Suspects In Huge Robbery Held By FBI

Family Of Three May Have Staged Well-Planned Job

BOSTON, Nov. 25—FBI agents arrested an ex-convict, his wife and college student son Wednesday in connection with the $381,700 Danvers armored car robbery, one of the largest cash hauls of all time.

TAKES OATH — Jack Back (left), chief deputy County tax assessor-collector, is shown here taking the oath of office of county tax assessor-collector by County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr. at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the county tax office. Earlier in the day, county commissioners had appointed Back to fill out the unexpired term of F. E. Leech, who died Saturday. The term runs through Dec. 31, 1954. (News Photo)

The suspects were identified as George D. O'Brien, 43, his wife Margaret, 42, and their 19-year-old son, George Jr., a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. FBI spokesmen said "others were involved" in the robbery but no further arrests were expected within the next 48 hours.

J. J. Kelley, special agent in charge of the Boston FBI office, said the elder O'Brien took part in the daring theft and his wife and son were charged with receiving stolen money.

The theft occurred in broad daylight March 25, 1952, when three U. S. Trucking Corp. guards left their armored car unattended in busy Danvers Square while they slipped coffee in a nearby drug store.

It took less than three minutes for the thieves to open the rear door of the truck, grab nine canvas bags containing the loot and speed away in a stolen automobile.

They left behind $27,250, most of it in silver which apparently was too heavy to carry.

It was perhaps the best planned theft since the $1,219,000 holdup at the Brinks, Inc., counting house here two years earlier. The Brink's job, largest of its kind in the nation's history, is still unsolved.

Served In Prison
Wiley said O'Brien, father of two children, was sentenced to a three-to-five-year jail term in 1934 for larceny and a four-to-five-year term in state prison for burglary in 1938.

He and Mrs. O'Brien, described by the FBI as a "housewife", were arrested at their home in suburban Wollaston, Mass. The son was arrested in Cambridge.

Earthquake Rocks Japan
TOKYO, Thursday, Nov. 26—UP—A powerful earthquake rocked two of Japan's main islands early Thursday, sending a "small" tidal wave dashing against the southern coasts of Hokkaido and Honshu.

Early reports indicated there was only minor damage and few, if any, casualties, despite the intensity of the quake which rocked Honshu and southern Hokkaido at 2:50 a.m. Tokyo time (11:50 a.m. Wednesday, est.).

The Japanese maritime shipping agency at Yokohama issued a general coast alert, but later reported the wave that hit Hokkaido's Boso Peninsula was only 24 inches high and did no damage.

A similar wave hit Honshu's west coast, about 40 miles south of the capital city, setting several fishing vessels adrift.

Back Takes Oath In New Tax Role

County commissioners shortly before noon Wednesday voted unanimously to appoint Back as successor to F. E. Leech, veteran county tax assessor-collector, who died early Saturday morning.

Reason for the 5 1/2-hour spread between his appointment and his swearing-in was the awaiting of a bond-confirming telegram from the Maryland Casualty Company, El Paso. The county tax assessor-collector is bonded by the county for $29,220.45 and by the state for $15,861.17. The premium is approximately $550 a year.

The county tax office will be open Friday and Saturday morning. Back said shortly after he was sworn in. It has been closed all week because the instant Mr. Leech died the assessor-collector's bond was automatically revoked.

Back, 55, of 427 Crest, had been chief deputy since Jan. 1, 1952, the day Mr. Leech took over the job of county tax assessor-collector. Prior to that time, Mr. Leech had been county tax assessor. At that time he was 50 years old.

Disposition Given In Bar Injunction
The deposition taken from P. O. Sanders, long-time dealer in Pampa legal affairs, by Court Reporter Bob Baker was filed shortly before 5 p.m. Wednesday in the district clerk's office.

Baker took the deposition from Sanders Tuesday afternoon. The action arose from the filing by Sanders of a suit for injunction—Grievance Committee of the State Bar of Texas vs. P. O. Sanders.

The suit petitioned the court "on a final hearing for injunction, restraining him" from the further practice of law.

Charging Sanders with not being a member of the bar, the suit maintains that "all persons not members of the State Bar of Texas, are prohibited from practicing law in this state."

Continuing that Sanders has "engaged in the practice of law in many years," the suit said that he "has manifested his intention to continue."

Refuse Request For Explaners
PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Nov. 26—UP—Neutral repatriation officials indicated Thursday they would turn down an Allied request to triple the number of explainers who will talk with 251 pro-Communist prisoners, including 22 Americans.

Allied authorities, hurrying final arrangements to interview the captives, asked that 15 men instead of the scheduled five be permitted to see them.

Canada Permits U.S. To Talk To Gounzeko

Questioning Due Veil Of Secrecy

OTTAWA, Nov. 25—UP—Canada reluctantly agreed Wednesday to let the United States question Igor Gounzeko in Canada about Communist spy operations in North America.

The Canadian government also set the record straight on its part in the Harry Dexter White case, stating that the only information it ever had about White's disloyalty was that which came from the United States itself.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson announced Canada had bowed to a second U. S. request to talk to Gounzeko, the former Russian embassy code clerk who was the key figure in breaking up an international espionage ring involving the Rosenbergs among others.

But he said Canada insisted the questioning be held in secret and reserved the right to determine what information should be made public. He said he didn't think the United States would learn anything new.

Discusses Mystery
Pearson also went into the mystery of the high Canadian source reported to have figured in early FBI inquiries about the loyalty of the late White whose career has become a controversy involving former President Harry S. Truman.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told a Senate committee that in 1946 a source "high placed in the Canadian government" had "commented that the loyalty of White must be assured" if he was to be placed on the monetary fund.

Hoover said his source apparently was aware "of at least some of the charges" which the FBI had accumulated against White. Hoover did not say that Canadian sources had supplied any information on White.

Pearson told the House of Commons there was no such Canadian source.

Third Friendly Power
Pearson said Hoover's reference apparently was based on a telegram sent by "an Allied security officer" from Ottawa to the FBI in Washington. The officer, Pearson said, was a liaison officer for a "third friendly power."

Pampan Killed
As Auto Hits
Large Truck
Leslie V. Boggess, 59-year-old resident of the Pampa Humble Camp, was killed about 8:15 p.m. Wednesday when the car he was driving smashed into a large oncoming truck 7.7 miles west of Pampa on the Borger highway.

Highway Patrolman E. J. Robertson reported that Mr. Boggess, traveling alone toward Borger, was rounding a curve on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred.

The truck driver, Harold H. Reel, 311 E. Slope, Amarillo, told officers that when he spotted the onrushing automobile he veered his truck sharply to the right, but he was unable to get out of the way as the Boggess vehicle hit the truck's saddle tank and dual tractor wheel, knocking the left front wheel off the 1953 Chevrolet driven by Boggess. Reel was not hurt.

An employe of Humble Oil Company, Mr. Boggess was dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital. Latest report of the combined ambulance and general drives was $40,326.95, according to Paul Brown, overall drive chairman.

Of that total $26,400.25 of it was from the advance drive and $13,926.70 of it from the general drive.

Brown pointed out that 98 per cent of the advance drive cards and 60 per cent of the general drive cards had been turned in by volunteer workers, adding that he hoped all cards "worked" would be turned in as soon as possible.

This is the Pampa community's first such united drive. The advance part of it was kicked off with a breakfast the morning of Nov. 3. The general drive got a similar start exactly a week later.

There are seven agencies included in the drive: Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Heart Fund, Milk Fund, U. S. O. and the Red Cross. Budgets for each of them were worked out in a public meeting last summer.

SHE DRIVES US CRAZY, TOO — Lovely Marilyn Monroe has been described as an agent of Communist-hunter Sen. Joe McCarthy by an East German weekly magazine. Describing the pretty screen star as a "super-blondie offensive against culture," the Communist weekly, apparently unimpressed by the blonde bombshell's impact, alleges Marilyn is being employed to help American forget the tribulations of life in the U.S.

Shepperd Discloses Red 'Master Plot'

BAY CITY, Tex., Nov. 25—UP—The Texas attorney general charged Wednesday night that three independent labor unions are engaged in a "master plot from Moscow" to strangle the state's huge oil industry.

John Ben Shepperd, state attorney general, accused the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers of America, the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and the International Fur and Leather Workers Union.

DPOWA currently is striking 22 firms in Port Arthur, Tex., a petroleum refining center, in an effort to gain recognition as bargaining agent for retail workers.

The unions denied Shepperd's charges. Shepperd attorney general told the junior chamber of commerce at Bay City Wednesday night that he had evidence indicating that the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union "is linked with the Fur and Leather Workers Union and the DPOWA in what appears to be a master-mind plot to infiltrate the unions of Texas and gain a strangle hold on all the industry of Texas."

Shepperd echoed charges he made earlier Wednesday in another speech at Galveston, Tex., and in a statement to a newspaper.

"We are beginning to see a master plot from Moscow," he told the El Paso Herald-Post, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, "aimed at obtaining a stranglehold on Texas mineral, port and petroleum centers. If this grip is established, the vast resources of Texas would be paralyzed on a moment's notice from the Kremlin."

"... It is now clear that the three unions are engaged in a master plot to strangle the Texas oil industry."

Mobeetie Loses
Toss; Haskell
To Be Game Site
CHILDRESS, Nov. 25—Haskell will be the site of the Mobeetie-Paint Creek Regional 1-B (Six-Man) football championship to be played Dec. 4, starting at 7:30.

Paint Creek won the coin toss that decided the site. Mobeetie Coach Byron Smith called the coin "heads" and it landed "tails." Had Mobeetie won the toss, they would have chosen Pampa as the site of the game.

Widow And Neighbors Join
In Fight For Foster Child
ALBANY, Wis., Nov. 25—UP—A "weak but still scrappy" widow left a hospital bed Wednesday to join this town in a fight for the return of her blue-eyed foster son, taken from her by the literal interpretation of a state law.

Mrs. Dorothy Tschudy, 28, was confident she'll get back blond little Jeffrey, 29 months old, whom she raised from an infant.

Laniel Requests Confidence Vote
PARIS, Nov. 25—UP—French Premier Joseph Laniel put the fate of his five-month-old government in jeopardy Wednesday, only nine days before the Big Three Bermuda conference, by demanding a national assembly vote of confidence.

Laniel posed the confidence vote on an assembly resolution backing his government's foreign policy favoring European unity. It was the first time since World War II a French premier has asked a confidence vote on a foreign policy issue.

The assembly will vote on the confidence motion Friday, only one week before the premier and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault are to meet in Hamilton, Bermuda, with President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Texans Expect
'Fair' Holiday
By UNITED PRESS
Weather forecasters Wednesday promised Texans a pleasant and fair Thanksgiving holiday.

A forecast of generally clear skies with mild temperatures and no precipitation was issued for Thanksgiving.

Wednesday found Texans taking to the open road and preparing for festivities under clear skies, with exception of a few clouds which hovered over the southeast section of the state. Winds in West Texas subsided but continued over the eastern section.

Court Dismisses
Suit Attacking
Loan Shark Law
AUSTIN, Nov. 25—UP—The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday dismissed a suit attacking legality of the state's "loan shark" law when parties to the legal disagreement settled out of court.

The Community Finance and Thrift Corp. originally brought the suit against James R. Steiner of Amarillo.

The firm sought a declaratory judgment on legality of a loan made to Steiner and his wife under an act passed by the 1951 legislature, known as the investment certificate act.

Steiner appealed, contending that in obtaining the loan he was required to subscribe to a savings account with the corporation and that the investment certificate act "attempts to legalize two loan devices for evading the constitutional limitation upon interest "of 10 per cent."

Nation Observes Thanksgiving Day

By UNITED PRESS
The nation's transportation facilities were crowded Wednesday with travelers rushing to join their families for Thanksgiving dinner. Americans throughout the world prepared for the annual observance, and wherever they were, there was no doubt what the menu would be.

Turkey dinners were available to Americans wherever they were. Servicemen the world over will have the same 25-course meal, including more than a pound of roast turkey for each man.

The weather forecast was not optimistic and rain and snow were falling over much of the United States as travelers took to planes, trains, buses and autos to reach their families.

Extra Passengers
Railroads and airlines planned to serve tons of turkey to passengers traveling over the long weekend. Many extra trains and planes were put into service to carry extra passenger loads.

President Eisenhower and his family were to lead the nation in observing its national holiday. They were at Augusta, Ga., and turkey was to be the main item on their bill of fare.

Twenty-two U. S. soldiers were doomed to loneliness by their own choice. They are the men who have chosen life in a prison camp in Korea in preference to the freedom established in America by the settlers who observed the first Thanksgiving.

Provid Special Delicacies
The Communists claimed they were going to provide delicacies to the men, but there was no mention of turkey such as other Americans will eat less than 10 miles away.

The GI dinner menu will include shrimp cocktail, cornbread, turkey, dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, peas, lettuce and tomato salad, celery, olives, pickles, fruit cake, pumpkin pie, grapes, oranges, apples, candy and mixed nuts.

The American colonies in European cities planned to attend special church ceremonies before sitting down to turkey dinners. The Army's special services division in Europe reported many Americans took long weekends off to visit Paris, Amsterdam, Copenhagen, Rome, the French Riviera, the Swiss Alps and other tourist spots.

BOYCE HOUSE

House To Speak At API Meeting

Boyce House, Fort Worth, prominent free lance writer and author of a number of books on Texas, including best seller "Texas Brags" will be the guest speaker at the annual election banquet of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute Dec. 2 at 7 p. m. in Borger, according to Acting Chairman J. W. Graham, Pampa.

Four officers, including a chairman and three vice chairmen, will be elected at the banquet, which will be held at the Bunavista cafeteria.

In charge of the preparation and serving of the food will be the Phillips Men's Club.

Husbands Sought By Paris Women

PARIS, Nov. 25—Thousands of husband-hunting girls roved the boulevards of Paris Wednesday, kissing unwary males.

Any male out of knee pants was fair game as single seamstresses from world-famed fashion houses staged their annual St. Catherine's day celebration.

St. Catherine is the patron saint of the seamstresses, or "midnettes" and legend has it that any of the girls who honor her will find a husband in the near future.

According to the rule, midnettes must be more than 25—the verge of spinsterhood in France—and still unmarried to participate in the annual festivities. For a day, they become "catherinettes" and wear the fanciest headdresses they can rig up.

With a blazing assortment of hats, 3,000 of the girls paraded in frosty weather while men gathered to watch. Some of them were costumed as rabbits or indians.

They showered males with confetti and occasionally a surprised man was surrounded and sent down under a rain of kisses.

Pampans Entered In WT Contests

Three Pampans are candidates in the West Texas State College "Most Beautiful" girl and "Most Handsome" man contest. The election is sponsored annually by the campus yearbook and balloting will begin Dec. 3.

Miss Patsy Stovall, a freshman, has been nominated for the feminine title, while Joe Snyder and Jim Baldrige, both sophomores, are among nominees trying for "Most Handsome" honors.

Twenty-four students in all have been nominated and the top six in each group will be presented at the College's annual Beauty Dance Dec. 5. Pictures of the winners will be featured in a special section of the yearbook.

LIONS MEET DELAYED

Members of the Pampa Lions Club were to eat Thanksgiving dinner at home today instead of in the basement of the First Methodist Church. Next regular meeting of the club would be Dec. 3.

White Deer Youths To Press Meeting

WHITE DEER—(Special)—Five members of the White Deer "Buck's Tale" and "Antler" staff will attend the annual convention of the Texas High School Press Association at Texas State College for Women in Denton, Dec. 3-5.

Going from White Deer will be Doris Carter, editor of "The Buck's Tale"; Patricia Hendricks, editor of "The Antler"; Sue Franklin, associate editor; James Huffhines and George Bagley, photographers; and Claude Every, sponsor.

Wilbur Peterson, professor of journalism at the Iowa State University; Don Burchard, director of journalism at Texas A&M; Robert W. Chambers, professor of journalism at TSCW; and several other outstanding newspapermen and women will be on the program.

James Huffhines, who is president of the Panhandle High School Press Association, will extend greetings from that organization. Professor R. E. Jackson, formerly of the TSCW faculty, and a nationally known humorist, will be the speaker at the annual banquet. Contest material which has already been sent in for judging included editorials by Doris Carter and Lovelle Vaughn; feature stories, and columns by Lovelle Vaughn and Wanda McAdams; sports stories by Roy Eller and Billy Mosteller; and news and sports pictures by James Huffhines.

Copies of "The Antler" and "The Buck's Tale" also have been entered. "The Buck's Tale" placed first in last year's contest.

Officers Staging Thanksgiving Dinner

City, county and state law enforcement officers and their families were to gather in the Palm Room of the City Hall at noon today for Thanksgiving dinner.

