Butz Says Programs Not Killed

Contrary to early reports that caused grave concern in Gray County agricultural circles, the Farmers Home Administration emergency loan program has not been killed.

This is what Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz told a house agriculture committee Friday.

According to Rep. Bob Price of Pampa, the secretary told members of the panel that only the $5,000 "forgiveness" clause in the emergency program had been halted

The committee in its meeting with Butz dealt only briefly on the cutback in the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, according to Price.

A grave concern voiced by members of the house panel had to do with Butz' authority to restrict the use of two per cent loans by the Rural Electrification Administration.

But z wants them to go to five per cent guaranteed loans rather than the two per cent federal appropriations. according to Price's report of the meeting.

Strauss Asks John To Return To Party

WASHINGTON (AP) -Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss extended an open invitation Saturday to fellow Texan John Connally "to return to this party and bring with him his constituency.

Strauss said he hopes that Connally, who headed Democrats for Nixon in the 1972 campaign, can play "a leading role" in Democratic activities over the next four years.

Strauss, 52, a Dallas lawyer, assumed the post four weeks ago with support of organized labor and regular party leaders who had been cool to presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern.

The tone of Strauss' comments, in his first extended interview since his election, contrasted somewhat with state-

Airport spokesmen said they received good cooperation Friday and most passengers interviewed appeared to feel that the inconvenience of the searches was outweighed by the benefits of arriving safely at their intended destinations.

"I'd rather spend a couple of minutes here than 24 hours in an airport in Havana," Morris Kirsch, a Miami accountant, said at the Miami International Airport. The searches did entail longwhile Treasury secretary. Since taking his new post, Strauss said he had not had a serious talk with Connally, whom he described as "my political mentor," responsible for his election in 1968 as Democratic national committeeman.

Strauss declined to speculate about whether Connally would remain a Democrat or switch to the Republicans, a decision which could depend on his chances of capturing one of the parties' presidential nominations in 1976.

Strauss acknowledged that his remarks were designed in part to counter his statements after the election that he believed the 1976 presidential nominee "should be someone who supported the McGovern-Shriver ticket in 1972."

That would rule out both Connally and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who stayed neutral, but Strauss insisted in the interview he intended that as a personal opinion

Strauss noted that 15 million Democrats followed Connally in voting for the Republican presidential ticket in 1972.

"Instead of censuring those who voted for Nixon, we ought to find out why they did it," he "What I intend to do is to ask

Other danger signals of revolution in 1973 will be dealt. with in turn by the administration as follows: 1 Crime, 2. Drugs, 3. Welfare, 4 Schools, 5. Energy sources, 6. Older citizens and 7. Youth.

Perhaps not just in that order, but I feel very strongly these will be the main problems and they could be aptly labeled 'America's Seven Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

During President Nixon's next term he will distinguish himself by bringing under control two evils which alarmingly threaten our society: drug abuse and crime.

These two defilers of youth could surge into an epidamic with dramatic effects upon the future of our entire nation. Crime and illicit drug use are already out of hand and until halted will certainly continue adversely to affect some of our children, those already born and others yet to come.

In the early 1940's, I saw the discovery of a new source of energy in our country from a 'little black box" which I often talk about. Unfortunately, our American inventor was somehow, some way discredited and the important 'little black box' found its way into the Soviet Union, .. and was lost to America.

The Russinas call this "life energy"...however, I feel they will never realize its full potential. President Nixon secretly will do everything possible to bring the harnessing of this energy potential within the power of our scientists. QUOTA FOR EX-CONS ANKARA (AP) — Labor Minister Ali Riza Uzuner has disclosed that there are 400,000 unemployed handicapped per-sons and ex-convicts in Turkey.

He said this is one of the gravest ills of the society.

The ministry has issued a new set of regulations to employers asking them to give a job to one handicapped or exconvict for every 50 people they amploy

Oil, Gas Industries Face Shortage Of Personnel

mobile rigs under construction, the oil and gas drilling industry is confronted with a shortage of skilled rig personnel. W. Henson Moore, the 1972 president of the International association of Drilling Contractors, says the situation has caused the pirating of personnel between contractors to reach an all-time high.

"For sometime, both oil companies and drilling contractors have been aware of the existing shortage of skilled rig personnel but a satisfactory solution to the problem has not yet been found," Moore says. 'The industry's pool of skilled drilling men already is in short supply. With the majority of the new righs scheduled for completion in 1973 and 1974, the problem of developing adequate rig personnel has reached a critical stage.

