ON SPY CASE

Truman's Speech To Be Televised

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 16 —UP— President Truman is expected to tell the nation Monday night that he kept the late Harry Dexter White, a high government job to give the FBI a chance to catch him—and perhaps others—in the act of spying for Russia.

Mr. Truman will speak from Kansas City at 10 p.m. His 30-minute prepared address will be carried by all four major television networks and by the Columbia, American and Mutual radio networks. The National Broadcasting Company radio network will carry a re-broadcast at 10:30 p.m. est.

Broadcasting officials said Mr. Truman probably will have one of the largest listening and viewing audiences in history for his long-awaited reply to charges which Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. made against him in a Chicago speech 10 days ago.

Brownell asserted that Mr. Truman promoted White from assistant secretary of the treasury to U.S. executive director of the International Monetary fund in early 1948 despite FBI reports branding White a Russian spy.

The attorney general will have a chance to elaborate on his charges when he testifies Tuesday before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which is investigating the White case.

Sources close to Mr. Truman predicted that he will accuse Brownell of distorting the facts for political "smear" purposes, and that he will offer his own explanation along these lines:

White was not promoted but actually was shifted to a less sensitive position. Mr. Truman reported the FBI reports only after the Senate had turned White for the monetary fund job. He sought the advice of Supreme Court Justice (then attorney general) Tom C. Clark and the late Fred M. Vinson (then secretary of the treasury) on what to do about White. It was decided the best strategy was to allow White to take the job and keep him under close FBI surveillance to see if it would lead un-

Faulty Street Hurts Boy, Cop

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16 —UP— A chug hole in the 399 block of General Krueger Drive is a good one to go out around.

Dave Minnella, 16, was riding a motor scooter when he hit the chug hole Sunday. He was thrown off his scooter and suffered an eight-inch cut on his left leg, requiring 35 stitches, and numerous other cuts and bruises.

Fifteen minutes later, Patrolman H. C. Pell, sent to investigate the accident, hit the same chug hole. He was thrown from his motorcycle, his left hand bruised, his trousers and jacket were torn and the spotlight smashed.

ROBIN HOOD'S "RED" — Mrs. Thomas White, of the Indiana Textbook Commission, who wants the story of Robin Hood kept out of Indiana schools, arrives in the office of Indiana State School Superintendent Wilbur Young to attend a meeting of the commission. Mrs. White says the Communists want to locate Robin Hood "because he took from the rich and gave to the poor. That's the Communist line." Robin Hood-lovers a re polishing their longbows to fight the allegation.

Pair Goes On Trial In Greenlease Case

HE'S UNRESPONSIVE

Mrs. Heady Shows Interest In Hall

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 16 —UP— Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, while the hours ticked closer to Monday's trial which may mean her death, displayed constant concern for Carl Austin Hall, her paramour-partner in one of the nation's worst crimes.

Since their arrival from St. Louis Oct. 13 until Monday, Mrs. Heady had seen Hall only once although both were in cells in a secluded section of the Jackson county jail.

That was Nov. 3 when the kidnap-killers of Bobby Greenlease taken together to the federal courtroom for arraignment on violation of the Lindbergh kidnap law.

Both were handcuffed and in chains for the occasion, but Mrs. Heady, whose lust for money and craving for alcohol led to her affair with Hall, seemed pleased at seeing him. She smiled for photographers and chatted to her cohort during the brief six-block trip to the courtroom.

During the proceedings, she leaned toward Hall and whispered repeatedly. He appeared distracted and seldom responded. Even while they entered guilty pleas to the heinous crime, her attention was centered on Hall.

Back in their eleventh-floor cells, they were separated by bars and walls again, but Mrs. Heady's interest never waned.

Jailers and special guards were "pestered" continually with questions about Hall from Mrs. Heady. In marked contrast, jailers said, Hall sat stolidly in his cell, aware only of his own fate. He seldom spoke, except in answer to questions. If concerned over his companion in the grisly kidnap case, he displayed no signs of it. He never mentioned Mrs. Hall.

KIDNAPERS GO ON TRIAL — Carl Austin Hall, (left) and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, (right) principals in the Greenlease kidnaping-murder case went on trial today in the Kansas City federal court. As both have pleaded guilty, purpose of the trial is to determine their punishment.

Jury To Rule On Penalty For Kidnapers

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 16 —UP— Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, dressed in the peak of fashion, went on trial in federal court Monday for kidnaping and murdering six-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

They collected a $600,000 ransom after shooting Bobby in the head Sept. 28.

Since they had pleaded guilty, the jury that will be selected Monday will not have to decide guilty or innocence. It will recommend their punishment — almost certain death in the poison gas chamber — since under the law only a jury can do that.

Shackles Removed
Hall, 34, and Mrs. Heady, 41, were brought into a vestibule just off U. S. District Judge Albert L. Reeves' courtroom at 9:35 a.m. They were shackled about their wrists and handcuffed.

Deputy U. S. marshals took off the handcuffs and shackles and escorted them to their places at opposite ends of a table in front of the judge's bench.

A matron sat close beside Mrs. Heady and a guard beside Mrs. Heady wore a stylish black suit, a black hat and heavy earrings. Though she slumped in her chair, a half-smile played around the corners of her mouth.

Mrs. Heady was only lightly made up. The sandy-haired, balding Hall was dressed in a brown gabardine suit, a brown tie and glossy brown shoes. There was almost no expression in his face.

Deputy U. S. marshals took off the handcuffs and shackles and escorted them to their places at opposite ends of a table in front of the judge's bench.

Asks Venise Be Dismissed
Roy K. Dietrich, Hall's court-appointed attorney, promptly asked Judge Reeves to discharge the jury venire of 125 persons. Dietrich objected to the jury, saying he would only decide their punishment and said that Hall's constitutional rights had been invaded.

Judge Reeves quickly denied both motions.

Dietrich, who agreed to defend Hall as long as the state of Missouri had discussed the trial and Hall had repeated that his plea of guilty was not to be changed.

Nor, Dietrich said, will he raise any suggestion of insanity. But he said that if insanity angles develop during the trial, he will raise every precaution to see that the rights of his client are protected.

Judge Quotes Precedent
Dietrich argued that Hall had pleaded guilty under the Lindbergh kidnap law. He said he was not being tried and the jury was there to decide his punishment. Dietrich insisted that only upon conviction by a jury could Hall be sentenced to death and quoted a precedent.

Then Dietrich said his client's (See JURY, Page 3)

Regret Note Transmitted To Kremlin

LONDON, Nov. 16 —UP— The western Big Three transmitted to Moscow Monday a new note expressing regret at the Kremlin's rejection of proposals for a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers at Lugano, Switzerland, but leaving the door open for a future meeting if the Russians change their minds.

British officials indicated the new western reply should temporarily close the long drawn out exchange of notes on the question of a four-power meeting.

The new note replies to Moscow's note of Nov. 3. It was transmitted to the United States, French and British ambassadors in Moscow, and then to the Soviet foreign office.

The Nov. 3 Russian note in effect rejected for the second time a proposal by the western Big Three for a Nov. 9 meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers at Lugano to settle the futures of Germany and Austria.

British sources said that neither Russia's views expressed in the Nov. 3 note nor Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's subsequent explanations have convinced the West that the Kremlin wants to hold talks on these subjects at present.

Auto Crash Kills Three

DECORAH, Ia., Nov. 16 —UP— Three Chicago FBI agents were killed and five persons, including two other agents, were injured in an auto crash near here Sunday.

The five FBI men were returning from a Wyoming hunting trip and had a trailer loaded with five been attached to their car.

Killed were Louis Ewing, 31; Robert McMichael, 30; and Joseph Hughes, 25.

One of the injured agents, George Davis, 32, was hospitalized in serious condition at Dubuque, Ia. The other, John Medary, 27, was treated and released.