It has been the custom for a number of years.

Rains Slow Cotton Crop

AUSTIN, Nov. 25—UP—The cotton harvest was victimized by heavy dews and rain in parts of Texas last week, while the southern portion of the state needed more moisture for small grains, USDA reported Wednesday.

The weekly crop and weather bulletin of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, issue at Austin, noted that cotton harvesting made "fair progress" in northwest Texas despite unfavorable weather. The greater setback was in North, Central and East Texas, it said.

Small grain pastures continued to show very good development over most of Texas, although southwest sections of the state again need rain.

Fall grain sorghums in the Rio Grande Valley were reported "heading nicely" and harvest was expected to start there in two or three weeks.

The pecan harvest was active, although yields were spotted. Harvest of peanuts and sweet potatoes is practically completed, USDA said. Except in some rain-short southern counties, wheat, oats, barley and winter legumes continued to make good to excellent growth.

Most South Texas commercial vegetable areas reported favorable conditions. A new cold spell penetrated into the Eagle Pass and the winter garden areas last week, other sections appeared to have escaped hurt, USDA said.

Movement of cattle and calves to small grain fields continued active as additional acreage became available, particularly in the northwest. Supplemental feeding of cattle on dry short range feed in western and northwestern areas increased, USDA said.

UP TO SNUFF—They say goats will eat just about anything. This one, owned by Harry Cochran, of Fish Lake, Ind., has a craving for snuff. In addition to relishing the strong tobacco powder, "Billy" will sometimes chew up a cigar as dessert. Here Eva Cochran, 17, a Mill Creek, Ind., high school student, gives the goat his snuff ration. He snatched the cardboard snuff box out of her hand and gulped that down, too. Peering from a safe distance is her nephew, three-year-old Darryl Johnson.

Government Claims Inflation Near End

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—UP—The government reported Wednesday that living costs hit a new all-time high in October for the eighth straight month but its top expert on prices said inflation now "appears to be ended."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the increase in its cost of living index was due mainly to higher prices for rent, clothing, medical care, beer and such recreational items as admissions to 3-D movies.

The increase was big enough to give a two-cent hourly wage increase to some 1 million auto workers whose pay rates are tied to the index. The wage hike will go to employees of all major auto firms.

Shows Prices Higher
The bureau's mid-October index showed that prices were 15.4 per cent higher than during the base period 1947-49 and two-tenths of one per cent above mid-September. The total increase since October, 1952, however, has been only 1.1 per cent.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of the bureau, said prices now are "practically stable" and the index should remain steady for at least several months. He said expensive items are dropping in price while "low prices are rising."

"The period of inflation appears to be ended," he declared.

Overall food prices fell two-tenths of one per cent between mid-September and mid-October and were

1.2 per cent below the same time last year. Foods which dropped and might be considered "good buys" for housewives included pork, fresh chicken, apples, oranges and lemons.

Fruits, Vegetables Up
Fruits and vegetables were up one per cent. Substantial increases were reported for lettuce and tomatoes. Prices of eggs, milk and butter also rose.

Rents jumped one per cent and Clague said they probably will continue to rise for many months because they have not yet reached their "true economic level." Federal rent controls were removed last July.

Beer and cigaret prices rose one per cent and reading and recreation costs rose seven-tenths of one per cent. Recreation costs include such things as radio and TV sets and television repair services, but the bureau said one of the biggest causes for increases was the high admission charges for 3-D movies.

Study Navy Rank Doctor Needs To Treat Solons

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—UP—How much rank does a Navy doctor need to qualify him to treat congressmen?

"Anything other than an admiral," said Rep. James T. Patterson (R-Conn.). "I would object to."

The question of proper rank for the capitol physician came up during a House Armed Services subcommittee's closed door hearing made public Wednesday, on whether the Navy is top-heavy with brigs. It has 273 admirals, and members wonder if captains or maybe commanders couldn't have handled some of their jobs.

So the Navy explained about the Rhine River command in Germany, where a rear admiral commands 400 people and 600 boats; the Naval mission in Brazil, where a rear admiral gives advice; and all the other jobs requiring the attention of admirals.

One of them, it developed, was the office of the capitol physician, Dr. George Calver, a retired rear admiral now on active duty.

Rep. William H. Bates (R-Mass.) wondered if Congress couldn't get along with a stripe or two less on the sleeves of its Navy doctor. Rep. Porter Hardy Jr. (D-Va.) asked why the Navy should supply a doctor to Congress anyway.

Rear Adm. R. N. Smoot (whose assignment is assistant chief of personnel control) explained that the Navy had doctors available back in 1932 when Congress wanted one, and has been keeping a physician on Capitol Hill ever since. Since 1939, it has been Rear Adm. Calver.

As to the appropriate rank for this post, Patterson said: "I think if there is any office in the land that is entitled to a rear admiral it is at the United States capitol. I for one definitely will oppose anyone other than an admiral taking a position here on the hill as our physician."

time, the sheriff-collector was one office.

And that's where Back began his county employment in the fall of 1929, as deputy in the sheriff-collector's office. "Till the spring of 1930, Back recalled, the office was located in the basement of where the Combs-Worley building now stands. Before 1929, "I did a bit of everything."

He will serve as county tax assessor-collector through Dec. 31, 1954. His bond—both county and state—was effective as of the receipt by Maguire of the confirming telegram.

All four of the county commissioners were on hand at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday in Maguire's office when they went into an hour-long executive session from which reporters were barred.

After the doors were opened, Maguire told commissioners that they had two choices: (1) appoint Mr. Leech's successor "today" or (2) let the chief deputy (Back) handle the affairs of the office till the vacancy is filled. Commissioner O. L. Tibbets made the motion for Back's appointment, and Commissioner Paul Bowers seconded it.

Asked after commissioners adjourned for lunch why he had ordered an executive session, Maguire told reporters it was "to handle executive business."

Commissioners reconvened in the afternoon, talked over the matter of Back's bond and discussed the "internal problems which confront the court," meanwhile waiting for the confirmation of the bond. It was a long wait.

TAKING OVER — Dick Stowers (left), president of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, congratulates J. C. Hopkins, newly-elected president, in the offices of The Pampa Daily News. Hopkins and four others were named as officers for 1954 at a meeting Tuesday night of the club's board of directors. JayCees Plan For Banquet

Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce President Dick Stowers and his fellow club members Wednesday night were making final plans for the annual banquet Dec. 11 at which the five newly-elected officers will be installed.

J. C. Hopkins, present treasurer, will be the new president. Stowers said, pointing out that the Jaycee board of directors met Tuesday night to make the selections.

Other officers for 1954 will be Bob Carmichael, first vice president; Raymond Hall, second vice president; Ken Calkins, secretary; and Bill Carter, treasurer. Carmichael has been club secretary this year.

Hall, Calkins, Carter and Carmichael were four of the six JayCees elected to the board of directors Tuesday noon by the 27 JayCees present for the weekly meeting. Other two were Bob Quick and Bob Sybert.

Board members whose term was up and who were replaced in the election were Ray Duncan, Ed Myatt (resigned), Fred Myers and Stowers. Stowers automatically takes over the post of state director held this year by James Evans, 1952 JayCee president.

The annual banquet has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11, in the Palm Room of the City Hall and will feature the auction of Cecil (Stutterin' Sam) Hunter, Stowers said.

Beside the annual banquet meeting, the JayCees will meet only twice next month — Dec. 1 and Dec. 22.

The 1954 roster of the board of directors for the 48-member club will read Stowers, Hopkins, Travis Lively, Horton Russell, Bill Waters, Calkins, Carmichael, Carter, Hall, Quick and Sybert.

Condemned Land Payment Okayed

FORT WORTH, Nov. 25 — UP — A federal judge has approved terms of an agreement giving Camp Walters Enterprises, Inc., some $610,000 for condemned land and buildings taken over by the government when Walters Air Base was reactivated near Mineral Wells.

The owners originally had sought $1.5 million which they contended was a fair market value.

The agreement between the corporation and the lands division of the U. S. attorney general's office was approved by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

A total of 3,281 acres of land in Palo Pinto and Parker counties is involved. Under the agreement, the corporation was allowed $575,000 for the land and buildings, plus an additional 6 per cent interest on $104,275 for a period of about two and one-half years.

The sum on which the interest is to be paid represents the difference between the agreed amount of $575,000 and $470,725 which was paid the corporation on Feb. 18, 1952, under a disbursement order — a common practice in contested land cases.

Officers Watch For Lost Money

WALTERS, Okla., Nov. 25 — UP — Cotton county officers Wednesday were keeping an eye peeled for $100 bills — of them.

The century notes were stolen Monday night from a car owned by Paul Hood of Claude, Tex.

Hood told Undersheriff Hoyt Shelby he stashed the 15 large bills in a shoe which was left in a cardboard box in his car. He said the box, shoe and money were gone when he returned to the car after leaving it briefly.

'Lost Generation' Fights In Indo-China

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent
WITH THE FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION IN North Indo-China — (NEA) — At night the infantry in enemy country doesn't look for a place where they may still be alive in the morning.

Our company commander picked a hill shaped like a camel's hump. We weren't in the front line. We were ahead of it. The nearest French position was five miles back.

The enemy, in some numbers, was all around. We had zigzagged forward those five miles, taking all day, sniffling for Communist installations.

We were part of the French offensive into the highlands south of the Red River Delta, the greatest operation in two years.

The enemy avoided battle. He satisfied himself with defending, briefly, a small town and pegging shots from jungle and hill.

We had taken 20 prisoners and suspects. They were put to labor, including hauling my pack.

Everyone bent to, using the infantryman's short-handled shovel. Scraping the rocky hill was like denting an ice cube with a spoon.

The rear was radloed for barbed wire. Wire prevents surprise.

Two nights before this company of French Foreign Legionnaires had lodged in similar heights without wire. Communists, sneaking through a brushy fringe, were on them with bayonets poking, grenades blasting, before proper alert.

Fortunately, the attackers were short-handed. Fourteen Legionnaires died, an equal number shot and slashed. The Legion is perhaps the best infantry in the world, and the spilled blood was not all Legion — by three to one. In 30 minutes a Dakota circled overhead and parachuted rolls of wire at the foot of the hill. The POWs lugged the wire uphill, balancing bamboo poles on their shoulders in the timeless freight of the Orient.

After a wire crown girdled the hill, mortars were adjusted, foxholes completed, and little fires blinked. Soup and coffee warmed in steel helmets. There was tinned meat and bread and a few sips each of Pernod and a good glass-full of red wine.

Death in war is a gamble of statistics. We gambled. If the Communists cared to pay the toll could sweep us from this hill, like you sweep an insect off the tablecloth.

There are no human secrets during such a gamble. Men want to talk. I heard one Legionnaire's story — the story of a lost generation — typical of most of the Legionnaires:

He was 16, a mobilized Hitler Youth, at the Nazis collapse. His boots and trousers too large, he slopped around like a cartoon kid.

In British prison he lingered months behind barbed wire. Barbed wire is the trade mark of this century.

Released, he tramped home. His old house was black ruins. His family? Neighbors shrugged.

With others of his lost generation he picked at the garbage of bare survival. Escape came in the form of a Legion recruiting poster.

Now he was again behind barbed wire, a mercenary soldier who is fighting for three meals and companionship, his life expressed by the favorite Legion song: "My regiment is my only home . . . a family I have never known . . ."

We chatted under a fat moon. While it glared we relaxed. Around four the moon was curtailed.

Then it came. A Legionnaire nearest the wire saw movement. His tommy gun fired at the shadows. And movement was seen on the other sides.

In crises the Legion moves with the precision of a ballet. As a Communist machine gun fired out mortars ringed possible approach.

The prisoners talked loud in fear from their tightly guarded rows. One started to shout in a song-song monologue. He earned a quieting blow.

Night war is total confusion. The next 25 minutes were so. Maybe the Communists planned a blitz. Maybe they were merely harassing. I saw nothing.

There were many shots, many explosions. A few Legionnaires were slightly wounded.

Then it was still, and it remained still. In the morning there were torn bits of people on the wire. Any bodies had been removed.

Dawn, after such a night, is new life. The coffee might be made from rice paddy water and the bread stale as a long forgotten crust. They were delirious.

I left the Legionnaires as they began their day's zig-zag, their Red hunt. Tonight they're sleeping on another hill, taking another gamble, as the French offensive continues.

The lost generation is fighting the crisis on a tenno sea for the next generation.

Some are bearded, jaunty . . . or just bearded and weary.

Today's Thanksgiving Menu Is Same But Methods Far Cry From Early Days

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK — UP—Cooking methods have come a long way since our Pilgrim mothers, but not far enough to take all the work out of the Thanksgiving dinner.

The experts said the traditional feast may be prepared in four to seven hours—thanks to the can opener, the deep freeze, ready-to-serve foods temperature-controlled ranges and automatic dishwashers.

The Pilgrim housewife needed 48 to 72 hours. If hubby were busy with the harvest, she shot, cleaned and dressed the turkey. She ground the corn meal, made the hominy, grew pumpkin for the pie, and picked the cranberries.

One home economist says today's housewife has more conveniences than her Pilgrim sister, but doubts if she is any better off than the housewife of 80 or 75 years ago.

"Our grandmothers didn't have all the labor savers," said Florence Brobek, home economist and cookbook author, "but they had something else—help from cousins, aunts and the children."

"Now," she said, "a woman's lucky if she can get hubby to pile the dishes in the dishwasher."

The Pilgrim housewife cooked the turkey and other fowl in the chimney "oven," and the process took all day.

keys and other fowl, and fruit cakes all took long hours.

And then came modern appliances and foods ready or almost ready to serve. The homemaker now can have prepared virtually all the holiday meal at her leisure, stored it in the freezer, and have nothing more to do on the big day than heat it, set the table, and serve.

Pies Come From Can

Cranberry sauce and pumpkin come out of a can. Or pumpkins may be bought from the local bakery. Rolls need either a few minutes more of baking, or a mere warming up. Turkeys come ready to stuff, stuffing comes ready to use.

Test kitchen supervisors at Lever Brothers and General Foods say the time required to prepare today's feast is no more than the time required to cook the turkey. A 12 to 18-pound bird, for instance, is roasted four and one-half to five hours. And, while it's baking, you can prepare the rest of the meal.

"That is," said one home economist, "unless your menu is mighty elaborate, and there are four or five children tugging at your skirts."

Mrs. Donald Grah Honored At Shower

MIAMI — (Special) — Mrs. Donald Grah, and Patsy Turner of Miami, was honored recently with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Jim Johnston.

Assisting at the serving table were Mrs. Elmo Gill and Mrs. Ray Nolly. Refreshments of spiced tea, cake, nuts, and minis were served from the table centered with a bouquet of seasonal flowers. The honoree was presented with a corsage of red and white chrysanthemums, by the hostesses.

Mrs. Grah was assisted in opening and displaying the gifts by her mother, Mrs. H. C. Turner, of Miami.

Hostesses for the occasion were Meses. Jack Davis, Ray Nolly, Bill Riddle, Ed Talley, Tommy Quinn, Bailey Dodson, Elmo Gill, Grady Bailey, Rene R. Rattliff, J. C. Williamson, and Annie Keene. Approximately ninety persons were represented with gifts.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend

About 20 years ago my mother passed away, her mind a blank. About two weeks before her death my sister had a lawyer come to the house and they took mother's hand and signed what they called a love deed. My sister took over everything which was two lots with four rentals each.

We didn't say anything then. Shortly after that she got married. She and her husband and my stepfather sold everything off and built a new home.

Now this is what I want to know. My sister passed away last December. Could I by law ask for her share of the estate. My brother-in-law has children by his first marriage. He and my sister had none.

If anything happens to him they aren't entitled to all. My dad has been dead 12 years. I told my brother-in-law that my parents' property went into the building of his home and he said "I know it."

Is there any place I can go for legal advice where it won't cost lots of money? Can I put something against the home. I don't know what it is called.

Anxious

Dear Anxious

Since your brother-in-law admits that you should have a share of your parents' property, perhaps you can enter into an agreement with him to pay you what is a just amount. Discuss the matter with him and see how he feels on the subject.

"In any case you should consult a lawyer in order to work out the legal end of the transaction. I doubt if going to court would do you any good as it would be hard to prove after all of these years that your mother was not of sound mind when she signed the deeds turning the property over to your sister."

It seems to me that the only chance you have of getting something now would be for your brother-in-law to be willing to give you what he decides is a fair amount.

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Skelly Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Hugh Wall recently, with Mrs. E. E. Crawford, in charge.

Members enjoyed a demonstration of "How to make a sleeve board" given by Mrs. G. C. Huckins. The sleeve board was made from two large magazines covered with blanket material.

