Communists' Texas Union Plans To Grow

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 12 — UP — Research Director A. A. Iherman of the Foundation for Management Research warns that a "Communist-led and Communist-controlled" union intends to organize workers in Texas oil centers.

Iherman told the Port Arthur Kiwanis Club Wednesday the union is preparing to expand to Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Galveston, Texas City, Bay City, Freeport, Gladewater, Marshall, Tyler, Longview, Midland, Odessa, Beeville, Baytown, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and other Texas cities connected with oil production and distribution.

He said the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers of America is a New York union and, according to testimony at federal hearings, the officers are all described as members of the Communist party.

"I need scarcely tell you that Texas is the heart of the petroleum industry," Iherman said, "anything that Communists can do today to get closer to the centers of petroleum production, shipping, pipelines or receiving points would be of advantage to our enemies. Texas thus becomes the No. 1 target of the Communist party in this country."

He warned that "if Texas authorities in Austin or the federal authorities in Washington do not hobble the union, these alien sympathizers will succeed in controlling every petroleum center in Texas."

Contractors Bid For Highway Job

Eight potential contractors, interested in the upcoming bidding on a section of highway near the Canadian River, had made inquiries about the job by late this morning in the Texas Highway Department engineering office in the Court House.

Bids will be opened at 9 a. m. Nov. 13 in the Austin office. G. K. ... senior resident engineer said this morning.

The job is 8.76 miles of roadway on State Highway 70, from a point 16.4 miles north of the Gray County line to the Canadian River, according to the bid announcement.

Reading said that the road would be of the flexible base with a two-course asphalt surface treatment. Cost of the project has been estimated at $186,000.

Sweet Gas Price Hike Announced

The average price of sweet gas for light and fuel has been upped. Jim McClintock, deputy supervisor for the area office of the Texas Railroad Commission, announced today that it had been hiked from 7.58 cents to 7.93 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for 16.4 pounds.

That price will be effective till May, he pointed out.

Action came at the semi-annual gas hearing of the TRRC in Amarillo. McClintock continued, adding that the Panhandle is concerned in that sweet gas sold for carbon black cannot be sold for less than the average price of sweet gas used for light and fuel.

WILL HELP WIFE — Bennett Doughty, right, Gainesville, Texas, cab driver and husband of Tommie Dean Doughty, 17-year-old baby sitter charged with kidnapping five-month-old Richard Stammer, made a surprise appearance in Federal courtroom in Muskogee, Okla., where Tommie Dean was being arraigned. Doughty, who hitchhiked to Muskogee, said he planned to drop divorce suit against his wife and "see what I can do to help her."

Chief Indicates Storms Are Over

MIAMI, Nov. 12—UP—Hurricane-conscious Floridians breathed easier Thursday. The weather man has gone on vacation.

The annual departure of Grady Norton, chief storm warning forecaster in the weather bureau here, is taken as an official signal the hurricane season is over.

Adlai Claims Voters Tired Of 'Promises'

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 12 — UP—Adlai E. Stevenson told the national Young Democrats convention Thursday the Democrats will win the congressional election next fall because "the people of this country are rapidly getting their fill of slick talk and foolish promises" from the Republicans.

Stevenson, unable to appear in person, made a tape-recorded speech which kicked-off the party of more than 1,000 youthful Democrats from throughout the nation.

The brief speech made no mention of the Harry Dexter White furor. It was apparently recorded before the White case was made public last Friday by Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

Instead, Stevenson attacked Republican campaign promises to balance the budget and "help the farmer."

Speak Glibly "If the Republican candidates had not spoken so glibly and so often we would all have a great deal more sympathy for them now as they struggle with the heavy costs of defense—costs which were obvious last fall but conveniently overlooked," Stevenson said.

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate said the GOP promised the farmers "all good things and 100 per cent of parity, too." Now, "they are having difficulty working out a sensible farm program in the face of surpluses, falling export markets, rapid technical change and other conditions that were clearly evident a year ago."

Stevenson's remarks got the three-day convention off to an optimistic start, but a bitter delegation seating fight shaped up between two Texas groups, one supporting Gov. Allan Shivers, who backed President Eisenhower in the last election.

The election of the group's top officers promised to be interesting, with six candidates in the field already.

Candidates Listed Candidates include: Vice President, Margie Petty, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Camilla Klein, Dodge City, Kan.; treasurer, Ward McCree, Detroit and Richard Satterfield, Memphis, Tenn.

Delegates Wednesday night called the White case a "smear." Miss Toby Osos of Pasadena, Calif., president of the California Young Democrats, said Wednesday night "the Harry Dexter White smear undoubtedly had much effect in turning the vote" in Tuesday's special election in California.

Sen. Johnson May Visit Amarillo

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, U. S. Senate minority leader, has offered to meet at 3 p. m. Dec. 2 in Amarillo with officials of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Whether C. A. (Lefty) Huff, authority president, Fred Thompson, authority director, or any other Pampa man would be able to be on hand, however, was undetermined late this morning.

"It's too far ahead," Huff said today.

Announcement of Johnson's willingness to get together with authority officials came Monday in a flash from T. E. Johnson, director from Amarillo, who substituted for A. A. Meredith, Berger, authority secretary, at the last meeting before the Nov. 24 confirmation elections in the 12 communities included in the dam and reservoir project.

Disapprove Livestock Supports

In other action, the TFFB voted an overwhelming commendation for Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and an equally strong disapproval of livestock price supports.

The TFFB urged that the program be continued, but said a more effective solution would be for the government to buy livestock from the producer instead of from the processor.

The National Overproduction usually runs 5 to 15 per cent. Under the plan, it overproduction of all commodities.

Velde Postpones Quizzing Session

THEY'LL MAKE IT, TOO — Mrs. W. A. Pippen, 86 N. Somerville, mother of Jim Pippen, first-string end on the Pampa Harvesters, is certain that Pampa will beat the Odessa Bronchos Saturday afternoon in Harvester Park. But, just to be sure, she borrows an idea from the University of Texas and lights a candle—to make double-sure of victory. Texas licked Baylor, 21-20, last week. Truman Greet News Writers In 'Big Walk'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — UP — Former President Truman notified the House Un-American Activities committee Thursday he will not comply with its subpoena for him to testify in the Harry Dexter White investigation.

Mr. Truman sent a letter to Chairman Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.) saying that he was "following a long line of precedents" in refusing to honor the subpoena.

Mr. Truman's letter arrived a few minutes after Velde had announced a hearing scheduled for Friday with Mr. Truman as the star witness who was being postponed indefinitely.

Mr. Truman said he felt it was his "duty to the people of the United States to decline to comply with the subpoena."

"The subpoena does not state the matters upon which you seek my testimony," the letter said.

"But I assume from the press stories that you seek to examine me with respect to matters which occurred during my tenure of the presidency of the United States. In spite of a personal willingness to co-operate with your committee I feel constrained by my duty to the people of the United States to decline to comply with the subpoena."

Charges by Brownell Mr. Truman had been subpoenaed to testify before committee at 9:30 a. m. on Friday on charges by Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., that he promoted White, then assistant secretary of treasury, was a Soviet spy.

In announcing postponement of the Truman hearing Velde said: "I feel that I was within my rights in issuing the subpoena for them (Mr. Truman and Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina) and will continue pressing for these hearings."

He did not, however, say when he believes the former President may be heard.

Republican strategists had been fearful that the Truman subpoena might prove a political boomerang, and President Eisenhower said Wednesday he personally would not have issued it.

Mobs Swarm In Tehran

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 12 — UP—Troops and riot police Thursday fired into mobs of rioting students who swarmed through Tehran's streets protesting the treason trial of ousted Premier Mohammed Mosaddegh.

One student was reported killed and another wounded by the gunfire.

Police said the shots were fired when Tudeh (Communist) party students of Tehran University attempted to organize a street parade.

The student who was reported killed was said to have been shot in the stomach. The wounded student was struck in the leg by a rifle bullet.

The government took vigorous measures to prevent rioting mobs from attempting to carry the trial of the aged premier to the streets.

Until Thursday the city had been tense but quiet as Mosaddegh threw the five-man military court into repeated disorder with his tears, fainting spells, shouted arguments that the court is incompetent to hear him and angry denunciations of his own court-appointed defense attorney.

Lubbock First Stop On Benson's Tour

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 12 — UP—Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson set out Thursday on a five-day tour of the billion-dollar drought country in the Middle West and the Great Plains.

Benson, under heavy attack for his controversial farm policies, hopes to gather facts and stir opinion for the new agriculture program he is drafting for submission to Congress next year.

First stop on the tour itinerary was Lubbock, Tex., in the heart of the cotton and cow country. The 2,000-mile tour also will cover Texas, New Mexico, Nevada, Missouri, Arizona, Utah and Wyoming.

Reports indicated recent rains have lifted hopes of drought-stricken Southwest farmers. Winter wheat prospects in Texas reportedly range from "excellent" to "the best in years."

But experts conceded a lot more rain will be needed to erase the dusty brand of the three-year drought. In Missouri, a $6.5 million state emergency drought program is just getting under way.

Accompanying Benson and his aides were Harry R. Varney, chief of the Senate Agriculture committee staff, Rep. Page Belcher (R-Okla.), a member of the House Agriculture committee, Homer Gruenther, special White House assistant, and over a dozen newsmen and photographers.

Benson invited Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Rep. Clifford R. Hope (R-Kans.), chairman of the Senate and House Agriculture committees, to go with him. Both had other commitments.

Benson will leave Lubbock Friday morning for Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N.M., and Prescott, Ariz. Saturday he will leave Prescott for Elko, Nev., Rock Springs, Wyo., and Salt Lake City, remaining in Salt Lake all day Sunday.

On Monday Benson will fly to drought areas around Shelby county, Mo., and head back to Washington Monday night from St. Louis.

Artist Tells Wish To Marry Christine

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — UP—Patrick Flanagan, 26-year-old Washington artist, has confirmed reports that he has asked Christine Jorgensen to marry him.

Miss Jorgensen now appearing at a hotel in Las Vegas, Nev. is the former GI who claims she was transformed into a woman through surgery.

Flanagan, who said he sent Miss Jorgensen a three-quarter carat diamond engagement ring, conceded that there is one big hitch to any wedding plans. He is married—although separated from his wife.

Flanagan, employed by a Washington art supply store, told reporters "we're just two people trying to find peace and happiness." He begged the public not to be "too cruel to us."

The young artist said he and Miss Jorgensen cannot be considered engaged because he already is married. He declined to discuss the possibility of a divorce from his wife.

He said he met Miss Jorgensen when she was playing a night club here in September. "She is beautiful, a real lady," he said. He painted two portraits of her and sent them to Las Vegas, along with the ring.

Flanagan said he came here three years ago from San Antonio, Tex.

Let's With Guided Missiles Said To Destroy Tornadoes

AUSTIN, Nov. 12—UP—An Air Force electronics expert proposed Thursday that jet planes, armed with guided missiles, be used to destroy tornadoes in the making.

The idea was advanced at an international meeting of meteorology and electronics scientists by Col. Rollins H. Mayer of the Air Force missile test center, Peck AFB, Fla.

Rollins said the idea of using explosives to destroy the force of a tornado was first suggested more than 60 years ago.

He proposed a "national tornado-damage-prevention net" in a speech before a meeting of the American Meteorological Society and four other scientific organizations at the University of Texas.

"The type of net I have in mind would consist of mobile anti-tornado stations, assembled at airports near large cities in the country where tornadoes might be expected. The complete coverage of the United States," he explained, "would be costly if not impracticable."

"However, those locations where large populations are concentrated could be covered. Into the net would be fed tornado forecasts, radar detection, warning and tracking data."

"Jet planes with tornado destruction missiles could be standing by," he said, "to destroy tornadoes before they destroy us."

"I have been asked," Mayer said, "what about the people below if you detonate a missile in a tornado?"

"Couldn't be worse off," "Actually," he continued, "anyone caught in a tornado can't be worse off. Of course every effort would be made to destroy the tornado before it reaches a densely populated area. A missile could not be used until its highest unailing reliability had been established. The possibility of preventing damage to many would outweigh the possibility of causing damage to a few."

Mexican Visa Requirement Change Speeds Up Travel

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 12—UP—Important changes in visa requirements for Mexican citizens entering the United States, placed in effect Monday, are expected to result in an increase in travel between this country and Mexico.

Multiple entry visas are now being issued by American consulates throughout Mexico, and there are some categories for which there are no visa fees. Mexican citizens are expected to apply for the visas at the consulate nearest their place of residence.

In announcing the new visa regulations, U.S. Consul James C. Powell, in Nuevo Laredo, said they were adopted in reciprocity upon granting by Mexico of a six-month multiple entry visa for tourists, business men and persons in transit, upon payment of a fee of $5.

"The United States government proposed to the government of Mexico in January, 1953, that all categories of non-immigration be granted visas valid for multiple entries within a period of 24 months without payment of any fee," Consul Powell said.

"After 10 months of negotiation, the Mexican government has granted six-month multiple entry visas for tourists, business men and persons in transit, for $5.

3. Mexican citizens entering temporarily for business may be granted six-month visas for multiple entries on payment of a $5 fee.

