Experts Advance Theories On Juvenile Delinquency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—UP—Experts on juvenile delinquency seem to agree on at least two things—it is widespread and its roots are in the home.

Beyond those common denominators, a score of specialists who testified during four days of hearings before a Senate subcommittee offered a wide variety of diagnoses and cures.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R-N. J.), ended the national phase of its investigation Tuesday. Early next month it will look into the local Washington situation and then it will go to New York and Boston for hearings.

River Dam Voting Carries 11 Cities

Pampans today could look forward to the time when it would be receiving municipal and industrial water from a Canadian River dam and reservoir project near Sanford, north and west of Borger.

Pampa Tuesday joined 10 other Panhandle-Plains communities in confirming the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

The vote in Pampa was 675-423 with 10 mutilated ballots—a total turnout of 1,108. That includes an absentee vote of 17-11 in favor of the authority.

Only Littlefield voted to keep out of the authority. The vote was 77-176.

Results in the other 10 communities, as tabulated in Station KPND, official election headquarters, were Amarillo, 5,644-58; Borger, 1,466-7; Brownfield, 517-2; Lamesa, 419-32; Levelland, 194-1; Lubbock, 1,853-71; O'Donnell, 128-0; Plainview, 503-15; Slaton, 192-2; and Tahoka, 217-8.

To make the election official, a canvass of the vote will be taken by authority directors at 10 a. m. Monday in the Hotel Milton, Plainview, according to A. A. Meredith, Borger, authority secretary, who was in Pampa Tuesday night. Next regular meeting is slated for Dec. 14.

Voting in Pampa got off to a slow start, then gradually increased in tempo as the day wore on. Last to vote were Mrs. H. D. Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ragsdale, who got to the polling place in the city Hall's city commission room 25 minutes before Election Judge DeLea Vicars closed the doors at 7 p. m.

Vicars announced the final vote results within 15 minutes after the polls closed.

Minutes after Littlefield's vote of rejection came into election headquarters, a Littlefield newspaper reporter had Meredith on the phone wanting to know the procedure for having another vote on the authority.

"It isn't easy," Meredith commented shortly afterward. The steps, in order, are 100 names on a petition to the authority's directors; a review of the matter by the directors who "if it seems feasible and there is sufficient water" will order an election; a confirming vote by the electorate; and finally, an approving vote by 12 of the 17 directors (two-thirds).

C. A. (Lefty) Huff, Pampa, authority president in a telephone interview said of Pampa, "It was a good vote—in the right direction." Meredith gave credit to the residents of the 11 confirming towns for putting the authority over.

Ivy Duncan, long-time Pampa resident in a statement this morning said, "From the small vote cast (in Pampa) in yesterday's election, it is doubtful if the majority of the tax paying citizens of Pampa would approve bond issue of $5,000,000 with which to build the Canadian River Dam."

"The city commission of Pampa should work with the other 11 towns (actually, only 10) towards completion of this program but give us the opportunity to pay our part of the cost and get out if we can get out," he added.

In six of the 11 confirming communities, the negative vote on the authority was less than nine votes. In four of those six, it was less than three.

Oregon Flood Waters Drop

By UNITED PRESS
Flooding rivers and creeks on the California-Oregon border receded Wednesday but foul weather settled over most of the nation.

As the Northwest floods that drowned two persons abated, the weather bureau predicted no more heavy rain will fall on the stricken area for a while.

Most highways were reopened in California and telephone service was restored to Crescent City and Klamath. Only Highway 299 was closed, because of landslides between Eureka and Redding.

Southern Oregon was not so well off but officials said the situation was improving. Several thousand persons in the Coquille River area remained more or less isolated because of high water covering highways.

Many Return to Homes
But many evacuees returned to their homes.

U. S. Highway 101 was blocked on both sides of the town of Bandon, Ore., on the ocean. Coast Guard vessels look mail and food to said residents were in no danger.

Meanwhile, the Colorado State Patrol warned motorists of the avalanche hazard on mountain passes, after three snowslides into Loveland Pass, one of them sweeping a 26-year-old garage over 300 feet down a mountainside.

Fog Blankets New England
A thick fog blanketed portions of New England and the Middle Atlantic states early Wednesday and some light drizzle fell. However, temperatures were mild.

Most of the rest of the country west of the Rockies was cold and damp, with snow in some northern states and light rain elsewhere. As far south as the Gulf States the mercury dropped to about 40 degrees.

The light snow flurries were most common in the Great Lakes area and in the Mountain States.

Pampans To Buy Football Ducats
The school business office will be open from 10 to 11 tomorrow morning for anyone wanting to purchase tickets to the Pampa Harvester-Borger Bulldog game to be played at Borger tomorrow afternoon, business manager Roy McMillen revealed this morning.

Kickoff time for the game has been set for 2 o'clock. Ticket prices for the game are $1.50.

The game will wind up the 1953 schedule for both the Harvesters and Bulldogs.

PW's To Eat Well On Thanksgiving

PANMUNJOM, Nov. 25—UP—The 22 Communist-held American war prisoners who have returned to their Indian captors Wednesday wish to observe Thanksgiving Day just like all other Americans.

An Indian spokesman said the prisoners' request had been relayed to the Communists, who agreed to provide "special food" and beer for the holiday.

The Communists did not say what the special food would be. The prisoners' usual diet has been rice, vegetables and pork.

Hopes Are Raised
The last minute request raised the hopes of U. S. expatriates, who had been informed that the American prisoners spent their time singing the Internationale and parading with Chinese and North Korean flags.

Meanwhile, Indian forces held back shipments of the Communist Bibles sent to the Americans.

The Indians said the New Testaments, shipped to Korea by a church in Poplar, Wis., will not be delivered until the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission rules on complaints made by the men.

In a petition to the commission, the Americans objected to receiving letters which they claimed contained threats and "propaganda material" aimed at bringing them home.

Addressed Individually
Lt. Robert A. Harbert of Malmö, Ill., a United Nations postal officer, handed the New Testaments to the Indians Monday. He said they had been addressed to the captured Americans individually by the Covenant Mission Church of Poplar.

It was believed the Americans would not receive the New Testaments until after Thanksgiving Day, because the commission was taking a two-day break from its bitter arguments over handling "come home" explanations of prisoners.

Both the hijacker and his girl companion, who said she was 29 years old and a waitress, said they were from Chicago. The girl said they had been traveling together about a week. She said she didn't know of any hijackings he had committed en route from Chicago to Dallas.

Police found in the 19-year-old man's pocketbook a clipping from the Nov. 8 Children, Tex. Index concerning the death in Port Worth of Bobby Dean White, 19. White was found shot to death in an apartment house. His death was ruled a suicide.

Postal Carrier Caught In 'Trap'
DALLAS, Nov. 25—UP—Billy W. Waggoner, 22-year-old substitute mail carrier, was released on bond Wednesday after postal authorities set a "trap" and found a letter and $10 bill on him.

Post Office Inspector Ralph Thomas said the letter, containing $10 was mailed to see if the carrier would deliver it.

McCarthyism Placed On Election Block

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—UP—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy offered himself Wednesday as an issue in the 1954 congressional elections.

The Wisconsin senator, on a nationwide radio and television broadcast, defended his role as the founder of "McCarthyism" and invited voters to pass judgment on his Communist-hunting tactics at the polls next year.

McCarthy made a half-hour speech Tuesday night over major radio and TV networks after demanding equal time to answer an attack by former President Harry S. Truman on "McCarthyism."

McCarthy said that if the American people agree with Mr. Truman that "McCarthyism" is bad, they can "get rid of me as chairman of the investigating committee next fall by defeating any Republican up for election."

He denounced Mr. Truman as an exponent of "Trumanism," which he defined as "the placing of your political party above the interest of the country, regardless of how much the country is damaged thereby."

He also criticized the Eisenhower administration for not getting rid of all alleged Communists in the government and for not cutting off foreign aid to nations which conduct business with Communist China.

Mr. Truman, at his home in Independence, Mo., refused to comment on the McCarthy speech and gave no indication whether he even had listened to it.

President Eisenhower went to bed early Tuesday night at Augustus, Ga., and did not hear the speech.

Few members of Congress, Democrat or Republican, would comment on the McCarthy speech. Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell had only the remark: "Look who's talking."

Rep. Herman P. Eberharter (D-Ill.) said McCarthy "reminds me of a bubble that has so much wind in it it's going to bust. He's a blowhard."

McCarthy sat before microphones and TV cameras in a small CBS television studio in New York to condemn Mr. Truman's conduct in the Harry Dexter White Case and charge that the Truman administration had "crawled with Communists."

"Tonight I shall spend but very little time on Harry Truman," he said. "As an individual, he is of no importance than any other individual who has been repudiated by an overwhelming vote of the American people. Trumanism, however, becomes an issue insofar as it is embraced by the Democrat party."

Trumanism can perhaps best be defined as the placing of your political party above the interest of the country, regardless of how much the country is damaged thereby. It is the theory that no matter how great the wrong, it is right if it helps your political party."

Voters Told They Can Unseat Him

NAMED TODAY — Jack Back, chief deputy county tax assessor, was named late this morning as county tax assessor collector to fill the unexpired term of the late F. E. Leech who died early Saturday. Plans call for his swearing in later today. Back's appointment was announced after the county commissioners ended an hour-long executive session from which reporters were barred.

not the department stores' cafes they are after," the attorney general said.

"It is the oil they seek to control," he said.

"Why else," he asked, "does the DPOWA have organizers running up and down our own Gulf Coast hitting such cities as Corpus Christi and Brownsville, and even Odessa and Midland in West Texas?"

"This is not a local situation confined to Port Arthur as the union leaders would have you believe," he said.

A similar charge, aired Tuesday by Shepperd, drew a denial from Harry Bush, regional director of the union, at Port Arthur.

"That Communist charge was made a couple of weeks ago. This strike is purely a local situation. There is still nothing in the charge," he said.

However, Shepperd asked, "why was Port Arthur picked in the first place?"

"I have charged, and I charge again, that Port Arthur was chosen because it is a vital petroleum refining and shipping center. It is Detectives investigating the slaying said they were "convinced we have a crackpot murderer to deal with."

"That's the hardest kind of crime to solve because of the lack of motives," said Gordon Bowers of the sheriff's office.