Mrs. Crawford appointed Mrs. Al Shubring and Mrs. G. C. Huckins as a committee to work on the Civil Defense Program. Miss Charlotte Thompkins, home demonstration, gave an interesting demonstration on pie baking.

Club members will meet in the home of Mrs. Ted Hoff on Dec. 17, at 10 a.m., for a Christmas party and luncheon.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served to Meses. Jimmy Crawford, Harold Gosnell, Oscar Carlson, E. C. Phi Beta Chi Hears 'New Turk'

"The New Turk" by Eleanor Bibee, was reviewed by Mrs. Roy McKee and Mrs. Bill Sullins at a meeting of the Phi Beta Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the home of Mrs. Creel Grady recently. The "New Turk" is a story of modern Turkey. Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Sullins discussed the phenomenal changes in all aspects of life and government in Turkey since it revolted and became a republic in 1923. "The Turks," they said, "are considered religious heretics by other Moslems because of their tolerance toward other religions in their country and because they have separated government from religion."

Attending were Meses. Stanley Chittendon, John Plaster, Roy McKee, Lemond Hall, Fred Meyers, Jim Poole, Ralph Essen, Martin Stubby, Travis Lively, Jr., Bill Sullins, Creel Grady and Meses Virginia Caughn and Joyce Warner.

Crawford, Hugh Wall, Charlotte Thompkins and to one new member, Mrs. Mary Harlan.

B and PW Women Have Their Annual Holiday Banquet

The Business and Professional Women's Club members entertained their husbands with a Thanksgiving banquet in the City Club Rooms Wednesday. Mrs. Homer Doggett and Mrs. C. M. Breeze presided at the guest book. The register and programs were hand-painted with Thanksgiving motifs by Mrs. Marguerite Nash. Guests sat at horseshoe-arranged tables covered with brown and white and decorated with miniature turkeys and horns of plenty filled with fruits, dried flowers and pine cones.

Mrs. W. A. York gave the invocation and the Rev. Richard Crews spoke on "Thanks-Living."

Mrs. W. C. Crowson was in charge of the program with Miss Faye Anne Porter, C. M. Breeze and Mrs. J. J. Rance assisting. Approximately 50 guests and members attended.

Yams Plus Turkey Equal Good Eating

NEW YORK — (UP) — One way to polish off the last bit of the Thanksgiving turkey is to combine the cooked, diced meat with another holiday favorite, yams.

To make yam 'n turkey, as gratin, you will need:

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
- 1 (2 oz.) can sliced mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk and mushroom liquid
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 cup diced turkey
- 1/2 cup diced American cheese
- 2 cups cooked, mashed yams (or sweet potatoes)
- 12 marshmallows, and parsley.

Melt butter or margarine, add the green pepper and mushrooms and saute until green pepper is tender and mushrooms are lightly browned. Add flour in the center and mushroom liquid and cook until smooth and thickened. Stir in the mustard and turkey. Make a border along the sides of a 10 by 6 by 2 inch baking dish with the mashed yams. Four the turkey and mushroom mixture in the center. Place diced cheese atop the turkey mixture, and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for 15 minutes. Arrange the marshmallows on top of the yam ring, and place casserole in oven another 10 minutes or until marshmallows are browned lightly. Garnish with parsley. Yield, four servings.

Skellytown PTA Hears Health Talk, Film

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Skellytown Parent-Teachers Association met recently for its monthly meeting.

The president, Mrs. J. R. McKernon, was in charge. Cub Scouts presented the flag.

CORN GOES IN CASSEROLES

Casserole cookery is an art unto itself. It requires a quick hand with spices. Yet no other dish has been developed which compares to it when it comes to making savory, delicious, one-dish meals—inexpensively.

For instance, our Unexpected Company Casserole. This is a recipe you'll appreciate when you have unexpected guests for luncheon. It features a casserole natural corn. This vegetable is an excellent basic casserole ingredient because its distinctive flavor is easily recognized even when combined with a variety of other ingredients.

UNEXPECTED COMPANY CASSEROLE

- 1 can luncheon meat
- 1 small can pineapples
- 2 cans whole kernel corn
- 1/2 slice luncheon meat, Empty corn into casserole. Arrange slices of luncheon meat, alternately with slices of pineapple in casserole on top of corn. Add 1/4 cup pineapple juice. Place casserole in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 15 minutes.

Dallas Firms To Hold Fabulous Fashion Show

By FAYE LOYD
United Press Staff Correspondent
DALLAS (UP) — Dallas fashion manufacturers have decided to impress the home folks as well as the rest of the nation with their style savvy.

The 47 firms in the Dallas Fashion Center have put together a glittering Christmas present for the city. It's an advance show of their fashions which will appear in 25,000 retail stores around the country after the holidays.

It's believed to be the first such show in fashion history and is available to any group in the Dallas area which wants to become acquainted with clothes in the home town.

The manufacturers complain that the home town women are among the least informed about the city's manufacturing industry, although they are the American Fashion Association, an organization of salesmen and representatives of other lines who show their fashions in Dallas.

Six thousand retail buyers from throughout the United States swarm into Dallas four times a year to markets, sponsored by manufacturers, and the American Fashion Association, an organization of salesmen and representatives of other lines who show their fashions in Dallas.

Sales at the retail level are estimated at $160,000,000 to $200,000,000. From the standpoint of the number of buyers who attend and the number of lines displayed to buyers, it is the nation's second largest fashion center, out-ranked only by New York.

Cub Scout Committee Meets In Skellytown

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — A Cub Scout committee meeting was held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Veal at the Skelly Schaefer Camp.

Mr. Miles Pearson, committee chairman, was in charge of the meeting. Mr. Oscar Downs, who was elected as secretary and treasurer for the next year, will assume the duties of Mr. Clifton Hanna. Committee members discussed a new den Mother's Supervisor for Pack No. 9.

A letter inviting all new adult leaders to Round Table in Borge, was read by Mr. Wesley Russell. This includes leaders for scouts and Explorer Scouts. A dinner will be served to those attending. Mr. W. A. Wallace from the Borge Board of Review was present at the meeting to review the charter for Pack No. 9. He gave an interesting talk of Cub Scouting to the committee members.

The next committee meeting will be held in the R. C. Heaton home on Dec. 11.

Funeral Friday For Oil Driller

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church for Lawrence E. Wills, 65, 1302 E. Francis, who was found dead in a Guymon, Okla. hotel room shortly before noon Tuesday.

Dr. Douglas E. Nelson, pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under direction of Dunekel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

He was a driller for the Cree-Pollock Drilling Company and had been in Guymon about five days.

OH, BABY—JURY DUTY—Little Merrit Spiegel, 28 months old, of New York, brushes up on fine points of the law after receiving a summons to jury duty. Daddy Bernard Spiegel, 32, who served as a juror only last year, thought the summons was for him until his wife, Mildred, 27, discovered that Merrit had been tapped for the job. Merrit will be impaneled when the Case of the Missing Lollipops comes to trial.

Air Crashes Won't Halt Use Of Jets

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 25—UP—Trux Air Force Base pilots will continue to use the F-89 Scorpion, an all-weather jet interceptor, despite crashes of two of the plane in two days.

Base commander Lt. Col. H. W. Shoup said Tuesday the F-89C crashed into Lake Superior Tuesday while tracking a Canadian C-47 that was off course.

The pilot, 2nd Lt. Felix Moncla Jr., 27, Moreauville, La., and radar observer 2nd Lt. Robert L. Wilson, 22, Ponca City, Okla., were presumed dead.

Monday, another F-89C from the Trux base crashed into a marshy lake near Madison, killing the pilot, 1st Lt. John W. Schmidt, 28, Del Rio, Tex., and the radar observer, Capt. Glen E. Collins, 30, Indianapolis, Ind.

Blame Russia On Treaty Deadlock

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—UP—The United States, Britain, and France Wednesday bluntly blamed Russia for the 10-year deadlock on an Austrian treaty and offered a three-point plan to start work again on a pact.

The Allied charge against Russia's stalling tactics on an Austrian treaty and new proposals to negotiate were included in identical notes delivered to the Soviet foreign office in Moscow by the American, British, and French ambassadors in Moscow.

The American note, made public by the State Department, said the United States believes "that nothing stands in the way of the resumption of discussion on the Austrian state treaty except the attitude of the Soviet government."

The western powers pointed out that on three occasions this year they had proposed that the Austrian treaty be discussed by deputies representing the four powers.

Ask Stragglers To Surrender

AGANA, Guam, Nov. 25—UP—The Navy urged the last 10 desperate Japanese soldier holdouts of World War II to surrender Wednesday, and sat back to await results.

The first phase of "Operation Straggler" was completed when ground teams pushed eight miles into the rugged mountains of central Guam Tuesday to seek the holdouts surrender.

Could A New Holmes Save Olympia?

By GEORGE TRAINOR
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—May be what's needed today is a poet to save Admiral Dewey's flagship at Manila Bay, the USS Olympia, from the same fate which once threatened the USS Constitution. As every school kid in America remembers, it was the poem, "Old Ironsides," by Oliver Wendell Holmes, which inspired thousands of children to give up their pennies to save the Constitution when she was slated for destruction. The Olympia, in the Spanish-American War, led the attack that destroyed the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. It was from her decks that Admiral Dewey gave the historic command to his captain, "You may fire when you are ready, Gridley."

Later at the ripe old age of 26 after three separate attacks and expeditions in the First World War, the Olympia was given the proud duty of returning America's Unknown Soldier to his homeland from France in 1921. Shortly after this trip she was decommissioned and retired to the Philadelphia Navy Yard. For many years she served as a spot for patriotic observances by school children and veterans' groups. But in World War II, funds which were needed to keep her in shape were diverted to other purposes and she deteriorated. Today she stands rusting and listing in a back channel of the Schuylkill River. Her hull and superstructure have recently been given a fresh coat of paint, but her innards are corroded almost beyond repair.

Living Costs Hit Peak In October

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—UP—The cost of living rose for the eighth straight month to a new all-time peak in mid-October, the government reported Wednesday. The rise gave a million auto workers a two cent an hour wage increase.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said prices rose .2 per cent between mid-September and mid-October to put the new index figure at 115.4 per cent of 1947 - 48 prices.

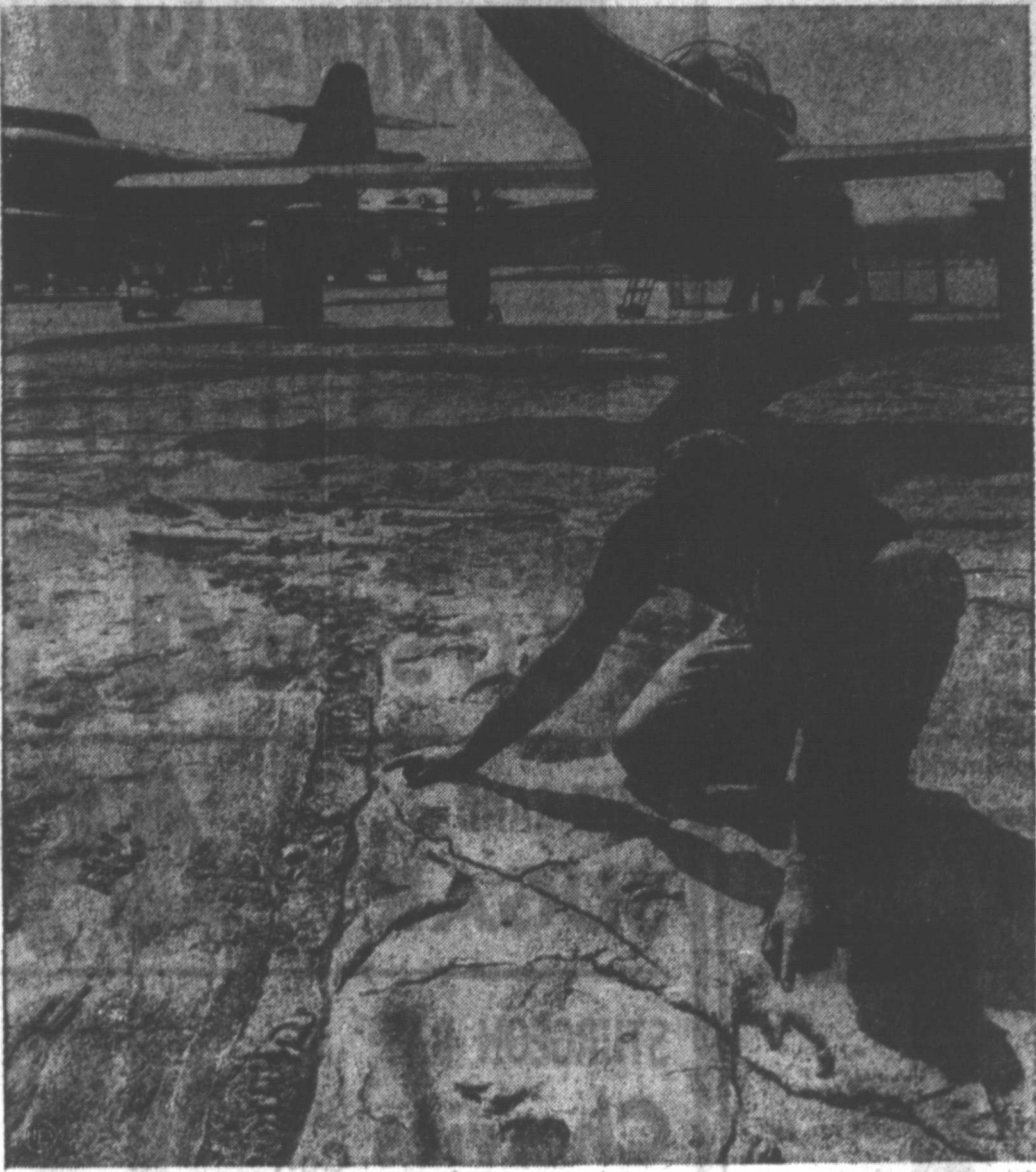

Higher prices were reported for housing, apparel, goods and services, medical care, personal care and recreation items such as motion picture admission charges and radios and television sets.

However, food prices fell .2 per cent during the month. That put food prices at a point 1.2 per cent below October, 1952.

Boards Award Subsidy Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—UP—The Federal Maritime Board Tuesday awarded a subsidy contract to the Bloomfield Steamship Co., Houston, for service between Gulf Coast ports and the United Kingdom and northern Europe.

The board found that an operating subsidy is necessary to enable the company to compete with foreign steamship lines on this route. Bloomfield is authorized to make a minimum of 16 and a maximum of 21 sailings a year with subsidy payments for 10 years.

JETS BLAST SANDS OF TIME—The blast of jet engines being run up at Northrop Aircraft's test facility on Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., has literally blown away the sands of time to reveal a past era's way of life. Powerful jets of the F-89 Scorpion interceptors have blown away the dry lake-bed sand to reveal, in solidified sandstone, the tracks of a two-wheeled cart and cleft footprints of oxen. Above, they're pointed out by Carroll O. Wheeler, Northrop technician. Old-timers say that a Spanish ox-drawn cart, of the type that made these tracks, took longer to cross the dry lake than it recently took an F-89 to fly the 1900 miles from Edwards base to Dayton, Ohio.

Catholics Observe 25th Anniversary

Pampa's Holy Souls Catholic Church, at Browning and Ward, will observe the 25th anniversary of its dedication Sunday with a Solemn High Mass of Thanksgiving at 10:30 a.m.

Celebrant of the Mass will be Rev. Miles P. Moynihan, C. M., the present pastor of the church. It was previously announced that Rev. Father Joseph Wonderly of Cedar Lake, Ind., pastor of the church at the time of its dedication, would be celebrant, but he will be unable to attend.

The deacon will be Rev. Father James Fitzgerald of Dalhart, a native Pampian. The son of Mrs.

Active Oil Rigs Show Increase

DALLAS, Nov. 25—UP—A total of 2,978 rigs, 20 more than a week before, were active in oil fields of the United States and Canada for the week of Nov. 24, the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors reported Wednesday.

The corresponding figures for a year ago were 2,853 and for a year ago 2,902.

A comparison of this week and last week, by major areas (last week shown first):

Oklahoma 389—376; Kansas 160—168; Rocky Mountains 285—300; Ark-La-Tex 203—200; West Texas-New Mexico 511—521; Gulf Coast 588—591; North Texas 343—353.

J. FitzSimon, D. D., Bishop of the Amarillo Diocese.

Servers at the Mass will be Clarence Marak, Joseph McNamara, Kevin Chisholm, Michael Dunigan and Fred Neslage, Jr. Brager's Mass will be sung by the Holy Souls Choir under the direction of William Haley, Jr. with Miss Delores Blymiller as organist.