4. They may also be issued single entry visas for business, as before, for a fee of $3.

5. Mexicans desiring to enter temporarily and solely to study in schools of their choice, and approved by the U.S. attorney general, may be granted visas valid for multiple entries within a 12-month period. The consular visa is free and it is subject to renewal in the U.S.

7. Crews of Mexican commercial aircraft, including stewards and hostesses, who are in possession of valid I.C.O.A. cards can be admitted without passports or visas.

8. Those seeking to enter the U.S. as artists, professional sportsmen, professors of learned institutions, officers or employees of agricultural, commercial, industrial or mining industries to engage in any employment or remunerative work may be granted visas valid for a single entry for the period of employment approved in the petition, not to exceed six months. Fee $41.50.

9. Mexican citizens who are bonafide representatives of the Mexican press, radio, film or other information media, seeking entry solely to engage in such vocation, and their spouses and children may be issued non-immigrant visas for multiple entries during a six-month period. No fee.

10. Mexican citizens who are students, lecturers, speakers, teachers or outstanding persons in the various branches of learning technology and the arts who seek to enter the U.S. under programs of cultural exchange may be granted visas for single application for admission within a period of six months. No fee.

Quirino Concedes Election Defeat

MANILA, Nov. 12—UP—President-elect Ramon Magsaysay appeared to his people Thursday for unity, and then plunged into the task of organizing the administration that will govern the Philippines for the next four years.

President Elpidio Quirino conceded defeat at noon, as mounting returns indicated voters who think it's time for a change had elected Magsaysay by a margin of nearly 2 1/2 to 1.

Returns representing about 60 per cent of the total vote showed the victorious Nationalist candidate leading by 1,815,188 votes to 798,022. Mounting congressional returns indicated Magsaysay will have strong support in the Senate and probably will control the House of Representatives.

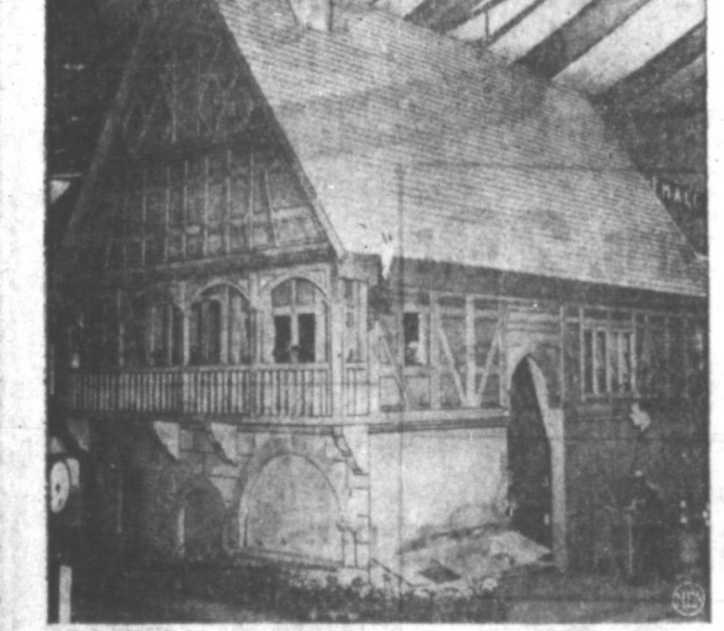

Quirino, in conceding, offered Magsaysay his "good wishes," and wryly offered "a prayer," that the change is for the better.

Eugene Perez, president of Quirino's Liberal party, promised the retiring president's supporters will offer Magsaysay cooperation.

The President-elect was relaxing aboard U.S. Adm. Richard Cruzen's yacht in Manila Bay when word of Quirino's concession reached him. He expressed thanks for the outgoing president's good wishes, and called on "all Filipinos to work together as one people."

Magsaysay promptly sought to recruit former ambassadors to the United States Carlos P. Romulo for his new administration, asking whether he would like to return to the Washington post.

"Not permanently," replied Romulo, who withdrew from the presidential race to throw the support of his Democratic party to Magsaysay. No immediate decision was reported on an assignment for the ex-ambassador.

Develop 3 New Grain Varieties

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 12—UP—Texas A&M College announced Thursday three new small grain varieties have been developed.

They are Bowie and Travis wheat and Newturf flax. The college said they were developed jointly by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The wheats are feed wheats developed to resist the new and virulent types of leaf and stem rust diseases. They are also superior in other respects to present feed varieties such as durums, Speltz and Austin.

Bowie produces higher yields of grain of higher protein content than Austin. Travis is superior for late spring pasture, hay and silage.

Newturf flax is adopted to the Central Blacklands, of Texas and because of its cold resistance will extend the Texas flax belt northward.

Bowie and Travis wheat are selections from a cross made at College Station in 1941 of an introduction from South Africa and one from British East Africa. They will be available for farmer plantings in the fall of 1955.

Newturf flax is the most promising of about 500 selections made at College Station from an importation from Turkey. Seed of Newturf will be increased during the coming growing season by certified seed growers and will be available for farmer plantings in the fall of 1954.

The association's financial report showed that the profit from last summer's rodeo was $4,183.23. H. C. Coffee was elected as an honorary member of the board. (News Photo)

Former GI Saves Government Thousands On Broom Proposal

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—UP—While he was in the Army J. W. Hill Jr. of Memphis, got to fretting because he never saw a broom hanging from a nail.

It seemed to him the government was wasting a lot of time and money putting holes in broom handles. The brooms were never hung up, he noticed. They always were put in racks to dry.

After he was mustered out, Hill latched on as a civilian employe in the Army depot on airways.

The futility of putting a hole in a broom and then ignoring the hole stuck with him — haunted him, in fact.

One day he discovered the Army was paying cash money for ideas to save the government money.

Thoughts to Paper

So he put his thoughts on paper and wrote a little memo pointing out, in flowing prose, how silly it was to bore through a broom handle for hanging up purposes, and then stack the broom up to dry. It was, he said in his note, disrespect for holes in broom handles, for one thing, but more important it was a frightful waste of taxpayers' money — including his.

His superiors thought it over and decided Hill had something. The notion was passed along to the Pentagon. The masterminds in the Quartermaster Corps were inclined to take sides with Brother Hill.

Today, you'll find nary a broom handle with a hole in it around the Army. As a result, Hill is $275 richer and, likely as not, will get another $25 in bonus from Washington. The government figures to save $15,233 a year by not boring any more holes in broom handles.

The Army's efficiency awards program first was adopted in 1943. Civilian employes are paid in cash, but no payments are authorized for the poor GI.

About everything you can think of goes into the suggestion boxes. New ways to save time ladling bean soup. New ways to do in the rats that rob the government of tons of victuals a year. Substitution of the hook-on buttons for the sew on kind. (GIs are always losing buttons).

The Department of the Army estimates it saved nearly $13 million by putting into practice the suggestions submitted for free by the military and for pay by civilian personnel during fiscal 1953. For the suggestions it adopted, the Army paid $282,529 in bonuses. It received 57,517 suggestions, of which 11,814 were accepted.

Things are looking up — in a small sort of way. That was 13,000 more suggestions over fiscal year 1952.

French Hope Sahara Will Offer Riches

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The French hope riches found beneath the vast, sandy wastes of the Sahara will help them get back on a competitive industrial footing with a rising West Germany.

To this end, they have set up a new government office to direct exploitation of the Sahara and to lay the groundwork for a "future Pittsburgh."

They are working against enormous odds but the prize could be worth the effort.

Coal Found Accidentally

The story goes that 40 years ago a Foreign Legionnaire was ordered to dig a ditch at Kenadza, a remote outpost 250 miles deep in the interior of Algeria. He cursed when his shovel hit a ledge of black rock.

It was the accidental discovery of a coal deposit from which the French today are taking 275,000 tons a year.

At present, the French take a loss of $7 on every ton of coal extracted from the Kenadza mine.

Base of Future Greatness

But in a desolate area where not even the desert Bedouins can live, where water is the difference between life and death (and there is no water) where temperatures during the day soar above 120 degrees, the French eventually hope to build a vast industrial complex which will in the end be profitable.

And on this and other colonial projects, France's future greatness may depend.

The center of this "future Pittsburgh" is Colomb-Béchar, near not only Kenadza but also a manganese deposit found at Menabha.

Has Rail Connections

Two railroads connect the possible industrial center with the Mediterranean port of Oran, 470 miles north. French engineers plan eventually to transform the Kenadza coal into electrical energy at Colomb-Béchar by building a 50,000 to 100,000 kilowatt power station.

But coal and manganese are not the only discoveries.

At Tindouf in the eastern corner of Algeria only 200 miles from the Atlantic, French technicians plan to exploit a huge iron deposit of at least 100 million tons. There also is coal at Tindouf.

Elsewhere, prospectors have found rich deposits of copper, lead, potassium, and more coal, iron and manganese. Oil was found at Maktar, Tunisia.

Cattle Smugglers Face Indictments

WACO, Tex., Nov. 12—UP—Three men faced indictments Thursday charging they conspired to smuggle $1 million worth of Charolaise cattle across the Rio Grande and hid them in Louisiana.

Indicted Wednesday were Alphe A. Broussard, 52, of Lafayette, La.; Antonio Enrique Gilly of Atlixco, Mexico, and William L. Babb, a Texas border rancher.

Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. set bond at $5,000 for Broussard, a Louisiana cattleman and rice farmer. Bond was set at $10,000 each for Babb and Gilly, a wealthy Mexican avocado grower. Broussard already is under $2,000 bond, set by a U.S. commissioner in Louisiana when he was first arrested and charged last June 4.

Ten indictments, the result of a 1,900-mile tracking job by U.S. Customs Agent Grady Avant of Los Angeles, charged the men, smuggled 69 head of the rare Charolaise into the United States and concealed them on Broussard's ranch in Louisiana.

Avant said he tracked the animals from Gilly's ranch at Atlixco across the Rio Grande to Langtry, Tex., and then found them in Vermillion parish, La. They allegedly were smuggled a few had at a time.

Republican High Command Seems To Be Learning Fast

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—UP—Skilled reporters digging into the records of the three latest congressional by-elections have turned up sub-surface proof of some things which were not so evident when the returns were being counted.

Among them:

1. In Wisconsin, where Democrats gained a House seat, and in New Jersey, where the Democrats doubled for a governor and another seat in the House, local conditions much more than national politics were responsible for Republican reverse.
2. There is much for the Republican high command to learn from the Wisconsin and New Jersey elections in preparation for next year's all-out contest for control of Congress.
3. There was evidence in returns from this week's California election the Republican high command is learning fast. The Republicans won Tuesday by-elections in California's 24th Congressional District.

The Eisenhower policy (or lack of policy) which hurt the Republican cause most was on farm relief. That was a major issue in Wisconsin. It did not figure in New Jersey or California. President Eisenhower must come up with a farm plan satisfactory to farmers if he is to keep out of trouble in vast agricultural areas. Mr. Eisenhower has promised to do that.

Wisconsin's Ninth District was represented by Merlin Hull, Republican, and never had been represented by a Democrat. Hull was an old time LaFollette Progressive who changed his political name.

When Hull died, Republican and Democratic candidates with similar LaFollette progressive backgrounds were nominated to succeed him. The Republican ran on an Eisenhower platform. The Democrat ran on Hull's platform. The Democrat won to the amazement and chagrin of the Republican high command. The U.S. News and World Report thus reported record on which the Democratic candidate won:

FOR

- Farm price supports.
- Increasing support funds.
- More rent, price controls.
- All foreign aid cuts.
- Tax relief.
- Cutting federal payroll.
- Reduced federal spending.
- Government housing bills.
- Limit President to two terms.

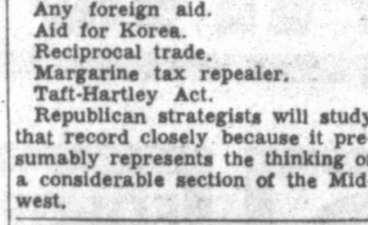

AGAINST

- Hawaiian statehood.
- Offshore oil bill.
- More peace time draft.
- Marshall plan.
- Any foreign aid.
- Aid for Korea.
- Reciprocal trade.
- Margarine tax repealer.
- Taft-Hartley Act.

Republican strategists will study that record closely because it presumably represents the thinking of a considerable section of the Midwest.

Britain Drops Embargo
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—UP—Great Britain has dropped its embargo on shipment of three types of vehicles to Communist China after a committee of NATO countries refused to make the ban uniform, a State Department spokesman said.

LADYBUG HUNTER — Lots of ladybugs bedded down for the winter, will wake up in the spring and find themselves owned by O. B. Lester, of Sonora, Calif. Lester goes into the mountain canyons to hunt the hibernating insects and brings them down on a pack horse where they are then stored in a cooler. Farmers whose fields are ravaged by insects buy the ladybugs for $10 per gallon. The ladybugs destroy thrips, aphides and other plant marauders.