Moore, president of The Offshore Co. of Houston, says one possible solution is another effort by the association to establish a drilling crew training school Rig crew school projects failed in a short time in 1964 and 1965 because of a lack of 'The situation is different today." Moore says. "Unemployment, both in the United States and elsewhere, is at a considerably higher levei. The ndustry's need for training new inexperienced men is much greater than eight or nine years educational training program was exemplified recently by a two-day blowout training course the association conducted in conjunction with Louisiana tate University.

"A much more extensive per sonnel training program would serve the needs of all contractors," Moore says. adding that the concept of an association training school deserves serious immediate consideration and study.

The magnitude of the personnel problem facing the drilling industry warrants joint efforts to find a solution," he says.

Moore's observations were ublished as a signed message in the final 1972 edition of the association's bi-monthly maga-home study lessons and training slides that are being expanded and updated provide some excellent basic training material.

Unfortunately, however, there can be no real substitute for on-the-job training, especially when the pirating of personnel between contractors has reached an all-time high,"

He says the new multi-million dollar rigs cannot be manned by inexperienced crews.

"They require a full com-lement of trained engineers, toolpushers, drillers, derrickmen, and floormen," he says. "In the long run the obvious solution to the rig personnel problem is to move

technologically toward more

due to economic and engineering considerations, highly automated drilling operations still are some years off. So, some answer besides automation must be found for the interim.

Under the drilling crew training school concept, Moore says, the association, through private financing, could pur chase or lease rigs which would be operated on a strictly educational basis.

'Association ownership ould give a large number of contractors an opportunity to send their personnel to the school," he says. "Tuition fees would provide the necessary.

Pollution Department Fingerprints Odors

HOUSTON (AP) - Harris County pollution control chief Dr. Walter A. Quebedeaux says odors are being used as fingerprints to trace down and prosecute polluters in a new technique developed by the Harris County Pollution Control Department.

Quebedeaux said the fingerprint technique means when a citizen complains about an odor, investigators can take an air sample in the area, extract and analyze the odor, then match it to the polluting industry

"We feel each plant, if we examine its discharge close enough, will carry some peculair material that will more or less identify it and act as a fin-

"It's been practically impos sible to set up any kind of regu-lation on edors," he said. "Each odor has a different threshhold at which it can be smelled, and different people react differently to different odors." Allison R. Peirce, the department's assistant director and laboratory chief, said the highvolume sampler used by investhe chemical constituents in the odor-causer, Peirce said. The new technique was first tested Oct. 4 off a treatment pond of a Houston Ship Channel

The breakthrough was to

Vocal selections were the congregational hymn, "Praise West Texas, St. Matthew's to the Lord, the Almighty,' directed by John Glover, of Pampa. The bride and bridegroom sang the prayer, Saviour, Like A Shepherd Lead Us." "May the Grace of Christ Our Saviour," was sung by Mosley for the benediction.

The church was decorated with a center arrangement of white mums, greenery accented with feather doves and votive candles. Two large white bells hung from the organ chambers.

THE BRIDE The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal wedding gown of French imported white velvet designed with an empire waistline, a fitted bodice, styled with a round neckline and long leg o' mutton sleeves.

The sleeves of the gown were accented with pearl buttons, and the waistline of the gown was enhanced with seed pearls. Her two-tiered mantilla of

You can't be a doormat unless you lie down first

By Abigail Van Buren © 1973 By Chicago Tribune-H. Y. Hours Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who is 28 years old and she never lifts a finger in the house to help me. I have a had gall bladder surgery and trouble with my nerves due to "the change" and I can't stand the aggravation this girl

She throws her clothes around and I am always picking up after her. She never finishes anything she starts. She started to sew a dress and left the hem and zip; er for me. You should see her room! I have to keep her door locked so no one will see it. She used to give me $10 a week room and board, but I haven't seen a penny for a year as she is saving to get married. Meanwhile, she doesn't have anybody steady, but she invites a different fellow over here for supper nearly every night and I do the cooking and wait on them like

I'm the maid, and she leaves the mess for me to clean up. Even my husband doesn't help me. He's too lazy to wash the car so I have to do it. I could write a book.

DEAR DOORMAT: You can't be a doormat unless you lie down first. Refuse to pick up after your daughter and don't let her make a servant of you. Same goes for your husband. If you don't put your foot down, they will. On

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a 26-year-old daughter by his first wife. Sally is being married soon. She has already had two weddings and two divorces, but she wants a lovely big wedding so her father can "give her away"again. I think this is ridiculous, especially since the man Sally is marrying has also been married twice, besides which he and Sally have been living together for a year.

