual game and I think we can win with it."

Roberts said the loss to Notre Dame, only one Oklahoma suffered all season, should give the team a big psychological lift on New Year Day in Miami.

"We lost our big one to the team that was rated No. 1 at the time," Roberts added. "Very few teams ever get a chance to play two top-ranked clubs in one season, but we're getting that chance and we don't want to muff it.

"We're not overconfident. We know they're tough. But we feel we're going to win."

In today's semi-finals, Tulla and Perryton will meet at 4:30 p.m. and White Deer and Canyon games at 8:30.

The first round consolation games will send Price College against Panhandle at 3 p.m. and Lefors against Memphis at 7 p.m.

Two close games highlighted activity in the first round yesterday. Tulla opened with a 38-35 win over Price College of Amarillo and on the night slate, Perryton outlasted Panhandle in a double-overtime session, 52-50.

The other two games saw Canyon down Lefors, 67-34, and White Deer win over Memphis 49-21.

Alton Hamilton led Tulla to its win over Price College in the tournament's first game. Hamilton bucketed 20 points. Charlie Tyssackiewicz led Price College with 17 points. Tulla led quarterly, 9-5, 23-15 and 33-24.

Arlen Ruthart and Don Beck combined their efforts to lead Canyon over Lefors. Ruthart hit the 500th shot of his career and Beck had 13. Phil Barhart was high for Lefors with 14 points. Canyon led after each quarter, 13-8, 30-14 and 46-24.

In the night session, Perryton outlasted Panhandle in the tournament's top thriller to date in two-overtime sessions. The game ended at 44-44 all and the score was still tied after the first overtime, 40-40. After each team traded free shots in the second overtime, Perryton hit a field goal to give Perryton the win. Thrasher was high for Perryton with 20 points. Dale Roselius was high for Panhandle with 20 points.

Perryton had to come from behind for the win. They trailed Panhandle at the end of the half, 19-27 and at the third quarter mark 29-38.

In the night's final, White Deer jumped into a commanding 17-2 lead after the first quarter and breezed in past Memphis. Ronald Mills was high for White Deer with 14.

White Deer led quarterly by 17-2, 35-9 and 42-17.

12th Man Bowl Ends In 0-0 Tie

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 18 —UP—Varsity-coached Army and Air Force cadet teams proved evenly matched in the annual 12th Man Bowl game at Texas A&M College.

The teams battled to a 0 to 0 tie Thursday. An estimated crowd of 3,500 paid some $1,600 into the student aid fund.

Reversal Of Form Raiders Tops In Recovered Fumble

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 —UP—Some coaches say it facetiously, some grimly, and some with desperation: "If we could only stop fumbling..."

But to DeWitt-Weaver, coach at Texas Tech, it's a simple, straightforward formula for success. Last year his team led the nation in fumbling the ball, and won only three out of eleven. This year it led in recovering enemy fumbles, won ten out of eleven and wound up in the Gator Bowl.

Browns Land Seven On UP's 1953 All-Professional Squad

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 —UP—The Cleveland Browns, with Otto Graham drawing all the quarterback votes except one, Friday placed seven players on the two-platoon 1953 United Press National Football League all-star team.

The Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners, the teams which compiled the next best regular season records, each placed four players on the mythical team selected by a panel of 31 sports writers who covered the campaign in various league cities.

Wiley of Philadelphia; tackles Arnie Weinmeister of New York and Leo Nomellini of San Francisco; guards Les Bingaman of Detroit and Dale Dodrill of Pittsburgh; linebacker George Connor of the Chicago Bears; and halfbacks Jack Christiansen of Detroit and Tom Keate of Baltimore.

In Garden Tonight Young 6-5 Choice To Whip Graham

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 —UP—Paddy Young was a slight favorite at 4-5 Friday to blast welterweight Billy Graham's hopes of becoming a middleweight contender Friday night in their nationally televised and broadcast fight at Madison Square Garden.

his bid for middleweight recognition, but left-hooker Paddy is taking the big gamble. Brawny, sad-die-nosed Young must knock out Graham, or at least win impressively over him, to gain any prestige. And rugged Graham has never been stopped in 120 professional bouts.