Good Horse Sense

In these days when we seem to be raising more subsidies than anything else on the farm, it is refreshing to hear at least one voice from the agricultural realm arguing against them. W. Hugh Baber, California's "livestock man of the year," recently declared that the salvation of cattlemen lies not in government price supports but in intelligent action on the part of cattlemen themselves. Having been in the cattle and farming business for more than three decades he knows whereof he speaks, and he urges cattlemen to reduce their herds. Price supports, he observes, make farming a "cinch" for the farmer — but just temporarily. Price supports also pile up mountainous and costly surpluses such as cheese, butter and grain which pose an enormous problem just for storage — much less in making use of them.

In the long run, of course, we will be better off and will have a higher standard of living. What does a "high standard of living" mean? It doesn't mean that we work harder. It means we turn out more products — from automobiles to plastic space pistols — for the same amount of work, and therefore have more to enjoy.

Because of it, we buy more groceries for a day's wages than employees in most other countries. And the standard goes still higher every time a manufacturer finds a way to cut costs by improving production methods, and workers turn out more goods per day. Prices drop because of competition, and everyone automatically gets a raise, because their paychecks can buy more.

Iron Curtain Tax

The capital gains tax has been described as the most damaging of all federal taxes to the investor, and as an iron curtain which divorces two of the most dynamic factors in American capitalism — venture capital and industrial growth.

Anyone who thinks that this tax is of concern only to people who buy and sell securities and the other kinds of property to which it applies should think again. For the abundance of venture capital — money provided by people who are willing to take risks in the hope of making a profit — is a basic barometer of a nation's vitality. It is venture capital that makes possible new industries, revolutionary inventions and developments, and keeps the economy expanding.

Thus it is venture capital which, to a very considerable extent, is responsible for the creation of jobs, for the steady growth of payrolls, for rising living standards for us all. Without venture capital, any country's economy tends to become static — and, in time, lethargic and retrogression set in.

The strongest possible argument can be made to the effect that the capital gains tax should be totally abolished. Short of that, at this time, the rate should be lowered, the holding period for determining whether the tax is applicable should be reduced, and other changes should be made — not primarily in the interest of the investor, but in the interest of the tens of millions of non-investors who profit in one way or another from investment.

Guaranteed Wages

Some of the major labor unions are now pressing for a guaranteed annual wage for workers. Without going into the pros and cons of this long-debated idea, a pronouncement recently made by the Geo. A. Hormel Company, which was a pioneer in adopting wage stabilization policies, should be kept firmly in mind by all concerned. It read, in part: "Certainly our company is wholly unable to redeem the money consideration in such a guarantee unless we can keep our people actually and profitably employed. The entire asset value of our company, cashing everything we own, would only be sufficient to redeem a ten months' guarantee. So, when using the phrase 'guaranteed annual wage,' we must ask the question — guaranteed by what? The only guarantee we know of is the ability of management to manage, coupled with the willingness of workers to work. If either fails, then the guarantee fails."

That is simple common sense — but common sense seems to be something of a rarity these days. It is obvious that labor-management groups could frame and sign contracts "guaranteeing" wages of any amount for any period of time. But the contract will not be worth the paper it is written on unless the company can sell sufficient goods at a profitable price to make possible its fulfillment.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Citizens Win!

I want to report an article that appeared in the Economic Council Letter, which was written by Roy V. Harris, Secretary, Attorney and Director of Augusta Coach Company in Georgia. He tells how a city facing strikers' bullets, tear gas and dynamite put down union violence and cleaned house.

While the article is very interesting, it does not go far enough. Mr. Harris talks about "lawless unionism," implying that there are unions that practice collective bargaining that are not lawless as far as the Golden Rule is concerned. As the late Henry Ward Beecher said, "Organized labor is the worst form of despotism ever devised by the human mind." And it is despotism because it is a violation of moral law and whatever violates moral law violates economic law.

Labor bosses like to prattle about benefitting the worker. But they do not benefit the worker as a whole because all they can do is take from one worker, from one consumer, to give to another.

Labor unions have prevented billions and billions of dollars of wealth from being created and what is not created cannot be distributed. Therefore, labor unions instead of helping the working man as a whole, cause his standard of living to be lower than it would be without labor unions, in spite of what labor racketeers claim.

Here is what this attorney for the Augusta Coach Company in Georgia has to say: "Lawless unionism" has undertaken since last June to take over the city of Augusta. It has failed. And its failure should be a lesson not only to lawless unionists but to law-abiding citizens in every community in our country.

In a strike against the Augusta Coach Company, a public utility, violence followed the employer's refusal to grant a union's unreasonable demands. The local electrical union and several other unions backed the striking bus drivers with financial and other support.

"At first the police union, the firemen's union and the city employees' union backed the strikers in their reign of terror, dynamiting and shootings. But finally the police department arrested five men charged with dynamiting the coach company's buses. "Four of these men signed confessions, giving details of their activities. No small quantity of dynamite was used either. It was sufficient to destroy a large building."

"On September 4 the five men, all union members and some of them union officials, were arraigned. Written confessions of four of them were produced. The police testified independently of the confessions as to the guilt of these men. Police statements and the written confessions dovetail in every respect."

UNION TACTICS UNCHANGED — "Now the union claims that it does not stand for such tactics, and that someone else, rather than the men who confessed the crime, must be responsible. So the union leaders are raising money and have employed counsel to defend confessed dynamiters. "This shows no change in tactics since unions defended the McNamara brothers through their trial and conviction for the mass murders by dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building forty years ago.

"Georgia law treats offenses that endanger human life. Conviction may bring a death penalty if the jury sees fit.

"I submit that by defending these men the bosses of the unions approve the methods they used — methods of warfare common in present-day violent strikes in Indiana, Louisiana and other parts of our union-harassed country.

"Now, mind you, no goons were imported into Augusta to do this violence. The men who confessed are members of the local union. They must have been trained to handle dynamite. And those who fired bullets into buses and dumped tear gas into women bus passengers' laps, did so with reckless disregard of human life.

WHY DID THE UNION STRIKE? — "The union demanded an exorbitant increase in pay and regulations which practically turned over the operation of the company to the union. The union representatives finally admitted that there could be no increase in pay without an increase in fares. The City Council agreed to an increase in fares.

"But the company took the position that the fares were high enough, that an increase in fares placed an unfair burden on the riding public and that the increase in fares would reduce the number of rides to the point that the revenue from fares would be no greater than under the present fare structure."

"This company that refused to increase the wages of their employees and pass the increase onto the passengers who used the buses, recognized, as most people do not, that the employer or the company doesn't pay the increase. It comes out of the wages of other workers. That is the reason labor unions cannot raise wage levels. They can only take by boycott and intimidation and coercion from the fruits of other men's labor.

"Then the article goes on to say: "The strikers, refusing to work, became incensed when other men took their places. They resorted to brickbats, tear gas, bullets and dynamite to try to bring a community to its knees." "The fact that other men took their places is evidence that their wages were higher than those of

National Whirligig... Failure To Exploit White Case Suggests Republican Naivete

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower-Brownell failure to exploit charges of Truman promotion of a suspected Communist sympathizer and cooperator — Harry Dexter White — before the critical Nov. 3 elections, demonstrates conclusively that partisan politics has not inspired this new attack on alleged Democratic tolerance toward Reds in the Government.

In fact, it suggests that Brownell is not as astute a political strategist as he is supposed to be. It also points up the GOP's need for a smart party publicist such as the late "Steve" Early, F.D.R.'s press secretary, or the late "Charley" Michelson, whose jibes kept the Republicans of balance as long as he could pound a typewriter at the Democratic National Committee's headquarters.

MATERIAL'S EARLIER EFFECT — Had either "Steve" or "Charley" been handling Republican publicity, or a fairly good facsimile of them, the Truman administration's retention and promotion of known Russian spies — known, that is, to J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, to several Democratic attorney generals and to the White House — would have been capitalized on for all it was worth at the ballot box.

It is no exaggeration to suggest that an earlier use of this material might have enabled the Republicans to win gubernatorial chair in New Jersey and Virginia, as well as two congressional seats in Wisconsin and New Jersey. The defeated Republicans in those contests must now be scratching their heads over the question of Brownell's vaunted political ability.

EVIDENCE BROADCAST IN AUGUST — Brownell's belated awakening is difficult to understand, in view of the fact that the evidence supporting his accusation against Truman was broadcast by the Jenner Security Committee last August. The attorney general's puzzling statement that he fell upon these facts only "a few days ago," which would be late October, suggests that he is asleep at the departmental switch.

As recently proposed in this column, the only way to ascertain the truth of Brownell's charge and Truman's denial is to summon FBI Director Hoover before the Jenner Committee. He and his superior at the time — former Attorney General Tom Clark — are the two men who should know the facts about Truman's alleged promotion of a dialygal official to a higher and other workers who were willing to take the job in order to get a better paid job. Purpose of Terrorist "The purpose of the men higher up who directed this strike was to convince the people of Augusta — as they try to convince the citizens of every American community where their methods are opposed — that union labor cannot be defied. "They will take every community in America down the road to Socialism, and eventually Communism, if their terrorist tactics are not stopped."

"And their terrorist tactics include lying and misrepresentation and even sub rosa operation newspapers in opposition to newspapers that stand for American principles in order to fool the public and get more and more power for labor bosses. (to be continued)

Fair Enough....

Mrs. FDR Should Be Queried By Senator McCarthy-Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK — The time has come to query the degrading presence that Eleanor Roosevelt is a holy lady, almost too good for this world, and snatch this wily old conspirator before Joe McCarthy's committee and chew her out. Henry Morgenthau, Felix Frankfurter, Henry Wallace, Harry Truman, Harry Vaughan and a dozen others all deserve the same treatment.

This woman has been doing a sly job lately to take the heat off the disclosures that her husband loaded the government with spies for Soviet Russia. She intimates that after all, Communism is not necessarily as bad as some emotional patriots think it is. Tito, the Communist, who wantonly murdered five American young men in an Air Force plane when he was running with Stalin just after the war, is a Democratic Nationalist. But Franco, of Catholic Spain, who stopped Stalin's drive for the Atlantic and the Mediterranean, is a Fascist tyrant. Incidentally, Tito was commander of one of the Red armies that Franco routed in that war.

Her friend, the traitor, Alger Hiss, whom she defended with prejudicial propaganda aimed at the jury in his first trial, had gone less harm had he gone his treacherous way undiscovered, than McCarthy's loyal investigators have done us in our reputation with the peoples of Europe by their disclosure of treason to our country. So runs her spiel, year after year. Eleanor Roosevelt deserves none of the idiotic respect with which so many of our newspapers handle her ever bolder assaults on proprieties which were standard among us before her evil band descended on us. The truth about this woman belongs to the people, not to editors of the Secret Service and FBI. Let it be told and the people will be disabused of a fatuous but still widely prevalent superstition that this person deserves reverence and a special immunity from congressional inquiry.

Joe McCarthy or Bill Jenner could tear her to tatters if either of them should ever drag her to the stand. She deserves far less respect than any conventional woman. Her endless cackle about Democracy and freedom has been a cover for a campaign of hatred against Catholic people, particularly in Spain. It may be true as Harry Truman snarled in his own defense that, in blurring the truth about Harry Dexter White, Herb Brownell, the attorney general, was making politics address a Republican issue in last week's election. I am a Republican but I too suspect that Brownell decided to make this disclosure at this time of treason by White and of connivance or toleration by Roosevelt and Truman as a strategy to create a major political issue to carry the fight to the presidential election of 1956.

If so, what would be wrong with that? It would be the first good political move that the stumbling sycophants and trimmers around Eisenhower have made since he was nominated in Chicago. But Brownell does not deserve forgiveness for holding back the news of this ghastly treason all the time. If the information belongs to our people now — and it certainly is not the private property of Eisenhower, Brownell or the Republican Party — it belonged to us from the day the facts were established. Brownell had no decent right to save it for a partisan political coup.

Henry Morgenthau either planted or permitted someone else to plant Harry Dexter White, alias White, in the treasury. Morgenthau sent this traitor and spy to Europe on many missions in which he served the Soviets and betrayed US. In some of his activities he worked in close quarters with the official activities of Sen. Herbert Lehman, who was then engaged in esoteric economic operations in the conquered countries.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Surgery aimed at repairing physical defects present at birth or scars sustained from injuries has made vast progress. Both World Wars stimulated and advanced new methods of plastic surgery. Many people with deformed noses, protruding ears, or other peculiarities which mar their looks can now be restored to an appearance which, if not beautiful, at least makes them attractive and inconspicuous.

The methods used to accomplish these results are often complicated, time-consuming, and expensive. It is frequently necessary, for example, to take cartilage from one of the patient's own ribs and to use it in reconstructing a nose, an ear, or some other part. The transplantation of such tissues requires the establishment of a new blood supply and this takes time.

The same thing is true of skin grafting. It may be necessary to cover some part of the body with skin removed from some other place. This cannot be completed in a moment and requires great patience on the part of the surgeon as well as of the patient. Conspicuous and serious moted was Glasser. After moving to UNRRA, a haven for subversives, he became Gen. George C. Marshall's adviser at a 1947 Moscow conference. Here an extremely favorable settlement in dividing Trieste between Yugoslavia and Russia was given to Tito, then a Soviet ally. A third was Coe. He became an advisor to the late John G. Winant when the latter was a member of the London Advisory Commission. It was this body which provided for Russian occupation of territory conquered by our troops, and isolated Berlin within the Red Zone, not even giving the Western Allies free access to the city.