The agents' car collided broadside with one driven by Robert Brettsprecher, 22, Burr Oak, Ia. Brettsprecher and his two passengers, Paul McConnell, 38, and his brother, Marvin, 24, of Decorah were in serious condition.

Sheriff Pierce W. Anderson said the agents' car was going south on Highway 82 about three miles north of Decorah as it pulled out from a side road.

Buyers Of 'Hoax' Book Due Refunds

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 —UP— The 10,000 persons who purchased Quentin Reynolds' latest spy thriller, "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," may get their money back — if they want it.

Bennett A. Carr, president of Random House, publishers of the "biography" of Canadian World War II "spy" George Dupre, said both he and Reynolds were victims of a hoax.

"It probably should be renamed 'The Man Who Talked Too Much,'" Carr said.

Tito Boosts Hopes For Trieste Peace

BELGRADE, Nov. 16 —UP— A mild speech by President Tito raised hopes among observers Monday for a final, peaceful settlement of the Trieste dispute which has provoked riots for more than a month.

Tito told 250,000 Yugoslavians Sunday that the nation would not go to war with the Italians for control of the city of Trieste, which he said the Italians could have.

The president added, however, that Yugoslavia should receive all of Zone A, the territory that touches off the dispute, that is "purely Slovene."

Observers said the general conciliatory tone of Tito's address contrasted sharply with that of earlier speeches in the month-long crisis that began when the United States and Britain, which had been occupying Zone A, announced they would withdraw and turn over that part of Trieste to Italy.

In previous speeches Tito had warned that Yugoslav troops would enter Zone A the moment that Italian administrators or other Italian forces arrived in the disputed district.

Observers stressed the following points in Tito's Sunday speech:

1. He definitely assigned the city of Trieste to Italy. Tito said Yugoslavia felt that internationalization of the port was better but that division of the city from the free territory was the only way out of the present dead-end short of war.
2. Tito called for an "immediate, definitive solution" of the problem instead of proposing stop-gap measures.
3. He left open the possibility of bargaining with Italy over the rest of the territory. He did not insist on receiving all of Zone A outside the port and hinted an exchange of territory if Italians would be willing to give up areas around Gorizia for two or three ports populated predominantly by Italians in Yugoslav-controlled Zone B.
4. Tito declared an international conference on Trieste would be held. This was interpreted to mean that the western powers had informed Yugoslavia enough progress had been made with Italy to make the conference most certain. Yugoslavia has favored the conference, but refused to accept if the Anglo-American decision on Oct. 8 to turn over Zone A to Italy was carried out before the meeting was held.

Wheeler Man Dies Today

WHEELER — (Special) — W. E. Mason, 70, Wheeler farmer and county commissioner died in Wheeler today. Funeral services are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Wheeler Methodist Church with Rev. O. A. McBrayer officiating.

Born Sept. 3, 1883, in Trego, Mr. Mason moved to Wheeler in 1929 from Grayson County. He was married to Beulah Edna Crump June 2, 1906 in Whitesboro. He had five children, three sons and two daughters. He was serving at the time of his death. He was a member of the Wheeler Methodist Church.

Mr. Mason is survived by his wife, Mrs. Beulah Mason; four sons, R. D. and W. E. Mason of Wheeler, Everett and Troy Mason of Berger; one daughter, Mrs. Edna Payne Garner of Pampa; and seven grandchildren. He was preceded in death by one son, two brothers and two sisters.

Honorary pallbearers include George Hiesler, B. A. Hunt, S. D. Conwell, Tom Britt, A. B. Crump, and Jim Trout. Pallbearers will be Harry Wafford, Harold Hill, Curtis Pond, Levi Reid and Sam McMurry. Burial will be in the Wheeler Cemetery under the direction of the Kirk-Mason Funeral Home.

Junior Stock Show Plans To Be Laid

Plans for the staging of the Top of Texas Junior Livestock Show next January will be discussed at a meeting of the Agriculture committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the chamber office. It was announced today by Paul Crouch, chairman.

The annual show, which embraces Gray, Wheeler, Roberts, Hemphill and Carson Counties, will be held on Jan. 25, 26 and 27.

It is hoped that the show can be held in the new building, which is to be constructed, Crouch stated.

The Hereford Breeders show and sale will be held concurrently with the Junior show. The Junior show sale will be held on Jan. 26, while the Hereford breeders' sale will be held the following day.

Auto Hits Gas Truck-Four Dead

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16 —UP— An automobile and a gasoline truck collided in a "terrible" accident Monday and at least four persons were killed and five others injured, the sheriff's department said.

Desk Sgt. Rex May dispatched 15 deputies and six ambulances. City police sent four motorcycle patrolmen to help. The fire department sent two fire trucks but May did not know if the gasoline truck caught fire.

May said he had a radio report from deputies that "two babies were killed" in the accident 12 miles northwest of San Antonio,

Navy Studies New Warship For Missiles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 —UP— The Navy is considering construction next year of the world's first warship designed for launching guided missiles, a high defense official said Monday.

The Navy already is converting two conventional heavy cruisers—the Boston and the Canberra—into guided missile ships at a cost of more than $30 million. These two vessels, which will have missile launching platforms in place of gun turrets, are scheduled for completion in 1955.

Three submarines also are being modified to fire guided missiles. But some Navy officials believe that conversion of present ships would be unsatisfactory, and it would be better to start building special missile ships from the keel up.

Brownsville Boy Fatally Burned

Brownsville, Tex., Nov. 16 —UP— Chuck Harriman, 5, son of the circulation manager of the Brownsville Herald, was fatally burned when a gasoline tank exploded as the child and his little brother played in a suburban garage.

Chuck and his brother, Eric, 4, apparently thought the gasoline tank was empty and were playing with it. The fatal accident occurred in a neighbor's garage on Boco Chico Road, just outside the Brownsville city limits, about noon Sunday.

Eric was seriously burned. The children's mother, Mrs. Charles Harriman, was seriously ill in a hospital and suffered shock when informed her two sons were injured. She was not told immediately that Chuck died at Mercy hospital at 5 p.m. Sunday, several hours after the accident.

Looks Like A Meal

In his second day in Japan, Nixon conferred with Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, lunched with Emperor Hirohito and then braved a cold rain to inspect safety corps units at the nucleus Army's first regional headquarters in Tokyo.

"I was greatly impressed by both the quality of leaders and the high standard of morale of the men," Nixon said.

Seek Survivors In Ship Wreck

DUNGENESS, Eng., Nov. 16 —UP— An Italian freighter collided with a smaller French vessel Monday and sank immediately with most of the 25-man crew trapped below.

Twenty persons aboard the freighter Vittoria Claudio were believed to have died in the collision. Seven bodies were recovered and 13 were missing. Five survivors were rescued by a British pilot cutter.

Helicopter pilots reported seeing other bodies floating on the calm, wreckage-strewn sea off this channel port.

'Stranger' Aids Talk Of Robbery

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 16 —UP—Wayne Poor, Edinburg, Ill., sadly discovered Sunday night that he is a poor judge of character.

Poor met a stranger in a tavern, told him about plans to rob the state bank at Morrisville, Ill., and asked for help. The stranger willingly agreed and said he was "ready to go right now."

They went—but wound up in the county jail where the stranger identified himself as Sheriff Robert Fahey.

Snake Menace Reappears In Springfield, Missouri

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 16 —UP—Residents of Springfield, already badly shaken from appearance of 12 deadly cobras in their midst, looked sadder Monday for a boa constrictor.

A boa was found Sunday—sleeping under a porch.

Police headquarters complained it was being forced into competition with the zoo, while a pet shop owner in the vicinity where all the snakes have appeared steadfastly denied that any of the reptiles sthered away from his premises.