Following the Mass, dinner will be served at 1 p.m. in the Parish Hall with W. J. Smith as toastmaster. The musical part of the program will be presented by the Chord Craftsmen and by Irving Akst, organist. Smith will introduce former pastors and assistants and 25-year parishioners. Mrs. M. F. Roche will speak on women's activities and E. J. Dunigan, Jr. on men's activities.

Father Moynihan will make a few remarks and the closing message will be given by Bishop FitzSimon.

Pampa's Catholic Church began in 1928 when a visiting pastor, Father J. H. Krukkert, found there were many Catholics in the area without any religious services. The first Mass was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Sawyer at 321 N. Gray with approximately 25 persons present.

By the end of the year, the congregation had grown too large for the Sawyer home, so Mass was said in the American Legion Hall, located where the City Fire Department now stands. There were no chairs and the congregation had to kneel all during the service. A table served as an altar.

After that, Mass was held in the Grand theater until it burned and then in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, then located in the White Deer Land Company building.

In 1928, the present church was completed and was dedicated on Nov. 29. Mrs. Lynn Boyd was director of the choir at the time and Mrs. A. D. McNamara was organist. Father Wonderly was the pastor.

In 1931, the rectory was completed next to the church and in 1937 the parochial school was dedicated, with an enrollment of 100 pupils, 30 of whom were non-Catholics and two were of the Jewish faith. Today, there are 142 pupils, 10 of whom are non-Catholics.

At present the church buildings include the church itself, the rectory, the parochial school, the convent of the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word, and the Parish Hall. Father Moynihan is the pastor and Rev. Francis Kuntz C. M. is the assistant. There are 800 members of the parish.

Political Fight May Shadow Needs

AUSTIN, Nov. 25—UP—House Speaker Reuben E. Senterfitt, the only announced gubernatorial candidate, said in a state-wide radio speech that factional battles among Texas Democrats should not obscure needs for improvements of state government.

"There is going to be a fight over the state executive committee of the Texas Democratic Party next year," Senterfitt said Tuesday night. "The needs of Texas, and a program designated to meet those needs should not be obscured by the heat of such a fight."

The 35-year-old San Saba attorney and House leader spoke in general terms and named no names. He declined to say what he would do if Gov. Allan Shivers should seek re-election.

Senterfitt called for a sound and permanent spending policy in Texas, greater responsibility for agency and department heads in state government, separation of mental patients according to type of treatment required, a "long-range, realistic program" for highways, "coordination" of higher education and "positive action by our state government" to solve water problems.

Senterfitt, who announced plans last month to run for governor in 1954, said his "program for the progress of Texas is simple enough to be workable, practical enough to merit the support of all our citizens and economical enough to be within our just and fair capabilities."

He said the factional battle "will be between Texas Democrats" and the "basic issues" are national in their scope rather than state or local.

"It is my conviction," he said "that someone should stand up and say to all concerned that we must not allow the din of that debate to obscure our present need to carry forward a program for the improvement of our state government and state services and the fulfillment of our state responsibilities."

"Well, what about that one? He's uglier than a mud fence and dumber than all-get-out—but he doesn't eat much!"

'Touching' Story Might Be Hoax

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 25—UP—Last Sunday a young man who gave the name of Daniel McGraw touched the hearts of sympathetic church-goers when he told how a Michigan tornado wiped out his family of five and left him hospitalized for months.

Wednesday, they're looking for the man. They think he touched their pocketbooks, too.

The man told his story of suffering and sorrow at Woodlawn Methodist Church during Sunday services. Appearing in a suit and wearing a big white Stetson hat, he even showed church-goers a tornado-inflicted scar behind his ear. He showed pictures of his "dead brother and mother who once attended this church."

When the young man answered an invitation to join the church at the close of services and talked to the Rev. J. R. Hilliard, members of the church dug down and gave $5. Rev. Hilliard promised more, but the young man never returned for it.

Heart Attack Kills Instructor At HPC

BROWNWOOD Tex. Nov. 25—UP—Funeral services were scheduled for Friday for Dr. Clyde W. Taylor Howard Payne College education instructor who died from a heart attack Tuesday.

Taylor who was with Howard Payne since 1947, served many years as a high school educator in Phoenix, Ariz. and was author of "Public Administration in Arizona" a textbook used in the state's school system.

He was a native of Missouri and received his doctorate degree from the University of Missouri.

'Get-Rich-Quick' Letters Spread

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—UP—"Get-rich-quick" chain letters are springing up all around the country again, and the Post Office Department is trying to crack down on them.

A spokesman said the department has received more than 1,000 complaints in the last two months about chain letters. The complaints have come from all 48 states.

The chain letters, similar to the "pyramid clubs" of several years ago, work like this:

Each person solicited is asked to send $2 to the top name on a list of five. Then he is supposed to move the other names up, put his own in fifth place, and send copies of the letters to five other persons. He is assured he stands to collect $6,250 when his own name reached the top—provided no one "breaks the chain."

The department has sent notices to several hundred persons listed in chain letters that they are violating the postal lottery and fraud laws. The notices ask them to return an affidavit that they have stopped taking part in the scheme. Otherwise, the department could issue a "fraud order" stopping mail deliveries to them.

So far, everyone who got a notice has returned an affidavit.

MAID OF COTTON — A Pampa girl has been selected as Maid of Cotton in the fourth annual South Plains Maid of Cotton contest. Miss Ann Perkins, above, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Perkins, 1139 N. Russell, will receive a free airline ticket to Memphis, Tenn., where she will be a contestant in the national Maid of Cotton contest Jan. 2-6. A sophomore student at Texas Technological college in Lubbock, Miss Perkins was selected from among 21 girls entered in the contest.

Thanksgiving

At a time when we are horror-stricken at the atrocity reports from Korea, frustrated by the roadblocks in the way of Korean peace, disgusted with the apathy of our European partners toward their own salvation and sick at heart over the sell-out of our own trusted public servants to Communism, it may seem haven't much for which to raise poems of Thanksgiving.

But we can still agree that the Pilgrims sparked one of the world's great ideas when they decided to risk their lives and assume unpredictable hardships in an all-out effort to found a new way of life for themselves and their descendants in a new hemisphere. And if that resolute band who survived the first winter on a more desolate coast than they had headed for, in a more rigorous climate than they expected, and hemmed in by the most savage of all the aborigines in North America, felt the urge to give thanks to the Almighty... then so, perhaps, should we.

We can be thankful that the way of life they founded has thus far been preserved to us. We can be thankful for the bounty of our land. We can be thankful for the progress in the arts, in science and in industry that have given the nation strength, and brought the economic equality of man far closer than in any other land. We can be thankful that we still pray to the God of the Pilgrims.

But, in giving thanks, we should pray too for courage, for intelligence, for renewal of that richest bequest of our forefathers—the spirit to conquer. For we shall need this our utmost courage to retain our freedom in this world divided. We must have courage to snare — for those nation where the flame is dying, and only the embers of freedom glow. We shall need the intelligence to make full and proper use of the bounty of our fields, so that it shall not be wasted, and destroyed — as it has been — while millions hungered. And we shall need to continue and advance our efforts to make more and better things for more people... for that is the true road to peace.

Above all, we can give thanks that these opportunities are still ours.

Real Partners

Here's a fact that will come as a surprise to most people: In a large number of leading businesses the investors — those whose savings provide the tools — actually are as numerous as the employees who use the tools.

The Exchange magazine has compiled a list of 20 such businesses, operating in diverse fields including steel, automobile equipment, merchandising, household appliances, and so on. As of a late date, these concerns employed a total of 1,282,977 men and women — and they had 1,305,619 share owners, a difference of less than two percent.

This is not true of all industry, and cases could be cited where the number of share holders and of employees are far apart. But it shows that the investor, about whose problems we hear relatively little, is both a large and a vitally important segment of our population.

A substantial and swiftly increasing proportion of investors in the shares of industry consists of employed men and women. More and more of these people are using a part of their savings to buy stocks both in the concerns which employ them and in other businesses in which they have faith. And a growing number of corporations have established payroll-deduction plans whereby the employees who wish to do so can buy stocks in a systematic, month-after-month fashion.

What it all adds up to is that the investor and the worker are partners, each dependent on the profitable operation of business. And they are increasingly becoming one and the same person.

Effective Ally

The National Grange Monthly recently ran an article in which it discussed some of the tremendous changes that have taken place on the farm in a span of years.

In 1920, it said, each farmer had about 5.2 horsepower at his command. In 1950 he had 33 horsepower, and he has more today. Agriculture has become the largest user of power in the country. To quote the magazine directly, "The American farmer can afford a tractor to cultivate his land, machines to do various kinds of work, a truck to haul his produce to market, and an automobile for the family... He can send his son to high school and college, and have other advantages that tillers of the soil never before have known anywhere."

We all know how the machine utterly transformed the manufacturing industry. The machine's transformation of the arts of agriculture is no less thorough. And, just as the machines that industry uses today are infinitely superior to those of the past, modern farm machines are so much better than their predecessors as to almost defy comparison. And their capabilities are not confined to making possible greater and more efficient production of food and fiber at a lower cost. The machine is the farmer's most effective ally in improving and conserving irreplaceable soil.

Today's farming is a business. The machine has made it that.

Bargaining

By Paul L. Polrot

INSTALLMENT V

The Value of a Service

Much of the dissension about wages arises from a failure to distinguish between the worth of an individual as such, and the value, for purposes of exchange, of the services offered by the individual. Among free men, the worth of an individual is not a matter to be determined in an economic sense. Certainly that problem is beyond the scope of this study, for we are not discussing the buying or selling of human beings. The purpose of bargaining, in this respect, is to arrive at the market value or exchange price of specific services voluntarily offered by individuals. A man offers to sell eight hours of his day in order that he may better utilize the balance of his day according to his own choice.

According to the expressions of preference in a free market, a higher exchange price may be offered for the services of one person than for another's services. There is great variation in the productive capacity of different individuals. This is as true among so-called hourly workers as it is among managerial workers. The efficiency of the capitalistic system stems from its tendency to concentrate the management of productive operations under the direction of the most capable managers. So it happens that a good manager may serve to coordinate the productive services of a large number of employees.

The control of capital also tends to be concentrated in the hands of the best managers. The owners of property — and to a large extent, they are simply those workers who have spent less than they earned — sometimes find it desirable to pool their property so as to attract the managerial services of an expert. Stockholders thus hire corporation management — agree to pay a manager for his services to them.

In order to best serve the interests of stockholders, the manager must be capable of coordinating the services of many individual employees in a way that is sufficiently satisfactory to each employee to attract that employee from alternative opportunities for the use of his services. So it is that a good manager serves a group of employees, all in the interest of better service to customers. He serves to the extent that he is able to improve the productivity of all the property and all the labor which has voluntarily sought his management.

Labor and Capital
In many instances, employees voluntarily purchase shares of stock in the corporation which employs them. This is sort of a double vote of confidence in the hired manager. The hired manager is obliged to try to satisfy consumers and at the same time to look after the interests of stockholders as well as the interests of employees. If he begins to respond over-generously to employee demands, to the detriment of stockholder interests, the stockholders may fire the manager or, at least, refuse to place any additional capital under his direction. On the other hand, if the manager thinks he can favor his stockholders by paying less than going market wages, he will also be mistaken because his best employees will begin moving to the better job opportunities offered by other employers. Thus, the market will not tolerate a dishonesty on the part of management.

A business manager, interested in preserving his own job, is obliged to meet competitive bids for the use of capital and for the services of employees. He faces constant competition from other managers. It is this competitive bargaining which determines a manager's salary, an employee's wages, a stockholder's return on his investment. This is the market method of determining the rates at which free men will voluntarily exchange goods and services with one another.

Many persons seem to agree that the market method of price and wage determination is fine in theory. But they then reject the theory as being impractical, because they say we do not have conditions of "perfect" competition. It seems to be their belief that competition isn't effective unless every person in the world is actively competing with every other person relative to the possession of every piece of property or to the performance of every creative task in the world. But to suggest that all of us ought to be competing as opera singers, regardless of our abilities or desires, is to take the whole concept of competition out of its frame of reference to a free market. Competition is "perfect" as it needs to be whenever those who want to compete are free to try it.

National Whirligig... White Involvement In S. A. Is Object Of Investigation

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Harry Dexter White's possible involvement in Communist infiltration of the Federal Reserve System, then to the Foreign Economic Administration, and visited China as F.D. R.'s emissary. He was then a White House secretary, handling extremely confidential matters.

PROTECTED SILVERMASTER — Miss Bentley testified that Currie's influence enabled the Reds to infiltrate spies into the Government, to obtain promotions and transfers placing them in more sensitive positions, and to cover the Capital like a blanket. One subversive he protected against Army Intelligence protests was Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, who headed one of the two rings for which she acted as courier.

Currie was deeply involved in the activities of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is alleged to have influenced former Secretary George C. Marshall to withhold military and economic aid from Chiang Kai-shek, thus enabling the Communist to conquer China. One indictment of Owen Lattimore is based on his denial that Currie permitted the Baltimore propagandist to handle confidential mail during Currie's absence from duty.

HID BEHIND FIFTH AMENDMENT — Almost every witness questioned by the Jenner Committee hid behind the Fifth Amendment, even when asked the simple question of whether they knew Currie. They seemed to think that admission of a mere acquaintance would incriminate them. The famous Berle memo, based on data given the former Assistant Secretary of State by Whittaker Chambers 14 years ago, says:

"Lauchlin Currie was a fellow traveler, helped various Communists, but never went all the way."

BID FOR A SMILE

First Recent Bride — My husband is so finicky. For instance, he wants a toaster bag inside the pill shoe container in our cute little refuse container in the kitchen.
Second Recent Bride — Well, do you think that's being finicky? My husband wants me to plan one hot meal every week just for practice in case his mother comes to stay with us this winter.
Wife (intense with excitement) — Well, what happened when you asked the boss for a raise?
Hubby — Why, he was like a lamb.
Wife — What did he say?
Hubby — Bas.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

"When I want something important done, I give it to the busiest man in the office and the job's guaranteed."

That maxim has been attributed to many successful executives, including Harry Dravitz, president of Rosemere Enterprises of Brooklyn, N.Y. Only Dravitz gives the saying a new wrinkle: He constantly applies it to himself.

In the precarious days of 1932, Harry Dravitz was up to his ears in the detail of getting his garden-variety firm on its feet. He had four future-minded associates, including his loyal wife Rose, all working night and day to keep Rosemere Enterprises in business.

One day Dravitz suddenly saw the need for an improved nozzle for the ordinary garden hose. He realized that if he could develop an almost guaranteed leak-proof nozzle, he would be able to zoom ahead of his competitors.

But how to do it? He was already working 14 to 16 hours a day. He saw that he was the "busiest man around," so he assigned himself the task.

For six months Harry Dravitz burned the midnight oil. He made model after model, rejecting each as it failed to meet his rigid self-imposed demands. But finally the job was done.

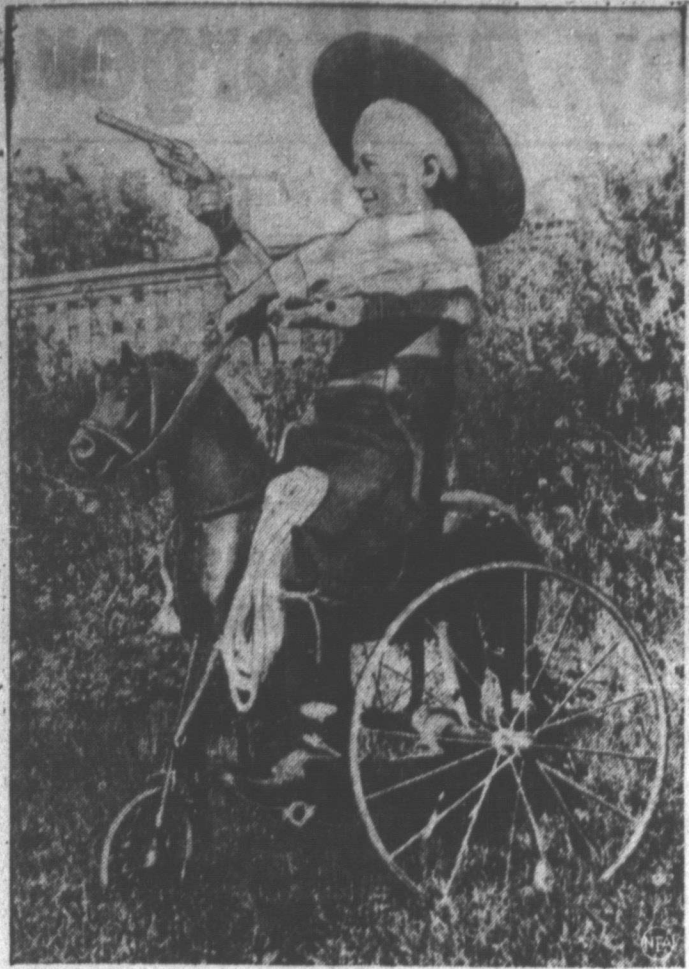

As he predicted, business soared even in those dismal days, because Harry Dravitz believed enough in his own design to apply it to himself.