So, why not subpoena Hoover, Tom Clark and Currie, who was an intimate crony of Harry Dexter White? They know the low down!

Southwest Factory Employment Rises

ATLANTA, Nov. 12—UP—Factory employment in four Southwestern states in September was 15,000 above Sept. 1952, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Thursday. However, Brunswick A. Bagdon, regional director of the bureau, said employment failed to increase from August to September for the first time in three years.

"Diminished seasonal rises, coupled with defense production cutbacks, led to a small loss of 400 workers from the previous month," he said.

The total employment for the four states—Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas—was 765,600 during September, 1953, Bagdon said.

Among the four states, Arkansas was the only one reporting an increase in employment from August. This resulted from a sharp seasonal rise in cotton oil mill processing and the termination of a labor dispute.

Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas each experienced small losses, none as great as one per cent, the bureau said. The overall regional loss was one-tenth of one per cent, compared to a decline of four tenths of one per cent for the nation as a whole.

The average work week held relatively steady, changing by a half hour or less. The average time worked by factory production employees ranged from 41 hours in Louisiana to 41.5 hours in Texas. The national average was 39.8 hours.

Gross average hourly earnings reflected premium pay for labor day work largely in continuous process plants, the bureau said.

Increases of one, two and three cents an hour over the August averages occurred in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas in the order named, the bureau said.

For the region, September hourly earnings ranged from $1.21 in Arkansas to $1.72 in Oklahoma. The national average was $1.78.

Foils Holdup Men

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 12—UP—Abraham Israel, a 72-year-old tailor, said Thursday he had frustrated a pair of holdup men for the second time with the help of a fictitious policeman.

Two would-be robbers walked into Israel's shop Wednesday and pulled out revolvers. Israel calmly turned toward the rear of the shop and shouted: "Come on out, officer. Here they are!"

The men fled.

Israel said he routed another holdup team a year ago by gesturing toward the street as though he were hailing an officer.

Coming Gubernatorial Race Shows No Favorite Aspirants

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
AUSTIN, Nov. 12—UP—Texas elects its 39th governor next year, but men close to the political tide in the Democratic party said Thursday they couldn't even guess who it might be.

The only qualification was whether Gov. Allan Shivers, who will have been governor longer than any other man or woman when he completes his present stint, would run for an unprecedented third elective term.

Shivers, who became the state's youngest governor July 11, 1949, on the death of Gov. Beauford Jester, has not indicated whether he will try to stay in the governor's mansion until January, 1957.

If he does drop out, observers said there will be a host of would-be successors. And, they pointed out, the larger the field the better the chance for a political unknown to slip through to the $12,000-a-year post.

King Speaks At Banquet

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12—UP—King Paul of Greece believes only "compassion and humane understanding" will decisively stamp out the blight of communism.

King Paul said Wednesday night the free world must use the weapons of "faith, gentleness, humanity, determination and infinite patience against communism."

"When wisely used at the proper time, these weapons are completely effective," he said.

"I am not suggesting that we relax our vigilance," he added. "Any one who lived through the horror of four years of Communist invasion of Greece is not apt to be a dreamer."

The King and Queen Frederika were guests of honor at a banquet sponsored by the World Affairs Council, attended by 800 guests. Former Ambassador to Greece Henry F. Grady was chairman.

King Paul, referring to his term of compassion and understanding, told how 1,500 Greek communists were "rehabilitated" after the civil war.

He said they were transferred to the island of Leros but not confined behind barbed wire. They maintained discipline themselves. Communism was never mentioned, and any kind of nationalist or anti-Communist propaganda was avoided.

Instead, he said, the prisoners were encouraged to take pride in the traditions of their country and what Greece had contributed to civilization. After a year, he said the young men returned to their communities imbued with patriotism for their country. Otherwise, rival factions might have formed a dangerous and disastrous Communist underground.

Stock Is Large
The stock of gubernatorial prospects is large—counting only the "well-known" possibilities.

They included House Speaker Reuber Senterfitt, Houston Mayor Roy Hofheinz, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, Rep. Lloyd M. Bentzen, Attorney General John Ben Shepherd, Austin attorney Ralph Yarborough, State Sen. A. M. Akin Jr., and Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Senterfitt has "announced" he will formally announce for governor later, and Hofheinz has said the only thing that will keep him out of the race is Shivers' seeking re-election. The others were being talked about, but none has made a public declaration.

For a parallel, observers went back to the 1938 primary, when W. Lee O'Daniel slipped out of political obscurity into the governor's chair, principally via a radio campaign.

Rapid Buildups
They said radio plus television, as well as the rapid means of transportation available now, would make it possible for a well-financed, unknown to duplicate O'Daniel's feat of a rapid build-up to statewide fame and electoral success.

The reasoning was based on the fact that all of the mentioned prospective candidates have been in the public eye. There they have attracted support from some sectors, but opposition from others. This would tend to cancel all of them out, and give an "untainted" rival a chance.

TRIESTE RIOTERS RUN WILD—This series of pictures shows the progress of rioters as tension reaches a feverish point in Trieste. In this case the rioters chose the offices of the Independent Party. First they climb up outside of the building to tear down the flag, and then toss furniture and other equipment out of the window. What can't be torn apart or broken is burned, including the sign that had been on the headquarters building.

Smalltown Cop Helps Stop Delinquency Of Juveniles

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series on juvenile delinquency. In the following dispatch, the New England news manager of the United Press tells the engaging story of a rare situation — a community with no juvenile delinquency problem.

By HENRY MINOTT
AYER, Mass., Nov. 12—UP—A smalltown cop who was "a hellion myself once" has eliminated juvenile delinquency in this central Massachusetts community. And he is sure his well-tested system could be made to work in other cities and towns, big and small, across the nation.

The cop is 57-year-old Police Chief Ernest L. Downing, a World War I veteran and onetime semi-pro baseball pitcher.

Father of four sons ranging in age from 3 to 29, he has dealt with the juvenile delinquency problem so effectively that no Ayer youngster has been sent to reform school during the past 10 years. His record is considered all the more remarkable because, throughout World War II, the town's normal population of 5,700 was swollen to more than 50,000 by military personnel at Fort Devens.

Case of Mrs. Murphy

How does the chief operate? Take the case of Mrs. Murphy who phoned him one day to complain that some boys were tramping around in her flower bed. A couple of hours later she phoned again and said: "Say, those boys are wonderful! They've raked my garden and tidied up my lawn — and now I'm making them some gingerbread!"

After getting Mrs. Murphy's first call, the chief had gone to school, wrung confessions from the culprits, and told them: "You'd better go right over and make it up to Mrs. Murphy."

One day the chief caught Bozo Smith, a tough kid with a reputation for being a trouble-maker, driving a car without a license. Instead of arresting him, the chief told him: "I'm giving you a break. Now you give the town a break by behaving yourself."

Doesn't Sit Back

But Downing didn't sit back and assume Bozo would behave himself. Instead, he arranged with a high school boy to make friends with Bozo and find out what interested him. It developed Bozo was interested in woodworking. So the chief formed a woodworking club in Bozo's neighborhood, and Bozo soon became an active and interested member.

Such clubs are a vital part of the chief's program. He has launched innumerable hobby clubs. He has staged fishing derbies in which every competing youngster wins a prize. He has held meetings where well-known sportsmen teach youngsters fishing, hunting and other outdoor activities.

Ayer's police force has only five men besides the chief. But in effect it's much larger because all members of the high school football squad are special policemen, all high school seniors are the chief's deputies, and any kid in town may be named a special policeman for a special occasion.

Gives Five Tips

The chief offered these tips on handling the young:

1. Be sure to keep every promise you make to a kid.
2. Show a youngster you're interested in him.
3. Get a boy outdoors. He's better off holding a fishing rod than a pool cue.
4. Teach a boy that a policeman is his friend and isn't out to persecute him.
5. Every boy is interested in something. Find out what it is and guide him along those lines.

"But I didn't want to see this show, Elmer! She's enough competition in two dimensions!"

Feudin' And Fussin' LA, Philly Fighting Mad Over Which Has Largest Population

By HENRY McEMORE
Philadelphia and Los Angeles are behaving as if they didn't know they were the City of Brotherly Love and the City of Angels, respectively.

They have become so embittered over their argument as to which of them is the third largest city in the United States that they have resorted to drastic measures.

In Los Angeles it is considered traitorous to eat scrapple, and the president of a large bank was recently demoted to paying teller when a Philadelphia cream cheese sandwich was discovered in his lunch pail.

Los Angeles school children are being taught, I hear, that Benjamin Franklin never did fly a kite during a storm, had nothing whatsoever to do with the invention of bifocals, hired a ghost writer to do "Poor Richard's Almanac," and completely botched his job as Ambassador to France.

Philadelphia hasn't taken this sort of thing lying down.

It has adopted the orange blossom — the Florida orange blossom — as the city flower, has forbidden husbands to say "You angel, you," to their wives, and is spreading the rumor that the only reason the swallows return each year to San Juan Capistrano is so that they can thumb their beaks at Los Angeles when they fly over.

The hills surrounding Los Angeles are manned, so say the latest reports from the warring fronts, by civilian spotters to guard against a sneak attack by Philadelphia forces. As much as Los Angeles wants major league baseball, it doesn't care to have the Athletics dumped on it in the dead of night, or on a Sunday morning.

Philadelphia, I have been told by a correspondent just returned from that bellicose area, has entered into secret negotiations with Waco, Chattanooga, Joplin, and Rockford, in hope that these cities will allow themselves to be annexed, thus giving Philadelphia a clearcut population superiority over Los Angeles.

Los Angeles is said to know about these negotiations, however, and has sent annexation feelers to Harrisburg, Juneau, and Rio de Janeiro.

Philadelphia — and this is hearsay, I'll admit — is said to be planning to screen all visitors to the city. Those from Los Angeles will be shanghaied, pressed into citizenship, given a free trip to the Liberty Bell, and registered as voters.

Just why either Philadelphia or Los Angeles wants to be the third largest city in the country completely eludes me.

If I were a city, I'd much rather be down among the small ones.

Think of the inconveniences a small city escapes.

It can print its phone directory all in one book, including the Yellow Book.

It doesn't have one-fiftieth of the traffic jams.

It doesn't have to stay awake at night, tossing and fretting, about overhead highways, freeways, four-leaf clover turns, civic auditoriums big enough to accommodate a convention of all the Smiths in the world, slum clearance, and properly low license numbers for pompous officials.

It doesn't have to dig down into its pocket to entertain celebrities who are passing through, or cash checks for keys to the city and ticker tape.

I think Philadelphia and Los Angeles are acting silly, if all I say is true, and it must be, else I wouldn't say it.

Let them vie to see which can first boast that it has ample parking space for shoppers, and the winner's name will resound around the world.

Senior Girls Entertain At JayCee Meet

It was an attentive group of Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members at this week's meeting.

For eight Pampa High School seniors — all girls — were on hand Tuesday noon to provide a musical program.

Six of them, comprising the "Star-dusters," were dressed alike in white sweaters, dark skirts and shoes, and sang three songs plus their theme.

SNOW FOOLIN' — It takes lots of snow as well as sun to make this imaginative ski suit practical. Designed by Andre Ledoux, of Paris, France, for resorts where simultaneous skiing and sun bathing are possible, the "fake fur" costume, made of white nylon ducine, teams a bare-topped bodice with bulky slacks. Fur hat, gloves and white ski boots complete the outfit.

City Authorizes Fence Building

Pampa's city commission has authorized a fence to be erected around Pump Station No. 2, between the Santa Fe Railroad tracks, and West Brown.

Though it will take a total of 1,478 feet of seven-foot, woven-wire fence with barbed wire around the top, only 1,105 feet of that amount will have to be purchased, City Manager B. H. Cruce told commissioners.

A price quoted by representatives of a local firm was $1.75 per foot, but Mayor Tom Ross Monday morning insisted that the city might get it for less by putting the job up for bid.

And that's the way commissioners decided: to put up the fence, subject to bid.

In other action, the city commission Monday approved the payment of $18,086.24 in monthly bills and $124.12 in library bills. On the monthly bill total, $1,826 of it was a down payment on the new city maintainer. The rest will be paid via a $10,000 time warrant.

Australia To Hike Output Of Sulphur

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 11—Australia has begun a $24 million program to step-up her output of sulphur in a bid to increase production of food from the nation's huge tracts of undeveloped land.

Sulphur, with phosphate rock, is one of the main ingredients of superphosphate — already in extensive use to increase fertility of soil. Australia's supply of phosphate rock from the Pacific islands of Nauru, is assured.

Sulphur previously had been imported from the United States, where, experts believe, native deposits may be exhausted in 20 to 30 years.

This year, Australian farmers will need more than two million tons of superphosphate, and the demand is increasing steadily year by year.