The seven-foot, three-inch snake found Sunday was definitely identified as a boa constrictor by a dentist who examined his mouth.

It is impossible to live with a boa constrictor for a pet shop owner, said it was "impossible" for a boa constrictor to live in temperatures below 50 degrees, and pointed out that Springfield temperatures in recent weeks have dropped as low as 26.

"I haven't handled any boa constrictors in my shop for about five months," he said. "It's got me puzzled how any snake of that nature could live in the kind of weather we have had here."

But all this was very unconvincing talk to Bill Dickey, 18, a freshman at Southwest Missouri State College.

Finds Large Snake
Dickey was cleaning debris from underneath the front porch of his home, three doors from Mowrer's pet shop and in the same vicinity where the 12 hooded cobras have turned up in recent months. Some persons now refer to the area as "Little India."

Dickey came upon the huge snake, which he said appeared to be sleeping. He fled in panic and summoned a police. Patrolman George Roemhold and rifle answered the call.

Japanese Defense Praised By Nixon

TOKYO, Nov. 16 —UP— Vice President Richard M. Nixon praised Japan's new Army Monday as a growing defense force.

In a brief visit to the national security corps—An Army in all but name — Nixon said he was impressed with the "quality of leadership" shown in the corps, which some American officials hope can be enlarged enough to replace U. S. defense forces now in Japan.

He noted the Japanese defense forces "have the very essential element of civilian control which characterizes the armed forces of the United States."

McLEAN MEN HELD

Gray County law enforcement officers today were planning to file charges against two McLean men who went on a wild spree early Sunday.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said here today that he was not sure just what charges would be filed, but that they would probably be filed sometime today.

The two men, Glenn Green and Charles Bailes, both about 23 years of age, were in a Shamrock hospital this morning suffering from injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on U. S. Highway 66 in Wheeler county.

Sheriff Jordan told this story of the incident:

Green and Bailes, both of whom are on parole from state and federal institutions, were riding on Highway 66 between one-half and one mile west of McLean when they saw an automobile parked by the side of the road.

James O. Hudson, Memphis, Tenn., asleep in the car. He was awakened and was told that the two men were law enforcement officers and that he (Hudson) was under arrest, charged with driving while intoxicated.

Hudson later told officers that the men awakened him about 4:30 or 5 a.m. and held him for about one and one-half hours, during which time they threatened to kill him. He said they finally made him get out of the car, after which they began to strike him with their fists, but Hudson stated that they were "so drunk I was able to fight off their blows." He said he finally broke loose from them and started running toward McLean, but left the highway to go through a field. In doing so, Hudson suffered cuts on his left leg as he ran into a barbed wire fence.

Green and Bailes then apparently drove Hudson's automobile in the bar ditch along side the highway for about a mile. Sheriff Jordan continued, adding that they apparently wanted to wreck the car.

Present officers are Crouch, president; H. L. Ledrick, first vice president; Frank Carter, second vice president, and A. L. Mills, treasurer.

The directors also will review the past rodeo and will make preliminary plans for next year's show, which will be held Aug. 8 to 9.

UF Drive Hits 56% Of Its Goal

Only 56 per cent of the United Fund goal of $46,150 had been subscribed by late this morning.

With 85 per cent of the pledge cards in from the advance drive, a total of $21,744.25 was on the way to fund coffers, according to Paul Brown, fund drive chairman.

Some 20-25 per cent of the general drive pledge cards accounts for $3,730.10 more, Brown continued. That makes a grand total — so far — of $25,474.35.

Too many persons are only giving totals of $1, $5 and $10 "instead of at least $1 per month," the chairman pointed out. "They just aren't giving what they should."

Manners Make Friends

Sophie's friends don't drop by to call on her as often as they used to. The living room is never Sophie's — even though Sophie is "the lady of the house." The living room is monopolized by Sophie's children, who either have the TV set turned on, or get between Sophie and her guest to play a noisy game, or just spend their time heckling Sophie to let them do this or that.

Even though a living room belongs to a family—its adult members should be able to use it occasionally for their own entertaining.

War Bride Kills Baby
 CHICAGO, Nov. 14—UP—A Japanese war bride, brooding over the recent departure of her husband for Korea, strangled their two-year old son and tried to commit suicide Saturday, police said. Mrs. Etusko Britton, 24, and the baby, Charles, were found on the floor of their apartment by in-laws. Firemen were unable to revive the baby, who they believed had been dead about an hour.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend:
 Some time ago a teen age girl wrote to you concerning her parents who drink cocktails in the presence of her young friends. Their parents do not drink and she is so ashamed of hers. She doesn't care to take her friends to her home so you know what that leads to.

The answer you gave to that young girl has been haunting me for months. It was anything but helpful. I know she must have been very discouraged with your answer.

I thought you tried to build up the morale of those who come to you for advice, rather than tear it down.

You do give some good advice to some questions and I never miss reading your column.

Mrs. A.
 I have just reread the letter to which you refer and the girl makes it plain that her parents limit their drinking to a cocktail before dinner and that they don't deliberately drink in front of her friends but that sometimes her friends drop in when her parents are having a cocktail.

When I answered her I tried to consider the girl herself. She must go on living with her parents and whether she approves of them or not she must be tolerant of them. As an experienced woman, you know as well as I that children seldom get far with efforts to reform their parents. I felt that if she tried to reform them and continued to criticize them that she would create an atmosphere in her home far more harmful to her than the one which exists now.

A great many people have cocktails in their homes. It is a situation which exists throughout the nation and which must be recognized. A great many of the people who do are sound citizens who accept their responsibilities in their home and in their communities.

There is no reason for letting the girl believe that nice people never drink because they do. She will have to accept the fact when she grows older and goes out into the world.

She herself says that they don't neglect her or their home. I feel that it is important for her to consider the Commandment, Honor thy father and thy mother, and to accept them as they are.

Looking back on my advice at the time I am sorry that I didn't suggest to her that she talk the matter over with her parents and suggest that they have their evening cocktails in another part of the house from that where she

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
 Some days ago I protested the spanking of a four-year-old boy who had hurt his little sister. An outraged reader charges me with writing psychological drivel. He writes "You will never improve on the Bible's advice to parents: child."

My reader is mistaken. The Bible does not give us any such silly advice at all.

Three books of reference and a professor of church history have just confirmed my own impression that the Bible does not contain this injunction to parents. All I can find that remotely resembles it is Proverbs 13:24 — "He that spareth the rod hateth his son; but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes."

That's a very different piece of advice. For this true Bible quotation makes the point of qualifying the kind of rod we are asked to use for the discipline of children. It must be a rod that performs a "chastening" work.

The word "chastening" means to purify from error or fault. Now we can make sense of my objection to spanking the small boy who hurt his little sister.

His attack upon her was part of a general campaign of terrorization of her. He is jealous of her. That means that he is motivated constantly by a sense of inferiority and helplessness. Do we really think that spanking him for expressing his purify him of his error of feeling?

If we do, we have never felt inferior or helpless. For if we have ever felt jealousy ourselves, we would know that physical attack upon us would merely increase our despair of ourselves.

The physical rod beating upon our bodies would not perform a "chastening" work at all. Let me be understood. I am not against "chastening" rods. I would myself, for instance, spank a small boy who insisted on misbehaving out of belief that I was either too lazy or too scared to spank him. I would apply the rod to purify him of his error of belief about me.

But this was not this child's case. His mother did spank him. Her rod will not purify him of jealousy because you can't reach this error through the body.

We must stop crediting the Bible with this stupid old adage about "spoiling" the child. To do so is to discredit its wisdom and justice. So far as I can find out, it was visits with her teen-age friends.

But I would never agree that I would be helping her morals if I advised her to plunge into the task of trying to reform her parents thus building up antagonism and discontent in what would otherwise might be a happy home.