HOT-SHOT HUMPHREY RIDES AGAIN—A thrill for Treasury Secretary George Humphrey at the recent homecoming dinner given him by 600 old friends and schoolmates in his home town, Saginaw, Mich., was this picture, blown up on a screen. It shows him, at the age of 4, in the back yard of his Saginaw home. Speaking of his "steed," he said: "I had a hard time riding it, as Genesee Avenue was paved with cedar blocks."

Rotary Views Gas Industry Films

A color motion picture, showing the development of the gas industry in the United States, was viewed by members of the Pampa Rotary club Wednesday at their luncheon meeting in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

The film was shown by Erwin Thompson, district manager here for the Empire Southern Gas company. He was introduced by Gordon Lyons, program chairman for the month of November.

George Depee, a member of the Junior class of Pampa High School, was introduced as the Junior Rotarian for the month of December by the November Junior Rotarian, Jimmy Bond.

President E. S. Williams, who presided, announced that a next Wednesday's meeting would be held in the basement of the First Methodist Church, due to the fact that members of other civic clubs have been invited to hear Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Guests included the Rev. Howard Lyons, White Deer; Bill Thorn, Pampa; L. L. Wiles and Ralph O'Neal, both of Borger, and Jack Vaughn, Aubrey Jones and Bunny Schultz, all of Pampa.

Banks Receiving 'Republican' Money

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 25—UP—The Republicans changed the manner of printing and coding U. S. money when the present administration took over. Treasury officials told banking officers here who were beginning to think the Treasury was counterfeiting bills.

The first batch of "Republican money" arrived at the First National Bank last week. There were 16 $10 bills in the lot with serial numbers that didn't check out with Treasury Department codes.

The bank mailed the bills to the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas. Back came the answer. The bills were among the first printed with the signature of the new treasurer of the United States, Ivy Baker Priest.

And along with changing the signature on the engraving plates, the Republicans changed the manner of printing and coding, the bank explained.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Combs and sons, Harold Jr. and Don, of Levelland, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Combs, of Lefors, and also attended the homecoming on Saturday.

Joel Ray Combs, a student at Hardin Simmons University, Abilene, is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Combs in Lefors for the holidays.

Crop Production Loan Fund Hiked

DALLAS, Nov. 25—UP—Another $2 million was added to the crop production loan fund for Texas farmers, said director L. J. Cappelman of the Farmers Home Administration announced Wednesday.

Cappelman said the state fund was virtually exhausted, just as the average farmer was planning his next crop. Washington authorities added the $2 million to the state allotment of $11,850,000.

"Farmers Home Administration is now able to provide ample funds to farmers who have suffered production losses on crops and livestock," he said.

Cappelman expected authority this week to make economic disaster loans in Texas, where he said there was a need for additional far agricultural credit.

Galveston Clerk And Daughter Hurt

GALVESTON, Nov. 25—UP—Ralph Richeson, 38, clerk in the Civil Court of Appeals, and his 13-year-old daughter, Patsy Pearl, were injured Tuesday night when their car collided with one driven by Adrian Hall, 25, actor with the Playhouse Theater in Houston.

Patsy Pearl missed serious injuries when she was thrown out of the car and onto the curb. Hall's car went out of control and onto the curb, rolling over the girl, but the wheels did not touch her.

Racket From Cells

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 25—UP—Secret police Wednesday tracked down a band of check forgers. They were operating their racket from cells in the state penitentiary.

Amarillo Firm Gets Road Job

Cooper and Woodruff, Amarillo, has been awarded the contract for the construction of a section of road leading to the Canadian River.

Officials of the highway engineering office in the Court House made the announcement of the bid-letting Tuesday after receiving word from Austin.

Bids were opened at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the Texas Highway Department office in Austin.

Word on how much the winning bid was for and how many other bidders were involved would not probably be known for a week, Pampa officials said.

The job is 8.76 miles of roadway on State Highway 70, from a point 1.4 miles north of the Gray County line to the Canadian River. The road is to be of flexible base with a two-course asphalt surface treatment.

Fails to Appear

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 25—UP—Richard Grest, a Houston oilman convicted of assault in city court last spring, failed to appear for his appeal to district court Wednesday. The appeal was dismissed and appeal bond of $750 ordered forfeited.

Telephone Cables Burned

MESQUITE, Tex., Nov. 25—UP—All telephone service in and to Mesquite was interrupted for more than two hours Wednesday when fire burned through a hay warehouse and damaged two main telephone cables. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company said some telephones and long distance service was restored within two hours but it will probably be Thursday before all telephones in the city are again in service. Damage to the warehouse was estimated at $14,000.

FAIR WARNING—Here's one highway sign few motorists will ignore. It's one of the many warnings erected in the neighborhood of Kansas State Prison at Lansing, Kan. Light, reflecting from the sign, makes the message visible after dark.

Escaped Convicts Back In Custody

ALPINE, Tex., Nov. 25—UP—Two convicts who escaped from Central Prison Farm, No. 1 near Sugar Land Monday were back in custody Wednesday after their capture on a ranch near here.

Alpine Police Chief Jack Jackson and a highway patrolman arrested Billy Hall, 38, and James Christian, 23, in a 1953 Chevrolet Tuesday.

Hall was serving five years for felony theft from Dallas and Kaufman counties and Christian was serving three years for a similar offense from El Paso county. They slipped away from a squad of prisoners working on a bayou bank in Harris county.

Soon after the pair escaped, they terrorized a farm family and stole a new automobile.

Paul Gonzales, a farmer near Sugar Land, said he, his wife and their three daughters returning home to find the pair wearing his clothes and pointing Gonzales' gun at them.

They called a taxicab and driver Joe Salvucci of Richmond said he was forced at gunpoint to drive to Clodine, where they ordered him to curb a new automobile driven by an elderly man, then commandeered the car and left.

He's Trying to Scrape a Hole in Your Next Suit!

From woolen fabrics to window frames, manufacturers test and retest their brands before you use them

Does the suit you're wearing have a brand name? Then chances are its fabric passed the toughest abrasion test before you ever tried it on.

In fact, before most manufacturers put their brand names on products, they test them pretty carefully.

They know that you won't continue to favor their familiar trademarks when you go into your local stores unless they have given you complete satisfaction. That's what keeps manufacturers competing to bring you finer products, priced competitively.

The best part of all is that today you choose from a wide selection of brand names—and get better values for your money.

So, as you glance through this newspaper, remember the makers' trademarks you see advertised. And next time you go out to buy at your local stores, name your brand to better your brand of living.

"NOW SON..."

You are beginning to build a life, a career. You need all the wisdom and guidance I have acquired through experience. You need the Bible's blueprints for better living. You need church fellowship to gain inspiration to conquer difficulties. Your ambition must be worthy, your aim high and your heart pure. Many highways lead only to dead ends... be cautious, honest and sincere. Quoting the Golden Rule is not enough... it must be lived. God will show you the way if you will follow where He leads. (Jer. 42:3): "I am your Father."

"John got tired of having the roast sliding all around while he's carving!"

Murderer Thought To Have Pried Open Lid Of Coffin

FORT WORTH, Nov. 25—UP—Sheriff Harlon Wright disclosed Wednesday that the grave of a murdered woman had been opened and the lid pried from her coffin. He said he believed the murderer did it.

Henry Perry Denson, 36, a Negro ex-convict, was indicted last May on a charge of murdering the woman, Ona Mae Washington, 34. He had been living with her.

Denson, free on $5,000 bail on the murder charge, was charged Tuesday with raping the 46-year-old wife of a white department store executive in her garage. He fled and has not been reported seen since.

leaves them. . . it always comes back to contrary them."

Wright said that if Denson is not planning suicide, "he's either crazy or attempting to build up an insanity defense by his peculiar actions." The body was not robbed or molested.

Denson had worked as a yardman for the white woman, he raped, so she recognized him. He threatened her with a knife, beat her with a hammer, and, after ravishing her, made her give him $20.

"I know I'm going to die for this," the woman quoted him, "so I'll need money. Give me $200."

Wright said the grave of Ona Mae Washington was opened between 5:30 p. m. Monday and 9 a. m. Tuesday. It was opened with a shovel, which Sexton L. J. Byars of People's Burial Park had left in a wheelbarrow under a shed.

After the grave was opened, the man who did it left the shovel inside the grave. He broke the top of a redwood vault open and then pried back the lid of the woman's redwood coffin, so that he could see her face.

Cotton Harvest Makes Progress

Wright said he thought Denson did it and he believes Denson is planning suicide or may already have committed suicide. He said Denson had told friends in the past few weeks that he was "going back to my wife."

Sexton Byars had another theory: "You take a person who takes another person's life and it never

AUSTIN, Nov. 24 --UP-- Cotton harvesting over northwest Texas is making "fair progress" despite heavy dews and recent unfavorable weather, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.

However, harvesting operations received a setback in North Central and East Texas as a result of new rains.

The USDA, in its weekly crop and weather bulletin, said an increased number of cotton strippers were operating over the northwest where frost defoliated plants and permitted full-scale use of mechanical harvesters.

Fall grain sorghum in the Lower Valley were "heading nicely," the USDA said, and the harvest was expected to start in two or three weeks.

Small grain pastures continued to make "very good" development over most of Texas. However, moisture was again needed in the southwest sections of the state.

Movement of cattle and calves to small grain fields, particularly in the northwest, continued active as additional acreage became available. Stalk fields, the USDA said, were supplying considerable roughage.

Conditions were favorable in most South Texas commercial vegetable areas. A new cold spell reached into the Eagle Pass and part of the Winter Garden area last week.

"Tender crops in these areas were hurt by the previous weekend cold spell but most other sections appeared to have escaped damage," the USDA reported.

Military Studies Slash In Manpower

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 UP—Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah said Wednesday the Army, Navy and Marine Corps are studying the possibility of cutting manpower strength by 10 per cent in the next fiscal year.

A decision is expected early next month, when the defense budget for the fiscal year starting next July is due to be completed. A 10 per cent cut in manpower may save $1 billion it has been estimated.

Hannah emphasized at a news conference that if a 10 per cent cut were made it would be in "support" troops and not impair the "combat effectiveness" of the Army, Navy and Marine corps.

Hannah said that it has been agreed that the Air Force will keep its present authorized strength of 970,000 men while building up to 127 wings.

As for the other services, Hannah said he has asked them to make a "honest" assessment of their strength about 10 per cent through "improved utilization" of manpower.

Hannah said there is a "widespread feeling" within the Defense Department that the three services should be able to maintain their present combat strength with "fewer men in support."

'Masher' Burned With Cigaret

HOUSTON Nov. 25 --UP-- Would be "mashers" could do well to steer themselves clear of Mrs. Franke Masher, a 22-year-old mother of two children.

Tuesday night a husky Romeo grabbed her as she was returning home from a grocery.

The 128-pound blond housewife, without losing her hold on a bag of groceries, promptly pulled a cigarette from her mouth and plumped it square in her assailant's eye.

He "groaned and grabbed his eye," she said Wednesday. "I just walked away."

Congressman Flays Electrical Union

WASHINGTON Nov. 25--UP--Rep Charles J. Kersten said Wednesday the Defense Department is "most anxious" to kick the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.) out of more than 100 defense plants.

The Wisconsin Republican attributed the statement to Robert L. Applegate director of the Defense Department's industrial security division.

The UE was expelled from the CIO in 1949 on charges of following the Communist party line. Kersten said UE's leadership is "Communist dominated." A list supplied by Applegate showed the union is the bargaining agent for workers in about 118 defense plants.

Kersten said he will introduce legislation in the next session of Congress to allow the Defense Department to exclude UE in labor contracts. He said Applegate believes legislation is needed immediately "to protect the security of the United States."

Watch Out For Careless Acts

Don't let carelessness cause home accidents that could spoil a happy holiday. Play it safe with the following precautions.

Never use a makeshift box to stand upon to decorate the top of the tree. Be sure to use a sturdy, well-balanced ladder and avoid painful falls.

When you use an extension cord for your Christmas tree lights, be sure it's placed so that no one will trip over it. Never run cords under rugs as walking on them causes friction which could result in a fire.

On Christmas morning after the gifts have been opened, remove the paper wrappings and boxes promptly. A carelessly-dropped cigarette or match could start a sudden fire.

In feudal times Christmas was celebrated with prodigious feasts given by kings and lords for their knights and vassals. In return the guests were expected to present their host with gifts as resplendent as their station in life permitted.

Start With The Front Door On Xmas Home Decorations

Gather greens and gay red berries . . . bring out the ornaments and candles . . . fill your home with Christmas this year!

Nothing adds so much to the gaily and happiness of the holiday season as bright decorations throughout your house.

Start with the front door! Your door can be transformed into the biggest, gayest Christmas greeting ever and your holiday guests will step across the threshold caught up in the warm welcome your entrance way has expressed!

For truly effective doorway decorations, start by outlining your door with Christmas greens. These greens can be wired together and hung in a swag over the doorway for a particularly dramatic effect. Or, cut a strip of chicken wire about one foot wide and tuck around door as a frame. Into the wire tuck twigs of evergreen until your door stands in a frame of lovely holiday greenery.

Whether you use the swag or the frame, decorate the greens with bright Christmas tree balls or colored lights.

For your door itself, you have a choice of dozens of clever decorating schemes. If your door is painted a gay color, paste over-size snowflakes cut from paper doilies on it. Or, tie wide ribbons around it to make it look like a huge Christmas gift tied with a big bow.

Yuletide scenes can be created on the door with cut-out figures or can be painted with washable poster paints.

If you prefer a decoration to hang on the door, there is a limitless choice of imaginative ideas. The favorites seem to be the evergreen spray and the Christmas wreath. For the spray, choose several full branches of your Christmas greens and wire them together into a graceful spray. Wire tiny pine cones into it, or center it with a big greeting card. Tie bunches of red berries into the spray or decorate it with colorful midget size tree ornaments. But, always finish your door spray with a huge bow of bright Christmas red ribbon.

Yuletide decorations throughout the house radiate holiday cheer and it's fun for the whole family to help plan and decorate.

Decorate your mantel or the top of a bookshelf or a table with Christmas greens and red berries, an arrangement of white-painted twigs hung with tiny ornaments, or a heart-warming creche.

And, always highlight every Yule decoration with the bright glow of candlelight! Those gay red candles dramatize every arrangement and are available in all shapes, sizes, and figures.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TABLES
For a long-to-be-remembered Christmas dinner, add a gay Yuletide centerpiece. Here, again, cheery red candles will star. Form a long, low spray of greens around the base of the candles and tuck holly, red berries, or bright ornaments into the twigs. Or, center your table with a small Christmas tree, either real or of glittering plastic. Children will love a table decorated with a miniature sleigh piled with tiny gifts, or a chorus of candle choir boys.

So, this year give your home a wonderfully cheery Merry Christmas air with imaginative decorations!

New Turkeys Streamlined

It is no longer necessary for the small family to forego the Christmas turkey or eat turkey leftovers for days after Christmas. Turkeys have changed!

Through new methods of turkey raising, it is now possible to buy a smaller, meatier, and broader-breasted turkey. They can be sufficed with the family's favorite dressing and roasted like the heavier birds. Some smaller families may want to have two of these small turkeys, each with a different kind of dressing, instead of one larger bird. They can be cooked much more quickly than a large turkey of comparable total weight.

Proper Way To Sign A Card Given

Exchanging Christmas wishes with friends by sending gay greeting cards, is one of our most heart-warming holiday customs. A wide range of styles prevails in cards, from the very informal to the most dignified greeting.

The type of card and the person to whom you're sending it should determine the signature used. If your card is a cheery greeting to close friends, it should be signed simply with your first name, Mary; or, if married, Mary and George, followed by the last name.