I say Sally and her fiance ought to go away and quietly get married and forget the wedding. Her father says whatever she wants to do is all right with him.

I'd like your opinion. UP TO HERE IN GEORGIA

DEAR UP: Under the circumstances, the less conspicuous the wedding, the better. [P. S. One thing is certain, these two won't need a rehearsal.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman, happily married with two children. My parents divorced when I was 12. That was 15 years ago, but to hear my mother talk, you would think it happened only yesterday. She is so bitter and full of resentment, all she ever talks about is how much she

I don't happen to see him the way she does. Fortunate-Mother lives out of town, but she telephones me often to give her long, miserable monologs leaving me drained, pressed, and angry. I am sending my parents the following letter. I should have written it years ago:

Dear Divorced Parents:

I love you both for different reasons, so please don't feel that because I love one of you I cannot love the other Try to understand that even tho you no longer love each other, I still love both of you.

I cannot be expected to know what went wrong with your marriage, nor do I want to know the details of who did what to whom, so please don't try to tell me your side of it. Don't ask me to judge either one of you, just help me. to accept your parting so that I can build a life of my own tho my parents live apart.

I still need to be loved by both of you, so please don't allow your resentment, however justified, to destroy my relationshirs with my grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins on both sides.

I know that you both love me, so please let me love you-YOUR CHILD

DEAR ABBY: I think your answer, "If a 17-year-old girl asks her mother for the pill, she should have it," is a disgrace. Your "better-safe-than-sorry" attitude will give teen-agers the idea that premarital sex is all right. I say if people sin, let them pay the price.

The Scope Of Care

Finding Fulfillment In Service

By HELEN HENNESS NEA Women's Editor

NEWYORK-(NEA)-Robert and Marion McCullam were members of the Peace Corps and Robert Mc-Cullam now works with CARE. His wife accompanies him on all his assignments.

'We were oddballs in the Peace Corps," McCullam said. "We were alone in our age group. There were either very young people or much older people involved. And there we were of an age in between-the age when most people are staying at home and raising children. We had no contemporaries."

The McCullams served together for four years in the Peace Corps in Chile working on urban community development and also in a remote village in the mountains. It was there that they had contact with CARE and Robert joined the aid and development program. Mc-Cullam is 49, a native of Mason City, Ill., and a marine engineer.

"For CARE we built pure water systems in Guatemala," he said. "In many villages up to 50 per cent of deaths were caused by con-taminated water."

Guatemala is basically an agricultural country with its main crops being coffee, cotton, bananas. The population is about five million and the area of the country is about 47,000 square miles. The average income is about $300

"CARE has several types of programs in Guatemala," McCullam said. The most important, because of the high rate of malnutrition is supplementary food distribu-

"And then there is the installation of water systems. Up to now, we have helped construct about 80 systems which bring pure water to over 75,000 people in rural villages in Guatemaia.

"The systems don't bring water to the home," he added. "That would be far too sophisticated. In stead there is a central outlet, a faucet, often more than one, installed along with a pila, which is the community wash basin. It's wonderful to see the Indian women washing at these communal pilas dressed in their colorful local gossip. This is the high light of their day."

Guatemala needs 10,000 classrooms for primary school children. There is an

CARE has been constructing schools with an agency of the Ministry of Education at the rate of about 300 classrooms per year. "It's a gratifying and rewarding experience to work with this agency," Mc-Cullam said.

In Indonesia with Medico, a service of CARE, at Solo and Jakarta, McCullam has worked to provide doctors, nurses, technicians, both to heal patients and to teach local personnel the latest techniques. Canadian, Australian and American specialists cooperated on this project,

There's God In Those Scholarships filiation and scholastic By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor NEW YORK- (NEA) -Students who aren't aware that there may be a scholarship out there just waiting for them can't be censured. So much financial aid is available to kids which has nothing to do with scholastic ability-and it is offered by many colleges.