Friends And Family Celebrate Golden Wedding At Cone

Three hundred friends from in and around Cone, Tex., gathered recently to pay their respects to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. Two daughters of the Moores, who have 12 grand children and 2 great grandchildren, live in Pampa, Mrs. Cecil McCarron and Mrs. Clyde Jonas.

The afternoon song service took place in the Cone Methodist Church for forty years. After the service guests were served golden punch, coffee and wedding cake.

To Mr. and Mrs. Moore, the celebration was the highlight of their very eventful lives. Like other oldtimers in that part of the country, they remember long days of travel in a covered wagon. Once while moving from Haskell to Crosby County they were caught in a big rain storm and lost all their chickens. The next day they were soaked again — in a hailstorm, and were forced to stop at the Hank Smith home which is now Smith Memorial Park.

Their first surly didn't have a fringe on top, much to the dismay of the children. It did have little white spots — a little "old jackson," their daughter, Mrs. Jonas says. "We used it only on Sundays and it never made it to and from Church without being pushed! But we were so proud of it anyway."

Mr. and Mrs. Moore, who reside at 525 N. Dwight, have lived in Pampa for the past six years.

Lefors Service Guild Hears Mrs. Northcott

LEFORS — (Special) — The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Lefors Methodist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Alfred Bennett.

Mrs. Vernon Northcott, president, presided over the business session. The Guild decided to serve the Methodist Men's Fellowship on Wednesday night, Dec. 9.

Mrs. I. T. Huckabee gave the devotional, and Mrs. R. L. Daugherty spoke on "Fruits of Evangelism" and "Brides go to School in India."

The group sang several songs the prayer.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Vernon Northcott, R. L. Daugherty, Jim Thurmond, J. T. Hunt, Miss Norma Lantz, two guests, Mrs. Edmund Kirby of Pampa and Mrs. J. A. Baldwin, mother of Mrs. Bennett.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party on Dec. 5, with Mrs. Hunt and Miss Lantz as hostesses.

The late day dress is designed this year to play an active part in social affairs. It is meant for wearing, not for hanging in a closet all but two or three evenings in the year. Its line is slim, its fabric elegant. Mink silk taffeta (left) has back fullness and a deep, wide V neckline thickly bedded with crystals and pearls.

Navy rayon satin costume has slim dress (center) topped by jacket cut like a suit jacket. Silver crystals frame wide U neckline. Sheath in champagne rayon satin (right) has classic shirtdress cut and a surface covered with widely-spaced crystal drops. All three designs are by Robert Martin.

constitutional rights had been invaded because he was entitled to a fair trial by an "impartial" jury. He said the jury panel summoned for the case could never be impartial because of publicity the kidnaping received and because of pressure that would be put on the jurors in their hometowns.

Harold Hull, a 33-year-old Maryville, Mo., lawyer representing Mrs. Heady, said his client, like Hull, would not change her plea. But he said he would protect her rights to the fullest of his ability and wanted the record to show that he had the same objections as Dietrich.

The 125-man jury venire filled almost all of the courtroom, with about 50 newsmen and artists, including the famous Missouri artist, Thomas Hart Benton. Benton said he was sketching phases of the trial on his own.

About 800 spectators were in corridors outside the courtroom, but they were not admitted immediately.

Local Groups Air Questions In Dam Issue

At least three Pampa groups will view a film and ask questions on the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority before confirmation elections are held in the 12 communities Nov. 24.

A public meeting has been scheduled for 8 p.m. today in the county courtroom in the Court House, according to C. A. (Lefty) Huff, authority president.

At that time Huff will show a colored film, "The Canadian River Project," and answer any questions Pampans may have on the dam and reservoir project. He hopes one or two others will be on hand to help him with the information-giving.

The Pampa Aitrusa Club will meet at 7 p.m. Nov. 23 in the Hotel Schneider for the same type of program, Huff announced today.

And the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce will participate in a carbon copy of the program at noon Nov. 24 — Election Day.

Pampans and the residents of the 11 other communities in the project will go to the polls Nov. 24 to determine whether they wish their cities to remain in the project. A second election, late in 1954, will be held to determine whether any money will be spent on it.

Within 10 days after the election, the authority's board of directors will meet in Plainview to canvass the vote, thereby making it official. That action is required in the authority's laws.

Mishap Victim's Condition 'Good'

The Borger man who was tossed from his vehicle after it had swerved from side to side, skidded sideways and overturned twice was reported in "good" condition late this morning in Highland General Hospital.

Joe Kenneth Ebanks, 24, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg early Saturday morning in a one-car accident on the Borger highway, seven miles west of Pampa, according to the highway patrol.

Two passing Skellytown youths picked him up and took him to the hospital. Late Saturday night his condition was reported only "fair."

Hobart Zoning To Be Talked

Jimmy McCune, chairman of the Pampa zoning Commission, late this morning was planning to talk to city officials on the matter of restricting building 40 feet east of the Hobart Street center-line, between Francis and the Santa Fe Railroad tracks.

City commissioners Tuesday reviewed a letter from W. B. Weathered, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce's Hobart Street Underpass committee, advocating such a move, and — on the advice of City Attorney Bob Gordon — handed the problem over to the zoning commission.

McCune was out of town all last week and did not return to Pampa till this morning, and only he can call a zoning commission meeting.

Gordon told commissioners that rights might well be an issue in the matter of the zoning commission did not handle the situation.

"Build a better mousetrap and the world will beat a path to your door," wrote Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"Once upon a time a man built a better mousetrap," says Merle Thorpe, "and sat down and waited. Nothing happened."

The world never beat any such path, and never will, says Mr. Thorpe, the newspaper reported from the grass-roots who made a pamphlet-sized house organ into the world's greatest business magazine — and remained to edit Nation's Business for 25 years — and who is presently concerned with finding news ways to emphasize the "service" in Cities' Service.

That mousetrap maker, he says, "spent his day in the village and made his traps at night. He called on the villagers and told them of the advantages of a modern mousetrap over rat-poisoning. However . . . he was able to call upon only ten or twelve people during the day. Of these 10 or 12, only about 1 . . . had any need for his mousetrap. So he conceived a brilliant idea. He put a little notice in a weekly newspaper describing the mousetrap, and saying he would call upon anyone who had a mouse problem, and demonstrate it."

"He thus interviewed not 10 but 1,000 in one day . . . This selling en masse brought in so many orders that he had to spend all his time making mousetraps."

Mr. Thorpe has dug up Mr. Emerson's mouldy and misleading parable, and taken the trouble to correct it, because he feels that today, where there is talk of recession in the air, is a good time to emphasize two simple, but commanding truths: First, nobody WANTS to buy anything; and second, mass production is not the result of knowing how to manufacture in quantity, but of learning how to SELL that way.

"Every so often in our expanding economy," he says, "and particularly just now in our concern over the switch from war to peace, we worry about a buyers' strike. But how much more devastating would be a sellers' strike! If every salesman took to the hills," says Mr. Thorpe, "the famed American standard of living would collapse. The detonation of deflation would be deafening."

But our mousetrap expert is confident there will be no recession — unless the salesman and his boss lose their courage. We all hope and pray for an expanding economy. American salesmanship has been, and is today, the answer to that prayer.

And, most likely, we'll never run out of mice.

Organized Confusion

In spite of his original sympathy for the Reds and his expressed feeling that many of the North Korean and Red Chinese POWs who said they didn't want to go home were being forced to refuse repatriation, India's General K. S. Thimayya, chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, has — in the vernacular — had it.

Declaring the lengthy "explanations" sessions "absurd," Thimayya has stated that regardless of Red stalling, Operation Brainwash would end on December 23rd.