Sulphur deposits, found as sulphide of iron or pyrites, are spread all over the Australian continent. From Norseman in Western Australia, to Mount Morgan in Queensland and Mount Lyell on the island of Tasmania off the south coast, mining companies are spending hundreds of thousands of pounds to boost output and hike Australia independent of imported sulphur.

The federal government has set the deadline for conversion to use of local supplies at February next year. A chronic shortage of superphosphate would be disastrous to Australian food production.

In the state of New South Wales alone, during the last seven years the area of land under sown pas-

NFIP Feels Sure Vaccine Is Safe

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—UP—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis indicated Wednesday it has confidence in the polio vaccine with which it plans to inoculate 500,000 children despite the fact three Chicago scientists have indirectly challenged the vaccine's safety.

The foundation's medical director, Dr. Hert E. Van Riper, issued a statement declaring the vaccine was safe shortly after the scientists reported they had been unable to make a harmless vaccine in the way recommended by Dr. Jonas Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, chief creator of the vaccine.

Addressing a national meeting of the American Public Health Association, the three—Drs. Albert Milner, Sidney O. Levinson, and J. H. Shaughnessy of the Michael Reese Research Foundation—offered an alternate way of making the vaccine safely.

But Dr. Van Riper said: "The method used by Dr. Salk for making a safe polio vaccine requires that the virus be killed. This is established by most exacting laboratory tests. . . failure of some scientists to reproduce Dr. Salk's results for making a safe polio vaccine is due to the fact that they have not followed his exact methods."

"DOES IT SOUND PRETTY BAD, DOC?"—The medical diagnosis doesn't appear favorable as "Honey," the Boxer, with the aid of a stethoscope listens to the heartbeat of "Butch," a two-year-old Scotty. The Boxer, who "assists" Dr. John Grady, of the Jones Animal Hospital, in Bristol, Va., has been listening to the heartbeats of other dogs for a long time.

Twentieth Century Club Hears Panel Discussion On International Relations

Mrs. Frank Culbertson and Mrs. W. R. Campbell presented a panel discussion, "Trends in International Relations," and "Maybe It's Time to Appear at the United Nations," at the recent meeting of the Twentieth Century Club in the home of Mrs. I. B. Hughey. Mrs. Culbertson stated that there is more war, warfare, fear, and trouble now than there has been since the Dark Ages. The U.S., even though host of the UN, has levelled more criticism at it than any other country — perhaps because of impatience, resentment or indifference. "The best yardstick by which to measure the UN," she said, "is the need it answers."

Our former position of isolation has been radically changed by the progress of science, especially in the field of transportation and communications. Mrs. Campbell in her discussion contended that because of these factors we need a center for understanding. Even if the U.S. could be effective in protecting itself in the event of war, she is not self-sufficient and is in need of foreign markets and exchanges which must be reciprocal for world economies to be healthy. As allies are made not by geographical position but by individual likes and dislikes, it is necessary to have both strong home and foreign defenses. National Sovereignty must be treasured here at home but must also be tolerated in others, and our continued cooperation with other nations is necessary for our life's survival.

The purpose of the U.N. is to keep peace, build friendship among nations and provide international cooperation, and although these have not been accomplished in perfection, what could replace it that would be better? At the close of the panel three questions were given to groups for decisions and their reactions were reported. The U.N. was not established to combat communism, and it has been pre-eminently successful in the fields of economics, issuance of food and medicine, reclamation of land, educational facilities and providing technical assistance. The future of the UN is questionable, but it depends largely on the U.S. — the thinking of the American people. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. L. M. Hicks.

followed by the Club's Pledge of Allegiance to the flag led by Mrs. Fred Neslage, and a silent prayer for the fulfillment of American Education week ideals. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the Treasurer's report accepted. Mrs. Roy McKernan gave the Council of Club's report, and Mrs. Raymond Harrah reported on Federation Convention program. Reports of the standing committees were approved, and Mrs. H. R. Thompson reported on the success of the Rummage Sale.

The program closed with a question and answer period. Refreshments were served to the following members: Meses. F. M. Culbertson, W. R. Campbell, Roy McKernan, Fred Neslage, Kirk Duncan, Dick Stowers, Jimmy Massa, R. H. Thompson, George Scott, Lloyd Hicks, Joe Gordon, Raymond Harrah, E. L. Campbell, R. J. Hagan, and Jack Foster.

Robersons Give A Recipe From Their New Book On Meats

NEW YORK — UP — Just about everything there is to say about America's No. 1 main course is covered in the latest cookbook on meat.

John and Marie Roberson, old hands at cookbook writing in their latest work, "The Meat Cookbook" (Henry Holt), discuss everything from Chateaubriand to cold cuts, from New England boiled dinner to Chinese steak with mushrooms.

The book also is a guide to buying, cutting, carving and storing the food which the authors say "accounts for at least a fourth of the average family food budget and three-fourths of a meal's success."

The Robersons include several recipes using economy cuts. Typical is this one for Creole steak: 1 pound flank steak; 3 tablespoons lard or drippings; 1 medium onion, chopped; 1 clove garlic, mashed; 2 green peppers, cut in 1-inch squares; 1 cup celery, cut in 1-inch pieces; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon pepper; and one 10-ounce can condensed tomato soup.

Slice steak into thin ribbons 4 or 5 inches long. Brown in fat, stirring constantly. Lower the flame, add onion and garlic, and stir until onion becomes transparent. Add peppers, celery, seasonings and soup. Cover. Cook over low heat until meat and vegetables are tender, about 1 hour. Serve very hot. Serves four.

Suggested accompanying menu: chicken broth garnished with chopped water cress; fluffy rice; avocado salad, and date and nut torte.

Furs, now a year-around fashion, may be small and inexpensive or lengthy and luxurious. Full length leopard coat (left) for evening wear is example of luxury. It's cut from baby leopard skins that are perfectly matched. White Indian lamb jacket, also for evening (upper left center), also a luxury, is shown here with black velvet sheath. Modestly priced platinum fox box (upper right center) can be worn several ways. Natural topaz mink stole (lower left center) has petal back, can be worn day or evening. Sapphire fox bolero (lower right center) is medium price, is for day or evening wear. Budget-priced white fox muff (right) is oversized, is for late day or evening. Furs now include something for everyone. These designs are by Leo Ritter.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend: A friend of mine, whose father formerly lived in China, recently gave me a lovely white fur rug which he had brought back with him from the Orient. My friend knows nothing about the rug, and as her father is now dead, I am wondering if you can give me any clue to the type of fur from which it is made.

The rug is 24 x 48 inches in size, nearly all of which is made from a single skin, only one corner being pieces. The hair is straight, perfectly white, and the longer hairs about three or four inches in length. It rather resembles dog hair.

On the skin side of the rug is a stamp bearing Chinese characters and the words "Peking Tannery." The skin is light gray and as soft as chamois.

I hope you can give me an idea of the type of animal from which it came.

Thank you very much.

N. M.

Dear N. M.: Your rug may be of goat - antelope, the skin of which is often used for rugs. However you would have to have the rug inspected by an authority to make sure.

I don't know of anyone to recommend. If a reader happens to know of someone who could help M. N. I will be glad to send her the name.

Trinity Baptist WMU Meets For Program

The Trinity Baptist Women's Missionary Service met recently for a Royal Service program with Mrs. Don Filippin, program chairman, in charge.

The meeting opened with the Hymn "Faith of Our Fathers." A special prayer for missions was given by Mrs. Alford Elwess.

Parts of the program were presented by Meses. J. D. Brown, Edwin Hogan, Alford Elwess, L. P. Fort and Orville Heiskell.

Others present were Meses. George Moore, Bryant, Frank Staton, O. S. Epperson, G. O. Ehrig, Buster Willis, B. Evans and Jean Johnston.

RUTH MILLET

It's usually a mistake to form a friendship with another woman who, if she is, she'll somehow manage to make you dissatisfied with yours. Has an envious disposition. She'll contrive to take the joy out of all the good things that happen to you. Is a gossip. Gossips gossip about EVERYBODY — and sooner or later that will include you.

Is "on the outs" with a former close friend. Chances are that she means she is one of those women who has one close friend at a time and when the break comes, dislikes the friend as much as she once liked her.

Is bossy. The bossy woman has to tell all her friends what to do and how to do it, and in time becomes, if not an actual trouble maker, at least an annoyance to her friends.

Gets her feelings hurt easily. There is no joy in a friendship if you are forever wondering what you've done or said to cause hurt feelings.

Is a time-killer. The time-killer will kill your time for you, if you'll let her. Having nothing important to do herself, she will never hesitate to waste her friends' time along with her own.

Loves to talk about her troubles. At first you may think she honestly wants help and advice. Sooner or later you'll discover she just wants sympathy, and to hear herself talk on and on about how tough HER life is to be included in everything. When you have a friend like that you have to include her in every party, invite her on every outing, tell her all of your plans or be in the doghouse for a while.

Is a social climber. To the woman who is on her way up, you'll never be more than a rung on the social ladder. Such a woman can never be a real friend and you might as well admit that fact sooner as later.

Frugal Students CARBONDALE, Ill., Nov. 9 — UP — Art students at Southern Illinois University are a frugal lot. Sculpture-minded undergraduates are using mud from a new building excavation as modeling clay.

Mrs. W. Buchanan Takes Over Madam Mesta's Duties

WASHINGTON — UP — Another Washington hostess is taking over the U. S. Legation in Luxembourg where Perle Mesta's social star shone during the Truman administration.

But Mrs. Wiley T. Buchanan, Jr., wife of Mrs. Mesta's diplomatic successor, says she has no intention of challenging Mrs. Mesta's title of the "hostess with the mostest."

Mrs. Buchanan likes to give parties but says she has no plans for "any competition" in the social department with Mrs. Mesta, who resigned as minister to Luxembourg when the Eisenhower administration came in.

"SHE'S PARTY-GIVER, TOO" — "I love to give parties," she said, "but they are not foremost in my life. When you have a family they can't be."

Actually, Mrs. Buchanan has established herself as a top capital hostess.

The Buchanan estate, "Under-the-hill" in the scene of some of Washington's swankiest affairs since the Republicans came to power.

Both Mrs. Buchanan, a pretty, blue-eyed blonde, and her husband dabble in interior decorating. They have "Frenchified" their home.

"And just when we get the place the way we like it, we have to leave," she said.

Mrs. Buchanan is thrilled with her husband's appointment. He recently flew to Luxembourg for a legation. "Wiley told me Mrs. Mesta has done a beautiful job on it," Mrs. Buchanan said.

"KIDS WANT TO TAKE PETS" — The Buchanans met Mrs. Mesta at a conference in Washington. "But we don't really know her," the diplomat's wife says. "We do know, however, that she put Luxembourg on the map."

Now, Mrs. Buchanan is in the throes of packing. The three Buchanan children are excited, but they have their problems, too.

"Oh, they can't wait to go," Mrs. Buchanan said. "That is, of course, if we take along all their pets — two French poodles, two dachshunds and a Palomino pony."

Ruth Buchanan has a few problems of her own. She has to bone up on her French and learn how to curtsy.

Mrs. Mesta made Luxembourg a stopping-off post for Washington travelers. Mrs. Buchanan says she "hopes" she can keep it that way.

Prepared Foods Save 75% Of Time

WASHINGTON — UP — You increase your grocery bill by stocking the market basket with foods partially or wholly prepared. But you save 75 per cent on time.

The Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics made a series of tests to find the effect of commercial processing of food on home-making. It found that it took 75 per cent less time to prepare two sets of menus with ready-to-serve foods than to prepare the same meals with raw foods or those with a minimum of commercial processing. Meals from the ready-to-serve foods cost 33 per cent more.

B&PW Club Plans Thanksgiving Dinner

B and P W Club members made plans for a Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 24, at the City Club Rooms during their recent meeting. Rev. Dick Crews of the First Christian Church will be the guest speaker. B and P W clubs of District 9 will be guests of the Pampa group.

President Hazel Jay opened the meeting in the City Club Rooms. An announcement was made of the interdistrict meeting to be held at Lubbock Nov. 21, with the state president, Mrs. Ruby Poole, President.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Mattie Crowson. Mrs. Virginia McDonald spoke on the subject, "Core of Community Growth."

"The Church is the center of the core of growth," she said. "A city doesn't happen, it is built. We women in business can help build our city by examining our Church, our homes and our clubs."

Members attending were Meses. W. A. York, H. F. McDonald, J. L. Mulanax, Alma Ash, Doris Brees, Lucille Turner, Nell Tinnen, Gladys Jaynes, Pearl Cunningham, Beatie Roberts, Fay Eaton, Mattie Crowson, Frances Appleby, Hazel Jay, Elizabeth Doggett, Elsie Gee and Lonla Killen.

El Progresso Has Talk On New Salem And Williamsburg

Mrs. W. R. Ewing gave members of El Progresso Club an account of the origin and restoration of New Salem, Ill., at their meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. George Walstead, 405 E. Kingsmill. She described its origin in 1828, its abandonment ten years later, and its restoration in 1919.

During six of those first ten years, Abraham Lincoln resided in New Salem. Mrs. Ewing said that it was here that Abe Lincoln had tried and failed in business; studied and practiced law; courted and lost Anne Rutledge. Here, also, he fought in the Black Hawk War, chopped wood, read before the open fire, etc.