Thirteen Killed In Plant Blast
LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 25—UP—More than 200 workers groped automatically through wreckage of Portugal's biggest steel plant Wednesday, seeking victims of the blast that leveled a wing of the big factory.

At least 13 persons were killed and 300 injured in the blast Tuesday—one of the worst in Portugal's big steel plant. More bodies are believed to be buried in the wreckage.

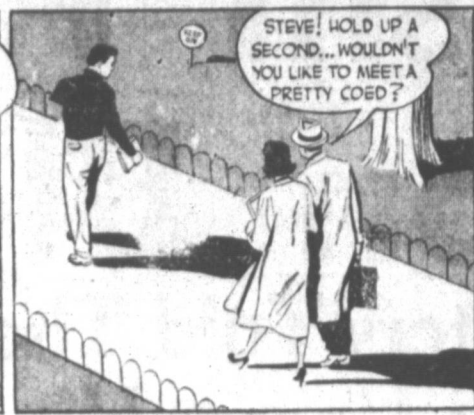

The debris was littered with land-mine detonators of the type believed to have caused the explosion, making salvage work difficult and dangerous.

Writer Gives Suggestions On Thanksgiving Left-Overs

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

ago had that problem. But I have the word of a good descendent of the good Pilgrim that when the landers finally got down near the bones they set a precedent which is followed today. A little thing in a bowl called turkey soup.

The decent thing to do, of course, when you get tired of the meat, white and dark, is to give the dog a break, or dump the remains in the ash can.

Heat left-over stuffing in a chafing dish or in a covered pan in a slow oven. A little water or bouillon, a cover and hot heat are a must to avoid overheating. Heat the giblet gravy, too. Add butter-

At our house, we're not too sharp on left-overs. A couple of slices of left-over breast or drumstick between two slabs of white bread, with a little dressing daubed on, seem to suffice.

Most hotels—even the big ones like the Willard, the Statler, the Mayflower and the Shoreham—

Strange Weapons
LOCKPORT, Ill., Nov. 24 — UP— Robert Schwartz and Edward Hall bagged a deer with a rowboat, lariat and derrick.

The two men were walking along the Illinois Waterway when they saw the deer swimming in the middle of the 60-foot channel.

They hopped into a rowboat, lassoed the animal, towed it to a dock and hoisted it out of the water with the derrick.

The deer, a 150-pound buck, was turned over to a game warden.

won't admit it, but I got the dope from the help. These places pretty up what is left on the carcass of the bird so long as the public will buy it, then it goes on the No. 5 luncheon.

The Washington Daily News has what I think is a rather sensible "men's snack" made of what is left. The lady who writes the food stuff says:

Phone Call-itis
CHICAGO, Nov. 24 — UP— John McMahon, 32, was put under court supervision for a year on a disorderly conduct charge after Mrs. Elizabeth Drake, 55, complained he telephoned her 100 times a day.

Mrs. Drake said she hired a telephone answering service to handle the calls, but the firm gave up after a week because it had to assign an operator full-time to her line.

McMahon said a friend told him Mrs. Drake liked to talk on the telephone.

Bergen Plans TV Program
NEW YORK, Nov. 25 — UP— Edger Bergen, a big thing on radio these many years, is in training for television, but he still doesn't know when he'll get under to it.

"When I do, it will be under a contract that calls for both radio and TV," said the master of Master Charlie McCarthy. Last spring I thought we might do some television this season, but it looks now as though it won't be until next fall at least.

Bergen's "training" consists of around the country to enable him to get back to a fundamental of ventriloquism—not moving his lips when he talks for Charlie, Mortimer Snerd and his other dummies.

Too Long in Radio
"Fifteen years in radio where the sight value meant nothing caused me to get very lax in the matter of the lips," the CBS star explained. "And it's something you just don't resume overnight. You have to practice."

Bergen also has been showing the customers at the Empire Room of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel during his local engagement a preview of a new member of his "family" who is especially designed for television.

This is a life-size dummy named Podine Buffington, a real glamor girl who looks as though she could sit down at any ringside table and be the life of the party.

"Podine, of course, has no value at all on radio," Bergen said. "You have to see her to appreciate her and she'll come into her own on television."

Podine Cost $5,000
Podine is an intricate dummy, with unusual controls, eyes that flirt, an expensive evening gown and a coiffure that has to go to the beauty parlor frequently. She cost around $5,000, Bergen estimated.

Nor is Bergen through adding to his "family." He has another dummy all ready for use, but probably won't try him out until he plays a date in Las Vegas, Nev., in December.

MISS HAP—This truly "striking" statue in West Berlin is an eye-catching reminder to motorists to drive safely. Carved from a tree which formerly grew in the middle of a street, and off which motorists bounced with regularity, the statue is placed well back from the curb.

PIED PIPER — Apparently very content in the ice-cold water, Mr. Polar Bear seems to be piping a happy tune to herald the coming of the season he likes best. Actually, the furry animal is just gnawing on a broomstick he found floating in his pool at the Bronx Zoo.

'Low Pressure' Bowl Game Staged At Georgetown U.

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 — UP— They called it the "low pressure bowl" football game. It was that, since neither team was going any place.

But for the coaches, both of whom once were in the big league, it meant a return to high load pressure.

First, a little background. In 1950, Georgetown University flung in the towel, having decided big-time football wasn't worth the bother. But it did a few nice things. It retained Head Coach Jack Hagerty, and George Murtagh, his assistant. Georgetown greets of old, both of them.

Fathers Kept Their Word
Also in 1950, a number of football scholarships had been passed out; four-year scholarships. The

Stenographer Gives Advice To Bachelors

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25 — UP— Marie Connolly, a pert blonde stenographer, believes that meek males do better than all right for themselves with the feminine population.

She bulwarks her belief with evidence gleaned as Southern California president of the Mr. Peepers Club.

"It's definitely not true that only men with bulging muscles command the cream of the feminine crop," she said today. "Muscles belong in a prize ring or as part of a life guard's equipment. Most women want their men to be mild-mannered and even shy. It's the maternal instinct."

Miss Connolly pointed out the tremendous numbers of married and unmarried women who watch the "Mr. Peepers" TV show every Sunday night find Wally Cox, the epitome of eligible masculinity.

"The man who uses his fists before he uses his brain," she added, "usually doesn't rate too heavily on the intelligence side. Meekness shows integrity and intelligence. You know the saying about a placid lake running deep."

The Peepers show, which began as a summer replacement, was quickly held over as a regular when the network was deluged with thousands of letters from women viewers.

"Women are realistic," the stenographer said. "Life with a human dynamo would be too hectic for most of us. We might like to watch wrestle one another, but it would be terribly wearing to marry one. A meek man is constant, dependable and certain not to have a roving eye—mostly because he doesn't believe enough in his own potentials."

Wally Cox, who frequently is described as being Mr. Peepers on and off the television screen, has a viewing audience of more than 35 million with most of his fans belonging to the so-called weaker sex, she said.

"This is still a man's world," Miss Connolly said. "The only thing that can instill a woman with sufficient self-confidence is to know that the man she loves needs a mother as much as he needs a wife."

"The proof of this is that there are more white collar workers and professional men who marry at an early age than there are athletes who wed under 30."

Miss Connolly said there was no need for Wally Cox to get married—not as long as his fan mail contains a larger percentage of marriage proposals than the late Rudolph Valentino ever got. "The whole darn country wants to mother him," she said. "It would be horrible if he just settled for one girl."

good fathers at the school kept their word. The scholarships were honored and a lot of the kids decided higher learning was the thing for them. Most of these lads now are seniors.

Hagerty is the director of athletics which includes other sports. Murtagh is director of physical education.

Over a cup of tea one luncheon recently, they decided to pit the scholarship boys—those who were left-against the intramural lads.

Score Is Uncertain
That's what happened last Saturday. Maybe it was a mistake. Hagerty coached the scholarship left-overs. Murtagh the intramurals.

Nobody knows quite what the score was, but the scholarship boys won. They practiced only a week. Some were in the chemical lab most of the time during the last few years. Others were pouring over law books. They were not in shape. Many would have been big-league had Georgetown continued.

But to get back to the coaches. Hagerty was like a hen on hot coals. You'd think the Rose Bowl was at stake. He was out on the field, protesting decisions. He pulled his hat over his ears when one of his players misused. He was winning, but not by enough. George Murtagh, who had the better-conditioned team, was even worse.

Canadian Grain Hearing Awaited

GALVESTON, Nov. 25 — UP— The U. S. Department of Agriculture said Wednesday that it would not resume business with Elevator B, Galveston wharves, until hearings on the Canadian grain case are completed.

In a telegram in response to a query by a Galveston newsman, the department listed three contingencies for the Commodity Credit Corporation's resumption of business with Elevator B. They were:

1. Conclusion of Senate hearings on the Canadian grain case.
2. The Department of Justice decision on what action will be taken on evidence submitted to it by the Senate.

3. Management policies of Elevator B are revised and supervision is tightened.

E. H. Thornton, Galveston wharves manager, and Mayor Herbert Y. Cartwright, who returned from Washington Wednesday, denied reports that they had gone to Washington to settle the Valley grain case.

Salad Has Party Air

The Canadian grain case concerns the alleged mixing of good Canadian wheat with low quality.

State Republicans To Plan Primary

DALLAS, Nov. 25 — UP— Republican State Chairman Alvin Lane announced Wednesday state GOP leaders will meet in Austin Dec. 7 to make plans for a Republican primary.

Only twice before have Republican primaries been held in Texas. But under the law, the party must hold a primary election next year because Gov. Allan Shivers got more than 200,000 votes on the GOP ticket last year.

Shivers, a Democrat, was crossed-filed on the Republican ticket. A legal subcommittee headed by Carlos Watson of Brownsville will domestic grain for export to Europe. The grain was imported from Canada under bond and with a low duty rate and was not to be exported.

E. H. Thornton, Galveston wharves manager, and Mayor Herbert Y. Cartwright, who returned from Washington Wednesday, denied reports that they had gone to Washington to settle the Valley grain case.

report to the meeting in Austin. One question to be solved is whether Republicans can run candidates in their primary who are also candidates in the Democratic primary.

Republicans in the last election ran candidates only for president and vice president and some local offices. They indicated they would not offer candidates in future elections, at least for a time, unless they feel their candidate would have a particularly good chance of winning or the Democratic candidate was particularly objectionable to them.