But indications were that the prisoner inquisition would end a lot sooner — most any day or moment — due to the complete frustration of the Communists. In spite of making their own rules which gave them all the breaks; in spite of browbeating, threatening tactics, unbridled promises, stretching out the "explanations" for hours, reducing the prisoner victims to a hysterical, exhausted mental mush; in spite of conduct so outrageous as to cause the neutral observers to protest and walk out; the Reds have "persuaded" but three percent of the prisoners to return to the glories of Communism.

So it is expected now the Red high command will charge the allies with sabotaging the whole operation, in order to withdraw from a hopeless moral defeat as haughtily as possible.

And when South Korea's President Singman Rhee can see nothing ahead but continued fighting, with an enemy that has employed two years of armistice negotiation and more than three months of truce to strengthen his military position, it takes courageous Westerners to keep trying to make peace.

Youth Activities

A major oil company has published a booklet which outlines its program to help young people in the city and on the farms.

This company, like many others, participates in 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, and Junior Achievement programs. It encourages its employees and executives to support and take an active part in these and other youth groups. And it supports educational and civic organizations through contributions of time as well as money.

An introduction to the booklet explains why the company is so deeply interested in youth activities in these words: "Making better things alone will not make a better America. We must have better people also. Realizing the importance of this truth, forward looking businessmen support organizations that seek to develop moral character and effective citizenship through training of our youth . . ."

Every business in this country, large and small, can help youth activities to some extent. And the result will be a greater, stronger, and happier nation. The most valuable asset we have is the young people to whom the future belongs.

Brain-Washing Our Children

We are horrified at the thought of having our soldiers brain-washed by the Chinese and Russian Communists. It is certainly repugnant to think that Communist soldiers who have surrendered to the United Nations, or in reality to the United States, should be subjected to being obliged to listen to propaganda and indoctrination of Russian Communists against their will.

But while we are horrified at this thought, we overlook the brain-washing that has been going on in America for many, many years in our tax supported schools. It seems even worse to compel a child who does not have the faculties that a soldier does, to study whatever the brain-washers decide he shall study.

And these brain-washers are acting on the same belief that the Russians are acting on. That is, that might makes right, that the end justifies the means, and that there are no eternal principles that they need to try to live by. It is no wonder that they object to parents wanting to know what their children are being taught. It is no wonder that they arrest and fine parents for trying to educate their own children as they did in the case of William and Mary Turner. These "Professional Educators" when they get a certificate to teach from the state get the idea that they are superior; that they know what is best for the children. Yet they do not know enough that they will attempt to answer questions to determine what standard they use to determine right from wrong.

Of course, most people do not believe that public schools are brain-washing and a great many people believe in tax supported schools because they think the churches are brain-washing the children when they go to parochial schools. A lot of the belief in public schools is due to hate and fear of organized religious educators. But organized religious educators do not coerce anyone to send their children to their schools, nor do they coerce anyone to pay for them. It is on a voluntary basis. Not so with public schools! They insist on their educational bureaucracy having the right to select the textbooks on social and economic subjects that not only the state schools must use, but also the private schools. They also will permit private schools to use some textbooks that they do not approve, but the private schools must also use certain textbooks that the professional educators specify. They, in other words, insist on their right to brain-wash not only the children attending public schools, but also those attending private schools and those children whose parents want to educate them themselves.

The Turner Case — Oh, yes, I hear it contended, as most people believe, that the state has nothing to do with private schools. So far most states have been afraid to license teachers in private schools. But the state has not yet defined a private school. Three judges have been considering the Turner case for almost six months to determine whether or not the state has the final say as to what and how the children should be educated. They have not yet made a decision. It must be a serious case when it takes five or six months to make a decision.

Of course, it is a serious case. The decision of this case may have a lot to do with the future of this country. If the courts decide that the state has a complete monopoly on what education is, then we are on the rapid road to a complete totalitarian state. Then we are on the road to bring about the conditions that caused the death of Socrates and Jesus, who were teaching doctrines different from that prescribed by the state.

Yes, it is no wonder we are in the predicament we are in today when we have been to a large extent brain-washing the minds of the youth of the land and enslaving their consciences to believe that the state determines moral principles rather than God.

The battle ground is not in Russia or China or the slave states, but the battle ground is here in America to prevent the youth of the land from having their brains washed to believe that the state has the moral right to do things that the individual has no moral right to do. That is exactly what the public school administrators are doing — they are saying by their deeds that it is not a violation of the Golden Rule for them to do things that they know would be a violation of the Golden Rule if done by them as individuals.

A newcomer to the political scene, he took their pre-election suggestions seriously, incorporating them in his campaign speeches, his inaugural address and his legislative program.

Now, poor Ike begins to wonder whether the party bosses and the 33,000,000 people who marked an X opposite his name last November really wanted a "change." His off-the-record description of his dilemma would be comical, if it were not so pathetic and puzzling to him.

THE TURNER CASE — He recalls that his major pledge was to restore economic stability and to check inflation by giving us an "honest dollar." Although he dangled the lure of tax reductions, he demanded budget balancing, he demanded pocketbook relief in his message on the State of the Union. But even his banker friends complained that he was making money "too tight" and stifling profitable loans, when he promoted an increase in all interest rates. So, he had to switch to an "easy money" program for their sake.

ISSUES HE WON — His opposition to immediate tax cuts and demand for extension of the excess-profits levy brought him into conflict with Representative Daniel A. Reed, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Although a majority of Capitol Hill GOP-ers sided with "Dan," White House pressure enabled Ike to win on both issues. Unsupported Reports Say Ike Is Grooming Nixon For His Job

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Dwight D. Eisenhower has voiced his disillusionment over presidential realities and difficulties to numerous personal friends, especially to former military buddies.

Wayward gossip resulting from these confidences has inspired premature and unsupported reports that he will not seek a second term, and is grooming Vice-President Richard M. Nixon as his successor.

Like so many more humble ex-GIs now faced with civilian responsibilities — a wife, children, illness, a mortgage, monthly bills — Ike reflects grinningly but ruefully that "I never had it so good" as when I was in the service.

Then, he could lay his burden on Uncle Sam, as represented by Washington officialdom and the American people. They gave him the orders, he took them, and they paid the bills. Now, he is Uncle Sam.

Down South Pampa Gift Hat Prompts Taxi Driver To Ask Leading Query

By THURMAN SENSING

Southern States Industrial Council Nashville, Tennessee

On a trip to Washington, D. C. last week, I wore a hat that a friend of mine in Pampa, Texas, who makes them, gave me. A taxi driver, noting the hat and apparently familiar with all the publicity in connection with the cattlemen's drive on Secretary Benson at the time, said rather sympathetically, "Those cattlemen didn't get what they came up here after, did they?"

My answer was, "No — and they shouldn't have. That's the very thing that is wrong with a lot of us in this country now; whenever we get in trouble we run to Uncle Sam for help. After all, who is Uncle Sam? Nothing more than any other group in this country. If the government helps one group, it should help all groups — and when we reach that point, then we no longer have a free country; we've got a socialist nation or something worse."

That was a pretty long answer to a simple question, but the taxi driver seemed to be listening carefully and I wanted to see what his reaction would be. It was this: "Yes, I think you're right. And us taxicab drivers here in Washington are having a lot of trouble right now; we're too many taxicabs on the streets. But we're not going to run over to the White House to get Ike to help us out; we are going to work it out ourselves."

About that time I reached my destination. Secretary Benson deserves a lot of credit for standing his ground on this question of a support price on cattle. The cattlemen need help but not that kind; they should be aided by free enterprise, not by the government. If the rest of the administration will show the same courage, we will once more get back to the tried and proven free enterprise system which has been the basis of our success as a nation.

If Secretary Benson is forced to give in or to resign, then we will know that the insidious plot of the welfare state is exerting a more powerful influence over the people than their innate desire for freedom.