New Salem residents, after 10 years, moved to Petersburg, the new county seat. For 65 years New Salem was a forgotten place. Then William Randolph Hearst bought the deserted little town, public interest grew and finally New Salem was given to the state and made into a showplace. Today it has original and duplicated cabins and furnishings from Lincoln's time. New Salem is now Abe Lincoln's New Salem.

Mrs. Harold Wright gave a colorful review of the origin and restoration of Williamsburg, Va. She described John D. Rockefeller Jr. as an artist, his brush as silver, the handle as greenbacks, Mr. a production, Williamsburg, Mr. a Wright, who has resided there, took club members on a tour of Williamsburg's main street by use of maps and pictures.

Tour began at the Kraft House where Restoration furniture is duplicated. Then came William and Mary College, where three presidents, Jefferson, Monroe and Tyler, studied. The Bruton Parish followed. In Bruton Parish many individual family pews are dedicated to such men as Jefferson, Patrick Henry and George Washington. Also included on the tour were the Wythe House, home of the famous signer of the Declaration of Independence, the Palace, Travis house, Raleigh Tavern and the Capitol.

The restoration of this beautiful town, where colonial clothes and liveried coaches are still seen, cost about 14 million dollars. It has been dedicated to the historical enrichment of human life.

Twentieth Century Hears Program On U. S. Independence

Mrs. Leslie Hart was hostess to the Twentieth Century Culture Club Tuesday afternoon at her home, 1323 Mary Ellen.

Mrs. Dudley Steele introduced the program, "Years of Achievement." Mrs. E. L. Henderson gave an interesting talk on the Declaration of Independence; the men who were responsible for it and the objections they ran into. "It was not an easy matter to give up a lifetime way of government, to know it would involve a war, to have no assurance of its success." Yet through all the gloom I can see the rays of light and glory. I can see that the end is worth all the means. This is our day of deliverance. With solemn acts of devotion to God we ought to commemorate it."

Mrs. J. D. Merchant, in her talk on the Constitution, said, "Through long unfolding years it has been tried in the crucible of men's minds and hearts. It has been found good — exceedingly good."

During the business meeting the club voted to give $20.00 to the United Fund.

The next club meeting will be a luncheon Nov. 24, in the Pine Room of the Schneider Hotel.

During business meeting, plans were made for a guest day tea for the next meeting Nov. 24. Mrs. W. R. Ewing reported on the last meeting of the Pampa Council of Club Women, asking that every one donate a new book to the new library.

Invite Friends For Chowder Supper

A CHOWDER supper, the night before or after Thanksgiving, can be as much of a celebration as the memorable holiday itself.

Filled with warmth and goodness, a steaming tureen seems a symbol of hospitality. A welcome to your family and friends. Everyone gathers gladly around the dining table. Or they pick up their own chowder bowls from the buffet, then settle comfortably around the living room to feast and chat.

Grand makings for the chowder come right from your kitchen shelf. Creamy rich condensed mushroom soup or chicken soup as the base. Golden kernels of corn. Cubes of rosy ham or some of the leftover turkey to round out the chowder. How's that for a bowlful of goodness to savor with relishes (cranberry sauce and celery) and hot buttery cornbread! Wedges of pumpkin pie appear as a dessert.

Thanksgiving Mushroom Chowder
(4 Servings. Double recipe to serve 8)
1 cup cooked ham, finely diced
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of mushroom or chicken soup
1 can milk
1 can (3 cups) cream style corn

Brown ham in butter; add onion; cover and cook until limp. Blend in soup and milk; add corn. Heat but do not boil. Serve garnished with chopped green parsley.

MATURE PARENT You Can Wash Those Lovely Jeweled Sweaters With Care

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Are we afraid of our children? "Yes," say juvenile authorities in city after city across this nation. They say our fear has a lot to do with the rise in juvenile lawlessness everywhere. Writer Howard Whitman, whom I quoted in my last column, said, "No, I don't believe it."

So the juvenile officials in San Francisco took him on a call to the home of a 17-year-old boy whose father said: "He stays out until 3 and 4 in the morning. He's out somewhere now — I don't know where. I can't tell him a thing. I'm at the end of my rope. . . ."

Then, pleading for help with control of his son, this 48-year-old parent said, "He thinks nothing of taking a poke at me."

A new low in parental helplessness? Maybe. But if it is, it's only a new low in an old trend.

Within the next months, we'll be reading many learned opinions on the causes of this new wave of juvenile defiance. We'll be hearing a lot about children's need for more parks, more supervised recreation and "understanding."

What we may not hear about is their need for more parents who know what they believe in.

That's the real trouble.

For if we want regular hours, we have to know what we believe about late ones. We have to be sure that 4 a.m. is a wasteful and unproductive time to come home that we can explain it to our son. But if we don't show our conviction, anything can happen. We may have to call in others to do our talking and acting for us.

This rush for other people's thinking is something I'd like to see our P.T. A. groups talk more about. For it's perilous to fool ourselves. There's no difference whatever between the fashionable young mother's dependence on her child psychologist and this helpless father's dependence on the juvenile officials.

Both want relief from the responsibility of judgment.

What is this self-distrust? What enemy sowed it in us? Why are we so complacent about the way we rush for some "expert" in human relationships the moment one gets mixed-up?

Is it just our Age of Specialization? Have we come to regard the psychologists and juvenile officials the way we regard the experts who make out our income taxes, decorate our homes or organize a bridge foursome at a summer resort hotel? What's happened to our faith in our own power to think and act well? It surely seems a subject for our P.T. A. groups to start talking about. Alone. By themselves. Without any experts or authorities.

Sweaters bedecked with rhinestones, metallic thread, beads and pearls are topping many of the most fashionable evening skirts this season.

Fragile as they may seem, these new tops will take to tubbing as well as your afternoon sweaters. If you just give them a little extra consideration.

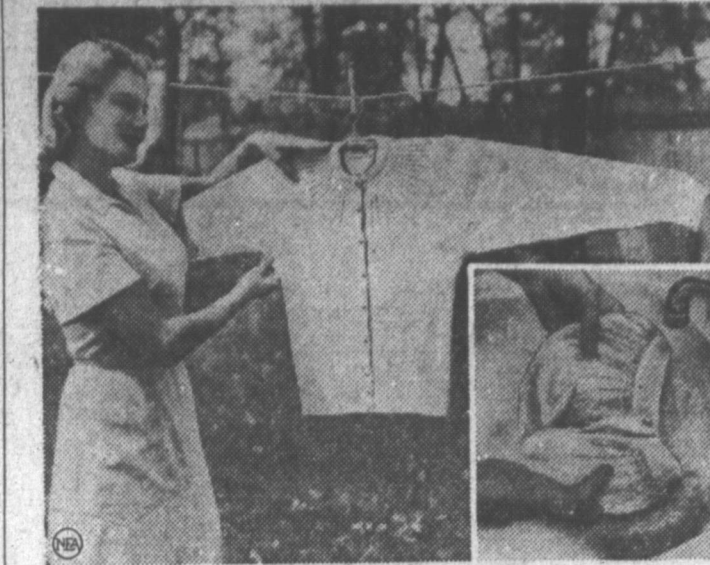

Before submerging a jeweled sweater, remove all detachable parts. If it is a cardigan, button it to prevent stretching. If it has a wide neckline that is neither outlined with ribbon binding nor piping, run a basting thread along the edges to hold the shape.

Squeeze the suds through the jeweled parts first, letting the rest of the sweater fall to the bottom of the basin. There will be no strain or stretch on the fibers if you suds the decorated parts just at the surface of the water. And if you take care not to allow heavy jeweling to rest against the fibers, you will have no snags.

The jeweled parts fully washed, lay them on the bottom while you squeeze the suds through the rest of the sweater.

For woolen sweaters, use lukewarm water and rinses. Orlon will take medium hot water. After rinsing, roll the sweater in a towel to remove excess moisture. An orlon sweater needs no blocking; you need only spread it on a towel to dry.

However, if time is of the essence, put your orlon sweater on a regular woolen sweater frame and hang it outdoors to dry. The frame will allow air to blow through the sweater, speeding evaporation.

Washing glitter-encrusted sweaters does not have to be a frightening task. By using just a little extra care, you can be sure of no mishaps. Wash the jeweled parts first (insert), squishing the suds gently through them. Cup the sweater in your hands so that there will be no chance of its sagging. After you have thoroughly rinsed it and have removed excess moisture with a towel, hang it on a frame to dry. If the sweater is orlon, a frame is not necessary, but it will hasten the drying process.

Wife Should Think Very Carefully Before Asking Hubby To Change Jobs

By RUTH MILLETT
A young wife whose husband's job keeps him away from home a lot of time wonders if it would be wrong for her to try to persuade him to give up his job.

She says she knew before marriage how little time he would have at home, but she had no idea of how lonely she would be.

Perhaps she can arrive at the right answer if she'll ask herself a few questions about her husband and his job.

One. Does he like his job?

Two. Is the job one that offers opportunities for advancement if he sticks with it, or is it just a dead-end street?

Three. Does he share my feeling that we would be happier if his job permitted him to work regular hours?

Four. Is he making use of any particular training in the job he has?

Five. Would giving up the job be likely to result in a smaller salary?

IS HE SYMPATHETIC?

The sixth question is: Does he understand and sympathize with me being so lonely, or does he take the attitude that I knew what kind of job he had when I married him? Seven. Can we afford to risk having him give up a job he knows he can handle to try a different kind of work?

Eight. Have I — — — a real effort to find interests to keep me busy while he is at work and I am left alone?

The decision to try to persuade a man to give up his job isn't one that should be made lightly by a wife. She should only do so if she is sure that it would be the best thing for both.

Turkey Chowder: Cooked turkey may be used in the chowder instead of ham. Then add 1 cup turkey when adding corn. Use 2 tablespoons diced pimiento as garnish.

SOUP SCOOPS
Steakburger With Gravy Grapes: Shape a tender steakburger from the plentiful ground beef now on the market; and you have something to grace your most handsome platter. Use a can (1 1/2 cups) beef gravy to put extra richness into the burger. First mix 1/4 cup gravy with 1 pound ground beef, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs, salt and pepper. Form mixture into one large burger, about 1-inch thick. Broil until done and well browned. Also broil pineapple slices with the meat. Arrange burger on platter, pineapple around it. Spoon red currant jelly into center of each pineapple slice. Carry it forth to serve 4. Four extra hot gravy over burger.

Bake Beans 'n' Sausage: Tempting oven dinner on a cold night is a juicy casserole of pork and beans topped with browned sausage. First brown 6 to 8 sausages in skillet; brown 2 slices of pineapple also. Meanwhile pour 2 cans of pork and beans into a casserole; place sausage and pineapple on top. Spoon casserole into oven to bake at 350°F. about 30 minutes or until sausage is done.

Heed Fruit Cake Tips To Save Time

NEW YORK — If you bake your own holiday fruit cakes here are some tips for easing the job.

In shopping, remember that 1/4 pound of pineapple, cherries and citrus peels each produces 1 1/2 cups. One pound of walnuts produces 1 2/3 cups nuts; 1 pound almonds, 1 1/2 cups; and 1 pound filberts, 1 1/2 cups.

Don't try to do all the preparation and baking in one day. Buy fruits and nuts during regular shopping trips. Cut them and store in screw-top jars as you find time during regular kitchen duty. Prepare the pans and measure the ingredients the day before baking, and you'll find the actual cake-making a breeze.

HAVING FUN—Students in the only Chinese school in Seoul, Korea, celebrated their National Independence Day with a program of games. The youngsters shown here are taking bites out of cookies hung on strings without using their hands. In general, the kids played games that resemble those played by

A paper-mache head of Mao Tze-tung, the Red boss of China, was stuck on a pole and the children threw balls at it. The one knocking it down won.

Candle-Burning Response Good But More Fans Urged To Join In To Put It Over

The response to the candle-burning strategy of putting the "hex" on the Odessa Bronchos was pretty good last night but it is hoped that 100 per cent of the Pampa fans will have their candles burning Friday night, the last night prior to the Harvester-Broncho game Saturday afternoon.

All Harvester fans are urged to join in the candle-burning activity. Just place a green or gold candle in your windows tonight and tomorrow night in hopes that it will bring the Harvesters luck Saturday afternoon.