Portrait Of Texas

For reasons we'd probably rather not understand, the human race has hankered after images of itself from the days of the stone choppers. Follow with the necessary geetus can hire himself immortalized in oils, charcoal, pen and ink, pastels, marble and even on the photographer's paper.

The more flattering the portrait, the more the victim is ready to pay for these works of art — a condition which prompts the artist to temper justice with mercy, or even shamelessness.

Well, we've run into a portrait of the state of Texas; and while it might not be a work of art, it's bound to be pretty cold-blooded and partaking more of justice than mercy.

This particular portrait is one drawn by the federal revenue agents based on tax collections for fiscal 1953. (Don't go away. It won't hurt much.)

Here's the way Texas looks to the tax collector: Our state ranks No. 6 in total population among the 48 states.

Washington extracted from Texas taxpayers the sum of $7.1 billion to rank us No. 7.

Individual taxpayers plunked out $2.87 billion in federal income taxes — to rank the state No. 7 in that department.

But Texas corporations paid taxes of $1.534 billion to Washington, to rank us No. 5.

Texas women don't buy as many furs as the gals in the snow-bird states. Federal excise taxes on furs totalled $1.17 million in Texas, to rank us No. 11.

But the girls like jewelry. Their husbands paid $12.74 million in excise taxes on jewelry to rank us No. 6.

Perhaps because of their natural beauty (We'll be home early for dinner, Mama), Texas women didn't buy as many cosmetics as they might have. The taxes on toilet preparations ran $4.7 million to rank us No. 7.

Texans, apparently, are the seventh most-travelled people in the country. We paid $3.75 million in excise taxes for luggage, to rank us No. 7.

In total excise taxes paid, Texas ranked sixth with $22.4 million.

The revenuers turned up some more figures which ought to give lie to the old concept of the hard-drinkin' tobacco-eatin' Texan.

Texas ranked No. 17 in the payment of alcohol taxes — a measly $24.6 million out of the national total of $2.72 billion.

And in tobacco taxes, Texas dropped to No. 23 among the 48 states with a showing of only $295,000 out of a national total of $1.66 billion.

We're just passing this along for what it's worth — numbers; and if you want to draw a moral, this is strictly your own business and good luck to watch for the sharp turns.

We're just passing this along for what it's worth — a portrait of Texas as she appears to the Internal Revenue department.

TVA Parallel

The Morning Herald, of Hagerstown, Maryland, recently ran an exceptionally compelling editorial on the Tennessee Valley Authority in particular and socialism in general.

One of the country's big pencil manufacturers, it said, could find nothing wrong with TVA. Among other things, he was an ardent fisherman, and he was enthusiastic over the lakes that TVA has created for recreational purposes.

Then the Herald commented: "Suppose the government set up an Authority to own, manage, and operate its vast timber holdings throughout the nation. Suppose the Authority decided to go into the processing of timber, and incidental to this processing operation decided to build a pencil factory."

"We would then have a situation quite parallel to that of the TVA and its electric power industry."

"This pencil factory would be built with money appropriated by the government and the Authority would be charned no interest on the investment. Moreover, the Authority would pay no federal taxes, would pay only nominal local taxes, would have franking privileges for all its advertising by mail, free legal services and many other special privileges."

"How long could the private pencil manufacturer compete with this Pencil Authority?"

That analogy is accurate. If it is proper for the government to use the people's tax money to build facilities for generating and distributing electric power, it is equally proper for the government to use that tax money to build facilities for providing us with food, clothing, reading matter, household goods, motor cars or anything else in general use. If socialism is bad in one field of endeavor, it is in all. And if it is good, it should be extended to all.

"Quackery In The Public Schools"

In the last issue I was discussing the new book "Quackery in the Public Schools" by Albert Lynd. He is a member of the board of education in Sharon, Massachusetts. He has also been a professor of history.

In his book he explains what is being taught in public schools from a social relations standpoint. He explains that public schools are teaching that there are no principles and that man has no soul and that there are no natural rights that men get from God rather than the state.

Undoubtedly as Mr. Lynd uses the word, a quack is one who professes skill or knowledge in any matter of which he knows little or nothing, or a charlatan. With that definition of a quack or quackery, it seems that Mr. Lynd has properly described public schools.