It is believed, and feared, by many thoughtful students of history and politics that a people who live under a "government'll-take-care-of-you" system long enough will never willingly give it up. If this is true, it simply means that the elected leadership of the people must themselves be sufficiently courageous and devoted to the cause of freedom to see that it is preserved through their own efforts.

If neither the people nor their leaders have this courage and this devotion, then that simply means the beginning of the decline of the United States of America as a nation.

STATE DEPARTMENT'S HATCHET MAN (Chicago Daily Tribune)

Secretary of State Dulles has been sending Assistant Secretary Thurston B. Morton to various meetings to do a hatchet job on the Bricker amendment. Morton's latest appearance taking him before a conference of church leaders in Cleveland. Dulles himself has done his best to run down the proposed amendment, but has been vetoed down by such organizations as the American Bar association, which found no merit in his argument.

The Bricker amendment is intended to prevent the Constitution and domestic law from being superseded or impaired by treaties or by collateral legislation passed under their authority or by judicial interpretations extending treaties. The amendment says that a treaty which contravenes the Constitution shall not be of any force or effect, and that no domestic legislation to carry out a treaty is valid unless it would be valid in the absence of a treaty.

These precautions are designed to meet the constitutional declaration that a treaty "shall be the supreme law of the land . . . the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding." Under a Supreme court decision of 1920, it was held that Congress, acting under a treaty, could pass legislation restrictive, domestically which it not only could not pass in the absence of a treaty but which the Constitution specifically forbade it from passing.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

If I know anything about the cause of the up-coming divorce between Ava Gardner, an actress, and Frank Sinatra, a singer, and I don't know anything about it, it is because I once dropped in for some free Sunday dinner at the home of a Beverly Hills lawyer named Jerome Rosenthal. I got the dinner and the makings of a guest at why these two couldn't stay married for even two years. Ava is in love with badminton bird.

The way it happened was that the telephone rang at about 11 o'clock on this Sunday morning and Jerry said: "If you are driving through Benedict Canyon any time between now and 6 o'clock why don't you drop in for some coffee?" I wasn't planning to drive through Benedict Canyon or any other Canyon in California that day, but that scotch bit aroused the latent greed in me and promptly at 1 o'clock, the fashionable hour for free loaders, I pulled up in front of the Rosenthal ranch. A ranch in Benedict Canyon is any housing unit in front of which the owner can get an avocado tree to grow more than four feet tall. There were several Cadillacs, paid-for-Fords and like motor vehicles gliding out front and I managed to find a sliver of space into which to shoe-horn my MG. If it had been a Chevrolet I would have had to park in the road.

Inside the Rosenthal mansion (two baths and aluminum light fixtures shaped like tulips make a mansion in Benedict Canyon), a goodly crowd was there. I saw a man in a blue suit, but by 1:20 he had belted up against the edge of the table doing very well indeed with a dinner plate so laden it bent in the middle. I found a vacant corner in the living room and sat there, athwart a picture window. Just outside this picture window Miss Gardner was beating her brains and a rival out at badminton.

At 5:20, Miss G. was still hammering at the badminton birds and had defeated a windrow of opponents. At 7:10 she was still playing the game and was still playing the game and was still playing the game. "How long," I mused to myself in my usual elegant English, "can this dame keep from falling apart at the seams?"

It was exactly 7:57 p.m., when the Gardner came in swinging her racket and intoning: "Good fun." She allowed a swain to get her a cargo of food and came over and sat on the floor alongside me. "I won't alter my way of life," I said with Chesterfieldian grace, "but could you tell me what you are trying to prove?"

"I like badminton, I love it," she said. "Good fun." I had been prepared to argue the good or evil of the fun. I gave that gambit to the Indians and tried another tack. "Aren't you even tired?"

"Heavens, no!" she cried prettily. "I could go on until midnight. It was just a little fun. My day actually started at 6 o'clock this morning. I got up and swam for an hour, then played tennis until just after 11 o'clock, when I changed to come over here."

"Do you sit there, girl, in your right mind and tell me that since 6 o'clock this morning you have been swimming, playing tennis or killing yourself at badminton, all without let-up?"

"Of course," she said. "What's other way is there to spend Sunday?"

Since I was not in a social position to detail other methods of willing away the Sunday hours, I simply nodded vaguely and fell to talking with an exhausted young man who was so crushed by defeat at Miss Gardner's hands and racket that he could scarcely hold a martini glass.

And that was that. But all the boys and girls who write columns have been issuing solemn guesses at what caused Ava and Frank to decide on a divorce. I think you've had other notions about —

Tilt Set For Saturday On Lubbock Grid

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Lubbock Westerners are next on tap for the Fighting Harvesters. The PHISians will journey to the Hub city Saturday to take on the defending state champions.

Although there are still two more games remaining on the schedule for each District 1-AAAA team, the championship picture has just about been cleared up.

Odesa's Bronchos, unbeaten in five district starts, can do no worse than a first place tie. The Bronchos' nearest pursuers Pampa and Abilene, have each been beaten twice. Should Odesa lose its final two games against San Angelo and Midland and Pampa and Abilene win their final two games, the race would end in a 3-way tie for first place.

The Bronchos, however, would like to represent the district in this case because she holds wins over both Abilene and Pampa.

The race isn't likely to end in a 3-way tie for the top rank though. The two remaining foes on the Odesa schedule are San Angelo and Midland, neither of which hardly stands an outside chance of derauling the Bronchos.

Odesa hurdled its last dangerous foe last Saturday by coming from behind to win the Havocsters. The Bronchos found themselves trailing 9-0 after the first quarter of play but they turned on the steam in the second period to take a 14-9 lead and held it the rest of the way.

The Harvesters were still very much in the game after three quarters, trailing by only six points, strong with two TDs in the final period.

"In other games last week, Abilene manhandled Lubbock, 26-0; San Angelo, 20-0; and the Berger Bulldogs upset the Midland Bulldogs, 21-14, by scoring in the last three seconds of play. It was the first district win for Berger.

This week's games find Midland at Abilene Friday night and Berger at Amarillo Saturday afternoon. Odesa and the Harvesters at Lubbock Saturday afternoon.

Following is the District 1-AAAA calendar:

DISTRICT 1-AAAA STANDINGS

Team	W	L	T	Pct.	Pts.	Op.

PA-Baytown Meet In S'boy Feature

By DICK HARDWICK
United Press Sports Writer

Every section of the country has its "biggest" football game, the year-in-the-East it's Army-Navy, in the Midwest it's Michigan-Ohio State and in the Southwest it's Texas versus Oklahoma.

But South Texas football fans, while admitting that all of these afford their share of blood-letting, would pick none of them for an afternoon's entertainment if Port Arthur and Baytown were playing in the vicinity. And this annual knock-down drag-out between the Yellow Jackets and Ganders comes off Friday at Baytown.

Almost invariably, this battle decides the championship of district 1-A and this year is no exception.

The Ganders may be slightly under par (they've lost a couple of games) but they are certain to play an underdog's role into the biggest battle since the day David slew Goliath.

Port Arthur has a 13-13 tie with powerful Odesa and a 7 to 6 loss to Corpus Christi Miller to mar an otherwise perfect slate. Baytown has been beaten by Houston Lamar 34 to 6 in the first game of the season and by Texarkana 12 to 6 in the fourth game. Both are undefeated, untied in four conference games. Port Arthur slugging Beaumont 74 to 6 and Baytown beating Galveston 48 to 12 last week.

While this struggle highlights the Class AAA-AAA card this week, two other games—one in Class AAA and the other in A—are stand-out affairs with district titles going on the line.

In 7-AA, unbeaten, but once-

Conference Sunday by defeating the Cleveland Browns, who boast foot- if Cleveland should lose three of its last four games, Philadelphia still would have to win its last four to win the division crown.