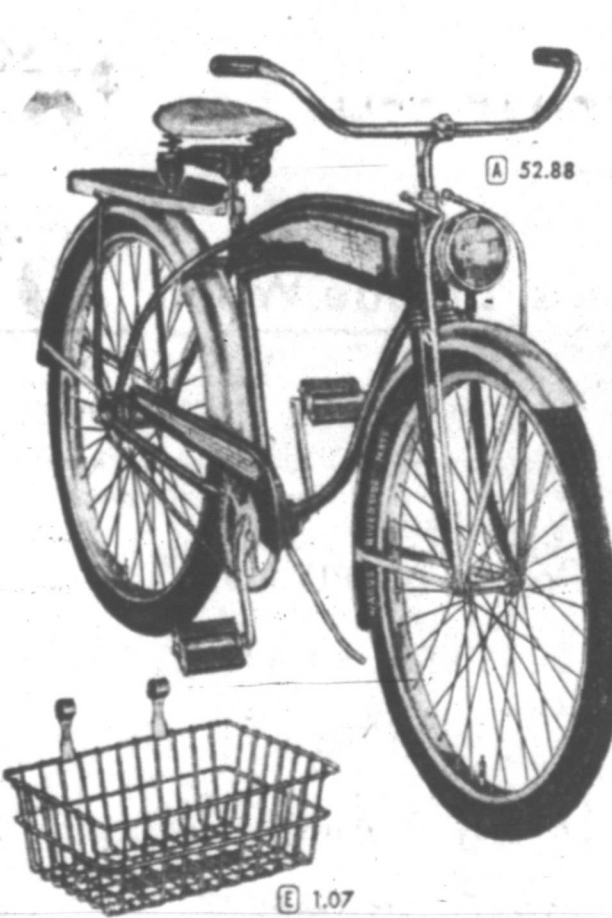

When sending greetings to business acquaintances, it is permissible to use the formal signature of his or her name last. If the cards bear a printed signature, the wife's name is always first. If there are several children in the family, it is usually preferable to have your cards signed or printed simply as a family; for example, "The Smiths."

The original of the little elf who helps Santa Claus is said to be white-bearded JUL TOMTEN, who lives in Scandinavian legends. It was he who left gifts for good boys and girls who would set out a bowl of porridge and milk for him.

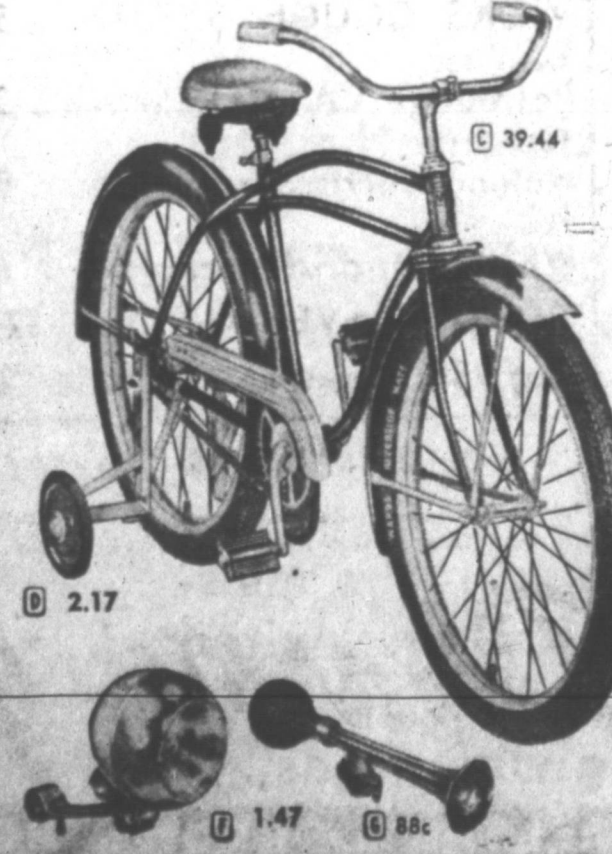

For man or woman — young or older — there's a gift idea for you — in smart, practical leather goods! For her — a wonderful jewel case, smartly lined—a fitted cosmetic case and overnight case — glove soft moccasins in their own zippered case — a smart clutch bag — or other leather lovelies. He will surely welcome a trim suitcase — a necktie case—a toiletries kit, or a manicure set — all selected from the tremendous assortment of gift items presented by the nation's leather goods manufacturers.

Here's A Simple Way To Carve Christmas Turkey

If you're a holiday host and carving the Christmas turkey is the only dismal spot in an otherwise joyous holiday — take heart! It isn't as difficult as it may seem.

The following simple directions for properly disjuncting and slicing the holiday bird can help the inexperienced carver:

Naturally you must have a good sharp carving knife! The job will prove easier if you stand up to carve and always carve the side of the turkey that's away from you. If the carver is right-handed, place the legs of the bird to the right; if left-handed, to the left.

First, remove a leg by holding the drumstick firmly with the thumb and forefinger. Cut through the skin by drawing knife back and forth, and sever joint. Press leg away from the body with the flat side of the knife, then cut remaining skin on the back. Place leg on a service plate.

Disjunct drumstick and thigh by holding leg at almost right angles to the plate, and cutting through meat to the bone. Hold thigh with knife and press down on drumstick until bone snaps.

Slice leg meat by holding drumstick perpendicular and cut down, turning leg to get uniform slices. To slice thigh meat, straddle the bone with fork and cut meat in lengthwise strips.

Next, remove the wing by inserting knife at right angles to breast about 1½ inches above wing and cutting straight down through wing joint.

To slice white meat, insert knife in rib section on opposite side. Hold knife parallel to breast and cut with a sawing motion. Start first slice just above place where wing was removed and cut slices about ¼ inch thick.

Cut skin away from cavity to facilitate removal of dressing. In serving, give each person a slice of white and dark meat and a portion of dressing.

When a Poinsettia plant ceases to bloom, place it in a dry, dark place away from frost. Let the soil dry. Next May, cut stems back two thirds, repeat in new soil and handle like any potted plant. Soft wood cutting, rooted will bloom by next Christmas.

All Women Welcome Lovely Gifts Of Practical Lingerie

If there is one Christmas gift that can be given to any woman with complete assurance that it will be loved — needed — and thrilling, that gift is — lingerie!

No woman fails to get a great lift of spirits when Christmas morning brings her a lavish-with-lace slip or a glamorous nightgown! There's no more wonderful way of saying "Merry Christmas."

This year, shoppers will find that lingerie has soared to new heights of gift-loveliness! Designers have outdone themselves in this field of fashion.

They have captured new segments of the rainbow and used these glorious colors in slips, gowns, and matching panties. On display for gift-giving are lingerie fashions in Jade Green, Lipstick Red, Mauve, Sun Yellow, as well as the beloved pastels, dramatic black, and ever-popular white.

Lace is used with such a generous hand that gift slips and gowns have a trousseau-lovely look. This lavish use of lace added to the luxurious beauty of the nylon satins and crepes assures a truly thrilling Christmas for the fashion-conscious woman!

Robes for gifting are being shown in styles from the very flattering, full-skirted hostess gowns to pert short robes designed to top slim at-home pants. Fabrics are many and varied, but the quilted ones — in satin, printed rayons, and cottons — still lead in popularity.

A new look in sleepwear is the old-fashioned one! Printed chalis, straight from Grandma's day, is the biggest news in nightgowns. Tiny sprigs of violets or rosebuds on this soft, warm fabric give these gowns a quaint charm. They are styled in a long-sleeved gown with a lace or eyelet ruffled yoke and lace at the tiny collar and ruffled cuffs.

Floppy-sprigger flannellette is the runner-up in popularity for these fashion-appealing Winter gowns that are sure to be big gift hits.

These old-fashioned style nightgowns are available in mother-and-daughter duos that would make a doubly-thrilling gift idea! Full, buffed petticoats have never been so imaginatively styled or so colorful as this year's gift selection.

Definitely the right gift choice, always, lingerie promises even greater Merry Christmas thrills for lucky girls this year!

Tree-Trimming Suggestions Man Has Worn Jewels Since

When it comes to trimming the Christmas tree — you, like many others, probably have some very definite ideas of your own. If you haven't, the following suggestions may prove welcome as well as practical.

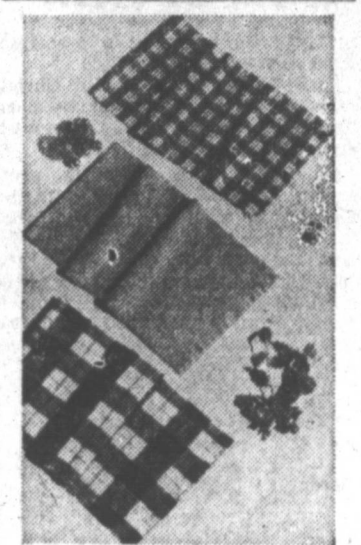

"Candy Strutter" — A HORSEMAN doll with plastic, like-real "skin" and sleeping eyes. "Candy" has deep-rooted hair that can be washed, combed and curled. She's 26" tall, and will walk.

The trend seems to be, as always, towards as large a Christmas tree as the room will permit. The old-fashioned, floor-to-ceiling tree is still the stand-by in many homes, and where space is available, a big tree will always be cheerful and "Christmasy."

You may be one of those fortunates who remembers the tree trimmed with garlands of popcorn, or lots of cranberries, or both. Maybe you still find a tree "bare" without a manger or ice-skating scene beneath it to simply amplify your feeling of Christmas.

To some extent the type and size of tree used depends on the section of the country. People in the Northeast and East favor the big, long-needed balsam, while the South and West prefer the Southern and the Douglas fir.

Many families like happily-lighted trees, decorated with multi-colored glass ornaments of a 11 sizes, shapes, and colors topped with a gaily large gold or silver star.

Plaid, check or solid color — a warm, comfy muffler for the well-dressed man — is a gift must — a gift that any man will "warm-up to," says the Wool Bureau.

Nylon Bedding Is Choice Gift

Here's welcome news for gift shoppers who are on the alert for something excitingly new for the homemaker — nylon sheets!

For the first time nylon's long wear and easy-to-wash characteristics are available in sheets and pillow cases to bring the housewife easier and more economical housekeeping.

These famous-name sheets are made in the popular fitted style and are simple to wash. They require no scrubbing but can be quickly sudsed in luke-warm water with a mild soap or detergent. Nylon dries quickly and needs little or no ironing.

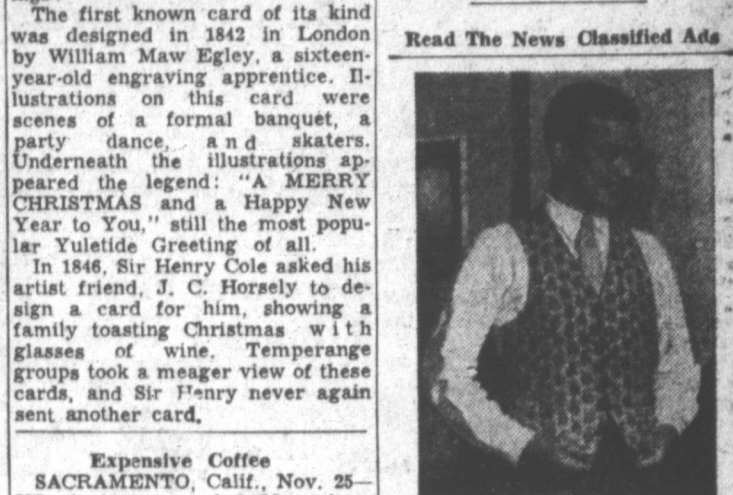

Christmas Card Custom Is Barely A Century Old

At first we didn't believe it either; but we checked, and it's true; the custom of sending Christmas cards to friends is less than 100 years old!

The first publicly accepted card was sent out in 1822 by Charles Goodall & Sons, London publishers. And — to show how rapidly the custom has grown, this year the post offices of the land will be flooded by a Niagara of two billion or more cherry (yule) greetings!

The first known card of its kind was designed in 1842 in London by William Maw Egley, a sixteen-year-old engraving apprentice. Illustrations on this card were scenes of a formal banquet, a party dance, a card skater. Underneath the illustrations appeared the legend: "A MERRY CHRISTMAS and a Happy New Year to You," still the most popular Yuletide Greeting of all.

In 1848, Sir Henry Cole asked his artist friend, J. C. Horsely to design a card for him, showing a family toasting Christmas with glasses of wine. Temperance groups took a meager view of these cards, and Sir Henry never again sent another card.

In the newest mood of elegance for men, CURRICK AND LIECKEN styles a trimly-tailored vest for contrast to his more conservative apparel. The style shown here is a 50-50 mixture of wool and cotton, and is softly patterned in go-with-everything warm hues.

Youngsters Like To Receive Wearable Gifts For Christmas

This year young men are taking a much greater interest in their appearance and, as a result, boys' wearables rank importantly as welcome Christmas gifts.

Gone is the era when it was smart for boys to look sloppy and disheveled. Instead, American boys are learning to take real pride in a well-rounded wardrobe.

Consequently, the array of shirts, ties, sweaters, sport jackets, slacks, mufflers, outer jackets, caps, gloves, socks, etc., for Christmas gift-giving is more smartly styled and richer in color than ever before.

Sport shirts are designed in styles "just like Dad's" and feature many tailored knit models. Many of them are smart warded jerseys in novel patterns and richly-hued colors.

White business shirts for school wear are offered in many of the new stylings that are so popular with men. The rounded collar, introduced in boys' wear last spring, has achieved wide favor, along with the button-down oxford cloth shirt.

Stripes and plaids are still favorites in ties, being shown in silk or rich-looking durable wool. Warm wool sweaters are always a popular gift choice. This year's top models are the turtle-neck, button-front award sweaters, and the traditional pullover. Scandinavian designs, ski motifs, and shields are the most popular and the top favorite is the white ski sweater with neck, waist, and cuff stripes.

Boys' sport jackets are offered in a wide range of stylings. Rich shetlands, durable tweeds, and soft flannels are stand-outs.

Wise gift shoppers who want to make a young man really proud of himself shouldn't overlook the tremendously popular contrasting vests. They're being offered this Christmas in many novelty styles.

Every boy needs a rugged outer jacket and what could be a better gift choice? The all-wool mackinaw, the lined storm coat, the new jacket, and coats with removable linings all are "tops."

All in all, this promises to be quite a Christmas for the boys with gifts that will give their wardrobes a big boost in smartness!

Germans First Trimmed Trees

The gaily decorated and lighted Christmas tree which brightens two out of every three American homes, but was unknown in the United States until early in the 19th century.

Legland tells us that Christmas trees had their origin when early Christian missionaries cut down the oak tree, worshipped by the Druids, and made a decorated fir tree a symbol of laughter and love for God and for one's fellow-men.

It's Easy To Make 'High' Fashion Stole

Every girl wants a high-fashion wool stole for Christmas and one can easily be made for gift-giving.

Take two yards of 54" tubular jersey. Turn to the right side and trim the edges straight. Tuck cut-ends under and slip-stitch together.

To fringe the ends, cut matching yarn into 24" lengths. Thread 4 strands into a large darning needle and insert the needle 1/4 inch from edge. Push through fabric and then draw strands until all 8 are even in length. Knot yarn at edge of fabric to hold. Continue across end of stole at even intervals, until end is fringed.

Add a professional look to the fringe by tying 4 strands of one tassel to 4 strands of the next tassel, knotting about 2 inches below the first knot. To complete the design, knot the two remaining strands at each end two inches down.

California Has Official Tree

While Washington, D. C. can boast of cherry trees, California goes the nation's capitol one better; for California is the home of the Official Christmas Tree of the U.S.

Not quite living room size, this tree towers 287 feet in General Grant National Park, 64 miles due east of Fresno, Calif. It was designated America's Official Christmas Tree on December 25, 1925.

The holly wreath, like many favorite Christmas customs, came as a result of the early Christian practice of enhancing Druid customs with Christian significance. Thus the holly wreath became the crown of thorns, the red berries, the drops of Christ's blood.

Experts Believe Tree Cutting Is Healthful To Forest Growth

According to the American Forest Products Industries, it's just not so that the annual harvest of young evergreen trees (for the use as Christmas trees) is a wasteful practice.

This organization explains further that nearly half of the 21-million evergreens that make up the American Christmas tree harvest are farm-produced.

Nearly nine-tenths of the entire Christmas tree crop is cut on privately-owned timberland. In addition, about five million evergreens are imported annually — most of them from Canada.

In any case, most of the American crop of Christmas trees are thinned from natural-growth forests. An original stand of from five to ten thousand trees will actually mature only a few hundred saw-log size trees.

Most of the trees cut at Christmas eventually would have been eliminated in the life-and-death struggle for forest space.

Americans have definite preference in Christmas trees, with the best seller being the balsam fir, a product of the Northeast. Six and one-half million of these are sold each year. Second most popular is the Douglas fir, with black spruce, red cedar and white spruce, following in that order, as American's favorites.

Complete her holiday-season wardrobe with an ensemble of gleaming aniline leathers—shown here in a closed bucket bag by GRETA ORIGINALS—and cowhide polo belt with a heavy-gold closing by MICKEY. Add elegant kid leather gloves and pigskin earrings for a final flourish!