But what Mr. Lynd does not seem to understand is that by the nature of public schools they have to be governed by quackery. That is true because public schools violate such eternal principles as the Golden Rule and the Coveting and Stealing Commandments. They are based on the theory that the state can do things and make them good that would not work and would not be good if done by an individual. When this is true, of course, the school teachers have to be pragmatists. That is, they have to contend that there are no eternal principles. And right is determined by whether an act works.

The book as a whole, however, would be a splendid book for every person who is interested in the well being of the United States to read. It so clearly shows what is taking place in public schools.

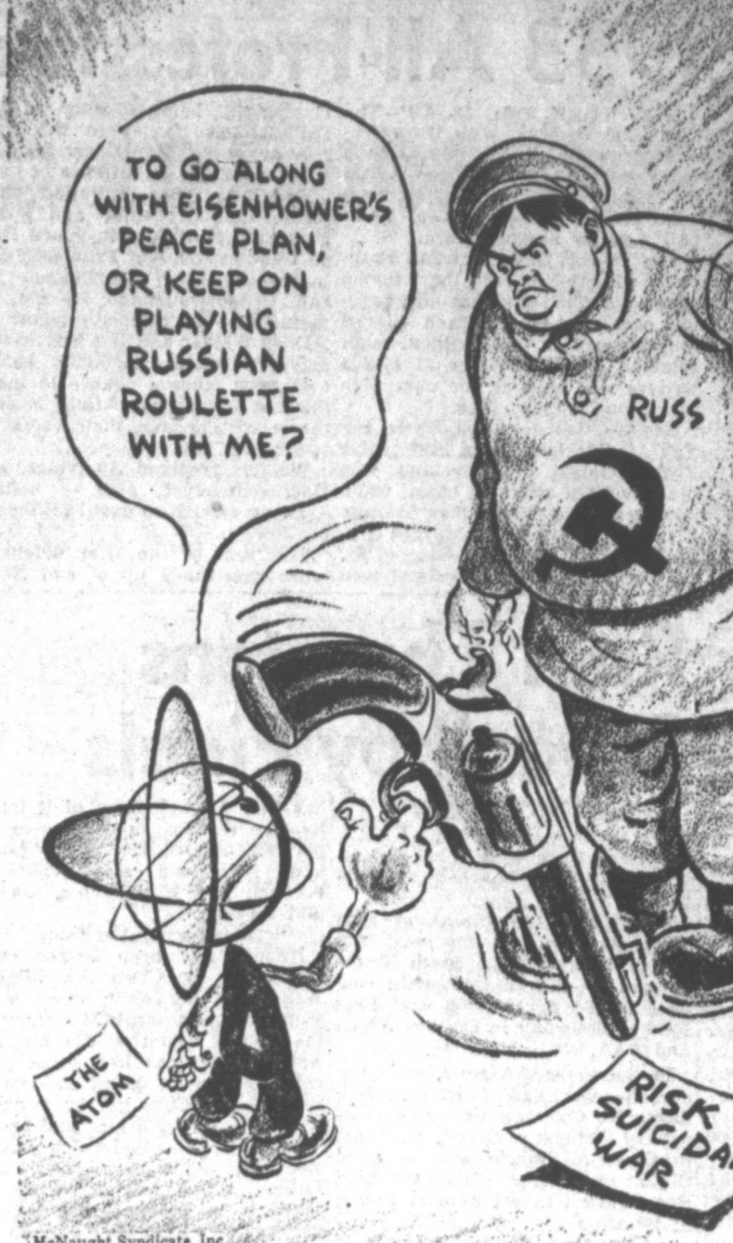

Mr. Lynd sees the quackery of public schools, but he does not understand the cause of the quackery. He is not a close reasoner. He believes in tax supported schools and even believes that the federal government should assist local communities financially. Of course, he doesn't explain how the federal government should get the money.

He seems to see the absurdity of Rousseau's belief in the "general will," but he talks about the kind of schools which the community wants are the ones that reside in the community itself. He simply uses the word community as a substitute for Rousseau's "general will." He is speaking of the community as being a unity in itself. But the community has no common will. Only individuals have wills. It has to be reduced to the theory that the majority of wills determine what shall be taught. That is the collectivist or socialist philosophy.