Detroit, defending league and Western Division champion, broke a three-way first-place tie with the Packers, 14-7, while the heavily favored Rams were held to a 24-24 deadlock by the Chicago Cardinals.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—United Press Staff

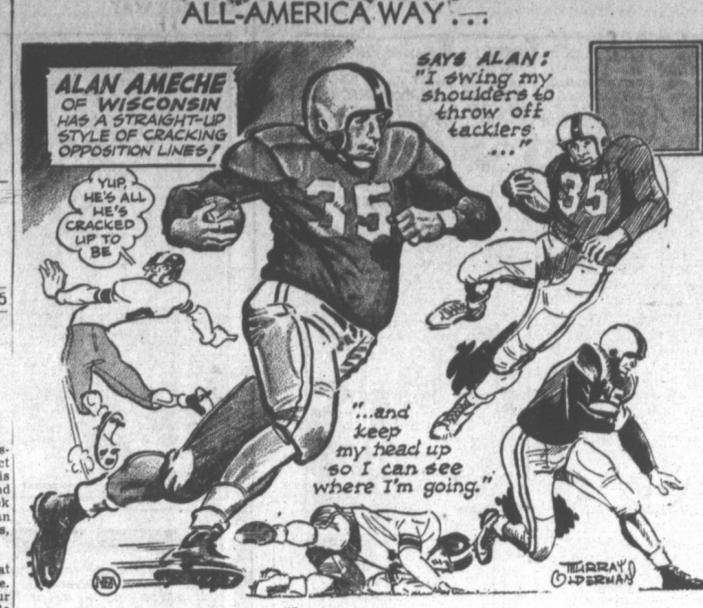

There were 21 undefeated, untied football teams scattered about the nation Monday, with Maryland and Notre Dame listed as the only survivors among the major schools.

Two teams fell by the wayside last weekend—West Virginia and Lehigh's only perfect record in the perfect-record teams among the smaller colleges already have completed their season.

The states of Pennsylvania and Wisconsin each are represented by three undefeated, untied teams. The keystone state survivors are Juniata, Shippensburg and Westminster. Wisconsin is represented by Platteville, Northwestern College and La Crosse.

The quiet Texan overcame a one-stroke deficit Sunday and matched his first day score of 68. Bud Hoyer, a San Diego sailor, the leader in the first round with a 67, dropped to third with a par 72.

Second with a 71-67-138 was Marty Furgol, of Lemont, Ill., who shot 71-67-138.

The Cowpokes represented their conference in brilliant fashion last week, trouncing a Big Seven rival, already assured of at least a tie, by a 41-14 at the finish of the touchdown parade.

Unbeaten Lions To Finish With S-Ross

The East Texas State Lions, holders of the nation's longest winning streak in football, will close their season with a three-way tie for the title.

The most amazing development in the Valley loop last week was Houston's 37-7 victory over a Baylor team that had been beaten only once previously.

USDA Due To Be More Efficient

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 — A more efficient Department of Agriculture will result from its reorganization, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John D. Davis said Sunday night.

The Washington official spoke over the Texas State Network on the weekly "Report to Texas" program sponsored by the Texas Republican executive committee.

Davis mentioned specifically reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service, scheduled to be turned over to the states. He emphasized the change involved "no curtailment or alteration."

"It is not going to be turned over to the extension service or anyone else," Davis said. "It is left as a separate agency, and will function that way, using the soil conservation districts as they are now set up."

He said these entities (districts) will be part of the state and not the federal government. Here again, he added, "our effort is directed at strengthening existing service."

Davis told of changes scheduled for the Production and Marketing Administration. He said the agency "won't be altered or reduced. The big change is this: We are separating marketing out of what is now PMA and making it a separate agency. PMA will become the agricultural stabilization service, leaving in it all the price support functions."

Davis called increased consumption the key to the present problem of over-production.

Hungry Visitor

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 — UP—Department store owner Meyer Bluestein probably will win over every time he hears the tune about that "Doggie in the Window". Bluestein noticed a small black dog in the rain, made it comfortable in the store and went home at night.

When he returned the next day, he found the "doggie" sitting in a display window amid $200 worth of chewed up women's clothing.

The strength of the Army National Guard now is approximately 256,000.

FREE DELIVERY OFFERED AT B&B PHARMACY

Visit 1953 B. F. Goodrich House Of Santa Claus

If you are getting underway with your Christmas shopping now, be sure to stop in at B. F. Goodrich, located at 108 S. Cuyler. They have a complete toy, appliance and accessory department to make anyone's dream come true. They also offer you a 30 day charge or budget terms. All you have to do is to pick out the toy, appliance or car accessory and say charge it. They will do the rest.

For the little girl there are beautiful dolls to select from and all kinds of housekeeping toys to play house with. Real stoves, washers, ironing boards, beds and baby buggies to make her Christmas a real happy event. To take care of her baby, you can get her high chairs, bathinette, nursing set and all kinds of furniture.

For the boys, there are of course guns, games, musical instruments, trains, wagons, scooters, tractors, tricycles and last but not least bicycles. They have in stock the famous Schwinn bicycles for men, women, boys and girls. They even have the bikes for junior for as low as $29.95. And if your boy or girl already owns a bike, perhaps there are some accessories they want. New baskets, saddle bags, lights, horns, mirrors and fender flaps are only a few of the fine, custom designed accessories available at the B. F. Goodrich store located at 108 S. Cuyler.

For the educational toy line, there are erector sets, microscope sets, tool chests and laboratory sets. Many hours of enjoyment will be had from these truly educational and entertaining gifts.

Another line in the toy department are the small scale models of bulldozers, tractors, road graders, moving vans and firetrucks. The kiddies will get a big thrill when they see one of these fine toys under the Christmas tree on Christmas morning. You can also get a take-a-part Pontiac for the little mechanic in the family. This small scale car has removable motor block, front and rear bumper and a set of tools that really works.

And of course from the sports fans in the family comes the need of boxing gloves, punching bags, football helmets, baseball equipment. Yes, any and everything for the children is available at the local B. F. Goodrich store, located at 108 S. Cuyler. Stop in any time and look over the large display they offer you. Remember, you can open a charge account and make it easier on your budget. And remember, too you can get mother and the whole family a fine Motorola TV set as low as five dollars down and $2.25 a week. Get a gift the whole family can enjoy. A fine Motorola television set.

Your Laundry Can Give Best Work & Finer Services

Your clothes are given added life when they are handled with care and that's just what Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners does. They handle your clothes with the proper care and renovate them in the best way possible, which means extra money saved. Let them clean your clothing and wool household items such as blankets and down comforts. You'll find they will be returned to you looking like new.

Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners have been in Pampa for years, and through these years they have discovered the best possible ways to give you better cleaning and laundering service. Oran Payne, owner and operator of Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners employs an experienced staff that will give you dependable, courteous service, along with good economical cleaning service.

Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners also feature a free pick-up and delivery service that will save you time and money. Sometimes you are too busy with the children and housework to bring your clothing and household articles down to the cleaning plant.

Your Laundry has found a solution to this problem by furnishing you a free pick-up and delivery service. All you have to do is pick up the phone and dial 4-2554, and a friendly, personable driver will be at your door in a matter of minutes to pick up your items. There is, of course, no charge for this extra service. And it will save you time and expense.

You can save money all the way around if you depend on Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners to do the job for you. All types of laundry services are offered to you for the asking. If you want your clothes just washed, or flat work done, they will be glad to finish your washing any way that you ask. Some folks wash their clothing washed, and not ironed, while others want only flat work done. Others send only white items to be laundered. No matter what the problem is, Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners, located at 309 E. Francis, can and will do the job for you.

HE'S HAY-HAPPY — R. A. Spurlock, who raises cattle near Ava, Mo., sits atop a load of wild grass hay shipped in under the Missouri state drought-relief program. Spurlock was out of hay and out of pasture. He commented, "This hay cost me $15.50 a ton. Without the state program it would have cost me $36 a ton or more."