If you, for example, needed extra funds or a scholarship to get a college degree would it ever occur to you that you could get help if your father was a fisherman? At Tufts, you can. Ditto at Columbia University for the offspring of taxi drivers. You can get $1,000 toward your education from Yale if your surname is Leavenworth. Vassar offers awards to Romanians, the University of Illinois to

Good sources of informa-tion on financial aid for students are high school guidance counselors and college financial aid officers. Stu-dents should seek their ad-vice and counsel but they should not expect them to do the whole job for them. They must help many students, sometimes hundreds, who have the same needs. Even though they might want to spend an unlimited amount of time with the students involved they can't. Just as the students may not have enough dollars to go around, they don't have enough hours to go around.

One source of information on financial aid of this kind is a New York City company called, Scholarship Search, It has programmed thousands of scholarships into a computer. It makes a per-sonal print-out available to students, using multiple sources of aid.

S. Robert Freede, who heads the company, a divi-sion of American Marketing Counsel, Inc., says that be-tween 300,000 and 500,000 openings exist in U.S. colleges this year, primarily because of a lack of funds among prospective students, according to a study by the National Association of College Admissions Counselors.

"Often the requirements for such aid have nothing to do with scholastic achievement," Freede said. "We have in our files many awards that are available to veterans and to the average student-the one who is not at the top of his or her daughters of pilots who have broken the sound barrier may receive $1,250 a year. And students who have lived on an Indian reservation for at least six weeks could qualify for $600 a year.

Freede said he has files of data on more than 150,000 financial aid items valued at over $500 million from government, industry, foundations, private donors, social political organizations and religious groups. Scholarship Search, he claims, is the largest source of such information in the world and the only one in a computer data bank. He said new data are constantly being added.

A Good Year For Agriculture Production . . . Cotton. Cattle, Citrus Show Good Gains ... Pecans Increase . . . Commercial Vegetable Acres Expand . . . Grain Sorghum, Peanut, Soybean Production Up From 1971.

All in all, 1972 was a very good production year for Texas. Cotton production probably showed the most dramatic increase. Estimated production now at 3,900,000 bales is 1,321,000 bales more than 1971. Yield per acre for 1972 was almost 100 pounds per acre above 1971.

Texas continued its dominance in the cattle feeding industry during 1972. For most of the year, it was and still is the number one cattle feeding state in the nation. It apparently will retain that honor for some time to come.

Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter in Texas feedlots number 2,225,000 head, up 29 percent from a year ago, lowa is the second-ranking state in the nation, with 1,689,000 head, far under the total for Texas.

BASED on Dec. 1 conditions, the 1972-73 crop of Texas citrus is forecast at 17,200,000 boxes. This is 15 percent above the production of last season.

Grapefruit production is expected to total 10,400,000 boxes, 13 percent above last year. Early and mid-season oranges are forecast at 4,500,000 boxes, up 18 percent from last season. Valencia oranges are estimated at 2,300,000 boxes, which is 15 percent above last season.

PECAN production for Texas in 1972 was first set at 71 million pounds, which would have been a new all-time high. Latest production figure, however, is 65,000,000 pounds. This still makes it the second largest on record.

It is also almost three times the production of 1971 which was only 24,000,000 pounds.

Texas will produce about one-third of the nation's total supply of pecans for 1972.

EXPANSION of the 1972-73 six major winter vegetables is forecast. An estimated 57,000 acres will be planted to the six major winter vegetables in Texas. The crops are cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, lettuce, spinach, and

This acreage will be an increase of nine percent over

In the Lower Rio Grande Valley, acreage of the six winter vegetables is estimated at 39,200 acres, or 16 percent above the 33,900 acres harvested last season, Acreage of carrots, carbage, lettuce and cauliflower all chowed significant increases. Acreage of spirites remained the same as last season while broccoli acreage decreased. In other areas, acreage is expected to total 17,800 acres for harvest, which is three percent below last year.

GRAIN SORGHUM production in Texas at 456,000,000 bushels was more than 50,000 bushels ahead of 1971. Texas produces about 45 percent of all the grain sorghum in the nation.

PEANUT production was up in Texas this year over 1971 by almost a million pounds. The 1972 production estimate is 456,000,000 pounds.

SOYBEAN production in the state in 1972 is almost double the production in 1971. Texas production for 1972 is set at 5,670,000 bushels.

GRAZING of Texas wheat pastures on the High Plains and Rolling Plains has been delayed due to extensive snow and rain. Cold weather hindered wheat growth but prospects continue good with the additional moisture.