Give Bills To Most Servants

Comes Christmas time, you usually find that you have a second Christmas list: the elevator man, the cleaning woman, the janitor, the mailman, the all others who serve you faithfully and well throughout the year.

Here are some tips on giving money gifts with a flair:

Checks are difficult to cash, so give bills, whenever possible — and try to make them crisp, new bills! If coins are included, get new shiny ones, or wash old ones in a detergent. One of the best ways to present money to men or your list is in inexpensive plastic wallets.

For the milkman: decorate a clean milk bottle with some ribbon, tie the money to a candy stick, and stand it in the bottle. Mail the postman his gift.

No prescribed amount can be recommended for everybody. Let your conscience — and the service you receive — be your guide. In general, five dollars for the elevator man and ten for the building superintendent should be about right.

Pin Money Gifts

Say "Merry Christmas" to a neighbor or acquaintance without denting your gift budget! Here are some pin-money suggestions:

Buy a tiny casserole at the 10 cent store and, when making the family fruit cakes, bake a small one in the casserole. Both the delicious cake and the handy casserole will be welcomed!

Pick up an inexpensive glass goblet and fill with preserves or jelly. Tuck holly into the paraffin before it hardens.

A decorated tin box, available at any 10 cent store, filled with salted nuts or homemade candy makes a tasty Yuletide greeting.

Don't let that broken Christmas After Christmas, the box makes a handy container for sewing needs.

Fill a budget-priced glass cruet with your favorite French dressing and tie a sprig of red berries to the handle. Your neighbor will love the zesty gift and the decorative bottle.

The first gifts worn on Christmas morn will be these handsome robes by HUGO FREUND. Sister wears a smooth, wool flannel robe over her full-length pajamas. . . her brother is dressed in a trimly-tailored, dark-toned flannel robe, styled like dad's.

Yule Season Is Good Time To Give Males Smart Wearables

Christmas offers the once-a-year opportunity for friends and members of a man's family to see to it that he gets those items of apparel he probably wants himself.

Through careful selection and some comparing of notes, they can make fairly certain that his wardrobe gifts will give him wardrobe notes of luxury, comfort and good taste.

Among gifts suggested to add a dash of distinctive look to his business dress are the new narrow ties in the year's subdued, miniature patterns and small stripes; shirts with the 1933 mark of styling (shown by the popular rounded and pin-through collar styles); a new hat — homburg or snapbrim — which the latter is now favored by the best-dressed men; a handsome muffler, or a serviceable pair of knit or leather gloves.

A gift certificate entitling him to a new business suit, will put you right up there on the list of his favorite people, as will a certificate for a topcoat in camel hair, cashmere, or one of the new richly textured wool fabrics.

The gift certificate saves you time — and possible error — in the knotty problem of selection of fabrics, patterns and colors. The man simply takes the gift certificate to the store, then chooses the exact garment he wants.

There seems to be an ever-increasing swing towards sport clothes for all occasions, even for wear at the office. The casual, "manly" look is the order of the day here, with rough-surfaced fabrics adding an air of studied casualness.

CLOTHES GO COLORFUL. While colors of a bolder, they also are neater than in previous years. Small checks, plaids, and multi-colored geometric patterns to the rear row, middle. Strong in the '33 picture are solid colors, used often with white, black or charcoal for contrast.

NEWS IN SPORTS COATS. Among the more teaching models in sports jackets is the three-button style, with or without ticket pocket, and with double or single vents. The two-button style with patch or flapped pockets runs it a close second, with a four-button style with belted front — the Norfolk jacket — a favorite of the twenties, a welcome revival.

SPORTS SHIRTS LIGHTER. Sports shirts this year display interesting new collar styles and fabric treatments. Lighter-weight

Christmas Should Be Time To Create Family Tradition

Christmas, more than any other day, should be a time of creating family traditions and the warm memories that last a lifetime.

From the very beginning, Christmas has been a family day. It began with a mother, a father, and a child and has become the most precious day that a family can share.

Sharing is the key word in making your family Christmas a memorable occasion. Let each member of the family lend a helping hand in decorating the house with greens and red candles. The pride of the little tots in their part of the Christmas decorating more than makes up for the not-quite-formal effect of the dramatic arrangement that was originally planned.

It's wonderful fun to set aside an evening to trim the tree and make it a family project. For a really old-fashioned Yuletide, let the children string popcorn and make sparkling ornaments for the tree.

After the tree is decorated and the twinkling lights are turned on for the first evening of your holiday season, make it a family party. While the children are proudly admiring their decorating job and their tree, serve hot co-

True Date Of Christmas Still Not Known Today

The exact date of the birth of Christ is shrouded in confusion and, as a result, the celebration of Christmas occurs on many different dates throughout the Christian world.

In an old manuscript, the Calendar of Ptolemaeus which appeared in the year 354 A.D., it states: "In the Year One After Christ, the Lord Jesus was born on December 25, a Friday, and the 15th day of the New Moon."

Another ancient book written by Hippolytus in 202 A.D. tells us that Jesus was born in Bethlehem on Wednesday, December 25th, in the 42nd year of Augustus." However, according to astronomy, December 25th, A.D. 1, fell on Sunday.

Specialty Foods Would Please Gourmet As Gift

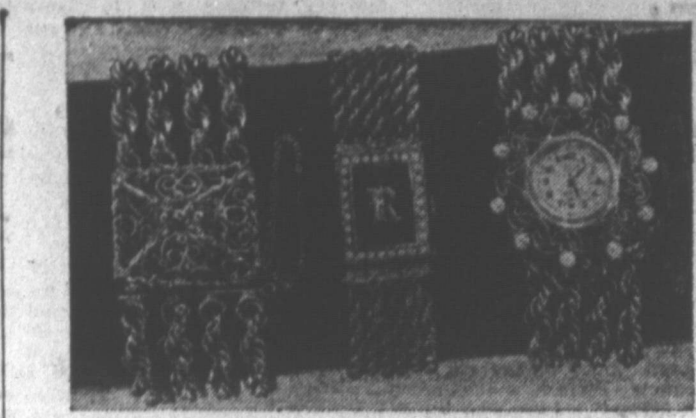

Let's face it: It's a gourmet's world. If you don't believe it, just ask the food specialty stores that every year are selling more and more gaily packaged food delicacies to more and more people as Christmas gifts.

Santa Claus Myth Is Of Norse Origin

Our well-loved legend of Santa Claus coming down the chimney on Christmas Eve originated in the Scandinavian countries. These Christmas legends is that the Goddess Hertha appears in a fire place, bringing happiness and a good fortune. A jolly old man, representing good fortune, comes down the chimney to meet her.

Yule Once Banned

Seventeenth century Puritans passed a law forbidding anyone to celebrate Christmas by "forebearing of labour or feasting in any other way" on the grounds that such celebration was "pagan."

Give her "time and beauty" in a grand and handsome Christmas gesture with one of these distinctive bracelet watches by Taylor. The bracelets are handsome gold-filled ropes; the watches guaranteed 17-jewel Swiss movements. "Spanish Gate"—at the left and "Onyx Rope"—center, disclose full views of the watch dial when cover swings open.

Make It A Furry Flurry For Her

You'll captivate the heart of any gal on your Christmas gift list — if you make "hers" a furry!

Crickets' chirps have surprising carrying power. One cricket barely an inch long sounds a note audible for almost a mile.

He Crawled Out Of The Caves

During the past five years, the American man has shone forth in all his glory in a collection of jewelry to dazzle the eye.

In the highly developed civilizations of Egypt and Greece, jewelry was really important. Men of high rank and station wore rings, brooches, necklaces and amulets.

Keep Trees Moist

Keep your tree fresh and moist by placing it firmly in a bucket of sand. Wet the sand generously and water every day.

For Better Living . . . Christmas Home Shopper Will Discover Many Exciting Items

It won't be difficult to find just the right gift for the homemaker this year. The only difficult thing for the Christmas shopper will be to keep from buying duplicates of all the clever gift items for her own home!

The gift, housewares, and linen departments of the stores are laden with gift inspirations for Christmas giving. And, a delightful Christmas lies-ahead for the woman who loves her home.

In choosing a gift for a homemaker, let the decor of her home govern your choice.

MODERN GIFTS EXCITING

If hers is a modern home, be sure to check the gift ideas in the exciting new wrought iron home accessories. The array of these distinctive pieces is wide and varied. There are handsome candleabra, many centered with bowls for flowers or fruit, to highlight the dinner table or an occasional piece in the living room.

Extremely modern and extremely smart are the abstract designs to grace the wall of a modern home. Most often seen are the black wrought iron fish in many sizes.

Cleverly-styled fruit bowls in a wide choice of shapes are gift stand-outs. Single candlesticks to use in groupings or alone are well worth consideration as gifts, as well as the stunning wrought iron wall scones.

A browsing trip through a store's display of modern ceramics may bring forth exciting gift ideas for the modern-mood homemaker. Here, again, abstract designs and free-form shapes are important.

COLONIAL INSPIRED GIFTS

For the woman who loves Early American, gift shopping promises to be fun! You can find dozens of thrilling Christmas ideas in your favorite store.

Don't overlook the copies of old-fashioned candy jars! They are the newest fad for homes with a Colonial air. The lucky homemaker who receives one may use it in her kitchen for cookies, in the bathroom to hold bath salts or bars of pastel soap, or in the living room filled with, of all things—candy!

These glass jars come in all sizes and shapes from short, square ones to tall, stately beauties . . . and they're sure to delight.

light any homemaker! Trivets in brass or black wrought iron, gleaming copper in copies of antique tea kettles and tea pots, and ceramic pieces that will rate as top-favorite gift!

Don't miss seeing the new sets of sheets and pillow cases in soft-toned pastels! Many are now styled with striped or print hems for added sparkle. Consider, too, a gift of a colorful wool blanket or satin-covered comfort.

Ensembles of bath towels, hand towels, and matching wash cloths are always welcome. The range of colors has never been so stunning.

Grand gift ideas are the smart bathroom accessories in pastels or black, with gay hand-painted designs. Any homemaker would love to redecorate her bathroom with these smart pieces.

Every homemaker loves her kitchen, so cooking gadgets or decorative kitchen accessories would be sure to please her! A trip through this department would provide dozens of gift inspirations.

These new gifts for the home are certain to create Christmas maker on your list!

While turkey has long been the traditional Xmas dish in America, of late the goose has been forging ahead like a shot in many lands as the piece de resistance of the Yuletide meal.

The goose rates especially high in the Scandinavian countries, leading an impressive list of meats and fish served during the Xmas and Holiday season. In Sweden, celebrants like to see a suckling pig decorate the groaning board, along with the many dishes associated with the Smorgasbord.

France and Ireland look with high favor on the goose, and the Germans, noted trenchermen, gild the goose with apple stuffing. The Hollander gives the nod to highly spiced dressing for his Xmas goose, with plenty of puddings, fruit cakes, honey cakes and dessert breads to go with it.

Latin countries forego the goose, choosing lamb as the dish of the day, while the Englishman sticks by his roast beef (along with various fowl) to the bitter end. Cuba says "Si, si!" to roast pig, and it's fish and fowl for Portugal. But here in America, the turkey remains the King of the Holiday feast. And most Americans wouldn't have it any other way.

Just a little bit more of that dark meat please!

Chilling Bread Helps If bread is too fresh for easy slicing, chilling it in the refrigerator will make it firm enough for cutting.

Plan A Tree-Trimming Party

Here's a happy holiday idea — a tree-trimming party! Plan it for Christmas Eve or a few nights before Christmas, depending upon the family's preference.

Before the party, unpack all the tree ornaments and have them in boxes near the tree. Check all the strings of tree lights before hand and replace all burned-out bulbs. Check the supply of tinsel and icicles and replenish, if necessary. Have the Christmas tree all set up in the standard before the guests arrive.

Keep the party small, inviting only a few of the family's closest friends. Plan to serve a simple buffet supper, but have the table gay with Yuletide decorations. A favorite casserole dish, salad, hot rolls, a special Christmas cake, and coffee would make a tempting meal that could be easily and attractively served.

After supper, let everyone help trim the Christmas tree! They'll all find it heart-warming fun. Later, serve punch while they admire the beautifully decorated tree.

A party of this sort may well become a favorite holiday occasion and a Christmas tradition in the family!

Wrapping Paper Comes In Variety Of Bright Colors

Maybe it isn't wise to judge a book by its cover — but, you can be sure that your Christmas gifts will be judged, at least in part, on their "covers," or the Christmas wrappings you send them in!

Each year, more and more shoppers are appreciating the importance of Christmas wrappings keyed to the Season, and worthy of the gifts they contain.

Manufacturers of gift wrapping paper, colored string, ribbons, seals, stickers and other wrapping accessories, all follow this trend closely. This year they will offer greater variety in patterns, designs, and colors than ever before.

You'll find that more and more people are "personalizing" their wrappings with matched paper, stickers and ribbons — all in the same distinctive designs. Colors of the wrappings may harmonize, or they may contrast as imaginatively as you wish.

Characteristic of the "individual" emphasis is the current trend to gift-wrapping "themes" with overall color motifs of the wrapping paper, stickers, ribbons, etc. — all unified and harmonious!

Not only does the "theme" allow you to play up your imagination — it gives you unlimited scope in "tailoring" each package to the very person who will receive it. A flattering touch to add to any gift!

However, for a Season simply loaded with tradition, it follows that the traditional designs are still the largest sellers.

Favorites are the bright papers, stickers and ribbons with "Jolly

Santas, gay pointsettias and holly, cherry Christmas trees and other Yuletide designs of tradition.

The idea of all of this extra care to wrappings is — that any gift worth giving is worth giving with dash and flair.

The wide selection of gay, sprightly gift wrappings and accessories now available will help you individualize your gifts, signed and "sealed" with the "stamp" of YOU!

Self-Made Gifts Reflect Spirit Of Christian Christmas Giving

Hand-made imaginative gifts for Christmas giving seem to capture the real old-fashioned spirit of the season!

These gifts show thoughtfulness and reflect the hours spent in making them — and, are sure to be appreciated!

Start gift making early! Enjoy the warm glow of the Christmas season for a longer time as you leisurely plan and make your gifts.

18-inches by 5 inches, folded in half length-wise and stitched, gathering in the apron skirt as you stitch. Add hemmed apron ties, about 24-inches long; hem the apron skirt, and lo! — a wonderful colorful gift!

There are dozens of other gifts you can make: knitted socks and ties for men (start early!); dainty satin sachet bags, coat hanger covers, shoe bags of dark terry cloth, pot holders, and gayly embroidered tea towels, to mention only a few.

And, don't overlook the grand gift possibilities of home-made jams, jellies, cookies and candy — gift-wrapped and sent as fond remembrances!

Toiletries Ideal Gifts For Children

If there are children on your Christmas list and you are looking for something a little unusual to give them, check the gift ideas in children's toiletries!

This year, manufacturers have come out with many cleverly packaged toiletry gifts with a grown-up look that will delight the youngsters. Here are gifts that will capture the fancy of the small fry and encourage them in good grooming habits.

For little boys, there are packages of bubble bath with nursery "space" and cowboy designs. All children love a bath that's frothy with bubbles.

Toiletries for little girls are a sheer enchantment for the young-at-heart girls!

Gift-packaged sets include a pure, castle shampoo and soap, after-the-bath powder, hand lotion, and a dainty fragrance suitable for a very young lady . . . all excitingly boxed!

Deck Your Home With Gay Cards

Here are a few suggestions for putting your Christmas cards to work decoratively in your home:

First, paint a sleigh on red oilcloth on which to place your cards as they arrive. You'll need two yards of 50 inch oilcloth, one yard each of black and white poster paint, and a brush. Sketch in sleigh with pencil, then paint it in. Attach to wall with tacks or tape, and fill the sleigh with cards by taping them to the cloth.

Decorate your stairway with cards. Starting at the top, place green branches on the railing, fastening with florists wire or strong string. Work from top to bottom, placing cards on the greens with wire or ribbon.

String a number of cards around a window on gay ribbons, pasting the ribbon to the inner folds of the cards.

Christmas cards are a joyful part of the holiday Season. This year make them an attractive part of your home decoration!

ACQUES KREMLER adds the personal touch to a man's Christmas with this smartly-designed tie-bar and cuff link set. Distinctively modern in styling, with a 14-K. gold overlay, this handsome duo with his own initials, will surely please that "special" man.

Careful Choice Of Puppies Is Advised

When buying a puppy for gift giving remember that, barring sickness or accident, your dog will live 10 or 12 years, perhaps longer. Be sure to select a type or breed compatible with the receiver's environment and personal temperament.