The largest turtle, either dead or alive, ever known to man is the fossil Archelon, now mounted in the Peabody Museum at Yale University. The remains of the turtle, which was about 11 feet long, were found in 1895 by the late Prof. George R. Wieland of Yale while on an expedition in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Efficient Pharmacists And Quality Drugs At B & B

Years ago the family drugstore's only importance was filling prescriptions and selling patent medicines for aches and pains. Today the drugstore is an important factor in any family's day-to-day well-being. Not only is it a place to obtain medicine, but a place to grab a quick bite to eat, obtain a tube of toothpaste or buy a lovely gift for a friend or relative.

One of the most modern drug stores in Pampa, in fact it opened last January, is the B. & B. Pharmacy, located at the corner of Ballard and Browning. The B. & B. Pharmacy is not only well stocked with fine merchandise, but employs a capable, courteous staff. Dependable pharmacists fill your prescriptions right up to the letter with an added service of free delivery. Prescriptions are very important to the individual, since they mean good or ill health. And you'll find too, that you can get your prescription filled accurately and speedily. Another fine point to remember is that you get double S&H Green stamps on all prescriptions filled by the B. & B. Pharmacy. Call or have your doctor dial 4-5788 for accurately filled prescriptions.

If you are needing hospital supplies, such as ice packs, heating pads, hot water bottles, thermometers and surgical dressings, B. & B. Pharmacy has a complete stock of fine quality merchandise in the hospital line, so stop by or call for complete information regarding these items.

Another department in the family drug is the well known gathering place of friends and business associates, the fountain. Here you can get delicious sandwiches, steaming hot soups with your favorite cold drink. The nicest feature about a fountain is, that you can get courteous service promptly and be on your way within a matter of minutes. Drop in for a coke with a friend, and remember, tell them to meet you at the B. & B. Pharmacy.

If you are wanting to buy cosmetics, the B. & B. Pharmacy employs a very capable cosmetician to help you with your needs. The famous Francis Denney line is exclusively carried by the B. & B. Pharmacy. Any thing from make-up foundation to lipstick and powder is stocked to give you lovelier moments. Mrs. Plummer, the cosmetician at B. & B. Pharmacy is a trained cosmetician and can give you many valuable hints to help you keep that lovely fresh complexion. Stop in and let Mrs. Plummer help you with your cosmetic needs today. If you are wanting something lovely in perfumes, ask to sample either Lavin, Ciro, Hartnell or Gourell's famous scents. They can be had in various sizes.

No matter what you need in the drug, cosmetic or gift line, your purchases are delivered city wide to save you an extra trip downtown, and to insure your speedy service. Remember, the service at B. & B. Pharmacy is prompt, ethical and courteous. You'll enjoy shopping at the B. & B. Pharmacy. Remember, too, they have a lovely gift display that will help you to choose a last minute gift or you can purchase a lovely gift now for Christmas. Lovely lamps, cigarette sets, toasters, coffee makers and many other items are there for you to select from. Don't put it off any longer. Shop B. & B. Pharmacy for your Christmas gifts today. And remember, too, you can put it in lay-away.

White Spy Charges Throws Shadow On High Democrats

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — D. A. Fitzgerald, director of operations for Foreign Operations Administration, has returned to Washington from a quick trip to Spain with a first-hand report on the economic end of the new Spanish-aid program. The economic-aid program is intended to help the Spanish people and raise their standard of living.

In Madrid, Mr. Fitzgerald stayed at the new American chain hotel, Castellano, which he found already crawling with U.S. 5 per centers hoping to cut themselves in on a few fast bucks out of the $226 million program. Of this, $85 million is to be economic aid.

One of the major objectives of the American program is to keep the grafters — Spanish and American — from getting any of it and to give the Spanish people maximum benefits. To achieve this, U.S. Air Force Gen. A. W. Klener has awarded the air and naval base engineering contract to a combination of four American firms.

The prime contract for construction will be given to a similar partnership, which will let subcontracts to Spanish and American firms. This is where the 5 per centers hope to chisel in. Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks has been assigned to supervise the contracts and keep them out.

Fighting off 5 per centers was only one of the minor irritations in Hotel Castellano. Everybody was throwing cocktail parties for everybody else, to win friends and influence contracts, and the elevators weren't working regularly. This last item was due in part to the fact that the elevator power was on only three days a week.

The power shortage was due to a bad drought this past summer. There hasn't been enough water stored behind the dams to generate all the needed current.

This has brought the American-aid mission in Madrid, under Edward L. Williams of New York, former president of the Insurance Executives Association, sharp up against Spain's greatest economic need today.

After two years of good crops, this year's drought has caused a terrible crop failure. To feed her people, Spain will have to import between 750,000 and one million tons of wheat. The cost will run between $60 million and 70 million. In other words, about 70 per cent of the $85 million allocated for economic aid to Spain this year could be spent for wheat alone.

Conditions are that bad. To the credit of the Spanish government, however, not much of the U.S. aid may have to be allocated to wheat purchases. Out of their own meager resources, the Spaniards have managed to buy nearly 500,000 tons of wheat from Turkey, Sweden, the Argentine and the U.S. — wherever they could buy it cheapest.

Buying the wheat has meant that Spain has had to cut down on imports of other necessities, and that does not help her economy. But when it was suggested that Spain might qualify for free wheat under President Eisenhower's foreign famine relief program, Spanish Minister of Commerce Manuel Arburia rejected aid in that form.

Incidentally, Manuel Arburia is emerging as one of the new strong men of Spain. He is one of the country's few self-made men. He began as a page boy in a bank and rose to become president of Banco Exterior. He was a chief negotiator of the U.S.-aid treaties, and he will be in charge of carrying them out.

Allocation of the $85 million worth of economic aid for Spain has not been completed but a first bite of $10 million is now in the works. It covers mostly industrial raw materials — cotton, scrap iron, copper, aluminum — and agricultural machinery and spare parts.

Spain is genuinely worried that the aid program will mean more inflation. The value of the pesetas on the free market has increased in the last few years, but the drought has caused price rises. Pumping a lot of new money into military construction is inflationary in itself. One of the main purposes of the economic-aid program is to prevent this inflation.

High Sheriff Is Defending 'Robin Hood'

EDITORS — When Mrs. Thomas J. White of the Indiana Textbook Commission spoke out against Robin Hood because his "rob-the-rich" philosophy reflected the Communist line, a lot of eyebrows were raised in Britain. Even the High Sheriff of Nottingham, whose medieval predecessor fruitlessly pursued the bandit, came to his defense.

By WILLIAM J. COX
High Sheriff of Nottingham
NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Nov. 14 — UP — Folks will probably say I should be the last person in the world to stand up for Robin Hood. Could he be any right.

If Robin Hood was alive today, we'd probably call him a gangster. Then it would be my job to go out after him—just like my predecessor did 700 or 800 years ago.

But that outlaw was no Communist. That doesn't mean to say I think he was the finest person in the world.

But he wasn't a Red. Mind you, I'm not either. I vote Conservative. The Communists may claim a lot of things, but they can't claim Robin Hood. We're really proud of him.

For one thing, he's made Nottingham probably the best-known English-speaking town in the world outside London.

Just look. We've got the Robin Hood Hotel, Robin Hood Motor Hotel, Robin Hood Motor Coaches, the Little John Restaurant and the Sheriff's Hotel.

Now, where would we be without Robin Hood?

There may be doubts Robin Hood ever lived, but you won't find any of them in Nottingham. He was real enough, make no mistake about it.

He lived about the year 1200 and was the outlawed Earl of Huntingdon. There was King John I. He was a tyrannical old cuss. Took away Robin Hood's land.

No sir. We don't think our Robin would have any trouble passing a loyalty test.