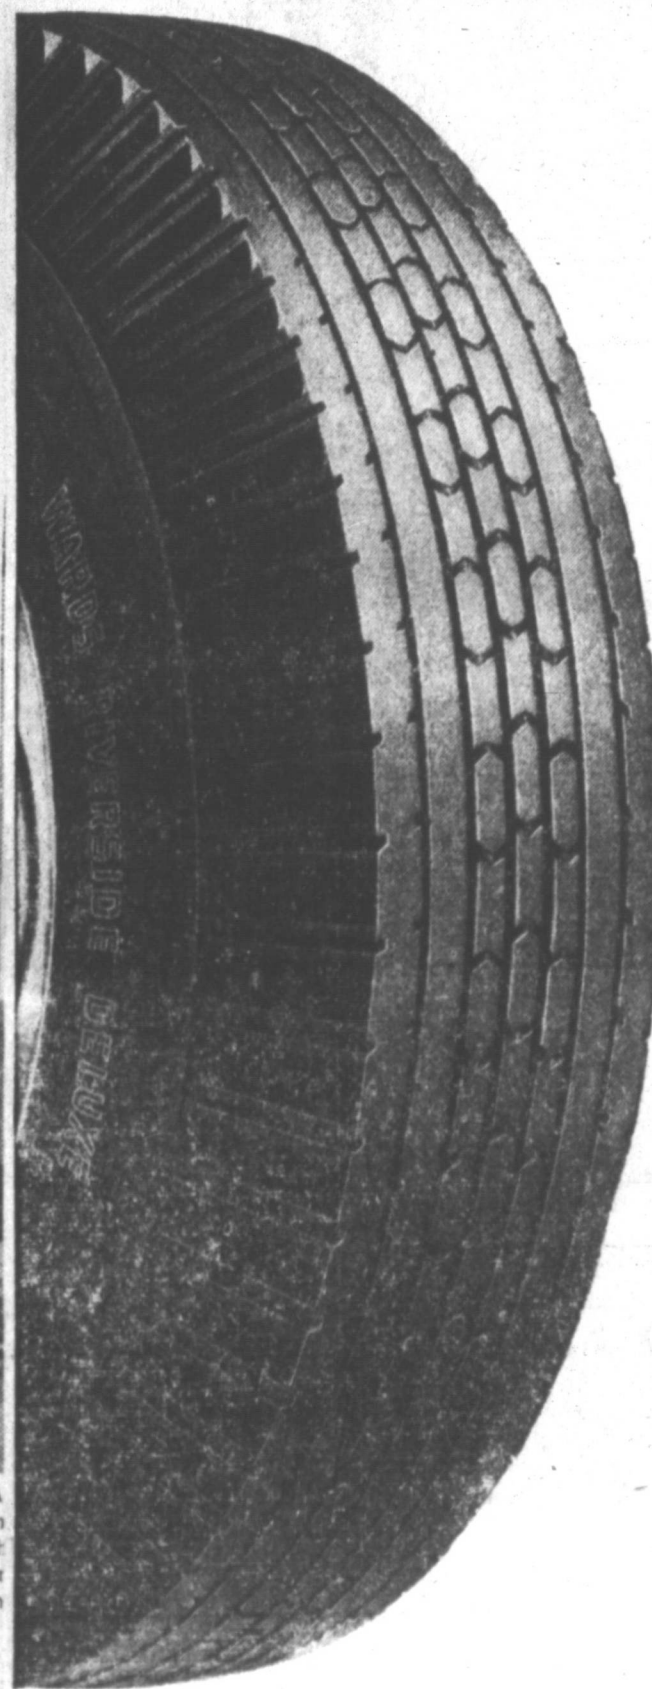

University of Texas used this method in seeking luck for their team last week against Baylor and it worked. Baylor fumbled three times and had two passes intercepted which played a major part in Longhorn win over the previously unbeaten Bears.

SWC Gridders Start Tapering Off Today

By UNITED PRESS
The usual mid-week scrimmages occupied Southwest Conference teams Wednesday, but squads planned to taper off the rough work Thursday.

Most teams reported they had recovered from last week's series of injuries. A light scrimmage on all phases of play was planned. Rice, meanwhile, had a thorough workout that caused minor injuries to two probable backfield starters. But injured quarterback Buddy Crathman and halfback Gordon Kellogg were expected to be ready for the homecoming game Saturday.

Texas Coach Ed Price said the Longhorns showed a "lot of zip" and were "definitely getting in the right frame of mind" for the Texas Christian game Saturday. Texas scrimmaged on defensive patterns and worked on passing and running, both offensively and defensively. Price said the Longhorns were in "good shape."

TCU Coach Abe Martin made some lineup changes and said Texas "will tear us apart" unless the Frogs can keep the ball and move with it. He granted the request by linemen to start working out an hour earlier yesterday in preparation for the game in Austin.

The Arkansas Razorbacks had a rough scrimmage and Coach Bowden Wyatt said they will continue to work principally on offense this week in an attempt to get together a scoring punch. That's something the Hogs have lacked thus far this year.

Southern Methodist, Arkansas' foe this weekend, ran the No. 1 and 2 teams against plays simulated by the junior varsity. John Kelley took the part of Arkansas quarterback Lamar McHain and the varsity had a hard time stopping the single wing attack, the first they have faced this season.

Baylor had to scrimmage without the supervision of Coach George Satter, who had been ill and watched from the sidelines in street clothes. He said he hoped to be with the team for Saturday's game against the University of Houston.

The Bear regulars were held out of contact work once more, although most of those hurt in the Texas game were ready for play.

Top 10 Teams Picked To Win

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 12—UP—Notre Dame and Maryland, ranked No. 1 and 2 among the nation's football teams, were heavy favorites Thursday to retain their unbeaten, untied records this Saturday.

Notre Dame was figured 25 points better than North Carolina, and Maryland was made a 13-point choice over Mississippi.

Four other teams among the top ten were also installed as heavy favorites in weekend games. Fourth-ranked Michigan State was listed a solid 14-point choice over Michigan in the NCAA nationally televised Game of the Week which could have an important bearing on the Big Ten title race.

Fifth-ranked UCLA was rated a 19-point choice over Washington. Sixth-ranked Oklahoma figured as a 26-point choice over Iowa State, and eighth-ranked Baylor is favored by 14 points over Houston. Illinois, the No. 3 team, was given DASHING BRONCO — Johnny Crain, above, is leading the Odessa Bronchos in rushing yardage this season with 368 yards on 53 carries, an average of 6.9 per carry. ODESSA, Nov. 12—The Bronchos worked hard and long Wednesday on defensive assignments to be employed against the running and passing of the Harvesters in Pampa Saturday.

Coach Cooper Robbins and assistants Carl Cook and Jim Daniel were putting stress on defensive end play, realizing that they must only a six-point edge over Wisconsin in a game in which the Illini could cinch a share of the Big Ten crown.

Seventh-ranked Georgia Tech was favored over Alabama by only seven points, and ninth-ranked West Virginia had only a seven point edge over South Carolina. Tenth-ranked Southern California is idle this week.

In the South and Southwest, Tennessee was given a six point edge over Florida, Auburn 12 over Georgia, Rice 14 over Texas A&M, Southern Methodist 13 over Arkansas, Texas 13 over TCU, Texas Tech 10 over Tulsa, Tulane 10 over Vanderbilt, and Louisiana State and Mississippi State were figured even.

2 More Drills Set Before Big Game With Odessa Bronchos

Pampa's Fighting Harvesters continued to work on their pass defense yesterday as the Green and Golders prepared for Saturday's crucial game against the Odessa Bronchos.

The drill, lasting more than two hours, saw the Harvester mentors setting up various defensive formations to try and stop the vaunted aerial attack of the Bronchos. In Carl Schlemeyer, the Bronchos have the finest schoolboy passer in the area. Sammy Baugh foamed the high school gridirons in the middle 30s.

The Harvesters also were getting their defenses set to guard against both the Odessa passing and running game. While passing has been equally as schoolboy passing by the Harvesters for their explosiveness, the Bronchos also boast of a sound running attack.

Two of the Odessa backs, Troy Moody and Johnny Crain, were members of a good Odessa spring relay team last season and are equally as schoolboy passing in the mail on the football turf.

The Harvesters will likely match Odessa's running game with Ed Dudley and Harold Lewis in the fold. Both Dudley and Lewis were members of last spring's Harvester spring relay team that won several honors. Another member of that spring relay team, John Darby, will see action Saturday although he won't be in top strength.

Tilt Here Saturday Heads Schoolboy Card Of 208 Games

By DICK HARDWICK
United Press Sports Writer
Odessa and Pampa, two West Texas football powers, collide Saturday afternoon at Pampa to decide the successor to state champion Lubbock in district 1-AAAA.

This game, between the two leading district contenders, highlights a weekend card of 208 conference games in four classes of schoolboy play.

Odessa, with 27-7 victory over Lubbock, has a 9-1-1 won-loss-tied record while Pampa's season mark is 6-1. The Bronchos are undefeated in four conference games while Pampa has lost one game, 34 to 28 to San Angelo, in four district starts. An Odessa victory would give the Bronchos a clear shot to the title, but district officials may be left with the unpleasant job of deciding a playoff team if Pampa wins.

Two other outstanding Class AAAA games, both Friday night, find Highland Park at Waco in District 5 and San Antonio Brackenridge at Corpus Christi Ray in District 6.

Three games in Class AAA will have a definite effect on district winners. Kilgore plays at Lufkin in District 4; Beaumont South Park at Texas City in District 6 and San Antonio Edison at Alamo Heights in District 7.

Unbeaten, untied Terrell, the Class AA state champion, looks like a sure winner of 13-AA. But champions in nine of 30 other Class AA districts will help to be determined by these games: Floydada at Tahoka in District 5; Montague at Stockton in 7; Seagraville at Carrollton in 12; Commerce at Pittsburg in 14; DeKalb at Atlanta in 15; Madisonville at Huntsville in 20; Cameron at Belton in 23; Wharton at El Campo in 25; and Refugio at Cuero in 30.

Class A champion, Dimmitt at Springlake in District 2; Crowell at Paducah in 9; A&M Consolidated at Bellville in 25; and Karnes City at George West in 30.

Other top games find Soudan at Stanton in District 4; Junction at Mansfield in 4; Dublin at Eastland and DeLeon at Ranger in 7; Talco at Jefferson in 14; Canton at Brownsboro in 15; Trinity at Grapeland in 19; Groesbeck at Mart in 21; and Burnet at Llano in 23.

Thursday night's Class AAAA conference games include El Paso Jefferson at El Paso Austin in District 2; Fort Worth Poly at Riverside in 2; Dallas Forest at North Dallas in 4; and Houston Reagan at Houston Austin in 7. New Braunfels plays at San Antonio Lanier Thursday night in a 7-AAA game, 7-AA game.

Gray Nears Parilli's Mark

Jim Gray, a mainstay in East Texas' attack that has rolled over 27 straight opponents, stands a good chance of breaking the national college record for touchdown passes, the latest Lone Star Conference statistics showed Thursday.

With two games left on the Lions' schedule, Gray has completed 49 scoring passes during his career, just one shy of the mark of 50 set by Babe Parilli of Kentucky.

Although Gray has completed 58 of 98 passes attempted this season for 784 yards and eight touchdowns, he still takes a back seat to Pence Dacus of Southwest Texas in individual passing. The Bobcat master has connected on 94 of 168 efforts for 1,413 yards and nine touchdowns and Dacus' 109 rushing yards give him a total offense figure of 1,522 to lead that department as well.

Meanwhile, Mac Moore of Sam Houston, leading Conference scorer, has rolled into the top spot in rushing, with a net 568 yards in 31 carries for a 6.9-yard average, beat out Ray McGreager of Sul Ross and Sammy Carpenter of Lamar Tech, who had been waging a battle for rushing honors. Harvester Fans Going All Out To Bring PHSians Good Luck Saturday

FOOTBALL FANS CAN PLAY a large part in the success of a football team. The more enthusiasm shown by the fans, the more likely it is to put a "fire" into the players.

Just today we noted that Bud Wilkinson, coach of the Oklahoma Sooners, has given the OU fans a lot of credit for the success of the Sooners this season.

What we're leading up to is that if the fans here go all out in backing the Harvesters this weekend it may pay off in the big dividends.

The fans here have done well in supporting the Harvesters this season. The fans, however, haven't been asked for any favors this season other than just attending the games. But there is one extra favor that is being asked of the fans this week and that is burning a candle in your windows each night before the Odessa-Pampa game Saturday.

There are some seven or eight because of a recent kidney injury that hospitalized him for 10 days. Saturday's fractus could turn into a passing duel between Schlemeyer and the Harvesters' J. N. Wright.

Wright, of course, hasn't won the recognition this season that Schlemeyer has, but he is still a fine passer and could cause the Bronchos some uneasy moments.

Wright and Schlemeyer are even in touchdown passes with seven each.

Saturday's game here is being closely watched by schoolboy followers all over the state. The outcome of this tilt may even decide state champion, District 1-AAAA.

To Put Lightweight Crown In Mothballs Carter To Seek Match With Gavilan - Bratton Winner

MONTREAL, Nov. 12—UP—Explosive Jimmy Carter, knockout conqueror of Armand Savoie, knoc Thursday he would like to put his lightweight crown temporarily "in mothballs" and go gunning for a shot at the welterweight championship.

"I want to fight Friday night's winner at Chicago," said the stocky New York Negro. Welter champion Kid Gavilan and Johnny Bratton are fighting there for the 147-pound title.

Carter avenged a February non-title defeat by knocking out rangy, dark-haired Savoie of Montreal at 39 seconds of the fifth round before 9,136 in the Forum Wednesday night.

It was Jimmy's third knockout defense of the title this year. He previously belted out Tommy Collins and Georgia Araujo.