Many Republican leaders do not want a GOP primary. They feel many supporters of their cause would abandon the Democratic primary and vote in the GOP primary.

This, they fear, would give so-called "liberal" Democrats the upper hand in that party, yet without giving the Republican party sufficient strength to defeat the candidate of the "liberal" Democrats in the general election.

Tragedy Of Korea

By PHIL NEWBOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
The tragedy of Korea is that it could stand as a monument to world peace. Instead, it must stand as a continuing symbol of frustration and strife.

A particular irony, for Americans, is the season of the year. The tragedy of Korea is that it could stand as a monument to world peace. Instead, it must stand as a continuing symbol of frustration and strife.

"We wish," he said, "to worship with the people of Korea and to give thanks to Almighty God for our manifold blessings and to pray for guidance in these talks."

And, he might have added, to ask forgiveness for man's shortcomings.

Purposes Almost Obscured
Almost obscured now in the daily Communist name-calling, the stalling and the propaganda blarney, the purposes of the conference which Dean went to Korea to arrange.

The conference was to arrange a permanent peace for Korea, including withdrawal of foreign troops and a free and unified Korean nation.

Originally it was to have started Oct. 28. Now, if it ever is to start, it will be in the dim, unpredictable future.

Meanwhile, new problems arise from an unworkable time-table and each day makes a difference in the dream of a United Korea.

Sino-Korean Pact Cited
A highlight of the situation was the announcement of a 10-year economic assistance pact signed between Red China and the North Korean Communist government.

The Chinese said they had written off North Korea's war debt and in addition would advance North Korea some $317 million in the next four years.

Illustrating the permanent nature of the agreement was a corollary plan to operate an airline linking North Korea, China and the Soviet Union.

About two months ago the Russians announced a similar aid program for North Korea. The Russians said they would advance about $250 million in aid and would reduce, but not forgive, the North Korean war debt.

Miss Gaynor says she hopes the younger generation receives her as generously as its parents did 28 years ago when she and Charlie Farrell became national idols.

"I get fan mail from all over the world," she said, "but most of it concerns old movies that are just being shown in the Orient and Europe. I even hear from fans in this country who have seen 'A Star Is Born' and 'Young in Heart' on television. So some of the young people are bound to have seen my work."

The tiny actress says that since she presented Academy Awards last year's nationally televised Oscar derby she's received thousands of fan letters asking her to make more public appearances.

Other than Academy night, Miss Gaynor's only fling at show business since the height of her career was a radio version of "Seventh Heaven" a couple of years ago.

"After the Academy shows I was deluged with scripts and stories for television shows," she said. "I wanted very much to do something in TV, but I decided to wait for just the right script. Well, this Medallion Theater presentation of 'Dear Cynthia' is just the sort of thing I was looking for."

"It gives me a chance to play a modern woman, and it is quite dramatic, too. But I don't want to say anything more about the part. It might spoil the surprise elements of the play."

Miss Gaynor toured CBS Television City here last week before leaving for New York, where the show will originate. She marveled at the ease of operation and the fact she could see herself on a monitor screen. Technicians and actors throughout the tour were delighted to explain the medium to the beautiful little visitor.

Television fascinated her. "I can't say whether I'm going to continue to appear in television," she smiled. "A great deal depends on the success of this show and future scripts."

"I'm very excited about my first TV role—and a little bit frightened. It's all so new to me, and I do hope it will be a good performance."

Stroble Attends Baptist Conclave

Bob Stroble of Pampa will be among those appearing on the program of the 63rd annual Texas Baptist Training Union Convention Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Fort Worth.

The convention will open at 9:45 a.m. Thursday in the Will Rogers Auditorium with a keynote message by Dr. J. Ralph Grant of Lubbock and a Thanksgiving sermon by Dr. H. H. Hobbs of Oklahoma City.

More than 10,000 people are expected to attend and with 12 sessions each afternoon, the use of several Fort Worth buildings and churches, including the Jewish synagogue, will be required.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the selection of state winners in better speech, sword drill, handwork, Bible memory, Bible story telling, choir, and rhythm band contests Saturday morning. Winners of the better speech and sword drill contests will represent Texas at Southern Baptist assemblies next summer.

Court Restrains Telephone Firm In Houston Move

HOUSTON, Nov. 25—UP—Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was temporarily restrained by court order Wednesday from enforcing its plan to remove the offices of its Pasadena division from Houston to Pasadena and charge long distance rates for calls between the two municipalities.

Pasadena City Attorney Tom F. Coleman Jr., requested the restraining order verbally Tuesday during preliminary hearing on a suit filed to prevent the telephone company from raising Pasadena's rates.

District Judge Phil Woodruff, sitting for Judge Wilmer Hunt, who is ill, granted the restraining order for 10 days and set a hearing for Dec. 3. It was believed a hearing on the injunction against a rate increase could not be held before Dec. 8.

Pasadena served notice last week it would go to court if Southwestern Bell attempted to raise rates, because city authorities said the company had not made a formal request, and, instead, had included the suburb in the Houston rate increase.

Houston rates were raised 35 per cent on a temporary injunction, pending final disposition of the case in an appellate court. The Houston city council had denied the rate increase and the company took the case to court.

Headly Sends Letter Of Apologies To Greenlease Family
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25—UP—Mrs. Bonnie Brown Headly has blamed love and whiskey for her part in the Bobby Greenlease kidnapping.

Robert C. Greenlease, millionaire father of the six-year-old boy whom Mrs. Headly and Carl Austin Hall kidnaped and murdered, disclosed Tuesday Mrs. Headly had written him a letter expressing her sorrow for what she had done.

"I don't know if this letter will do much good but there isn't anything that we could do or say that would atone for our mistake," she said. "I do hope it helps a little."

Hall, who is awaiting death in the gas chamber with Mrs. Headly, also wrote a letter to Greenlease seeking forgiveness.

In her letter Mrs. Headly said she went along with the kidnap scheme because she wanted Hall to have the money he wanted.

"She said she would have been 'very, very happy' living with Hall in her home at St. Joseph, Mo., 'but he had been used to more money. I wanted so much for him to be happy.'"

She said her mind was clouded by whiskey when she agreed to join Hall in the $600,000 ransom plot.

"I think anyone will find that if he drinks from one to two fifths a day for a year and a half that your brain doesn't function properly," she said. "Since I have been in jail is the first time I've been able to reason very clearly for some time."

Bride And Groom Die In Shooting
AUSTIN, Nov. 25—UP—A Negro bride and groom, married a matter of hours, were slain Tuesday night by a shotgun-toting assailant who first curbed their car and killed the man and later shot the woman.

Detective Lt. Merle Wells said a state police pickup was broadcast for William Polk, 29-year-old cab driver and former husband of the bride.

Wells said Polk's wife, about 24, divorced him Tuesday morning, and in the afternoon married John D. McKinley, 32.

Witnesses told police McKinley's car was curbed in East Austin by an assailant who thrust a shotgun into the automobile and pulled the trigger. McKinley was killed. His wife was ordered into the other car.

A few minutes later Mrs. McKinley was shot as she fled across a yard in a sparsely populated section of East Austin. Police said a blast from a shotgun cut her down as she ran screaming for help.

Snowslide Sweeps Driver 300 Feet

GEORGETOWN, Colo., Nov. 25—UP—Leroy Buckley, 26, a Georgetown garage owner was swept down a mountainside 300 feet by a snowslide Tuesday night, but lived to tell the tale.

Buckley was returning to Georgetown after towing a truck to the top of 11,992-foot Loveland Pass when the avalanche, shaken loose by high winds on the eastern slope of the Rockies, swept down on him in his own truck.

"I just saw a white fluff," Buckley said. "The next thing I knew I was going end over end."

He estimated the truck rolled straight down the mountainside from U. S. 6 in the heart of the huge snowfield.

"Most of the time I couldn't see a thing," he said. "When everything finally stopped, I found I had kept hold of the steering wheel, all the way down. All I could see was a little peephole through the snow."

After digging himself out of the snowbank, Buckley made his way through the snow a quarter of a mile down the road where he came to another snow slide.

Although the force of the avalanche shattered all the windows in the truck cab, Buckley escaped with a minor neck laceration.

Thwart Competition

In line with a recent editorial pointing out how the Texas Optometric Association is attempting to harness competition in the name of "ethics," Pampa has recently had an example of how another group, licensed by the state, is endeavoring to use its government monopoly to force a competitor out of business.

The case in point is a local abstractor who had a suit filed against him by the Texas State Bar Association to restrain him from the practice of law because "... all persons not members of the State Bar of Texas are prohibited from practicing law in this state."

All such legal action boils down to the contention, on the part of those who run to the government to regulate their trade, that some persons are "not qualified" to render certain services and that they must somehow "protect" the unsuspecting from those who are "not qualified." Such postulates, of course, are pure hogwash.

The issue is never mentioned as to whether or not this man's customers were satisfied with the services he might have rendered. It is obvious that in every voluntary transaction two or more persons must feel they are benefitting and, over the years, many persons were obviously satisfied or they would have gone elsewhere.

In short, it is our contention that the members of the Texas State Bar Association should obtain their clients on the basis of rendering service to justify customer confidence rather than attempting to eliminate, by law, those who do not belong to their "union."

What's Up?

News reports bring the information that Gen. Frederick von Pauls is now running the show for the Soviets in East Germany and Czechoslovakia and conducting the operation to exterminate the rebellious Czechs and Germans.

This recalls one of the great mysteries of World War II: How did it happen that the brains of the German General Staff managed to get captured at Stalingrad? Von Paulus and the other top military strategists of Hitler's General Staff certainly had no business being in Stalingrad at that critical moment. In fact they never had any business being there at all.

But when the Russians captured the pile of rubble that had been a city, out came the generals, unharmed. And all of them immediately became leaders in the Free German Committee which the Communists set up with the announced purpose of placing its members at the head of the German government after Hitler fell.

A Brazilian newspaperman in Moscow managed to send back a story, that was quickly suppressed, that the German generals were walking the streets of Moscow freely in their German uniforms.

Paulus' reappearance in East Germany (he has dropped the "von" apparently in deference to the policies of his new bosses) is following a long tradition.