About 60 percent of the fall-seeded wheat acreage had sufficient growth for pasture compared with only 40 percent a year ago. The number of cattle on wheat pasture is about 300,000 head under last year.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS Many people connected with water and sports throughout the Panhandle area are hoping for a speedy recovery of Bill Waddle, the General Manager of the Texas Water Conservation Association. Waddle was struck with a massive heart attack Christmas morning. He is in Shoal Creek Hospital in Austin.

The heart attack has been diagnosed as a very serious one by physicians at the hospital. Waddle will be remembered by area sports followers as a basketball official in many games between the Pampa Harvesters and teams from Amarillo and Lubbock. Get-well cards may be sent to Bill Waddle in care of Shoal Creek Hospital, Austin, Texas.

Prior to the heart attack; Waddle had just completed arrangements for the annual Texas Water Conservation Association meeting in Austin on Feb. 21. Gov.-Elect Dolph Briscoe will be the featured speaker. Price Daniel, Jr., the new Speaker of the House for the Texas Legislature, and Art Busch, the Environmental Protection Agency District Director, will be among the other speakers for the two-day convention beginning Feb. 21.

Reports coming out of Austin indicate that the Mississippi River Commission and the Bureau of Reclamation will be ready to hold public hearings in March and April of 1973 on the West Texas-New Mexico import studies. The purpose of the hearings will be to outline the findings of the study to date and seek constructive comments. Current plans call for the Mississippi River Commission hearings to be held in Vicksburg and New Orleans. The Bureau of Reclamation will hold a similar hearing in Lubbock during the same period.

A great amount of the work done in connection with the study has been done by the U.S. Corps of Engineers and is being used by the Bureau of Reclamation on its transmission study and by the Mississippi Riyer Commission on its availability study.

group in Hereford, Dale Raitt, the Assistant Regional Director for the Bureau of Reclamation. indicated that if the project is found feasible and is authorized by Congress, funding procedures are such that it would take twenty years to line with the length of time consumed in the building of the be continued.

In a recent address to a water

California Water Plan system. Texans who toured the California Water Plan route in 1967 were told that California had begun its system forty-three years earlier. The California Water Plan with its many problems and their solutions has been a big assist in getting the Texas-New Mexico Water Import Plan on its way.

Recent events indicate that a large number of bills on water legislation are being prepared by various groups "with axes to grind" for introduction in the 1973 Texas Legislature, Many more needed bills will also be entered. Details of the water legislative program to be proposed by interim legislative committees have not been completed yet. The Natural Resources Committee of the Legislature held a number of public hearings on water during 1972. Many area people attended the Public Hearing held on Feb. 18, 1972 in Plainview. James B. McCray. John Spearman and Felix W Ryals entered testimony at the Plainview Hearing on behalf of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District. Their testimony supported the continuation of local water management, regulation, and control as opposed to State management and control. The final Public Hearing of the Committee was held in Austin on Dec. 18, 1972. Much of the hearing time of the December hearing was used by self-styled environmentalists. The general feeling of those in attend was that the Committee was merely hearing them out respectfully and would not put much weight on their testimony. The Dallas News came out with an editorial the day before the December hearing advocating a control system under State Control. The Texas Farm Bureau, holding its annual meeting during the same period, passed a resolution recommending that groundwater control be retained at the local level rather than at the State level.

The Dallas News editorial in an apparent slap at irrigation farming in West Texas said that excess pumpage in one part harms all of Texas.

West Texans face the coming years with full faith and hope in Governor-Elect Dolph Briscoe who has stated that he will strive to secure water for the water short areas of Texas. From the time he entered the race for governor, he has not changed his position. After being elected in November, he again spoke out for water

REAP Program Cut Stuns Area Agriculture

An administrative order in Washington has brought to-an end a program that began in 1930 and grew to put $12.5 million in Texas to aid farmers.

The Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) began life in the depression as the Agriculture Conservation program. It had served to help relieve some of the economic depression experienced by some counties in the eastern Panhandle and to add to property values everywhere that farmers entered into the program

Gray County has realized some $18,600 in REAP funds in 1972. County agriculture leaders are hoping farmers will strive to continue the program on their own if the federal program is not reinstated, thus holding up property values in the area.

In its beginning it was a brush control and range seeding program and Rep. Bob Price said he was not sure but what that part of the program would

Price explained the cancellation of the program as an unfortunate victim of the deficit government is experience and one of the corners cut to try to reduce that

'It's just a matter of economics and it is a shame that this sort of a program felt the cut." Price said, "If the line isn't drawn on spending. however, there would be absolutely no chance of loosening the old belt when the crisis eases.