Mr. Lynd recognizes that the public school profession does not attract as keen minds as other professions attract. He seems to believe that increased pay would attract better educators.

With the "Atom" and the "Risk of Suicidal War" in the background, the cartoon depicts a man labeled 'RUSS' holding a bomb, with a speech bubble asking 'TO GO ALONG WITH EISENHOWER'S PEACE PLAN, OR KEEP ON PLAYING RUSSIAN ROULETTE WITH ME?'. A smaller figure labeled 'THE ATOM' is also present.

National Whirligig... Demos Have Crusader Against Commies In Sen. McCarran

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — If the Roosevelt-Truman regime's alleged coddling of Communists and fellow travelers should become a dominant issue in the 1954 and 1956 campaigns, as many Republicans hope, the Senate Democrats Far Eastern policy, headed by Sen. William Langer of North Dakota, Maverick Republican...

McCARRAN'S AGGRESSIVE PROGRAM — Besides disclosing the Owen Latimore faction's apparent partiality toward the Chinese Communists, as reflected in the Acheson-Wallace-Marshall hostility to ward Chiang Kai-shek, Senator McCarran took positive action against foreign and domestic spies, it was his aggressive program which advanced Roosevelt and Truman.

McCarran also sponsored the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act, which was designed to prevent the entrance of subversives into this country under the guise of refugees. Congress passed it over Truman's veto by an overwhelming majority.

THIRD ON "HATE" LIST — Senator McCarran ran a close third to Senator McCarthy and Sen. Harry F. Byrd on Truman's "hate" list. As he remarked with respect to the Virginian, he used to complain that, "There are too many McCarrans in Senate." Although F.D.R. first named "Pat," the late President disagreed utterly with the McCarran philosophy.

As a matter of fact, McCarran's dogged tracking of the Reds did not endear him to his Democratic colleagues, although they respect him. The stocky gray-haired Westerner and former Ne-based on the belief that might makes right and that the end justifies the means and that the individual receives his rights from the state or a subdivision of the state, such as the board of education, and not from God.

Mr. Lynd is a typical man who seeks a board of education position. Contradictions mean nothing to him.

We are repeating exactly what we are saying by entrusting the youth of the land to be educated and trained by men who by the nature of their acts are contending that there are no eternal truths that men need to try to live by.

Fair Enough...

Director Of Federal Prisons Shown To Have Favored Reds

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) NEW YORK — Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell has lit the fuse of a first class scandal by retaining James V. Bennett in his job of director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons. The first exposure of Bennett's coddling of criminal Communist prisoners under the Truman administration was had enough in itself. But it now comes out that Bennett's motive in restoring 124 days of forfeited "good time" to Carl Aldo Marzani, one of the convicted State Department Reds, was to qualify him under a time limit for a free course in journalism at Columbia University at government expense, under the GI Bill of Rights.

The basic facts of Bennett's gentleness to Communists were elicited by a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Government Expenditures. Pat McCarran was in the chair and Homer Ferguson of Michigan asked the questions. Bennett also arranged to let Marzani reside in the country club type of prison at Lewisburg, Pa., for a stretch of about three months when his old friend, Alger Hiss, was there. Marzani and Hiss had been colleagues in the State Department. They were often together at Lewisburg. Marzani admittedly had earned severe punishment by trying to smuggle Communist literature out of the Danbury country club prison to which he was first assigned. Another authority than Bennett might have sent the facts to the FBI for inquiry and further reference to the criminal division of the Department of Justice.

However, Bennett took the view that Marzani had violated only a prison rule rather than a federal law against the smuggling of contraband in or out of any prison. Senator Ferguson thought a crime had been committed. Bennett's conduct becomes more and more interesting as further details are discovered. In the first place, Marzani lost 165 days of statutory earned "good time." Then he was allowed to buy a bus bound for the close-custody prison at Atlanta where the discipline and living conditions are extremely unpleasant. But, after the bus had stopped at Lewisburg for the night, Marzani stayed on until he finally was released with a grace gift of more than four months of forfeited "good time."