History is replete with instances of German generals who have been "captured" by the Russians in the various wars and who have reappeared at the head of Russian armies to fight against their fatherland. In fact there is the record of more than one who fought for the Germans, then for the Russians and later returned to fight for the Germans.

The fact that Paulus is being pushed out into the limelight may be very significant of the Soviet strategy. Perhaps the next sinister figure to appear in East Germany will be Prince Otto von Bismark, another Free German leader who vanished from Rome in 1943 only to reappear in Moscow.

Who Pays?

A good many people still seem to believe that the cost of government isn't too important a matter, for all we have to do is soak the corporations and the well-to-do individuals and let them do most of the paying.

It's an attractive theory — and it's also as full of holes as a colander. The facts refute it 100 per cent. For instance, the Waseca, Minnesota, Journal, recently said, "Confiscate, if you will, all of the profits of the corporations and taxes, and you could run the U. S. government just 71 days."

Various authoritative survey have shown that if the incomes of all wealthy people were confiscated, the money gained would run the government for a similarly brief period of time.

Who, then, does support our unbelievably costly government? Another Minnesota paper, the Le Sueur News-Herald, answered that question in these simple and accurate words: "It isn't hard to figure out who pays the bulk of the taxes — it's you and I and the rest of the little people..."

Bargaining

By Paul L. Polrot

INSTALLMENT IV Employer and Employee

It is easy to lose oneself in the crowd at a popular market place. And the size of the crowd sometimes blocks out the view of the actual market procedure — the bargaining between one buyer and one seller. The employer-employee relationship, for instance, becomes exceedingly complicated if one looks upon it as a battle between opposing groups, or — as Marx put it — a class struggle.

The true nature of the employer-employee relationship may be understood by those who see that individuals are involved — two individuals — each of whom owns and controls something of value. These two individuals are not warring competitors; their object is cooperation in an honest effort to arrange a trade to their mutual advantage.

The employee is an individual who has a right to offer his services for exchange. In some instances, it may happen that the employer is also the owner of capital goods — land, plant facilities, raw materials, and tools. A man has a right to own private property — as much of a right as any man can claim to the product of his services. But whether or not the employer also is the owner of productive tools and facilities, he doesn't create job opportunities for others except as he offers his own managerial services in the competitive effort to please customers.

The manager offers his services, just as any other employee offers services, and the object of their bargaining is to determine a satisfactory exchange rate for what each has voluntarily offered. Their object is to combine their efforts to their mutual advantage.

The theory of the free market is that anyone who pleases may compete with other buyers and sellers. There are not to be any arbitrary barriers to competition and trade. It is recognized that many employees may be competing against one another for job opportunities. And the job-creating owners and managers are competing against one another for the services of employees. The function of the market is to find a level of wages which will allow these competing forces to work toward a balance — a wage rate for every job which will satisfy both the employee and his employer without compulsion against any person.

That's really all there is to bargaining, just trying to find that point on the wage scale which satisfies both the employer and the employee, and which will continue to satisfy both of them throughout the life of the voluntarily arranged contract. An employer hurts his own interests just as much by paying less than the free market wage scale as he does by paying more. His objective should be to find the scale of wages which just "meets the market."

And that is, or ought to be, the employee's objective, too. The employee who holds out for a higher than market wage deprives himself of a chance for employment; and if he agrees to work for less than the market wage, he may thereby lose a part of his bargaining power as a consumer.

DEFICIT DECISIONS (Wall Street Journal)

Treasury Secretary Humphrey said this week a deficit of $8 billion or $9 billion may be in prospect for next fiscal year on the basis of the present level of Government spending. His remarks are disturbing not only because of the size of the estimate but also because of the administrative attitude which seems to underlie the estimate.

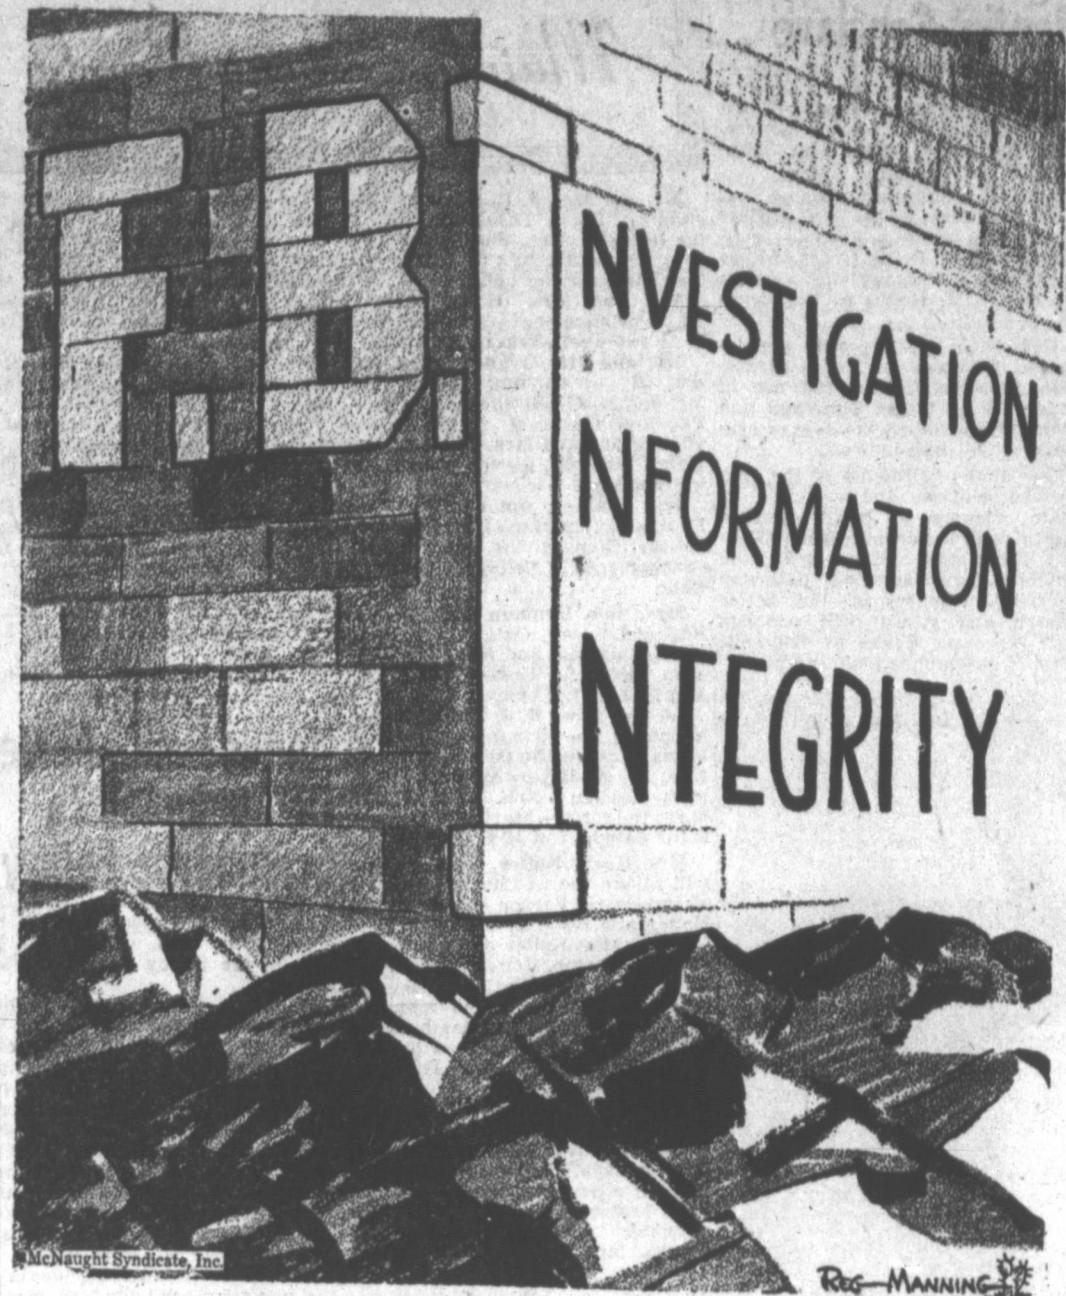

According to Mr. Humphrey, the Administration has not yet decided what to do about this projected deficit. There are four things it could do, the secretary said — accept the deficit, cut spending, raise additional taxes, or combine all three approaches. "The solution of this dilemma," he continued, "is our most urgent problem at this time." One would hope so; the disquieting thing is that the problem has not been answered long since.

Admittedly the answer, as Mr. Humphrey argued, "is simple to state but terribly hard to accomplish." There is the "delicate balance" between military security and a sound economy. There is the loss of tax revenue — $5 billion in fiscal 1955 as a result of the expiration of the excess profits tax and the ten percent reduction in individual income taxes next January 1.

Moreover, if Congress ignores the Administration's request to postpone the reductions in excises and regular corporate tax rates now scheduled for next April 1, the revenue loss would be increased by another $4 billion, raising the 1955 deficit estimate to $12 billion or $13 billion.

But to say that the answer is "terribly hard" to accomplish gets us nowhere; many things that

It's A Cinch... Company And Confidence Are Two Factors In Good Carving

By HENRY McEMORE
Much too much is made of the difficulty of carving a turkey. Let Thanksgiving come along, and men are warned to stand by their television sets to see how it is done. Newspapers print highly technical articles on the subject. Magazines run lay-outs, showing steps 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 19. Stores sell special and expensive equipment for the task.

How foolish, how very foolish. The turkey is very simply constructed. To carve one is not at all like carving, say, an elephant, or a giraffe, or even a lawnmower. It has no trunk, no ears to speak of, its neck is of a reasonable length, and, once baked, is usually very tractable. It just stretches out on its back on the serving platter and yields to the will of the carver.

There are but two basic ways to carve a turkey: One, in which only the family is present. The other is when company is present. The first scarcely falls under the head of carving. With no one looking on but mother and the children, and perhaps an aunt and uncle or two, the head of the house feels free to take matters literally into his own hands.

If the knife is not quite as sharp as it should be, a stout tug with a hand puts a drumstick on the table. Many people do every day are terribly hard and they get done. The Administration came into power pledged to balance the budget; and if it did not say exactly when it also led no one to suppose that the accomplishment would be years away. More than a political promise is involved, of course; for the Administration to assume it can indefinitely defer the day of balance would be an abdication of its own sound-money principle.