Here in the area, farmers. ranchers and agriculture leaders were stunned at the move. Impact was increased by the announcement that the emergency loan program administered by the Farmers Home Administration is also being suspended.

Most are agreed that the best move is to seek to restore at least a part of what has been. estimated as a total $1.5 million cut in the federal farm program

BEEF CATTLE PRICES A choice finished steer will bring forty dollars on the market Jan. 3, 1973. Just about three weeks ago the same steerwould have brought only thirty-five dollars or less. This is a five dollar jump in about three weeks. This is the fast price rise we predicted about one month ago. We will admit, CWT on the weight you bought or about $36 per head. we didn't think it would go up quite this quickly. We still think ne price rise will not top out until June. We base this on two factors: weather conditions and cattle on feed reports that placements on feed. The sad thing about the price rise is the fact that cattle feeders are not on the plus side even with the forty dollar cattle. Why? The worst feeding weather ever recorded during the history of the development of cattle feeding in the Southern Great Plains.

indicated a November drop of

The second factor is the highest feed cost on record. A severe shortage of protein supplement created by poor weather conditions for harvesting cotton and soybeans. The same situation was true in the grains. No doubt the sale of wheat the feed grains to Russia also had an influence

We have heard of some gain cost that were in the upper end of the thirty dollar bracket.

Death loss has been terrific. So, what we have is steers selling near the record price of $40 per CWT and in many cases being sold at a loss to the feeder.

Most of the steers that are now coming out of the feed lot cost $45 to $46 per CWT weighing from 600 to 700 pounds when they went in the lot late last summer. I've heard of some $40 gain cost on some of these cattle. This means you will get your money back on the 400 to 150 pounds of weight you added. You will lose six dollars per

No doubt this will dent the enthusiasm some cattle feeders might have developed over the last two years of cattle feeding during the cheap feed, cattle price rising era.

Cattle people should start trying to get this story over to the public. They are going to need some real understanding about the severe plight created mainly by weather conditions.

Rex McAnelly came up with a good suggestion. He said the Texas Cattle Feeders Association should invite key government officials and members of the Price Commission to the Texas Panhandle. Issue a pair of hip boots to all of them and have them traverse a few of the feed pens in the feed lots. Then take them to some feed lot manager's office that will tell you the real truth about their gain cost this fall. Show them what a feeder paid for the steers and just how much was lost. This might be a good idea. What do you think?

REAP Ending Hit By Farm Group Head

Farmers Union has vigorously protested the discontinuance of the Rural Environmental Assistance Program and has urged the President to reconsider his

Texas Farmers Union state president Jay Naman of Waco has advised the White House and members of Congress 'that the discontinuance of this important program that promotes conservation and environmental preservation will not only have an immediate economic effect on rural America, but will cause future generations to pay many times the cost of this program to clean up water polluted by erosion and to restore land damaged by wind and excessive water.

Naman pointed out that the discontinuance of the program will cost rural Texas 121/2 million dollars in funds that had been allocated for REAP. He said that countless important jobs in rural communities will be in jeopardy, and that several counties would lose the services of the local Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service offices.

Another indicator of improved service was a reduction in the average time for delivery," the Postmaster General reported. "Without regard to the time of day when the letter was deposited or to the distance sent, the average time for delivering each of the 49 billion first-class letters decreased from 1.7 to 1.6 days."

In the important parcel post category, he said the average time for delivery decreased from 4.9 days during the final quarter of 1971 to 4.3 days in the final quarter of this year.

As of last June 30, Klassen said the average postal employe was earning "more than $12,000 annually in salary and benefits."

He noted that labor costs comprise 85 per cent of Postal Service costs. Hiring restrictions imposed last March 29. resulted in postal employment dropping through attrition by more than 33,000 persons in the next four months.

At the same time, Klassen said, "We achieved a significant 2.4 per cent productivity gain in the fiscal year ending June 30. This productivity figure contrasts sharply with gains averaging less than one per cent annually through most of the 1960's."

The combination of increased productivity and a commitment of the bills, but still must find by postal managers. particularly in the field, to hold costs in line enabled the service last summer to forego the need for a previously budgeted $450 million in postage rate increases scheduled for January 1973.

Hula Bowl Win Goes To South

HONOLULU (AP) - Stanford's Jim Merlo ran eight yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass and his defensive mates set up 10 more points as the South sank the North 17-3 in a muddy 27th annual Hula Bowl football game.