Buy from a reputable breeder or kennel. Get a pedigreed dog — if possible. It costs money to raise a healthy pup, so be prepared to pay a fair price.

Puppies make cute gifts, so be sure that your gift looks "Christmas-y" — tie a red or other colored ribbon around his neck with a bell or two. To add a real Xmas touch, try sprinkling artificial snow in its coat!

Good Use Found For Broken Ornaments

Don't let that broken Christmas tree bulb get away with it! Make it serve its decorative purposes anyway — and without a drain on your budget!

Here's how: Pick up the fragments with a piece of wet cotton. Cut stars or other snazzy designs from cardboard; then cover the cutouts with shellac.

While shellac is still wet, sprinkle the cut-out with the fragments, attach strings to each one and attach to the tree.

Use for Vinegar

Hobby And Sports Items Make Selections Simple

Time was when women threw up their hands with a cry that went something like this: "I don't know what to get Jim for Christmas — he has everything!"

That little problem no longer exists in this streamlined year of fascinating gift merchandise.

GIFTS FOR SPORTSMEN — For the golf enthusiast there are newer, brighter golf bags . . . tougher, longer distance golf balls (he'll never have enough of these) . . . and sets of woods and irons to drive a man fey with ecstasy.

For the tennis star whose racket may have seen its best forehead drives, there are new ones available in fancy woods and Nylon stringing. Or, he may need a new cover for his old racket, in which case there is a very wide selection in all patterns from conservative to shrieking. (And, did you ever see a net fan who had enough tennis balls?)

FISHERMEN GO "SALTY" — Gone are the days when a bamboo pole and a can of "tired" nightcrawlers satisfied the average fisherman. Today, everything is more "atomic," with boats, outboard motors and complete sets of fly casting or spinning outfits.

Many families find it practical — and man-satisfying — to pool their gift money for a really big gift: a boat, an outboard motor, complete sets of equipment, or a build-it-yourself boat kit. This idea is really catching on!

Other gifts for the fisherman: rubber hip boots, a metal tackle box or creel, minnow traps, nets, lines, baits, lures and flies.

A-HUNTING WE WILL GO — Gifts for the Nimrod include rifles and shotguns (surprisingly low-priced this year), telescopic sights, gun-cleaning kits, leather hunting boots, hunting jackets or parkas, and a hunting knife. Bigger items, like tents and sleeping bags, can be purchased on the family "pool" plan.

GIFTS FOR THE HOBBYIST — The gadgeteer will jump for joy at the variety in the new model-building kits — especially reproductions of oldtime railroad equipment and autos. Stamp albums, woodworking tools and

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Dick Powell's big career switch from musical comedy to heavy drama as the hard-boiled private-eye hero of "Murder, My Sweet." I can now say, was a Hollywood double-cross.

But the public double-crossed the double-crosser.

The true story, and even Powell has never heard it, was told to me by Director Eddie Dmytryk during rehearsals for Dick's life story on the Screen Publicists Guild-NBC weekly radio show, "The Hollywood Story."

Confessed Eddie, who directed Dick in the film:

"Every studio in town nixed Powell as a dramatic actor except the late Charles Koerner of RKO, who couldn't see him in anything except filmicals, either. But Koerner had a plot: Sign Dick at RKO, let him flop as a dramatic actor, and then get him as a singer."

"It was an expensive double-cross, but Koerner wanted Dick for future RKO musicals!"

So everyone knows what happened.

Dick gave the performance of his life, and hasn't sung since except in his shower or over a beer, and the picture made a fortune.

Isn't That Dirty?

Hollywood — after — dark note: A night club press agent explaining why certain film stars are invited on the cuff to openings:

"We make up a list of names. Then we invite a lot of them if they don't like — and pray for a fight."

Art Linklater stole the show twice at the Hollywood Press Photographers costume ball. First with his costume as a March 15 income-tax victim — half top hat and tails and half rags.

Then, as M.C., he introduced buxom Joyce Johnson (he hired her for the gag) as "Miss England." When she took a bow, a break-away dress sent her scrambling from the club clad in her undies.

A Hollywood studio costuming a TV show is a new eyebrow-lifter. Paramount sent all the showgirl costumes for "Here Come the Girls" to New York for a recent Bob Hope home-screen stanza, which plugged the film. But TV newsmen were barred from film studio lots — they "crashed" the gates of Paramount — by the Producers' Association for the visit of King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece.

Another example of Hollywood missing GOOD public relations.

Anne Robinson, the beauty in "War of the Worlds," and Bob Turner have delayed the marriage date again.

Smoothing-off Bogie — Humphrey Bogart dressed up in a double-breasted charcoal business suit as a viddy social Long Island business tycoon in "Sabrina Fair," has him explaining with a leer: "That is what's called genius in Hollywood — casting against type."

The Sylvia Lewis who dances with Ray Bolger in "Where's Raymond?" TV shows is the same doll who comforted Donald O'Connor just after his divorce from Gwyneth . . . By early 1954, Fox movie-town News will be filmed in CinemaScope, and Vic Mature and Marilyn Monroe won't have anything on Ike and Mamie.

Overheard: He's the most modern psychoanalyst in Hollywood. He uses sectional couches for patients with split personalities.

Richard Krakauer will film "Affairs of State," the comedy in which Celeste Holm shone on Broadway, and it's being whispered that Joan Crawford has a hammer-lock on the screen-version.

Aldo Ray is the big contender for the role of Gen. Patton in Warner Bros. film biography of the war hero. Ray even looks like old Blood and Guts.

A religious obstacle is holding up the marriage of Dawn Adams and Prince Vittorio Massimo in Rome. His first marriage was out of the church.

A Gift of Cologne Here's a fragrance that demands a "yes" for an exciting gift for Christmas. CHARBERT'S "Consent" eau de toilette. Other items in this distinctive fragrance are bath oil, dusting powder and perfume.

Glamour Dinner Want to give your Christmas dinner standbys new tang and zest? Try these unusual flavoring tips and note the pleased reaction! Add round almonds to your hard sauce for Christmas puddings . . . sprinkle raisins in creamed onions for a deliciously different flavor . . . spark your cranberry sauce with a touch of port wine!

A Gay Xmas Cake For Christmas-looking cake try adding chopped maraschino cherries and nuts to your favorite white cake recipe. Be sure the nuts are chopped fine and the cherries are well-drained. Fold into the batter with just a few strokes. Frost the cake with white icing and add a gay Christmas trim.

Fortunate indeed, will be the family who receives a beautiful Television set this Christmas. Here, Admiral presents a compact, handsome console set with 21" screen. This set is available in walnut, mahogany or blond finish.

Fun For The Kids 1953 Xmas Toys Are 'Futuristic'

A cross-section of the toy world reveals a realistic concern with things-as-they-are and will be. Key words are 'realistic' and 'futuristic'.

DOLLS make exciting news for every little girl's fancy — from soft-as-flesh cuddly dolls that cry and wet, to walking and talking dolls — and, dolls dressed in every imaginative costume from bridal gown to mink coat.

ONE MANUFACTURER stars four different dolls-with-a-purpose to teach proper young ladies the fine points of hair care, makeup, sewing and first aid.

THE PLAY-PEN SET gives a rousing hurrah to a complete menagerie of clever, stuffed animals. These go gay in nursery-night, peppermint stripes, dots, checks, and other designs, in safe-color, washable fabrics!

"CAREER TOYS" give purpose to play this year as never before. Young "M.D.'s" will be thrilled with a 12-piece ambulance set, complete with Cadillac ambulance and assorted miniature "doctor's" instruments.

JUNIOR "DENTISTS" and "NURSES" will go for a dental unit — with its toy forceps and detachable dolls.

"SEAT" TOYS are "held over" this year in locomotives, trucks, space ships — all done in thrilling miniatures!

Rocker-mounted or free-swinging coil sprung "broncos" give young cowboys and girls a real action ride!

Little misses will get early lessons in "good housekeeping" from the wide variety of home-making toys. She can have a just-like-mother's range, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, washer, dishes, pots and pans . . . sewing machine and others, most of them — working models in miniature!

Newest trains coast treaties with muted thunder, trailing smoke, and with piston-timed "choo-choos."

Young "Casey Jones" will thrill to fully-throated depots, automatic station-announcers, and other fabulous railroad accessories.

JUNIOR'S AUTOMOBILE will feature take-apart wheels and tires. Under the hood he will find a plastic engine with crankcase and gas tank that can be filled or emptied, and — the luggage compartment will contain a full-set of "tools."

EDUCATIONAL TOYS feature Chemistry, Sculpturing, Ceramic, Mural, Oil Color and other kits designed for the child with an artistic flair.

IMAGINATIVE TOYS — built-it-yourself gas stations, factories, amusement parks and "Space Academies" — are a recent development that is catching on in Juniorville.

SIGNIFICANT in all of Toyland is the challenge of newer toys that stimulate original thinking and creative doing . . . as well as the always popular, traditional toys kids have enjoyed through the passing years.

Whether he's six, sixteen or sixty — a right gift that bespeaks warmth, softness and durability — is a smartly-fashioned, all-wool sweater. From sporty cable-knit cardigans — to the finest of cashmere pullovers, you'll find handsome styles to select from for Christmas giving.

Perfume Isn't Sissy On Men

Never underestimate the power of a woman when it comes to persuading real he-men to use fine toiletries!

The average man won't buy toiletries for himself, but brother, how he'll pour 'em on when somebody else buys them as gifts for him!

But it wasn't always so! The male's love for fine toiletries dates as far back as the Pharaohs of Egypt. It was the "sad sack" indeed in those days who didn't get all "scented" at the drop of a feminine eyelash.

Rough, tough Alexander the Great reached often for the rugged "tweedy" type of scent. And the Roman patricians literally bathed in the most expensive perfumes and unguents available.

Louis XIV. Richelieu and Napoleon Bonaparte, all spent many a sou on the finest of French perfumes. In fact, since the days of early 19th Century society, France has consistently remained the capitol of the perfume world.

And, speaking of this day, the modern male has a wide choice of scented liquids from which to choose, mostly in the cologne and after shave lotion categories.

Family Dinner Highlights Occasion Christmas Is Time For Food 'Frolic'

In every part of the world where Christmas is observed, a special feast usually highlights the celebration of the holidays. And, certainly, in our country an old-fashioned family dinner on Christmas has always been an important part of the Yuletide tradition.

To many Americans, Christmas just isn't Christmas without a turkey dinner complete with ALL the trimmings. To most all homemakers, this means many days of planning and preparation.

It adds greatly to the family's fun if the children are allowed to help with Christmas preparations. Let them lend a hand with all the fancy little "extras" that add such an exciting holiday touch!

For a delectable garnish for the turkey platter, try frosted grapes! Select the big, purple variety and cut into small clusters. Wash and drain well. Dip the clusters into a mixture of 1/4 cup of white corn syrup and 1/4 cup of water and drain. Sprinkle heavily with granulated sugar and chill. The sparkling grapes will add a special-occasion note to the platter.

As a decorative (and delicious) addition to your dessert plate, serve tiny pears and apples of tasty cheese. Cut processed cheese

Warning Issued For Fire Safety

Fire Departments the country over are reminding everyone that Christmas trees can be a dangerous fire hazard — Unless strict caution is observed.

You wouldn't leave your iron connected when leaving your home for several hours — yet, many families do this — leaving their Christmas tree a-blast!

Lighted candles are lovely — on Christmas Cards — NOT on Christmas TREES! Be sure to check tree lights carefully for frayed insulation, or possible short circuits. At least once a day, check the tree to see if needles are turning brown near the lights. If they are shift the positions of all lights.

Don't take chances! The average Christmas tree can burn to ashes in two minutes! That does not leave much time for the Fire Department to do very much in the way of protecting your home!

Warning Issued For Fire Safety

Circle your pumpkin, mince, or apple pie.

One phase of your Christmas cookery that the children will love is the cookie baking project. Try making a basic sugar cookie recipe and let the children cut them into imaginative shapes.

They can make jolly Santas, stars, snow men, holiday wreaths, Christmas stockings or tiny trees. If fancy cutters aren't available for all the shapes desired, let the children cut the cookies around a card board pattern.

After they're baked, mix bright red, green, and white frostings and let the kiddies decorate to their hearts' content with gumdrops, red cinnamon candies, licorice, and bits of candied fruit.

For unusual place cards on the Christmas table, try frosted cup cakes decorated to resemble Christmas tree ornaments. With your cake decorating set, make the outline of an ornament and write each name in the circle. Or bake tiny oblong cakes, cover with white frosting, and decorate to resemble tiny gift packages with colored frosting ribbon and bow. Write the name in frosting on the "gift" and put at each place.

The day before Christmas, cut oranges in half and scoop out the shells. "Pink" the edges with a sharp knife and put cranberry sauses in these decorative cups to chill. They'll add a gay holiday touch to the Christmas dinner plate.

There's something about home-made candy at Christmas — that seems to add just the right-old-fashioned touch . . . so, gather the family together for a candy-making spree.

So, allow an extra day or two for the preparation of Yuletide goodies . . . Try these delightful touches that will make Christmas dinner a real holiday feast!

Merry Christmas the world over is greeted gaily in different ways. The Portuguese say "Boas-Festas"; The Italians, "Buone Feste Natalizie"; In Germany, "Freudliche Wientachten," and in France, "Joyeux Noel." They all mean "Merry Christmas."

The name "Christmas" is designated the celebration of the birth of Christ is used only in English-speaking countries. It comes from an old English phrase, Christes Mass which emphasizes the religious meaning of the holiday.

Servicemens' Gifts Must Be Practical

You may think that the average serviceman or woman will be "tickled" to receive your gift, that just any little trinket will do.

Perhaps no group of people is so finicky about gifts than men and women of the U.S. Armed Forces — at home and abroad. They have to be: the old truism that "an army travels light" still applies. And if the gift isn't something that really comes in handy it will certainly "fall by the wayside."

What, then, makes a "practical" gift for the man or woman in the service? The usual gifts of cigarettes, cigars, toilet preparations are obtained almost at cost, at their post exchanges and ships' services.

Articles that are hard to come by include good cigarette lighters — always in short supply, especially at overseas stations. If your man is addicted to "exotic" brands of shaving cream and/or lotions, colognes and other toilet preparations, you can ring the bell with these, as service installations rarely stock any but the most-standard brands.

If your man or woman is in uniform, he or she lives by the clock — and a good wrist watch is almost a necessity. These, too, are available at most service stores, but often are in a short supply. In any case, you can bet that a watch will be most welcome. And if it's for a man, please, please see that it has a luminous dial!

Portable radios make perfect gifts, as do wallets, money clips, and other "invisible jewelry." Gifts of candy, cookies, cakes, nuts — well wrapped to last the journey, are always welcomed.

In short, a good rule to keep in mind when buying gifts intended for service personnel is this: can he take it along conveniently next time the moves? If he can't, forget it!

Popcorn Balls For Trimming

The kiddies will love these edible Christmas tree ornaments — delicious popcorn balls!

To make them: Mix 1/2 cup of water with 1/4 cup of molasses and add to 1 cup of sugar and 1 t. salt. Blend together and cook over low heat until candy thermometer reaches 240 degrees F. Add 1 t. vinegar and 1 t. vanilla and cook until 270 degrees F. Remove from heat and add 1 T. butter or margarine.

Pour mixture over 8 cups of popped corn, tossing with a fork until all kernels are coated.

When cool, shape into balls with buttered hands. Wrap in waxed paper and colored cellophane and hang on the Christmas tree.

Here's How To Protect Rugs

Unfortunately Christmas trees will drip a sticky resin — so, protect your rug under the tree. Cut a circle of green and red crepe paper, cover it with fire-proofed cotton batting and frost with sparkling artificial snow flakes.

If resin from your tree does drip onto your polished floor, it may be cleaned with a soft cloth "wring out" of hot suds. Rinse with clear water.

If resin marks your rug, work suds into the spot with a sponge or brush; rinse thoroughly.

American Santa Is 90 Years Old

The Grand Old Man of Christmas hits his stride at ninety this Christmas — and the old gent never looked better in his life.

For it was way back there in 1863 that Cartoonist Tom Nast first created Santa Claus as we know him — full grown to his white whiskers — on his drawing pad.

Nast had achieved fame through his famous political cartoons that helped to smash Boss Tweed's in famous Tweed Ring in New York City.

During the early 60's, he was commissioned to illustrate Clement Clark Moore's poem "A Visit From St. Nicholas" ("The Night Before Christmas"). The drawings he submitted showed Santa Claus pretty much as he looks today.

From that day to this, Santa has aged hardly at all, in spite of 90 very busy Decembers.

Wonder what his secret is?