Of Mr. Humphrey's four proposed approaches to the deficit, only one is consonant with that principle — to cut spending to the extent that the 1955 budget can be balanced on the basis of the revenue Congress provides. What is necessary, however, is not only a decision on which approach to select. There must also be the more fundamental decision that the goal of budget-balancing is once again to be accorded the all-but-overriding priority it enjoyed in the early days of this Administration.

LEGAL, BUT— (Omaha World Herald)

Senator McCarthy and Harvard's President Nathan M. Pusey have been exchanging telegrams over the case of Prof. Wendell Furry, a Harvard physicist who refused to answer whether he had ever given secret material to unauthorized persons. Dr. Pusey said that it is his "information" that Professor Furry is no longer a Communist, and that he had never given secret material to unauthorized persons. Then, concerning Professor Furry's refusal to answer on the ground of possible self-incrimination, he went on: "We deplore the use of the Fifth Amendment for the reasons set forth in the (Harvard) Corporation's statement of May 23, 1953, but we do not regard the use of this constitutional safeguard as a confession of guilt."

Legally, Dr. Pusey is right. Refusal to answer is not a legal confession of guilt. But there are more than legal niceties involved. In actuality, for all purposes except criminal prosecution, refusal to answer a question on the ground of self-incrimination is a confession of guilt and should be so regarded by rational men. If there were no guilt, there would be no basis for the refusal to answer.

ENLIGHTENED SELFISHNESS by George Peck

A most interesting booklet being distributed by General Motors to its employees has come to my desk. Appropriately it is called, "GM Lives Here," as it is a guidebook to help GM folk do an increasingly better job of convincing their neighbors that the company's plant in their community is definitely an asset.

Should perchance a copy of this booklet fall into the hands of the editors of the Daily Worker or any of the other defamers of so-called Big Business, he isn't going to like it. It knocks into a cocked-hat the false propaganda propounded by the Communists, Socialists and Fellow-Travelers that industries are only interested in milking the communities in which their plants are located and contribute little or nothing to the general welfare of those communities.

In a foreword, Harlow H. Curtis, president of General Motors, says: "There is no magic formula for success in building good relations with people in any community. It is a matter of good conduct in what you do and say. In a large organization like General Motors, it is important that every man and woman understands his or her responsibility in this regard..."

Fair Enough... The Man Who Wouldn't Talk Raises Speculation, Comment

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
NEW YORK, — I draw attention to some phases of interest in the exploit of Quentin Reynolds, a feature writer in some phases of our journalism and the movies and an occasional petty pundit of television.

This fellow, who poses as a great war correspondent, did a book called "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," purporting to be the narrative of a Canadian hero of the British Military Expedition. Soon after the book was published, Don Collins, a reporter on the Calgary, Alberta, Herald, called on the impostor, George Du Pre, and, with a few intelligent questions, exposed him as a fraud and his story as a fake.

Since then, Mrs. Valentine Williams, of New York, an actress-journalist of distinction who served in British military intelligence in the First War, has come forward with a story written by her late husband and published in the Blue Book magazine in 1927 which she plausibly represents as the actual core of the whole exploit in fakery and gullibility. This story, called "The Pigeon Man," has been recognized as a classical piece.

Mrs. Williams, having read that the expose is stimulating the sale of Reynolds' book in a new guise of fiction, naturally takes an interest in the proceeds not only of the book but of all other and further uses of the story whether for television or the movies.

The idea was first turned up by the Reader's Digest which of recent years has evinced partiality to writers of Reynolds' unique talents and his political tendencies. I recall to you that the Reader's Digest published a laudation of Irving Brown, who is David Dubinsky's political agent in Europe and possibly an agent of our central intelligence agency and is at the same time a "Communist" type with no recorded apostasy.

When I describe Brown as blood-thirsty, I qualify that with a notice that his clique in the left-wing magazines and other publications have given us the confusing further information that he retreated from Paris as a base of operations against the Moscow Reds lest he be done to death or at least slumped in the mouth on some dark street.

He has no known record of pugnacity and an attempt to endow him with a wholly hypothetical record as a "varsity athlete" at New York University prompted me to inquire. The graduate manager of athletics of N.Y.U. then wrote me that there was no trace of anyone named Irving Brown in the archives from the beginning of time to the present.

Actually, Brown is a bureaucrat and a professional conspirator of a type familiar in the communist and union movements who tagged along after a mysterious person known as Jay Lovestone, which is not necessarily his true name, after Lovestone broke Stalin on a matter of rivaling Lovestone, though willing to go along in Stalin's world program, formulated something called exceptionalism whereby, as the American boss of the treason, he would have authority to compromise the temperamental vagaries of the American people.

Brown was all for that and, as I say, I have challenged De Witt Wallace, the publisher of the Reader's Digest, Lovestone, Brown, Dubinsky and Dwight D. Eisenhower, who also has acknowledged Brown, to produce one word of proof that Lovestone and/or Brown ever recanted one letter of their program through mobs with rifles.

Taken off guard and aback, Wallace, grown pompous in his financial success with his magazine, made the mistake of faulting me on my facts. I then pinned his ears back and he sent out an apologetic note to all of whom he had sent his original offending statement. He seems to have received an enormous mail for he had his form letters printed.

For my sins, I have been obliged to analyze many of Reynolds' old books and articles and, thus, I have found that he uses the word "lovely" hundreds of times as though to denote that he, a great, rugged, red-tailed hawk has a heart that any child could rend apart, and so many references to drinking during the war that one would be justified in wondering what else his circle found time for while our brave lads were fighting the four greatest wars of history.

The most significant phenomenon of the current case, apart from the fake itself and the great reporter's susceptibility to fraud, lies in the conduct of the clique of New York journalists. As though in response to some spiritual or political impulse from some headquarters, this journalism has rallied to minimize any overt fault or professional lack on the part of one of their very own and to help him laugh it off.

Ed Sullivan, of television, recalled a lot of literary hoaxes (without, however, noting that hoaxing as done by Edgar Allan Poe was an intentional and artistic feat and the product of intelligent skill rather than stupidity and professional failure. Sullivan presented Paul Draper on his program and hurried to the microphone to glorify Joseph Baker after her scandalous fracas at the Stork Club just in time to have her pull the rug from under him by damning the United States and exalting Peronism in Buenos Aires.

The Herald Tribune was in a fix because it often uses Reynolds to "review" books and thus to attack its enemies and because it had described the current fake as "artistry." The Times, which also uses Reynolds' reviews, dealt gently with him and he has been comforted in other expressions, some of them gratuitous.

He has confessed to cooperation with many things which were Communist fronts, always as an innocent and charitable pro-American.

The result of such association was such, however, that a friend, Nate Spingold, of Hollywood, applied, without success, to George Sokolsky, who runs a confessional of his own, for a writ of absolute libel for Reynolds. Another appeal same effect was just received and filed without decision.

These are facts to be weighed in the other pan of the scale at a period in our journalism and "literature" when integrity and honor are yet more rare than a day in time.

A friend of mine, having a little tax matter of $400 coming up to plague him, sat down at a typewriter one day and did a fanciful yarn about the private car drivers of New York forming a secret cabal during the summer of 1957 and letting Labor Day of that year as the opening of a dirty, remorseful traffic war against taxi drivers. Members of the cabal were identified by tiny red dots on the left rear fenders of their cars, symbols almost invisible unless you were part of the crusade and knew where to look. If a taxi dived out of a traffic line without signaling, four or five cars would hem it in and then creep along for several blocks. Other harassments were dreamed up and, finally, it became open war with cabs turned on their sides and drivers beaten sily by squads of citizens who had had enough of taxi rudeness. It was pure fancy. My boy got $300 for the story, and he promptly forgot it. It was printed. But he didn't even look at it.

The motor car driving public evidently did not forget it and in the last 60 days there seems to be evidence that at least some groups have been formed to do a similar job right now on Manhattan's bus drivers. Driving into New York from the country these mornings I have noticed groups of drivers hemming buses, cutting sharply in front of buses so that the drivers' roof have to jam on the air brakes, and performing other deeds calculated to tame the arrogant and careless operators of municipal buses. There is a city law, for example, that only three Fifth Avenue buses may be in one block at the same time. This has been a law so totally disregarded that, at times, as many as five buses have filled one block at the same time with resulting paralysis of traffic. Twice now I have seen pairs of drivers cut in front of the fourth bus and suddenly go dead. Traffic police come over, horns blow, the bus driver blows his top and the two drivers pretend to try to start their cars but fail. Shushing, they say: "Carburetor. I guess," and grind their starters without letting their motors start. Maybe they have secret throwouts of the ignition under the dash or some such dodge, but in any case they hold the offending bus back for five or ten minutes. Then, as coincidentally as both cars seemed to start, they start and go on. The driver is late, his schedule is disrupted.

I trust the law enforcement agencies will not put me down as a goon if I say out loud that I applaud this castigation of the most notorious traffic hogs in New York. All bus drivers seem to operate under the illusion that they are the kings of New York's streets. They cut far out into the street, they use the weight and speed of their vehicles to make life miserable for private car drivers and if the time has come for a concerted drive against these men I hope someone sends me a membership card and teaches me the secret grip of the undercover organization.

There are dozens of ways in which the driver of private cars can harass bus drivers. Driving three abreast at 15 miles an hour, which is the law for speed on certain New York streets, and thus preventing a bus from passing, is one trick I have noticed. The bus driver keeps keeping his horn but the trio won't break apart. The busman doesn't dare force his way through by hitting one of the cars and all he can do is slowly lose his mind, which might be a good thing.

I have never been told that any taxi driver ever read my friend's short story, but some of them must have because in the last week I have seen groups of taxi drivers adding to the torment of the bus drivers. This indicates to me that the hack boys have read the piece and have decided to get on the right side and work with the private car battalions. Instead of dots on taxi fenders as yet, but that may come.

In any case, the power of one citizen with a typewriter has been demonstrated.

Mrs. H. P. Mundy Speaks On Federation Of Women's Clubs At El Progreso Tea

The El Progreso Club held its annual Guest Day Tea yesterday in the home of Mrs. Bob McCoy, 210 W. Harvester. Piano music was furnished by Mrs. John Gill while guests assembled. Mrs. Knox Kinard welcomed guests and introduced Mrs. MacL. Hlatt, who sang several French selections. Miss Sheila Chisholm, who is the local winner of the "What America Means to Me" essay contest, and the guest speaker, Mrs. H. P. Mundy of Shamrock.