Merlo, voted the game's outstanding defensive player; picked off a short pass by Penn State's John Hufnagel and darted into the end zone for the only score of the second half.

Cornerback John Stearns of Colorado set up the first South score by recovering a fumble by Wisconsin's Rufus 'Roadrunner' Ferguson at the North 24. The South offense, stymied by drenching rains and deepening mud in the middle of the field, settled for a 40-yard field goal by Mark Williams of Rice. That field goal, coming midway in the second quarter, canceled out a 23-yard field goal for the North by Robert Macoritti of Defensive lineman Bob Crum

Clemente: Not Just A Sports Hero

By IRA BERKOW NEA Sports Editor

Shortly before Roberto Clemente's death there was a story out of Washington, D. C., that told of the "boomerang" effect the antidrug TV spots by National Football League players were having on the young.

Donald L. Kanter, a psychologist and marketing professor at the University of Southern California, cited a study he had made. Professor Kanter found that 90 per cent of the high school students he interviewed believed the football players' were "hypocrifical," "insin-

This is in stark contrast to the way Clemente met his death. He was embarking onwhat has been called "a mission of mercy," seeing to it firsthand that a planeload of relief supplies for the earthake victims of Managua, Nicaragua, would get to the intended destination (rumors provoked him).

Clemente had been building a reputation for helping people, from the destitute to teammates. (Willie Stargell and Danny Murtaugh, for example, give testimony to Clemente's chiropractic handiwork, saying that they walked easier after Clemente had knuckled up their sacro-

Clemente was not an easy laugher. And perhaps he took himself so seriously because many others did not. He had a reputation for suffering invisible ills.

He was concerned about the public's conception of "I am no fancy fellow," he affirmed. "But once you get an image; no matter what, you die with that image." The image that the world will carry of Roberto Clemente is not one of a man with a creaky back, nor of one with a .22 gauge arm, but of a man who cared about it

After Clemente's plane crashed off the coast of Puerto Rico, President Anastacio Somoza of Nicaragua sent a cable of condolence to Clemente's wife and three young sons: "He died a hero, leaving his family in order to aid humanity.

Pirates Donate $100,000 To Clemente Memorial

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) -The Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club says it has donated $100 .-000 to the Roberto Clemente Memorial Fund. The money is to be used for victims of the earthquake in Nicaragua and to help fund a youth center the late baseball star envisioned in his native Puerto Rico.

The announcement was made by Pirate President Dan Galbreath Friday on a chartered plane en route to Pittsburgh from San Juan where about 70 persons, mostly members of the Pirate organization, paid their final respects to Clemente on Thursday.

Clemente was among five persons killed Sunday night when a cargo plane carrying relief supplies for earthquake victims in Managua crashed off San Juan. Clemente was head of January 1, 1973 issue of U.S. News and World Report, it suddenly occurred to us that words, certainly essential to communication, can also obscure and confuse is we concentrate too closely on the words themselves, rather than the fundamental meaning their use should convey.

The article, "State Taxes Go Higher and Higher," included a comparative listing of the 50 states showing amounts collected in per capita state taxes during the fiscal year that ended on June 30, 1972 and, also, the rate of increase in such taxes since 1967

The article, also included a chart breaking down all state taxes for the same period (60 BILLION DOLLARS in all) as to source. The several tax. sources for all that state plunder were listed as follows: -General Sales Tax: $17.6

billion, or 29 per cent. -Personal Income Tax: $13.0 billion, or 22 per cent. -Gasoline Tax: $7.2 billion, or 12 per cent. -Corporate Income Tax: $.4 billion, or 7 per cent. -Tobacco Tax: $2.8 billion,

For a tax to be levied, there must first be property (things). it is true. But, before there can be PROPERTY, there must first be property-owning INDIVIDUALS; and it is from these individuals, not inanimate things, that the tax levies are extracted.

So what the chart really shows, is that $60 billion dollars in wealth was taken in 1972 from the individuals who produced it and owned it and spent by otherindividuals who neither produced nor owned.

INVEST CAPITAL IN REPUBLIC U.S.A.

Like a snowball rolling down a mountain and becoming an avalanche, the pressure increases to spend billions of U.S. dollars, guaranteed by the taxpayers, to finance development and importation of foreign fuels, especially from Soviet Russia. The U.S. would have to develop the technology with our own capital, extend massive credit to the foreign nations and then wait for the inevitable confiscation of the wealth we have produced. This avalanche must be stopped.