Bennett has evaded inquiries as to how many others in the transfer from Danbury to Atlanta were allowed to stay on at Lewisburg. On the whole, his testimony lacked firmness and clarity on matters which he knew were to be topics of examination and on which he had official information in the records.

There is also further information regarding the coddling of John Gates, which name is one of two of the grossly abusive and disorderly gang of criminal Reds who were convicted in the memorable long trial before Judge Harold R. Medina, in New York. Gates was transferred from Atlanta to Danbury ostensibly for the convenience of his interview by Congressman John Aht. Aht has been named by witnesses as a Communist. Attorneys for many non-Communist prisoners much less dangerous to American society and the nation have to go to Atlanta from far away to interview their clients. Gates retained his title of editor of the Daily Worker while he is in Danbury.

The most shocking disclosure now made in the case of Gates is that Bennett, himself, sent official orders to the warden of Danbury that he was to have a private room in the hospital. The warden had no option but to obey and a disruptive resentment ensued among the non-Communist prisoners in the country club. The hospital is always the most desirable location in a prison. Private rooms in federal prisons normally are exclusively for very sick persons or high-ranking Democrats. The addition to this privileged group of a Communist who is serving five years for conspiring to overthrow the government was an innovation by Bennett. There was no medical diagnosis to justify Gates' admission to the hospital on any footing at all. However, in the absence of any specific order that Marzani and Aht be allowed to use the private hospital room for a conference with Bennett, authorities have made the lawyers conduct their interviews under the usual conditions. Gates is serving five years.

Marzani was received at Dan-stock-holders and the little ones. They should all be equal, that is, except for the few who are really and wholeheartedly on America's side. Evidently the likes of Syngman Rhee and Chiang Kai-shek, whose intense opposition to communism is unquestioned, can be ordered around with impunity. But Britain, which helped the Reds to overthrow Chiang and which did as little as possible to support Rhee, must be treated with the greatest delicacy.

Why is it coercion for the United States to make a suggestion to England or France and only high diplomacy when those nations make a suggestion to Washington?

During the Korean War Downing Street denounced General MacArthur's plan of a war-for-victory, and insistently demanded a stalemate peace. In the end she had her way, and America followed the shameful path to Panmunjom.

And he walked out.

"That's all right," I said. "That's about the going price. I haven't come across a better price at the odds."

"The theorists missed the boat," he said. "The aliens are here, all right. But they didn't come in flying saucers. The invasion is on, the smart way. But they had some other way of making the trip."

"Who's here?" I asked. "Those people," he said. "There's two right here in the room breathing the same air. You could hardly tell it except for the eyes and the walk. That's what gives them away. To me, anyhow."

"They got their own way to travel. Zip — just like that. And another load of them is here among us. Learning a good living, too. I can spot them all over. Especially around Madison, a 45th Avenue, Wood's full of them. Pretty, too. I'd say, is a slinky way."

"Maybe I'm thinking of something else," I said. "Maybe I'm not on the same road with you."

"Like I say," he said patiently. "They are here. They don't come in flying saucers. They are sending the women first. To harm us, g'wan. It's pretty crafty of them."

"The people from another world," he said, "as though explaining to a child. 'There's one not two tables away. She's with a fellow who hasn't the slightest idea.'"

"She's a fashion model," I said. "I see her picture in the fashion magazines all the time."

"That's right," he said. "Let's get down to cases: there are maybe 1,000 of these women. They all look alike and they don't look like any other women or people you know. They all have a flat nose, but aren't Oriental. They all have chalk-white skins, full mouths, small, tight ears, hip bones that stick out, sharp elbows and they are built flat all over. Like slugs. They look like people — almost. But there is a difference and it's easy to see they are of a different breed from us. A few more come in every few days."

"I think that's a little far fetch," "No, it isn't. Think about it. Have you ever known a fashion model that had a home and family? Do you know the background of any one of them? Don't they all live in small hotels or share apartments with other models? Don't they all look exactly alike, walk exactly alike, have their hair exactly alike, but not like any other women you ever saw? They get their names in the papers and the columns — after they have arrived and are being seen in magazines. You never hear of one from Houston or Terre Haute or Richmond or wherever. They just suddenly are here, looking like the others and working. Bing like that. They all have the gaunt look, that not-fed-enough look, yet they go out for lunch and dinner and make enough money to eat hearty. They belong to another place. It's plain to me. What's bawling you?"