Mrs. Mundy, who is president of the seventh district of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Texas and has been a member of one club for 32 years, was well qualified to speak on "Accomplishments of Federated Women's Clubs." She opened her talk with a poem on Friendship, and said, "Life is sweet because of friends. Through friendships we find work and strength, which leads to a greater field of service. The ideal of club work is to be of service to each other. Life is worthwhile because of ideals even though they are seldom fully attained. From this service comes creative self growth. As we work with others we learn to handle our own problems; we learn these are the things that mean mental health.

"Membership in the Federation means being a part of the largest great movement of women to work for causes that improve home life, local and national government opportunities for women, children and workers and refinement and culture for everyone. The individual club woman is dedicated to progress; she seeks to educate herself about the needs of community and the world and to do something about it. The Federation is powerful, she continued, and needs the continued support of individuals in order to carry forth its aims and objectives.

"In union is strength and strength is the key to power and usefulness. A group of ten women working together can achieve 100 times more in far-reaching results than can one woman alone. The stimulus of looking away from the immediate things of life, broadening intellect, establishes relative value and results in better cities and well-informed women. Women united can insure competent leaders in our country, as evidenced in the last presidential election. They in financial affairs. She can change the course of industry. Horse and buggy methods can't sell the modern superwoman. She reads, and travels like she used to formerly. She attends political affairs and concerts. But there is still work to be done in this respect. Not all laws provide fairness to women.

men. They need to be standardized and broadened. At the recent Federation Convention in Austin, a committee was appointed to study the status of women in Texas.

"Our achievements were won only after a long and difficult struggle. Stagnated years ago women could not enter a restaurant or theatre unescorted. They could never be active in public affairs. They couldn't even hold prayer meetings, unless a man were present. In 1889 Emma Crawley organized the first woman's club as we know it. Then the Federation came into being. The primary function at first was the education of ourselves, but with an awareness of defects in our countries structure, we began to broaden our aims. Today the Federation's various departments serve many interests. Education, Mrs. Mundy reminded, "does not end with the award of academic award for formal attendance. The man who is educated for today and stops is not educated for tomorrow. It is an accepted fact that an interested mind and enjoyment of life have a very great effect upon our state of health and youth.

"This is the Golden Age for women," she continued. "This week has been designated by the American Home Week. Helen Hunt Jackson, a woman who creates and sustains a home and whose children grow strong and pure is a creator second only to God. It is through the Federation that the voice of women is heard. Through it you will give help and receive strength."

Following the talk Mrs. Knox Kinard awarded the essay contest prize to Miss Sheila Chisholm who is a Junior High student, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Chisholm. Miss Chisholm read her brilliant essay aloud. Mrs. Kinard, who is program director, introduced the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Rasmussen, Mrs. D. V. Burton, and Mrs. Bob McCoy.

Mrs. Sam Cook served from a table covered with a cut work cloth and centered with a colorful Venetian glass epergne, flanked by tapers. Approximately 40 guests were served.

Varietas Hears Motoring Through Eastern States

Varietas Study Club met at the home of Mrs. H. H. Butler recently with Mrs. J. G. Cargile, presiding. Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson was welcomed as a new club member. During the business meeting, the group decided to have the annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. J. G. Cargile on Dec. 8. Members were to bring gifts for each other and also for the state hospital at Wichita Falls. The club also voted to make a contribution to the United Fund drive.

Mrs. H. Price Doster was program chairman for the afternoon, with the program planned on the topic of "Motoring to the Eastern States." Mrs. Doster spoke on "Historic New England," sketching the geography, customs, and nationally-known products of each of the New England states. Especially enjoyed was her presentation of New England humor, in the form of anecdotes. She then introduced Mrs. J. G. Doggett, who spoke on "Famous Yankee Dishes." She discussed recipes and menus of New England. She closed her talk with a sketch of the famous recipes and meals of Toll House, near Boston. Mrs. C. L. McKinney gave the final part of the program, in the form of pictures on the topic, "A Week in New York." Since Mrs. McKinney spent part of the summer of 1953 in New York City, her pictures were very recent. The club viewed her trip. Beginning at the Lincoln Tunnel and extending through her many tours of the city and harbor. Her excellent color view of the sky line, the many famous buildings, Radio City, Rockefeller Center, Hyde Park and Statue of Liberty, and other points of interest were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Butler then served refreshments. From a Thanksgiving appointed table to one guest, Mrs. Wilson of Oklahoma City; and to the following members: Mmes. J. C. Cargile, J. G. Doggett, H. Price Doster, S. C. Evans, H. T. Hampton, J. A. Hutchins, Dow King, J. E. Kirckman, R. W. Lane, C. L. McKinney, Otis Nace, Ralph Thomas, J. C. Vollmert, and W. A. Wagoner.

Mincemeat Cookies

NEW YORK — (UP) — Canned or packaged mince meat is taken the work out of making mincemeat cookies, but the results are just as tasty as in grandma's day. Here is a favorite recipe:

2 cups sifted enriched flour; 1/2 teaspoon soda; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup shortening, soft; 1 cup brown sugar; 1 egg; 1 1/2 cups mincemeat; 1/4 cups rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned uncooked), and pecan halves.

Sift together flour, soda and salt into bowl. Add shortening, egg and mincemeat. Beat until well-blended, about 2 minutes. Stir in oats. Drop by teaspoons onto greased cookie sheets. Place a pecan half in center of each. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield, 48 cookies.

Half Thanksgiving Bird Better Than None

NEW YORK — (UP) — Don't let the fact that your family is small keep you from enjoying turkey at Thanksgiving or Christmas. Half turkeys answer this problem. Have your butcher cut the bird lengthwise so you will have a selection of white and dark meat. Freeze one half for a company dinner sometime later or share the bird with another small family in your neighborhood.

HOW TO BEAT THE "NOSEY NEIGHBOR" PROBLEM . . .

Garage windows, basement windows, pantry windows and transoms seem to constantly invite the prying eyes of "curious" neighbors. I've often wondered how I may block out these windows from which I'm not interested in obtaining a view—without blocking out the light too, or making the window too unattractive.

Last week as I was browsing through the local dime store, I chanced upon a product which at last solves this problem—precisely. A plastic coated paper called Vitropane is being offered specially for decoration and privacy of out-of-the-way windows in the home. Available in various colorful designs and frosted glass effects, Vitropane not only blocks the view of "outsiders" but lends a decorative touch to the window—and at the same time allows light to penetrate and come into the room.

The product is displayed in rolls and can be purchased by the yard for only 20c. I found that it was easily applied with water only and makes it possible for me to quickly clean the window with simply a damp or dry cloth.

If you too have a problem with "curious" neighbors, I suggest that you pick up a yard of Vitropane at your local dime store.

Mrs. Robert Huffhines Hostess To Ruth Class

Mrs. Robert Huffhines was hostess in her home to the Ruth Class of the Central Baptist Church, which met for a business-social meeting. Mrs. Huffhines presented the Thanksgiving devotional from the 100th Psalm. Mrs. John Brown, a visitor, gave the opening prayer.

Mrs. C. L. Hunter presided over the business session during which groups voted to take turns entertaining at the monthly meetings. Names were drawn for secret pals.

The Christmas party will be in the home of Mrs. C. L. Hunter, South of Pampa, Dec. 11, and gifts will be exchanged.

Game were directed by Mrs. B. B. Higginbotham and refreshments served. Members attending were Mmes. Hunter, Higginbotham, Huffhines, D. C. Bayless, E. B. Davis, J. J. Cormas, Earl Griffin, S. B. From Santa Fe, N.M., came one housewife's solution. The family of Mrs. Charles Caldwell beat the budget problem by doing their own redecorating, their own barbering, by changing oil in the car themselves, doing their own linoleum-laying and simple carpentry work, buying second hand furniture and refinishing it, making pajamas and underwear. Doing these things together, they say, makes work family fun.

NUTRI-TONIC Hair Treatment WITH CHOLESTEROL... THE HEART OF LANOLIN

This is the time of year earth seems to pause,

Her blessings counting: orchards, vineyards, fields

All harvest-ripe; the hillsides burn bright—

O mortal artist's brush such color yields! —

Line snugly housed for winter in their byres,

Smoke curling heavenward from homely fires!

Great Lord of Harvesttime, we also pause

In thankfulness to count our gifts from You;

Visions of peace grown clearer; all we love

In life—home, freedom, work and friendship true.

O nation under heaven so blessed as we—

God grant us grace to share abundantly!

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend

My daughter has a nice doll house full of furniture and she wants to give it to some little girl that would enjoy it.

She wants to give it to a little girl who is ill in bed with rheumatic fever and who would like to play with it.

If you know of such a little girl will you send me her address so that I can deliver it to her house.

Mrs. D.W.L.

Dear Mrs. L.

I don't know of such a little girl, but perhaps some reader of my column does. In such a case I will be glad to send you the address.

THE GREAT EVENT

Dear Mrs. Friend

This may sound foolish but, well, I'm expecting and my husband doesn't know it. I want to surprise him with the news on Christmas Eve.

It seemed like a good idea at first but now I'm wondering if it will spoil their relationship or maybe make him feel left out.

We've wanted a baby for more than two years. I'm going to do as you advise on the matter.

Mrs. G.P.

Dear Mrs. G. P.

I don't approve of wives' keeping such secrets from their husbands. In your place I would tell my husband as soon as possible. Not only because he should have the fun and joy of knowing and anticipating this long awaited event but because you may be ill. Many women are ill the first few months of pregnancy and it would be well for your husband to know what the trouble is if you should be among them.

You should visit the doctor as soon as possible and of course your husband should know about it. Please tell him right away so that he can share every moment of the great event with you.

WANTS A HORSE

Dear Grace Friend,

I read some time ago in your column that a family wanted to find a home for their horse where there would be children to ride it.

My grandson lives in the country and he has been wanting a horse. He is an only child, but has two friends his age and they would all love to ride the horse and I know they would be kind to it.

I would like to know whether the family found a place for the horse yet.

Mrs. R.F.

Dear Mrs. F.