The wise thing to do is to invest our capital in our own 50 states, especially in our energy resources. Foreign revolutions and wars cannot cut us off from our own resources, like they cut off foreign sources of vital raw materials. Good working people should understand at once that when vital materials are cut off, their jobs are gone. Governments should know that when the jobs are gone, tax revenues drop drastically, curtailing funds for both defense and welfare, as well as ordinary governmental functions at every level.

So-called ecologists claim that importing fuels will help clean up our own environment but such is not the case. Oil spills from tankers already are the cause of the most damaging pollution of waterways, so far as fuels go. Imagine the damage when a supertanker, bigger than anything now afloat, ruptures along a U.S. beach and spills its hundreds of thousands of tons offshore. Worse yet, what happens when a foreign dictator refuses to let the tanker said for our shores with his oil, leaving us at his mercy for fuel to heat our homes and to operate our factories, bospitals and schools. Good citizens will want to use every ounce of their influence to see that U.S. capital develops resources and creates jobs for U.S. citizens, not windfalls for foreign-dictators.

One of the best exercises for the lower abdomen is done by lying on your back on the floor with the legs outstretched. To begin, slowly bend at the knees, keep ing the knees together and keeping the heels as close to the floor as long as possible. Continue bending at the knees and hips until the knees touch the chest. Return slowly to the starting position and repeat as many times as possible.

When first started, it will be easier to hold on to the legs of a heavy chair or couch. Eventually as the muscles get stronger, it will be possible to do this exercise without holding on to anything. "The greatest wonder in history and the greatest wonder in our life is Jesus Christ. The most precious possess can have in our heart and soul is Jesus Christ. His philosophy is a glory and a trust that lights the oul and warms the heart. (Now, the suggestion): "If there was a large statue of Jesus Christ and a large golden cross in every city, the negative in human conduct would be factor for peace than the gun. "Jesus Christ can bring to one deeper feeling of goodness than one could get any other way. The Spirit and wonder of Jesus Christ is always ready to become part of one."

greatly reduced. The Spirit of Jesus Christ could be a greater

It is felt many will agree Mr. Price's suggestion is a good one and could be a powerful psychological moral force in any city.

MORE ON the coming demise of Pampa Junior High School: H.L. Ledrick of the Ledrick Cattle Co., writes:

Thought you would have lots of letters from those who attended first classes in the building. If J. Wade Duncan is right (he wrote last week) I was one year late. I started in the basement in the first grade in 1921 and graduated in the same building in 1933. I had a sister. Vera Ledrick, who was a senior the same year. My first grade teacher was Miss Daugherty. "The superintendents !

remember were Mr. Silvey. Campbell, Irwin, Fisher and Sone. There are lots of ex-teachers living here now." And on the same nostalgic subject-this from Mrs. Noel

Thompson, 420 N. Gray: 'I came to Pampa in September of 1921 to teach school. We started the fall term in the old red brick building. The new school, known as Painpa Junior-High was being built. We were told it would not be ready for school classes until

But we were all surprised when during the Christmas holidays workmen moved all desks and supplies into the new building. We were all proud of

W.R. Silvey was the superintendent when the new spring school term began in the new building in 1921. There were three teachers in the high school. Mr. Scoggins was principal. Miss Floy Silvey and Miss Willa Waitman were the other two teachers.

There were seven grade school teachers: Miss Lorene Tackett, Miss Mattle Kirk, now Mrs. Ivy Duncan; Miss Nina Daugherty, who married Edwin Vicars, and is now deceased; Miss Lenna Cox, Miss Pearl Smoot, Miss Ethel Enoch, and Miss Noel Daugherty who married Rufe Thompson "It was my pleasure to have as some of my pupils in the 7th grade: Herman and Calvin Whatley, Hubert Phillips, Elsie Lard, now Mrs. Roy Hall, and Naida Talley, now Mrs. J.R. Sparkman, all of Pampa.

"I haven't been able to keep up with many of the students as they have all scattered so far away, but I have not forgotten them. Answer to Previous Puzzle

MORE THAN $3,691,000 IN DIVIDENDS!

In 1972, nearly 18,000 First Federal savers shared over $3,691,000 in dividends paid or credited. These generous earnings represent a good part of a lot of plans for the future. There's peace of mind there, too. The earning power of a First Federal account is protected by prudent management. And it's insured to $20,000 by a federal agency.

Start your future here — now — at First Federal. More than ever, now is the time to open or add to your savings account. Here's why.