"He hit me the hardest I was ever hit," said the very disappointed Savoie. "I tried to get up at the count of seven, but I couldn't shake off the effects of that right to the chin."

Carter knocked Armand flat on his back with a long right to the jaw for the only knockdown of the bout. Armand was luckier than Collins, who hit the deck 10 times, and Araujo, who went down three times.

It was the only time 23-year-old Savoie had been counted out in 62 professional bouts although he had been stopped twice previously on TKOs.

Savoie's speed and in-and-out style bothered the champ in the first three sessions, so that Jimmy had difficulty landing a solid punch to the head. Meanwhile Savoie's left jabs and left hooks gave him a comfortable margin. He knocked the champion back onto his heels twice in the second round and twice in the third with hard left hooks.

However, Carter calmly stalked his fast opponent and caught up with him in the furiously fought fourth round. Carter hurt Armand twice in that session with his effective close-quarter, hooking attack to body and head and gafered Savoie's left brow. Carter, who suffered a slight cut on the left brow in that round.

Full House Due For Buc - Tiger Battle

LEFORS, Nov. 12 — McLean Tigers, still clinging to a chance of finishing on top of the heap in the District 1-A race, will converge on the Lefors Pirates here Friday night.

McLean owns a 4-1 won-lost record in 1-A play and must win Friday's game to stay in the running. Lefors, who has a 2-2-1 conference record, is out of the championship picture but the Pirates stand a good chance of upsetting the Tigers.

The Tigers, should they win Friday's game, would move into their final game with Memphis next week with a chance of sending the

Canadian Ends Regular State Friday Night

CLARENDON, Nov. 12 — Canadian Wildcats will close out their season schedule here Friday night when they meet the cellar-dwelling Clarendon Broncs in a District 1-A contest.

Canadian still has a chance to finish in the championship picture of the 1-A race. The Wildcats, losers only to Memphis in 1-A play, must win Friday's game to retain their title chance, however.

The Wildcats have won seven and lost two for the season and a win here tomorrow would give the Wildcats one of their finest season records in several years.

After Friday's game, the Wildcats will have to stand by a week to see if McLean will defeat Memphis Nov. 20 in what may send the final 1-A standings into a 3-way tie tie.

Dean Hoover with 79 points, second best in the district, and Pat Tipps with 71 points, third high in 1-A, will lead the Wildcats into Friday's game here.

By Coach Wilkinson Fans Given Credit For OU's Success

By CARTER BRADLEY
NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 12 — Front and center, Oklahoma football fans. Coach Bud Wilkinson would like them to take a bow at this stage of the Big Seven Conference race.

Oklahoma, as has been the case for the past seven years, rides the crest of conference competition, and Wilkinson said the fans deserve much of the credit.

Oklahoma can clinch at least a tie in the conference Saturday by defeating Iowa State here. Final standings won't be determined until Oklahoma and Nebraska tangle the following week. Winner of the Big Seven automatically gets an Orange Bowl bid.

Wilkinson said the chief reason Oklahoma has played 39 Big Seven games without a defeat "is the Oklahoma approach to competitive athletics."

"Get consistent support, win or lose, from Oklahoma," the graying, blue-eyed former Minnesota guard said. "Our high schools provide athletes who are well trained, and the people are solidly behind our program here."

Wilkinson said his team's performance in every play reflects the spirit of the fans.

"If we break away a little faster, if we burst into action just that fraction of a second faster than our opponents, I believe it's because the boys have a competitive spark which their environment provides."

Considers Intangibles
"Coaching can do just so much for us and after that, a lot of intangibles must be considered."

The "so much" that Wilkinson does for Oklahoma's big, rangy squad has a lot of science in it. The Oklahoma coach has written a scholarly book regarding his theories, but his system has some simple features. He emphasizes ground play — seldom has a brilliant passing game. His linemen have superb timing and style.

The windy and unpredictable climate in these parts influences Wilkinson's gridiron strategy.

Passers Are Born
"A running game is a little bit sounder in all types of weather," he explained.

"As for our passing, that's a matter of talent. Good passers are born, not made. If we had a gifted passer, we'd use him."

"Linemen, on the other hand, are coachable. And our boys have the right spirit. They learn fast. Line play, the defensive part of it, is easy. The technique for offense is harder, because it requires unnatural tactics and timing."

Oklahoma fans were convinced long ago they have the benefit of superior coaching here. Wilkinson is one of the most popular after-dinner speakers in the state.

Sportrait Weaver Talks Slow But Is Fast Mover

By ED FITE
LUBBOCK, Nov. 12 — De Witt Weaver is a soft-spoken, slow-talking Southerner, but no one calls the coach of Texas Tech's rampant Red Raider football team a slow-mover.

In his first three months at Texas Tech, the majestic-looking Tennessean wore out a car, driving it some 20,000 miles visiting other coaches regarding future games and contacting prospective athletes.

Since then (January, 1951), the prematurely - gray, 40-year-old Weaver has been the hardest working member of a staff that puts in considerable time keeping Weaver's long-range athletic program for Tech moving in high gear.

While he was an all-conference guard at Tennessee, Weaver majored in history and education and took a lot of business administration with an idea of going into contracting and selling.

Sometimes, he figures he has realized that ambition in trying to contract bigger games and in selling "Texas Tech" to prospective athletes.

He hadn't intended to coach, but got into the business in 1937 when he stayed over at Tennessee to take post-graduate studies. He earned his way helping coach the Volunteers' freshman team and the bug bit him.

He moved to Centre College as line coach until the Navy got him in 1941; was at Mississippi State in a similar capacity 1946-48, then moved to Tulsa the following two seasons.

The 1950 Tulsa trimmed Tech 39 to 7 on Tech's Homecoming Day and when the Tech coaching job became vacant athletic council members recalled the devastating line play exhibited by the Golden Hurricane. They contacted Weaver and he came here as athletic director and head football coach.

There were only 15 lettermen and two squadmen to greet him at spring training and things looked dismal. But the 20,000-mile tour paid dividends when the Border Conference made freshmen eligible for varsity play and 8 first-year men lettered.

Tech, with more sprint than finesse, swept five conference games and stunned Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Christian that year, but Weaver insisted then he was building for 1953.

Well, 1953 is here. Tech has won seven of eight games, including a 27 to 20 upset of Mississippi State, while averaging 36.5 points per game. As a result some bowls are beckoning Tech's way.

always been with championship clubs and you don't stay long with winning teams with a 'defeatist attitude'."

Dykes Believes Orioles Will Be A Winning Team
By OLIVER MORRISON
BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 — Jimmy Dykes, pledging to swear off golf and devote all his time to baseball, said Thursday he believed the enthusiasm of Baltimore's fans "will help to make the Orioles a winning team."

The 37-year-old Dykes, named to succeed Marty Marion as manager of the American League's new franchise, expressed a desire to acquire first baseman Ed Robinson from the Philadelphia Athletics but said he didn't know what immediate moves would be made until after a conference with General Manager Art Ehlers next week.

He was scheduled to meet the press at a lunch Thursday.

Dykes, a colorful-cigar-smoking veteran of 36 years in baseball, showed nothing of the "defeatist attitude" which Ehlers contended cost Marion his job.

Dykes Is Happy
"I'm happy to be back in baseball and know what I'm going to do next year," he said. "It's a pleasure to go down to Baltimore with Art Ehlers."

Ehlers revealed he decided to replace Marion with Dykes because Marty "seemed to me to have a defeatist attitude."

"When I called Marion here on Monday, I wanted to talk to him to see how he felt about running the club," Ehlers said. "Unfortunately he seemed to me to have a defeatist attitude. I had hoped he would display more enthusiasm and keenness to pitch in and win. But he didn't and that meant we needed a new manager."

Ehlers went on to praise Dykes as the type of manager who "can give us field leadership in the great tradition of the old Orioles."

Marty Is Surprised
"I know Dykes to be a hustling, fighting guy capable of bringing out the best in a baseball team," Ehlers said. "Marion and I had a frank discussion and both realized the club had many shortcomings. But I wanted a man who would buoy up the players and make them forget the past. I am sure Dykes will do just that."

In St. Louis, Marion said he was surprised at Ehlers' statement he had a "defeatist attitude."

"I don't know why Ehlers said that," Marion said. "My whole career is a good indication that I don't have such an attitude. I've

Memphis Can Clinch Tie For 1-A Crown With Win Friday

MEMPHIS, Nov. 12 — The Memphis Cyclones, pace setters in the District 1-A race, will attempt to hold that rating here Friday night when they oppose the dangerous Panhandle Panthers.

Memphis has only a tie to mar an otherwise perfect 1-A record but district officials are ruling the tie game (with Lefors 6-4) a win for Memphis on the 20-yard penetration rule. In that case, the Cyclones can clinch at least a tie for the crown by winning Friday's game here.

Duke Frisbie of the Cyclones will be the main hope of victory for the Cyclones in tomorrow's tilt. For Panhandle, Gene Bentley, incidentally, is the individual scoring leader of the season in 1-A play with 80 points.

Shamrock Out To Nip Dumas Demons
DUMAS, Nov. 12 — The Shamrock Irish is all that stands in the way of a perfect state of the Dumas Demons before the Demons take of Phillips next week in the title game of District 1-AA.

The Irish will invade Dumas tomorrow night to contest the unbeaten Demons who have won all seven games played to date. Shamrock is out of the running for the 1-AA title but would like very much to knock off the invincible Demons.

Dumas, however, really doesn't need a victory here Friday. Regardless whether they win or lose here tomorrow, the Demons can take the 1-AA crown by defeating Phillips next week. Phillips has already finished its conference slate with exception of the Dumas game and the Blackhaws are unbeaten in five games.

You Be The Quarterback
By WARREN GAER
Head Football Coach, Drake University
Missouri, and Kansas State are 0-0 in the first quarter. Kansas State has the ball on the Tigers' three-yard line in the center of the field, fourth down and two.

Running plays inside the Missouri tackles have moved the ball 63 yards in 18 plays. The Wildcats anticipate an eight-man line against them.

As the Kansas State quarterback, rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4 for this situation:

1. Fullback down the middle on a trap (defensive man a allowed through then blocked from side) Field goal attempt

2. Fake down middle and pitch out around end

3. Off tackle slant

4. Tackle slant

ANSWER
1. Off tackle slant is best chance against defense. If you miss the TD. 1. Off tackle slant is best chance down.

2. Field goal try. Position makes ends won't be charging hard.

3. Fake into middle and pitch out. With that eight-man line, the trap is a trap.

4. Trap has least chance because and defensive concentration in middle.

WD To Host Guerilla 11
WHITE DEER, Nov. 12 — The White Deer Bucks will step out of the District 1-A play here Friday night to take on the Pampa B team Guerillas in a non-conference battle.

Kickoff time Friday will be 7:30 p.m.

The Bucks have managed only two wins in eight starts this season but have been crippled most of the season. They are in pretty good shape now though with the return of fullback Ronald Mills. Mills has been our most of the year with a broken leg.

The Guerillas won their first starts last week with a 26-13 win over the Amarillo B team Stormies.

White Deer will rule the favorites role here Friday.

Mantle Out Of Hospital
COMMERCE, Okla., Nov. 12 — UP — Mickey Mantle, Joe DiMaggio's replacement in the New York Yankee outfield, recuperated at his home Thursday from surgery on his right knee.

Mantle, operated on 11 days ago at Burge Hospital in Springfield, Mo., was discharged Wednesday.

Dr. Dan Yancy, who operated to remove a torn cartilage, said Mantle's treatment would continue for about three months. He said Mantle would be required to wear an elastic support on his knee "for quite a while," but he added Mantle should be in top shape for spring training.

Truman's Side In White Case Given By Ex-Aide

In the following dispatch, a former White House aide tells part of the Harry Dexter White controversy. The aide, who was very close to Mr. Truman at the time of the White incident, talked to U.P. White House Reporter Merriman Smith, an old acquaintance, on the condition his name would not be used.

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—UP—A former White House aide of Harry S. Truman scanned the headlines (tempest over the Harry Dexter White case Thursday) and came up with this evaluation of the ex-president:

Vogeler Addresses Crowd At Tyler

TYLER, Tex., Nov. 12—UP—American businessman Robert Vogeler, who was held prisoner by the Communists in Hungary for 17 months, told Shriners at their annual convention here the Reds are trying to prove the Americans cannot protect their people and property abroad.

Vogeler, assistant vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., spoke Wednesday night to a capacity crowd of the Karem Temple of Waco, holding its ceremonial here.

He took an opposite stand to Americans who have said this country should not forgive those who confessed to germ warfare. "I would like to have (those who criticize) for three weeks, I'd get them to tell secrets, real secrets, not just something fantastic," he said.

Vogeler, who was jailed in Hungary in 1950 on trumped-up spy charges, described intimate details of his trial, confession and prison term. He said there are many others in small 9-by-7 foot solitary confinement cells behind the Iron Curtain.

They are held, he said, because the Reds want to prove this country cannot protect its own people or its own property. Vogeler said he saw Communist agents kidnap American soldiers and tell the United States government, when it complained, that the men went AWOL because they preferred life behind the Iron Curtain to life in capitalist America.