The family must have found a place for the horse long since as many people wrote offering to take it.

Longhorn's Massey Picked On New Year's UP's 1953 All-America Team

By LEO H. PETERSEN
NEW YORK, Nov. 25 —UP—The Midwest with five players dominates the 1953 United Press All-America football team, selected in a nationwide ballot of 265 sports writers and broadcasters.

Selected as the 11 finest football players in the land were:

Ends — Carlton Massey of Texas and Don Dohoney of Michigan State.

Tackles — Arthur Hunter of Notre Dame and Stanley Jones of Maryland.

Guards — J. D. Roberts of Oklahoma and Crawford Mims of Mississippi.

Center — Larry Morris of Georgia Tech.

Backs — John Latner of Notre Dame, Paul Giel of Minnesota, Paul Cameron of UCLA and J. C. Aronine of Illinois.

Only one of these players, Latner, who led in the balloting, is a member from the 1952 United Press All-America team. Two, Cameron and Giel, were on the second team last year.

Latner, named on 249 of the 265 ballots, received a total of 2,624 points out of a possible 2,915. That was 17 points more than accumulated by Giel, who was named on 251 of the ballots. Latner, however, received 226 first place votes against 220 for Giel. The Minnesota halfback received more second team votes than Latner, 31 to 23.

Iowa Mentor Week's Coach

By CARL LUNDQUIST
NEW YORK, Nov. 25 —UP—They were two seconds and one "injury" away from the upset of the year.

The final score was 14 to 14 and it goes into the records as a tie but at a "victory" celebration he told the players and students, "Don't celebrate a tie—we won that game."

And for that "tie victory" he's the United Press Coach of the Week, Forest Evashevski of those belittling Iowa Hawkeyes.

To hear Evvy tell it, there was nothing so earth-shaking about that amazing showing over Notre Dame, ranked last year as the nation's No. 1 team. In fact, he said, the Iowans made it a point not to point to the Irish.

Unkeyed the Team

"My boys were no more fired up than they have been in the last three weeks," he said. "We did no special job to key them up. In fact we had the idea that too many teams beat themselves against Notre Dame by doing just that. So we did our best to unkey them. And I guess we succeeded pretty well."

"The fact that we did not fumble would indicate that we were not tight."

Despite Iowa's three defeats this year, the feeling is strong the Hawkeyes are one of the standouts in the tough Big Ten and what is more—they'll be "loaded" next year. Graduation losses will be light and the players will be more familiar with Evashevski's tricky offensive formations which are based on some of the magic that he learned under the old master, Fritz Crisler at Michigan.

Kept Linemen Honest

Iowa is the only team in the nation which uses a split-T formation with an unbalanced line. But that's just the beginning. Because in addition to that, Evvy switches from the T to the single wing when it is least expected. The strategy worked particularly well against the Irish.

"It kept their linemen honest," he said. "They didn't want to come charging in there, not knowing what to expect."

Not only did Iowa outsmart the Irish offensively, but the highly-charged line cut down Notre Dame's devastating ground attack so effectively they used more passes than in any other game this season.

Roberts, Oklahoma's brilliant guard, led the linemen in the voting, receiving a total of 1,891 points, with Mims, the other guard, second with 1,255 points.

There were close contests for the first team guard and tackle berths. Steve Eisenhauer of Navy was only 25 points behind Mims while Ed Meadows of Duke trailed Jones by only 19 points for a tackle berth. Hunter received a total of 1,078 points, Jones 1,076 and Meadows 1,057.

For the first time since Doak Walker of SMU in 1947, a sophomore made the mythical eleven. Caroline, the Negro speedster who shattered Red Grange's sophomore records at Illinois, won 1,748 points, 645 more than Bob Garrett of Stanford.

All other first team players are seniors except Morris, who is a junior.

Two From Notre Dame

Notre Dame, with Latner and Hunter, was the only school which placed two men on the first team. In addition to the two Notre Dame stars, Dohoney, Giel and Caroline represented the Midwest. The South won three berths—Morciu, Mims and Jones—with the Pacific Coast, the Southwest and the Midlands landing one each—Cameron, Massey and Roberts, respectively.

The abolishment of the two-plate system meant that each of the All-Americans played both ways—offense and defense. Each of those named was outstanding at his position and even the most pessimistic of coaches would smile to have those 11 players going for him.

Second Team

Ends—Sam Morley of Stanford and Don Penza of Notre Dame. Tackles—Meadows and J. R. Smith of Baylor. Guards—Eisenhauer and Mill Bohart of Washington.

Center—Matt Hazletine of California.

Backs—Bob Garrett of Stanford, Alan Ameche of Wisconsin, Bernie Faloney of Maryland and LeRoy Bolden of Michigan State.

Ends—Steve Mellinger of Kentucky and John Carson of Georgia. Tackles—George Jacoby of Ohio State and Eldred Kraemer of Pittsburgh.

Guards—Norm Manogian of Stanford and Joe D'Agostino of Florida.

Center—Bob Orders of West Virginia.

Backs — Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia, Jack Parker of Mississippi State, Neil Worden of Notre Dame and Leon Hardeman of Georgia Tech.

Honorable Mention Players

Those receiving 11 points or more included:

Ends—Miner, Tulsa, 227; Boydston, Oklahoma, 120; Allison, Oklahoma, 51; Tuminello, LSU, 40; Sagely, Arkansas, 29; Nix, SMU, 28; Bernet, SMU, 24; Pence, Kansas State, 22; Durrenburg, Houston, Kay, Kansas, Spring, Texas, 11 each.

Tackles—Chapman, Rice, 239; Fournet, LSU, 129; Hantla, Kansas, 75; Nelson, Oklahoma, 74; Gilios, Houston, 67; Gunlock, SMU, 50; Goss, SMU, 42; Gray, Texas, 35; Walker, Texas Tech, 29; Knowles, Baylor, 22; Brooks, Arkansas, Lundy, Kansas, 22; Chouke, Houston, 12; Hill, TCU, Robichaux, LSU, Scott, Texas A&M, 11 each.

Guards—Roberts, Missouri, 127; Williams, TCU, 76; Branch, Texas, 70; Paul, Rice, 41; O'Boyle, Kansas State, Dierking, Baylor, 29; Tate, Texas A&M, 17; Bowman, Oklahoma, 12; Hudson, Rice, 11.

Centers—Rucka, Rice, 253; White, New Mexico, 67; Burris, Oklahoma, 62; Broussard, Texas A&M, 23; Fox, SMU, Younger, Texas, 22; Clem, SMU, 12; O'Boyle, Kansas 11.

Baylor Pins Hopes On Davidson's Arm

By ED FITE
DALLAS, Nov. 25 —UP—Baylor's "air arm," a 60-minute man in the person of Francis (Cotton) Davidson, is the weapon with which Baylor hopes to counter Rice's roaring one-two rousing punch of Kossie Johnson and Dickie Moegle in Saturday's Southwest Conference showdown.

Coach George Sauer hopes to exploit the one apparent weakness in the rough and rugged makeup of the Rice defense in an effort to bring Baylor its first taste of a championship in nearly three decades and some desert in the form of a bowl bid.

For, even if Baylor lost the Cotton Bowl bid to Texas in event of a co-championship, a Sugar Bowl invitation appeared extremely likely.

Beating Rice Essential

But, first must come a victory over Rice at Houston — and that's where Davidson fits into the picture as the key figure.

The rangy blond bomber has moved Baylor nearly a thousand yards with his passes this season, but his efficiency doesn't stop there.

While the slender, six foot senior has connected on 65 of his 134 aerial attempts, nine of them for touchdowns, he has taken time out to push himself across the goal line five times, averaged a healthy 38.9 yards on 28 punts and made himself extremely valuable on defense.

Dexterity Fools Officials

His dexterity at hiding the ball fools even the officials at times as he fakes handoffs or pitchouts to his trio of fleet backfield mates, and then calmly flips a pass downfield while the opposition is crashing into what appeared to be the ball carrier at the line of scrimmage.

While he's averaged 134 passing yards per game in Baylor's march to four conference victories and three outside triumphs, Rice's aerial defenses have allowed nine opponents to complete better than 45 per cent of their passes for an average of 117.2 yards per contest.

On the ground, Rice has a firm edge with its twin knockout punches of Johnson and Moegle who rate one-two in the conference in rushing with 807 and 693 yards respectively to push Rice to a game average of 264.7 yards.

Up to Cotton

Baylor's spritely pair of L. G. Dupre and Jerry Coody rank third and fourth in the loop with 573 and 496 yards, but they lack that extra "oomph" that brings another yard or two in the clutch.

So, it would appear it'll be up to the veteran Davidson to swing the tide of battle.

Both Baylor and Rice will know in advance what they'll have to do to gain any title or bowl honors. For, the other figure in the championship triangle — Texas — will make its big pitch Thursday against the Texas Aggies at College Station. Texas can clinch a share of the crown by beating the Aggies and can gain the Cotton Bowl bid if Baylor beats Rice. But, if Texas and Rice both win, the Cotton Bowl berth will go to Rice.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian round out the loop schedule at Fort Worth, while Arkansas hosts Tulsa at Fayetteville in the other area games Saturday.

Restores "new car" power!
Increases spark-plug life up to 150%!
Gives you extra gas mileage, too!

All over Conoco land the story is the same. Every day, thousands upon thousands of motorists are switching to new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP.

What's the reason for this big switch? Why are motorists leaving brands they've been loyal to for years? The reason is simple: New Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP is the greatest improvement in gasoline since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922!

Motorists tell us they can actually feel the difference in car performance after just two tankfuls. For new Conoco Super with TCP dramatically overcomes the greatest single cause of power and fuel waste affecting most of the cars on the road today.

Combustion deposits reduce power

When you drive your car, deposits constantly build up on spark plugs and in the combustion chambers. These deposits can "cheat" you of power in two ways. First they short-circuit spark plugs—causing them to mis-fire. Second, deposits in the combustion chambers cause fuel to ignite before it should. This is called pre-ignition or "wild ping."

TCP helps your car—whether new or old

Whether your car is new or old, you can enjoy the benefits of TCP. If you have a new car, with a high-compression engine, it will keep on delivering its built-in power as long as you use Conoco Super Gasoline. If your car is an older one, Conoco Super will restore much of the power you have lost.