"How do they get here?" "That's what I'm working on," he said. "Check with me in a few weeks."

And he walked out.

THE NATION'S PRESS THE ISSUE OF COERCION (Morning World-Herald) Yesterday President Eisenhower joined his Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, in raising the issue of "coercion."

He warned that if the United States "should turn impatiently to coercion of other free nations, our brand of coercion, so far as our friends are concerned, would be the mark of the imperialist rather than the leader."

This is no trivial issue. It goes to the very heart of many matters, foreign and domestic, which divide the Republic. Thus it is deserving of the attention of the President and the Secretary of State — and likewise it deserves some thought by those millions of Americans who disagree with recent Administrations on the issue of internationalism.

As the word "coercion" is used by the President, it applies to the relations between the United States and those nations which have been getting American aid.

For the American taxpayers to put up billions of giveaways dollars that is devoted to be high-minded and good. But for them to show any interest in the ways in which the money is spent, or in the policies of the nations which receive it and spend it — that, in the opinion of the highest officials of the Republic, would be "coercion."

It's a strange theory, when you stop to think about it. The world around, the majority stockholder rules. The one who pays the fiddler calls the tune. But in international affairs it is contended that all nations should have an equal voice in their joint affairs — the small and the large, the big nomination; (3) the Republicans and Eisenhower must make a good record at the forthcoming session, or they may lose both House and Senate next year; (4) Communism will be a live issue in next year's congressional contests.

Grandmother, 70, Dies In Mishap

DALLAS, Dec. 17 —UP—Mrs. Mary A. Trullitt, 70-year-old grandmother, became Dallas' 29th traffic death and the 101st in Dallas county Wednesday when she was struck by a car on her way to work.

This year's traffic fatalities have shattered all records, both of the city and county.

Church Schedules Christmas Program

Pampa's Church of God located on the corner of Campbell and Reid, will hold its annual Christmas program Saturday at 7:30 p.m., announced Rev. George M. Bloomingdale, pastor.

The program will open with group singing of Christmas hymns and a prayer by the pastor. The junior's portion of the program will feature songs, recitations and a play.

Hospital Board Due New Members

Three new members of the Highland General Hospital Board are expected to be selected in the next two or three weeks.

Present members whose terms have expired are Akron Sturgeon, chairman; Boyd Meador, McLean; and Walter Eller, Pampa, according to Chet Lander, hospital administrator.

Holdover members will be Fred Neslage and George Newberry, both of Pampa, and J. R. Sparkman, Letors, Lander said this morning, pointing out that hospital board met at 8 p.m. Wednesday and discussed the upcoming changeover.

The Grey County Commissioners Court makes the new appointments. Its next scheduled meeting is 9 a.m. Jan. 1.

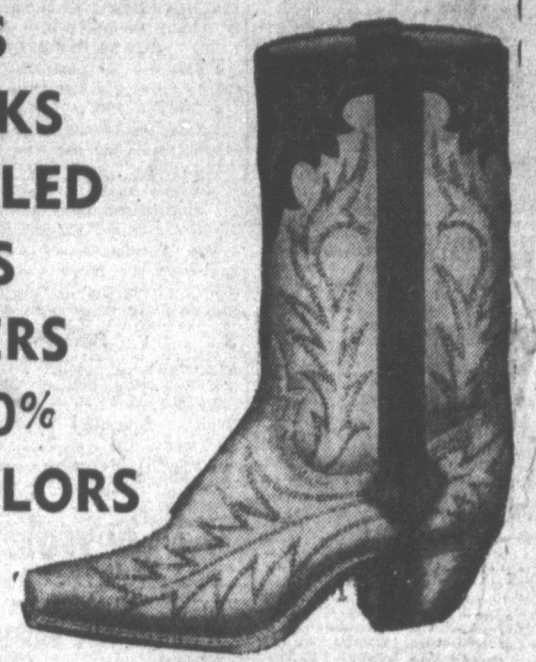

Main purpose of the hospital board get-together was the annual report and survey of the preceding two-year period, Lander continued. He read members a sheath of statistics on the hospital's operation over that period.