See what Conoco Super with TCP can do for your car—

Start the "TWO-TANK TEST" today!

- When your gasoline tank is one-quarter full or less, fill it with Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP. Now, there will still be some ordinary gasoline mixed in with your Conoco Super, so...
- Make sure your next tankful is Conoco Super, too. So rapidly does Conoco Super work that with this second tankful, chances are you'll feel as if your engine has had a tune-up. You'll feel a boost in power. Try it today. We're sure you'll stay with Conoco Super.

Delores Hawthorne Leads Gal Bowlers

"Delores Hawthorne won top honors in the Top o' Texas Bowling League last night at the Pampa Bowl, bowling the high individual game and high series.

Bowling on the Service Liquor team, Mrs. Hawthorne had 202 for the high game, and 719 for the series. Her excellent game and series led Service Liquor to a clean sweep over Poole's Drive-In in last night's team play.

Behrman's also made a clean sweep last night, winning all four points from Falestaf. In the only other game, Smith's Shoes won over Celanese, 3-1.

Service Liquor, with Mrs. Hawthorne leading the way, had the high team game with 719 and high series with 2,082.

Smith's Shoes continued to hold the top rung in the Top o' Texas standings following last night's play.

SUCH A FUS OVER A STRAY MUTT!

THORNTON SURE LIKES HIM-I HOPE NO OWNER ANSWERS THAT AD!

THORNTON! YOUR MOTHER PHONED-- SHE'S WAITING FOR THOSE GROCERIES SHE SENT YOU TO GET-- DON'T LET THAT DOG BECOME A NUISANCE!

Wash Tubbs

IT'S ABOUT TIME! FASTER, GOTTA REACH THIS STRIP OF BEACH THAT'S VISIBLE TO ONLY ONE MAN AS WE PASS HIM, COLLAPSE ON THE SAND, AND PRAY THAT OUR PLAN WORKS!

HEY! TH' GIRL'S PAINTED! SHE--

SO NOT! LEAVE HER THERE AND KEEP WALKING LIKE YOU WERE TOLD!

WAIT! DRAG HER OVER AGAINST THIS FALLEN PALM! HURRY, BEFORE THAT PLANE GETS CLOSE... OR I SHOOT!

THEN HE REARCS THE DUSTY PLANE, TOO.

Chris Walkin

THROUGH LONG HOURS, BARRIE PROBES SPACE WITH HIS RADAR, IN SEARCH OF THE ZUNAWY SPACE PLATFORM... THEN...

A BLIP! IT IS! SO IT'S SO IT'S BE O' CHRIS!

A SHORT TIME LATER...

THE BARGE LOOKS A LITTLE SHOR-WORN, BUT MOST OF IT'S STILL THERE!

HELLO, SPORTS... NEY! ANYBODY HOME?

BUT BARRIE'S FEET ECHO HOLLOWLY THROUGH THE EMPTY COMPANIONWAYS OF THE SPACE PLATFORM.

S'NT ANYBODY GLAD TO BE RESCUED?

Buzz Sawyer

JERRY, NO COORDINATION, BOY, I'M RUSTY!

THE FIRST DAY OF FLYING, BUZ TAKES UP A BEARCAT DOGS STALLS, ROLLS, TOUCH-AND-GO LANDINGS.

SECOND DAY, HE CHECKS OUT IN AN A.D.

BOY, I AM RUSTY! LOOK AT THAT BOUNCE.

EXCEPTIONAL FLYING, MR. SAWYER, UNIQUE LANDINGS, YOU MAKE AN A.D. LOOK LIKE A JACK RABBIT.

YOU'RE VERY KIND, COMMANDER, I THOUGHT IT LOOKED MORE LIKE A KANGAROO.

Boots

PUG, WHAT'S I REMEMBERED ANNE AN' JIM HANLY WHO GOT MARRIED?

THEY WERE IN MY CLASS JUST LAST YEAR-- AND IN LOVE UP TO HERE!

NOW ALREADY THEY'RE GETTING A DIVORCE! BOOM! ALL OVER!

MAYBE I'M LUCKY I'M A BACHELOR GIRL-- MAYBE!

Mutt & Jeff

MY PAL ASKED ME TO BRING HOME A DOG!

I'LL GIVE YA FIVE BUCKS FOR THE PUP!

NIX! I PAID FIFTY DOLLARS FOR MY PAL'S MONEY FOR THIS DOG! HE'S PART BEAGLE AND PART BULL!

WHICH PART IS BULL?

THE PART ABOUT THE FIFTY DOLLARS!-- HERE, GIMME FIVE BUCKS!

THIS DOG HAS A LONG LINE OF ANCESTORS!

BUTCH SALE ON FRANKS!

Bugs Bunny

WHERE'S MY FOOD? YOU TOOK MY FIFTEEN MINUTES' AGO!

BE RIGHT WITH A, BUMER!

I KNOW MY WIGHTS!

I'M GETTIN' IT-- I'M GETTIN' IT!

I'LL FOLLOW YOU TO THE KITCHEN IF I HAVE TO...

URK!

WHERE YA GONNA EAT-- HERE OR AT TH' TABLE?

Mickey Finn

SO YOU'RE GOIN' DOWN BY PLANE, EH, PHIL? WHEN DO YOU LEAVE?

SATURDAY! MR. TITTLE WANTED TO GO TODAY, BUT I TOLD HIM I HAD TO BE WITH THE FAMILY FOR THANKSGIVING!

AND YOU'LL BE STAYIN' AT ONE OF THE BIG SWANKY HOTELS?

NATURALLY! THE SEASPRAY TOWERS! WELL, BOYS, I'VE GOT TO GO HOME NOW AND FINISH MY PACKING!

IMAGINE HAVIN' A FREE VACATION LIKE THAT TOSSED RIGHT INTO YOUR LAP! CLANCY? HE'S THE LUCKIEST MAN IN THE WORLD!

MAYBE HE IS, AND MAYBE HE ISN'T! I'VE STILL GOT A FEELIN' THAT HE'S LETTING HIMSELF IN FOR A LOT OF TROUBLE!

AND WHAT WE'LL WANT MOST, OF COURSE, WILL BE SHOTS OF FIM PLAYING GOLF!

I UNDERSTAND!

Priscilla's Pop

I'm thankful for my happy home, And for my Pop And Mother...

I'm thankful for my little dog, [And even for my Brother.]

I'm thankful that I passed my grades, And that I'm strong And perky...

But most of all I'm thankful that I wasn't born A Turkey!

BULLETIN BOARD

ARTIST WANTED SEE PRINCIPAL WILSON ONCE!

THERE'S YOUR CHANCE, PAL!

IM HIS MAN!

YOU HAPPEN TO BE GAZING AT A GENIUS WITH PEN AND PENCIL, MR. WILSON!

I CAN WHIP OUT ANY-THING! LANDSCAPES-- PORTRAITS--

YOU'RE JUST THE ONE WE'RE LOOKING FOR, LARD-- FOLLOW ME!

FOOTBALL SHADYBOP VS. KINGSTON NOV. 28

WHY DON'T I LEARN TO KEEP MY BIG FLIPPER ZIPPED UP!

Susie Q. Smith

LOOK AT THAT! BOY! I'M GLAD I'M NOT OLD!

OLD PEOPLE HAVE IT ROUGH! YESSIR! IT'S SWEET TO BE YOUNG!

EASY DOES IT, MAAM.

CAN YOU MAKE IT FROM HERE?

Chris Walkin

THEY WERE IN MY CLASS JUST LAST YEAR-- AND IN LOVE UP TO HERE!

NOW ALREADY THEY'RE GETTING A DIVORCE! BOOM! ALL OVER!

MAYBE I'M LUCKY I'M A BACHELOR GIRL-- MAYBE!

Alley Oop

WELL, NOW I GOT ALL THIS ARMOX ON, I GUESS I BETTER TAKE OVER THE BARON'S HORSE, TOO...

MY POOR LIL' OL' BLUSTACE HERE, BEIN' A BIT ON THE PLUNY SIDE, I FIGGER HE'LL BE HAPPIER BACK IN TH' PASTURE...

EH, ELSTACE, YOU O... HEY, WHAT TH'??

Blondie

BLONDIE I FEEL LIKE READING-WHERE IS MY NEW BOOK?

I CAN'T HEAR YOU-COME TO THE KITCHEN

NOW WHAT WERE YOU SAYING?

I SAID WHERE'S MY BOOK? I FEEL LIKE READING

HERE, TAKE THE DISHRAG-I'LL GO LOOK FOR THE BOOK

I WONDER IF SHE THOUGHT I SAID I FELT LIKE WASHING THE DISHES

Steve Canyon

I SAY DESTROY THE NO-SEE WOMAN BEFORE THE CURSED FOX SPREADS TO ALL OF US! COBRA JOHNNY!

AND I SAY THE FOX HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH THE YANKEE WOMAN! KILL HER, AND THERE WILL BE NO REWARD MONEY!

HOLD! THERE IS A SOUND!

IT IS A BIRD WAGON! IS THIS A TRICK? WHY IS HE HERE?

STEVIE WAITS ANXIOUSLY FOR SOME SIGN OF RECOGNITION FROM THE PILOT FOR HIS S.O.S. BUT THE AIRCRAFT PASSES ON OVERHEAD...

Pogo

I'LL BRUSH THE BIRDS AN' BEANS OFF YOU, HOUNDOGS, AN' MESS YOU UP, EXPLAIN.

WELL, HIS BOOMBAH OPPERED TO COACH THE TEAM ON ACCOUNT SHE COACHED MY HARTY GUARDE TO THE CHAMP-PEERSHIP FIVE YEAR STRAIGHT!

BUT HOW COME YOU IS COVERED WITH BEANS? WHAT WILL NOTER DAIME SAY WHEN WE SHOWS UP PLAYIN' BEAN-BAG?

THAT'S WHY SIS IS A GENIUS! THERE'S THE IRISH LINED UP, READY TO PLAY FOOTBALL!

WE'LL PLAY BEANBAG AND RUN THEM FOWL-EGGED, GRAB A MIDDIE BLOUSE AND TEAR OUT FOR A PASS, ALBERT.

Alley Oop

WELL, NOW I GOT ALL THIS ARMOX ON, I GUESS I BETTER TAKE OVER THE BARON'S HORSE, TOO...
